Justice Department To Try 24 Major Oil Companies In Fall

ROSTAND PLAY TO BE GIVEN HERE FRIDAY

One of the most popular projects ever to be sponsored by the Pampa branch of the American Association of University Women is the presentation of 'Cyrano de Bergerac'...

Leon Lassers, assistant professor of speech at West Texas State college at Canyon, will enact the role of Cyrano, a great lover and soldier who had a large nose...

Proceeds from the entertainment will benefit the A. A. U. W. scholarship fund which has been operative since 1929...

NAVY HAS NO PLANS FOR WAR, SAYS LEAHY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, told Congress today the navy "has no plans" for combining with any other nations "in a possible war."

The navy's top-ranking officer made this statement to the house naval committee during the third day of hearings on a proposed $800,000,000 naval expansion program.

His flat denial of the existence of any such alliance came after Chairman Vinson (D., Ga.) called attention to demands made in the senate yesterday for clarification of the administration's foreign policy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Attorney General Cummings said today the justice department planned to try 24 major oil companies and 46 individuals at Madison, Wis., next fall on further charges of anti-trust law violations.

At his press conference, Cummings said the trial would involve an indictment returned at Madison in December, 1936, which named many of the oil companies recently found guilty of fixing gasoline prices in the midwest.

FILIBUSTER GOING AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Southern Senators resumed today their filibuster against the anti-lynching bill, but in the background leaders were trying to find a graceful way to sidetrack the measure.

Opponents expressed confidence the bill was dead. One proposal being discussed was a motion to take up the administration's government reorganization bill late this week.

COURT MAKES FINAL BANK NIGHT DECISION

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today made final its decision that bank nights are lotteries in overruling a motion for rehearing by H. S. Cole, Bonham theater proprietor.

The highest criminal tribunal last year affirmed Cole's conviction and $100 fine. In his attempt to secure a rehearing he cited additional authorities to show the element of lottery was not involved but the court refused these.

Silly Season for Complex Hats Has Arrived

The afternoon and dinner hat, top, is of purple straw with velvet roses in blue, rose, yellow and salmon pink, a purple veil and fuchsia streamers. The sombrero-like model, lower left, is of black straw, covered with black chiffon stitched in emerald green, and has an emerald green chip strap with streamer ends. The other gay midseason bonnet, lower right, is stitched chiffon-covered straw, is trimmed with patent leather loops in bright colors.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Let's forget for a moment the high alkaline importance of dried black figs. Better eat a few first and enjoy their rich flavor.

Ginger Figs With Whipped Cream
(4 to 6 servings)

One pound dried black figs (or brown), 1 medium piece ginger root, 3 pieces candied ginger, 1-2 lemon, 2 teaspoons sherry, 3-4 cup sugar. Wash figs well. Cover figs with warm water and stand for 30 minutes. Then add juice and rind of lemon, ginger root, and candied ginger cut in small pieces. Cook over low fire until figs are soft. Remove figs from syrup and arrange in bowl. To syrup add sugar and cook about 6 minutes very slowly until syrup is thickened. Remove from fire; add sherry and pour over figs. When chilled, serve in tall glasses with whipped cream.

Here's another fig leaf in the book of good eating. It's a hot number.

Hot Fig Compote
(Serves 4 to 6)

One can whole preserved figs, 1-2 fresh coconut, 1-4 cup pecans. Empty can of preserved figs into casserole. Grate coconut and add almost all of the grated coconut to the figs in the casserole, keeping cut about 1 tablespoon. Coconut can be peeled and then ground through fine meat chopper if you prefer. Chop pecans coarsely. Add to figs. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Serve hot, topped with whipped cream garnished with the remaining fresh grated coconut, slightly toasted.

A steamed date pudding can fatten up a lean dinner on a cold night. It has what it takes—grand flavor, plenty of food elements and a sweet way with it.

Date Pudding
(Serves 4 to 6)

One cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup flour, 1 cup dates, 1 cup nuts, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 tablespoon sliced citron, 1-4 teaspoon salt. Beat eggs well. Slowly add sugar. Cut dates into small pieces. Chop nuts. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add flour to egg mixture alternately with dates, and nuts and citron. Mix well. Butter steaming mold and pour in the mixture. Steam for 1 1/2 hours, timing from moment water begins to boil. Serve with hard sauce.

Chili Supper Will Entertain Group at McCullough-Harrah

Plans for the chili supper to be given Friday evening at the McCullough Memorial were completed at the meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the McCullough-Harrah Methodist churches Monday afternoon at the Harrah chapel.

A Valentine party to be given on February 10 for the church group was discussed.

Attending were Meses. A. N. Rogers, H. H. Bratcher, E. C. Casey, J. E. Baird, O. J. Smith, D. S. Buckner, Henry English; and Miss Marjorie Johnson. A visitor for the party was Miss Lucille Johnson.

Famous for Charm

A glamorous brunette, Irene Dunne is as famous for her charm as for her magnificent beauty. A native of Louisville, Ky., she has captivated Hollywood and movie fans of the country with her scintillating personality, for which a soft coiffure, laughing blue-grey eye and almost perfect features make an alluring setting. She is five feet four inches tall, with 115 pounds of marvelously proportioned figure.

Fellowship Supper Set For Tonight

An unusual panel on the church literature will be the discussion of the program to be presented at the monthly Fellowship supper to be given this evening at 7 o'clock in the basement of the First Methodist church.

The program for the evening and the serving of the covered dish meal will be in charge of the members of the Fidelity class.

All friends and members of the church are invited to attend the supper and program.

Girls Plan Valentine Social Event

A Valentine party to be given on February 11 at the little house was planned by the members of Girl Scout troop six who met yesterday afternoon at the little house.

Eight older girls of the troop worked on their world knowledge badges and discussed various topics on Russia under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Turner.

Another group composed of seven younger girls worked on a second class badge under the leadership of Mrs. Pat Lanham. Anna Lou McCoy passed a test in cooking and Joe Ella Sibleton passed the signaling test. All of the girls worked on signaling.

MIND your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should a new member of a club wait for old members to make advances for friendship in that club?
2. Is it good manners to list a person as participating on a club program without first getting his consent?
3. Should a person be publicly listed as serving on a committee without first getting his consent?
4. Is it customary to send a corsage to a woman guest of honor at a luncheon as well as a banquet?
5. Would it be quite all right to inquire of her what color she is going to wear so that the flowers might go with her dress?

What would you do if—
You have been given a corsage to wear to a particular party whose colors clash with the dress you are expecting to wear? You have only the one dress suitable for the occasion—
(a) Leave the flowers at home?
(b) Wear them anyway?
(c) Carry them?

Answers
1. Yes.
2. No.
3. No.
4. Yes.
5. Yes, although it would be gracious to select flowers that would go with any dress instead.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—Either (b) or (c).

Fine Arts Club Hear Program on Safety

LEFORS, Feb. 2.—A program on "Safety" was given recently by members of the Fine Arts club when they met with Misses LaJuana Hanna, Clara Anderson, and Goldie Potts as hostesses in the home of Miss Anderson.

Mrs. Maurice Armstrong was leader of the program which was opened by answering the roll call with a first aid in emergencies. Miss Druzell Hudler gave an interesting paper on "Traffic Rules" and Mrs. C. M. Brown entertained with a reading.

Refreshments were served to Meses. Maurice Armstrong, J. H. Duncan, Walter Hagler, Sam Cleland, J. H. Clark, C. M. Brown, Charles Peckack and Joe Gourley; Misses Hazel Cooper, Myrtle Lily, Mildred Stone, La Juana Hanna, Goldie Potts, Clara Anderson, Ploy Wynn, Mildred Matterson, Druzell Hudler, and Arnel Williams.

FIRELESS FOOD WARMER

Young mothers who like to give their small babies the benefit of all the fresh air and sunshine possible will like the convenience of the new bottle warmers which will heat baby's milk to the right temperature in from ten to twenty minutes wherever you happen to be. Simply add a tablespoon of water to the chemical heating unit, wrap the bottle of milk in the flat unit, and put the whole into the rubber lined bag until heated.

LAPEL ORNAMENTS MODISH
Smart shops are showing lapel ornaments in a wide variety of designs. Brilliantly plumaged birds, miniature jeweled beasts and fish will decorate the spring taitleur, as well as boutonnières of fresh and simulated flowers. One sunny parrot pin of silver plated metal has a flaming tail of real feathers. Or, if you like initials, there are tiny rhinestone or gold pins in the shape of hands which indicate your initials in sign language.

DANGEROUS

It is dangerous to sell a SUBSTITUTE for 666 just to make three or four cents more. Customers are your best assets; lose them and you lose your business. 666 is worth three or four times as much as a SUBSTITUTE.

New Fur for Fashionables

Here's the latest news in furs for fashionables. It looks and wears like sealskin, but it's really laskin mouton—processed lamb with a lustrous pile and a handsome sheen. One model has the new squared shoulders and "little girl" collar that are becoming to almost anyone, is ideal for the college girl, the sports-minded or one who wants to save her mink for special occasions and needs a practical yet smart second-best coat.

LeFors School Board Installs Picture Show Equipment

LEFORS, Dec. 2.—The past several weeks pupils and people in this town and community have enjoyed a moving picture show through the courtesy of the school board here who purchased a sound equipment and installed it in the high school auditorium.

A free show is given once each month to pupils in the various departments who have the largest attendance of parents at the P-T. A. meetings. Also on each Tuesday night a picture is shown for the public at a small admittance fee, the proceeds going to the high school for funds to finance the "Pirate," a high school paper which is to be published each week.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART,

Because you love him, of course, but also because life is more fun if your "permanent escort's" appearance is something of which you're pretty proud, YOU MIGHT TRY GETTING YOUR HUSBAND TO—

Wear a plain bathing cap when he takes his morning shower.

Use a good, non-greasy tonic instead of water to keep his hair in place. Win him away from water to tonic-plus-massage and you won't have to worry any more about unrightly white flecks on his collar.

Stop looking down his nose at hand softeners. It's your job to find one that is ever so slightly perfume, or not perfume at all, and to encourage him to use it.

Make use of the orange sticks you leave on the bathroom shelf and dresser. He shouldn't clean his nails with steel instruments either.

Buff his nails several times a week.

Get rid of the notion that deodorants and anti-perspirants are for women only. There's nothing sissy about being fastidious. Once he gets accustomed to the idea, he won't mind taking time to use an easy-to-apply deodorant (it's your job to find this, too) anymore than he minds brushing his teeth.

Stop peering and poking at a suit to see if it needs pressing. If it takes concentration to decide, the suit does need pressing.

Worry about his waistline the moment it begins to bulge instead of waiting until his stomach actually protrudes. Oh, he'll exercise—sure will—if you urge him diplomatically, thinking your campaign through to a finish and rehearsing tactful speeches before you say a word to him. Anyway, without saying a word, you can get calorie charts and plan appetizing, seemingly huge, he-man meals that are low in caloric content. If you are going to keep your own figure slender and youthful through the years, it won't be much more trouble to worry about his at the same time.

You might try, we repeat. If you fail, he'll forget you ever tried. If you are really trying anyway, and if you succeed, the way he looks over there on your dinner hostess' right will be ample reward.

P-TA Will Have Guest Speaker

"The Official Issue of High School Education" is the subject to be discussed by Dr. J. M. Meyers of the educational department at West Texas State college in Canyon at the meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher association tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the high school cafeteria.

Mrs. R. W. Lane is program chairman of the entertainment which will be opened with several numbers by the high school band under the direction of Winston Savage.

Observance of the P-T. A. Founders' day will close the program. Mrs. L. L. McColm will be in charge of this social hour.

All patrons of the school are invited to attend the meeting.

Ruth Bryan Owen To Address Group At WTSC in March

CANYON, Feb. 2.—West Texas State college has never presented a more popular speaker than Ruth Bryan Owen who in homecoming address several years ago won an ovation.

She will return to Canyon March 4, speaking at 8:15 p. m. in the college auditorium. Earlier in the day, the new Fphebe K. Warner Home Management house will be dedicated. Persons here for the occasion will find it convenient to hear the address.

Ruth Bryan Owen was the first woman to represent the far-south section below Jacksonville, Fla. The longest congressional district in the land was hers—from Jacksonville to Key West, 500 miles—and there were half a million inhabitants in her area. As the wife of Major Reginald Owen, M. C., she lived in London, Egypt, and the West Indies. She was a dynamic figure in wartime. Her husband served as the nation's minister to Denmark.

The daughter of William Jennings Bryan, she is an orator of worldwide fame. No platitudes fall from her tongue; she is too busy telling of the new things which appeal to her as significant.

Calls for tickets to her address are coming in from all parts of the Panhandle.

Willing Workers Will Entertain Friendship Class

The Willing Worker group with Mrs. Bourland as chairman will be hostess to the Friendship class of the First Methodist church at a Valentine party to be given Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. W. Purviance.

The hostess group will have charge of the program and refreshments. All honorary members are invited to attend.

CLAMP PAD

Kitchen appliances which fasten to table or shelf by a clamp sometimes mar the surface and, if they do not fit exactly, mar and slip during a stiff workout. To protect your working surface and to keep your appliance firm and steady, there is an inexpensive little rubber pad that fits snugly over the edge of any work table and over which your appliance clamps firmly.

COLONEL HINTS AT EXTENSION OF SHUTDOWN

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL. AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP)—Determination of state regulatory officials to maintain firm control over production during a period of lessened demand highlighted the oil picture in Texas today.

Oil circles were speculating on the extent to which the state railroad commission might go in efforts to make supply balance consumption.

Last November the commission started some by ordering the great East Texas oil field closed for several Sundays, ostensibly to take pressure tests.

Many East Texas operators protested they were being discriminated against. In January, therefore, the commission ordered all fields in the state closed for six Sundays, making no bones the move was to curb production at a time when demand was dropping seriously.

With the third Sunday of the statewide series of shutdowns coming up, the question was asked whether additional restrictions were in the offing.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission and also chairman of the Interstate Oil and Gas Compact commission, not only stated the desired balance between supply and demand might not be reached until June 1 but said in plain language the current Sunday closings might be insufficient to get production down to where it ought to be.

He did not say what the commission was considering, but said it could make no decision until after receiving reports at a statewide production hearing Feb. 18.

Discussion included the possibilities Texas' field might be closed for additional Sundays, that the shutdown might be extended to two days weekly or that the field allowances might be reduced.

Some feeling was evident that other states were not following Texas' example in putting on the lid, although Thompson spoke hopefully of their "helpful" attitude.

This was reflected to some extent in a statement of another member of the railroad commission, Lon Smith, who said shut-downs invited overproduction from other states, were undesirable for physical operating reasons and in the future would meet opposition from him unless the industry indicated strong approval.

In any event, the closings, unprecedented in Texas' history, have sharply curtailed this state's production. As long as they continue and the allowable schedules are not changed materially, the output will have been reduced an average of about 200,000 barrels daily.

ROLLO WALTER BROWN TO SPEAK AT CANYON

CANYON, Feb. 2.—Dr. Rollo Walter Brown, of Cambridge, Mass., is in such demand as a lecturer that the Iycom committee of West Texas State college tried for several years before it signed him up for an appearance.

Dr. Brown will speak in assembly February 10 and in the college auditorium on the evening of that day. Students will hear his famous discourse on "The Romance of Being a Student." His evening subject will be "Do We Want a Creative Spirit in America?"

He has spoken in nearly two hundred institutions of learning and in hundreds of conventions, club meetings, and open forums. He is a pioneer in behalf of the creative spirit in American education and American life.

Dr. Brown is the author of numerous books and papers. On leaves of absence from his post as lecturer in English at Harvard college he studied the educational system of France. His volume on literary tradition in French education is accepted as authoritative in its field.

Dr. Brown is expected to grant several conferences while here. He is known to several members of the faculty, and several of his books are in the college library.

Proposed Road Aid Cut Protested by Texas Delegation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Texas congressmen studied today a report given them by a Texas delegation protesting the proposed curtailment of federal highway aid to states.

Julian Montgomery, Texas highway engineer, told the congressmen curtailment of federal aid would result in the discharging of about 1,700 employees under him, and serious disruption of a long range road improvement program.

Representative McFarlane, defended the proposed reduction, and asked why efforts to balance the budget should not begin in road expenditures as well as elsewhere.

H. M. LaFont, of Plainview, President of the Texas County Judges association, replied.

"We had rather see the proposed $80,000,000 cut in next year's federal highway aid taken out of the Works Progress Administration budget," County Judge Russell Nelson of Carthage said reduction of federal aid would increase state relief rolls and demoralize a highway system around which the social fabric of rural areas in the Southwest were built.

Dr. Nassau estimated the sun spot to the extreme right to be 10,000 miles in diameter, larger than our entire earth. Appearing in a cycle of about 11 years, sun spots are actually gigantic tornadoes in which masses of white-hot gases as large as the whole earth are blown about with terrific velocity.

LUBBOCK, CHILDRESS PROJECTS APPROVED

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 2.—Approval of 41 new Works Progress Administration projects, involving federal expenditures of $606,713 and expenditures of $330,500 by local governmental agencies, was announced today by Stearns S. Tucker, deputy state administrator.

Only two of the 41 new projects are in this section of the state: Childress and Lubbock counties.

Childress—Lower 8,000 linear feet of water mains, extend 1,510 linear feet, paint and repair fire hydrants, repair pump house and equipment; federal funds, $6,930; sponsor's funds, $3,958; workers, 49.

Lubbock—Pave with asphalt Avenue F from Broadway to 14th street; federal funds, $2,390; sponsor's funds, $3,014; workers, 58.

2 CRISES AND 2 WARS RAISE NEW TENSION

By The Associated Press

Two internal crises and two wars, all with meshes deep in European affairs, added today to world unrest.

In Germany, the resignation of Marshall Werner Von Blomberg, minister of war, was authoritatively disclosed, but official announcement was withheld, possibly for a week or more.

What differences, if any, the war minister had with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler were not known, but there were indications Von Blomberg had incurred the displeasure of the officers' corps of the army when he made a carpenter's daughter his second wife.

In Egypt, at the crossroads of east and west where British and Italian interests meet, young King Farouk dissolved the parliament which had voted non-confidence in his new cabinet. New elections were ordered within two months.

The dissolution order brought to a boil again his conflict with Mustapha Naha Pasha, leader of the Wafdists, or nationalists, whom the boy king dismissed as premier in December.

Wafdist deputies, who control a majority in parliament, broke thru police cordons and occupied the parliament lobby — with sandwiches, apparently for a long stay.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden summoned the French and Italian ambassadors to confer on emergency measures to end marauding by submarines on Mediterranean merchant shipping.

The consultation was the direct result of the sinking of the British freighter Eudymon by a torpedo off Spain's northeast coast with the loss of 100 lives, four British.

Destroyers Search Area

Eight British destroyers searched the area for the submarine which "The Spanish government charged was one of two underwater fighters and four destroyers assigned by Italy to the insurgent navy.

Italy made no reply to the accusations because "they were not addressed to us."

France showed concern for the spreading European tension:

1. In a proposal to lay down six 35,000-ton battleships—the largest allowed under treaty limitations—within the next three years with an initial allotment of 1,000,000,000 francs ($33,000,000) for two battleships immediately.
2. In an appeal by Premier Camille Chautemps against "air vendettas," reprisal bombings behind the lines, by Spanish government and insurgent planes which have cost hundreds of Spanish lives.

War in China

Britain announced a similar appeal.

The war in China created two situations:

In Tokyo, Japanese Foreign Minister Koki Hirota declared "a state of war exists between the two countries." The statement was not amplified. In seven months of hostilities Japan has made no formal declaration of war.

In Geneva, the League of Nations council, closing its 100th session, voted a resolution concerning aid to China which dissatisfied Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, the Chinese delegate.

The resolution merely asked interested nations to consider ways of aid to China and appeasement of the strife. Dr. Koo reserved the right to appeal for more "positive" help.

On the battlefronts, the Spanish war appeared to be at a standstill, but in the Orient, Chinese reinforcements moved up by thousands to plug a gap in the southern defenses of China's "lifeline" corridor. A major battle between 500,000 Chinese and Japanese troops seemed imminent, on the front northwest of Nanking.

SOVIET MOBILIZES TO RESCUE 4 SCIENTISTS

MOSCOW, Feb. 2 (AP)—Soviet authorities mobilized their rescue forces today for a dash to the aid of four scientists adrift in the Greenland sea on a block of cracking polar ice.

The four who have been making Polar weather observations since last May, radioed yesterday that a six-day storm had split the ice floe on which their camp is situated, now about 1,100 miles from the North Pole.

Dr. Otto J. Schmidt, head of the northern sea route department who landed the Polar observers at their base last year, said recently a cracking floe was not necessarily dangerous.

Commander Ivan Papinin and his party, however, were cut from two reserve food bases and a storehouse of technical equipment. They were confined to a camp 1,000 feet long and 650 feet wide, too small for rescue planes to land.

Nevertheless, five planes and three ships were preparing for the rescue.

Merriam Funeral Conducted Today

HIGGINS, Feb. 2.—Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church today for A. E. Merriam, 55, Lipscomb rancher whose body was found on his ranch south of Lipscomb by H. L. Hill ranch employee, Tuesday afternoon. Burial was in the Higgins cemetery.

A 12-gauge shotgun was found beside the body. There was a gunshot wound in the head. A coroner's jury of Sheriffs J. E. Shahan and E. J. Tarbox and W. H. Keffer, returned a verdict of death by self-inflicted wound.

Mr. Merriam, engaged in the oil business in Kansas for several years, spent a great part of his time for the past 16 years with his wife and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bull, on his ranch. Mr. Bull passed away on January 4, this year.

Survivors are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. J. C. Barton, Lipscomb; Mrs. M. B. Brown, Montana; one son, Willard, in the navy, and two grandchildren.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the virus-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package.—(adv.)

FOR FOREIGN POLICY CLEAR HE DECLARES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Informed officials predicted today senate criticism would fail to alter the administration's course in international relations.

President Roosevelt told his press conference late yesterday that his foreign policy was very clear to most people. His comment followed demands from Senator Borah (R., Idaho) and Senator Johnson (R., Calif.) for clarification.

Borah told the senate that thru an administration policy of silence, other nations were being led to believe the United States and Great Britain had formed a "tacit alliance" to build up their navies. This situation, he declared, invited war.

In response to another question at his press conference, the President said his current recommendations for increased appropriations for the army constituted all he now had in mind for that branch of national defense.

Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee was quick to take issue with Johnson and Borah.

America, Pittman said, was avoiding "alliance either for offense or defense." Naval expansion was made necessary, he contended, "by the very fact that our policy calls for no military alliances."

The administration, he said, has never swerved from the non-interference, non-intervention policy enacted by President Roosevelt when he took office.

Johnson disagreed and asserted that the President's Chicago demand for a "quarantine" of warring nations and the subsequent Brussels conference had put America in "the pusillanimous position of having threatened a country and not carried through."

BOOTLEGGING NOT WHOLLY DESTROYED

True enough, the worst phase of bootlegging, when rival gangs fought it out in the streets of our big cities, and bribery and collusion were taken as a matter of course, seems to have passed with repeal.

But the bootlegger is still with us. Last year the enforcement division of the Alcohol Tax Unit of the U. S. Treasury seized 16,142 stills, with a mash capacity of 2,709,749 gallons. In connection with those raids 12,365,224 gallons of mash were seized and destroyed.

During 1937 there were also 29,477 people arrested for federal liquor law violation, and in 695 major liquor conspiracy cases investigated, 2104 defendants were convicted in court.

That indicates a very considerable amount of bootlegging even in the face of legal liquor, and proves all over again the only thing that is certain about the liquor problem: it is never completely solved.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Your romantic novelists may dole out the ingenuity of women folk in wartime—their ability to make tea from bark, fashion clothes out of window curtains, and keep the home fires burning while adversity stares them in the face—but what about those peace-time victims who run into new problems every day? They are the ones who show resourcefulness, who know how to take it.

There was that awful discovery made by Joe Clark at the zero hour—a discovery that would have appalled a less ingenious man. The water in his hotel was shut off. In ten minutes he was due downstairs at a banquet. And his beard was so long that he HAD to shave.

Hastily gathering some bottles from the kitchenette, Joe raced into the bathroom, shaved in grape juice, and rinsed his face in ginger ale. He tore into the banquet hall just as the master of ceremonies was saying, "And now, ladies and gentlemen, I give you that great fellow, that great clown, that great comedian, Joe Cook."

Still another token of Broadway's ability to "take it" was that rather bizarre contrepertes which compelled a group of actors to go onto a bare stage the other night and give a performance without benefit of scenery, costumes, or props. A technical snarl which the theatrical trades unions were unable to unravel at the last moment resulted in a picket line being tossed around a theater where the play was to go on. The truck drivers were unwilling to penetrate the picket line and there was no scenery when curtain time came.

However, the actors scraped together a lot of old costumes from dramas now dead and gone and went on with the show. The audience loved it.

Then there was that quick-thinking actor who needed a presentable suit of clothes so that he could keep an engagement with a producer who might give him a part in his new play. Borrowing an expensive guitar from a musician friend, he beat it down to his favorite hock shop and "exchanged" it for a fairly decent blue serge suit. After the interview the producer invited him to play a game of golf, so the actor excused himself and raced back to the pawn shop and persuaded the broker to take the blue serge back and give him a golf outfit.

After the game, the producer insisted that he attend a night club with him, and so back to Uncle Benny went our exasperated friend and wheedled a suit of evening clothes. The producer wanted his new actor to spend the night at his hotel and drive up to his estate in Connecticut next day, but the actor had no chance to do this. As it was, he was compelled to return to his own hotel next morning in evening clothes.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—Despite all the confusions and contradictions which continue to afflict everyone concerned with the recent White House conferences and utterances, it is possible to brush enough debris out of the eyes to see certain elements of change in the government-business situation.

In trying to peer into the future, which has become increasingly difficult, most observers fall to assay developments of the immediate past.

The conflict between the administration and "Big Business," which will continue regardless of conferences and co-operative gestures, has produced victories or gains on both sides. The most notable business gain has been in the field of taxation. The House bill modifying the corporate surplus and capital gains taxes is painful to Roosevelt's less conservative advisers and it is likely that the Senate will lean even further toward demands for drastic modification or repeal.

But some of the uppermost and innermost New Dealers, although chagrined by the tie-up of the Roosevelt program in Congress and recognizing the seriousness of the depression, insist that on the whole they are well pleased by events and trends of the first weeks of 1938.

The vociferous demand of "Balance the Budget!"—which was a potent slogan for Roosevelt's opponents—has not been heard at all during the recent White House conferences with business men. Secretly, the President feels he has convinced certain captains of industry and finance that he can beat them in any name-calling contest, and that his popular following supports him in any attack on big business.

Notable progress is claimed for the New Deal power policy. Despite all the furor over the President's subsequently modified suggestion that all holding companies should be abolished, the net result is a rather striking change of attitudes.

The celebrated "death sentence" in the public utilities holding company act now seems relatively mild to the business community. The TVA issue has shifted to a question of how the government will buy private power facilities. The drive to shoot down TVA has sagged. In other words, and now the question is simply one of expanding TVA.

Two liberals have replaced two conservatives on the Supreme Court and a definitely liberal majority holds sway.

That it is easier to appease conservative anti-New Dealers than it was late last year was indicated by the group's gratification over the appointment of Stanley Reed "instead of some radical." Reed, for all practical purposes, was just as New Dealish as anyone the President could have appointed.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY

A significant event will take place June 26 to July 6 this year when the final Blue and Gray reunion will be held at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, on the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. Commemorative of the event, half-dollars have been minted. The obverse side of the coin shows composites of a Union and Confederate soldier. The inscription reads "United States of America. Blue and Gray Reunion." The reverse side shows the Great Shield of the United States and the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy. The two shields furnish color; the fasces denote United and Strength; the oak and laurel leaves represent Honor and Bravery and the Palm leaves, Peace. These are all included within a circle which denotes Eternity. The design was executed by Frank Vittor, internationally famous sculptor.

This is the first time in the history of this country that the Confederate flag has been reproduced on a U. S. minted coin. That is as significant as the fact that the final reunion will see the boys of '61 who fought against each other clasp hands and exchanging pleasantries of the long ago. The thin, depleted ranks are making a final stand on the spot where was fought the most famous battle of the Civil War.

We are glad that the Blue and the Gray have come together at last. It attests to the solidarity of the Union. It shows that feeling between Northerners and Southerners is no longer embittered. For the last time, this Rebel yell will be heard and for the last time the drummer boys of '61 will cheer to the strains of "Yankee Doodle." This reunion marks the end of an epoch, but the sons and grandsons, the daughters and granddaughters and the third and fourth generations will carry high the torch of Americanism in the future—taking it from the enfeebled hands of those who remained loyal and steadfast to their ideals of another day.—The Dalhart Texan

Tex's Topics

Clarence Kennedy, the pants presser, is a fellow who always gets the last word, and is a living, breathing example of the old maxim, "every dog has his day." . . . Mr. Kennedy had his Tuesday at the weekly luncheon of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and he evened the score for what happened to him on the night of the Jaycees' annual ladies night banquet when he was presented with a bale of hay for working like a horse. . . . He really got me befuddled yesterday and I couldn't think of a good comeback until after the luncheon was over and I was walking down the street. . . . Of course, that was too late.

Another thing I didn't like about it, was the way Dick Hughes ran out of town and left me holding the bag. . . . It was rumored around for two or three days that Kennedy was going to finish the unfinished speech he tried to start at the ladies night banquet. . . . And, he did. . . . But Hughes wasn't there to hear it, so Kennedy just turned the works on me. . . . He singled me out because I had been the stooge for Hughes and made the original presentation, much to Kennedy's chagrin. . . . It was one of those cases where the "small-fry trigger-man" was put on the spot for carrying out the connivances of the "master mind", who goes unscathed.

Doc Schulkey, newly-elected Jaycee prexy, presided at his first meeting yesterday, and he sure zipped it through in snappy fashion. . . . Possibly that was due to the fact that his program committee came through with flying colors and got Doc off to a swell start by not having a program. . . . The program chairman explained that half of the program was out of town and the other half couldn't be found. . . . Nice going, commented President Schulkey. . . . Incidentally, the turnout for yesterday's 1938 inaugural meeting was the largest noonday session of the group for many a moon. . . . It proved to Doc Schulkey that the boys are in there pitching for him. . . . Next week will be the test, however, for at that time Schulkey plans to appoint his committees and assign jobs for the members to do for the coming year.

Out of character for a minute:
 A Pennsylvania mountaineer accepted 66 consecutive jail sentences rather than allow his 8-year-old son to be vaccinated. There's a man who has the courage after his convictions. . . . A film actress will be given a $1,000-a-week contract if she consents to bob her hair. Just another girl whose hair will turn to silver. . . . A psychologist says first-class worrying should involve such components as inevitables, adjustables, negative apprehension, and perfectionism. Most men do a pretty fair job with just money matters to work on. . . . The Maine town which has neither a Jones nor a Smith in its telephone directories may be charged with being the most un-American city in the United States. . . . Akron, Ohio, dry cleaners, in a price war that sent the price of cleaning suits down to 29 cents, complain there's no return on their business in vestments.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

With the entry of five more teams in the Pampa invitation basketball tournament, it was decided to start play Thursday afternoon instead of Friday morning.

Six Hi-Y boys and Therman Harris, their sponsor, attended the state Hi-Y conference in Wichita Falls.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Your romantic novelists may dole out the ingenuity of women folk in wartime—their ability to make tea from bark, fashion clothes out of window curtains, and keep the home fires burning while adversity stares them in the face—but what about those peace-time victims who run into new problems every day? They are the ones who show resourcefulness, who know how to take it.

There was that awful discovery made by Joe Clark at the zero hour—a discovery that would have appalled a less ingenious man. The water in his hotel was shut off. In ten minutes he was due downstairs at a banquet. And his beard was so long that he HAD to shave.

Hastily gathering some bottles from the kitchenette, Joe raced into the bathroom, shaved in grape juice, and rinsed his face in ginger ale. He tore into the banquet hall just as the master of ceremonies was saying, "And now, ladies and gentlemen, I give you that great fellow, that great clown, that great comedian, Joe Cook."

Still another token of Broadway's ability to "take it" was that rather bizarre contrepertes which compelled a group of actors to go onto a bare stage the other night and give a performance without benefit of scenery, costumes, or props. A technical snarl which the theatrical trades unions were unable to unravel at the last moment resulted in a picket line being tossed around a theater where the play was to go on. The truck drivers were unwilling to penetrate the picket line and there was no scenery when curtain time came.

However, the actors scraped together a lot of old costumes from dramas now dead and gone and went on with the show. The audience loved it.

Then there was that quick-thinking actor who needed a presentable suit of clothes so that he could keep an engagement with a producer who might give him a part in his new play. Borrowing an expensive guitar from a musician friend, he beat it down to his favorite hock shop and "exchanged" it for a fairly decent blue serge suit. After the interview the producer invited him to play a game of golf, so the actor excused himself and raced back to the pawn shop and persuaded the broker to take the blue serge back and give him a golf outfit.

After the game, the producer insisted that he attend a night club with him, and so back to Uncle Benny went our exasperated friend and wheedled a suit of evening clothes. The producer wanted his new actor to spend the night at his hotel and drive up to his estate in Connecticut next day, but the actor had no chance to do this. As it was, he was compelled to return to his own hotel next morning in evening clothes.

Beware of Measles

Somehow the impression has spread that measles is an innocuous disease. This is totally wrong. Measles itself does not kill, but certain complications of measles such as broncho-pneumonia and meningitis do. And the damaging effects of measles upon the eyes, ears and lungs are just as significant.

It is believed that measles is caused by a filterable virus, that is, by some minute disease-producing agent too small to be seen under the most powerful microscopes. In fact, a scientist recently claimed that the virus of measles can be rendered visible by a special staining method. But this has not been substantiated by others.

The virus of measles appears to render the body more susceptible to the invasion of other disease-producing agents. Hence the complications of the disease. One of the most common is broncho-pneumonia. Another serious complication is disease of the middle ear.

A further complication is meningitis, resulting from the extension of the disease process from the middle ear into the brain. Formerly the meningitis arising from middle ear infection proved fatal in a large percentage of cases. Now many of these cases are treated effectively with sulfanilamide.

At present there is no deliberate, permanent way to immunize an individual against measles. Immunity can be secured only by successful passing through an attack.

Temporary immunity may be gained by injecting the exposed individual with serum derived from one recently recovered from measles, or with serum derived from adults who, presumably, have had the disease. An extract made from the afterbirth (placenta) also has the power of temporary immunizing against measles the individual into whom it is injected.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Pity the poor candidates: the public has already started bleeding them. . . . Yesterday, a humble office seeker (they're always humble when they are running for office) went into a drug store and his friends who saw him coming lined up before the fountain. "The drinks are on him," they said "I don't believe I want one," he smiled weakly. Candidates, too, have to save their nickels. (One election year here there was a certain candidate who did not have so much money, and all that summer he kept away from the drug store—he was elected, too.) Most people who would be horrified by calling it bribery, nevertheless love to bestow and receive gifts, harmless bribes. Pretty soon certain voters will start telling the candidates, "Now I control about 500 votes, and it would be wise to give us a contribution to build this church or help us pay for this piano," or whatever it is they want. Some times they are more subtle, sometimes less, but the point is sharp no matter how one approaches it. So it is no wonder that candidates sometimes think of organizing a union against voting contributions to this and that and everything. Pity the poor candidates!

Beatrice Lillie: This darling of the intelligentsia, who can name her own salary on anybody's stage, has stepped twice in movies—first in the silent days of 1926, in "Exit Smiling." She did. She stayed away until 1930 when Fox hired her for a little time called "Are You There?" She wasn't.

The comedienne has brighter hopes for her current flicker with Bing Crosby because the American public now knows her on the radio. Miss Lillie, who is Lady Peel, has a 16-year-old son in school in England, and is thinking of knocking a couple of years off his age. Here in Hollywood she lives with Fannie Brice, Sophie Tucker and Gypsy Rose Lee, and the place is a madhouse.

Eise Argal: The stunning French actress, wife of the celebrated playwright, Jacques Deval, is back in town quietly shopping around for a role. She was under contract to 20th-Fox for six months but nothing happened except a lot of tests. "In each test," she said, "they made me up to look like a cinema star. One day it would be Dietrich, the next Crawford, and I was wondering when I would be Shirley Temple. Never did they let me look like myself."

Jean Marsh: She's the sort of girl who instantly puts you at ease. When she sits down to lunch she kicks off her shoes and calls attention to it by asking everyone's pardon.

Kicks 'em off when she drives her car, too, and would dance in stocking feet if she dared.

Miss Marsh entered movies at the age of 9 months, so now, at 23 years, she's really a veteran.

Buster Keaton: Today he's Joseph B. Keaton, director. "I'll never act again," he said, "because actors have too much to worry about." What he most wants to do is direct a remake of his most popular picture, "The Navigator."

Only this time, instead of himself and Marceline Day being a drift alone on an ocean liner, he'd have Myrna Loy and William Powell. Keaton owns the story.

Claire Trevor: When people begin gushing about her small but poignant part as Francy in "Dead End," Miss Trevor's annoyed. To friends she explains: "I worked exactly a day and a half in that picture. The role was so beautifully written and directed that I did it without effort. And yet for five years I've been struggling through the feminine leads of 23 class B pictures, taking unconvincing roles and working my heart out trying to make something of them. But nobody ever says anything nice about those."

FEELS BETTER NOW
OKLAHOMA CITY—A woman mailed a quarter to J. C. Shriver with this note: "I am sending this to pay for the tie I got from your store in El Reno. I can't live right and not pay for this."

Shriver said he sold his store at El Reno, Okla., in 1907.

In the best physical condition should not be deliberately exposed to contact with a case of measles. When exposure has occurred, it may be desirable to artificially immunize the child against the disease by means of one of the several agents available.

Every case of measles requires careful nursing, and good medical supervision. Both contribute to the prevention of the serious complications which are threatened in every case of the disease.

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP)—Enforcement of laws forbidding pollution of public waters is to be made more effective.

Wardens of the state game department have been reminded such enforcement is one of their most important duties and have been instructed to make regular checks of oil fields, refineries, machine shops, creosoting plants, sulphur fields, pick-up plants, packing plants and other sources of pollution.

The reminder was issued by H. E. Faubion, director of the division of natural resources in the department.

Referring to oil field pollution, Faubion advised wardens that "unscrupulous operators will bear close checking" for they "may cut their salty water pit at night or drain their tank bottom into a stream."

At this writing three men are out for state treasurer and a fourth candidacy is talked about.

Charley Lockhart, shores official in the government—he is 48 inches tall—is running for re-election. He says he stands on his records of efficiency and general service to the people.

Other announced candidates are Lockhart's former chief clerk, E. B. Barnes, and Edgar L. Smith of Dallas.

Friends of Bob Barker, secretary of the senate, say he is still considering entering the contest.

Governor James V. Alford has made up his mind on one matter. He will not be a "columnist" after he retires from office, whenever that may be.

Some months ago the governor began writing a column for distribution among weekly newspapers. In it he gives his views on current events, usually pertaining to Texas politics and government.

"I will not write a column after I retire," he said. "No one would pay me for it and I won't do it for nothing."

The governor's column is distributed free.

The capitol has heard another rumor of brewing opposition to the re-election of Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald, under fire because of his land leasing policies.

The report was that County Judge Roy Hofheinz, a former member of the state house of representatives, might go after the commissionership.

Previously it was understood Rep. Eakin Jones of Eddy, chairman of the house game and fisheries committee, might oppose McDonald.

Hofheinz, 25, is one of the youngest, if not the youngest, county judge in America.

Despite his youth when he served in the house of representatives he daily held his own in forensic tilts with members many years his senior, acquiring a reputation for ability and driving energy.

His salary as county judge of Harris county is $7,400 while the land commissioner receives $6,000.

Some say, too, an ambitious young man might feel he would be "buried" in the land office.

Life may begin at 40 for some but one very important phase began at 50 for C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission.

"I learned to throw a curve after 50," he explained.

Terrell, for exercise and pure love of the game, plays amateur baseball almost daily, and reputedly is a good pitcher and hitter.

On his desk rests a baseball given him by J. F. (Stump) Edgington, former professional player, inscribed to the "best hitter" in a game here last October 22.

The ball was from a collection of Edgington's gathered in his professional playing days. Edgington now is an inspector for the commission.

The capital probably escaped flood damage recently because of the lower Colorado conservation power project.

Detectives Paul Gallagher and Adrian Stokpa inventoried the room. The body of Louie Trimble lay in the center of the room, partly under an overturned card table. Poker chips, cards and broken highball glasses littered the rug. Clutched in the dead man's left hand was a pipe; his right held a penny box of matches. A revolver was on the floor at his side.

Five chairs, three of them overturned, surrounded the card table. Detectives decided to hunt the four men who had been playing with Trimble. They were easy to find—the night clerk in Louie's apartment building supplied their names.

Questioned separately, their stories varied except in one respect—all swore Trimble had cheated; that he had threatened to kill all four of his accusers and that someone in the party (they didn't know which one) had fired in self-defense.

Liberal Use Of Subs Eases Strain On Boys

THE OLD WAY... TOSS-UP AT CENTER EVERY TIME A FIELD GOAL WAS SCORED... OKAY FOR OTHER EIGHT MEN, BUT SAPPED CENTERS STRENGTH.

THE NEW WAY... TEAM SCORED UPON TAKES BALL OUT UNDER OWN BASKET. SPEEDING UP GAME GREATLY, AND CLAIMED BY MANY EXPERTS TO BE TOO STRENUOUS FOR PLAYERS...

By JERRY BRONDFIELD, NEA Service Sports Writer.

The automobile industry has nothing on basketball when it comes to streamlining.

They've taken the country's biggest indoor sport and pared off all the excess baggage possible, and, as a consequence, the game, 1938 style, is a spectator's game if ever there was one.

In fact it's the closest thing to perpetual motion that you'll find in the field of sports.

The most important piece of streamlining, of course, was the elimination of the center jump, the most drastic rule change the game has accepted in years.

Everything now is speeded up to a furious tempo. In the first place, tests prove that since the center jump was tossed into the ash heap, anywhere from three to five minutes of actual playing time have been added to a contest.

This in turn, coupled with the greater speed, is definitely making basketball a higher scoring game.

Long Island University in its first 13 games this season, scored 830 points, an average of 63 per contest. This represents a 14-point increase per game over last year.

Clear Bee, the Blackbirds' coach, admits he has some of the deadliest sharpshooters in seasons, but also points to the elimination of the center jump as the reason for all this point collecting.

In two games on the Pacific coast, Stanford and Southern California rolled up 215 points between them!

Many coaches, however, contend that the basketball has been turned into a race-course, and insist that basketball is much too fast as played now.

With the center jump gone, the ball is taken out of bounds by the team scored upon and immediately tossed back into play. In most cases this has meant a mad scramble back up the floor for both offensive and defensive players.

Dr. Marcus Hobart, Northwestern team physician, has studied pulse rates since the start of the season and finds the average of most players rises to 108 a minute.

QUINT BEATEN FIRST TIME IN LAST 4 YEARS

STEPHENVILLE, Feb. 2 (AP)—The Ploewboys of John Tarleton Agricultural College relaxed today.

Their winning streak of 84 consecutive basketball games was broken last night by the San Angelo College Rams, 27-26, at San Angelo.

The defeat was an answer to the prayer of their Coach, W. J. Wisdom, who said "If I could get this eternal pressure off the boys they would turn in a good game; they are so nervous that they miss 90 to 95 per cent of the crisp shots."

That was when the winning streak had run into the 80's. Decatur Baptist College had thrown a scare into the Ploewboys by holding them to a 17-16 score. In the season opener the Ploewboys defeated San Angelo Junior College 28-20 in a game in which leadership changed hands several times. The next night the Ploewboys took another hard earned victory from the Rams, 28-12.

But the "third time charmed" last night and the Ploewboys tasted defeat for the first time in four years—strangely enough, at the hands of a team from the same institution that won over them in the last game of the 1933 season.

The Junior college quintet led throughout most of the game, with the Rams clinging to a slender 16-14 advantage at the half. Coach Wisdom sent in several fresh players after the Rams had amassed a 10-point margin, but to no avail. The Ploewboys' shots went wild after the score stood 27-26 with three minutes to go.

Referee Knowles, former Borger basketball coach, was just as blamed for the Harvester defeat, although his officiating was nothing to brag about. The first time Pampa played at Borger he assessed 18 fouls against the Bulldogs and 10 against the Harvesters, and last night the Bulldogs were just as rough if not rougher than the previous time. The official did not call too many fouls against the Harvesters, but he did not call enough against the Bulldogs. Tippy Reynolds fouled out in the fourth period.

Jack Cunningham started the game at center, but was soon replaced by Cox. One kept going in for the other throughout the game. They scored one free shot between them.

The cleverness and speed the team mustered when it spanked the Lakeview giants in the finals of the Canadian tournament last Saturday night seemed to be missing. However, there was not much to complain of in Helskell's playing.

The defeat was the fourth for Pampa in the Big Five league. They lost to Borger three and to Plainview once. Coach Ochs Mitchell will take the Harvesters on a road trip to Plainview next week.

Harvesters Lose Third Game To Borger 22-18

If the Harvesters beat Borger again, they'll have to do it in the district tournament which begins here Feb. 17, and if they don't whip the Bulldogs then it'll be goodby district championship.

The Borgans came from behind last night in the third quarter to nose out the Pampa quintet 22 to 18. Barron, cocky Borger center, led the way, scoring 11 points, 8 of them in the last half. He was held to one field goal and one free throw in the first half.

The Harvesters led 5 to 4 at the end of the first period, and were in front 12 to 7 at the half. They were trailing 15 to 14 at the end of the third period. Borger had piled up a 6-point lead with the final whistle seconds away when Claude Helskell, the only Harvester who it seems does not have his "off" nights, stood near center and looped a one-handed shot.

Miss Free Shots

The Harvesters would have won the game if they had made as many of their free shots as the Borgans did. Both teams made the same number of field goals—seven each. But the Bulldogs looped 8 out of 12 charity tosses, while the Harvesters roped only 4 out of 13 shots. The Borger percentage in free shots was 75 and the Harvesters, about 34.

Referee Knowles, former Borger basketball coach, was just as blamed for the Harvester defeat, although his officiating was nothing to brag about. HARVESTERS EXPECT BATTLE ON SANDIE COURT TONIGHT

Stopped again in a plot to swat Borger, the Harvesters are expecting a battle tonight when they face the great-improved Sandies on the Amarillo court.

The Sandies last week had improved so much since they were annihilated three times by the Harvesters, that they had trounced Lubbock. The scores of the three previous games with Pampa and the Sandies were:

Pampa 41, Amarillo 14. Pampa 42, Amarillo 4. Pampa 29, Amarillo 21.

Last week the Sandies won their first Big Five game from Lubbock who last night handed Plainview its second league defeat of the season 24 to 16 by looping the long ones. Lubbock led 10 to 7 at the half.

Plainview still leads the Big Five league with Pampa second, Lubbock third, Borger fourth and Amarillo fifth.

The middle of next week, the Harvesters will go on their annual road trip to Plainview and Lubbock where they will play two games in each town. They are favored to nose out Plainview which has begun to go down hill. The Bulldogs usually have a great team at the beginning of the season, but fail to keep their stride during the latter part. The Harvesters will face tough going at both Lubbock and Plainview.

This week-end the Harvesters will compete in the Miami tournament which they won two years ago. It is hoped that Borger will be entered in that affair. The Harvesters will be favored to win it even if Borger enters.

Arkansas To Play Broncos Oct. 22

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 2 (AP)—The University of Arkansas will play Santa Clara at San Francisco next October 22, the new football schedule indicated today.

Arkansas A. & M., another addition to the Arkansas schedule, will play here September 24.

The remainder of the schedule will include Christian University at Fort Worth, October 1; Baylor University at Fayetteville, October 8; University of Texas at Little Rock, October 15; Texas A. & M. at College Station, October 29; Rice Institute at Fayetteville (homecoming), November 5; Southern Methodist University at Dallas, Nov. 12; University of Mississippi (site to be selected), Nov. 19, and Tulsa University at Tulsa, Nov. 24.

McGonagill To Be Pro at Shreveport

DALLAS, Feb. 2 (AP)—Jimmie McGonagill, Dallas amateur golfer, has signed a contract as professional at Shreveport Country club, effective April 1. McGonagill will succeed Abe Espinosa, who has held the job a year.

McGonagill qualified for the national open at Fort Worth last year and the year before and for the national amateur in 1935 and 1936. In the 1936 national open he tied with Johnny Goodman, present amateur champion, with the lowest amateur score for the first day of competition.

Two years in succession, 1935-36, McGonagill won the Tri-State tournament at Shreveport and the Corpus Christi invitation. In 1936 and 1937 he won the Little Rock invitation and last year he won the Galveston invitation and the Rio Grande Valley open at Mercedes.

In 1933 McGonagill was runner-up to Harry Todd for the state championship.

GIANTS AND REDS EXPECTED TO ENGINEER PLAYER TRADE

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—Based on the traditional relationship between smoke and fire, there's reason to believe that some of the National League baseball clubs will engineer a player trade before long.

Trade talk has been floating around so thickly the experts figure there must be something underneath it all. By sleuthing, and questioning all hands, enough facts have been unearthed to give rise to the following reports.

(1) The Giants and Reds have a deal on the fire involving Gus Mancuso, holdout Giant catcher, and Ernie Lombard, burly Cincinnati backstop. Among the reasons why it hasn't been completed is one explanation that Terry asked for a couple of young players for "farm" purposes along with Mancuso.

Another is that the final dickering concerned trade with Mancuso and Wally Berger, outfielder for Lombard. Dee Moore and Harry Craft, and the General Manager Warren Giles of the Reds balked because Terry displayed too keen an interest in Craft.

(2) The Giants may send Berger to Brooklyn, possibly along with Mancuso, a pitcher or both, in exchange for Buddy Hassett, the Dodgers' young first baseman.

(3) The St. Louis Cardinals are angling for Gordon (Blimp) Phelps and Lippy Leo Durocher of Brooklyn.

(4) The Phillies may get into the trading with Dolph Camilli, and pitchers Claude Passeau and Bucky Walters as bait. President Gerry Nugent of the Phils denied he would "break up a ball club" by trading all three but admitted one of them could be had at the right price.

(5) The Giants offered the Cardinals Mancuso for either Stan Bordagar, former Brooklyn outfielder, and one other player, possibly Herb Bremer, rookie catcher, and got a negative answer.

Accompanied by such stalwarts as Don Lash, who will try for a double in the mile and the two-mile run; Archie San Romero, who has never won the Wanamaker; Gene Venzke, who won it once, and Wisconsin's Chuck Fenske, Cunningham will enter one of the greatest of the invitation indoor miles against one of its best fields.

Since 1926, the Wanamaker has attracted some of the greatest middle-distance men in track history.

Venzke lifted the event to new heights in 1932 when he turned in the first 4:11.2, at that time the fastest mile ever run in America. Cunningham came on the scene the next year and except for 1936, when Joe Mangano ran 4:11 and won the race in an upset, he has dominated the event

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER XXIV
SPRING had indeed come to the valley, and to the blue-green hills. Connie knew that in no other spot in the world could it have awakened more beautifully. She knew that this, his own beloved country, was where Bret would come. Hadn't he said that no matter how far he roamed, always he must return here? And she had wondered if Bret's country might come to have the same influence over her.

She knew now, back in the old brick house with its ivy covered walls and stately elms, that this had come to pass; she would find peace here. Whether she again found happiness would depend upon Bret, and Bret alone.

Mrs. Parsons and Eloise had welcomed her as though she had come "home," as indeed she felt she had. What was more rare, and understanding, they had welcomed her without question or comment. It was natural, they seemed to say—and the sleepy little town and the valley with its base of tender green and its guarding sentinels of high hills all seemed to say it, too—that she should return to them. She knew now that no matter how far she should roam, she, too, could come back to this serene haven to be born anew.

Connie helped Eloise and her mother about the big house, opening shutters, airing the high-ceilinged rooms; she dug in the garden, loosening the hard earth for young seeds that soon would point their green spouts toward the sun. She helped in the kitchen, learning to bake biscuits and corn bread almost as good as "Aunt Bertha's"; she took long tramps over Bret's bridge, up into the hills. The days were full to overflowing, though they were a time for waiting. And then one day the waiting was ended; Connie went to the door to open it to find Bret standing there.

HER heart skipped a beat, turned over, stood still. But her smile was steady and unsurprised, her eyes direct and unwavering.

"Hello," she said, as though they had parted but yesterday, instead of weeks ago, and in friendliness, instead of in anger and hatred. "Won't you come in, Bret?" She held wide the door. He said, "What are you doing here?" That tiny line was etched about his mouth, a dark flush under his skin, his eyes were guarded, somber. Perhaps they could not believe what they saw, this girl in a simple blue frock, hair blowing and curling about her face, blue eyes clear and untroubled and serene. "You didn't expect to find me?" she asked. It seemed to her she should have known she would be waiting here.

"Hardly!" His laugh was harsh. "I suppose you were sailing somewhere on the azure. With Rodney Brandon. Why didn't you go with him?" "I'll tell you why," Connie answered quietly. "But I can't tell you here. Aren't you coming in, Bret? Or no..... wait! Will you walk with me—up our hill?" "I didn't suppose you remembered that as a 'hill,'" he said gruffly. There was no yielding in his dark eyes. "I can't see what's the use of your telling me after all. I suppose you simply changed your mind again—or another impulse. As you probably will do time and again without end."

"You hate me, don't you, Bret?" Her voice was soft, but her lips quivered. "Not that I blame you. I deserved that. I deserved anything you care to say about me, or think against me. But please—if I fetch my wrap, before you come in, will you walk up the hill?" "As you like....." His manner said that it did not matter. He would remain as he was; stoic, impersonal, defenses furled.

SHE caught up an old sweater and pulled it on at the door behind her. Without saying anything more, they fell into step side by side. They walked insouciantly, but with their accustomed swinging rhythm, for Connie's step matched his long stride, until they had reached the top of their hill. The little white church still smiled down upon them; the kingdom that Bret had said belonged to her, still stretched below. In the east night, clouds gathered; in the west the sun was a round ball of golden fire.

"Shall we sit down?" Connie asked, and waited for Bret to spread his handkerchief on the log. He did that for her, but he did not sit down. He stood looking out on that wide panorama of wild, untrammeled majesty, feasting his eyes, and his soul. "It's my country, too, now, Bret," Connie said. "I believe I love it almost as much as you do. I believe I'll always come back to it. I know it will never disappoint me, but, like nowhere else in the world, will make me 'new' once more." "I'm glad," he means that to you," he said; but with that same reserve and stiff formality. "Naturally I love it; it is part of me. Not only of me, but all of my people who lived here before me. Plain people. Pioneers. My great-

SOONER PROF TO SPEAK AT CANYON EVENT

CANYON, Feb. 2.—Dr. Edward Everett Dale, head of the department of history of the University of Oklahoma, will speak at the annual banquet of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society at West Texas State college April 8.

In making this announcement, Prof. L. F. Shetty, executive secretary of the society, said that the speaker is a nationally known authority in his field.

Dr. Dale has been a member of the University of Oklahoma faculty since 1914. He is a former cowboy, home-steader, deputy sheriff, and itinerant teacher of the plains country. He is a native of Texas, having been born at Keller on February 8, 1879.

He was graduated from the University of Oklahoma and later he received the master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Harvard. While a student at Harvard he was known as "Two Gun" Dale because he worked his way by serving on the police force.

His favorite hobby is camping. His knowledge of the cattle business has made him an authority on the history of the industry. His extended researches into its history make him, Prof. Shetty pointed out, especially well fitted to speak to the Historical Society group here.

Other program numbers will be announced shortly.

SAILOR SUFFERS FROM HARROWING EXPERIENCE

PORT ISABEL, Feb. 2 (AP)—Wiley Holton, deckhand from the fishing schooner Burcaner, was recovering here today from exposure after a harrowing experience in the Gulf.

The schooner developed motor trouble Sunday about 20 miles off Padre Island. A heavy sea was running. Holton took a raft to come ashore for help.

The schooner, with Capt. F. A. Johnson and her owner, J. G. Steffen, aboard, was swept on the beach Sunday night.

Holton, suffering from exposure, hunger and thirst, was found on the Island Monday.

The vessel broke up on the beach. Houston will be aboard the special train that pulls out of Port Worth at 7:45 a. m. Feb. 3. An overnight stop will be made in Amarillo, arriving there at 7:45 p. m. in time for a banquet in which Kiwanis clubs from Texas Panhandle cities will join the two Amarillo clubs. The two Kiwanis clubs of Port Worth will sponsor the trip.

Woodul will be the speaker at an inter-club Kiwanis luncheon on the second day at Lubbock.

ELECTION CONTEST NOW UNDER WAY AT BARSTOW BARSTOW, Feb. 2 (AP)--Fifty-two witnesses from Monahans precinct were examined and 24 votes were thrown out when the Ward county seat removal election contest was opened by Judge J. A. Drane in 109th district court Tuesday.

More than 1,000 ballots were cast in Monahans when the change of the county seat from Barstow to Monahans was authorized last year. Official count revealed, however, only 80 had paid their poll taxes in the county.

Barstow citizens contested the election. Henry Russell and Hill D. Hudson of Pecos represent Barstow and Earl Earp represents Monahans in the lawsuit.

GIRL WITH EXPOSED HEART MAY RECOVER

CLINTON, Okla., Feb. 2 (AP)--Physicians reported slow but sure progress today in 3-year-old Joella Reynolds' fight for recovery from an operation Jan. 16, which left her heart exposed ten days. The delicate operation was performed when infection following pneumonia enlarged the little girl's heart five or six times normal size.

Two physicians took out two ribs and punctured the pericardium sac enclosing the heart to permit drainage of fluid pressing against it. Physicians said her heart had been reduced almost to normal size.

Today's Answers to Cranium Crackers

(Problem on editorial page.) Police knew Trimble had not fired in self-defense because, when they found his body, a pipe was clutched in one hand and a box of matches in the other. Naturally, neither could be construed as a lethal weapon.

JURY VENUE REPORTS FOR LEWIS TRIAL

The special venire called for the case of the State of Texas vs. J. C. (Curley) Lewis was dismissed at 11 o'clock this morning in 31st district court, pending the court's hearing of trial preliminaries. The venire was to re-assemble at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, when a jury was to be chosen.

There was 125 names listed on the special venire. Most of the jurors responded when their names were called this morning. Eight were excused. Others who did not answer reported as out-of-the-county.

Lewis is under an indictment of murder, in connection with the death of Willie Allen, negro porter of a West Foster avenue hotel, on Sept. 16.

Wayne Nicholson, indicted for murder in connection with the case, was acquitted in a trial heard in district court here in October.

Officials present as court opened this morning were County Attorney Joe Gordon, District Attorney Lewis M. Goodrich, District Clerk Miriam Wilson, Sheriff Earl Talley, Deputy George Inman and O. T. Lindsey.

Lawyers present were John F. and Aaron Sturgeon, Clifford Brails, Walter Rogers, Newton P. Willis. The state is represented in the trial by the district attorney and Walter Rogers, the defendant by John F. Sturgeon.

PAMPA MAN PROMOTED TO REGIONAL OFFICE

Preston Fowlkes, head of the tire department at Montgomery Ward's store in Pampa, has been named tire supervisor for the company's stores in eight states of the Kansas City region.

Out of 107 stores in the district, Mr. Fowlkes was selected from the Pampa store for his outstanding saleswork. The Pampa store is managed by Fred C. Nelson with whom Mr. Fowlkes has been associated since May, 1937, when he came to Pampa from Amarillo.

Mr. Fowlkes will leave Pampa tomorrow to take over his new post, going first to San Angelo where he will work with H. J. Huntley, a regional supervisor.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowlkes will make their home in Oklahoma City.

PAMPANS WILL ATTEND BANQUET AT SHAMROCK

Manager Garnet Reeves of the Pampa Board of City Development yesterday received an invitation for the Pampa organization to be represented at the thirteenth annual chamber of commerce banquet in Shamrock on Friday night.

"The Pampa organization will be well represented at your banquet," Manager Reeves wrote to Bedford Harrison, secretary of the Shamrock C. of C.

The banquet will be held at the U-Drop-Inn on U. S. highway 66.

to go down to Bowers City and find out.

So he went by and "picked up" Doyle Auld, a boy who is not only smarter than the average but is also afraid of nothing. The R. R. didn't want to go prowling up and down those canyons by himself! Well, we decided we wouldn't tell Mrs. Holby.

Soon we arrived at the Jackson lease and we knew that it would probably be hanging out in a canyon not too far away. We drove in the car as far as we could and then got out and walked.

Wienies Draw Panthers We must have walked a mile before we built a fire under some trees between creek bluffs. We were sitting there wondering if there were a panther in 50 miles of us. Doyle had a 45 beside him and I was lugging a 30-30. We sat there a long time talking about things, including the Hay Hook ranch panther which never failed to scream when we roasted wienies.

That's the reason we built the fire and roasted the wienies. We had decided that a panther, or bobcat, or whatever you want to call it liked wienies, and that if he were in smelling distance he would come.

Panther Screams We had gorged our stomachs with wienies and were fooling around in roasting some marshmallows when the R. R. found himself yelling "Oh!" and screaming like a wild man.

The R. R.'s yells were almost but not quite as terrifying as the cry of the panther as he stood on the opposite cliff and screamed. (The wienie roast had worked again.)

Well, before the panther quit screaming and before the R. R. began, Doyle began blazing away at the cat with the 45, but there was no chance of hitting him. The panther must have been more scared than the R. R. who is still wondering why the panther did not jump before he screamed. Ugh!

LAND NOT VACANT

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP)—The Third Court of Civil Appeals today ruled 331 acres of valuable oil land in the Conroe field of Montgomery county was not a vacancy and therefore not the property of the public school fund.

The opinion was not final but subject to Supreme Court action on appeal.

Market Brats

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—A few building supply shares attracted favor in the stock market today, but most of the list finished in a narrow range or on the minus side.

Volume dwindled. There were minutes at a time when no transactions were reported. Trading interest was negligible. Transfers approximated 550,000 shares.

PENSIONS PROPOSED FOR WIDOWS, ORPHANS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Widows and dependent orphans of World War veterans would get pensions under legislation which has won approval of the house pensions committee.

The cost was estimated by committee men at $68,000,000 a year. The bill would affect 188,000 families.

"We are appropriating money for many other purposes," said Chairman Gasque (D. S. C.), who declared much of the pension fund would go to people now on relief.

He commented, however, that the bill probably was not in line with administration financial policies.

The bill provides that the veterans must have been in service before the armistice was signed; their date of discharge could be any time between April 6, 1917, and July 2, 1921.

Widows who married a veteran after July 3, 1931, would be ineligible, but children born of the marriage would not be governed by this time limit. Children over 16 would be ineligible. If a widow died or remarried, each child would receive $6 a month, plus his proportionate share of the $22 which had been going to the widow.

LEGION POST WILL MEET HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

The American Legion will meet tomorrow night at the Legion hall in regular meeting, instead of tonight. Plans will be made to push the anti-syphilis campaign and to send a delegation to Amarillo Feb. 10 when the national commander will be there.

SOLONS INQUIRE INTO MCDONALD'S LEASING

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP)—A senate committee inquired further today into activities of a group awarded oil leases on many submerged state tracts along the coast as it entered the second week of an investigation of Land Commissioner William H. McDonald.

J. R. Chatham of Burkburnett, partner of I. E. Hartwell of that city in various business enterprises, was the first witness. Chatham, Earlwell, W. M. Harris, formerly of Oklahoma City, J. R. Prince of Burkburnett, W. P. Friedwell of Marshall and others were associated in numerous successful bids on underwater leases.

Chatham was questioned closely about how much time he spent in an office opened here by W. M. Harris. This office has figured frequently in the testimony.

The Burkburnett financier said Hartwell, Prince and he did considerable work on bids there. He stated emphatically, however, he did not attend any night drinking parties in an office opened here by W. M. Harris. This office has figured frequently in the testimony.

The witness said he did not pay any part of the rent for the office. Testimony had been that Land Commissioner McDonald sometimes went to the office. McDonald said he could recall only "about three" such visits by Mrs. Frances Mayfield Paule of Alice, an employe in the office, said their number was "ten or twelve."

LEMONS CHILD TO BE BURIED IN OKLAHOMA

The body of Golda Fern Lemons, 7-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lemons, was taken overland to Hollis, Okla., this morning by Pampa Mortuary. The child died in a local hospital last night after a brief illness.

Funeral services were to be conducted this afternoon in Hollis by the Rev. J. H. Plunkett.

Survivors are the parents. Mr. Lemons is with the Cabot company, Kingsmill plant.

the State Board of Health is a program for operation awaiting financing.

It centers in a medical director for the division of venereal disease control with syphilologists, dermatologists and urologists of the state on local advisory committees and requires reporting of venereal diseases from approved clinics and by private physicians with quarantine of cases refusing to continue treatment when advised by physicians or clinics.

Further proposals: Free laboratory diagnostic service by the state to indigents where the service is not otherwise available.

Clinics aided and approved by state and local county medical societies.

No Economical Argument Free distribution of drugs upon request of physicians treating indigent syphilitics.

There is no economical argument favoring further inaction, Dr. Cox said. He cited the mounting cost of eleemosynary institutions now housing 12,000 Texans. Of these, 2,400 are there because of syphilis. On this basis he estimated that for the $14,000 appropriated for state hospitals for the insane this biennium more than $350,000 will be spent exclusively on syphilitics.

"Why not check the source of the trouble and spend less instead of more and more for these growing institutions?" he asked.

The damage wrought in private life also is appalling, physicians claim. They have marshaled these facts in support of their contentions:

Texas had 3,909 still births in 1936 of which 1,809 can be attributed to syphilis—all preventable deaths. Every person, young or old, male or female, rich or poor, is exposed to risk and contagion—at least 50 per cent of them innocently.

Among pregnant women in obstetrical clinics, 6 per cent show positive tests.

Causes Dead Babies Five times out of six, the untreated syphilitic pregnant mother will bear a dead or diseased child.

One-third of children with congenital syphilis will develop partial or complete blindness if untreated.

As for practicability of control, diagnostic countries and England. Syphilis is a rarity in the Scandinavian nations which with 13,700,000 population in 1933 had fewer than 1,600 cases. Great Britain had only 20,692 in 1934.

Dr. Cox sums up his objective in the words of Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the U. S. Public Health Service.

"I consider syphilis the most urgent public health problem in this country today. In the first place, so many people have it, and when their disease is untreated or improperly treated its results are so dangerous to them and so costly to the community. In the second place, it is contagious. Finally—we know how to get rid of it, yet do not."

ting penny pencils in their places." Junior was one of three candidates nominated for places on the ticket which Boy Scouts of Pampa, LeFors, Kellerville will vote on Friday night, Feb. 11. The next day the boys will take office.

To 'Clean-Up' Town Harold Smith, life Scout of Troop 16, was elected a candidate for secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. "I'm going to clean up the town—no pool halls, no gambling joints, no cheap dance halls in our city limits. We want a beautiful city," declared Harold in the sixth plank of his platform.

Harold also demanded more money from the Chamber of Commerce for "Scout finances" and "more trips to Washington to help sell Pampa." I plank in his platform asked "more sidewalks to the Scout meeting places." His slogan is "Say it with flowers."

Junior Comstock's slogan is "all for the mail and Junior for the bundling."

If elected he promised to "Extend a hearty handshake to each patron every time they call at the post office."

Boy Scout week, Feb. 6-12 will be celebrated by mass attendance at church, holding of city offices, displays in store windows and in troop banquets. No city-wide father and son banquet, sponsored by the Council, will be held as last year. Each troop is urged to hold a Scout banquet during the week.

the suffragens resulting from your conference will be very helpful to me. I am, therefore, looking forward to conferring with your committee at the White House tomorrow afternoon."

The Secretary cautioned his audience against asking too much of government.

"Efforts to permanently help business must not leave out of consideration the facts that our greatest assets are human resources and the greatest attribute is human initiative," he said. "This initiative needs to be encouraged and not discouraged."

Roper expressed the hope that the results of the meeting would enable the President to get the picture of the situation as you see it and as you would like to have it presented to him."

Jesse H. Jones, Chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, speaking "as a little business man myself" drew a distinction between big and little business.

"By little business is meant something comparative, or relative," he said. "Organizations like General Motors, big steel, little steel, and so forth, are big business—and the rest of us are little business."

"We're happy when we're making a little money, when we're getting along," he said. "We're not happy" when we're not making money."

He said that, although the R. F. C. had not been able to meet many requests for loans, 459 of its 2,700 loans were for sums or less than $5,000, and that the average of all

DEATH SENTENCES AFFIRMED BY COURT

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today affirmed the death sentence assessed Tonnie Moore, Limestone county negro, for slaying Frank Bradford, Thornton hotel proprietor, May 10, 1937.

The appeals court rejected defense objections to trial proceedings and held evidence was "sufficient to support the conviction."

CHARLES ACKLAM DIES IN SHATTUCK, OKLA.

Charles W. Acklam, 69 years and 7 months, died at 11:30 o'clock last night in a Shattuck, Okla., hospital where he had been confined for three weeks. He had been a resident of Pampa for 10 years and was a prominent painter and paper-hanging contractor.

Mr. Acklam was born at Camp Point, Ill., in 1869. He came to Pampa from LaBelle, Mo., and was active in business until a few weeks ago. He had been in failing health for some time. The family residence is at 706 North Frost street.

Survivors are the widow, two sons, Raymond and Russell, both of Pampa, a sister, Mrs. Albert Felsman, Pampa, and a niece, Mrs. Bill Hawkins, Pampa.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in First Christian church with the Rev. John Mullen, pastor, and the Rev. James Todd Jr., pastor of the First Christian church, Panhandle, and former pastor of the local church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under direction of Pampa Mortuary.
