New 'Purge' Brings Soviet Leaders To Trial

Among 21 former leaders of the Soviet Union facing melodramatic charges of treasonably planning since 1918, the overthrow of the Communist regime, the four men shown above are outstanding. Alexei Rykov, Commissar of Communications, was once a member of the first Council of People's Commissars. He, with Nikolai Bukharin, former official newspaper editor, ex-chief of the Political Bureau and colleague of Lenin, is accused of ambition to head a new government following planned assassination of Lenin, Stalin and Sverdlov, first Soviet President. Henry Yagoda, one-time head of the dreaded OGPU who sent many before death tribunals, later became Commissar for Posts, Telegraph and Radio. Gregory F. Grinko is former Commissar of Finance.

Popular Principal Leads School in Many Activities

Frank Monroe, Pampa's newest public school principal, is an outstanding leader in all of the activities of the Woodrow Wilson school.

"At the beginning of the term, Mr. Monroe made a thorough study of the Parent-Teacher association aims, ideals, and working plans and soon began to make these plans work," Mrs. T. F. Morton, president of the Woodrow Wilson P. T. A. said in discussing his merits.

"Principal Monroe, who recently was presented a life membership in the P. T. A. by the Woodrow Wilson unit, uses original ideas in putting out a unique page to inform the parents of the subject to be discussed at the monthly meeting of the organization," Mrs. Morton continued.

"This new school leader enters enthusiastically into every discussion group, meets with all committees, and carries the greatest part of the responsibility in executing the work of the committees.

"Through his business ability, he has saved the P. T. A. a large sum of money and has made it possible for the school to take care of a debt which was left from last year," she pointed out.

"Working quietly and efficiently, Mr. Monroe goes ahead as a leader in the activities of the school," Mrs. Morton added.

Engagement of McLean Minister Announced Recently

McLEAN, March 3—Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Daisy E. Newlon of Pawhuska, Oklahoma, to the Rev. W. A. Erwin, minister of the First Presbyterian church of McLean.

The announcement was made at a banquet tendered the official board of the church and department heads and their wives by Rev. Erwin at the manse Tuesday evening March 2.

The wedding rites will be said Tuesday March 22, at the home of the bride's brother, Frank Newlon at Colony, Kansas. The couple will be at home at the manse in McLean Saturday, March 26.

Miss Newlon has for the past 11 years been librarian at the Pawhuska City library. She attended Baker university at Baldwin, Kansas, and took her degree at the State Teachers college at Emporia. She did post-graduate work at Chicago university, taught English in the Colony high school for ten and one-half years, and later returned to the State Teachers college for a library course. She is a member of the state and local chapters of the American Association of University Women and is active in all church and school affairs.

Rev. Erwin who is now in his tenth year as minister of the First Presbyterian church of McLean, was educated at Trinity university. He was minister of the Central Presbyterian church of Amarillo at one time and was minister at Pawhuska for five years. He was in general evangelistic work, largely union tabernacle meetings, all over the Middle West for a period of 12 years.

Rev. Erwin has done, in the words of one of the strongest Presbyterian ministers of this section, "The most remarkable piece of work in McLean that has been done in the Southwest." The local church membership has increased from 67 to well over 200 under his leadership.

Rev. Erwin has been active in school and civic affairs. He has held an office in the Lions club and chamber of commerce. He has been called upon much for commencement addresses, and is now rounding out three such addresses for the local high school and three for the ward school.

Carefully separate the whites and yolks of four eggs, and be sure to keep the yolks whole. Beat the whites adding a little salt, then fill buttered baking dishes or custard cups two-thirds full of the beaten whites. Carefully drop a yolk on top of each cupful, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with butter and then bake until the yolks are set (about seven minutes). Sprinkle with grated cheese, chili sauce or catsup and serve in the baking dish.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART.

The beauty-minded who are budget-bound pay the price of being beautiful in time rather than money. They brush their own hair instead of depending on frequent treatments for hair and scalp health. They are experts at the art of home facials.

They know how to shop and to care for their clothes and so manage always to look neat, smart and perfectly groomed in spite of a limited supply of costumes or of money for cleaners' bills.

If you can afford to go to an exercise salon for body massage treatments and special exercises under the watchful eye of a teacher, you probably have—at least you SHOULD have—few figure problems. If not, you still can be slim and keep a youthful figure through the years. It comes right down to whether or not you would rather be slender than eat everything in sight. And whether or not you are willing to do a few simple exercises regularly, walk at least a mile a day.

Professional scalp treatments are wonderful, of course and it's nice to be able to go to an excellent beauty shop as often as you please, but if these ideas are entirely out of line with the amount of money you have to spend on your appearance, you still can have lovely hair.

Proof of this is a woman who recently made a trip to New York from the little Canadian village 3500 miles north of the St. Lawrence River, where she has lived for three and a half years. There are only seven white families in that Arctic town, where it's six months day and six months night—no beauty shop.

Supper Fetes New Church Members

New members who have joined the First Methodist church since the church conference in October were recognized at the regular monthly Fellowship supper at the church last evening.

A Texas history decorative note was carried out at the six tables which were centered with the various flags of Texas history. Each table was decorated in the colors of the particular country which ruled the state and large flags in groups of six were used on the stage. Flags made by the children of Mrs. Sam Irwin's room of the Sam Houston school completed the color theme.

Following the covered dish supper, the men's class furnished a chorus which sang two songs. Roger McConnell, chairman of the Board of Stewards, gave a short talk on "What is the Board of Stewards?" Mrs. Horace McBea gave several interesting items on the work of the Woman's Missionary union, preceding a talk by R. A. Selby on the church school and a discussion of the new parsonage a project now before the people of the church, by Farris Oden.

Is This the Reason You Are Constipated?

If you're wondering why your bowel don't work right—don't think about what you eat. Bread, meat, eggs and potatoes. All good nourishing foods—but all concentrated "lacking in bulk." And you need "bulk!" Some food that forms a soft, spongy mass in the bowels—helps lean move.

It's this fact of "bulk" that's causing your constipation. Kellogg's All-Bran is just what you need. It soaks up water and softens the stool. And this soft mass helps your bowels move. In addition, All-Bran gives you Nature's great intestinal tonic, Vitamin B₁. But this crisp crunchy cereal every day, gives plenty of water and enjoy happier days. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Mich. by every grocer.

DEPOSED CHIEF CONFESSES TO HIS VILLAINY

MOSCOW, March 3 (AP)—Vladimir I. Ivanoff, deposed chief of the Soviet timber industry, testified today he plotted to turn Russia's northern forests over to English magnates as compensation for British aid in the overthrow of the Soviet regime.

Testifying at his trial with 20 other defendants charged with treasonable conspiracy, Ivanoff said that since 1934 he had spied for the British intelligence service on borders of the former Izvestia editor Nikolai Bucharin's rightist center. Bucharin also is on trial.

The lumber concessions were to be granted to British firms, Ivanoff said, under plans drawn by his predecessor, Loboff.

Another defendant A. P. Rosenholz, as Commissioner for foreign trade "sold the lumber to England at a tremendous loss to prove the center had power," the witness testified.

"It was a sort of deposit on account."

Former Informer

Ivanoff, who was chief of the Soviet's highly important timber industry up to a few months ago, eagerly told his judges he was a former Communist informer who joined the Bolsheviks as provocateur.

"Like a crow smelling carrion I joined the left Communists," Ivanoff testified.

As Bucharin organized opposition within the Communist party, including bands to murder Lenin, Ivanoff said he went along with the Bucharin program.

"It was guilty of the worst crimes as a member of the rightist bloc," was Ivanoff's opening remark when he began his testimony, in which he said he was "ready to reveal all my crimes and those of others."

Ex-Editor Moralizes

Bucharin, who formerly edited official Soviet newspapers and was a close associate of Lenin, appeared frail and shrunken.

"I want the whole world to see how certain deviations can lead to horrible developments," he explained.

Disputing Ivanoff's statement that he (Bucharin) had said in 1928 the time was ripe for an armed uprising, Bucharin said it was in 1932.

"I gave the uprising its orientation," he said. "Let me be held responsible for everything it involves."

"You will be, without your special request," Vishinsky shot back.

Retorted Bucharin:

"I know, but now is neither the time nor place for witticisms. When it comes to jokes I am capable of them too, and not mean ones."

Vishinsky yesterday drew from 20 of 21 defendants in the trial which dwarfed those of 1936 and 1937, apparently willing admissions that they had plotted arrest and murder of communist party and government leaders and capture of power in the Soviet Union.

PLAINS EDUCATORS TO HEAR TALK BY BOWERS

CANYON, March 3.—R. S. Bowers of Caldwell, president of the Texas State Board of Education, who will be one of the speakers at the Northwest Texas Conference for Education here March 18-19, received his early education in Tennessee, his native state, but taught his first school near Paragould, Ark.

Later he taught school in west Tennessee, attended and was graduated at Cumberland University's law school, and moved to Caldwell to practice law in 1900. As a state senator from that district, he helped pass the constitutional resolution for a State Board of Education, which the voters adopted. He was appointed to the new board in 1933, and now is its president.

KELLERVILLE CHORUS ON PROGRAM OF KPND

KELLERVILLE, March 3.—The Kellerville school chorus, "The Texas Bluebonnet Girls," assisted by the Kellerville vocal quartet and the McLean high school instrumental trio will present a 30-minute program over radio station KPND Saturday from 2-2:30 p. m.

Two songs, "Just a Friendly Western Welcome" and "Rose of Pampa" which have been written and arranged especially for this particular occasion dedicated to the "City At The Top O' Texas" will be featured.

An imaginary journey, "Around The World" will be made by the chorus and characters attired in native costumes representing the nations through which they travel singing folk songs by other lands.

A full sports schedule also has been arranged. A special program of wrestling bouts, athletic contests for boys and girls with liberal cash prizes in each event, and a basket-

Band concerts, public speaking, and special theater programs also will attract a large number of visitors to the city to help Borgerans make merry.

Borger invites you to come and take part in this gala birthday celebration.

TODAY'S SERMONETTE
God can use whatever talents and whatever possession men have for His glory, and when Moses doubted that he could accomplish the work God had assigned him, we are told the Lord asked him, "What is in thine hand?" And he said, "A rod." And God used the rod to show him that if God was with him he could accomplish anything that was good.—Chivers.

SERVICE TO THE NATION

In sponsoring National Used Car Exchange Week the automobile industry is doing a vital service to the nation.

When the history of the present recession comes to be written, it may surprisingly be recorded that the upturn began in March, coincident with the national effort of the industry to liquidate its used car stocks, improve new car sales and start the factory wheels turning again at full speed.

The automobile industry is a major factor in the national economy. Upon it such industries as steel, rubber, petroleum, glass, textiles and many others depend for an important share of their business. When the motor industry is booming the country booms. When it slows up so does business throughout the nation.

What happened to the automobile industry last fall is common knowledge today. Used cars clogged the market as winter came on. New car sales slowed down because dealers could no longer handle trade-ins in normal volume. Unable to move out new cars, manufacturers were forced to restrict production. Thousands of workers were thrown out of work or put on part-time schedules. Business hesitation developed. The average citizen drew his purse strings, waited to see what was going to happen. That is what is the matter with business today. No one is to blame. The law of supply and demand hasn't yet been repealed.

Now the automobile industry, including co-operating dealers in Pampa, has determined courageously to attack the problem at its source, to stimulate used car sales so that normal production of new cars can be resumed.

National Used Car Exchange Week, which opens in Pampa Saturday, has a solid foundation. Wise men buy when prices are lowest. Never before has the industry been able to offer such a wide selection of modern used cars at rock-bottom prices. Next week will offer the public of the Pampa area a golden opportunity to buy a better car.

TIME FOR ALIBIS PAST

Congress can no longer think up workable alibis if it refuses to repeal or drastically amend the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes.

Scores of leading economists and newspapers have gone on record as saying that these taxes are largely responsible for the business slump. The larger businesses of the country are solidly aligned against the taxes. And now it is apparent that small business has taken a similar position. At the recent meeting of representative "little business men" in Washington, these two taxes came in for almost unanimous criticism.

Furthermore, half-way measures won't do. These taxes must be radically changed if business is to be encouraged in this country.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life ... By R. C. Hoiles

MOST DISCOURAGING

Among the most discouraging things we have heard recently were the answers received in a recent radio forum in Los Angeles, where people were called in promiscuously from the street and asked whether they believed it was to the public interest to compel people to join a union whether they wanted to or not.

About four out of five persons believed that unions raised wages of the worker and, therefore, were beneficial. This is especially discouraging, inasmuch as the Los Angeles Times has been attempting to educate people on this subject for years. If such a large percentage of the people in a city like Los Angeles believe that labor unions raise wages, there is little hope for any recession in laws which attempt to force wages up arbitrarily.

However, it is probable that at no time in all history did a very large percentage of people understand how real wages were raised. They did not understand that wages can be raised in one way and in one way only; that is, not by force, not by public opinion, not by votes, not by collective bargaining, but by furnishing the laborers with better tools and better management and a better organization, which is really a form of capital.

Probably we will have to allow them to continue the experiment of raising wages by law or by collective bargaining or by emotion, or by sentiment until such time as we get so poverty

Tex's Topics

Best radio laugh I have had for a long time was the Sunday night Greek version of "Snow Drift and the Seven Little Midgets." This is to remind you that Wes Izzard predicted at a Pampa Rotary club meeting several weeks ago that 1938 would bring at least one mysterious, diabolical crime. . . . Probably not even Mr. Izzard suspected that it would happen so soon and right at home. . . . He is an Amarillo newspaperman and radio newscaster, and a good one, too.

Lewis Goodrich, the district attorney, who is making a mighty hard drive for the office of Texas Attorney General, believes that if he were an enemy of a murdered man, and was not guilty of that man's mysterious death, that he would be double-quick in getting to the authorities and explaining the fact to them. . . . The tendency, he says, when you are guilty—is to "get going." . . . Circumstantial evidence has convicted many an innocent man. . . . I do not believe in it, either.

And, by the way, a Goodrich-for-Attorney-General Day, is being planned for Pampa. . . . It certainly will be a nice way to pay tribute to Mr. Goodrich and to let the rest of the state know that we who know him here at home are of the steadfast opinion that he would make an honest, conscientious and capable public official for the entire state. . . . As a rule the rest of the state hasn't paid much attention to Panhandle candidates, they tell me, on the ground that the Panhandle is too far removed from the center of things, and is more like a foreign country, or something.

Voters, however, are changing that viewpoint this year, the story goes, and Panhandle candidates for state office are going to get plenty, and plenty of consideration in the other corners of the state on election day. . . . Mr. Goodrich has some of his strangest support outside of the Panhandle. . . . Of course, it goes without saying that the home folk will be for him, and they should be. . . . Personally, I never have met a more conscientious public official than Lewis Goodrich. . . . Perhaps he does not have the ballyhoo and fan fare that some of the others have, but he has the right kind of thumping under the left side of his vest.

I can't speak of his opponents in the coming race. . . . I don't know them. . . . But, in two years of almost daily contact with the man, one comes to the conclusion that a pretty good "size-up" of Mr. Goodrich, generally, has been reached. . . . That's why I can express freely an opinion of him. . . . The nicest thing about all this is, that there are thousands and thousands of others who feel the same way about it. . . . Even those who have been on the opposite side of the fence in court with Mr. Goodrich have a profound respect for him as a public official who pursues his duty on a line parallel with the requirements of his office.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

A call for all band musicians to assemble was sounded by Kermit Vicars, who planned to form a city band if enough musicians would join him.

Plans were being made to celebrate the opening of the Pla-Mor auditorium and amusement hall.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Efforts made during the previous six months by the B. C. D. and business men to obtain better mail services between Pampa and downstate sections were awarded.

Glover and Boyington, local contractors, were awarded the contract to move the Pampa emergency flying field from five miles north of the city to the new location on the Will Wilks land.

stricken that the workers will admit that conditions are worse than formerly and then some public-spirited citizens will establish a covenant that will protect people against their own shortsighted belief that we do not need an accumulation of capital, that we do not need to secure the best possible managers for this capital and that wages can be raised by law.

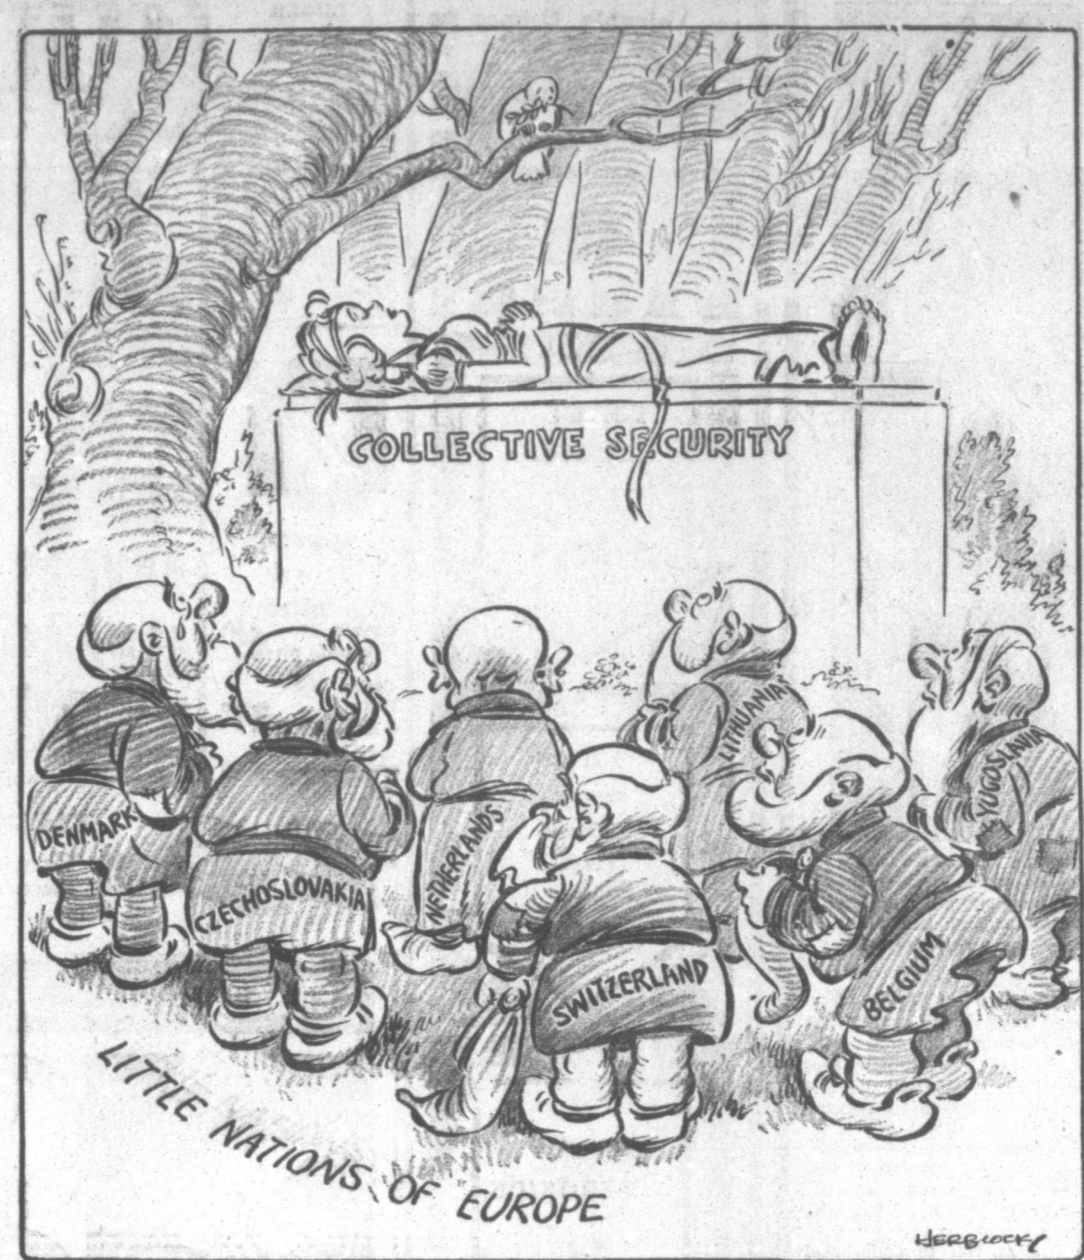

UNSOUND PART OF THE CONSTITUTION

There is not much question that the part of the United States Constitution which contended that "no capitation or other direct tax shall be laid unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken," was one of the weakest parts of the Constitution. In fact to interpret that literally, even the tariff or an excise tax would be in violation.

And the tax problem is one of the most fundamental problems yet facing the American people and every other nation. A taxing system which works to the benefit of the group as a whole has not as yet been put in operation in any nation in all the world. If we had a sound taxing system which did not penalize thrift and those who were really making high wages possible, we might come to believe that wages should be established in the natural method and not attempt to establish them by law or by force or by majority rule and as a result of this attempt lower instead of raise real wages as we have done the past decade.

There are three things that must be solved, if we are to make democracy practical: One is a sound taxing system; another is a sound money system and another is a free and competitive system in rewards both for labor and for capital. Until we do these things, it is doubtful whether a voting majority democracy will survive.

Snow White And The Seven Dwarfs

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There was a familiar sight about town for a few days recently—Frederick Lonsdale, the Haymarket boy who writes of the theater and looks as a playwright should look!

There is something about Lonsdale that is very cheering if you lean toward the sophisticated type of English drawing-room comedy. The author of "Once Is Enough" looks the same year after year. His hair is whiter now, of course, but there remains plenty of it, and he still has the stamp of Bond street on his tall, smart frame.

Seeing him walk through the lobby of his hotel, and noting the almost imperceptible yet always present look of surprise in his eyes, an observer remarked: "Why, he looks just like an animated Punch."

And he does. Frederick Lonsdale learned early in life how to enjoy things and he has never forgotten.

But what I started out to mention was the enthusiastic yet cautious curiosity with which New York awaited his new play. After all, it has been seven years since "Freddy" had a hand in the Broadway scene. Not since 1903, when his "Canaries Sometimes Sing," was presented here, has the author of "The Last of Mrs. Cheney" had a play in New York.

I may say that within 15 minutes after the opening curtain, New York had settled confidently back into its seat. The years seem only to have whetted its appetite for the Lonsdale manner, and when the final returns were in, Lonsdale had again moved up to the pie counter—and New York had a new hit.

One would think he would hang around a few days and sort of savor the renewed effluence that greets him everywhere, but Lonsdale is one of those restless Brits with a yen to be eternally on boats. He caught a fast one as soon as he conveniently could pack his bags. His penchant for changing his mind, cancelling voyages and bobbing up unexpectedly when everyone thought him on the other side of the earth has earned him the title of the world's most frequent but erratic traveler.

There was the time he sailed on a world cruise after his friends bid him bon voyage with a party at Southampton. But Lonsdale left the ship in France and arrived in the midst for lunch next day. Only last summer he came over to finish the third act of his new play, and Gilbert Miller, his producer, provided him with a large roomy office. But after two days in Manhattan, Lonsdale got on a boat and finished the script in London.

Probably the most hilarious evidence of this author's passion for impromptu sailings is the ad that the late Chas. Dillingham, then his producer, published in the N. Y. Herald Tribune. This was in 1928, and Lonsdale had arrived presumably for the summer.

"Frederick Lonsdale arrived at noon Tuesday. There was not a ship sailing Wednesday, so he waited until Saturday before returning to London.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Word comes from Tucson, Arizona, that Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rose who are spending the winter there for Mr. Rose's health have been so interested in the current illness of General Pershing who is their neighbor that they forgot about their own ills. The same source also brought word that the Pampa people don't have any ills. So friends of Mr. Rose will be glad to know that he is rapidly regaining his health.

The place where Gen. Pershing is ill is well-known to residents of Tucson, and is not far from where the Pampanians live. "There's no reason why people shouldn't take life just as simply and as easy in their own home-towns as they do in the places where they go for their health or for vacations," said Mr. Rose who also takes credit for the moisture this section had had in February. "As soon as I left the dust quit blowing and it started raining and snowing," he said. Mrs. Reynolds was an unwilling resident of Phoenix last week. She wanted to be in Canyon to see her son, Tobby, play on the Harvester basketball team.

Cranium Crackers

(In this series of Cranium Crackers with a court room query, unusual local statutes may alter slightly the legal decisions given.)

Anton Ankeny, who had inherited a fortune from an almost forgotten aunt, employed Benjamin Beaver to erect a $100,000 mansion, according to detailed plans and specifications. One of the specifications called for the use of "Perfect" pipe for all plumbing.

When Ankeny moved into his mansion he discovered Beaver had used "Best" pipe throughout the entire building.

Ankeny was furious and refused to pay the last $25,000 due Beaver. Beaver promptly sued Ankeny for the balance due under the contract. Ankeny, as his defense, claimed breach of contract, and in a cross-action, alleged that he had been damaged in the sum of $30,000, which sum, it was agreed, represented the reasonable cost of taking out the "Best" pipe and replacing it with the "Perfect" pipe.

Evidence at the trial showed the two kinds of pipe were equally good and that the value of the house, as built, was not less than the value of the house promised.

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Richard Greene's folks back in England haven't had much in the way of letters from him yet. He has cabled, so they know he's alive and well, but letters!

Here's why, and here are some of the things he may tell when he gets a breathing spell to write. They are things that can happen to any young actor who signs a contract in London for a leading role in a picture that's already under way in Hollywood.

"Dear Folks," he might write, "either Hollywood is nuts or I am. I'm here—at least I think I'm here, but I'm not sure where I am. From one minute to the next, I mean."

"The trip over was fast, exciting, and set the pace for the rest of the experience. We were delayed about 24 hours by a storm at sea—a regular howler—but we docked in New York safely. Spent two hours there. Remember mainly the ripping taxis—amazingly no one was killed. At least I saw no victims in the two hours."

Meets The Folks
"Was given my script in New York. Studied it on the plane, so there wasn't any time for sleep. Thought I'd take a rest when the plane landed here, but the gentlemen from the studio said they were sorry, there'd be no time. We were whisked off to the studio."

Still Hoping
"Everybody is very nice. I'm sure I shall like Hollywood—especially when I get to see it."

"Last week-end I thought I'd get acquainted with the town and surrounding country. Bought a little car and set out for a drive. I was driving behind a long string of cars, when suddenly the leading car stopped. So did the next, and the next and the next in front of me. I kept on going, I am hopeful the repair bill will not be excessive. Also, I still hope to see the country—some day."

"Au revoir. A gentleman is approaching, and I have the feeling I am about to be whisked somewhere again. I have been too bewildered to be bewildered, but am enjoying it. I hope you'll watch for the picture. Unless they change the title, it'll be 'Four Men And A Prayer.' Whatever is on the screen opposite Loretta Young is what Hollywood has done to."

The Capitol Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Mar. 3 (AP)—The idea of a unicameral—one house—legislature for Texas is gaining steadily in popularity, says Rep. Joe R. Monkhouse of Uvalde.

On a recent tour of his district, Monkhouse said he found only one prominent man opposed to the unicameral plan, that man being former Rep. A. P. Johnson of Carrizo Springs, once a candidate for speaker of the house of representatives.

"Many persons don't understand the subject of a unicameral legislature," Monkhouse said, "but after it is explained they are for it."

"My idea would be to have a legislature of 65 members, or thereabouts which would give Texas a representative to each 100,000 population."

"The members would be paid annual salaries and be required to devote all their time to the state's business."

"I believe such a plan would result in sharp reductions in the expense of government and far more than enough would be saved in dollars and cents to pay the slight additional costs of salaries."

"Did you ever think how much harder it would make it for the lobbyists? When interests want to block a bill they now go to the senate, not to the house. Well, it would be a lot tougher if they had to go to all the members of a unicameral legislature."

It is easy to spot Washington's outstanding current interest, says Gov. James V. Allred, who recently returned from a visit to the national capital.

"Their big interest," he said, "is the recession. Everybody is worried over it and trying to figure ways to recover."

Reports received here, not verified, are that Charles L. South of Brownwood, who represents the 21st congressional district in the national house, may have opposition.

C. P. Spangler of Uvalde, real estate man and a former county judge, is reported considering opposing South, who is completing his second term and, like Texas' other members of congress, must stand for re-election this year.

Uvalde home of Vice President John N. Garner, is in South's district, incidentally, is no longer the one Garner represented so many years. Garner's district was divided up two years ago when the congressional districts generally were re-aligned.

Two former governors were introduced at the recent statewide oil and gas promotion hearing. They were James E. Ferguson of Texas and W. J. Holloway of Oklahoma.

The introductions were by Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Railroad commission, which conducted the hearing. Thompson himself is a candidate for Governor. Another candidate present was Rep. Clarence E. Farmer of Foy Worth.

"Governor Jim" was given an unusually big "hand."

"I'm just a country boy who wants to preside over the house of Lords!" This is the manner in which he is presenting his candidacy for Lieutenant-Governor to the people, says Rep. Coke Stevenson of Junction, the only man in recent times to serve twice as speaker of the house.

Stevenson breezed into the capitol press room the other day on one of his infrequent visits to Austin.

What did he think of the unicameral legislature?

"If elected," said he, "I would want to preside over that, too."

What were the issues in his campaign?

"Would you want the judge to give his views before the trial?" he rejoined. "The presiding officer of the senate is the umpire."

What was his opinion of senate rules and would he like to overhaul them?

"Do they have any rules? Never heard of any."

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GARDSTON, M.D.

A physician deeply interested in cancer research told recently what a hard time he had getting the money needed for his work. He was experimenting on mice in an effort to determine the role of heredity in cancer.

His mice were bred and their lines of descent carefully recorded. Then they were watched for evidence of spontaneously developed new growths.

Mice of course must eat and since they were kept in cages and couldn't forage for themselves, their food had to be provided by their keeper. Statistical studies are valid only when they are based on large numbers so the mouse colony was large and kept growing larger.

The study was started with funds granted by a philanthropist. After some years, he could not continue his beneficence, and the research project was doomed. All the mice so carefully bred were turned over to another laboratory for other purposes. Years of hard labor yielded nothing.

One day this research worker chanced to complain of his misfortune to a woman he knew. She was moved and had an inspiration. Knowing that the research worker while a student had earned money for his tuition by playing the piano in an orchestra she suggested that he give a piano recital at a tea she would arrange at her house. At first loath to do so, the research man later agreed.

The tea was held; the piano recital given. And the tale of the mice was also told. The result was the formation of a committee of women who took upon themselves the task of collecting the necessary funds to continue the research. Fortunately, several of the pedigreed mice could be redeemed from the laboratory that had received them, and a new colony was soon flourishing.

Incidentally, some significant facts on cancer were revealed recently in just such studies as this one, carried on by lone workers, in projects supported by small sum contributors.

AMARILLOAN TO DIRECT CONFERENCE AT CANYON

CANYON, March 3.—Supt. Chas. M. Rogers of the Amarillo public schools, who as president of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education will preside at the sessions here March 18-19, began his teaching experience in a rural school in Mississippi.

He had received the B. A. degree from Mississippi College. Later he became principal of the high school in Yazoo City, Miss. He came to Texas in 1916, teaching two years in Terrell high school, one year as principal.

After serving his country during the war, he returned to Texas and became state high school supervisor for three years. From that position he went to Amarillo in 1923 as principal, then assistant superintendent, and for the last three years, head of the system.

the ablest speakers a Texas house ever had laughed.

"You're not going to get me out on a limb," he said.

Stevenson said he had been getting about all over south and east Texas and was confident of election to succeed Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodfill, who is running for Attorney General.

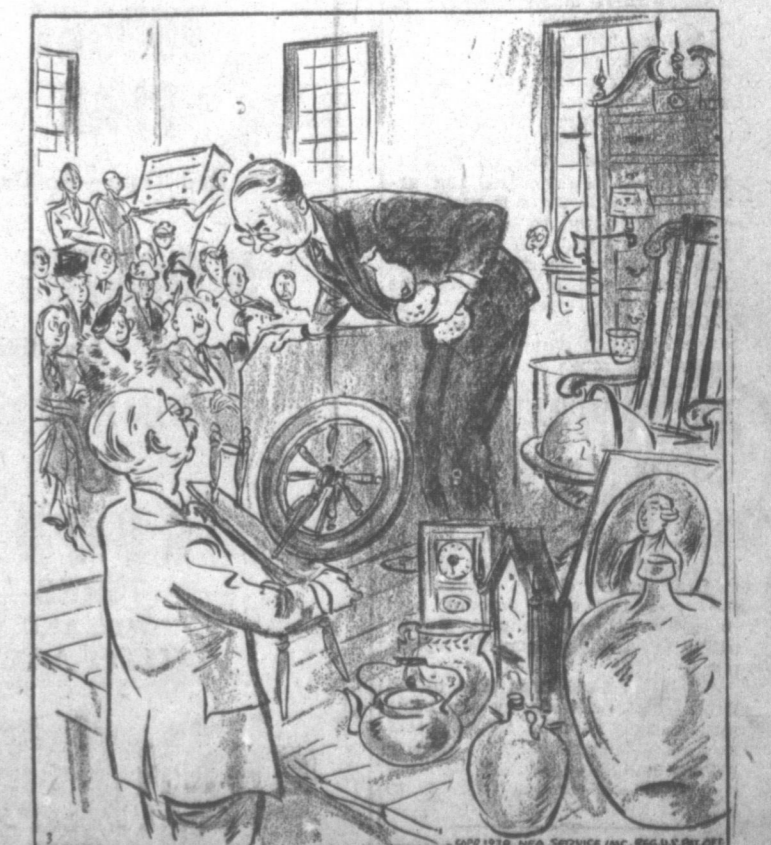

If you want to be the "Sweetheart of the University of Texas," you had better keep quiet about it. No hullabaloo! No publicity!

Campaign coeds have been advised they can run for the honor but must keep it secret. The girl who breaks into print or receives publicity will be thrown out of the contest.

The school will choose a sweetheart for the annual "roundup" and ex-students' homecoming March 22, and to make the election spontaneous, as well as to curb elaborate and expensive campaigning, student officials have announced the rule against publicity.

SMU ATHLETES TO BE ACTIVE THIS SPRING

DALLAS, March 3 (P)—Southern Methodist university athletes were preparing today for intensive spring activities in golf, tennis, and track.

Jimmy Stewart, athletic director, said the linksmen would participate in a triangular meet with Louisiana State and the University of Oklahoma on May 7 at Oklahoma City. The tennis schedule calls for a home-and-home series with the East Texas State Teachers squad, and a clash here April 8 with the Southern Oklahoma Teachers of Durant.

April 2 the S. M. U. trackmen will be occupied with the University of Texas relays at Austin; on April 16, the University of Kansas relays at Lawrence. These events will follow a visit here by the North Texas State and the Texas Christian University trackmen for a triangular meet March 27.

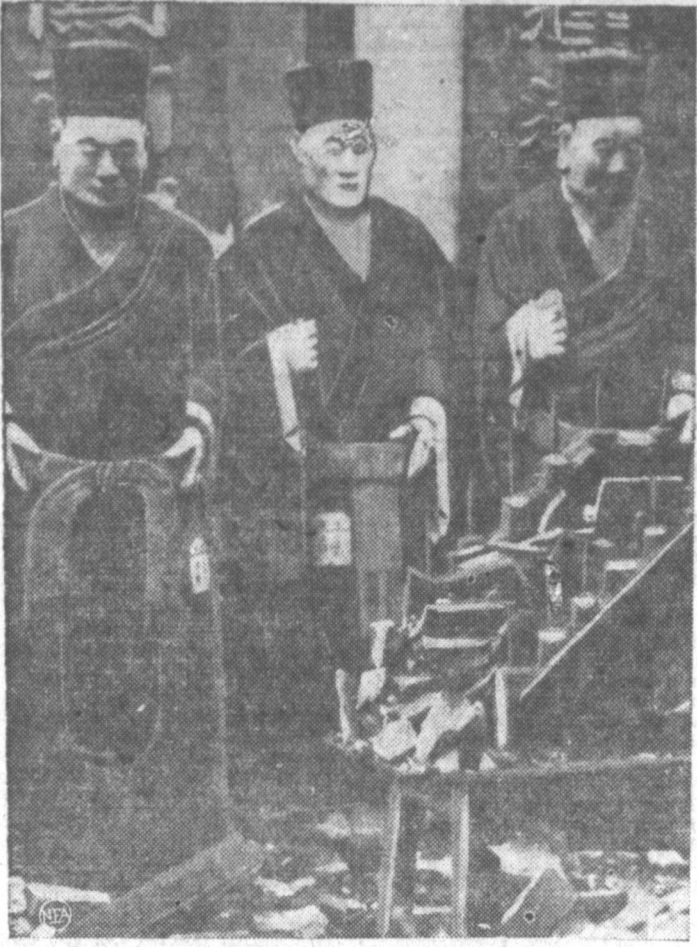

The golf schedule includes the University of Texas at Austin, April 1; Texas Christian University at Dallas, April 8; Texas Christian at Fort Worth, April 22; Rice Institute at Dallas, April 28; Texas A. & M. at College Station, April 29; Oklahoma, Louisiana State and Southern Methodist at Oklahoma City, May 7, and Southwest Conference championship tournament at Dallas, May 12-13.

Track meets, in addition to the Texas and Kansas relays and the triangular meet here March 27, will include participation with Texas, Texas Christian and Baylor in events at Austin, April 9; Baylor and Texas Christian at Waco, April 23, and Texas A. & M., Texas Christian and Baylor at College Station, April 30. The Southwest Conference championship meet will be held in Dallas May 13-14.

The Southern Methodist tennis schedule includes East Texas State at Dallas, March 26; East Texas State at Commerce, April 6; Southeastern Oklahoma Teachers at Dallas, April 8; Baylor at Dallas, April 12; Texas A. & M. at Dallas, April 16; Texas Christian at Fort Worth, April 20; University of Texas at Dallas, April 22; Texas Christian at Dallas, April 27; Rice Institute at Dallas, May 3; and Baylor at Waco, May 7. The Southwest Conference championship tennis tournament, the site of which has not been determined, will be held May 12-13-14.

LAPEL DECORATION AND HAT-PINS IN STYLE

CHICAGO, March 3 (P)—The feminine fashion pendulum today has swung back to hat-pins.

Many of the 1938 variety of hat-pins—which are somewhat shorter than those Grandma wore—have bright jewel-studded heads, for their first purpose is to decorate the hat and their second, to anchor the head-gear.

And the designers' attention this spring has centered on decorations for the lapels of the new suits—and the latter are almost fashion muffs this season—and they have brought out a number of amusing and attractive ideas.

For one, there are small gold hands—about an inch and a half long—that spell out the initials in sign language. It twos or threes they are worn horizontally or on a slant on the lapel.

And instead of wearing one's heart—a nice fat red one edged in gold—one one's sleeve, it may be transferred to the lapel. It was noted that all the hearts in this designer's collection were whole—and so the indication might be that one is fancee-free.

JAPAN LOSES TERRITORY IN NANKING AREA

(By The Associated Press)

Today's news pictured the world even more clearly than usual, as a close-knit but mostly quarrelsome family of nations, generally envious or fearful of each other.

A fallen Soviet official testified in Moscow he had bargained for British aid to overthrow the Stalin regime. Britain urged her potential enemies—and taxpayers—with a 23 per cent increase in army appropriations, which will be $332,500,000 for 1938-39, an increase of $121,630,000 over 1937-38.

Japanese military authorities admitted that Chinese Guerilla units had scored heavily against the Japanese invasion north of Nanking during the last week.

These slashing assaults along the Tientsin-Pukow railway have cost the Japanese much territory once regarded as conquered. Chinese Guerillas in the north also menaced

Japanese flanks and bases, impeding the northern part of the drive of the Lunghai railway corridor.

Austria's Hitler-approved Minister of the Interior, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, urged Nazis to work peacefully and legally for Nazification of Austria, a step toward Reichsfuehrer Hitler's dream of a Nazi commonwealth in Europe.

The Rev. Marlin Neimeoeller, spearhead of German protestant opposition to Hitler's church policies, was under "protective arrest" with the likelihood of remaining in a concentration camp until the interest of the foreign public died down. Freedom granted him yesterday by a Berlin court after conviction for speaking against government leaders was technical and brief.

Fighting Slows Down

The French Parliament reached a truce which smoothed the way for enactment of the first section of Premier Camille Chautemps' labor code legislation, quelling threats of an immediate cabinet crisis and assuaging France's labor troubles.

There was little fighting in Spain's civil war. The insurgent government used the lull to enact regulation of the press, finances and the national defense and forbade divorce in insurgent Spain, thereby chancing a Republican law of 1932.

The Barcelona government reported 18 persons killed and seven wounded in an aerial attack yesterday on Almeria, southeastern government port.

Plains was discussed in one of the speeches.

W. L. Scott, Pampa Maytag distributor, was another speaker on the program.

Attendance at the banquet was 60. Those attending from the Pampa agency and its affiliate, the Perryton branch, were: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Scott, Grover Durham, Joe Freeman, Tom Owens, Cecil Trooper, Jeff Price, and B. B. Kent and Eam Hargin of Perryton.

Since 1934, Ivanoff said he had spied for the British intelligence service. Thus Britain was dragged into pro-charges that Germany, Japan and Poland aided schemes to wreck and dismember the Soviet union.

Braid, Medals, Band And Food May Induce Sultan To Ignore 'Hish Highness'

By EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, March 3 (P)—Government officials fairly fell over themselves today in a mighty salaam to the sultan of Muscat and Oman—a far-off land of bulbous noses and flapping tents.

Bedecked in braid and medals and serenaded by the lush compans of the army band, they perfected a welcome for the 27-year-old visitor which should give his highness something to remember them by.

The hoofs of a war-strength troop of cavalry beat a sharp obligato on the union station plaza. Automobiles lined up to salute the sultan's brilliance stood near the doorway.

Secretary Hull donned striped morning pants for the reception. General Malin Craig was resplendent in army finery. Admiral William D. Leahy was fitted up as if he were going to launch a battleship.

Violence must be avoided, he admonished.

Rather than insist now upon recognition as members of a legal political party, Seyss-Inquart advised the Nazis to work for their program within the framework of the fatherland front—the only political group acknowledged by Chancellor Schuschnigg.

Germany's Fuehrer Hitler, who approved his entrance into the Austrian cabinet and received him in Berlin immediately thereafter, counseled him "to take the national socialist course in easy stages," Seyss-Inquart said today.

Seyss-Inquart expressed hope there soon would be a workable compromise between the Nazis and the fatherland front.

The more radical Nazis, who demand political union with Germany right away, were not, however, so well pleased with the counsel to moderation.

Asked whether such diverse elements as the extreme Nazis and right clericals could cooperate inside the fatherland front, Seyss-Inquart said:

"We do not propose to start in a fighting mood."

"At the beginning we will not touch problems on which we differ from other factions in the front."

Revival Name Denotes MINISTER'S 40TH YEAR

Rev. Johnston had his first pastorate in Hartford, Ark. in 1898. He was pastor of the San Jacinto and Glenwood Baptist churches in Amarillo for eight years, and has been pastor of the Skellytown church for the past 19 months. The Skellytown church will be two years old in August.

His forty years in the ministry have been equally divided between pastorate and evangelical work, and 10,000 persons have been saved through his efforts, Rev. Johnston estimates.

The anniversary revival will continue for two weeks, starting Sunday, March 6, and ending Sunday, March 20.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR BLAST VICTIM HELD

Funeral services for James F. Line, 47, explosive victim, were conducted at 9 o'clock this morning in Central Baptist church with the Rev. John C. Scott, pastor, officiating. The body was then taken overland to Sanon City, Colo. by Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

Mr. Line died in a local hospital yesterday morning more than two week after he had suffered severe burns in an explosion east of LeFors. Survivors are the widow, four daughters and two sons.

VIENNA, March 3 (P)—Austria's Hitler-approved Minister of the Interior, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, urged Nazis today to work peacefully and legally for Nazification of the country.

BRITISH TO INCREASE ARMY APPROPRIATIONS

LONDON, March 3 (P)—Great Britain today handed her potential enemies abroad—and her taxpayers at home—another jolt by announcing a 23 per cent increase in army appropriations for the coming year.

The army's share this year in Britain's colossal five-year rearmament plan will $106,500,000, or $352,500,000, an increase of $121,630,000 over the previous year.

Estimates for the airforce announced yesterday call for $557,510,000 to be spent in the fiscal year beginning April 1, the second of Britain's $7,500,000,000 five-year rearmament program.

The government, in an official report yesterday, said this $7,500,000,000 would not be enough in view of the epidemic of wars and higher costs resulting from "continuous development of modern armament."

The admiralty will present its estimates for the navy tomorrow.

War Minister Leslie Hore-Bligh placed the strength of the regular army at 170,000 compared with 168,900 in 1937.

The government intends to borrow about $450,000,000 this year, as against $400,000,000 last year, but there still remains about $275,000,000 to be raised.

HUNT FOR PLANE GOES AHEAD IN CALIFORNIA

FRESNO, Calif., March 3. (AP)—Searching parties, blocked once by flood and darkness, sought to reach a great mountainside car 60 miles east of here today in hopes of locating a missing airliner which vanished over the storm-lashed high Sierras.

A raging river, outgrowth of the storm that engulfed the plane, prevented searchers from reaching the 200-foot scratch at dusk yesterday to investigate mysterious lights and an undistinguishable white object nearby.

The Fresno county sheriff's office said it had checked and believed authentic reports that the plane set off a flare which lighted up the area near the spot Tuesday night.

The parade will be formally opened Saturday morning. "Everything is in readiness for the various displays," Frank Culbertson, chairman of the local dealer group, announced.

The following Pampa automobile dealers are cooperating in "National Used Car Exchange Week": Tom Ross (Ford), Cullum & Son, Tex. Evans Buick Co., Inc. Lewis Pontiac Co., Culbertson-Smalling Chevrolet Co., Hampton & Allen Motor Co., Inc., and the C. B. Gloor Motor Co.

DEMAND SPREADS FOR PROFITS TAX REPEAL

WASHINGTON, March 3. (AP)—Demands for outright repeal—instead of modification—of the undistributed profits and corporate gains levies spread in the House today after leaders decided not to impose a "gag" rule on tax revision debate.

The strength of the repeal bloc, including many Republicans and some Democrats, was uncertain, although administration lieutenants expressed confidence they could defeat the proposal on a roll call vote.

Had a "gag" rule been adopted, it would have prevented consideration of repeal or other amendments. Many members said frankly they had not studied the complicated legislation in detail, and were waiting for the 12 hours of debate, today before making up their minds.

The chief points of dispute were provisions which would: 1. Remodel the entire corporate tax structure by extensive modification of the undistributed profits tax and the imposition of a new surtax on large companies owned by a family or a few individuals.

2. Revamp the capital gains tax to provide maximum rates of 16 to 39.2 percent on long-term gains and the offsetting of gains with losses.

OPTIMISM IN OIL INDUSTRY WELL-FOUNDED

By HARREL E. LEE
AUSTIN, March 3 (AP)—The nation's oil producers generally feel the worst of their 1938 troubles are about over.

Spring is just beyond the horizon and spring means more automobiles on the highways and an expanding demand for gasoline. Oil men are sufficiently optimistic to believe recurrence forecasts of an early general business upturn perhaps are based on facts instead of mere hopes.

If curtailment of winter production makes 1938 a prosperous year for the oil industry, Texas and Oklahoma deserve most of the credit. Texas already has had six statewide Sunday shutdowns and the Railroad Commission has ordered four more. The Oklahoma Corporation Commission set that state's daily allowable for March at 475,000 barrels, 72,000 less than the market demand estimate of the United States Bureau of mines.

The gasoline "hangover" and the business recession are the industry's chief ailments. Gasoline stocks have been setting new all-time peaks week after week. Crude oil production apparently will have to be held to a fairly small increase during the second quarter of the year to permit working off of this huge gasoline surplus.

Field's Pressure Up
The Sunday shutdowns seemed to be having the desired effect of halting an alarming bottomhole pressure drop in East Texas. V. E. Cottingham, the Railroad Commission's chief engineer, said that during the 30-day period ended February 8 the vast field's average pressure increased 7.08 pounds.

Many persons maintained the principal reason for curtailment of production by the Sunday shutdown method was that daily allowances in East Texas could not be out without running afoul of the marginal well law.

Operators who contend Texas is not getting its share of the national production claimed support from a recent report of the committee on petroleum reserves of the American Petroleum Institute. That report placed the known Texas oil reserves at 8,247,928,000 barrel compared to 7,259,340,000 for the rest of the nation. Texas' current production is less than 40 per cent of the national output.

Reserves Leap
The report incidentally provided no basis for concern over an impending shortage of oil. It said the nation's proven reserves leaped 2,443,863,000 barrels during 1937.

Texas proration policies will be indirectly submitted to the voters in the statewide political campaigns due to become warm in the early spring. C. V. Terrell, aging Railroad Commission chairman, has drawn several opponents in his race for re-nomination. Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, is a candidate for Governor.

Numerous Texas officials, including Governor James V. Alfred and Attorney General William McCraw went to Washington last week to oppose the Nye resolution intended to bolster the federal government's claim to oil deposits in the Pacific and Gulf of Mexico. Texas has been proceeding on the theory the submerged land off its coast belongs to the state.

TEAR GAS HURLED AT SAN ANTONIO PICKETS

SAN ANTONIO, March 3 (AP)—Tear gas was hurled today at pickets charging a group of policemen at the Southern Pecan Shelling Co. plant of Julius Seligman, where a strike has been in progress for weeks.

The gas barrage and charge on the policemen came after officers arrested George Lambert, Chicago labor paper writer. Police said Lambert was arrested when he attempted to lead a parade of strikers after he had been warned by police not to do so.

J. Austin Beasley, CIO Pecan Shellers' Union strike leader, announced later National Labor Relations act charges would be filed.

MCCRAW ADMITS CARL ESTES PAID SUMS ON HIS NEW CAR AND ON PLANE USED BY HIM

AUSTIN, March 3 (AP)—A barrage of questions about the conduct of his office greeted Attorney General William McCraw today after he had appeared voluntarily before the senate general investigating committee.

Senator Holbrook later began to ply McCraw with questions. "Clark testified at Dallas you dissolved your partnership as of January, 1934, by the terms of which he agreed to pay you $10,000 as your portion of unearned fees," the Galveston senator said.

"Yes," McCraw answered. "Was it an oral or written agreement?"

"It was about like any partnership dissolution. We discussed various cases and the fees due. When we formed the partnership he was the bookkeeper and banker of the firm."

"Did Tom handle your campaign for attorney general?"

"No. I think you well know that I personally managed that campaign. I had one clean collar, a watermelon and a clean shirt."

"He testified also he paid you directly and indirectly $9,300 during 1935."

"That is correct."

"Do you have an itemized statement of the payments?"

"I did have when I filed my income tax statement. When I left I had an accumulation of bills which I told him to pay and then pay me as soon as he could."

"He testified further he paid you $700 in 1936 in full settlement of the dissolution."

Paid $7,000 At Once.

McCraw said he had no recollection of an additional payment in that year. He said the attorney general said he had on previous occasions promptly furnished records for investigating committees and would do the same thing again willingly.

Asked by Holbrook whether he (McCraw) had talked to his wife via telephone after the committee summoned both the McCraws' bank accounts, McCraw answered in the affirmative.

"Did you dictate a statement she gave the press?"

"Dictate to Louise," McCraw answered with a flick of the eyebrows. "Remember your speech, senator, (referring to an earlier statement by Holbrook). Just withdraw that question. Don't insult both yourself and me."

Holbrook then sought information about McCraw's automobiles and airplane.

Estes Paid for Car.
"How many automobiles have been given you?" he asked.

McCraw replied there had been gifts, adding the difference between the cost of an old car and a new one had been paid by Carl Estes, a "warm, personal friend."

"Do you own a plane?"

"I own one jointly with Carl Estes. We bought it a year ago. I got $5,000 for my old one and Carl paid the difference, about $5,000 for the new one. We own and use it jointly."

Asked if he thought it "good public policy" to accept funds from friends, McCraw replied: "I don't know anything wrong with it. Carl Estes has never directly or indirectly asked a favor of me, asked an appointment nor attempt to influence an opinion."

"Carl paid for the plane, except for the trade-in value of the old one?"

"Yes."

The immense crowd of spectators edged closer to the committee table as questioning continued. Frequent bursts of applause and laughter sometimes punctuated proceedings.

Laughs Frequent.
A roar of merriment swelled through the spacious senate chamber when the paid the difference, about $5,000 for the new one. We own and use it jointly."

The attorney general straightened up in his chair and exclaimed: "Senator, you're like the dog chasing a freight train. When he finally caught it, he didn't know what to do with it."

Again the audience laughed when McCraw, questioned about the identity of Buck Hood, asserted that Hood, an editor of an Austin paper and personal friend of the official, would "fish, fight, go to meetings and even listen to my speeches."

He testified Hood who was employed by McCraw during the campaign, had not received money from him since and that "probably he is the best newspaperman in the United States."

Holbrook next veered to questions

Holbrook then recalled McCraw's statement about the committee subpoenaing his wife's bank account and asked him did he claim any "superiority" regarding the sanctity of womanhood.

"No, and I would just as soon you drop that subject." The attorney general said he had on previous occasions promptly furnished records for investigating committees and would do the same thing again willingly.

RULES GIVEN FOR SSB LUMP SUM PAYMENTS

AMARILLO, March 3—The most important essentials in the filing of a claim for a lump-sum payment were emphasized today by Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo field office of the Social Security Board, when he pointed out three "musts" necessary in determining eligibility for Federal old-age insurance lump-sum payments. Emphasis was placed on the following:

(1) You must have attained the age of 65; or be the nearest relative of a deceased employee who has died before attaining age 65.

(2) The worker must have been employed and received wages in a covered occupation.

(3) Claims for lump-sum payments must be filed with one of the field offices of the Social Security Board.

Reed also explained that the amount of a lump-sum payment is 3 1/2 per cent of wages received in covered employment since December 31, 1936.

"If individuals will keep in mind the three 'musts' as given above, it will prove of much benefit to those who may be considering the filing of a claim for a lump-sum benefit," Reed said. "Lump-sum benefits paid during January averaged $31.68."

The Amarillo Social Security Board office is located at 600 Polk Street in the Oliver-Eakle Building, where complete information and cooperation in all matters pertaining to Federal old-age insurance will be given, Reed said.

ROOSEVELT HAS NEVER WORKED, SAYS RICH

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Representative Rich, Democrat, Pa., threw the mouse in an uproar yesterday by shouting at an uproar of his lungs that President Roosevelt never had done a day of work in his life.

Democrats snapped back, with Representative McCormack, Democrat, Mass., asserting it was "very unwise, highly improper and decidedly unethical for anyone to attack or impugn the President of the United States."

In the center of the whole dispute was a proposal by Representative Scruggs, Democrat, Nevada, to boost from $100,000 to $350,000 an item for the Provo river reclamation project, in Utah, in the interior department appropriation bill.

Rich jumped up to roar his objections, denounce administration spending policies and assail the President. He yelled so loudly his words for the most part were unintelligible.

Challenging the statement, Representative Bulwinkle, Democrat, N. C., asserted the President formerly was vice president of a New York insurance company.

When McCormack jumped in to condemn personal attacks on the chief executive, Rep. Shafer, Republican, Mich., interrupted to say: "Did the Democratic party follow that policy when they had a 'Smear Hoover' campaign on?"

concerning affairs of McCraw's office.

The attorney general said he had no knowledge of Clark's representing any party in vacancy suits that came before the attorney general's office.

Didn't Recall.
When Holbrook asked McCraw if Tom Clark ever talked to him about a business permit for the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company, the attorney general replied he did not recall discussing any insurance matter with Clark.

"I don't recall" is the way Tom talked," Holbrook countered. "That won't get you anywhere, Bill."

Questioned about a fee received by Clark on a coin machine case, McCraw said he did not know Clark was employed in the matter. The attorney general's department gave two opinions on legality of the machine involved, the second one being adverse to Clark's client.

At one point Holbrook said shortly, "I'm trying to get the truth of these matters," and got the immediate reply, "I'm with you on that, Senator."

CONSULTATIONS CLEAR WAY FOR BIG NAVIES

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—The present London consultations among the United States, Britain and France, officials said today, will clear the way for Germany and Russia to build larger warships.

The results of the consultations, which were regarded here as certain to abandon 35,000 ton limit on battleships and the 2,000-ton limit on cruisers, will be communicated to Germany and Russia by Britain.

This is by virtue of the naval treaties Great Britain has with those two nations.

The first treaty, which limits the German navy to 35 per cent of the British navy, also contains a qualitative clause limiting the size of battleships to 35,000 tons. The Russian treaty is more vague because Soviet officials will not discuss an limitation of their Asiatic fleet.

Italy also can build larger ships. France, it was learned here, still hesitates to build larger ships, despite Japan's silence.

In congress, the House Naval committee discussed in secret session whether to recommend restrictions of the navy's operations to a definite area.

TRAINMAN KILLED

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., March 3 (AP)—Norfolk & Western railroad officials said a trainman was killed and two others injured in the wreck of a coal train near Ingot, W. Va., early today. Engineer "Dick" Boyd, about 44, of Homaker, Va., was killed when the locomotive and six cars were derailed. Railway officials here said trainmen attributed the smashup to a rock which, loosened by rains, rolled upon the track.

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MACK

Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday, Nearing America, the Gray Gull is chased by British men-o-war, but escapes.

CHAPTER XXV
MORNING found them off the American coast opposite what appeared to be Delaware or Maryland. A shout went up from the sailors. Polly went openly for joy, and Jerry's commands to the sailors were husky with feeling. That dim shoreline was beautiful with the magic of home. Even Cabell Banks lost his blasé man-of-the-world manner and tossed his hat jubilantly.

To the north several sails were presently spied by the lookouts. Jerry and Cabell consulted. They would maneuver nearer, they decided; if they were American ships they would speak them and learn their exact location.

The maneuvering was done, and almost with disaster. The ships were discovered to be British frigates blockading Delaware Bay, the approach to Philadelphia. The Gray Gull's course was promptly shifted southward, and no harm done, says to Polly, "I'm glad to see you're not a nervous wreck. The approach to Washington spread clear before them."

On board there were several reliable sailors who had gone out from Baltimore on the Gray Gull more than once and had stayed hopefully with her while she lay docked at Carteret. These men now proved of infinite value. They were able to locate their New England officers round the treacherous Cape Charles and enter Chesapeake Bay.

The long blue Bay stretched away before them, free of hostile sails. As they passed the mouth of the York and later of the Rappahannock River, Cabell started hard at the Virginia shore. On these rivers and on the James and Potomac, he knew, there lived the Virginia landed gentry who were said to feel themselves superior even to rich Boston bankers and importers. Englishmen under Sir Walter Raleigh had landed on these shores before the Mayflower had sailed to Plymouth Rock. It was very annoying to a young Bostonian to have to think of it. He was forced to call his newfound patriotism into play to dispel his malice. Virginia was one of the United States, he reminded himself, and no doubt was a very agreeable place if you don't mind the heat and if you could excuse the girls for being better educated in their heels than their heads. Take Prudence Winthrop now. She could talk about other things than the latest dance figure.

"A penny for your thoughts," Polly said. "American money." "I was thinking I must write two letters home and post them in Washington. One of them to my family." They both laughed.

JERRY and Cabell supposed the most direct way to reach Washington would be to sail up the Potomac. The Baltimore sailors however, with seaman's old distrust of rivers, advised availing of the curving Potomac and sailing direct to Baltimore. From there, they suggested, Captain Banks could easily go to Washington by coach or horseback and procure the papers.

This they agreed to do. Jerry the most readily because of Polly. Baltimore had good coach service to Philadelphia, and from the latter city she would have no trouble reaching home.

When they had entered Baltimore Harbor Jerry went to Polly who stood at the bulwark watching the men drop anchor. "Go below and get ready now. Polly. A sailor's wife must be brisk."

"Get ready for what, Jerry?" "To go ashore, my sweet, with your dog and trunk."

"But Jerry! You'd not put my ashore in Maryland when I belong in Connecticut?" Her face showed honest amazement.

"Didn't you know, Polly, that I'd put you ashore at the first port? Did you suppose I'd keep you an hour longer at sea than I had?"

"Oh, Jerry! I figured it out, but I'd supposed you'd take me home to Lyme after you got your papers. I might as well be honest and say I hoped you'd decide to keep me on board, Jerry. The way some of the skippers out of New England used to keep their wives aboard. I know an old woman at home who's been around the Horn on her husband's ship seven times."

"This is war time, Polly. I spoke with finally and with such regret that she could not make it harder for him."

"All right, Jerry. But it's going to take Cabell a couple of days to go to Washington and back. Can I stay here till then?"

"I'd thought to put you on a stage coach, Polly, and see you started on your way. I'd feel easier about you."

But he could not resist her pleading arms that stole around his neck, nor the prospect of an extra day and night with her on a deserted ship in a friendly port. He said, "I reckon I've earned another sunset and sunrise with you, Polly. Stay if you will."

Baltimore. Polly made one more effort to snatch at happiness.

"You've brought the Gull home, Jerry, and it wasn't easy. Cabell couldn't have done it without you. Every man aboard owes you his life or his liberty."

"It may be true, Polly. But what of it?" "This. You've done your part. If Cabell's so set on going to sea again, let him find another mate for his clipper. You come home to New England."

"Polly, what are your saying!" He held her shoulders and looked down into her face.

"I'm saying you don't belong to the navy by rights," she answered fiercely. "Why must you go out there and let the English long gun tear you to pieces?"

"This is every American's fight as I look at it, Polly. It's our way of backing up those that died in the Revolution. Our men walked shoeless in the snow and ice till their feet bled, that war. That's how much they wanted freedom. Well, that freedom's being questioned. This time on the sea."

"Oh, I know," said Polly brokenly. "I must have been crazy for a minute, Jerry. Remind me to mend your coat before I leave tomorrow. You've torn the sleeve."

BEFORE noon the following day Cabell returned from Washington, having traveled most of the night. He was jubilant. Mr. Madison had consented to see him in person and had readily given him all the papers necessary to turn the Gray Gull into a privateer to harass British craft.

"He says he's thankful to see so many New Englanders turning out to fight. He thinks our hope lies almost entirely in privateers. Hello, Polly! Where are you going with your bonnet on?"

"Home," Polly said, holding out her hand. "Jerry wants to get me started."

"Won't tomorrow do? I thought a little dinner in Baltimore tonight. It's quite a place. I hear."

"Jerry said, 'All our crew came aboard this morning. Cabell and about 20 extras were able to recruit. The rumor's out that the Chesapeake's going to be bottled. You'll want to go out with the tide tonight. I'm taking Polly ashore now.'"

"Two hours later Polly was joining out of Baltimore on the road to Philadelphia. Nuisance shared her seat and her desolation. The driver, a genial soul, said, "You appear sad to part from your young man, Miss. It he a sailor?"

"Yes. A mate on a privateer. He's going to sea tonight. I wonder what name this war will have?"

"Why, Miss, maybe they'll just call it the war of 1812. I figure we'll have the British licked before Christmas and maybe annex Canada."

Polly snorted derisively. "Have you ever seen a British man-of-war coming down on you with all sails spread?"

"Well, no, Miss. I'm an inland man, rightly. Horses is in my line." "Then don't try to be a prophet!" snapped Polly vehemently and began to weep into her handkerchief. "Never to see Jerry again. Could she endure it?"

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

ON Nov. 11, 1918, the "war to end wars" came to a close, and the world rejoiced. Yet, 20 years later, nations are fighting it out on two major fronts, and not one single year has passed since the World War Armistice without one or more conflicts.

From Ditch-Digging to Grand Opera

Lady Luck waved her wand and the song of a ditch-digger was wafted to the ears of, among all New York's millions, Maestro Salmagundi, director of the Hippodrome Opera. That's why Genarino Cardinale, above, 32-year-old ditch-digger and amateur prize fighter, gets his picture in the paper, taking time out for lunch in the street trench from which his F above high C lifted him to a successful debut as operatic tenor and, he hopes, his family out of poverty. With his mother and eight brothers and sisters, he lives in a West Side tenement.

RELIEF BILL SIGNED BY ROOSEVELT TODAY

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed the $250,000,000 emergency relief appropriation bill today to provide supplemental funds for the Works Progress Administration up to next June 30.

WPA officials authorized their state administrators to hire 500,000 more relief workers this month, to offset part of the unemployment increase attributed to the business recession.

They acted as congress sent the $250,000,000 emergency relief appropriation to President Roosevelt. Aubrey Williams, acting WPA administrator during the convalescence of Harry Hopkins, estimated that the March increases would pull up local enrollments from 15 to 25 percent, depending on state needs.

Without the new money WPA rolls would have been curtailed by 500,000 between now and July 1, Williams said, instead of being increased.

Thus WPA rolls, which reached 2,000,000 in February, will be open to 1,000,000 more persons than had been contemplated last year when congress allotted $1,500,000,000 for the twelve months.

Williams said he expected large industrial centers to furnish heaviest demands for a slice of the new relief money, but added:

"There is no part of the country that is not affected in some real degree."

HEARST TO SELL HALF OF FAMOUS COLLECTION

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—A decision by William Randolph Hearst to disperse about $15,000,000 worth of his fabulous art collection—about two-thirds of it—was announced today.

The 74-year-old publisher, associates said, plans to break up the vast collection by sale and gift to cut down inheritance taxes.

Joseph V. Conolly, president of King Features, a Hearst enterprise, explained:

"When he (Hearst) passes on, his estate will have to pay inheritance taxes on some $15,000,000 worth of these objects unless he makes other disposal of them."

CAREY, ABILENE TO MEET IN FIRST GAME OF TOURNEY

'CATFISH' TO BE ON BENCH FOR CARDINALS

AUSTIN, March 3. (P)—The stage was set here today for a battle to determine Texas' state high school basketball championship for 1938.

Rodney J. Kidd, new athletic director of the University of Texas Intercollegiate league, said arrangements were completed for the annual tournament among eight teams starting tomorrow afternoon and ending Saturday night in spacious Gregory gymnasium.

The Carey Cardinals will have the Catfish to advise them and cheer them on at the state basketball tournament. The former coach of the Cardinals, Catfish Smith of the Berger Bulldogs, said yesterday that he was going to Austin and "do all he can to help them win the state."

The Catfish also explained why he did not "holer for Pampa" in the finals of the regional meet which Carey won in a 39 to 35 game from Pampa. "Five of the Carey boys were on my club the two years I was there," he said. "Three of them two years and two of them one year."

"Coach Moseley of Carey sent for me at the hall and I went in Carey's dressing room and did all I could," the Catfish stated. "The boys and Carey want the Catfish to go to Austin, so he is going and do all he can to help them win the state. Those boys too worship their old coach."

"I think Pampa has a great bunch of boys. I love them all and I would have been pulling my heart out for them if they hadn't been playing Carey. Mitchell is a great coach and I like to play his clubs."

Leading off will be John Reagan's Bulldogs of Houston and Bailey representatives of the strong East Texas district which has furnished titlists in previous years.

The contest will start at 2 p. m. At 3:15 the Belton Tigers and the Woodrow Wilson Wildcats tangle.

Abilene's undefeated Eagles, directed by Howard Miller, will meet the Carey Cardinals, the defending champions, at 7:15 p. m. and the final first round game at 8:30 will match Kingsville's Brahmas, and a potent Bowie quint from El Paso.

Semi-final tilts Saturday will begin at 10:15 and 11:30 a. m. with the third-place skirmish slated at 7:15 p. m. and the championship final at 8:30.

Pre-tourney estimates made Reagan, undefeated in 30 starts, the favorite with Abilene and Woodrow Wilson about even for second choice.

Revolta Holds Lead in $3,000 Florida Tourney

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3. (P)—Johnny Revolta held a one-stroke lead today as the touring professionals teed off in the second round of the $3,000 St. Petersburg Open Golf tournament.

The slender Evanston, Ill., player cracked par by two strokes with his first-round 69 but he barely could keep ahead of more than a score of crack pros in easy striking distance.

Harry Cooper of Chicago Falls, Mass., bagged birdies on the last three holes to gain a tie for second place at 70 with Harold McSpaden of Winchester Mass., and Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Texas.

Cooper won the tournament last year.

Lower-scorers after today's 18-hole round will compete in the final 36 holes tomorrow.

Loyola Cagers Nose Out Slaton Oilers in Finals

EL PASO, March 3. (P)—Circus antics of the Slaton Oilers, Southwestern A. A. U. champions, failed to rattle the Loyola of Los Angeles University cagers last night and the Pacific slope quintet won the southwestern basketball tourney with a close, 47-42, decision.

Momentarily stumped in the early stages by a "razzberry" attack, Loyola soon overcame that obstacle and held a 20-17 half-time lead. Kriste Loyola's center roped 17 points, while Woolpert followed with 14.

Stephen F. Austin of Nacogdoches, Texas, again got its high-scoring machine going at top speed to win the consolation round with a 64-37 triumph over the New Mexico State Teachers, Mass., Austin center, showed in 26 points.

Santa Anita Track Looks Like Lily Pond, After Deluge

LOS ANGELES, March 3. (P)—The Santa Anita Handicap has many claims to fame, but if the present rain storms keep up the fourth running of the $100,000 horse race will go down as one of the costliest experiments in mud on record.

It's been raining so hard the loyal natives don't even have the heart to call it "unusual," and the track infield, from last reports, looked more like a lily pond.

A week ago racing secretary Webb Everett said he thought as many as 22 horses would go the post Saturday. Today the prospects seem-

Clipping Another World Mark

Glenn Cunningham, the Consistent Kansan, is shown above, again winning his specialty, the 1500 meter race, this time in the world's record speed of 3:48.4. In the annual AAU indoor meet at New York's Madison Square Garden, he took the lead in the first lap, held it throughout the race and flashed over the tape 28 yards ahead of Gene Venzke, whose world record of 4:49.9 Cunningham beat by more than a full second.

3 IMPORTANT 'IFS' IN MAJOR LOOPS ARE ROWE, DEAN, CUBS

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, March 3. (P)—Without having yet visited a single big league training camp or even gazed into a guaranteed crystal ball, it seems possible at the moment to size up the approaching baseball campaign with a remarkable degree of accuracy and in a minimum of words.

There are only three important "ifs" in the big leagues. If you know the answer to all three, you can sit down and write on a piece of paper the two clubs that will meet in the world series along about the first frost.

The three are, in approximately the order of their importance: (1) Lyndon Rowe; (2) Jerome Dean, and (3) the Chicago Cubs new war college.

Take Rowe. Still known at 26 as "Schoolboy," he pitches for the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers are the only American league team conceded an outside chance of heading off the Yankees—unless you live in Cleveland.

Rowe up to last year was one of the game's great right-handers. In 1934 he pitched the Tigers to a pennant, winning 24 games and losing only 8. Last season he won only one game before his arm went completely bad and he was forced to retire. The Tigers finished in second place, 13 games behind the Yanks.

Now the schoolboy, down in Florida, says his wing feels good again.

There, in the celebrated case of Dizzy Dean, much the same situation exists. Not a rival but knows that if Diz really settles down and returns to his original form, the Cardinals will be sure poison.

In 1934, when he paced them to a pennant, Diz hung up 30 wins against 7 losses. Last season he won only 13, and the Red Birds wound up a poor fourth.

In helping you make out your ballot, it may be said that Diz has been acting like a reformed man.

In mentioning the possibility of a triangular slugfest between the Giants, Cubs and Cards, it necessarily is assumed that owner Phil Wrigley's new idea of equipping his manager, Charlie Grimm, with a pair of co-pilots won't take any fight out of the Cubs.

Some wise baseball men are convinced Wrigley has made a mistake in appointing Tony Lazzeri and Gabby Hartnett to help Grimm make his hard decisions. They are certain there isn't room for a "brain trust" on the bench. If they are right, then mark off the Cubs.

WHEELER, March 3. — Allison's Rambettes continued their undefeated march last night with a stirring 44 to 32 victory over the Conlen-Mobeetie All Stars in a game played here before a packed gymnasium.

The teams will meet again tonight at 8 o'clock with admission 15 and 35 cents and all proceeds going to the winning team. Should the All Stars win, a third game will be played on Friday night.

Oleta Jones, who has scored more than 700 points this season, led Allison's attack with 15 field goals and five free throws for 35 points. Embelle Knight, ace of the Conlen state champions in 1934, paced the All Stars with 13 points.

Play was so hard and officiating so close that many fouls were assessed. The game, however, was clean from whistle to whistle. Two Allison girls were forced from the game on fouls to make three members of the team to be fouled out of a game in 32 games played this season.

Coach John Peoples of Allison will take his girls to the State A. A. U. tournament in Greenville. His 1937 team went to the semi-finals in the state meet.

M. B. Blankenship, superintendent at Mobeetie and superintendent at Conlen when his team won the state title, was in charge of a band of all stars that although not in practice played exceptional ball.

Whizzer White Will Talk at Chicago Banquet

BOULDER, Colo., March 3. (P)—Whizzer White hits the banquet-and-backslapping trail tomorrow.

Colorado's All-America griddler and his coach, Bernard F. (Bunny) Oakes, will board a train for Chicago where they are booked to talk before a dinner of Colorado alumni at Chicago Saturday night.

White, a guard on the Colorado U. basketball team, has completed his cage career in the Mountain States Big Seven Conference however, the university athletic committee has recommended that Colorado's cagers enter the Manhattan invitation tournament March 14-16.

Berg Eliminated From Tournament

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 3. (P)—The surprising elimination of Patty Berg turned the Florida East Coast Women's Golf tournament into a free-for-all scramble today.

Even Jane Cothran Jamson of West Palm Beach, who handed Patty her first defeat of the winter yesterday, could not be considered a favorite over such players as Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., Jean Batur of Providence, R. I., and Dorothy Traug of San Francisco.

For the first time this year, Miss Berg's game cracked and the Minneapolis redhead went down 2 and 1.

NEWCOMERS WILL WRESTLE ON CHAMBERS' CARD MONDAY NITE

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—One of the Yankees' "if" men, young Tom Henrich, is on hand and ready to prove himself capable of holding down a regular outfield berth. Henrich drove in last night and will trot his celebrated trick knee, which underwent an operation this winter, into action at Joe McCarthy's command.

BATON ROUGE, La.—Carl Hubbell, the Giants' great left-hander, should be "both right-handed and left-handed," according to Manager Bill Terry. Terry turned thumbs down a suggestion that Hubbell pitch against the Athletics Saturday or Sunday. "He does not need the work," said Bill.

AVALON, Calif.—With the arrival of 13 more Chicago Cubs, the rummy, Kelly pool and bowling leagues broke up and all hands were ready for serious work. The early squad was limited to three full length work-outs because of continued rains.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Frankie Frisch is anxiously watching Paul Dean despite the fact that nine other pitchers of varied abilities are in the St. Louis Cardinals' camp. Paul, 30 pounds lighter than a year ago, reported: "There's no sign of pain in my arm. I did not bear down but I'll be cutting loose before long."

TAMPA, Fla.—The Cincinnati Reds are chosen as the "surprise" team of the National league by none other than the great Dean. Says the Dizzy one: "The Reds have an outside chance of slipping through if they come up with an outfielder who can sock that ball."

Cunningham May Achieve World Record Tonight

HANOVER, N. H., March 3. (P)—If an omen counts for anything, Glenn Cunningham, Kansas' spectacular 26-year-old miler, should achieve a world record 4:05 mile tonight in a special race paced by six Dartmouth runners.

Cunningham arrived here by train yesterday, reaching the nearby White River Junction, Vt., terminus at exactly 4:05 p. m.

But the Kansas jockey laughed off the good omen and concentrated on the business at hand, his effort to shade Sydney Woodersen's recently recognized record of 4:06.4, on Dartmouth's unusually fast indoor oval.

"I hope it will be warm indoors," he said. "The temperature makes a lot of difference. Down at the Garden in New York there is a draft and it tightens me up. The hotter the better."

Bowling Congress To Open Tonight

CHICAGO, March 3. (P)—The thunder from 40 alleys will signal the opening of the thirty-eighth annual American Bowling Congress tournament at the coliseum tonight.

From 8 o'clock, when the first 200 of a record-breaking entry list of 24,975 sent the first balls down the shining alleys, until midnight on April 18, there will be few moments of quiet in this largest of tournaments. Day and night for seven weeks the coliseum will echo with the efforts of the nation's best as they attempt to take down shares of nearly $200,000 in prize money.

Entries in each of the three divisions are A. B. C. records, with 17,441 singles participants, 8,620 doubles teams, and 4,957 five-man groups. They will come from every section of the United States, and from Canada and Hawaii.

Most of them will be in action in each of the three events, with total scores for the series figuring in the all-events race. Defending champions in the four classes will all be back in the running for repeat championships—rare feats in A. B. C. history.
