M'INTYRE COMES BACK TO HIS 'DREAM HOME'

GALLIPOLIS, O., Feb. 15 (AP)—The old chronic of Gallipolis' No. 1 citizen sadly made preparations today for the oft-promised, oft-written but long deferred coming of O. McIntyre to Gatewood, the "dream home" he never saw.

The famed columnist who was once known locally as "the best trick bicyclist in Gallia county" but who went to New York to achieve fame in another field, wrote often of Gatewood in connection with his retirement but did not know that death had other plans.

McIntyre died in his Park Avenue apartment early Monday morning at the age of 53 so he never saw the "dream home" he bought and remodeled as a birthday gift for his wife, the former Maybelle Hope Small of Gallipolis.

His body, accompanied by Mrs. McIntyre and some friends, will be brought from New York to Gallipolis Wednesday, just as the New York columnist desired.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday.

SUAVELY sophisticated is the white satin gown, in background, with white silk fringe from hips to hemline. More demure—in fact, quite in keeping with the trend toward more feminine gowns, often called waltz dresses—is the billowing model on the little exhibitionist, below. HEPBURN SAYS ARMED MIGHT FAR TOO HIGH

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15 (AP)—The world's powers have amassed twice what they need in armed might, says Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, who directed maneuvers of the United States fleet over a vast area of the Pacific last summer.

"Naval armaments and land armaments certainly are too high all over the world," said the former commander-in-chief of the fleet. "You could cut them all in half and have plenty."

Admiral Hepburn, recently made commandant of the twelfth naval district with headquarters here, expressed belief that there would be more arms limitation conferences and that "much could be accomplished in that way."

The naval officer, who was replaced Jan. 29 as fleet commander by Admiral Claude C. Bloch, said in an interview he had asked for his post here because of the importance of the Pacific coast in the present international picture.

"The fleet is here and that's where it belongs in the present state of international affairs," he declared.

Transfer here, Admiral Hepburn, who directed last year's maneuvers in the California-Alaska-Hawaii triangle of the Pacific, was in line with naval policy of changing the fleet command annually or bi-annually at the discretion of the President. Admiral Hepburn assumed command of the fleet June 24, 1936, and now will be assigned to two years land duty after four years at sea.

"Everybody is crying for peace nowadays, but we don't know what they mean by peace," said the official. "We might find that what some of them would consider satisfactory peace conditions would supply mean stamping on others' toes."

"But I believe this country is growing a little more internationally wise to what's going on, a little more willing to say no, we're not going to be caught in the ruck if anybody has intentions against us."

Wrigley Tired Of Bargaining With Holdouts

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (AP)—Owner Phil K. Wrigley of Chicago's Cubs, doesn't like bargaining with holdouts any better than any other baseball manager—but he thinks tradition is more responsible for the situation than the players themselves.

As far as his dealing with his players go, Wrigley isn't a bargainer. "I seem to me," Wrigley said, "that players have the attitude that under no circumstances should they sign the first contract offered them. Like most things in baseball, it apparently is founded on tradition rather than reason."

"The idea has been handed down from one generation of players to the next, that prompt signing is an admission of weakness. They believe the owner is quoting his bottom price. They quote their top price and expect to gain by a compromise. It's just the old Chinese bargaining system."

"Well," he continued earnestly, "I don't do business that way. The first contract I send is exactly what I think they're worth to the ball club. I'm not a barterer quoting bottom figures. The trouble is, I haven't educated players to that yet. Maybe in another hundred years they'll understand that."

Wrigley has two unsigned players, shortstop Bill Jurges and outfielder Demaree, to convince before the first squad leaves for Santa Catalina Island, Feb. 21.

MORAN IN CAR WRECK, DICK SAMPSON LOSES TO CLINGMAN

The Dick Sampson-Sailor Moran wrestling match didn't materialize last night at the Pampa Athletic arena, but fans saw an exhibition of wrestling that was a thriller when Sailor Otis Clingman, substituting for Moran, defeated Dick Sampson two falls out of three.

Moran was in a car wreck en route to Pampa and was unable to arrive in time for the bout. Moran was only slightly hurt but his car was almost demolished.

A lightning match opened the card when Tex Hager and Art Belcher went to a draw. Both were nearly counted out. Belcher featuring rolling short arm scissors and Hager dropping kicks and Irish Whip locks.

Bill Venable and Pasha Bey put on the rough battle of the night with Venable winning in 20 minutes on the rough battle of the night with a Japanese crab hold. Both matlers resorted to biting, gouging, and hair-pulling with Venable using his superior strength to advantage in winning.

McCARTHY CROSSES FINGERS, PICKS YANKS TO WIN TITLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—"Providing we have no serious injuries," said Marse Joe McCarthy, after carefully crossing his fingers, "I guess we have as good a chance as anybody of winning another championship."

The Yankees' manager was in an unusually optimistic frame of mind. He had just heard that a pair of his stand-bys, Bill Dickey and Myril Hoag, had decided to do business with the club and wouldn't quit baseball, after all.

"But don't forget about those injuries," he hastened to insist. "They can wreck any club. Look what they did to the Cubs last year. That was terrible—four pitchers out at one time. And Detroit never would have beaten us out a few years ago if Dickey hadn't broken his finger."

The team next Yankees will have to watch, Joe predicted, are Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland, in that order, with Boston possibly coming up, though he didn't seem much worried about the Red Sox.

"The team that ought to be a lot better is Cleveland. Rolfe Hemsley will make them a valuable catcher, and they didn't lose any strength in what they sent to St. Louis. He should help Bob Feller's pitching. And Detroit, of course, will be a lot stronger if Schoolboy Rowe comes back with a good arm. There's what injuries can do for you."

As for the Yankees, themselves, Joe was honest enough to admit they shouldn't be any weaker. Frankly, he expects young Joe Gordon from Newark to make a whale of a second baseman, and he wouldn't be surprised if George Selkirk proved the hitting sensation of the league.

"Did you realize that boy was leading the league with 17 home runs when he hurt his shoulder last year?" Joe asked impressively. "He can hit a ball as hard as anybody I ever saw, and that includes Babe Ruth, Hack Wilson, Lou Gehrig, Jimmie Fox and anybody else."

"Our pitching staff might be stronger than last year. This Atley Donald won 19 and lost only two at Newark and Joe Begg's record was 21 and 4. That's pitching in any league. Just to show you how much luck there is in baseball. This kid Donald just walked into camp down at St. Pete a few years ago and asked for a chance to pitch. Now look what we've got—I hope."

TERRY TRYING TO TRADE OFF GUS MANGUSO

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 15 (AP)—The door was still open to a Cards-Giants deal involving another Catcher Gus Mancuso, for whom William H. (The Not So Terrible) Terry altruistically sought a first string backstop berth.

"I'm trying to trade Mancuso," the Giants' manager explained after naming Harry (The Horse) Danning as his No. 1 catcher for 1938.

He said he "liked" Stan Bordagaray, Cardinal outfielder, would part with Willie Berger, and listed Pichler or Hal Schumacher likewise "tradeable."

Cardinal Boss Branch Rickey was too busy signing Pitcher St. Johnson and recruit outfielder, Johnny Hopp, to say much about yesterday's four-hour conference.

He insisted nearly all the 80 players on the club's roster were discussed, and clamped shut after saying "the door is still open."

Terry was more voluble. "We discussed players from the major leagues down, but when Rickey made a certain proposition I said 'good-bye,'" he explained, without details of the "proposition."

Then Terry returned to his sales talk. "Mancuso should catch about 120 games for some club. I personally am sold on Danning and he is going to be my first string catcher."

"I can't blame Mancuso for not liking the idea of being a second stringer. He would be a great asset to some club with young pitchers on the staff, and I am trying to make a deal with him."

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Benj. G. Cantor, president of the New York Athletic Club, has issued a great big apology and is this it. That squib last week that Cantor had taken out a $10,000 policy on Jackie Hunt, his new backfield star, was all wet. . . . Jackie has been injured, and Cantor, all right, but a group of Marshall College students, not Cantor—put up the dough. . . . Duke Ridgley, the Huntington sports editor, who knows what is going on down that way, says Cantor was on a southern trip with his basketball team when the policy was issued and didn't know a thing about it, and we accept what Mr. Ridgley says, without question. . . . We hope Cantor will wire that all is forgiven.

METHODISTS IN 2ND PLACE TIE WITH BAYLOR

(By The Associated Press) Southern Methodist, defending champion, boosted to a second place tie with Baylor in Southwest conference percentages, strode hopefully today along a comeback trail blocked this week by only Rice Institute.

The Methodists set the pace at will as they thumped the Texas Aggies 47 to 28 at College Station last night, sending Sophomore Herb Canefax and veteran Snipe Norton, both forwards, repeatedly under the Aggie goal for crisp shots.

Meanwhile at Houston Rice emerged victor over Texas Christian 62 to 57 in a record scoring spree which saw the lead change fourteen times. Unbeaten Arkansas and Texas set the previous record last week when the Pipers beat the Longhorns, 74 to 42.

The Methodists climbed the ladder from third place where they had hung since an early season defeat at the hands of the Bruins, almost solely through efforts of the Aggies, who married a perfect Baylor record by eking out a win over the Bears in an overtime contest last week.

A two-game series Friday and Saturday at Waco, with Baylor host to Arkansas, gives Southern Methodist high hope for further advancement, by virtue of a possible win over Rice at Dallas Friday. Barring a Rice victory, which the record does not forecast, the Mustangs at least should be able to hang onto their newly won place.

The Aggies and Texas, fifth and fourth in standings respectively, tangle at Austin Saturday in the only other game of the week. Walt Roberts' two free tosses sent the Aggies out in front last night as play began, but Acker of Southern Methodist tied the score with a crisp shot, and the Mustangs pulled ahead to lead 22 to 15 at the half.

Seconds after the final period started the Aggies climbed within five points of deadlocking the score, but Canefax thumped in four crisp shots in three minutes, and Southern Methodist went off to a comfortable lead. Norton was high man of the contest, with 14 points; Canefax shot in 11.

Both Rice and T. C. U. forgot defensive play and bombarded the backboards from all angles in the Houston affair. Olle Cordill, Rice guard, thumped in 21 points for scoring honors, topping Woodrow Duckworth, T. C. U. guard, who made 18.

Fritz Crisler Would Like to 'Stay Put' Now

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 15 (AP)—Leave it to Fritz Crisler, who is "tired of moving," and he won't stir a step away from Michigan from now on in.

The Wolverines' new head football coach, having had enough of "here today and there tomorrow," would enjoy settling down comfortably and making a life-time home in this prime college town.

One of the better indications of his attitude was an ill-disguised effort to hold caller at an early hour last night. "Excuse me," said Fritz, "I'm tired."

"What so soon?" he grinned. "My constitution—my digestion—can't stand any more changes. This is my last. I like Ann Arbor and I'd like to stay here."

A decade or so in the coaching game has found Crisler, who is 38, at Chicago, Minnesota and Princeton. Other coaches have seen more country than that in less time, but it's enough for Fritz.

"There's that knife and fork league to consider, too," he put in. Meeting demands of football camp followers a good half way, Crisler has made much of his good-will travels. Even today, his second of a visit here since his appointment last week as coach and assistant athletic director, he was figuring out arrangements for a trip to Flint to talk to alumni tonight, and to Detroit for a similar assignment tomorrow.

Hedley May Be Team To Beat In District Meet

Approximately 125 basketball players and their coaches will arrive in Pampa Thursday for the annual district basketball tournament to be held at the high school gymnasium.

The boys will be accompanied by their coaches, school officials and varying numbers of fans. This morning, Principal Osborne of the high school said that sleeping accommodations for a number of the athletes would be necessary. He said that at least a dozen rooms would be needed. He asked that local residents having rooms for rent file their names and addresses at the high school with Mrs. Roberts, telephone 1461.

The tournament will open at 9 o'clock Thursday morning with Panhandle and Miami playing in the first game. Champions of counties will be entered in the meet as follows: Roberts, Miami; Lipscomb, Follett; Carson, Panhandle; Hutchinson, Berger; Hansford, Spearman; Ochiltree, Perryton; Donley, Hedley; Wheeler, Wheeler; Hemphill, Canadian. The Gray county champion will be named here tonight when LeFors and McLean play off a tie.

Panhandle won the Carson county title last week over White Deer and Groom. Follett nosed out Darrouzett and Higgins to nab the Lipscomb crown. Berger easily defeated Phillips to represent Hutchinson county. Miami had no opposition; neither did Canadian. Clarendon, Lella Lake and other Donley county schools were easy victims of Hedley.

Tournament officials will be Coach Garrison Rush of Shamrock and Frank Monroe, principal of Woodrow Wilson school of Pampa. Coaches were unanimous in their choice of the two officials who have called numerous invitation tournaments in this area this season.

Perryton defending champion is not favored to hold the district title. The Rangers have been defeated several times by Pampa and by other teams in the district, but they are expected to furnish keen competition, and it is possible that they could sneak up on such favorites as Pampa and Berger. If Perryton has recovered from a slump the Rangers may be hard to beat.

Wheeler may be the dark horse, and Hedley which won the tournament in 1934 should have a good team.

For several years Hedley almost upset the tournament and this year may be the occasion when the Owls will take the best of them. Hedley is the only team in the tournament about which little or nothing is known, comparatively speaking. It is known that Hedley has annihilated many teams in Armstrong, Donley and Hall counties, but the strength of those teams is a matter of conjecture.

Alternate FOLLETT WINS CAGE TOURNEY IN LIPSCOMB

HIGGINS, Feb. 15.—(Special)—Higgins girls and Follett boys were awarded first places in the Lipscomb County interscholastic league basketball contests completed in a round-robin tournament held here recently. Runners-up were Darrouzett boys and Lipscomb girls. Joe Dolins of Shattuck was referee.

Follett, Booker, Lipscomb, Darrouzett and Higgins were each represented by both boy and girl teams. Higgins boys made a total of 77 points while the girls made 63 points. Leonard Hill of Darrouzett was high point man of the tournament with 30 points, followed by Glen Rice, Higgins, with 28 points; Ray Trout, Follett, made 27; Howard Styruck, Darrouzett, 26, and Harry Davidson, Follett, 25. CITRUS FRUIT CROP IN VALLEY ESTIMATED

AUSTIN, Feb. 15 (AP)—The U. S. Bureau of Agriculture economics today estimated the Texas grapefruit crop at 9,750,000 boxes compared with $9,630,000 last season, and orange production at 1,900,000 boxes slightly less than the record yield of last year. Citrus trees were reported in excellent condition, apparently having escaped heavy frost in the lower Rio Grande Valley on January 25.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Sometimes while ambulating through crowded theater foyers or getting off subway trains you hear conversations that bring you to an abrupt halt. Not because they are startling or risque, but because they provide illuminating insights into well known people.

Typical of Odd McIntyre is this bit of philosophy which describes the man. He wrote once: "I have given up all hope of ever becoming a city man. Like the rest of the fellows back in the brush I had my Big Dream. I thought I wanted to become a through cosmopolitan—one of those slick city chaps who call hotel clerks by name in London, Paris, Cairo, and Shanghai.

How's Your Health?

If there is any truth in the saying, "Tis darkest 'ere dawn," then we should be close to dawn on the cancer problem. In the last decade many new facts on cancer have been observed, and they have darkened the problem. Still, research workers are conservatively hopeful.

By close inbreeding of mice, they produced a strain of animal in which spontaneously developed cancer of the breast frequently occurred. So some scientists concluded that heredity was a significant factor in the development of cancer.

Little carried the experiment a stage further back by transferring ova (female reproductive cells) from high cancer strain mice to mice of low cancer strain. More than 100 female mice have been born of such transplanted ova and so far no cancer of the breast has been observed in them.

"It is clear from the results observed that the problem of inheritance in mammary (breast) cancer is more complex than was formerly anticipated. Above and beyond inherited susceptibility there appears to be a maternal influence which is shown in the experiments as something in, or not in, the mother's milk. The nature of this factor, virus or chemical substance, remains to be discovered.

FERMENT OF DEMOCRACY IN GERMANY SEEN

By DeWITT MacKENZIE, A. P. Foreign Affairs Writer. NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—The resistance which Reichsfuehrer Hitler is encountering in his attempt at complete Nazification of Germany represents the ferment of democracy showing itself.

It is a clear-cut indication—some choose to call it a warning—that in this twentieth century no enlightened people will submit indefinitely to wholesale suppression of personal freedom and rights of participation in public affairs.

President Roosevelt recognized this trait in his recent message to congress when he made the striking prediction that representative form of government will return to, or be established in, those countries now lacking it.

Erstwhile Republican Germany has followed her sensational new prophet far into unexplored regions of Nazidom. Sometimes the rank and file has hesitated, and there even has been open opposition, but his leadership has not been menaced.

GOLD PROGRAM WILL INCREASE BANK DEPOSITS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Partial abandonment of the treasury's gold sterilization program, officials said today, in effect will increase total bank deposits and thus increase the amount of money which banks can lend to businessmen and others.

Whether this helps business will depend on whether the money is lent, which is a private affair. The lendable excess reserves of the nation's banks are now $1,400,000,000, compared with the $500,000,000 which the federal reserve board thought a year ago was ample for business needs.

Of more direct concern to the treasury, officials explained, the new policy will check the growth of the federal debt—now at the unprecedented total of $37,579,000,000—and reduce the government's interest costs.

Under the sterilization policy inaugurated Dec. 24, 1936, the treasury borrowed money to buy gold. This was designed to keep the credit supply stable.

Varied Reasons Given Secretary Morgenthau announced last week that hereafter the first $100,000,000 of gold which the treasury acquires each three months will not be sterilized. Instead, the metal will be used as a base for gold certificate currency which the treasury will spend through the federal reserve system.

Officials linked the new policy directly to the business recession, but for differing reasons. Some indicated a desire to put a mild inflationary prop under falling commodity prices, which some economists believe must be steadied before businessmen will start buying normal quantities of goods.

Others said only that the original purpose of the sterilization program was gone. At the time it was started, prices were rising—too rapidly, the administration thought, and hence it acted to neutralize the inflationary effect of gold imports. Now that the country is in a recession, that action no longer is necessary.

'Harmless Move' O. M. W. Sprague, Harvard professor and former treasury aide, said the new policy was a "perfectly harmless move, and will make very little difference in business activity or in prices."

Lionel D. Edie, New York economist, called it "a step in the right direction." "It should tend to give a little more stimulus to the inflation psychology, but the tangible results of this step by itself will not be of great importance."

Some foreigners sent gold here to get the benefit of the price; others to safeguard their fortunes menaced by internal crises in their own countries.

How much potential credit expansion the new policy will make possible is not known, because the inflow of foreign gold has varied as much as from $121,000,000 in January, 1937, down to $7,182,960 last month. Domestic gold production, which also is affected, amounts to about $15,000,000 a month.

The first injection of new gold into the credit base will be $30,000,000—the amount of foreign gold bought by the treasury since Jan. 1. Meanwhile, the treasury's inactive gold fund, in which sterilized gold formerly was placed, will remain at its present level of $1,223,000,000 unless the quota is exceeded or unless some foreign government wants to buy some gold.

Firefighters plan to curb heavy gas flow. EDINBURG, Feb. 15 (AP)—Firefighters who snuffed out a five-week-old blaze at the Davenport No. 1 well in the La Blanca field, planned to curb a heavy flow of gas from the well to complete their job of control.

The crater around the well was flooded with water yesterday to cover an exposed casing over which a smokesack had been erected to make flames burn high in the air. When the smokesack was lifted force of the gas picked up the water and killed the fire.

The crew planned to install a heavy set of valves with which pressure could be gradually shut off.

TWO NEW ROADS TO BE OPENED

Four orders involving land in Gray county, two concerning roads, were passed by the county commission at its regular meeting Monday afternoon.

The commission ordered ratification of title to 44.4 acres of land heretofore sold to D. W. Osborne, a part of survey 150, block B-2, H. & G. N. survey, to D. W. Osborne, except for a strip 60 feet in width along the west and south side of the tract for road purposes.

A quit claim deed to Mr. Osborne was approved. It was ordered that a road be opened on the south side of sections 25 and 26, block 25, H. & G. N. survey. Bud and Johnny R. Back, J. C. Holloway, John Harris and Ray Campbell were appointed as appraisers to make a report as to the damages incident to opening the road.

C. P. Couts, W. E. Ginn, and F. D. Kuykendall were appointed as a jury of view to assess damages incident to opening another road, the petition for which has been accepted. Location of the road will be between the northwest corner of section 201 and the southwest corner of section 200, in block B-2, a distance of two miles.

County Clerk Charlie Thut was authorized to record a plat prepared by A. H. Doucette of a subdivision of the southwest quarter of northwest quarter of southeast quarter of section 101, block 3, H. & G. N. survey.

"I just can't part with Symbol," said Miss Allinger.

JUSTICE BLACK DISAGREES 13 TIMES WITH COLLEAGUES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Justice Black has disagreed 13 times with the reasoning of his colleagues in the five months he has sat on the Supreme Court.

He ran his string of dissenting opinions to seven yesterday. He also has submitted six separate concurring opinions, in which he agreed with the court's conclusions but differed with the other justices in their approach to those conclusions.

Black, President Roosevelt's first appointee to the court, expressed a strong preference for "trial by jury" in one opinion. He concurred with a majority of the justices in upholding an order of the Texas Railroad commission reducing gas rates in Laredo, Texas.

"There is nothing in the letter or spirit of our Constitution or any constitutional amendment," Black said, "which deprives a state of the right to submit issues of fact to a trial by jury. That Constitution indicates no preference for determination of facts by judges or masters appointed by judges."

"On the contrary, our federal Constitution, the state constitutions, and our national tradition demonstrate a well-established preference for trial by jury."

In another case, Black submitted a lone dissent. The majority opinion ordered a new trial in a life insurance claim against the New York Life Insurance company after the death of Edward W. Garner at Butte, Mont. Black contended that the other justices had accorded the judge of the trial court and not the jury the right to decide whether Garner had died from an accidental gun shot or had committed suicide. He declared his colleagues had held that the jury had adequate proof on which to find accidental death, but also held that, "after subsequent contradictory evidence" by the insurance company, the judge and not the jury could decide this adequate proof had disappeared or had been overcome. Black said this took from the jury the right to decide the weight and effect of contradictory evidence.

BOYS ASK DADS TO BUILD GYMS INSTEAD OF COLISEUM FOR BULLS

AMARILLO, Feb. 15—More than four hundred high school boys and their fathers ate and discussed "boy's problems" last night at the Amarillo high school cafeteria. L. McNeil, dean of boys, was toastmaster for the father and son banquet. Superintendent C. M. Rogers gave a welcome address.

Bob Baker gave a statement of the case by a boy: "We are the boys who will soon take over and run this world, while you old fellows sit back and watch. We need more gymnasiums, tennis courts and other places for recreation. The five gyms in Amarillo are not enough. We need a Y. M. C. A. where we can have a year-round swimming pool and other recreational facilities. But they're talking about building a coliseum for bulls." He closed by saying "Why build a barn for cows? Why not build places of recreation and companionship for Amarillo youth?"

"Dads, if we seem like parasites now, because we boys of 18 must be supported by you, please remember that in ten or 15 years we will be able to help you, if you give us that much needed aid now," said the next speaker, J. B. Linn, president of the senior class. Two parents were heard—R. C. Johnson, attorney and J. E. Spann city fire marshal. "We have men's clubs and we have boys' clubs, why not have a club for both men and boys?" asked G. W. Reynolds, high school student. "Fathers, let's build a recreation building we boys can use 365 days a year instead of a bull barn to use ten days a year."

Jane Austin wrote six novels, all but two of which were published anonymously.

CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

Good afternoon everybody! Folk, we want you to read this ad every Tuesday afternoon in this paper; many things of interest will appear in this space from time to time. We had a great day in this congregation last Sunday; fine crowds for all services. Don't forget our ladies' Bible class meets Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. We conduct a class for little folk also. Bible classes meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. Bring your friends to this meeting. This is not an old "dry" mid-week service; we enjoy real Bible study in these classes.

THE CHURCH

How many churches do we read about in the Bible? 1. 1 Cor. 12:27—"Ye are the body of Christ." 2. Eph. 4:4—"There is one body." 3. Rom. 12:4—"We are one body in Christ." 4. 1 Cor. 12:13—"We are all baptized into one body." 5. Eph. 2:15—"Reconciled unto God in one body."

Is The Body The Church?

1. Col. 1:18—"He is the head of the body, the church." 2. Eph. 1:22-23—"Gave him to be the head over all things to the church, which is his body."

CONGRESS DUE TO AUTHORIZE RELIEF FUND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Congress probably will authorize an emergency $250,000,000 relief fund before the week ends, legislative leaders said today.

Approval by the House Appropriations committee before nightfall they pointed out, would enable the house itself to vote tomorrow. Quick consideration also was in prospect in the senate, which resumed the anti-lynching debate after completing congressional action on the crop control program. Leaders agreed to interrupt the anti-lynching argument to take up the relief appropriation whenever it was ready.

Senate leader Barkley of Kentucky said he believed there would be no "concerted effort" to increase the relief fund, requested by President Roosevelt, although he said there was scattered support for such a proposal.

One group of house members headed by Rep. Maverick (D-Tex) wants an outlay of $500,000,000. The committee for industrial organization declared that "at least $600,000,000 is needed for WPA jobs up to end of current fiscal year."

Senate sponsors of the anti-lynching bill, eager to bring it to a vote before the relief bill is debated, presented a petition to limit debate. The senate will vote on their request tomorrow.

Although a similar proposal was defeated recently, the petitioners hoped a number of senators would switch their votes. Senator Wagner (D-NY) said he had heard that the Republicans, who opposed the first attempt at limitation, "are coming over." Republican leader McNary or Oregon replied, however, that he believed there would be little change in the lineup of Republicans.

An indication that there might be some change, nevertheless, came in the statement of Senator Townsend (R-De) that he had not decided how he would vote. He opposed the first proposal. Senator Connally (D-Tex), leader of the bill's foes, commented: "The anti-lynching bill is as good as dead. We'll beat the petition, and sponsors will have to lay the measure aside so that the senate can go to work on some needed legislation."

WHAT M.C. COBEN SAID TO HAROLD SNEAD, CHIEF PILOT OF TWA

"Do you find Camels really different from other cigarettes?"

Harold Snead gives his own answer—"Camels agree with me!" he says. And millions of other smokers agree with Pilot Snead, making Camels the largest-selling cigarette in America.

ON HIS SECOND MILLION MILES! Snead knows what he's talking about when he says: "In this line of work, healthy nerves are at a premium. I smoke—all I want. Camels don't get on my nerves."

A FEW of the instruments Snead has to watch. After a trip, Hal likes a Camel. "When I feel tired, I smoke a Camel the first chance I get," he says. "Yes, I get a 'lift' with a Camel."

"There's a big difference, sir. I can tell the difference in the way Camels hit the spot and agree with me! I know most American fliers who have several thousand hours in the air. The majority are steady smokers and prefer Camels. Years of experience have taught them that Camel is a really different cigarette!"

AFTER THE BIG TWA SKYSLEEPER, above, was set down in Newark Airport, M. C. Coben was chatting with Hal Snead, chief pilot of the Eastern region, and Isabelle Judkins, air hostess, of Glendale, California. Hal pulled out his Camels and offered them around. And so they got to talking cigarettes!

ON DUTY, Isabelle is a perfect hostess! "I notice that most of the passengers on the TWA run prefer Camels," she says. "When conversation turns to cigarettes, the comment I often hear is, 'Camels agree with me.'"

A SWIM—then a "lift" with a Camel—and Isabelle Judkins' off-duty hours pass pleasantly. "What a difference I found in Camels!" she says. "No ragged nerves. No scratchy throat."

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MACK

Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday, "Deserted" when Jerry falls to return to her. Polly plans to set out herself for Dover and subsequent escape across the Channel.

CHAPTER XI

AS far as the two Americans in the prison hold were concerned, the British brig Sunrise was ironically named. The morning was well advanced before the hatch was opened and a marine appeared with food. He also brought two hammocks, which he tossed down.

"Ah!" said Cabell Banks. "It appears we're about to set up housekeeping. And where's our cutlery, my good man?"

"Ye get none, ye tricky Yankee. Ye'd use it to make versives a shore boat.... Hang the hammocks to four posts and thank 's Majesty for the comfortable beds."

"This attention overwhelms me," Banks declared, and he proceeded to hang the hammocks as directed. "Look, friend Whitefield! Tonight we recline in these luxurious swing beds!"

The voices in the hold and the light from the open hatch aroused Jerry. As he took note of his surroundings, he groaned in despair.

"I entirely understand," Banks said briskly. "You thought it would turn out to be a nightmare. 'e's a rough-lookin' one!" said the marine staring at Jerry.

"You mean he's powerfully built, friend marine, and well covered with muscles, blood and mud. Bring him a basin of water and some clean clothes. When he's made his toilet you'll see a man handsome enough to catch your best girl's eye.... Don't stand there gawking. You might bring your ship's surgeon with you when you come, if he's not carousing ashore."

"Stow your impudence," called another marine from above. "The surgeon has got too much to do to take care of blighted deserters. However, they went away and presently handed down the water and clean clothes as requested. After this Cabell Banks induced Jerry to make his toilet and take a more hopeful view of life.

They persuaded the marines to let them eat the food which had been the companion larder. The cool fresh air that reached them aroused their appetites and caused them to approach the meal with a certain anticipation.

"There's nothing like being hungry," Cabell Banks remarked. "The British navy's discovered it can make any meal acceptable by giving you not enough of it."

"There's something to what you say," Jerry agreed. If there had been a full cup of the rancid rot and a man-size portion of the grayish meat stew and rocklike bread, he could not have done it.

Cabell said, "This is good compared to what they get at Dartmouth and on the prison hulks. I talked to two Frenchmen at Ostend that had escaped from confinement in England. They told me tales!"

"Quit belittlin' 's Majesty's chow and clean it up!" said one of the marines to the top of the ladder. "The captain's asked to 'ave a look at the two of ye."

AS Jerry went up the ladder and into the bright sunlight of the quarter deck he reeled and stumbled, so that he had to steady himself by laying a hand on the shoulder of Cabell Banks. It was incongruous for the small young man to be supporting the larger, and it caused the two guards who brought up the rear to snicker a little.

The two prisoners were taken aft to the officer's cabin and thrust in with a nice flourish of bayonets. They found themselves standing before a heavy red-faced man who sat in a large mahogany chair and had a full cup of the rancid rot on his table. He was dressed in a blue uniform and insignia showed him to be the brig's captain. He looked them over distastefully and consulted some notes on the table.

"Which of you is Cabell Banks of Boston?"

"I, sir, and with three days growth of beard."

The captain gave Cabell a distrustful glance, for he'd been warned that Americans were great jokers and would rib you while you walked the deck off a plank. "Stick to the subject, Mr. Banks. My first lieutenant has made note that your father owns merchantmen sailing out of Boston but that you yourself are not a skipper."

"Accurate, sir. I was merely a passenger on the brigantine Hardy. I took the voyage chiefly to snap my fingers at Mr. James Madison of Virginia who had declared our Boston port closed in April."

"Indeed?" the captain's face almost assumed an expression. "Then you may welcome a chance to assert that feeling more strongly, Mr. Banks. You'll be offered a commission as third lieutenant in His Majesty's Navy, with service on the Sunrise. A promotion from hold to officer's quarters in three days' time. Mr. Banks! Not so bad, eh?"

"Sir," said Cabell Banks. "I can't accept it. My country's happens to be at war with yours. I believe you have overrated by feeling against President Madison. For two days I've had time to ruminate and ponder over that phrase 'freedom of the seas.' I've chewed the cud, as we say in Massachusetts. These hands that I once used for finger-snapping at President Madison, I now use for applause." Whereupon he pounded his slender, well-kept hands together with such vigor that curious faces appeared at portholes to see what went on.

WHILE the captain was frowning at the strange performance and trying to seize the situation by the tail, so to speak, Cabell Banks stepped aside and leaned lazily against a bulkhead. "Your turn now, Whitefield," he said to Jerry, quite as if he himself were conducting the interview. He was an angry young man and therefore a reckless one. It did not help Jerry Whitefield's cause in the least.

"Who are you and where were you born?" Captain Steel shouted at Jerry.

"Jeremiah Whitefield, sir. Born in Gloucester, a port in—"

"So you admit your English birth?"

"English birth? Never, sir! I'm American. Gloucester's in Massachusetts."

The captain was writing busily and humming to himself, like a contented deaf man. "Where was your father born?"

"In Cambridge, sir, a town near—"

"That will do. And your mother?"

"Near Manchester, in Massachusetts!" Jerry shouted. "All those places are in Massachusetts, in America!"

"Don't shout, my man.... I have here a map of the colonies of America. Jeremiah Whitefield, and none of those places are listed. You will, however, find them all on the map of England."

"Let me look at the American map, sir," Jerry requested. "I'll surely find you Gloucester. It's a fair-sized port—"

The captain gave him what was undeniably a map of the North American Continent. It was possibly 100 years old, a navigation map showing rivers and bays and they were known at that time. Some of the colonies were crudely outlined, all were highly colored. But no towns were marked except Quebec, Toronto, Boston, New York and Philadelphia and a few others.

"This is no fair map!" Jerry exclaimed. "I'm American for three generations. No, four on my father's side. This is a dirty outrage, and I protest! I know what you're up to."

"You have lost your head, Jeremiah Whitefield, but I have not lost mine. It's a common occurrence for deserters to claim to be American. You were brought to this ship last night as a deserter from His Majesty's Navy. All signs substantiate that. Everything about you discriminates you—those towns, those names mentioned, your English appearance, your being in London at loose ends."

There was an impudent laugh from Cabell Banks. "And don't forget that he speaks English, Captain! That's very discriminating."

"Hold your tongue, Mr. Banks. His large red face bent over the table while he wrote busily for a moment. Then, "Jeremiah Whitefield, I sentence you to 20 strokes, and service before the mast on His Majesty's brig Sunrise."

"You'll not have him whipped."

COL. THOMPSON HAILS COURT DECISION IN GAS RATE CASE AUSTIN, Feb. 15 (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Railroad commission, today hailed the United States Supreme court decision in the Laredo gas rate case as presaging lower rates generally for Texas.

It was the first gas rate reduction order to be acted on by the United States Supreme Court.

One of the most important of the other cases in litigation involves the value of an order reducing the rate, or wholesale, rate of the Lone Star Gas company.

Arguments on the Lone Star case will be heard by the court at an early date.

The significance of the decision is that the method used by the commission and orders issued to bring about fair rates have been sustained in every respect.

It means we now have a firm foundation for the ascertainment and promulgation of rates based on orders by this commission which cannot be overturned.

It is especially gratifying because the Laredo case is the rock on which we stand in all our other gas rate orders.

It shows that the thoroughness of the commission's engineers and auditors has been worthwhile.

The same procedure was followed in the Lone Star case, so we look forward to the same results, which will bring a reduction to some 300 cities and towns in Texas.

The case was the first involving gas rates to be tried before a jury in a state court, rate cases having previously been taken by the utility companies into federal courts.

It originated from the company's appeal from an ordinance of the city reducing the rate to 40 cents. On hearing the commission finally fixed the rate at 55 cents, which they also had pecuniary and fair size of small pigs and ocelots, which are apartment-sized leopards.

JAP VANGUARD ONLY 10 MILES FROM LIFELINE

By The Associated Press China's war reached a critical phase today; Spain's war lapsed into stalemate. In China, the vanguard of a Japanese force was reported to be only 10 miles north of China's life-line railway, the Lunghai, in central China.

The Japanese thus were nearing a point where they might choke off 400,000 Chinese defenders in the Lungai corridor, sever the great east-west railway and thrust their conquests deeper inland.

Chinese communist troops reported from behind the Japanese lines, however, that they had captured two towns near Peiping, 90 miles south of Peiping on the Peiping-Hankow railroad. Virtual anarchy and the guerrilla tactics of Chinese reds in North China also were said to be straining Japan's hold in conquered Hopei province.

Japanese planes bombed Chengchow, junction of the Peiping-Hankow and Lungai railroads existing. The American southern Baptist mission was advised its hospital had been hit, but no Americans or other foreigners were reported injured.

Foreign sources said the two-hour air raid inflicted 500 casualties. All sectors in Spain were quiet. The government said its forces had staved off insurgent attacks on the southern and eastern fronts and had strengthened their defenses.

In France, Premier Camille Chautemps risked the future of his cabinet to win prompt enactment of a modern labor code to end industrial strife.

Deputies said Chautemps would ask a vote of confidence, threatening to resign unless essential elements of the code were adopted before March 1, when the existing compulsory arbitration law will expire.

SCHOOL TEACHER DIES AFTER MAKING A SLAM SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 15. (AP)—A 50-year-old grade school teacher scored a grand slam in a contract bridge game at a women's club last night, then slumped dead in her seat. She was Miss Clara Brown, Spokane grade school teacher for 17 years.

NO. 1-- Continued From Page One val lieutenant to the White House medical staff in 1907. President Taft kept him on duty there, and President Wilson made him his personal physician after he had attended the first Mrs. Wilson.

For 11 years the wartime president and his doctor were intimate friends. Franklin D. Roosevelt asked him to take charge of his inauguration in 1933, and called on him to perform the same task in 1937.

Admiral Grayson is survived by his widow, whom he met in 1916 while Wilson was engaged to Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt. Some have credited the physician with introducing President Wilson to Mrs. Galt.

Two of his sons—Gordon and William—were with Mrs. Grayson at the admiral's bedside. A third son, Cary Grayson, Jr., was rushing home from an African expedition.

NO. 2-- Continued From Page One ties are provided for non-observance. The final bill modified a provision inserted by dairy and livestock blocs to protect their constituents against non-competition.

Agriculture department officials said that despite the change, wide-spread growth of competition was unlikely. The new program will be made to fit in with revisions put into the soil conservation program last September.

Soil conservation benefits will continue for minor crops, and the cost of the joint program must be held to "available funds" which have been averaging about $500,000-1,000,000 yearly.

Corn Question Unsettled. Not until August, officials said, will it be possible to determine whether marketing quotas are to be imposed on corn. Acreage allotments, however, will be made, as soon as possible.

The measure provides that marketing quotas shall not be applied to wheat and rice this season. The bill requires that the cotton quotas be ordered within 10 days and the tobacco quotas within 15 days after the President signs the legislation.

Establishment of the quotas, which would fix the amount individual growers could market free of penalties, would be followed by referenda to determine whether the affected growers approved them. The measure requires that the cotton referendum be held within 30 days and the tobacco referendum within 45 days after final enactment.

CITY WILL OPEN NEW STREET TO FAULKNER

Grading of a street on the south side of Horace Mann school and the closing of Banks street from the south property line of the Pampa Independent school district property line, is expected to be started soon by the city.

Approval of the plan was given by the city commission at its regular meeting last night, following the presentation of a petition of Banks street residents, by Miss Josephine Thomas, Horace Mann school principal.

The new street would connect Banks and Faulkner. The closing of Banks street was favored by the school, as the street in front of the building now divides the campus from the school playground and cars using the street create a traffic hazard to pupils going to and from the playground.

JURORS WILL REPORT AT NOON WEDNESDAY Petit jurors are to report again at noon tomorrow in 31st district court when it is expected that the case of Elvin Wesley et ux vs. Fred Cullum will be concluded.
