Louiana's "Kingfish" certainly must be of no higher breed than a mud-eat.

Unexpectedly, in the school controversy, he has shown that he has some of the attributes of a crayfish—he can back up.

There is some satisfaction and no objection when he "ties into" New Orleans and its political set-up. A dog fight is seldom unpopular.

A friend (?) of Dick Hughes says that Dick told his youngsters that Santa Claus had married and probably had so many children that he couldn't afford to come to Pampa this year. Sextuplets, perhaps?

Skippy, the family pup, shared the experience of number of newcomers in seeing his first snow yesterday. He didn't like it. We hope he has much of the same to dislike.

Musing of the moment: Words are things, and a small drop of ink, falling like dew upon a thought, makes thousands, perhaps millions, think. So said Byron. We need to think more about words which we use. What is a friend? What is Americanism? What is duty? What is sin? What is duty? We need to ponder these things. Many of us tend to forget the basic meaning of the words we use so volubly.

Brevitorials

WHERE are we as a nation and as a people going? Leaders of the moments are pointing in divers directions. These at the helm are accused of dashing off at tangents, or of falling to dash at all. There is confusion in Congress. President Roosevelt, with a vote of confidence from the people, is eager for Congress to do its work and go home, quickly. Business men are in hearty accord with this view.

DAILY THERE is more evidence that Mr. Roosevelt is nearing the end of his experiments. He has iron enough in the fire. The job now is to work the plans which have been taking form. NRA is not as dead as Gen. Hugh Johnson claims, but certain of its vital phases have never worked and others must be altered to assure their continuance. The country has a big relief problem for the winter but many of the other programs are in no need of pushing. NRA is not as dead as Gen. Hugh Johnson claims, but certain of its vital phases have never worked and others must be altered to assure their continuance.

MR. ROOSEVELT has not, as some critics claim, surrendered to big business or little business. In some lines of regulation his program is sharper than ever. But he is not abandoning capitalism. Individual opportunity, seemingly in danger recently, will come in for considerable attention. Price-fixing is being abandoned as the unworkable plan that it was. The government has spent huge sums. This must spend much more. This means taxes. Taxes can logically be paid only out of profits. So the government is developing a keen affection for the profit motive. It wishes business men to make money and to share it with others through taxation.

WE READ a great deal about sharing the wealth. Taxation is and always has been a share-the-wealth plan. The American tax system is based upon the theory that those most able to pay should pay most. The tax structure has grown fantastically. The so-called rich movement has rebounded sharply in every case where taxes could be added to the cost of consumer's goods. To tax our way to a more equal distribution is foolish unless inheritance and similar taxes are raised. The sales tax is bitterly fought as a levy upon poverty, yet we have thousands of other taxes which are similarly absorbed by the average family. Mistake not: When we spend millions as a government we borrow it from those who have the money and we—everyone of us—must help repay the federal loans, with interest, and through tax-exempt bonds. Federal borrowing pyramids privileged wealth rather than equalizes the distribution of wealth. "We" are the government; we delude ourselves when we assume that the government can rescue us without its costing anything.

THE NEXT 25 years will be crucial and dynamic in American history. They will determine whether democracy and capitalism, those inseparable words, will regain lost prestige or whether we shall drift into chaos from which only a socialist or communist dictatorship can rescue us. Senator Huey Long through his high-handed state dictatorship brings to us the shocking realization that old-time Americanism is passing. How can sons of the men who fought a civil war for a principle submit to single dictator and become a part of it?

WEALTHY SOCIALITE IS MISSING

Huey Long Plans To Take Over City Of Baton Rouge

CAPITOL CITY TO BE UNDER LONG CONTROL

PARISH TO BE SEAT OF HIS LOUISIANA 'EMPIRE'

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 19. (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long today revealed a plan to make the capital area a miniature "District of Columbia" which will be the seat of his Louisiana "empire."

Long's plan was disclosed at the committee hearing on his 33 "Kingfish" bills today when he amended one of the measures to give him control of the government of East Baton Rouge parish, in which the capitol is located.

Long personally wrote in an amendment authorizing the governor to appoint as many members of the police jury as are now serving. The police jury is the governing body of the parish.

There are at present 13 members. A minority of these are already for Long and 13 additional members will give him absolute control.

"The state owns just about everything that's worth anything here," Long explained, "and it's got to have some interest in the way things are run."

"Up at Washington the government runs the District of Columbia, but here in Baton Rouge the state is at the mercy of the will of a few whims of the local authorities."

"For instance, we haven't got a street from the city to the capitol. You can't get straight into the capitol. Now we'll remedy that. I think we might have to go into the city government, too."

"Louisiana owns just about all this parish. It has 20 or 30 million dollars in it. That refinery out there," he pointed from a window to the gigantic Standard Oil company plant, "is all we haven't."

"Well, we might take that over," he said grinning.

DICTATOR OF CUBA READY FOR REVOLT

Says Preparations Are Now Being Made For Armed Action Against Troops.

By EDMUND A. CHESTER
(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)
HAVANA, Dec. 19.—Fulgencio Batista, former sergeant who now commands the Cuban army, said in an exclusive pre-dawn interview today "I know preparations are being made for an armed action against the government, but so far they are not of an alarming extent."

"As painful as it would be for us to have to use force against our people," Batista said, "the army is ready to use every effort to prevent a new disturbance."

Surrounded by a small group of aides at his headquarters, Batista, target of much anti-government opposition, had worked all night but was not too tired to discuss the island's political ills.

His supreme wish for Christmas, he said, is "tranquility for all Cuba, even if it means my own submergence and my conversion into a handful of ashes."

Batista expressed the hope that "no one will mislead Cubans into an effort to take arms against the government."

"We have nothing to fear at present from political groups in the way of concerted action or warfare. Any outbreaks which seem likely to occur will be short-lived disturbances, rather than campaigns or serious warfare. Terrorism is our most serious bother."

CLARK WOULD MUZZLE PRESS IN WAR TIME

SENATOR DRAFTS BILLS FOR PRESENTATION TO CONGRESS

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Senator Clark (D., Mo.) said today he would move for quick discussion in congress on army plans which, he asserted, would authorize the president to license all business in wartime and permit complete censorship of the press.

As soon as congress convenes, he said, he will introduce legislation already prepared by the war department which planned to send the bills to Capitol Hill only in event of actual war. The bills are being studied by the senate munitions committee, of which Clark is a member.

The senator said he was not offering them to congress because he favored them, but to provide a chance for thorough study instead of having them passed "under whip and spur" after a declaration of war.

Clark called particular attention to one bill, designed to mobilize all material resources. It contains the following provision:

"That from time to time whenever the president shall find it essential to license the production, manufacture, sale, storage, distribution, or transportation of any product, foodstuff, material, or commodity, in order to carry into effect any of the purposes of this act, and shall publicly so announce, it shall be unlawful for any person after a date fixed in the announcement, to engage in or carry on any such business enumerated in this section, unless he shall secure and hold a license issued pursuant to this section."

"I could work out 20 ways under that section that the press could be effectively subjected to a censorship," Clark said. "The first would be to license all newspaper production."

Army officers have testified that only voluntary censorship was contemplated.

In White House Romance?

Romance again hovers over the White House, if there is any basis in fact for insistent Washington reports that Anna Dall, left, will become the bride of John Boettiger, right, recent Chicago Tribune correspondent, now with the Will

Hays film organization. Boettiger has refused to comment and the Roosevelt's daughter, divorced last summer from Curtis Dall, New York broker, was "out" to questioners.

ROUGH CARMEL BEACH SECTION BEING COMBED

WOMAN LEAVES HOUSE IN NIGHT GOWN, FUR COAT

CARMEL, Calif., Dec. 19. (AP)—A report that a screen had been ripped from a rear window in the home of Mrs. Eliot Boko Schaffner spurred authorities today in their search for the missing Chicago woman in the belief she possibly may have been kidnapped.

The report was made to the office of Sheriff Carl H. Abbott by a member of the missing woman's family as the sheriff led a large voluntary posse in a hunt for Mrs. Schaffner.

CARMEL, Calif., Dec. 19. (AP)—The rugged country and beaches around Carmel were searched today for Mrs. Eliot Boko Schaffner, 39-year-old member of the wealthy clothing family.

Apparently clad only in night gown, bedroom slippers and a fur coat, she disappeared between midnight and dawn yesterday from her isolated home on the southern tip of this artists' village.

Released only Monday from Monterey hospital where she was taken ten days ago for a rest, fears were felt Mrs. Schaffner may have wandered into the ocean surf of Carmel Bay or into the tidal mouth of the Carmel river, both close to her home.

After a day of secret, though intensive search by the village police, bloodhounds were brought by airplane from Berkeley to Monterey county during the night to join the hunt for the missing woman.

Her husband, Joseph H. Schaffner, a director of Hart, Schaffner and Marx, was flying to Carmel from Chicago. The socially prominent couple divided their time between New York, Carmel and San Francisco, 135 miles north of here.

Her sister, Mrs. Marion Todd of San Francisco, this morning reached the Carmel home from which the search is being directed.

Like attendants at the hospital where Mrs. Schaffner was recently confined, Mrs. Todd refused to discuss her sister's illness.

Mrs. Schaffner's disappearance was discovered yesterday morning when a maid brought breakfast to her room to find it deserted. A careful check of Mrs. Schaffner's wardrobe disclosed she stopped only long enough to slip on slippers and pull a fur coat over her night gown.

She may easily have wandered down to the rocky, precipitous beach where Carmel artists frequently paint white-capped beach scenes or cyresses twisted half out of shape by the constant wind. The treacherous tides which sweep into the mouth of the sluggish Carmel river were as close.

A third possibility was that she had crossed fields bordering her

MIDDLEMAN IS ALLEGED TO HAVE KEPT PART OF BRIBE

CHICAGO, Dec. 19. (AP)—The Daily News today said it had learned that John Dillinger bought his way out of the Crown Point, Ind., jail last march on a promise to pay $11,000. Dillinger, it said, kept his part of the bargain but that one of the middlemen kept part of the money and those who aided him in the escape received only about half that amount.

The News said that details of the Crown Point "wooden gun" episode and the Dillinger gang's escape from the Indiana State penitentiary were in the hands of Postal Inspectors J. H. McWhorter and J. J. McCarty and Supervising Captain John Stege of the Chicago police.

The information that Dillinger bought his way out of the Crown Point jail, the story related, came from Arthur O'Leary, former investigator for Louis Piquett, Dillinger's lawyer, and under indictment with him on a charge of harboring Dillinger.

The Daily News did not name the persons to whom the money was reported to have been paid, stating that as a matter of public policy it was not disclosing any information that might hamper the Indiana State's case against the Dillinger accomplices.

Indiana officials, the News said, were ready to return numerous indictments, some of which will include a few Indiana notables, covering the entire history of the Dillinger gang. The middle man, it is claimed, held out on his companions and eventually paid little more than half the amount promised.

This, the news related, brought the following communication from Dillinger to the middleman.

"Dear—

"No doubt you know by this time how I feel toward you. You know that I sent you money to pay every one that I owed any money to and I find out that you never paid any of them a cent. I am telling them that I have sent you the money to pay them and when they come to you you can tell them why you did not pay them. So far as I am concerned we are through and if ——— wants to contact with me I will go along with him as I have always found him fair.

"(Signed) Johnny."

The break from the Indiana penitentiary, the "wooden gun" walkout from the Crown Point jail, the "finger" and slaying of Dillinger himself, the Daily News said, were all pieces of the same cloth.

It related a tale from another source in describing how Dillinger was said to have dealt with a South Side cabaret owner in Chicago in an attempt to flee to Mexico.

The cabaret owner, the News said, was to furnish an automobile driven by a negro chauffeur. In the automobile was to be the cabaret owner's mother and his daughter. Dillinger was to pose as a son and the father of the little girl. The plan fell through.

Some of the details of the Dillinger gang's break from the Indiana state penitentiary, according to the Daily News, came from Pearl Hellman Frasnano, a "boxom blonde" now in federal custody who, so her story indicates, was the "prison widow."

Huey Long After Chicago's Coach

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 19. (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long today suggested that Clark D. Shaughnessy, now at the University of Chicago, might be named as successor to Captain Lawrence "Biff" Jones as head football coach at Louisiana State university.

Long declared Shaughnessy was "a mighty fine man" and indicated he was being approached by Louisiana State university authorities with an offer to pick up the L. S. U. football reins where Jones put them down.

Resignation of Jones following disagreement with Senator Long over management of the State university team was announced late yesterday by Dr. James M. Smith, university president.

Ex-Governor Of Federal Reserve Board Succumbs

ATLANTA, Dec. 19. (AP)—Eugene R. Black, former governor of the Federal Reserve Board, died at his residence here today.

Mr. Black resigned his post recently as head of the Federal Reserve board, a position to which he was drafted by President Roosevelt, to return to his old job of governor of the Federal Reserve bank of the Sixth district here. He was 55 years old.

Since his return to Atlanta Mr. Black had been serving as liaison between the banks of the country and the reconstruction finance corporation.

Members of the family said a doctor was called to the residence last night after Mr. Black complained of being ill. He had been slightly indisposed for the past three days.

He was stricken with a heart attack at 4:30 a. m. and died two hours later. He was a son in law of Henry W. Grady, the journalist.

Mr. Black was the son of Eugene Pinkard and Zoe Hamman Black.

In 1896 he married Miss Gussie Grady, daughter of the great southern editor, who survives him.

GOVERNMENT IS BUYING CATTLE IN GRAY COUNTY

New Quota of 1,300 May Be Ample Here

Gray county cattle were being bought at McLean and Pampa today for the federal government, but in smaller numbers than usual. Indications were that the new quota of 1,300 would be ample in this county.

Purchase of drouth cattle in 127 Texas counties from the $2,738,200 fund set aside for that purpose by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is progressing rapidly under the direction of county drouth directors, according to George W. Barnes, in charge of Texas drouth cattle purchases.

The total allotment of federal money to be spent in drouth cattle purchases in the western states was definitely fixed at $15,822,000 and of this amount $88,351,690 was spent through November 27. Texas farmers and ranchers were paid $19,148,190.

When the resumption of the program was announced, the counties in Texas to be allotted money were decided upon by representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture at Denver November 15 and at that time the Extension Service was charged with the responsibility of carrying out the plans agreed upon. At the suggestion of O. B. Martin, director of the Texas Extension Service, Mr. Barnes met with representative cattlemen from all over Texas, and the members of this committee, upon information they had with respect to condition in the districts they represented, made the allocation of the number of head to be purchased in each county.

A new plan of movement of cattle from the drouth states to areas where surpluses of feeds are available has also been announced by the Agricultural Administration. The plan is designed to assist producers in the western cattle country to dispose of cattle which they cannot feed during the winter to farmers in other regions who have a surplus of feed and wish to purchase or feed cattle. The government will not buy or sell cattle under this plan but will act merely as a clearing house of information to bring cattlemen and holders of feed together.

GLORIA WILL SPEND DEC. 25 WITH MOTHER

Court Decision Rules That Mother May Have Christmas 8 Hours On Days

By DALE HARRISON
Associated Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—There's going to be a big Christmas tree at 49 East 72nd Street next Tuesday, a tree ablaze with candles and with its brightly boughs bent with gifts: Gloria Vanderbilt's coming home!

"It's wonderful that I'm going to have Gloria for Christmas," said the "poor little rich girl's" mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt today. "I'm going to start at once to make it a big day—a big day for Gloria and a big one for me."

An appellate court decision announced yesterday has made the reunion possible. Sometimes, when little girls are very, very rich, solemn judges have to be consulted about what chimney Santa Claus can come down without violating the law.

For ten-year-old Gloria the holiday promises to be a double-barreled—at least a two-treed—Christmas. Christmas eve she will hang her stocking at the fireplace in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, and she will awaken Christmas day to delight in presents left there.

But she must not linger too long.

250 Baskets Are Needed For Poor Families Of City

There are 250 families in Gray county which will have bleak Christmas unless they are given baskets of food.

The Pampa relief office will undertake to distribute baskets to these "poorest cases." Contributions of food or money are much desired by the office staff in the basement of the city hall.

Those who do not wish to prepare baskets may leave a contribution of money and the relief office will buy the food and deliver it.

Anyone wishing the name of a needy family should consult Mrs. W. H. Davis, relief administrator.

DISORDERS IN OIL FIELD SAID TO BE SOLVED—5 MEN CHARGED

Two arson complaints were filed in justice court late yesterday by L. P. Hamner, Texas ranger, against five men accused of setting fire to rigs of the Texas company, two of which were badly damaged.

The first complaint named George Hooker, Charlie Lewis, W. E. Estes, and L. A. McGowan, striking employees of the Texas company. It charged that they, "while acting together set fire to and burned the house of A. D. McNamara" December 12. This referred to the engine house of a rig.

The second complaint named George Hooker Jr., and another man who, it was decided, will be charged in Carson county. D. J. Gribbon was named as the Texas company official in charge of the "house."

At the same time, officers revealed that they had signed statements from four men which "cleared up" the offenses against the Texas company. It was emphasized by the three rangers and the officers who have conducted the intensive investigations that the probe had not ended.

CLAREMORE CATTLEMAN'S MUTILATED BODY FOUND IN CULVERT; YOUTH HELD IN TULSA

CLAREMORE, Okla., Dec. 19. (AP)—The mutilated body of Lon S. Gregory, 48, a cafe owner and former cattle man of Claremore and Bartlesville, was found today in a culvert near Broken Arrow, Okla., several hours after Austin Smith, 21, was arrested in Tulsa in Gregory's car.

A dozen gashes, inflicted apparently with some sharp tool, were found on Gregory's head, and the condition of the body and clothing indicated it had been dragged for some distance.

Deputy Sheriff John Evans of Tulsa, who investigated, said it was highly unlikely that the injuries could have been caused by an automobile accident.

Smith, when arrested, had blood on his face, and Gregory's car was bloody inside and outside.

Gregory's bill fold and check book were found in Smith's possession. Sergeant Felix Altaffer of the Tulsa police said Altaffer, who made the arrest, said Smith told him that he had purchased the car, then changed his story and said he borrowed the machine.

No charges had been filed against Smith, who was being questioned at Tulsa police headquarters.

LEGION WILL MEET

Kerley-Crossman Post No. 334 of the American Legion will have its regular meeting this evening at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present then at the Legion hut.

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy tonight, slightly warmer in the Panhandle and in extreme west portion; Thursday unsettled, probably light rain in the Panhandle.

I Saw . . .

A pridelful, even though tired, gleam in Willard Webb's eyes this morning. The reason: A seven and a half-pound son born to Mr. and Mrs. Webb this morning at Worley hospital. Mrs. Webb was Miss Mary Ellen Cook before her marriage.

To Receive Bids On Light Sedan

New bids will be taken by the city commission on a light sedan for the police department on January 7. Bids received Monday night were not on 1935 models, which are desired.

The commissioners studied proposed changes in an electric ordinance, but took no action immediately.

Crosby Crooning Gets Him Into A Football Mixup

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19. (AP)—Bing Crosby, the singer, is willing to cover all bets of Southern football fans on the Stanford-Alabama game—provided the stake is a fully equipped table tennis set.

Crosby said he already has 17 table tennis sets wagered on Stanford against 17 letters to his employers explaining "why Bing Crosby ought to get a raise in pay."

It all came about this way: Crosby recently sang and dedicated a song to Alabama's football team that meets Stanford's Indians in the Pasadena Rose Bowl New Year's day.

"The next day," he said, "people in California began calling me up and bawling me out for supporting an outside team when I live and work in the west. I explained that although I dedicated the song to the boys from Alabama, I am rooting for Stanford—and willing to bet on Stanford."

The news spread and pretty soon a group of Alabamians telegraphed an offer of $50,000, with no odds or points, on the Crimson Tide against the Indians.

That was too steep for Crosby. But when a group in a University of North Carolina dormitory came along with the tennis table offer, he took them up, with the pay raise recommendation if Crosby wins.

Seventeen others heard about it including groups from the Universities of Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Georgia Tech and Auburn, and the singer said, "It's a bet."

33 Baylor Grid Players Given Letters Tuesday

WACO, Dec. 19. (AP)—Twenty-three Baylor football players were given their letters yesterday. Managers J. R. Nutt and Ray McClain also received the awards.

The seniors honored were Harry Bivins, Plannie Frisby, Hulen Hall, Joe Jack Pearce, Austin Peay, Warren Weathers, and L. L. Zimmerman.

Lettermen who have one or more years left to play are R. B. Buchanan, Kenneth Clark, James Cloyd, Dan McGlasson, Bob Masters, John D. Reynolds, Lloyd Russell, Morris Sanderson, Wendell Simpson, Aubrey Stringer, Lawrence Thornton, Hugh Wilfong, John Williams, and Earl Wray.

WHO IS GOING TO PAY?
The following letter has been sent to the two privately owned and only hospitals in Gray county, Texas:

The Commissioners' Court passed an order instructing us to notify all hospitals that no further hospital bills will be paid for individuals unless the statutes providing for hospital facilities have been fully complied with.

We are, therefore, enclosing herewith a copy of the order as passed by them, which is self-explanatory.

Yours very truly,
CHARLIE TRUIT, County Clerk.

By OLA GREGORY,
The court order follows:
"It is ordered by the court that all relief and hospital facilities be discontinued to individuals other than as provided for by the statutes. The county clerk is instructed to forward letters to all individuals who have heretofore been receiving direct relief, advising them that the November check will be the last received by them from the county unless and until all legal requirements have been complied with, and further that the clerk inform the Pampa hospitals, by letter, that no further hospital bills will be paid for individuals unless the statutes providing for hospital facilities have been fully complied with."

The above order was passed by the Commissioners' court in regular session, November 12, 1934.

Public opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, the privately owned hospital is under no obligation, morally or legally, to admit any patient not of its own choosing. In other words, there is no law which requires a hospital to admit a patient, regardless of how ill or wounded he may be.

The reason for this may be seen readily, for if such were not the case our hospitals would be overrun with charity patients, many of whom, doubtless, are in need of hospital treatment. When a hospital is trying to render a service to the community in which it is established, it is a self-evident fact that it must

Amelia Earhart Plans Honolulu-California Hop

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19. (AP)—Amelia Earhart, the first woman to cross the Atlantic by airplane, may be the first to fly the treacherous water route from Honolulu to California.

When she sails next Saturday for Honolulu, the noted flyer will take her airplane along. Her husband, George Palmer Putnam, publisher and motion picture executive, who will accompany her to Hawaii said it was "very probable" she would fly the plane back to California.

"Miss Earhart has told no one definitely that she even plans to make the flight from Honolulu to Oakland," said Putnam. "She hates to talk about it and has asked me to tell whoever may be interested that she has no announcement to make now."

Putnam said her plans for a Honolulu-California flight are not complete and it was possible that she may take her plane to Hawaii only for flights between the islands.

Bobby Grayson Is Back In Practice

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Dec. 19. (AP)—Coach C. E. "Tiny" Flornhill was able today for the first time in weeks to throw Stanford's red machine into high gear to prepare for the Rose Bowl game with Alabama on New York's day.

Bobby Grayson, all-American full-back, who was injured in the California game nearly a month ago, was back at practice yesterday. Keith Topping, injured right end, was not in uniform but ready to appear at practice today. Clyde Callaway, regular tackle who was sick last week, will be on the field tomorrow at the conclusion of final examinations.

Flornhill's chief worry was whether the ex-casualties would be able to round into playing shape rapidly enough to be at full effectiveness on January 1.

Soviet Divers Raise Four Ships

PLA-MOR BALL ON WEDNESDAY IS ANNOUNCED

Chick Talcott and his 11-piece orchestra will begin their last week at the New Pla-Mor Dance Palace when they provide the music for the regular Wednesday night dance. The popular musical organization will be playing its last week and plans are being made to entertain a large crowd of music lovers and dancers.

Admission will be 25 cents with a charge of 5 cents per dance.

The New Pla-Mor has proven even more popular since the recent redecoration and general improved appearance inside. Many are the compliments which have been received. The new hall is said to be one of the best in this part of the state.

The Pla-Mor management urges that Pampa dancers take advantage of the last week of Chick Talcott's orchestra in Pampa. The orchestra has proven popular in Pampa and may return some time in the future for a further engagement.

LONG RULES BY BLACKMAIL AND EXTORTION, AVERS SENATE FOE

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 19. (AP)—Louisiana is designed soon to undergo a metamorphosis as the result of Huey Long's dictatorship, administration proponents and opponents agreed today.

There was a difference of opinion, however, concerning its projected new form.

Said Senator G. D. Davis, of La Salle parish:
"Before very long, with the legislation and this Huey Long, Louisiana is going to show the world we're building up. We're going to come from the frog pond of the south to the flower garden of the world."

Said Senator George W. Lester, stern foe of the Kingfish:
"If the present railroading of Long bills continues we are headed for a complete government by blackmail and extortion, placed in the hands of a modern Nero."

Meanwhile, the senate sped Long's 32 bills towards final enactment by sending them to the finance committee, where Long promised he would strike from the parish school bill a provision giving his dictatorship pay for such services or else cease to exist. Incidentally, should it become necessary to close the local hospitals, 35 people would be thrown out of employment.

The federal government has established relief bureaus for many of the ill of the present economic condition of our country. These agencies have loaned money to cotton growers and wheat growers, to hog raisers, to sheep raisers. They have loaned money to home owners and to home builders. They have provided food, shelter, clothing, transportation, medicine, and medical relief (at about 50 cents on the dollar), but there has been no provision made for hospitalization of the indigent sick.

This, it seems, is a deplorable situation, and one that demands remedial steps. In fact, immediate assistance will have to be given by some agency if the two local hospitals are to continue to accept indigent cases.

There are at the present time patients in both local hospitals who are unemployed and without finances. They say that they have no relatives or friends on whom they may call for assistance. Who is going to pay their bills?

Neither of the local hospitals was founded for the purpose of profit, neither of them desires to pay a dividend. Both of them are interested in rendering a service to the community. This cannot be done if they are to shoulder the entire responsibility of caring for the indigent sick.

The Gray county commissioners are to be commended highly for the broad interpretation they have placed on the statutes heretofore. There is little doubt that they have been imposed on. What agency has not?

Who is better able financially to shoulder the responsibility of caring for the indigent sick, the hospital which is privately owned and without endowment, or the commission-

Allred To Talk With President This Afternoon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Governor-elect James V. Allred of Texas had an appointment with President Roosevelt today to top another round of visits to administration officials.

The young attorney general of Texas and his wife had breakfast with Ben Taub of Houston, one of 25 men selected Monday as a new housing advisory council, and hoped to be able to confer with other housing administration officials later.

Allred said he had not completed his itinerary for the next few days. Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, and Secretary Ickes, oil administrator, remained on his tentative list of calls, however.

Allred paid his respects to Jesse Jones of Houston, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, late yesterday and then he and Mrs. Allred were dinner guests of Vice-President Garner and Mrs. Garner at their hotel.

The Allreds probably will remain here the rest of this week but plan to return to their home in Wichita Falls, Tex., to spend Christmas with their children.

MADRID (AP)—The fad of going bareheaded has become so widespread in Spain that 90 per cent of the hat makers of the nation are idle, a delegation of six unemployed told the government. They walked here from Seville to ask government relief.

Snow Is Melting Over Panhandle

By The Associated Press
The northern which hit Texas yesterday cooled the state and brought clear skies but failed to set low temperature records.

The stiff gale calmed during the night and clouds disappeared from practically all parts of the state.

Snow which fell yesterday in the Panhandle was melting rapidly early today.

Lubbock reported low temperature of 21 degrees this morning. The mercury was rising, however.

Amarillo reported Panhandle skies clear. Low temperature at Amarillo was 24 degrees.

Borger had a minimum temperature of 30 degrees, and Abilene reported 32 degrees.

Fair weather followed heavy winds at San Angelo, where a minimum temperature of 32 degrees was registered.

Corpusaca reported a low temperature of 35 degrees and clear skies.

CAROL SINGERS ENTERTAIN FOR AMUSU GUESTS

MRS. C. P. BUCKLER IS HOSTESS TO FOUR TABLES

Carols by the girls' chorus of Sam Houston school entertained Amusu bridge club members and guests during the tea hour in the home of Mrs. C. P. Buckler yesterday afternoon.

The Buckler home was cheerful with Christmas color. Four tables arranged for the games were appointed in the holiday theme, and the refreshment course repeated the colors.

Mrs. Clyde Fatheree made high score for guests, and Mrs. Siler Faulkner for club members.

Members present were Mmes. Clifford Braly, W. R. Ewing, J. H. Kelley, Dodson, C. T. Hunkapillar, W. M. Craven, George Walstead, Alex Schneider, W. A. Bratton, L. N. McCullough, Tom Hesse, and Faulkner.

GUESTS RECALL CHRISTMAS IN FOREIGN LANDS

Stories Related at Civic Culture Party

Christmases spent in foreign lands were described by members and guests of Civic Culture club at the annual yuletide party last evening in city club rooms.

Mrs. Paul Jensen told of her Christmas in Denmark; Bert Murphy and Hugh Isbell of a Christmas in old Mexico, and B. C. Fahy of a South American Christmas.

Winners in the bridge games, Mrs. Katie Vincent and Mr. Murphy, were allowed to take first choice of packages from the decorated tree, and the gift distribution continued in the order of scoring.

Refreshments were served to Messrs. and Mmes. Fahy, Billy Taylor, Murphy, Isbell, Jensen, E. A. Shackleton, and Mrs. Vincent.

Jess G. Mundy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. R. Mundy of 321 North Sparkweather, and Wiley E. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Reynolds of Pampa, are expected home for the Christmas vacation about December 20.

Dagmar's Adventures in Santa Claus Land

BY SIGRID ARNE

SYNOPSIS: Disguised as a mole, the tin soldier from Santa's toyshop starts for the mole king's hall to find a magic pebble lost there. Dagmar, a doll, and an earth-worm are waiting for him. They are all trying to stop the moles from ruining Santa's holy trees.

CHAPTER IX Recovering The Magic Pebble There wasn't a single light to guide the brave tin soldier as he felt his way along the dark tunnel which lay under the great conference hall of the mole kingdom.

You remember, he was making a very brave dash all by himself to get back a magic pebble which he had lost near the mole king's throne. To make matters worse he was disguised like a mole, and he felt very hot in his coat of fur.

He stumbled on, and after ages he began to see light. He went on more slowly. Suddenly he came to a hole, and he could hear the moles talking above him. He even heard the mole king clear his throat.

"Mm-m-m! I must be right next to the throne," he said to himself. And indeed, he was. The earth-worm had made the tunnel end to a hole, and he could hear the moles talking above him.

The tin soldier slipped out of the hole, and sat down next to the throne trying very hard to act just like a mole. All around him sat dozens of the moles listening to the talk. But our soldier slipped in so quietly no one noticed him.

Very quickly and quietly he glanced all around the floor near him looking for the magic pebble. To his horror he saw a mole near him who was playing with it, tossing it into the air. Evidently the moles didn't know it was magical. If one of them rubbed it, and disappeared, they would know immediately. The

MASONS PLOW THRU RAGING PLAINS STORM

CLUB TO BE AT TOP OF STRIDE ON SATURDAY

LUBBOCK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Coach Rusty Russell rustled a sleepy band of Masonic Home footballers out of the hay early this morning and took them on a sight-seeing trip through the west part of town. They wore their working clothes and Texas Tech field was the first stop.

An hour of warm-up exercises, signal running, a bit of passing and punting in the brisk weather failed to disclose any crannies, and Coach Russell pronounced the Masons in good physical fettle for Saturday's state semi-final game with Amarillo on the Sandies' field.

The Masons, 27 players, manager, coach and Dr. E. P. Hall, Sr., club physician, arrived by bus late last night after battling rain and wind-storms all the way from Ft. Worth. Nearly three hours behind schedule, they were a worn looking band upon arrival. They had plowed and plunged through a terrific West Texas sandstorm for the last hundred miles or so.

"If the Amarillo Sandstorm is any worse than the one we've just been through," one of them said, "then heaven help us Saturday."

But a better spirit prevailed this morning, and the Masons seemed anxious for the time to pass. They will work out here again this afternoon and once more tomorrow, leaving for Amarillo early Friday morning for a drill on Butler field.

Coach Russell had no predictions to make regarding the outcome of the game, although he was in a jovial mood today.

Davis Is Adamant Before Japanese

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Japanese delegation made an eleventh hour effort today to force an agreement on a date for resumption of the tri-power naval conversations but the Americans refused to agree on a definite time.

Japan Purchases Zinc In Mexico

EAGLE PASS, Dec. 19 (AP)—Japan is the largest purchaser of zinc from the coal-by-products plant at Rosita, Coahuila, Mexico.

In increasing quantities this year, the Japanese have been buying the metal and shipping it through Eagle Pass to Texas gulf ports for loading on ships.

During November alone, 3 car-loads of zinc spelter moved through here.

POWER LOANS WILL BE MADE BY PRESIDENT

CITIES WOULD HAVE TO OPERATE CHEAPER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt is ready to loan federal funds to New York or other cities for construction of municipal power plants if investigations prove they can be operated cheaper than by private companies.

This was made known today at the president's semi-weekly press conference in giving his views on current topics.

The president took up the question today with Mayor LaGuardia of New York and City Commission Davidson. They have refused bids of private companies to supply next year's power on the ground they were exorbitant.

It was disclosed also that the Navy is making a study to determine whether power can be obtained cheaper through construction of its own plants in its yards than through private purchase.

The president had termed "exorbitant" rates charged by private power concerns wanting to sell power to New York.

Legislation of the proposed plant also would serve as the first unit in a network for state distribution of power.

The mayor left the White House to confer with Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator, on the feasibility of a city power plant.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

The market remained very quiet all morning with irregular price fluctuations. The approach of the holiday and waiting on the government's decision as to the next crop restricted trading.

The market met some long liquidation and as there was no support on outside markets, prices were off slightly to 12.54 for March, 12.57 for May, 12.56 for July and 12.40 for October, or two to three points down from the early highs and one to three points below yesterday's close.

Near noon there was a slight rally, making the price level net compared to the previous close.

SUBSTITUTION OF DOLES FOR RELIEF URGED

COMMERCE CHIEFTAINS THINK FDR SYSTEM HAS FAILED

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Dec. 19 (AP)—Substitution of the dole for the present work relief plan, appeared as a likely recommendation today for inclusion in the platform being drawn by 96 chieftains of American commerce for advancement of the nation.

The committee drafting a program for presentation to a plenary session of the "joint business conference" for recovery was in session until nearly dawn, struggling amid scenes of frequent sharp debate. The platform that would present a united "cooperative" view of the nation's needs and be acceptable to a majority of the conferees.

Recommendation of relief on the dole basis appeared certain of inclusion in the committee's report, to be presented to the general session today.

In committee deliberations it was urged that the cash-relief plan, as in use in England, is a cheaper and better way to help the jobless than the work-relief system now in operation. Furthermore, it was urged, direct relief would be a greater incentive to industry to absorb workers.

There was comment from several quarters in the conference that business leaders apparently are abandoning the idea that the government can stimulate reemployment by public works expenditures.

Another apparently certain recommendation of the committee was approval of plans, generally opposed by the labor, which would strengthen the hand of business in labor quarrels.

MISSING

home into wide stretches of open country.

All three of these were checked on thoroughly as police could with a secretly arranged group of searchers. Finding no trace of the missing woman, Police Chief Gus Englund called upon Berkeley officers to rush bloodhounds here in the hope they could lead searchers on the trail followed by Mrs. Schaffner. They were brought by airplane to Salinas, 20 miles away, where they were held until dawn.

Mrs. Schaffner, daughter of the late Prof. George Boko, former dean of the University of California law school, was alone in her isolated home except for her two-year-old daughter and servants.

The section in which she lived is unfrequented in the daytime except by callers, and there was only the remotest possibility of anyone seeing her as she left her home in the dark, early morning hours.

Frank Chapman of the NEWS circulation department underwent an appendectomy at Worley hospital this morning.

ENGLISH HANG MOTHER OF 2 DESPITE PLEAS

MAINTAINS INNOCENCE OF SLAYING UNTIL THE END

BY BURDETTE T. JOHNS, Associated Press Foreign Staff.
HULL, England, Dec. 19 (AP)—After appeals to the king and queen had failed to save her, Mrs. Ethel Lillie Major, gaunt 42-year-old mother of two children, was hanged today at Hull prison.

A black flag was hoisted over the penitentiary when she went to her death, the first woman to be executed in England in eight years. Until the end she maintained she was innocent of the charge of murdering her husband by poison.

Three hundred curious persons idly milled about outside the prison as she mounted the gallows. The trap was sprung at 9 a. m. (4 p. m. EST). Two grim faced policemen paced back and forth keeping the crowd on the move.

Final urgent appeals for clemency by Lord Mayor Stark of Hull, the last addressed to Buckingham Palace, were fruitless. The appeal to the king and queen was turned over to the home secretary's office, which replied tersely "the decision of the home secretary is already known."

The jury which convicted Mrs. Major had recommended clemency. No one in Hull seemed to take much interest in her case except the lord mayor, as Mrs. Major's home was in the little village of Kirby-on-Bain, where a 15-year-old son, a 9-year-old daughter, and her aged father live.

The father and son came here to bid her farewell last night. Mrs. Major was arrested while her husband's funeral service was in progress at the result of an anonymous letter sent to authorities accusing her.

A petition in Mrs. Major's home town, hastily signed by 105 of the 205 inhabitants, was presented late Monday after the reprieve had been denied.

They were similar activity today in North Yorkshire, where Lydia Binks is under sentence of death with Frederick Rushworth for the murder of the baby, which had been buried alive. The jury also recommended mercy in her case.

LIFEBOAT CREW SAVES 16 FROM SINKING VESSEL

Great Liners Stand By While Rescue Is Made

By FRANK E. GANNETT
Publisher of the Gannett Newspapers

(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)
ABOARD THE S. S. EUROPE AT SEA, Dec. 19, (AP)—Sixteen men perished near death on the storm crushed freighter Sisto owe their lives today to a gallant lifeboat crew from the passenger liner New York.

Amidst storm lashed seas, the Sisto's crew was taken from the sinking freight last night, while four vessels, including the palatial Europa, stood by playing searchlights on the scene.

The dramatic victory of the New York's tiny lifeboat over the North Atlantic was accomplished as virtually every person on the Europa watched anxiously the progress of the rescue craft to and from the freighter.

There was a great shout of joy from the Europa as the lifeboat reached the side of the New York in safety.

It had been a precarious trip for the small rescue boat, for the rolling seas tossed the craft like a bobbing cork. It reached the side of the crippled Sisto, however, and the members of her crew, weary after long hours of battling the savage storm, dropped quickly into the lifeboat.

Then began the even more dangerous trip back to the New York, for this time the boat was laden almost beyond capacity. Although lights from the surrounding vessels pierced the darkness, there were times when the lifeboat was scarcely visible from the Europa and only an occasional flash of an oar could be seen.

The rescue of the 16 men of the Sisto, a Norwegian boat, was accomplished apparently none too soon, for the little vessel was in a helpless condition when the Europa reached the scene of distress, approximately 300 miles off the coast of Ireland.

The Sisto was further endangered into a useless thing, and her whole superstructure had been crushed by giant waves. Her lifeboats had been washed away and the ship was in dire need when the New York, Hamburg-American liner, launched her lifeboat.

The Sisto as further endangered by her shifting cargo of lumber which had caused her to list badly. It seemed to be only a matter of hours before the little vessel would succumb to the sea. She was left in a sinking condition, with one feeble light showing.

The New York continued on her way to Cherbourg soon after the Sisto's crew had been taken aboard. The Europa and the other two vessels at the scene, the Cunard-White Star liner Aurania and the British tanker Mobilio, also resumed their courses.

It was the Mobilio which had stood by the Sisto for more than 18 hours, held by the heavy seas from taking the crew off the freighter.

Tons of oil poured on the water by the Mobilio had failed to calm the water and the tanker finally sent out calls for assistance which brought the New York, the Aurania and the Europa rushing to the spot.

Big Wool Producer NANKING (AP)—China produces 125,000,000 pounds of wool a year, most of which is raised in the northwestern provinces. Chinese wool, formerly in heavy demand in the United States for carpet-making, has fallen off appreciably in recent years.

CHICAGO—An injunction has stayed the arm of Fred Witarowski, champion knife thrower of engine house 109. His wife, who sought the court's protection, charged he tossed the weapons at her while she engaged in housework. She asked for a divorce, too.

MONTGOMERY WARD

DEATH RATE IN TEXAS HIGHER THAN AVERAGE

THIS IS BECAUSE THE HEALTH SERVICE IS INFERIOR

AUSTIN, Dec. 19. (P)—Officials and citizens interested in the state's welfare have set about to clear Texas of "an indictment for the crime of negligence in the matter of protecting public health."

Texas' backwardness in the work, as revealed in reports of the government on national health conditions, constitutes the indictment, in the opinion of Dr. C. M. Rosser of Dallas, chairman of the state board of health.

He enlisted aid of various civic organizations and of the citizenry generally in a campaign to secure for the Texas health department adequate state appropriations. An active program was outlined to impress the necessity for more funds upon the legislature at its next regular session starting in January.

"It is an astounding fact," reminded Dr. Rosser, "that Texas, first in area, natural resources, agriculture and cattle raising, and fifth in population; enjoying enviable climate, and boasting of rugged ancestry, is recorded as having a higher death rate per capita from preventable diseases than is true of few other states and twice that averaged experienced by the nation as a whole."

Texas' high death rate from preventable diseases, he said, apparently was due "to short-sighted financial consideration or indifference to humanitarian appeals."

The answer, he noted, lay in an examination which revealed "results in health protection are in direct ratio to the support given departments of public health."

While Texas spent three cents per capita for public health service, Dr. Rosser compared expenditures from 12 to 40 cents by such states as New York, Delaware, Maryland, Alabama, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Florida, Maine, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Louisiana, Tennessee, Virginia and Vermont. Many other states spent more than three times that of Texas, while the lone star state trailed its neighbors, Louisiana, New Mexico, Arkansas and Oklahoma "with discrediting, direful results."

Southwest Loop Teams Win Tilts

DALLAS, Dec. 19. (P)—Southwest conference basketball teams bowled over opposition from outside the family circle last night.

The Rice Institute Owls made a clean sweep of their four-game series with the Texas A. and I. Javelinas, winning the final game 47 to 21 while the "B" team was winning another contest 31 to 13.

Southern Methodist university won over East Texas Teachers college 47 to 27. Curley Haren with 16 points led the scoring.

The University of Texas, led by Captain Jack Gray, who scored 21 points, turned back a late rally to defeat the Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers, 50 to 33.

In other games in the state the Lumberjacks of Stephen F. Austin won from Centenary 35 to 33, and Texas and Pacific Oilers from Fort Worth defeated North Texas Teachers college 26 to 24.

Idid not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Two foreigners and Molly O'Brien, an Irish-American girl, all have come to Nicholas Trench's studio under the impression that he really had killed John Osborne, in spite of the jury's verdict of not guilty. The Russians and Molly both want a formula for a new metal invented by Molly's father. Molly saves Nicholas from death at the hands of the Russians; tells him her story, and he agrees to help her recover the formula. They are separating for the night.

CHAPTER 13 BOOBY TRAP

Molly walked slowly to the top of the stairs and then, turning round, glanced back over the banisters. "Good night," she said, "you'll let me get up and cook the breakfast, won't you?"

"I shall insist on it," I answered. "With a little laugh she stepped inside, and the next moment the door closed.

For several seconds I stood where I was surveying the empty studio. There were three possible means by which an entrance might be effected—the door, the skylight, and the large north window. In each case, however, the feat would involve a considerable amount of noise—certainly enough to wake me up in ample time to welcome the intruder.

With this advantage, and with a loaded revolver in my possession, I was not disposed to be unduly alarmed, but all the same it struck me that by the adoption of two extra little precautions I could in a few minutes still further strengthen my position.

Pushing the sofa along to the far corner, I wheeled it round so that it presented its back to the door. Though probably not bullet-proof, it would, I felt in the regrettable event of there being any midnight hostilities, at least provide me with a serviceable screen.

I heaped up the end nearest the window with as many cushions as I could collect, and then, crossing to my desk and pulling open the bottom drawer, I unearched a ball of stout string.

With the aid of this I proceeded to construct my booby trap. It was a simple affair, just a tightly drawn line, six inches from the ground, stretching right across the whole length of the studio. One end I secured to the foot of the desk, while the other I made fast to the leg of a high chair.

Even with the light on, it was practically invisible, and not a little pleased at my own ingenuity, I sat down on the foot of the sofa, and lighted a final cigaret.

There was no denying that it had been a crowded and successful day. What was that?

With a sudden start I jumped up into a sitting position, and thrusting my hand under the cushions, grabbed hold of my revolver.

Then I blinked round stupidly. It was broad daylight. Somewhere in the neighborhood a church clock was chiming the hour, and through the big window a blue sky peeped in between the opposite chimney-pots. On the back of the chair beside me hung my coat and waistcoat.

Rat-tat-tat-tat-tat.

Once again the knocker of the front door was pried vigorously, and rubbing my eyes I took a hasty glance at my watch. Good heavens!—it was nine o'clock. I had evidently been sleeping like a log ever since I lay down the previous evening, and that must be Bob Hicks outside, hammering vainly for admission.

Leaving my weapon where it was, and hoisting myself from the couch, I set off in the direction of the hall. At the third step I encountered the booby trap. I my hurry I had forgotten all about the cursed thing, and tripping over it suddenly in mid career, I came down full length on the floor with a crash that shook the studio.

"Confound it!" I said furiously. "The door of my bedroom was flung open, and a slim visitor in white, with bare arms and tousled hair, darted out on to the landing.

"What's happened?" "What's the matter?" "I sat up nursing my left elbow. "Nothing important," I replied. "I've only fallen over a bit of string which I put down last night to catch the enemy."

"Oh! I—hope you aren't hurt!" She pushed back a rebellious lock which had tumbled forward across her eyes. "I was fast asleep—I thought for a moment . . ."

Bang—bang—bang—the knocker—this time more insistently than ever.

"Who's that?" she demanded. "A little painfully I scrambled to my feet. "I'm just going to see. I think it's probably a friend of mine from the local pub who promises to call round this morning and fetch the milk for me. I've a sort of suspicion that we've both overstept ourselves."

There was a faint ripple of laughter.

"It does look rather like that, doesn't it?" She leaned forward over the banisters. "You'll be very careful?"

"Very," I assured her. I continued my interrupted journey to the hall and stooping down, peered through the letter-box. A ragged coat sleeve with a bit of flannel shirt bulging out through the elbows rewarded my inspection.

"That you, Bob?" I inquired. "That's me, guv'nor," came the answer.

I unlocked the door, and with a friendly grin which revealed a solitary and somewhat discolored tooth, Mr. Hicks raised a grimy forefinger to the level of his cap.

"Ope I ain't too early. You did say nine o'clock—didn't yer?"

"Quite correct," I assured him. "Sorry to have kept you waiting, but I've tried for murder makes one pretty sleepy." I dived into my trousers pocket and produced a half-crown. "Here you are, Bob," I added. "I want a half a pint of milk, a small loaf, four new-laid eggs and a quarter of a pound of butter. Do you think you can carry all that in your head?"

"I won't make no mistake, guv'nor." He took the coin, repeating the order as he did so. "Funny 'ow tastes differ," he observed reflectively. "Now, wot I fancies for breakfast myself is a nice fresh drawn pint o' mild and bitter."

"You're in good company," I said. "If history's right, that's how Queen Elizabeth always started the morning."

"Ha!" said Mr. Hicks. "Well, she was lucky, she was. The pubs was open at a decent hour in 'er time."

He shuffled off on his errand, and refastening the door I turned back into the studio. I had not been absent long, but during the interval Miss Molly O'Brien had found time to slip into her black frock.

FLAT IRONED! SALT LAKE CITY—Special Officer Charles Bohn "ironed out" his difficulties with an alleged crook in short order. After Bohn had arrested the suspect and recovered a flatiron he was alleged to have stolen, the man started to run. Bohn hurled the iron. Several stitches were required to close the gash in the man's head.

'BIFF' JONES GIVES UP JOB IN LOUISIANA

RUN-IN WITH SENATOR RESULTS IN HIS RESIGNATION

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 19. (P)—The resignation of Captain Lawrence "Biff" Jones as football coach at Louisiana State university—all because he dared defy the "Kingfish" Senator Huey P. Long—was in the hands of President M. Smith today.

Senator Long said he understood a nationally known "topnotcher" had been chosen to succeed Jones, but Dr. Smith said a "half dozen" prospective coaches were being considered to replace Jones but none had been chosen.

"I understand they've already picked a new coach—one with a national reputation," Long said last night in the senate after Dr. Smith announced that Jones' resignation had been accepted, effective January 1.

"He's a topnotcher," Long said, "but his appointment has not been announced out of courtesy to Coach Jones, whose resignation is not effective until the first. I guess it'll be announced then."

Dr. Smith also announced that Castro Carazo, dance orchestra leader for a New Orleans hotel, had been named out of courtesy to Coach Jones, who was director of the L. S. U. 125-piece band. Wickboldt, he said, had resigned because of ill health.

Friction between Jones and Long, who has been accused of trying to "run the team," reached a climax after the intersectional battle between L. S. U. and Oregon last Saturday, which L. S. U. won 14 to 13 after staging an uphill battle.

Long attempted to enter the dressing room at the half to make a "pep" talk, but Jones, busy diagramming a defense against Oregon plays, refused to let him speak, and then told the senator he was "through."

Denver Lawyer Offers Reward

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 19. (P)—A $50,000 reward to anyone who could prove he passed any of the $200,000 Urschel ransom money was offered today by Ben F. Laska, Denver criminal attorney, indicted on a conspiracy charge in the kidnaping case.

Accused by the government of having received some of the money paid for the release of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City millionaire, the grey-bearded defender of Albert L. Bates, one of the gang's ringleaders, made the offer after federal agents had searched his home and offices.

"I will offer a reward of $50,000 to any man, woman or child who can prove that even 10 cents worth of the ransom money was passed by me, anywhere."

Laska, released yesterday on $18,000 bond pending his hearing before a United States commissioner, Jan. 2, declared he would fight removal to Oklahoma City where he was indicted Monday. James C. Mathers, another defense attorney indicted in the Urschel case, was released under $10,000 bond at Oklahoma City.

STATES' RIGHTS AND THE LAW

Those who view with alarm every expansion of federal authority, including that of a proposed national police force, should find interest in Edgar Hoover's current article in the Saturday Evening Post.

Mr. Hoover disclaims any intention of trying to bring about a national police force. Indeed, he argues that local police problems must forever remain under the jurisdiction of the various local authorities. The government has no interest in city ordinances.

But Mr. Hoover makes very plain that he considers necessary to maintain a well-equipped, well-trained body of men who will combat the "public enemies" who, with fast transportation, flit from state to state and elude at authorities who are restricted to certain areas. He points out certain failures of the famous Scotland yard police force, and how the Department of Justice is armed with more authority than the English officers.

Mr. Hoover believes strongly in using legally trained men as officers. He points out that an arrest means little unless the evidence can be assembled. An officer should be an investigator as well as an arresting agent.

The value of the federal department has been well illustrated. Big-time thugs are on the run. Gangs are being broken. Every department of government would do well to ponder the opinions of the federal chief.

Washington Daybook

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—There's a rather horrid fear round town that the government will lose its first New Deal test case before the supreme court because of bungling presentation.

Certain justices, friendly to the New Deal, are said to be weeping in the seclusion of their homes.

General tendency is to snoot the Department of Justice lawyers for gumming up the current oil code case, to the D. J. fellows toss the raspberries back at the Petroleum Administration Board lawyers.

The one sure thing you can say about this mess is that it's ridiculous to have one set of lawyers working on a case and an entirely different group of lawyers arguing it before the court.

There's a movement afoot to consolidate the alphabet soup legal divisions into one big corps, which seems very silly.

It's more likely, if the government loses the oil case, that Congress will be asked for a law permitting the attorneys in each agency—NRA, AAA, PWA, PAB, and so on—to fight their own cases through the supreme court, instead of turning that job over to the D. J., as the statute now requires.

Under such law, attorneys thoroughly grounded in the law and the cases they were defending would be able to answer searching questions from the high bench, responsibility for bungling could be placed.

And the public interest wouldn't suffer from constant squabbles or misunderstandings between the public's attorneys here.

Opinion of New Deal agency lawyers is divided as to whether Assistant Attorney General Harold Stephens is the only able lawyer in the D. J. or whether there just isn't any.

Be that as it may, Stephens was forced into the attorney role when Hughes, Brandeis, and other justices questioned him sharply and sarcastically as to the handling of executive orders and code decrees under which citizens are liable to prosecution.

Stephens was the victim of considerable tittering because he was not able to explain how a citizen might find out what order or regulation he might be violating.

Two Texas companies are appealing a circuit court's refusal to enjoin Administrator Ickes for enforcing the oil quota laws, but attention was shifted back to the case of U. S. vs. Smith, which had involved criminal indictments and was carried by the government to the supreme court before it was dropped by the D. J., with explanation that indictments had been based on a provision making above-quota production illegal, which wasn't in the revised code.

The PAB lawyers think the case should have been prosecuted, contending that the criminal code which contained the provisions was still in force except for subsequent amendments, while the D. J. boys insist PAB wanted to fight through on a faulty indictment to get a quick decision which would help them dam up "hot oil."

But that's enough of that. They can settle the squabble by themselves.

A survey shows that more babies were born to parents on relief than to the same number not on relief. Uncle Sam always was a generous godfather.

Florida is hoping for another boom, if those who remember the last one will at least keep quiet about it.

Looking through the 200-inch telescope, now under construction, scientists could see a three-story house on the moon, says one of them. So moon residents soon will have to pull down their shades.

Huey Long says there's no one smarter than he in Louisiana. And if there is, he's smart enough to keep quiet about it.

A midwestern radio amateur insists he received a message from Mars recently, basing his claim probably on the fact that he heard no advertising.

Well, repeal didn't bring in as much revenue as its proponents thought it would, but it made a pretty good showing against the bootleggers at that.

We may not understand Yugo-Slavia's reasons for anishing the Hungarians and appealing to the League of Nations for justice, but it must be the genius in little King Peter.

The "400" may still get millions in profits, but President Roosevelt is more interested in seeing the four million get billions in relief.

The program on which industrial leaders say they'll cooperate with President Roosevelt reads almost like the note Austria sent Serbia at the beginning of the World War.

TEXAS HISTORY

Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

Suppressed excitement and fear was in the air at Mission San Luis on the San Saba river. The big Comanche chief in his French uniform rode through the men gathered in the patio, and stopped before Father Terreros. He did not dismount, but gruffly demanded a letter to Captain Parilla of the presidio, in order that he and his men might gain entrance. The Father Terreros did not wish to bring trouble to the residents of the presidio, but he believed the Indians thought the presidio better armed than it was, and he was relying on their cowardice not to attack. So, he wrote a brief note to Parilla, and some scouts sped away with it.

In a short time, shorter than it would have taken the men to actually reach the presidio and return, the scouts were back, and reported to their chief that they were denied entrance. There was no way to keep peace except for Father Terreros to volunteer to go back with the scouts. Excusing himself, he went to his room for the last time, then for a final prayer at the altar. Accompanied by a soldier, Joseph Garcia, he went back into the patio. The chief was nowhere to be seen, but the Father and Garcia, slipped outside the gate. A dozen arrows whirled through the air immediately. Father Terreros, mortally wounded, fell to the ground as his companions in the church watched with horrified eyes. Joseph Garcia was killed.

The signal given, a fierce combat started. Father Santiesteban, Lazaro de Ayala and Enrique Gutierrez were killed before they knew what was happening. Father Molinas, with a badly broken arm, and eight wounded soldiers fought their way to the Father President's room, where they barricaded the door. Knowing that they were locked in the room, the Comanches set fire to the buildings, plundered the store rooms, smashed the images of the saints, tore away the beautiful altar ornaments, and left their prisoners to die—or to be shot the first time they attempted an escape.

In the meanwhile, the Indian servants had slipped away from the mission the morning after the two men were first attacked. They gave Captain Parilla the terrible news, and at once nine men were sent to the mission. Hours later eight of them feebly knocked on the entrance to the presidio. On their way to the mission they had been attacked, one of their party was killed, and all the others were badly wounded.

Red flames against a black sky, motionless figures in the dust of a little church room, and savages around the church ruins were results of the attack.

The story of Mission San Luis de los Amarillos was not ended, however. Help came from New Spain and the Province of Texas they had lived, and for them they died. In 1936 the state of Texas will honor them for their courage, faith, and loyalty.

Vatican to Keep Hands off Policy in Saar Ballot

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 19. (AP)—The Vatican has decided to keep its hands off but eyes open in connection with the forthcoming Saar plebiscite, at which the former German area will choose its future national allegiance.

Although one word from Pope Pius might conceivably determine the outcome of the voting Jan. 13, the Vatican has decided to remain strictly impartial, semi-official sources said today.

Catholic voters in the Saar, according to figures here, constitute 90 per cent of the total. Should they vote together, they might swing the plebiscite any way they wanted. But the pontiff, it is said, wants no Vatican influence brought to bear.

The word has gone out quietly to Catholic prelates in the Saar that they are to be scrupulously neutral. Priests must refrain from recommending to their parishioners any political newspapers, books or reviews. They may not write for newspapers or magazines without permission from their bishops.

At the same time the pope is keeping himself well informed of the developments in the Saar situation. He has sent to the Saar apostolic delegate Monsignor Giovanni Panico, formerly counselor of the papal nunciature at Praha and auditor of the nunciature at Munich.

Disappears

The disappearance of Mrs. Leah Gaska Durant, above, merry 30-year-old widow, native of Johnstown, Pa., created New York's newest night-life mystery. Wearing a $5000 mink coat and gems worth $6000, she left her apartment to go to Greenwich Village at 2 in the morning. Although police searched for her secretly for several days, no trace of her whereabouts could be found. She was well known in gay night resorts.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—talk—write—do my best for the centennial of Texas. This is to be my celebration. To its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

DALLAS, Dec. 19 (Special)—While Texas cities continue to formulate their plans for the commemoration of the Centennial of Texas' independence in 1936 by a series of historical celebrations complementing a huge industrial exposition, reflecting the modern aspect of Texas' economic life, in the city, old-timers here are recalling that, in Dallas, in 1886, was held the Semi-Centennial observance of the freeing of Texas from the Mexican yoke.

Many Texans and even Dallasites have forgotten that this city was selected by the veterans of the Revolution themselves for the golden anniversary of that historic event and that, fifty years ago, exactly 172 survivors of the Battle of San Jacinto and other battles of the Revolution, including Col. Stephen W. Blount of San Augustine, last surviving signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence, came to Dallas in the spring of that year, for this historic celebration.

Dallas in 1886 was a city of not much more than 25,000 inhabitants and the task of raising several thousand dollars to stage the celebration of that year was infinitely greater than that of raising several millions today for the hundredth anniversary of Texas' birth. But then as now the civic leaders of Dallas grasped the opportunity of honoring the heritage of all Texan citizens and the affair, begun months before, largely under the impetus of Major John Henry Brown, then mayor of Dallas and veteran of both the Mexican and Civil Wars, was carried to a successful conclusion.

Aside from Colonel Blount, among men famous in the early days of Texas history, who attended, were Col. Moses Austin Bryan, nephew and secretary to Stephen F. Austin; Col. R. F. Crockett, only surviving son of the immortal Davy Crockett; Col. John S. (Rip) Ford, noted border war captain; Capt. Shapley Ross of Waco; Capt. W. A. (Big Foot) Wallace; Col. George P. Erath and Judge William Hunter of Austin, one of two men, then living, who had survived the massacre at Goliad. Col. Charles De Morse, the San Jacinto veteran, who founded the Clarksville standard in 1841, responded to the address of welcome.

The Dallas News, recalling the gathering, notes that these were largely the youngsters of 16, 18, and 20 years of age in 1836—their fathers such as Sam Houston and other leaders having died ten, twenty and even longer years before. Those attending formed the living link with the most heroic pages of Texas history.

The reporter of The News of that day, viewing the veterans assembled, might have had some vision of the plans for the hundredth anniversary, when he added to his story: "Here are a collection of memories to excite the patriotic impulses of Texans in the future whenever cause comes up that should call them into play. The state whose foundations are laid in blood is the most prolific in the birth of patriotic emotions."

REVIEWS and NEWS OF CURRENT BOOKS

(Editor's Note)—This section of THE NEWS is dedicated to the betterment and furthering of literary efforts in Pampa and the North Plains. All bits of poetry, contemporary comment on books, and their authors, and reviews may be submitted for publication, and will be appreciated. The Literary Editor reserves the privilege to reject or edit.

To relieve the pre-Christmas publishing blank there comes a new biography of Edgar Allan Poe. It is the work of an Englishwoman Dame Una Pope-Hennessy, and she calls it merely "Edgar Allan Poe: A Critical Biography" (Macmillan). But however unassuming the title, Dame Pope-Hennessy has gone at her subject in precisely the opposite way from the usual.

Most writers approach America's first (and perhaps greatest) literary genius backward, Poe influenced many writers, on both sides of the Atlantic. Usually the argument is from these writers back to Poe. The new biography goes back of Poe and from the background and the contemporary evidence tries to explain the numerous strange facts of his life.

The result is not an especially vivid book, but one full of things worth attention. Poe's English schooldays are especially well managed; so are his Virginia background, and the last few years of his life. Dame Pope-Hennessy's critical conclusions are open to disagreement, as all critical conclusions are. Nevertheless, they are neat and scholarly.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

By MAY STEVENS ISAACS, Canadian, Texas.

Hudson Strode, author of "The Story of Bermuda" has written a new book, THE PAGEANT OF CUBA. This is the history of the island from the time of Columbus through Machado's reign and is full of thrilling episodes. Smith & Haas are the publishers.

ISRAEL, a thousand-page biography of Edgar Allan Poe, is out in a one-volume edition as a Christmas gift suggestion.

A new book by Jane Abbott is just off the Lippincott press. This author has more than two dozen published books, seventeen of which are written for girls. POLLY FARM is the story of Jeremy and her mother's adjustment to life on the frontier during the Colonial period. Luke Haverhill envisioned the future, dreaming that a city would be built which would be the gateway between the old seat and the new west. He cleared a farm and hewed logs from which he built what was for those times a commodious house before asking his wife, reared in the cultured atmosphere of Philadelphia and unused to privation or hardship, to bring their daughter and share his wilderness home.

Jeremy was thirteen when she left the sheltered home of her grandparents and, with her mother and a trusted nurse, made the long tiresome journey over rough roads through primitive forests to join her father.

Polly Farm was located near Fort Niagara and Buffalo. Haverhill was a leader among the none too numerous white settlers and was on friendly terms with the Indians—Senecas of Western New York and the Ottawa's just across the river in Canada.

The book covers the period prior to the War of 1812-14 and through that conflict. Character delineation is excellent. It is a good historical novel without an objectionable word in the entire book.

Farrar & Rinehart have recently added three new authors to their future list. They will publish for Martha Foley of Story Magazine, who will write what she calls a modern historical novel; Dorothea Brand, author of "On Becoming a Writer," whose first novel is said to be a most unusual mystery story which will carry the title of THE PORTRAIT; and Frederick Wight, the well-known artist, who has had several exhibitions of his paintings in New York. Among them was his famous "The Modern Crucifixion" which was shown at the New School last year. Mr. Wight has written a story of the south and its various social phases.

AMERICAN BALLADS AND FOLK SONGS collected by John A. and Alan Lomax is the result of a systematic effort to print in one volume verse representing the entire field of American folk poetry.

17 T. C. U. Girls Are Selected in Popularity Revue

FORT WORTH, Dec. 19. (AP)—Seventeen girls have been selected at Texas Christian university to participate in the annual "popularity revue" sponsored by the Horned Frog, the student yearbook.

Five girls were selected from the freshmen class and four from each of the other three classes. The 17 will be presented on the evening of Saturday, Dec. 15, in the popularity revue. The student body, by secret ballot, will select two from each class to be honored with pages in the yearbook. The identity of the eight thus honored will not be revealed, however, until the book is distributed late next May.

The 17 nominated by the students to participate in the popularity revue are: Sentors: Edythe Black, Dallas;

VERNON, Dec. 19 (AP)—A formal application seeking construction of a dam across Pease river near Margaret in Foard county at an estimated cost of approximately $3,360,000 has been unanimously approved at a meeting of the board of directors of the Pease river development association.

The application, with a revised engineering report on the project, was forwarded to Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes at Washington. Federal and state funds are to be sought to finance the project.

The board anticipates the arrangement of a formal hearing with Secretary Ickes at a later date. A committee previously appointed by the board will then go

SPEAKER'S RACE WILL FURNISH FIRST CONTROVERSY IN SESSION

By CHARLES E. SIMMONS AUSTIN, Dec. 19 (AP)—That the regular session of the Texas legislature, which will convene Jan. 8, will be filled with controversy is indicated in pre-session discussion and confirmed by a perusal of the list of topics that will be considered.

The house session will be started with a conflict, the reverberations of which will be felt throughout the session. On the first day members will choose between Coke Stevenson of Junction and Rep. Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro for speaker.

The campaign for this office has been hot and bitter, and will leave scars long in healing. It will have an effect on the course of legislation and the type of laws that will be enacted since the speakership is one of the most powerful offices in the state, second only to that of the governor.

The enemies that marked the campaign between Stevenson and Rep. A. P. Johnson of Carrizo Springs for speaker of the 43rd legislature never quite died out although the bitterness was lessened to some degree by Stevenson's overtures to his opposition. The Ferguson influence was a dominant factor in bringing Stevenson's first campaign for the speakership to a successful conclusion and it will be felt, to a lesser degree, in the current fight.

Ferguson recently said he favored re-election of Stevenson as speaker. Ferguson's power is on the wane, however, and Stevenson will be forced to depend on his own resources for the most part.

Governor-elect James V. Allred, apprehensive that election of a speaker whose views might be contrary to his own would be detrimental to his legislative program, is expected to throw the full force of his administration behind Calvert. It is known that Calvert's ideas on legislation dove-tail into Allred's program.

Should Calvert be elected, Allred would be assured of sympathetic cooperation from the house leader. Committee chairmen, without doubt, would be partial to his views and would give his proposals the right-of-way, a considerable factor in legislative procedure.

Stevenson has exerted much effort to avoid an open conflict with the governor-elect and has insisted that if re-elected he would not place himself in the attitude of throwing monkey wrenches into Allred's program. Nevertheless, Allred would prefer to have Calvert presiding over house sessions.

Most of Stevenson's strength will come from old members of the legislature. Months before the speakership race took definite shape many of the members petitioned him to again seek the office and signed to support him. He is claiming good support among new members, however.

Calvert must depend on first termers for his election. Although his race was instituted and is being managed by a strong group of old members who were allied with Stevenson in the former campaign.

Public Power Yardstick May Be In New York

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt, and Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York, planned to put their heads together today in a conference widely regarded as a tacit notice to power interests that federal money may be used to set up a public power "yardstick" in the nation's largest city.

Talk in the capital that PWA funds might possibly be proposed for a municipal street lighting plant gained apparent support through a disclosure that Rear Admiral Reuben E. Bakenhus, now public works officer for the New York naval district, would take part in the talk.

Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday that an investigation by Admiral Bakenhus during the world war resulted in cutting the private power costs at the Brooklyn navy yard from $900,000 to $300,000 annually. Later the government set up its own plant there.

Also invited to the conference was Maurice P. Davidson, New York city utilities commissioner who has rejected private bids for street lighting, power and steam in public buildings and expressed favor for a municipal plant for the purpose. He alleged the private companies were overcharging the city about 30 per cent.

Jesse Jones Due To Be Speaker at Houston Banquet

HOUSTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, is expected to return home to be the principal speaker at the annual Houston chamber of commerce banquet the night of December 21. Due mainly to Mr. Jones' scheduled appearance on the program, many persons from other cities will be present.

Governor-Elect James V. Allred has accepted an invitation to be an honor guest, and will be presented to the audience, those in charge of arrangements said. Among other expected are William McCraw, attorney general elect, and Ernest O. Thompson, member of the state railroad commission.

London Registries Spruced Up LONDON (AP)—Civil marriages are becoming so popular that the one dreary and ill-lighted registry offices are being made bright with paint and flowers. At Caxton Hall, the most fashionable registry, a color scheme of light blue, biscuit and white, picked out in silver, has been chosen.

JAPS CONFIDENT THEY CAN MEET ANY SITUATION

Naval Treaty To Be Scrapped; New One Urged

By GLENN BABE Associated Press Foreign Staff TOKYO, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Japanese government acted today to scrap the Washington naval treaty and expressed confidence in its "readiness to meet any situation which might arise" as a result.

In a ceremony regarded as historic the powerful privy council recommended abrogation of the limitation pact to Emperor Hirohito, whose speedy approval is expected. The action in effect constituted abrogation.

Speaking for the privy council, Baron Kihiro Hiranuma, its vice president, said: "The imperial government desires continuation of clauses of the Washington treaty relating to limitation of fortifications and naval bases in the Pacific ocean, but if such clauses are terminated the government is prepared to cope with such a situation."

Assurances were made that the government would strive to conclude a new naval treaty replacing the Washington treaty with its 5-5-3 ratio odious to Japan—a new treaty guaranteeing Japan "national security."

Official notification probably will not be given the United States until the week between Christmas and New Year's, although the actual date was not set. A letter of notification will be cabled ambassador Saito in Washington after it is drafted at a cabinet session Friday.

Baker Hotel Is Named In A Deal

DALLAS, Dec. 19 (AP)—A cash bid of $1,895,000 from the National Hotel company, controlled by Shearn Moody of Galveston, was under consideration today by bondholders of the Baker hotel here.

R. A. Ritchie, attorney for the trustee of a large block of the hotel bonds, said the bondholders could not make a final decision but could recommend a course of action to Federal Judge James C. Wilson of Fort Worth. He said other plans and other bids were under consideration.

State Park at Quitaque To Be Approved Soon

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 18 (AP)—Approval of a state park near Quitaque will be recommended, Roy E. Lane, chief architect of the state park board, said here after an inspection of the proposed site in northeast Floyd county last week.

Lane said he was ready to recommend that civilian conservation corps be transferred to the site to improve it for a recreational center. He announced that 2,000 acres, including the upper and lower Quitaque falls and an area from a rim drive around the canyon, would be needed for the proposed park. It would be necessary for the land to be dedicated to the state, he pointed out.

The land is owned by Howard Brothers of New Orleans. No steps have been taken to obtain title, it was said by officials of the Quitaque Creek Park association, an organization formed to sponsor location of the park. The land is part of a 210,000-acre purchase by the Howards from Goodnight and Adair in the early 80's. The Howards now own about 100 sections in this territory.

Turne Leads In Nassau Meet

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 19 (AP)—Joe Turnesa of Hartford, Conn., held a two-stroke edge as the second round of the $5,000 British colonial open golf tournament started today but he had to turn in an amazing 62 to get out in front of a field of professionals from the United States who went birdie-wild.

Two strokes were clipped from the course record by the Long Island open champion in his sizzling round yesterday. Nine other players joined him in breaking par 68. Ralph Stonehouse of Indianapolis and Jack Thompson of Youngstown, Ohio, had to equal the course record of 64 to get a tie for second place.

The best Billy Burke could do after par by three strokes was to take third place, three down to Turnesa and trailing Stonehouse and Thompson by a stroke. Eighteen holes were to be played today and 36 tomorrow. All of the field is eligible to finish the 72 holes.

Poland Slashes Coal Prices WARSAW (AP)—By decree of the Polish government domestic coal prices have been cut 12 per cent. The change marks a departure from the policy of maintaining high prices at home to permit exports at lower prices abroad.

124 Years Old, Woman Wants To Attend School

SONORA, Dec. 19 (AP)—Age did not discourage Mrs. Petra Olivo's yearning for an education. The Mexican woman, said to be 124 years old, had planned to enroll in the adult school sponsored by the federal emergency relief administration, but unforeseen sickness interfered.

"She's sick in bed or she would be here, too," her daughter, Mrs. Dorotea Ramos, 80, explained to the director of the school. Mrs. Ramos enrolled.

If Mrs. Olivo had been able to study English, as she had wished to do, she would have been of the fourth generation of her family receiving an education here. Her grandson, Hilario Ramos, 50, is an outstanding student in the adult school and his son, Jesus Ramos, 17, is going to high school.

POSTOFFICE ON TRUCK SERVES RUEAL FRANCE PARIS (AP)—A postoffice on wheels, the first of a projected series, has been put into service to provide facilities for out of the way spots in France. Mounted on a ten-ton truck chassis, the body houses two soundproof telephone booths, three writing desks, and three wickets where all the usual operations of a postoffice can be conducted. A cable will connect the telephones with any convenient line. Bicycle messengers on the truck's staff will facilitate transmission of telephone messages. Read the NEWS Classified Ads.
