SHOT OUT TWO STREET LIGHTS POLICE CLAIM

SON OF WEALTHY OIL MAN IS BOOKED IN GORRELL CASE

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 10. (AP)—Homer F. Wilcox Jr., 17, son of a wealthy Tulsa oil man, was arrested by city officers today after he and his father appeared at police headquarters for a conference in connection with the slaying of John Gorrell. He was booked on a charge of "malicious mischief."

Asked what would constitute malicious mischief in this instance, Police Chief Charles Carr said, "Well, shooting out street lights in the vicinity of the spot where Gorrell was slain by Phil Kennamer would be it."

Earlier in the case, Chief Carr said he had found two street lights in the immediate vicinity of the fatal shooting of Gorrell had been broken by bullets, leaving the scene in darkness overnight. The father posted a $500 bond for the boy and they left police headquarters together.

"I'd rather not make a statement one way or the other," said the elder Wilcox when asked if his son would deny the charge. The Wilcoxs had come to headquarters to discuss a purported extortion note which has figured largely in the case up to now and which was supposedly aimed at Wilcox through his 18-year-old daughter, Virginia.

Wilcox refused to say whether he had any first hand knowledge of the existence of such a letter, which County Attorney Holly Anderson said last week "at least ten persons have seen."

The appearance of the two was apparently not related directly to the fatal shooting yesterday of Sidney Born Jr., who was believed by city officers to have shot himself after making an unsuccessful attempt to telephone young Kennamer, son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer, in the county jail.

Du Ponts Paid Graft To Get Powder Trade

Paid Large 'Commission' To Secure Business in China And In Poland.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—A Du Pont company official frankly conceded to the senate munitions committee today that graft had been paid in connection with powder sales to China, but contended that was an exception to the company's usual practice.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Evidence that the Du Pont company paid large "commissions" to secure powder business in China in 1929 was laid today before the senate munitions committee.

Du Pont officials did not deny the commissions were in the nature of bribes, explaining they had been told "it was an old Chinese custom."

Documents laid before the committee showed a "commission" of one per cent on a large powder sale in 1929 was paid to a Colonel de Fremary, a Dutch officer working under contract with the Chinese government.

Another "commission" of four per cent was paid to "Chinese army, Nanking."

K. K. V. Casey, Du Pont official, conceded the four per cent was "graft," but testified he did not know to whom it was paid.

Casey accepted responsibility for "violating" a company policy in this regard. He said he knew if this incident was reported, the company directors would have stopped all further sales.

Earlier, the company had denied paying graft to sell munitions to Poland.

Correspondence showed the Du Ponts sold 1,000 tons of smokeless powder to Poland on a contract providing for payment over three years.

The evidence disclosed the Du Pont agent in Warsaw, named Klane, received a 7 per cent commission, or $126,000, of which he was advanced about $30,000 when the contract was signed.

Du Pont witnesses said there was no indication this money was advanced to Klane for payment to anyone else.

The evidence included a letter from Du Pont files saying graft was an essential to selling war materials in the Balkans.

Casey did not characterize the 1 per cent payment to Colonel de Fremary as "graft."

Blazing Derrick Brings Firemen

The Pampa fire department made its third rural call during the past week early this afternoon when fire broke out in the rig of the Bean Drilling company's well on the R. B. Thompson lease west of Pampa.

The entire wood part of the derrick was blazing fiercely when the department arrived. It had not been learned here at press time whether the well was on fire.

Runs to Skellytown, where the school building was on fire, and one to the Tokyo club south of the city, were made last week by the fire department.

WOOD FOUND IN HOME MATCHES WOOD IN LADDER

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 10. (AP)—Two pieces of wood, one a rung in the Lindbergh kidnap ladder, the other taken from Bruno Richard Hauptmann's home, were joined by state experts today—and found to fit perfectly.

In the report of Arthur Kohler, wood expert, officials saw proof of Hunterdon County Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauk Jr.'s assertion that the state has found "important new evidence" which will "definitely tie Hauptmann to the electric chair."

The stick of wood from Hauptmann's Bronx home reposes beside the ladder in the state's gallery of evidence to be produced for exhibit when Hauptmann goes on trial January 2 for the Lindbergh kidnap-killing.

Frederick A. Pope, associate counsel, refused to believe the report of Kohler's findings.

Some Salaries Have Jumped 200 Per Cent In Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Salaries of executives of big corporations were shown today in registration statements filed with the securities and exchange commission to have jumped 200 per cent in some instances this year, while others remained stationary or increased less sharply.

The reports ranged from an uncharged remuneration of $86,740 in 1933 and 1934 for E. M. Allen, president of Matheson Alkali Works, to the $47,286 which Vice President Daniel K. Weiskopf of National Distillers Products Corporation will receive this year against $15,940 in 1933.

GIRL WANTS TO MAKE UP WITH YOUNG HUSBAND

14-Year Old Father Is Free Under $300 Bond

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 10. (AP)—Mrs. Pauline Mullins, 14-year-old mother, wants Henry Bert Mullins, her 14-year-old husband, to come back home.

The girl nursed her three weeks old daughter at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Noah, today while she told reporters she wanted a reconciliation with her husband, "if he will do right."

Henry Bert was at liberty under $300 bond charged with threatening to take the life of his father-in-law, Assistant District Attorney Will R. Parker was doing his best to bring about a reconciliation between the young couple.

The trouble, which culminated with the filing of the complaint Saturday and Henry Bert's arrest, began shortly after the couple were married. Last week the girl-mother went to her parents' home to have a dress fitted.

"Henry Bert became angry when I came to see mother for a few hours," Mrs. Mullins recalled today. "He tried to take the baby away. My father grabbed him and they had an argument. Henry left the house."

"He wanted baby and me to leave with him and walk to town. I have not seen him since. I'd like to see him and talk the matter over. I just don't know what I'll do."

Mrs. Noah, who said she is taking care of the baby, is taking care of the baby.

Blast Rattles Windows, Rocks Houses In Area

FORMER POLICE CHIEF OF BORGER KILLED IN EXPLOSION OF 200 QUARTS OF NITRO-GLYCERIN ON NOELETTE HIGHWAY

Terrific force contained in 200 quarts or more of nitro-glycerin was released this morning in a blast which took the life of Charles W. Price, Borger well shooter, near Noelette at 7:50 o'clock and reduced his body and his Chevrolet nitro car to pitifully small bits.

The remains of the body were gathered up and placed on a sheet, then brought to Pampa Mortuary. No funeral arrangements were announced.

As the earth rocked in the vicinity of Noelette, Mrs. C. N. Tuttle leaped from her bed to grab her 14-month-old baby. In doing so she fell and broke her leg. No other casualties were reported.

Belief that two men had been in the nitro car, caused by finding of two pairs of shoes, or pieces of hem, was dispelled when P. A. Uley, local well shooter, said that Mr. Price habitually carried a change of clothing. Mr. Riley was to have met Mr. Price this morning and the two were to have shot a well on the Byrum lease for the Claude Drilling company.

Cause Not Known
Mr. Price had reached the bottom of a small hill and was within a few steps of a culvert when the explosive was detonated. Whether a bump in the road was the cause, a leak developed, or some other mishap occurred will never be known. The blast drove part of the car into the ground and scattered the rest over a 500-foot area.

The terrific explosion shook every building in Pampa. All the homes in and around Noelette rocked and some damage resulted. Groceries on the shelves of the Noelette Mercantile company, owned by William Hall, were hurled to the floor. The store was one of the buildings nearest the place where the explosion occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Price were close friends of Chief and Mrs. Art Hurst of Pampa. It was Chief Hurst who informed Mrs. Price of the accident. She immediately left for Noelette, where she was joined by Mrs. Hurst.

Veteran of Business
Mr. Price had been shooting oil wells for the last 24 years. He started learning the trade with the famous Russell Brothers in Allamore, Okla. He moved to Borger in 1926 to become connected with the Independent Eastern Glycerine company. In April, 1933, he left the company to become chief of police of Borger. He made an excellent record as police chief but his business of shooting wells continued through his tenure in office. In June, 1934, he resigned from the police force to enter the torpedo work again.

Well House Wrecked
The site of the blast was almost opposite the Skelly No. 4 Schafer well. J. L. Honaker, pumper on the well, was in the well house at the time.

Scout Program To Be Drafted Tonight
The 1935 program of Scouting in the Adobe Walls council will be drafted here tonight at a meeting of the executive committee.

DECAY OF CULTURAL LEADERSHIP

One of the minor calamities of the year, little noticed by a heedless world, seems to have been the dropping of Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, from the rolls of the Boston Social Register.

There was a time when this would have been a bit of a sensation. A generation ago, or more, society spelled itself with a capital S, and the decrees of the inner circle were matters of importance. One of the stock tales in American folk-lore had to do with the newly rich man whose wife and daughters worked themselves to a frazzle trying to "get into society."

But American society has changed, along with the rest of the nation. Nobody care any more who's in and who isn't; and the change has not come so much from shifting economic conditions as from the frivolity of the self-elected upper class which has sought to exercise social leadership.

"Society," in any land, is supposed to have responsibilities as well as privileges. It is supposed to represent the best that its country can display in the manner of gracious and cultured living; to provide leadership in statecraft, in the arts, in letters, to set the tone for the rest of the populace.

But these are just the points at which our upper class has failed us.

Cultured and gracious living? Well, American society in recent years has furnished us with some of the sorriest lawsuits any man could care to read about. After going close to the limit with the Stillman and Rhineland divorce cases, it handed us a Vanderbilt squabble over custody of a small child.

It was so lacking in penetration that a Mike Romanoff could impose on it; it went for any kind of foreign title down to and including the Mdivanis.

It made grand opera a social register toy, found itself unable to finance it and finally had to call on the general public for help. It put on a flossy yacht race with the British, and so staged it that its aftermath was remarkably like that of a raw-decision prize fight.

For such reasons as these, the word "society" is not as impressive as it used to be. The social historian of the future will find one of the most interesting points about the present era the fact that it had an upper class which failed to perform any of the upper class' traditional functions.—B. Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Celebration in 1936: "I will think—talk—write... This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

GONZALES, Dec. 10. (AP)—Gonzales, which prides itself on having been the scene of the first armed clash of the Texas Revolution in 1835 as well as figuring notably otherwise in the history of Texas, also was among the first towns in the State to form a Texas Centennial club, the aim of which was to promote the passage of the Amendments providing for the proper observance of Texas' Centennial in 1936. At present the Chamber of Commerce and the County Advisory Board jointly are formulating plans for an ambitious secondary celebration at Gonzales in the Centennial year, when such celebrations will be staged in Texas. The enthusiasm of Gonzales in this connection can be understood more readily in that it is said that the present time Gonzales has many descendants of Texas heroes living within her borders than any other county in the state.

And it is a far cry from the first settlement there in August, 1825, when it was selected as the site for the capital of the colony of Empressario Green DeWitt, by Major James Kerr and a party of six men, including the famous Erasmus (Deaf) Smith, to the thriving Texas city of today. Previous to building cabins on what is now called Kerr's Creek, the plan of the town was drawn by Kerr, practically as is the Gonzales of today, and named for the first Governor of the State of Coahuila and Texas. Other settlers arrived and everything went well until an attack by Indians came in July, 1826, which forced the colonists to flee to the Colorado. Months later they returned settling nearer the Guadalupe river, which afforded better protection and commenced building the Gonzales of today.

Centennial tourists may endeavor to envision the life led by the citizens of those early days and that of the Gonzales colonists perhaps is typical. In rebuilding Gonzales, they built block houses for protection against the Indians and erected a fort, which occupied the site on which now stands the Gonzales Cotton Oil Manufacturing company. Practically all the houses were along two tiers of blocks near Water Street on the river front. There the colonists lived in rude cabins, built of unburned logs, the cracks daubed with clay, which was also used in the construction of chimneys of saplings. The floors were either of clay or puncheons, and usually there was but one window, fitted with a wooden shutter. Later some of the cabins were enlarged by the addition of a hall and one or two rooms and covered clapboards.

Small fields of corn adjoined the cabins, skirting the inner town, and there was grown the grain, ground for bread either by hand mills or at Clement's mill, the only one in the region and located on Mill Creek, between the present towns of Belmont and Seguin. Corral into which the stock was driven each evening protected it from depredation of Indians and wild animals. The settlers subsisted mainly on game, principally deer, but also they partook of buffalo meat, which with cornbread, buttermilk, for those who possessed a cow, and salt formed their principal diet.

Their pastimes included rifle contests, races and other sports, together with dancing and community meetings. As for laws, they were rigidly enforced and payment of such small taxes as the Mexico government required were said to be almost voluntary.

DALLAS, Dec. 10. (Special)—That a constantly growing conviction that Texas Centennial celebrations, as proposed, must be held in 1936 is in evidence throughout every section of the state and that the central exposition should be made an outstanding event of the twentieth century may be inferred from reports received here by the Texas Centennial Commission. Each historic spot in the state has freshened its knowledge of the facts regarding its participation in the making of the empire, and in almost every county local Centennial committees have been organized, and these are pushing the work of organization and planning. The failure of the recent called session of the legislature to provide an appropriation for the Centennial evidently proved disappointing to a great majority of the people of the state, thousands of whom only a few weeks ago urged the Governor to convene the special session, primarily for the consideration of the problem. The legislature's failure, however, by no means blocked the Centennial program, which, it is expected confidently, will be carried forward with a tremendous impetus with the aim of inducing the legislature, at its regular session in January, to make provision for adequate financial participation by the state at as early a date as is possible. Apparently it is the consensus of opinion of leading newspapers of the state and nearly every Texan seems now convinced that so much time, effort and money already has been expended in the promotion of the Centennial aims that the advancement of plans for the project cannot be neglected. Undeniably, a large state appropriation for its support is necessary, not only to aid in its financing but also to meet the requirements of the federal government, which is expected to contribute material financial aid toward making possible a Centennial observance worthy of the occasion.

Previous to the convening of the legislature in January, therefore, it is contended that every patriotic Texan should definitely identify himself with the Centennial movement and should arrange to make his personal influence felt in the legislative halls. An active educational campaign to that end is being conducted and the alignment of individuals with the Texas Million Centennial Club, which is organizing local branches in each county of the state, is progressing rapidly.

These activities are indicative that the Texas Centennial Commission is convinced that the Centennial celebrations must be held, and held in such a way and on such a scale that their magnitude may be of profit to the entire state.

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS

A Washington Daybook

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The big bad guess of most of the "inside dope" boys this year concerned the alleged fade-out of Rex Tugwell.

It wasn't all guesswork. Some of Tugwell's enemies in the administration were assiduously whispering the tale that the No. 1 brain trust's trip to Europe signified his decline in Roosevelt's favor and his future disappearance from the inner New Deal councils.

What very few people realize even now is that Tugwell's position is stronger than ever and that he is a close counselor, not only to Roosevelt, but to many another big shot here outside the technical Tugwell sphere in the Department of Agriculture. You can imagine the sour faces Dr. Moley is making!

Even in what may prove to have been the most blissful period of his honeymoon with Big Business, F. D. made no bones about asking Tugwell down to Warm Springs and keeping him there almost constantly until his own return to Washington. Tugwell spent far more time with the president than any of the other big New Dealers who went down to help plot the administration's winter program.

Tugwell's date book for the periods preceding his two hops to Georgia would seem even more significant if you could see it.

It would show a private visit from the powerful new chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Marriner S. Eccles, who plays very closely with Tugwell. And another from a member of the National Industrial Recovery Board at which conversation concerned the violent row between liberals and conservatives within the NIRA, so that Tugwell might take the world along to the president. And certain other conferences which can't be mentioned without breach of confidence.

Here's a tip to the tipsters: Tugwell likes to take trips. Both because he enjoys them and because he likes to get around and find out what's going on.

After one of the munitions makers had found himself testifying in opposition to an affidavit he had made in an old income tax case and had decided to revert to his original story that American arms makers had expanded in anticipation of European war, Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri said during the noon recess that he was reminded of the following yarn:

A corporation executive was rapidly signing a big batch of documents without looking at them.

In came another official and demanded: "Hey, what are you doing—dashing through those vouchers like that?"

"My God!" gasped the man with the pen. "I didn't know they were vouchers. I thought they were affidavits!"

For the first time in their lives, some of Senator Borah's colleagues in the Senate are now convinced that he has designs on the presidency.

They'll be dead certain about it if the Idaho statesman fulfills his promise to sarcastic Senator Couzens of Michigan and outlines some kind of a program for a reorganized, liberalized Republican party.

A congressman protests the use of President Roosevelt's picture in a liquor ad thanking the president for repeal. Of course, don't they know it was Congress that passed the repeal law?

What industry wants to know is, how can President Roosevelt save capitalism by spending capital?

The race between Communism and Fascism in Europe seems to depend on the number of unfortunates each can stand up before a firing squad.

Hitler, seeking harmony in Germany, finds discord with—of all people—his musicians.

Farm Income Is Up Billion, Says FDR To Bureau

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—President Roosevelt in a telephone talk today to the American Farm Bureau federation noted a billion dollar increase in farm income this year and warned that production must be continued on a basis of actual demands.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke from his desk in the white house to the federation meeting in Nashville, Tenn. He said:

"My friends of the Farm Bureau: You and I know that the year now ending has been one of significant accomplishment for agriculture. Despite the worst drought of record, farm income is running about a billion dollars above last year.

"All of us would like to see an even larger increase in 1935, but we know that this can not come unless, in the first place, industrial production increases sufficiently to expand the market for farm products; unless, in the second place, more of our export trade is paid for by increased imports; and unless, in the third place, agriculture continues to adjust its total production to the market that actually exists.

Porcupines, previously unknown in northwestern Kansas, have recently made their appearance in the region.

Relief In 1934 Cost Over Four Billion Dollars

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Uncle Sam approaches this Christmas with the knowledge that since the first of the year he has passed out more than four and a quarter billion dollars in his gigantic emergency drive to assist business, the farmer and the needy.

Treasury figures show that $4,346,947,418 was advanced from January 1, to December 1 to care for the needy and bolster private and public enterprise. Of this sum, the government expects to get back less than one-fifth.

These expenditures, designated as "emergency" were outside the regular yearly outlay, classed as "general expenditures," for normal government operations.

Total expenditures for all purposes amounted to $7,361,815,007, compared with $4,385,397,974 for the same period last year.

Emergency expenditures for the 11 months of 1933 were $1,489,562,210, but treasury officials say this does not afford a basis of comparison with 1934 because last year many emergency expenditures were made from money available for general purposes and therefore did not appear in the records as emergency spending.

Relief in manifold forms has taken $1,948,179,269, the largest slice of the treasury's 1934 spending. In this category are not only direct payments for feeding and clothing the needy but allotments for aiding agriculture, and the distressed homeowner and for insuring bank depositors.

(AP)—Only the relatives and close friends of Irvin (Blackie) Thompson, slain fugitive from the Texas penitentiary death house, were present yesterday when funeral services and burial were held. Thompson, successful in a break from the death row with Raymond Hamilton and Joe Palmer last July 22, was shot down by a posse of officers near Amarillo Thursday night after he had been pursued 12 miles out a highway.

MANY ATTEND CHURCH SERVICES AND HEAR PLANS FOR WEEK

WOMEN DIRECT PLAY AND SONG WORSHIP HOUR

THREE MEETINGS WILL BE IN FORM OF SUPPERS

Women of First Christian church had charge of the evening service yesterday, presenting a one-act play and the dramatization of a favorite hymn, The Old Rugged Cross.

Mrs. Floyd Coffin and Mrs. John Mullen presented the play, The Wooden Soldier. The dramatization was by Mmes. Ivy E. Duncan and F. H. Meskinen, directed by Mrs. C. E. Hutchins. Miss Marjorie Ericsson, violinist, and a quartet composed of Mrs. Ed. Fritzie, Mrs. J. B. Townsend, Robert Koener, and Charles Frost, accompanied by Mrs. Mel Davis, furnished music.

Increased attendance marked most church services in the city, and announcement was made of several interesting events of the coming week.

Many members of First Baptist church will attend an associational workers' conference at Panhandle tomorrow. The Rev. C. E. Lancaster, minister, will be on program.

A covered dish supper for the entire congregation was announced at the Presbyterian church for Wednesday evening at 7. Another supper meeting will be that of First Baptist men's brotherhood, Friday at 7. First Methodist church will have its usual Food, Faith, and Fun night Wednesday.

All services at Central Baptist church were attended by crowds larger than usual. Central Church of Christ also reported increased attendance, with the largest Sunday school attendance of its history.

First Methodist church had 448 in Sunday school, Francis Avenue Church of Christ 190, Presbyterian church 164, First Baptist 797, Central Baptist 126, and First Christian 405. Five additions were reported at Francis Avenue church, two at First Baptist, three at Central Church of Christ. Baptist training service was attended by 184.

Art Exhibit Will Open Wednesday In Hopkins Hall

An art exhibit by pupils of Mrs. M. L. H. Baze will be open Wednesday from 2 to 9 p. m. in the community hall at Hopkins. The public is invited to attend this showing of pictures.

Work in oils and pastels will be exhibited by beginners and more advanced pupils.

Among those who will have pictures on display are Melba Savage, Ellen Sloan, Misses Tavia Dunworth, Victoria Partridge, Ruby Gibson, all of Hopkins; and Mrs. Goulay, Le Goulay, and Mrs. Peckhake of Joplin.

Revivals Planned For Next Year in Church of Christ

Announcement that two outstanding evangelists in the Church of Christ in Texas have been secured to conduct revivals in Francis Street Church of Christ next year was received with enthusiasm by members yesterday.

The services of W. D. Bills of Waco have been secured for a 12-day meeting beginning May 1. Mr. Bills is a staff writer on The Firm Foundation, a weekly Church of Christ publication at Austin. He is editor of Sunday school quarters and editor-in-chief of The Spotlight, a periodical for young people.

At present he is minister for the Columbus Avenue Church of Christ in Waco, where he has served several years. He is widely known in Texas churches.

Evangelist Roy E. Cogdill of Dallas, who conducted a recent revival here, will return in October to assist in a meeting series.

E. C. McKenzie, minister of the Frances Avenue church, said of the revival plans: "We feel fortunate in being able to secure these two able evangelists for protracted efforts during 1935. As a pulpit orator, Brother Bills has no superior. He preaches the Bible in love, yet is not afraid to condemn sin both in and out of the church. He cannot be bought for love nor money. Brother Cogdill recently closed one of the best revivals in the history of this congregation and we are happy to have him with us again. Our work continues in a great way."

Milwaukee will have no fireworks next July 4 except at parks or under special permit.

DAGMAR'S ADVENTURES IN SANTA CLAUS LAND

By SIGRID ARNE
Chapter I
A DOLL IS BORN

Once upon a time and long ago Santa Claus took a few minutes one day to rest from painting bright blue suits on tin soldiers. He stood in the doorway of his toyshop at the North Pole and pulled on his pipe. "Who-o-o!" said a bulk of little breezes whisking through his long, white beard.

"What's this?" he chuckled.

"Ne-e-e-ews for you," said the little breezes. "We've just been down to the world and saw a little girl throw the doll you gave her last Christmas on the sidewalk and break her. Her name is—," and they whispered her name to Santa.

"Gracious!" he said, "Isn't that dreadful?" He felt so badly he stopped smoking and went in to sit by the fire. You see, Santa makes all his toys so they will love little boys and girls. And he knows the toys feel badly when the little boys and girls don't love them back.

This day he felt more and more sad. The fairies and gnomes noticed him, and they stopped hammering and painting and sewing until the toyshop became very quiet.

But one little fairy was wiser. She was just finishing a pretty, thin, graceful doll with flying, yellow curls. She tied a red ribbon in the doll's hair and whispered in her tiny, pink ear, "Your name is Dagmar. You will always love Santa most."

Now that was against the rules. The fairies with their pretty wings and little pink and blue dresses had been told to whisper to dolls, "You will always love little boys and girls."

As the fairy whispered the doll came alive, hopped off the work bench, and ran to Santa Claus. She climbed his big boot with the white fur, tweaked his long beard and cried, "Hello, hello, I'm finished. My name is Dagmar. But I'm not like other dolls. I'm always going to stay right here with you. I'll never be a Christmas present."

Santa smiled and then shook with laughter.

"Ho, ho, ho," he said, "You'll see when Christmas comes, you'll want to belong to some little girl. But meanwhile you may ride in my pocket."

Santa winked to the other toys, and poked Dagmar into his pocket until only her smiling face showed. You see, the doll had made Santa happy again.

It was a good thing she was finished when she was because Santa had some trouble the next morning, and Dagmar helped him. When the toyshop woke there was a queer noise outside. It sounded like, "drip, drip, drip." It couldn't be rain, Santa knew, because it only snows around the toyshop. He ran to the door to look.

And there he saw all the holly trees which grow in a forest around the toyshop dropping their bright, red berries as fast as they could. It looked as if there would be no Christmas wreaths for people to hang in their homes that year.

(Tomorrow—Work in The Toyshop)

Students Honor Grid Champions At Horace Mann

The football team of Horace Mann school, winners of the plaque offered by the athletic association to ward school champions here, were honored in a chapel program Friday.

Of their nine games, the Horace Mann boys won 7 and lost their only two to the Junior High Pee-wees, outside the ward school league. They featured deception rather than power plays, and went through the season without an injury. W. F. Bennett was their coach. The squad had 35 boys who went out regularly.

Fourth grades presented the chapel program. After songs led by Miss Geneva Groom and a devotional by the Rev. Lance Webb, pupils of Mrs. Craft's room presented a playlet, Merry Christmas. A reading, Peggy at the Football Game, was given by Ruth Robertson.

CITY C. OF C. ASKED TO ADOPT PRINCIPLES OF REGIONAL MEET

The Pampa chamber of commerce has been requested by the West Texas chamber of commerce to consider the declaration of principles of the All-State Council of regional chambers of commerce adopted at the Waco meeting of the council in October, with a view to adopting the principles as the local chamber's policy also.

The request was received by Gilmore N. Nunn, the West Texas chamber of commerce director for Pampa, and George W. Briggs, secretary of the local chamber. It was sent by J. A. Rix, assistant manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce in charge of organizational activities at the direction of president James D. Hamlin.

The principles which the local chamber have been asked to adopt are as follows:

1. We stand for a championship of private business, industry and ownership of property as the road to recovery, to which end we shall sponsor all federal and state measures which tend to lend encouragement and confidence to private business and shall oppose all measures and administrative acts which have or will destroy the confidence of business and capital and retard its welfare.

2. We call for a rapid balancing of the federal budget; for a reduction of the government's extraordinary expense and for a drastic curtailment of existing and proposed government bureaus.

3. We shall oppose every effort of the federal and state governments to go into business in competition with private and semi-private business. Although granting to the government the right of regulation of public utilities, we oppose the government destroying private investments by competing with utilities.

4. With local and state government liens already existing against a great portion of the tangible private property of the state, with local public debts burdening property for many years to come and with greatly decreased property values and earnings, we believe that something must be done to relieve tangible property from a portion of the ad valorem tax—otherwise the private ownership of property will cease to be the cornerstone of American civilization and prosperity. We, therefore, call upon our legislators to study the question of the burdens of the ad valorem tax as imposed by state, school, city and county governments with the view of immediately lifting from property at least one-half of the combined ad valorem tax now levied.

5. We recommend this declaration of policy for the profound consideration of all local chambers of commerce in Texas and indulge in the hope that these local bodies will in turn officially adopt it.

Lighted Candles In Windows Oft Bring Tragedy

AUSTIN, Dec. 10 (AP)—An appeal for Texans to continue diligent fire prevention efforts through the Christmas holidays was made by Raymond Mauk, fire insurance commissioner to preserve a state record of reduced loss.

Mauk predicted that, barring any unusually large losses before the end of the year, the Texas 1934 fire loss would be lower than for any year since 1919.

Mauk's holiday season fire prevention hints were:

"Evergreen trees decorated with highly inflammable materials often ignite.

"Cotton or lighted candles should never be placed on the Christmas tree.

"The cotton beard of Santa Claus frequently catches fire with serious results.

"The old Yuletide custom of placing a lighted candle in the window near curtains has cast many a cloud of gloom.

"Small children should never be permitted to handle fireworks.

"Wrappings from packages should not be allowed to accumulate.

"Toy electric trains, motors, and other appliances should not be attached to light sockets until all fuses and connections are in perfect order.

"Pennies or wire should never be used in replacing blown-out electric fuses. The fuse is the safety valve on the wiring system to protect you against fire."

Electing of Court Judges Deplored

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—Popular elections of judges in the United States was pronounced unsatisfactory by Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana tonight in an address sponsored by the American Bar association.

Although the country has been committed since the first quarter of the nineteenth century to popular choice of state and local judges, Governor McNutt said the policy had been called "America's most colossal blunder in statecraft." He outlined as objections to the elective system: "In statewide elections and in local elections in urban centers it is not possible for the voters to estimate in any way the qualifications of the candidates.

"Elective trial judges who wish to perform their full duties are subjected to attempted intimidations on the part of political leaders and other organized forces; and

"Lawyers of the highest qualifications are not attracted by a career on the bench."

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas Trench gifted young scupior, just has been acquitted of the charge that he murdered his schoolfellow, Osborne. Somewhat shaken, he has retired to a tea room to read a letter from his cousin, Sir Seymour, and is annoyed by two persons discussing his case at the next table. He fears the general public will not agree with the verdict. Now he is going to see Sir Seymour.

CHAPTER FIVE. SIR SEYMOUR

Paper in hand, I edged my way to a vacant front seat on top of my bus. To judge by the amount of space allotted to me on the first page it was evident at a glance that I was the principal sensation of the hour.

There was a three-quarter column description of the scene in court, with photographs of myself and Sir Charles Barrett, followed by a verbatim report of old Earle's summing up, which occupied the best part of one of the centre sheets.

It was, without question, a masterpiece of detached reasoning, but having been already acquainted with his lordship's views, I felt no particular temptation to repeat the experience. I turned instead to the last minute bulletins, where was blazoned the following announcement: TRENCH CASE VERDICT: NOT GUILTY

I sat staring at it as the bus rolled along up Fleet street. It was queer to think of all that these few words meant to me—of the shattering bombshell which Fate, for some inscrutable reason, had seen fit to drop into my life.

Only six weeks ago the world had seemed a singularly agreeable place. I had been in the best of health and enjoying existence wholeheartedly. My work had already begun to attract an encouraging amount of attention, commissions were coming in with increasing frequency, while the design I had submitted for a new national memorial, which had been thrown open to competition, was, as I knew being very favorably considered.

Suddenly, and without the smallest warning, this incredible thing had happened. Arrested on a charge of murder, of which I was completely innocent, I had been dragged from the peaceful atmosphere of my Hampstead studio into the glaring notoriety of the Central Criminal court.

My pleasant world had narrowed to the four walls of a prison cell. The work on which I was engaged had come to an abrupt stop.

More than half my small capital had vanished, my private affairs had been exposed to the gaping curiosity of every newspaper reader in England, and finally, after narrowly escaping the gallows, I had been turned out unceremoniously into a back street to make whatever use of my freedom society would be gracious enough to permit.

Was it any wonder that, in spite of the fate that had overtaken him, I cursed Osborne from the bottom of my heart. Why should he have landed me in this infernal mess?

We had been friendly enough after a fashion at Cambridge, but what right had he got to come thrusting his way back into my life, devastating and wrecking it for his own selfish ends?

I had been a fool of course to have anything to do with him. It had been clear enough for the first that he had got himself mixed up in some shady and probably criminal business, and if I had had a grain of sense I should have left him to stew in his own juice.

My only reason at the time for trying to help him was because I had felt sorry for him. Our old friendship, coupled with the obvious state of funk which he was in, had persuaded me into acting against my better judgment.

I had given way to a sudden spasm of idiotic good-nature, and as I had got the whole history of misplaced kindness had a man been more promptly and bitterly rewarded.

It was, as may be imagined, in no very amiable mood that I got off the bus at the corner of St. James's street, and turned in at the handsome block of bachelor flats where Seymour had taken up his residence.

NAZI QUESTION IS SHUNTED IN MAU MEETINGS

MAHONEY IS SELECTED PRESIDENT OF ATHLETES

By ALAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 10 (AP)—Steered safely past the shoals of further Olympic controversy with Germany over the persistent Jewish issue, at least for the time being, the amateur athletic union today faced an eventful year, with its domestic organization expanded, foreign relations further fortified and a new chief executive at the helm of the athletic ship of state.

The close of the 46th national congress of the A. A. U. yesterday marked an end of the six-year administration of Avery Brundage of Chicago, who was accorded a sweeping tribute in recognition of his leadership before yielding the president's savel to Jeremiah Mahoney of New York, 56-year-old former jurist and veteran athletic figure.

Mahoney, never before honored with A. A. U. official although long identified with its councils, pledged himself to continue Brundage's Mahoney will lead the American delegation to the next Olympic games, provided there is no further disruption of international relations over the issue of Germany's treatment of Jewish athletes. This troublesome subject, although it failed to reach the convention floor during the past two days, resulted in post-convention statements that America's cooperation with Germany, athletically speaking, still was subject to fulfillment of the Berlin government's pledges against racial discrimination.

Through its nation-wide connections, within the next month, the A. A. U. will conduct the annual vote to decide the winner of the James E. Sullivan memorial medal.

He will lead the American delegation to the next Olympic games, provided there is no further disruption of international relations over the issue of Germany's treatment of Jewish athletes. This troublesome subject, although it failed to reach the convention floor during the past two days, resulted in post-convention statements that America's cooperation with Germany, athletically speaking, still was subject to fulfillment of the Berlin government's pledges against racial discrimination.

Officers elected on the slate headed by Mahoney include: First vice president, Jack Raftery, Houston, Tex.

Bullet, Shock Fatal To Twins

HOUSTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Horace and Norris Nettles, 15-year-old twin brothers, were dead today, victims of violence and shock. Horace was accidentally killed at the home of a playmate, T. J. Partt, 13, when a gun the youths examined discharged and the bullet struck Horace.

His inseparable companion, brother Norris, a paralytic who had lost his power of speech, suffered a stroke and died eight hours after he had been informed of the death of his brother.

The youth's mother, Mrs. Ed Nettles, was prostrated with grief and was in a serious condition, physicians said.

Illness Is Fatal To Young Woman

FORMER GRIDDER ACCUSED

VERNON, Dec. 10 (AP)—W. M. (Pie) Bailey, former football star of Wayland college of Plainview and field manager of the Vernon baseball club of the Red River Valley league, tonight was charged with assault with intent to attack a local woman. Bond was set at $5,000.

FARM BOYS BRIGHTEST

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 10 (AP)—The brightest boys are farm boys. Dr. S. L. Reed, professor of education at the Oklahoma A. & M. college, told the Oklahoma academy of science today. Seventy per cent of 218 "distinguished" students investigated, he said, hailed from the farm. But coeds, he suggested, are smarter than the farm boys. "At least, they make higher grades," he added.

AMARILLO AND BIG SPRING WILL PLAY QUARTER FINAL SET-TO IN LUBBOCK

CORSICANA AND GREENVILLE TO BATTLE FRIDAY

MASONS AND HIGHLAND PARK TO PLAY IN COWTOWN

(By The Associated Press.)

Quarter-finals in the Texas Inter-scholastic League bi-district championship football race are scheduled this week-end. Dates and sites follow:

Friday: Corsicana, district 12, vs. Greenville, district 9, at Greenville.

Houston Jeff Davis, district 13, vs. Corpus Christi, district 16, at Corpus Christi.

Saturday: Dallas Highland Park, district 6, vs. Fort Worth Masonic Home, district 7, at Fort Worth.

Amarillo, district 1, vs. Big Spring, district 3, at Lubbock.

Outstanding will be the Corsicana and Greenville battle. It will bring together state champions of the last two years. Corsicana won the 1932 title by beating Masonic Home. Greenville won last year by beating Dallas Tech. Both clubs boast versatile power and deception. Both sides undefeated this season. Due to playing the game at Greenville, the Lions are slight favorites. Last week Corsicana smothered Athens, 26 to 13, and Greenville toyed with Longview, 47 to 6.

Amarillo and Big Spring officials decided last night to play at Lubbock. The Amarillo Golden Sandies preserved their undefeated Butler field tradition Saturday by beating Ranger, 19 to 14. Big Spring polished off El Paso, 19 to 7. The Sandies face a stiff fight but are favorites.

Fort Worth Masonic Home entertains Highland Park at Fort Worth. Masonic Home is an overwhelming favorite. The Fort Worth lads won their first round game by crushing Dallas Tech, 32 to 0. Highland Park survived by beating the Vernon Lions, 12 to 7. Masonic Home after getting a substantial lead, played three stringers against Tech while Highland Park had a difficult time beating Vernon.

The Houston Jeff Davis and Corpus Christi game will furnish south Texas a semi-finalist standard bearer. Corpus Christi nosed out San Antonio Thomas Jefferson, 10 to 9, to survive the first round. Jeff Davis stopped Beaumont, 27 to 8.

While class A teams are staging quarter-final battles, the class B championship will be determined Friday at Wichita Falls between Crowell and Plano. This will be a region 2 championship scrap. Crowell boasts one of the best high school players in the state in Dick Todd, who probably has scored more touchdowns than any other Texas football player.

Many Pampa fans plan to drive to Lubbock to see the game or to drive to Amarillo where they will board a special train for the Hub City. The winner of the Amarillo-Big Spring game will play the winner of the Masonic Home-Dallas Highland Park game for the right to enter the state finals. The game will be played at T. C. U. stadium in Fort Worth Saturday afternoon.

Bad News for the Bucs

The Chicago Cubs should have an easy time taking the Pittsburgh Bucs into camp next year—at least when Tex Carleton is on the mound. The former Cardinal hurler, annexed in a recent deal, is some buckaroo when it comes to hunting bucks of the deer family, and he's shown above at Fort Worth, Tex., with one he shot in Mexico.

RICE IS 6TH BEST CLUB ON GRID ROSTER

SUCCESSFUL SEASON IS ENJOYED BY TEXAS FOOTBALLERS

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Finis was written across the 1934 Southwest conference football season Saturday when conference teams won two of the three inter-sectional games played.

At Fort Worth, Tex. Christian beat Sam Houston, 9 to 7, when Taldon Mantion kicked a 17-yard field goal in the fourth period. Southern Methodist traveled to St. Louis where Bob Wilson tossed a 14-yard pass to Louis Smith to beat Washington university, 7 to 0. Texas A. & M. lost, 26 to 13, to Michigan State.

It was the most successful of any Southwest conference campaign Coach Jimmy Kitts' Rice Institute Owls won the conference title with 5 victories and 1 defeat. The Owls dropped a 7 to 2 game to Texas Christian. It was Rice's first football championship.

At the start of the season critics picked Texas, Texas Christian, S. M. U. and Arkansas as outstanding. Rice was hardly noticed, but the Owls started and finished with one of the country's best teams.

Jimmy Kitts was the surprise coach. A former Athens high school basketball and football mentor, Jimmy was signed to coach Rice basketball but last summer he succeeded Jack Meagher as football coach. A wonderful handler of boys, Jimmy soon had the Owls clicking once the conference race started. Their straight season record of 9 wins, 1 defeat and 1 tie netted them sixth place on the Associated Press' poll of the nation's best teams.

The conference gained desired national recognition by winning major inter-sectional games. Rice beat Purdue, 14 to 0. Creighton, 47 to 13, and held Louisiana State 9 to 9. Texas whipped Notre Dame, 7 to 6, and Oklahoma university, 19 to 0. Southern Methodist defeated Fordham, 26 to 13; played 14 to 14 with Louisiana State; beat Oklahoma A. & M., 41 to 0, and closed shop by trimming Washington, Texas Christian beat Tulsa, 14 to 12; Loyola of New Orleans, 12 to 0, and finished Saturday by beating Santa Clara, the team that played a 7 to 7 game against Stanford university.

The important inter-sectional victories established the 1934 Southwest conference teams among the strongest and best coached in the United States.

For the first time two conference players were picked on the all-American team of the Associated Press. They were Darrell Lester, 215 pound Texas Christian center, and Bill Wallace, 185 pound Rice halfback.

John Hilliard, University of Texas halfback, was voted the most valuable player to his team and will receive the annual Houston Post trophy.

Robert Wilson, elusive Southern Methodist halfback, paced Southwestern teams with 8 touchdowns for 46 points.

Against non-conference opposition Southwest teams finished with 22 wins, 4 ties and 8 defeats for a percentage of .733. Conference teams piled up 551 points against non-conference adversaries' 253.

Final conference standings:

Team	W	L	T	Pct.	Pts.	Opp.
Rice	5	1	0	.833	95	22
Texas	4	1	1	.750	93	64
SMU	3	2	1	.583	79	37
TCU	3	3	0	.500	43	77
Texas A. & M.	2	3	1	.417	55	53
T. A. & M.	1	4	1	.250	23	93
Baylor	1	5	0	.167	38	113

MAJORS READY TO TRADE OR BUY PLAYERS

HORNBY WOULD TRADE OFF MOST ANY OF HIS MEN

By HERBERT W. PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Seeking batters who can hit 340 and pitchers good for 20 victories, club owners and managers of the National and American leagues were gathered today to buy, sell, and trade and incidentally to attend the annual major league meetings.

There's not a club in either league that won't trade but the Chicago Cubs, Boston Red Sox, St. Louis Browns, and possibly the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants seem most likely to be active.

Since the last campaign closed the Cubs have obtained Tex Carlton from the Cardinals and Larry French and Fraddy Lindstrom from the Pirates and disposed of Pat Malone, Guy Bush, Jim Weaver, and Babe Herman, among others. They're not ready to call it quits yet, seeking another starting pitcher, perhaps Fred Frankhouse of the Boston Braves or Curt Davis of the Phillies.

Bogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Browns is ready to trade anyone on this club except Buck Newsom and Jack Knott, and Bill Terry of the Phillies with Dick Bartel of the Phillies already snared, feels much the same way about most of his hired hands.

The Pirates might listen to overtures for either Lloyd or Paul Warner; Brooklyn reports say, might be willing to part with Sam Leslie and Tony Cucinello. Joe Cronin, new manager of the Boston Red Sox, will have Tom Yawkey's bank roll behind him should he decide he'd like to have a new infielder or two, say Buddy Myer of the Washington Senators.

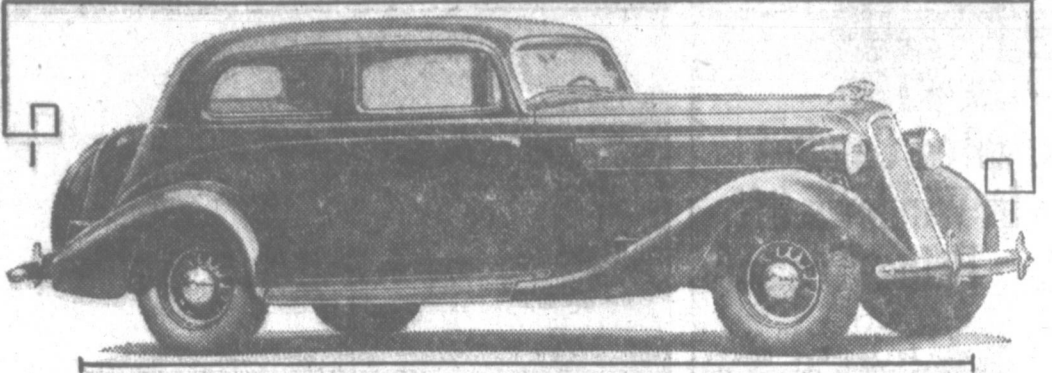

On the purely executive side of the meetings, the National league will install Ford Frick into the presidency vacated by John Arnold Heydler and then will decide whether or not Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston club, shall be permitted to operate a dog-racing plant in Braves field. The magnates appeared to be pretty well lined up against any dog racing-baseball combination but Fuchs may get around that by running the dogs in Braves field while the Braves play all their home games in Fenway Park, home of the Red Sox.

Morrison To Be Offered $10,000 To Coach Vandy

DALLAS, Dec. 10. (AP)—It was reliably reported here today that Ray Morrison, Southern Methodist university football coach, has been offered a $10,000 yearly contract to become head football coach at Vanderbilt university, his alma mater. The highest ever paid a Commodore coach was $6,500 a year.

Morrison was at Nashville, Tenn., today discussing Vanderbilt's offer with Dan McGugin who is retiring after 30 years of coaching Commodore football teams. Morrison plans to return here in company with McGugin who will be honored guest tomorrow night at the annual Southern Methodist football banquet. Morrison was reported to be receiving $10,000 a year at Southern Methodist where his contract expires next Sept. 1.

NEW STUDEBAKERS INSPECTED AT KERR COMPANY SHOWROOM

The new 1935 Studebaker automobile is here.

Heralded nationwide as the "champions of 1935" and promising the "miracle ride" of motor history, the new Studebakers arrived yesterday. They were inspected by motorists at the showroom of O. D. Kerr Motor company, local Studebaker distributor.

They are new in styling, in beauty, in comfort, in performance. Motorists have been enthusiastic in their applause of these "miracle-ride" offerings of the famous 82-year old manufacturer.

An engineer, yardssticking the cars in the cold technical manner of his profession, will tell you that the new independent planar wheel suspension of the 1935 Studebakers is their outstanding feature. A woman will tell you their styling and interior refinement deserve first mention. A safety engineer will applaud their new hydraulic brakes. The man who uses his car in business will place the "miracle-ride" on the cards for his car. So it would seem that Studebaker has done much to please all.

The new 1935 Studebakers will be produced in three lines or groups of cars, a complete assortment of body models being available in each group. The three groups and their base I. O. B. factory prices are: The President, $1245; the Commander, $895; the Dictator, $695.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS.

AUSTIN, Dec. 10 (AP)—The raucous din that characterizes sessions of the Texas house of representatives will be mitigated to some extent by January when the 44th legislature convenes.

For some years house members have been using an old loud speaker set that gives a raspy, irritating tone to a speaker's voice. The condition has made the speeches more disagreeable than they ordinarily would be which, in the opinion of some observers, is plenty.

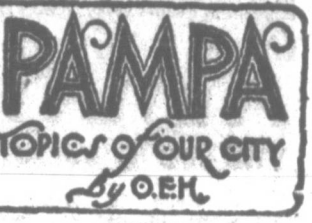

At its last special session the house voted an appropriation to either repair or replace the present equipment. Sponsors of the move promised it would make listening to the harangues less onerous.

The house also is making good use of a system of bells it had installed last year in the committee rooms. Whenever a vote is about to be taken the speaker's secretary pushes a button and the members rush into the hall from all corners, shout to ascertain what the question is and then vote.

There have been times in the course of house debate on uninteresting subjects when it would be difficult to muster a corporal's guard on the floor but a good quorum usually is brought out by the little bell.

When Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt of Waco closes his legislative service next January he will have served four years as presiding officer of the senate without having been called to serve in the governor's chair. Both Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and former Governor R. S. Sterling consistently refused to accept invitations that would necessitate their leaving the state's boundaries.

Witt is concluding 14 years of public service. As a member of the senate he was regarded as one of the smoothest parliamentarians on the floor. As presiding officer he was looked upon as one of the most gracious.

R. B. HAYNESS in Miami Chief—Personal liberty is a beautiful thing, but when a man takes too much of it the police may deprive him of a portion.

ROY M. CRAIG in Vega Sentinel—Sentiment is growing for an old-age pension and probably the next Congress will provide for one. However, if and when the bill is passed, you can rest assured that no more than $50 per month for the husband and $50 for his wife will be the extent of the payment.

J. C. ESTLACK in Donley County Leader—The old folks' pension idea is gaining ground all over the nation. When Congress meets there will be a deluge of letters and telegrams and besides gobs of petitions. Those who do not favor the idea will be in a hard place when they realize that the folks back home in the big majority want it. Right along with the old age pension will be the payment of the soldier. The deferred payments should have been paid long ago, but it will come in handy right now. No other two things could be studied out that would put as much money in circulation where it is needed most. I favor the payment of both at the quickest possible moment.

T. A. LANDERS in McLean News—No matter how good a newspaper may be, it will always have some sore-headed critics. And maybe it is a good thing for the paper, for it is claimed that opposition brings out the best in everything.

VAN W. STEWART in Ochiltree County Herald—My idea of wealth is to be so independent that you can eat pickles for breakfast, if you choose.

CHARLES A. GUY in Lubbock Journal—Another indication of the fact that "people is funny folks" is the way a fellow acts when he wins a couple of packages of cigarettes on a punch board for a 15-cent expenditure.

The average man is happier over that small winning than he is over a ten-buck victory in a business deal.

LORAIN SCHLIESSER in Canyon Prairie—When I first get up in the morning, I wash my face with Life Buoy to keep that "School Girl Complexion." I then comb my Hollywood permanent, which has been set by Mrs. Boyd. To make myself more alluring, I powder my face with Luxor for a base on which to put my make-up. Following this I put on a little Princes Pat rouge; and for finishing touches I vaseline my eyelashes and rouge my lips with Kissproof lipstick. It is all very simple—in fact, you must try it sometime.

GEORGE H. HILL in Roswell Dispatch—The good sport is that man who can fairly judge situations in this game of life and act accordingly, being swayed neither one way nor the other by misunderstood circumstances.

No finer characteristic can be instilled into the growing boy or girl, than that of sportsmanship. Whether their station be high or low, the obstacles they must face will be comparatively the same, and without that "fair judgment," life can indeed be hard.

AMAZING PRO TILT WON BY GIANTS 30-13

RECOVERY MADE AFTER PLAYERS CHANGE TO CAGE SHOES

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—The New York Giants today ruled the professional football world conquerors of the Chicago Bears in one of the most amazing recoveries ever made in the history of the gridiron to win the National league championship. The score was 30 to 13.

Completely out of the ball game with the exception of three points contributed by Ken Strong's 38-yard placement field goal, trailing by 10 to 3 as the result of Bronko Nagurski's 2-yard plunge for a touchdown and Jack Manders' 18-yard field goal—the Giants came out for the second half in rubber-soled, canvas-topped basketball shoes.

These shoes were obtained at the suggestion of End Ray Flaherty, the Giants' captain, while the New Yorkers were being pushed around in the first half on the frozen Polo Grounds turf before 48,000 spectators.

Flaherty, who formerly coached Gonzaga, had previous experience with frozen turf, and the change from leather cleats to rubber soles altered the complexion of the battle quickly. The rubber-soled shoes gave the Giant ball-carriers, Strong and Ed Danowski, security of foot. Besides the backfield men, Flaherty and the other Giant wingman, Ike Franklin, also changed to the basketball shoes.

While the Giants were getting accustomed to their new bootery, Manders, former Minnesota place-kicking specialist, booted a 23-yard field goal to increase Chicago's lead to 13 to 3.

The final quarter was only a few minutes old when Danowski, whipped a long forward to Franklin for a touchdown.

A few plays later Strong swept Chicago's right end for 42 yards and a touchdown. After another interval, Strong shattered the Bears' 215-pound forward line for his second touchdown.

The Bears tried to pull loose ends together, but it was in vain, for Danowski, tore around left end, nine yards for the final touchdown.

Nagurski, the boogey-man of pro football, weighing 236 pounds, was unstopable for two-thirds of the game but he was forced to withdraw then with a painful shoulder injury.

Peace gained ground over threats of war in European trouble centers today.

Geneva—Yugoslavia accepted a league plan for settlement of the assassination dispute with Hungary and statesmen were hopeful Hungary would do likewise. France proposed an international criminal court for repressing terrorism.

Belgrade—Yugoslavian officials offered assurances that no independent measures will be taken against Hungary regardless of what the League of Nations decides in the present conflict. Deportation of Hungarians has been stopped.

Morrison Talks Over Vandy Job

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 10 (AP)—Ray Morrison, prospective successor to Dan McGugin as football coach at Vanderbilt university, was here today to confer with officials of the school.

While the question of whether Morrison, now Southern Methodist university coach, will take the position may be more or less settled today, he will not announce his decision, he said, until he has returned to Dallas, explaining he would need time to "think it over."

A former Vanderbilt star on a team of McGugin's coaching, Morrison had an informal visit with the retired Commodore mentor yesterday.

SECOND TULSA BOY SLAIN IN GORRELL CASE

'SUICIDE,' SAY POLICE; 'NO,' DECLARES FATHER

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 10 (AP)—The sudden death of young Sidney Born—police call it suicide—has plunged the "Gorrell case" into new and deeper mystery.

The youth was found dead yesterday under the steering wheel of his father's automobile, a bullet through his head and his father's pistol lying in his lap.

Born, who was 19 years old, had previously told police that he had driven Phillip Kennamer, also 19, to the place where Kennamer and John Gorrell met and where Gorrell was shot and killed by Kennamer.

Kennamer, who admitted the shooting and claimed he fired in self defense, is held in jail on a murder charge. He is the son of a federal judge.

Born was found shot yesterday less than 15 minutes after he had tried unsuccessfully to reach young Kennamer by telephone. Calling from a drug store pay station, Born asked the caller to let Kennamer come to the phone. The caller refused.

"Oh, hell," Born was heard to say as he hung up.

"The place where Born was found shot to death was about a mile from the spot where Gorrell, young dentist student, was killed.

"It's suicide," declared Sergeant Henry B. Maddux, in charge of the investigation of the Gorrell slaying.

"My son would never have done such a thing," asserted Prof. Sidney Born, prominent engineer and member of the University of Tulsa faculty. "He was too level headed."

"Isn't that awful?" exclaimed Kennamer.

Maddux pointed out that from the time the young Born left the drug store, where his end of the telephone conversation with Schultz was overheard by Fred Adams, an employee, and Paul Fowler, the drug store owner, until he was shot was less than 15 minutes.

Maddux declined to advance his theory of the motive, but expressed his positive opinion that it was closely linked with the Gorrell case.

Born told officers a week ago that he was accosted downtown by Kennamer Thanksgiving night and drove him to his fatal meeting with Gorrell.

That many of the other associates of Born, Gorrell, and Kennamer, were alarmed was obvious.

Ted Bath and Robert Thomas, prospective state witnesses, both told authorities they needed the protection of firearms. Neither, however, disclosed whom they feared.

Bath appeared at police station last night with a pistol and announced he would linger here no longer, but get back to Longview, Texas, where he has a job in a refinery.

Four Americans Receive Nobel Prize Awards

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 10 (AP)—Four Americans and one Italian were honored here today in the 1934 Nobel prize awards, while at Oslo, Norway, the peace prize went to Arthur Henderson, Great Britain's president of the world disarmament conference.

The award in medicine is shared by three Americans. The fourth award to an American was for accomplishments in chemistry. The other award goes to Luigi Pirandello, Italian novelist and playwright.

Three of the Americans who received the honors are here for the presentation. They are Doctors George Minot and William P. Murphy of the Harvard university medical school, and Dr. George H. Whipple of the University of Rochester, joint winners of the award in medicine.

Dr. Harold Clayton Urey of Columbia university, whose discovery of "heavy water," won him the chemistry prize, was unable to attend the ceremony. Lauren Steinhardt, United States minister to Sweden, acted as his representative.

The four Americans receive a total of more than $90,000 with three physicians sharing a $41,318 prize.

Ghosts Cavort At Spook Party Thursday Night

How's your heart, your liver, your lungs and your kidneys? You may think this is an unnecessary question but if you are going to be among those attending El-Wyn's spook party at the LaNora theater midnight show Thursday night you'll want to check up on your physical condition thoroughly before you go.

The evening gives promise of being the most spectacularly thrilling that has hit Pampa for some time. The most hard bodied skeptic is shaken to the marrow by some of the feats performed. Supernatural effects carried out right in the audience add to the general scariness and hilarity.

At a recent performance in Lubbock, one woman who had been loud in her sarcasm regarding "ghost shows" was given a rather severe shock by the sudden and unexpected "personal appearance" of the "ghost" in the next seat to her, and she was led from the theater in the middle of a bad case of the "willies."

By all means, if you are looking for something new, unusual and thrilling in entertainment, don't fail to see El-Wyn's spook party. You may not believe what you will see, but it will jar the most broad minded of the audience right out of his seat.

Stine Deplores Target Practice On Swimming Pool

City officials are now trying to cope with a dangerous practice and City Manager C. L. Stine has instructed the police department to arrest anyone found near the swimming pool with firearms.

Several times during the past few weeks, shots have been fired through the windows at the swimming pool. A caretaker and his family are living there and some of the bullets have barely missed the occupants.

Anyone loitering around the property will be taken to the police station. Parents will be held responsible for the actions of their children, the city manager declared.

Motor Accident Deaths Increase

There were more deaths in motor accidents in the United States during the month of October, 1934 than during any previous month in the history of the country, City Manager C. L. Stine was notified by bulletin this morning. There was, it is estimated, 3,580 people killed in automobile accidents during October.

Although the nation's record of death was passed, deaths in cities entered in the annual safety contest reported a decrease of nearly 9 per cent in the number of deaths.

Pampa ranked second in the nation in the safety contest last year but this year the city has dropped to 44th in the list in the death column. Other branches of the contest show Pampa ranking much higher and the city is expected to be near the top at the close of the year.

It may seem odd to speak of a book of quotations as the most amusing book of the week, but certainly Burton Stevenson's "The Home Book of Quotations" is something like that.

Mr. Stevenson has got together under one roof, so to say, nearly every one of those remarks which the world "almost remembers." He has dug out the history of well known sayings, indexed, cross-indexed, and otherwise made a great deal of information very easy to be gotten at.

Example: Emerson's famous mouse-trap remark. The quotation appears nowhere in Emerson's work. But Mr. Stevenson, with the help of others, traces it to Emerson nevertheless. It first appears in a little book called "Borrowings," which was compiled by the ladies of the First Unitarian Church of Oakland, Cal., in the seventies.

The woman who contributed it was Mrs. Sarah S. B. Yule. She "copied" it from a lecture, she said before her death. Emerson delivered six lectures in San Francisco and Oakland. Her parents were Unitarians, so that it was reasonable they should have taken her to hear Emerson. Ergo.

So it goes from Aechylus to Dorothy Parker. WITH AUTHORS AND NEW BOOKS BY MAY STEVENS ISAACS Canadian, Texas

AWAY GOES SALLY is a new juvenile by Elizabeth Coatsworth who has written several interesting stories for children including The Cat Who Went To Heaven and The Boy With the Parrot. Sally was a little girl who lived on a farm in old New England with her two uncles and three aunts. This is the story of their travel in a house on runners, drawn by many yoke of oxen, from their home in Massachusetts to find a new place in Maine. They made the trip in winter on the snow, encountered a blizzard, found a half-frozen peddler in the storm, stopped a peddler at a tavern to bake and wash and it was here that Sally had a portrait painted. This is a MacMillan book and has many pictures, twelve of them full-page illustrations.

ODIE SEEKS A FRIEND, another juvenile, by Julius King and Kurt Wiese is the tale of Odie the skunk, who was lonesome and went out to seek a friend, but could find none to respond to his friendly advances. The chickens, the cow, the boy, the rats, and even the pig in the sty made it plain how unwelcome his presence was to them. Finally he finds Hugh, another skunk, and they decided that they can be friends only with those of their own kind. Every page is a picture and the few lines of explanation are in large type so it will be interesting to tiny people and, whether it is intended to point a moral or not, it will be read with appreciation by older ones with a keen sense of humor.

Advance orders for Elsie Robinson's I WANTED OUT were so great that a second printing was made before publication date.

Of this prize, $3,000 will be awarded to the author and $2,000 as an advance on royalties. The manuscript must deal with events in the United States and must be by an American. It is hoped that the announcement of the winner can be published January 1st, 1937.

CAPTAIN AND MATE DEAD ON JAP FREIGHTER

SHIPS RACING TO AID DISABLED VESSEL IN GALE

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Four ships stood by today to aid the Japanese freighter Victoria Maru, which had been pounded into an unmanageable condition by mid-Atlantic gales. NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—A headless horseman of the sea, the Japanese freighter Victoria Maru, rode out a mid-Atlantic gale today, with captain and chief officer dead, the third officer lost and seven of the crew injured.

SOS messages, intercepted by other ships that went racing to her rescue, and relayed to shore, told of her bridge being destroyed by mountainous waves. The last message reported from her wireless man, however, said: "I am alone but present conditions not so dangerous." From the staccato story told in

Two Jurors Are Chosen In Trial Of Arthur Huey

CANADIAN, Tex., Dec. 10 (AP)—Two jurors were selected today for the trial of Arthur Huey, Hutchinson county tax collector, on a charge of murder for the slaying of A. P. (Ace) Berger in the Berger postoffice last Aug. 31.

C. R. Reeder, attorney for Huey, questioned prospective jurors closely about their views on self-defense, indicating the defense would base its case on this argument.

About 50 witnesses were subpoenaed for the trial, which had been transferred from Hutchinson county on motion of W. L. McConnell, district attorney.

HAUPTMANN

"If this were true, it would have been disclosed months ago," Pope said. "I do not believe it is true because I am satisfied that Hauptmann had nothing to do with the kidnaping."

Kohler, associated with the U. S. forestry service laboratory at Madison Wis., examined the kidnap ladder minutely for months before linking it to Hauptmann's home.

One ladder rung differed in grain and substance from every other piece of wood in the ladder, Kohler found. It is a flat piece of wood about a foot long, three inches wide and less than one inch thick.

Investigators, studying the trap door leading to the attic from the ceiling of a second floor room in Hauptmann's house, found another piece nailed against the side of the aperture, apparently to support the top end of a ladder.

Kohler matched this against the rung from the kidnap ladder and concluded that originally they had been part of the same stick. He held the roughly sawed edges together, he reported, and found that they fitted.

Details of the Kohler report were obtained from an authoritative source.

Meanwhile at Trenton, Attorney General David T. Wilentz said no one had "been authorized" to make public the report.

"The attorney general feels it would be improper to make an statement concerning the evidence which may be produced at the trial."

Bolivia Accepts Chaco Peace Plan

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 10 (AP)—Bolivian acceptance of the League of Nations' plan to end the Chaco war, along with a general mobilization of all the country's available manpower, was announced today in dispatches from La Paz.

Many observers here believed the long-raging wilderness war has entered its final phases. Paraguay claims to have thrown an "iron circle" around Bolivian forces.

The league plan provides for an armistice while a neutral international commission works out details of a settlement of grievances. Paraguay has not acted finally on the league's offer.

The Olympic games were first held at Elis, Greece, in 1453 B. C.

Diagrams of Danger—No. 8

No one is more active in the campaign to persuade the automobile driver to exercise the care, courtesy and common sense which will reduce the appalling number of accidents than Motor Vehicle Administrators. They know the facts. Ten of them, officers of National and Regional Associations, have described the most common driving and pedestrian faults.

By LEW E. WALLACE
Superintendent, Motor Vehicle Department, Iowa. Secretary-Treasurer, American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

THE glaring headlight still continues to be one of the great menaces to night motor driving. The casualty insurance companies, engineering committees, automobile manufacturers and headlight designers have worked for years to discover some device which will take the glare out of the eyes of meeting drivers and at the same time sufficiently illuminate the roadway. They have discovered a system of lights which appears to accomplish this purpose, but motorists are slow to use them or to keep them adjusted after they have installed them.

It cannot be said definitely how many lost their lives or suffered injury last year because drivers were blinded by headlights. It has been estimated that more than 7,000 cars were involved in accidents due to this cause. We do know from figures supplied by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Under-

...sidering a move to extend the salary reporting requirement to top officials of all corporations. No new law would be required.

Already, corporations seeking to issue securities have to report their officials' pay and bonuses, but this is not applied to corporations whose securities were put on the market before the securities act was passed.

Another government agency, the treasury's internal revenue bureau, disclosed last night that net incomes of a million dollars or more increased from 20 in 1932 to 46 last year.

Of these, one person whose name, like all the others, was guarded carefully, had a net income of more than $5,000,000 and another's was more than $3,000,000.

The number of net incomes of $5,000 or less declined from 3,420,995 to 3,359,602, a drop of 81,393.

Official quarters inclined to believe that profits from speculation and changes in the tax laws had much to do with the sudden growth of the million dollar class.

NRA rejected any suggestions that code price and production controls—now out of favor with recovery rulers—accounted for the increase, which drew new attention to the current agitation for a more even distribution of wealth.

But spokesmen for the recovery administration did claim part of the credit for booming corporation incomes. The number of tax returns showing corporations with net incomes was 104,702 in 1933, an increase of 25,927, and the income figure went up 35 per cent to $2,506,078,279.

while Irene was using my sewing machine."

Mrs. De Bolt had been stripped of all her clothing and robbed of her money and care before her body was discovered on the desert near Pecos.

On direct examination Mrs. Cheske identified gray and brown coats introduced in evidence as those of her sister. The coats were discovered in a concrete culvert by officers some days after the body was found.

Mrs. Cheske pointed to a label on the gray coat.

"Irene showed me this label and called my attention to it, because the coat was 100 per cent wool," Mrs. Cheske testified.

Others who arrived today from Cleveland to testify as state witnesses were Ler Hartigan, brother of the son-in-law, Mrs. De Bolt, and Mrs. Frank Cheske, a sister.

John Craven, the cowboy who discovered the body, was recalled by the prosecution to testify again concerning the exact date. He testified at a coroner's inquest the body was found November 9 but later said it was November 7. James Neill, the Culberson county coroner, also was recalled to give additional details, concerning the condition of the body.

Mrs. Wyeth Doak, Pecos camp ground owners, considered the state's star witness, was expected to testify during the day.

NARCOTIC DRIVE PUSHED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—New arrests in week end raids pushed the number of persons seized in the federal narcotics drive today toward 1,000 as the treasury pressed a relentless campaign against the traffic.

Harry J. Anlinger, commissioner of narcotics, said telegrams reporting latest results still were pouring into his office.

Wreckage Chaired

One wheel landed on a hill beyond the nearest well house. It was 149 steps from the crater. Another wheel was 75 yards in another direction. Every piece of wreckage was burned and twisted. Gougeon hunters filled their pockets with the curious while sad-faced acquaintances of Mr. Price went about picking up small bits of his broken body. The gruesome work required an hour, at the end of which probably not more than ten pounds had been found. Part of a foot with tree toes attached was one of the largest pieces.

Scores of motorists drove to the scene as the news spread. The shock was so plain in Pampa that many persons thought the blast must be within a mile or two of the city. Actually, it was half a mile northwest of Noellette. In a few instances, plaster was shaken from walls of local houses.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Firmness of some of the metals and scattered specialties helped to keep the stock market on an even keel today, but the list, as a whole, moved cautiously. There was little speculative enthusiasm in evidence and transfers approximately only $30,000 shares. The close was steady.

Oil Case Being Argued Before Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Arguments were presented to the supreme court today to aid in deciding the first of the new deal legislation to reach the high tribunal—two cases in which East Texas oil producers attack the constitutionality of the national industrial recovery act.

Meanwhile, another case was added to the list of new deal litigation awaiting decision. The court said it would pass on the decision of a three-judge federal court upholding the code regulating the motor retail trade.

The Spelman Motor Sales company, Inc., of New York City, contended it had a constitutional right to decide the price it could allow on trade-in automobiles and the price it would make on new cars and that this could not be taken from it by acts of congress and the New York legislature.

Arguments in the case brought by the Panama Refining company and Amazon corporation began before a crowded chamber, with the corridors outside filled with people waiting to obtain admission.
