

JURY ASSESSES SAN ANTONIO PREACHER 7 YEARS IN PRISON FOR PERJURY

CONVICTED ON TESTIMONY OF DIVORCE TRIAL

'CONSPIRACY' CLAIMED BY DEFENSE IN ARGUMENTS

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 18. (AP)—W. D. Welburn, Jr., former Methodist pastor, was sentenced to seven years imprisonment today by a jury which convicted him of perjury at his divorce trial in which he denied ever having been married.

In the divorce suit last June, Welburn claimed he had never been married to Wineta Long Welburn. He contended the marriage papers had been forged and denied Mrs. Welburn's claim that he was the father of her son. She was granted a divorce.

The perjury case was an outgrowth of the statements he made in the divorce trial. The defense described the young preacher as "the victim of the most diabolical conspiracy ever perpetrated in Bexar county."

State's attorneys attacked his story and the defense contended that Welburn's signature had been forged to the marriage documents. W. L. Schlesinger, defense attorney, told the jury that Welburn was "a victim of circumstances" and that the case was "persecution and not prosecution."

Welburn was a student at Kent Wesleyan college, the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Kentucky and Emory college at Atlanta, Ga. He received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from the Atlanta institution.

JAPS SEEK TO LAY BLAME ON UNITED STATES

Would Show U. S. Is Cause of Naval Fiasco

By The Associated Press
The conference in London between the United States, Great Britain, and Japan, looking toward the formulation of a new international naval treaty, moved a close today with Japan moving to checkmate any possible allegation by the United States that Japan is responsible for the breakdown of the London parley.

The British delegation announced that the conversations would be adjourned Thursday, following consultations with the Japanese and American representatives.

Tokyo instructed its delegation to see to it that the communiqué which the conferees put out, announcing the adjournment, contains the statement that Japan desires that they be taken up again. Such resumption, it was indicated, would suit the Japanese in about March.

While it was said officially in Tokyo that the Japanese needed a little time to prepare additional material for conferences, preliminary to planning a new naval treaty, the unofficial opinion was expressed that Japan feared the United States would say that the indefinite conclusion of the London conversations was brought about by the denunciation of the Washington naval treaty in 1922, which Japan is expected to make shortly.

City Ministers Elect Officers

C. E. Lancaster was re-elected president of the Pampa Ministerial association for a year, at a meeting yesterday evening. He is pastor of First Baptist church here.

I Heard . . .

J. W. McFolk, a visitor at The NEWS this afternoon, telling about getting into a terrific snow storm between Pampa and Miami this morning and being stalled for nearly an hour in drifts. There was 6 inches of snow on the ground when he left Shattuck, Okla., this morning but none at Canadian when he passed through. The fall was heavier from Miami to near Pampa.

Science has found that much of woman's charm is in her good speaking voice. To have a good speaking voice, be good, advises the We 4 Foster group.

Skippy, the family pup, exasperates the women of the household seriously by buying new bones and digging up old ones to eat. Skippy's instincts are stronger than his veneer of civilization.

Song of a negro vendor in up-town New York:
"Ain't nothin' so good as fresh, sweet corn.
"O' nice young onions with the tops still on;
But yo' can't beat carrots 'fo' keepin' strong.
An' spinach makes yo' inch along!"

A truly modern farmer is one who studies and worries about unemployment instead of working at the jobs that, on the farm, are always awaiting the doing.

Folks are living longer but having fewer children. Pretty soon the youngsters will be building playgrounds for the oldsters.

Musing of the moment: Uncle Sam assures us that he is not going to kill all the cattle, although he has removed a couple of million head from this world. Supplies during the rest of 1934 are expected to equal those of last year. Sounds impossible; must have had a whopper calf crop.

CHARLIE HUGHES brought us this unsigned Tribute to Death, which was found a few years ago in the scrapbook of a Butte, Mont., mining engineer, A. F. Munroe.
I am the friend of all Mankind.
I bring sweet light unto the blind.
I cause the deafest ones to hear.
I give the speechless utterance clear.
I speak to the prisoned slave in free.
I touch the bound man's liberty.
The wretched seek my close embrace.
The weary love my calm soothed face.
I hide the weak and bring the good.
In faltering Man and Womanhood.
And though some shudder at my call,
I hide the mad and bring the mad.
I break the iron links of Time.
I turn Life's prose to God's own rhyme.
The key to flogging Fame I hold.
I make the weak and timid bold.
Sad Art crosses youth with a breath
For I am what Mankind calls God.

Brevitorials

MERRY CHRISTMAS! That's what we say. But here is what Santa says in other lands: Dutch "Vrolijk Kerfeest"; Greek, "Kalix Christougenna"; Portuguese, "Boas Festas"; Italian, "Buon Natale"; French, "Joyeux Noel"; Swedish, "Lyckelick Jul"; German, "Frohlische Weihnachten"; Danish, "Gladelig Jul"; Lithuanian, "Linksmas Kalėdos"; Polish, "Wesołoy Swiat"; Norwegian, "Gledelig Jul".

Santa Claus has meant various things at different times. Today he is generous; in Colonial New England he was a stern man who rewarded only the very good. Many of the decorations we use at Christmas time are of pagan origin. The Yuletide celebrations were held long before the times of Christ, although Christians look back only 1934 years.

AMONG OUR letters today was one from Dr. J. W. Barton of Toronto, Canada, who writes articles on personal health. Health, Dr. Barton says, has long stood first in advertising appeal. Beauty is second. The doctor declares that health is no longer a symptom of disease but a disease in itself. One-fifth of the people of this country are over-weight; i. e. diseased. In the doctor's opinion . . . And getting fat in these lean years is an accomplishment, if you believe those who prepare the meals. Actually, however, Americans ought to be healthy, and there is plenty of room and fresh air for exercising. Moreover, the most abundantly fed family is not necessarily eating the right food in the right quantity. Selection is more important than variety and abundance.

AND WHILE speaking of health—reports from widely separated parts of Texas to the Texas department of health show that influenza is on the increase in the state. It is expected that by the last of this month more than 700 cases of this disease will be reported in Texas. Colds, grippe, influenza, or whatever we may call them are believed to be spread from person to person through discharges from the nose and throat. To protect yourself and others from such diseases, here are some things to be remembered and some precautions to be observed.

1. Influenza is highly infectious. Practically everybody is susceptible to it. No matter how many times you may have had the disease, you may contract it again. Therefore, keep away from people who are sneezing, coughing, or sniffing, or who are actively ill with colds, influenza, or pneumonia.
2. Keep away from crowded places.
3. Have your own towel and drinking cup and always wash your hands before eating.
4. Keep yourself as fit as possible.

Kidnaped Tyler Baby Is Found Sitting In Stolen Car

'AMATEUR' CAR THIEF LEAVES BOY UNINJURED

CHILD EATING CANDY AND PEANUTS WHEN HE IS LOCATED

TYLER, Dec. 18. (AP)—Eating peanuts and candy, apparently bought by his abductor, three-year-old Tyler Larson, missing since late yesterday when his father's automobile was stolen from the business district, was found early today and immediately returned to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. U. Larson.

The child, for whom a large posse of citizens and officers, including department of justice agents, had searched over a large area of east Texas, drenched throughout the night by a steady rain, was discovered in the stolen car by John Jones, a salesman for a grocery firm, as he was on his way to work at 6:25 a. m.

Sheriff Earl Price, who conducted the search for the child, was immediately notified and sought to learn some clues as to the identity of the abductor by questioning the child, but was unable to get from the lad any information. The officer took the child to his parents' farm home, six miles north of Tyler, where he said he again would seek to question the boy.

The sheriff said the speedometer of the car showed it had been driven about 30 or 40 miles from the time it was stolen at 4:15 p. m. yesterday until found in a parking lot back of the Tyler hotel, near the International and Great Northern freight depot this morning.

Snowfall Extends Into New Mexico; Mercury Drops To Freezing at Noon.

AMARILLO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Skies cleared over the Panhandle today after the first general snow of the season, which laid a two-inch blanket over the entire north plains.

A strong north wind continued, however, and temperature rose only three degrees during the forenoon. The low this morning was 30 degrees, and the weather bureau here forecast temperature below 25 degrees early tomorrow.

Vagaries of Panhandle weather were again exhibited—but in very satisfactory manner, last night, when there were rain, lightning, thunder, then snow. Yesterday afternoon the sun was bright.

Rainfall amounted to 31 of an inch, which was added to by the snow which fell in varying intensity all the morning. Much of the snow melted.

The thunder was loud enough to awaken many citizens. The temperature started dropping this morning and at noon the reading was 32 degrees or even freezing. At 1 a. m., the mercury stood at 38 degrees and at 8 o'clock

FORTY BOMBS SHAKE HAVANA DURING NIGHT

TERROR ACCOMPANIES REVOLUTIONARY ACTIVITIES

BY EDMUND A. CHESTER
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

HAVANA, Dec. 18. (AP)—Except for discussions concerning 40 bombings which took place in the Cuban capital last night, the city returned to normal this morning.

Talk of revolution which had swept through the city had died down, largely because most of the political leaders were sleeping after the exciting night.

Terror spread throughout the city shortly before midnight when more than 40 bombs were exploded. Three women and two men were injured by the blasts, which were set off in every section of the capital.

Soldiers spent the early morning hours searching pedestrians, motorists, buses and street cars for bombs. Fourteen persons were arrested on charges of placing the explosives or for having them in their possession.

The city became excited over the possibility of a revolutionary outbreak after police seized a supply of dynamite and arrested 90 passengers in buses where the explosives were found.

Extra precautions were taken by the army when an officer reported he had detained three members of the ABC political society, opposed to the government of President Carlos Mendieta and his "strong man," Col. Fulgencio Batista, commander-in-chief of the army.

Sailors and police also were ordered held in readiness. The army officer said he had seen many other men, presumably ABC members, leaving the city in groups.

Tension has been high since a band of armed men, allegedly secret police, last week raided the plant of the newspaper, Accion, an ABC organ, and forced the editorial workers to take castor oil.

ABC leaders denounced the raid as equivalent "to a declaration of war." Negotiations were begun by the Athenico party, their former enemies, for a concerted anti-government campaign.

Leaders of the ABC and other opposition groups, it was known, have restrained with difficulty "hot-head" members from violence since the raid, but their spokesman said they had no knowledge of plans for a concerted outbreak.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Little Gloria Vanderbilt, 10-year-old heiress, tearfully protested to Supreme Court Justice John F. Cawth that she "never" wanted "to go back to my mother," Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, a transcript of her testimony in the custody fight made public today disclosed.

GLASGOW, Dec. 18. (AP)—An authoritative source said tonight that Betty Gow, former Lindbergh nurse, will sail for Canada Saturday on board the S. S. Duchess of York.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Governor-Elect James V. Allred of Texas arrived at the capital early today on a "good will" trip and inspection tour.

"I thought it would be a good idea to let officials up here know officially that there will be a new governor in Texas shortly," Allred said. "Frankly, I have no particular purpose in mind in coming to Washington. I am anxious to meet the Texas senators and congressmen as well as other government officials."

The young executive, who will succeed Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson next month, and his wife were late in leaving their train from St. Louis and hurried to a northside hotel for breakfast before starting a long round of visits. Allred said he had wired Vice-President John N. Garner before leaving Austin, and that he hoped to be able to see the Texas "first thing." They have been close friends for a number of years.

Allred said he also hoped to see Harry Hopkins, relief administrator. "We expect to see the sights while we are here," he said with a smile.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—James V. Allred, governor-elect of Texas, began a "good will" trip about the capital today with a visit to Vice President Garner.

After discussing "things in general" with the Texan, Allred, his wife, and Jack Blaylock, an Austin, Tex., attorney, inspected the capitol building, and then went to the office of Morris Sheppard, Texas' senior senator.

Allred said he had no definite plans for his three or four day stay in Washington.

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 18. (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long today abandoned legislative objectives that would have placed the hiring of 15,000 school teachers under his control, as fiery opposition denunciation of that and other "kingfish" bills was voiced by Rep. G. W. Lester, of West Feliciana.

Lester denounced the senator as a "modern Nero" and a "political madman," and the legislators "putty faced stooges" for yielding to his dictates.

Pink-shirted and grinning on the house speaker's dais, Long heard the exhortation in silence.

A group of Long administrationists tried to challenge Lester, but after the anti-Long lawmaker engaged in a verbal duel with Representative I. W. Sharp, Long's floor leader stopped other administrationists from speaking.

EDITORIAL

NEWS OF CENTENNIAL SPREADS

The word has gone out to the world-at-large that Texas will celebrate in the good year 1936 the hundredth anniversary of the attainment of its independence as an Anglo-American commonwealth.

To the six million citizens who inhabit the Texas of today, the opportunity is presented to pay such tribute to the sacrifice of the heroes who died for Texas, to the genius of the statesmen who charted the course for Texas government and, to the labor of the sturdy pioneers who laid the foundations for civilization in the Texas wilderness as will prove us worthy of our noble inheritance. The opportunity, men and women of Texas, is yours and mine. How shall we meet it?

On a historic day in March, 1836, a group of determined Texas colonists met in Nick Byars' blacksmith shop in the old town of Washington on the Brazos, and announced to the world in a ringing declaration that they would no longer endure the tyranny and injustice of Mexican misrule. Only a few days later Travis and his hundred and eighty-one brave men died for that cause in the blood-hallowed Alamo, the cry of the gallant leader echoing through all time: "God and Texas." In April, following the martyrdom of these heroes, Sam Houston and his soldiers avenged the massacre and made effective the declaration of their fellows at old Washington. Independence was won. The star of a new Texas rose to challenge the stars of heaven. It is shining still. Shall we increase its luster?

Exercising the right and privilege of suffrage, the people of Texas in general election have given a mandate that their state's history shall properly be commemorated. It is truly an undertaking of tremendous magnitude. It requires men and money, thought and planning and tremendous energy upon the part of all her citizens—men, women and children. The history of early Texas running counter with Mexico, with Spain and with France, will re-unite all these and many other States and Nations, we hope, in a celebration and panorama of pageantry never to be forgotten. It must truly be an exposition representative of olden as well as of modern time. It must be a real contribution to the educational life of the people of today, that they may see again in the heart of memory, the glories of San Jacinto and the Alamo, and remember the historical significance of Huntsville, Nacogdoches, Gonzales, Brenham and Goliad. It must be "Texanic" in proportion, it must have a high cultural and social background and contribute to the economic sides as well.

Our pioneers had the courage to meet the tests that confronted them. Shall we fail them—shall we fail ourselves, now that our opportunity is at hand to bring new glory to the Texas that they loved and that we love? Let us join as one in the effort to stage a Texas Centennial celebration that will reflect impressively the progress that has been scored in every field of endeavor in the hundred years that have passed since independence was won on the storied field of San Jacinto. Let us join in demanding that our representatives in public life authorize an appropriation for the Centennial celebrations, and the Central exposition, that will do credit to Texas and to us.

Now is a good time to write Rep-elect Eugene Worley at Austin and Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo, urging them to support a worthwhile Centennial program.

A Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON. — Senator Borah is licking his chops and all the other progressives are predicting a nice hot winter.

Santa Claus came early with a big bag of statistics. He gave the boys enough fodder to last all through the next Congress session.

There's an administration here which is pledged to partial redistribution of income and wealth. Roosevelt has publicly asserted the necessity of it. Virtually everyone in the administration supports the principle.

Even conservatives admit that mal-distribution of the boodle is one of the worst causes of our economic woes. The progressives, of course, have insisted that the New Deal has taken mere nibbles at the problem.

So along comes the Treasury to report that net incomes of a million dollars or more increased from 20 in 1932 to 46 in 1933. Which wouldn't be so bad if the Treasury hadn't also reported that net incomes of $5000 or less had dropped from $3,421,000 to $3,340,000. Corporation incomes rose 35 per cent.

Of course the progressive, poring eagerly over these figures, point out that nearly 10 months of 1933 was in the New Deal period—and that the old-fashioned concentration of wealth trend wasn't even checked.

What seems more important to them is the fact that figures available for 1934 demonstrate unmistakably that income statistics for the first full calendar year of the New Deal will be even more startling.

Donald Richberg has cited authoritative figures showing that profits of 402 industrial companies reported increased more than 600 per cent in the first half of 1934 over the first half of 1933—from $47,000,000 to $336,000,000.

Borah used similar figures in support of his charge that the Democratic party had become the party of big business.

These figures don't take into account incomes below $1,000 a year which have been increased or provided in full by relief payments and advantages to farmers. But they're potent enough to assure that "redistribution" will be one of the big congressional issues this winter.

Jim Farley, according to the best guessers on the inside of things, won't continue much longer in the dual role of postmaster-general and chairman of the Democratic National Committee. His severance from one job or the other will be a Roosevelt concession to Senator George Norris and the progressives.

But although it has always been commonly assumed that Farley would stay in the cabinet and give up the committee job, some reports now indicate that it's a toss-up whether he doesn't do the reverse.

First Assistant William W. Howes of South Dakota presumably would become postmaster-general if Farley left that post.

The most obvious successor to Farley as chairman would be his right hand man, Emil Hurja, who is in command at Democratic national headquarters. But Hurja is such a good hater and is so frequently hated in return—in contrast to the genial Farley—that strong objectives are raised.

Germany, Japan, and Senator Borah should be notified that the League of Nations has won another victory for peace—if you consider England, France and Italy the league.

We'll bet New York found more to marvel in Dr. Dafoe than he did in New York.

A Kansas farmer recently killed a snake which, he said, had two heads and signs of four legs. Kansas still sticks to prohibition.

Talking about geniuses, our little baby also must be as smart as Einstein, because we can't understand him either.

Some contract bridge expert has devised a new variation called Towie, while many of us are still trying to figure out how to play auction.

TEXAS HISTORY Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

Captain Don Diego Ortiz de Parrilla watched the men laying off plots of land near the site selected for the mission on the San Saba river, and thought about the work which they were doing. The fathers could be right in their surmises that the location was the best to be found, but he was still of the opinion that the San Saba river was no place for a mission. Mission San Luis de las Amarillas it was to be called, in honor of the Viceroy of New Spain.

Since the group of priests and settlers from San Antonio had first arrived, there had not been a sign of an Indian. Not an Apache, not a Comanche, not a Tejas; neither friend nor foe had appeared. The fathers had protested at Parrilla's idea of going elsewhere, and after threatening to wash their hands of the whole affair, Captain Parrilla ceased his arguments and followed their advice. So it was that crops were being planted, plots of land were being measured, and the mission and presidio were being built, three miles apart.

Day after day as the walls of the mission took shape, and the presidio stronghold neared completion, scouts were kept on the lookout for Indians. Still none came. Even after the Spaniards had been settled in their homes, no Indians appeared. A council of the priests and Captain Parrilla ended by having some messengers sent to the Apaches, asking them to come greet their friends. The messengers had results in the number of Indians, but not in attitude. By the middle of June, 3,000 Indians had come, with many horses strangely familiar to former residenents of Coahuila and the Rio Grande.

The fathers found the Apaches rather trying. To their surprise, the Apaches were indifferent and haughty. The chieftain informed the chief padre that his tribe would be glad to accept the missionaries, but they could not accept the faith at the present time, for they were going buffalo hunting. It was necessary to get enough hides to cover the floor, and enough meat for a season or two before they took up their abode at the presidio. They promised to return, however.

With a disheartened slump to his shoulders, Parrilla turned to the fathers who had paused in their duties to catch a last glimpse of the Indians disappearing over the hill. Now, if ever, the priests would consent to move Mission San Luis to the Llano river. Stubbornly courageous and hopeful, the priests refused. San Luis de las Amarillas remained on the San Saba river—only to be wiped out a year later in a terrible massacre.

Early one morning the residents of presidio of Mission San Luis de las Amarillas gathered at the gate to bid farewell to one of their priests, Father Varela. He was going back to the Queretaro school in Mexico; the first to leave the new presidio. Discouraged over the lack of Indians to convert, and positive that no good would ever come of the mission on the San Saba river, he felt it his duty to leave. A short time later, two other priests left. Don Pedro de Terreros, chief padre, tried to spend as much time as he could with his people, lest they become aware that he felt keenly his responsibility to them. Only three priests were with him at San Luis, and it would be defeat indeed if they were to leave.

The little post in the wilderness continued to exist, though the days were chiefly monotonous success of hours. The Apaches came often, but only for presents of buffalo meat. Each time, they thanked the fathers for the invitation to come live in the mission, but they insisted that their enemies, the Comanches, were on the warpath, and they did not wish to be discovered and attacked.

From afar off the two hundred and thirty seven residents (two hundred of whom were men) could hear the rumble of the stage coach wheels over the hard earth. Days when the supply train came in from San Antonio de Vera were the bright ones in the lives of those pioneers, shut off almost entirely from civilization. Letters from home, fresh food, news of other missions and presidios, and needed supplies were seized with the joy and anticipation of long weeks of patient waiting. When the supply train returned to San Antonio, it took news of the common, everyday tasks of the people: changing the watch, guarding the cattle and horses, bringing in firewood, and giving of presents to Apaches.

JOKER IN BILL MAKES LONG DICTATOR OF EVERY SCHOOL

BY ED DESOBRY, Associated Press Staff Writer. BATON, LOUISIANA, Dec. 18 (AP)—Fifteen thousand Louisiana school teachers will be drawn into the Huey Long dictatorship when the 33 bills he is putting through the present special session finally are enacted Thursday and take effect 20 days later.

The "joker" in one bill, placing the jobs of all teachers in the state at the whim of a Long-controlled board, went unnoticed for the first two days of the session. The state house buzzed over the measure today as the house prepared to pass the bills and send them to the senate at 9 p. m. (EST) for reference to committee before the upper body passes them Thursday.

The house will occur in all amendments the same day, and another of Long's special sessions—the third this year—will be finished.

When the "teacher patronage" bill came before the house ways and means committee yesterday, Long sketchily explained that it merely gave the state budget committee power to compel parishes to allow children from other parishes to attend their schools.

Printed copies of the bill revealed that the act also granted the budget committee supervision of the appointment of all school teachers. That committee is composed of Gov. O. K. Allen, State Superintendent of Education T. H. Harris, and State Treasurer J. S. Cave, all elected with Long's support.

Other bills were packed with as much dynamite. A number prescribed punitive measures for the New Orleans administration of Mayor T. Semmes Walmisley, Long's antagonist in the "army" September primary, which Long's forces won.

Still others in the hopper carried along the senator's banner of "hit the corporations" and help the "poor folks." For the third time this year Long raised the corporation franchise tax to bring in a half million dollars in added revenue with which he plans to establish schools of dentistry and pharmacy at New Orleans. The present act increases the tax from $150 to $200 on each $1,000 capital stock.

Germany Hears of Brady Turkey Trot

BRADY, Dec. 18. (AP)—The fame of Brady's turkey industry has become international. As a result of several articles published by magazines in Germany on the Brady "turkey trot," the Brady chamber of commerce has received a number of inquiries from farmers in that country.

A few days ago, Mayor B. A. Hallum received a letter from a farmer in Germany. It contained an order for turkey eggs.

If this order is completed it probably will be the longest distance turkey eggs have ever been shipped. Officials of the Brady Poultry Co-operative association, which has shipped eggs all over the United States, believe that the shipment can be made.

Blessing of the Skis

Once a year, just before the start of winter sports, ski jumpers in the Laurentian district of Canada gather at a tiny Catholic church at Val Morin and participate in the Mass of the Skis. Here is a group gathered in the church, skis held aloft, receiving the blessings of the patron saint of the skiers.

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: The man who killed John Osborne, apparently stole the formula for a new and valuable metal. Nicholas Trench, just acquitted of the murder, learns from Molly O'Brien, daughter of the inventor of the formula, that Osborne himself had stolen the formula from Molly's father. Molly also has saved Nicholas from two foreigners who had come to his studio demanding the ubiquitous formula by pretending to call the police. Nicholas and Molly are talking in the former's studio.

Chapter 12 THE SYNDICATE

I stared at the girl for a moment, without speaking. "To judge by appearances," I said finally, "it looks to me as if our friend Osborne had been chattering."

"He may have known Dimitri and he may have told him something. Perhaps they had arranged to work together, and then, at the last moment, when father died..."

"That must be it," I cut in. "Osborne saw his chance and suddenly decided that if he were going to be a thief there was no point in sharing the plunder. I'm not surprised that the other lad was a trifle annoyed. He probably—by Jove! yes—now one comes to think of it that would explain everything!"

"How do you mean?"

"Put yourself in Osborne's place. Supposing you'd played a dirty trick on a man like Dimitri, and somehow or other you found out that he'd managed to get on your track. What would you do — what would anyone do?"

"Run away," she said.

"Exactly. And if somebody hadn't scattered Osborne's brain over the hearth-rug..." I stopped. "But let's finish your story."

"There's not much more to tell. I'd already made up my mind that you were innocent, and I wasn't going to stop in there and see you tortured. I was waiting until Dimitri turned his back to me. Directly he did I meant to shoot him, and then I suddenly caught sight of the telephone by your bed, and that gave me the idea of pretending to ring up the police."

"I didn't even go near it as a matter of fact. I stopped just where I was, and if Dimitri had come upstairs as he wanted to, I should have fired at him as soon as he opened the door. With a man of his kind there was nothing else to do."

"I entirely agree with you," I said, "but, taking it all round, perhaps we're better off as we are." I got up, and walking slowly across the room stood for a moment looking down into the empty stove.

"I'm not much of a hand at thanking people," I began; "it always embarrasses me, but..."

"Please!" She rose too. "I don't want you to thank me. I only want you to believe that all I've told you is absolutely true. I know it sounds..."

"Of course I believe you," I interrupted. "It's much too impossible a yarn for anyone to invent, and, besides, a girl like you doesn't tell lies." I began to laugh quietly. "I'm thinking of Jerry," I explained. "He'll be absolutely all over this."

She looked a trifle bewildered. "Who's Jerry?" she asked.

"Oh, I forgot you didn't know him." I came back to where she was standing. "Jerry's a rather particular pal of mine. His full and proper name's Sir Jerrol Mordant—we were up at Cambridge together—the same time that Osborne was there. I got a wire from him this evening to say that he'd just arrived back in England and that he'd be round here first thing tomorrow."

"But"—she hesitated—"do you propose to tell him about—about tonight?"

"Why not?" I demanded. "He'll jump at the chance of coming in with us. He's always on the lookout for some fresh excitement—this will be a lot more amusing than potting snipe on a Dalmatian island."

"Then you do mean to help me?"

"Of course. Why, hang it all, we must work together. We're practically in the same boat. You want to find the man who's got your formula and I want to find the man who killed Osborne. Then there's the question of common or garden grat-er Stellan. I wonder what his real name is."

"He sounded to me as if he was a Russian or a Pole. I've met Russians in America who spoke very like that."

"Well, he's a nasty bit of work anyhow," I observed. "I should hate him to find out that it was you who had messed up his arrangements."

"He is bound to guess that," she said calmly. "We can't work together without the other side knowing it."

"No," I admitted, "I suppose not, but it's your going back all alone to that empty studio that I don't like. If they should take it into their heads..." I pulled up short as a brilliant inspiration suddenly struck me. "If it comes to that," I continued, "why on earth need you go back? Why not stop here until it's daylight?"

"Here!" she gave an almost imperceptible start.

"Yes, why not? It would be madness to risk more trouble just for the sake of a mere silly convention. Besides, as far as that goes, it's all perfectly proper and respectable. You can sleep in my bedroom and I'll curl upon the sofa. Even Mrs. Grundy herself..."

"No, I'm not stupid about that sort of thing. I wouldn't mind staying here; in fact, I should feel a lot less frightened if I did; what worries me is the idea of turning you out of your own room. Why shouldn't I have the sofa? I am sure you must want a good night's sleep after what you've been through today."

"I shall sleep considerably better," I said, "if I know that you're safely locked in there. As for my being comfortable — well, you needn't bother about that. Compared with a prison bed it will be absolute luxury."

Her blue eyes scanned my face. "It's queer how different people are," she said slowly. "I wonder why God makes some of them like you and others like Osborne and Dimitri."

I bowed. "It's a question," I said, "that has been much debated. And talking of Dimitri," I went on, "how do you feel about lending me that revolver of yours just for the night? No one can disturb you unless they come through the studio first."

"Of course you must have it."

She handed it to me without hesitation, and slipping it into my pocket, I glanced at my watch. "Close on half past ten," I observed. "Would you like to turn in now, or..."

"Yes, I think perhaps it would be best," she rose from her chair. "I don't feel up to much more tonight and we shall have lots of time for talking in the morning."

Oil Production Of State Exceeds Million Barrels

AUSTIN, Dec. 18 (AP)—Texas oil wells legally produced at a rate of 1,001,067 barrels today, 60,000 barrels more than the limit for early December. It was the first time in many months legal production exceeded 1,000,000 barrels.

State proration schedules were boosted effective at 7 a. m. today by the Texas Railroad commission to absorb all but 4,743 barrels of an increase of 65,500 barrels in the federal allocation granted for the remainder of December and January.

As new schedules were made effective until February 1, the commission cancelled a statewide hearing set for December 22.

A recheck of federal bureau of mines estimates indicated a market demand for 1,005,800 barrels instead of 941,300 barrels as forecast December 1. State schedules were held below the federal limit to absorb gains in East Texas and production in new fields.

All areas shared increases except west central Texas, which remained at 31,000 barrels, and government wells in southwest Texas, which was cut 410 barrels to 18,645. West Texas received the largest gain, 18,385 barrels to 148,102; gulf coast next 16,153 to 177,786, and East Texas 15,412 to an estimated 419,000. Increases and new schedules for other districts: Panhandle 2,000 to 58,000; North Texas 2,500 to 88,500; East Central Texas 2,580 to 52,102, and southwest Texas 262 to 37,122.

BY REMOTE CONTROL

CHICAGO — By remote control from her kitchen, or wherever she happens to be, Mrs. Joseph Stycynski promised to control the speed of her husband's laundry truck. She has a court order to that effect. Stycynski appeared to face five warrants for speeding, but his wife pleaded so effectively for leniency that the truck driver was given probation with orders to obey Mrs. Stycynski's cautioning.

W. M. U. CIRCLES MAKE CHRISTMAS PLANS TO AID OTHERS

BASKETS WILL BE PREPARED FOR FAMILIES

MEETINGS FOR THIS YEAR ARE CLOSED YESTERDAY

Aid for unfortunate families during the holiday season was planned by all circles of First Baptist Missionary union yesterday, when final meetings of this year were conducted. Other meetings of this month will be suspended.

Two baskets will be prepared for needy families by members of Anna Sallee circle, they decided in a meeting with Mrs. Wilson Hatcher. The opening prayer was by Mrs. J. A. Arwood, and Mrs. Edward Pierce presented the devotional and taught a lesson from Galatians.

Banner Awarded.

Mrs. R. W. Tucker, general chairman of missions, presented this circle with the attendance banner for November, then gave the benediction.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. D. B. Jameson, Floyd Young, Dee Campbell, Floyd Yeager, J. C. Roundtree, Albert Taylor, Maxine Polson, F. D. Blanton, Ollie White, Harvey Anderson, Ernest Fletcher, Anna Brooks, and those on program.

Mrs. Walter Kirby was a visitor with Alice Bagby circle, meeting with Mrs. E. M. Dean. Mrs. T. B. Solomon directed the lesson on Prophecies of the Birth of Christ. After planning their Christmas basket, Mmes. C. E. Cheatham, Mary Binford, A. L. Prigmore, Solomon, and Dean enjoyed refreshments.

Mrs. Gatlin Hostess.

Mrs. R. E. Gatlin was hostess to Blanche Rose Walker circle. Mrs. Joe Foster gave the opening prayer and the devotional lesson from II Corinthians. Others present for the study and social hour were Mmes. W. R. Hallmark, W. M. Moore, and Hugh Ellis.

Lily Hundley circle welcomed a new member, Mrs. Payne, when it met with Mrs. F. E. Leech. Mrs.

DOUBLE CHAPEL PROGRAM WILL START HOLIDAY

B. M. Baker Students Invite Visitors Friday

A Christmas chapel program at B. M. Baker school will be presented in two divisions Friday. First, second, and third grade pupils will give their program at 1 p. m., and fourth, fifth, and sixth grades at 2 o'clock.

Every patron of the school has a special invitation for this double program, Principal J. A. Meek has announced, and others who are interested are invited.

Numbers for the first hour have been arranged as follows:

Songs, Silent Night and Night Before Christmas, by Miss Larsh's room.

Story, Mrs. R. B. Fisher.

Play, Miss Chapman's room.

Playlet, Santa's Toy Shop, Miss Fuller's room.

Christmas carols and a reading, Miss Wulffman's room.

Reading and acrostic, Mrs. Gordon's room.

The two o'clock program will feature music by the band, "Baker's Own," directed by Walter J. Hurst; a number from Sam Houston school; and an address by a guest speaker, E. G. Barrett.

R. W. Tucker led the study of Galatians, and Mrs. G. H. Covington gave the closing prayer.

Mmes. Dee Campbell, H. E. Crook, K. T. May, C. L. Stephens, Tucker, Covington, Payne, and Leech were present.

Aided by Mrs. Roosevelt's Prize

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is the first lady of the universe to Walter Fox, 8, son of a Philadelphia truck driver. He will be sent to Warm Springs, Ga., to be treated for infantile paralysis because she stipulated that the $1000 Gimbel prize, awarded her for humanitarian works, be used for that purpose. Walter is pictured above with his mother as they examine the check that revives hope he will overcome the effects of the disease.

CLASS LEAVES PARTY PLAYS SANTA MONDAY

SONGS AND STORIES OF CHRISTMAS ON PROGRAM

The Christmas present of First Baptist Fidelity class to a family here was delivered last evening, after members gathered for a party had decorated a tree and arranged their gifts around it.

The entire party delivered the tree and gifts, then returned for refreshments, a short business meeting, and a program. A solo by Mrs. C. O. Huber, reading by Mrs. T. F. Morton, duet by Mr. and Mrs. Huber, and carols by the group made up the program. Each told of the best Christmas she remembered.

Misses Kathleen Milan, Louise McLean, and Margaret Jones were hostesses at the John Bradley home, where a lighted outdoor Christmas tree welcomed the guests to a room beautifully decked in holiday colors.

Guests were Misses Josephine Cariker, Ethleen Murrell, Christine Young, Lema Jane Butcher, Opal Cox, Marnie Abbott, Geneva Groom, Theima Thorpe, Eloise Lane, Hildred Brake, Bernice Larsh, Donnie Lee Stroupe, Llewellyn Shelby; Mrs. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Huber.

CHRISTMAS TO BE THEME FOR CHURCH NIGHT

Cantata on Faith, Food, and Fun Program

A Christmas program will be given at the weekly Faith, Food, and Fun night of First Methodist church tomorrow evening, beginning at 8:30 with a covered dish supper.

The study of the birth of Christ, will be concluded in the lesson hour immediately following the supper.

Famous paintings of the Madonna and Child will be presented next, with a brief story of each.

To climax the program, children from the junior department, of which Mrs. R. B. Fisher is superintendent, will present a Christmas cantata, Music in the Air.

The entire program will require only an hour and a quarter, and will end promptly at 7:45. Gaston Foote, pastor, urges all members of the church to be present, in families.

Youngest Pupil

The very youngest pupil in the Vincent studio of dancing is Elizabeth Stewart, above, who will appear in the studio's annual Christmas charity revue tomorrow evening. She will be seen in the "Santa Claus Is Coming" song and dance number.

GUESTS TO BE ON CHRISTMAS CHAPEL HOUR

Two Programs To Be Given at Sam Houston

Christmas music, plays, and stories will have a part on the Sam Houston chapel program Thursday morning. Supt. and Mrs. R. B. Fisher will be program guests.

Two chapel hours are scheduled, one for primary grades beginning at 9, and for intermediate grades starting at 10. Numbers have been announced as follows:

Devotional, J. W. Lawson.

Prayer, Eugene French.

Solo, The Holy City, Mr. Fisher.

Miracle play of the nativity, by sixth grade pupils.

Group singing, Jingle Bells; Deck the Halls.

Santa Finds Old Toys Best, playlet by primary children.

Special music arranged by A. C. Cox.

A Christmas Box from Aunt Jane, by Mrs. Stout's pupils.

Little Folks Santa Forgot, by Miss Chapman's pupils.

Claim Betty Gow Has Sailed for U. S. in Disguise

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Dec. 18.—Betty Gow, who was nurse of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby, sailed today for the United States.

Her name was not on the passenger list, it was learned upon good authority, but rumors said she boarded the Aquitania at 11 p. m. last night under the name of "Taylor" and locked herself in the cabin until the ship sailed.

Although a number of women boarded the Aquitania after the arrival of boat trains from London, none of them answered the description of the former Lindbergh nurse.

Officials of the White Star Cunard line said there was no trace of her aboard the ship. There have been reports she was going to America to answer in the prosecution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann when he goes on trial in New Jersey next month for the murder of the baby.

Dagmar's Adventures in Santa Claus Land

BY SIGRID ARNE

SYNOPSIS: Dagmar and a tin soldier, two dolls from Loyal Land, find themselves in the home of an earth-worm who saved them from prison in the mole kingdom. They must find some way to get back a magic pebble lost at the mole king's throne.

Chapter VIII

Disguised As A Mole

Early the next morning the tin soldier was awakened. He was so happy at having escaped from the angry moles that he marched up and down the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earth-worm.

Suddenly he clicked his heels in front of Mr. Earth-worm and said, "I have an idea for getting back your magic pebble from those horrid moles."

"You remember the tin soldier and Dagmar, the doll, had lost a pebble which could make the owner invisible. They had to get it back because it had been the gift of the Queen of Fairies."

"I'll just march all my troops down there and take the moles prisoners," said the tin soldier.

"Never do," said the earth-worm. "The moles are very strong. They gnaw right through the thick roots of Santa's holly trees."

"Oh, dear, that's right," said Dagmar. "We must hurry and stop them from ruining Santa's holly trees."

It was such a knotty problem that they all sat with their heads in their hands and thought.

"If we could just get a skin that looks like a mole's," wished the tin soldier aloud.

"I have an idea," said Mrs. Earth-worm. "I could sew all my furs together and that would be your disguise."

"Then I'll recover the pebble!" exclaimed the tin soldier. "I'll put on the disguise and just walk into the mole king's hall, up to the throne where I lost the pebble, find it, and come out again."

"Oh, soldier, that's dangerous," said Dagmar.

"Soldiers like danger," said the soldier, majestically, but his knees were knocking together.

"It's as good a plan as any," said the earth-worm. "If we had an idea of the location my friends and I could tunnel you right to the throne, and you could slip into the room unnoticed."

"Better yet," said the soldier.

So that's what he did. They all tip-toed down those stairs which the dolls had taken into the earth kingdom until they reached the door through which Dagmar had peeked. Then Mr. Earth-worm dug into the ground and headed for the throne as near as he could figure. Finally he came back to say he had found the spot, and a dozen more earth-worms began digging a tunnel big enough for the tin soldier.

Meanwhile the soldier tried on the disguise. Mrs. Earth-worm had of course helped him fit it over his tin suit.

Then everything was ready. The soldier said goodbye and started off. Just as he was about to disappear into the tunnel little Dagmar, quite frightened, threw her arms around him and hugged him.

"Don't worry," he said—and was gone.

Tomorrow—Recovering the Magic Pebble.

Liner Streaks

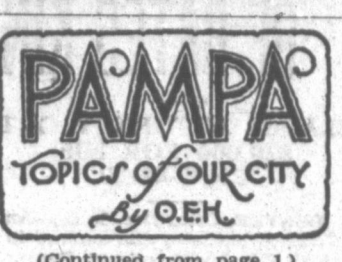

Out to Save a Small Freighter

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—The crack liner Europa pounded her way through heavy North-Atlantic seas today to the aid of the small Norwegian freighter Sisto, which was wallowing helplessly in mountainous seas, her bridge, rudder and lifeboats washed away.

The tanker Mobil Oil already was at the side of the stricken freighter which came to grief approximately 600 miles north of the Azores in the same vicinity where two other ships had encountered difficulty and sent out distress calls during the last few days.

The Mobil Oil pumped oil on the sea all night in an attempt to calm the waters sufficiently to effect a rescue, but this morning her oil was running low and she broadcast a message asking how soon a ship with oil could arrive.

The liner President Harding, which picked up and relayed the appeal for oil, said a hurricane had blown all night, but was abating somewhat this morning. At that time the Tanker had been unable to "do anything at all."

The message from the Europa, signed by her master, Oskar Scharf, did not indicate when the giant liner would reach the site. It was assumed here that Scharf had reduced the speed of his ship because of the weather.

The Little Harvester

Vol. 4 PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1934 No. 15

FULL HOUSE SEES 'LAUGH CLOWN' SECOND SHOW WILL BE TONIGHT

Mystery Comedy Is Filled With Laughs

A full house laughed heartily throughout the performance of the senior class play "Laugh Clown" last night. The mystery comedy will be presented again tonight in the city hall auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Bill Parks, Harvester guard, in the role of Fritz the butler, ex-burglar who just couldn't conceal his tough past, carried off the show. Elizabeth Graham gave an excellent performance of a difficult part, that of the fussy society woman, Mrs. Hurley.

Ella Faye O'Keefe was charming in the leading feminine role as Pat, the younger Hurley daughter who falls in love with the chauffeur Danny, played by Roy Webb. Georgia Mae Rogers as Gallagher Starling was altogether pleasing.

Jim Bob Johnson as Uncle Jake provoked much laughter, though after his mix-up with ghosts in an effort to get $5.00 with which to marry Aunt Sue, his black face was showing white. The part of Aunt Sue was played by Nadine Randolph.

Byck Talley did a good piece of work as the detective who was called in to solve the theft of the $40,000 diamond. La Vern Courson was the slick crook, aided by Dorothy Darling as Dale Terrence, who also had a part to conceal.

Other members of the cast included Virginia Bechtelmer as the snobbish Evelyn Hurley, John Martin as her brother Arthur, Jerry Mitchell as the maid who liked Fritz's freshness, and L. J. Coombes as the gardener.

The play proved also to be somewhat of a style show, a number of very lovely gowns being displayed by the girls, while masculine attire ranged from overalls and riding breeches to tuxedos.

Ben Gull, high school dramatics teacher, directed the play. Burton Tolbert was his student assistant. Tom Rose Jr. as properties man and Roger Townsend as stage manager handled things back stage well.

Paul Schneider was in charge of the ushering, assisted by Lloyd Hamilton, Harriett Hunkapillar, Martha Jones, Dorothy Brumley, and Daisyann Shields.

Minnie Dittmeyer and Dorothy Decker handled the ticket sales, assisted by most of the members of the senior class. Proceeds from the play will be applied on the class trip to Carlsbad Cavern next spring. Tickets are 20 and 35 cents.

Advertising on the programs was sold by Harry Barnett, Billie Bratton, and Tom Rose Jr. Publicity was handled by Otto Rice, Wilber Irving, and Madge Tiemann.

26 Girls Attend Buffet Luncheon

Home economics III A girls served a buffet luncheon last Friday. Marie Tinsley acted as hostess. Jean Mann poured punch, and Christina Hendrix served salad.

Those who attended were Velma Ayers, Herma Beckham, Dorothy Brumley, Mattie Lee Clay, Vesta Connor, Mildred Covey, Paloma Cox.

Dorothy Decker, Edith Crocker, Marie Farrington, Dorothy Fortney, Onteta Fashier, Ollie Feltham, Elizabeth Graham, Margie Hampton, Christina Hendrix, Ora Johnson.

La Rue Little, Pauline Noel, Nadine Randolph, Faye Stokes, Marie Tinsley, Mary Elizabeth Nees, Jean Mann, Lois Wise, and Miss Angela Strain.

BASKETBALL GIRLS WILL NOT PLAY DURING HOLIDAYS
The girls' basketball club has scheduled no games for the holidays season, according to Miss Kathleen Milam, coach, but girls will be expected to observe training rules strictly.

The Harvesters' lost in the tournament at Miami last week-end to the Allison team, which won the tournament. Previously they defeated McLean.

SOME CONVICTS SMARTER BY FAR THAN MEN HIRED TO GUARD THEM

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 18. (AP)—After five years as warden of the state penitentiary here, W. W. Wald finds he has been unable to discover the main reason so many good men go to prison, some of them repeatedly.

"It must be something in their blood," the warden said. "Many of them are of better than average intelligence. They could 'get along' in the world. Sometimes they are smarter, by far, than the men I can get to guard them."

The custodian of thousands of criminals mentioned the case of an ex-convict from Louisiana and Arkansas who was serving a 14-year sentence in Texas for forgery. One day the prisoner received a letter advising him his little daughter had suffered a severe leg burn. He immediately started asking for a furlough, which he was granted, so he could go to his child.

"I called one of my guards in and told him he was to take the prisoner to Fort Worth," Warden Wald explained. "I told the guard not to come back without him. I warned him the prisoner was a 'runner' and would 'soft-talk' you to death in order to get those cuffs off his hands just once. So the guard and his prisoner started for Fort Worth. Just as I had expected, I received a telephone call from the guard, saying the prisoner 'got away.'"

"Just as we went into the hospital room where his daughter lay, he begged me to take the irons off so she wouldn't see him like that," the guard said, "and when I turned to look, he dashed down the hall. I ran him to the back porch—we were on the second story—and there he jumped and escaped."

"So you see," the warden continued, "just how hard it really is to keep them in. Looks like with that much sense they would stay out. But a month later this prisoner who escaped was captured by the chief of police in Kansas City, Mo., and returned to us. I sent him to a farm when he got back and, in 1933, he was granted a general pardon."

"Later, he violated it, and was returned to finish his 14-year-term. He is now on Eastham farm doing time. His record there is clear, he is making 'double-time' for being especially trustworthy on his job and, in general, is making a good man."

The warden shook his head, still puzzled for want of an explanation of this case and countless others of like nature he has encountered.

Thursday Is Last Day To Buy Annals

Thursday will tell the story of the annual—whether or not The Harvester is to be revived this year.

Those who have been loyal enough to back the return of the annual by buying one in advance are wearing numbered green tags.

Only a few more than a third of the required 300 copies have been sold. Many students who are really interested in having an annual this year are making it an impossibility by failing to buy now.

Unless 300 copies are sold by Friday morning, the money will be refunded to those who bought, and the annual deal will be off. Annals may be purchased at the school book store for $1.50.

3 Cage Games Are Scheduled For This Week

Three basketball games are scheduled for Friday and Saturday, according to Coach Mitchell. The Perryton Rangers will be the opponents.

Reserves of the Harvesters will play the first game Friday night at 7:30. Immediately following that the regular Harvester team will play.

Saturday night there will only be one game. It will start at 8 o'clock. Students will be admitted free to these games. Admission for adults will be 25 cents.

Did You Know?

All library books are now due? Fine new lighting fixtures have been installed in the principal's and superintendent's offices?

Finals in the intramural basketball games have been postponed until Thursday night?

Twelve Hi-Y boys are now wearing their club sweaters? They are white coat sweaters with blue sleeve stripes and a large emblem on the front?

Judging Boys Win Silver Loving Cup

Another silver loving cup has been added to the trophies of P. H. S. The poultry judging team, composed of Earl Rice, Boyd Owens, and Clyde Baird, won the trophy for taking first place in the contest held at Panhandle last Saturday. Earl Rice was high point individual out of the 54 entries.

This was the first time in history that Pampa team has outscored a McLean entry. McLean's team placed third, with Claudia's coming out second.

Foster Kinzer and Floyd Stevens, alternates, also made the trip to Panhandle.

Mr. Lester plans to enter his boys in several contests in the near future, one of which will be held at Slaton, Jan. 4.

Mr. Lester took them to Amarillo Thursday to look over the birds which would be judged by Walter Burton of Arlington, who is a registered American Poultry association judge, and to bring back the eight birds entered by Pampa boys in the poultry show.

Supt. Fisher Will Sing in Assembly

Music will form the larger part of the assembly program tomorrow morning.

Supt. R. B. Fisher will sing "The Holy City." A quartet composed of Howard Zimmerman, Norman Carr, David Whittensberg, and Emmitt Smith will sing Christmas songs.

Third hour classes will be skipped, and second hour classes will be held following assembly.

Cagers Announce Holiday Schedule

Basketball games will be played throughout the Christmas holidays, according to Coach Mitchell.

Sayre, Okla., will play here Dec. 26-27. Happy comes here Dec. 28-29. Closing the holidays, Tulsa is scheduled to play here Jan. 2-3.

The Gorillas have not scheduled any games for the holidays but will probably play.

Program Contest Is Held On Use of Spare Time

A heated contest to see which can put on the best programs has been carried on in Miss Schulkey's home room between Albertson Schulkey and Sarah Pafford.

Albertson forged into the lead today by having students from the negro school put on a program.

Mr. Fisher and Mr. Stone and the home rooms of Miss Cox, Mrs. Alexander, and Mr. Wallrabenstein were invited to the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Briggs and children and Burnham Briggs drove here from Borger yesterday afternoon upon learning of the illness of their father, George W. Briggs.

School To Be Dismissed At 2:30 Friday Afternoon

School will be dismissed at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon for the Christmas holidays and will be resumed on January 7.

School authorities have passed a ruling that there will be no exchange of gifts at school.

TOUHY WANTED AS NUMBER 1 PUBLIC ENEMY

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—talk—write—do—my best to make this my celebration. It is my achievement. I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

IS SUSPECTED IN HUGE BROOKLYN ARMORED CAR ROBBERY

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Report that investigators had uncovered new secrets of the underworld today sent manhunters on a new public enemy drive which made "Terrible Tommy" Touhy the most widely hunted man in America.

Backtracking the trail of the late John Dillinger and his henchmen, the investigators disclosed that they were hunting Touhy as a suspect in the $427,000 Brooklyn armored car robbery of last August and that they believe he is now leader of the combined forces of the remnants of the Dillinger and Touhy gangs.

At the same time the investigation disclosed that it was Touhy and not Dillinger who engineered the Michigan City, Ind., state prison break that unleashed ten Dillinger mobsters on the middle west in September, 1933.

The information that Touhy was behind the prison break came, the investigators said, from a confession of a civil employe of the Michigan City prison, which is now in the possession of J. Edward Barco, deputy attorney general of Indiana. Barco is reported to have helped in the disclosure of the arrest of Joseph Burns, wanted for the Brooklyn robbery by posing as a gangster to uncover underworld secrets.

Touhy, the investigators said, had frequently visited Burns at the apartment where Burns was arrested last Sunday. He is a brother of Roger Touhy, who with three henchmen is serving a 99-year sentence in the Illinois state prison at Joliet for kidnaping John Factor of Chicago, the international speculator.

Meanwhile Burns, who was among the 10 who fled the Indiana state prison, was questioned in an attempt to link him with a dozen or more crimes, in addition to the Brooklyn robbery. One rumor connected him with the recent theft of $33,000 in money and jewelry from the Indiana Dunes cottage of Thos. Molay, Chicago head of the moving picture operators' union.

and 1936 on an intensive nationwide advertising campaign to tell the world of the economic and material advancement of Texas in the last hundred years and to depict the glamor, romance and patriotism of Texas' early days. A goal of $1,000,000 tentatively has been set for this campaign, the benefits of which would accrue to all of Texas.

Girls to Honor Mothers With Tea

To show parents what special projects the home economics girls are carrying on this year, the third year classes will give teas in honor of their mothers Thursday and Friday afternoon.

The teas will be held in the home economics reception room from 1:30 to 3 o'clock. The fifth hour girls will be hostesses on Thursday and the fourth hour girls on Friday.

The girls have been learning how to serve buffet luncheons and teas, both formal and informal.

Geometry Students Attend 'Kid' Party

Students in Mrs. Norman's first hour plane geometry class attended a kid party in the home of Lois Wise, 1003 Christine street, last Wednesday evening. The party was the result of an absent and tardy contest recently completed.

The geometry "kids," when not playing very childish games, sat on the floor and played with their toys, which could not be left at home. A contest was held and a toy prize was given.

Refreshments of apples and dixie cups were served to the following: Dorothy Barnes, Garvin Elkins, Betty Horn, Melvin Lancaster, Evelyn Nash, Kathleen O'Hara, Pauline Stewart, Lois Wise, Rosemary Hinkle.

Verlone Anderson, Rosemary Hampton, Mildred Covey, Allen Wise, Edna Mills, Cal Pearce, Junior Strickland, Mrs. Norman, and Mrs. Wacker.

HARVESTER CAGERS TO PLAY SAYRE, HAPPY AND TULIA IN NEXT 2 WEEKS

4 GAMES WILL BE PLAYED IN COMING WEEK

PERRYTON TO BE FIRST FOE, THEN HAPPY AND HENNETS

The Harvester basketball team will play six home games during the Christmas holidays, Coach Odus Mitchell announced yesterday afternoon. Then the team will take the road for several games before more home engagements.

Miss Kathleen Milam's Harvestettes will remain idle during the holidays but will start an active campaign following the opening of school after the New Year. Miss Milam will go home for the holidays.

The Harvesters first opponents will be the Perryton Rangers, here for games Friday and Saturday nights. The second teams of the two schools will meet before the regular game Friday night. Only one game will be played Saturday night. Game time Friday will be at 7:30 o'clock with starting time Saturday night, 30 minutes later.

Perryton is said to have a good team this season. The Rangers won their invitation tournament Saturday night by defeating the Borger Bulldogs in a hard game. The team has been practicing for several weeks and the boys have gotten their eye on the hoop.

Four games will be played next week. The Sayre, Okla., high school team will be here December 26 and 27. On December 28 and 29 the Happy Jacks will invade Pampa. The other two games will be played January 2 and 3 with the Tulia Hornets providing the opposition. The games will be called at 8 o'clock.

Admission to the holiday games will be 25 cents for adults with students being admitted free.

Coach Mitchell divided his squad yesterday afternoon into two teams and sending the rest to the Gorilla coached by Harry Kelley. Half of the Harvesters squad will be turned over to Coach E. N. Dennard, with both groups practicing at the same time. Several scrimmage sessions will be held this week to get the team in condition for the opening game.

The Harvesters entered the Miami tournament last week but were eliminated by Allison, tournament winner, by one point. The Harvesters have been practicing less than two weeks and have not gotten used to the hardwood after pounding the turf for several months.

Only J. R. Green and Bill Dunaway of the 1934-35 starting team are eligible this season. Three squadmen and some promising newcomers from last year's Gorilla squad are trying for positions on the starting team.

The Harvesters will practice at 7 o'clock tonight and Thursday night and at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

'35 Prospect

DRAKE, back

One of the Harvesters who will return next season is Bob Drake, fast little halfback from the 1934 squad. Drake was a valuable player this season and much is expected of him next year. Drake can carry the mail and he is also a good pass receiver.

Warner Eleven Leave Tuesday For Sugar Bowl

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18 (AP)—Two of Temple university's warriors who will go south to battle Tulane in the inaugural Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans on New Year's day are hospitalized.

Dave Smukler, fullback, has a gripe and End Roy Lorenz, also is being treated. Both are expected to be ready to entrain Thursday when the squad named by Glenn Pop Warner leaves for Baton Rouge, La., where the team will use the Louisiana State university field for its scrimmaging.

Only light workouts are planned here and Warner says he is anxious to get the players south "before something really serious happens."

Nassau's Golf Tourney Starts

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 18 (AP)—Nassau's first big money golf tournament since the boom days of 1928 started today as a field of 67 players teed off in the $5,000 British colonial open.

Gene Sarazen, winner of the last tournament after a playoff with Johnny Farrell, has remained the island's unofficial open champion for six years.

This year, however, Col. Henry L. Doherty, hotel owner, and Governor Bede Clifford bid for the prize-seeking golf artists.

Headed by Olin Dutra, United States open champion, many of the prize winners in the Miami Biltmore open last week flew here during the week-end in special aerial ferries to try for the top prize of $500.

Nassau fans still were gasping over the disdain the American pros showed for par yesterday in their practice rounds. Al Watrous, Birmingham, Mich., cracked perfect figures by three strokes with a 65, going out in a 30 with the help of four birdies.

GOPHERS ARE NOSED OUT BY CHAMP CARDS

DEAN CLUB RATED AS OUTSTANDING OF 1934 SEASON

NOE: This is the first of five stories detailing the results of the fourth annual Associated Press poll on the year's outstanding sports competitors and developments.

BY ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—It seems to be highly debatable in this year's sporting roundup whether it was any harder to beat the celebrated Dean brothers on the baseball field than it was to tackle Pug Lund or Stan Kostka, the galloping Gophers, on the gridiron.

Whatever the feelings on this hypothetical issue, the fact today is that the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, featuring the Dean boys, emerged the winners over Minnesota's undefeated football champions in the Associated Press poll to determine the outstanding team of 1934.

The Cardinals are the third successive major league ball club to be acclaimed the best team of the year, in any sport, by vote of the nation's sports editors and writers, who rate the finishing drive of the National league champions as the greatest in the history of the game.

As one observer expressed it: "You can't crack guys without nerves, like the Deans and Pepper Martin. They never think about losing. What putters those birds would be on the last green with the title at stake." Previous baseball winners were the world champion New York Yankees of 1932 and the Giants of 1933. The last college football team to be voted the No. 1 sports aggregation was Southern California's 1931 eleven.

Compilation of ballots in the biggest country-wide response yet recorded in the annual A. P. poll disclosed a two-team race for votes from start to finish.

Asked to name the three leading teams, in order of preference, 60 out of a total of 109 editors cast their No. 1 vote for the Cardinals while 34 put Minnesota's Gophers at the top of the list.

The final standing on points was St. Louis 241, Minnesota 215, because the Gophers ran strong in the season's three place nominations. Minnesota picked up 48 votes for second place and 17 for third while the Cardinals collected 27 and 7, respectively.

Points were figured on the basis of three for first place, two for second and one for third.

Only four other teams figured in the first-place balloting. The Chicago Bears received 7 votes and finished third in the poll, with 57 points, despite their defeat in the play-off game with the New York Giants for the National Professional Football league championship.

The experts took this setback into consideration but decided it could not offset the otherwise remarkable record of the Bears on professional gridirons. The Giants scored only 12 points.

The Detroit Tigers, American league baseball champions, received five first-place ballots and wound up fourth with 42 points. Two observers voted the triumphant United States Walker club golfers as the most outstanding team of the remaining ballot put Yale's football "Iron Men", the conquerors of Princeton, at the top.

Although covering a wide range, the poll took recognition of only one foreign entry, the British Davis cup team, which, on nine ballots, finished eighth on the list, with 10 points.

Since they will play in the Rose Bowl football classic on New Year's day, it is noteworthy that Alabama "outpointed" Stanford, 14 to 4, in the voting.

California's crew, Poughkeepsie varsity winner; Stanford's great track team, intercollegiate titleholders; and the all-East Polo four also were singled out for applause.

The tabulation on outstanding teams of 1934, with total points:

Team	Points
St. Louis Cardinals, baseball	241
Univ. Minnesota, football	215
Chicago Bears, pro football	57
Detroit Tigers, baseball	42

COURAGEOUS HORSE TO RACE AT SAN ANTONIO TRACK SOON

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 18 (AP)—Several hundred horses are quartered at Alamo Downs, waiting for the winter meeting which starts Christmas day and continues through February 2. Among the horses is My Dandy, who arrived yesterday.

He looked over his stall each time in Texas territory, blinked his one good eye once or twice and quietly turned to munching hay.

Texas thinks pretty well of My Dandy. Six years ago this favorite son of Porte Drapau-Sceptre and staff left the home and board of Dr. J. B. Clark of Texas to seek his turf fortune on major tracks. He wasn't very highly regarded just then, however. In fact, some said he was skimpy in size and not worth much shucks as a racer.

But My Dandy made 'em eat their words. He won nine consecutive races around Chicago as a 3-year-old. He came back in his fourth year to give his rivals a real running lesson in the $25,000 Hawthorne handicap. His career is studded with stake victories and shining with the glow of courage.

No use telling his story again. Everyone knows how he caught My Dandy, who arrived yesterday. He looked over his stall each time in Texas territory, blinked his one good eye once or twice and quietly turned to munching hay.

The glamorous thing about it all was his home-coming yesterday. He has returned to the city near which he was born 9 years ago. Throughout the country he has carried the fame of Texas as a breeding stronghold. So My Dandy must have felt pretty good as he walked into his stall at Alamo Downs for the winter meeting. He must have resolved, way down deep, to give the home folks a real exhibition of speed in the handicaps which he will be entered.

Masonic Home's Squad of 27 Is Off for Lubbock

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 (AP)—Headed by Coach H. N. Russell and Dr. E. P. Hall Sr., the club physician, 27 members of the Masonic Home football team departed at noon today for Lubbock. Traveling by bus, the squad is due to arrive early tonight.

Workouts are due Wednesday and Thursday on Texas Tech field while the team will engage on to Amarillo Friday morning for a final drill on Bunker field before meeting the powerful Sandies in the semi-final football game Saturday afternoon.

Undaunted by the knowledge that they will be outweighed some 15 pounds to the man in Saturday's melee, the Masons were in high spirits as they prepared for the trip. There was not a single injury of serious nature on the squad and with no scrimmage on the practice slate, Coach Russell will have full strength for the battle.

Players making the trip to Lubbock were: Captain Allie White, Robert Cook, Maurice McFadden, Joe Davis, Cecil Oilsbrook, Hugh Handley, Leroy Gideon, Lester Cricker, Eddie Conway, Paul Smith, Dillard Thomas, Carroll Williams, Seidell Stephens, Floyd Miller, Barney Coons, Herbert Seright, Howard McIselwhite, D. Thompson, Ray Adams, Burton Goar, Louie Bonds, Charles Berry, Charles Walker, Douglas Holman, C. D. Reeves, Sammy Berry, and Woodrow Bean, manager.

Prison System Has Canned Much Beef This Year

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Since September, the Texas prison system's canning plant at Sugarland has put up 348,597 cans of beef.

The Texas relief commission which will be used over Texas this winter in feeding the needy.

At the market price quoted for No. 2 cans, twenty cents—$161,717 in canned beef is stored and ready for use.

Approximately one hundred thousand more cans will be put up before the first of the year, Lee Simmons, general manager of the prison system said. After that operations will be suspended.

Cattle for the operations were furnished by the government in its cattle buying campaign, and were shipped to Sugarland from all over Texas. An average of 100 head of cattle were slaughtered each day for four months, while the average output of canned beef has amounted to 8,000 cans per day.

The canning was carried on with convict labor, under the direction of R. J. "Buck" Flanagan.

With the state relief commission furnishing the cattle and cans, the prison system has received the hides and other residue.

Built in 1932, the canning plant has been in constant operation since, supplying the system with canned vegetables, during the summer and meats during the winter. Last year 406,000 cans of vegetables were put up and distributed over the system.

Stirs Fight

Desire of Carroll L. Wainwright, Jr., to spend Thanksgiving with his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Carl F. Wolff, of Park Avenue, New York, has launched what looks as another sensational custody battle. Young Carroll ran away from his mother, Lady Hector MacNeal, the former Edith Gould, in Bermuda, stowing away on a liner to reach New York. Now Mrs. Wolff threatens to resist his mother's attempts to reclaim the boy.

Stanford Back Is Ready to Go Against Alabama

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Dec. 18 (AP)—A heavy brace removed from his chest, Bobby Grayson, Stanford's all-American fullback, breathes easier today—and so does the whole Stanford campus.

Much to the relief of Cardinal backers, Dr. Fritz Roth took off Grayson's brace yesterday and announced the key man of Coach "Tiny" Thornhill's backfield would be ready to go in Stanford's Rose Bowl battle at Pasadena New Year's day with Alabama.

Grayson has been on the sidelines since November 24.

practice field today and will stay there the rest of the week at least.

Coach Ted Cox starts secret practice sessions this afternoon, with only the press allowed to watch.

In the opening workout yesterday, after a fortnight's rest since the last game of the regular season, Cox had a bunch of reserves, clad in flaming red jerseys, practicing Temple's double-wing plays to flash against the varsity's defensive ability.

Two Grid Players Under Charges

HOUSTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Two high school football players, one the outstanding halfback of the Jeff Davis bi-district championship club, today faced an examining trial on charges of beating and robbing several negroes.

The complaint against Johnny Nelson, 18, halfback, and Jack Sims, 17, substitute end, alleged they took three hats and a small amount of money.

Officers found no money on the boys shortly after the disturbance.

"We were just acting smart, I guess," Nelson said. He denied they took any money.

Roy Needham, coach of the Davis team, said "it looks to me as if they were just breaking training and having a good time."

Turkey Wallops Matador 48-21

TURKEY, Dec. 17.—The powerful Turkey high school basketball team defeated the Matador Bullfighters Friday night, 48 to 21. It was the third straight win for Coach Al Duncan's boys, against no defeats.

The Turks have run up 143 points against their opponents 51. Hedrick and Johnson led the Turk attack with 20 and 12 points respectively. Blackshear was the star of the Matador team.

Last Wednesday night the Turks defeated Weatherly 50 to 16 with the second string playing most of the game. The regulars scored 45 points while in the game.

Johnson scored 19 points against Weatherly, which, with his points in other games, brought his total for the season to 57 points.

Reward Offered For Capture of Music Thief

Local officers have found no trace of the musical instruments stolen from the Tarpley Music company late Saturday night or early Sunday morning. Thieves removed 11 saxophones, clarinets, and cornets valued at $1,100.

Description of the missing instruments has been sent out by the police department.

J. N. Duncan, owner of the building where the robbery was committed, this morning offered a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the thief or thieves. Mr. Duncan said, "I am offering a reward of $100, payable in cash, to any officer or person that causes the arrest and conviction of the thief or thieves who burglarized the Tarpley Music Store here on the night of Dec. 15. I will pay the money when the thief or thieves are convicted."

Instructions at present are to the effect that this percentage is not cumulative from month to month. This means that if the full amount authorized during a given month is not used in that month and if no state funds are received during the succeeding month, no funds are available for hospitalization during the succeeding month.

"During the month of November $5,206.00 in State Funds were received. Applying the 2 1/2 per cent mentioned above to this figure gives a total amount of $130.15 available for hospitalization during the month of November. Of this $97.52 was paid or obligated to be paid during November to local hospitals. However, one-half of the above mentioned $5,206 or $2,603 was received on November 30th. This means that during the entire month of November, except for the last day thereof only $65.08 was available for hospitalization.

Summarizing the above mentioned facts it will be seen that the amount available for hospitalization, if any, during a given month is so small, in fact, that one or two cases would use all of it—and that only those cases ON THE RELIEF ROLLS are eligible to receive the benefit of what is available. Incidentally, no STATE FUNDS have been received so far during December, therefore no funds are available for hospitalization to date."

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—A rather sleepy stock market today failed to develop definite trends. A few merchandising issues and scattered specialties managed to climb out of the rut, but most of the leaders did little more than mark time. Some of the metals and utilities were heavy. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated only 780,000 shares.

smile as he turned to his wife and referred to a possible trip to the Botanical gardens. Mrs. Allred termed her previous visit here as a "flying trip" and she complained she did not get to see the city.

Allred, present attorney general of Texas, said he did not plan to seek creation of a special oil and gas commission in Texas to replace the present railroad commission as the regulatory body on oil matters—a proposal actively sponsored by Gov. Ferguson and her advisor-husband, James E. Ferguson, himself a former governor.

"I don't want to take the responsibility of appointing a group of men to handle such an important matter," he said.

Allred declared that "things are running fine" in Texas and he felt he could spare a few days before being sworn into office. He said he came to Washington in preference to making a hunting trip in south Texas.

George H. Mahon of Colorado, Tex., one of Texas' four new representatives, arrived on the same train to open his office for the year. Nat Patton of Crockett, another recently-elected representative, was here for a few days last week but returned to Texas. The others are Charles L. South, of Coleman and Maury Maverick of San Antonio.

Empress Feared to Display Royal Leg

LONDON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The diary of Empress Marie Louise, covering the years 1810 to 1813, was reported to have been sold at auction today for $490 (approximately $2,450).

The name of the purchaser was not disclosed. One section of the diary records an amusing sidelight of Marie Louise's modesty. The empress set forth that while visiting the war vessel Charlemagne at Cherbourg, she was compelled to ascend a ladder, the steps of which were widely separated.

As a result, she wrote, so much of her royal leg was disclosed, she vowed she never would board a battleship again unless garbed in trousers.

Dafoe Hits High and Low Spots of Gotham

Only the birth of the Dionne quintuplets whose survival has made him famous, amazed Dr. Allan R. Dafoe more than the modern marvels of New York City. The first metropolis the Callander, Ont., physician has visited in a quarter century. He's shown at left beside Alfred E. Smith, who is considered worth seeing himself, examining New York from the top of the Empire State building, high spot of Manhattan. At right, he emulates a native by trying out the subway strap hanging technique in a lurching train below the city streets.

George Briggs Much Improved

Condition of George Briggs, manager of the Board of City Development, was much improved today.

Mr. Briggs collapsed at his office yesterday afternoon during a heart attack.

He felt well enough today to wish to be back at work, but physicians advised him to rest in bed for two or three days.

vestige of their local political rights as guaranteed by the federal and state constitutions," Lester shouted to the house.

"These bulwarks of our democratic government, the courts, the law enforcement offices, and now the schools are to be surrendered to a vicious autocratic and tyrannical administration for the selfish gain and political preferment of the faithful."

The house began passing the senator's 33 dictator bills today at 10:15 a. m. The first measure, which Representative Ison J. Guillery, St. Landry, administration floor leader said made three amendments in the

SNOW STORM

This morning the reading was 40 degrees.

Roads in this section were sloppy and somewhat slippery this morning but traffic was not hindered, according to a report from the Pampa bus terminal.

Little snow was reported east of Wheeler. Some snow fell at Plainview. Buses were operating nearly on time.

By The Associated Press. Light snow, driven by a strong wind, swept across the Panhandle plains today, while many other parts of the state were soaked by drizzling rains.

At dawn it was snowing steadily around Pampa, but much of it was melting. The snowfall extended 100 miles into New Mexico and far to the east. The temperature at Amarillo was down to 30 degrees. An electrical disturbance, accompanied by rain, preceded the snow at Pampa.

FLORIDA FLIGHT

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker took off from the Municipal airport with a party of Chicago newspaper publishers at 8:02 a. m. (CST) today on a pre-inaugural flight to Miami in an Eastern Airlines "Florida Flyer."

The trail blazers, weather permitting, planned to have dinner under the palms of Miami, after a hasty breakfast in snow coated Chicago.

secured more for Yugoslavia at Geneva than he did.

The news caused a sensation in Belgrade, as it had been generally believed Yevitch would be made the next premier as a reward for his work before the league.

Minister of agriculture Kojitch also resigned.

The foreign minister was said to have been displeased by a government communique last night which described the League of Nations adjustment of the Yugoslav-Hungarian dispute.

Although lavish in expressing gratitude to France and Czechoslovakia, which aided this country, the communique made no mention whatever of Yevitch.

The official reason for the resignation was given as a disagreement by Yevitch and Kojitch with the rest of the cabinet on questions of internal policies.

PURYEAR SENTENCED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 18. (AP)—Stanley A. Puryear, middle-aged used car dealer today was sentenced to serve 15 years in the Tennessee penitentiary at Nashville for the ax murder of his wife.

The defendant, convicted three weeks ago, was released under $10,000 bond pending action by the state supreme court on an appeal.

FROM R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY

MAKERS OF CAMEL CIGARETTES AND PRINCE ALBERT SMOKING TOBACCO

● Cigarettes for Christmas! No smoker ever has too many. But which cigarette? Remember that the brand you give reflects your own good taste... your sense of discrimination. That is why we suggest Camels. They are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos than any other popular brand. They are the choice of distinguished men and women in every field of the social and business worlds. And their finer tobaccos bring that welcome "lift" in energy—that warm good cheer—which is after all—Christmas!

30 packs of Camels—"twenties"—in their beautiful Christmas wrapper make a welcome gift for discriminating smokers.

CAMELS MADE FROM FINER, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS

PRINCE ALBERT the national joy smoke

● Is there a pipe smoker on your Christmas list? Then your problem's solved. He's made it easy. Give him long evenings of calm contentment. Give him the sheer joy of ripe, mellow tobacco—cool and mild and biteless. Give him Prince Albert... "The National Joy Smoke." What a man spends his own money for is what he really likes. And more men spend their money for Prince Albert than for any other pipe tobacco.

The special Christmas package with 4 boxes of Camel "flat fifties"—just the inexpensive gift you've been wanting.

The one-pound tin of mild, mellow "P. A." specialty wrapped for Christmas.
