Pampa Woman Chases Purse-Snatcher Until He Escapes In Car

THREE TO DIE FRIDAY NIGHT

AUSTIN, May 3 (AP)—The State Pardon Board unanimously today against clemency for Henderson and Roscoe Young negroes sentenced to be electrocuted Friday and Paul Lyles, whose execution is set for next Tuesday.

The young negro brothers were accepted the extreme penalty in connection with an assault in Harrison county on a white couple from Longview. The woman was raped and her husband robbed.

Lyles, 27-year-old hitchhiker, was convicted in Hays county of murder of Martin Salazar of Donna, who had given him a lift.

Henderson Young is 18 years old his brother 19. Regarding their night assault on the motorists from Longview, the board said:

"The detailed facts are so revolting the Court of Criminal Appeals declined to relate them in its opinion. There is no doubt about their guilt. Each made a written confession.

"Such crimes merit the penalty assessed and that regardless of the color of the offenders. There are no extenuating facts—not even the youth of the condemned.

"Citizens should not have to undergo the harrowing experience of these married people when traveling upon the public highways or elsewhere. This board will not be a witness." See NO. 1, Page 6

FARMER KILLS WIFE, SELF, WOUNDS NEIGHBOR

RAILS, May 3 (AP)—The body of Jim Wright, about 45, farmer of the Emma community, southeast of Ralls, was found with a bullet wound in the head in a barn about a mile from his home this morning.

The discovery ended a search which had begun Monday night after Wright's wife, Mrs. Rosie Wright, had been shot to death in their home and T. J. Burks a neighbor, had been critically wounded in his residence nearby.

Mrs. Wright was shot early last night at her home. Children present said she was shot twice and after the first shot was fired she pleaded with the man to fire no more. A 16-year-old daughter, Ruby Pearl, said the man shot six times, firing once at her as she ran for help.

Burks was shot in the back from outside his house a short time later as he sat at a dinner table with his wife.

GOOD WHEAT CROP SEEN FOR LIPSCOMB COUNTY

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—Although wheat prices today hovered close to the lowest level in four years, crop experts forecast that winter wheat growers within a few weeks will begin the harvest of their biggest money crop since 1930, except for last year.

Releasing their monthly production estimates based on reports from hundreds of farm communities, the six Chicago experts forecast a winter wheat crop of 743,000,000 bushels. This was the average of the six estimates, which ranged from 719,000,000 to 771,000,000.

HOUSE-WILSON BREAK BARED

NEW YORK, May 3.—Breaking a silence of fourteen years, Bob Davis, author and newspaper man, disclosed in his column in the New York Sun today Col. Edward M. House's version of his break with Woodrow Wilson in Paris in 1919.

House himself, Davis said, told the story to him and the late Herman Kohlsaat, Chicago publisher, on February 3, 1924, the day Wilson died. With the passing of House on March 28, Kohlsaat died in October 1924—Davis said he saw no reason to withhold the story.

On the morning of February 3, 1924, Davis wrote, Kohlsaat invited him to go to Col. House's home in East 74th street. They were deep in conversation when a telegram came to him and he read it, pale and announced the death of Wilson.

Then, having sought from Davis and Kohlsaat advice on the nature of condolences he should offer Wilson's widow, he debated the matter with himself and suddenly remarked upon his misunderstanding with Wilson as the time of the peace conference.

So far as he was concerned, there was no trouble, House said, "but evidently Mr. Wilson was of another mind."

In that month of June, 1919, House was staying at the Hotel Orillon, Wilson at the residence of Prince Murat. They were in frequent consultation, and one afternoon Wilson dropped in at the hotel to pass the time of day.

White House Objects To Restricting FDR's Power Over Funds

FOUR STATES VOTING TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—White House objections, an informed person said today, probably will kill congressional proposals to restrict the President's discretionary powers over "pump-priming" and relief funds.

A spokesman for President Roosevelt advised a house subcommittee, this informant said, that it would violate the expressed wishes of the chief executive if the practice of appropriating relief money to him were discontinued and the funds handed directly to the Works Progress Administration and other spending agencies.

Subcommittee members virtually had decided on the latter course as a means of ending "blank check" relief expenditures.

The White House protest, however, that Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), in charge of the drafting the legislation, said it was probable the present system would be continued.

Efforts to insert restrictions may be made by a group of senators, nevertheless.

The subcommittee completed hearings on the huge spending program yesterday by receiving endorsements from William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, head of the United States Conference of Mayors, and John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

While that trio was calling the legislation imperative because of increased unemployment, the program was assailed at the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce by Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National Bank of New York.

STRAW HAT DAY To be Thursday

Scout Executive Fred M. Roberts had jumped the gun this morning and was already wearing a straw hat, this morning, but he was only two days too soon because Thursday has been officially proclaimed straw hat day. If you don't have a straw hat Thursday—well, nobody's going to tie anything to you but look at you, and that probably will be enough.

On Thursday, celebrated as straw hat day here, you're supposed to discard your felt and go down and pick a straw, and the merchants say that they have something new in straws this year. They'll be displayed prominently Thursday and succeeding days.

COURT TO BE RESUMED AT WHEELER THURSDAY

District Judge W. R. Ewing and Court Reporter W. R. Frazee returned last night from Wheeler, where a term of 31st district court is now being held. Court is adjourned for today. Judge Ewing and Mr. Frazee will return to Wheeler tomorrow.

The week is civil-jury. Four compensation cases were to have been heard this week. Of the four, three were settled out of court before coming to trial. In the fourth case, a jury had been selected and the case ready for trial, when the case was settled by agreement.

There will be three more weeks of the court at Wheeler, before the May term of court opens in Pampa on May 30.

5,000 ATTEND GUYMON RODEO

Guymon, Okla., was the headquarters of between 25,000 and 30,000 residents of Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, New Mexico and Colorado yesterday who attended the annual Pioneer Days celebration. Among the visitors were 25 Pampans and the Woodrow Wilson school bands.

The band and a group of Pampans took part in the huge parade which was again under direction of Earl Gilkerson. At the head of the parade were the seven flags representing the nations and states under which the Guymon area has been during the past 400 years.

The Pampa delegation was entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lancaster, top hands in the hospitality list of Guymon which gave the local delegation a real welcome.

SPOTTED SHOWERS FALL OVER THIS SECTION

Spotted showers fell over this section of the Panhandle last night, estimated all the way between 10 of an inch and nearly an inch. A heavy shower fell in parts of Pampa while other sections reported no rain or just a light sprinkle. The rain was accompanied by a brilliant electrical display.

The government rain gauge located at the KPDM transmitter southeast of the city showed no moisture. The Santa Fe gauge here registered about 10 of an inch. Heavy showers in widely separated sections were reported along the Santa Fe between Hereford and Wynoka. The southwestern Bell telephone company reported scattered showers over the area.

Yesterday's strong wind caused many fields in this section to blow badly. Clouds of dust at time made driving dangerous as the clouds whipped across highways. The thermometer, however, failed to register a drop, hovering in the 80's.

The R. R. Gets Horse-Sense Advice on Naming Lake; Oregon Man Suggests 'Marvin Jones Slush Pond'

By THE ROVING REPORTER. The Roving Reporter this morning received a letter filled with good common horse sense about naming that lake on McClellan creek. It is stripped of sentimentality, and contains many a point the judges will have to consider before they award C. H. Walker's cash prize for naming that lake now under construction.

The letter is signed "an enthusiast," but the R. R. knows who sent it, and he is going to publish the letter verbatim as soon as he disposes of another letter that made him hit the ceiling.

This last letter was from a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde by the name of W. A. Miller who lives out in Newberg, Oregon. He's so far away the R. R. can say anything about him without fear of reprisals.

JAPS FLEEING BEFORE DRIVE OF DEFENDERS

SHANGHAI, May 3 (AP)—Chinese dispatches tonight reported a sensational seven-mile advance on the southern Shanghai front, focal point of the war, and declared that the Japanese had buckled completely under the Chinese onslaught.

The advance was said to be the first thrust of a general Chinese offensive, in which 800,000 men were declared ready to participate.

The reports said the advance was made between Taicheng, a town of a major Japanese defeat early last month, and Pirsien, 16 miles to the southeast, in Kiangsu province.

In this sector the Japanese had been making the most intense efforts of their recent drive to wipe the stain of Taicheng and reach the vital Lunghai railway.

However, said dispatches from the front to Hankow, these Japanese forces are retreating rapidly northward.

Chinese infantrymen repulsed ten Japanese assaults on their fortified villages today and then advanced their own lines a mile, in counterattacks driving their net tighter about Tancheng.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's veterans were fighting to set Japanese back on their heels, a second time in south Shantung province, despite the fact Japanese were reinforced for a supreme effort to atone for defeat the administered at Taicheng almost a month ago.

The Chinese were attempting to encircle Tancheng, 22 miles north of the Lunghai railway and on the right bank of the Yi river, by attacks at Matowchen to the northwest, and to the southwest.

PRIZE HONORS NEWSPAPERS

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Departing for the first time from the routine designation of Pulitzer prize winners, Columbia University trustees have honored a group of Canadian newspapers for their campaign to protect the freedom of the press.

A special award, the first since the annual prizes began in 1917 under the will of Joseph Pulitzer, went to the Edmonton (Alberta) Journal and 96 other provincial newspapers which campaigned against the Alberta press act.

The trustees said the act, now up for review by the British crown in London, would have destroyed the independence of Alberta's newspapers.

Sharing the regular Pulitzer prizes, recognized as the newspaper profession's highest honors, were the Boston (D. C.) Tribune and reporter Raymond Springle of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent for the New York Times; Associate Editor W. W. Waymack of the Des Moines (Iowa) Register and Tribune; and cartoonist Paul, the Shoemaker of the Chicago Daily News.

Two former Pulitzer winners—Thornton Wilder and Marquis James—were among those named for the awards in letters.

Wilder, author of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" was judge of the best novel in 1928, received $1-

SPOTLIGHT CRUSADE

The organization, by press agents, of a "Blind Brigade" in New York for the stated purpose of preventing war through the same reaction in the stomach, strangely enough, as would be sight of the same blonds, for sweet publicity's sake, gaily coaxing the boys to the field of slaughter.

Anyway, the story released about these show girls describes a proposed plan of action that sounds about as effective as a woolen hair comb. In the event war actually breaks out, the girls propose merely to station themselves in attractive poses just in front of our own trenches, facing the enemy. Presumably the idea is that nobody could bring himself to shoot in the direction of a beautiful woman.

If the girls had studied history they never would have let such a suicidal suggestion escape their lips. If they're really sincere about the thing they might better distribute themselves in the same attractive poses in the camp of the enemy. Then while our opponents are busy fighting among themselves, we can simply walk in and take things over.

MEN WATCH THINGS

Introduction of brighter and brighter colors and fancier and fancier designs in the field of men's wear was given the attention of no less a person than the other day, when Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., the present ambassador to Poland.

Color in men's clothing is not merely on the way, it is here. The men are taking to it like ducks to water, and the trend is going gayer and gayer. The prospect of an unprecedented concern with sartorial finery among males imposes a certain obligation now.

Men! Resolve now for the future that you will not:

Feel constrained to throw away a hat after wearing it three times; buy a tie that doesn't go with any of your shirts, and then buy a shirt for the new tie, and then have to buy a suit for the new shirt; try to make your new suit over into something better; consign your best clothes to life in a bureau drawer—or kill yourself molding your figure to a new style.

About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I had known Irving Eastman for years, but it was not until an assignment carried me over to West 54th street the other day that I met his brother Nat. They are twins. They look exactly alike, except that Irving's shirts run more to vivid hues. The Eastman boys are interior decorators. They invented a special kind of stained glass, which is used in the Rockefeller Church. They design hotel bars and night clubs. They paint scenery for the theatrical productions and design costumes. Now they are very much, and justly, excited over a new home they have built in Florida.

"What about it, Nat? I didn't know you were the home sort."

"Well," he replied, "once I visited a women's penitentiary, and it has windows just like that woman's penitentiary. Plenty of air and light but nobody can get out, or in, and they remain open even when it is raining."

"Look at this picture," he exclaimed, holding up a photographic vista of a house which resembled something as lavish as a motion picture director's dream. It was streamlined, with 15-foot glass windows "for more sunlight," it had white Venetian steps leading down to the water. All the doors were operated by an electric eye. Even the garage had a new sort of electric eye. If you roll out, the doors remain open; if you roll in, they lock automatically.

"We call this house the Futura," explains Nat, who went on to describe what a really unbelievable place he and Irving gave on Pine Tree Drive in Miami. All the stair railings are of stainless steel, which cannot tarnish or rust. It is built of blue glass bricks imported from Belgium. There is a special built-in safe in the master bedroom. And the house does exactly what we hoped it would do.

"What is that, Nat?"

"Well," said Nat, "for some reason Florida has gone bugs over Spanish architecture. Now, Spanish architecture means rows and rows of gloomy arches, which are all right if you want to become a monk or raise mushrooms. But people go to Florida for air and sunshine. Irving and I just decided to build a house that really gives you sunshine, even on gray days. We built this place, modern to the last curl of the window sills."

Nat went on to explain that he was in New

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 3—The movement to cancel the embargo on arms to Spain has accumulated a great deal of unseen strength.

German Ambassador Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff has been so sensitive to this fact that he recently called at the State Department with a remarkable secret warning. In case this government was considering lifting the embargo, he said, he wanted to suggest that any American arms bought by the Spanish loyalist government probably would fall into the hands of Rebel General Franco and that, if not, ships carrying such arms would almost certainly be sunk.

Since this government doesn't accord belligerent rights to Franco and doesn't recognize that Germany—or Italy—has any place in the Spanish war picture or any right to talk to this government about it, the reaction was sour in high places. Especially since it is commonly believed that the Franco blockade of loyalist ports is made effective only by German and Italian submarines.

Confused Attitude

But the reluctance of top American officials to aid fascist nations conquer democratic nations is exceeded only by their fear of getting into foreign quarrels. It was after Dieckhoff's visit that President Roosevelt told a visiting Spanish member of the dancers involved in lifting the embargo.

A majority of members of the Senate Foreign Relations committee is understood to be sympathetic to lifting the embargo and officials which sound support for the movement would be decisive in lifting the embargo was an injustice. The administration's failure to act, plus the fact that the question still remains very much at issue, stands against a background which emphasizes the confused Washington attitude toward the European situation ever since Roosevelt and Secretary Hull were joined by the forced resignation of Foreign Minister Anthony Eden.

The embargo on arms to Spain was devised in the State Department and railroaded thru Congress under the name of "neutrality," while Secretary Hull was away. Unprecedented in its denial of war supplies to a recognized, friendly government, the measure was admittedly meant to supplement the British "non-intervention" policy.

But Hitler and Mussolini poured troops and materials into Spain until the government's position became desperate and this government has been informed that its embargo was the biggest single factor in fascist victories.

The dominant forces in the British government appear to have been pro-Franco all the time, the British "non-intervention" policy long ago became farcical and the Chamberlain government now has approved maintenance of Italian troops in Spain until they win the war.

Loyalist Spain's need for planes and other war materials she wants to buy has been obvious and one of Roosevelt's two or three most influential foreign affairs advisers say "We are about as neutral as if we had sent the Marine Corps to fight for Franco."

Welles' Warning

While Roosevelt recently was considering lifting the embargo on the ground that the Spanish conflict was not just a civil war, but a case of aggressor invasion, Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles at least temporarily dissuaded him and Secretary Hull. Welles supported the Dieckhoff argument by warning that such action might get this country into difficulties and furthermore might upset British efforts for a new shift of alliances in Europe.

While the administration and its top diplomats have developed a profound antipathy for the Nazis, they still observe the old State Department custom of following England's lead in European affairs. Roosevelt's restrained "blasting" on the Anglo-Italian agreement was made with fingers crossed, after the British ambassador had asked for it, with the hope that Prime Minister Chamberlain might really have worked out something to conciliate Italy and halt Hitler aggression.

Too Late?

But it's still feared that British Tories will be willing to see Hitler and Mussolini destroy democracy outside the British Empire. Fascist penetration of South America, along with the likely psychological effect on that continent of fascist victory in Spain, still is a major worry in Washington.

"It's too late now," high officials say to other officials and senators who urge lifting the embargo. But the increasing strength of the movement against the embargo and the urgency of appeals cabled from Spain indicate that this isn't the belief of Barcelona and Madrid.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M. D.

"What are hiccups? What causes them? How are they treated?" asks a reader.

To do justice to these questions, one would need to write a small volume, for hiccups are a symptom associated with a large variety of disturbances ranging from the most innocuous to the most serious. "The sudden, periodic contraction of the diaphragm" is a good definition.

The ordinary attack of hiccups is of the reflex nature. It is usually due to some functional disturbance in the abdominal organs. Often it is the result of irritation at the lower end of the esophagus (gullet) due to the intake of irritating foods or drinks, or to the regurgitation of the stomach's acid contents.

Hiccups may also be due to irritation of the nerve which controls the movements of the diaphragm, or to disease in the central nervous system. There is also a type of hiccups witnessed in hysteria and in nervous and emotional disturbances.

When an attack of hiccups develops in a patient suffering from some serious illness, such as pneumonia or typhoid, or following a surgical operation, or because they have a highly suggestive value. Common remedies for hiccups include:

Drinking a tumblerful of water rapidly while holding the breath; swallowing a large mouthful of bread, or a spoonful of powdered sugar; pressing on the eyeballs; pressing on the back of the neck; applying an ice-bag or mustard plaster to the upper part of the abdomen; tickling the nostrils; holding the breath as long as possible; breathing quickly and deeply 45 to 50 times a minute; pulling out the tongue; pressing upon the diaphragm by drawing up the legs against the abdomen.

An attack of hiccups which lasts longer than a few minutes and which does not yield to simple remedies calls for medical examination and treatment. It should be remembered that hiccups may be the early symptom of the onset of serious organic disease.

Every person has his favorite remedy for hiccups. Many of these are valuable because they serve as counter-irritants or because they have a highly suggestive value. Common remedies for hiccups include:

Drinking a tumblerful of water rapidly while holding the breath; swallowing a large mouthful of bread, or a spoonful of powdered sugar; pressing on the eyeballs; pressing on the back of the neck; applying an ice-bag or mustard plaster to the upper part of the abdomen; tickling the nostrils; holding the breath as long as possible; breathing quickly and deeply 45 to 50 times a minute; pulling out the tongue; pressing upon the diaphragm by drawing up the legs against the abdomen.

OIL PRODUCTION SHOWS DECREASE DURING WEEK

TULSA, Okla., May 3 (AP)—Production of crude petroleum in the United States declined an average of 34,856 barrels daily during the week ending April 30 to an average of 3,989,842 barrels daily, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Oklahoma showed the biggest reduction, a drop of 25,550 barrels to an average of 473,875. East Texas was up 798 barrels to 433,198, and the State of Texas increased 13,147 barrels to 1,322,668.

Louisiana production declined 1,870 barrels to 260,615. California dropped 17,550 to 710,200, and Kansas declined 4,180 to 177,750.

Eastern states, including Michigan, increased 2,054 barrels to 194,214. The Rocky Mountain section decreased 870 barrels to 63,160.

SPRING FIRE. If ever you were foolish, If ever you were blest, If ever April caught you And held you at her breast, If ever you ran, shouting, Mad with spring's young green, Through a jonquil-studded meadow, You'll know the fire I mean!

It only comes in April, It only comes to those Whom Nature rocks against her heart. Whose gladness overflows; And when the call comes halting, Enslaving, snaring you, All else forgot, you'll follow Her flags of green and blue!

They say that on the first spring night that slakes In startled rhythm to untimely thunder

The bonds of winter silence fall asunder, And in that hour the heavy music wakes Within their earthy homes the sleep-tranced snakes. And then they hear it, where they nestle under The quiet hills and the untroubled lakes, Their eyes must glitter with a sudden wonder.

Knowing that spring will find them there, they sleep Oblivious to light, within the deep Remembering earth until the destined night When they must hear the vernal thunders might. Exult above their enviable rest, To call them forth upon an ancient quest.

FBI Agent Shot to Death in Illinois

DANVILLE, Ill., May 3 (AP)—William R. Ramsey, 34, an agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, died here today from four bullet wounds suffered in a gun battle with a former Indiana convict.

He died in Lakeview hospital while his mother, Mrs. William R. Ramsey Sr., was racing to his bedside by plane from Seattle.

The federal agent was shot four times yesterday when he and Sheriff Harry George of Danville, led officers to the rural home of Joe Earlywine. The latter was sought for questioning about the holdup of a bank.

Officers said Earlywine opened fire without warning. In the shooting that followed, Earlywine was killed and his son, Virgil, 7, was wounded inadvertently.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—Some of Congress's fiercest advocates of the neutrality act have gone stale on it for one immediate reason—Spain.

Under the act, this government prohibits shipment of war supplies to either side in Spain. Observers generally concede that the result has been to deprive the Loyalist Spanish government of any supplies while the Franco forces have continued receiving arms, ammunition and soldiers from Germany and Italy.

The cold logic which dictated the neutrality policy was that this country should keep out of European affairs even if it meant that the Loyalist Spanish government would be defeated. But the underdog plight of the Loyalists has helped to change the minds of many not only in Congress but outside. The members have been drenched with a deluge of postcard and letters demanding immediate repeal of the neutrality act before the Loyalist defense crumbles.

There is almost equally intense pressure from the other side, for many individuals and organizations, notably Catholic, endorse the insurgent side and would like it to win.

Change of Policy. Yet some because of change in attitude has come because of another phase of the matter.

For a number of years the United States has followed a policy in Latin America and China of giving aid to the governments in power to suppress revolutionary movements. It has been written into law for these two zones and has been looked upon as a guide for American conduct in relation to revolutions in other countries, although it had not the binding effect of law elsewhere.

Yet in the case of Spain, Congress jumped over the traces. In January, 1937, it looked as if Spain might be the battlefield for a new world war, with England and France on the Loyalist side, and Germany and Italy on the other with the Franco insurgents. Hands off, was the plea, and a bill was hurried through to prohibit shipments of arms to either side.

Muddling The Muddle. Congress was spurred on to hasty action by an attempt of a New Jersey second-hand dealer to send a shipment of old planes to the Loyalists. He got his ship out ahead of the embargo—but the insurgents captured it.

Some members of Congress now fear the departure from the policy of aiding only established governments will rise to plague this country. They have appealed privately to President Roosevelt and the State Department to proclaim the embargo at an end, but naturally, the buck is passed right back.

Under the regular neutrality act the President would be able to end the embargo as soon as the civil war ceased to menace the peace and security of the United States—which apparently it has.

But in its haste to stop the shipment of second-hand planes Congress passed a special act which permits the President to end the embargo only when the civil war ends—regardless of whether it any longer endangers the peace and security of the United States.

And there the muddle remains.

GOMER SMITH TO BE OKLAHOMA CANDIDATE

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 3 (AP)—U. S. Rep. Gomer Smith, former national vice president of the Townsend Pensioners organization, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator today.

Urging the present federal old-age assistance program be abandoned, Smith based his platform on old age pensions and construction of military highways to relieve unemployment.

Other candidates are Gov. E. W. Marland, former Congressman Tom D. McKeown, Ernest G. Albright, and Senator Elmer Thomas, who is seeking re-election.

Former Gov. Jack Walton announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Money Enough

Met her again on the set of "Prison Farm" the other day—her first picture since the accident. She has a small role, that of a prison matron, but she is contented, alive and eager to "find my niche."

"Ten years make a difference," she smiled, "and I couldn't expect to play the youthful roles I once had. But one can't live in Hollywood, having once been a part of it, without wanting to work. Money? I've enough. I had a good manager who invested by earnings wisely. My health is fine. I'm taking up golf"—she chuckled—"that's good for reducing hips. People still inquire solicitously how I'm feeling, and seem surprised that I'm no longer an invalid. Horseback-riding? Well, I haven't been on a horse since my accident and I can't say I'd go out of my way to meet one—but I wouldn't be afraid to ride if I had it to do."

RIFT LOOMS IN PLANS OF METHODIST MERGER

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 3 (AP)—Rumblings of a "secessionist" church of south and north Methodism merge broke through to the surface today as the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, awaited a verdict from the judicial council on legality of its judicial vote.

The episcopal election conference to election of bishops with the commission on episcopacy to recommend that seven new bishops be named. The episcopate election conference leaders said, probably will be set at a special order of business for tomorrow.

Book A Day

What people say and what people do make history, whether it be in world capitals or country towns. The opinions outlined around cracker barrels are often reflected in the halls of congress.

Remarkable not only as an entertaining novel, but as a saga of a country town through the prosperity of the 'twenties and the depression of the 'thirties, is W. L. White's "What People Said" (Viking Press, $2.75). His characters are real, mid-western folks, facing their domestic and economic problems, his locale is carefully delineated.

The story is of the rise-and-fall—of the Norseskes, father and son, newcomers to the mythical city of Athens, Oklahoma; and of the Chas. Aidington Carroughs—the elder, Athens's most noted citizen; the younger, assistant manager of his father's newspaper, and raconteur through which all the news and gossip of the town is sifted.

This initial literary effort of the son of William Allen White, sage of Emporia, Kan. (the publishers studiously avoided any such identification), gives him a place with some of the best of the exponents of sturdy, vital American realism.

Kansas readers, incidentally, can not miss the striking similarity of the Norseskes tragedy with the million-dollar bond scandal which rocked the Sunflower state not long ago. And every small town can see characters of his own village vividly depicted in this immensely real and interesting work.—T. J. H.

HEREDITY RESPONSIBLE FOR CANCER, CLAIMED

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 3 (AP)—Two women, who were identical twins, that is from a single ovum and alike as two peas, are cited in the proceedings of Mayo clinic here as evidence that heredity is partly responsible for cancer.

Each woman came to the clinic here for cancer treatment, both were cured and both are still well. One sister showed up three years ahead of the other. She had a cancer in one breast and then another cancer in the other breast.

Her sister came afterward with exactly the same cancers in the same locations. In both, the first of the two cancers appeared on the same side.

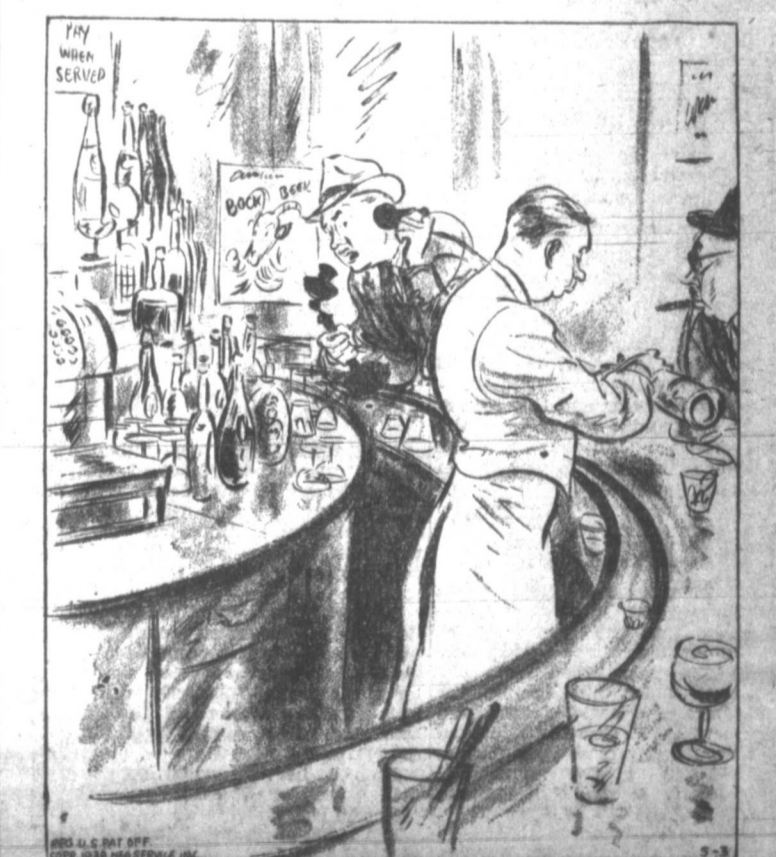

Identical twins are accepted among scientists as one of the best means of studying heredity. The idea that susceptibility to cancer can be inherited has been growing, backed by occasional human examples.

And by breeding experiments by which animals inherit cancer and all have about the same kind of about the same period.

SUMMER PLAN INAUGURATED BY MAGNOLIA

Motoring safety and economy are the keynotes of the 1938 "summerize" campaign of the Magnolia Petroleum company, said Fred M. Lege, Jr., vice president in charge of marketing. The campaign effort starts immediately and will be continued through the next two months preceding hot weather.

The importance of not delaying is to be stressed, because delay, Mr. Lege warned, deprives the car owner of part of the safety protection and other benefits of "summerizing" before hot weather sets in.

Thousands of Magnolia dealers in cities, towns and rural communities throughout the Southwestern States are cooperating in this "Summerize for Safety and Economy" campaign. The complete 7-point summerize service includes draining and washing of the crankcase, transmission, and differential and refilling with the correct grade of summer Mobiloil; cleaning and flushing radiator; testing and filling battery; cleaning and greasing terminals to protect them against corrosion; filling the tank with Mobilgas; and inspection of the car in general from bumper to bumper and giving the owner a report of its condition and its needs for safe, economical driving.

"Over a period of many years," Mr. Lege explained, "the Magnolia Petroleum Company has been conducting schools of instruction in the proper care and servicing of all kinds of automobiles for its dealers and employees of dealers. The complete 'Summerize Service' has been worked out by Magnolia engineers to make automobiles safer to drive and to forestall dangerous and expensive breakdowns of parts due to neglect.

INCREASES IN FRENCH ARMED FORCES ORDERED

PARIS, May 3 (AP)—Increases in man power for all France's armed forces were ordered today by Premier Eduard Daladier head of the "national defense" government now ruling the nation by decree.

An edict which became law this morning demands more soldiers, sailors and aviators, along with many new sacrifices from Frenchmen to enable the nation to support the cost of the modern machinery of war.

Decreases in the same series increased France's annual tax bill 4,600,000,000 francs ($120,000,000) levying a flat eight per cent increase in all direct and hidden taxes.

Announcement of the government's intention to enforce additional light taxes but who die before reaching the retirement age of 65.

Under present law, the heirs of a worker who dies before the retirement age receives only a sum equal to 3.5 per cent of his earnings from January 1, 1937, to the time of his death.

OFFICERS NAB FUGITIVE IN NOCONA HOUSE

MONTAGUE, May 3 (AP)—Ervin Goodspeed of Bowie, one of three prisoners who escaped the Montague county jail Saturday night after stabbing the jailer, was recaptured at Nocona late last night.

He offered no resistance to Sheriff's Deputies Dick Lawrence of Montague and Warren Williams of Nocona when they took him in custody shortly after 11:30 p. m. at a house in Nocona which they had been watching.

With Floyd Hamilton, brother of the late desperado, Raymond Hamilton, and Ted Walters of Dallas, Goodspeed had been the object of a wide-spread hunt since the three overpowered Kenneth Chandler, 23, the jailer, and fled after looting the jail arsenal of three shotguns and two pistols.

Mrs. H. T. Chandler, sheriff of Montague county who killed her son, said he came to Nocona late yesterday.

After he was captured he would not talk about the whereabouts of his two companions, with whom he was to have gone to trial here tomorrow in connection with the burglary of a drug store at Ringgold, Texas.

"I don't believe he knows much about where they are," Mrs. Chandler said.

Goodspeed crawled through a hole when a cell bar was cut away with a razor blade, hid behind the control block, and jumped on the jailer as the latter brought cheese and crackers to the men.

Chandler was stabbed in the leg with a pair of scissors believed left by mistake in Goodspeed's cell by a jail barber. His wounds were not serious.

Goodspeed secured the jailer's keys and released his companions.

Sheriff Chandler said she planned to file charges against Goodspeed in connection with the stabbing.

Meanwhile officers at Dallas searched for Hamilton and a companion, reported seen there last night.

and $20 to the children until they reach 18 years of age.

The widow would be pensioned for life when she reaches 60, getting between $20 and $40 a month. Her pension would be determined by a percentage of the average annual wages of her husband.

This pension system would be separate from the grants which the board now makes to help states pay needy widows for the support of dependent children.

Other proposals before the board would grant the widow her pension for a limited number of years immediately after her husband's death, instead of pensioning her at 60 for life.

The board also was asked by the President to consider advancing to 1940 the beginning date for paying monthly pensions to retired workers over 65. These pensions now are scheduled to begin in 1942.

Mrs. McWilliams Leads Program For Treble Clef

Mrs. J. C. McWilliams was program leader for the combined programs on "Folk Music" and "Contemporary Composers" at the meeting of the Treble Clef club Saturday in the city club rooms.

The leader discussed the music of the North American Indian and the negro music and their influence on the American music of today. Mrs. Harry Lyman, accompanied by Mrs. Roy Reeder, sang two negro spirituals, "Deep River" by Goodbye, and "Lord, I want to be Christian" by Redeemer.

Mrs. Walter Wanner mentioned other sources of folk song and American composers using these folk songs. Mrs. Ray Hulme sang "O Little Mother of Mine" by the American composer, Burlingame.

"Composers of the Larger Forms" were discussed by Mrs. F. E. Leech who told of hearing Percy Grainger in person, and Miss Jimma Searcy sketched the younger group who will have much to do with developing our future music.

"The Rose of Love" from the cantata, "The Rose Maiden," by Cowen was sung by Mrs. Ray Hulme and Lester Aldrich.

Miss Lois Hinton discussed the "Modernists," reminding the group that Mozart was once proclaimed a radical, and Mrs. Charlie Duenkel gave the topic, "Lighter Musical Moments of Yesterday and Today."

Mrs. J. W. Garman who sang "Just a Wearying for You" by Bond, was accompanied by Mrs. Reeder. The study of the text, "Our American Music," by John Tasker Howard was concluded with a resume by Mrs. E. W. Voss.

Mrs. Harry Carlson, Harold Baer, and Ray Hulme, hostesses for the afternoon, served delicious refreshments to Mrs. Fred Cullum, Harry Hoare, Bob McCoy, H. O. Roberts, Ed Donnell, two guests, Mrs. Jane Price of Bartlesville, Oklahoma, and Mrs. W. H. Putnam, and those on the program.

NEW-BORN BABY NEEDS 22 HOURS OF SLEEP

A new-born baby sleeps nearly all the time. For the first three months he may sleep 22 hours out of 24. After six months, he should sleep from 6 o'clock in the evening till 6 o'clock in the morning without waking, and should have a two-hour nap both morning and afternoon. The baby can soon learn to sleep at certain hours every day and to sleep all night. If he is kept awake during the latter part of the afternoon he will go to sleep more promptly when he is put to bed at night and will sleep more soundly. Do not take him up when he cries at night unless the diaper needs to be changed. Change his position from time to time.

FORM OF RELAXATION NEEDED BY MOTHERS

Some form of recreation is good for everyone. The overconscientious mother who stays at home watching her baby all the time does not do the best thing for her child. Outdoor life and pleasant recreation help to keep the mother happy and contented.

A moderate amount of social diversion favors contentment of spirit. It, which is one of the essentials in maintaining the supply of breast milk. The mother who can lead an even, regular life without emotional upsets will probably nurse her baby more successfully than the anxious, excitable mother.

Food Schedule for Babies Important

Practically the same schedule as at 10 months should be kept, the baby being given 16 tablespoons of a cupful of warm cow's milk, instead of breast feeding. Broth from mutton, beef, or chicken may be given with a baked potato.

Toward the end of the first year, the baby should be drinking about one quart of whole, warm cow's milk each day; besides this, the baby should be receiving daily from four to six tablespoons of strained fruit juice—either orange, cooked apple, prune or fig—three to four tablespoons of strained green vegetables (any of the vegetables listed so far), a whole yolk of egg or liver pulp, three to four tablespoons of cooked strained cereal, a piece of zwieback.

HOODED BLANKET
On cold days mothers welcome the hooded blanket into which the baby can be securely fastened, whether he lies in his bed or takes the outside air. Now, since protection from drafts is considered as important as warmth in clothing, it is possible to find the same type of garment in a lighter weight suitable for warm weather.

Baby's Progress

He shows interest in listening to familiar words.
He will try to put a block into a hole on a board.
He will pay attention to cribbing.
He begins to take part in rhythmic nursery games.
He will wave bye-bye or do some similar trick.

Remember that the example set by parents is of greatest importance to children, for little children quickly adopt the attitudes of their parents.

The Baby at Three Months
He can hold his head up steadily when held to the shoulder.
He can roll from his back to his side.
He tries to raise himself by his arms when he is lying on his stomach.
His eyes follows a moving pencil.
He turns his head freely in looking at objects or people.
He handles a large red ring in a variety of ways.
He smiles in response to a smiling face.
He shows that he recognizes a changed situation by staring or other signs of awareness.
He is quieted by a voice or by music.
He shows that he remembers by his excitement when feeding-time comes. He opens his mouth expectantly.
Baby From Six to Nine Months
He can sit for a moment, without support, if placed in a leaning position.
He grasps objects using all his fingers.
He will hold two cubes for a moment.
He reaches for objects, such as a cube that is pointed out to him.
He will look at a small round object placed on the table surface.
He will bang a spoon or pat the table in play.
He can sound certain definite syllables.
He makes sounds to show that he recognizes familiar persons.
He crawls or crawls when pleased.
The Baby From Nine Months
He can sit alone.
He will use his thumb with his finger in picking up a small block.
He will try to crawl when laid on his stomach.
He can say da-da or something that sounds like it.

Founders' Day To Be Observed by Beta Delta Society

Highlighting the activities of the Beta Delta chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma will be the Founders' Day luncheon Saturday at 1 o'clock in the Schneider hotel.

A business meeting at 12 o'clock will precede the luncheon. Entertainment for the event will be sponsored by Miss Vida Cox.

Mrs. John T. Bradley, president of the local chapter, attended the state convention of the Delta Kappa Gamma at Austin on Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30.

Catherine Young of Corpus Christi, formerly of Hawaii, was elected state president and Edna Graham of the PI chapter in Amarillo is the first vice president. She is a member of the mathematics department at West Texas State College at Canyon.

The Gamma Theta chapter of the society was organized in the Black hotel at Borger on April 22 by the state president, Edna Lee Carter, who was assisted by past president, Mrs. Sam Irwin, and president, Mrs. John Bradley, together with the Amarillo PI chapter. Mrs. L. K. Stout, treasurer, also assisted.

Radio Programs To Feature Pupils

As a contribution to the observance of the fifteenth annual National Music Week, Mrs. Madeline Turley Rowntree will present three of her piano students in individual programs over radio station KPDD.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Maxine Holt will play "Shepherd's Tale" by Nevin, "Andante" and "Rondeau" from Mozart's "Sonata in C Major," "Important Event" by Schumann, and "Nocturno" by Chopin.

Pauline Stewart will be presented on the program Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Her numbers will be "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" by Richmanoff, "Scottish Poems" by MacDowell, "Hunting Song" by Mendelssohn, and "Bach Partita."

The final program will be presented on Wednesday afternoon of next week at 2 o'clock when Mary Lynn Schofield is featured. She will play the three movements of Hayden "Sonata in D Major," "Guitarre" by Moszkowski, and "Sweet Remembrance" by Mendelssohn.

These numbers are part of those to be played in the National Piano tournament in Amarillo on May 14.

Underfeeding may mean that the baby is not getting enough of the right food or is getting the wrong kind of food. Some underfed infants sleep for short periods and fret and cry before the regular feeding period, the others may sleep a good deal. If the baby fails to make regular gains in weight, the food needs to be increased in quantity or properly modified to suit the baby's needs. Ask the doctor.

FRUIT HIGHLY IMPORTANT
A child should have some fruit in the diet every day. Where fresh fruit is not possible dried fruits may be used. Dried fruits also have a rich iron content. Fresh fruit should be given only in season. All fruits should be wiped off with a damp cloth before being eaten.

Woman's Auxiliary Group to Attend Regional Meeting

The Woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal church will go on Wednesday, May 4, to Canyon for a regional meeting with the other Woman's auxiliaries of this area. This meeting will last from 10:30 in the morning to 3:30 o'clock.

All Women of the auxiliary and all interested in the church and auxiliary are asked to meet at the Parish house at 9 o'clock Wednesday to go together to Canyon.

Group four of the Friendship class of the First Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. B. W. Sintercamp last week with Mrs. J. E. Gilbert as co-hostess.

At the business session a motion was made and carried for each member to have a silent friend. Names were drawn and the gifts to be exchanged are not to exceed 25 cents. Dates as well as the names decided upon.

Cardui helps to relieve functional pains of menstruation; and, in cases of malnutrition, it aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more energy from their food.

partly to nullifying the verdict of honest juries in such cases and thereby lead to encouragement to robbers and rapists.

Concerning Layes, who claimed Fort Smith, Ark., as his home, the board said: "There can be no question of his guilt. He murdered ruthlessly and cowardly the man who had fed him when he was broke and hungry and was befriending him by giving him a ride to his alleged relatives, then robbed him of his money, a paltry $40."

"The facts in this and numerous other cases found in the files of this board impel us to suggest that they be kept constantly in mind by kind-hearted motorists when tempted to pick up strangers thumbing rides on the highways. Every time a motorist picks up one of these fellows, he gambles with death. Too many have so gambled and lost everything — life. Why take a chance?"

"The president," Davis quoted "I use as saying," arose and said: "Let me not disturb you, and with that, before I could detain him, he recovered his hat and let himself out through a private exit."

A few days later Wilson again called on House and was setting down some notes on a writing pad when a doorman announced that Lloyd George was calling on Colonel House.

"I asked that he be shown into an adjoining reception room," House continued. "This time the president's reaction, as compared with his retirement when Clemenceau appeared, was indeed definite."

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Stocks reversed their downward trend in today's market with favored issues, at the best, pushing up 1/4 to 1/2 point.

There were frequent profit taking intervals, however, and top prices were reduced near the close.

While activity was larger than in yesterday's sluggish proceedings, it was still far from attaining run-away proportions. Transfers approximated 450,000 shares.

Analysts, finding scant encouragement in business news or Washington developments, attributed the right-about-face principally to the return of some speculative forces to the buying sides on the theory the recent slow-motion session indicated exhaustion of selling and brightened prospects for at least a temporary rebound.

Bonds generally leaned forward after a poor start. Wheat was given an upward push in the race of private forecasts of the greatest crop since 1911.

Aluminum, copper utility and specialty stocks led the early action. They were subsequently joined by steels, motors, rubbers, mail orders and farm implements.

ACHIEVEMENT TESTS REPORT BEING MADE

A summary report of the achievement tests given pupils of the first to seventh grades in the rural schools of Gray county was being prepared today for submission to the state department of education.

Pupils of the first grade took the Harlow achievement test, while the New South achievement test was taken by pupils of the second to seventh grades.

Median in the first grade test was 75.2, and a mark equal or superior to the median was made by 40 percent of the first grade pupils.

Norm and percentages made in the other grades, second, 12.2, 45 percent; third, 24.8, 80 percent; fourth, 35.1, 60 percent; fifth, 33.1, 3 percent; sixth, 58.9, 62 2/3 percent.

There were 400 students taking the tests, given in connection with applications for standardizing school rating. Schools classified last year as standardized are four: Hopkins 2, Webb, Back and Grandview.

well it's a bit selfish to wait until someone is dead and forgotten and then 'dig' them up and honor them with something like this.

"The people that are going to get the most out of this lake are people like you and I. We are trying to keep up with times, living modern. Therefore as we are helping to get this lake why not give it a modern name. Don't name it after any one person and cause more ill feeling and jealousy.

The lake will get its water supply from McClellan creek so why not name it after the source of supply, McClellan lake? or better yet the whole of Gray county have worked together, why not name it Lake Gray, a good way to put our county on the map.

On Somebody's Neck. Some one suggested moving that Indian monument over to the lake site and naming it the Monument lake. Very poor. It doesn't command enough weight to name such an important thing as this after it. It was very poor judgment in setting that monument away over there in the pasture in the first place. Some one should have had better judgment.

TOWNSEND CLUBS WILL HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

Plans for a district meeting of Townsend club will be discussed tonight when the Pampa-Townsend club holds its regular meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the district courtroom.

May 22 has been set as the date of the district convention. The districts of which Pampa is a part, include Shamrock, Wheeler, Clark and Clarendon, Dalhart, and a part of Northwestern New Mexico.

"Taxation," as it applies under the Townsend plan, will be the topic of speeches at the meeting tonight.

Lake Adelaide, "Adelaide was the youngest of the German sisters that were tortured by the Indians and as she is still living would do her honor to have the lake named for her. It would change the scene of her childhood into a place of beauty and joy forever," Mrs. Florence Steele, Canadian; Lake Gray, "for the sake of the county," Lillie Bell Liles;

Lake La Pampa, "this is the historical setting, I am sure, of the Texas plains. And Pampa means plains. Everyone could cite the location of the lake whether far or near by that name because pampa refers to plains. It would be an honor to this town," Ru Thelma Smith;

Pampa Springs-Lake, "Pampa did the boasting. Why not have the name," D. S. Thomas; Rescue lake, or Lake Rescue, "This name includes both the rescuers and the rescued, and will cause newcomers to ask for the history of the lake. The name keeps fresh in our minds this great heroic event," Mrs. Herman Jones;

Lake Pampas, "In early days this was truly a vast plain or grazing land, and because the name 'pampas' will identify it far and near as THE LAKE connected with our Top o' Texas city (Pampa) and it will be as popular as Lake Worth or Lake Dallas," Mrs. Tom Alford;

How About Dixon? Lake Dixon, "in honor of Billy

Dixon who was government scout and guide and fought in the battle to rescue the German sisters," Glenn Drake; Memory lake, "When saying Memory lake one would recall all pioneers and the battle that was fought to capture the German sisters," Mrs. Connie Drake; Lake German, "In honor of the German family," Mrs. C. Drake;

Lake Cheyenne, "It was the Cheyenne Indians that captured the German sisters," Willie Drake; Lake Gray Beard, "Gray Beard was one of the Indian chiefs that helped capture the German sisters and he took two of the girls," C. Drake; Lake Miles, "he ordered the rescue of the German sisters," Mrs. Connie Drake;

Lake Wagner, Train, "It was the charge of the wagon train that brought about the rescue of the two captives," Mrs. Connie Drake; Battle lake, "the lake will be near the site where the only Indian battle was fought in Gray county, and which resulted in the rescue of two of the German sisters," Mrs. Connie Drake; Lake Baldwin, "It was Lieut. Baldwin that led the troops in the rescue of the white girl captives," Mrs. Connie Drake; Lake Dixon, "Billy Dixon as a scout helped to locate and retake the German sisters from the Indians. He worked untiringly in defense of the settlers of the Panhandle and for the noble work at the Adobe Walls and Buffalo Wallow," Alton Moore, McLean; Lake Aid, "aid to needy workers," C. W. Masters; Lake Baldwin, "the outstanding hero of pioneer days of that vicinity."

Syllables Combined. "My choice for a name for the McClellan creek lake is 'Landwin' or Balle Lake. First, Lan is last part of McClellan; dwin is also last part of Lieut. Baldwin's name. Besides that Win means to get by labor. Also this lake will be on the land where the battle was fought for those German sisters. Balle-bal—first part of Baldwin's name. Les, last part of Major Miles' name. If I had a third choice I might suggest Mileswin lake. Major Miles' name, last of Baldwin's name," Mrs. E. W. Voss.

STEEL MILLS, lumber camps, dams, skyscrapers, coal mines, subways (as above) — appeal to Margaret Bourke-White. She has gone all over the United States, into far countries. And her photographs are now internationally famous for their vigor and interest. They're different! And that's the same remark that Miss Bourke-White made about Camels to Ralph Martin at the New York World's Fair grounds (right).

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCS — Turkish and Domestic

PEOPLE DO APPRECIATE THE COSTLIER TOBACCS IN CAMELS

THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

ONE SMOKER TELLS ANOTHER "CAMELS AGREE WITH ME!"

Leading growers tell their preference in cigarettes — it's Camel!

"We smoke Camels because we know tobacco," tobacco planters say

"I've been planting tobacco for twenty years," says Harry C. King. "Camel bought the choice lots of my last crop — paid more for my best tobacco. So I know they use finer, more expensive tobacco in Camels — a mighty good reason why my cigarette is Camel."

"I'm a tobacco planter," says Vertner Hatton, who has grown tobacco 25 years. "The Camel people pay more for our better tobacco. Last crop they took my finest grades. I smoke Camels — I know no substitute for expensive tobacco. Most planters favor Camels."

"It's a fact Camel uses costlier tobaccos," says Floyd Smith, who knows tobacco from the ground up. "Last year I grew a handsome crop. Camel bought up my best leaf tobacco. I need a Camel — so do most planters hereabouts. I know the quality tobacco in them."

"I've found that Camels are very, very different, Mr. Martin — not just in one way, but in a lot of ways. For example, my nerves must be just as trustworthy as a stepple jack's. Camels don't jangle my nerves. They taste extra-mild and delicate too. Camels never leave an unpleasant after-taste, and they're so gentle to the throat. In fact, Camels agree with me in every way! I think that's what counts most — how your cigarette agrees with you!"

"Cigarettes seem pretty much alike to me. Do you find some difference between Camels and the others, Miss Bourke-White?"

What Margaret Bourke-White, famous photographer, said when Ralph Martin asked if she found a difference in cigarettes

WOODY WOOLDRIDGE TO CALL SIGNALS FOR EXES THURSDAY NIGHT

FANS INVITED TO SEE LAST SPRING TILT

Tentative starting lineups for the "big game" between the 1938 Harvesters and the ex-Harvesters under the lights at Harvester field Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock have been announced. Admission will be 10 cents for students and 25 cents for adults with proceeds going to the student activity fund.

Principal highlight of the line-up will be the return of the little Woody Wooldridge to the lineup. Woody returned to Pampa recently after an absence of nearly a year. He will be calling signals for the game.

Captain J. W. Graham will call the plays for the Harvesters. At left half will probably be Pete Dunaway and at right half Albert Kemp. Only the coach knows whether Nichols or Audis will start at fullback. However, it is assumed that Nichols will start because Mitchell yesterday had Nichols practice with the first string and Audis with the second.

If Audis enters the game it is likely that a lot of passing may take place if he stays in any length of time.

The Harvesters went through a stiff workout yesterday afternoon after which Coach Odu Mitchell and J. C. Prejan announced their probable starting lineup. Coach Roy Showers Sr. put his exes through a stiff workout last night and pronounced them ready to go 60 minutes without a halt.

Fans are urged to see the big game because it will be the last of the spring training period. Next appearance of the Harvesters will be next fall.

The Harvester starting lineup will be changed from time to time because at least two boys are still battling for each position. The lineups available for Thursday night will be first name probable starter with second name his challenger to the position:

- Left end—Fleming and Kyle.
- Left tackle—Ripple and Giddens.
- Left guard—Farrish and Bailey.
- Center—Solomon and Candler.
- Right guard—Stiles and Rumpel.
- Right tackle—Broen and Montgomery.
- Right end—Andis and B. Clements.
- Quarterback—Captain J. W. Graham and Watkins, Miller.
- Left half—Dunaway and Heiskell, Word.
- Right half—Kemp and Kidwell.
- Fullback—Audis and Nichols, Felner.

The exes will line up as follows:

- Left end—Reynolds.
- Left tackle—Coshov.
- Left guard—Nelson.
- Center—Mobley.
- Right guard—Mathews.
- Right tackle—Gillis.
- Right end—Ayer.
- Quarterback—Woodriddle.
- Left half—Enloe.
- Right half—Claude Heiskell.
- Fullback—Shwers.

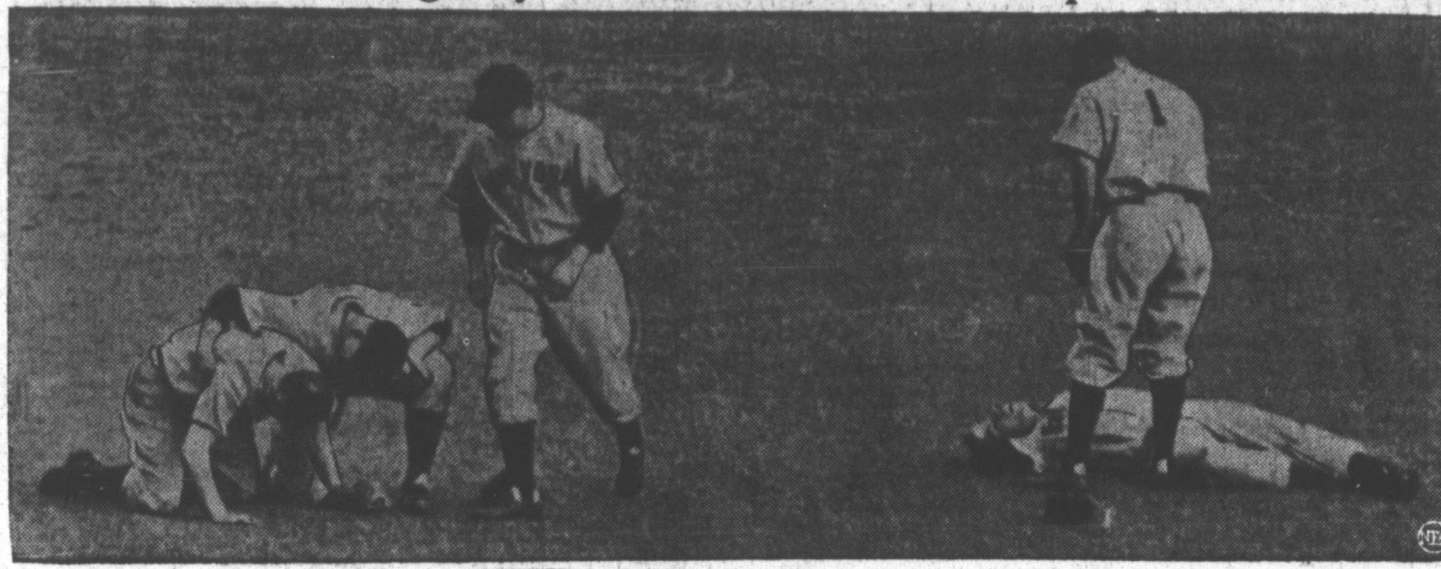

M. C. Green, labor member in the South African Assembly, deplored the fact members were supplied with German-made pencils. He refused to use them.

High Fly Proves To Be Knockout Drop

Joe DiMaggio, the well-known holder-out, playing his first 1938 ball game with the Yanks against Washington, became involved in a little more headwork than was healthful when he and Joe Gordon, Yankee infield star, both chased a high pop fly and crashed into each other head-on. The dramatic results of their ball-catching fervor are seen, where DiMag is knocked out cold and Gordon wobbles on his knees in dazed condition. Both were removed to the hospital for treatment and observation.

Five Horses Figure In Kentucky Derby Classic

By ORLO ROBERTSON.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (AP)—The sixty-fourth running of the Kentucky Derby is shaping up like a real horse race.

In recent years one or two horses have stood out but it's different this time. No more than a dozen three-year-olds are expected to start the mile and a quarter journey at Churchill Downs Saturday. At least five of them, however, figure to be in the thick of the battle, fighting for the major share of the $50,000 added purse, the horseshoes of roses, and all the glory that goes with winning America's most colorful race.

A month ago Maxwell Howard's Stagehand was considered unbeatable. He had clinched a race to riches campaign on the west coast by whipping the mighty Seabiscuit by a nose in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap. Arriving at the Downs, he continued to hold the spot-light with sensational workouts.

So many fans flocked to his stable that Trainer Earl Sande, the same Earl that rode his way into the hearts of the hardboots with three Derby winners, was forced to erect a fence around the barn and station a guard at its entrance.

But the developments of the last two weeks have altered the picture completely. From the east rose Fighting Fox, latest in the line of great horses from William Woodward's Belair Stud, and Dauber, hard-hitting colt from William du Pont Jr.'s Foxcatcher Farm, to challenge Stagehand. Then at the Keeneland race course in the heart of the blue grass, Warren Wright's Bull Lea reeled off two track-record-smashing performances.

Around the hotels where the early arrivals for the Derby already have begun to make their appearance, along the gaily decorated streets and out at the stables, Stagehand still is considered the horse to beat but there's not the air of confidence that once prevailed. Now Yorkers are asked immediately their opinion of Fighting Fox and Dauber. Especially the Fox since he won the Wood Memorial handily at Jamaica last Saturday. In turn the hardboots extol the merits of Bull Lea and the fleet Menow.

There's no lack of optimism around Sande's stable, however. From the early dawn to the lowest ground, they can't see how Stagehand can be beaten unless it is by his stablemate, The Chief. No. 1 among the Chief's supporters is his groom, who has a $10 across-the-board wager on the former C. V. Whitney ace.

Whether Stagehand has retained his famous drive and The Chief can carry his speed for a mile will be answered today when the Sande pair hook up with eight other Derby hopefuls in the "trial."

Opposing the high powered combination are Lawrin, Flamingo Shakes, winner of Herbert M. Woolf's farm; A. G. Tarr's Canadian-owned Wise Fox, victor in the Louisiana Derby; Mrs. Payne Whitney's Redbreast; Mountain Ridge, Mrs. Ethel V. Marx's Chief Hope, and four lesser lights which hope to prove they are of Derby caliber.

Senators, Tigers Show Early Season Surprises

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer
While the next couple of weeks of inter-sectional scrapping may change the picture, two of the biggest surprises so far in the major league season are the Washington Senators—Or Nationals if you prefer—and the Detroit Tigers.

Washington opens its first home stand against the western clubs of the American league today in second place and Detroit starts castled with the St. Louis Browns for sixth. That just reverses the way they were picked in the Associated Press spring poll.

The Senators, of course, have profited greatly by the weakness of the Philadelphia Athletics, winning four out of five from them, but Washington's half-game margin over the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees can't be laughed off.

Joe DiMaggio's second homer in two days was the big Yankee blow, but it was Joe's error, too, that gave the Nats their second run.

Detroit's main difficulty has been too much Cleveland, as the Tigers have lost five out of six to Oscar Vitt's mighty men. But they haven't been hitting in the clutches and, except for Eldon Auker, the pitchers haven't been consistent.

Rookie Woodrow Davis was the only one who could check the Tribe yesterday and he didn't come in until a ten-run uprising in the fourth had ruined any faint hope of victory.

The New York Giants, invincible against the eastern clubs of the National league, polished off Brooklyn for the sixth time, 7 to 4, in their last home game before starting west.

Cincinnati's Reds, who tackle the champions next, tuned up with their third straight triumph over Pittsburgh, 9 to 6. Two homers by Ival Goodman paced the Reds and, incidentally, gave Goodman the big league lead in four-base swatting.

The St. Louis Cardinals, with Joe Medwick leading a typical "gas house" uprising, belted over the Chicago Cubs 8 to 3 while Boston's Red Sox routed the Athletics 13 to 1 in the other big league games. The Bees and Phillies and White Sox and Browns took the day off.

GIANTS TAKE 11TH STRAIGHT

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—The runaway New York Giants go charging into the western half of their National league opposition today, and they are so confident in their newfound batting strength that they will be very hard to stop.

They have cleaned out the eastern half like a fox going through a hen-roost, taking their eleventh straight yesterday, a 7-4 win over Brooklyn. They have astonished even Bill Terry, and it takes something very special along that line to astonish Bill since he watched the Yankees beat in the last world series.

It doesn't worry Terry a bit that he'll have to get along quite a while without Burgess Whitehead, his regular second baseman last year. A slow recovery from an appendicitis operation this spring has kept Whitehead from playing and brought on a nervous breakdown that requires a complete rest. He was left behind when the club started west and Terry said he would ask that Whitey be put on the voluntarily retired list.

Terry has no real fear of the Cincinnati Reds, against whom the Giants start their western invasion today.

"We're going after them just like we've been going after the others," Bill said. "The Cubs and Pirates and Cards will all look alike if we keep this kind of pitching and batting."

"As long as Rippe and Ols and Leiber and McCarthy continue to pound the ball we'll keep on playing for plenty runs. If they fall off, we'll go back to the old scheme of playing for one run and letting our pitchers slacken down. We can play both ways, now that we've got this power."

Riding two horses in a jumping show at Cape Town, South Africa, G. Floyd tied himself for first place. In the jump-off he defeated himself by half a point.

The pickets became so interested in the deer they soon were picketing the Best place as well as the laundry. Mr. Bens sent for the cops and soon everything was straightened out.

Sports Roundup
By EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Joe Gould's insistent denial that he is only a pal (and not the business manager of Joe DiMaggio) are being politely laughed at in joints frequented by both Josephs—so don't be surprised at any thing that happens before the Yanks leave the stadium again. . . . From the way they are kicking up their heels in the East, the Giants are determined to stage a May Day parade every day this month.

The Yanks have been starting their home games at 3:15 and the Giants at 2 o'clock. President Horace Stoneham of the Giants thought the same starting hour should be observed by both teams and didn't know just what to say when Colonel Ruppert said: "No, we have a different type of customer."

From down in the Southern Association comes word that Joe (show man) Engel has been howling for a new umpiring deal in the circuit and has Major Trammell Scott, the president, about sold on the idea. . . . Others point out however that sometimes it is difficult to hire games who are both showmen and umpires.

Consider the tragic case of Mr. George Bens who operates a joint just off Broadway. . . . Mr. Bens went deer hunting up state in a taxi. . . . He spied a beauty and yelled for the driver to cease driving. . . . Mr. Bens leveled his shot gun on the taxi's fare meter. . . . He blazed away and was delighted when the animal fell. . . . He returned to the taxi to find the blast from the gun had jumped the meter $5. . . . Back in New York, the deer was proudly displayed in front of Mr. Bens tavern. . . . They were picketing a laundry next door. . . . The pickets became so interested in the deer they soon were picketing the Best place as well as the laundry. . . . Mr. Bens sent for the cops and soon everything was straightened out.

TEXAS LEAGUE LEADERS PLAY AGAIN TONIGHT

(By The Associated Press)
Tulsa and Beaumont, bitter rivals at the top of the Texas league, clash again tonight (Tuesday) on a ball-ground at Tulsa where last night the Oilers, increasing their leadership, rallied to win a hard fought battle from the Exporters, 8-7.

The Oklahoma City Indians, third in standings, blanked the San Antonio Missions 5-0; Fort Worth triumphed 2-1 over Houston, and Dallas kicked Shreveport back into the cellar 7-2. The same teams are matched again tonight.

Beaumont was six runs ahead when Stan Schingo's home run in the sixth with one on started a Tulsa barrage which knotted the score. Secory's homer in the eighth put the Exporters ahead again, but Holman of Tulsa singled with the bases loaded in the ninth to drive in the winning run.

Conrad Flippen, Fort Worth shortstop, doubled in the ninth-inning at Fort Worth, scoring Manager Homer Peel and raising a six-hit game for Paul Dean, former big league hurler, who is attempting a come-back with Houston.

Frank Lamas pitched a six-hit game as the Indians blanked the Missions and Jelly Sorelle, Dallas Steer moundsman, also turned in a six-hitter against Shreveport.

Tremaine Beats Hartay After Fans Gave Up Hope

ROOM 72 OF 9TH GRADE WINS JUNIOR HIGH TRACK HONORS

Dust held no terror for Pampa Junior high school athletes who had to battle the elements as well as each other in their annual track and field meet at Harvester field yesterday afternoon. Room 72 of the ninth grade romped away with honors in that division while room 75 needed out room 62 by two points to win the seventh grade title.

Individual scoring honors went to L. B. Allison of room 75, ninth grade, with 16 1/2 points. Allison romped home first in the 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, broad jump and ran a leg in the winning relay. Competition was close in nearly every event. The girls had their day, competing in nearly as many events as the boys. No record of time or distance was kept but in many events it might have put the Harvesters to shame.

Behind Allison in the ninth grade boys' division was Junior Henson with 11 points. Basil Arnold topped the seventh grade boys with 11 1/2 points to lead Bill Arthur with 10 1/2 points.

Ruby Gore and Patricia Bissett tied for high scoring honors among ninth grade girls with 7 1/2 points, closely followed by Virginia Fore with 7 points. Mary Nelson, with 5 1/2 points, led the seventh grade girls, leading Edna Brown and Coralee Cargile who had 5 points each.

Events were run off in a breaking time with Principal R. A. Selby all over the field assisting W. C. Huceba, Bruce Barton and Nathan Cleek while O. F. Shewmaker and Billy Mounts presided at the loud speaker and Miss Madge Rusk was in charge of records.

Handy Andy Tremaine last night showed a fighting heart to take the third and deciding fall of the match event from Bulldog George Hartay after the Hungarian had apparently won the fall and match. Tremaine came out of a series of the same hold and follow up with the same hold and follow up with a smother as fans were already leaving the arena, thinking Tremaine was "out."

Nearly a packed house witnessed the match, one of the prettiest exhibitions of wrestling ever seen in a local arena. Both grapplers went out for a win and it was punishment from the first gong until the last fall.

Hostilities opened with Bob Cummings and Buzz Reynolds going to a 20-minute draw, although Reynolds had a wild and furious wrestling end of the argument. Reynolds turned out to be a streak of greased lightning with a scientific knowledge seldom witnessed. He got a little rough in the closing minutes when unable to pin Cummings which lost him many supporters gained by early wrestling.

Dutch Mantell was the best man in the ring in the semi-final and he chased Sterling "Dandy Dilly" Davis to his dressing room after 17 minutes had elapsed. That gave Soldier Thomas the fall. Thomas replaced Gorilla Poggi, still barred from the ring because of a nose infection, Mantell slipping Davis around the ring for choking, using the ropes and other infractions of the rules.

Thomas put up a real battle but was almost out on his feet after Davis had used his famous frog scissors which he works into a choke hold.

The two main events didn't wait a single minute sparring. They met in the center of the ring and the battle was on. First one and then the other would have the advantage as they came out of almost impossible holds. Both worked on the arms early in the first fall with Hartay suddenly switching to a combination leg strangle and pile driver which won the first fall on the run. Little Andy came back but was weakened and fell into a series of flying hip locks which rendered him almost unconscious at the end of 37 minutes.

With nothing to lose, Tremaine opened up with every trick in the bag to win the second fall in 12 1/2 minutes with his pet rolling cradle. He got Hartay groggy with a series of head locks and whips.

With nothing to lose, Tremaine opened up with every trick in the bag to win the second fall in 12 1/2 minutes with his pet rolling cradle. He got Hartay groggy with a series of head locks and whips.

Hartay opened the last fall strong and appeared to have Tremaine on the run but Andy fought a heady battle, several times eluding drop kicks after taking one or falling away free from whip hip locks. The end came in seven minutes after Hartay had slammed Tremaine several times and jumped on top for a pin. Tremaine, however, had enough left to come out, although groggy, slammed Hartay three times and got the pin. Hartay rolled over at the three count and many fans thought Referee Mantell had counted too fast.

The two shook hands at the end of the battle as the crowd cheered.

Trotsky Leads in Hitting But Not With Home Runs

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Hal Trotsky renounced his home run aspirations today. He suggested the reason he leads American league hitters with a fat 465 average is because he hasn't tried to hammer down the right-field walls every time.

Oscar Vitt, Cleveland manager, induced Trotsky to experiment and the left-handed batter has changed from a "strictly pull hitter" to one who clubs to all fields.

"I'm not going to break any home run records this year," said the tall first baseman from Normy, Ia. "Instead of 38 or 40 I'll be satisfied with around 25 or 30. But I'll get more hits."

Texarkana Beats Tyler 23 to 4

(By The Associated Press)
Games today:
Marshall at Longview
Texarkana at Tyler
Texarkana at Palestine
Kilgore at Jacksonville
Groaning under last night's 23-4 slaughter at the hands of Texarkana, Tyler's Trojan square off against the Liners in a second game tonight (Tuesday), determined not to lose more of their comfortable margin of East Texas league leadership.

The Longview Cannibals, speeding along a come-back trail after dollops at the season's opening, took their seventh straight game last night with Marshall as the vic trium 7-6. The teams meet again tonight.

Henderson's Oilers play the Palestine Pals, who they trounced 10-7 last night, and the Kilgore Rangers, losers 2-1 to Jacksonville, again play the Jax.

FOOTBALL—DOWNFALL
LINDSEY, Okla.—Ovie Battles' big feat was his downfall.
Sheriff A. J. Beddo, investigating a cattle theft, found large footprints.
"Oh, oh," he said. "I don't know but one man in this county with feet that big. Ovie Battles."
He said Battles confessed and implicated another man. Both were sentenced to two years in prison.
Princess Elizabeth of England now can swim the length of the tank at the Bath club.

Yesterday, pressed to marry, Jackie discourages her mother but she knows from past experience that her mother will somehow win out.

CHAPTER II
"I'm afraid I can't come out to the field today," Jackie said regretfully, when Roger Brecken, telephoned her the next morning. Her foreboding had proved correct so far. Evelyn had taken to her bed with one of her sick headaches! She seemed really so ill, that Jackie felt she ought not to leave her. One never knew into what Evelyn's headaches might develop.

"But it's such a swell day!" Roger's voice portrayed disappointment even over the wire. "Unlimited flying visibility perfect, only a two-mile S. W. wind. I thought you might try your first solo, if you wished."

If she wished! Jackie's heart gave a leap, then bounded like a tennis ball with no bounce. "Maybe I can come out later," she suggested, but her voice did not sound very hopeful. "Or tomorrow..."

"I'm taking off for Washington tomorrow," Roger interrupted. He was a free lance pilot, occasionally he did some test flying, besides instructing. "If you can't take your lesson today, couldn't you run out long enough to grab a bite with me at the airport inn? Maybe we could manage to get aired too, afterwards."

Jackie never turned down a chance to get "aired" as Roger called it. If she possibly could help herself, "I'll do my best," she promised. If Roger was going away she would just have to manage. Not because she had to see Roger, but because she might not get "upstairs" until he returned, and besides she was so eager to hear all about the tests he was going to make in Washington.

WHEN Evelyn heard her daughter had an invitation to have dinner with her young man, she got surprisingly better. "Of course you must, my darling," she insisted sweetly. "And do wear something especially nice." She meant something feminine and frilly, if such a garment could be found in Jackie's wardrobe.

The slate-blue tailored suit, with its silk blouse, that Jackie zipped into after a hasty shower, was not so dancing and eager that most any young man, with the aid of the moon would want to talk about something beside flying.

Evelyn would not have considered the Airport Inn a very romantic setting. Its tables were covered with red and white checkered cloths, booths lined the sides; there were musical game machines and a general air of chatter and laughter. What appealed to Jackie were the auto-graphed photos of aviators, many of them "old-timers," that hung proudly on the walls, the hum of airplanes overhead, the press of excitement and activity.

"Isn't it terribly dangerous?" Jackie asked, after Roger had finished telling her about the tests he would make. So far they had talked of nothing but flying.

"Dangerous?" Roger's fine white teeth were exceptionally white in contrast to his weathered skin; his eyes crinkled at their corners when he smiled. His rough tweed were always casual, but he wore them with an air of distinction. His thick hair was wavy, bronzed from sun and wind; his shoulders broad and strong.

He never would admit any danger connected with his beloved flying. Now he shrugged even the suggestion away. "At worst I might break an arm, or get a bit annoyed from lack of oxygen," he said. "You've got to climb about 15,000 feet to do a straight drop in order to see of the ship will hang together."

"I hope it's a good ship," Jackie said. She shivered apprehensively. No matter what Roger said, she knew test-diving was the most dangerous thing any pilot could do. It didn't seem right to ask a man to do it. Roger had told her how the blood drained from one's head, rendering one almost blind, how centrifugal force pushed the head down to the shoulders and caused the back to ache, how the ship became a roaring monster under stress of so much speed, its whistling wires screaming crazily while life was held on a breath and death crouched on a dark shadow.

"I hope so too," Roger returned cheerfully. He looked as though he liked to pull the whiskers of fate. A man had to be a mixture of a fool and a poey to be a born flyer like Roger. "I guess it's a pretty swell bird. A Scomber, with a 700-horsepowered engine, sturdy and squat and bullet-proof."

Jackie heaved a big sigh of relief. "That's good," she said. "How long will you be gone, Roger?" Even when she started solving she would have to do 50 hours before she could get her pilot's license. She supposed she would be old, before she got to do something with her life.

"A week—ten days maybe," Roger seemed to be taken up with the thoughts of the future, too. He wore his dream-drunk look, chewing on the end of a toothpick, which he substituted for cigars, always having one dangling from the corner of his humorous mouth. "What do you hope to do some day," he asked, "are a few stratosphere flights. Think of the speed that can be developed up there! Why, you could get from coast to coast in a few hours! If I get a WHAT'S the matter?" Roger asked. He leaned toward her in consternation. She did not know that she had looked likt that accusing angel again.

"Everything!" Jackie blurted. She had not meant to confide in Roger, but hadn't he just told her his most secretly cherished ambitions? Besides she felt she had to confide in someone. "It's mother, Roger. She thinks she can plan my life, when I want to do something important. She thinks she can marry me off, just because she wants to get married herself. And what's more, she's likely to manage somehow to do it."

"Get married!" Roger almost swallowed his toothpick. "Who does she want to marry you off to?" "Me!" Jackie supplied.

"Yes, I know. It's too utterly ridiculous," Jackie spread her hands in a helpless gesture that was more appealing than of her mother's dramatics. "But you don't know mother. My life will be plenty miserable from now on. Unless I can think up some way to pacify her."

"That ought to be easy enough," Roger said. His eyes crinkled at their corners again. He pushed back his chair. "We can't talk in here with all this racket." Someone had put a racket in the electrical music-box; an orchestra was swinging high. "Suppose we go over to the hanger," he added. "We can take a flip and mull things over."

you mean you have an idea of some way to help me?" Jackie jumped up excitedly. "Oh, Roger, if you only could..."

"I'm made of ideas!" Roger boasted. "I'll concoct one you've never heard the like before, let me assure you."

(Question on editorial page.) The hour hand of a clock only points directly at a number when it is exactly on the hour. At this time the minute hand must stand at 12. If the difference in the numbers is 7, then the other number must be 12 minus 7 or 5 o'clock.

ROYAL DINNER MENU LEANER SINCE 1903. LONDON (P) - British royalty doesn't eat as heartily as it used to. When King George VI and Queen Elizabeth had friends in dinner at Buckingham Palace the other night they served:

Soup, mousse of fish, supreme of chicken, baby lamb, turkey with sausages, roast snipe and salad, asparagus, savory fritters, mushroom savory, and dessert.

Three famous views are those from the Beka's Plateau, seen from the Lebanons in Syria, the Vale of Cashmir in India, and the Mediterranean from Taormina in Sicily.

Mrs. Noblitt Gives Complete History Of Local Council

Mrs. W. E. Noblitt, historian of the city council of the Parent-Teacher association, read a history of the council, compiled by Meses. E. A. Shackleton, C. T. Hunkapillar, Noblitt, and Miss Josephine Thomas at the recent meeting of the council.

The history presented is given here:

Representatives of the Parent-Teacher association groups of Pampa, Mrs. J. H. Blythe, Mrs. F. G. Browne and Mrs. Claud Lard, Baker school; Mrs. E. R. Eunkapillar, East ward school; Mrs. W. Purviance, Mrs. J. P. Curtis, Mrs. T. A. Cox, West ward school; Mrs. E. Bass Clay, Mrs. Joe Smith, and Mrs. G. C. Malone, Lamar school; Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, Mrs. H. C. Wallace, and Mrs. T. W. Jamison, high school, met Saturday afternoon on April 12, 1930, at the high school and organized the City Council of Parent-Teacher association. Superintendent R. B. Fisher acted as chairman and the following are the names for the school: President, Mrs. V. E. Fatheree; vice-president, Miss Josephine Thomas; secretary, Mrs. Claud Lard; and treasurer, Mrs. John I. Bradley. Miss Thomas recorded the minutes of the meeting.

Mrs. Fatheree explained the following seven objectives of the Council: worthy home, membership, health, vocational and economic effectiveness, faithful citizenship, wise use of leisure, and epochal character. Mrs. Joe Smith spoke on "The Necessity of Maintaining a Thrift Room for the School." Following this discussion, Mrs. J. M. Crain of Claude, who is president of the eighth district of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, installed the newly elected officers of the City Council.

During Mrs. Fatheree's term of office, along with numerous other projects that were beneficial, parts of the Children's Charter were effectively studied. For her untiring efforts, Mrs. Fatheree was presented a past president's pen expressing the appreciation of the group.

Mrs. A. L. Townsend was elected to succeed Mrs. Fatheree as president of the Council, but resigned at the first meeting, and Mrs. J. B. Townsend was elected to serve the next term, 1931-32. During this term the Council worked with the welfare board in making clothes for needy children, finished the study of the Children's Charter, held an all day school of instruction on December 4, in which all phases of the activity were studied, and sponsored the planting, celebrating the Washington Bicentennial on March 15 on the high school campus, in which all schools of the town had a part.

Mrs. Townsend was re-elected as president of the Council to serve during 1932-33. On Saturday, December 17, Mrs. C. E. Roe, field secretary of the National Congress, gave an interesting address at the Methodist church. The Council also had another distinguished speaker that term, Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers college. Among other speakers that year were Superintendent R. B. Fisher, John B. Hessey, L. L. Sone and Mrs. V. E. Fatheree. At the end of her term, Mrs. Townsend was presented with a past president's pen. The officers for Mrs. Townsend's term of office were: vice-president, Mrs. Frank Murray; secretary, Mrs. J. W. Crowder; treasurer, Mrs. Earnest Crane; historian, Mrs. Dee Campbell.

Thrift Room Sponsored. Now comes the NRA in 1933-34 with Mrs. Claud Lard heading the Council under the Blue Eagle. "We do our part." The aim for this year was to keep pupils fit for study, so through the Council the Parent-Teacher association, with help from the welfare board, sponsored the thrift room with Mrs. J. H. Fatheree as chairman. The thrift room project was launched in the first year and was a vital issue during the two years.

Mrs. Lard was re-elected to serve as president during the term of 1934-35. An interesting annual program was sponsored by the City Council in a rally at the high school gymnasium. Each school presented a number and a massed band concert was a featured number. Superintendent Fisher was presented a life membership. A dollar a year shoe club was launched by the welfare committee of the City Council to secure funds to buy new shoes for the needy students. Mrs. V. E. Fatheree was the first to contribute to the fund. The campaign was a success. Among other projects carried out by the council during this term, the most important were the annual school of instruction held in October with Mrs. Lewis M. Goodrich, who is parliamentarian of the eighth district Parent-Teacher association, conducting a parliamentary drill and a dance sponsored by the Elks club, the proceeds of which going to the thrift room. The City Council and Parent-Teacher association units sent Mrs. Lard as a delegate to the State Parent-Teacher association convention at Corpus Christi, and, in appreciation of her work in the Council, honored her at a handkerchief shower. Among the important speakers of this term of office were Mrs. J. M. Crain of Claude, Mrs. J. E. Griggs of Amarillo, and Mrs. Lewis M. Goodrich of Shamrock. The officers for Mrs. Lard's term of office were: vice-president, Mrs. Myers; secretary, Mrs. A. N.

Dilley, Jr.; treasurer, Mrs. H. B. Knapp; historian, Mrs. Lawson.

Health Project Featured. Mrs. J. M. Turner was elected to succeed Mrs. Lard as president of the City Council for the term 1935-36. The activities of the City Council for the term included a school of instruction; the opening of a thrift room, with a pair worker, in the red brick building for the distribution of used clothing and buying of new clothing, with funds provided by other civic organizations; and a district convention held here on March 8, with Mrs. J. E. Griggs of Amarillo, who was eighth district president, helping to make the plans for the convention. Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar of Pampa was elected president of the eighth district of the Parent-Teacher association to succeed Mrs. Griggs the following year.

Mrs. Turner was re-elected to her office as president of the City Council to serve for the year, 1936-37. Among other things that were promoted by the City Council, the most important were the passage of legislation regarding the teacher retirement, compulsory teaching of ill effects of alcohol and narcotics in Texas public schools, and child labor or amendment. The City Council and local Parent-Teacher associations units sent Mrs. Turner as a delegate to district and state conventions. She was presented a life membership at the district convention. The publicity record book for this term placed first in the district. The officers for Mrs. Turner's term of office were: vice-president, Mrs. N. F. Maddux; secretary, Mrs. Roy Holt; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Garman, historian, Mrs. Dickey.

Mrs. Roy Holt was elected as president of the City Council to succeed Mrs. J. M. Turner for the year 1937-38. The many activities of this term include the annual school of instruction, in which the duties of all officers and committees were openly discussed; the health project and cooperation with the Gray County Parent-Teacher association in giving the tuberculosis serum to all school children in Pampa; sponsorship of the safety program in Pampa; established a Parent-Teacher shelf in the city library; contributed to the Boy Scout fund; bought one life membership; attended all county council meetings; visited all locals in our city and have added one local to the council, making a membership of seven locals in the council. The officers during Mrs. Holt's term of office were: vice-president, Mrs. C. M. Culbertson, secretary, Mrs. W. W. Waters, treasurer, Mrs. Emmitt Gee, historian, Mrs. W. E. Noblitt.

During her term of office the manual training department was installed and the equipment bought. Mrs. Vickers was re-elected as president to serve for the year 1924-25. Mrs. Harry Barnard was elected

ENGLAND LETS HITLER KNOW HER POSITION

By DeWITT MCKENZIE. NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—When the German Kaiser in the dark days of 1914 lashed out across prostrate Belgium at France with his mechanized legions, he had no intention of precipitating an armageddon.

He had been laboring under the belief that England wouldn't intervene. Had all the highest been able to see the truth—that Britain must fight as a matter of self-preservation, if for no other reason—there might have been no universal war.

To put it another way, if England had been more outspoken before the upheaval and told Europe just where she stood, probably the air would not have been filled with the ashes of a burning world.

This is among the bitter lessons which have inspired the new Anglo-French defensive alliance. England and France have advertised to all and sundry that they will fight together in case of attack. None can make the Kaiser's disastrous blunder.

For this reason the alliance is about the best insurance thus far devised against another European war. It may not prevent such an upheaval, but it will tend to defer it.

As a matter of fact, while the alliance is a most useful warning, there had been no doubt that Britain would fight for France if the latter were attacked.

England also would fight for Belgium or Holland or Denmark, in event of aggression against them.

There is nothing altruistic about that. The fresh dangers of the air have showed Britain's front-line to serve as the next president of the council for the year 1925-26. Mrs. Barnard was re-elected to her office as president of the City Council to serve for the year 1926-27. Mrs. Atteberry was elected to succeed Mrs. Barnard as president of the council for the year 1927-28. Mrs. Joe Smith was elected as president of the City Council to serve for the year 1928-29. The sixth annual convention of the eighth district was held on April 3, 4, 5, 1929.

GRANDSON OF KAISER WEDS DUCHESS KIRA

POTSDAM, Germany, May 3 (AP)—Prince Louis Ferdinand of the House of Hohenzollern and the Grand Duchess Kira of the House of Romanoff were married in civil ceremony in Cecilienhof castle this morning.

The marriage clerk, who ordinarily performs the civil service in Potsdam city hall, came to the castle and the first service was read in the castle library at 11 a. m.

The Crown Prince Wilhelm of Prussia, the bridegroom's father, and the Grand Duke Cyril, father of the bride and pretender to the lost throne of Old Russia, were the only witnesses.

Those of the persuasion of Captain Eden hold that had those powers opposed to aggression taken a firm stand they could, without causing war, have prevented such events as the conquests of Manchuria and Ethiopia, and Nazi moves which had much to do with precipitating the great armament race.

The Anglo-French alliance is further useful in that it provides for unified preparedness, even in the matter of storing foodstuffs to avoid a shortage in case of war.

The question of food is, of course, of paramount importance for the island kingdom of Britain, since she is largely dependent on the outside world for supplies. She was driven almost to the verge of desperate hunger during the world war by the German submarine campaign about her shores.

The alliance shows that another great truth was learned in the world war—the necessity of a united command. That apparently is being provided for in advance, whereas it took years of inefficiency during the big conflict to prove that there must be a central head.

MOTHERS CHOE FULFILLS ITS NAME. SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—When the more than 800 members of the Mothers Singers choir aren't singing, they're likely to be talking about children.

The choir, meeting for a general conference of the Latter Day Saints church, took a poll and found the average was pretty close to four children for each mother.

Five had given birth to 16 children each; 10 had mothered 12 children. Altogether the choir members had given birth to 3,269 children.

GET THE "RIDE" SENSATION OF THE YEAR IN THE BIG PLYMOUTH "Roadking"

Today's leading lowest-priced cars cost about the same...but one stands out! That car is the big, beautiful Plymouth "Roadking"...with a remarkable new ride that's the year's sensation of the lowest-price field... It has more room, more riding comfort... engineering's last word in safety features. It has amazing power and record economy... BOTH! And it's easy to own... your present car will probably represent a large proportion of Plymouth's low delivered price... balance in surprisingly low monthly installments.

PLUMOUTH "Roadking" 5-PASSENGER SEDAN $685. "Detroit delivered price," including front and rear bumpers and bumper guards, spare wheel, tire and tube, foot control for headlight beam with indicator on instrument panel, ash-tray front and rear, sun visor, safety glass and big trunk space (19.3 cubic feet). Plymouth "Roadking" models start at $645; "De Luxe" models slightly higher. Plymouth prices INCLUDE ALL FEDERAL TAXES. State, local taxes not included. Convenient time payments. TUNE IN MAJOR BOWEN'S AMATEUR HOUR, C.B.S. NETWORK, THURS., 9-10 P.M., E.D.S.T.

Airplane-Type Shock-Absorbers. Plymouth's double-action, airplane-type shock-absorbers swallow roadshocks far better because they control both the up and down movement of all four springs! Result? A new ride... plus faster steering, easier handling, and the extra smoothness of double-action hydraulic brakes.

Biggest of the 3. It's important to know that the Plymouth "Roadking" is easily the biggest of the three leading low-priced cars... it is nearly 7 inches longer than one; and more than 10 inches longer than the other.

Rubber-Cored Body Mountings. To prevent road "drumming" and vibration from reaching passengers, Plymouth engineers have developed "live" rubber body mountings to do away with metal-to-metal contact between body and frame.

Floating Power Engine Mountings. This advancement keeps engine vibration from being "telegraphed" to passengers.

Change Now to Summer Grade Mobilgas Mobiloil. YOUR CAR NEEDS THIS Summerize PROTECTION! 1 - Correct grade of heat-resisting Summer Mobiloil for your motor. 2 - Tough Mobil Gear Oil for your transmission. 3 - Fresh Mobil Gear Oil for your differential. 4 - Mobilgrease for the chassis to resist heat, water and pressure. 5 - Powerful, anti-knock Mobilgas for better summer mileage. 6 - Mobil Radiator Flush to clean radiator and Mobil Hydrotone to keep it clean. 7 - Inspect and check battery. IT'S great to have a car that's ready to go when you are... a car that you can drive ten or a thousand miles without misgivings. The kind of service you get from your automobile depends upon the kind of oil, lubrication and gasoline you give it. The light weight oils and greases you used for quick winter starting are not suitable for hot weather driving. Chances are your winter oil is dirty and diluted from frequent chalking. That's why Magnolia Dealers are ready to SUMMERIZE your car with the 7 important services listed at the left. It means safer driving—more pleasant driving all summer long.
