Sheriff suspends armed civilian patrol program

BAYTOWN, Texas (AP) — Ride-alongs by armed citizens in patrol cars with deputies have been suspended by a Southeast Texas sheriff after other government officials criticized the program.

The citizen volunteers had licenses to carry concealed handguns, but were not licensed law enforcement officers. The residents rode along with deputies as much as three times a week and provided assistance when necessary.

However, the program has been condemned by the Chambers County Commissioners Court and county officials.

Sheriff Monroe Kreuzer advised all deputies in a memo against allowing civilians, armed or not, to ride along on patrol.

"I put a notice out to all of my officers that we will not allow civilian riders until we get it cleared up," the sheriff said Monday.

The civilians signed forms prior to accompanying law officers, which removes county liability, Kreuzer said.

However, county and law enforcement officials disagreed, arguing that the program is too much of a liability.

County Commissioner Buddy Irby said last week he has concerns about the liability on the county.

WEATHER FOCUS

PAMPA

Today's forecast calls for partly sunny and breezy with highs around 93, and south winds 5 to 15 mph, becoming southwest and increasing to 15 to 25 mph. Caution advised on area lakes. Tonight, mostly clear with lows around 55, and southwest winds 10 to 20 mph. Wednesday, partly sunny. Highs around 87. West winds 10 to 20 mph. Wednesday night, mostly cloudy. Lows 45 to 50. Thursday, partly cloudy. Highs around 70. Thursday evening, mostly clear. Friday, partly cloudy. Highs in the mid-40s. Highs in the mid-70s. Saturday through Monday, partly cloudy. Lows in the lower 50s. Highs in the lower 80s.

STATEWIDE

Strong storms that dumped baseball-size hail in North Texas followed record-breaking heat in other parts of the state.

Monday's high at College Station's Easterwood Field reached 93 degrees, surpassing the previous record of 91 degrees set for the date in 1937. Also, the afternoon high of 84 at Galveston tied the earlier record for the day set in 1923, the National Weather Service said.

Also, the weather service said Galveston tied or established new record high minimum temperatures on three consecutive days through Sunday.

Hail up to 4.5 inches in diameter fell in Decatur on Monday night after strong thunderstorms developed in the Abilene area and moved eastward.

The storms, which extended into Central Texas, also generated high winds that overturned an 18-wheeler and damaged a house at Taylor.

Winds gusted to 70 mph in Callahan County.

The gusts also destroyed a shed and some outbuildings in Palo Pinto, the weather service said.

Low cloudiness early Tuesday lowered visibility in the southern panhandle and northern South Plains.

The visibility at Childress was reported down to a quarter-mile.

Early-morning lows ranged from the 50s in the panhandle to the 70s across the far west and over the Edwards Plateau.

Extremes varied from 53 degrees at the Texas Tech mesonet site near Muleshoe to 78 degrees at San Angelo.

Winds were variable across the region, generally at less than 10 mph.

Periods of high clouds were expected through Wednesday.

Highs through Thursday should be in the 80s and 90s, with triple-digit readings expected from the Permian Basin and Concho Valley south to the Rio Grande where highs near 106 were possible.

Lows overnight should be in the 50s and 60s, except near 70 in the Concho Valley.

Senate panel scrutinizing refineries for possible gas price manipulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee wants an explanation from oil industry executives about evidence that some refineries held back supplies to force up gasoline prices during tight gasoline markets in recent years.

A congressional report released Monday said intentional reductions in the gasoline supply added to already tight fuel markets and helped produce some of the sharp price spikes over the past three years, especially in the Midwest.

"In a number of instances, refiners have sought to increase prices by reducing supplies," concluded the 396-page report released by Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., chairman of the Senate Governmental Affairs investigations subcommittee.

Levin's panel was scheduled to hear from oil company executives Tuesday about the findings of the report, which was prepared by the subcommittee's Democratic staff.

Levin acknowledged the investigation "did not discover any evidence of collusion," but he argued that gasoline markets are so "highly concentrated ... you don't need collusion to have a big artificial impact on supply" and, in turn, prices.

Red Cavaney, president of the American Petroleum Institute, said a number of investigations — including the latest by the Senate subcommittee — has cleared oil companies of collusion or other illegal activities in connection with gasoline markets.

"As long as the company or individuals act on their own, when they decide to put their supply on the market is their decision and it's legal. ... It's part of the free enterprise system," Cavaney said in an interview.

The report cited several internal memos dating back to 1998 from major oil concerns that reflected a general strategy by individual companies of using supplies to influence prices.

In 1999, BP Amoco — now known only as BP — outlined in a memo a series of "significant opportunities to influence" the balance of supply and demand in the tight Midwest gasoline market to assure higher prices.

Among the potential actions cited in BP's "Midwest, Mid-Continent Strategy" memo was to reduce refinery production or ship supplies to Canada instead of making them available in the tight Midwest market. It also suggested limiting pipeline capacity from the Gulf of Mexico to the Midwest by shipping products other than gasoline, providing incentives to other producers not to provide additional gasoline or using environmental regulations to slow fuel shipments.

It's not known whether any of these actions were taken.

Last summer, the Senate report said, "major refiners reduced gasoline production even in the face of unusually high demand ... contributing significantly to the price spike."

And in spring 2000 when prices soared past $2 a gallon, the report said that Marathon Ashland Petroleum held back some of its cleaner burning, so-called reformulated gasoline from the market "so as not to depress prices."

The report cited one internal Marathon e-mail that warned that if the company unloaded too much of its gasoline it could "trash the market." Another executive wrote in a memo that he would rather make 40 cents a gallon on 40,000 barrels of gasoline than 10 cents a gallon on 50,000 barrels.

PEDC

March.

"I must withdraw as your counsel because of the potential of a conflict of interest in my capacity as the city attorney and in my legal representation for the PEDC," said Lane of his resignation.

Lewis said he received the report on Lane's Austin trip with the resignation on March 20 in the mail.

"What was curious about this is that State Rep. Warren Chisum asked for an Attorney General's opinion on March 25, before we got any report from Lane on his trip to Austin in which he was representing the PEDC," said Phillips. Lane didn't give his report to the PEDC until 10 days after his Austin trip. He gave the report to the PEDC board at a 5 p.m. meeting on March 25.

The Pampa News learned of Chisum's request on behalf of the City of Pampa for an AG's opinion on April 12.

One issue in the opinion is if the City of Pampa, as the creating unit, has approval authority over the plan of dissolution of the PEDC including, but not limited to, the terms of the sale of assets.

The second issue is - may a reserve account be established to meet future financial commitments after the outstanding obligations have been paid.

The AG's office replied in a letter that it will have an opinion by Sept. 23, 2002.

When asked by The Pampa News on March 26 if a legal question had developed between the PEDC and City of Pampa which would pose a legal conflict of interest between the two entities, Lane said, "No."

"I told the PEDC from the beginning that my primary representation is the City of Pampa," said Lane. "An attorney just can't be involved in any potential conflict of representation."

Lane traveled to Austin as the PEDC's representative to meet with Jeff Moore, assistant Attorney General, and Bob Bearden of the Texas Comptroller's office, to obtain answers to questions by board members.

At the March 25 meeting Lane said Bearden and Moore recommended an AG's opinion be requested.

He told the PEDC board members at the 5 p.m. meeting that neither the PEDC nor the City has authority to request an opinion from the AG's office.

Lane said the state senator, state representative, county attorney and district attorney are officials who can request an AG opinion.

Chisum was also the requestor of an AG's opinion for the PEDC in July 1997. That request asked if the PEDC could contribute to a Clarendon College center in Pampa.

The letter opinion stated that the PEDC would have no basis on which to conclude that an expenditure of section 4A development corporation proceeds to support a Clarendon College center in Pampa would be consistent with the purposes of the Development Corporation Act of 1979.

Also, the opinion said the act does not permit a section 4A development corporation to make gifts of public funds.

Dr. Vijay Mohan of Pampa admires art featured in last year's American Heart Association (AHA) Heart Gala fund-raiser. This year's AHA "Heart Fiesta Gala" will take place at 7 p.m., Friday, May 3 at Pampa Country Club and will include music, dancing, food and fun. The Pampa High School Fiesta Dancers will perform during the event, and the PHS food preparation class will oversee the dinner buffet. In addition, local merchants and artists have donated items for a live and a silent auction. To obtain your tickets or for more information, contact Veronica Kirkwood at 665-0356. Proceeds will go to AHA in Texas and will be used for research and education.

ORCA re-elects board chair

AUSTIN — Robert J. "Sam" Tessen, MS, executive director of the new state Office of Rural Community Affairs (ORCA) has been elected to a second two-year term as chair of the National Rural Health Association's (NRHA) Rural Health Policy Board.

The Rural Health Policy Board comprises a cross section of the general NRHA membership. It is made up of the NRHA officers as well as representatives elected from NRHA's eight constituency groups, its State Association Council and its State Office Council.

"Working with representatives of rural areas of other states is a great opportunity to develop ideas for solving rural issues in our own state. I look forward to the new term with the Board," Tessen said.

Tessen was previously executive director of the Texas Telecommunications Infrastructure Fund Board and the state's Center for Rural Health Initiatives, which is now the Rural Health Unit of ORCA.

ORCA was created by the 77th Legislature to facilitate and focus the state's health, economic development and community development programs targeting rural communities in Texas.

County Judge Richard Peet said he had spoken with Martinez who told him the unit "... could be called up for six months or less or not at all."

Peet said Martinez did not say where he thought the unit might go if deployed.

"He told me he will let me know something on Sunday," Peet said.

This week, Justice of the Peace Kurt Curfman is on call, the county judge said, thus no special arrangements with regard to Martinez' absence are necessary.

There is no municipal court scheduled this week.

Travel trailer tax is unfair

This new tax against travel trailers is the most unfair tax against the lower and middle income people I have ever seen. Just to tax trailers and not to tax motorhomes and RVs of the rich is the best example of our rich, conservative legislators I have ever seen.

When George was governor, with his support, the legislators capped the money our schools could raise to finance our schools. Of course, being good conservatives, raising taxes on everyone to support our schools is out of the question, so why not raise some money with a personal property tax against lower and middle income people. They know mostly rich conservatives are the ones who vote and spend lobby money to keep them in power, so taxing them was unacceptable.

They then worded a constitutional amendment for us to vote on that was unclear and misleading. (In reality, taxing entities may choose not to enforce this tax, except school districts, who MUST collect it.)

I have heard the Legislature will reverse this taxing scheme, but unless a great noise is made about how unfair this tax is, it will never happen. For many people (welders, contractors, seasonal workers, etc.), a travel trailer is not a luxury, but a second home when they work away from home.

I certainly understand the school needs more money, but if they raise our fees or taxes, it needs to cover everyone. How about a state income tax or a raise in sales tax? They could even have a personal property tax and tax all those $50,000 Cadillacs, SUV's or half-million dollar motor homes.

Everyone that is affected by this unfair and discriminatory tax should write his/her legislators. Call, write letters, fax, or e-mail them. Write letters to the editor and talk about it all the time until it is repealed.

Israel, faithfulness, and prayer

Does American credibility with the Arab world depend on repositioning U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East — becoming neutral, rather than supportive of Israel?

That's what The New York Times argued on Monday. If that's true, we're in trouble. What country will respect a great power that abandons its ally and, after pledging to fight terrorism around the world, rewards leaders who commission homicide bombers? And how can we ignore the clear indications that if Israeli Jews had to live under Palestinian authority, most would be exiled or killed?

Provisionally, President Bush has a justified scorn for big media drumbeats. He is more knowledgeable than those pundits who simplistically think that an Israeli retreat will create an advance to peace. Treating Palestinian homicide bombings and Israeli responses as morally equivalent obscures the difference between deliberately targeting civilians and going after terrorists.

This is not one of American journalism's finest hours. Some, moved by Palestinian poverty, have become Arafat apologists. Others, seeing Muslim millions and aware of Muslim oil, have become appeasers. It's time for a biblical response, starting with the declaration in chapter 23 of Exodus: "You shall not fall in with the many to do evil... nor shall you be partial to a poor man in his lawsuit." Instead of siding with either rich or poor, we should peer through a biblically objective lens.

Some Christians and Jews say the Bible gives today's Israelis clear title to the land on which they stand. They quote God's statements to Abram (later called Abraham), "To your offspring I will give this land." They quote God's statement to Moses in Deuteronomy, "View the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the people of Israel for a possession."

Other scholars note that Abraham's descendants are primarily defined by belief, not blood. The Bible teaches that God adopts many into His family and does not automatically reserve a spot for those who have scorned their birthright. A biblical case can certainly be made that Israelis who are atheists have tossed away their inheritance just as Esau did.

If Israelis do not necessarily have a God-specified right to their real estate, they still have a claim on it by possession — but so do Muslims, who loosely held the land for over a millennium. In a confused ownership situation, we can biblically examine usage. Christ's parable of the talents (Matthew 25) teaches that we are expected to make good use of the material resources we have, not just sit on them.

The Israelis have shown the right stuff in that regard. Through following the wisdom of Proverbs, they have turned a land of sand and poverty into a country of computer chips and honey. They have formed an island of democracy within a sea of dictatorship, so that they transfer power by debate and election rather than by terrorism and assassination.

Bottom line: the United States should continue to support Israel and oppose those in the Middle East who, through government-controlled media and government-financed school textbooks, are fomenting anti-Jewish hatred. Last week, half a dozen conservative Christian leaders sent a letter to President Bush, on Southern Baptist Convention stationery, that called upon him to denounce such scurrilous attacks on Jews.

We should also embrace something that neither The New York Times nor foreign policy journals tend to mention: It's called prayer.

As Patty Griffin sings (in a different context), "Diamonds, roses, I need Moses, to cross this sea of loneliness, part this red river of pain."

It appears that nothing short of a miracle will suffice to bring peace to the Middle East, but even in recent years we have seen miracles such as the downfall of the Soviet empire, so there's no reason not to pray for another.

The language of propaganda

Many Americans are confused and misled about the facts of the Middle East because they don't understand the language of Israeli propaganda.

A terrorist is any Palestinian who wants to end the Israeli occupation. A militant is anyone the Israelis kill. If they shoot you, you are, by definition, a militant, even if you're only 6 months old or 10 years old or 80 years old.

The Israelis never kill anybody but militants, so all of the more than 70 Palestinian children 15 and younger shot dead by Israeli soldiers are militants. Most civilized countries don't think militancy is a capital offense.

Unfortunately, members of the press often adopt the language of propaganda. They report that the Israelis have killed 20 militants. In fact, they don't know that. They themselves have never seen the 20 dead people. For all they know, they might be Palestinian nuns or pacifists. A good reporter will just report what he knows: The Israelis say they have killed 20 Palestinians.

Recently, one of the Fox Network's foxy blondes belligerently demanded of a Palestinian spokesman why Yasser Arafat had not made a speech in Arabic demanding an end to terror.

When the Palestinian finally got a chance to talk, he told her what everybody who follows the Middle East already knows: Arafat has condemned terrorism in speeches made in Arabic. The spokesman even gave the blond cutie two specific dates and occasions.

But what's important to us, as consumers of this bilge on television, is this: I think it is a most safe assumption that the lady, ordinarily quite pleasant and giggly, does not speak Arabic, does not understand spoken Arabic and does not monitor radio and television broadcasts in Arabic. So the question is, how would she know whether Arafat had ever made a speech in Arabic on any subject?

CHARLEY REESE

The answer is that she doesn't, yet she adamantly and obnoxiously asserted that he had not condemned suicide bombings in Arabic. Where did she get that information? From Israeli propaganda.

It could be that these younger folks who are in-studio types are just naive. Perhaps I can help them. All governments lie. Some governments lie on some occasions, some lie on many occasions, and some lie on all occasions. The Israeli government is a world-class liar. You can count on almost anything it says as being all false, or partly true and partly false, or true but out of context.

The members of the Israeli government are also the most self-centered people on earth. To them it is unacceptable for any Israeli to die, but perfectly OK if any number of Palestinians die.

How little value they place on Palestinian life is illustrated by a sentence an Israeli court gave a Jewish settler. His sentence was a fine and community service. What was his crime? He had knocked down a 10-year-old Palestinian boy, put his booted foot on the child's neck and beaten him to death with the butt of his military pistol. But as one of the right-wing rabbis is now saying openly, a Jewish life is more valuable than a gentile life.

President Bush, perhaps the most naive American, wants everyone to call suicide bombers murderers.

I won't. They are martyrs. Those young Palestinians have done exactly the same thing so many young Americans have done — willingly sacrificed their lives for their country's freedom. If they are murderers because they kill civilians during a war, then Mr. Bush's own father is a mass murderer.

His war and his embargo have murdered tens of thousands of innocent men, women and children in Iraq. Young Bush is apparently planning to murder more. To paraphrase the killer in the movie "Unforgiven," "We are all murderers, kid."

The irony is that while Bush keeps yapping at Arafat to stop the violence, Bush himself refuses to stop the much greater violence inflicted on the Palestinian people by Israel.

In case he hasn't noticed, there are, to use his favorite phrase, innocent men, women and children dying in the occupied territories because of Israeli state terrorism practically every day.

Instead of playing self-righteous semantic games, Bush should devote his energy to stopping the killing by everybody, including us. He should strongly support freedom for the Palestinians. That's the only way the Israelis will ever have security. And he should abandon the idea that the way to stop killing is to kill.

Business Review

First Southwest offers experience

Retirement just wasn't for Bill Weatherbee. He retired in 1995 as an insurance adjuster, but retirement wasn't to his liking. He liked being busy and in May, 1999, he went back into the insurance business. This time he was selling insurance.

Weatherbee opened First Southwest Insurance Agency three years ago. The business offers several types of insurance: homeowners, auto, commercial property, and crop. He also sells bonds.

His insurance experience goes back many years. In 1957 he went to work for a finance company in Childress. The company also sold insurance. He discovered he really liked the insurance part of the business and pursued it fulltime. He became an insurance agent in 1961.

"I had friends who worked in insurance, and I discovered I liked it," he said.

In 1963 he moved from Childress to Pampa, working as an insurance adjuster for various agencies until 1972. That year he began his own business as an adjuster. He operated his own business from 1963-Dec., 1995.

"Retirement just wasn't for me," he said. "It was just too early for me to retire."

Bill was born and reared at Childress, and his wife, Linda, originated from Rattan, Okla. A beautician, she owns her own business in Pampa.

Through the years he worked the eastern half of the Texas Panhandle, he said. "I went all the way from the Oklahoma state line to Pat Warren and Bill Weatherbee offer their customers at First Southwest Insurance Agency many years of experience in the insurance business. Warren is a producer while Weatherbee is owner of the business.

Borger," he said.

He also has gone into areas to work insurance claims for major hurricanes. Describing the aftermath of Hurricane Andrew as "really horrible," he said he had never seen anything like it. Traveling to Homeland, Florida, to assist policy holders, he said he had never seen such severe damage from a storm.

Weatherbee also helped in the aftermath of Hurricane Alicia in Houston in 1983 and Hurricane Gloria in Mississippi in the mid-80s.

He also worked the Pampa tornado in 1995 and many hail storms throughout the Panhandle area.

Also with years of insurance experience, Pat

Warren is a producer at the local business. She has been a licensed agent for 38 years. Her insurance experience includes many years at Fatharee Insurance in Pampa and Frank J. Smith Agency for 10 years in Borger.

Warren has been at First Southwest Insurance Agency since Oct., 2000.

Katrina Neff, a Pampa native, has been with the agency a little over a year. She has been in insurance since August, 1996, and has her solicitor's license.

Staff members at First Southwest Insurance Agency welcome new customers and present ones at the local business at 2100 Perryton Parkway or phone calls at 665-2811.

Katrina Neff professionally offers customers insurance information at First Southwest Insurance Agency. She is a solicitor at the business.

DEAR ABBY

written by Pauline Phillips and daughter Jeanne Phillips

One Poem Inspires Another From Bedtime Story Lover

DEAR ABBY: I was inspired by the "Old-Timer's Bedtime" poem about the elderly couple who slept in their birthday suits. It inspired me to share what happened to me:

The poem about the couple Sleeping in the nude Was really quite revealing And it put me in the mood.

I talked about it to my wife And we tried it, bit by bit — But with "branches entwined," we quickly saw Our legs just didn't fit.

And then what happened, Abby, Is something that we all dread — Our branches got so tangled That we fell right out of bed!

VIC MABRY, LAKE HAVASU CITY, ARIZ.

DEAR VIC: I don't doubt for a minute what you've said to me is true — I only hope the two of you weren't bruised all black and blue.

I offer this advice to you — And take it, please, I plead, To you and your beloved — Don't try everything you read!

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law has two family pictures of my husband and his ex-wife hanging on their living room wall. We have been married for nearly three years and have a 2-year-old daughter. She is starting to look at the pictures. We would prefer that she not find out by looking at pictures that her father was married before. (There were no children from the previous marriage.)

I told my husband that I would like the photos to come down. He agrees, but his family doesn't deal well with "family dynamics." He still has not told his parents how I feel about the photos, and we are scheduled to visit them again next month. I trust your advice.

LOOKING FOR HELP IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR LOOKING FOR HELP: Pick up the phone and explain to your in-laws that your young daughter is old enough to notice her father with another woman in the photos — but too young to understand prior marriages. That's a reasonable explanation to justify your request that the pictures be taken down — at least when you're visiting.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of the bride and I just made a whooper of a mistake. When we were planning the wedding, the groom's parents gave me an "A" and a "B" guest list. After budgeting carefully, we realized we could only afford to invite guests on the "A" list. Unfortunately, I mistakenly sent "save the date" cards to everyone on the "B" list.

Is there any way I can undo the damage I've done? I feel terrible about it.

GUILTY MOTHER OF THE BRIDE IN NEW JERSEY

DEAR GUILTY M-O-B: There is no graceful way to "take back" the implied invitations without offending people. Either take out a loan or downsize the reception to accommodate everyone.

Pauline Phillips and her daughter Jeanne Phillips share the pseudonym Abigail Van Buren. Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90068.

To receive a collection of Abby's most memorable — and most frequently requested — poems and essays, send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $5 (U.S. funds) to: Dear Abby — Keepers Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Postage is included in the price.)

Spurs' Robinson returns to practice

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle starting forward Rashard Lewis visited a specialist about his partially dislocated left shoulder Monday and was told to rest it for three weeks.

His bad news came on the same day San Antonio center David Robinson returned to practice, but his strained lower back will still probably keep him out of Game 4 Wednesday night.

Lewis' injury could require surgery, general manager Rick Sund said.

"They've got to wait to see where it's at," Sund said.

The Spurs lead the best-of-five, opening-round series 2-1 after winning 102-75 in Seattle on Saturday.

Lewis, who was the SuperSonics' No. 2 scorer (16.8) and top rebounder (7.0) during the regular season, was injured wrestling for a rebound with the Spurs' Malik Rose in the first minute of the second half of Game 3.

"Three weeks is what they said," Sund said. "If it gets better and if we win this series, they'll look at it. But it's doubtful."

The defending champion Los Angeles Lakers will face the winner of the Spurs-Sonics series in the Western Conference semifinals.

It's unlikely that the 7-foot-1 Robinson, who sat out all of Games 2 and 3, will play in Game 4 in Seattle. But he practiced a little with his team Monday. He didn't do anything strenuous and was gone before reporters were allowed in.

"He's kind of plateaued," Spurs coach Gregg Popovich said. "He hasn't made a lot of progress in the last couple of days. We're not expecting him to play Wednesday."

After the way San Antonio handled the Sonics in Game 3, when Tim Duncan had 27 points and 13 rebounds and 19-year-old Tony Parker scored 23 points on 10-for-15 shooting, the Spurs aren't expected to risk Robinson.

He has played only seven minutes in the series, pulling himself out of Game 1. But having their popular center back at practice meant a lot to his teammates.

"It did me good to see him out there," Rose said. "He'll be back sometime, it's only a matter of time. He feels better and he wants to get back."

With Lewis all but out for Game 3 with his shoulder injury and a lingering sprained left ankle that has limited him to 12.7 points, 6.0 rebounds and 26.3 minutes in the playoffs, coach Nate McMillan has to come up with a replacement in the starting lineup.

McMillan deferred that Monday because Lewis' likely replacement, rookie Vladimir Radmanovic, has a sprained big toe on his right foot that is still bothering him. Radmanovic played six minutes and scored six points in Game 3.

McMillan held Radmanovic out of most of Monday's scrimmage.

"I definitely expect him to play minutes," McMillan said. "Hopefully, he will be able to provide those minutes whether it's as a starting role or coming off the bench."

The Spurs might not have reserve forward Danny Ferry for Game 4. Ferry is questionable for Wednesday night after spraining his right wrist in Game 3. Ferry visited the doctor on Monday and had the wrist fitted with a brace.

"I think I'd have a hard time playing today," he said. "I need as much time as I can get."

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The International Skating Union held a nine-hour hearing into the Olympic figure skating scandal, with the French judge at the center of the dispute complaining she was the victim of an "organized massacre."

A lawyer described the opening session of the two-day, closed-door hearings as "intense."

Judge Marie-Reine Le Gougeon and French skating boss Didier Gailhaguet were called before the council to answer charges they manipulated the result of the pairs competition at the Salt Lake City Games.

HOCKEY

DENVER (AP) — Patrick Roy made sure the Los Angeles Kings weren't able to rewrite the ending.

Roy stopped 23 shots and Colorado scored three goals in the second period as the Avalanche beat the Kings 4-0 Monday night in a Game 7 rematch of last year.

Roy again proved why he's considered the best big-game goalie in the NHL.

He won his third straight Game 7 and extended his record of playoff shutouts to 21. He stopped 11 shots in the second period, including a hard slap shot from Zigmund Palffy and one from close range by Jason Allison on a power play.

Los Angeles goalie Felix Potvin had consecutive shutouts to force a Game 7 last year, then gave up three goals in the third period of a 5-1 loss in the final game. He stopped 103 of 106 shots in Games 3-6 this year, but allowed three goals in the second period on Monday.

Chris Drury, who scored the winning goal in Game 7 against Los Angeles last year, opened the scoring 5:08 into the second with a spectacular goal.

Drury fought off Eric Belanger near the blue line, then slipped the puck around Jaroslav Modry. He got back to the puck just in time to flick a shot over Potvin's right shoulder.

Alex Tanguay made it 2-0 54 seconds later after a bad bounce for Los Angeles.

Kings' defenseman Mathieu Schneider got in front of a shot by Milan Hejduk in the slot, but the puck bounced off his right skate to the left circle. Tanguay, who was alone, gathered the puck and lifted a shot past Potvin on the stick side for his second of the series.

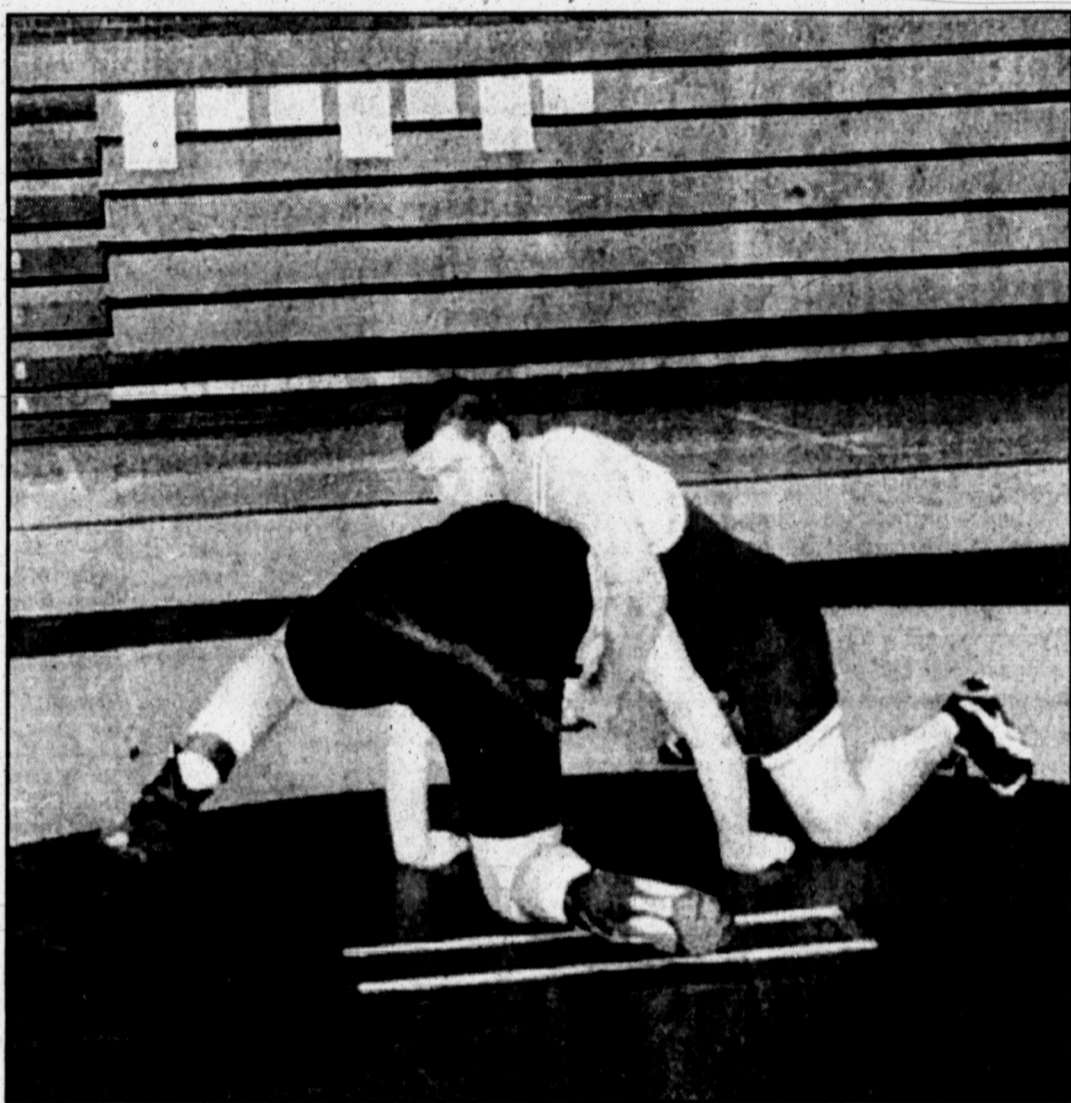

Los Angeles coach Andy Murray followed with a timeout and the fans chanted "Potvin! Potvin!" after the Kings returned to the ice.

Steven Reinprecht made it 3-0 with 2:28 left, punching in a rebound off his own shot a few seconds after a Colorado power play.

Potvin stopped Reinprecht after he circled around the net, but couldn't get his skate over in time for the second shot after doing the splits.

Adam Foote added an empty-net goal with 3:13 left.

Asmussen plays Kentucky Derby waiting game

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — From his perch aboard a pony, Steve Asmussen accompanied Private Emblem through the early morning chill to the Churchill Downs track.

The colt was distracted in his workout, paying more attention to things on the infield than drilling against Asmussen's stopwatch.

Next time out, Private Emblem was focused, much like his 36-year-old trainer.

A year after saddling his first Kentucky Derby starter,

Asmussen most likely will have two in Saturday's 128th Derby.

In addition to Arkansas Derby winner Private Emblem, Asmussen expects to run Windward Passage, a son of 1997 Derby runner-up Captain Bodgit.

"I feel extremely fortunate to have two horses in the final 20 from a foal crop of approximately 30,000," he said outside his barn Monday.

Asmussen is playing a waiting game with Windward Passage, who is tied for 20th in graded earnings with Wild Horses. Each has $100,000.

Since only 20 colts can start and preference is given to those with the highest earnings in graded stakes races, Asmussen needs someone to drop out. It could be 13th-ranked Mayakovsky.

"I've tried not to worry about it too much because it is out of our hands," Asmussen said. "It sounds like we're going to be able to run and getting pretty excited about that prospect."

Pampa will host girls camp, basketball league

PAMPA — Pampa head coach Steve Schmidt will hold a girls basketball camp June 17-21 at McNeely Fieldhouse. The camp will be for girls in the fourth through ninth grades. Each day's session starts at 9 a.m. and ends at 2 p.m.

Cost is $55, which includes a t-shirt, basketball and lots of instruction.

Scholarship opportunities are available for those who need financial support. If interested, brochures are available from the physical education teachers at the four elementary schools or coaches at the middle schools. Area youngsters are also invited to the camp.

Former PHS players will assist Schmidt with the camp.

Schmidt can be contacted at 669-4830 or 669-9013.

Pampa is hosting a competitive basketball league this summer for area high school players.

The league, which starts in June, will consist of eight sub-varsity teams and 10 varsity teams. Sub-varsity games will be played Monday and Thursday nights at the middle school gym. Varsity games will be played Monday and Thursday nights at McNeely Fieldhouse.

"Area restaurants and merchants should help make the athletes and their fans feel welcomed," Schmidt said. "We hope by hosting this league our athletes will have a convenient opportunity to improve their game. I also feel that it will be good for the economic community as well."

Jazz eliminated by Kings

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Sacramento Kings moved deeper into the postseason, thanking Karl Malone, John Stockton and the Utah Jazz for a lesson in playoff basketball.

Peja Stojakovic ended a shooting slump with 30 points, and 7-foot-1 center Vlade Divac made a long 3-pointer with 1:29 left as the Kings advanced to the second round with a 91-86 victory in Game 4 on Monday night.

The Kings, seeded first in the West after winning 61 regular-season games, will be home Saturday against the Dallas Mavericks for Game 1.

"Luck favors a prepared mind, and we were prepared to play," Sacramento coach Rick Adelman said. "We beat one of the best halfcourt teams. They gave us all we could handle. I'm glad to get this series over, now."

Also Monday, Toronto beat Detroit 89-83 in Game 4 of their first-round series.

On Tuesday night, it's Charlotte at Orlando and New Jersey at Indiana. The Hornets and Nets can advance with victories.

Sacramento has a history against the venerable Jazz, who in 1999 rallied from a 2-1 series deficit to turn back the up-and-coming Kings in a dramatic first-round matchup.

Giants use walks to beat Phillies, 8-5

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Larry Bowa rubbed his forehead in frustration. His team had just allowed 10 walks, including one that gave San Francisco the game.

"The 10 walks is ridiculous," the Philadelphia manager said. "Ridiculous."

Reliever David Coggin walked in the go-ahead run as the Phillies blew a five-run lead and lost their sixth straight game, an 8-5 decision Monday night in the only game in the National League.

With the score 5-5 in the seventh, Rich Aurilia singled off Rheal Cormier (1-3) and Barry Bonds walked. Both advanced on catcher Mike Lieberthal's passed ball before Kent walked to load the bases for J.T. Snow.

On Snow's grounder Aurilia was thrown out at home, and Reggie Sanders struck out. But Coggin walked Benito Santiago and the Giants took the lead. Pedro Feliz also walked to make it 7-5 before David Bell struck out to finally end it. Snow added a sacrifice fly in the eighth.

The Giants, playing before the smallest crowd ever at Pacific Bell Park, — 35,136 — won their second straight after a four-game losing streak. The Phillies (8-18) have lost eight straight road games.

Tim Worrell (2-0) pitched one inning in relief for the win. Robb Nen pitched the ninth for his seventh save.

Trailing 5-1, the Giants scored four runs in the sixth inning to tie it.

Kent's home run off Phillies starter Robert Person scored Bonds, who singled with one out. Snow scored when Santiago's grounder was misplayed by Marlon Anderson on shortstop Jimmy Rollins' throw. Feliz added an RBI single.

"A 5-1 win with him out there," Bowa said about Person. "You've got to figure he'll get you to the seventh."

Person was stunned after the game. "I felt confident going in and confident through the game," he said. "I just made a bad pitch."

The Phillies went up 5-0 with a four-run fourth inning. Rollins' double down the right-field line scored Pat Burrell and Travis Lee, and Rollins scored on Doug Glanville's double. Glanville scored on Bobby Abreu's single.

Pinch-hitter Shawon Dunston's sacrifice fly in the fifth inning made it 5-1.

Bonds' uncharacteristic error in left field led to Philadelphia's 1-0 lead in the third inning.

Rollins hit a routine fly to Bonds, but the ball appeared to hit the heel of Bonds' glove before bouncing off into the grass. Rollins went to second on the error, took third on Glanville's sacrifice and scored on Abreu's double.

Bonds, who hit a single-season record 73 homers last season, hasn't homered since April 17. He has eight home runs so far, but has been bothered by a sore left hamstring.

Jason Schmidt was making his second start for the Giants since returning from the disabled list. He missed the first three weeks of the season with a groin injury.

Schmidt gave up five runs — four earned — and seven hits in 3 2-3 innings.

Pampa JVs end baseball season

BORGER — Borger slipped by Pampa 10-9 in junior varsity baseball action last weekend.

Pampa JV closed the season with a 12-6-1 record.

Hunter Craig was 5 of 5 at the plate against Borger JV. Matt Robben and Derrick Lewis had 1 hit each.

"We had the opportunity to score runs, but we just couldn't get it done," said Pampa coach Troy Owens.

Pampa outhit Borger 7-5.

"Whenever we walked a batter,

Borger took advantage of the opportunity and had timely hitting," coach Owens said.

In the first inning, Shoernal hit a three-run homer after two batters walked.

In the second inning, three Borger hitters drew walks, which was followed by Vance's double and Escobar's single. They later scored on walks.

"Our defense was good," Owens said. "We just had trouble hitting and pitching. We had a great season. The ballplayers played hard."

New role opens for Irabu as Texas closer

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Texas Rangers thought they would have a strong closer. They just didn't expect it to be Hideki Irabu.

Irabu was thrust into his new and unexpected role because Jeff Zimmerman is on the disabled list and John Rocker failed in his chance to be the Texas stopper.

"The thing that has happened in the last couple of weeks is that Irabu has pitched like Zimmerman would pitch," Rangers manager Jerry Narron said. "It will be interesting to see if he can sustain it like Zimmerman does."

Texas won consecutive series for the first time this season, taking two of three games from both Cleveland and Toronto. Irabu had a save in all four of those wins, twice getting saves on consecutive days.

The Rangers were off Monday before beginning a six-game road trip against the two teams they just beat at home.

Irabu has converted five of six save chances since becoming the closer April 17, the day after the Rangers assigned Rocker to Triple-A Oklahoma.

"Now that this role has been given to me, and even though this is the first time for him to do this, I think it's a very exciting job," Irabu said through his Japanese translator. "I want to continue to develop myself as a closer. I like this role."

When Irabu signed a minor league deal with the Rangers, he did so hoping to make the team as the No. 5 starter. He had just 14 starts the previous two seasons in Montreal, where three extended stints on the disabled list led to his release.

A series of spring training injuries to starters Chan Ho Park, Kenny Rogers, Dave Burba and Ishmael Valdes prompted Texas to keep 13 pitchers, including Irabu as a spot starter and long reliever.

Zimmerman, whose 28 saves last year included a team-record 17 straight at the end of the year, hasn't pitched because of tendinitis in his right elbow. The injury has healed slowly and could require surgery.

Rocker was 0-1 with one save in three chances and a 9.53 ERA before he was recalled last week from the minor league assignment to which he never reported. Opponents were hitting .407 against the left-hander, who had nine strikeouts in 5 2-3 innings but had allowed 11 hits, seven runs and four walks.

BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)  Reach out for another at a distance. Step forward and take a risk. Others look to you for advice. Take your time, don't push others. A family member demands your attention. Juggle your time carefully, as so many are making demands on you. Tonight: Prepare to work late. You might not have a choice.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)  Use your skills to look past the immediate. Instantly you see another's power play. Your strength lies in the fact that you won't play into it. Stay centered. Carefully consider options that surround a loved one. Your instincts serve you well. If you need, find a trusted adviser. Tonight: Rent a movie on the way home.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)  Expenses go out of whack. Understand more of what is going on through observation. Check out how another handles a money matter. Carefully review a personal matter with someone in the know. You want to eliminate unneeded worry, don't you? Tonight: Let someone treat you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)  Another might come on strong. Decide what it is that you want from this person, and then ask. Others clearly respond to your requests. Understanding reaches a new level. Your sunny side emerges when you're in groups. Tonight: Follow another's lead. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)  Let another lead you through his or her process and way of thinking. Confusion surrounds your work and a boss. Keep clarifying. Your intuition, which is inordinately strong, takes you in the correct direction. Listen to yourself. Take a walk and tune in to you! Tonight: Work out stress through exercise. A massage could work as well.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)  Your creativity comes out, especially during meetings and/or in the company of others. Others tap into your ingenuity and imagination. Make a call to a child or loved one. This person truly appreciates hearing from you. Tonight: A little flirtation goes a long way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)  Listen well to another and don't push too hard. Your perspective could change considerably when dealing with family and loved ones. Deal with the basics, but still stay on top of work. No wonder you could be exhausted by evening. Tonight: Take a nap.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)  Carefully sort through information that comes your way. On some level, you could be on information overload. Let another chip in, especially as someone could add more work to your day. Stay open and speak your mind. Tonight: Chill out at a favorite spot.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

 Take a hard look at your finances before you make a decision about a loan or respond to another's request. Don't promise anything you're not 100 percent sure about. Remain optimistic at work. Listen to another carefully. Tonight: Your treat.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)  The moon in your sign empowers you. You could be difficult to stop once you get going. Your imagination knows no limits. Listen to another carefully before you make a commitment. You could be slightly overenthusiastic. Tonight: Whatever makes you happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  Listen to another carefully. What seems inconsequential could be far more relevant than you think. Work with another carefully, with an eye to positive changes. Maintain a low profile right now. Just focus on your job. Tonight: Do your own thing.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)  Maintain your goals and don't lose sight of them. Though you easily could be distracted by another's babble, you zero in on what you want. Stay on top of your work, and you'll hit a homerun. Others go "wow." Plan on celebrating. Tonight: Gather with your pals.
