Loans, Deposits In Local Banks Reflect Growth

Loans and deposits in Pampa's banks reflect a growing and prosperous economy,
reports of year-end conditions reveal.

The reports followed orders yesterday by three major federal banking agencies for banks to submit reports of their conditions as of the end of 1967.

Deposits at First National increased $2,905,915 over those of 1967, while Citizens Bank and Trust Company had deposit increases of $507,409.

Loans at Citizens increased $711,052 over last year while those at First National increased $1,027,898.

Citizens had record deposits of $14,294,378 at the end of 1967 as compared to $13,786,969 at the end of 1967.

First National deposits at end of 1967 totaled $24,955,269 as compared to 1967 deposits of $22,049,354.

Loans at First National totaled $9,860,339 as compared to $8,832,441 at the end of 1967.
Citizens Bank had loans of $6,693,504 at the end of 1967 as compared to $5,982,451 at the end of 1967.

Although not subject to federal bank "calls," Security
Federal Savings and Loan Ass'n. here said they would release figures of deposits and loans tomorrow.

record increases were reported across Texas.

As of Dec. 31, 1967, Dallas
County registered $5,204,007,- 070.43 compared with $5,015,- 685,735 in Harris County. It was the first time in the state's history for banks in a single county to exceed the $5 billion mark.

The 29 banks in metropolitan San Antonio reported their highest deposit total with $1,302,990,- 191.76, compared with $1,230,- 303,506.36, last year.

San Antonio first went over the billion deposit mark in October 1965 and increased steady-ly since that time.

Fort Worth banks in Tarrant
County had deposits of $1,546,- 326,451 up $127,865,452 from Dec. 29, 1967.

Tyler banks led East Texas
deposits with a record $180,824,- 775, up almost $10 million over the previous record in October.

Another all-time high was recorded in Lubbock with a total of $388 million, up 8 per cent over last year. The six banks in Lubbock increased more than $49 million over last year.

Banks in the lower Rio Grande Valley bulged with an $18.5-million increase in total bank deposits over the past year.

Security Tight As Sirhan Trial Opens in RFK Death

NO, IT'S NOT ENGLAND — Area residents awoke today to find the land enveloped in a thick fog, with temperatures hovering around freezing. The scene above shows part of the downtown area, looking north on Russell St., as cars crept along due to the highly limited visibility. The fog had begun to lift from the city around noon today.

Defense Will Try To Avoid Death Penalty

By JACK V. FOX
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The racetrack exercise boy charged with the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy went to trial today with the defense hoping to save him from the gas chamber.

Sirhan B. Sirhan, 24, a tiny Arab immigrant, was described as eager to face justice seven months after he shot Sen. Kennedy in the midst of dozens of persons at Kennedy's presidential primary election victory celebration in the Ambasador Hotel.

The strictest security precautions in the history of American civil courts were imposed.

Sirhan's trial, lasting perhaps three months, was taking place in a courtroom sealed off by steel doors with three dozen counsel will not say whether he deputies standing guard and will take the witness stand.

Not Guilty Plea
Chief defense lawyer Grant B. Cooper, of Los Angeles, has entered a straight plea of "not guilty." After examination by two court-appointed psychiatrists, the defense did not choose to enter the possible plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The court was convening at 9:30 a.m. PST (11:30 a.m. EST).
Sirhan has never said publicly

Witnesses Tell Jury of Events Of Assassination

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It was the night of the 1968 California presidential primary and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy had just ended his victory speech with the words, "on to Chicago and let's win there."

Karl Uecker, assistant maitre
d' at the Ambassador Hotel, escorted Kennedy from the stage of the Embassy Room that Wednesday morning amid the cheers of the senator's supporters.

A last-minute change in plans called for Kennedy to walk to press headquarters in the Colonial Room for a news conference.

"He was supposed to be the first plan was that he was supposed to go downstairs, the next floor," Uecker later told the grand jury. "He was supposed to make a speech over there and their minds were changed at the last minute."

"So at the last minute it couldn't have lasted more than 10 seconds or so—the whole party decided to turn right," Uecker said.

The route led Kennedy off the stage, through two doors and into a partry where he paused by an icemaking machine to shake hands with kitchen employees of the Ambassador.

The time was 12:15 a.m. June 5.
"I was turning to my right," Uecker recalled, "toward the Colonial Room where the press room was. At the time something rushed by my right side. I didn't recognize what it was. It was some paper flying.
I don't remember what it was,
paper or white pieces of things."
"Then I heard the first shot and the second shot right after that and Mr. Kennedy fell out of my hand. I lost his hand. I looked for him and I saw him falling down."

Seconds before, a waiter,
Vincent Thomas Di Piero, saw Sirhan B. Sirhan standing on a platform used to stack oval trays. He was smiling.

Di Piero said as Sirhan stepped down the four inches from the stand to the floor, "he was smiling. In fact, the minute
the first two shots were fired, he still had a very sick-looking smile on his face," the waiter said.

Kennedy was struck three times by the .22-caliber bullets.
He died at Good Samaritan Hospital 25 hours later. Sirhan was wrestled to the ground and arrested for the murder.

Mr. and Mrs. Hernandez have three petitions circulating, which state, "We believe our people should be free to believe as they so desire. We should be free to read our Bible, free to pray, free to worship, free and where we desire. We should be free to teach our children
the Golden Rule."

"I believe strongly the middle man has been quiet long enough and needs to speak out and not be afraid to have his name placed in public against this type of thing."

"Mrs. O'Hair is trying to erase the name of God from about everything." She wants the Word God taken out of the pledge of allegiance.

"One of my main reasons is that I have seven growing children, and they'll be here when I'm gone. If we fight for what we believe our children will benefit from that," she added.

Selection of a jury of 12
regular members, and six alternates was scheduled to begin shortly after Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker rapped the court to order. The jurors will be locked in their rooms during the trial.

AFTER ISRAELI RAID

Lebanese Cabinet Resigns In Protest

By United Press International
The Lebanese government of Premier Abdullah Yafi resigned today, 10 days after an Israeli commando raid destroyed 13
airliners at Beirut airport and embarrassed the regime.

Lebanon radio in Beirut said Yafi's cabinet sent its letters of resignation to President Charles Helou. Immediate acceptance could delay passage of a law ordering compulsory military

MOD Campaign Gets Underway

The traditional drive staged by the National Foundation
March of Dimes to raise funds to fight birth defects is now underway in Gray County,
according to Charles R. Martin, Pampa, who is in charge of the county campaign.

Martin said that the drive,
which will continue throughout the month of January, will include the annual Mothers' March, "Bucket Brigade" and an auction, as well as special events sponsored by Pampa High School's Key Club and Tru-Teens.

David E. Holt is in charge of Pampa's city-wide campaign and Mrs. T.L. Garner will head
the Mothers' March.

Danny Wileman will lead the drive in Lefors and Creed Lamb is chairman of M.O.D. activities in McLean.

When the March of Dimes
entered the field in 1958, birth defects appeared to be an unconquerable health menace, and even today 250,000 of America's newborn are stricken annually and an additional 500,000 babies

service for all 18 year olds in Lebanon.

The resignation by Yafi's 12-week-old cabinet came as no surprise.

Frequently under fire, it suffered a major blow in the Israeli commando raid. Calls rose for new leadership and a tougher line against the Jewish state.

Defense and Foreign Minister Hussein Oweini already had resigned after being criticized for his explanation of the raid.

More violence came in the Middle East today. In the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip, taken in the 1967 Arab-Israeli War, terrorists threw a grenade at an Israeli truck near a downtown Gaza school. A Jerusalem announcement said 10 persons were injured, four of them seriously.

All the injured were bystanders. Neither the truck nor its occupants suffered injury, the Jerusalem announcement said.

In Paris, France—with its old ties to Lebanon and with President Charles de Gaulle carrying further a policy opposed to Israeli counter terror—announced an arms embargo against the Jewish state. An Israeli Embassy spokesman in Paris said it could seriously hurt Israel's air force in a matter of months.

In Cairo, Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad said today his country was backing the recent Soviet diplomatic push to try to bring peace in the Middle East. He spoke before leaving for Belgrade to try to get President Tito's support for the Soviet peace offensive.

In London, Western diplomats said a so-called big power

Lie Detector Results Cast Doubt On Brutality Stories

AUSTIN (UPI) — Lie detector tests cast doubt on the stories of brutality told by five youths
at the Gatesville State School for boys but not everyone was satisfied with the result Monday.

Three of the youths admitted in statements given to the Department of Public Safety in Waco Sunday they had been beaten by guards who were trying to disarm them, during an escape attempt.

House Speaker Ben Barnes, who flew to Gatesville in the early hours Sunday to investigate the youths' claims, said
the other two boys given lie detector tests admitted they got their bruises in a fight.

In separate statements, the first three said if a single guard caught them, they had planned to kill him. They were recaptured Jan. 2 after they spent more than a day hiding in a plumbing room at the school.

Five Weapons Found
Five guards also were given polygraph tests, and officials produced five homemade weapons they said were taken from the youngsters.

But in Houston, Rep. Curtis Graves said he was still convinced there was brutality at the school and said he would not be satisfied "until some heads roll at Gatesville."

The investigation was launched by a legislative committee headed by state Rep.
Vernon Stewart of Wichita Falls, Tex.

Companies Affected By Strike To Continue Operations Locally

All companies in the Pampa area affected by a strike of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union (OCAW) continued to operate today with supervisory personnel.

OCAW employees of Cities Service became the last local union members to join the nationwide petrochemical strike
when they walked off the job
at the end of the daylight shift yesterday.

Pampa area units affected by the strike include Cities Service gasoline and production departments, Skelly natural gas and processing plants and manufacturing department, and Sinclair production.

E. P. Warren, director of employe relations for the Southwest region of Phillips Petroleum Co., said Phillips units in the Pampa area were not affected by the strike.

House Members Vote to Double Nixon's Salary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Monday to pay Richard M. Nixon $200,000 a year as president—double the pay of his predecessor. The Senate seems certain to go along.

In debate preceding voice-vote approval of the $100,000 raise,
one member said the presidential pay scale was still "chicken feed" for the nation's highest office. Another said the action opened the federal checkbook to "outlandish" increases for other government workers.

In addition to the salary,
which is taxable, the President also would continue to receive taxable $50,000 a year to cover expenses and another non-taxable $40,000 for travel and entertainment purposes.

Only a few scattered dissenting voices were heard in the House vote. The Senate, tradition-bound not to do legislative business until the State of the Union message goes to Capitol Hill—sometimes prior to Nixon's inauguration—appeared ready to approve the full amount.

The raise for the Chief Executive is part of a package,
most of which needs no action by Congress, which will give pay boosts to all top government officials, including judges and congressmen. The sizes of the increases still are to be determined by President Johnson.

And on July 1, all government workers will get another pay raise, under a law passed two years ago.

tions surrounding the lie detec-

at Skelly's four natural gas processing plants between here and

All but about 100 Pampa area members of the OCAW have now responded to the strike call, which was first issued one minute after midnight Friday.

About 250-300 Pampa area
members of the OCAW are now on strike, according to estimates by Hager Patton, union representative of locals in Pampa, Borger and Dumas.

The union, whose contracts with oil firms expired Dec. 31, asked for a 72-cent wage increase over the next 23 months and improvements in fringe benefits. Union officials said major companies had offered about half the amount asked.

A national union spokesman said Monday there was no indication whether the strike "will

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has not come near me even for a kiss, since my hysterectomy two years ago. My scar is ugly and neat, not repulsive or ugly.

My husband is the type who goes around our property cutting down all the trees that are imperfectly formed. We are in our early forties. Please print your answer. He may profit by it.

"CUTDOWN"

DEAR "CUTDOWN": You are not a tree, and there is no reason to regard as "imperfect" a woman who bears a scar. Your husband has a far more serious "imperfection." His does not show, but it may require a professional to get to the root of it.

DEAR ABBY: If anybody writes in and asks you if she should marry a widower who was married to the same woman for 40 years, tell her not to.

I've been married for three months to a man who is wonderful when he's awake, but he keeps calling me "Myrtle" in his sleep. Maybe he can't help it, but I was widowed twice, and I never once called my present husband Alfred or LeRoy in my sleep, and if I can be careful, so can he.

NOT-MYRTLE

DEAR NOT: A 40-year-old habit is not easily broken. Just remember that your husband is not responsible for what he calls you in his sleep. (At least you know who Myrtle was.)

DEAR ABBY: My father is having an affair with a girl who is not much older than I am, (I am 24.) She went to work in his office soon after her divorce. I can't describe how heart sick I am. I have always adored my father, and now I can't even look at him.

My mother must suspect something because she looks so unhappy and worried lately, but she is proud.

I don't believe my father would divorce Mother to marry

(A Rash of Cleanliness)
I kept my appointment with the dermatologist with some trepidation.

"Tell me, doctor," I said. "Do not spare me."

He examined my arms and hands carefully.

"Is this the heartbreak of psoriasis?" I asked.

"It's surprising how many of my patients ask that," he said. "You've been watching too much television."

Was this, then, the result of sitting up and watching all those old South Pacific war movies on The Late Show? "You mean it's jungle rot?"

"I meant you've watched too many commercials."

"Oh."

"Your problem is dry skin. You take too many baths."

"Cleanliness is next to Godliness," I reminded.

He stopped writing prescriptions. "Are you a Christian Scientist?"

"Finish the prescriptions," I said.

He did. I got them for two ointments, one lotion, a bath oil and some pills. I also got cautioned to wear rubber gloves while lurking around the kitchen sink as well as warnings about wrapping up when I step outside the house.

He also cautioned me not to drink while I was taking the pills. This was unnecessary because I once had a cocktail two hours after taking a prescribed medication and I awakened in a hospital emergency room.

Being loaded down with five prescriptions merely because I have dry skin seemed ridiculous and I told him so. However, he informed me that each year in his waiting room holds more people with the same complaint. He says we are victims not only of too much bathing but of our good furnaces and tight storm windows.

I first visited the dermatologist last summer because a rash developed on my arms, and the diagnosis was that I had become photosensitized.

And, he tells me, people are now lining up in his office because this sun poisoning has become a common complaint. Mine was caused apparently by overexposure to the sun. However, various medications can result in our becoming photosensitized. In this pill-taking age, it has become a real problem.

"All the price of civilized living," my doctor says. I paid what he meant. After all, I paid his bill; didn't I?

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 8

Your birthday Wednesday: Decision-making will be your lot in the coming year. A greater portion of your time will be filled with serious meditation.

When needed privacy is unavailable, tensions hinder your morale and confidence. Escapist maneuvers are costly to the extreme. Wednesday's natives can make great progress in conquering limitations and are at their best striving for an ambitious goal.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): A little extra effort brings broader results. Surprisingly useful assistance comes from people not expected to help. Health concern should reflect as better care and saner habits.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Seek advice and backing from influential individuals if your projects justify presentation. This evening line up accounts and improve your budget.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Activity is on research fronts. Take your findings to the boss; it could mean a raise. Your friends all have different ideas; let them talk, but go right ahead with what is important to you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Competition is more visible; your work responds accordingly. Do postponed errands during lunch hour. Clear out old equipment, clothing; this is the only way to make room for timely replacements.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Chores should be done early (the later hours fade in efficiency.) Visitors are the probable social manifestation in your home in the evening. Relax; let things follow a normal drift.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You are much harder on yourself than anybody else could be. Let up a little, and others will let up a bit too. Spend the evening in serious study with some emphasis on music.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Open up a bit in a lighter vein. Try to settle possessions. Pursue romantic interests tomorrow night.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your friends may seem frivolous; but it's a good idea to join them. Morning is the most energetic part of the day. Make early provision to cover the evening's doings.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Meet competition with your best foot forward and you'll have good results. Family situations come to turning points. Bear with the big changes necessary now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Every body wants something, usually something you can't give at the moment. Patience is rewarding. Do what you have to without spoiling later efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You can't get at the people responsible for problems, or solutions. The best answer is your persistent effort along conservative lines.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Find time for some exercise. The more-drive and energy you bring to your work and play, the better. Go after the things you feel are yours.

Now that the holidays are over, we hope everyone had a happy Christmas and New Year.

Due to the big snow predicted, your reporter canceled the trip to California and had Christmas dinner with a friend here, Edna Davis.

Several were out Thursday. All seemed happy to be back at the center for the weekly games. The weather was ideal, too, warmer than usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bailey and daughter KKathy, Brownfield, spent Christmas holidays with Mr. Bailey's mother, Mrs. Elma Bailey and sister, Mrs. Marvin Bowman and family.

Mrs. C.G. Miller accompanied her daughter, Mrs. D.H. Porter of Shamrock, and her daughter and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Neil Rogers and Mrs. Richard Porter, of Canyon, and visited relatives in Elk City, Okla., and Butler, Okla., recently. Mrs. Miller spent Christmas with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D.H. Porter, and children, near Wheeler and visited with Mrs. Rogers, and Mrs. Richard Porter of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Lawrence spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. John L. Stephens in Groom.

Joe Shelton spent Christmas with his daughter, Mrs. Bobby Skeen, and family, Clovis, N.M.

Mrs. C.P. Roop's son Elmer Roop and his wife, Cocola, Idaho, were here Christmas week with his mother. This was the first time he has been home in nine years, Mrs. Roop said.

Mrs. Mollie Hethcock and son Emmitt visited with his daughter, Mrs. Patsy VanHoss and her family in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Lillian Snow has returned from New Orleans, La., where she visited her son Charles and his family and attended the wedding of a grandson, Larry Pryor, son of Beverly and Charles Snow.

Guests of Mrs. Myrtle Enlow during the holidays were her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Lake Jackson, with their three children, Drew, Mark and Donna.

Hostesses were the Altrusans.

SKELLYTOWN (Spl)—The Naomi Sunday School Class of Skellytown First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Clifford Coleman for their annual Christmas party.

The meeting began with a prayer by Mrs. Coleman's mother, Mrs. Susie Roberts who is visiting in the Coleman home this winter from Owensville, Ind.

After Mrs. Bill Houghton, the class teacher, presented a devotional Mrs. A.R. Baker read a poem entitled "What Makes a Christmas." Members also exchanged gifts. Each member brought a toy for the church nursery.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Don Carter, Edd Pannell, Robert Germany, K.S. McCabe, Clyde Horner, B.H. McGee, Bill Houghton, Harry Carter, Bill Evans A.R. Baker, Adolph Novotny, Susie Roberts and Ira Colley.

Price Appeals For Military Applications

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa issued an appeal today for more applications from Panhandle youths who desire to make the military their career by attending West Point, Annapolis or the Air Force Academy.

Price stated that he can nominate as many as 80 young men for the eight vacancies this summer and that so far only 45 have applied.

The Congressman will be filling four vacancies at West Point, two at Annapolis and two at the Air Force Academy.

Young men between the ages of 17 and 22 who are high school graduates and unmarried are encouraged to apply by writing or phoning Congressman Bob Price's office in the Post Office Building in Amarillo.

Nominations are made on a strictly objective, non-political basis. Ten boys are nominated for each vacancy and compete equally for the appointment.

After a series of physical and mental examinations and consideration of the boy's scholastic class standing and extra-curricular activities, the academy appoints the best qualified young men.

The deadline for applications is Jan. 16.

Change Taken From Business

An undetermined amount of change was taken sometime during the night Monday from Culberson-Stowers Chevrolet, 805 N. Hobart.

According to a Pampa police report, a person or persons unknown climbed on top of the used car office and went into the building through a window. The burglar or burglars first tried to pry open a vending machine but failed. A money box then was taken out of a soft drink machine.

Police said offices in the building were also searched.

signed statements. I question the way those statements were taken. "I think the boys were put under duress before their statements were taken. Even if the boys exaggerated greatly (to the committee), I'm still convinced there is brutality at Gatesville... to a very large degree."

"This seems to be the rule rather than the exception," Graves said. "I won't be satisfied until some heads roll at Gatesville."

School Officials To Attend Annual State Convention

Superintendent Dr. James F. Malone and James Trusty, assistant school business manager, will attend the 20th annual Texas School Administrators and Advisors Conference on Education in Austin Wednesday through Friday.

As one of three Texas members of the National Education Association, Dr. Malone will give greetings for one of the general sessions, which will be held in Austin hotels.

The school officials from every Texas district will study 16 topics ranging from special education to kindergarten. Topics included on the agenda are a study of vocational education, expansion of the school lunch program, bi-lingual education in Texas, reports on concepts of Texas culture, and implementations of recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education.

The educators will also discuss development of pre-school program for five year olds. Beginning this month, Pampa is starting a pilot program for kindergarten in a local school with 32 students in the initial classes.

Other agenda items are professional consultations, common legal school, district problems, teacher aides' assignments and services, summer school operation, and a re-study of the 60 semester-hours approved program for preparation of school administrators.

Student Vocational Nurses Set to Receive Caps Today

Student Vocational Nurses of Highland General Hospital will receive their caps in a ceremony at 7:30 p.m. today at Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church. The capping ceremony is to recognize their completion of four months of their 12-month nursing course.

Mrs. Bessie Franklin, R.N., instructor of the school, will present the caps to 14 student nurses. Miss Verneal Meador, director of nursing service, will assist with the ceremony.

Dr. Royce Laycock, a member of the hospital medical staff, will be guest speaker. Wes Langham, hospital administrator, will introduce Dr. Laycock, and will be master of ceremonies.

CoC Delegation Visit Conference

A group from the Pampa Chamber of Commerce is in Amarillo today attending a Congressional Action Conference.

The meeting is being held at the Amarillo Club with Harry L. Cowan, district manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce, conducting the conference program.

The purpose of the meeting is to assist towns in the Panhandle area with legislative committee organization and planning and to inform them of major legislation coming up in this session of Congress.

Representing Pampa at the meeting today are Ben Sturgeon, chairman of the Legislative and National Affairs Committee; Bill Power of the Pampa Daily News; Gordon Lyons, general manager of Southwestern Public Service Company; and Chamber Manager E.O. Wedgworth.

Wanetta Bayless, a Pampa High School student, will present special music accompanied by Charlotte Hall as organist.

In this four months of training the students have completed their pre-clinical period, which consists of 376 class hours and 152 experience hours," Miss Meador said.

"They are entering the clinical area of their training, which will take eight months for 150 class hours and 170 experience hours. After completion of the course, they are eligible to write the State Board Examination. After passing the state board, they become licensed vocational nurses. This is the fourth LVN class of Highland General Hospital, which has graduated 39 students since 1963," she said.

Medical science is beginning to see some hope, however, for the prevention of some defects. The recently marketed Rh vaccine and the German measles vaccine now being developed are two examples. In addition, the March of Dimes conducts prenatal care education programs to help reduce defects and infant mortality.

The March of Dimes depends on an informed public to finance its programs of basic and clinical research, its nationwide network of more than 100 birth defects centers and its programs of professional and public education.

Special March of Dimes educational films on the prevention and treatment of birth defects are available for showing to interested civic clubs and organizations upon request, Martin said.

Morris Installed As President Of Toastmasters

Tony Morris, manager of engineering design for the Cabot Corporation's Engineering Division, was installed as the new president of the Pampa Toastmasters Club Monday night at a dinner meeting held at the Coronado Inn.

Wendell Heiny, District 44 representative of Toastmasters International from Amarillo, performed the installation.

Other officers installed included Curt Beck, educational vice-president; Gary Kastor, administrative vice-president; Malcolm McClelland, secretary; Tom Johnson, treasurer, and Dave Pilcher, sergeant-at-arms.

The meeting was a ladies' night and several wives of members and other guests were present. Among the guests were Carroll Pace, Area 6 governor, from Borger, and his wife.

Morris, new club president, offered several New Year's resolutions to club members, among which was to participate in all aspects of club activities in order to reap the full benefits of the Toastmaster program.

Morris also issued an invitation to any man in Pampa interested in self-improvement to visit the Toastmasters Club, which meets every Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the Coronado Inn.

The evidence against Sirhan is overwhelming: —A matre d' who was leading Kennedy by the hand through a pantry of the hotel seized Sirhan even as he still was firing a .22 caliber revolver.

—Olympic decathlon champion Rafer Johnson wrestled the gun from his hand. —A grade school playground instructor saw him the day before the shooting practicing rapid fire bursts at a target range.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The counting of the electoral votes by Congress was one of those rare moments of suspense and high drama that keeps you sleeping on the edge of your chair.

The only thing that compares with it, pins and needles-wise, was that all biting period last Friday when the House and Senate appointed a committee to notify the President that they were back in session.

Unbearable anxiety built up while the Senators and Representatives awaited word as to whether the committee had managed to contact the president and transmit this vital bit of information.

When the report finally arrived that the mission was successful, some lawmakers fell to their knees. I'm not certain whether they were thankful or drunk.

Monday's joint session at which the electoral votes were counted was, if anything, even more of a cliff-hanger. Tension in the air was so thin you could have cut it with a laser beam.

It was apparent from the outset that the vote was going to be close. Sen. Edmund Muskie, the only candidate present, entered the chamber and immediately began shaking hands with everyone in reach.

Apparently he was doing some last minute campaigning in hopes of swinging the victory his way.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey would normally have presided at the session, but had another duty to perform elsewhere. That spared him the ordeal of having to count himself out.

The electoral votes of each state were announced in alphabetical order. George Wallace jumped out to an early lead with 10 votes from Alabama. Four states later, Richard Nixon overtook him.

Then Connecticut gave eight votes to Humphrey, which made it a three-way race.

As tension mounted, dismounted and then remounted sidesaddle, someone challenged a North Carolina vote for Wallace, claiming it should have gone to Nixon.

At that point, Nixon had only 188 of the 270 votes needed to make him president, so the challenged vote could have been crucial. My palms were getting sweaty.

For two agonizing hours, the count was suspended while the lawmakers debated the matter. They finally let the challenged vote stand.

It turned out that Nixon won handsily without it, amassing 301 electoral votes, to 191 for Humphrey and 46 for Wallace.

Muskie left the chamber still shaking hands.

Apollo 8 Flight Rates Top Story in UPI Survey

By United Press International
In terms of both headline value and significance, the Apollo 8 flight around the moon was judged No. 1 in the United Press International survey on the top 10 news stories of 1968.

The result of the annual balloting reflected the opinion of UPI subscribing editors in North America. They were asked to mark two forms, one rating the top 10 in terms of headline value, the other in terms of significance.

The assassination of Robert F. Kennedy was the No. 2 story in the headline-value vote. The No. 2 spot on the significance list went to the election of Richard M. Nixon as president.

The ballot results:

HEADLINE VALUE

1. Apollo 8 Lunar flight.
2. Kennedy assassination.
3. Nixon elected president.
4. Martin Luther King assassination.
5. President Johnson decides not to seek reelection.
6. North Korea seizes Pueblo and crew.
7. Soviet bloc invades Czechoslovakia.
8. Vietnam peace moves: Paris talks open; bomb halt.
9. Student power: political, sit-ins, school seizures, youth revolt.
10. The Pope's birth control edict and resultant church dissension.

SIGNIFICANCE

1. Apollo 8 Lunar flight.
2. Nixon elected president.
3. Vietnam peace moves.
4. Johnson decides not to seek reelection.
5. Continuing U.S. racial strife.
6. Kennedy assassination.
7. Soviet bloc invades Czechoslovakia.
8. Student power.
9. Martin Luther King assassination.
10. North Korea seizes Pueblo.

Of a long list of news developments to choose from, the U.S. racial strife was the only one rated on the significance list that did not make the big 10 headline list. The birth control controversy, which was last on the headline list, was rated just below the first 10 in significance.

The runner-up below the first 10 in headline value was the marriage of Jacqueline Kennedy to Aristotle Onassis.

Youth Admits To Thrill Kill

HOUSTON (UPI) — A 17-year-old youth Monday admitted strangling a 40-year-old barber because "It was a thrill."

"I always wanted to see somebody die," Thomas Franklin Caraway said. "I want to go to the electric chair, I want to see what it's like to die."

Caraway was arrested Sunday night and charged with killing Nathan Lee Webb, whose nude body was found in a hotel room on New Year's Eve. He was strangled with a venetian blind cord.

Caraway was arrested after he bragged about killing Webb to his girl friend and to a cousin. They told police.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Alexander Hamilton Institute says it expects the stock market to "move sideways" for most of this year barring the stimulus of "major surprise happenings." The analyst adds that under these conditions the Dow Jones industrial average should remain in the 935 to 1050 range.

Goodbody & Co. says it does not regard the market as overvalued fundamentally even allowing for some decline in corporate earnings. The company, however, adds that the psychological implications of an induced business slowdown "continue to suggest a defensive investment policy and the buildup of cash reserves for future buying opportunities."

The Wiesenberger Investment Report says "moves toward tightening credit have dealt a severe blow to the inflationary expectations that have prevailed equity markets." The analyst suggests the market may be "on the defensive" and advises investors to maintain "a constructive investment policy, tempered by a substantial measure of caution."

The magazine racks at Highland General Hospital have no magazines in them. If you have any magazines, please take them to the foyer and place them in the Red Cross Racks. The people that are ill and in the hospital need magazines to read and this is something each of us can do to help.

There will be an instructor's course in First Aid in February held in Pampa and if you are interested in taking this course you MUST take an Advance First Aid Course.

Anyone who carries a Standard First Aid Card and is interested in becoming a First Aid Instructor should enroll in this Advance Class.

The class will be taught by Ray Fisher, First Aid Ins. Monday Jan. 13 from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. at the Sub Fire Station No. 1.

Dates will be 13, 15, 17, 21, 23, 27 and 29 of January, with last class to be held Jan. 31.

We are glad to report that Libby is better and expects to be home from the hospital this coming week. Mr. Shotwell has also been in hospital with the flu. We hope both will be up and feeling much better next week.

GRAVITY-VACUUM TRANSIT (GVT) trains proposed for the New York metropolitan area would develop thrust equal to five Boeing 707 jets. Trains of this type could carry 1,600 passengers three miles at average speed of 112 miles an hour for $2 in electric power and could provide 58-minute transit time from New York to Washington or Boston, according to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Using a combination of gravity and pneumatic force for power, the system is an extension of the same concept employed in pneumatic tubes used in many offices and stores. Use of this type of train has been recommended by the Regional Plan Association of New York. Artist's concept shows how trains would run through dual tubes placed inside a tunnel.

Nasser Losing Role To Arab Commandos

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The increasing role of the Arab commandos in the Middle East is complicating a situation being made more difficult by the mounting internal stresses among the chief belligerents, Egypt, Jordan and Israel.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser no longer is the popular figure he once was.

That role has been taken over by the commandos, especially by the biggest and strongest, the Al Fatah whose leader is known as Abu Amar. His devotion to action has taken over the imagination of the Arab world.

Permit Raids
King Hussein of Jordan, after a vain attempt to curb commando activities, now has been forced to permit them to operate against Israel from inside Jordan.

In effect, he is not the ruler in his own land.

Israel, with an election coming up, is divided both on how to meet the commando threat and on final disposition of the captured Arab lands won in the June War of 1967.

Spy scares grip both Egypt and Iraq.

When Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko visited Cairo in mid-December it was presumably to confer with Nasser on what since has blossomed out as a Soviet proposal that a peaceful solution to the Mideast problem be undertaken by the Big Four, the Soviet Union, the United States, France and Great Britain.

But, illustrating the uncertainty which grips that portion of the world, the trip also was accompanied by rumors that its main purpose was to dissuade Nasser from attempting a desperate amphibious lunge against the Israelis on the east side of the Suez Canal.

Appease Officers
Nasser was said to have told the Russians he felt it was the only way he could appease his young officers disillusioned not only with him but with their older officers who had lost three wars against Israel.

Western response to the Soviet proposal has been interested but guarded.

The idea of a Big Four meeting has been endorsed by two influential outside voices, Pope Paul VI and Secretary General Thant of the United Nations.

The Soviet proposal is based on the resolution passed by the United Nations on Nov. 22, 1967. It calls for phased Israeli withdrawal from the lands captured in the June War in return for an end to the Arab "state of belligerency" with Israel, freedom of passage for Israeli ships through the Suez Canal and a big power guaranty to enforce any agreement reached.

Bird Lovers Blamed For Rat Attack

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bird lovers illegally throwing grain to pigeons were blamed today for a recent invasion by an army of rats of a block-long cultivated center strip on plush Park Avenue.

The rats, believed to number in the hundreds, were first noticed several weeks ago by passersby and doormen along the famous avenue. Witnesses said they have drawn large crowds of curious spectators to the island that divides the north and south roadways of 58th and 59th streets.

Doormen along the street have observed some of the more daring rats cross from the center island to raid the trash basket on the corner of 58th Street and Park Avenue, near the luxurious Delmonico Hotel, home of TV personality and columnist Ed Sullivan and a favorite stopping place for celebrities.

Responding to telephone calls from residents in the area, the health department spread rat poison on the island Saturday, and today its men were expected to go back to view the results.

Neighborhood residents generally agree that the rats were attracted to the area by several elderly ladies who frequently feed pigeons in the block in defiance of regulations.

UNIQUE DESIGN of this Saturn C-arm X-ray fluoroscopic unit permits its use with heart patients who need not be moved while being examined from any angle. A built-in video tape capability records the examination and avoids need to expose patient to additional radiation should follow-up X-ray diagnosis seem necessary. Here, a technician makes an adjustment at Picker Corporation's Cleveland plant.

27 SWEATERS

LONDON (UPI)—A Liverpool priest who received 27 identical black sweaters returned all but one of them in exchange for a suit, the Sunday Times reported.

"This way, each lady will think it's the one she gave me and no one's feelings will be hurt," the priest told the newspaper.

"HURRY UP! We're expecting an attack by the people who want their BAGGAGE!"

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Window on the World:

Dominicos:
Diplomats in London fear that the Arab guerrilla movement in the Middle East could topple the ruling regimes in the area whose present leadership is losing ground. They fear this could happen especially in Jordan, where the position of King Hussein is precarious, and even in Egypt, where President Gamal Abdel Nasser no longer commands the authority he enjoyed in the past. Such a development could, the experts argue, throw the Middle East into a dangerous turmoil with grave results which could involve the super powers.

Housecleaning:
Panama's ruling military junta is cleaning out the financial closets of all of Panama's autonomous agencies, beginning with the social security board. Already at least four men who held high government office under ex-President Marco A. Robles have been arrested for alleged misuse of public funds. Well-informed sources say the broom might reach all the way to the United States, where Robles currently is residing.

Racial Protest:
British officials are bracing for street demonstrations and possible violence during the Jan. 7-15 Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference in London. Colored immigrant organizations have called for a mass march through London Jan. 12 to protest alleged racial discrimination. Nigerian and Biafran students also plan rival demonstrations during the talks.

Year of Decision:
Spain will make 1969 the year of her big push to recover Gibraltar, according to diplomatic informants in Madrid. By decolonizing its own overseas possessions—Equatorial Guinea gained freedom last October—Spanish authorities hope to put more "moral" pressure on Britain, which has refused to give back the rock. The United Nations has called on Britain to return Gibraltar to Spain from which it was taken in the 18th century. Gibraltarians have voted overwhelmingly against becoming Spaniards.

Go Slow:
New Philippine Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo, probably the best known Filipino diplomat abroad, is expected to take a go-slow attitude on the Sabah dispute with Malaysia which already has led to suspension of diplomatic relations between the two. "It is not for lack of interest, but Romulo's belief that the best course is quiet discussion through diplomatic channels rather than an emotional political platform."

TEEN-AGE HEARSE
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—Four Albuquerque teen-agers—John Arneson, Ralph Baxter, Danny Glendro and Bobby Dike—are using a 1953 model hearse to get to school.

Asked why, their answer was: "No one else around has one."
LOOT RETURNED

Colts Ready for Joe, Jets

By MILTON RICHMAN BOCA RATON, Fla. (UPI)—The big, bad Baltimore Colts are telling Joe Namath not to worry his little head about anything.

Don Shula, the Baltimore Colt coach, says he can't understand why Namath could want to "rap" Morrill although the colorful Jet quarterback didn't sound as if he was trying to be critical at all when he made the original statement nine days ago.

"Guaranteed," said Mackey in a way you knew he meant it. There are those who label Mackey the most punishing runner in football today, if not the brutal one, because when he hits anyone it's like getting kissed by a train.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Zoning: Concept vs. Act

Of all the functions governments have undertaken in the name of those catch-all phrases, the "general welfare" and the "common good," the act of zoning privately-owned property is perhaps the most deceptive, dishonest, wasteful and harmful, generally, to the individual and community alike.

Even if zoning accomplished all that is claimed of it by its advocates, the protection of property values and the best possible uses of property, which it doesn't, it would still be morally wrong in that, by transferring the control of property from its rightful owner, the individual, to the bureaucracy, it indulges in the commission of theft.

time is expended on zoning actions and hearings on variances, changes and exceptions. As for the latter, any property owner who has been put through the zoning wringer can attest to the time, energy and money wasted in making applications, contesting unfavorable decisions and on paper work involved.

But primary moral consideration aside, the list of ills and harmful effects of zoning is long and conclusive. That list includes but is not limited to the following:

1. Zoning is socialistic for the same reason it is theft. By violating the property rights of the individual owner, it subtracts from the private domain and adds to the domain of the political establishment. If continued, together with property expropriation via the expedient of "eminent domain" and property lost to individual ownership as a result of tax exactions, the result can only be total ownership by government of the entire surface of the earth and utter destruction of the concept of private property. That could only mean slavery.

2. It is corruptive of private individuals and government officials alike, in that it encourages and makes possible sub rosa, even illegal, deals and payoffs with those enjoying or refusing to accept preferential treatment.

3. It is wasteful of the time and energies of both officials and property owners. With respect to the farmer, much "only to free the crew."

We suppose Americans will never be allowed to know the whole truth of the matter. They have been given some inkling, but newsmen have not been allowed to interview crewmen. However, there is sufficient evidence of beatings of the crewmen while they were captives to give credence to the report, first released by Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher.

There are some who would blame President Johnson for ordering his representative to admit a lie in order to get the release of the 82 Americans in time for Christmas. It seems to us that the President has taken the bonus for official lying on himself, but that it does not attach to any others outside the administration.

Pull Up A Chair

Smoking And The Flu

Actually, there's nothing to quitting smoking. All you have to do is simply make your mind up and do it. And get the Hong Kong flu.

Actually, there's no better time to get the flu, than with the advent of the New Year when we all feel called upon to make resolutions.

One of my resolutions, again, was going to be to quit smoking—and the flu has done it for me.

Next year, if there is one, I think my resolution may be to quit writing columns when I have the flu, but for right now this will have to do.

It's quite possible to write columns while one has the flu—in fact, in its way, it's easier to get up and write the column than it is to have every fitful doze interrupted with a sudden sense of disaster. (And I had to get up anyhow.)

This is a symptom of compulsive neurosis known only to a Pavlovian dog waiting for the bell to ring, a seal waiting for his fish to come or to another daily columnist.

Anyhow, I don't think I have the Hong Kong flu in its most severe manifestation. I only have chills on one side, it seems. Perhaps I only have the Hong flu.

Unhappily, my other side seems to have the fever. This causes a lot of inner unrest as to which side gets to sit next to the heater.

One thing agreed on by both sides, however, and right down my middle from my face to my tummy, is that cigarette smoke smells and tastes nauseating.

I mean really nauseating—not just bothersome or smelly. This is what leads me to my theory that the Hong Kong flu is actually malaria.

Malaria is the only other thing I've ever had which made me quit smoking. Based on that evidence, I am sure that if medical science will realize that the flu is simply malaria, then they will have taken two things they can't cure and lumped them together into only one thing they can't cure—a 100 per cent reduction in disease rates and the year hasn't really started yet!

Sometimes I think I may become a doctor. There's certainly no money in being a guinea pig.

As it is, the entire situation leaves me in a position closely similar to untenable—I'm not quite sick enough yet to stay in bed and I'm not quite well enough to utilize that most effective of my literary devices. Another cigarette.

Writing a column is many things, of course—20 trips to the water cooler, innumerable trips to other points of interest around the building. Little chitchats with other newspapermen who seem to be working too hard. Paperclip bending, window staring, and so on—headed up, of course, by the grandest of all stalling devices. Another cigarette.

Now that I am home covering in my bedroom there are no long walks to take, nobody to bother and I have already straightened my paper clips. Worst of all, now, no cigarettes.

The creative literary mind is ill equipped to cope with such a heartlessly cruel situation. For 20 years, everytime I've gotten stuck on a column I merely light a cigarette. If I don't happen to be stuck, I stop and light a cigarette until I am stuck.

Can it be that writing a column is merely a simple matter of rolling paper into the typewriter and going to work without spending half the morning trying to find change for the cigarette machine?

And that such sterling literary endeavor can be speedily completed without bothering everybody around you for matches?

I don't know—but do know what my resolution is for 1969. I'm going to give up flu.

Whither In Space?—Another Problem For Nixon

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON—The nation's space program is rolling merrily along, after Christmas week's Apollo 8 successes, but President-elect Richard M. Nixon will have to act to keep it rolling.

The sensational performance of Apollo 8 holds out the prospect of future triumphs this year, in manned space flight. Obscured, in this euphoria, is the lack of any major U.S. space goal beyond the eagerly awaited lunar landing.

Advance indications are that no new focus for the space program will be provided in the final budget which President Johnson will send to Congress in a few days. That puts the matter squarely in the lap of the President-elect.

If the space program is to get a new popular objective, while public enthusiasm is engaged in its present successes, President Nixon will have to provide it. Without such a goal, the program can be expected to lose much of its impetus as it loses a measure of its public support.

Some critics of the space program, who have begrudged the annual expenditure of $4 to $5 billion amid the stars, would not be sorry to see it de-emphasized in the public eye. It will cost about $24 billion for what one scientist has called the "spectator sport" of sending a man to the moon.

Some supporters of the program wonder what sort of a space objective could attract the kind of public interest which has been aroused by preparing a voyage to the moon.

In any event, it now seems clear that President Johnson's new budget will propose space spending of about $3.85 billion. That sum, about the same as the current year's, will not set any new directions for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

NIXON'S PLEDGE—"I would have this clearly understood," said candidate Nixon early in his presidential campaign, "that I consider the space program as one of our national imperatives, that it must be supported at a level assuring efficient and steady progress, that the ups and downs of recent times in planning, programming and financing must be brought to a halt, and that as President I will make certain that our country maintains leadership in this great endeavor."

It is an inescapable fact of life today that we cannot afford to do all that we wish. But we must do all that we can," Nixon added.

At about the same time, James E. Webb, outgoing administrator of the space program, was reminding the Senate space committee that the presidential budgets of recent years (1967-1969) have shifted away from a stated objective of "world leadership" in space to one of using U.S.

space potential for the benefit of man.

Webb and his successor, Dr. Thomas O. Paine, acting NASA Administrator, estimated that it would take some $4.5 billion in the new "space" budget to begin reversing that trend. The two NASA bosses were not so much concerned with new space goals as with the start of new space programs and the purchase of new space hardware.

As matters now stand, and depending on the continuing flawless performance of Apollo, Paine and Webb said the initial lunar landing can be followed by a couple of return visits. Apollo rockets can be used to put a manned workshop, and eventually a telescope, in space. That will just about use up the big boosters now under contract.

As for unmanned projects, the most ambitious now contemplated would be climaxed by a soft landing on Mars about 1973.

SKY'S THE LIMIT—The range of possible new space goals is, of course, as wide as the heavens themselves. In the area of manned flight, however, some NASA partisans feel strongly that the moon, once it is reached, should be truly explored in a series of lunar trips.

In the field of unmanned exploration some NASA scientists think the U.S. should gear itself to exploit an unusual opportunity created by the juxtaposition of the planets in the middle and late 1970s. Beginning in 1976—and more easily in 1977 and 1978—it will be possible to swing a space probe past the planets Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune in what the scientists are calling a "Grand Tour."

If missed, the "Grand Tour" opportunity for the four planets will not exist again for 179 years.

Long-range possibilities like the "Grand Tour" have immediate implications for the space program. The four-planet tour would, for example, require rapid development of a nuclear-powered rocket to power the inter-planetary probe after it had been boosted from earth into space.

NASA has had good success with early developmental work on NERVA, its nuclear rocket engine. Like other post-Apollo projects, however, NERVA has been on a starvation budget. Even with the enthusiastic support of Chairman Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., of the Senate Space Committee, NERVA scientists haven't been able to get a go-ahead for building a flight weight NERVA power plant.

No space mission has yet been approved which would require a nuclear flight stage. Consequently, NERVA has had its budget troubles each year.

A level of financing for NERVA now—with its im-

Nation's Press

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE FOR J. EDGAR HOOVER (Southern States Bulletin) In his cabinet appointments and other top-ranking personnel selections, President-elect Richard M. Nixon has shown commendable judgment. But his most outstanding exercise of wisdom was that of asking FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to continue in office.

"War on Crime" was a popular slogan during the recent presidential campaign. So far, we've been losing that war. During the first nine months of 1968, serious crimes increased 21 percent nationally over the corresponding period last year.

The House Republican Task Force on Crime has reportedly advised Mr. Nixon to double the number of Justice Department lawyers assigned to fighting organized crime. That's fine with us. Every effort should be made to destroy the big-time syndicates and their far-flung tentacles that have penetrated so many areas of business and commerce.

It isn't the Cosa Nostra or the Mafia, however, that causes the greatest concern to the average law-abiding citizen. It's crime in his own neighborhood, his community, his city that most directly threatens his own life and his family's safety. The following figures are more than statistics; they are atrocities in varying degree against the "peace and dignity of the person": armed robbery up 37 percent, forcible rape 17 percent, murder 15 percent, and aggravated assaults 23 percent. Cold entries on a police blotter don't tell the whole story of bloodshed, tragedy and ruined lives.

Maybe we're too optimistic, but with J. Edgar Hoover remaining on his job, and U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark losing his, things will improve. Infamous decisions by the Supreme Court will continue to make it difficult to obtain convictions, but there is hope that Congress will continue to enact remedial legislation in favor of the law-abiding citizen as opposed to the rapist, child-molesters, robbers, hoodlums and punks and other vermin from the underworld and its fringes.

There has been a surfeit of apologists and defenders for the criminal. One shoddy explanation follows close upon another to win more sympathy for sub-human monsters. If actually convicted, and too few are, even hardened offenders can contemplate punishment no more serious than a brief stay in some penal institution where they can obtain post-graduate instruction in the latest criminal techniques from fellow inmates.

Any crime is, of course, a violation of some law, foolish or otherwise. In crimes of violence where life is taken or endangered, the sanctity of the person abused, property seized or damaged, bleeding hearts have jumped to the defense of the accused. Efforts are made to rationalize a growing crime rate by equating it with an indifferent society. One rather obvious explanation has been overlooked, "Crime is increasing because criminals get away with little or no punishment."

With Mr. Hoover continuing in office, and with the vote of confidence he received from Mr. Nixon to accompany the one he has always had from the public, perhaps the innocent will receive equal protection under the law. Maybe our public parks and our streets will become safe again after dark.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

The 'Dick' Nixon Smile

By PAUL HARVEY
"There are smiles that make us happy!" Yes, by George, there are. And if the turned-down mouth of most of us is ever to turn up again, we need a smiling example.

There is no sharper contrast between the present President and the President-elect than this: the one who's incoming is more outgoing.

President Johnson was almost always caricatured of eye and long of face. His imitators have perhaps overworked the line, "I come to you with a heavy heart," yet that was his inescapable public image.

Mr. Johnson, known to be an admirer of Lincoln, may be an unconscious imitator of the emancipator. Addressing a farewell meeting of Negro members of his Administration Mr. Johnson said, "There will be a lot of bloody feet on the long road to equality."

Whatever kind of leadership that is, it is not inspiring. How sharply this contrasts with Mr. Nixon's confident, affirmative, "close-ranks, pull-together, resolve-problems, follow-me, show-the-world" leadership.

When Mr. Nixon introduced his Cabinet on a nationwide telecast he appeared refreshingly youthful, poised, assured. He smiled easily, naturally, confidently.

It could be argued that President Johnson is weary from the tedium and complexities and frustrations and from the sheer weight of all that responsibility. But mostly what I am describing here are the contrasting personalities of these two men.

We needed a boost for our sagging spirits. In the early 1930s President Herbert Hoover, however capable he was otherwise, could not provide the psychological lift we needed.

F.D.R. did. The smilingly confident countenance of Franklin Roosevelt perhaps did more to disperse the depression's dark clouds than did all of his legislative acts put together.

F.D.R. was able to steady our trembling hand on the eve of a great war with the firm admonition that, "We have nothing to fear but fear itself."

Sir Winston Churchill, whose presence ever exuded confidence, could promise his people nothing more than "blood, sweat and tears"—yet always with his bulldog jaw stuck so confidently in the face of fate that the words of desperation had the ring of victory.

Similarly, none can overestimate the reassurance we all derived from the famous Eisenhower smile. His West Point classmate and lifelong friend, Earl Shaffer, said it: "Ike's grin is far more eloquent than he."

It does not have to be a grin. Gen. Douglas MacArthur imparted the same confidence with ultimate dignity: "I shall return!"

Confidence is contagious and we need it now.

If this smiling President can disengage us from the foreign involvements which have contributed so much to the divisiveness within our own country...

If this President can sustain his clear-eyed optimism and deliver on his announced objectives...

It's going to feel real good again to be an American.

Your Dental Health

By DR. WILLIAM LAWRENCE
Chewing Habits Strengthen Teeth

In a recent talk to the dental staff of a large eastern medical center, Dr. H. H. Neumann, an investigator of the causes of dental decay, made the claim that the only constant factor he found among the many decay-free natives tribes in the islands of the South Pacific and other parts of the world was "compression stress." These tribes, with little or no tooth decay, had in their diets foods that required chewing pressures of 50 to 100 pounds per square inch.

He believes that race, heredity, climate and mouth cleanliness have little or no influence on the incidence of dental decay. Also, overrated are nutrition, vitamins, proteins, calcium and milk. Some natives never see milk.

Dr. Neumann makes the point that teeth are highly insensitive to change in diet or to physiological conditions, such as pregnancy, or to general diseases. Many people in India die of malnutrition and yet have perfect teeth. Many people are born with or develop deficiency diseases and yet have perfect teeth. Many people live in fluoride-free areas of the world and have perfect teeth.

He hastens to add though that he is in favor of fluoridation of drinking water because it's an excellent public health measure for prevention of decay in our society.

What about carbohydrates, the oft-mentioned culprit? Many natives with perfect teeth live on diets loaded with highly concentrated sugars. The Bedouins chew dates and figs; many tribes in the Philippines chew sugar cane. They have perfect teeth.

Is it because only refined sugars cause decay? He said no — it has never been positively shown that only refined sugars trigger decay. Is it because the tough foods the natives eat act as detergents and cleanse teeth? Not so, he continued. Natives have dirty teeth.

The only positive correlation he could find among all peoples he and his research team studied was the "load factor."

Dr. Neumann calls this phenomenon "physiological resistance." "Work hardens," he says, and likens it to an oarsman whose hands become calloused and tough from constant use.

Dr. Neumann has started a pilot project with 5-year-olds. These kids are given tough, hard foods to chew during mid-morning snack at school; things like hard rolls, chick peas, sugar cane and St. John's bread.

Let's wait and see what happens.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The day was July 19, 1962, and Richard Nixon turned up as a mystery guest on the NBC-TV daytime panel quiz show "Your First Impression."

And if there is any doubt in your mind that the president-elect is a man of singular purpose, consider some of the answers he gave to questions that day.

First it should be noted that at the time he was a defeated presidential candidate, having been beaten in 1960 by John F. Kennedy.

Now he was running for governor of California against Edmund G. Brown, a race in which he was to be defeated again.

On the NBC-TV program, members of the panel gave the start of sentences, and the unseen celebrity guest completed them with the first thought that came to mind.

One panelist offered this uncompleted sentence: "If I could be a moment in history, I would like to be..."

Nixon responded: "President."

Even on this little television program, the subject of the presidency was prominent in his thinking.

A panelist started a sentence like this: "The one person in the world I'd like to meet is..."

Nixon responded: "The president."

The host, Bill Leyden, said that in a practice exchange backstage, he had posed a sentence starting: "My one regret is..."

And Nixon responded: "That I wasn't assigned to a PT-boat."

President Kennedy, of course, had been a PT-boat hero in World War II.

One has to admire Nixon's tenacity in trying to master the television medium through the years despite some unfortunate early appearances.

His televised debates with Kennedy may have cost him the presidency in 1960, and on some other notable occasions the home screen was not his best friend.

Yet any man who hopes to be a vigorous, communicating president in the electronics age simply has to work at being effective on television—and Nixon has done that.

He has not appeared on many network shows in recent years, but when he has—on either news or light entertainment programs—he has demonstrated distinct improvement.

His off-the-cuff, informal introduction of his cabinet in television prime time not long ago proved beyond a doubt that he now has confidence in handling the medium that once almost finished his political career.

Income Tax Choices Baffling

EDITOR'S NOTE: It is time to think about the income tax again. This is Chapter Two of a series reviewing the regulations, with emphasis on taking advantage of all exclusions and deductions legally due you.

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Publications

You must file a 1968 income tax return if you are under 65 and had at least $600 in gross taxable income last year.

If you were 65 or older by Jan. 4, 1969, you must file a return if gross taxable income for last year was $1,200 or more.

Three types of returns are available. The use of one is restricted by income limitations. The choice of either of the other two is dictated by your election to itemize your deductions, or to settle for an alternative method.

Three types are:

1040-A, the "quickie" punched-card type form which may be used if income was less than $10,000 and consisted solely of wages shown on W-2 slips with a total of not more than $200 in income from other wages, dividends and interest. You cannot use this form if you had any capital gains or losses, rental, royalty, pension income, or self-employment income.

If you use this form you get no opportunity to itemize your deductions and you lose certain benefits available only on a Form 1040, such as business expenses, sick pay and moving expenses, or a retirement income credit.

The form is ideal, however, for students whose total income for 1968 was less than $900; unmarried persons with a minimum of allowable deductions; young married couples who are not homeowners and who have no extraordinary medical contributions of educational deductions; anyone (including a couple filing a joint return) whose total income is less than $10,000 and whose itemized deductions would not exceed 10 per cent of their income.

If your total income is less than $5,000 and you use this form you may either determine the tax yourself by using the automatic tax tables or you may have IRS do it for you.

If total income is $5,000 or more, you must compute the tax yourself.

Form 1040 with itemized deductions. This presents the greater opportunity for tax saving and will be the type upon which this series and the "Cut Your Own Taxes" book for 1969 concentrates its greatest at-temptation.

Form 1040 with these two options:

1. Instead of itemizing deductions claim instead 10 per cent total adjusted gross income, or $1,000, whichever is lesser.
2. Instead of itemizing deductions take the minimum standard deduction which permits a deduction amounting to $100 for each exemption claimed on the return plus an additional $200. (The final addition is only $100 for married persons filing separate returns.)

The maximum permitted under either alternative for married persons filing separately is $500.

NEXT: Joint or separate returns.

'69 Ford.
Spend 15 minutes
inside the year's most talked about car.

The '69 Ford LTD is the best-selling car in its class. Because it offers you so much more than the others.

Take a test drive. Fifteen minutes will show you what makes Ford so special. A front seat area so spacious it's called the Front Room. A wheelbase longer than Chevrolet's for an extra-smooth ride. The road-holding grip of a track as wide as Cadillac. All wrapped up in a car that's amazingly agile. Ford's turning circle is even smaller than Plymouth's.

The 1969 LTD was designed to ride quieter than the LTD that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce. Come in now. Talk it over. Try it out. Take it home.

Then try to talk yourself
out of it.

Start with an Audit

Advertising is a serious investment... art, engraving, typography and copy are costly. All are planned carefully to attract readers who are prospects for the merchandise or service.

No business can afford to waste any part of this investment in any medium that cannot guarantee definite circulation and readership.

"Waste basket circulation" in post offices, and so called throw-aways that usually travel to the incinerator are of little or no value to the advertiser.

Careful studies made regularly by an independent organization—the Audit Bureau of Circulations—shows advertisers exactly what they get in circulation and readership for their advertising investment.

For most subscribers the PAMPA NEWS is the family shopping guide, for it carries the advertising of practically all progressive Pampa stores, markets and services.
