Bucher To Face Court Martial

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI)—Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher almost certainly will be court-martialed for the loss of the intelligence ship USS Pueblo.

State Stresses Conspiracy Of Shaw to Jurors

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The prosecution in the trial of Clay L. Shaw sweated out with prospective jurors today the point that Shaw is charged with conspiracy and not murder.

The defense was hinting the state will produce absolutely no motive on his part even for conspiring.

With the trial in its third day, four jurors have been sworn and already are being locked up each night in nearby motels: A Negro machine operator, a public utility truck driver, a Negro high school teacher and a can company assembly department supervisor.

AT HERO'S FUNERAL

Czech Government Warns Of Protest

PRAGUE (UPI)—The Czech government warned today against "any misuse" of the funeral Saturday of the martyred Jan. Palach "by irresponsible people" to cause "unrest and other rash acts."

At the same time, National Defense Minister Martin Durr called on the armed forces to support the government and "strictly fulfill orders of army commanders" during "the sudden political crisis in connection with the deed of Jan Palach."

Durbin Indicted For Coed's Death

BURNET, Tex. (UPI)—Clyde "Tink" Durbin Jr., indicted Wednesday for murder with malice of Keitha Morris, must face another grand jury Jan. 28 in Travis County for the death of her boyfriend.

The indictment was returned after five witnesses testified, said a spokesman in the district clerk's office.

Durbin, 21, is charged in Burnet County only with the death of Miss Morris. Her date, 21-year-old John Albert White, was found shot in the back at a picnic spot outside Austin, in Travis County, the day before the University of Texas coed's body was found.

pected" of a violation of the Naval Code in the manner in which he conducted himself.

The counsel for a naval court of inquiry, which could recommend a court martial trial, informed the 41-year old skipper that he need answer no more questions about the capture of the ship by North Korean gunboats or what happened subsequently.

Tells Full Story Bucher replied that he wanted to tell the full story. He was expected to relate today what happened in Communist captivity.

The Navy threw the ball back to Bucher after the commander told a lengthy story of lack of destruction capabilities, desperate pleas for American aircraft that never came and a "hopeless" situation which he thought could lead only to the slaughter of his 83-man crew.

Bucher had testified that virtually all the equipment on the ship was bashed in with axes and secret papers burned or dumped overboard before he surrendered.

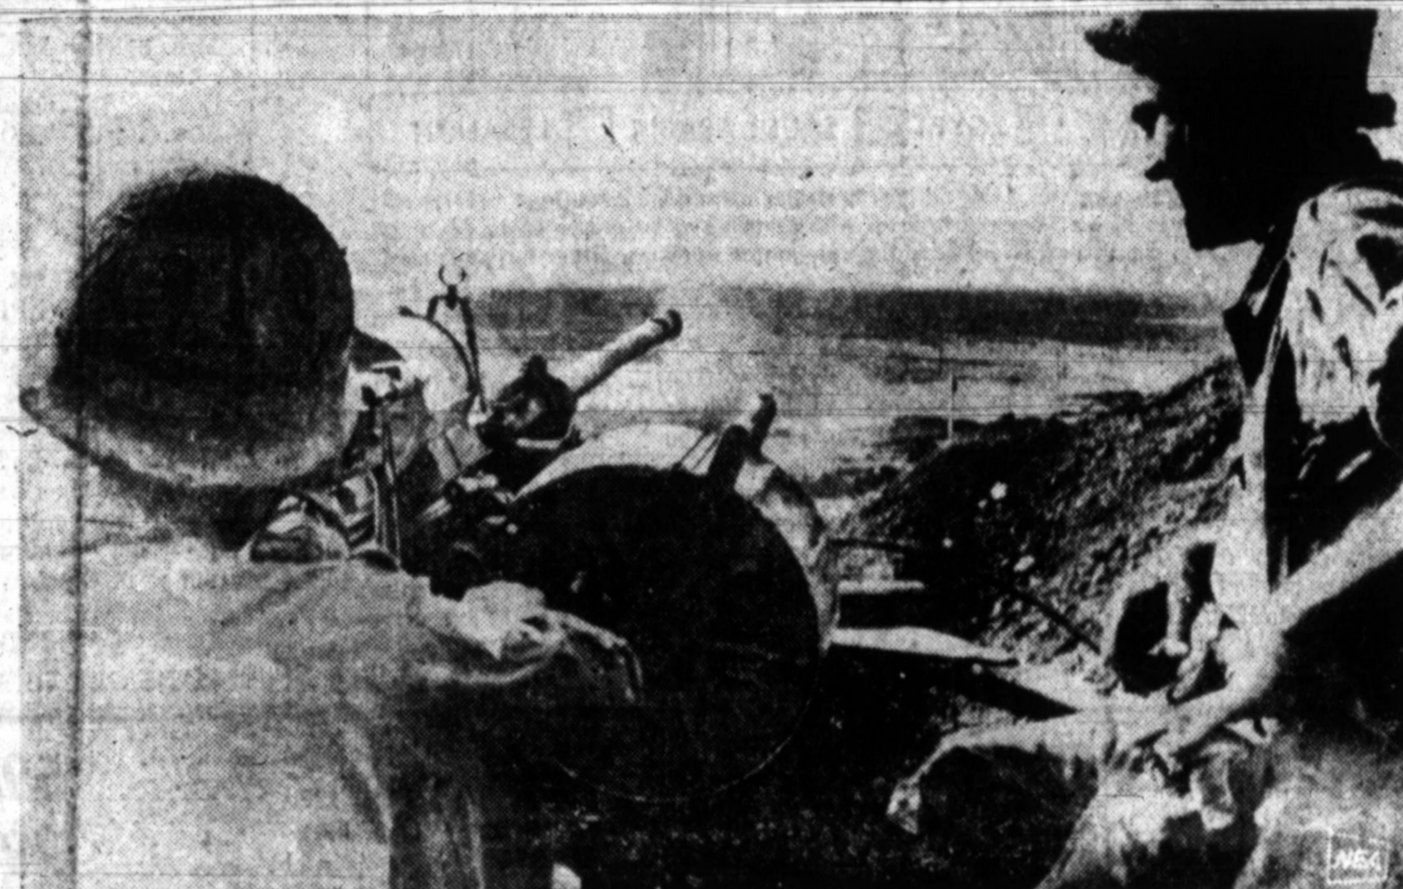

The orphan graduate of Boys Town, Neb., conceded the United States lost a ship without firing a shot and that he personally threw his two pistols overboard.

The five hard-nosed admirals on the Board of Inquiry listened with apparent increasing distaste to his final instructions "Prepare to receive Koreans aboard."

Capt. William Newsome, counsel for the court, told Bucher late Wednesday afternoon that it was his duty to BORDER TENSIONS — In attempts to solve the problems between the Israelis and Arabs, border tensions in the Mideast keep this Israeli patrol on the alert as they await possible attacks. These soldiers are dug in near the Suez Canal on the border with Egypt, but others are patrolling the borders with other Arab countries. Tensions are on the increase again after Lebanon announced plans to strengthen its defenses.

Lodge Says U.S. Seeks Peace But Not at Any Price

PARIS (UPI)—Chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge intends to make it clear to the Communists when the expanded Vietnam war talks begin Saturday that the United States wants peace but not at any price, informed sources said today.

The sources said this is in line with instructions from President Nixon to his chief delegate at the talks among the four major combatants in the war: The United States and South Vietnam and North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky left Saigon today for Paris for his duties as supervisor of the South Vietnamese delegation at the talks.

"I don't think we will have a quick result," he said, "but we will try. We go to Paris to discuss how to end this war of aggression."

Agreement on strategy at Saturday's opening session of the expanded talks was expected to be clinched by the Allies at today's meeting of Lodge and his Saigon colleague, Pham Dang Lam.

Relations Solid

U.S. officials said relations between the U.S. and South Vietnamese delegations reflected a solid unity of views.

Diplomatic sources said Lodge has complete instructions from President Nixon and they reflect the basic aims of the outgoing Johnson administration—achieving an honorable peace and preventing a Communist takeover in Saigon.

Both Lodge and Lam will lay the blame for the war on Communist subversion backed by Hanoi manpower and finances, diplomats said.

Lebanese Government Resolves Crisis After Commando Attack

By United Press International Political sources in Beirut, Lebanon said today Premier Rashid Karami apparently had resolved a crisis in his eight-day-old "government of harmony" by naming four new cabinet ministers.

TEMPERATURES PLUNGE

Arctic Cold Front Moves Into Texas

By United Press International Texans could store meat on their porch or sunbathe in their front yard today—depending on which end of the state they called home.

But a heavy mass of arctic air blasting south through the state was rapidly reducing the alternatives.

The front first edged into Texas Wednesday night, plunging temperatures 20 to 30 degrees behind it. Another weak cool front moved through East Texas.

Cold wave warnings were issued for parts of North Texas today and expanded to cover almost all of the state Friday.

Temperatures early today were in the 20s in the upper Panhandle. The readings ahead of the arctic front were in the 40s and 50s and in the 70s in deep South Texas.

The expected highs today ranged from the 30s and 40s in North Texas and the Panhandle to the 80s and even some 90s in the south.

But the lows predicted for tonight were a different story. (See COLD, Page 3)

Nixon Discusses Problems With Urban Affairs Council

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today summoned half of his Cabinet to the White House for the first meeting of the Urban Affairs Council—a sort of National Security Council for the cities.

The President, in an attempt to underscore the importance he attaches to urban problems, planned to preside at today's 9 a.m. CST session and all subsequent ones.

and economics minister Wednesday, planned to withdraw the resignation. This, too, was expected to add to the stability of Karami's regime.

In Cairo today, Egyptians were warned to expect no switch in American policy of "favoritism" toward Israel despite the change of administrations in Washington.

The warning came from political commentator Ahmed Baha Eddin, who said Nixon must have approved an American reply to a Soviet Middle East peace plan made in the final days of the Johnson administration.

Egypt officially denounced the American reply, contending it showed "total favoritism" toward Israel.

On Wednesday, the day of their unpublicized return from self-exile, two more youths added to the tense situation by setting fire to themselves. The two, a Slovak prison inmate and a Brno locksmith, were the third and fourth persons in a series of self-burnings that began with the anti-Soviet protest death of Jan Palach.

Sik, a former deputy premier and molder of springtime economic reforms, and Goldstuecker, the intellectual who launched a drive for political reform, reappeared without advance notice or public announcement.

Other members of the Urban Affairs Council are Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Six of the 12 members of the Cabinet sit on the council. The agriculture secretary is a member, explained White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, because of Nixon's belief that

"urban and rural problems are overlapping."

Serving as the council's executive secretary is Daniel P. Moynihan, a Democrat, a prominent figure in the Kennedy administration and former director of the Joint Center for Urban Studies at Cambridge, Mass.

Official Sources Say Youth Was Deranged

By EDWARD J. SHIELDS MOSCOW (UPI)—A young man fired on the triumphal motorcade of Soviet cosmonauts through Moscow Wednesday and injured a chauffeur and a policeman, the official news agency Tass reported tonight. None of the cosmonauts, including the newest space heroes was hurt.

Tass said the gunman fired on the second car in the motorcade which carried the world's only woman cosmonaut, Valentina Tereshkova, and several other veteran space men.

The driver of the car and a motorcycle police outrider were injured, it said.

"The person who fired the shots was detained on the spot," Tass said. "An investigation is being conducted."

Official sources, who had disclosed the shooting incident earlier, said the man was "mentally deranged."

These sources said the man fired five bullets from two pistols at the motorcade outside the Kremlin gate.

The cosmonauts were enroute to a reception in the Kremlin in honor of the four space men who made history by carrying out the first docking of manned vehicles and the first space walk between two spacecrafts last week. The ceremony was held as scheduled.

Unofficial sources said a veteran cosmonaut suffered minor injuries from limousine windows broken in the shooting.

Before the Tass announcement came, official sources would confirm only the fact of the shooting and the arrest.

"All we can say is the shots were fired and the man is mentally unstable," they said.

However, unofficial sources described the incident.

According to the sources, a crowd cheering the space heroes grabbed the attacker—said to be a mentally unbalanced 20-year-old—and took him (See MOTORCADE, Page 3)

Red Ground Fire Downs Aircraft In New Attacks

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist ground fire downed two more U.S. warplanes in South Vietnam, bringing American losses to five aircraft over the past three days, military spokesmen said today.

On the ground, prowling Allied troops uncovered nine huge Communist munitions and food caches, striking one of the heaviest blows of the war at the Red supply system.

In Saigon, military spokesmen said 196 Americans were killed on Vietnam battlefields last week. It was the highest toll in six weeks. The South Vietnamese lost 292 dead for their highest figure in four months.

The spokesmen said the increase in casualties reflected fighting to thwart a Communist buildup north of Saigon.

Both pilots of the American aircraft downed by ground fire parachuted to safety, spokesmen said. One of the fighter-bombers, an F100 Supersonic, crashed in the Mekong Delta about 65 miles southwest of Saigon Monday. The other, an F4 Phantom, was downed Wednesday about nine miles southwest of the northern city of Hue.

American troops found six of the Communist weapons and food dumps, the spokesmen said, uncovering four Wednesday and two Tuesday. One of those located Tuesday near the Cambodian border contained more than 30 tons of munitions.

South Vietnamese troops found three ammunition dumps in the Mekong Delta about 100 miles southwest of Saigon Wednesday, the spokesmen said. Around two of the Mekong Delta dumps, the South Vietnamese found the bodies of 47 Communist soldiers killed by bombing attacks.

American B52 bombers flew four raids in South Vietnam Wednesday and today, bombing base camps 86 miles northwest of Saigon and near Khe Sanh in Vietnam's northern quarter.

Military spokesmen said the Communist ammunition dumps contained more than 230,000 rounds of rifle ammunition, 40,000 rounds of anti-aircraft machine gun bullets, 1,337 mortar and recoilless rifle rounds, 59 long-range rockets, 426 rocket grenades, 3,616 pounds of explosives and 320 grenades and mines.

The food caches contained 2,400 pounds of rice and 19,000 pounds of barley and fish mixture, the spokesmen said.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Jackson said the tornado struck a mile south of Hazlehurst near Interstate 1-55.

Tornado Strikes Mississippi Town

HAZLEHURST, Miss. (UPI)—A tornado that "sounded like four freight trains" plowed through a heavily populated section of this south central Mississippi town early today, tossing houses and automobiles about like toys and killing at least 10 persons.

The highway patrol reported 10 known dead, four missing and at least 15 houses destroyed. Two persons were known injured.

"It cleaned out about a one-quarter mile wide section (of town) that was about two miles long," said restaurant owner C. Lell Fenter.

"I stood in the door of my restaurant and watched it. It was not good daylight and it sounded like four freight trains coming through the town," Fenter said.

"The air was filled with debris and the wind was really blowing."

Also destroyed was a sawmill reportedly valued at more than $1 million.

The area hit by the tornado was reportedly heavily populated, primarily by Negro families.

All of Route U.S. 51 immediately south of Hazlehurst was blocked with wires and portions of homes. Trees were uprooted and snapped, hampering rescue efforts.

A highway patrol spokesman described the section of the town as "more or less flattened . . . it is pretty bad."

Gas reportedly was escaping and power lines were down. "We are asking for all the assistance we can get."

Ambulances were called in from the neighboring towns of McComb, Brookhaven and Crystal Springs.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Blair & Co. says the market's short term direction may well be influenced by developments in the Vietnam war. The company says investors generally should follow a "cautious" policy, with emphasis on relatively good quality and reasonably appraised equities.

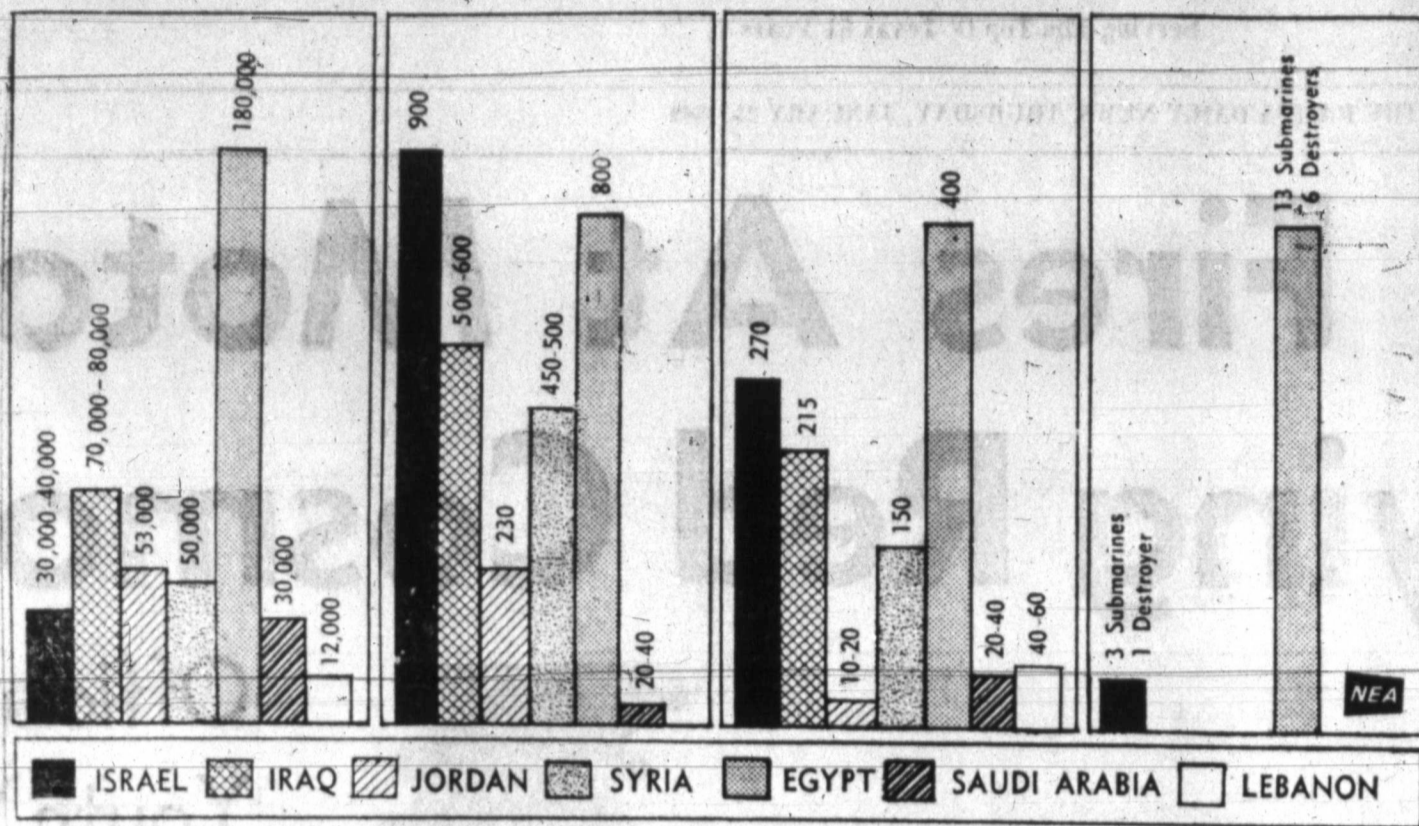

Reynolds & Co. says the market currently must be considered to be in a "neutral zone" with no indication apparent of its short term direction. The analyst says the eventual breakout from the 920-1000 zone should give a "solid clue" to the ability of the bull market to continue.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With former President Lyndon B. Johnson joining the ranks, the nation now has three living ex-presidents. For the first time since 1964, when Herbert C. Hoover died.

THE MIDEAST IN ARMS ARMY TANKS PLANES NAVY

Latest reliable estimates of Mideast military strength give the Arab nations a strong numerical advantage over Israel in standing forces. But Israel has a secret weapon in its well-trained reserves which can be mobilized on 48 to 72 hours notice to bring its total strength to about 275,000. Egypt and Israel have the only major warships. Other navies consist primarily of torpedo and patrol boats.

Cities Service, OCAW Near Contract Terms

JEFF HOLLADAY
News Staff Writer

Cities Service Oil Company and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers of America (OCAW) have neared agreement on new wage contracts.

According to a telegram received by the Pampa News today from Cities Service headquarters in Tulsa:

"Contract agreements have been reached in the company's refining division... but 'the parties at this time are apart on the union's demand for a five cent per hour increase Jan. 1, 1969, and a five cent per hour increase Jan. 1, 1970, for a few top-rated classifications in certain gasoline plants and its production, warehouse and automotive services departments."

Negotiations were to continue today, according to a spokesman.

Pampa area Cities Service units affected by the strike are the Colfax plant near Lefors and a unit west of Pampa. Neither is affected by contract settlements in the company's refining division.

Registered Nurse Addresses Meet

Mrs. Eunice King, R.N., director of nursing education of Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, spoke on nursing trends and nursing education to registered nurses of the Texas Nurses Association, District 23, in Highland General Hospital recently.

"In no part of the country is the shortage of professional nurses more acute than in the South," Mrs. King said. "Texas has only 173 active nurses per 100,000 population. There are only three states lower in the United States — Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi."

"Hospital schools continue to offer many advantages and opportunities to students interested in nursing. All institutions offering nursing programs constantly expand and improve their programs to meet the increasing health needs of our society," she said.

"It is estimated annual graduates from nursing schools, will have to reach 81,000 by the year 1974 if this country is to achieve its needed registered nurse manpower. Any girl interested in a scholarship or a loan may contact Miss Vermell Meador, Highland General Hospital director of nurses," she said.

Traffic Officers Have a Bad Day

Wednesday just wasn't Pampa policeman Norman Neece's and Texas Highway Patrolman Kenneth Evans' day.

Both were on their way to assist other officers in car accidents when they were involved in collisions of their own.

Neece and Wilbur Leroy Ferrell, 41, of 1523 N. Sumner, were involved in a collision about 4:10 p.m. at the intersection of Hobart and Cook streets.

According to investigating officer Stanley Belt's report, both Neece and Ferrell were traveling south on the inside lane of the south bound lane of traffic at the intersection.

Ferrell applied his brakes to make a left turn onto West Street, which had fresh sand on it.

Neece unable to stop in time, started skidding on the sand and hit Ferrell's vehicle in the rear.

Evans and Juanita Coonce Bichsel, 28, of 1107 E. Francis, were involved in an accident at the intersection of West and N. Faulkner about 5:40 p.m.

According to the police report Evans was going west on 21st street and attempting to pass the Bichsel vehicle, which was stopped in the traffic lane at 21st and Faulkner.

According to the report the Bichsel vehicle started to make a left turn onto Faulkner and Evans' patrol car hit the Bichsel car on the left front fender.

UF Board Slates Officer Election

Election of officers was slated at the annual meeting of the Pampa United Fund board of directors at 5:15 p.m. today at the Southwestern Public Service Co., 315 N. Ballard.

A report on finances in 1968 was also to be presented, according to David D. Tucker, fund president.

"The commanding officer shall not permit his command to be searched by any persons representing a foreign state nor permit any of the personnel under his command to be removed from the command by such persons, so long as he has the power to resist."

Bucher replied that once armed Korean soldiers boarded the Pueblo he no longer had the power to resist.

E. Miles Harvey, Bucher's civilian attorney, said he was confident Bucher would be exonerated if he is brought to court martial. He said the accusation was not at all unexpected.

The court of inquiry resumes at 11 a.m. (CST) today.

The sources said the bullets from his guns struck the open limousine carrying to a Kremlin awards ceremony cosmonauts Boris Volynov, Yevgeny Khrunov and Vladimir Shatalov, all air force colonels, and Algei Yeliseyev, a civilian engineer who joined them in their two space firsts last week—a first docking of two manned vehicles and the first spacewalk between spaceships.

The four cosmonaut heroes escaped harm, the sources said. But the driver of their limousine was hit in the head by three bullets and critically wounded, they said. A security guard seated next to the driver in the front seat also was hit by a bullet and wounded.

David Wayne Ladd, 20, Obie Rex Walden, 18, and a 16-year-old were charged with minor in possession. The 18-year-old girl was released to the custody of her parents after police determined she knew nothing about the beer in the car.

Group Sponsors Bill to End Draft

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bipartisan group of senators led today in co-sponsoring a bill to end the military draft and substitute an all-volunteer, professional Army.

The bill bore the signature of Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., but was co-sponsored by such Pentagon supporters as Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and such critics of the Vietnam War as Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

Other co-sponsors included Sens. Robert Dole, R-Kan.; Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky.; Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.; Robert Packwood, R-Ore.; Richard Schweiker, R-Pa.; and Winston Prouty, R-Vt.

President Nixon, during the election campaign last fall, also advocated a volunteer Army and end to the draft but with an important qualifier—when the war in Vietnam is over.

In a statement accompanying the bill today, Hatfield said, "Each man has a moral obligation to serve his country, but he must be granted as much freedom as possible to choose what form this service shall take."

He said a volunteer Army would provide an efficient military force "with emphasis on quality rather than quantity." "The draft system is militarily inefficient, inherently inequitable to draft-age Americans, and productive of low morale in the armed forces," Hatfield said.

Under the proposal, the draft would end six months after the bill became law. Registration of young men would continue, however, and if the President subsequently thought there was a need to re-institute the draft, he could ask Congress to authorize a resumption of inductions.

Payments Hiked Under Medicare Costs Changes

Older people who enter the hospital under Medicare from now on will be responsible for an additional $4 of their hospital bills, Howard L. Weatherly, Pampa social security officer-in-charge, stated today.

"Up to now," Weatherly said, "Medicare has paid all but the first $40 of a Medicare beneficiary's hospital bill in each spell of illness. Effective Jan. 1, it covers all but the first $44. The hospital bill for an average stay by Medicare beneficiaries now runs about $600."

The increase of $4 in the portion of the hospital bill for which a Medicare beneficiary is responsible is a result of the annual costs review required by the law. Weatherly said, "This showed that hospital costs have changed enough to require the deductible be raised, he added.

Also raised, starting with Jan. 1, are the amounts a beneficiary is responsible for when the hospital stay exceeds 60 days — from $10 a day to $11 a day — from the 61st through the 90th day.

If he has a post-hospital stay of over 20 days in an extended care facility, he will pay $5.50 toward the costs of the 21st day through the 100th day. Other costs of the hospital deductible amounts have been raised proportionately.

For Medicare beneficiaries who entered a hospital before Jan. 1, the deductible will be $40 rather than the $44. Also the dollar amounts they will pay toward a hospital stay of more than 60 days or for post-hospital extended care of more than 20 days will be payable at the old rate — even though the services may be provided in 1969.

Persons who have questions about these changes, or other questions about social security or Medicare, Weatherly said, should contact the social security office located at 400 W. Kingsmill, Pampa. The office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. on weekdays.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK UPI Education Specialist Planning of a school budget is a complicated and extensive activity. It is an important responsibility of board members and the entire staff. It affects all aspects of the school operation as well as the staff and program.

A budget is the translation of the quality and curriculum of a school in terms of money. The superintendent of schools must obtain, discuss and evaluate requests of staff members which he finally compiles into a proposed budget for presentation to the Board of Education. The board members carefully examine the recommendations in order to maintain a balanced program, consider the effect of the total cost and relate it to their educational philosophy. They must consider the educational aims of the community as well as the ability and willingness to provide funds.

Special Committees Often special citizen's advisory committees are appointed. Public meetings are held to explain the budget and to obtain citizen's reactions. Adjustments are made and usually after many months of review and investigation a final budget is accepted.

This may be the last step or the budget might be presented to the community for a public vote, or it may be presented to another governing group such as a City Council for approval. This will depend upon the particular laws of the state.

In any case, the school budget is an important responsibility for every member of the community. It determines in many ways the quality of the educational program. The cost of the program should be realistic. False economy is as bad as wasteful spending. Citizens Must Learn How can citizens make proper judgments concerning the school budget. They must learn the meaning and purposes of each expenditure. They should attend all budget hearing but should also attend regular board meetings and other activities throughout the year.

Citizens should appropriately express their opinions and should ask questions which will clarify their thoughts. Although some portions of a budget are open to change there are also parts which are required by law or contract. Such items as Social Security payments, interest and principal payments on bonds, retirement payments and many others are often not open to change.

Salaries which usually constitute the largest part of any budget are a result of several factors such as state law, competition, numbers of students, types of services and negotiation.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst As a candidate for the presidency of the United States, Richard M. Nixon declared he would end the war in Vietnam. Now President, he and his new Paris negotiating team headed by Henry Cabot Lodge, a veteran and tough diplomat, will attempt to carry out that promise.

Lodge, who likes tough assignments, could not have been given a tougher one. It is tougher than Korea where negotiations were in the hands of military men seeking an armistice, or, in effect, a cease-fire. It took two years and more than 500 meetings to achieve.

The Paris negotiations are supposed to run the full gamut from cease-fire to agreement on terms of a political settlement. President Nixon remains largely uncommitted on his intentions toward Vietnam and future commitments in Southeast Asia, and thus achieves a certain freedom of movement denied to his predecessor, President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Lodge, after two assignments as U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, has the advantage of on-the-ground experience and long acquaintance with South Vietnam's Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, with whom he must work closely in the Paris talks. In Paris, both sides have agreed to get down to major issues at once. Then the hard part begins.

The Communists have suggested the first issue to be taken up should be the withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam. The Americans want to discuss first the question of a cease-fire. The Communists certainly will balk at any early agreement on a cease-fire. Such an agreement, honestly kept, only would give Saigon added time to pacify more villages and to bring more peasants under its control while at the same time depriving the Viet Cong of their greatest weapon, which is terror. As of today, both sides continue to demand virtual total surrender from the other. The Communists remain firm on their four points: (1) recognition of Vietnam's territorial integrity and withdrawal of U.S. forces (2) pending reunification of Vietnam, respect for the Geneva agreement barring foreign military forces (3) settlement of South Vietnam's internal affairs under the guidance of the Communist-led National Liberation Front and (4) peaceful reunification of North and South without foreign interference. On its part, the United States is pledged not to impose any coalition government on Saigon. And Saigon leaders remain convinced that any surrender to the Liberation Front means not only disaster for South Vietnam but for the whole of Southeast Asia.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)— Mayor Henry Loeb Monday received an envelope containing $1. A letter said: "This is my 1968 payment for the air I breathed. Since it was somewhat polluted, I think this is sufficient." Loeb gave the dollar to the city treasury.

CINCINNATI (UPI)— Mrs. Bessie Cavey, 88, was not bitter about having her perfect driving record broken Tuesday by an officer who ticketed her for driving 78 miles per hour in a 40 mph zone. She said patrolman Ralph L. Jones, who gave Mrs. Cavey her first ticket in 54 years of driving, was "such a nice policeman."

A STUDY IN CONTRASTS is this typical campsite where residents of New Delhi, refusing to leave the Indian capital, live in pipes and makeshift huts and tents. In background are more elaborate homes of wealthier Indians. City planners have suggested that property owners tear down old buildings and build new living units, but tenants in rented substandard housing fear they would then be thrown out and made homeless when landlords increased rents.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—As I was walking Monday evening to the lulling strains of "Stars and Stripes Forever" there came to me a great idea.

I tried to tell my wife about it, but she wouldn't listen. She kept saying, "Hush, they're playing our song." So I will spring it on you.

President Nixon would like to drop the surtax, right? But he may not be able to do so because the government needs the money, right? Okay, here's the drill:

He lets the surtax expire and makes up the difference in revenue by renting out federal buildings at night for use as ballrooms.

Ridiculous, you say? Who would blow a month's entertainment budget on an evening of dancing in some bureaucratic mausoleum? Such questions betray an innocence of what constitutes fun these days.

One of this year's inaugural balls was held in the Smithsonian Institution Museum of History and Technology. Which is a pretty far cry from the roof garden of the Quonset Hotel overlooking beautiful Butterfield Falls, Wis.

The ball was, nevertheless, a real gas. I didn't attend any of the other affairs, which took place in conventional ballrooms around town, but I'm told they were pallid by comparison.

The museum decor was the thing that made the Smithsonian ball such a swinger. Where else could you fox trot under the flag that flew over Ft. McHenry.

Although I left before the dawn's early light, I greatly enjoyed the twilight's last gleaming.

Romantic Atmosphere
The atmosphere was both romantic and educational. Which is an unbeatable combination. If I ever made a tour of the FBI, I hope to do it cheek-to-cheek.

Hostesses are always on the lookout for new ways to inject novelty into social functions. So I'm sure they would jump at the chance to rent a federal building the next time they have a ball.

Downtown Washington is generally devoid of night life. This would be a way to liven it up and replenish the Treasury at the same time.

There is a building appropriate for every occasion. If, for instance, a couple gave a dance to celebrate their wedding anniversary, they could rent the Federal Mediation and Conciliation service.

Younger groups probably would prefer to hold their dances at the Post Office Department. That way they could play post office with real zip codes.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International
CORONADO, Calif. — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher of the Pueblo, explaining why he finally surrendered his intelligence ship to the North Koreans: "I was completely and hopelessly outgunned. There were too many of them and too many guns. To send a man up in our machine guns would have meant certain death for him."

SAIGON—South Vietnamese Premier Tran Van Huong, expressing little confidence in peace talks opening in Paris Saturday: "I do not put much confidence in the success of the Paris conference because the Communists are stubborn and will always try to drag the conferences out at length."

VSETATY, Czechoslovakia—The mayor of the home town of Jan Palach, who burned himself to death protesting the Soviet occupation of his homeland: "Jan was a good boy, one of the best we ever had."

JOHNSON CITY, Tex.—Lyndon B. Johnson, returning home after relinquishing the presidency to Richard M. Nixon: "I've given it all I had. If we could have had our druthers, we would have had peace. But you don't get everything in life."

CHICAGO, Ill. (SpI) — The permeating fragrance of a slow-cooking stew — the delicious, satisfying kind that is the result of a cook's own efforts — can be as welcoming to kith and kin as a well-lighted house on a dark night. Probably just about everybody can recall a particularly memorable stew with its heartiness, bounty and flavor, as well as the sociability that attended it.

This "pretty kettle" of Shellfish-Vegetable Stew, is certain to evoke such memories — and make some new ones — once it's been served! It's tomato-fragrant, herb-and-spice pungent, and chock-full of wholesome crab meat, scallops and shrimp. You'll find the firm texture and sweet succulent flavor of the shellfish a delightful contrast to some of the traditional cooked vegetables it included.

Your company will love this stick-to-the-ribs seafare served only with a tossed green salad and crispy hot bread. Fix golden frankfurter bun sticks or cub roll toasts (brown 'n' serve club rolls slashed diagonally; the cuts spread with butter, and the rolls then toasted in the oven). Lemon

NEA Food Editor

Q—Is it true that there are "low cholesterol" eggs? If so, where can I get them?

A—"Do not let anyone bamboozle you about 'low cholesterol' eggs. They don't exist," according to Frederick J. Stare, M.D., Harvard professor of nutrition. "The only common food that is a rich source of cholesterol in the diet is egg yolk. Not eggs, but egg yolk. The white of the egg is almost pure protein and protein of excellent nutritional quality. So a diet of no more than two egg yolks a week would qualify as a low cholesterol diet."

Q—Will you please explain the marks on poultry I buy? I am confused.

A—The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) urges homemakers to look for both the round inspection mark and the shield-shaped mark, when purchasing poultry. The round inspection mark is a symbol of safety and shows that the poultry was inspected by USDA and was found to be wholesome, clean and unadulterated, and is truthfully labeled. The shield-shaped mark is a guide to quality and shows that the poultry was officially graded. Poultry that is marked "USDA Grade A" is of the highest table quality.

Young Moms Can Cook Cobbler Like Grandma Did

— On the farm, where fresh sweet cream was available for skimming, grandma used it to make pancakes. Nothing else made pancakes so rich and moist, so thoroughly delicious. Now a baking-foods company brings these same pancakes to your kitchen whether you live in the nation's largest city, smallest suburb, village or perhaps in the country. Sweet cream pancake and waffle mix mixes with milk, egg and oil to make these old-fashioned, country-style pancakes in an easy-to-use mix.

The creative homemaker will also find the mix an excellent convenience ingredient for various recipes. The mix makes superb drop biscuits to accompany a meal or to top a dessert such as Cherry Cloud Cobbler. This cobbler will take only minutes to prepare in your kitchen, but is sure to become a family favorite.

CHERRY CLOUD COBBLER

Base:
1 can (1 lb. 5 oz.) prepared cherry pie filling
1/4 cup water
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Topping:
1 1/2 cups sweet cream pancake mix

2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup solid shortening
1/2 cup milk
Base: In medium sauce pan combine base ingredients. Heat until bubbly. Spoon into 9-inch square baking dish.

Topping: Combine pancake mix and sugar. Cut shortening into dry ingredients until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add milk. Stir until well blended, 30 to 40 strokes. With 2 teaspoons, drop dough in biscuits onto hot cherry mixture. Bake at 400 degrees for 18 to 20 minutes or until brown.

Q. What's the name of this meat cut?
A. Canadian-style bacon.
Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?
A. It's the boned and rolled strip from the pork loin, cured and smoked. It may be purchased "fully-cooked" or as "cook-before-eating" style.
Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting, broiling, panbroiling or panfrying. For broiling, have slices one-half inch thick. Broil three inches from heat eight to ten minutes. For panbroiling, slices should be one-half inch or less thick, to be cooked six to eight minutes. For roasting a piece or a whole, place meat in open roasting pan, on a rack. Insert meat thermometer, angled, to center of roast. Set oven at 350°F., roast meat to 160°F., allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound.

Fashion Writer Explains Dress Designers' Phrases

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clothes horses needn't envy writers who get paid for watching fashion shows.

Having lived through nearly 100 during the just-ended fashion marathon in New York, certain phrases ring in my ears when I sleep. You hear them at practically every fashion show, here or main street.

To help you through your next fashion show, there follow in quotes the phrases. In parentheses, interpretations.

"It's a very feminine dress." (Obviously a dress without pants. Have you ever seen a masculine dress?)

"A charming dress that makes you all woman." (Is this for women who have doubts about their sexual identity?)

"This is a must on all women's shopping lists." (The designer saying that thinks: "If you don't buy it, I'll go bankrupt.")

"Note the meticulous construction." (This means all stitches and buttons will keep their places until at least one wearing.)

"Evening clothes are festive." (Breathes there a female who never knew.)

"Fashion is keyed to the individual." (If it fits, the color and price suit, you'll buy it.)

"Pants are dashing this season." (Especially true if the wearer is a last-minute type who runs for bus or to any store before it closes.)

"Today's woman is in motion." (We never would have known unless the fashion people told us, would we?)

"We love the look of..." (Glad to hear it. If the designer doesn't love it, how's he expect us to buy it?)

"This dress is very new." (At the prices, $100 and up, it's comforting to hear that we're not buying used clothing, isn't it?)

"Today everything influences fashion—the moon, hippies, and, well, just everything." ("Everything" in that mouthful includes prices. If the price equals what you have left over from food money, you may buy it.)

"The year 1969 will go down as a vintage year in fashion." (The designers will say it in 1970 as they did in 1968, 1967 and every year in which they show a new collection. Nice to know, if they don't believe in their clothes, who will?)

"This collection is really very fresh." (Happy to hear it isn't really very stale.)

"Note the relaxed lines." (No bulges. Understandable when you consider the model is 27-24-26 and the dress is for someone 30-26-30.)

"Fashion is for all seasons." (Brilliant statement. Did it come out of a think tank, I wonder.)

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a very religious person and believe that everything in this world happens as a result of God's plan and wishes. Am I wrong then to feel that when we fall ill, it's God's will and perhaps God is trying to punish us for some wrong-doing? That is why I never take any medicine. Why fight God's decision? If you can answer this, you are a genius.

HAS FAITH
DEAR HAS: I'm no genius, but ask yourself this: If your theory is right, why then did God give man the knowledge and power to conquer illness?

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married to a big, good-looking Irishman for six years. We have two children. Mickey is a bartender, and I have never had any objections to the hours, temptations or anything like that until lately. His boss has told him to play up to the single women who come in — greet them with a big smile, a hug, and maybe a little smooch, and keep them sitting and buying drinks.

Well, there is one old widow who comes in nearly every night and stays until they close up. She's in no shape to get

Culture Club Has Officer Selection

The Civic Culture Club elected officers at their annual business meeting held recently in the home of Mrs. A. B. Cross.

The 1969-70 slate voted is Mrs. A. D. Hills, president; Mrs. A. B. Cross, vice president; Mrs. C. V. Forsman, recording secretary; Mrs. John McKnerney, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. C. Houchin, treasurer; Mrs. Irvin Cole, parliamentarian; Mrs. Emmett Osborne, membership; Mrs. Floyd Pennington, reporter. Presiding was Mrs. Irvin Cole, president.

The pledges to the U.S. and Texas flags were given. Roll call was answered by giving miscellaneous subjects.

The Department Chairmen worked on the regular annual reports with Mrs. Frank Grantham, dean of departments, giving instructions.

The next club meeting will be in Mrs. Knerney's home Jan. 28.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. A. C. Houchin, H. W. Waters, Katie Vincent, John McKnerney, Frank Grantham, A. D. Hills, Irvin Cole, A. B. Cross, C. V. Forsman and Floyd Pennington.

Gavel Club Meets For Special Supper

The Past Matron's Gavel Club met recently in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service for a covered-dish supper. The invocation was given by the president, Mrs. Emma Lee Gray. During the business meeting, presided over by the president, a report was given on the Christmas basket furnished by the club.

Following the supper, table games were played. Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Adele Osborne, Viola Pennington and Emma Lee Gray and Nell Rankin.

Hostess Sponsor Special Shower For Mrs. Taylor

GROOM (Spl) — Mrs. Ronnie Taylor, nee Tanja Weatherly, was honored with a miscellaneous shower at the Hospitality Room at the State National Bank Bldg. recently.

In the receiving line were the honoree, Mrs. Taylor, her mother, Mrs. Leroy Weatherly, and grandmothers, Mrs. Marie Rogers and Mrs. Otis Weatherly of Conway.

Mrs. Earl Barker presided at the refreshment table. Mrs. O. R. Major registered guests. Hostesses were Mmes. Guy Blackwell, Robert Newton, Gene Carter, Max Wade, George Britten, Danna Howerton, Ernest Weller, O. R. Major, Earl Barker, Thelma Pool, Bill Burgin and Nath Helton.

home on her own so Mickey takes her home.
My question: Do you think Mickey has to go this far in the line of duty?

MICKEY'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: How far does he go?

DEAR ABBY: A married male cousin of mine and his wife of some 40 odd years were visiting my husband and me for the week-end. While fully dressed and preparing breakfast, this married male cousin of mine came up behind me and surprised me with a kiss. No hug. Just a kiss.

I didn't think a thing of it, but after they had departed, my husband told me he saw "the whole thing." Then he became enraged because I hadn't thrown my cousin out of the house. He even said I must have encouraged my cousin and probably had further relations with him.

I assure you no such thoughts crossed my mind. Three years later my husband is still making nasty insinuations and accusations, and I am sick to death of hearing about it. What is your opinion of all this? We were all between 65 and 70 years of age, and the "kisser" is now dead. Thank you.

UNHAPPY
DEAR UNHAPPY: Do not be too hard on your husband on the chance that he is getting a bit addled in his old age. But when he starts with the ugly accusations, let him talk to himself.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "C.K.": It is useless to tell a grown daughter, "If you ever get into any trouble, come to me first." For if the proper relationship has been built over the years, she will, if it hasn't, the words will be meaningless.

Pampa Music Instructors Hear Program On 'Mind'

Pampa Music Teachers Association met for the January meeting in the home of the President, Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, 1215 Williston, for a morning meeting recently.

After an informal coffee-hour, a letter from State president, Dr. Wilgus Eberly of Denton, was read to the group in which he announced June 7-11 as dates for the Texas Music Teachers convention in Beaumont.

Following the business session, Program Chairman, Mrs. Lois Fagan, introduced Mrs. Ellen Shafer, who was in charge of the program for the morning.

Subject for her talk was "Music and the Brain" in which she discussed several levels of the personality as stated by Dr. Sigmund Freud.

"The first level, known as the Id, is the most primitive and is fed by animal instincts. The second, the Ego, is the rational part of man's self in which he sees and compares and makes judgements and reasons. The third, the Super-Ego, is the level in which conscience is developed and man knows good from evil," Mrs. Shafer said.

To illustrate the various effects which different types of music has on the personality, several hymns were played by Mrs. Calvin Whatley, A Reverie (Engelmen) was played by Mrs. Harris Brinson. Several military or patriotic selections were played by Mrs. Charles Parr. These represented various war-periods and reflected the mood of these various eras.

Also performing on the program, Mrs. Fidelia Yoder played a piano solo, "Wings of Song," which was an arrangement of a Mendelssohn song by Franz Liszt.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Harris Brinson, Lois Fagan, Charles Parr, Carl Shafer, Donald Walberg, Calvin Whatley, Fidelia Yoder, Joe Foster, Ramon Wilson and one guest, Mrs. Eddie Milligan.

Following the meeting, the group went to Furr's Cafeteria for a noon luncheon.

Methodists Honor Rev., Mrs. Elmore

GROOM (Spl) — A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Ray Elmore on their 25th wedding anniversary was held at the Groom's Methodist Church recently. They were presented a silver punch bowl set by church members.

Out-of-town guests attending included Dr. and Mrs. Charles Lutrick of Amarillo, Rev. and Mrs. James Boswell of Panhandle and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Ousley of Amarillo.

Setting Won't Entice Slicing Duffers

By LEE MUELLER
HAMILTON, Bermuda (NEA)—It's midnigh in Bermuda and a strangely warm, tantalizing breeze throbs in from the Atlantic. On the hillside, blue lilies lean with the impact while soft music oozes from a nearby hotel.

A beautiful woman in a green, satin evening dress steps onto the balcony, followed closely by a man in a white dinner jacket. Lifting her chin, she closes her pretty eyes and inhales luxuriously.
 "George," she says in a low whisper, "isn't this the loveliest, most perfect place on earth? It's so beautiful!"

The man leans forward, places both hands on the railing and looks out to sea. "Gosh, I don't know, honey," he says, finally. "That crosswind sure played hell with my tee shots today."

Golfers. They come to Bermuda each winter, these insensitive brutes, to beat a little white ball into submission. Fle on glass-bottomed boats and round-bottomed females. They come to play golf.

"These chaps from the States are the worst," a hotel doorman said, disgusted. "It is like they're starved for golf. They bring their wives here, but the only time she sees him is after he gets off the links. I wouldn't put up with it myself."

To native Bermudians, who are justifiably proud of their land, golfers are both a bane and a puzzle. "They come here from Canada and places where it's cold and snowy," the doorman said.

"We have here, I think, one of the most beautiful, scenic spots in the world. There are thousands of things to see: Devil's Hole, The Aquarium and Museum. The only questions the golfers ever ask, however, is how far it is to the green."

In early January some 200 players from the United States, Canada, Great Britain, Scotland and West Germany descended on Bermuda to play in its annual Goodwill Invitational Tournament. The results were, well, results.

"This type of tournament is billed as a fun thing," said a pro at Mid-Ocean Club and Golf Course, "and for the most part it is. Nearly all of these fellows take the game seriously, though. The way they check their scores against the others you'd think it was for the Masters championship."

Mike Krack, pro at West Burn Country Club in Darien, Conn., hinted at the players' intensity.

"My members talk about this tournament the year round," he said. "They can't wait to come down here for more ammunition. It's like getting refueled."

Bermuda, however, is not particularly a good place to become too involved with golf. The English colony's people drive little cars on the left side of the roadway, a fact that requires more than occasional attention from Americans who drive on the right side.

"I'd say more than two-thirds of the accidents we have involving Americans on cycles result from his forgetting which side of the road to ride on," a rental agent said.

"Golfers," said the doorman with emphatic scorn, "can't concentrate on anything but golf. I think they all should be put out to pasture myself."

A pasture, one hopes, with 18 holes!

Foster Makes Quick Of Foe, Wins In TKO

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eob Foster isn't satisfied, although he knocked down Frank DePaula three times in the first round for a technical knockout Wednesday night in his first light heavyweight defense.

To the near-sellout crowd of 16,129 at Madison Square Garden it might have seemed an easy night's work. Foster was knocked down in the first minute of the round, but recovered to floor the challenger three times for a technical knockout with only 2:17 gone in their scheduled 15-round bout.

The 30-year-old champion had nothing but complaints after the victory despite the fact he was: Unmarked, breathing easily, earned over $76,000, retained his title and scored one of the fastest kayos ever recorded in a light heavy title bout.

"I don't think this was an easy fight at all," the 6-foot-4 Foster complained. "I've had easier fights. The one with Henry Hank was easier and it went 12 rounds. This guy was trying to take me out."

Not Enough Money
 Although he earned $554,800 per second, he didn't think it was enough after a long, unprofitable career.

"(Dick) Tiger got a $100,000 when I knocked him out last May to win the title," said Foster, who weighed 171½ pounds to 170 for DePaula. "I'm already looking for my next payday."

The champion, from Washington, D.C., came out in the first round with his trademarked left jab flicking to perfection. But as he danced to his left, the 28-year-old challenger ducked under the long arms and knocked him to the canvas with a left to the head and a right to the body.

A flurry of punches had DePaula groggy seconds later and he went down from a right lead to the temple. Jumping up quickly, DePaula rushed at the champion as soon as the mandatory eight count was tolled by referee Johnny Lobianco.

Stars Gather For Crosby Golf Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—It may rain today for the start of the $150,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, which would be par for the course for the tourney celebrated over the years for washouts.

But rain or shine the pros are ready, and that includes Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, the game's "big three."

In all, 336 players, half of them pros, start firing over the tournament's three courses—magnificent Pebble Beach, soggy Cypress Point and revamped Spyglass Hill.

Nicklaus and Casper played practice rounds over Pebble Beach Wednesday and agreed they had never seen the course in better shape.

"It's one of the world's great courses," said Nicklaus, who makes his 1969 debut in the Crosby. "The grass is a little long but generally I think the course is in excellent condition."

Sewalt Pockets $4,211 Rodeo Earnings

DENVER, COLO.—Six professional rodeo cowboys won more than $3,000 each after completion Sunday of the 19-performance Denver National Western Rodeo here.

The Rodeo Cowboys Association said an estimated 150,000 persons saw 473 cowboys compete for $78,307, with another $4,635 won by girl barrel racers.

Big winner was Ronny Sewalt, 27, Chico, Tex., who snared $4,211 by roping and tying two calves in an 23.8 seconds.

Other top winners: Roy Duvall, Boynton, Okla., $3,908 in steer wrestling; Freddie Greer, Dallas, Tex., $3,837, bull riding; Jim Houston, Omaha, Neb., $3,141, bareback bronc riding; Barry Burk, Duncan, Okla., $3,100, calf roping; and Eenny Combs, Checotah, Okla., $3,028, steer wrestling. Mrs. Mildred Farris, Addington, Okla., mother of two and president of the Girls Rodeo Association, won the barrel racing and $1,260.

By virtue of their wins, Sewalt, Greer, Houston and Duvall jumped into early leads for 1969 world titles. Houston and Duvall have won previous championships.

Pampa Eyes Plainview Cagers Next

Pampa will begin its second leg on its journey to the District 4-4A basketball playoffs Friday night in Plainview.

But first the league had better find somebody that can beat Tascosa, the first half district winner. The Rebels have bowled over 10 straight league foes and after a perfect 9-0 first half finish are 1-0 in second half play.

Tascosa downed Caprock for the second time this season Tuesday night by 33 points and the Rebels appear better than ever.

Both Pampa and Borger and Monterey, who finished behind Tascosa in first half play, have one more shot at Tascosa and Pampa must play the Rebels on Tascosa's home court.

Monterey meets Tascosa in Amarillo but Borger, who finished second in first half play and lost by four points to Tascosa in the first game, hosts the Rebels next month.

Pampa lost just three games in the first half, to Palo Duro, Tascosa and Borger, and the Harvesters have already reavenged the loss to the Dons and meet Borger in Harvester Gym.

Pampa showed more zip against Palo Duro Tuesday night than it had all season and the Harvesters will have to leave as much when they meet Plainview.

Pampa edged the Bulldogs 52-44 in the first meeting and winning at Plainview has never been easy for a Pampa team.

Money Makes Difference With Astros, Staub Gone

By DARRELL MACK
HOUSTON (UPI)—For the second time in Ruy Staub's relatively young life he finds himself as one of the keystones of an expansion National League baseball club.

Staub was signed in 1961 as a $125,000 bonus baby at the age of 17, primed for a major league career in the then yet to be built Houston Astrodome.

Wednesday he was traded from humid Houston to chilly Montreal, one of the National League's two expansion clubs, in exchange for outfielder Jesus Alou and first baseman Donn Clendenon.

Staub, the highest paid Astro at $43,000 last season, was reported by friends to be "shaken," by the trade. He went into seclusion in his plush home near the Astrodome, but business associate said Staub would hold a press conference today.

Houston officials announced the trade without first notifying Staub. They said they were unable to find him Wednesday morning. Staub heard of the trade about an hour after it was made public.

"It was the toughest decision I've ever made in baseball," said Astros General Manager H. B. (Spec) Richardson.

"We have added speed, power and defense to our club," said Houston manager Harry Walker, "but we have lost one of the finest hitters in baseball."

Staub was one of the few things the Astros had to cheer about during the past two seasons. He led the league in batting during part of the 1967 season before winding up with a .333 mark as the Astros floundered in ninth place.

Last season, during the "year of the pitcher," he batted .291 while Houston was headed for a last place finish.

Joe Dey Named To Top Spot In USGA

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe C. Dey Jr. presided the perfect image for both sides today as the first commissioner of the Tournament Players Division of the Professional Golfers Association (PGA), of America.

Dey announced his resignation Wednesday as executive director of the United States Golf Association (USGA) after 35 years at the post to "serve golf at a significant time in another era."

The post was created after the PGA and a splinter group solved their differences following a brief fall-out among professional golfers. Dey was a unanimous choice to take over the job as chief executive and administrative officer.

"I think Dey will do a tremendous job," said Jack Nicklaus from Pebble Beach, Calif. of the appointment.

"Dey should add to the image of the game," added Miller Barber. "He is very capable."

Randy, Margaret Become Parents

A little supergirl was born to a superhero and his wife in Houston Wednesday night and both the parents and baby were reported doing nicely.

The mother is the former Margaret Burns and the father is James Randall Matson, otherwise known as Randy, the world's greatest shotputter.

Baby girl Matson came into the world at 7:18 p.m. and topped the scales at 7 pounds, 5½ ounces. She is 20 inches long and was born at Houston's Sharpstown Hospital.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Matson, 1312 N. Starkweather, and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns, also of Pampa.

Like most babies, the little girl has sparse hair, is beautiful, and looks like both her mother and father (depending on which one you talk to). But baby girl Matson said ga, gs, da, (which, in baby talk, means No Comment) when asked if she would follow in her father's footsteps.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Our Capsule Policy

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Guaranteed Slavery

Recent discussion of the government establishing some sort of guaranteed annual income for everyone, has raised considerable comment. One of our readers asked us if we could tell him who first proposed the idea of a guaranteed annual wage.

We don't know, and we doubt that anyone knows, who first proposed the idea. Its origin seems to be lost in antiquity. We do know that, like the idea of "Utopia," traces of such wishful thinking appear, again and again, in the recorded works of man. We know, too, that the idea is always predicated upon the requirement that the people give up control of their lives and property to some self-styled "expert" or appointed "leader." In short, instead of a guaranteed wage or subsistence level, what is actually offered is guaranteed slavery.

One such instance in the form of the socialist dream of an "ever normal granary," a common storehouse of grain, controlled by the government, from which the people could draw according to their needs appears in the Old Testament in the story of Joseph, son of Jacob. A fascinating and instructive interpretation of this biblical experiment in socialism was written by James M. Rogers in the booklet "Two Ways To Slavery" (single copy free from the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington-Hudson, N.Y.).

It seems that Joseph, after a dream that he was destined to rule men, and having become the pet of Pharaoh, King of Egypt, was appointed to establish and administer the already mentioned guaranteed "ever normal" storehouse of grain. Using his gift of gab and making the ever normal politician's promises, Joseph talked the people into depositing their surplus grain in his welfare depository. And this they did all during the following "seven good years."

Then came the "seven bad years" at which time, having made no other provisions for such emergencies the gullible people called upon Joseph to make good on his promises. But Joseph, knowing a good thing when he saw it, said "My grain for your money." And when he had all their money, he demanded and got the land titles of the starving people, leaving his fellowmen penniless, landless and slaves to Pharaoh, the King.

Then of course the fraudulent promise of a "guaranteed" existence is inherent in the dictum of Karl Marx — "From each according to his abilities; to each according to his needs" (which Marx, incidentally plagiarized from Leon Blanc, another Communist) — as it is inherent in every governmental welfare scheme.

In more modern times, the idea of the government guaranteeing this or that was the big thing with the Populist and union labor movements during the 20s and 30s of this century, as it is still being pushed by union bosses today.

Interestingly enough the idea in the exact words of our questioner, "a guaranteed annual wage," cropped up at a 1945 CIO convention in Minneapolis which, according to author Allan H. Ryskind, was attended by then Minneapolis Mayor, Hubert Humphrey, in company with Stalinist William Mauseuth.

Commenting on the convention in his book, "Hubert—An Unauthorized Biography of The Vice President" (Arlington House Publishers, 353 p., $5.95), Ryskind noted, in the chapter entitled "Humphrey's Leftist Coalition," that, "In passing an eight-point domestic program, the CIO called for, among other things, increasing wage rates nationwide by at least $2 a day; establishing a guaranteed annual wage."

Nowadays, when the idea of a "guaranteed annual wage" is mentioned, credit is frequently given to Milton Friedman who, in an unthinking moment, suggested the "negative income tax," another way of saying the same thing. Friedman, a neoclassical economist, made the suggestion, it has been said, to replace all the present governmental welfare schemes financed by looting the productive tax payers' earnings.

Imagine Friedman's chagrin when he realized that his Keynesian, tax and spend, socialist contemporaries were running with his "negative income tax" ball, not with the intention of letting it replace all other welfare schemes, but with the idea of imposing it on top of them.

It was ever thus.

Liberation vs. Liberal

One of our colleagues was pressed to explain the difference between "liberal" and "libertarian." He replied rapidly, putting it accurately and succinctly we thought: "well, 'liberal' means free spending and 'libertarian' means freedom saving."

Liberal, who talk loudly about freedom for everyone, tend to spend freely the earnings of others to promote their own ideas of what is best for promoting slavery of some to support the free spending of others.

Libertarians, on the other hand, refuse to interfere in the lives of others even for purposes they believe in. Libertarianism about freedom for everyone, does not pretend to be dictatorial, authoritarian or prescriptive. The only power a practicing libertarian exercises is the radiation of his firm belief in the right of all persons to act peaceably and creatively as they choose, insofar as he can and permitting others to do likewise.

Leonard Read, who heads the Foundation of Economic Education writes, "in a word, any methods other than libertarian will work against liberty, not for it." If we are to have a land of liberty, we must, as individuals, save our own freedom to live peaceably by respecting the same freedom for all others.

The American Way

By D.R. SEGAL

The crew of the Pueblo is safely home as the result of what must be the silliest piece of diplomacy in history. The United States' representative signed a document in which we admitted poaching, at the same time announcing that the confession was false and mendacious. This, obviously, satisfied the North Koreans, and the crewmen of the Pueblo, and their families, could have cared less.

There is reported to be "propaganda value" in the confession, but the McLuhanism of this escapes me. Certainly the large segment of mankind living outside the confines of the Iron Curtain—and a great portion inside it—don't believe much of anything in the way of political propaganda, especially that coming from Red China, Russia and Washington. One might conclude that after reading the confession and disclaimer the world's literates will be decidedly ho-hum about the whole thing, figuring there is no excess of purity on either side.

The credibility gap, which was the supreme achievement of the Johnson administration, might in the long view serve us well. It has created an incredibility about virtually every word and sign from any government, and that is not insubstantial. When men quit believing that politicians are immaculately conceived and divinely inspired, we will be pointed down the road to reality.

Reason and logic cannot be applied to affairs like the Pueblo incident. It is entirely possible the Pueblo was inside the territorial waters of North Korea, either physically or electronically. The vessel is known as a "spy ship" and if a spy ship does not conduct clandestine intelligence operations she is goofing off. The Pueblo seems to be a marine version of the U-2 incident which embarrassed the Eisenhower administration, but not much. Presumably, we must, with a straight face, maintain that a spy ship does not spy at all, and when one is caught we may sign a paper saying we are guilty if we tell everybody the confession is a lie. Try conjugating that one.

I have often wondered about this mythical jerk who is affected by propaganda. Governments are fussy preoccupied with this character, always worrying about how he'll take this or that lie. I should say that anyone who, at this stage, believes much of anything said by any government is a blithering idiot, confined to a place for certified loonies. I don't know how many of this sort exist in the world, but surely not enough to worry any government. I don't see why governments must play to this particular audience. "Hey, Sam, how will the people in the State Asylum react to this?" "I don't know, Irving, but they say the folks at Happy Valley Retreat won't buy it."

Diplomacy geared to the reaction of zany and nincompoops! Some audience.

Like all of his immediate predecessors, Nixon is having some trouble finding the right man for each of the important jobs which he must fill. That large pool of qualified manpower is not quite what it appeared to be in the election's joyous aftermath.

Top Republicans now admit privately that some of the lawyers, bankers and businessmen who were enthusiastically "available" in late November had second thoughts when the job offered was not in the Cabinet but a somewhat anonymous post a step or two down in the government hierarchy.

PATRONAGE—In the final analysis, the more troublesome problem for Nixon could be the filling of non-civil service jobs a couple of echelons down from the sub-cabinet. Involved is the question of top-level federal patronage.

Some Republican politicians and would-be job holders, with their party taking control of government for only the second time in 36 years, want Nixon and his aides to move aggressively in taking over positions which are not protected by civil service. Many of them think President Eisenhower was not aggressive enough when he took over in 1953.

"The Kennedy people did it right," recalls an Eisenhower Administration job holder. "When I got to work on the day after inauguration, I was told I had my choice of resigning or being fired. I resigned, of course."

Personnel Mess?—Who'll Fill Nixon Sub-Cabinet And Under?

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON— President Richard M. Nixon is launching his new administration with a couple of troublesome personnel problems which could take a little time to resolve.

One problem is the selection of qualified individuals to serve in sub-cabinet jobs. The other involves the replacement of Democratic incumbents in politically appointive jobs down the administration chain.

Six weeks ago, when Nixon aides were soliciting job recommendations from many nonpartisan sources, including individuals listed in Who's Who, it was said that Nixon would draw his top administrators quickly from a large pool of well qualified manpower. Those statements appear to have been over-optimistic.

The problem is clear at the level of assistant secretaries in government departments and their top deputies. The Nixon "team" is now taking the field with a flock of vacancies in these high echelons.

Nixon aides are now explaining that Cabinet members in the new administration are moving slowly and deliberately to assure selection of top officials who can work harmoniously with their associates.

There is a little more to it than that, however. Like all of his immediate predecessors, Nixon is having some trouble finding the right man for each of the important jobs which he must fill. That large pool of qualified manpower is not quite what it appeared to be in the election's joyous aftermath.

Top Republicans now admit privately that some of the lawyers, bankers and businessmen who were enthusiastically "available" in late November had second thoughts when the job offered was not in the Cabinet but a somewhat anonymous post a step or two down in the government hierarchy.

Veteran GOP leaders in Congress are among those urging a sweep-out policy by Nixon and his top aides. They think the GOP should act to counter the long years of Democratic control during which even the civil service rolls became, in their view, full of Democrats.

Nixon's recruiting experts are reported concentrating on less than a thousand top jobs—administrators, consultants, personal aides and the like—which are identified as subject to political appointment. Actually, however, there are about 4,000 such jobs on a listing compiled for Congress in what used to be called the "Green Book." (It now has a buff cover.)

Some GOP professionals would like to see the Nixon Administration assign some political appointees in each department to see that those political jobs, when available, are filled by Republicans recommended by the National Committee or GOP offices on Capitol Hill. That a few old-timers recall is how it was handled under the old master, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A BIT OF A MESS—These GOP activists have been assured, generally, by Nixon aides that the new President will move to open up the sort of jobs, at upwards of $20,000 a year, which are the cement in political construction work.

However, Bryce Harlow, the new president's top congressional liaison man, admitted last week that the personnel situation is something of a mess at present.

Harlow met privately with a group of Nixon's old friends in Congress who call themselves the "Chowder and Marching Society," in their discussion, it became clear that such actions, as the Who's Who-solicitation have produced a blizzard of paper which has delayed the replacement of Democrats with faithful Republicans.

Some House Republicans came away from the session with Harlow convinced that it will be March or April before Nixon's aides can get the problem in hand and set up a going personnel operation.

Such a delay is worrisome for some of the Republicans. They are frankly afraid that displacement of some Democratic appointees, if it is not done soon, will be difficult to do at all.

Some Republicans in the Senate and the House would like to take a hand in listing the replacements which should be made in the government departments and independent agencies. So far, at least, they have not been asked to do that.

A thought for the day: President George Washington said, "There can be no great error than to expect or calculate upon real favors from nation to nation."

Pull Up A Chair

By JOHN KEASLER

Turning off the highway, I started the drive across the university campus toward my classroom.

It's certainly not the shortest route. But I'm sure of it. It was the way I went the first night I started teaching a Creative Writing class quite some time ago. I always go to the coffee shop and start from there.

(A friend of mine named Sam Mase on another newspaper used to have this kind of sense of direction. When he first came to a certain town his apartment faced the White Star Laundry. He was a fine newspaperman but no matter where the assignment was—accident, shooting, whatever—when you went with Sam, long after he had moved, you had to drive a long way from the office, and start from the White Star Laundry.)

Anyhow, just as I turned the corner my lights picked up a college lad with his thumb up and I stopped.

Taking his sweet time, he ambled up and climbed in.

After I finished changing gears, I said, "I'm only going a mile or so, over to North Memorial Hall, but if that'll help you..."

"I'll hop out right here," he said.

"Huh?" I said.

"Let me out here. I'm just going a block down that street." He pointed down an intersecting street.

We hadn't gone two blocks. He was hitching rides on a three-block journey. It galled me.

He clambered out, muttering what may or may not have been a thank-you, crossed the street and ambled off.

"You're welcome," I snarled to myself, furious, I wanted to deliver my lecture about walking to school three miles through the snow (which is hard to do in Plant City, Florida). I wanted to orate about spoiled and pampered youth.

What I did was kill the engine. It's always on the verge of death. Not death, exactly. But it sure sleeps a lot. It also snores.

Far down the intersecting street, beneath the lights, I saw my tall young former passenger. Going up a walkway, to his destination.

From the distance, he saw me stalled.

He ambled back, taking his sweet time.

He peered into the darkness where the engine sleeps. "Got a flashlight?" "No," I said. "Got a screwdriver?" "No," I said.

When I was a Boy Scout our motto was "Be Prepared." I had a scoutknife once, but I lost it. He jiggled wires. "Got a dime?" he asked. I handed him one.

With one big hand he casually pushed my car a few feet back under the light. He leaned in with both shoulders, used the dime for a screwdriver, muttered something about regulators and said, "Try it

Underdogs Are Moving Up

By PAUL HARVEY

The 1969 Super Bowl should have taught us all something. Remember how the New York Jets were three-touchdown underdogs? The blitzing offense and the "impregnable defense" of the Baltimore Colts had mesmerized the oddsmakers. This, together with the historic supremacy of the senior National Football League over the nine-year-old American Football League, added up to a lopsided contest in which the Jets were advised by the experts to expect humiliation if not annihilation.

Then Jet quarterback Joe Namath said something prophetic: "I'd rather go into any game a three-touchdown underdog than a three-touchdown favorite."

Furthermore, Namath, almost alone, predicted, "We will beat them!"

The Jets did indeed beat them in one of the most phenomenal upsets in pro sports history.

Why is it safer to be the underdog? Because it's windy on top.

In two games during the regular season the Jets, favored to win, had lost.

Of course, it cannot be argued that all advantages are with the underdog. Such factors as pride momentum and self-confidence tend to keep winners winning.

But if the self-confidence becomes overconfidence, then the champ is likely to be dethroned by a fired-up, inspired underdog.

This is true in athletics, in industry and among nations in international competition; the underdogs have been moving up.

In every area of human affairs, Avis has been threatening to overtake Hertz—BY TRYING HARDER.

Today's monumental worldwide social upset derives from lean, hungry, second class citizens coming from behind while the fat, first-class favorites put forth less than their best efforts.

Thus what the late Dr. J. Wallace Hamilton called "The thunder of bare feet," audible everywhere, will either motivate present world leaders—or subjugate them.

The disadvantaged never had a greater champion than Dr. Hamilton. He recognized that in the racial memories of the barefoot man is the bone-deep bitterness of centuries. He remembers the pinch of poverty, the whip of slavery, the rebuffs and snubs of snobbery. Deep in his spirit are the scars of ages of exploitation, tyranny and contempt.

But Dr. Hamilton also recognized that "the man down under comes to the palace with inadequate preparation for the role of rulership. He has no democracy, in the disciplines of leadership, in the procedures of training in the skills of freedom. He has sought and won an equality and acquired a liberty which he is ill-prepared to handle wisely; especially in Africa, where he has tried to come from the Stone Age to the Space Age in one generation."

And thus, when the bottom gets to the top—as in the French Revolution—there follows an age of terror and disorder. As Mirabeau said, "The tyranny of kings is hard to bear, but the tyranny of the mob is unendurable."

The urgent need, therefore, is to strengthen—not weaken—the law which alone can insure orderly evolution.

The Joe Namaths, who dare to dream the impossible dream, respecting the rules of the game, then can show the rest of us how to be something more than we are.
