Beef checkoff, trade on agenda for Beef Industry Meeting

The beef checkoff program, trade with Japan and Canada and Texas school finance legislation will be on the agenda at a Beef Industry Meeting next week in Canadian.

Dr. Richard McDonald, president and CEO of the Texas Cattle Feeders, will talk about bovine spongiform encephalopathy, or BSE or mad cow disease, and its relation to the reopening of trade with Canada and Japan.

Matt Brockman, executive vice president of Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, will review actions taken during this session of the Texas Legislature, including school finance, proposed changes in the state water law and the Trans Texas Corridor. Brockman will also talk about the national animal identification program.

Richard Wortham, executive vice president of the Texas Beef Council, will talk about the beef checkoff. The question of the constitutionality of the checkoff program is now before the U.S. Supreme Court. A ruling is expected before the end of June.

The town hall meeting will begin with registration at 5:30 p.m., a meal at 6 .m. and program at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, May 4, at the River Valley Pioneer Museum, 118 N. 2nd St., Canadian.

The meeting, complete with meal, is free, but reservations need to be made by calling Burt Rutherford at 800-299-8232 or Crystal Bryant at 800-242-7820.

Jeff McCormick came to Pampa in 1977 to work at Cabot's machinery division. He's been here ever since and now serves on the city commission.

Born in Friona, in May 1955, McCormick has been married 31 years and has three grown sons.

"I have six grand kids," he said, "going on seven."

McCormick was first appointed to the commission in 1994, when Richard Peet, then mayor, was elected Gray County Judge, leaving a vacancy on the commission as the mayor pro tem moved up to fill Peet's vacancy. "I was appointed that December,"

McCormick said. "Then in May of 1995, I ran for my first term, and I've been commissioner for five terms, 10 years."

He said that after a number of years of tight budgets and falling sales tax revenue, he's happy that the city is in the black right now.

"I can't explain exactly why," McCormick said, "but we're doing something right.'

Sales taxes are projected to be some $600,000 more than had been expected this year.

Dublin will be recalling some of those memories at a book signing on Sunday, May 1, at 2 p.m. in the White Deer Land Museum. The event is sponsored by the Gray County Historical Commission and the public is invited.

Shaded with bits of wisdom and humor, Dublin shares such memories of her hitchhiking day, playing circus, watching the cream separator, bottle feeding lambs, being chased by Old Bossie, and other incidents from a by-gone era.

She relives her summers in Kansas - camping out, celebrating the fourth of July, and the accident - a forerunner to gaining some compassion. Dublin added an assortment of family recipes, some pencil sketches, and a few family pictures that include her two older sisters, her brother Buddy, and her parents Fady and Honey, otherwise known as Willis and Margaret Price.

The military exhibit that will be on display during the summer is in the beginning stages at the museum, and those attending the signing will have the first view of this tribute to veterans that is being co-sponsored by the WDL Museum and Freedom Museum, U.S.A.

Texas gas prices level after decline

IRVING (AP) — Texas gasoline prices have steadied after two straight weeks of declines, according to a new AAA Texas Weekend Gas

.I knew all along that the picture that would unfold by keeping Dad at home, for where goes dementia follows Alzheimer's. Common sense is never a consideration when it involves love, is it?

Watching the day-by-day degeneration of a loved one's mind caused by Alzheimer's has been a trip I wanted canceled from the get-go. Alas, those travel plans will never be canceled until God's plan for my father has been fulfilled.

I/we are forced to venture along when Alzheimer's plays the travel agent. Furthermore, when number Prayer and routine calls to my therapist in Houston plus a good sense of humor - I truly possess a good sense of humor - have made caring for Dad relatively painless until anger reared its ugly head. Not with me, but as a side effect of Alzheimer's. Once Dad's safety - and Mother's - became a factor the decision to place him in a facility came hard, but fast. Dad has been in an Alzheimer's unit since the middle of January.

Mainstream media: The Fifth Column

The raging battle taking place between the governing Republican Party and the out-of-power Democrats is something to be expected. What is not so easily dealt with are the attacks from the rear, from a Fifth Column allied with the Democrats which controls a large amount of the information made available to the public

Pharmacists should not impose beliefs

Houston Chronicle

Pharmacists whose beliefs prevent their filling valid, lawful prescriptions should find a new line of work.

Last week, members of the Texas House State Affairs Committee heard testimony on a bill that would protect the jobs of pharmacists who refuse to dispense emergency contraception. It appears the bill is destined to die in committee, an appropriate end to this wrongheaded attempt to legislate protection for behavior that is unprofessional and possibly harmful to the

Across the nation, some pharmacists have adopted the notion that their moral or religious opposition to birth control and emergency contraception confers on them the right to overrule a doctor's prescription. On April 1, Illinois Gov.

Rod R. Blagojevich issued an emergency order requiring pharmacists to promptly fill contraception prescriptions after two women complained that Chicago pharmacy declined to fill their prescriptions. That set off a spate of news reports revealing that women in other states had experienced similar harassment. Some pharmacists. apparently are participating in a national campaign by conservative religious groups to hamper access to contraception.

Some state legislatures are considering laws that would prohibit this practice. Lawmakers in several other states,

Texas must not follow this dangerous trend. Druggists, though knowledgeable about pharmaceuticals, are not qualified to make medical judgments about a patient's health. And they are wrong to believe their own morality trumps the moral judgment or health care decisions of women and their doctors.

Allowing pharmacists to fill some prescriptions and refuse to fill others would create new obstacles to basic health care and cause more unwanted pregnancies. Refusing to dispense emergency contraception, which prevents pregnancy after unprotected sex (including in cases of rape), is especial-

As American troops fight for democracy and freedom around the globe, citizens of the United States are preparing to celebrate their freedom to gather, worship and pray by answering the call to prayer on May 5, the 54th annual National Day of Prayer.

This year's theme is "God Shed His Grace On Thee" and is based on Hebrews 4:16 NIV, "Let us then approach the throne of grace with confidence so that we may A flatbed trailer is to be set up in front of receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need."

National Day of Prayer chairman Shirley Dobson, wife of Focus on the Family founder and chairman Dr. James Dobson, said, "The concept of grace is preeminent in both the National Day of Prayer theme and the support verse for this year."

Noted author and pastor Max Lucado is the 2005 Honorary Chairman and will address the national event in Washington, D.C. In addition to his appearance at the national observance, Lucado has released, "Turn: Remembering Our Foundations," this year's theme book.

The National Day of Prayer tradition predates the founding of the United States of America when the Continental Congress issued a proclamation setting aside a day of prayer in 1775. In 1952, Congress established an annual day of prayer. In 1988, that law was amended designating the National Day of Prayer as the first Thursday in May.

Family sees answer to many prayers

In the afternoon of April 11, I received an alert call from my niece, whose name is Deloise and lives in Clarkston, Wash. The message said, "We three children and grandchildren are all together at my house just in case the worst comes. We have had Mother to the doctors, in and out of the hospital and now Mother is here at my house. The hospice lady is coming.'

At this point, two preacher friends came to my door for a visit. While they were here, we locked arms together and prayed for my sister Neggie who, being the youngest of our big family, is looking Archie Cooper toward Dec. 18, for her 80th birthday living her latter years in regret that she ruined her lungs with cigarette smoke and now has to have oxygen all the time.

Day after day, I have been calling to see if Neggie can speak more than one or two words before being out of breath.

Some days it was a little better and some not so good.

The evening of April 18, Deloise answered my call, "She is much improved. Do you want to talk to her?" Sure, I did. Neggie had much more breath and strength. Deloise said, "We just pray and worship the Lord, morning and night and in between." Wednesday, April 20, Neggie had been sitting outside the house getting some fresh air and uses less medication.

And everyone who has prayed is rejoicing. To the living God, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost be the praise.

Macedonia Baptist plans fish fry, bake sale

Macedonia Church will be sponsoring "Catfish Dinner and a Bake Sale" on Saturday, April 30, starting at 11 a.m.

The menu will be catfish filet, salad and french fries. Pastor Rev. I.L. Patrick and the church family invites the public to come by 441 Elm Street to dine with them or call in orders at 665-

A professor follows the highway to see 'roadside religion' oddities

By RICHARD N. OSTLING AP Religion Writer

Timothy Beal's epiphany occurred on a drive from Washington, D.C., to Cleveland. Near Frostburg, Md., a hulking assemblage of reddish girders four stories high suddenly loomed alongside Interstate 68. A bold, blue sign explained:

"NOAH'S ARK BEING REBUILT

The following summer, Beal, a religion professor at Case Western Reserve University, found himself in a rented motor home with the wife and kids, exploring the Frostburg ark and other astonishing spiritual tourist attractions. Among them: Kentucky's cheesy and oddly named Golgotha Fun Park (a miniature golf course, now defunct); the world's largest Ten Commandments display; and, the world's largest rosary collection in Stevenson, Wash.

Beal's odyssey has wrought "Roadside Religion: In Search of the Sacred, the Strange and the Substance of Faith" (Beacon), published just in time for vacation planning or beach reading.

However quirky, Beal says, the 10 sites he examined in nine states manifest believers' desire to create some "otherworldly realm" set apart from ordinary life. And each destination is a story about an individual's faith.

The idea for an ark replicated to vast biblical proportions originated in 1974, when pastor Richard Greene said God commissioned his task in night visions: Ridicule has daughter sometimes gets scared at night and thinks she hears voices and someone walking near her room. When this happens, my husband will say with complete seriousness, "Perhaps there's an intruder in the house," and then suggest how the intruder may have entered.

The method he suggests is always related to something I have done wrong earlier -- like leaving the back door open too long or forgetting to shut a window.

When I ask him to check the house for intruders (OK, I'm oldfashioned and a scaredy-cat), he says he's too tired and goes to sleep. What's going on here? Is he playing a mind game with my daughter and me, or am I overreacting? -- COWARDLY IN S.F.

DEAR COWARDLY: Your husband's behavior is cruel and unwise. He's encouraging your daughter's fears as a way of punishing you for your forgetfulness. If it continues, your daughter will have phobias that could last a lifetime; it's mental cruelty.

P.S. If there is any question about whether there's an intruder in your house, you should NOT be checking the house alone. The results could be tragic. So the next time the king of your castle pulls that "turning-over-and-going-tosleep" number, make sure he doesn't reach dreamland.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 16-yearold girl. My mom passed away last February. I have a caring and loving father, but at 69, he's a workaholic. This leaves me with school, cleaning, cooking, yard work and taking care of my teenage brothers. Neither of them helps out with anything, and they have no respect for me. If I ask them to do something, they just say I'm not their mom and call me

When I tell Dad, he says he'll handle them, but he never does. I'm tired of it! Please help me. I 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069. want to run away and never come

DEAR ABBY: My 11-year-old back. Maybe then they'll think about me. -- DROWNING IN LAWTON, OKLA.

> DEAR DROWNING: All of you are grieving right now, and part of your brothers' bad behavior may be that they're angry at having lost their mother. Your father may not realize how unfair the burden is that has been placed on your young shoulders.

> Make a list of chores that all of you should share, including your own. Indicate what they are, what days they should be done and who should do them. If your brothers don't do theirs, don't nag. Let them remain undone. That takes the responsibility off your shoulders. You are a good daughter, and you cannot - nor should you - do everything. With your mother gone, every one of you is going to have to do his or her fair share.

DEAR ABBY: While shopping at the supermarket yesterday, I noticed a woman removing the coupons from the boxes of plastic bags. I watched her take about 10 of them.

When I walked past her, I told her I thought what she was doing was very rude. She said she was going to use them. Abby, she didn't buy any of the boxes of plastic bags. Should I have found the store manager and said something? -- APPALLED IN VER-SAILLES, OHIO

DEAR APPALLED: You should certainly have reported "Ms. Sticky Fingers" to the manager. What the woman was doing was more than rude; it was shoplifting.

One challenge left Road to regionals for Pampa squad

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS

You would think with the District 3-4A title in its possession, the Pampa Harvester varsity baseball team would rest a bit before entering the post-season. But that wouldn't fit this team's modus operandi. There is still a goal unachieved.

> They want to finish district undefeated.'

> > - Dennis Doughty Head Coach, PHS Varsity Baseball

To run the District 3-4A table. To go undefeated. Tomorrow afternoon at Caprock, Pampa will have the chance to do just that.

What's more, pitcher Tyson Hickman can end the regular season blemish free as well. Hickman (7-0) will start on the hill for Coach Doughty Saturday afternoon.

Pampa will take a record of 21-5 (9-0) to Amarillo tomorrow. Caprock is playing for pride with a record of 6-

Still, Coach Doughty is not taking this game lightly. "Caprock has played people tough all season. I want our kids to come out and play their best tomorrow."

Doughty says his team is very focused, not looking ahead to the playoffs, but working to accomplish one more regular season task. "They want to finish district undefeated," said Doughty.

Tomorrow's game is scheduled to start at 1 p.m.

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS Sports Editor

Good luck to the Lady Harvester softball team on their bi-district series against the San Angelo Lakeview Maidens. That best-of-three series gets under way this afternoon at 5 p.m. at the Lubbock Monterey girls softball field in Lubbock. Game two will start at 12 p.m. Saturday. Game three, if necessary, will start thirty minutes after the conclusion of game two.

The team was scheduled to leave Pampa at 12 p.m. this afternoon.

Maidens head coach, Margie Lyons, had more than just the game on her mind = while visiting with Sports

Day Thursday. "What's the weather like up there," she asked. Her team was troubled by weather early in the season, preventing them from playing a full schedule. "It's sunny and warm here today," she said, speaking from the San Angelo Lakeview school campus. "But we know it can change between here and there."

Said Pampa coach, Bobbi Gill, "I am not concerned about the weather." She added, "Being from the Panhandle, we are used to playing in any condition. It may be to our advantage."

Both the Maiden and Harvester campuses are approximately the distance from Lubbock, where forecasters are calling for slight breezes and afternoon sun today, with a high of 74. Sunshine and 69 is forecasted for Saturday.

Cassy Tice (12-3) will most likely start this afternoon's game in the pitcher's circle. Nicole Clark (10-6) is listed as Saturday's probable starter.

Lady Harvester catcher, Wendi Miller, suffered an injury Tuesday and will more than likely miss the weekend series against the Maidens.

"I am excited about this weekend. I think we are prepared for a great series," said

Dallas 106, Houston 102

HOUSTON (AP) — For three days, Dirk Nowitzki heard about how a lesser player shut him down, how he looked unusually timid and even how Tracy McGrady hum-

Nowitzki came up with the perfect rebuttal for all that criticism.

A rejuvenated Nowitzki emerged from his two-game slump with 28 points to rescue the Mavericks, who played with the desperation of a team facing elimination in a 106-102 victory over the Rockets on Thursday night.

"In the first two games, I never really found my rhythm," Nowitzki said. "When my confidence is up, I'm a different player." Michael Finley had 20 points, Jerry Stackhouse added 18 and the Mavericks went on a 20-0 run in the fourth quarter that deflated the Rockets in Game 3. The loss ended Houston's nine-game winning streak.

Dallas has a chance to even the Western Conference series in Game 4 on Saturday night. Game 5 is in Dallas on Monday night.

Trailing 88-80 early in the fourth quarter, the Mavericks seemed to be on their way to a 3-0 series deficit — a hole no NBA team has ever rallied from.

But Finley hit a jumper, Nowitzki dunked on a fast break, Finley buried another 3 and Jason Terry made a couple of free throws to retake the lead midway through the quarter. The Mavs also got some help down the stretch from Houston.

NCAA allows 12-game season will allow football teams to play 12 games per year.

The board of directors approved proposals that would add a 12th game to Division I-A schedules — starting in 2006 — allow schools to count one victory over Division I-AA schools each year toward bowl eligibility, and loosen the requirements to qualify for Division I-A status.

The board also adopted a resolution that strongly urged schools not to adopt the new Title IX Internet-based surveys, which the U.S. Department of Education said in INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The NCAA March could be used to scientifically gauge whether schools must expand or create women's teams to meet demand.

The board also asked the NCAA executive committee to propose a comprehensive policy on alcohol advertising during college telecasts. On Wednesday, the American Medical Association asked the NCAA to ban all alcohol advertising. The current policy allows one minute per hour of alcohol ads and prohibits the sale or advertising of alcohol at NCAA championship events.

Malone, Miller pitch Glo-Valve to win

Glo-Valve Service rode the pitching and hitting of Tyler Malone and Reid Miller to an 8-2 victory over Duncan, Fraser & Bridges Insurance Agency Thursday at Optimist Park to maintain first place in the Optimist 11-12 Cal Ripken League with a 3-0 record.

Malone, who pitched the first, second and sixth innings, was credited with the win. Miller pitched the three middle innings to earn a save. Malone allowed no runs and gave up two hits. He struck out seven and walked one. Miller was touched for two runs and two hits. He struck out five and walked three.

Garrett Erickson, Hudson Bentley and Dane Pereira pitched two innings each for DFB. Erickson surrendered two runs on two hits. He struck out four while walking one. Bentley gave up one run on three hits. He fanned three and walked one. Pereira allowed three earned runs and three hits. He recorded six strikeouts and walked Malone was three for three, including a double and a triple, and scored three times. Miller was two for four with three RBI and two runs scored. Pereira collected a single and a double in three trips to the plate to score once and lead DFB's hitting.

Malone wasted no time getting Glo-Valve on the scoreboard. He blasted a triple to lead off the top of the first inning and trotted home on a single to center by Miller. Miller took second on a wild pitch, stole third and scored on a wild pitch to give Glo-Valve a 2-

In the top of the fourth inning for Glo-Valve, Michael Fisher led off with a triple and came home on a passed ball as Glo-Valve led 3-0.

DFB came alive in the bottom of the fourth. Pereira blasted a double to left field. He moved to third base on a wild pitch. Ranson Triplett walked and stole second with Pereira coming home on the back end of the double steal. Shane White pushed a single to right field scoring Triplett and narrowing Glo-Valve's lead to 3-2.

Malone led off the fifth inning for Glo-Valve with a single. attempted to sacrifice him to second, but both players were safe when the throw to second was not in time to get Malone. Evan Meschke reached base on an error which scored Malone and sent Miller to third. Miller scampered home on a wild pitch for a 5-2 Glo-Valve lead.

Glo-Valve added three more runs in the sixth. Cody Davis singled to center to start the rally. He went to second and third on wild pitches and stole home. Brennan Dickinson, who singled earlier in the contest, walked. He went to second and third on fielder's choices. Malone walked and took second on a fielder's choice. Both scored on an infield single by Miller.

Pereira gloved a line drive hit by Meschke in the first inning, and Garrett Erickson followed by snagging a rocket hit by Fisher back to the mound for the defensive plays of the

D. E. Chase, Inc. defeated Celanese Corporation in the early game 6-3 to move into a tie with Celanese for second place. Celanese's season record is 3-2. Chase is 2-1-1.

Tonight's games feature Cabot and Chase at 5:45 p.m. while DFB and Rotary Club clash at 7:45 p.m. On Monday Cabot and DFB square off in the early game. Glo-Valve and Chase battle in the nightcap.

Dellucci seeing much better

(AP) — David Dellucci is seeing the ball better after eye surgery during the off-

Still, that doesn't really explain why Dellucci suddenly became a big walker and is tied with New York's Derek Jeter for the AL lead with 19 bases on balls.

"I just think right now, just the way it's falling is that they're not throwing pitches for strikes for me,' Dellucci said. "That's probably the bottom line. I'm an aggressive hitter, and I'm not trying to look to get a walk."

Ahead in the count 3-0 in his first at-bat Wednesday night against Seattle's Ryan Franklin, Dellucci got a pitch up and in, likely ball four. But he swung and fouled it off before walking on the next pitch. Dellucci was 0-for-2 with a walk in the Rangers' 4-1 loss to Seattle on Thursday night.

"I try not to get too overanalytical about it,"

ARLINGTON, Texas Rangers manager Buck Showalter said. "He's in a real good mind-set right now, and had a lot of good at-bats. ... David's gone through periods like that. Hopefully, he'll be able to maintain it."

> Jeter, the Yankees' leadoff hitter, had played in five more games. Dellucci hasn't batted higher than fifth in the Texas lineup.

> Dellucci's .478 on-base percentage would be among the best in the AL if he had four more plate appearances to qualify among the leaders. He was hitting .286 (14-for-49) with four home runs, 11 RBIs and 18 runs.

> The 19 walks came in 68 plate appearances, meaning he received a base on balls 28 percent of the time. That is nearly three times higher than his career average of 10 percent — 191 walks in 1,867 plate appearances during nine seasons with Baltimore, Arizona, the Yankees and Texas.

COACH PERDUE'S THOUGHTS ON SAN

"The Key to this game for us will be how we play up front. We haven't had a sack defensively since week one against Tulsa. When we don't get pressure on the quarterback, we're forced to rely on our secondary to cover for way too long. We busted several coverages last week against Bossier, and Hicks hurt us. Overall, we never made him uncomfortable. Ditto for Jones in Memphis. If we let Anthony Buich stand back there for San Diego, it will be a long night. That being said, we also have to pass protect. We did great in week one against Tulsa, and Julian Reese was the Af2 Offensive Player of the Week. In week two against Memphis, we didn't protect well at all, and Julian was terrible. Against Bossier, they didn't come close to touching Julian, and he was hot again. It's a pretty simple concept: get after theirs and protect ours.' REESE SHINES AGAIN:

For the second time this season, Dusters QB Julian Reese earned Af2 Offensive Player of the Week Honors for his performance against the Bossier City Battlewings. Reese dissected the Battle Wings defense for 424 yards on 27-of-34 passing with nine touchdowns and no interceptions. The mobile signal-caller also rushed six times for 23 yards and two additional touchdowns, making him responsible for 11 touchdowns on the night. Reese threw touchdowns to five different receivers. With 424 passing yards, Reese became only the sixth player in af2 history to eclipse the 400-yard mark. His total ranks as the second highest single game total in league his-

McGrady missed two free throws, Houston misfired on seven straight shots and the Rockets showed an uncharacteristic lack of poise - especially for the league's oldest team.

"We got hammered in the fourth quarter at home," Rockets coach Jeff Van Gundy said. "That says a lot about Dallas and I'm sure as we analyze and watch, we'll be disappointed in ourselves."

McGrady had another big game for the Rockets, finishing with 28 points, nine rebounds and six assists, while Bob Sura added 21 points, 10 rebounds and six assists. Yao Ming, who scored 33 points on 13-of-14 shooting in Game 2, was held to 15 points and 10 rebounds while battling foul trouble for much of the game.

After thoroughly outplaying Nowitzki in Dallas, the Houston crowd of 18,199 serenaded McGrady with chants of "M-V-P! M-V-P!" during breaks in the action. McGrady, trying to get past the first round for the first time in his eightyear career, responded with another impressive allaround effort despite Dallas' varied attempts to slow him down.

Playing with childhood idol Magic Johnson watching from a sideline seat, McGrady almost flawlessly ran the Rockets' catch-andshoot offense. McGrady's drive-and-dish for David Wesley's 3 gave Houston only its second lead of the game, 60-58, in the third quarter and the Rockets seemed to only be getting started. Sura flew in for an offenlane and Wesley capped the spurt with another 3-pointer from the corner to put Houston up 70-60.

"It seemed like we were relaxed in the fourth quarter," Yao said, "like the game was already in our hands.'

Not so fast.

A frustrated Nowitzki velled at Marquis Daniels for a bungling a pass that led to a turnover. Johnson berated Stackhouse for blowing a defensive assignment that led to an easy layup. Both of them jawed with officials throughout the game.

Then, a strange thing happened: The Mavericks started chipping away and the Rockets came undone.

"We all knew if we don't do it know ... it's probably over," Nowitzki said. "We all responded the right

Nowitzki finally got the best of McGrady, hitting jumpers despite double teams, making all 10 of his free throws and providing an emotional boost for a team on the ropes. In short, he played like a superstar.

And seldom-used Rockets forward Ryan Bowen, playfully dubbed the "German-ator" for his improbably successful defense against Nowitzki, went scoreless and fouled out in 20 frustrating min-

"I just tried to stay aggressive," Nowitzki said. "Hopefully I can keep this going in Game 4."

McGrady, meanwhile, went more than 13 minutes without scoring during the Mavs' game-turning spurt.

Notes: Dallas forward Keith Van Horn left in the second quarter with a sprained ankle. ... Sura set playoff career highs across the board: points, rebounds and assists. ... India's Arjun Atwal also opened with a 65, birdieing six of his final nine holes on the wind-swept TPC of Louisiana, the Pete Dye-designed course in its first year as the tournament site after a 16-year run at English Turn.

"The wind was tough," DiMarco said. "It was coming from all directions. There were some very, very tough shots out there.

"As long as I'm hitting the ball as solid as I'm hitting it, it really doesn't matter if you play in the wind or not. My irons are very crisp and when you hit crisp iron shots the wind doesn't affect them as much."

DiMarco, who started play on No. 10, had three birdies on the first nine holes. He got to 4 under with a birdie on No. 1, made five straight pars, and holed a 20-foot eagle putt on the par-5 seventh. He closed the bogey-free round with a birdie on No. 9.

Atwal, a playoff loser in the BellSouth Classic, was a late addition to the field.

"I was playing the Monday qualifier at that Bridge's casino for this course, and they came and told me on the 17th hole that I got a sponsor's invite, which was awesome," Atwal said.

He's concentrating on his putting.

"I was putting pretty well," Atwal said. "And got it going a little bit toward the backside of the back nine. Then on the front, I hit it pretty good and made most of the putts."

Oddities

only reinforced his Noah-

like persistence.

Greene has suffered through breaks with his Church of the Brethren, the loss of some followers and complaints about financial mismanagement — and over the decades, his God's Ark of Safety Ministry has raised only enough money to pour a foundation of 3,000 tons of concrete and erect part of the framework.

Yet Beal found the Quixote-like effort moving, and says that after visiting Greene he lamented his own "lack of faith and inability to hope for an absurd miracle."

He's less indulgent of the world's largest Ten Commandments, on display at Fields of the Wood east of Murphy, N.C. The 216-acre site, operated by the Church of God of Prophecy, also boasts of the world's largest altar and world's largest New Testament, both in concrete.

The commandments are presented in concrete letters, five-feet tall, marked off by 10-foot Roman numerals. The sacred text can only be read from an adjacent hill-side or by air.

Beal accuses the sponsors of turning God's Word into an idol.

"These giant hillside tablets deserve a prize for irony, making a graven image of the prohibition against graven images," he says.

Yet Beal turns respectful again when he encounters the awesome piety of Bill Rice's Cross Garden outside Prattville, Ala. It consists of thousands of makeshift wooden crosses strewn across 11 acres, interspersed with rusting appliances, other junk and placards proclaiming urgent — if ungrammatical — messages, such as "IN HELL FROM SEX SEX" and "RICH MAN IN HELL REPENT".

Like Greene, house painter Rice received visions in 1977 that told him to warn passersby of impending judgment and God's remedy. He began by planting three crosses in the front yard, dreading what the neighbors would think. One cross just led to another.

"You don't take it in. It takes you in," Beal marvels.

The Rice extravaganza is an example of what aesthetes call "outsider art," folk works by self-taught visionaries. A far better-known practitioner was the late evangelist-handyman Howard Finster, whose weather-beaten Paradise Gardens outdoor gallery at Summerville, Ga., is also toured by Beal.

After completing the book, Beal came upon an obscure artist right where he lives. Albert Wagner, 82, has filled his Cleveland home with his own distinctive paintings, which blend Pentecostalism with Egyptian and African themes. Wagner leads small worship services down in the basement.

Kirkus Reviews called the book condescending of its subjects, but Beal said that's not the case. He is struck that Wagner and the others he has encountered need to express "a radical, private experience in such a public, spectacular way."

Beal's Unitarian publisher calls the author an atheist, but he depicts himself as an ambivalent quester. He was raised in Alaska by Presbyterian parents who were leaders in the evangelical Young Life organization. He met his wife Clover, who was raised Pentecostal, at evangelical Seattle Pacific University, when both were drifting from the faith of their youth.

Today, Clover is pastor of the liberal Forest Hill Presbyterian Church in Cleveland Heights, and Timothy sometimes helps out teaching Sunday School.

TPMHMR marks mental autism month

AMARILLO — According to a news release from Texas Panhandle Mental Health Mental Retardation, Mental Autism Awareness Month is being observed in April across the nation.

"Imagine you have a beautiful child who is saying her first words, mimicking basic gestures and hugging you. Then she suddenly stops. She withdraws, stops using words and becomes easily upset. Autism does not always present itself this way, but this is the harsh reality that unfolds for families of the 1.5 million Americans currently living with autism," the news release said.

The release said autism is, citing U.S. Department of Health and Human Services statistics, generally diagnosed in children 3-years-old and under.

"Autism is confusing and frustrating," the release said. "This disorder is hard to diagnose, difficult to treat and it has no cure. Autism has a wide variety of symptoms, and varies even among children suffering from the disorder.

"In most cases of autism a child is progressing normally, and then begins to regress, losing speech, social skills and physical abilities. While there are varying degrees of severity, most children with the disorder completely withdraw into a world of their own."

While no universal cause has been linked to autism, "it is generally agreed that autism is caused by abnormalities in the brain structure or function. Researchers are considering a number of theories including a connection between heredity, genetics and birth-related medical problems. Psychological factors are not thought to be the cause of autism."
