Race Violence Continues to Erupt in U.S.

Violence broke out between white students and Negroes at Ferris State College in Big Rapids, Mich., early today as white students spilling out of their dormitory for a fire alarm came upon two Negro students bringing their dates back home to another dorm.

Sixteen students were injured—two of them held for treatment of head injuries—in a melee in which students broke out boards, chains and even zip guns. One student was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon.

At the University of California, police swung their clubs in the rain and charged picket lines set up at the entrances of the Berkeley campus and arrested a dozen persons. Two student leaders were clubbed unconscious.

Stink Bombs
At the University of Wisconsin, the chant of "On strike, shut it down" was up again as student militants broke windows and threw stink bombs into campus buildings. Students protesting the planned expulsion of 31 students at the University of Chicago also threw stink bombs into buildings.

At Other Campuses:
Texas: The executive committee of Wiley College—closed after demonstrations by some of the 750 students at the all-Negro school in Marshall, Tex., met in Houston and set up a trustee group to study the case. Students demanded the resignation of President T. Winston Cole. The committee expressed confidence in Cole, who had ordered the school closed.

Re-Establish Lines
Tennessee—The University of Tennessee Young Democrats called on Gov. Buford Ellington to "re-establish the fallen lines of communications" between administrators and students at the Knoxville school.

New York—About 300 Columbia University students, mostly members of the Students for a Democratic Society, staged sit-ins at two buildings to discuss racism, academic freedom and the Vietnam War. The sit-ins followed a rally by the Conservative Students for Columbia University. In other action, acting President Andrew Cordier said he would recommend the trustees drop plans for a new gymnasium in Morningside Park.

California—Ronnie Lee, 22, a former president of the Black Students Union at Los Angeles City College, was in satisfactory condition after being shot five times at the edge of the campus Wednesday. Lee said he would not sign a complaint.

embroided in a series of anti-American demonstrations and was greeted personally at Orly Airport by President Charles de Gaulle, his toughest obstacle in his efforts to build Western unity around NATO.

Scuffles in Rome between police and anti-Nixon demonstrators halted the Nixon motorcade as the President was leaving the eternal city. Nixon intervened personally with police who were beating the demonstrators and the motorcade moved on.

Paris' Orly Airport was ringed by thousands of tough riot police after gangs of youths attacked American establishments in Paris and the French Communist party called for all-out demonstrations against Nixon "from the moment he arrives."

Nixon greeted the austere French president as a "great companion in search for peace." Nixon's efforts in Paris to restore France-American relations to an even keel were regarded as the diplomatic highlight of a five-nation tour that has taken him to Brussels, Bonn, West Berlin and Rome.

Nixon's visit to Rome was marred by large scale rioting in which police battled students through the streets with clubs and tear gas. There were huge crowds to cheer him in Rome as in the other cities he visited, but anti-Nixon incidents continued today including the turning of American flags.

De Gaulle mobilized 27,000 security and riot police to see that Nixon is protected while in Paris. But even before he arrived gangs of youths smashed windows at the American Express, the Paris Hilton Hotel, and Pan American World Airways.

Deadline Falls On Filing For City Election

Pampa's April 1 city election still was in the uncontested category as of noon today with only one candidate seeking each of the three vacancies to be filled.

Deadline for filing was scheduled at 5 p.m. today. The same was true of the April 5 school board election with only one candidate seeking the lone seat to be filled there. However, deadline for filing for the school board post does not fall until 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Candidates who have announced so far in the city election include Milo Carlson for mayor, George B. Cree Jr. for Ward 1 commissioner and Leo Braswell for Ward 3 commissioner.

Dr. R. M. Hampton is seeking re-election to the lone post to be filled in the school board election.

Ike Develops Pneumonia Army Hospital Discloses

Former President Said Fighting Latest Illness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's recovery from intestinal surgery sustained a serious setback today when he developed pneumonia. His doctors reported "he is generally weaker this morning."

The 78-year-old general has been in Walter Reed Army Medical Center since last May for treatment of a series of heart attacks.

A medical bulletin announcing how he will respond to the onset of pneumonia, five days after an operation to remove an intestinal bloc, said: "It is too early to determine how he will respond to treatment which is being given for this complication."

But medical authorities viewed the development with extreme gravity because of Eisenhower's age and history of seven heart attacks.

A mid-morning bulletin by the hospital, where Eisenhower underwent surgery on Sunday said:

"General Eisenhower spent a restless night."

It continued: "He experienced some respiratory difficulty during the night which is due to pneumonia which has developed in the right lung base."

"It is too early to determine how he will respond to treatment which is being given for this complication."

"He is generally weaker this morning, but is cooperative and determined to overcome this latest complication."

The bulletin was released at 9:45 a.m. CST by the hospital.

Eisenhower, 78, developed an acute intestinal bloc Saturday.

For more than 24 hours, physicians sought to eliminate the condition without surgery but when that failed they reluctantly decided to operate Sunday night.

The two-hour, 20-minute operation was completed just before midnight Sunday. The hospital said he came through it well and his recovery appeared to be progressing so well that the usual two-day bulletins were reduced to one as of Thursday.

The former President has had seven heart attacks, and doctors were reluctant to operate on him because of the high risk. They concluded that the risk was necessary.

Attorney Says Sirhan Mentally Ill at Slaying

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan's attorneys contended he was "mentally ill" when he shot Sen. Robert F. Kennedy at point blank range.

Today the defense began calling witnesses to support the argument that the assassination was "totally a product of a sick, obsessed mind and personality."

Among the first witnesses may be Sirhan's mother, Mary, his younger brother, Munir, and psychiatrists who have examined the 24-year-old Palestinian Arab.

Sirhan himself may testify next week and therein lies the defense's problem.

Sirhan has exploded in anger several times in court when reference was made to his mental condition. The introduction of his notebook diaries, in which he wrote "RFK must be assassinated" over and over again, triggered a spectacular outburst.

When Sirhan testifies on his own behalf, the defense may be hoping his apparently unstable emotional state may work to the advantage of his cause. In its opening statement, the defense appointed Sirhan as a victim of spells, trance and mystic delusions which gradually grew after he witnessed atrocities in his native Jordan as a child.

Inquiry Board Will Hear Bucher Again

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI)—Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher of the USS Pueblo will testify a second time at the Navy court of inquiry into his ship's capture by North Korea.

A court spokesman said Thursday the decision to bring Bucher back to the witness table was made by the Pueblo skipper's civilian lawyer, E. Miles Harvey.

No date has been set for Bucher's second appearance.

Shaw Verdict May Come By Saturday

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Twelve men walk up 26 concrete steps just behind the Clay L. Shaw courtroom today to a stark jury room to deliberate whether the retired bachelor businessman conspired to murder President John F. Kennedy.

The vote of nine of them is needed to convict under the Louisiana law applying to criminal conspiracy cases.

There was a possibility a verdict could come Saturday on the second anniversary of Shaw's arrest on March 1, 1967. Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. told the jurors "it looks to me" as though they would get the case late today. Shaw could get from one to 20 years in prison on conviction.

The state was presenting rebuttal testimony Thursday afternoon when it ran out of witnesses. The judge told the jury that "the remaining state witnesses are from the East and have not been able to make it here because they are snowbound."

He said he would adjourn early and if they were not here at opening time today, final arguments would begin immediately.

Taking the witness chair in his own behalf as the 16th and last defense witness Thursday, Shaw categorically denied all the main points the state has built to prove its indictment. It charges he conspired with Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie here in September, 1963, to assassinate Kennedy.

Shaw's principal accuser, Perry Raymond Russo, 27, testified he had heard and watched the three discuss assassination plans, escape methods and alibis—but on cross examination he said he had never heard them agree to do anything. Shaw, whom Russo said he knew as Bertrand, is accused of conspiring but not killing.

The state's four rebuttal witnesses Thursday brought the trial witness total for both sides to 63 in 18 days of testimony.

Gray County Jr. Livestock Opens Saturday

The Gray County Junior Livestock Show, a sponsorship of the Pampa Noon Lions Club, will start at 2 p.m. Saturday at the sales barn on the Rodeo grounds, according to Ray Thompson, committee chairman.

Twenty-seven calves and 110 barrows have been entered by Gray County 4-H and Future Farmers of America members. Thompson reports. Both boys and girls are eligible to enter.

Judge of showmanship will be Doug Smith, Perryton, county agent for Ochiltree County. Awards of trophies will be made in three classes of barrows and one of calves.

Grand and reserve champion awards will be made in each class of pigs and grand and reserve champion awards in total calves.

The highest awards will be grand champion over-all and grand reserve over-all. "Most of the exhibitors in the county show will also be entered in the regional Top O' Texas Junior show", Thompson said.

Trophies are donated by Production Credit Co. and Wheeler Grain Co., sponsors of showmanship awards.

Other members of the committee directing the show include Ralph Thomas, J. E. Gunn, A. B. Carruth, Dr. N. L. Nichols, Bill Jarvis, and Frank Grantham. Foster Whaley, county agent, is adviser.

President of the Lions Club is E. E. (Pinky) Shultz.

Gunshot Death Is Probed

By LARRY HOLLIS Staff Writer

Police were still investigating today the death of Mrs. Betty Faye Savage Boyles, 26, who was found dead of a gunshot wound in her kitchen after police received a call from her husband.

Joe Boyles, 2010 N. Coffee, called the police at 4:48 p.m. Thursday and requested an ambulance. According to the police report, he stated, "Hurry, it may be too late."

Police officer G. E. Hendrick met Boyles and two employees of Carmichael-Whately Funeral Directors in the front yard. All of them went inside.

The body of Mrs. Boyles was lying on the kitchen floor near the sink, according to the report.

Hendricks asked Boyles where the gun used in the shooting was. Boyles replied it was in the kitchen, but a search failed to locate it.

L. J. Jess Goad then arrived. After a further search, Boyles found the weapon, a .30 caliber rifle, behind the front room door, the report noted.

According to the police report, Boyles stated he had gone into the bedroom to put up some pills when he heard the single shot that killed his wife. He said he then ran into the kitchen, where he found his wife lying on the floor.

Boyles said he tore open the sweatshirt his wife was wearing to observe the wound. He then called the police and asked for (See GUNSHOT, Page 3)

Local Women Price, Quality Conscious

Only the Working Ladies Are Hurrying, Scurrying

By RUTH LEWIS Staff Writer

Pampa women are more price- and quality-conscious than ever before, most grocers here believe. They do little impulse buying, one supermarket manager believes, "except," he added, "for the women who have daytime jobs and are rushed when they come to the grocer's."

Another grocer said candidly—"but don't use my name"—that food stores are underpricing their wares here. "You can't make a profit at the prices we get."

A Furr Foods manager said "Women are better than ever at comparing goods and price tags."

Piggly-Wiggly, Coronado Center, one of the oldest, if not the very oldest, grocery chains in America—is used to strong competition, and that's what Pampa provides, says M.E. Simmons, manager.

"The highly competitive situation in food sales here is no great handicap," he added.

P-W gives S&H green stamps and believes strongly in the role played by such items in increasing sales. Simmons was manager here for five years, leaving for six months in another store. He is happy to be back.

The Village Market, 600 S. Cuyler, relies not at all upon trading stamps, putting its faith in quality and price, according to Mrs. Dorothy Bearden, clerk. "Stamps must be paid for somehow," she says, "and how else can the customer get them without paying more for food?"

Women customers look hard at prices and quality, Mrs. Bearden believes, and are happy to find what they are convinced is a bargain. "They want good brands."

Kermit plowman, manager, was out when telephoned.

The S&J Store is an oldtimer for Pampa. "My grandfather started on this corner—600 E. Frederic—in 1939 with a stalk of bananas, 100 pounds of beans and a case of No. 303 canned peaches," says Carroll Jones, owner, who is a native of Pampa. Later the store was sold to Elmer Francis, upon whose death 10 years ago, the (See LOCAL, Page 3)

OES Group Has Friendship Night

Top O' Texas Chapter No. 1064 O.E.S. held its annual Friendship Night at Masonic Hall No. 1381 recently. Area stars and their husbands were invited to the dinner and program.

A Valentine theme was carried out in the dining room and chapter room with forms of cupids and hearts in red and white. About 175 Valentine name tags were distributed.

Worthy Matron, Mrs. A.P. Coombes, and Worthy Patron, D.A. Rife, directed guests to the chapter room for the program. The Worthy Matron presided and recognized all chapters present.

Mrs. Mayo McKnight, program chairman, gave the history of Valentine's Day and

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband had too much to drink last night, and confessed that the reason he bought me that beautiful beaded bag for St. Valentine's day was because he'd bought one for his girl friend and he felt guilty. Now I don't even want the bag. What do you think?

HURT
DEAR HURT: I think your husband should quit drinking and looking at bags.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a large office and each time one of our girls goes on pregnancy leave, we have a baby shower for her. At the present time we have an unmarried girl who will be going on pregnancy leave soon. What do we do about this?

Should we ignore the whole thing? Or should we go ahead and give her a baby shower as though everything were normal and acceptable to all of us? Wouldn't this be condoning her condition? Or maybe we should just take up a collection and give her the money instead?

Any suggestions you can offer would be very much appreciated as this whole office is divided as to what we should introduced Mrs. Bryce Palmer and Miss Jackie Coombes, daughters of the Worthy Matron, who sang a medley of Valentine songs.

NAMELESS, PLEASE
DEAR NAMELESS: A baby shower for an unmarried girl could be awkward and strained for all concerned. But depending upon your collective judgment of the girl herself, I think an act of compassion and helpfulness (a quiet collection) would be appreciated by the mother-to-be, and make you all feel better.

DEAR ABBY: I can add nothing to your suggestion to the woman whose husband "ignored" her after her hysterectomy. However, for the sake of other women who may postpone or refuse that operation because they feel they may be considered "less of a woman" by an uninformed husband, let me express my feelings:

My wife had a hysterectomy 14 years ago, so I've seen her scar thousands of times. When I notice it I always have two feelings. One is sympathy for the pain she suffered to get that scar. The other is a feeling of thankfulness that she has it. Without that scar, I wouldn't have her either. I have friends who have no scar to look at. Their children have no mother.

"THANKFUL" IN KANSAS CITY

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the wife whose husband decided after five children that he wanted a younger woman described my situation when I was raising our five youngsters. I could have thrown him out, but I didn't on the advice of a lawyer friend who told me that our children would do better in a home with both parents—hence as it would be at times—than in a broken home with no father at all.

I covered for my husband when possible, but our children knew we had our problems. They were taken (not sent) to church, and we did everything we could to give them a good moral up-bringing. Their father, believe it or not, was very helpful, too.

Now the children are grown and have their own families. After the last was married I let their father go. There are no hard feelings. The war is over. Who needs revenge when the results are so sweet?

Women Sponsor Luncheon Meeting

Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Boyd Brown, east of town, recently, for regular meeting and a covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. N.B. Cude, president, presided over the business meeting as minutes were read.

A workshop on lamp making was held in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service Co. Tuesday. The workshop for wools and double-knit material was held in the agent's office Thursday.

Final plans were made for the clean-up day today since the Fat Stock Show and Sale is planned this weekend.

Mrs. L.R. Harvey gave the program on her convention report and said more cooperation was stressed between 4H girls and adults. Leaders are badly needed. The bond between parents and children should be strengthened. Some women might think they didn't have the time to be a leader, but some could teach a lesson in bread baking or icing a cake. We were asked to encourage girls to work for the national college scholarship," Mrs. Harvey said.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. John A. King, 1148 Prairie Drive, at 1:30 p.m. March 7.

Members present were Mmes. O.G. Smith, Emma Tinsley, Boyd Brown, May Cude, Mattie Kinzer, H.C. Skaggs, Ray Robertson, and the guest Mrs. L.R. Harvey.

"Woman customers are in a hurry more than they used to be," Jones believes. "Perhaps it is because many have daytime jobs and must buy groceries on the way home. I do notice that they are not too concerned about a specific brand. They'll take Brillo for SOS or Cheer for Tide, if need be."
Older women are the more careful and persistent shoppers, Jones adds. Perhaps that again is a concomitant of the fact that "many younger women work outside the home."
Women are pretty much impulse buyers, Jones is convinced. "We rotate three brands of bread every month, putting each brand on the top shelf in its turn. We find that invariably the top row sells best and fastest."
On the other hand, says Jones, "we get opposition from customers if we charge the regular price for—let's say—lunch meat and someone else is selling it at a discount."
"One grocer recently sold Mellorine at 29 cents as a leader. That's cost. I kept my price at 35 cents regardless. I will not sell at a loss."
A Gibson's Discount spokesman said, "Of course price is our specialty so we note the response to markdowns."
Tommy Davis, manager, has noticed that women compare items with prices asked elsewhere. Davis recently has returned to Pampa after having worked for the company three years before leaving. He has been back three weeks and is glad to be here, he asserts.
Gerald McKay of Ideal Stores says that women still make comparisons and try to get the most for their money. He notices that many of the same customers return repeatedly, regardless of specials or other inducements.
"Men do more of the grocery shopping than they formerly did," says McKay, "a fact that most businesses realize."
Yes, the store uses trading stamps as a lure, the manager notes. "We think it's good business."

Former Army Recruiter Doing The Job Now

Just like Superman former U.S. Army recruiter in Pampa and the Panhandle area, Sergeant First Class Billy Blackburn, is flying.
Blackburn, who had the recruiting office here for six years, is now doing the same thing most of the young men he enlisted are doing, fighting in Vietnam.
Sergeant Blackburn has flown 125 helicopter missions over Vietnam and was recently awarded the air medal. He was also awarded his wings, symbol of 25 missions in the war.

Besides the wings and air medal Blackburn also has four oak leaf clusters, now being awarded for each 25 missions flown in combat.
The likeable Blackburn is currently stationed in Phu Hiep, South Vietnam which is near Toy Hoa. He also works in the personnel office.
Blackburn has been in Vietnam for seven months and is scheduled to return to the United States July 8, 1960. He has served with the Army for 16 years and re-enlisted for three more years July 28, 1968.

The sergeant's wife, Charlene, who lives in Pampa with her two sons, got the shock of her life last week when she met her husband in Hawaii when he was sent for rest and recreation.
"This is when I found out he was flying helicopter missions," she said. "I had no idea he was flying combat missions and really wasn't worrying too much. Now I'll worry a lot more," she said.
Blackburn, his wife and children have a unique way of communicating with each other. The former recruiter bought two tape recorders overseas and sent one home.
Besides letters the family sends tape recordings back and forth.

Blackburn has one half the tape for the youngsters and the other half for his wife.
Blackburn's address is: SFC Billy Blackburn, RA53164577, 180th AVN Co., APO, San Francisco, Calif., 96316.

Pampa on Grow Group Told

"Pampa appears to be on the grow," was the consensus of some 40 persons who attended a joint meeting of the Pampa Board of Realtors and members of the Chamber of Commerce this morning in the Coronado Inn.

The meeting was called to discuss rental housing in the city.
Representatives of Southwestern Public Service Co., Pioneer Natural Gas Co. and Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. all said that total residential customers had increased during the past twelve months, particularly the past 60 days. A spokesman for Cabot said that his company had a net increase of more than 100 employees during 1968.

Realtors, builders and movers all agreed that more two-and-three bedroom rental homes, in good condition, were needed.
It was suggested that older homes, in the $110 to $135 per month price range could be remodeled and updated to ease the current problems.
Hugh Peeples was in charge of the meeting.

WHAT LENT MEANS TO ME

By MRS. M.F. ROCH.
of St. Vincent's
Catholic Church

On Ash Wednesday, which begins the liturgical season of Lent, ashes are placed on my forehead with these words: "Remember, man, that thou art dust and unto dust you must return."

The ashes are only symbolic. They are to remind us of death and the need of repentance.

Rev. Patrick A. Bergin, M.M., in his poem, "Ash Wednesday," expresses this meaning very beautifully:

"The ashes on my head are light.

It is their shadow on my soul

That weighs these hundred tons."

With this reminder I pause to consider the eternal destiny of my soul and the means to secure its life with God in Heaven.

During the six and one half weeks of Lent, the liturgy of the Catholic church portrays the suffering and death of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. We call to mind His many sufferings, especially the supreme sacrifice of His life upon the cross.

During this season I am given the opportunity to make a concerted effort to practice self-denial and self-discipline, to do some penance pleasing to God, to seek out and assist those in material and spiritual need so that I may have a closer union with God in my daily life.

Of equal importance, the observance of Lent is in preparation for the great feast of the resurrection. The redemption of the human race by Jesus Christ was the one great central act of history. The resurrection was the climax of the redemption.

Again, it is a privilege for me to have the opportunity to make spiritual preparation for this feast in order to receive as many graces as possible.

I like to envision, especially during Lenten devotions, that great multitude of saints and martyrs of all ages. They walked the way of the cross and their love of God knew no bounds. They have lessons for me. This is what Lent means to me.

Patrick J. O'Malley Not Usual Idea Of Roman Catholic Priest

By CARL KOVAC
NEA Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO (NEA) — Any Roman Catholic priest named Patrick J. O'Malley has got to be a Bing Crosby-Pat O'Brien anything - the Pope-says-goes-type padre, right?

But not this Patrick J. O'Malley. He's as far from the kindly old Irish parish priest stereotype as Chicago is from Dublin.

He's young, big—he gives the impression he could handle himself in a street brawl as well as he does on a pulpit—and he's hip. He digs things like skiing at Aspen, Colo., "because it unbugs me."

Father O'Malley, 36, a product of Chicago's tough West Side, is one of the new breed of Catholic priests. He's a rebel, not the Father Groppi kind, but a rebel. He loves his God, his church and his fellow man.

Because he does, he works very hard at trying to bring a new meaning, a new sense of involvement to the priesthood.

As one of the founders and first president of the recently organized National Federation of Priests' Councils, Father O'Malley is dedicated to helping make his church a "now" organization, an organization that is "highly elastic and adaptable and always listening to the needs of the people it is supposed to serve."

"There are councils in almost every diocese in the United States," he reports. "We are striving for a more accountable responsibility for priests and we thus hope to become an active force for reasonable change and adaptation within the church. We recognize that those in authority cannot do everything. To this end the federation is programed to promote mutual understanding, co-operation and planning among priests and their superiors."

"We're not trying to create a caste system, an elite or anything else. We're always saying that we've become priests to serve the people and the community. All we're asking is that those in authority let us do this and carry the responsibility that goes with it."

Father O'Malley says the federation also is deeply involved with the problems confronting modern young priests, problems like celibacy and birth control.

"Many of the problems of being a priest today lie with the priests themselves," he notes. "They simply do not know what is happening. It's not all their fault. They've been prepared for service in an accelerated, ever a changing world in the closed, limited society of the seminary. They are sent out into the world to find that what they have been taught in theory does not always apply in reality."

"Take the question of celibacy," O'Malley says. "Celibacy" the priest says, "certainly does not prepare a young priest for personal relationships with those he hopes to serve. It puts him apart from his people. How can a celibate, for example, rap with anyone with sex problems?"

"Besides, how do you teach anyone celibacy? It is easy to instill a discipline when there is no temptation. But a young priest has to work in a world of miniskirts and sexy perfume and man; he begins to wonder. I think he ought to be able to opt for or against celibacy, whatever is his bag."

Would he marry, if and when the church, as he feels it some day must, departs from its traditional stand on celibacy? "I might. I'll make that decision if the time ever comes," he says, laughs and adds, "I have not got anything on the string now."

Then there's birth control. "Priests should stay out of the bedroom. What goes on between man and wife should be their own personal matter. They are the two people who know the most about their relationship and their problems. This is why the church should listen to what married people are saying. This is why there is so much opposition to the asking is that those in authority let us do this and carry the responsibility that goes with it."

Father O'Malley says the federation also is deeply involved with the problems confronting modern young priests, problems like celibacy and birth control.

Scientists Slate Study on Jesus

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Bible lesson-sermon to be heard at the 11 a.m. service Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Golden Text from Ephesians is, "Ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God; and are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone."

Correlated passages from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Christianity as Jesus taught it was not a creed, nor a system of ceremonies, nor a special gift from a ritualistic Jehovah; but it was the demonstration of divine Love casting out error and healing the sick, not merely in the name of Christ, or Truth, but in demonstration of Truth, as must be the case in the cycles of divine light."

in correlation under priesthood leadership. The Mormon Church has over 26,000 members presently in the military service.

The scope of the new program opens a greater opportunity for meeting the needs of the servicemen in three areas: as they prepare for military service, while they are on active duty and after they are released.

A letter from the First Presidency has instructed stake presidents to appoint a "worthy priesthood holder with executive ability to the important new position" of executive secretary to the stake priesthood executive committee. Among his duties will be advisor to the stake presidency on military relations.

All programs concerning military relations on a regional basis will be under supervision of the Regional Representatives of the Twelve.

Special attention will be given to regular correspondence with those in the armed services by their ward and priesthood leaders, and mailing of church publications to each LDS serviceman.

With the increase of members of the Church going into military service, it is the intention of Church leaders that they be given the same help and encouragement that is given to the 13,000 missionaries now serving the Church in many parts of the world.

WHO IS JESUS?

Matthew 16:13-16 When Jesus came into the coats of Caesarea Philippi, he asked His disciples, saying Whom do men say that I the Son of Man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist: Some Elias; and others, Jeremiah or one of the prophets. He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

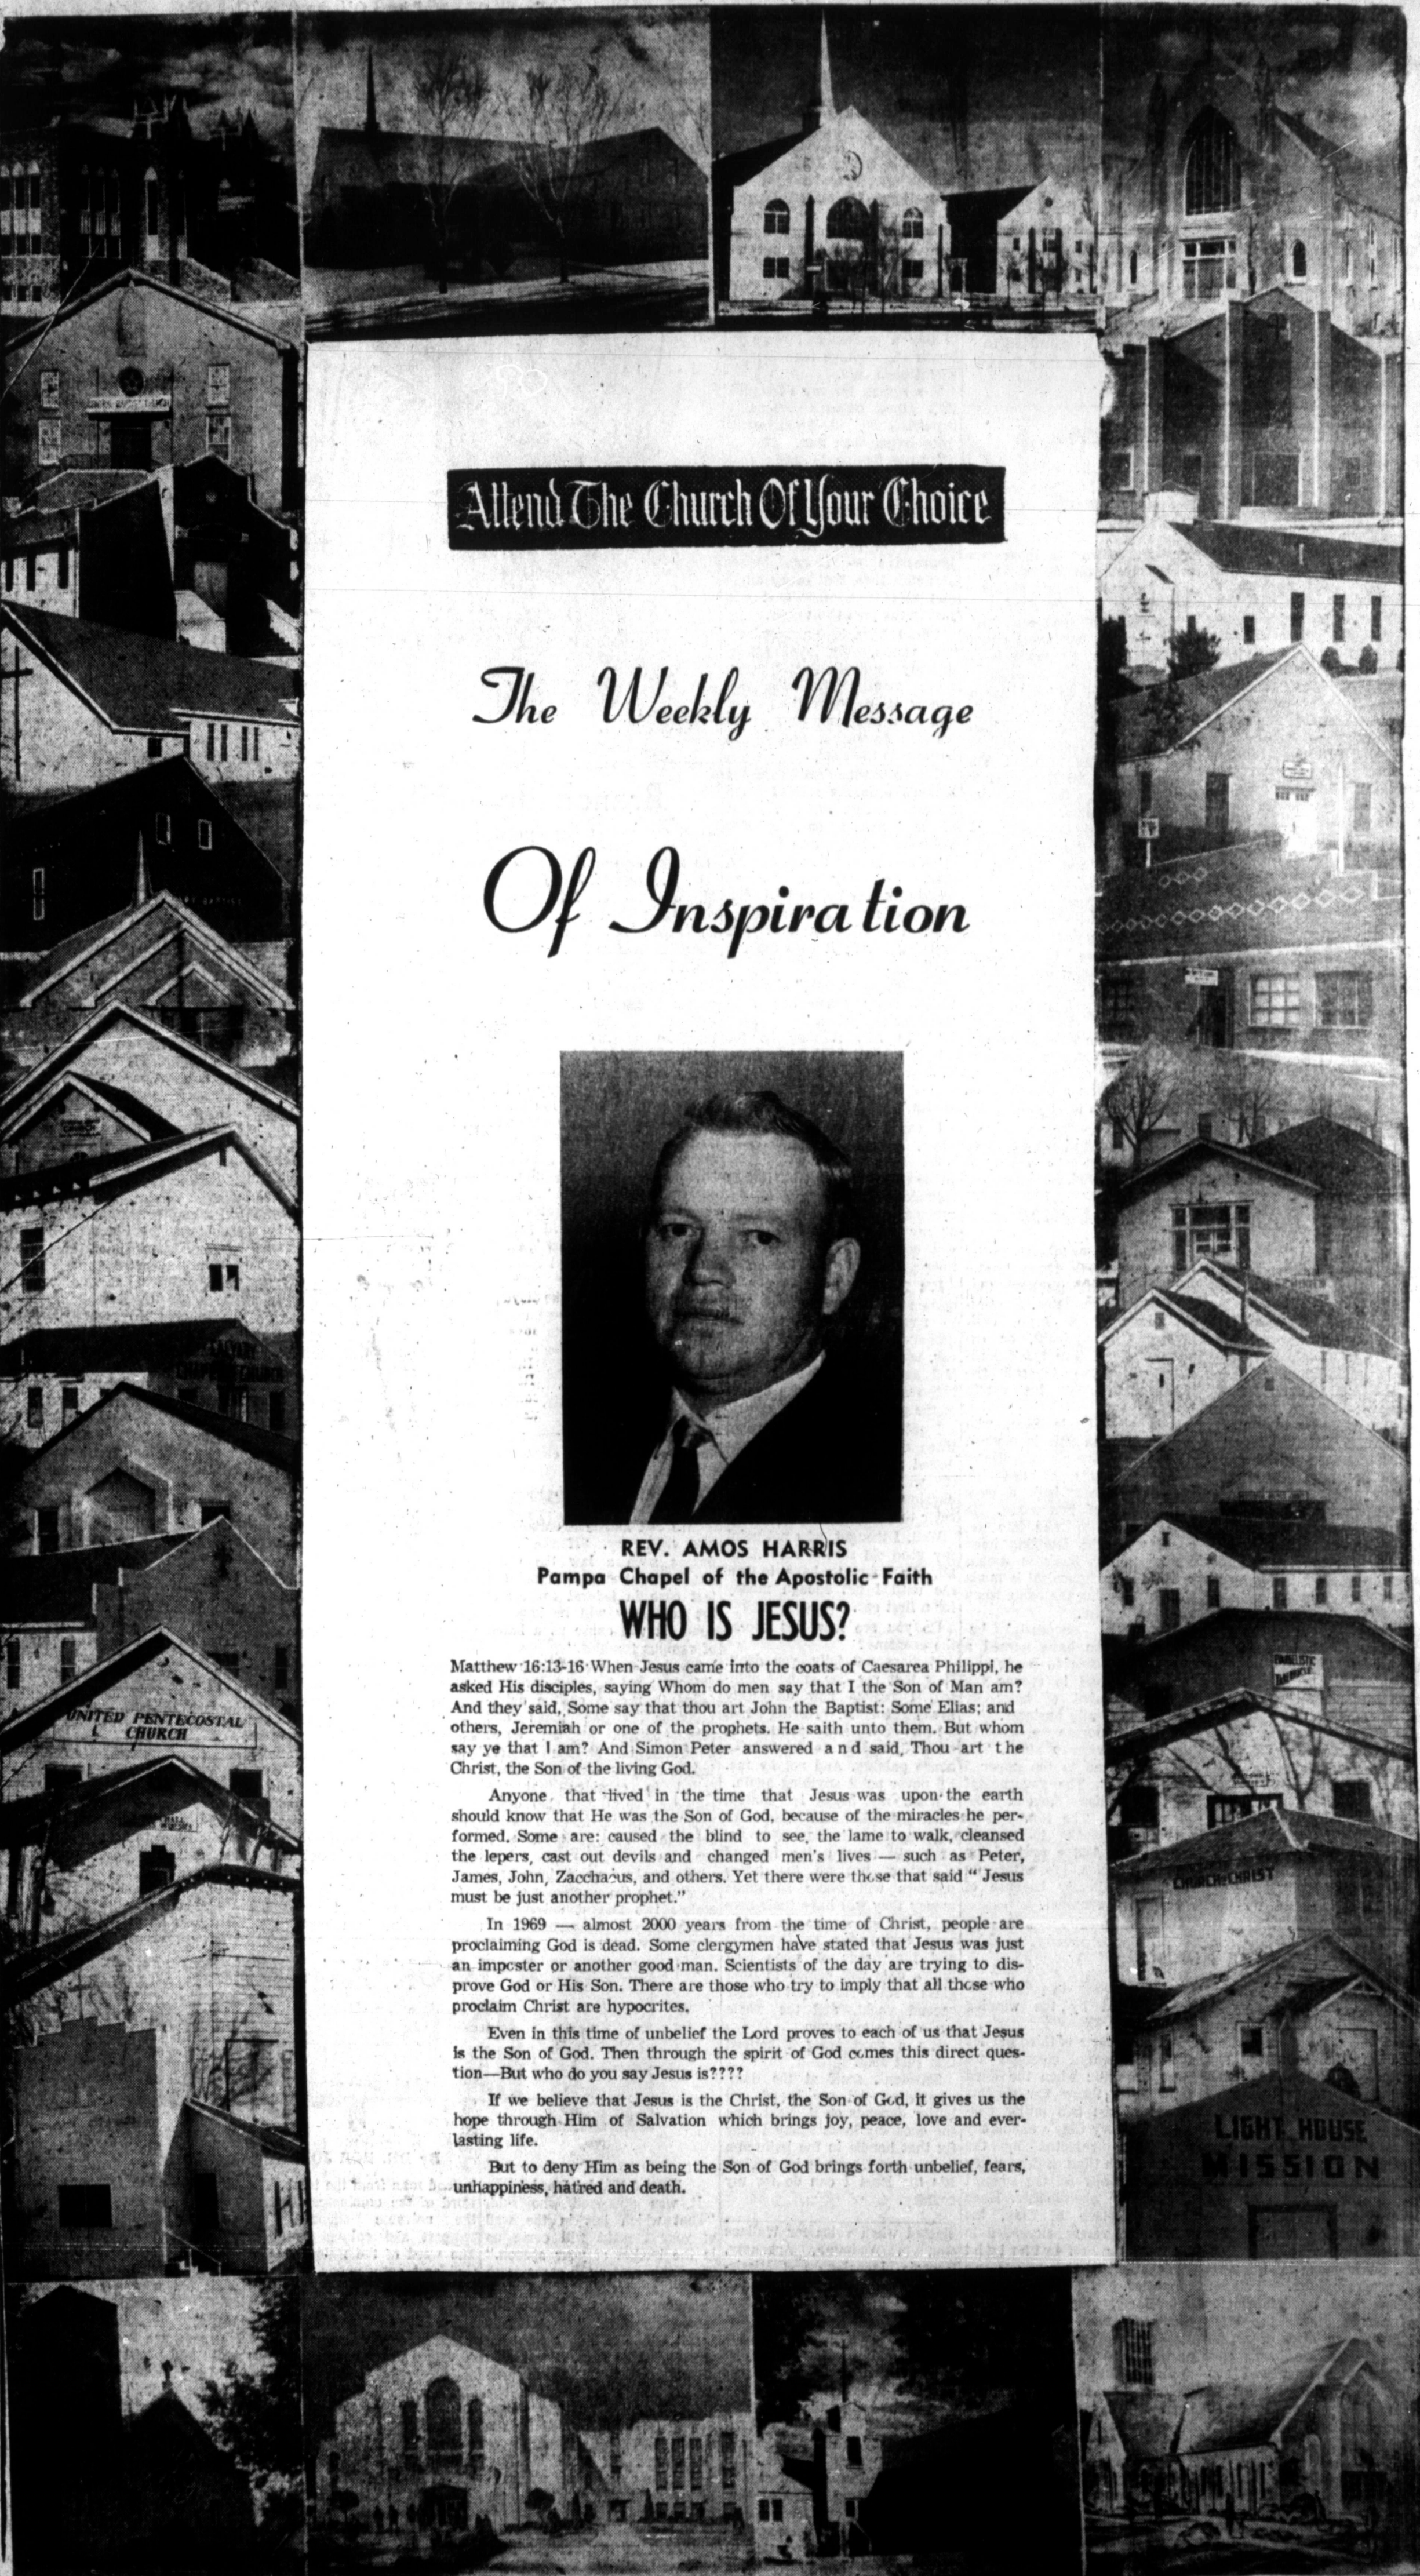

Anyone that lived in the time that Jesus was upon the earth should know that He was the Son of God, because of the miracles he performed. Some are: caused the blind to see, the lame to walk, cleansed the lepers, cast out devils and changed men's lives — such as Peter, James, John, Zacchaeus, and others. Yet there were those that said "Jesus must be just another prophet."

In 1969 — almost 2000 years from the time of Christ, people are proclaiming God is dead. Some clergymen have stated that Jesus was just an imposter or another good man. Scientists of the day are trying to disprove God or His Son. There are those who try to imply that all those who proclaim Christ are hypocrites.

Even in this time of unbelief the Lord proves to each of us that Jesus is the Son of God. Then through the spirit of God comes this direct question—But who do you say Jesus is????

If we believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, it gives us the hope through Him of Salvation which brings joy, peace, love and everlasting life.

But to deny Him as being the Son of God brings forth unbelief, fears, unhappiness, hatred and death.

The Attack on the Anthem

For several months our National Anthem has been under attack. It all started when 26-year-old Jose Feliciano gave a "soul" rendition of the Anthem preceding the fifth game of the world series. Something shook up the St. Louis Cardinals that day. They scored 3 runs in the top of the first, and did not do anything the rest of the day, losing 5-3.

Whether or not it was the Feliciano rendition which did the trick is hard to say, but there is no doubt that a lot of people were rubbed the wrong way. Still a recording by the blind Puerto Rican later became a top-seller, and he now begins every public performance with his "soul" rendition of the Star Spangled Banner.

Many personalities have jumped into the controversy. Frank Sinatra has called it "a terrible piece of music." Joan Baez, who has found nothing that we can recall which she professes to like about this country, calls it "just so much trash." Mitch Miller calls it "a joke."

On the other hand there are several great stars and composers who defend the song. Marian Anderson is "well satisfied" with it; Irving Berlin, who composed the great God Bless America, (which is often mentioned as a replacement for the Star Spangled Banner) thinks that it would be a "terrible mistake" to change. Richard Rodgers is on record as saying that "tradition is more important than simplicity," in answer to those who protest the difficulty of singing the Anthem. Duke Ellington commented that the singing of the song is not the issue. "It's the symbol of our great nation — and that's all there is to it."

Meantime, a national magazine is conducting a poll, with coupons for voting, on whether or not the anthem should be changed — and to what. The results are to be submitted to the Congress, the magazine proudly proclaims.

If you feel strongly about this, we'd suggest you write your Congressman and Senator. If you don't, somebody else will.

As for us: Frank Sinatra may have trouble with the range of the Star Spangled Banner; it may be a "joke" to some, and "trash" to others; but it is the most beautiful — and meaningful — piece of music ever composed to so many Americans who were at Bataan, Panmunjom, and a thousand other points of tearful pride, that it would be a travesty and a tragedy even to consider making a change.

Too many men have wept, unashamedly, at the relief of hearing it played.

On Family Business

The day of the family business is in the sunset stage, it appears. Over the past few years literally thousands of established and successful family business enterprises have been sold to conglomerates — giant corporate combines which pick the choice fruit of the business world when the family is confronted by Uncle Sam.

Actually, it is the confiscatory taxation imposed by the Federal Government which is forcing the successful family business out of existence. And there is scarcely a community in the country which has not suffered from this problem. The successful family business builds on its community reputation as well as its service to the commercial community. More often than not a major consideration is the goodwill established by the founding family's integrity and fair treatment of customers as well as employees.

But when the founding father of the family business gets on in years, Washington casts its shadow. For example: let's suppose that a provident businessman builds a company worth a million dollars in the course of a lifetime. At death the estate tax on the business would be $325,000. His heirs would have to hand up that sum, customarily in cash, to the tax man. Rarely will a family or a small business have that kind of cash available. Successful businessmen keep cash invested, in equipment, or expansion plans. The heirs probably will have to sell the business to meet the estate taxes.

Unhappily, Uncle Sam, who has never been able in modern times to manage his own affairs without buckets of red ink beside the desk, isn't a very good judge of businesses. He never seems to take into account what the founding head of the family business meant to it. The tax appraisal is made without lowering the value when the boss is gone.

Accordingly, successful businessmen who have nursed a family enterprise to profit and fame have had to escape the harsh treatment of heirs by selling the family business.

A conglomerate gives the family businessman stock. The stock is priced in the paper 5 days a week. The government can't appraise beyond the quoted price. The family sells enough stock to satisfy Washington. And a part of the community dies. It's a tragedy repeated endlessly because of a greedy government.

Third Parties Can Punish

As the longest continuing government in the history of popular vote nations, the United States is making a telling record of the influence and effect of third parties. That record demonstrates that third parties can determine the outcome of national elections. It also shows that the effects of third parties in presidential elections are likely to be adverse to the interests of supporters of third parties.

The influence of third parties works in several major directions. Sometimes the influence is programmatic. Political positions held by left-oriented third parties during the 1920's and 30's were often taken up by the Democratic Party once the electoral season was concluded.

Or the influence may be in the organizational field when a major party follows a third party's successful foray to develop a following among organized special interest groups. Or the influence may be felt through the transfer of talented leadership persons, after an election, to political offices offered by the winning major party.

But the effects of third parties upon presidential elections are more dramatic when the third party votes throw the election to one of the two major candidates. Henry Clay's candidacy was twice rejected by the voters. Each time, a third party candidate drew off the support of Northern abolitionists. Each time, in place of Clay, the abolitionist voters succeeded in electing a forthright segregationist, slavery-system supporter.

Similarly, the election of Harry Truman, in 1948, was directly reflected by third parties whose interests were probably less served by his victory than they would have been had his major opponent been successful.

In 1968, again, the effect of the American Independent Party, headed by George Wallace, was to close a large gap between the popularity of Hubert Humphrey and Richard Nixon. Humphrey was almost

Do It Wrong Yourself

Some people frown on do-it-yourselfers, thinking home-grown handy-men are at best a nuisance and, at worst, deprive well-trained and deserving craftsmen of honest wages.

This is not at all true. And I don't mean, at all, because of the trite line about having to pay a professional more to repair the damage than the job would have cost.

The reason for my deduction is that the nation's economy depends on do-it-yourselfers goes deeper than that.

I have figures to prove that fixing the rust hole in my car, and doing it myself, has poured some $36,415 into the nation's economy. While that statistic in itself may not be impressive — I see bigger statistics than that every day — you must remember that was just in the past two weeks.

Yet, I have had a wonderful two weeks. Do-it-yourselfing directly and indirectly, puts more money into circulation and is at the same time more fun than golf and, say, desert warfare combined. And it can be done in the shade.

The shot-in-the-arm I gave the nation's economy started when I noticed a rust hole in the side of my second car, a 1963 Volkswagon bus, which I love.

"A rust hole!" I said, alertly, alert as only a veteran newshawk can be, to Margery. "The salt air here is bad about rust. I better fix that this morning before it eats the car up!"

"Finish your lunch," she said. "That rusty place has been there for two years." "Even now it may be too late!" I said. "I'll fiber glass it. Just give me a sandwich and coffee to go. Light on the cream."

I raced to get some fiber glass. Actually, I didn't know what fiber glass was. (The whole concept sounds ridiculous.) But I have an encyclopedic mass of knowledge at my fingertips and I knew you could fix rust holes with fiber glass.

It's liquid, dries fast and is quite strong. I would have had to run all the way to the grocery store behind my second car, when Margery drove away, if I hadn't possessed the keen reflexes to let go of the handle of the paint brush.

I got the hole fixed. A scant three days later, I had polka-dotted my car, trying to match it with touchup paint. It developed my car is a different color than anything.

Well, I thought, why not paint my good old second car? After all, it's going to have to last me until I get enough money for a first car.

Do you see how this booms the economy? Perhaps not fully, you don't. Now that my car is half painted, I realize how dirty my house roof is. Having that steamed and painted is naturally going to lead to a house painting. And not by me. I'll never paint anything again.

When my house is painted, other people will think of painting their houses. This not only will revamp the face of a nation, but all the house painters will make so much money they will have their cars painted, the car-painters will send their sons to Princeton and their sons at some long future date will decide to fiber glass a small rusty spot on their second yacht, and the whole cycle will start again.

It's a good thing I noticed that rust spot.

So, don't scoff at the do-it-yourselfer. All our bread and butter depends on it. Next time the economy looks shaky I may fix that handle in the bathroom so it doesn't have to be jiggled. It's the least I can do for my country.

elector when votes for Wallace won in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi — and gave Humphrey the plurality in Connecticut, Maryland, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Texas, Washington and West Virginia. That was a switch of 154 electoral votes away from Nixon — a switch which nearly gave victory to the candidate who was probably least preferred by Wallace voters.

Third parties reflect important leadership failures of the major political parties. Harsh punishment for political failure is not a novel event in the history of any government.

Branch Head Bill Says:

By BILL KENNEDY

So Long As Our People Sleep U. S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson of Montgomery, Ala. has proved yet again that he would not recognize the Constitution if he met it walking down the street.

The "Judge" (I put it in quotes because he has proved beyond all reasonable doubt that he is not one) is a "Minority Judge." He has never to my knowledge made a ruling favorable to the majority of the people in his district. His latest asinine example has nothing to do with integrating the South — the purpose for which President Eisenhower appointed him. It deals with the national "campus revolt" — and demonstrates how a whole line of federal judges from Chief Justice Earl Warren on down is determined that we will be ruled by judicial decree — according to the judges' warped consciences — with the Constitution and all its amendments ignored or twisted.

Last year the Alabama legislature proposed a law forbidding Communists, fellow travelers and other revolutionaries to speak on state-owned college campuses. Educators, including most of the college presidents, went up in arms.

"We can handle it ourselves" was their cry. "If the state passes such a law the Communist infiltrators will build a test case in federal court and the state law will be knocked down. It will cause us a batch of campus troubles."

The bill in the legislature was defeated; but the educators had failed to reckon on the determination of the pinks and punks — backed by an equal determination of the federal judges to be dictators. They failed to consider that the ruthless courts can slap down a college president even easier than they can strike down a state law.

The kooks immediately went to work on the campuses of the state's two largest universities to bring on "confrontations" with administrators: A small band of professors and students (small minorities indeed) deliberately invited far-out rabble-rousers to speak on the campus — characters they knew the President would have to veto, or lose the respect and support of the majority of the people of the state.

The pressure built. And Dr. Rose, President of the University of Alabama, decided to get out while the getting was good. He has resigned to take up another line of work.

The kook with whom Dr. Philpott of Auburn University was "confronted" is a convicted felon — one Dr. Coffin of Yale who stands convicted in court for encouraging youths to burn draft cards and otherwise dodge the draft.

Dr. Philpott vetoed the speaker — with full support and backing from his Board of Trustees, the state government, a vast majority of parents and citizens and a majority of the Auburn students.

That was all the stinkers wanted. They went to court, asked "Judge" Johnson to tell President Philpott he couldn't do that. And he did. He not only ordered the President to open the campus halls to this lawbreaker; he also ordered the school to pay Coffin a $650 speaking fee and to pay court costs. This was two days before the speaking engagement so that an appeal could not be heard before the rabble-rouser arrived.

Frank Johnson should be jailed for his crimes and impeached. But, the first would be "ruled" illegal; and the second is impossible so long as our people sleep. Sweet dreams!

Would you like to study Witchcraft? It might come in handy if you could learn to cast a spell over the bureaucrats. Anyway, the university of South Carolina has now got a course in it. They also have a course in alchemy, which I thought had been superseded by chemistry. That shows how much I know about college courses.

If you ain't interested in goblines mebbe you would be interested in making love. The new catalog also offers a course in lovemaking. And there is a closely related course called "Pre-marital Sex" that should roll them in the aisles.

"Some people think the whole thing's a joke" says a sophomore political science major who heads the student committee running the program. Now why would anyone think that? He says they will have to hold this class in the coliseum to accommodate everybody — those who want to get in. I wouldn't doubt it.

It is all a part of a new university program where students select their own courses and teachers pick out what they would like to teach. We might suggest a couple more courses that might be of benefit to teachers. "How to smoke pot in the halls without attracting the fuzz," or "Making good use of psychedelic signs in teachers' strikes."

One course I forget to mention is the "Bartending" course. Now there is one class that might come up with something for the present-day college graduate.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

By DR. BOB JONES

Words! Words! Words! It was Spurgeon who said, "That which lies in the well of your thought will come up in the bucket of your speech." The Bible states the same truth more simply — "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh" (Matthew 12:34). A man shows what he is by what he says. It was said of Jesus Christ, "Never man spake like this Man" (John 7:46). That He was the sinless Son of God was proved by His words. Never an inaccurate or false word fell from His lips. He spoke with the voice of divine authority, and the power of His words proved the power of the Speaker. The word of the Lord of life brought forth a dead man from the tomb. The word of the omnipotent God of the universe silenced the tempest and calmed the sea. The word of the sinless Son of God cast out demons from the bodies of men, and His word defeated Satan who sought to tempt Him in the wilderness. His word revealed a measure of values beyond the conception of the mind of sinful man. These were the standards He set; that greatness abounds in service; that man's chief concern should not be in the accumulation of things; that outward appearance is not so important as the inward heart. The most brilliant word of the greatest philosophers of the generations, the highest truths uttered by the founders of the religious systems of the world dim in comparison to the glorious light of His utterances. Others suggest paths of ethical conduct and claim to point out a way of life. Only God's Son says, "I am the Way." Others are seekers after the truth and professed teachers of it. Only Jesus Christ says, "I am the Truth." Others offer suggestions as to how to secure the most from life. Only Jesus Christ says, "I am the Life." Others with the phrases of their philosophy attempt to enlighten the minds of men. Only Jesus Christ says, "I am the Light of the world."

Question Box

QUESTION: Yesterday I saw a bumper sticker with: "Rx: State Withholding." What does this mean to you? Do you agree with the idea?

ANSWER: We presume the bumper sticker is an effort to win acceptance of the idea that state income taxes must be withheld by employers, who then must turn the money over to the state. Legislation has been introduced out in California to institute this "easy payment" method for state income taxes.

Generally, proponents of income tax withholding claim that there are some persons who escape the tax by moving out of California.

Unless there is forgiveness of a full year of taxes, the state government receives a one-time "windfall" of taxes in the year that withholding is instituted. Withholding proponents have claimed the additional funds received could be used to build additional California state office and college and university buildings. This would obviate either spending for buildings from general tax revenue or submitting bond issues to voters.

One of the principal objections, which has been voiced by the California governor, is that any persons who would owe no state taxes would have their money withheld from their wages, and that many of these who could ill afford the taxes would not be able or willing to file requests for refunds. The state would thus receive money not due it under the law. It also would have the use of the money for up to a year without paying any interest, whereas the earner could if he wished spend the money or invest it at interest.

Withholding advocates also point out that it is easier on wage earners to have their tax taken out with weekly or monthly pay checks than to have to pay the entire amount in a lump sum on April 15. It also is easier on the state collectors.

Some persons who object to involuntary servitude have pointed out that the employer is required to be an unpaid tax collector for the state, sometimes being put to considerable expense to handle collections, accounting and payments for the state. Also there is a tendency among many workers to consider the amount they receive as take-home pay to be their total earnings not considering that taxes are what have reduced their net checks.

The principal objection we have to tax withholding is that it becomes easier for governors and legislators to increase taxes if the sums are taken out weekly or monthly rather than being paid in one or two lump payments. The taxes do not seem so high to the worker because of the "easy payments." Federal income taxes are an example of how such taxes are increased again and again after withholding is instituted.

Alcoholic Needs Support of Family

Alcoholism is one of the underlying causes of traffic accidents, divorces and job failures. This has been known for generations but the problem is too complex to be solved by an easy formula. The alcohol taken by most persons passes through the body without causing addiction but the liver in some persons does not completely remove the poison from the system. This may be a hereditary defect.

In these persons, the alcohol causes nervous tension, anxiety and thirst. These effects set up a vicious cycle and the alcoholic continues to drink. This cycle is not noticeable at first but its intensity builds up over the years. The true alcoholic can never be cured of his alcoholism but he can lead a normal life if he practices total abstinence.

There is a second, less serious, type of alcoholic whose alcoholism is a symptom of his feeling of inadequacy. With appropriate treatment he can re-establish a pattern of harmless social drinking.

In any case, the treatment requires a sincere desire on the part of the alcoholic to overcome the habit and the understanding co-operation of his family. If the drug Disulfiram (Antabuse) is used, the "treatment game" will help to put the problem in proper perspective. The alcoholic agrees to take the drug if his wife gives him his pill every day but agrees not to mention his problem at any time.

He also agrees not to remind her if she forgets to give him his pill. If she forgets for five consecutive days, he may take a drink.

In general, the results of the game are good but some wives who, at the start of the treatment say, "I'd do anything to get him to stop drinking," forget to give their husband his pill because they prefer a sweet, pliable drunk to a sober but grouchy husband.

Q—Is it wise to eat something or drink milk before attending a social function where liquor will be served?

A—Yes, unless your hostess is also serving suitable canapes. Scientific studies show that alcohol is absorbed into the blood more slowly when there is food in the stomach.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

In 1966 a slab with strange three-toed markings was unearthed by a bulldozer excavating in Rocky Hill, Conn. Soon over 1,000 more fossilized footprints were found. Scientists claimed they were made by three species of dinosaurs 180 million to 225 million years ago. The area, now Dinosaur National Park, has one of the best collections of prehistoric prints in North America. The World Almanac says.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The world will end not with a bang but with a whimper, predicted the poet T.Su. Elliot. Which she you how unrealistic poets can be at times.
 If you really want to know how the world will end, take a look at what is happening on Wall Street.
 Brokerage firms have become so bogged down in paperwork that trading hours on the New York Stock Exchange have been curtailed. But this has not eliminated the backlog.
 Some observers say other and more drastic steps will be necessary to cope with the situation.
Traces Bulldup
 One broker I know traces the paperwork bulldup back to pandemonium created last year by the appearance on Wall Street of Francine Gottfried, a 21-year-old computer operator with a 43-25-37 figure.
 "We wouldn't be in this mess if the clerks didn't spend so much time girl-watching," he said.
 "Francine is gone, but the fellows are still over-stimulated. They keep loitering around the street, hoping to set another 43-25-37 figure. Then when they get back to the office they have a 43-25-37 stack of papers on their desks."
 "The only solution I can see is to bar all females from the financial district until such time as the clerks can get their passion under control."
 That measure might indeed be more effective than curtailing the trading hours. But I'm convinced it would be only a stopgap at best.
First Stages
 What is happening on Wall Street is, I fear, the first stages of a paperwork Armageddon—the last great battle before the world is destroyed.
 The stock market likely will be the first fortress to crumble, quickly followed by the Internal Revenue Service, department store credit offices and hospital admittance desks.
 Then, one after another, other mighty institutions will be swept before the onrushing paperwork tide which eventually will engulf the earth, including Tallahassee, Fla.
 It is too late now to try to prevent the cataclysm. The time has past for weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Forces rushing us to the eve of destruction already are irreversible.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Growing public sophistication about mass communications is causing serious professional thought about how news media can alter their generally traditional approach.
 Not the least of the problems is how the news media can adjust so they can attract the new generation, with its individual values and its beliefs about what is truly important and significant.
 More and more, one hears the old, and legitimate, question about why good news cannot more often be considered newsworthy. This question is frequently asked in regard to why the good and notable achievements of the young generation are not covered as passionately as the negative doings.
 In this regard, ABC-TV will present on March 17 a two-hour documentary that is significant in its concept, particularly if it is a sampling of future network programming and thought.
 The program, lumpy titled "Three Young Americans in Search of Survival," and narrated by Paul Newman, focuses on a trio of persons passionately committed to helping people, and preserving marine life and wilderness areas.
 A two-hour prime time documentary is surely a further major step, and important at this time, and, one hopes, a sign that the pursuit of quality in life is very definitely considered by the networks as major news nowadays. In short, that good news—and not just the occasional tearjerking feature—can be big news also.
 The ABC-TV documentary will focus on Gary Smith, a graduate student at Utah State University who is concerned with saving wilderness areas; Harold Haskins, an associate in community planning at Temple University and a worker with gangs in North Philadelphia; and Mary Margaret Goodwin, field director of the Caribbean Conservation Association and a researcher of water pollution. The broadcast was produced, written and directed by Stephen Fleischman for ABC news.

New Ambulance Service Set For Perryton

PERRYTON—Perryton and Ochiltree County governments will provide ambulance service now after purchasing the service operated by Boxwell Brothers Funeral Directors.
 The service exchanged hands Wednesday.
 The funeral home had announced plans to discontinue the service because of prohibitive operating costs and plans to build a new chapel.
 The city and county governments will share the expenses of providing the service of the two ambulances.
 The funeral home has donated one ambulance. Another unit, yet to be purchased, will be housed at the Perryton Fire Department.
 City police officers and firemen will operate the ambulances.
 The governments have not yet set any fees. Ochiltree General Hospital will pay the services charged and bill the patient.

While Shaw's Tops, Doral's A Fun Thing

MIAMI (UPI)—If he sticks to form he won't be there long, but while Tom Shaw, the man from golf, is on top, the Doral Open is going to be a fun thing. Shaw, a bubbling 26-year-old sun-bleached blond from Golf, Ill., went into today's second round of the $150,000 Doral tied for the lead with veteran Dan Sikes, a Jacksonville, Fla., attorney who is fast becoming known as the "chicken strang" because he owns a bar of fried chicken outlets. Shaw and Sikes, who won more than $100,000 on the PGA tour last year, matched the tournament record here Thursday by shooting 7-under-par 65s—good enough for a one-stroke lead over Australian Bruce Devlin.

Had Chance Sikes had a chance to seize the first round lead alone—and set a new Doral Country Club record at the same time—when he placed his approach shot on No. 18 Thursday six feet from the pin.

"But I misread the green and my birdie putt broke to the right."

George Bailey Is High Point Man

George Bailey was high point man as usual Thursday night when the West Texas State freshmen beat the Texas Tech frosh, 91-73.

Bailey scored 38 points and another former Harvester, Beau Bond, tallied 12.

West Texas beat Utah State and hosts Colorado State Saturday in Amarillo's Civic Center.

The Buffs are trying for a bid to the National Invitational Tournament.

Four Teams Prepare For Sports Action

Sports activity will pick up at Pampa High School as four teams prepare for upcoming action in golf, track, baseball and tennis.

The golf team is competing in the Snyder tournament today and Saturday while the track team travels to a meet in Vernon Saturday.

The baseball team will play its first game Tuesday against Borger.

Five PHS golfers are competing in the Snyder tournament in their second team action. Seniors making the trip are Harry Aureli, Kris Gambin and Lee Waters, with juniors Jackie Gindorf and Sherwin Cox.

Pampa golfers finished in the middle of the pack in the Andrews Invitational golf tournament last Friday and Saturday with a team score of 680. Forty teams were entered.

The track meet in Vernon will provide the second action for PHS's track and field as they attempt to better their showing last week in Plainview.

Varsity team members finished fifth in the annual Plainview relay last Saturday. Pampa's junior varsity team placed sixth in the junior competition.

The baseball team will see its first action at 4 p.m. Tuesday in Borger. The next games are slated for March 14-15, a double header with Anadarko.

Coach Pete Irwin said late Thursday that his boys tennis team would be involved in its season opener today in Phillips.

Tickets Left For All-Sports Banquet Monday

Plenty of tickets are still available for the Monday night All-Sports banquet honoring Pampa High School athletes.

Bob Lilly, one of the National Football League's top players and an All-Pro selection from the Dallas Cowboys, will be the guest speaker.

The banquet this season is broken into two parts.

The banquet itself will be held at 6 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. The athletes will be introduced and Lilly will conduct a 15-minute question and answer session.

From 7:30 to 8 p.m. the high school "Swing Kings" will perform in concert in the high school auditorium, where the awards ceremony will be held.

At the awards ceremony the Hustling Harvester award will be given to a basketball player selected by the coaches and the Fighting Heart award goes to the most deserving football player.

The football and basketball queens will also be crowned in the auditorium.

Lilly will also speak to the assembly in the auditorium.

Tickets for the banquet alone are $1.50 per person and for the banquet and awards presentation, $3 per person.

Amorillo Still Has Chance Of Making Hockey Playoff

By United Press International

Tulsa Oilers, the northern division leaders, in the only other game tonight. A win by the Apollos would move them 11 points ahead of fourth-place Fort Worth, making their playoff chances appear much rosier.

The Apollos kept Omaha on the defensive throughout their game Thursday, hurling 49 shots at Knight goalie Gary Kurt, who saved all but six. Houston goalie Phil Myre had a comparatively easier time of it saving 27 of 28 shots sent his way.

MILLER SERVICES BUFFALO (UPI)—Funeral services for Edward C. Miller, 88, the last surviving member of the "Buffalo Germans" basketball team that ran up a 111-game winning streak at the turn of the century, will be held today.

BRING THE WHOLE FAMILY

Bobby Hull Knows The Breaks Of The Game

NEW YORK (NEA)—ever treated his public with more consideration. And, at 30, Hull's curly blond hair is thinning and his affection for home life is growing. He could RETIRE.

Yet, Bobby Hull endures, literally. Speaking through a newly-opened mouth—the wires removed from his broken jaw—Hull recently said pain is as much a part of hockey as the puck.

"It goes back to when you are a kid," he says. "In Canada, they have hockey leagues starting at age 5 and up. The teams call themselves the Mites, Termites, Squirrels—things like that.

"When you turn out for the team, you grab a position and hold it. Nothing keeps you from showing up for the game each week, not even if you are hurt. Broken bones or anything. There are 15 kids waiting to take your place so you'd better be there."

This sort of Spartanism benefits the good hockey player all his life, according to Hull.

"When you get the adrenalin going, you don't feel a lot of those things," he says.

"You learn that it's sometimes easier to skate on a sprained ankle than it is to walk on it. You learn to put a pressure bandage on a bone bruise and go ahead. You learn that if you warm up long enough, sometimes the soreness leaves.

"You can't even let 'hurt' enter your mind. That is the kind of sport it is. You can't be a baby and let everything bother you."

Then Bobby Hull grins, showing dimples, pale blue eyes and wire that helps secure his upper partial plate.

Hull, you see, does some hurting himself. Goaltenders have been nearly decapitated by his 118 mph. slap shot and nearly punctured by his 96 mph. backhand.

"Stopping one of Hull's shots on your pads is like being slugged with a sledge-hammer," Johnny Bower once observed.

Black Hawks goalie Glenn Hall, who frequently opposes Hull in team scrimmages, does not take unnecessary risks.

"There are days when you just step aside and leave the net wide open," he says. "It's a simple matter of self-preservation."

Checking wings frequently receive bruises from Hull. As an attacker, the 5-foot-10, 193-pound Canadian is the most overwhelming player in hockey, able to push toward the goal while clutched and mauled by opposing players.

Sometimes, however, the clutching and mauling gets out of hand.

"There are some individuals I don't exactly appreciate," he says. "It is as though they have a desire to maim someone. Some of them just have this kind of makeup. Others think they are great shadows; they get a few writeups, think they are doing a great thing and get carried away.

"There are a few of them around. One is too many. But they usually get what is coming to them in the end."

Occasionally, Hull mauls back—as he did against Detroit's Bryan Watson a couple of years ago and, more recently, against Montreal's Johnny Ferguson.

"I have to put up with them," Hull says. "If I didn't, I'd be in the penalty box every minute of every game."

DRAL STURGEON removes wires from teeth of Bobby Hull, enabling him to eat first solid meal since Christmas Day, when he injured his jaw. Hull has survived on soup since.

Kansas City Team Building With Youth

KANSAS CITY—AL WEST—PROSPECTUS — The new Kansas City club fared poorly in expansion draft. Joe Gordon will be building with youth and victories will be few and far between. Pitching staff is loaded with youngsters (most of them raw rookies) and most established player on entire roster is Joe Foy, who hit .225 with Red Sox last season.

PITCHING — Best pitcher appears to be Wallay Bunker, if he has recovered from arm trouble which forced him back to minors for a spell last season. Well-traveled Galen Cisco is back for another try. Dave Morehead (1-4 at Boston) and Roger Nelson (4-3 at Baltimore) could win starting jobs and Jon Ward'n (4-1 at Detroit) could be sleeper.

CATCHERS — Most experienced catcher is Frank Rodriguez, who caught nine games for Yankees last season. Rest are rookies. Buddy Booker, up from Hawaii, and Jim Campanis, from Spokane, could also stick. Rating: C-Minus.

INFIELD — Jerry Adair, Foy and Paul Schaal, after some juggling, will probably compose left side of infield. Adair can play short or third, but will probably settle at second, with

Time Drags For Guards

WEST BERLIN (NEA) — Craig Perry, an Army M.P., leans back in a chair and pulls out a cigarette. He lights it slowly. Then he yawns quietly and rubs an eye with a thumb. Perry is sitting in a shack at the intersection of Friedrichstrasse and Zimmerstrasse. The streets are not well-known, but the shack is. It's called Checkpoint Charley.

It is raining out and cold and there is kind of an enlisted man's Allied conference going on in the shack. Four Yanks, two German policemen and a girl from the British army.

Everybody is smoking. And yawning. They say it's like this much of the time at Checkpoint Charley. Dull as hell. Especially in winter, especially in rain. Heck, one GI asks: who's gonna try anything funny in this kind of weather?

The British gal is 20 years old. She serves as the Queen's clerk at the checkpoint. She is as cute as a crumpet and sits with her legs crossed. She's good for Allied morale.

The Germans are dressed in green greatcoats. They speak pidgin English. Everybody else speaks pidgin German. Conversations are punctuated with hand waving.

There is a fourth nation represented at the checkpoint. One French soldier is always on duty, but everyone says he keeps mostly to himself, in another shack next door.

Each morning the Frenchman says good morning, Craig Perry explains. Later he says good night. That's about all.

The American shack is the center of Checkpoint Charley. The French shack, immediately behind the U.S. post, is shared by the British gal, when she feels like it. The German customs agency and German police have a third building on the sidewalk.

There is one more Allied building at the checkpoint. It's an adjacent storefront which serves as the U.S. catch-all. Mostly, it houses a sergeant who is the NCO-in-charge. He will be awakened every now and then, when visitors arrive.

Craig Perry and some of the others are peering out of the shack at the East German side. It is only a few steps away, marked by a white line on the pavement and a large sign.

Beyond the white line — 50 yards — the East Germans have their checkpoint. Theirs is controlled by an iron gate which, unlike the Allied side, stops everything coming and going.

"There is one of them," Craig Perry says, pointing to an East German guard. "He's got an AK-47 (Czechoslovakian assault rifle)."

Perry is 21, from Lansing, Mich. He's a draftee, as are the other three Americans in the shack. He says he does not like the Army much. Nobody else seems to either.

"Too much politics," Perry comments.

But duty at the checkpoint isn't bad, he says. One gets to see the movie actors in the summer; they come to the Berlin Wall to get photographed and show the world how concerned they are.

They there are other celebrities, too. Perry let Henry Cabot Lodge through just a few months ago. Guys like that.

"Anyway," he says, "it's better here than Vietnam."

The street is nearly deserted. Now and then a car comes through. If it's American, the GIs wave it through. If it's German, the Germans do. There is seldom a delay.

"People," Perry says, "have the right to come and go as they wish. See, even those creeps." He points to three long-haired youths, who are taking photos of the wall. They are dressed in thin leather and dainty lace; one carries a purse.

One GI whistles. "Oh," he squeaks, "aint they cute."

The American shack at Checkpoint Charley is oblong and sturdy. It has four phones sitting on a counter. One is black and marked "riot line to Kremlin."

Over the counter are taped-up military regulations. One says: "Make two copies of the weekly statistics sheet." There is a broom in a corner. Coffee cups. Sandwich wrappers.

There is one clipboard. It holds a DA form 1594, a long record. All activity is recorded. When there is activity, which, except for normal traffic, there seldom is.

Some of the GIs wish there were some activity. Anything. Obscene gestures from the East Germans. Anything.

But it remains drowsily quiet. Especially in the rain. The shack doors are closed and all one hears is another's yawn, or an occasional giggle from the British clerk.

Somebody coughs. Craig Perry lights another cigarette.

Eyes turn slowly again to the East German side, where the Communist guards are sitting in shacks of their own.

"You know," somebody says, "bet those bastards are bored, too."

How good is State Farm's "good deal" in auto insurance?

JUST ADD UP THE FACTS:

FACT 1—State Farm paid $10,000,000 in dividends to Texas policyholders last year.

FACT 2—... three times greater than any other car insurer.

FACT 3—Eligible State Farm policyholders are getting back sixteen and two-thirds percent more in dividends than Texas' second place insurer.

Friendly P-TA Welcomes Home Recording Artist

ANSON, Tex. (UPI) — Jeannie C. Riley is coming home and the P-TA is waiting for her. But it's not the Harper Valley P-TA that she immortalized in a swinging Western song that made her one of the top female vocalists in the nation.

Instead, it's the Anson, Tex., P-TA from her hometown, high school. And, in addition to the P-TA, there will be city, county and state officials on hand with a red carpet to welcome her today.

Jeannie, 23, graduated from Anson in 1963, married her childhood sweetheart and waited tables in a small cafe. Then she won a local talent show and started on the path that eventually led her to the top of the charts in both county and western pop music with "The Harper Valley P-TA."

Mrs. Riley is scheduled to arrive at the Abilene Municipal Airport at 9:05 a.m. Friday she will be met by Abilene and Anson officials, including the Anson High School band.

She will conduct a news conference and make several guest appearances in Abilene before motorcading 25 miles north to her hometown.

Both Cashbox and Billboard magazines rated her the No. 1 female vocalist in the nation while the record was on the charts, eventually reaching No. 1 and winning her a Grammy nomination this year.

The chamber of commerce in Anson came up with the idea of honoring its No. 1 citizen. Friday has been set aside as "Jeannie C. Riley Day" in Anson.

BARRE, Vt. (UPI)—A soft spoken man stood before District Court Judge John Connors Monday and handed him a small strand of love beads.

"Oh, well, thank you," Connors said, then fined Harry S. Simons, 21, $15 for failure to have his car inspected.

United States Air Base To be Airport in Casablanca

CASABLANCA — The former U.S. Strategic Air Command base at Nouasseur, near Casablanca, will be in operation again in October, 1969 — but as Casablanca's new civil airport.

Once used by SAC B-52's, and B-135 tankers, the new Nouasseur will be one of Africa's biggest, most modern and safest airports. It will be able to take the biggest jets, including the supersonic Concorde.

Reconverted over a period of two years, Nouasseur will replace the present Casablanca airport located near the high class residential suburb of Anfa.

The United States has aided the Moroccan government in the reconversion with a $6.3 million AID loan, and has also provided credits totaling $2.6 million for new installations for Morocco's national airline "Royal Air Maroc".

Nouasseur will also be a regional communications center, able to contact planes by radio within a 1000-mile radius. The installation of an instrument landing system by the Moroccan aviation authorities will make automatic landings at the airport possible.

Located 22 miles, or a half-hour drive, south of Casablanca, Nouasseur is an ideal location for an airport, say officials here. It is free of obstructions, has a level terrain and is also more inland than the present Anfa airport.

Weather conditions are better too, because coastal fog, which sometimes prevails at Casablanca, rarely reaches the Nouasseur site.

At the close Monday, "this figure showed a net of over 4300 declines, a level that has not been seen since the most severe phases of the 1966 market decline." Thus a technical rebound, the firm concludes, "seems more likely now before any significant extension of the decline."

Bache & Co. says "the economy is moving gently downward, with the froth and the inflationary juices slowly being drained away by monetary restraint." At the same time, it adds, the market is moving "or that the market 'is on
