GOVERNOR ASKS LEASE CANCELLATION

Harvey S. Firestone Dies In His Sleep In Miami Beach Mansion

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 7. (AP)—Harvey S. Firestone, the rubber magnate of Akron, Ohio, died at his winter home here early today.

Announcement of his death was made by his son, Russell A. Firestone, in the following statement: "Harvey S. Firestone passed away in his sleep early this morning at his home here. The funeral will be held in Akron later this week."

FOUR KILLED IN PANHANDLE ROAD CRASHES

(By The Associated Press) Eight persons died in highway accidents and two were killed by trains in Texas during the last week-end.

HARVEY S. FIRESTONE

The rubber manufacturer held an optimistic outlook on life and his last interview, on his arrival here, reflected that trait.

He said business conditions were "not as good as they were a year ago" but attributed that condition "in large degree to government regulation of industry."

"If we want to regain prosperity we must do a right-about-face on regulation," he said. "In other words, prosperity still depends on two fundamentals: work and production, and these in turn are dependent on the release of capital."

"The first incentive toward its release would be the repeal of the undistributed profits tax and the repeal of the capital gains tax."

His principal diversion in later years had been putting a golf ball about a practice green on "a golf course" at the rear of a 104-year-old "slave house" not far away in Galveston county and announced he would test his secret Biblical formula on the moaners "whenever the weather permits."

The 68-year-old Banashee baiter's claims have brought him offers of "jobs" from a score of ghost-troubled citizens.

BIG TURNOUT FOR BANQUET BEING URGED

Officials of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce are urging a big turnout for tomorrow's membership luncheon at the First Methodist church when the Gray county lake and the Panhandle wide lake program will be discussed.

Carl Hinton, Amarillo Chamber of Commerce manager and secretary of the Panhandle Water Conservation association, will be the principal speaker.

Farris C. Oden, vice president will preside in the absence of President D. Leaky, chief of the naval operations, told the house naval committee today that the navy expects to solve its defense problems "without alliances," and has no "foreign commitments."

Asserting he wished to clear up any misunderstanding that may have arisen from his previous assertions, the navy's highest ranking officer said:

"The navy has no thought of obtaining assistance from any other nation. It has no thought of giving assistance in the solution of the problems of any other nation."

There are no foreign commitments. "There are no understandings regarding assistance to be given, or received."

"There has been no talk of giving, or receiving, assistance."

Leaky's refusal last week to disclose publicly the nature of discussions Captain Robert Ingersoll, head of the navy war planes division had recently with the British Admiralty had brought speculation in congressional circles as to a possible understanding with Britain.

Leaky's categorical denial of any commitment to any foreign nation was given in testimony on legislation to authorize a $800,000,000 naval expansion program.

Lions Minstrel To Be In Dress Rehearsal Stage Wednesday Eve

Rehearsals for tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday nights, are scheduled for the cast of the Lions club annual minstrel show, which is to be presented Thursday and Friday nights in the high school auditorium. The show will open at 8:15 p. m. each night.

Wednesday night will be a dress rehearsal. A practice was held Sunday afternoon in the city hall auditorium, with nearly all of the cast, of 50 present.

Rehearsals for tonight, and for Tuesday and Wednesday nights will begin at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Roy McMillen, business manager of the Pampa Independent school district, at whose office in the city hall building, tickets to the show are on sale, this morning said that demand was good for tickets to the opening night, but so far there had been no sale of tickets for Friday night's performance.

General admission tickets sell at 50 cents for the lower floor, 35 cents for the balcony. Reserved seat tickets sell at 75 cents.

The show to be presented Thursday and Friday nights will be the fifth annual minstrel the local club has held for the benefit of the crippled children's fund.

LEAHY DENIES ANY ALLIANCES

FLEET SEEKS TO DESTROY 3 SPANISH SUBS

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Wartime secrecy covered the movements today of a powerful Anglo-French destroyer fleet operating off the Balearic Islands—Spanish insurgent submarine and airplane base—to prevent further attacks on neutral shipping.

Eisen was expected to disclose details of his strong note to Generalissimo Francisco Franco, head of the Spanish insurgent government, which demanded immediate cessation of attacks on neutral vessels and compensation for the freighter Alicia, sunk by aerial bombs Friday off Barcelona.

The Anglo-French fleet was supported by seaplanes. In addition, the British cruisers Coventry and Curlew may be ordered to assist war vessels guarding shipping lanes around the Balearic islands.

These cruisers have special anti-aircraft equipment installed during the Italo-Ethiopian crisis in 1935. Each has ten 4-inch, high-angle guns, two multi-barreled rapid firing 1-pounders and batteries of machine guns firing explosive bullets.

It was believed they have only three insurgent submarines to deal with. The best information available here indicated General Franco's submersible craft consists of one old Spanish submarine and two boats sold to him by Italy.

Forty Years Of Whittling

James M. Smith

LEANDERSON, Ky., Feb. 7.—When a feller likes to whittle so much that he cuts up his own peg leg—then he's some whittler.

And that's exactly the description for James M. Smith, who has been sitting on the same bench in Henderson for 40 years, doing nothing but whittling and whittling nothing but shavings.

Smith, who is 64 years old, began his career with a pocketknife away back in 1888. Four years previously, he had been injured in an accident in which a telephone pole fell on his leg. After numerous operations, including an amputation, Smith settled down on his outdoor bench and took up whittling in a really serious way.

Fancy whittling? Oh, no! None of this curlycue, making-wooden-chairs-out-of-a-board for Smith. He just takes a chunk of wood, slices it up into pieces about the size of a lead pencil, then shaves them down to nothing.

For a while he wore a plain wooden leg, but later bought an artificial limb because, according to his cronies, he whittled away the peg leg one day when he ran out of knife fuel.

Smith likes best to whittle on cedar wood and, perhaps understandably, he prefers to work on pieces of cedar telephone poles like the one which injured him.

When he can spare time from whittling, Smith takes care of the boiler at a greenhouse operated by his wife, daughter-in-law, and grandson. He once ran a grocery store, but closed it up.

"It interfered with my whittling," he says.

CLAIMS STATE WILL LOSE IN NUECES DEAL

AUSTIN, Feb. 7 (AP)—Governor Allred renewed his attacks on the land leasing policies of Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald today with an official request to Attorney General William McCraw that suit be canceled a tract of public land in Nueces county leased by McDonald be instituted immediately. The tract was No. 14 in the Laguna Madre survey.

The governor said the tract, comprising 62 acres, was leased Jan. 18, 1937, to Herbert Mallinson of Dallas for $310 cash and three-sixteenths royalty if oil should be produced.

There also were provisions for an additional three-sixteenths royalty when each well drilled paid the lessee $55,000 cash, but if artificial means should have to be used to lift the oil then the royalty should drop back to five-sixteenths.

The governor said the land commissioner made no requirement for drilling the tract although at the time it was located adjacent to the Flour Bluff oil field and is now offset by actual production 990 feet distant. No well has been drilled on the land, he added.

"When the land commissioner let this bid to Herbert Mallinson it was evidently worth more than $1,000 per acre, since he rejected a bid of $69,000 in cash with a two-sixteenths royalty offer," the governor said.

"He also rejected a bid of $35,000 cash and $125,000 in oil, with an offer to begin the drilling of a well within 60 days. He also rejected on this tract a so-called logarithm bid, which would have given the state up to 51 per cent royalty and which the land commissioner has maintained publicly under oath is the best type of bid."

"The record shows that when logarithm bid of the Plains Petroleum company of tract 14 in favor of the Mallinson bid, he turned right around and accepted the same logarithm bid of the state."

TOURNAMENT RECEIPTS TOTALED OVER $1,300

A financial report of the Pampa Daily News Golden Gloves boxing tournament will be available within a few days. The sponsors of the successful tournament which closed Friday night are more than pleased with the report which will show gross receipts of more than $1,300.

All proceeds after expenses have been deducted will be used for the advancement of amateur sports in Pampa. The amount will be several hundred dollars.

Pampa stores and firms having bills for the Pampa Daily News A. A. sponsors of the tournament, are urged to mail them immediately so that a final check-up can be made.

Sponsors of the tourney were members of the Pampa Daily News staff and representatives of Pampa civic clubs and veterans organizations. This group of men will meet and pass every bill and will also determine to what purpose the balance will be used.

MOSCOW, Feb. 7 (AP)—Serious danger of being crushed in an ice jam before rescue ships could reach them was reported by four Russian scientists precariously adrift on an ice floe in the Arctic sea east of Greenland.

Radio communications from the polar party's commander Ivan Papanin, said rapidly-shifting ice was piling up around the drifting floe. Three Soviet ships, bucking ice and stormy weather are steaming toward them from the general direction of Jan Mayen island.

Proud Britons Inspect World's Largest Plane

The largest wings over Europe will be those of the new 20-ton "Ensign" class planes built for England's Imperial Airways, first of which is seen above before a successful test flight at Hamble, England. The 4-engine monsters have a 123-foot wing span, are 114 feet long and will carry 42 passengers at a top speed of 200 miles an hour. They require three and a half years to build and cost about $300,000.

Suggestions in Planting Flowers Given by H. D. Club

Mrs. George T. Bunch was hostess at a meeting of the Kingsmill Home Demonstration club at her home last week.

Mrs. P. F. Blankenbush presided over the business session in which committee reports were completed and Mrs. C. F. Bastion led the program for the afternoon. Heavy varieties in flowers were described by Mrs. Bastion as pinks, petunias, Sweet Williams, marigolds, which grow from the seeds each year.

The time of planting of the above varieties was told by Mrs. George Roberts. All flowers which come from the root or bulbs should be planted in the early fall and flowers coming from the seed should be planted in boxes indoors early and removed to the outdoors for a longer blooming season.

Mrs. A. R. Walberg told the group of the American flower girl, Elizabeth Bodger, who raises 2,100 varieties of blossoms each year on her 1,500 acre farm. She dictates floral fashions for the nation gardeners and travels from place to place to find new varieties of flowers.

The growth of flowers in west Texas was presented by Mrs. E. O. Smith. Ten members and a visitor, Mrs. B. L. Shelton, were present.

Two New Members Added to 4-H Club Saturday Afternoon

Members of the 4-H girls club met Saturday afternoon in the office of Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, home demonstration agent. The recreation, including games of danger, was conducted by Margaret Rogers. Emma Dean Hutchins and Billie O'Neal were added as new members to the club.

Six princess slips were cut out by the girls and sewing of the group presented stuffed toys, which they had made at the meeting. Mrs. Kelley took pictures of these toys. Six members were present while eight girls did not attend.

Garden Flowers Discussed by Bell Club at Meeting

"Flower seeds should be covered at a depth of one and a half times their diameter," Mrs. Julia E. Kelley said in a program on "Garden Flowers" at the meeting of the Bell Home Demonstration club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. E. Danner.

For large seeds, open a shallow trench and sow them into it, covering them firmly with the back of the rake. If the seeds are fine, broadcast them on the soil, rake it gently and tamp it down with the back of the rake. Never sprinkle after sowing seeds as sprinkling keeps a crust which makes it difficult for the tender shoots to penetrate. Always water thoroughly several days before planting, Mrs. Kelley explained.

Choosing the natural environment for each flower adds to the luxuriance of the garden. "Some plants such as zinnias, phlox and petunias thrive best in the hot burning sun. Others such as nasturtiums, pansies, and Sweet Williams prefer their sunlight filtered through trees or lattice work," she said.

A well landscaped home will have the front yard with a grassed lawn, trees to frame the house, foundation plantings of colorful foliage, and blossoms at different seasons to permit cheer and color continuously throughout the year, the speaker explained.

The farm flower garden should be located where it can be seen from some room that is used a great deal. The dining room is used at least twice a day, so if possible, place the flower garden where it can be viewed from the dining table. Or it may be located where it can be seen by the housewife from the kitchen window, particularly if the men will have to pass it on their way to and from the barn.

"Love of gardening with its splendid achievements is filled with adventure," Mrs. Kelley added. Planting three garden flowers in the correct location of the yard is the goal set for all club members in the county by the Bell club as the year-long program contributed to the year book.

Members discussed various flowers easily grown in this climate such as zinnias, petunias, hollyhocks, irises, pinks, and marigolds.

During the business session, February 19 was set for the next party which will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Morris. At this time the president appointed Mrs. Brown as exhibit chairman and Mrs. Roland Daniel will serve on the finance committee instead of the exhibit as she was appointed at the first meeting.

The next club meeting will be held on March 2 in an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Jess Morris.

Pampans To Take Part in Festival

Interest is growing in the Panhandle Music Festival which will be held March 17-19 at Amarillo in the Polk Street Methodist church.

Mrs. J. W. Sanders, president of the Panhandle Music Teachers association, has announced that entrance into the contests and enrollment in the association must be made by noon on March 1. This applies to those who enter the speech arts part of the festival.

Visiting teachers will be complimented with a luncheon on Thursday, March 17, at noon. This will be followed with a joint concert by popular young composer and pianist who has moved to Pampa to make her home. Dorothy, a piano pupil of Mrs. May Foreman Carr, was presented in a radio program with her brothers, Eldon and Olan, by Mrs. Carr yesterday afternoon over station KPBN. She will also be heard on several other programs to be presented soon.

Tenth Birthday Celebrated at Party By Nadine Mauldin

Mrs. J. L. Mauldin entertained a group of children at her home recently honoring her daughter, Nadine, on her tenth birthday.

After games were played, refreshments of ice cream, cakes, and candy hearts were served and favors of valentines and balloons were given to Mary Lou Cox, Dorothy Moon, Elcuse Wyatt, Eula Climents, Doris June Richey, Mary Frances Morris, Betty Ruth Anderson, Murlyne Lyles.

Mrs. Mauldin was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Paul Clark.

Wheeler Guest Given Party

McLEAN, Feb. 7.—Honoring her guest for the week-end, Mrs. Nina H. Young of Wheeler, Mrs. Jim Back, entertained with a party on Friday evening. The Valentine motif was carried out in place cards, score pads, and refreshments.

Bridge and 42 furnished the entertainment for the evening. At a late hour, Misses Dorothy Sizer and Mabel Back served the following guests: Mrs. Young, Misses Margaret Hess, Betty Parley, Jewell Cousins; Mmes. Roger Powers, Sammie Cubines; Messrs. Joe Downing and O. P. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Glass, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Sitter, Mr. and Mrs. Creed Bogan, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Cousins, Mr. and Mrs. June Woods, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Upham, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Magee, Mr. and Mrs. Back.

Women of World Program Topic

McLEAN, Feb. 7.—Mrs. C. A. Crier was hostess of the members of the Pioneer Study club Thursday afternoon, when an interesting program on women of the world was heard with Mrs. C. B. Batson leading the discussion.

Mrs. Roger Power discussed "Women in the World of Sports," Mrs. Swim, "Social Workers of the World," Mrs. W. E. Bogan, "Marriage Rights of Women."

Woods Entertain Embroidery Club

McLEAN, Feb. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. June Woods entertained members of the newly organized embroidery club and their husbands Thursday evening.

The occasion was the first evening meeting of the club, which, as yet, has not chosen a name.

A delicious cover-dish dinner was served at quarter tables, after which 42 and "tricky-sticks" were played.

COLLEGES SEEK ALL KINDS OF 'TALENT'

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—Competition for students among colleges and universities no longer is restricted to athletes, says the 32nd annual report of the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching. It extends even to drum majors and tuba players.

Written by Dr. Walter A. Jessup, foundation president, and issued yesterday, part of the report said: "Jobs and scholarships are being held before the eyes of impecunious high school pupils. Fraternities and sororities vie in recruiting students who can pay their bills and bring glory (in press notices) to a chapter."

"In bidding for favors we are streamlining the job—our current models glitter with gadgets that smack of the factory and the salesman. Perhaps a college can gain by adopting 16 cylinders, hydraulic brakes but certainly the college which rests its case on something new or adopting some gadget of the moment would do well to consider the long road it must travel."

Motivating this campaign of high pressure salesmanship—a campaign, the report says, that sent 63 college representatives to one mid-west high school in a single year—is the constant fear of losing tuition-paying students.

WORLD MAY EXPECT MANY QUAKES SOON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The world may expect a number of earthquakes in the near future, Captain N. H. Heck of the coast and geodetic survey said today.

During the last year 56 earthquakes severe enough to be recorded on instruments have occurred throughout the world, said Captain Heck. "After such a period of quietness it is generally possible to expect a renewal of activity," he added.

CONVICT SHOT TWICE

FLORENCE, Ariz., Feb. 7 (AP)—Earl Williams, 35, convicted burglar, was shot twice early today by a guard when with two companions he attempted to scale the wall of the Arizona state prison.

TODAY'S SERMONETTE
 The professed follower of Christ should be familiar with the Scriptures and their teachings in order to guide others into an understanding. And the church is not the only place where the Scriptures should be read and taught. Phillip found the Eunuch sitting in his chariot and reading the prophets, and asked if he understood what he was reading. The Eunuch's answer was, "How can I expect some man shall guide me?" Phillip explained and the Eunuch was converted.—Chivers.

JUSTICE AND HERESY IN MURDER TRIALS
 Without touching the summit of cynicism, it is possible to believe that the parade of emotions in the Paul Wright murder trial at Los Angeles is not entirely as sincere as it might be.

Attorneys recline full-length on the floor and fire questions at witnesses, forgiven by their zeal to see justice done. A crowded courtroom cranes necks and bates each breath for fear of missing a single syllable. Furnishings from the murder scene move in and out magically, scenery for the play.

No other trial has illustrated quite so well some of the things which ought not to be displayed in a courtroom in the name of a poor, bewildered justice. It is quite true that justice may come out of the Los Angeles trial. Anything could come out of that trial. But the same goal could have been achieved in another way that wouldn't quite so much resemble a combination of bedlam and burlesque.

The defendant who slew his wife and best friend sobbed out an unprintable story, which act, incidentally, may do more to condemn him in the eyes of many than the actual act of pulling the trigger of the gun. It's a little hard for the average man, who loves his wife as most men do, to quite imagine publicly smearing such a tale even if it was the only way to save his neck.

It is the custom these days to smile a little condescendingly at what used to be known as—do you remember?—codes of honor. They're old-fashioned now under that name at least, but they still exist because men have to live with themselves and with their neighbors; they have to see themselves in mirrors, they have to swallow food and they have to sleep nights, wherever they may be.

Agree, if you like, that in this instance the story had to be told so that 12 men and women could decide whether Wright was justified in his double slaying, or that he was momentarily made insane by the wave of love and rage and jealousy which swept over him. Still, couldn't it have been done without wailing flags and ringing bells, and without hysterical histrionics. If a defendant asked for a private trial with only an opportunity to tell his side of the case and to explain the peculiar reasoning which led him to act as he did—would that be hehese to our modern judicial system?

BUILDING A STRONGER GENERATION

"Building a stronger generation" is the theme for the twenty-eighth birthday celebration to be observed nationally February 6 to 12 commemorating the founding of the Scouting Movement in America.

In "living" demonstrations of the things Scouts know and do, in various "Good Turn" projects related to safety education, in their ceremony of reaffirming their Scout Oath and Law, in their observance of Scout Sunday, Scouts will reveal their growing strength and preparedness to face the exacting demands of participating citizenship.

Reading between the lines of what Scouts are doing, a deeper significance becomes apparent expressed in boyish attitudes towards life . . . attitudes influenced by Scouting which causes boys to exhibit a cheerful spirit, a preparedness to accept responsibility, a willingness to be helpful, and a confidence in themselves strengthened by a working knowledge of trustworthiness, loyalty, courtesy and cleanliness which are the tools of integrity.

Scouting may be a boy's game, but it is truly a constructive game which is building a stronger generation.

NO BOMB INSURANCE

Through all the wars since 1574, Lloyd's of London has been insuring millions of dollars worth of goods in warehouses all over the world against war damage.

Now Lloyd's has quit, and maybe it's a good idea. Industrialists who have profited from war will be pinched severely, and pinching the profits out of war is one excellent way to prevent war.

Lloyd's hereafter will insure shipments while they are in transit, but not a minute after they have been carted ashore. The reason? Airplane bombs. Both the Spanish civil war and the Chinese-Japanese affair have produced the modern air raiders, whose bombs fell not on trenches of fighting men, but on cities and towns, leveling a terrible destruction in property and goods as well as lives.

So Lloyd's gave up. The risk was too great for them. Perhaps it will be too great for the shipper, too.

A prowler sneaked into the home of C. E. Cary, Pampa attorney, last November and snatched Mr. Cary's pants from their resting place as he slept . . . It so happened that $30 in the pants was included in the deal . . . Next day, Mr. Cary found his pants, abandoned in a back lot, but the $30 was gone . . . There's no news about all that, but it is news that Mr. Cary during the weekend received a letter from another "C. E. Cary" in Milwaukee, Wis., relating that the Wisconsin Cary had just read about the Texas Cary's misfortune in a newspaper article carried by the Milwaukee Journal.

The letter's author thought it was quite unusual to find another man by the same name and initials, and the letter was prompted by a desire to scale the family tree and to determine if there was a possibility of an existing relationship . . . The Wisconsin Cary is in the employ of the United States Forestry Service . . . The clipping about the stolen pants episode was enclosed in the letter.

It was news to me that the "W" in the initials of W. B. Weathered, Gray county school superintendent, stands for "Wayland." . . . I got it in an item in the Childrens Index which did some fancy bragging on Mr. Weathered, one of their former "home town boys." . . . Says the Childrens story:

"Among the local boys who have made good might be listed the name of Wayland Weathered, a Childress county lad, who is now in Pampa . . . Weathered is county school superintendent of Gray county and last week he was named the outstanding young Pampa by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of that city . . . Weathered was reared in this county and formerly taught school at Carey." . . . Nice going, Mr. Weathered, and anything they say about you can't be an exaggeration . . . Pampa, too, is mighty proud of you for the time and effort you are devoting to make a better and more progressive city.

Just what part do runners play in that Washington silk and cotton "battle of legs" . . . Niagara engineers are having their troubles with fallen arches . . . The ex-prisoner who asked to be returned to Sing Sing because he could get no work must have found relief barred . . . Many business men interested in a balanced budget fear that Mrs. Roosevelt's bobbed hair will be the only trimming done in the White House . . . Mayor Hague's vacation in Miami won't be much of a change. He's made things pretty warm in Jersey City lately.

Washington Letter

By Rodney Dutcher
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The Senate and House like to hit each other over the head with rubber clubs, but it's usually all in good clean fun and they nearly always wind up scratching each other's backs.

Especially when it's a question of spending money. No truer demonstration of this spirit of brotherly love could be found than in the slight difference between the House Independent Offices appropriation bill for 1938-39 and the Senate Appropriations Committee's version of the same bill.

The House passed a bill appropriating $1,410,628,515. After certain addition and subtraction the Senate committee reported a bill calling for $1,412,069,465. The committee decreased the House bill by $1,322,050 and increased it by $2,763,000. Net increase: $1,440,950.

All of which is just so many figures unless you notice that the increase was entirely "for construction of a dam at or near Gilbertville, Ky.," to "carry out the provisions" of the TVA act. TVA wanted to build that dam and so did the House Military Affairs committee which nurses TVA. The House Appropriations committee objected to this extension of the TVA system.

But Kentucky is the home state of Senator Alben W. Barkley, Senate majority leader. A Gilbertville dam would be a big asset for Barkley, who had been having re-election worries because of Governor "Happy" Chandler's aspirations. Obviously, his fellow senators couldn't let Alben down.

And so, while providing for a start on the Gilbertville Dam, they carefully pruned certain items from the House bill for no better reason than trading purposes. They cut $75,000 from the Central Statistical Board, $150,000 from the Civil Service Commission, $24,050 from the Employees' Compensation Commission, $100,000 from the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, $75,000 from the National Archives, $385,000 from the National Labor Relations Board and so on.

None of these cuts made any particular sense except for the fact that the bill would subsequently go to Senate and House conferees for a compromise. The House conferees could be expected to agree to Gilbertville Dam if the Senate agreed to restoration of the reductions.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER
 NEW YORK.—The newest French star, who drinks only dubonnet and sings only the most plaintive love songs, has installed himself at the Pierre—with an English teacher.

"How was Paris?" I asked Tino Rossi as he stood amid the welter of phonograph records (his own, elementary grammar books (his teacher's), and musical manuscripts (NBC's) that littered the apartment. He had just unpacked. He was gay and a-twitter. He was in New York with three months to which to master the English language sufficiently to enable him to make motion pictures for Twentieth Century-Fox.

"She was marvelous," he exclaimed. "I saw Chevalier just before the boat took me away. See, I get 45 letters from my friends in Paris today. Here is one from my friend Jean Pierre Aumont and I will be best man when I go back to Paris." "George Carpentier is making much money with his Paris bar, like Jack Dempsey's, and his other bar in the south of France. His daughter is now 18 and beautiful. Jeff Dixon is still the great fight promoter in Paris. Paris likes the fights. We have any number of promising youngsters with a chance to grow up and whip Joe Louis. Carpentier is so pleased with his American friends he has taken up the habit of chewing gum. He goes around with lots of it in his pocket and in his mouth.

"How do you like American women?" I broke in, becoming more original with my questions every minute. "Ah, they are so tall, and broad-shouldered," cried Tino, who likes tall women, although he is not so tall himself. "Your American women have the broad shoulders, and the modern way. In Paris it is not so. There the women are of a more uniform height. They are more leisurely. I hope American women will like me in New York, and America as they do in Paris." M. Rossi mentioned casually at this point a woman whose husband slew her because she persisted in playing his records on the phonograph. He was slightly insane, Tino thinks, as he accused her of hiding Tino in the little gramophone box. As the box was only a foot or so square, there are some grounds for believing the man insane, Tino thinks.

It'll be an interesting experience for him here. He is a darkly latin fellow partial to soft grey suits and blue knitted ties. He has made about 190 records, is scheduled to make radio appearances and a number of American pictures—after learning English. The latter, he expects to be easy for him. Reason: he has a French chauffeur who speaks perfect English. The chauffeur learned his New Yorkese from piloting Americans about Paris for 12 years.

WASHINGTON FLOODED WITH PINK GRAPEFRUIT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Answering a challenge, Representative West (D., Texas) today deluged the capitol with Texas pink grapefruit. Rep. Hendricks (D., Fla.) recently distributed several crates of grapefruit from his district in the house. Another member asked West why congress couldn't be permitted to sample some of the Rio Grande citrus fruit. West's reply was delivery at the capitol today of 42 half boxes and 88 whole boxes of the Texas fruit.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M.D.
 It is customary nowadays to speak of the science rather than the art of medicine. While it is true that medical science has grown enormously during the last century, the application of that science to the individual is still essentially an art. William Osler, one of the great masters of the art of medicine, was making the ward rounds with a number of students and had just passed the bedside of a patient with an incurable cancer of the stomach, when he suddenly turned to one of the students and said, "Tell me, what can put 40 pounds of flesh on a patient with cancer of the stomach?" Hopelessly puzzled, the student confessed he didn't know. "An optimistic consultant," answered Osler.

The sympathetic and understanding physician who "do marvels" in treating his patients. The late Dr. Frances Peabody of the Harvard Medical school said: "One of the essential qualities of the clinician is interest in humanity, for the secret of the care of the patient is in caring for the patient." He cited the case of the patient suffering from heart disease who failed to respond to treatment. This patient's heart did not benefit by medication and rest because he was anxious about the future. An understanding physician who diagnosed his anxiety and talked things over with him "did more to straighten him out than a book full of drugs and diets."

But all this cannot be done by the clinician, no matter how much he is interested in humanity, unless the humanity he treats is willing to cooperate. That is precisely what is meant by the personal relations of physician and patient. And that, too, is where the art of medicine looms large. Men differ and the art must differ accordingly. "Jones is a robust individual who neglects his cold. To save him from the possible complication of pneumonia, it may be necessary to 'scare the daylight out of him.' His wife may be a bit of a hypochondriac who requires large doses of encouragement no matter what her condition may be. To exercise the art of medicine effectively, it is necessary that a mutual understanding be developed between the physician and his patient. That is why it is so very important to have your own doctor.

He passed them out among congressmen, reporters, elevator boys, capitol police, clerks and secretaries.

Around Hollywood

—By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The film colony's horizon is continually expanding. More than ever before, Hollywood over Saturdays and Sundays is a "deserted village." Every weekend automatically divides the stellar residents into two classes: those who are working, those who are not. For most of the latter, the exodus begins earlier than Saturday noon. For many of the former, Saturday noon means a quick getaway. Shortly after Saturday noon, the celebrity population of Hollywood is at its lowest—unless, during the Santa Anita racing season, you include Arcadia within the figurative boundaries of the colony.

A few years ago the big week-ending excursion was aimed at Malibu Beach. Malibu is a community of eight- and nine-room "cottages" about an hour's ride from the heart of Hollywood. Celebrities still go there, come Saturday, to relax, swim, sun, play beach games and stay up roasting wieners or bridge partners. But Malibu now is just one of the pebbles on the recreation beach. Palm Springs, the desert resort, horned in first. Three hours from Hollywood—four if you take your time—Palm Springs boasts healthful beauty, ultra-ultra accommodations, and splendid isolation except for tourists and autograph hunters. From autumn until spring, each year, harried stars go there to get away from it all and be seen.

About a year ago, however, the famous of filmland began looking at maps and making startling discoveries to wit, that there were Other Places! Unexplored, tucked away, intriguing, small places! So when you want to locate your favorite star on a Sunday morning you're up against it. Victorville (desert) and LaQuinta (near Palm Springs) and Furnace Creek (in Death Valley) and Arrowhead (in the mountains) are just starters. Bob Montgomery's present favorite is Sun Valley, the Idaho winters sports resort. For a quick trip from here flying is essential. Dolores del Rio, Jeanette MacDonald, Joan Crawford and Françoise TONE make quick jaunts to the new B-Bar-H ranch, which other movie stars have since "discovered." The Marx brothers are Palm Springs addicts, but Clark Gable divides his free time between that resort, LaQuinta, and half a dozen other spots.

The Capitol Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Feb. 7. (AP)—Mechanical devices to regulate the speed of automobiles would not solve the traffic accident problem, L. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol, believes. In his opinion, manufacturers who can build cars with less power may hold the key to the puzzle.

"I don't think much of the idea of automatic governors," Chief Phares said recently. "A national organization of motor vehicle administrators, after studying the matter thoroughly, has gone on record in opposition. 'The chief objection is that governors interfere with adaptability of motive power to road conditions. Set to permit a maximum speed of 35 to 40 miles an hour, they might work nicely on the plains of West Texas but they wouldn't do so well on hills. Differences in pavement also would cause trouble.'"

"Now, I am for reduced speed. Most of our accidents are traceable to speed, but I think governors are not the proper way to reduce speed."

"An automobile can be manufactured which will not have excessive speed. Why, isn't it true that often the first thing a salesman will tell you when he wants to sell a car is, 'It will do 85 to 90 miles an hour?'"

Phares said there was no need for the tremendous speed many automobiles develop. He told this story about a friend:

"This old boy had to drive from Austin to a town about 100 miles away to meet another man. He took along a friend. 'Well, he arrived 30 minutes ahead of the time for the meeting and the other man hadn't gotten in. The friend asked what he was going to do in the meantime. 'I'm going to wait until so and so gets here,' was the reply. 'Then,' Phares quoted the friend saying, 'why didn't you do a little waiting along the highway instead of breaking the speed law most of the way?'"

Reports received here are that a man who once attempted to defeat John Garner for re-election to congress may try to prevent Homer Leonard of McAllen from returning to the state house of representatives.

The man is Sid L. Hardin of Edinburg, a former county attorney of Hidalgo county and brother to the twins, Leo and Homer Phares Hill and Assistant Attorney General Doss Hardin. It was several years ago Sid Hardin challenged Garner and lost after a very good race.

Although for a long time he played with the idea of running for the senate, Leo is now serving his fourth term in the house, finally decided to seek a fifth. He may be a candidate for the speakership.

Gov. James V. Alford has received a down payment on his winnings in the famous Peak bet made with Gov. Teller Ammons of Colorado.

It is the "top half foot" of the mountain which Ammons wagered against the prospective Big Bend park in Texas on the Rice Institute-Colorado university football game at Denver last New Year's day.

Ever since Rice and Gov. Alford won, the problem has been how to collect the bet. Suggestions have come from all over the country. Gov. Ammons sent a miniature mountain made from stones gathered in the famous Peak bet to the Kiwanis club of Manitou Springs, explaining it was a "down payment." In an accompanying letter, he quoted from the Bible to cheer Gov. Alford and point a way for further collections. From Isaiah 54:10 he quoted the following:

"For the mountains shall depart, and the hills be removed." Then he cited the 20th verse of the 17th chapter of Matthew as follows:

"If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto the mountain, remove hence, and it shall remove."

HULL WILLING TO TAKE PART IN ARMS TALK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Secretary Hull's expressed willingness to take part in any general arms reduction aroused widespread interest in the capital today, because it followed closely his demand that Japan disclose her naval building program.

Amid unofficial reports that Tokyo officials had decided against complying, Hull said in a radio address last night:

"While compelled in a world in which increased construction of armaments is a regrettable fact, to render adequate our military and naval establishment, we are ready at any time to join with other nations in a common effort to bring about a general limitation and reduction of armaments."

"The secretary of state spoke of 'the alarming disintegration of all international relationships which the world has recently witnessed.' 'The most fundamental tenets of international law have been flouted with incredible disdain,' he said. 'Resort to armed force is again emerging both as a method of settling international disputes and as an instrument of predatory policy.'"

Hull on Saturday had requested Japan to make known by Feb. 20 any plans to build battleships above the 35,000-ton limit set by the 1936 London naval treaty. There have been reports Japan was constructing or was projecting 43,000 and 46,000-ton vessels.

Semi-official navy data disclosed that the demand of the three powers were backed by tentative plans for building 11 capital ships this year, in addition to 10 already under construction.

Nothing that Japan has been reported to be contemplating, it was said in naval circles, could match what either the United States or Great Britain alone might build in the event of a decision to scrap the treaty.

Appropriations to commence two new American battleships are contained in the 1939 navy supply bill already passed by the house.

President Roosevelt in his proposed $500,000,000 naval program asked that work be started this year on two others.

Cranium Crackers

The body of Claude Bayard was found floating in Long Island Sound near a private beach. A post-mortem examination of his body showed that he had been knocked unconscious and then had drowned. However, the police soon announced that he had not met his death in Long Island Sound, and pursued their investigations over in New York City.

They learned that a band of professional gamblers had decided to have Bayard, also a gambler, put out of the way. Bayard had "squealed" to the police about some gambling case; in retaliation, the other gamblers had hired Ossie Fliegel, a professional gangland free lance executioner, to kill him.

Following this lead, the police were able to show that Fliegel broke into Bayard's apartment, knocked the sleeping gangster unconscious, and then put his victim into the bathtub and drowned him. Later he took the body down the service elevator, put it in his car, and then dumped it into Long Island Sound.

THE KEY POINT IN THE INVESTIGATION HAD BEEN THE DISCOVERY THAT BAYARD HAD NOT DROWNED IN THE SOUND. HOW DID THE POLICE KNOW THAT?

DUNCAN'S TURKEY TURKS TO PLAY HARVESTERS HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

QUINTET ONE OF STRONGEST IN PANHANDLE

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock the Harvesters will open their busiest week of the season when Coach Al Duncan's Turkey Turks invade the local court. The Pampa Cagers will play a game every night this week on a road trip to Plainview and Lubbock.

There will be no stowing-down in the pace next week because the district tournament will start next Thursday morning week at 9 o'clock. The annual cage meet will open on Feb. 17 and continue through Friday and Saturday, with games being played day and night. The Harvesters' first foe will be the champion of Hemphill county, Canadian, and the game will be played at one o'clock Thursday. Their second foe will be the winner of Wheeler, Hutchinson game, probably Borger, and this game will be played at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

Thus in the first day of the tournament, the Harvesters will meet the team they have failed to beat in the last three encounters—the Borger Bulldogs.

Turks Strong
The strongest team the Harvesters faced on a road trip to Dallas the first of the year was the Turkey Turks. The Pampa cagers were going great guns then with both Andie and Cox in fine fettle and hitting their peak. Even with the boys playing in their best form of the season, the Harvesters were able to nose out the Turks by a meager two points.

So a close battle is expected tomorrow night. Coach Al Duncan, former Pampa, gets a great kick out of beating Pampa teams in Pampa, and his Turks have done it several times.

Panhandle Surprises
The Harvesters flunked out during the week-end at Miami. Panhandle flung its hat into the ring as a contender for district honors by downing the Harvesters who played listlessly and lackadaisically. The Panthers then suffering from the shock of walloping the Harvesters, favored to take the tournament, succumbed to LeFors. None was upset in every game, and none of the games turned out as the experts had figured.

Wednesday night the Harvesters will put up in the Hilton hotel which will be their headquarters at a two-night stay. The games on Friday and Saturday nights they will tackle the Westerners.

By Saturday night, the championship of the Big Five league will be decided. At the present writing Plainview is leading, Pampa is second, Borger is third, Lubbock fourth and Amarillo fifth. Each team is scheduled to play 16 games. Borger has played 14 compared with 11 for Pampa and Plainview, and 13 for Amarillo whose Sandies have lost 12 and won one.

Tomorrow night the games between Lubbock and Plainview at Plainview, and Borger and Pampa at Pampa. Wednesday night, the Golden Sandies will go to Borger where they will close out their season with the Bulldogs. The game was scheduled for Thursday night of last week, but was postponed.

Final games of the schedule will be played Friday and Saturday nights with Plainview here for a two-game series with the Sandies, and Pampa at Lubbock for games with the Westerners each night.

Team	G	W	L	Pct.
Plainview	11	9	2	.818
Pampa	12	8	4	.667
Borger	14	8	6	.571
Lubbock	12	6	6	.500
Amarillo	13	1	12	.077

PECOS WILDCAT SHOWS STEADY FLOW OF OIL

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 7 (AP)—Magnolia Petroleum Co. and Tex-Mex Petroleum Corporation No. 1-A McKee, northern Pecos county wildcat one mile northeast of Imperial, this afternoon developed a heavy, steady oil flow through a 9 5/8-inch casing to within 400 feet of the bottom, 5,294 feet. The well was turned into the pits for five minutes, then, connected with storage, gushed 64 barrels the first 15 minutes and 27 barrels the following quarter-hour. At the end of the hour it still was flowing steadily at a rate reported well in excess of 100 barrels hourly.

The known pay is saturated sand from 6,271-80 feet, in the Simpson, middle ordovician, which was topped at 4,775 feet, 2,396 feet below sea level. This was 870 feet higher than in Gulf No. 5 Waddell, the nearest of two major producers from the Ellenberger, lower ordovician, in the sand hills district in western Crans county, 12 miles to the north.

Largest Indoor Dog Show in U. S. Opens Thursday

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—A great many men and women will call formally upon man's best friend this week.

For three days, from Thursday morning until late Saturday night, the usually humble companion of mankind, the dog, will be at home to his human visitors in the 62nd annual Westminster Kennel Club show at Madison Square Garden.

It's a case of the dog having his day and a little to boot. More than 3,000 selected canines of 94 different breeds will be on display and will compete for the distinction of being named the best of their kind.

The entry list, slightly smaller than last year's totals 3,092, that makes the Westminster show the largest indoor show in America and one of the world's biggest. Preliminary to the main show, the Associated Veterinarians and the American Fomerianias club will hold their specialty shows Wednesday.

Interest, of course, centers upon which dog out of the 3,000 will be called out Saturday night to receive the ribbon as "best in the show."

LUBBOCK SENATOR OUT FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, Feb. 7 (AP)—Declaring that the greatest need of Texas is "lobby-free" legislation, state Senator G. Hobert Nelson, 35, of Lubbock tonight announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, "the people of Texas are tired," he said, "of seeing session after session of the legislature hamstrung by professional lobbyists, and the time has come when they are going to seek the election of men who will vote according to convictions rather than according to lobbyists."

Nelson was author of the bill which repealed the law authorizing horse race betting. He has urged substitution of a one-house legislature for the existing two-house system, arguing the change "would cut the lifeline of the lobby in Texas."

The Lubbock senator's opponents in the Lieutenant governor's race will include Coke Stevenson of Junction, twice speaker of the House; former State Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman and probably Senator Wilbourne B. Colie of Eastland.

Nelson was born and reared in Cass county. He worked his way through East Texas Teachers College at Commerce and the University of Texas before going to West Texas as a school teacher. He is a former county attorney and district attorney.

Medwick Concerned About His Future

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—Joe Medwick is concerned about the future and not the present in his holdout difference with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"You've got to make your pile when you're going good," said the Cardinal outfielder who captured just about all the senior loop's honors in 1937.

"When I've passed my peak as a ball player the club isn't going to remember what I did in 1937. It will pay me what it figures I'm worth and that's all, said Medwick.

"That's why I want to get every cent I think is coming to me now," he added. "It's just a matter of business with me."

DOG TAX DEFEATED

BROWNWOOD, Feb. 7 (AP)—On the basis of incomplete returns, Brown county voters today defeated a proposal to require a registration tax on dogs. With all larger boxes reported, the vote stood at 1,158 against the law, 444 for it. Election officials said the unreported returns could not change the result.

Chicago Bears Beat Redskins

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—Chicago's Bears boasted today of a professional football victory over the world champion Washington Redskins.

Rated the underdogs, the Bears turned on the Redskins yesterday to rack up a 16 to 10 victory that was enlivened by several flistic encounters between players.

Washington's ace, Slinger Sammy Baugh was not in top form. Although he sparked two passing attacks that advanced into Bear territory during the 15 minutes in which he saw action, Baugh was slowed up by a bad leg.

Riley Smith's 30-yard field goal in the second quarter put the Redskins in the lead, but not for long. Jack Manders returned the kickoff 58 yards and Keith Molesworth scored a few minutes later. Manders kicked the point.

Manders booted a field goal from the 10-yard stripe in the third period. In the fourth, Sam Francis intercepted Ray Fecerson's pass and paced 33 yards across the goal. Joe Studahar's kick for the extra point was blocked.

Washington's lone touchdown came in the final moments. Wayne Miller ran 12 yards to score after intercepting John Doering's pass. Smith added the point.

3 BASKETBALL QUINTS COULD SEIZE CROWN

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

No different from their football brethren, basketballers of the Southwest Conference today had settled down to a little feuding that promised to send the league race right into the stretch before a winner is determined.

Borrowing the "anything-can-happen" slogan from the annual grid scramble, the race presented three teams as possible winners—Arkansas, Baylor and Southern Methodist.

Eaylor, off to the same unbeaten spurt its gridders put on during the fall, could, by the easiest reasoning, be occupying the top spot after a heavy week of seven games among the contenders.

Tough, but not unmanageable, were expected to be the Texas Aggies in Baylor's only game at College Station Wednesday night, while Arkansas, boasting six straight victories, has perhaps, the toughest opposition in the league in a remodeled University of Texas team in two week-end games at Fayetteville.

Together for the first time, a new Texas five, boasting two sophomores who became eligible at mid-term and Capt. Don White, back for the first time in weeks after nursing injuries, lost a close, 46-45 game to the rampaging Baylorites last week. Inability to stop Hub Kirkpatrick, gangling center who set a new conference scoring record recently, cost the Texans.

Texas starts its week by playing Rice at Houston Tuesday night and then barges into Arkansas' new $150,000 gym for a Friday and Saturday series. Its almost even money that the Texans will take one of the two games.

Arkansas buried hapless Texas Christian beneath two overwhelming scores in their only games of last week.

Baylor kept pace by smothering T. C. U. 66-39, in an earlier game. Rice, idle for two weeks during mid-term examinations, gets into action twice, first against Texas and then against a Southern Methodist crew that is anything but out of the race.

The Methodist, defending their title, are expecting no trouble from Texas Christian in a Tuesday night game at Dallas, and, on the basis of comparisons, should erase Rice at Houston Saturday.

To round out the week, Texas Christian and the Aggies, both out of contention, tussle for a consolation prize at College Station Saturday night.

LEFORS PIRATES AND McLEAN TIGERS MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

LEFORS, Feb. 7—Fresh for winning the Miami Invitation Basketball tournament, the LeFors Pirates will try to repel an invading pack of McLean Tigers Tuesday night in their third conference game of the season. The first game will be at 7:30 p. m., with the "main event" following.

On Wednesday night the Pirates will entertain the high-stepping Groom Tigers from Carson county and on Friday night they will go to McLean for the last conference game unless a two-way tie crops up somewhere.

LeFors has defeated Alaneered twice. McLean downed Alaneered once. LeFors needs two wins over McLean or a win for Alaneered over the Tigers to win McLean, on the other hand, can take the Pirates under, defeat Alaneered and win. The team taking the county championship will represent Gray county in the district meet here Feb. 17-19.

LeFors won the Miami tournament by defeating Panhandle 29 to 22. The Pirates went into the finals with a 32 to 22 win over Miami while Panhandle downed the Pampa Harvesters 22 to 20. LeFors also defeated Alaneered 26 to 21.

Carruth, LeFors guard, was named the outstanding player. Fite and Ellington led the Pirate attack against Panhandle which was paced by Sterling and Sparks.

COL. WINN PROMISES NEW STARS FOR DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 7 (AP)—Although last year's class of three year olds has "graduated," Col. Matt J. Winn, "Coach" at Churchill Downs promises folks he will have another array of stars on hand for the 64th running of the Kentucky Derby, May 7.

Such performers as War Admiral, Pompano and Reaping Reward will be difficult to replace, but Winn, who has seen every derby since the inaugural in 1874, is counting on such "sophomore" attractions as Menow, two year old champion last year; Tiger, Teddy's Comet, Can't Wait, Bull Lea, Pit Bull and Fighting Fox to carry on.

Downs officials predicted today more than 100 thoroughbreds would be named for the $50,000 added, mile and a quarter spin this year. Nominations will close Feb. 15.

Reports from Hialeah, Fla., are that Menow is being galloped but his trainer is not yet satisfied that an old leg injured has entirely mended.

As for Milky Way's Tiger, Menow's chief rival last year, track superintendent Tom Young said he had been advised the bull dog colt can step it off for "two miles all day if necessary."

A bang-up, rip-roaring grapple card is in store for fans of this section tonight at the Pampa Athletic arena when Promoter Cliff B. Chambers presents the following card of "greats":

Main Event
Sailor Otis Clingman, Pampa, vs. Otto Von Ludwig, Hamburg, Ger.

Semi-Final
Bill Venable, Tuscaloosa, Ala., vs. Dick Sampson, Bucyrus, Ohio.

Preliminary
Pasha Barlem Bey, Istanbul, Turkey, vs. Art Belcher, Amarillo.

The popular little promoter decided to let Ludwig, who last week stopped the sensation drive of Sailor Jack Moran for an undefeated season when he won the main event here, have a crack at Clingman in the main setto this week. Ludwig cried for a month to get at Moran and when he did he won. Now he's sharp. Admission will be 8c. Telegram received by Clingman today.

A couple of little giants will be in action when Venable meets Dick Sampson. Venable is a stocky gent while Sampson leans to the long build. Both are powerful with Venable underbitch and Sampson clean and scientific.

Ey, defeated last week, hopes to make a comeback against Art Belcher, returning to the local mat after an absence of nearly three years. The first match will be at 8 o'clock sharp. Admission will be 8c. cents reserve tax paid, and 40 cents general admission.

MORRIS MAY MANAGE SHREVEPORT SPORTS

FORT WORTH, Feb. 7 (AP)—J. Walter Morris, who has been everything in baseball from bat boy to president of three leagues at the same time, is likely to be general manager of the Shreveport Sports if and when they come back into the Texas League this year.

That was the note that sounded through the hotel corridors today as the advance guard of the club representatives gathered here for the annual league meeting.

It was considered reasonably certain that Shreveport will be officially voted into the circuit in Galveston's place at the first session of the representatives tomorrow.

Major B. A. Hardy, who has been most prominent in regaining the berth for the northern Louisiana metropolis, was expected to announce Morris as his choice as general manager of the Sports.

Final settlement of the location of the one unanchored franchise was scheduled to be the first item of business called to attention of the club bosses.

The meeting, which is expected to extend into Sunday, will be held at the Worth hotel.

Adoption of a 1938 schedule will be the most important business before the meeting, but more excitement is expected to revolve around the adoption of an official ball; determination of a radio policy; and discussion of raising the monthly salary limit of the clubs from $4,600 to $5,200.

PRINCE ALBERT

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MACK

Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday: Unwelcome in her great-uncle's house since the declaration of war, Polly seeks to find Jerry Whitfield!

CHAPTER IV
JERRY WHITFIELD, who had sworn to his New England mother that he would not drink strong liquor, sat in the Unicorn and Crown Tavern trying to drown his troubles in a mug of ale. Those troubles were as follows: he was caught on the wrong side of the Atlantic when America was going to war; and he had seen for a moment and lost again in the fog a tall brown-haired Yankee girl who had appealed to him with fright in her eyes.

He looked up to see old Chet Wheeler beckoning to him from the doorway of the inn. He got up and followed Chet outside.

"Get your clothes together in a hurry, lad!" the old sailor whispered hoarsely. "We're going to Dover by coach. Down at the wharves I scraped acquaintance with a Scotch smuggler, half French, that says he'll take us across the channel. He's got a fishing craft called the Sea Serpent that works out of a cove between Dover and Deal and puts in at a fishing town near Calais. He calls himself John McGeen or Jean Clitte, according to where he's standin'."

"Well, now," Jerry demurred. "What's the matter with you, lad? I thought you'd jump at the chance. Ain't it good enough for you?"

Jerry shifted before old Chet's gaze. "It's good enough for me," he said, "but—how could he tell this practical old seaman that the girl they had seen that morning was haunting him?"

"Did you have in mind shippin' on something fancier?" inquired Chet. "If you have, you'd better find it yourself. Try it, that is."

It was then that the girl came toward them. She was walking rapidly and her eyes were fixed on the sign of the Unicorn and Crown. In her arms she carried a little mongrel dog.

Jerry went toward her, and when she saw him she stopped in her tracks. Her face lighted in a way to quicken his pulse. "Hi!" she said. "It's me! I can't tell you how glad I am!"

"You mean you were looking for me?"

"Yes, I had to find you again. I'm Polly Chelsey from Connecticut and I've just run away from old Mr. Dart's house in Hempstead street because he hates Americans. He's my great-uncle, but he doesn't claim me. . . . Do you remember seeing me this morning?"

"Yes! I looked for you after you ran away, but no trace. My name's Jerry Whitfield. . . . I know you. . . . I'll call you that." She inclined her head toward Wheeler who was making elaborate pretense of studying the sky.

Jerry asked, "Are you the daughter to Trepid Chelsey who lost the brig and I got off Nantucket a few years back?"

"Yes. That's my father."

"Then you're my cousin, Polly Chelsey!—Far distant, I mean."

Jerry added hastily while his eyes paid ardent homage. "My mother's got Chelsey blood. We live in Massachusetts, Newburyport."

Chet Wheeler cleared his throat, and Jerry made the introductions, after which old Chet said pointedly: "We're just leaving London, Miss Jerry and me. We're taking coach for Dover."

"Oh-h-h," said Polly in a small, forlorn voice.

"Can she go with us?" Jerry asked Chet.

"No! I had to fight for two passages as it was. Get to France yourself, lad. Then send for her."

Jerry looked hard at Chet Wheeler. "I'll not leave her stranded here," he said. The two seamen understood each other as well as if they had argued for hours. Jerry Whitfield would say, hours. Jerry Whitfield would stay on, knowing that every hour that passed must make more precarious the life of an American sailor in London. They shook hands and parted, old Chet looking as sour as if pickled in brine.

JERRY took Polly into the tavern where he was to engage a small room overlooking the stable yard. He explained to the inn keeper, Mr. Toby: "I will use that room. My cousin here, Miss Polly Chelsey, will take my former room. Send up fresh linen and have the room cleaned for her. We'll have our supper here for privacy, if you can serve us. Miss Chelsey has a little dog with her. He'll want bones."

Soon they were together in the inn room that had been Jerry's. Polly was helping the porter lay out the supper. A table had been moved into the middle of the room, its two leaves raised and a white cloth spread. Silver candlesticks held lighted tapers; in the table's center was a bunch of August lilies that Jerry had bought from a flower seller beneath their window.

Jerry had ordered extravagantly, for he was extravagantly happy. Though Polly had suggested eggs and tea and scones, he had called for fowls in a silver covered dish, with coffee and a sweet.

Polly was impressed. "Have you learned all this from the English?" she wanted to know. "I ought to have on my low-necked muslin dress and my dancing slippers, ready to step off a minute!"

"You ought to be just the way you are," Jerry answered. "Something the words carried the meaning he wanted to convey. He was an inarticulate New Englander, in love for the first time in his 25 years of eager living, and he was a little dizzy from it. "Tell me about old Mr. Dart now," he suggested. Polly told him and he listened thoughtfully. After that he told her about himself, and how he had become stranded in London. "We are both in some danger here," he said simply, "but things will be all right. I'll take care of you, Polly, and get you home to your father if it's the last thing I ever do."

"Then my father will be everlastingly grateful to you," Polly said. "He sees a lot of store by me. He was against my coming. He said he'd rather do without money than ask the Darts for it. But I persuaded him we ought to swallow our pride and ask for what was our due. Dick could have his medical course at Yale, I reminded him. If we could get our share of Grandfather Dart's money, he said, he'd rather have a woman to help me with the housework. I've been doing it alone since I was barely fourteen when my mother died."

"Haven't you ever married, Polly?"

"Oh, yes. When I could find time. But I'll admit I've been pinning for some excitement for a long time. That's why I listened to the ocean voyage when Cousin Tim Chelsey offered to take me. I reckon I was tired of work."

She looked ruefully at her long

Within was a candle light and a table for two, and Jerry's arm around her.

strong hands, calloused at the base of each shapely finger. Jerry took the hands in his, but when he had tenderly examined the callouses he did not let them go.

"You'll never know how I felt when I realized I'd walked up to a perfectly strange young man and put my hand on his sleeve and spoken to him!"

Jerry said in return, "And you'll never know how I felt when I found you were gone!"

There was a stilled silence which Polly hastened to break by calling Nuisance to her and telling the story of his life, so far as she knew it, to her distant cousin from Massachusetts. "Don't you think he's got points?" She wanted to know.

"None that I can see," Jerry answered. "But I reckon he'd die for you if he was put to it—Polly, do you think a man could fall in love just like falling off a cliff, without working up to it?"

"I think," replied Polly, striving to be sensible and clear headed, "but we're apt to do that sort of thing when we're far away from home, and last like I'll try to remember that, and I'll think you ought to hold hands like this, for no reason at all!"

"Yes," Jerry Whitfield said huskily. "Yes."

At that moment a street music for some excitement for a long time. That's why I listened to the ocean voyage when Cousin Tim Chelsey offered to take me. I reckon I was tired of work."

EGAD, LADS! NOT ONLY IS THIS INVENTION A STUPENDOUS CONTRIBUTION TO SCIENCE, BUT A BOON TO EVERY WIFE WHOSE MATE'S NIGHTLY SNORES SQUANDER HER HOURS OF REST—KAFF-KAFF: BY SIMPLY ENCASING THE NOSE WITH THIS SNORE-SILENCER, NO RAUCOUS CURGLE CAN ESCAPE TO DISTURB A BED-MATE'S HOURS OF REST!

A SNORE-TRAP, EH? WELL, IT'S A WINNER—AS A BEAUTIFIER! BY STUFFING YOUR CRIMSON SNOZZLE INTO THAT CAN'T-HI-SCENERY AROUND TH' MIDDLE OF YOUR MAP IS CERTAINLY IMPROVED!

SAY—YOU GOT AN EYEBROW HOISER THERE! YOU CAN SELL ONE TO EVERY FAMILY AND SETTLE TH' WHITE-BEARDED QUESTION OF WHICH OF TH' MATE'S EMITS TH' SNORES!

INVENTION NUMBER 75348901

OUT OUR WAY

HOW'S IT COMIN', PAZ?

FINE—FINE—IT'S JUST A LITTLE COLD THIS MORNIN' IS ALL—

OOO—TH' DIRTY BLANKETY BLANK!! OO—I WISH I HAD YOU IN AN ALLEY!

BORN THIRTY YEARS TOO SOON

THIMBLE THEATER Starring POPEYE

POPEYE! HA! HA! HA!

YAS, I YAM POPEYE!

POPEYE! HA! HA! HA!

POPEYE! HA! HA! HA!

Scornful Mirth

WHAT'S SA @*!?! FUNNY YA BLARSTED SEA MONSKER?

POPEYE! HA! HA! HA!

POPEYE! HA! HA! HA!

ALLEY OOP

I SYMPATHIZE, COOLA IT'S KINDA TOUGH, BUT YOU'RE MIGHTY WELL RID OF THAT GRAND WIZER STUFF!

SURE SHE IS! 'CAJON, CUT OUT TH' GLOOM—I'VE THOUGHT UP SLUMPIN FOR US TO DO...

YOU'VE THOUGHT UP? SAY, LISSEN, SON—IF IT'S ANY WORK, I DON'T WANT NONE!

AW, IT AIN'T WORK, YOU LAZY STUMPWARMER!

Investigation

I WANTA GIVE THIS CART CONTRADICTION OF EENY'S TH' ONCE-OVER—Y'KNOW, IN SPITE OF OUR DISLIKE FOR HER, Y'GOTTA ADMIT SHE'S GOT SLUMPIN HERE?

SAY ARE YOU TOYING WITH THE IDEA OF TRYING WITH THE THING WITH THIS OUTFIT? I HOPE TO CRY! DON'TCHA SEE THAT GLIMMER IN HIS EYE?

WASH TUBS

WANTA MINUTE, BOYS! MEY'S HAVE A HEART!

OVER HE GOES! ATTAWAY! FEED 'IM TO THE SHARKS!

SPLOSH!

Looks Like Custains for Wash

HELP! THEY'RE AFTER ME! HELP! HELP!

DON'T BE SCARED KID. JUST TICKLE 'EM!

HAW, HAW, HAW!

MYRA NORTH, SPECIAL NURSE

WHILE MYRA IS ATTENDING MR. ARNOLD JACK HAS BEEN EXPLORING THE HOUSE—GRIEVES THE BUTLER, HAS JUST HANDED HIM A WARNING NOTE WHEN THEY HEAR A SCREAM FROM BELOW!

IT SEEMED TO COME FROM THE LIBRARY, SIR, M'Y HERE!

MISS ARNOLD! WHAT IS IT? WHY DID YOU SCREAM?

Mysterious Doings

IT WAS AT THE WINDOW—OH! IT WAS HORRIBLE!

WHAT WAS HORRIBLE? WHAT DID YOU SEE?

MEANWHILE, IN THE ALLIANCE'S ROOM— SURE YOU'LL BE ALL RIGHT NOW, MR. ARNOLD!

YES—YES— JUST LEAVE ME ALONE—WITH MY LITTLE JEWELLED STAFFLE—GOOD NIGHT

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

WAS MR SCUTTLE ANGRY?

HE COULD HAVE BITTEN THE HEAD OFF A RIVET! I'M BEGINNING TO BELIEVE MR SCUTTLE WAS RIGHT WHEN HE SAID WE'D HAVE 'THE LAST LAUGH'!

BUT WHY DO YOU SUPPOSE THAT OIL WELL SUDABLY STOPPED PRODUCING?

SEARCH ME! I CAN ONLY ANSWER SIMPLE QUESTIONS LIKE: 'WHAT IS THE THEORY OF RELATIVITY?'

WELL, THERE'S SOMETHING FUNNY ABOUT ALL THIS! I GOT ROYALTY CHECKS AND I KNOW I CASHED 'EM! SO THERE MUST HAVE BEEN OIL!

THEN PERHAPS YOU CAN EXPLAIN WHY WE RECEIVED ANOTHER ONE TODAY, FOR $134.32!

GOSH, I CAN'T EVEN EXPLAIN THE DECIMAL POINT!

Still They Come

SEE—AM I GLAD TO SEE YOU BUT— WHAT ARE YOU DOING HERE?

RIGHT NOW, I'M THINKIN' SOME AWFUL NICE THINGS ABOUT YA

WELL— THIS IS A SURPRISE!

I HAVEN'T HEARD FROM EITHER OF YA IN A COON'S AGE AN— I JUST GOT CURIOUS. THAT'S ALL

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

HEY! WHERE IS EVERYONE

WILLIE! H'LO, CHAMP

Just Leave It to Willie

SEE—AM I GLAD TO SEE YOU BUT— WHAT ARE YOU DOING HERE?

RIGHT NOW, I'M THINKIN' SOME AWFUL NICE THINGS ABOUT YA

WELL— THIS IS A SURPRISE!

I HAVEN'T HEARD FROM EITHER OF YA IN A COON'S AGE AN— I JUST GOT CURIOUS. THAT'S ALL
