Two School Bands Will Open Festival Here Tonight

WARD KIDDIES WILL PLAY ON TUESDAY NIGHT

The high school and junior high bands will open Pampa's band festival, the most important musical event of the school, with concerts at the high school auditorium beginning tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

For weeks the band directors of the city have rehearsed their musicians in the numbers which will be played tonight and tomorrow night. Contest pieces that will be played at the North Texas Band and Orchestra association contest at Vernon this spring, will make up the program tonight, and tomorrow night when the four ward school bands will appear in contests.

Attendance Urged "These concerts represent the result of intensive practice, and will amount to a recital," Supt. L. L. Stone said. "The public is invited and urged to attend them. They are being staged without the fanfare of much publicity, but there will be plenty of fanfare in the music."

Admission will be 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children, and one ticket will admit one person to both concerts. Band pupils will be admitted free. Proceeds will be used to pay off a deficit on the band association's books, and to help defray expenses of the high school and junior high bands at Vernon. Only solo winners of the ward school bands will be sent to Vernon. They will be accompanied by their parents.

Judges of the contests tomorrow night will be C. E. Strain, director of music, WTSC; D. O. Wiley, director of the famous Texas Tech band; and W. C. director of the Amarillo high school band. The ward school bands will be ranked according to their playing ability as was done in the contest held in Pampa last year.

Junior High Program The program will open tonight with the Junior high band playing a concert under the direction of

NAZIS ARREST WORLD FAMOUS TENNIS PLAYER

BERLIN, March 7 (AP)—Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Germany's great tennis player, was arrested today by the criminal police on "serious charges." While admitting Von Cramm had been arrested, police headquarters declined to divulge the nature of the charges. It was admitted authoritatively later, however, that he had been taken into custody on "suspicion of moral delinquencies." The tennis star had arrived home only a few days ago after a worldwide tour.

The authorities, however, qualified von Cramm's "arrest" by stating he had been summoned to police headquarters "for clarification and examination pending which, he was held in custody."

Now 28 years old, Baron Von Cramm has been listed in the "first ten" of world tennis players since 1932. He ranked second to Fred Perry in the world rankings for 1936 and second to America's Don Budge last year.

Von Cramm won the German championship four times and the French title twice and reached the final round at Wimbledon three times, losing to Perry in 1935 and 1936 and to Budge last year. He figured in one of the most sensational matches of all times last summer, a losing five-set battle with Budge in the interzone Davis cup finals. Later the red-headed American took his measure again in the American championship finals.

I HEARD --- The party who turned in the fire alarm at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning being questioned closely as to what he was doing driving around at that hour. "You should have seen that moon," was his reply.

WOMAN TELLS 60 Open Drive For ALL IN TRIAL $4,000 Scout Quota

MOSCOW, March 7 (AP)—Barbara Yakovleva, once a heroine of the Bolshevik revolution, came from prison today to testify against Nikolai Bucharin, like herself fallen from the highest ranks of Russia's leadership. On the witness stand in Moscow's greatest treason trial, Madame Yakovleva a large woman of 53, testified she heard in 1918 that Bucharin wanted Nikolai Lenn and Joseph Stalin assassinated if they insisted on peace with Germany.

Madame Yakovleva, like Bucharin, was a close associate of Lenin in the early stages of the revolution. Bucharin stoutly defended himself against accusations of seeking the assassinations of Lenin and Stalin and of spying. But the hopelessness of his defense—the Moscow press indicates he and his 20 co-defendants are doomed to death—was indicated by his readiness to accept responsibility for espionage activities of his subordinates—for Germany, Britain, Japan, Poland—even though he knew nothing about them.

He declared that Leon Trotsky, now exiled in Mexico, was "the real instigator and leader" of plots against the Soviet regime. Bucharin and Prosecutor Andrei

More than 60 men this morning started a drive to raise $4,000 for continuation and expansion of the Boy Scout movement in Pampa, and the Adobe Walls council. The workers hope to raise Pampa's quota in three days and from the interest shown at a breakfast in the Schneider hotel to open the drive, their prediction will come true.

The workers, and the rest of the city's residents, were awakened at 7 o'clock by the siren on the fire station which was the signal to the workers to "get up and going." A few minutes later Western Union messenger boys delivered telegrams or called workers to remind them of the drive.

Following the breakfast when Drive Directors R. G. Hughes and M. A. Graham and Fred Roberts, council executive, outlined plans for the drive, the workers "paired up" and most of them started immediately to call on men desiring to invest in the program.

Any person or firm not contacted within three days should call Boy Scout headquarters in the city hall, telephone 1560, and a solicitor will call or they can take or mail their subscriptions to the office.

GROUP BEGINS CHOOSING MAY TERM JURORS

As the final week of the January term opened this morning with the case of N. M. Milliken vs. Traders and General Insurance company being heard in 31st district court, jury commissioners were selecting the jury list for the May term, which opens May 30.

There will be nine weeks in the next term, eight of which are jury. The final week will be non-jury. A case transferred from Wheeler county, A. C. Russell vs. Employers Liability Assurance corporation, has been set for the first week.

The grand jury reconvened this morning, and was expected to complete its business and submit its report within the next two days.

Jurors hearing the case in district court this morning were: Arthur Dickerson, J. H. Lutz, Shely Gant, Byrd Guill, W. A. Harbin, P. L. Lewis, J. W. Walker, S. J. Spears, W. C. Adams, W. H. Hulsey and Norman Johnston.

It will be the signal for Pampa merchants to draw aside the curtain windows and reveal the newest in spring styles in every line of merchandise affected by the advent of a new season.

Ouster Suit Against Cement Firms Filed

TVA CHAIRMAN SAYS HE WILL NOT QUIT POST

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Arthur E. Morgan indicated today he would stick to his post as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority despite suggestions of his two co-directors that he resign.

"To surrender the chance to make some contribution to decency and effectiveness in government does not seem to be the right course," he said.

Asserting a firm belief in the social and economic aims of the TVA experiment, Morgan added: "For those great possibilities to be lost by habits of misrepresentation, intrigue and arbitrary action seems tragic."

His latest thrust in an open battle with Harcourt Morgan and David E. Lilienthal, the other TVA directors, disclosed that disension had existed in the agency for nearly three years.

Chairman Morgan's latest statement, made public last night, was a letter which he had written on Feb. 14 to Representative Maverick (D-Tex.)

Responding to Maverick's assertion that TVA had contracted to sell the bulk of its power to "monopolistic" companies instead of to public power agencies, he said relations of the TVA and "the aluminum company" failed to protect the public interest.

"Presumably, he referred to power contracts made with a Tennessee plant of the Aluminum Company of America."

In another power contract with private industry, Morgan said, he discovered a "joker" which would have permitted the Arkansas Power and Light company "to buy prime power at secondary power rates."

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP)—Attorney General McCraw today filed suit here seeking cancellation of charters and penalties aggregating possibly $30,000,000 against six major cement manufacturing companies in Texas.

The suit, charging violation of Texas anti-trust laws, was against the Lone Star Cement Corporation, with principal offices in New York and Dallas; the Southwestern Portland Cement Company, Los Angeles and El Paso; Trinity Portland Cement Company, Chicago and Dallas; Universal Atlas Cement Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, Chicago and Dallas; Longhorn Portland Cement Company, San Antonio; and the San Antonio Portland Cement Company, San Antonio.

The bill of complaint, filed in Travis County district court, charged the companies entered into price-fixing agreements about Jan. 3, 1929, when the Cement Institute, with headquarters in Chicago, was formed.

It also attacked a "code of ethics" and a "compendium of established terms and marketing methods," adopted by cement manufacturers, alleging they had led to identical terms of sale and marketing practices.

Asks Daily Penalties. The 76-page petition did not ask for a specific amount of damages but requested statutory penalties of from $30 to $1,500 daily against each of the defendants for 3,348 days, or from Jan. 3, 1929, to March 7, 1938.

The jury or court would determine the exact amount which might range, if the state was successful on trial, from a minimum of $1,004,400 to a maximum of $30,132,000.

It was the second big damage suit charging violation of the anti-trust laws to be filed in Texas in recent years.

Another was against virtually all the major oil companies operating in Texas. This suit still pending, also sought forfeiture of charters to do business, and penalties aggregating millions of dollars.

The state supreme court, after a bitter court battle, last fall upheld the constitutionality of civil provisions of Texas anti-trust laws. A case testing the validity of the criminal penalty provisions of the

WORK DUE TO BEGIN AT SITE IN FEW WEEKS

Prospects look good for final approval of the Gray County Lake project on McClellan Creek. Garnet Reeves, BCD manager, said today upon return from Washington where he contacted officials of the Department of Agriculture and the Works Progress Administration.

Prospects for the continuation of the lakes and dams program over the Panhandle look good.

The Gray county project received final approval of both the Department of Agriculture and the Works Progress Administration while Reeves was in Washington, being transferred to the Bureau of the Budget Saturday afternoon, March 5. There, the project will take several days to go through the Bureau machinery before going to the President for his signature before funds can be set up.

Jones Works Untrifingly Congressman Marvin Jones worked untrifingly, Mr. Reeves stated, to expedite the matter and rush action on the project and will continue to follow the project through to final approval.

A Panhandle delegation in Washington held several conferences with officials of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture to urge continued development of the lakes and dams program in the Panhandle.

Officials Optimistic Congressman Jones has negotiations under way to have funds set up in the budget of the next fiscal year for the continuation of the lakes and dams program. He told the Panhandle delegation he was optimistic over chances for securing the funds and Dr. Albert G. Black, chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and other officials of the bureau assured the Panhandle delegation that the Bureau would continue the program now under way in the Panhandle so that all counties might participate in the program if adequate funds are secured.

Work has already started on projects at Umberger in Randall county and in Hemphill county and officials of the Bureau assured Reeves that work would begin in Gray county within a few days after presidential approval of the program.

Grain Elevator Here Destroyed By Flames

Fire destroyed the Martin-Lane elevator on East Tyng street early Sunday morning in the first of three alarms answered by the department during the day. Cause of the blaze has not been definitely established but Fire Chief Ben White advanced the theory that a transient sleeping in the building probably dropped a match or lighted cigaret which ignited the dry timber.

The fire was discovered at 3:30 a. m. by a motorist who drove to the fire station and turned in an alarm. As the truck left the station, a resident of the neighborhood called the department. Fire had enveloped the building when the truck arrived. Loss was estimated by Chief White at about $400. The building was not insured, Chief White said.

Burning trash ignited several tires in the alley at the rear of 112 West Kingsmill avenue at 5:40 o'clock last night. No damage resulted as firemen extinguished the blaze before it spread.

Another grass fire, believed to have been intentionally set, sent the department to the 1200 block on Christine street at 8:10 o'clock last night. The fire had spread over two vacant lots before firemen were able to control its march.

During the past two weeks, firemen have been called to extinguish five grass fires. Several of them were believed to have been intentionally set. Others were caused by trash being burned in open containers, a practice frowned upon by Chief White.

Spring Style Preview Set Thursday Night

In Spring the fancy of the people turns to spring styles—and Pampa is getting onto the Spring Style Preview wagon next Thursday night, when men and women's wear shops, furniture stores, and a host of other merchandising lines bring forth to the public of the Pampa trading area, the inside on the low-down of what's new in wearing apparel and house furnishings for this Spring of 1938.

Store windows in downtown Pampa will be shaded Wednesday afternoon and then promptly at 7:45 p. m. Thursday there will be a simultaneous unveiling, when the fire siren is sounded at that hour.

It will be the signal for Pampa merchants to draw aside the curtain windows and reveal the newest in spring styles in every line of merchandise affected by the advent of a new season.

Pampa store buyers have been stocking their spring merchandise for many weeks, a pre-peek into their stocks indicates that they will have everything that can be obtained from the style marts of the great metropolitan centers.

The streets downtown will be roped off, a roving orchestra will go from store to store to play for the spring style crowds, individual stores will conduct their own style shows.

In fact, nothing is being left undone to give the people of the Pampa trading area their first look at what Spring of 1938 has to offer. And don't forget to read Wednesday's Pampa Daily News for the latest spring style news and for the merchandise news story to be told by Pampa merchants, who are cooperating in the Spring Style Preview.

BRITISH DESTROYERS ATTACKED BY PLANES

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—The admiralty disclosed today that the British destroyers Blanche and Brilliant had been attacked—but not hit—by five unidentified bombing planes.

The attack occurred yesterday off the Spanish coast in the same general area where the Spanish government fleet torpedoed and sunk one of the Insurgent's prize cruisers.

An admiralty official said he presumed the attack on the British vessel was a result of the naval battle. He added, however, that it obviously was a case of mistaken identity.

Spanish government warplanes took an active part in the naval battle, bombing insurgent warships and strafing their decks with machine gun fire.

The Blanche and Brilliant were on Nyon patrol duty, protecting neutral shipping in the western Mediterranean against so-called "pirate" raids.

Although the attacking planes were identified, the admiralty official said he presumed they were "mopping up" for one side or the other after the naval battle and mistook the Blanche and Brilliant for enemy ships.

"They went for them," he said. "Unfortunately they were ours." The planes dumped several bombs, none striking the destroyers, and wheeled away.

I SAW --- This melodramatic scene take place in the middle of Kingsmill avenue between Cuyler and Russell streets: two motorists went to their cars at the same time. Both were in a big hurry. They jumped in their cars and gunned them out with a mighty roar at the same time. But they didn't get out as quickly as they planned because it took several minutes to untangle their bumpers which clashed mightily in the crash.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART.

Experts agree that the beauty of your skin depends on the purity and richness of your blood and just how perfectly it circulates.

"If the blood stream is toxic, your skin will be dull, blotched and yellow," says Benjamin Gaylor, an important authority on the subject of food as related to beauty.

"If your blood is pale with anemia, your skin will be pale, too. When your circulation is slow your skin becomes waxy, mottled or blotchy. When your blood contains too much acid, your skin becomes greasy and your complexion is uninteresting."

"In other words, unless your doctor objects, you ought to do regularly some kind of exercise which sends your blood vigorously instead of lazily through your veins."

"You can walk a mile a day, for instance, striding along rapidly, holding your stomach in and your chest high and breathing deeply. And if you cannot manage a special walk for beauty, you can at least stop taking taxis and street cars every time you have to go a short distance."

"You can do your reducing exercises of your limbering and stretching routines a little more rapidly—rapidly enough in fact, to stimulate sluggish circulation, bring color to your cheeks."

"Do keep in mind that sound beauty is the foundation of true beauty. You cannot have shiny hair, smooth clear skin and a supple, youthful body if you do not eat your vegetables and salads like a good little girl, get enough sleep and some kind of exercise regularly."

"You will be tired of hearing it, but it will tell you that an amount of cosmetics, even the most ornate, can't make up for a faulty diet, lack of sleep and exercise."

How to Select Sheets

When you shop for sheets and blankets, do you—

Know what to insist on finding out about cotton sheets? (The length of the cotton fibers from which the yarn is made. They should be not less than one inch.)

Know the government regulations for thread count? (Not less than 75 threads to an inch in the warp and 66 in the filling. You need a magnifying glass to count them.)

Know the standard for hems? (At least one inch at one end and two to three at the other with four-inch stitches to the inch.)

Always make sure just why a sheet is on sale as a second? (A broken thread is a real damage, but a spot of oil can be removed and does not affect wearing qualities.)

Know how best to check the wearing qualities of your linens? (Keep a record of the brand, place of purchase, and date the linens in-celible ink on the sheet itself.)

For One Day Mothers-In-Law To Do Driving--Thanks To 'Tactless Texan'

(By NEA Service.)

AMARILLO, March 5.—Six hundred mothers-in-law riding the street atop the biggest float ever built.

Nightmare? Not at all! This awe-inspiring sight is actually going to be on view here March 9. It is the crowning feature of the fourth annual observance of Mother-in-Law Day.

There has been some controversy about the actual beginnings of Mother's Day. But the observance of Mother-in-Law Day definitely was first conceived in the dog-house.

Now husbands and sons-in-law have found themselves in that sorry state on occasion since time immemorial, but it took Gene Howe, prominent Texas newspaper publisher, to stay in the dog-house one day and come out with a new idea.

Colman caused the trouble. You see, Howe is not only a publisher, but a columnist. His column, "The Tactless Texan," is widely known all over Texas and in points east and west.

And as a columnist, Howe has to keep his stuff sprightly by occasional gags. One day when things were dull, he wrote one in which he referred to his mother-in-law as "the standing army."

It went fine with most of the readers, but when Howe got home he found it was something less than a wow with Mrs. Nellie Donald, one of his more important readers. She is his mother-in-law, and is it any wonder that Howe found himself in the dog-house?

Of that repentance and reflection, which flourish in the dog-house, two things were born. First, Howe's decision to print no more mother-in-law jokes in his column. And second, his plan to make amends to his mother-in-law, of whom he is really very fond, by promoting the first Mother-in-Law Day.

Do It Up Right.

He organized 285 Mother-in-Law clubs in 13 states. He rallied them 600 strong in Amarillo, and spent $3,000 for bands and for a sweet-pea corsage and a theater ticket for each mother-in-law.

The idea grew with each year, and now between his column, his seven newspapers, his 6,000-acre ranch, and the coming celebration of the fourth Mother-in-Law Day, Howe is a very busy man.

Mrs. Donald was guest of honor at the previous celebrations, but this year the first Mother-in-Law of the Land is going to hold that position. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, as the guest of honor, will be presented with the largest bouquet ever designed, containing 5,000 roses.

Mrs. Roosevelt will review the parade and probably marvel at the mammoth float, 182 feet long, and carrying the 600 charter members of the Amarillo Mother-in-Law club.

The parade is expected to take three hours to pass the reviewing stand, and governors from five states will watch it.

There will be flowers for every mother-in-law—a corsage of sweet peas, which have been adopted as the national flower of the organization. The mothers-in-law will be given first chance at tickets to hear Mrs. Roosevelt speak at the municipal auditorium after the parade.

And that is how it came about that the mother-in-law has her day at last, at least because a newspaper editor sat briefly in the dog-house and came out with the handsomest amends ever made for all those mother-in-law jokes, which have always been so much more durable than droll.

CALIFORNIANS SEEK TO PREVENT PESTILENCE

LOS ANGELES, March 7 (AP)—Authorities worked today to prevent pestilence, eternal rear-guard of disaster, from breaking out in flood-devastated southern California.

From the upper segment of the Santa Ana river to Palmdale, near its mouth in the Pacific health officials made typhoid inoculations. No cases of the disease have been reported, but sanitation conditions were dangerous. Typhoid serum was flown to Colton, near San Bernardino, where the water supply was cut off.

Dr. J. A. Champion, Colton health officer, said there was "some danger" that typhoid might break out. Water distilled in a citrus by-products factory was being rationed out to residents.

The toll of dead and missing in the giant deluge caused by prolonged torrential rains last week was raised to 183 with reports from the San Bernardino region last night.

Most recent estimates of damage done to private and public property still stood at the $65,000,000 mark.

Large armies of workmen labored today to dig the flooded area out from under its blanket of silt and mud. Ten thousand homeless were being cared for.

SPUDS ADDED TO DIET OF RELIEF FAMILIES

Surplus potatoes from three states will be added to the diets of families receiving relief. According to R. L. Montgomery, Director of Commodity Distribution, Texas Relief Commission, the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, under the direction of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, is buying surplus potatoes in Idaho, Colorado, and Utah, in order to bring about orderly marketing and to protect growers.

As a result of this buying program, the Texas Relief Commission has received 2,988,000 pounds of this nourishing vegetable during February, and Mr. Montgomery states that he expects 612,000 pounds more from the Corporation as its program progresses.

District 16, comprised of 26 counties in the Panhandle, received 108,000 pounds of the above potatoes during February to be distributed through its local storehouses and truck service at the Amarillo warehouse.

During the month of February, 107,200 pounds of Irish potatoes were disbursed to families on relief in the above 26 counties in the Panhandle.

On the question of proration he said he proposed to regulate wells after conservation had been cared for, "permitting the allowable from wells to be regulated by the expense incurred in developing them until such time as their cost has been recovered."

Morris said he favored metering all pipe lines.

OIL SANDS DISCOVERED IN WILDCAT TERRITORY. WICHITA FALLS, March 7 (AP)—The KMA oil field in south Wichita and North Archer counties this week moved into one of its most interesting stages when oil sands were discovered in rank wildcat territory.

Three miles south of deep production, the Lewis Production Company No. 1 W. C. Fry in Archer county is drilling the plug at 3,825 feet after a good showing.

In Wilbarger county five miles from the proven field, the Lloyd H. Brown and others wildcat has moved in spudder preparatory to drilling the plug. Clark and Cowden are setting pipe on their far North-west Tex test in Wichita County to test a sand at 3,608-60 feet.

QUESTION-AND-ANSWER RESUME OF REORGANIZATION MEASURE

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Here is a question-and-answer resume of the Government Reorganization bill, now pending in the Senate.

Why is government reorganization proposed? Congressional library records show that the number of federal agencies has jumped from 13 to 133 in 25 years. Proponents of reorganization say that agencies have sprung up without regard to a unified, efficient plan, and that duplication, inefficiency and waste have resulted.

How has the number of federal employees increased? Government workers now total about 842,000, compared with 444,000 a quarter-century ago.

Would the bill reduce the number of agencies and employees? "Not directly. It would empower the President to reduce, merge, transfer and reorganize agencies, and this could result in some reduction in personnel. Some opponents say agencies and employees would be increased.

Is there any opposition to this provision? Some Senators have contended that if the President could reshuffle federal agencies, he could thwart the will of Congress by wiping out governmental functions fixed by the legislative branch.

Would there be any check on the President's power? The bill provides that executive orders for reorganization projects would be submitted to Congress while in session. Congress could void these orders within 60 days.

Would the civil service system be affected? The present three-member civil service board would be replaced by a single administrator. The President could extend the civil service system to cover positions not now affected.

What objections have been raised to this? Opponents argue that it would destroy the merit system by setting up a single civil service director who would function under the direction of the President.

Would the bill create any new agencies? It would set up a department of welfare to take over various social programs now being administered by independent agencies.

Would there be any change in the present system by checking federal expenditures? Yes. The office of Comptroller General, now an agent of Congress, would be abolished. Its functions would be transferred to the budget bureau, under the control of the President, and to an auditor general

TODAY'S SERMONETTE

Viewing the five thousand which had come out to hear Him, the Master said, "Give ye them to eat." It is a command which He gives to His disciples everywhere, to divide what you have, though little, with those who have not.—Chivers.

FIGHTING FIRE

Arson used to cost the United States 100 million dollars worth of property each year. That figure has now been reduced to a mere fraction and the scientific, "story book" detective is responsible. The war on arson has brought out instruments which point out the incendiary like a screaming siren.

For instance a warehouse fire supposedly burned a half million dollars' worth of silver fox pelts. But a photomicrographed bit of ash revealed that the skins were not silver fox, but rabbit, and this revelation brought a confession. The spectroscope, used originally by astronomers has been turned to use by the arson fighters, and rubbish from a burned building can be spectrographed to determine every possible chemical element in the blaze—or used to start it. In incendiary using flashlight powder was caught that way, when ordinary chemical analysis didn't reveal it.

Where this work affects the ordinary citizen isn't so much that fires are prevented and criminals caught, but that his fire insurance rate drops considerably thereby.

LIFE AT 21

Twenty years mean many things to many people. To a New York mother and her son 20 years meant the difference between life and death.

Wearily, jobless Molly Wish had found life unbearable. A nurse with two decades of caring for the ill and suffering, Molly Wish had seen all she wanted of a world that not only wasn't lovely and kind, but which held no hope for her.

She sat across a table from her son, Leonard. Like his mother, Leonard was jobless, discouraged, tired of living, Molly and her son each held a glass that contained poison. They had agreed to take their lives together.

Molly drained her glass, stumbled into the next room to die. Leonard held his a moment fascinated, stared after his mother, lifted the glass and then let it slip to the floor.

The next day they buried Molly, but Leonard kept on living and will keep on, because Leonard was 21 and the difference between 21 and 41 meant hope and life and faith to Leonard—all the things that youth means and 20 years had taken from his mother.

COLLEGE FLYERS

In spite of the militaristic age in which we are living, there are few people, probably, who actually consider the U. S. army as a career. The army considers itself a career though, and so do a lot of young American college men, obviously.

An intensive drive for the March 1 class at the Army Air Corps training center, Randolph Field, Texas, brought applications from more than 1200 young men. Seventy of these, all with the required two years or more college education, were admitted to final physical and flight tests. Only 19 passed. Now recruiting signs are up on the streets of eastern cities asking for more college-bred volunteers for the 21 places remaining in the class.

Aviation has always been considered a ranking branch of the army—and navy—both romantically and intellectually. It has attracted a higher grade of recruits. The fact that the government has now placed a requirement of two years' college education on enlistment is plain proof of the army's intention of keeping its flying branch composed of men who can conceive orders as well as carry them out.

CLIMAX TO COME

Slight, weasel-eyed John Seadlund has pleaded guilty to the kidnaping and the murder of Charles S. Ross, Chicagoan. He told his attorney he wanted no aid, disliked the idea of a long trial, preferred to die rather than serve a long sentence.

For once, it seems, the defendant, the prosecutor and the public see eye to eye about justice. Seadlund is at least consistent. In his own role of executioner, the young outlaw killed his own partner in the kidnaping so he wouldn't have to divide the spoils. Then he killed his victim, apparently because that was the simplest way to dispose of him and to prevent Seadlund thought, future identification.

Seadlund was captured and confessed. He wants to "get it over with". So does the federal prosecutor in Chicago. So does a kidnap-weary American people. Is there any reason for delay or misdirected mercy?

HAVE A GUESS

Your guess is as good as the next on the conversational trends when Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, spends a week visiting Premier Benito Mussolini early in May.

They probably will talk about Austria and they undoubtedly will talk about Czechoslova-

Tex's Topics

Momentous topics sometimes bob up for discussion at luncheon tables. For instance, the other day "Comp" Compton, Ed Vicars, and Jack Goldston got into deep controversy over the difference between a lima bean and a butter bean. One said there wasn't any difference, the other said a Lima was the larger of the two and still a third contended vice versa.

It's difficult to get unanimous agreement on any one point any more, whether it be beans or billions. Everybody has an idea of his own and scarcely anybody will give a point that would be hedging from his original position. It's the ego in man that keeps him from changing an opinion, even though he sometimes is convinced that his idea is wet. It takes a really big person to admit error and change his stance.

Capt. Herman Lambrecht, of the Salvation Army, made a fine talk on the Boy Scout fund drive, at the Kiwanis club luncheon the other day. Capt. Lambrecht believes, that the Boy Scouts comprise the best movement for the betterment of boys that can be found anywhere in the world. Anything that has as its objective the making of better men out of boys is bound to be good. Selection of the men who are to lead these boys, of course, is a major item. Scout leaders are selected with a view that they are men who have the right slant on what makes for good citizenship.

Mark this down on your calendar. A major calamity of some kind will happen within the next three weeks. It will jar the nation. Remind me of this statement on March 28, the deadline. The way it appears now, I will remind you of it before that time. Borger has a birthday tomorrow, and quite a bunch of Pampanians are going over there to help Borgans celebrate. To or neighbors, we say: Happy Birthday!

Albert Cooper, Prince Domino of the Shamrock Texan has been trying to get a crowd of newspaper boys together for the past two week-ends, but something always turns up that the session can't be held. Mr. Cooper has postponed it twice, now. "Either," he says, "Panhandle publishers and editors are an awfully busy lot, or they are a bunch of high-powered fabricators." Mr. Cooper is so discouraged about getting them all together in one place at the same time that he has practically given up until the Panhandle Press Association convention in Amarillo next month.

From the mail bag:
 "Since Amarillo seems to be doing so well with their 'Mother-in-Law Day' what do you suppose Pampa could do about Fathers-in-Law? Now, I'm not a father-in-law, and I don't think you are, either, but anyway it just struck me as 'sorta' balancing things. Of course, the fathers-in-law might not do so well behaving, I don't know. I know some mighty good fathers-in-law, and really a parade with father-in-law as the principal theme could be just as colorful as one with mothers-in-law." The note is signed "H. P."
 Well H. P. I think you've got something there!

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
 Accompanied by local artists and the Black Aces orchestra, more than 25 local residents motored to Grandview school house where a fraternity meeting was held.

Excavation work on the new disposal plant east of the city was completed and pouring the concrete was to start soon.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
 The city health department made 393 inspections in the previous month, according to the report of Dr. J. T. Worrell, assistant city health officer.

And there may be a dozen developments between now and then that will influence the topics of discussion. Russia undoubtedly will be mentioned, and France, and what each nation is liable to do—well, just in case.

England is likely to be in and out of the conversation, and Anthony Eden and Chamberlain although just how, no one knows. In fact, any prediction as to what Hitler and Mussolini will do when they get together for a week's tete-a-tete along the Rome-Berlin axis is too dependent on what happens by that time to be predictable.

But there is one thing you can bet on. This is practically certain. They aren't getting together to elect a queen of the May.

BROADER CONSERVATION

At the recent sessions of the North American Wild Life conference, plans were made for pushing conservation work more effectively throughout the country. The week of March 20 has been set for a period of intensive education on the importance of all wild life resources—fish, birds, animals, flowers, trees and natural habitats.

"Our school children," complained a speaker, "are taught nothing, except spasmodically, about the vital value of conservation! They are taught why Hannibal crossed the Alps, but nothing of the importance of soil and the meaning of growing things in sustaining life."

It isn't quite so bad as that. School geographies have more to say about such things than they used to. But the conservation movement is greatly needed. Much of our soil has already been destroyed beyond repair. Many forests have been leveled, whose replacements will require many years. Some wild life, such as the passenger pigeon, has been wiped out forever.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Every cop between Pell street and Lenox avenue is wondering how George M. Cohan keeps it up. The Yankee Doodle Kid pounds a five-mile beat around the Central Park reservoir daily, and like the legend to postmen emblazoned across the facade of the Post Office, neither rain, nor hail, nor sleet, nor nuttin' is permitted to interfere with Uncle George's daily doze.

It was hoped for a while that the extra duties imposed on Cohan by his role as President in "D'Raider" during which he tap dances and bids his secy "take a law," would slow him down. Far from it, the daily hikes have been increased to seven and even eight miles, and now nobody knows where the thing will end.

And yet of all the thousands aware of these goings-on, there is perhaps only one man in New York who views them with appropriate alarm. This is the actor Taylor Holmes, who impersonates Secy Morgenthau in the same political burlesque, and Uncle Tay is anything but an exercise-fiend.

"Hell, George," he broke out the other day when Cohan urged him to join him for a hike. "I don't believe in exercise. I will press them against my cheek, and then I will know again as I do not know now that the sights and scents of spring can unclog the pores of the soul." Now in this stuffy room I will wait impatiently for the elixir, the intoxication, the fine joy of April to attack my veins and clutch my heart and torture my mind with that ineffable sadness and bright desire that comes to those in whose non-oid hearts young April is born each spring.

Incidentally, another famous walker in New York is George S. Kaufman, the playwright, but whereas Mr. Cohan walks for exercise, Mr. Kaufman walks only to think. Practically all of his walking is confined to hotel rooms, where most of his plays are written.

"I'm the pacer type," he informed a judge during a trial recently. "My colleague sits at the table and does all the writing—I just pace up and down."

At the moment it might not be amiss to add that Kaufman and Moss Hart are aboard ship, somewhere between here and Panama, for a next season's show. Kaufman is the playwright who conferred with Edna Ferber about another play they hope to write in the near future.

"You know," said Miss Ferber. "I've always thought a figure like Coolidge would fit marvelously into a play."

"Wonderful," cried Kaufman, "and what a cinch to write—no dialog!"

TEACHER READS MEMORY BOOK, FORGETS CLASS
 HOUSTON, March 7 (AP)—Dr. Frank A. Pattie, assistant professor of psychology at Rice Institute, came back to school today after his class took a holiday Saturday when he failed to show up.
 The assistant professor explained that he was so immersed in an absorbing book he forgot to attend his class.
 The book, he said, was a work on the improvement of the memory.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Old of heart, bitter of heart, do not read this. It is not for you. It is for only the young of heart who may be old or young, but who has April in their hearts.

I walked up the slope from the red and gray canyon and my feet crushed the hard brown stems of the grass, and I heard protesting voices beneath the shamble of winter. The roots of the grass were whispering, and the seeds of unnamed, inconspicuous flowers, some yellow and some blue were, shouting their awakening from the sterile dream of winter. I put my ear to the ground and I spoke to them. I said, "I will come back in April, and I will hold you in my hands and you will assault my nostrils with your vitality, and I will know then as I do not know now that spring can be blessed above all things." I heard a tumult of singing and I saw the skin of the tree blush with love while the sweet juice of the earth pulsed through the small twig when I touched it, and I said, "When next I see you your leaves will patch the blue and I will press them against my cheek, and then I will know again as I do not know now that the sights and scents of spring can unclog the pores of the soul." Now in this stuffy room I will wait impatiently for the elixir, the intoxication, the fine joy of April to attack my veins and clutch my heart and torture my mind with that ineffable sadness and bright desire that comes to those in whose non-oid hearts young April is born each spring.

Cranium Crackers

In this series of Cranium Crackers with a court room query, unusual local statutes may alter slightly the legal decisions given.)

Mrs. Millhorn one morning delivered a suit of clothes to Dixon for cleaning in his cleaning establishment. During the evening of the same day Mrs. Millhorn advised Dixon that a diamond pin had been left in the cuff of the trousers. At that time the suit had already been delivered to another for the actual cleaning operations and the pin was not found there.

The evidence showed that Dixon had noticed the pin in the cuff but was unable to open the safety catch and therefore left the pin in the trousers.

When Dixon refused to pay her the value of the pin, Mrs. Millhorn sued him on the theory that Dixon was guilty of gross negligence. A jury brought in a verdict for Mrs. Millhorn for $75. The case was appealed.

SHOULD THE HIGHER COURT APPROVE THE DECISION?

UNNATURAL FLUSH
 WHITE CLOUD, Kas.—Eugene Waggoner had a flush today, but not all his clothes but his shoes and socks.
 It wasn't in poker, however, he was working with a tractor-operated saw when the machinery zipped him completely under the tractor and hurled him out clear of the spinning saw, sans shirt, sans shorts, sans pants.

Around Hollywood

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Unrell-parade: Ray Bolger, the rubber-legged dancing comedian, is becoming a cutting-room star. He's out of "The Girl of the Golden West" since the sneak preview because they figured his dance stopped the story. He was almost omitted from "Rosalie," too.

But there's a boy who's going to click big when he gets the part—if the part stays in.
 Mary Astor, tells about the curious but probably natural reaction of a movie-bred child to her first glimpse of a stage performance. She took daughter Marilyn to see the Ballet Russe. The little girl exclaimed excitedly as the first curtain rose: "Oh, Mamma—they look like real people!"

Wonder what Claire Trevor was thinking at the preview of Annabella's first Hollywood picture? Because Annabella looks like Trevor—with a French accent.
Improves Quickly

Aileen Whelan, a few years ago a beauty-shop girl and manicurist, all but had the role of Scarlett O'Hara but Selznick would not give it unless Zanuck sold her contract, which Zanuck wouldn't.

Al Werker, directing this number, is a rarity among directors. He does an "epic" like "The House of Rothschild" then turning to a lowly "B" and doing the same kind of job. Just does what he's given to do, whether it's super, super or just colossal, or just a quickie.

W. S. Van Dyke is another. At least he's a little fed up on "epics" at present, what with "Marie Antoinette." "Epics," said he, "are just a lot of grief." Meaning he said the wigs and the costumes. With so many wigs and so much elaborate apparel, there's constant repair work to hold things up. And being held up is not one of the colonel's pleasures.

Hollywood Baiter

Today's fish story: Olaf Hytton, English actor in "Lone Wolf in Paris," used to have so much trouble finding bait for his fishing trips that he started raising worms. Alvan Mowbray, Wally Wales, and other fishing friends were supplied there. And then business got so good Hytton stopped giving it away and started selling. Does a tremendous business. The turnover in worms being terrific.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER, Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Of course, as any member of congress or the administration will tell you, the United States never again will send an army to fight overseas.

Curiously enough, however, the war-planners go right on planning war-time schedules on a scale which permits no other explanation unless it be seriously suggested that a foreign army is likely to invade the United States in force.

The war department lets it be known that its war-time mobilization plans provide for placing 1,250,000 well-equipped troops "in the field" within four months. This is old stuff, actually, and presumably the army boys are beating the drum in that way because they don't want the navy to get all the money that is to be voted for what is known as national defense.

Want Draft Law Now.
 After that first "quickie" of 1,250,000, the army plans on raising two or three million more fighting men. But you still can't get anyone to admit—at least not publicly—that there's any chance of American invasion or any chance of a foreign nation invading the United States.

The war department officially bases its war plans on two alternatives—universal conscription or a campaign for volunteers which would be led by the American Legion posts. The latter alternative is just so much eye-wash because what the general staff figures on is another draft law. In fact, the generals aren't even willing to wait for congress to pass a conscription act until war is declared or threat of hostilities appears. They want a draft law passed right now so that congress won't even have a chance to use its discretion later.

No Explanation.
 Congress is asked to authorize military conscription of all men between the ages of 21 and 31 in a bill approved by Chairman Andrew J. May and a majority of the house military affairs committee. This measure is a revision of the old Sheppard-Hill bill and its alleged purpose is to take the profits out of and to equalize the burdens of war.

The bill makes no pretense of explaining why this millions of men would be needed if there is no thought of another large American expeditionary force. But no matter how small and unimportant a war in which this country was involved might be, a President would be given power to order them under arms. Numerous studies of neutrality and related problems in the last few years almost invariably have reached the conclusion that a President could so handle this country's foreign relations that war would become inevitable.

The "war profits" bill has profited from the original impetus of the drive to get a real bill aimed at taking the profits out of war, which began after the sensational exposures of the senate munitions committee. Many people who believed in neutrality and peace and heartily opposed American entry into any foreign war thought that a law which insured that there couldn't be any war profits in the next war would do a lot to discourage war. These same people are now battling desperately against the May bill, holding it a travesty on their original proposal for elimination of war profits through a schedule of war-time taxation.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M.D.

There's an old saying that a cold runs its natural course in a fortnight, but that if carefully treated it can be cured in two weeks. Basically that's true.

Well, since you can't cure a cold, why treat it at all? Why not just let it alone.

Treatment is warranted for two principal reasons: It prevents complications and brings comfort to the sufferer.

As to complications, everyone has experienced the "migrations" of a cold. It begins in the nose, spreads to the tonsils and throat, affects the voice box, involves the bronchi and, finally "settles" in the chest.

Colds are odd afflictions. Some never get beyond the stuffy nose stage. Others, do what you will, go the full spread of the respiratory system. And yet doctors know the wisdom and value of treating, if not the cold, at least the patient, by keeping him in bed or away from his everyday occupation.

It is hard to prove that such treatment really helps to restrict the cold. But there is no question about its being sound practice.

The sufferer is also entitled to relief from troubling symptoms. His throat may be sore. Warm saline washes are sure to bring him comfort, and if there is a touch of tonsillitis may even bring his temperature down a degree or more.

Hot or cold compresses applied to painful or swollen neck glands will be much appreciated. A stuffed-up nose may be cleared periodically by the gentle solution (add a teaspoon of salt to a glass of warm water). A prolonged warm bath is good during the early stages of a cold.

Steam inhalations will lessen throat irritation, reduce the impulse to cough and "loosen" phlegm. Hot lemonade or orangeade will give the cold sufferer some extra vitamin C and, best of all, will make him feel he is doing something for his cold.

Of course, there are many other neat practices which the physician knows and can prescribe for his patient over and above drugs, liniments, and so forth.

Granted that all of this won't cure the cold, nevertheless it will make the "natural" cure more comfortable, and it may also help to reduce the risk of complications.

NINE MILLION PEOPLE WOULD DRIVE AUTOS

The vital importance of the success of the automobile industry's used car drive is now under way in Pampa and throughout the United States was emphasized today in a statement issued by Alfred Reeves, vice-president and general manager of the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

"The practice of selling new cars to people of larger incomes," Mr. Reeves pointed out, "and then passing these cars on to second owners is the thing that has made possible the great development of the auto industry.

"There are only about 9,000,000 people in this country with income enough to buy new cars. If these cars were held by the original owners until they wore out—which would take nearly 9 years—the annual output would be only about 1,000,000 passenger cars a year.

"If this production was divided between only 4 or 5 companies, each one would make a few cars that the tool and die costs and other overhead expenses would be so large per car, that cars would be more expensive.

"Only about 1-3 as much gasoline would be consumed in a year, and the oil industry would shrink to about 1-3 of its present size. To stand of 45,000 dealers we would need only about 12,000 dealers, and there would be a corresponding reduction in the number of salesmen and mechanics.

"With fewer cars on the road, we would have a smaller mileage of improved highways. Only the well-to-do could live in the suburbs. Factory workers would be compelled to live in congested areas near the factories.

"Most farmers would use horses in going to town. Poor people would make week-end trips on street-cars or trains. Ownership of a car would be a badge of wealth and social position.

"Cities would cover less space and would have more apartments and high buildings. Citizens of lower incomes would travel less. If the practice of handing down used cars to second, third and fourth owners were abolished, the automotive industry would shrink to about 1-3 of its present size and our economic life would be profoundly changed.

"That is why it is a mistake to refer to used cars as a 'problem' or an 'evil'—instead of the foundation on which a great industry has been built. This campaign is not intended to get them out of the way, but merely to relieve the abnormal condition of oversupply."

CHAMBERLAIN CHEERED AS HE BOOSTS POLICY

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that if the vital peace talks with Italy and Germany, opening this week, failed Britain would speed up her already gigantic rearmament program.
But he said if the negotiations succeeded disarmament would follow in due course.
The conservative majority repeatedly cheered the prime minister as he explained his policy of rearmament and at the same time trying to prevent Europe drifting toward the cataract of war by means of frank talks with the leaders of Italy and Germany.

Answering opposition charges that he was biased in favor of the dictators, Chamberlain in a fighting speech replied:
"I have to deal with a world in which dictatorships exist. I have no interest in other systems of government except insofar as they react on other countries. I have no bias in favor of Nazism, Fascism or Bolshevism, because all of them are inconsistent with what is all important to me because it is the root of my political creed—that is, individual liberty."

INSURGENT CRUISER SUNK BY GOVERNMENT
MADRID, March 7 (AP)—Destruction of a crack 10,000-ton insurgent cruiser in a naval battle off Cartagena left a gaping hole today in the insurgent blockade of Spanish government ports.
It had not been determined definitely here whether the warship torpedoed, bombed and set afire was the Canarias or the Baleares—sister cruisers commissioned only two years ago.
These powerful vessels were the backbone of the insurgent fleet, and both engaged in the battle.
British admiralty reports said the destroyers Kempenfeld and Boreas rescued more than 400 survivors from the cruiser.
The loss was regarded by jubilant Spanish government authorities as certain to decrease the insurgents' chance of effectively enforcing their blockade of the Spanish Mediterranean coast. The government fleet returned unharmed to its Cartagena base.

TEXAS WAGES WAR AGAINST 'MARY WEAVER'

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP)—A three-front offensive is being waged in Texas against marihuana and other narcotics.

Federal state and local officers, armed with air-tight laws, have deployed in an attack which they assert is bringing results.
Hampered until recently by statutes which allegedly deflected convictions, state and local police have a cudgel in the form of a uniform narcotics act now effective in many states and so strong "you can almost arrest a man for thinking about narcotics," said W. H. Richardson, Jr., chairman of the public safety commission.

The public safety department's narcotics division, created at the last general session of the legislature, includes seven operatives under command of Capt. Jerome B. Wheatley, veteran ranger and investigator. Their work ties in closely with local officers in every county and with federal agents stationed in an Antonio, Houston, Beaumont and Dallas.

Much of their attention is directed toward marihuana, the only drug which destroys brain tissue, which perhaps accounts for its strange effects on the mental process. The victim either develops "an all engulfing love for mankind" or a fiery hatred and desire to kill.
The drug is sold in cigarettes—"muggles," "teanz," "Mary Weaver," "Moochah" and "weed."

There has been much discussion lately about nefarious sale among high school students, but officers declare they have found no evidence of it in Texas.
Peculiarly, some persons think first of Texas when marihuana is mentioned but the fact is the weed grows in virtually every state in the nation.

statutes is expected to be decided soon by the state court of criminal appeals.
Bids Identical.
The attorney general's department has been working on the case for months. A committee of the state house of representatives also has conducted extensive investigations into operations of cement companies. The federal trades commission supplied much data to further the inquiry.
"Practically all public bids and private quotations are identical," McCraw's petition said. "Any variation from perfect identity in bidding, with but few exceptions, is the result of error rather than design."
As an example, bids of four defendants to the bureau of reclamation of the U. S. department of interior, for 5000 barrels of cement for construction of Buchanan and Inks dams on the Colorado river northeast of Austin, were cited.
The petition asserted the bids were identical even to the "fourth decimal point of a cent per barrel."
It was complained the manufacturers had agreed not to sell cement directly to the state highway department on a wholesale basis.
Although the practice was broken up for a period in 1932 when the department bought directly from Oklahoma mills, the petition said the manufacturers suddenly stopped selling directly.
When the department again sought to purchase from Oklahoma it found mills in that state had adopted a policy of refusing to sell at wholesale.

The petition charged efforts to "freeze out" sale of foreign cement at Texas seaports when the foreign product was quoted as much as $1 below the domestic price.
Members of the legislative investigating committee last year studied the feasibility of utilizing cement manufactured in Mexico. It also discussed possibility of setting up a state-owned plant.
The petition specifically charged "the defendants entered into a conspiracy and formed a trust and combination of their capital, skill and acts" for these reasons:
"To create and carry out... restrictions in trade and commerce... and in the free pursuit of the business of manufacturing and marketing cement within the state of Texas."
"To fix, maintain, increase and reduce the price of cement and prevent and lessen competition in marketing of cement."
"To maintain standards and figures whereby the price of cement was controlled."
"To enter into agreements not to sell cement" except to customers "arbitrarily selected."
"To regulate and limit the output of cement and to abstain and cause others to abstain from engaging... in the business of marketing cement."
The suit was limited to intra-state transactions but the petition declared the conspiracy operated on a nation-wide scale.
"Not only did defendants enter into such a conspiracy and form said trusts and combination for the purpose of executing the same within Texas," it said, "but the conspiracy, trust and combination was, in the main, a part of a national conspiracy, trust and combination... involving all other manufacturers of cement within the United States."
Price Controlled.
"Said conspiracy, trust and combination was a part of a general scheme to control prices, restrict competition and restrain trade, in the manufacture and sale of cement, not only in Texas, but throughout the United States."
The relief sought in this cause is limited, however, to purely intra-state transactions because of jurisdictional limitations.
It was alleged the "conspiracy"

"I'll rot in jail," he had said repeatedly when brought before a judge on warrants obtained by the South Middleton township school board.
Yesterday the last of the sentences expired and March who expected to receive another series—five days for each day Eugene missed school—instead got his freedom.

NEW DELHI, India, March 7 (AP)—Three French passengers and the four-man crew of an air France airliner were killed today when the plane crashed in flame near Datta, capital of the state of that name in central India. One of the passengers was a woman.
A rescue party including the Prime Minister of the state went to the scene but the bodies of all aboard had been trapped in the flaming wreckage.
The plane, in the regular service between Hanoi, French Indo-China, and Paris, crashed after taking off from the town of Dum Dum in Bengal. It left Calcutta last night west bound.

PICKETS ROUNDED UP AND THROWN INTO JAIL
SAN ANTONIO, March 7 (AP)—Ninety pecan factory pickets were rounded up and jailed by police at noon today as mass picketing broke out on the strike front for the first time in a week.
The arrests were the first made on the west side since Thursday.
Mass picketing today followed a mass meeting of C. I. O.-affiliated Pecan Shellers Union members last night at which renewal of picketing was decided upon.
It was established not only by written agreements, but also through frequent national, sectional, and local meetings, personal contacts, discussions, correspondence and exchanges of information between officers and representatives of manufacturers and trade associations. The agreements were asserted to both formal and "in-cit."
"Discussing the Cement Institute's code of ethics," the petition said: "Every part of said code of ethics was intended by the members of the institute, and particularly the defendant members, and the Longenehr and San Antonio companies to control their business... and each sentence and paragraph of said code as applied to the intra-state business of manufacturing and marketing cement within Texas constitutes a violation of the anti-trust laws."
The petition further said that while the two companies with principal offices in San Antonio were not members of the institute they allegedly followed the code of ethics and had agreed to cooperate closely with other Texas manufacturers in carrying out its provisions.

FRANCO AIRMEN RAID PORT OF CARTAGENA

MADRID, March 7 (AP)—In swift revenge for the government's first major victory—the torpedoing of the insurgent cruiser Baleares—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's airmen raided the port of Cartagena five times between midnight and noon today.

The government communicate announcing the raids failed to mention casualties but said the government naval force based there escaped damage.

Two attacks came in the night and two more about 8 a. m., when two squadrons swept in from the Mediterranean near the spot where the 10,000-ton Baleares was hit in yesterday's naval engagement. The fifth attack was carried out at noon.
Meanwhile congratulatory telegrams poured in on the Cartagena naval commander for the victory over eight insurgent war vessels in the Sunday battle.
The government victory left a gaping hole in the insurgent blockade of the eastern Spanish coast.
Admiral Juan Cervera, commander of Franco's fleet, ordered all second line craft to speed to Palma, Mallorca, to reinforce the blockade. Cervera was confident the blockade could be enforced despite the loss of the Baleares.

The Gray county project which was moved by engineers of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to a new site in the county because the original site could not be purchased, is located about six miles southeast of Pampa on parts of sections 9, 10, 11, and 12 of the Rock-wald county school land. The site includes about 1000 acres of land a major part of which is now owned by the E. B. Johnson estate. A small tract of land which will be acquired by the state will be owned by Pem Denton of the Amarillo office of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.
The Works Progress Administration will contribute $200,000.00 and the Department of Agriculture $74,942.00 toward the building of the dam and the development of the park around it. This is in addition to the amount that will be paid for the land which will cost several thousand dollars.
The dam will be 55 feet high and will back up over five thousand acres of water. Approximately 375 acres or more of land will be covered with water with an average depth of 19 feet over the entire lake. Approximately $50,000 will be spent on park developments around the lake and dam.

Martin Niemoller, was sent to a concentration camp, deplored the use of political measures against the church. He said the action of the gestapo (secret police) in confining the Rev. Niemoller showed that the government was again using political weapons against the church, "but we are not permitted to defend ourselves by political means."

DEATH TAKES PRESIDENT OF DODGER CLUB

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Stephen W. McKeever, 85-year-old president of the Brooklyn National League baseball club, died early today of pneumonia at his home in Brooklyn. He had been ill a week.

Connected with the club for more than a quarter-century, McKeever had been president since 1932, when Frank B. York resigned in a Dodger reorganization.
Oldest president in the National League, McKeever, called "Judge" by his intimates, was the central figure in the storm that had raged over Brooklyn management for nearly 15 years, between McKeever and the 15 heirs of the late Charles H. Ebbets.
He lived just a few blocks from Ebbets field, where his Dodgers perform their baseball chores daily during the National League season. Next door, live his daughter and son-in-law, James Mulvey, a vice-president of the club.
In 1925, when Ed McKeever and Ebbets died within a few months of each other, internal dissension began in the Dodger front office. It lasted ever since. At that time Ed McKeever's interest passed to Stephen McKeever, and the Ebbets' share of the club was divided among Ebbets' heirs.
Wilbert Robinson, who had been managing the team since 1914, was elected president and Stephen McKeever became treasurer.
But a rift developed in the previously friendly relations between McKeever and "Robbie." Then the National League stepped in.
The League president, John Heydler, acted as intermediary and in 1929 a temporary peace was established, with "Robbie" ousted as president, although receiving a two-year contract as manager. When that contract ended, Robbie was replaced by Max Carey, who was supported by McKeever.
When the 1929 storm blew over, York, who had been associated with the club as legal advisor for close to 30 years, stepped out and McKeever became the club's president three years later. At that time he denied he had increased his 50 percent holdings in the club.

a report being prepared this morning revealed.

There are 225 teachers in the county. Of these, 203 are members of the association, which recently formed a Gray county unit here.

Many of the members are expected to go to Canyon on March 18-19, when the Northwest Texas Conference on Education is to be held at West Texas State college, Canyon superintendent W. B. Weathered, who is president of the Gray county unit of the State teachers association, will conduct one of the symposiums held during the conference, and is also to speak at another group meeting.

Unusual Wrestling Card Holds Interest Of Fans

Advance sale of reserve seat tickets for tonight's wrestling card at Pampa Athletic arena has been so brisk that Promoter Cliff Chambers anticipates one of the largest crowds of the season to witness his most unusual card of all. Tickets, 65 cents ring-side reserve, will be on sale at Creney Drug until 6 o'clock when they will be moved to the arena. General admission will be 40 cents for adults and 25 cents general admission.

The most unusual card is headlined by a main event between Gorilla Pogi, villain of the Argentine, and Wild Bill Venable, the rugged woodchopper from Tuscaloosa, Ala., a villain in his own rights.

The semi-final will present a newcomer to the Pampa mat, George Hartay of Hungary. He will be given a champion's test by Dick Simpson, local favorite and one of the classic mat artists of the day. Both believe in scientific grappling.

Opening the card at 8 o'clock sharp will be Basanta Singh of Bombay, India, returning after an absence of about four years and his job will be an attempt to keep a rubber man on the mat. The freak, who is a top wrestler, is Slim Hall of Hollywood, Calif. He towers 6 feet 4 inches above the canvass and is so flexible that he cannot be controlled by ordinary procedure.

Pogi has already shown fans that he can take care of himself although he has appeared only twice. Last week he made the fierce Sailor Moran almost eat the mat so tame did he have him. Venable learned how Moran had gone "softie" so he immediately challenged the Argentine terror.

"That foreigner with the reputation has to show me that he is tough," declared Venable and Promoter Chambers matched them.

Pampans Take Part In Amarillo Shoot

Jerry Rogers and Tom Perkins, local skeet shooters, participated in a contest at the Amarillo Gun club shoot yesterday afternoon with Rogers tying J. O. Holland for top honors with a score of 48 out of 50.

Perkins carded a 40 out of a possible 50 to rank sixth in the contest. Many shooters tried their luck for the first time on the skeet range.

The 'Crowning' Bridge Hand Suit

Some harassed partners insist that bridge is sufficiently intricate now, but just to make it really complex, English players have devised a fifth suit for the game—the "crown" suit shown above. Named after the royal family, the crown suit brings the deck of cards to 65, gives each player 16 in his hand with one left over which the dealer may have, discarding as he pleases. Bidding is similar to present contracting, except that trick counting begins at eight instead of six. A small slam means all but two of the 16 tricks, a grand slam all but one, and a "super slam" all the tricks. Experts insist the new five-suited deck and game are "interesting."

SAMMY BAUGH WOULD GIVE UP FOOTBALL FIELD FOR DIAMOND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7 (AP)—"Sluggin' Sammy" Baugh, star of college and professional football ranks, substituted a baseball uniform for his football outfit today, and worked out for the first time at the Cardinal's waterfront park training camp.

Coming from his home at Sweetwater, Texas, Baugh, whose bullet-like passes gained him fame at Texas Christian University and later as a member of the Washington Redskins, asserted his athletic future depends on his success on the diamond.

"If I make the grade with the Cardinals, I'll give up football," Sammy announced. "I realize that you can't play football without endangering your baseball career."

Baugh frankly admits he likes football as well as baseball, but looking at it from a business angle he believes baseball players last longer than gridiron performers. He said he was mindful, too, that few players break into the major leagues during their first year.

"If I can't stick with the Cards, I hope the club will find a place for me on one of their farm teams," Baugh said. "Of course I want to play for the Cardinals but if they ship me out, I hope it is to Houston."

Refusing to sign a football contract with the Washington Redskins for next season, Baugh declared, "I think I am entitled to more than they offered." He did not disclose the terms.

Major League baseball scouts have had Baugh under observation since he started his college career. At T. C. U. he played third base and did some pitching.

Stagehand Most Dangerous Entry In Famous Derby

LOS ANGELES, March 7 (AP)—Barring mishap between now and May, Stagehand, acclaimed today as another Man O' War, stands as the most dangerous candidate in the historic Kentucky Derby.

Stagehand's smashing victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, in which he stepped out of his swaddling clothes and whipped some of the best tried and seasoned stake horses in the land, was done in amazing time—a time faster than any winner ever ran in the Kentucky Derby.

Stagehand ran the mile and one-quarter Saturday in 2 minutes 13 seconds. Twenty Grand's time in 1931 over the same distance was 2 minutes 34 seconds, and that was the fastest ever made in the Derby by as far back as 1896, when the Derby distance was cut to a mile and one quarter.

Stagehand, a frisky, strapping bay colt, broke the track record here in winning out the great handicap champion of 1937, Seabiscuit, last Saturday.

Seabiscuit, Pompoon, Aneroid and the rest of the handicap field took a crack at that record—and the purse of $91,450 that went to the winner, but it was Stagehand, the only 3-year-old in the pack, who succeeded.

Earl Sande, who sent Stagehand in to win the $50,000 Santa Anita derby Feb. 22 and then defied custom and critics by saddling him to victory in the handicap, believes he has a "wonder horse."

The song "Dixie" was composed in 1859 and used by the Confederates as a war song.

HORNED FROGS WON ONLY ONE CAGE TUSSLE

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT Associated Press Sports Writer

One more game—the Texas Aggies' attempt to sack fourth place in a Tuesday night date with Rice at Houston—and the Southwest conference 1938 basketball race is formally over.

Arkansas took the fun out of it two weeks ago by blotting out everyone's hopes, but sweeping up of odds and ends the past few days kept a breath of life stirring.

1. Hubert Kirkpatrick, Baylor senior who was just a string-bean squaddie until this season, posted a scoring record of 210 points which the boys can snipe at for years to come. His 13 total against a stingy S. M. U. defense Saturday night wound up his career.

2. Texas Christian set some sort of a dubious record by winning only one game and finishing in the cellar for the fourth straight season.

3. Coach Hub McQuillan of Texas A. and M. found himself labeled as considerable "spoofer" by his colleagues. He wailed before the season's start "we'll be lucky to win one game." Tuesday night he goes after his sixth—and he can always say he ruined Baylor's titular chances.

4. Southern Methodist, without the services of injured Charlie Sprague, great guard, throughout the season, did alright for itself and its young coach, Whitey Baccus, by finishing third.

5. Recognition came to a band of five lanky youngsters who managed to score some 750 points between them. The seven coaches voted, without much quibbling, the following all-conference team for The Associated Press.

Forwards—Don Lockard, Arkansas, and J. D. Norton, Southern Methodist. Center—Hubert Kirkpatrick, Baylor. Guards—Jack Robbins, Arkansas, and William Dewell, Southern Methodist.

Three of the five named, Dewell, Norton and Lockard, were holdovers from the 1937 mythical team. Dewell, S. M. U.'s rangy all-around athlete, and Norton will be back next year.

Marks to go tumbling in a big season were:

Single game, total points: Rice, 62, Texas Christian 57 for total of 119. Total points by one team in single game: Arkansas—74 against Texas.

Total points scored in one season: Arkansas—568 for a dizzy average of 47.3 per game.

Southern Methodist wound up its season Saturday night by thrashing Baylor, 45-36. Dewell, one of the shiftest floor men the league has ever seen, taking charge of the attack. Earlier in the week the Methodists had beaten T. C. U., 37-30.

Baylor, too, had dropped Rice, 54-44, while Texas A. and M. disposed of Texas, 31-26.

General Urges Cancellation of Olympic Games

TOKYO, March 7 (AP)—War Minister General Gen Sugiyama announced today the army was prohibiting soldiers on the active list from participating in the 1940 Olympics to be held in Tokyo, and advocated their cancellation.

Modern agricultural implements are used by those engaged in rice growing in the Murumbidgee irrigation area of New South Wales, Australia.

It was the first expression of opposition to the Olympics from official quarters. Hitherto, an anti-Olympic movement has been carried on by patriotic organizations not connected with the government.

Sugiyama and Suweisugu appeared before a diet committee conducting hearings on the national mobilization bill giving wide powers to the army.

Sugiyama said: "Of course, if the current conflict (with China) should end, Japan would have no cause for abandoning holding the games. Otherwise, I believe Japan should not hold the games."

cal to compete for $250,000 to be distributed in the next 30 days.

Today's opening had to share interest with a flood of discussions and comparisons of the Admiral's performance in the Widener handicap over Seabiscuit at Santa Anita in Saturday's two turf headlines.

The triumph, the thirteenth in 16 races for War Admiral, increased his total bankroll to $231,625, which is just $17,840 shy of the winnings of his great father in 21 races in 1919 and 1920. One more race of the type he won today would send War Admiral past Man O' War's winnings, though 20 years ago they didn't have any $50,000 stakes.

War Admiral's time Saturday was 2:03 4/5, not exceptionally fast but plenty good.

DODGERS PAY $60,000 FOR PULL-HITTER

BROOKLYN, March 7 (AP)—On the strength of the high-priced purchase of Dolph Camilli, it begins to appear that Larry (Houdini) Macphail may make something of Brooklyn's doleful Dodgers after all.

Not only did Macphail swing a deal yesterday which brings to Brooklyn a left-handed pull-hitter, who should be a "natural" for the Ebbets field right field target, but the most astonishing part about the whole thing is the fact that the Dodgers handed the Phillies a reported $60,000 for Camilli—an almost unheard-of sum in all the history of baseball.

That staggering figure for the purchase of one player—even if he should make a fifth place club of the Dodgers—shows more than anything else that Macphail is definitely Mr. Big in the Dodger organization.

In Camilli, a 29-year-old wall-popper, the Dodgers are acquiring a player who may conceivably mean the difference between a poor sixth place club and a fifth-place outfit aiming at the first division.

He is one of the league's top fielding first sackers—leading the loop last year—and one of the heavy-duty big guns at the platem.

The $60,000 price tag, with a rookie, Ed Morgan, thrown in, also is undoubtedly a big bid for return of the Brooklyn fandom, which, until the last season or two made Brooklyn the most profitably franchise in the league. The paying customers have stayed away in droves.

That the Camilli buy (the Dodger management hopes) will make the flatbush faithful hang out the "come home, all is forgiven" signal.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

CLEARWATER, Fla.—The Brooklyn Dodgers' "noble experiment" starts today when Buddy Hassett, recently, and the Camilli buy (the Dodger management hopes) will make the flatbush faithful hang out the "come home, all is forgiven" signal.

BATON ROUGE, La.—The New York Giants, back in camp after two victories over the A's, have Lou Chiozza, the usually light-hitting infielder-outfielder, as their leading batter. Chiozza got a double and a single in the first game with the Athletics and then came back yesterday to pound out another double and three singles.

SAN ANTONIO—Manager Gabby Street, opening the St. Louis Browns spring camp, said the team would use a two-a-day system of training, with morning and afternoon workouts.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—The Pittsburgh Pirates' pitchers are getting the kinks out of their salary arms after the club's first practice session was delayed by two days of floods and storms. About a dozen battersmen directed by Manager Pie Traynor will get five days' conditioning before the arrival of the rest of the squad.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Murray Levine, father of 12-year-old Peter Levine, said today that he believed his son was still alive, despite continued failure to make actual contact with the abductors. He also said he believed he was dealing with the true kidnapers.

Commenting on the last ransom note, but declining to say when he received it, Levine said: "With the last, there was some indication my boy was alive, and that I was dealing with the right party."

OSCAR VITT, CHAMP TALKER; TO BE CLEVELAND'S MANAGER

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW ORLEANS, March 7 (AP)—The American league has itself a fine, lusty new personality in Oscar Vitt, the old-time Detroitter, who has taken over the management of the Cleveland Indians as though it were a pleasure.

Oscar is one of the few players who ever was beamed squarely by one of Walter Johnson's fast balls. His face clear down to the chin was black for a week. But he says that has nothing to do with his job of taking over a club that tosses off managers as casually as the average man discards his winter underwear.

"I hope," Oscar grinned, "the effects of that lick wore off a long time ago. I know what I'm doing and I got ideas of my own about running a ball club. If I can develop myself a second baseman we'll give those Yankees and Tigers all the race they want."

Oscar, whose Newark Bears ran clear away with the International league race last season, is one of the longest and most accomplished talkers in the game. It is claimed for him that at the recent winter meeting in Chicago he talked Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs right under the table and dropped only one close decision during four days and nights of heated bartering.

"Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox maybe shaded me a little the last night," he confessed, "but I wasn't in any kind of shape by that time."

Bill Terry of the Giants was Oscar's most recent victim. Bill, whose Giants are training at near-by Baton Rouge, dropped in on Oscar in the midst of the Mardi Gras festivities and started pouring the old oil on the freshman pilot, thinking maybe Oscar would be softened up by the gaiety of the occasion.

"You know what he says to me?" chuckled Oscar. "You know we're playing them a couple dozen exhibition games on the way north. Well, he says what I ought to do is pitch Bob Feller a little bit in every one of those games, about like they did last year, and we'd clean up a lot of dough."

"Boy, did I get him told? I says: 'Sure, Bill, I'll pitch Feller every day and you pitch Carl Hubbell every day and we'll really have ourselves some fun.' That stopped him cold and he went on back to Baton Rouge."

LEVINE BELIEVES HIS SON IS STILL ALIVE

Unity Gets Results

Spring and popularity contests are here again and the question arises, "Whom shall I support? I like them all."
Of course it is the privilege of the individual to vote as he pleases, but there is a lot more fun and fire in the election if classes stick together and class rivalry develops.
Unity and cooperation are worn old words but they still have something there! If classes scatter there is not much telling what will happen and everything's heater-skeeter. But if you stick to your own class, you will have the whole class behind you and the have the class spirit.
Use cooperative instincts—stick to your own class and don't be swayed by some silvery-tongued orator. Back your class candidates and bring in the money. The annual needs it!

A Girl's Creed

The Home Maker's club framed and presented to the home-making classes of Senior High this following creed:
A Girl's Creed
I believe that the home is the woman's natural environment. I believe that there is as much art in making a barren house into a glowing, comfortable home as there is in painting a picture or writing a poem. I believe that there is dignity and beauty in service, that as a career for women, homemaking offers greater opportunity for leisure, for growth of mind and spirit, for exercise of the body, than any other occupations. I believe that one who has the intelligence to keep her own house in order is wise enough to be a force in the community. It is my desire to be one of the countless women of the world to make life sweeter and better because I live and to do my work well.

Cups Out of Date

"To the winner I present this cup." Many judges have said this in varied ways, but almost invariably a cup is given to the winner. Yet in what way can this cup be used other than a memento of decoration.
Why not give the person who has strived for the winning place a useful object such as a typewriter or a fountain pen. These are articles that can be used for years to come. Cups that are presented are usually put on display for a few years. Then they give their place to a more beautiful or interesting object. Soon they are put away and forgotten.
If a useful article could be presented instead, the winner would remember the occasion longer through use of the object and he would have something to help him in his daily life.

Student Opinion

The staff wishes to announce if the name of the student does accompany student opinions put in the student opinion box they will not be published. It shows lack of faith if the writer is unwilling to sign his name to a certain belief. Of course, the complete name will be withheld and only the initials used in the paper.

Someone has written their opinion to give themselves black eyes and lose friends by "snatching typewriters" that have been reserved. In the first place it is not right to reserve something that another fellow has as much right to as you do. Everyone pays 50 cents rental on the machines, this entitles the person to use who paid to use the machine. First Come, First Served is one of the oldest logical sayings ever created. If a person beats you to a machine, even if you did suppose you have it reserved you should be a fair enough loser to say that they beat you to it.
The someone has accused a person of ruining his character, but are they thought of what they are doing to theirs when they reserve machines.
Don Taylor
Note this is my full name.

Some books in the library look as if the students have been laying them on the oily floors in the school room on the oily floors in the school room. The librarian is cleaning the books up so now students should really be careful with the books.
In the library there are many books. Five hundred dollars worth

Junior Rotarian For March Has Envious Record

Gene Finkbeiner, senior, is the March Junior Rotarian. He has lived in Pampa only two years, but during that time he has made an enviable record.
Last year, Finkbeiner was in the state-winning one-act play, "Cabbage," and he also had parts in the all-school and senior plays. He was a member of the Little Orchestra.
This year, he is president of the Spanish II club and the A Cappella choir. He was one of the six nominees for president of the student body and is vice-president of his home room. This senior has one of the highest scholastic averages in high school.
When asked for an amusing incident in his high school career, he said that every bit of it was amusing; so it is evident that he possesses a sense of humor.
Gene is an accomplished singer, dancer and actor and is very, very modest about it all.

Seniors Score Success in Play

"First Nighter" stepped from his automobile and entered the beautifully lighted auditorium with his guests Mr. and Mrs. Pampa last Thursday and Friday. The lights went down and the curtain rose on "Her Step Husband," annual senior play.
Katherine Barrett, playing the role of Mrs. Marshall, the beautiful young matron, who had never outgrown adolescent ideas of making life one complicated movie scenario, displayed a technique of acting which borders on the professional. The audience was charmed by her vivacious portrayal of her part.
Mrs. Marshall's step husband, Junior Williams and Mrs. Marshall's lawfully wedded husband, the butler, alias Howard Jensen, both did their bit to create the proper atmosphere for the plot concocted by their wife.
Character roles played by John Henry Nelson, Limp Lannigan with the east-side brogue, and Mattie Brown, Aunt Emmy, with the usual characteristics of the rich relative, were well received by the audience. Stella, the maid, Jeanette Cole, gave a convincing performance and Kenneth Carman, as Elizabeth Hill, A. P. Coombes and Thomas Hutchinsion.
Noland Cole and Robert Hogan tied for third high point honors of the contest.

Seniors had another class meeting last Friday, March 4. The meeting was called to advise seniors to turn their tickets to Mrs. Frances Alexander for the senior play. The seniors made a last minute rush to get their tickets elected for the various popularity contest places.
Kenneth Carman, director, was responsible as usual for the excellent production which was the "First Nighter" has come to expect when attending his plays.
Production mechanics were handled by Jack Cunningham and W. L. Davis. Promptness was Lois Foster and Hazel Bath and Elizabeth Mullinax were property girls.
Ah's and oh's were many when Willie, the lost child, was returned. Little Nita Mae Ford was "very a-bay cast" in this role.
Audience reaction again recorded another dramatic in success in the annals of P. H. S.

Mrs. Byrd Talks to Secretarial Class

Mrs. C. H. Byrd, who is employed by the Cabot company, gave a talk to the secretarial training class Thursday of last week. The class received some first hand experience from the talk. Mrs. Byrd told of the duties of a secretary as well as the requirements of a good secretary. All of the class enjoyed the talk, reports Miss Zenobia McFarlin.
More talks will be given in the future by prominent business people.

Students Enroll

Two new faces were seen in Senior High last week. Charles Eiseher, formerly of Grenola, Kansas, has enrolled as a Junior. Mason Johnson has enrolled in E. C. Pennington's diversified occupation class. of books have been bought this year. Many of these books are books that every student in Senior High should read. So, students, come on and read.

Trinity Choir to Sing Here Today In Auditorium

The Trinity university A Cappella choir from Waxahachie, composed of 35 young men and women, accompanied by members of the musical faculty, Mr. and Mrs. Alton G. Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Vaunderde, will sing in the high school auditorium at three o'clock this afternoon.
The choir is on a 1400 mile tour of West Texas and has visited various cities around Pampa, appearing on many programs including radio.
E. N. Dennard, formerly of the Senior High faculty, and Mrs. Frances Alexander both attended Trinity university and sang in the Trinity A Cappella choir.

Sixteen Little Girls Model Their Dresses Before Study Halls

Sixteen little girls ranging in age from 18 months to five years "strutted their stuff" March 3 for all to see. They wore dresses made for them by the second year home economics clothing classes.
L. L. Sone, superintendent of Pampa schools, and D. F. Osborne, principal of Senior High, gave them their stamp of approval.
The "models" left them to go to Miss Eugenia Johnston's study hall where they showed off to their hearts' content on Miss Johnston's desk. Some said nursery rhymes, such as "Little Bo Peep" and "Little Boy Blue," in their heart-winning manners. One even exposed a pocket on her panties. Needless to mention, study hall classes will never be better entertained.
Developing the pre-school child is the unit just completed by the classes. Thirty-eight children's garments were made. The classes also studied the care of children.

Judging Contest To Be Held at Lubbock

Thirteenth annual vocational agriculture judging contest will be held at Texas Technological college, Lubbock, Friday, April 8.
At the request of teachers of West Texas schools, two new contests are being added, meat identification and cotton.
The contests which are staged annually are livestock, dairy cattle, poultry, farm shop, plant production and dairy products.
It is not yet known how many of the above named contests Pampa will enter and how many boys will attend.
Information regarding the contest may be obtained from Ray Enoch.

Judges Bring Home Bacon in Contests

Livestock judges of Pampa brought home second and third honors for swine judging from a contest at Miami February 26.
Members who won the prizes for judging swine were Billie Stock-Hill, A. P. Coombes and Thomas Hutchinsion.
Noland Cole and Robert Hogan tied for third high point honors of the contest.

Senior Meet Friday

Seniors had another class meeting last Friday, March 4. The meeting was called to advise seniors to turn their tickets to Mrs. Frances Alexander for the senior play. The seniors made a last minute rush to get their tickets elected for the various popularity contest places.
Kenneth Carman, director, was responsible as usual for the excellent production which was the "First Nighter" has come to expect when attending his plays.

Daugherty Visits

J. M. Daugherty, member of the school board, visited Mrs. Frances Alexander's fifth hour chemistry class last Tuesday. Mrs. Alexander explained to him her need for stools in the chemistry laboratory. Mr. Daugherty watched the students make distilled water.

Harvesters Will Play Exes Friday

The Harvesters' hopefuls of 1938 will make their debut against the ex-Harvesters who are still in school next Friday afternoon at four o'clock.
Coach Odus Mitchell and J. C. Frejman have been working hard the last week trying to whip a team into shape to whip the "cocky" exes who will be led by Roy Showers and his mighty slinging arm. Practically the same team of exes whipped the Harvester team of 1937 three times in a row last year.
An intra-squad scrimmage was held last Friday in which every boy in uniform got his chance. Those boys most likely to start against the exes are: Captain J. W. Graham, r. h. Pete Dunaway, q. b. Glen Nichols, l. h. Bobbie Karr, f. b. ends-Bob Andis and Fleming, tackles-Carl Brown and Jack Hesse, guards-Welby Parish and Bill Stiles, center-Candler or Nickols.
The probable starting lineup for the exes will be: Ends-Reynolds and McMahan, tackles-Nelson and Cunningham, guards-Mathews and Smith, center-Harding, f. b. Showers, t. b. Clements, l. h. Heiskell, q. b. Enloe.
Coach Mitchell intends to play several games with the exes.

Harvesters Take Second Place in Regional Tourney

The 1937-38 Harvester basketball season was rounded out on the night of February 26 when the Harvesters bowed in defeat to the Carrey Cardinals, defending state champions in the finals of the regional tournament.
The Harvesters started out slowly, but gained momentum as the season progressed. They played 16 games in the Big Five league which was formed this year. This league is made up of Pampa, Plainview, Borger, Amarillo and Lubbock. Of these 16 games played, Pampa was defeated only five times. They won second place by winning 11 games. Three of these defeats were at the hands of the Borger Bulldogs.
During the entire season the Harvesters played 48 games, including tournaments, of which they won the Canadian tournament and also the district tournament and the games in the league. Out of these 48 games, the Harvesters won 39 and lost 9. That is a record for any Harvester team in recent years. Fans believe that they would have won regional honors if Captain Claude Heiskell had not been sick. Coach Mitchell said that this was one of the best teams he has ever coached.
Members of the '37-38 squad were:
Claude Heiskell, captain
Bob Andis
Pete Dunaway
Tippy Reynolds
Norman Cox
Jack Cunningham
Grover Heiskell
A. C. Miller
Clayton
Omer Harrell
Junior Foster

Students Draw Maps of Pampa

Ten mechanical drawing students have been drawing maps of Pampa and maps of all the school's property during the last two weeks.
Students that have drawn these maps are: Junior Williams, Billy Eaton, Joe Nell, Robert Bowerman, J. C. Alexander, Gene Cooper, Loyal Blackwell, Thomas Owens, Glen Roberts and Charles Stephens. Superintendent L. L. Sone asked for the drawings.
Harry Kelly, instructor, stated that he was glad the students had the opportunity for the practice.

Classes Ballyhoo for Candidates

Senior High, but she has already served on school committees. She played the role of Florence in "Her Step-Husband," the senior play.
When a person's mind is made up, half the job is already accomplished. The juniors know this and profit by it. In the first nomination in the popularity contest every Junior candidate was elected by a majority while the seniors and sophomores had to have two run-offs.
Jimmy Mosley, for the most popular boy, had no trouble in acquiring his title. All he lacks is money—he has everything else. As an incorruptible, commensurate, incombustible, coherent, scholarly (monstrously academic) as well as momentously deserving, hunkadory and swell candidate for most popular boy, Jimmy Mosley will probably fill the proverbial bill.
Mary Jean Hill, for the most beautiful girl, has the intense demureness, exotic beauty and embellished accoutrements of the type that is enough to please an artist's palate and palette. She can smile.
Tommy Lee Close, junior candidate for the most popular girl, probably has more friends than anyone in high school and they say that Tommy doesn't even need big words to win faith. Alberteen and Jerry will have several gray hairs as Tommy's competitors.

Seniors

Alberteen Schulkey, senior candidate for the most popular girl, is senior choice because she has been an officer of the sophomore class, vice-president of the junior class, received parts in the junior and one-act plays, and most popular girl in the junior class. Also, she was elected secretary of the senior class.
Students that have drawn these maps are: Junior Williams, Billy Eaton, Joe Nell, Robert Bowerman, J. C. Alexander, Gene Cooper, Loyal Blackwell, Thomas Owens, Glen Roberts and Charles Stephens. Superintendent L. L. Sone asked for the drawings.
Harry Kelly, instructor, stated that he was glad the students had the opportunity for the practice.

Boxing Prospects Acquire Bruises, Shiners in Ring

Senior High's boxing prospects are getting better and better and bluer and bluer, according to Winston Savage, senior boxing sponsor. Jack Hesse, the mighty, twirls and feints like Donald Duck. John Kidwell insists that he walks 10 miles every day.
Dumb Major Vernon Casey encountered first a fellow who had had boxing experience and he emerged from the fray with a very delapidated eye. Pug Hughes has developed a very beautiful twirling punch wherein he makes a complete circle before finally getting the job done.
At the senior play cast received preliminary bouts before the tournament begins. Juniors will box juniors, sophomores will box sophomores and seniors will box seniors. After the first night all losers will box losers and winners will box winners. There will be about 16 fights each night. Each fight will be three rounds and the winners are light classes ranging from 112 pounds on up to 200 pounds.

Students Urged to Dust off Cameras For More Pictures

"Come one, come all, Bringing snapshots to the annual. Don't stop to re-dress, Just smile great big. Although you look like a pig." Everybody stop, look and listen. This reporter discovered that only four pages of snapshots have been made up for the annual, because that is all that have been turned in that could be used.
"Last year nine pages were used for snapshots, and if this year's annual is to be improved in every way, it will need at least as many pages of snapshots as were used last year," says Mrs. Hol Wagner who is in charge of the annual and its staff. Mrs. Wagner also reports that approximately two more weeks is all the time that is possible to be left open to snapshots. The staff of the annual must be to the press by the first of April, and before then the staff will need some time to make up the other pages.

T. B. Test Given to Senior High Students

Tuberculosis tests were given to about one half of the student body last Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 to 4:00.
Dr. Johnson remained after 4:00 to test anyone who wished to stay for it.
The chemistry classes helped out by making distilled water with which to sterilize the instruments used.
Dorothy Osborne, principal of High School, said that the remaining tests would probably be given next Wednesday.

Five Skits of Senior Play Given in Chapel

Five skits from the first and second acts of the senior play, "Her Step Husband," were enacted on the assembly program Monday, February 28.
Kenneth Carman, dramatics instructor, gave a brief outline of the one-act play, "Rich Man, Poor Man," and described the characters. The first elimination was held today.
Candidates for the favorites' contest and their campaign managers were introduced. Each manager gave a short talk boosting his candidate.

Mrs. Lou Roberts Recording Records

Mrs. Lou Roberts, Senior High registrar, reports that she has begun recording first semester records for the entire school, which includes about 750 students.
Mrs. Roberts has just finished the averages of the juniors and seniors eligible for the National Honor society.
Students for the National Honor society this year will be voted on by the faculty at a special meeting next week.
played on the Guerilla football team and was on the Sophomore basketball team.
Grover Heiskell is an athlete, scholar and very popular. He was on the Guerilla football team, the Harvester basketball team, secretary of the sophomore class and a member of the student council. Doesn't this prove that he is an all-around boy?
All votes for the sophomore candidates will be appreciated. They have the stuff that makes favorites.

Four Students to Help in Direction Of One-Act Play

"Rich Man, Poor Man," the one-act play for this year, is in rehearsal. Kenneth Carman, head of the speech department, is in charge.
The play, written by Bertha Y. Burrill, is an exceedingly amusing farce which includes nine characters. The setting of the play is in a thrift or rummage shop.
Mr. Carman gave a brief review of the play in assembly last Monday, March 1. Each student interested in trying out for the play reported to Mr. Carman's room at four o'clock Monday afternoon, and the students were then arranged in casts, with a student director at the head of each cast.

The drive to benefit the Boy Scout movement will start in high school next week, according to Principal D. F. Osborne.
Mr. Osborne states that it will run similarly to the Red Cross drive. Students who donate to the fund will be given pins to show that they have helped.
The pins will be issued to the home room teachers. Donations of as much as little as can be afforded will be appreciated.
The money is to help to raise the 4,000 dollar Boy Scout quota.

The typing team has had about two weeks practice, according to Bob Curry, typing director. They were able to make an average of about 40 words a minute.

Art Contest To Be Held April 13

Attention Pampa High school artists. A contest determining who will represent the school in art at the regional meet in Canyon will be held here on April 13. There will be three mediums—color (either water colors, oil paints or pastels), black and white charcoal, chalk or pencil and three dimensional material, namely, clay, wood and soap.
Methods in use of all these materials have been taught in Harry Kelly's art classes, but the contest will not be limited to art students only.
For the last few periods the art students made posters for the publicity of the senior play.

CHAPTER XXVIII

SHARP-TONGUED Amanda Pell who was the village's most influential woman, knocked determinedly at the Chelsea door, observing the white that the little house with the overhanging second story was badly in need of paint.

When the door was opened by the limping boy, Dick, Mrs. Pell said with condescension, "I've come to see Polly's new baby."

Dick Chelsea frowned. He had Polly's handsome clear-cut features, but his eyes were dark and brooding where Polly's were blue and open. His shy sensitive manner made him seem younger than his sister, though he was two years her senior. Dick disliked Mrs. Pell and mistrusted her for she had been unkind to Polly, but he could think of no way of keeping the woman out of the house.

Mrs. Pell, admitted, went quickly up the narrow winding stairs and entered the neat low-ceiled room that was Polly's chamber. Polly lay in a maple bed, looking pale but triumphant. She wore a linen night dress trimmed with ruffles and she was covered over with a white and yellow quilt in the primrose pattern. She looked in fact, much too gay and happy to suit Mrs. Pell.

"You've come to see the baby," Polly said. She thought in a flash how Mrs. Pell resembled Oliver Dart's Mrs. Broggs, only she was not so kind and amiable. "The baby's in the cradle, Mrs. Pell. Lift the blanket and look at it."

Mrs. Pell lifted and looked. She saw a sleeping infant with well-formed head and sturdy body. "Mm-m," she said, and sighed gustily.

Mrs. Taylor, the midwife, entered on some errand and spoke differentially to the caller. Mrs. Pell's husband owned a thriving lumber mill on a large local store, and Mrs. Taylor had an overdue account at the latter. So had many people in the village. The past year had been a hard one, with the war and all. Firewood had run up scandalously and food was dear. If a woman dared to buy a pattern of dress goods or a new bonnet she generally had to charge it and save silver coins against the day of paying for it.

"You're looking well, Mrs. Pell," said Mrs. Taylor. "That maroon color becomes you."

"The bolt was bought for me," replied Mrs. Pell complacently. "What have you named your baby, Polly?"

"Richard Jeremiah," repeated Mrs. Pell, as if considering the euphony of the words.

Polly flushed. "Richard Jeremiah Whitfield, Mrs. Pell."

"Oh, yes. . . . Have you heard from your husband, Polly?"

"No, Mrs. Pell. It's as I told you last week. There's no post lines on the Atlantic Ocean."

"But ships do get into port," Mrs. Pell ruminated. "Charley Parker had a letter from her husband yesterday. He'd posted it when his ship touched Providence."

"Oh, did she have a letter?" exclaimed Polly, wistful and off her guard.

"Yes, she did. And Susan Williams has heard from her son three times the past winter. He's a great writer. Silas is, and it looks like he's always looking out for a way to get a letter to his mother. Silas gave the last one to one of the Allan boys to deliver for him."

"Well, everybody can't be so lucky," Polly answered defensively. "After all, it's just chance if you find a wounded sailor bound for Lyons."

Mrs. Pell chewed her under lip thoughtfully. "I was talking to Liza Ann Williams yesterday. She said she'd never heard of Americans getting married in France. . . . Did they make out your marriage paper in English, Polly? We got to wondering. Do you want Dick to translate it for you?"

Polly was quivering with rage. Mrs. Pell had repeatedly shown herself skeptical of her marital standing but never before had been so insistently prying. Hereafter she had contented herself with dropping veiled hints at sewing circle and lifting her eyebrows whenever Polly spoke of "my husband."

Yet Amanda Pell's methods had been effective enough. Long before little Richard Jeremiah was born his mother was being spoken of as "poor Polly Chelsea." Some of the townswomen became openly cool, some treated her with ill-concealed disdain, a few showed a pity that was more maddening to Polly than were the snubs.

She said to her father when she first noticed these attitudes, "I know how it must look to these people. . . . And all this time no news from Jerry!"

life. As for young Whitfield, he's my distant kin through his mother, as you yourself traced. I saw the lad once when he was a small child. His people are good-sensar folk in northern Massachusetts, not given to boasting. Furthermore, this lad's at sea doing his duty, which is what more of the men around here ought to be doing, instead of criticizing the President."

It was the longest speech Polly had ever heard her father make. It lent her courage. . . . Dick took Polly his trust and support. He pretended an indifference to village gossip that he was far from feeling and he tried to strengthen Polly in the belief that it did not matter. He read aloud to her a great deal — salty tales like Robinson Crusoe and transitions from Virgil's Iliad that told of ships and men at sea.

But chiefly Dick helped by letting her talk about Jerry to her heart's content and by agreeing with her that he might come knocking on their door any day now, and surprise them.

As the months passed, Polly withdrew from village life entirely, holding her head in a high, proud manner when she walked abroad with her father or brother. Nuisance always followed her. The little dog seemed as attractive to her as he was repulsive to the villagers. It distressed her that Dick had no money for his medical course, and that soon there would be another mouth to feed. Yet the baby's coming gave her joy, too, and a stout comfort against the seeping fear that some misfortune had overtaken Jerry.

This had been Polly's life through the winter and spring. When she held her child in her arms today, Jerry's son, she had bravely said that nothing else mattered. . . . Yet she was seething with anger now at smug Mrs. Pell in her fine maroon dress — Mrs. Pell whose three daughters were neatly married and doing well two of them in Boston, each with a husband at her side.

She said, "Mrs. Pell, I've learned there's one thing meaner and crueler than the British navy. It's a New England village. One like this."

When Mrs. Pell had departed in high dudgeon, throwing back the observation that "it hardly pays to be kind to some people," Polly burst into sobs. She could not stop sobbing.

"There now!" Mrs. Taylor said. "You've got a fever and you're tossing! You mustn't get yourself worked up."

"Oh, Jerry!" Polly sobbed. "Other men write letters. Why can't you. . . . It's because you're dead, my darling! Dead!"

The nurse finally had to summon old Trepid Chelsea and the lame boy to soothe her.

"That cradle, now," Trepid observed loudly to his son, "has stood up well. I planned and whitened it out myself the trip I made to the West Indies a month or so before you were born. . . . Light maple. I took the wood aboard ship with me for the purpose."

"You did a good job of it. It has a graceful design and a good finish. . . . Had you noticed, father, how Nuisance lies between the cradle and the door? The intelligence of some dogs is remarkable. Let me tell you a thing I him do this morning."

Polly listened, noticed that she was listening and smiled wanly. If Jerry Whitfield never lived to come back to her there was still enough love in this humble home to fill a reasonable woman's life.

(To Be Continued)

Benjamin Franklin, statesman, scientist, and diplomat, considered himself first of all a printer. In beginning his will, he wrote: "I, Benjamin Franklin, printer."

Girl Lost

AMARILLO, March 7. (AP)—Uncle Sam will bow to mothers-in-law when the festival honoring the First Lady of the Land and all women with married children is held here Wednesday.

Mail delivery will be curtailed in the city and post office windows will be closed for a time, along with business concerns, for the 12-mile long parade and presentation to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt of a one-ton bouquet of matched roses.

All the schools in the county many others in the Texas Panhandle and one college in the territory will close for the day. West Texas State college at Canyon will close and the students and faculty will travel to Amarillo with floats and its bands, one of the half-hundred that will make music for the festival.

The Texas Tech Matador band will lead the musical organizations in the parade. The famous Cowboy band of Edwin Simmons under-stands at Abilene will be the official band for Mrs. Roosevelt's lecture in the evening. All available seats in the municipal auditorium have been reserved, mostly by mothers-in-law.

The hundreds of floats in the long parade will bear not a word of advertising, but national commercial concerns have hit upon the idea of mother-in-law greetings.

For the last three years the day has been proclaimed by the governor as official Mother-in-Law Day in Texas and that year it will have national observance. The festival is sponsored by the National Mother-in-Law club which was organized after Gene Howe, Amarillo publisher, staged a celebration to get himself in good with his mother-in-law whom he had offended with a pun on her name in his newspaper column.

Escorting the President's wife will be a small army of high plains sheriffs, police from several cities and 50 Texas highway patrolmen.

The parade has turned into a sort of riding contest for southwestern governors. The $1500, silver-mounted, ruby-studded saddle given Clyde Tingling of New Mexico will have been placed on display here riding in the parade with him probably will be Governor Teller Ammons of Colorado, as well as Governors E. W. Mariani of Oklahoma, Roy Adams of Montana and James V. Alfred of Texas. Governor Alfred and Governor Tingling will have a chance to settle the question of which is the best horseman.

BREAKS FAOR MCCRAW, HIS FRIENDS FEEL

AUSTIN, March 7. (AP)—Friends of gubernatorial candidate William McCraw were jubilant last week-end over the unexpected big breaks they feel have come his way within the past fortnight.

No one could accuse them of asking that the senate general investigating committee turn its inspecting gaze on their leader but they certainly were far from displeased at the results.

Governor James V. Alfred, who has indicated he might personally essay the task of stopping Attorney Gen. McCraw, Saturday loosed another sharp attack on the attorney general, which was another indication to observers that Alfred still was strongly considering standing for a third term.

Asked if he did not believe McCraw's cause had been helped by the proceedings and subsequent "blow-up" of the senate committee, Alfred replied that "immediate actions are not always ultimate reactions."

"I don't believe you can judge," he said, "what's going to happen by what happens the first day or so after a show."

The governor denounced McCraw for assertingly attempting to muster support solely on wisecracks and grandstand plays.

"I'll crack him with the facts, all right—and they will not be the wise variety either."

MRS. STOWELL WINS $100 CONTEST PRIZE

The mailman was a welcome visitor at the home of C. W. Stowell, 217 East Kingsmill avenue, Saturday morning because he delivered a letter to Mrs. Stowell in which a check for $100 reposed. It was the second surprise for Mrs. Stowell during the past few weeks. Recently she was presented with a Sunbeam Mix Master.

It all happened when Mrs. Stowell decided to try Blue Bonnet margarine and then enter a contest. She wrote a paragraph on why she enjoyed using the product and won a weekly prize of a mix master.

Yesterday she was notified that she had won one of the major prizes which was $100. First and second prizes were airplane trips, third prize a car, fourth prize a radio and fifth prize the $100.

Mrs. Stowell purchased the Margarine at Furr Food No. 2 and Bob Goodwin, store manager, was given a duplicate weekly prize, a Mix Master.

GRAND JURY INDICTS ASSISTANT TO WOOD

AUSTIN, March 7. (AP)—A Travis county grand jury Saturday indicted Miss Edgar Ellen Wilson, second Assistant State High School Superintendent, on charges of extortion in collection of fees and misapplication of public money.

One indictment accused her of unlawfully and wilfully demanding and collecting fees for supervising, examining and grading papers in connection with college entrance examinations and the second charged she converted to personal use money belonging to the state.

The extortion indictment named six counts and the misapplication charge 43.

The school official, along with L. A. Woods, state superintendent, returned late today from a convention of the National Education association in Atlantic City, N. J.

Miss Wilson made bond of $1,000 tonight.

NO FALSE ALARM

OKLAHOMA CITY—Fireman Ed Aplet felt pretty gloomy. He was all set to marry Assistant Fire Chief Luke Chenoweth's daughter, Vera, but a stubborn fire in a cotton oil mill threatened to smolder for a day or more.

And his dad-in-law-to-be consulted Fire Chief G. R. McAlpine. He decided the blaze was under control and gave his "okay" to go ahead with the wedding.

Today's Answers to Cranium Crackers

(Problem on editorial page.)
Yes. The court in Dixon versus Millhorn (Ohio, 1937) held that one who is a bailee of property for hire, becomes by virtue of an implied contract, a gratuitous bailee of such property, which inadvertently comes into his possession by reason of the express contract of bailment when he has knowledge of such possession.

PLANS NOT ANNOUNCED TO ERECT SPEED SIGNS

When the Texas Highway department will erect speed limit signs on Gray county highways, in accordance with the announcement recently of Director L. C. Phares of the highway patrol, was not known here Saturday to County Judge Sherman White.

Sergeant R. H. Routh, Amarillo, of the highway patrol, was in Pampa Saturday. He said he had no information as to when the signs would be erected.

Under the plan announced by Director Phares large yellow and black signs, giving the passenger car speed limit at 45 miles an hour, light trucks and buses 40 miles an hour, and heavy trucks, 25 miles, will be erected along highways over the state.

Texas highway department resident engineer J. C. Dingwall, in answer to an inquiry, said that the maintenance section of the Texas Highway department would likely be the group that would put up the speed limit signs.

NATIONAL USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK IS UNDER WAY

The Automobile Industry Marches On

YOUR GREAT CHANCE TO OWN A BETTER CAR

When you read the used car ads during National Used Car Exchange Week, you will see that a remarkable thing has happened.

Suddenly you find yourself faced with one of the greatest opportunities you've ever had to drive a better automobile.

Automobile dealers here and in every section of the country are co-operating in one big National Used Car Exchange Week. Never in the entire history the automobile industry has there been an event like this.

From every angle, this week spells OPPORTUNITY in capital letters for used car buyers. Automobile dealers have an unusually wide selection and there are many exceptional values. Prices are way below those of a few months ago. This is the right season to buy because the good driving days of spring are just around the corner.

Many of the cars offered in this one-week bargain sale are 1937, 1936 and 1935 models. For very little money you can have a better used car with important new features introduced in the last few years.

Eleven million cars in this country, built before 1931, are still registered for service. Many lack steel bodies, safe brakes, large tires, many other modern safeguards. If you are driving one, this is your chance to switch to a safer, better car. And think what these fine modern cars offer in pride of ownership and all-round satisfaction. Beautiful modern styling; more room; more comfort; more luggage space; quieter, more powerful engines; better operating economy; quiet gears; ventilation; dozens of conveniences.

You may not even need cash to make the switch to a better car. Your present car may cover the down-payment. National Used Car Exchange Week ends Saturday, March 12. Study the automobile advertising in this paper for the choicest bargains.
