Organ Donation Provides Wife Solace After Husband's Death

DEAR ABBY: At 35, my flusband, Tony, was so gorgeous he stopped traffic. He was also artistic, talented. and had the biggest heart of anyone I'd ever met. Like most young couples, we dreamed of buying our first home, starting a family and growing old together. However, on Sept. 23, 1996, our dreams were shattered.

The memories are still a blur: The ambulance trip to the hospital. Emergency surgery for bleeding in the brain. The shocking discovery of a brain tumor. He was briefly conscious after surgery, then my darling slipped into a coma. The bleeding was unstoppable. Brain death was imminent.

That's when I met Mary. She was Tony's nurse in intensive care. from living donors. The good Mary asked me if Tony was an news is that living donation is organ donor. Hughes, who finished sixth at last week's World Figure Skating Championships, indicated she was uncertain if she wanted to continue skating. A high school senior, she also is considering several college options, including Harvard, to which she received an early acceptance.

GOLF

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) - A lack of rain has left the TPC at Sugarloaf uncharacteristically dry, with drives bounding through the hard fairways and approach shots rolling off the firm greens.

That's OK with Chris DiMarco.

DiMarco shot a 5-under 67 on Thursday in the first round of the BellSouth Classic, taking advantage of several short birdie chances after solid iron

He narrowly missed two more birdie putts from close range.

"The faster the better for me," DiMarco said. "I don't know why, but I just like really fast greens. I can see the lines better. I like this course, especially when it plays like this. I think it plays better fast and hard."

Six players were a shot back, including defending champ Retief Goosen, and another seven players were two strokes behind. The event is the final tuneup for the Masters, the first major of the year.

DiMarco, No. 10 in the tour's putting statistics, has finished in the top 10 three times in nine starts this year, yet hasn't felt comfortable with his

"I've been fighting my swing a little bit all year," he said. "Today was one of the better swinging rounds I've had where I was very consistent with my iron play and had a lot of really good shots at the hole.

"I was very much in control of my game, which I have not been that much this year."

Rookie John E. Morgan briefly took the lead at 6 under with a two-putt birdie on the par-5 fourth, his 13th hole, but a bogey three holes later moved him back into a tie with DiMarco.

Then Morgan made a double bogey on his final hole, the par-4 ninth, and joined that large group at

Royal Ivey: Longhorns' toughest defender

NEW ORLEANS (AP) get into an opponent's head and looking for laughs to keep Texas loose.

He's also the Longhorns' toughest defender, drawing the assignment of matching up with an opponent's best perimeter scorer.

"Everybody wants to score in basketball. Nobody wants to do the dirty work," Ivey said. "It's fun for me."

Steals, turnovers and missed shots are sure to turn on Ivey's motor mouth on the court.

"When Royal gets in somebody's head," center James Thomas said, "it's lights out."

He targets his teammates, too, notably Texas' stellar point guard T.J. Ford.

Rockies down Astros, 10-5

HOUSTON (AP) -Nelson Cruz and Bobby Estalella are trying to get more playing time with the Colorado Rockies.

They presented their argument well Thursday against the Houston Astros.

Cruz allowed two runs and two hits over five innings, and Estalella had the sixth multihomer game of his career, leading the Rockies to a 10-5 victory that prevented a three-game sweep.

Estalella, the Rockies' backup catcher, hit a solo homer in the second inning against Jeriome Robertson (0-1) and a two-run shot in a seven-run fifth.

"When you're not playing, it's nice to get some swings on the ball and make some contact," Estalella said. "The first homer was a slider down and the next one was a fastball up, I was just trying to get a good swing on them and not trying for a home

Cruz (1-0), making his first start for the Rockies, retired the final eight batters he faced, finishing with one strikeout and one walk.

"They don't think I can pitch but I think I can pitch," said Cruz, traded by Houston in the offseason. "My slider helped me I think. I'm a fastball-changeup pitcher but in the winter I worked on my slider. They hadn't seen that before."

The Rockies have been swept in their season-opening series once in franchise history. That came in 1993, their inaugural season.

Trailing 2-1, the Rockies broke the game open in the fifth. Jose Hernandez led off the inning with a single, and Estalella followed with a homer to make it 3-2. Chris Stynes doubled and scored on Ronnie Belliard's RBI

After an infield hit by Jay Payton, Todd Helton hit a two-run double. Larry Walker added a two-run to knock out triple Robertson.

Cruz threw 63 pitches and went one inning longer than he did in any spring outing. He was mostly a reliever the last two seasons for Houston, making only five starts.

"He was trying to show them that he can pitch," Belliard said. "I talked to him before the game and I told him to be calm and just pitch his game and keep the ball down."

Robertson, making his second career start, allowed eight runs and 10 hits in 4 1-3 innings. He became the team's No. 3 starter when the Astros released Shane Reynolds at the end of spring

It was Ivey who nicknamed Royal Ivey is always trying to Ford "Rat." During warmups before the East Regional final against Michigan State, Ivey teased Ford about his erratic jump shot, calling for "T with

> And when asked which player out there could shut Ford down, only one came to mind: Royal Ivey.

"I do it in practice every day," Ivey said with a smile, drawing a big laugh from Ford and a room full of reporters.

"That's my teammate," Ivey said. "I know all his moves."

And who's to argue? Texas coach Rick Barnes doesn't open his practices to the media, so only the Longhorns know what goes on behind closed

"Our guards go at it every day," is all Thomas will " divulge. "When he and T.J. go one-on-one, look out."

As Texas heads into its first Final Four since 1947 Saturday night against Syracuse, Ivey's next assignment is the Orangemen's star freshman forward Carmelo Anthony. Unlike the 5-foot-10 Ford, Anthony is a load at 6-8, 220 pounds, giving him 5 inches and 30 pounds over Ivey.

"He is a tough matchup," Barnes said. "Roy would be the guy that would start on him."

Ivey credits his development as a defender to his days as a dancer in high school in New York City.

He danced his way into the Cardozo magnet high school and hip-hop.

A shuffle here and a slidestep there help him stay with opponents on the court now.

"Defense is about coordination and timing," Ivey said. "Dancing helps with those."

Ivey started 26 games at point guard as a freshman at Texas before Ford arrived. He earned his reputation as a defensive stopper when he shut down former Stanford All-American Casey Jacobson in a Texas win in 2001.

Ivey held Jacobson to nine points on 3-for-17 shooting, jawing at him the whole game. He still calls that his best performance in both defending and getting into an opponent's head.

"I let him know I was going where he took courses in ballet to be with him all day. He kind of smiled at me like, 'Man, you can't guard me.' Then the ball went up and I shut him down," Ivev said.

One of his best games in the NCAA tournament came in a second-round win over Purdue.

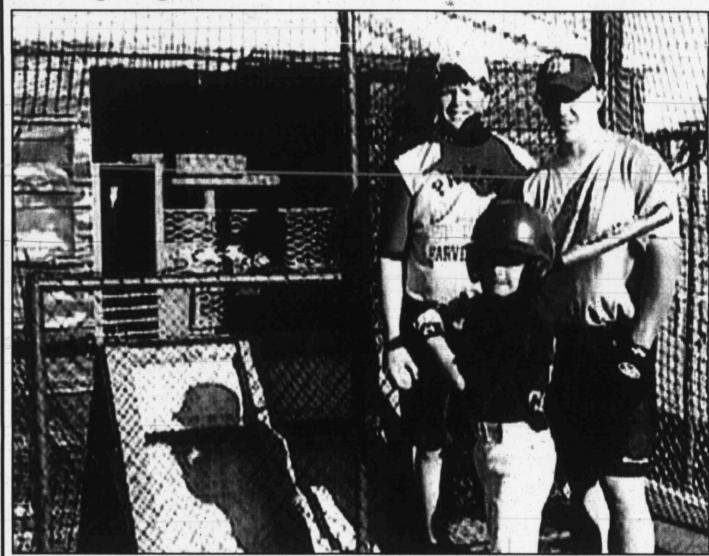

Ivey helped keep the Boilermakers' leading scorer Willie Deane to 13 points, five below his average, on 4-for-17 shooting. Deane missed all seven of his second-half shots.

Next, it's Anthony. Ivey confines his on-court verbal jabs to subtle, under-thebreath braggadocio meant solely for the ears of the intended target. He won't say what message he'll have for Anthony. "I can't give out my lines."

he said.

Batting cage

Harvester baseball players Jake Craig and Derek Lewis (far right) check out the batting cage with little leaguer Brent Green. The Pampa Baseball Booster Club is opening the batting cage so Optimist League players can get ready for the coming season. Batters can hit 30 balls for two dollars and players need to bring their own bat. Helmets will be provided. Pampa hosts Caprock at 1 Saturday, following immediately by the junior varsity game. JV players will work the cage during the varsity game and varsity players will be helping out during the JV game. There will be a concession stand available with homemade ice cream if weather permits.

A Final Four-ring basketball circus

By JIM LITKE

AP Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) -Like everything else about John Wooden, his retirement is the envy of coaches everywhere.

In 1975, in the aftermath of the Bruins' 10th national championship in 12 seasons, a UCLA booster sidled over to Wooden and said, "This makes up for you letting us down last year." The remark so disgusted the Wizard of Westwood that he resigned within days. More than a few of the men who followed him into the profession would love to have as much control over their destiny. That's how much of a cutthroat business it's become.

"It's shakier now than it's ever been," Oklahoma coach Kelvin Sampson said Thursday, on the eve of Final Four. And consider this: Sampson is one of the better-paid, most admired, successful and secure members of the fraternity.

It's hard to say whether college basketball sunk to a new low earlier this week by firing Matt Doherty at North Carolina at the behest of his players and their parents. That's only because no one can say for sure where the bottom is anymore.

Just two weeks earlier, UCLA fired Steve Lavin after the school's first losing season in 55 years, even though Lavin went 145-78 in the Sweet 16 five times in six years, a feat matched only by Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski.

Because of the revenue bigtime programs generate, few people would dispute that the pressure from the administration to win games and fill seats is greater than ever. The scrutiny was tough enough when it was limited to the newspapers and TV. Now the Internet has become a haven for disgruntled fans and a clearinghouse for half-baked rumors.

"There's no silent majority anymore," Sampson said.

coach Mike Stanford concurred: Montgomery "Before, the business within the program stayed within the program. It's like a family; you have disagreements and spats. Only now everybody knows about it."

There have been worse years for coaches, from a numbers standpoint.

Five years ago, 63 jobs changed hands. This year, with 327 Division I programs up and running, the total will be less than half that.

But when marquee schools like UCLA and North Carolina are part of the mix, and two Final Four coaches - Kansas' Roy Williams and Marquette's Tom Crean - spend part of every day being grilled about their plans, it makes the game's showcase event feel more unsettled than usual.

"I don't really let it be a dis-seven years and took the Bruins to traction," Crean said. "When your name is recognized for doing a good job, anybody who would say that that isn't flattering is not telling you the truth. You'd rather be known for that > than for being on a hot seat." Williams would endorse that last statement, but not the first one. Perhaps Crean feels the way he does because he's a rising star in the business and in just his fourth season at Marquette.

> Williams, meanwhile, is in his 15th season at Kansas, and in terms of timing, the distraction couldn't be worse. The former Dean Smith assistant needs a national title to fill the remain ing gap on his resume.

He turned down the job at his alma mater three seasons ago and UNC devotees tried to coax him back every time Doherty stumbled. Williams' name was attached almost as firmly to the UCLA job that went to former Pitt coach Ben Howland. He's left dozens of questions and a string of nondenial denials in his wake.

"I haven't spent one second thinking about it, except that nobody can understand English enough to take an answer that my team deserves me to be focused on what I am," Williams said.

Rally scoring will change sport of volleyball

In case you missed it, Texas high school and junior high volleyball teams will use rally scoring starting next season.

Look for the sport to be more entertaining because points will be awarded on each play, regardless of which teams serves. The side-out system has been eliminated.

Matches will be best three of five and each game will be played to 25 points. Let serves will also be allowed.

The University Interscholastic League Borger announced the change last week, putting Texas ahead of a move for the 2004-2005 season mandated by the National Federation of State son ranked No. 7 in the nation. High School Associations.

"After much deliberation, it was determined that the best option was to begin using the rally scoring format immediately, rather than putting it off for a year," said Rache Seewald, UIL athletic coordinator.

One of those athletes, Randy Matson, comes as no surprise. The Olympic gold medalist owns the shot put mark of 65-0 1/2, which was set in 1963.

In the girls' division, Pampa's 800-meter relay team of Schivonne Parker, Yolanda Brown, Laquita Brown and Tanya Lidy still hold the 1:41.14 record set in 1987. The year before, Lidy had ran a 24.14 in the 200, a record that still stands.

Pampa's last record-holder was Barbara Wine who threw the shot put 44-8 in the '98 Amarillo Relays.

Hurdler Randy Lightfoot isn't a Pampa native, but he was The Pampa News Sports Editor in the late 1970's. Lightfoot was a Plainview pheom who still holds the record in both the 110 hurdles (13.5) and 300 hurdles (37.9) set in 1971.

If it's not a record, it's a rarity.

Senior pitcher Ryan Zemanek in a March 28 game against Palo Duro started off by not throwing a pitch that was called a ball in 20 consecutive pitches.

Pampa won the District 3-4A contest 8-4 and Zemanek pitched seven innings for the vic-

St. John's completes turnaround with NIT title

NEW YORK (AP) -Even at the lowest point this season, Marcus Hatten had faith that St. John's would finish with a flourish.

He was exactly right.

The Red Storm turned a mediocre season into a splendid one Thursday night, beating Georgetown 70-67 for their record sixth National Invitation Tournament title.

Hatten was the tournament's MVP — and he won the first championship of his

"I'm thankful to my teammates," Hatten said. "This team never gave up on me. These guys wanted me to be a champion."

On March 2, St. John's was 12-12. A 72-71 win over Duke changed everything. The Red Storm (21-13) finished the season with wins in nine of their last 10 games, including rallies in the NIT semifinals and final.

All their games in the NIT tournament were in New York, and boisterous fans stormed the court after the victory.

"This team did something very special," coach Mike Jarvis said. "I have never been prouder of a group of kids than this one."

St. John's won its first NIT title since 1989 and has the most victories in the tournament's history (45). The Red Storm expected to win another title, even posting a note in the locker room that said, "Know your ring size. St. John's goes for No. 6."

"We were down and people doubted us," freshman Elijah Ingram said. "People didn't think we'd be here to win it all. Proving people wrong is a great feeling."

Ingram made two free throws with 4.1 seconds remaining to seal the game. Tony Bethel missed a 3pointer that would have tied it as the buzzer sounded. "No pressure,"

Ingram, who added 19 points. "I was looking forward to getting the ball and getting fouled."

Georgetown big man Michael Sweetney led the Hoyas (19-15) with 25 points, nine rebounds and six blocks. Bethel had 12 points, and Gerald Riley added 10.

Before Ingram made the free throws, the Hoyas had a chance to win. Hatten made one of two free throws to give St. John's a 68-67 lead with 1:13 to go.

On their possession, the Hoyas failed to get the ball inside to Sweetney. They were forced to pass the ball outside, and Riley missed a shot with 4.1 seconds to go. That's when Ingram made his final free throws.

"Gerald has won or tied a lose to anybody." lot of games for us this year. I'll definitely live with that shot," Georgetown coach Craig Esherick said. "He's somebody I'm going to have shoot the ball again." The Hoyas led 38-34 at halftime but didn't score for nearly six minutes in the secadvantage. Hatten scored the in a week or so."

Red Storm's first seven points, and they never gave up the lead.

Despite the loss, the Hoyas also had a turnaround season. At one point they were 10-10 after losing six straight. Next season, they could be without one of the biggest reasons they made the NIT.

Sweetney, a junior, said he has not decided whether he will stay in school or leave early for the NBA draft. Underclassmen have until May 12 to declare for the draft.

In the consolation game, Texas Tech beat Minnesota

Andre Emmett led Texas Tech (22-13) with 23 points and eight rebounds.

But coach Bob Knight was more concerned with the rescue of POW Army Pfc. Jessica Lynch. Her convoy was attacked March 23 after making a wrong turn in southern Iraq.

"I think it was her mother that was quoted as saying when they captured her, her gun was empty. She had emptied it," Knight said. "God, what a kid! If we had five of her I don't think we would Rick Rickert, a 6-foot-11, 216-pound sophomore, finished with eight points. Michael Bauer led the Gophers (19-14) with 14 points, nine on 3-pointers.

Rickert also is contemplating leaving early for the draft.

"I can't answer that right ond half. St. John's took now," Rickert said. "I'll know

Bob Melvin's first win as a manager sure didn't come easily.

Seattle blew two late leads before Ben Davis led off the 11th inning with a homer and the visiting Mariners held off the Oakland Athletics 7-6 Thursday.

"They made me work for that first one," said Melvin, who took over for Lou Piniella after last season. "By the (11th) inning, I was peeking around the door of the dugout bathroom. I asked (pitching coach) Bryan Price: 'Does it have to be this hard?' I don't know how many of those games you can survive in a season.'

Seattle led 4-3 in the ninth, but Scott Hatteberg tied it with an RBI single off closer Kazuhiro Sasaki.

Davis' first hit of the season was a homer to left-center off Ricardo Rincon

"I don't hit very many of them, so I don't want anyone to notice when I hit one," Davis said of his 27th career homer. "It's going to be like this a lot in our division. There's going to be a lot of close games, and we're going to have to get used to it."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, April

Make the most of the many opportunities that come down your path. You might not always be sure of yourself, especially in the face of public opinion. Know that you are fairly anchored. Trust in yourself and don't always internalize all feedback. Think in terms of gains. If you are single, you will discover a lot more of what you want in a relationship. This person easily could become quite special. f you are attached, your bond will benefit from more active communication and better understanding. GEMINI understands your humor.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll 5-Dynamic; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

* * Being stubborn could just be the beginning of your problems. What is the purpose of getting stuck on having things your way? You might want to loosen up some. A discussion is way overdue. Enjoy yourself on a deeper, more profound level. Tonight: At a favorite spot, doing something you love. TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

* * * You might drive a hard bargain without intending to. In any case, your self-expression might be a lot different from what you intended. Lighten up a discussion with a child or loved one, if you want results. Being insistent gets you nowhere. Tonight: Go with the flow.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)  Evaluate changes that have occurred recently. You might want to take a deep breath and think before you leap into a discussion later in the day. You might be making mountains out of mole hills. Claim your power in the afternoon, when everything goes a little haywire. Tonight: You're in your element. CANCER (June 21-July 22)

 * Realize when enough is enough. Be willing to put a halt to a problem when a partner heads your way. Take a deep breath and listen to your inner dialogue. Important information comes your way. Listen to your instincts with a partner. Tonight: Home is where LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

* * * You might be overextended. By the nature of someone's reaction, you get that distinct impression. Take your time and slow down. Re-focus on friendship and the quality of what you want. Bring others together in a more joyful manner. Tonight: Where the action is. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

* * Make a long-distance call. You find those at a distance particularly intriguing. Someone wants to offer you a lot more. Are you willing to go for it? Your nerves could be a bit fried by recent events. Check in with a relative or boss in the p.m. Tonight: A must show.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)  Do more for others right now, especially as you might not have the control you desire. Examine what might be going on with a child or loved one. Allow more humor into your life. Lighten up. Detach with caring. Gain a new perspective. Tonight: Accept an invitation to a concert or an exotic restaurant SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)  You find a partner determined and ready to create an uproar if he or she must. Discuss more carefully what might be ailing this person. A discussion over a meal draws the two of you together.

Being right doesn't support making peace. Tonight: Be a duo.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)  Emphasize a project and not the uproar around it. Once you complete what you have to do, you'll feel like a brand-new person. A partner or dear friend gets plain old excited by the options you present." Go with the moment. Tonight: Accept an invitation. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

* * A risk certainly does not pay off today or in the near future. Be more in touch with your feelings. You don't have to do much to communicate your bottom line. Pitch in and make that extra effort. You do count. Tonight: Take it easy. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

 You cause more upset than you anticipate. Loosen up and make what you want possible. Your laughter helps others see the humor in what otherwise might be considered a disaster. Add that extra sparkle. Others do appreciate what you're about. Tonight: Dance the night

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 You don't need to explain, especially as your shocked look says it all. The feeling that everything can and will work is quickly tested. Establish boundaries in your immediate environment. You like what happens around you. Tonight: Invite others over.

longer under control of Saddam's regime, President Bush and British Prime Minister Tony Blair scheduled meetings in Northern Ireland on Monday and Tuesday to discuss battle plans and the future of postwar Iraq. It will be their third face-to-face talk in just over three weeks.

In western Iraq, 80 miles from the Syrian border, a car exploded at a checkpoint, killing three coalition soldiers, the driver and a pregnant woman who had emerged from the car screaming in fear, U.S. officials said. Central Command said it appeared to be a suicide attack, similar to the bombing at a checkpoint in south-central Iraq last week that killed four U.S. soldiers.

Michael Kelly, a Washington Post columnist and editor-at-large for The Atlantic Monthly, became the first embedded journalist killed in Iraq when he died Thursday night in a Humvee accident. Kelly, 46, who had also covered the first Gulf War, was the first fatality among the 600 embedded journalists with the U.S. armed forces.

Though their troops were still searching underground bunkers for Iraqi holdouts, U.S. commanders announced that the Baghdad airport was under American control by midafternoon. It was renamed Baghdad International Airport instead of Saddam International Airport.

"It is the gateway to the future of Iraq," said Brooks, indicating the airport could be in use by U.S. forces within 36 hours.

South of the capital, near the city of Kut, Marines said they had accepted the surrender of about 2,500 members of the Republican Guard, according to Navy Capt. Frank Thorp, a Central Command spokesman.

Thorp said some of the Iraqis would be held as prisoners, while others who indicated they don't want to fight will be allowed to return home. Before surrendering, Thorp said, many of the Iraqis discarded uniforms, boots and helmets in the streets.

Though Marines and infantrymen were converging by the thousands on the outskirts of Baghdad, U.S. officials, both on the front lines and at the Pentagon, suggested an allout assault might not be their first option.

Lt. Col. Scott Rutter, whose infantry battalion was helping secure the airport, said the approach of U.S. forces should send a message to the people of Baghdad.

"We're here, and they can rise up and deal with the regime appropriately," he said.

Similarly, President Bush's top military adviser, Joint Chiefs of Staff chairman Gen. Richard Myers, said U.S. troops forces might isolate Baghdad, rather than storming it, while work begins on forming an interim, post-Saddam government. Meyers estimated that Saddam's regime already has lost effective control of 45 percent of Iraq's territory.

As Iraqis were cleared out of the airport, helicopter units of the 101st Airborne Division started to move in, presumably to use the facility as a base from which to strike at targets around Baghdad.

Britain's defense secretary, Geoff Hoon, told BBC radio that the takeover was "a huge psychological blow to the regime. It demonstrates to the regime and the people of Baghdad that we're there.

In support of the ground troops, Navy warplanes from the carrier USS Kitty Hawk dropped satellite- and laser-guided bombs on hangars and a fuel depot at the airport, and struck a nearby military complex.

Coalition forces also bombed Iraqi Air Force headquarters in central Baghdad early Friday, one of many air assaults on the smoke-filled capital. Blasts on the outskirts before dawn shook buildings in the city cen-

The air strikes came after the first widespread power outage of the war plunged Baghdad into darkness Thursday night and cut off running water in some neighborhoods. Though some bombs hit the city before the blackout, U.S. military officials said they had not targeted Baghdad's power

A sustained power outage would disrupt water supply and sewage, and create the threat of outbreaks of disease among the population of 5 million. Generators prevented the blackout from affecting hospitals crowded Friday with civilians and soldiers injured in fighting around the airport.

Some U.S. troops, inspecting an industrial site near Baghdad on Friday, found thousands of boxes of white powder, as well as nerve agent antidote and Arabic documents on how to engage in chemical warfare. However, a senior U.S. official said initial testing indicated the white powder was explosives, not chemical or biological weapons.

Iraqi resistance to the American advance on Baghdad has been sporadic. U.S. Marines said they killed about 80 Iraqis in an intense battle Thursday in Kut, but in other areas Republican Guard soldiers dispersed or surrendered.

U.S. soldiers of the 3rd Battalion, 7th Infantry captured four Republican Guardsmen south of Baghdad on Friday after a 30-second gunbattle over a vegetable patch. Two of the Iragis were in uniform; two had changed into civilian clothes.

The Marines' 1st Division was poised on the southeast outskirts of Baghdad after advancing along the Tigris River past abandoned Iraqi positions. Though temperatures headed into the 90s, Marines wore stifling chemical suits to protect against possible toxic attacks.

obtained by contacting the rodeo office at 200 N. Ballard or by calling 669-0434. Deadline for returning the entries is June 13.

Pageant organizers said the deadline is later this year than in recent years, and there will be no extension of the deadline in 2003. Young ladies are encouraged to enter as soon as possible in order to get all information in on time.

The Luncheon and Style Show will once again be held at the Pampa Community Building, 200 N. Ballard. Beginning at 11:30 a.m. Thursday, July 10, the contestants will be participating by modeling western fashions and giving a three minute speech on the area from which they entered the pageant. Reservations are recommended as early as possible due to limited space.

Winners will receive many outstanding prizes including saddles, buckles, tiaras and other beautiful items. Horse products, jewelry, clothing and other prizes totaling over $3,000 will be presented to the winners of the appearance, personality and horsemanship categories. A scholarship will also be presented to Miss Rodeo Top O' Texas.

Past winners of the Miss Rodeo Top O' Texas and Miss Rodeo Top O' Texas Teen contests have gone on to participate and win on the state and national level. Hopefully, this years' winners will be working to achieve these pres-

All contestants may participate in an additional competition to see who can sell the most rodeo tickets. As this will not be a part of the official judging, the contestant selling the most tickets will receive a generous prize.

Kemph-Adamson, director of the pageant, was Miss Rodeo Top O' Texas 1998. During her reign, she made many public appearances. She has remained active with the pageant and various other benefits since her tenure as Miss Rodeo Top O' Texas.

SHOOTING

"We don't know yet if the shooting was intentional or if she (Williams) was caught in some crossfire," said Chief Pitner.

He said there are several people who have been interviewed and the police possibly have four suspects. After conducting a house-to-house search in the area of the shooting, Pitner said officers have recovered two weapons, but do not know if these were the weapons which caused Williams' death. He did not elaborate on the type of weapons.

Pitner said the local department will be closely patrolling day - almost wiping the tribe of Benjamin off the map. (Judges 19-21). This battle was not because brothers hated brothers. It was to bring judgment against sins and crimes.

For God to sanction a battle like this, of men against their own brethren, reveals how he hates sexual sins and all other sins that call for the death penalty. Is the USA guilty today? Was 9-11-2001 a call for America to repent of sins? How many have quit practicing sins since then?

I am a strong believer in President Bush and I believe he is trying to do in this war what we should have done 12 years ago when our president called upon the United States to fast and pray for victory in Desert Storm. President Bush believes in the same God that all the people on the Mayflower believed in when they came to this country. But many in power are doing all they can to keep us from praying to that living God in heaven. They re crying, "separation of church and state," and all the while they violate the First Amendment by restricting our freedom to mention God's goodness in public places where a few pennies of government money goes.

Our New Testament God, the Father, Son and the Holy Ghost, is still severe against sin when we stand before Him. His grace and Spirit are more mighty than the Devil and we do not have to practice sinning in our daily lives. My friend, seek Christ and obey Him.

Shamrock, Plainview and

The present pastor, Rev. Thacker Haynes, is the greatgreat-grandson of charter member Louisa C. Haynes. Rev. Haynes also pastors the McLean United Methodist Church.

Many times the small church seemed destined to fail, but there were always the "faithful few" who rallied to carry it on. The present church building was begun March 6, 1929, and the dedication followed a year later.

Early settlers in the community helped with the building of the church including the Bailey, Earp, Roach, Saye, Cooper, Wilson, and A.P. Rippy families.

A dozen Chinese elm trees, noted one diary entry, were purchased from Bruce Nursery at Alanreed and planted in February 1930. The first Vacation Bible School was in 1934 while Vernon Henderon was pastor. It was combined with Alanreed so both churches could partici-

The kerosene lamps could finally be put away when electricity was added in 1947. In 1950 two classrooms in the basement were finished.

Perhaps the most radical change occurred in 1992, under the leadership of Rev. Jill Wiley, when members undertook another renovation; using some reserved CDs and their own manpower. A special groundbreaking was held Feb. 16, 1992, to commemorate the addition of indoor plumbing which meant restrooms and a kitchenette could be added.

Members had to drill a well and put in a septic tank. A 20x30-foot addition was added to the building and ramps were installed from the sanctuary to the basement for those with handicaps.

Dedication of the new Heald Community Fellowship Hall was May 3, 1992, part of the church's 89th homecoming party and an old-fashioned Christmas Eve tree held annually for the small community.

Charter members were Mrs. Elliot Whitely, Mrs. Martha W. Robinson, Mrs. Loraine Morris, J.A. Haynes, nized as the first church in the L. Haynes, Anna Mable Haynes, Mattie E. Taylor, Milledge Taylor and James A. Taylor. They were joined by II during the year making a total of 21.

> Stained glass windows in front of church are given in memory of Mary Rippy and Martha Rogers from family in the 1940s. Stained glass window on the south is given in memory of Virginia Tate from family in 1994. In 2002, the Cunningham family gave stained glass window on the north in honor of Russ and Linnie Cunningham.

On Dec. 16, 2002, Heald erected a steeple. Until then, the church had never had one. Member Donnie Basham, with Kinneth along Hambright (builder of the steeple) placed the steeple, watched by ground crew members Dora Bailey, Conald and Sara Cunningham, Bonnie Bailey, Gabe and Cozy Parson, Tye Thompson, Mickey Jackson and Pastor

That same month, strong Texas Panhandle winds blew down the outhouse that was built by the WPA back in 1929. Since the outhouse is an integral part of the church's history, the congregation decided to rebuild it. Robert Mrs. Louisa C. Haynes, Willie Richards, brother-in-law of member Betty Tate, rebuilt the outhouse and added a windbreak at the east door to help save the new storm door that member Donnie Basham installed.

Earlier in the fall, two blue spruce trees were planted to replace large evergreens that were dying.

By 2003, the Heald church membership had grown to 28. An adult Sunday School Class was started in 2002 by Windell Knutson. Regular worship services are at 9:15 a.m. each Sunday morning with Rev. Haynes. Dora Bailey and Conald Cunningham lead congregation in gospel music. Other musicians include Cozy Parson, Betty Kaiser, Linda McDonald, Robert Martindale and Tye Thompson.

A church history book, photo albums of church events of the past years will be available. Also videos will be available to look at different events

The SHALLEST PROPLE on Earth?

There is a group of people in Central Africa, and they only grow to be from 4 feet to 4 feet 8 inches tall.

These people, known as pygmies, live in parts of Africa including Zaire, the Congo, Rwanda and Burundi. There are about 250,000 total. Sometimes called Negrillos, pygmies live in temporary camps throughout forests. A camp is usually made up of about 10 huts made of trees and covered with leaves.

Pygmies hunt, fish and collect insects and wild plants for food. Each group usually hunts in a different way. They hunt with bows and arrows that are sometimes poisoned, crossbows and nets. Tracking is done by the men of the group, but the women help hunt. When members of the group hunt together, the food is shared by the group.

Because they do not work with iron or clay, they trade with neighbors for pots, knives and other things they need. Along with trading with neighboring farmers, pygmies participate in their social activities and ceremonies. They speak a variety of languages, usually picking them up from neighboring people.

The basic social unit consists of 20 or more people. Pygmies usually marry people from other pygmy groups, many times by exchanging sisters. The eldest male has authority over the others in the group.

The Man Behind The Shows

Some people respect him, others don't. But no matter what you think of him, he's been successful in television.

Aaron Spelling has dominated TV through a number of decades—from "The Mod Squad" in the 1960s to "Melrose Place" today. His TV shows include "The Love Boat," "Charlie's Angels," "Starsky and Hutch," "Dynasty," "Beverly Hills 90210" and "7th Heaven." He has produced more than 50 TV series, 10 theatrical films and about 150 made-for-TV movies and has won many awards.

Life didn't start out successfully for Spelling. As a poor kid growing up in Texas, he was regularly beaten up. Spelling's dad was a tailor and worked for entertainers that would come through Texas. Sometimes they gave him passes to movies and shows, and this was Spelling's first taste of the world of entertainment.

While he was in college and the Air Force, he wrote and directed local plays. To break into show business, Spelling took small acting parts. He also continually wrote scripts and sent them to producers and TV shows.

Spelling has definitely come a long way from his humble beginnings. Along with his media empire, Spelling also owns one of the largest homes in Los Angeles County. It has 12 bedrooms, a screening room, an editing room, his wife's doll museum, a videogame and pool room, a swimming pool and a bowling alley.

If you watch "Beverly Hills 90210," you have probably seen his children. Spelling's daughter, Tori, plays Donna; and his son, Randy, has also appeared on the show.
