Speaker Knocks SIECUS Program

By RUTH LEWIS
News Staff Writer

An attendance that filled the Pioneer Gas Company's Flame Room, with standees lining three walls, heard Monday night's program on sex education as the organization known as SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the United States) projects it.

The speaker was Mrs. Forrest Hills, Pampa housewife, mother and also professional nurse.

The speaker noted at the beginning that the sex education program in Pampa schools is ideal and should not be disturbed. She warned, however, that the SIECUS (pronounced seek-us) program is being advanced insidiously and that its principles can be intruded into a local teaching project, almost without the parents' knowledge.

"If you can't persuade the people to accept it, just sneak it in," one was quoted as saying. "Once the program is established it will be hard to dislodge."

The chief proponent of sex knowledge, raw and uncensored, for kindergarten age and above, is Dr. Mary S. Calderone, Mrs. Hills explained. Dr. Calderone is described in pamphlets distributed at the meeting as "a sweet-faced, silvery haired grandmother with the evangelical fervor of Joan of Arc. She is a great persuader."

Mrs. Hills noted that Dr. Calderone was a speaker at the recent meeting of the Texas Parent-Teacher Association, but emphasized that the SIECUS program has not been furthered by the P-TA nationally, statewide or locally.

Present at Tuesday's meeting also was Mrs. Marvin Armstrong, Lubbock, second vice president of the Texas Parent-Teacher Association. "Dr. Calderone was presented merely as an outstanding speaker," Mrs. Armstrong said. "It's our purpose to make programs as varied and timely as possible but we do not, by our program selections, try to influence anyone."

Leaflets handed out at Tuesday's session noted that SIECUS personnel are associated with the "smut" magazine, Sexology, and that one at least, Isadore Rubin, not only is on the Sexology editorial board but is a proved Communist as well. Connection between the two involvements was not mentioned, however. Rubin is treasurer of the SIECUS organization.

Mrs. Hills was asked pointedly in a question period following her talk what the motive might be in urging the SIECUS plan upon the nation's schools.

"This is only my opinion," Mrs. Hills said, "but I believe it is part of the Communist intent, as stated by Krushchev years ago, to 'bury' us."

Skelly Officials Arrive Locally For Celebration

The Gold Carpet was rolled out this afternoon and the Top O' Texans were appeared in the jackets signifying a "VIP" occasion when the president of Skelly Oil Company, of Tulsa, with his wife and several dignitaries departed at Perry Lefors Airport.

The occasion is celebration of the Skelly company's 50th anniversary. President and Mrs. Miller will spend two days here, scheduling two banquets with employees and the latter's wives and a community salute as well. Charles Hill, city manager, presented the key to the city as the guests arrived; George B. Cree, Chamber of Commerce president, welcomed the visitors and Art Aftergut, TOT president, spoke for the Gold Carpet delegation. Mrs. Miller was presented an arm bouquet of flowers.

The Skelly Company is honoring its several installation this week in observing the anniversary.

Britain to Move Against Anguilla

LONDON (UPI)—Britain mobilized 240 paratroopers and policemen in full combat gear today for what diplomatic sources said might be an invasion of Anguilla in the Caribbean to restore colonial rule.

A British diplomat returned from the former island colony last week saying it was under control of "gangster-type elements," possibly Mafia hoodlums from the United States.

Army trucks carrying 200 red-bereted paratroopers and 40 policemen, all in combat gear, rumbled into the Royal Air Force Base at Lyneham, 70 miles west of London, late Monday. Two troop-carrying turboprop transports stood by.

On the rebellious island, self-proclaimed President Ronald Webster and a 250-man defense force vowed to "fight to the death" with a dozen 200-year-old cannons, 13 carbines and two machine guns, the London Daily Express reported.

Ten of the defenders were in (See BRITAIN, Page )

Chamber Members Endorse $900,000 School Bond Issue

By WANDA MAE HUFF
News Staff Writer

Pampa Chamber of Commerce unanimously endorsed the pending $900,000 school bond issue, to go before voters March 25, Monday after hearing a report by Superintendent Dr. James F. Malone on projects included in Phase I for school construction and remodeling.

Absentee voting deadline on the bond issue election is 4:30 p.m. Friday in Homer Craig's school business office. Registered voters who have property in the school district which is rendered for school taxes are eligible to vote absentee and on the bond issue election date March 25.

During his talk before the March Chamber membership meeting, Dr. Malone explained why the 13 bond issue projects were combined into one issue and said, "We've been asked why we couldn't submit these projects separately, so voters could vote only on the specific issues they favored and against others.

"Most of these projects are related to the others. The girls' gym is making room for a science and library wing. If they are approved, and the girls' gym is not, where would that leave us with the girls' gym? The new PHS band and music hall is leaving room for speech, drama and distributive education," he said.

PHS Student Council will conduct an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the high school for voters to see remodeling and construction changes proposed by school trustees. John Karr, student council president, showed slides of PHS Phase I needs during Dr. Malone's program.

The school bond issue election March 25 and school trustee election dated April 5 were scheduled on different dates to prevent confusion by voters and election officials and decrease chances for either election being contested because of mixed-up votes, Dr. Malone said recently in an interview.

The district's fiscal agent advised the board to separate the elections. To vote in the bond issue election, a person must be a property owner and have property rendered for taxation within the school district. To vote in the trustee election, a person must only be (See CHAMBER, Page 3)

House Considers Bill on Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It was pay raise day again today on Capitol Hill.

Up for certain House passage was a bill for $144,000 in annual increases to several top officials left out in the year's two previous rounds of salary boosts.

Rep. H.R. Gross, R-Iowa, promised a fight, but with no hope he could win. Most members, having themselves just accepted a 4 1/2 per cent pay raise, were not inclined to oppose a substantial boost for their leaders.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Speaker John W. McCormack under today's bill would get increases from $43,000 to $62,500 a year (plus a $10,000 expense allowance which is unchanged).

Democratic Leader Carl B. Albert and GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford in the House and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen in the Senate would get $55,000 a year (plus an unchanged $3,000 expense allowance). Until March 1 they were paid $35,000 a year, $5,000 more than the other House and Senate members. When members generally were raised from $30,000 to $42,500, the leaders also went to that rate.

Blacks At Arlington Present New Demand

By United Press International

About 300 white and black students went on a rampage through a University of Houston building Monday, throwing chairs through cafeteria windows and tossing books and card files on the floor of the school's bookstore, resulting in between $2,000 and $3,000 in damages.

A leader of the Afro-Americans for Black Liberation (AABL) was credited with stopping the outbreak. At no time during the ruckus were uniformed police on the scene. Campus security officers arrived almost an hour and a half after the disturbance ended.

A police department spokesman said the outbreak was in response to an attack on another campus leader of the AABL earlier Monday and a fight in the school's cafeteria.

Meanwhile, at the University of Texas at Arlington, the Collegiate or Afro-American Progress (CAP) presented a list of demands to school president Dr. Frank Harrison. Included in the list was a demand that history and philosophy Professor Dr. Martin Hall be fired.

The students on the UH campus marched through the school's security office first before going on to the cafeteria and the bookstore. They remained in each place about 20 minutes.

Lt. M. L. Singleton of the Houston police said no one was arrested in the incident. He said city police were not called in because police help was not requested by university officials.

Require Call
"We got to have an official call from President (Phillip) Hoffman or a top official," Singleton said.

A source at the school said the police had plain clothes detectives at the scene but the police denied it. The source also said FBI agents were present and this report was not confirmed or denied.

Eugene Locke, a leader of the AABL at UH, suffered minor injuries Monday when he was attacked by three men in a parking lot.

The first incident at the cafeteria came about 11:30 p.m. (CST) when Adel Beudreau, another AABL leader, was returning to her table with a tray containing a hamburger and a soft drink.

Witnesses said she collided with a white student at the cafeteria either causing her to drop the tray or knocking it out of her hands.

Miss Beudreau slapped the boy and witnesses said he responded by calling her a "nigger." Then a black student hit the white student, he hit back and a fight ensued among "50 to 75 students."

The black students held a meeting about 1:00 p.m. in front of the student center where Locke, his wife, Sheri; Dwight Allen, another AABL leader; and another unidentified student gave speeches.

The students, both white and (See STUDENTS, Page )

Hike In Interest Rate Expected to Have Effect Here

An increase in prime interest rates from 7 to 7 1/2 per cent announced yesterday by major banks in the East eventually is expected to have its effect in Pampa, local bankers indicated today.

A spokesman at the First National Bank said that while its policy is to evaluate each case separately, the interest hike will have a bearing locally, "eventually trickling down to consumer rates."

This would affect cost of financing homes, cars, appliances, automobiles and other consumer items.

At the Citizens Bank & Trust Co., a spokesman stated that it won't affect us too much. We run our own business and do not pay too much attention to what the major banks do."

At Security Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n., a spokesman said the prime interest rate increase would have no effect on loans there "for the time-being."

"But, with the overall interest situation being what it is," he added, "it could eventually have its effect here."

The increase, initiated yesterday by Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. in New York, quickly spread across the nation to major banks in New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and Atlanta among others.

This new cost of money, spurred upward by the government's drive against inflation, established a new high at the 7 1/2 per cent interest rate.

The prime interest rate is the minimum charge set by banks on loans to their biggest, most creditworthy customers. It is a basic interest cost from which other money costs tend to be measured.

The latest increase of 1/2 a percentage point marked the fourth increase since December,

11th Annual Clinic To Give Students Advice on Career

Pampa High School's 11th annual Career Clinic Wednesday is designed to present varied fields and vocations available for high school seniors after graduation.

The entire student body will hear a keynote address by Dr. A. B. Martin, Amarillo College president, at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the PHS Fieldhouse.

The first 50-minute discussion group will start at 10 a.m. and the second at 11 a.m. on career roundtables. The high school's regular daily schedule will resume at noon.

Student chairmen, the clinic and consultants will be evaluated in students' homeroom periods, Mrs. Marian Jameson, a clinic coordinator, said.

Students wishing to confer with college personnel may consult them from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday in the PHS cafeteria during the college workshop sessions.

The clinic is sponsored jointly by Pampa Altrusa Club, Pampa Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Ruby Capps, school counselor, and Mrs. Jameson, member of Altrusa Club, are this year's clinic coordinators.

CAREER CLINIC OFFICIALS — Mrs. Marian Jameson and John Warner, civic club coordinators for Pampa High School's 11th annual Career Clinic, check the activity schedule for Wednesday's clinic on vocations after high school. Mrs. Jameson is Altrusa Club coordinator with Warner serving as Jaycee coordinator. Other sponsors are Chamber of Commerce and PHS counselors.

Allies Begin Counteroffensives Into Guerrilla Jungle Hideouts

SAIGON (UPI)—More than 10,000 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have spearheaded one of the war's biggest counteroffensives into guerrilla bivouacs threatening Saigon, the American command announced today.

Soldiers from four U.S. infantry divisions backed by South Vietnamese soldiers took to the jungles 30 to 50 miles northwest of Saigon and immediately reported clashing with 300 Reds Monday, killing 28.

Headquarters said the number of allied soldiers involved in the counteroffensive, code-named Operation Atlas Wedge, was classified. It warned correspondents that disclosure of the drive's manpower or goals would mean suspension of their accreditation.

Later, headquarters authorized the use of "more than 10,000 troops" in the counteroffensive. Initial reports indicated it would go much higher than that.

Atlas Wedge centered in Tay Ninh Province, long a Communist redoubt northwest of Saigon bordering the Cambodian frontier. There, according to U.S. intelligence, more than 20,000 guerrillas are hiding, possibly for a thrust against Saigon.

The Atlas Wedge announcement accompanied command reports that for the first time in their 24-day-old offensive, the Communists had spared civilian centers from shelling attacks today. But 52 South Vietnamese died and 126 were wounded in Viet Cong terror Monday.

The allies caught 300 guerrillas in the Michelin rubber plantation 45 miles northwest of Saigon and with air strikes and helicopter gunships killed 28 of them against light U.S. losses.

It was in the same general area, in Communists' Iron Triangle, that 40,000 U.S. soldiers kicked off Operation Junction City, the war's biggest allied operation, in February, 1967.

U.S. headquarters attached no significance to the drop-off in shelling of population centers. There was no indication that the Communists had bowed to President Nixon's warning that continued bombardments of civilian centers would bring an "appropriate response." The Reds shelled 25 Allied military camps overnight, military spokesmen said.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

It was such a beautiful day Thursday, after the snow storms of the past two weeks, and a large crowd was present for the games at Senior Center.

Mrs. Phillip Gates has just returned from Austin where she spent the winter in the home of Dr. Phillip Gates, Jr. and his family.

Joe Shelton visited his daughter in Clovis, N.M. and says he got snowed in and stayed over longer than he had planned, but enjoyed the visit. He had been absent for the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Malicoate, Mrs. Kimberly, Mitchell DeWitt, Amarillo and Mrs. Martha King of Denton, were dinner guests, recently of Mrs. Ruby Stovall.

TOPS Club Has Officer Election

GROOM (Sp)—The TOPS Club met recently to award the fruit bowl to Charlene Weller for losing the most weight the preceding week.

New officers are President, Charlene Weller; Vice President, Karen Case; Secretary, Erma Dean McKee; Treasurer, Irene Baggerman; Weight Recorders, Gloria Huck and Mary Rose, and Program Chairman, Anna Mae Sanders.

Other members present included Dorothy Mansel, Margaret Whitley, Neva Jo Watts, Betty Brooks and Olien Elmore.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Hallon came in a while late in the afternoon to drive her father, Frank Carter, home.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Porter, of Shamrock, came recently to visit her mother and brother, Mrs. C. G. Miller and her son, Bill.

Mrs. Jewell McCampbell, of Post, is a patient in Highland General Hospital. Mrs. McCampbell is a sister of Mrs. J. C. Moseley and has been visiting in the Moseley home the past month.

Mrs. U. C. Egggett, Cleburne, was killed instantly Monday of last week when a car ran into her. She was the sister of Mrs. C. W. Wilkie who attended the funeral. Mrs. Wilkie was accompanied by a niece, Mrs. Joe Miver. They returned home Friday.

We missed the H. G. Lawrence's yesterday. Mr. Lawrence is in Highland General Hospital for a few days.

Door prizes were won by Mmes. O. L. Ray, Mrs. C. G. Miller, and Tom Southard. Hostesses were the Pampa Garden Club. Serving refreshments were Mmes. W. E. Hinton, A. J. Mitchell, Carla Grissom, Bert Robinson, C. J. McNaughton.

Altruists assisting were Miss Jay Flanagan, and Mrs. K. Sullins.

Red Cross Volunteers with transportation were Olive Kills, Lela Clifford, Libby Shotwell and Jessie Rance.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my husband died and left me with two small sons, ages four and seven. At that time my husband's brother promised my boys he would be their "Daddy."

Well, "Daddy" has taken the boys to exactly one baseball game. I sent him a Father's Day card. ("To My Uncle") which he never even bothered to acknowledge. He ran in for a few minutes once last year at Christmas, to drop off a baseball glove for each of the boys.

His wife comes by nearly every day asking how the boys are "getting along." I told her my sons didn't need another mother, but they could sure use a father. She said she would share anything with me but her husband. I don't want her husband. I want my boys to have a father.

Please tell me how I can tell this whole family to drop dead in a nice way.

BURNED UP

DEAR ABBY: Write off this phony "Daddy" and look around for a real one. Your brother-in-law is a heel, but you're spending far more time and energy hating him than he's worth.

DEAR ABBY: We have a friend who has many fine qualities. She has a heart as big as she is. If any one of us needs a favor, for instance, if we are called out of town for a funeral or something unexpected, she is the one who takes our children — and gladly. I can't begin to tell you all the nice things this woman has done, expecting nothing in return. But Abby, does she lie. Like if you compliment her on her dress, she'll say she made it. And she does not own a machine and she can't sew a stitch. Furthermore one of us was with her when she bought it. Also she will serve canned, frozen, or carried-in food, and she'll look you right in the eye and tell you she made it from scratch.

So, dear Abby, what do you do about a friend who lies?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Nothing. You love her for her good qualities and skip the rest.

DEAR ABBY: I think your advice to that mother who was concerned because her husband gave their 10-year-old daughter long, hard kisses on the lips stank!

What right do you have to tell a wife, "clear out and take your daughter with you"?

You're supposed to save marriages — not destroy them. If that's the best advice you can come up with, maybe you ought to quit.

FORMER ABBY FAN

DEAR FORMER FAN: Sorry, but what I said still goes. Not all marriages are worth saving, but children are. I received an astonishing number of letters similar to the one printed below. Please read it.

DEAR ABBY: You advised a mother to take her 10-year-old daughter and clear out because of the intimate kisses her husband was giving her. May I add "Amen — and Now!"

I happen to be the victim of such a father, and I had no one to rescue me either. (I told my mother, but she called me a "liar.") Eventually the worst happened. That was a long time ago. My father is gone now, but I still have nightmares. I hope that mother takes your advice before it's too late.

Your Horoscope JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19
YOUR BIRTHDAY Wednesday: Active readjustment is the keyword for the year. Many new conditions can be exploited for a broader, more fluent way of life. Connections with important people around if you will reach out. Much energy is available for your enterprises, according to your access to your unconscious resources. Here, meditation helps. Wednesday's natives show a tendency to scientific curiosity, a good understanding of basic principles, but seldom any ease in talking about their interests.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Reconsider all your recent actions. Nothing can be revoked outright, but some deeds need not be repeated. Better information and your intuition put a longer perspective on every issue. Some of your friends may leave for greener pastures.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Partners and consultants get into the act Wednesday with good advice, serious attention. For once, keep quiet, let them carry on. Make it an early evening and get some rest.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You continue to have favorable support from important people. Your work builds importance, especially if your attitude is modest.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Show where your affections really are, towards your loved ones or, if possible, with anyone you've disappointed. Celebrate your home life at night according to the wishes of all.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): As earnings improve, you find better agreement as to what to do with both money and time. Propose according to your intuitions, so that others have time to get accustomed to the innovations. Avoid putting premature pressure into your suggestions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Almost anything you try Wednesday works out well, so put your attention onto the more important matters first. Shopping or purchasing goes well this afternoon. Leave the evening free.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): More hard work Wednesday than you had planned on. Nothing can be done but a good-humored effort to make the best of it. (What you do is bound to be noticed.)

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You now have a better idea of where you are headed. If necessary commence a search, without announcement or complaint, for a better situation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Wednesday is something like yesterday and should be pursued along the same lines. Speak up for what you'd like to have, what you feel you've earned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Push right ahead with yesterday's beginnings. Apply the changes you've decided upon. Then put it all out of your conscious mind for a delightful evening of social activity.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Try harder to bridge any misunderstandings wherever they may exist. Business interests thrive with no unusual stress. Entertain in the evening.

Trends: Footwear styles are complying with general fashion trends. Demi-boots, square toed slip-ons and ankle boots go hand-in-hand with shaped and Edwardian clothing — whereas wingtip bal oxfords go with the thirties look, like the Norfolk jacket.

Trends: The pajama and loungewear makers have gone right along with almost every man's wear fashion trend. They've produced at-home interpretations of the Edwardian (ruffled nightshirts), Western (pajamas), Karate (lounger), etc. There seems to be no end to the variety of printed floral slacks now available.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM THIS EASTER

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the show nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A leather-stitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at

One of the pamphlets shown at the session was "The NEA and Sex Education" by a Dr. Gordon Drake, of Christian Crusade. He charges that Elizabeth Koontz, president-elect of the National Education Association, also serves on the board of SIECUS.

Several SIECUS directors were quoted as encouraging pre-marital sex, promiscuity and even perversion in their writings. One, Dr. Albert Ellis is author of the book, "Adventures with Censorship."

All appear to believe that sex education should have no moral aspects.

Mrs. Tom Watson presided and introduced Mrs. Hills.

Judge Sets Bond on Two

Justice of Peace E.L. Anderson set two bonds Tuesday, both for $500.

James Templeton, 54, Pampa, had bond of $500 set on a charge of shoplifting, and Harvey Andrew Tipton, 44, of 535 S. Somerville, had the same amount of bond set on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Templeton was arrested at Village Grocery after he was observed by the store manager taking two pounds of bacon and two pounds of salmon steaks, according to police reports.

Tipton was arrested in the 400 block of Somerville about 5:04 p.m. Monday by policeman L.T. Boin.

DWI Sentence Set

Richard Stephen Labriński, Canadian, pled nolo contendere before Judge Sherman Lenning, Jr., Monday to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Labriński was fined $50 and court costs, sentenced to three days in jail and placed on six months probation.

CANADIAN (Sp1)—Marvin Lee Longhofer, 51, died Sunday after suffering a heart attack at his home. He was taken to Hemphill County Hospital and died about 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

He was born Dec. 8, 1917, at Shattuck, Okla.

He is survived by his wife, Harriet; two sons, Don Longhofer, Amarillo, and Marvin Longhofer Jr., Gladewater; one daughter, Mrs. Karan Baker, Fayetteville, Ark.; his father, A. J. Longhofer, Canadian, one brother, Ralph Longhofer, Canadian; a sister, Mrs. Phyllis Owens, Spearman and three grandchildren.

He had lived here most of his life, and operated a farm and implement dealership business.

Funeral services were held today in First United Methodist Church, Canadian, with Rev. Howard Quiett officiating. Burial was in Canadian Cemetery directed by Stickleby Funeral Home.

Malone Speaks To Realtors' Board

Need for all items contained in the March 25 school bond election was further explained by Dr. James F. Malone, school superintendent, at today's regular meeting of the Pampa Board of Realtors in Coronado Inn.

Dr. Malone discussed the 13 projects in the $900,000 bond issue and how they would affect taxpayers.

The speaker was introduced by Joe Fischer, in charge of the day's program.

Following Dr. Malone's address, the Board of Realtors was expected to go on record in favor of the issue, according to H.W. Waters, president of the group.

Officials Blame Plane Crash On Takeoff Strain

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (UPI)—Venezuelan investigators said today an overheated engine may have caused a Viasa airliner to crash and kill 152 persons in history's worst air disaster.

A spokesman for eight government commissions probing the wreckage said the prime theory was that the plane's left engine caught fire under the strain of takeoff.

A high government official discounted reports the Miami-bound DC9 with 46 Americans among the 83 persons aboard was sabotaged.

"We may investigate those rumors," said Interior Ministry Director Pedro Perez Perazo. But "the technical reports we are receiving indicate that the accident was simply an accident."

Temperature may have played a major role. It was about 108 degrees on the ground at takeoff and only a light breeze was blowing over the runway. Normal takeoffs require that the air have a certain minimum density to insure lift. High temperatures can lower that density drastically.

The Venezuelan two-jet craft plummeted into a crowded residential area at the runway's end just two minutes after taking off.

All aboard were killed; as were at least 69 persons on the ground. Another 120 were injured and 17 remained in critical condition with burns and other injuries.

The plane's flight recorder, dug from the blocks of wreckage Sunday night, was flown to the United States for analysis.

County Court To Hear Cases

A total of 24 cases are on the docket in Gray County court for the jury week of April 21.

There are 13 driving while intoxicated cases and four swindling with worthless check cases subject to call.

Driving while intoxicated cases to be heard are Teddy Gene Vance, Dewey Deward Belmont, Richard Lee Hausen, Leroy Shelley Morgan, James Berry Duncan, Jr., Lawton Ivan Marcum, William Ralph Canaday, John Campbell McLeod, Robert William Miller, Muriel Kendrick, J.C. Sutton and Norman Ray Stone.

Swindling with worthless check cases are Archie Allen, Mrs. John Birdwell, Mrs. C.W. Parker and Mrs. Bobby Scheller.

Aggravated assault upon an officer charges will be heard against Alfred Ray Ballard, Larry Max Doss and Harrison Lee Pule.

Other cases include speeding—appeal from Corporation Court, Everett Thomas Scott; disobeying traffic signal on appeal from Corporation Court, Larry David Leonard; driving while license suspended, Jonathan Vince Gerik, and shoplifting, Shirley Schaffer Earlich.

"The board could by law approve athletic improvements by passing revenue bonds without public vote, but to allow taxpayers a chance to approve or disapprove athletic improvements, they were included with other projects which have to be approved by public vote. Revenue bonds are permitted by law because athletics are revenue producing for school districts," he said.

Other major items proposed in the bond issue election are Mann and Wilson school renovation and PHS vocational technical wing.

One of the demands of the AABL is the elimination of the campus security officers because, the AABL claims, they are ineffective.

Another demand of the AABL is a black students' center and during his speech Allen said blacks should take over the present student center on campus.

The students, upon leaving the security office, went to the cafeteria where they threw chairs through three plate glass picture windows, broke about 10 chairs and a juke box.

By the time Allen arrived at the cafeteria the destruction was underway. He told them to quit and many of the students left.

Jehovah's Witnesses End Weekend Circuit Assembly

"In an age of increasing violence and crime, peace and security seem impossible to find. Within this generation, Jehovah God will do the seemingly impossible. He will bring an end to violence and bring peace to deserving mankind."

These encouraging words were heard by more than 885 who attended the "Make Wise Use of the Remaining Time" circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Dumas, Friday through Sunday (March 14-16), according to Charles Regal, presiding minister of the Pampa congregation.

The convention program opened on Friday at 6:45 p.m. despite blowing snow and ice, with a model school of ministry like that conducted in some 25,000 congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses worldwide. An activity meeting later demonstrated teaching techniques used in the educational work carried on by the group throughout the earth, under the theme, "Paying Fully What We Owe To God," Regal noted.

Regal said, "One of the highlights of the convention was the baptism-ordination service which was held on Saturday, and there were 15 who were ordained as Christian ministers. In similar services during 1968 some 82,000 new ministers were added to the ranks of Jehovah's Witnesses.

The Saturday evening program dealt with the urgency of the special study course that Jehovah's Witnesses are conducting with persons of all religions, free of charge. Upwards of one million such study classes are being conducted."

Sunday saw the final sessions of the assembly with the main lecture, "Law and Order — When and How?" being delivered by L. M. Dugan of New York.

"Shortly Jehovah God is due to demonstrate to all creation in heaven and earth that He is a living God, not a dead God. He is scheduled to accomplish this by the execution of all scoffers and law-defying people.

"His delay in doing this has not been due to weakness, but is an extension of mercy and patience that salvation might be gained by those who love righteousness," emphasized Dugan as he explained when and by what means "Law and Order" would be seen on the earth.

As local delegates have returned to Pampa all regular meetings and activities of the local congregation will be resumed, Regal said.

Quakers Wield Great Influence Despite Size

By LOUIS CASSELL, UPI Religion Writer
The Religious Society of Friends, commonly known as the Quaker movement, is living proof that great size and great influence do not necessarily go hand in hand. The nine Quaker bodies in the United States have a total of fewer than 130,000 members. President Nixon is the second most indelible Quaker to hold the nation's highest office, Herbert Hoover and enjoy a degree of public respect that many larger bodies envy.

HOW'S BUSINESS?
Uncertainties Reflected From Public Confidence

By The Babson Staff
The preponderance of events since late last fall have been anything but encouraging for public sentiment.

The discouraging lack of a headway on Vietnam negotiations, a definitive stand against inflation via the credit tightening route, new pressures on the French franc and other foreign currencies, and fears of a credit crunch and its ultimate adverse impact upon business have all combined to sap confidence.

The initial impact was evident in consumer spending. Although retail trade on a seasonally adjusted basis, has clung in a peak range, there has been little to shout about for many months.

The absence of strong upward impetus in buying underscores the cautiousness on the part of consumers. Only in the new housing sector has there been a degree of strength, but even here results have been tempered by the restraint of high borrowing costs.

Most conspicuous, however, has been the impairment of investment confidence. Both the bond market and the stock market have suffered. The continuing slippage of bond prices, of course, reflects the rise of interest rates and the fear of even higher rates over the near term.

In two jolting downswings, the stock market retreated nearly a hundred points on the Dow-

Episcopalian, Presbyterian (six presidents each) and the Unitarians (four presidents) have sent more men to the White House.

The Society of Friends was founded in 17th century England by George Fox, a workingman's son who had been apprenticed to a cobbler to learn the shoemaker's trade. Fox was more interested in souls than in soles, so he left home at the age of 19 and spent the next four years wandering around England searching for a faith more meaningful to him than the cold formalism he found in the Church of England.

One day, after much agonized seeking, Fox was "illuminated" by a great conviction that he did not need to search for God because God was already present within him, "as close as breathing, as near as one's own limbs."

Out of this conviction he developed the doctrine of the inner light which lies at the heart of the Quaker faith. It holds that God is ever present within each human being and that he can be approached and experienced directly by anyone who sincerely seeks him. This is, of course, a form of mysticism—but it is a simple and practical kind of mysticism, as suitable for ordinary people as for cloistered saints.

There is no official Quaker creed, and it would be difficult to identify any one doctrine, besides the inner light, to which all Quakers subscribe. Most of them see in Jesus Christ the supreme revelation of God's nearness to and love for all men. But no Quaker is required to accept any particular theological definition of Christ's person and mission.

As the great Quaker writer Rufus Jones has put it, "Friends are not much interested in abstract theories and statements about God. They prefer to begin with personal experience of him."

One corollary of the inner light doctrine is the Quaker insistence that one man's religious opinion is as good as another's, and the humblest layman is as likely to be "moved by the spirit" as a theologian with three degrees.

In recent years, some Quaker groups have begun to train and ordain ministers, but their role is basically one of leadership and administration, and the typical Quaker worship service still provides for any person who feels so moved to address the congregation.

Quakers believe that no outward rituals or sacraments are needed to draw nigh to God. Baptism is not a rite using water but an "inner baptism of the spirit." Holy Communion is celebrated not with consecrated bread and wine but in silent spiritual union with God.

These doctrines were considered so heretical in 17th century England that Fox and his small band of "Friends" were subjected to extremely harsh persecution. At one point, there were four thousand Quakers in English jails and at least 400 died as martyrs. The name "Quaker" resulted from one of Fox's frequent appearances in court. Instead of pleading for mercy, he sternly adjured the judge to "tremble with fear of the Lord." The judge turned the advice back on Fox and called him a "quaker."

Quakers began immigrating to America soon after the Puritan colony was established in Massachusetts, and by 1672, when Fox paid a visit to America, there were small Quaker settlements all along the coast.

But they were as harshly treated here as in England until William Penn, a young Quaker who was the son of a wealthy nobleman, obtained a royal charter to establish a colony in America.

Penn arrived in 1682 to found "the City of Brotherly Love," Philadelphia, and the colony of Pennsylvania ("Penn's Woods.")

Colonial Quakers were hardworking, thrifty people who strove for simplicity of life, wearing plain black clothing, eschewing drinking, dancing and other "wordly amusements." Their marked differences from their frontier neighbors caused them to become identified as a "peculiar people" and this reputation restricted the growth of the movement.

From the start, Quakers tried to apply literally some of the harder sayings of Jesus, including his admonition in the sermon on the mount that "if anyone slaps you on the right cheek, let him slap your left cheek too."

Pacifism, in the strict sense of refusing to return violence or even to resist it, was a cardinal virtue to early Quakers, and it continues to be a distinctive Quaker "witness." But many Quakers today feel that pacifism is an ideal that cannot practically be attained in a world where aggressors are ever ready to pounce on the defenseless. Thousands of Quakers youth served in uniform in World War II and Korea, and many are now serving in Vietnam.

Mideast Conflict Is 'Terribly Dangerous'

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International
"A terribly dangerous area" is the way President Nixon described the Middle East this month—terribly dangerous for the Arab nations and Israel who remain in conflict, and terribly dangerous for the rest of the world.

In the unsettled Arab-Israeli confrontation, the President said, lies the seed of an incalculably more dangerous confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The Chief Executive spoke of the Middle East in his nationally televised and broadcast news conference from the White House March 4 following his return from consultations with Western leaders in Europe. He made a number of statements on the continuing Middle East crisis and its threat to world peace, including:

"The United States and the Soviet Union were carrying on bilateral discussions which the President had found encouraging and which he believed could be expanded into four power talks—bringing in the British and French—in the United Nations. He hoped this might be "very soon," although some U.N. authorities thought otherwise.

Next Step
—The next step would be to find a settlement formula acceptable to—but which could not be imposed upon—the Israelis and Arabs, with firm big power guarantees to enforce the terms of settlement.

Twenty-one months after the "June war" there is no peace for Jews and Arabs, no sign of peace and no safety.

From Cairo the "Voice of Al Fatah" radio calls stridently across the desert, urging Arab bands to attack and kill the Jewish "enemy."

On the Suez Canal an uneasy ceasefire is shattered by artillery duels, the sniper's bullet and the crash of exploding mines.

When the Israelis strike back—as inevitably they do sooner or later—they do so crushingly, overwhelmingly and with 1,000 per cent interest.

Their fighter-bombers and tanks blast Arab guerrilla hideouts in the barren hills of Jordan.

"Eye For Eye..."

The age-old blood feud cry of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" is being repeated bloodily and more menacingly each side, week after week.

"I would not use the word 'imposition' in the context of big power or prospective Security Council action," he told a recent news conference. "... But, in my view, some sort of moral pressure by the big powers in all directions, through the machinery of the Security Council, and of course as far as possible by promoting agreement by the powers particularly involved, would be very desirable. I would prefer to use the word 'pressure' and not 'imposition.'"

Pending some specific big four agreement, U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost has proposed that the big four issue a communique reaffirming support of Jarring's peace mission.

The Soviet Union's Jacob A. Malik doesn't agree. He has countered that the Security Council's unanimous passage of its Nov. 22, 1967, resolution already demonstrated such support for Jarring.

The Nov. 22 resolution, in addition to creating the Jarring mission, called in vague terms for Israel's evacuation of Arab territory taken in the June, 1967, war and an end to the state of belligerency insisted upon by the Arabs.

The vagueness of that resolution has been at the bottom of the diplomatic bickering ever since.

The United Nations, cynical as the observation may seem, again is caught between the superpowers, in the opinion of many diplomats. Its hope for a Middle East settlement rests squarely on the ability of Moscow, champion of the Arabs, and Washington, staunch backer of Israel, to reach an agreement that could be approved by the other big powers, endorsed by the full 15-nation Security Council, and then found acceptable to the Middle East antagonists. It's an awesome undertaking.

ACCEPTS CREDENTIALS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon Monday warmly accepted the credentials of the new British ambassador, John Freeman, who as editor of the New Statesman once described Nixon as "a man of no principle whatsoever." Nixon told Freeman at the presentation ceremony at the White House. "You are most welcome in Washington. Your impressively versatile career is well known to us... be certain that all of us in this government will make every effort to assist you in your mission."

JFK Memorial Plans Delayed

AUSTIN (UPI)—Plans to create a memorial in Texas to the late President John F. Kennedy have been stalled by a minority of opposition in the Texas Legislature.

Seven members opposed a bill which would have set up a "John F. Kennedy Memorial Commission," and when one of the opposition, Sen. Jack Strong of Longview, threatened a talkathon Monday the senate recessed until today.

Sen. Mike McKool of Dallas who won the 21 votes necessary to bring the bill to the senate floor, accused the bill's opponents of refusing to do for Kennedy what they have done previously for former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The opponents of the bill have indicated they do not like the idea of giving the commission eminent domain powers to condemn land for the Kennedy memorial.

Foreign News Commentary

UPI Foreign News Analyst

With an increasingly hostile Red China on her borders to the East, the Soviet Union is trying to build up some insurance on her borders to the West.

Included is a degree of accommodation with the United States and an "escape proof" buffer zone made up of the Warsaw Pact nations of Eastern Europe.

This, according to diplomatic information in East European capitals, is one of the main reasons for this week's meeting of Warsaw Pact countries in Budapest.

Another is to complete arrangements for a Communist world summit conference which the Kremlin still hopes to stage in Moscow in May.

Three Channels

The Kremlin, according to the diplomats, is pursuing its aim through three channels.

One is ideological, the fact that all Warsaw Pact nations are Communist, although with varying degrees of loyalty to Moscow.

A second is the military nature of the Warsaw Pact, and the third, economic cooperation through COMECON, the Communists' council for mutual economic assistance.

On the military side, the Soviets seek a supreme council with powers transcending national boundaries and giving the Soviet supreme commander authority to shift forces at will. The council also would have political authority in major issues affecting the alliance. This would give further legal authority to Soviet party leader Leonid Brezhnev's theory of limited national sovereignty within a Communist commonwealth and further reason for the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

In return, the Soviets are ready to offer their allies some of the lower command posts.

Shaky Hold

In part, the idea is to free additional Soviet Forces for duty along the central Asian and Siberian frontiers, and, for the remainder to permit the Soviets to maintain their shaky hold on empire.

Economically, the Soviets are pushing for "integration" of bloc economies, to reinforce their military hold.

In both areas they are meeting opposition.

On the military side, East Germany's Walter Ulbricht is going along enthusiastically.

But on the economic side, even Ulbricht is putting up some opposition, fearful of the results on East Germany's growing and importing trade with West Germany.

Romania, the only one of the Warsaw Pact nations to send an observer to the recent Yugoslav party congress, is putting up determined resistance on both counts.

Hungary quietly has been pressing her own economic reforms, so far without Soviet interference. Even the Czechs are edging forward on at least some of the reforms which the invasion temporarily stifled.

In Budapest, the Russians may get paper agreement. But her partners will be reluctant ones.

Texas Politics

By REP. MALOUF ABRAHAM

The big rush for introducing bills is winding up. Friday was the last day you could introduce bills without any strings attached.

Now, except for local bills, it's necessary to get permission from four-fifths of the members to get a bill in. Something in the area of 1,200 bills got in under the wire.

When you think that last session our bill total was about 1,350, it's obvious that we will probably have way over 1,500 bills dropped in. So, you can easily see that when you ask about bill number "so and so" the chances are excellent that I do not have any instant idea of what you're talking about. We don't have much chance to look at the bills when they are first dropped in.

Actually, it's kind of a waste of time except for something that you are especially interested in or something that concerns the district. Fortunately about two-thirds of these bills are killed in Committee and usually the others have a number of amendments tacked on. Often a good bill comes out as a bad bill and a poor bill can become a good one with the help of the Committee.

We have had a pretty hot and heavy session this past week. We passed the Texas Tech Medical School Bill on to third reading with a little heat. We voted down two amendments and were afraid there might be a bunch get started cutting the bill up.

Sometimes a rather un-complicated bill can really stir up a big hassle for no particular reason. The big fight was on the Torts Bill, which takes legislative immunity away from the cities, counties and schools, etc., on personal injuries caused by motor vehicles.

Finally, we were able to get a couple of amendments on to it out of about 15 introduced but the bill passed by a big margin. So, the old law that "the King can do no wrong" is about out the window if an accident is caused by a motor vehicle.

We are going full blast now and the Committees are working hard. Sat in on a Midland-Odessa, College fight well past midnight the other night. Still don't have anything new as to where the budget money is going to come from.

ACCURATE TESTS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission has defended as accurate the FTC's tests indicating an increase in the nicotine and tar content of cigarettes. The Tobacco Institute contended the tests were inaccurate. FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon wrote a six-page letter to Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, and Moss said he was "completely satisfied."

Washington Report

Bob Price
Member of Congress

The highly successful flights of Apollo 8 and 9 are ample proof of the careful research, planning, management, and training that have gone into the space program. One more Apollo flight is scheduled before the actual moon landing planned for next summer.

As a new member of the House Science and Astronautics Committee, I have had the benefit during recent weeks of extensive briefings and a committee tour of NASA installations including Cape Kennedy, the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, the Marshall Space Flight Center, and other installations where plans are being projected beyond the moon landing.

What I have seen and heard seems almost fantastic. Ten years ago, I wouldn't have believed it, and have some difficulty now in realizing the accomplishments, values, and benefits of the space program.

A study made by the Subcommittee on NASA Oversight, to which I have been appointed, indicates that the space program has had a profound impact upon the lives of all Americans, and that the United States can look forward to increasing applications of space-developed research in the future. Many spin-off applications of the program are already in various stages of development and application.

One of the projects the Apollo 9 astronauts undertook was a multispectral photography experiment and one of the areas photographed was Arizona farm lands. The U.S. Department of Agriculture and NASA want to know if orbital photography can detect signs of drought and plant disease. Success could mean, when experiments such as this become operational, they could provide information that would afford farmers time to save their crops.

Already of course, we are utilizing the communications capabilities of COMSAT from the orbiting satellites launched by NASA and others will be launched this year. The use of satellites for the transmission of telephone calls and telegrams between North America and Europe has been highly successful as has been the instantaneous TV broadcast of important news events such as President Nixon's recent trip to Europe.

Weather satellites, coupled with recent advances in high-speed computer technology, promise for the first time accurate meteorological prediction, both short and long term. At present, the United States and the rest of the world are still a long way from an accurate 5-day forecast, much less a 2-week forecast, but NASA and the Weather Bureau, under the Environmental Science Services Administration, are working on it.

Another promising program now under development and one which offers great potential to the entire world is the earth resources program. NASA's meteorological satellite and manned space flight programs have demonstrated that certain phenomena can be better understood when viewed from a great distance. These programs have demonstrated that it is possible to observe from space such things as sea ice fields, geological and geographical formations and boundaries, and to determine ocean surface temperatures and temperature gradients.

The program has also had a significant impact upon modern day medical practice as well as the computer industry. Space suits created for the Apollo project are being tested for use in foundries and other industries where protection is needed against extreme heat or cold and the suits might be adapted for use in firefighting and rescue work in toxic environments. However, males are not the only beneficiaries of space-suit technology. Laminating techniques for mending linings and outer material and advanced filament-winding techniques have been applied to brassiere supports. And, many other spin-off benefits are being applied commercially.

Managers Test Pitchers In Exhibition Baseball

FT. LAUDERDALE (NEA) — The click of cleats on the cement floor, the palaver of the players and the reflexive pounding of fists into leather mitts: the sounds of a baseball locker room were silent now. Only a few New York Yankees remained. Ron Blomberg would be the last to leave; he is savoring every moment.

"I just sit here on the bench," he said, in front of his stall, "and stare at the names on the lockers. Joe Pepitone, Whitey Ford, Rocky Colavito. Oh, gosh, and Mickey Mantle, No. 7. Whew."

The Yankees exhibition game against Baltimore had been called because of rain. Now Blomberg, after doing windsprints in the drizzle, had showered and was wearing a white turtleneck shirt, brown slacks, short brown hair with bangs Caesar-style and a bright, wide look in his light brown eyes.

Blomberg, a 20-year-old outfielder, was the top draft choice in the major leagues in 1967. He signed with the Yankees when he walked off the stage after graduation from an Atlanta High School. ("I can't say what the figure was," he said, "but newspapers had it anywhere from $35,000 to $150,000. Name a figure and they wrote it.")

"My biggest disappointment is not seeing Mickey Mantle play," he said. "He was in the locker room earlier today, to pick up some things. I had never been this close to him and I watched him from here and I whispered to myself, 'Is that really you, Mickey?'"

"I went over and shook hands with him. Oh, boy. He's not that tall, but I'll tell you, that's some kind of build. His arms are so big and, oh, his legs, so powerful."

"Later on, he crumpled a piece of paper and tossed it near here. Where is it? I got it someplace," said Blomberg, rummaging through the spiked shoes and boxes of Milk Duds and Bazooka bubble gum in his locker. "I can't find it right now. But I wanted it for a souvenir."

Blomberg, after his second professional season (he batted .251 with seven homers for Kinston of the Class A Carolina League in 1968 — "My worst year ever. But I learned a lot"), was invited to the Yankee training camp here. He expects to be farmed out again soon, this time to a Triple A club.

"Right now, it's like I'm in one world and all around me is another world," he said. "In a year or two, maybe I'll be part of that other world, too. Can you imagine, me at Yankee Stadium? If I'd ever hit a home run I'd just stand on first base. I wouldn't know what to do, I'd be so excited."

Lindy McDaniel, the gray-haired relief pitcher, walked by. "Those were three great innings you pitched yesterday," said Blomberg.

"Do my best," said McDaniel, pleasantly.

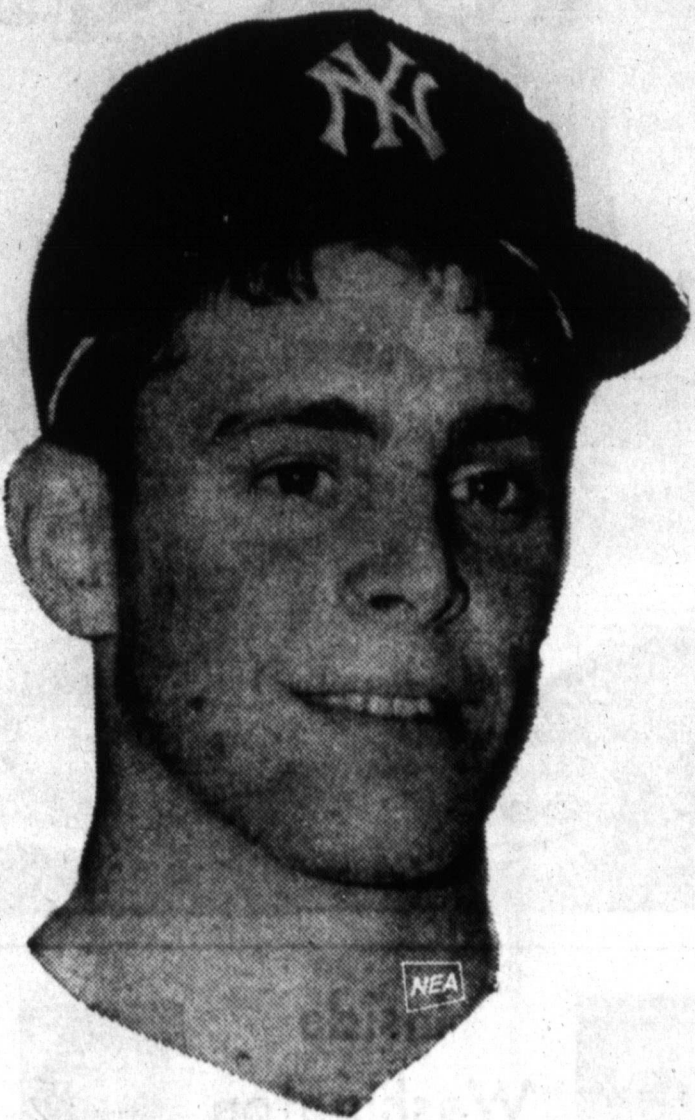

"You will," said Blomberg, sort of stuck for words.

"That's Lindy McDaniel," whispered Blomberg to a newspaperman, when McDaniel was out of earshot. "He's a great pitcher."

"It feels so funny, being here. If the President were here and asked me over for tea, well, that's the way it's like."

"But I want to make it for good. And I really think I didn't care about that bonus money. I just wanted to play baseball. When I was going bad at Kinston, I'd stay up until four in the morning swinging a bat in front of a mirror, getting blisters like crazy."

"The other day I played my first major league game, two innings against the Senators. I didn't bat, but I was thrilled just to play. In front of Ted Williams, too. I felt like running over for his autograph."

RON BLOMBERG — "I just sit here on the bench and stare at the names on the lockers," says the 20-year-old of the Yankees. "Right now it's like I'm in one world and all around me is another world."

By United Press International

Now is the time for all good baseball pitchers to get with it. Only three weeks of training remain, so managers are beginning to demand that their hurlers prove themselves. A few pitchers got good marks Monday, and some didn't.

Don Drysdale, making his first appearance for the Dodgers, whipped through four innings against the New York Yankees, giving up only four hits and one run. LA lost, 2-1, but Don said he felt fine and was particularly pleased that he still has his batting eye. His single produced the Dodger run. For New York, there were good grades for all three hurlers—Fred Talbot, Don Nottbart and Joe Verbanic.

Two former Yankees seeking jobs with the new Seattle Pilots had a doubtful time. Jim Bouton was the winner, 8-6, over the Chicago Cubs, but was touched for a home run by rookie Jim Dunegan. Roland Sheldon, working with the Seattle "B" squad against Cleveland came up with a bases-loaded wild pitch in the 12th inning, allowing the Indians to win the ball game 9-8.

The Tampa Daily News

Sheldon had come on in the ninth to protect a two-run lead. The California Angels toyed with the San Diego Padres, 12-6, but when the expansion team acted up in the late innings, of knuckleball artist Hoyt Wilhelm quieted the disturbance.

Al Lopez tested three rookie pitchers against Baltimore, and the Orioles won their seventh straight, and eighth of nine, 3-1. Boog Powell socked a two run homer off Jim Magnuson. The others Lopez was trying out were Fred Rath and Paul Edmundson.

The Orioles will face some real pitching Tuesday. The St. Louis Cardinals, rained out two straight days, have decided to let loose with all four of their big guns. Bob Gibson, Nelson Briles, Steve Carlton and Ray Washburn are down to make their spring debut against the Birds.

The Mets dropped in on the Atlanta Braves Monday and won 3-0, with Jim McAndrew working five innings and Don Cardwell completing the shut-out.

Cincinnati found the pitching of Senator Jim Hannan to its liking, scoring three runs on three walks, a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly. Washington dropped its 10th of 11 games.

Houston got a tidy pitching from Larry Dierker, Danny Coombs and Chuck Marentette in beating the Kansas City Royals, 3-1. A wild pickoff attempt by Royal hurler Roger Nelson contributed to the Astros win.

The unusual Florida rains cancelled Montreal-Minnesota, Pittsburgh-St. Louis and Boston-Detroit.

Spring Rains Worrying Mets Right, Left Arms

By MILTON RICHMAN ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Tom Seaver, the good right arm of the New York Mets, was driving out to the ballpark the other morning with Jerry Kosman, the good left arm.

The two of them talked about the kind of spring this had been. They had no trouble arriving at the same conclusion. They agreed this had been a bum spring.

What they had in mind primarily was their pitching but they couldn't throw in the Florida weather for the same money. It's been wretched. What with all the rain and dampness, some baseball people are going around saying this has been one of the worst springs on record.

The only other one close in recent times was that dreary, depressing dampness 10 years ago. Wally Moses, the Detroit coach but then with Cincinnati, remembers that one well.

Plenty of Rain "It rained so much that spring, none of the clubs were getting any work," he says. "Gabe Paul, running the Reds then, flew the whole ball club down to Cuba. We were just getting ready to land in Havana when I happened to glance out of the window. I nudged Gabe and said, 'look, rain.'"

The bad weather isn't what's disturbing Seaver and Kosman so much, however. They're thinking about their performances this spring, which have been pretty much the same as the weather. Lousy.

"Jerry and I were talking about it coming out to the ballpark," said Seaver, who won 16 ball games for his second straight season with the Mets last year compared with the 19 wins Kosman clicked off as a rookie.

"I've been hit both times I pitched and so has Jerry," Seaver went on. "I worked three innings a piece against the Cardinals and Red Sox and gave up four hits and two runs in both games. Does it bother me? Let me put it this way: I'm concerned about what happens any time I go out to the mound. You always try to do your best. It's the ego factor. You don't want to be embarrassed because people in the stands are always watching and so are your teammates."

More More For a ballplayer, Tom Seaver has deep understanding about human capacities and emotions. For a 24-year-old ballplayer, he has uncommon understanding.

"I don't like to judge anything on a single basis," he says. "You draw wrong conclusions that way. But if things don't go right my next time out, I would say it possibly might be of some concern to me."

Next time is today and the opposition the Los Angeles Dodgers, a club Seaver usually is at his best against.

Seaver's trouble so far has been that his ball hasn't been moving; Kosman's problem is different. He isn't getting the ball down.

"I think it's a matter of getting my timing and rhythm adjusted and once that happens I'll be all right," Kosman said. He didn't have either his first two times out, the Phillies clipping him for five runs in two innings and Kansas City's expansion Royals for three runs in three innings. Next time for him is Wednesday when he gets another shot at the Phils.

Misses Rookie Award Kosman, a year older than Seaver at 25, barely missed being selected as the 1968 rookie of the year on the face of his 19-12 record and superlative 2.08 earned run average. He enjoyed a good part of the winter in New York as a celebrity because the people there aren't used to seeing anybody with the Mets win 19 games.

His only bad moment came when he accidentally spilled hot butter on his left index finger while fixing some popcorn but everything's fine now except his ERA and Kos isn't particularly worried about that.

"We're gonna do all right this year," Kosman says. "I think we'll finish in the money."

Seaver goes further. "I might be a supreme optimist, but I think we've got a chance to be in the World Series."

A year ago everybody would laugh at a statement like that. Now nobody laughs. Life is funny. So is baseball.

Denver ABA Coach Choice For Texas Tech Cage Job

LUBBOCK (UPI)—Bob Bass, head coach of the American Basketball Association's Denver Rockets, loomed today as the leading contender to succeed Gene Gibson as coach of Texas Tech.

Tech athletic director Poik Robinson said Monday a new coach could be named by the end of the week and he confirmed Bass had been interviewed for the job.

A Denver newspaper said today Bass was considering an offer from Tech to be the new coach. Bass was in West Palm Beach, Fla. Monday night where his Rockets played in ABA contest with the Miami Floridians.

Harry Miller, who coached Eastern New Mexico to the NAIA championship last week, was expected to visit Tech today for an interview with the athletic council.

Glen Whitis, the coach of a Howard Payne team which posted a 24-3 mark enroute to the Lone Star Conference championship, was interviewed Sunday.

Other coaches believed mentioned for the Tech post included Ken Hayes of Tulsa, Gerald Myers of Houston Baptist, Bob Polk of Trinity, Jack Martin of Lamar Tech, Marshall Brown of Stephen F. Austin and Abe Lemons of Oklahoma City University.

Podres Looks Good in Bid For Comeback

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI)—Johnny Podres remembers the good years, and there were plenty of them for the stylish lefthander in the glory days of the Dodgers.

He also remembers the not-so-good ones—like the last three—when he was just another old timer trying to win a spot with the Detroit Tigers and sitting home in Witherbee, N.Y.

Now, he is back with old friends on the expansion San Diego Padres, hoping to catch on but not all that sure he can or will.

"My arm feels good and I think I can help the club," he said the other day while peeling off a soaked sweatshirt following a lengthy workout. "If I didn't think I could help I wouldn't be here."

Podres, a proud man, didn't come looking for the Padres, although he did admit he knocked on a few doors last year after the Tigers set him free.

"Sure, I want to pitch," he said, "but I never really expected to get a chance again after sitting out a year. Still, I have Buzzy (Bavasi) to thank for this chance."

Podres, who won 136 games for the Dodgers over a 14-year span, was home working with Little Leaguers last summer when Bavasi, who had just bought into the Padres, called to tell him the good news. Bavasi was general manager with the Dodgers all the years Podres pitched for them.

This spring, Manager Preston Gomez turned to Podres for San Diego's first game as a big league team. John worked three shutout innings, which surprised him as much as it did the San Diego brass.

With the troubles the Padres are almost sure to have this year, especially with a crop of kid pitchers, a guy like Podres might be valuable, in more ways than one.

NBA Playoffs Open March 26

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 1969 National Basketball Association playoffs will open Wednesday, March 26, at Los Angeles, according to an official league schedule released today.

The Los Angeles Lakers, leading the Western Division, will meet the third place San Francisco Warriors at home on March 26 and Friday, March 29. The teams are scheduled to meet at San Francisco on Monday, March 31 and Wednesday, April 2.

The remaining three games, if necessary, scheduled for Friday, April 4, at Los Angeles, Saturday, April 5, at San Francisco and Monday, April 7, at Los Angeles.

Secondary Round The secondary-round playoff begins at Atlanta on Thursday, March 27, with the second place Hawks meeting either San Diego or Chicago. The teams meet again at Atlanta, April 7.

Whitworth Tops Lady Golfers in Orange Blossom

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Kathy Whitworth has done nothing to improve Marlene Hagge's complex about leading golf tournaments into the final round.

Kathy's even-par 216 for the 54-hole Orange Blossom tourney gave her her second straight title and the winner's check for $2,250.

Marlene had led the tournament right up to the final hole, and all along she'd said she hated to be out front. After Saturday's round put her two strokes ahead she said, "I'm just going to have to pretend I'm one stroke behind so I don't play it too safe."

On the 18th hole Monday, Marlene's drive bounced off a tree, then she made a beautiful three-wood recovery onto the green only to three-put for a double bogey.

Kathy, who heard about Marlene's predicament as she approached the final tee, said, "I was awfully nervous. My second shot landed in the sand trap and I was scared I'd blast it right over the green. I hate sand traps," she said.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

College Rioters Analyzed

Why do some of the New Leftists act like storm troopers? Why violence in our colleges and universities? A psychoanalyst, Dr. Bruno Bettelheim, formerly of Vienna, where he lived through the Adolph Hitler and Joseph Stalin days, and now a professor at the University of Chicago, was interviewed recently, after he had described some student sit-in demonstrators as paranoiacs. In defending his claim about the students he referred to having called Hitler and Stalin paranoiacs and having been severely criticized at the time. He also said he has observed a few radical student participants over a period of several years "and therefore know what motivated them."

He said they are possessed with a negative identity, leading them to hate themselves so much that they think they can make a go in this world only by destroying it. "Their behavior is an extreme defensive maneuver to avoid a total, complete break with reality. If I cannot manage reality as it is, either I can change myself — that's hard work — or I can try to change reality in my image." He broadened the picture to comment that "it is unnatural to keep a young person for some 20 years in dependency. Or in school, in the past, the vast majority of young people, when they were at the height of their physical strengths — which is around 20 — were actively meeting life outside, proving themselves as men or women. And this way they found themselves as real strong human beings.

"Now the tremendous push that everybody should go to college. It has brought an incredibly large number of kids into the university who do not find their self-realization through study, or through the intellectual adventure. . . . "They think they need to find their early manhood. . . . They try to change the university to something where they can find their early manhood." The reason, he explained, is because students putting themselves through school "could prove their early manhood." The professor says that "paying them all to go to school. . . makes them dependent when they should be, psychologically speaking, independent. Therefore they try to prove their manhood in totally irrational ways."

Dr. Bettelheim compared the violent radicals of today with student demonstrations in Hitler's and Stalin's day, and remarked that: "Radical adolescents act like radical adolescents have acted since time immemorial. There were societies that fell in with it and these societies were destroyed." He urged that the students be heard and their thoughts carefully considered, "but I do not think they should be permitted to coerce anybody."

He concluded with the thought that "I have absolutely no respect for adults who let young and immature people trample the most valuable institutions of our society in the dirt."

Free Enterprise Works

It is generally conceded private enterprise made America an economic giant. Collectivists, operating under several labels, have been and still are trying to supplant what's left of our free economy with socialism and have made significant advances in several areas. This is unfortunate indeed and a step backward. It is beyond our ability to stand still for socialism (it never has worked) when there is indisputable evidence all around of what free enterprise can do and is doing to keep economies strong.

For instance, a river of coal 273 miles long will soon flow through the mountain and plateau region of northern Arizona to fire a mammoth 1,500,000 — kilowatt power generating station in Southern Nevada. Some job, eh? Free enterprise is doing it without fanfare.

In slurry form 660 tons of coal will be pushed through 18-inch steel pipelines by huge pumps. The pipeline is expected to move at least 117 million tons of coal from a mine to the Colorado River during a 35-year span.

At the termination of the line, three miles downstream from the David Dam on the Colorado River, a private power company is constructing two 790,000-kilowatt, coal-fired, steam-electric, generating units. Power from these units will be used by consumers in California, Arizona and Nevada. Free enterprise gets things done. Do not forget it.

The Right To Work

In spite of repeated attempts to make membership in a labor union a compulsory condition of employment, voluntarism still exists. Nineteen states have "Right-to-Work" laws on their books under Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Attempts to repeal 14 (b) and nullify "Right-to-Work" laws have been consistently defeated, and now the trend seems to be toward voluntary unionism.

A recent Opinion Research Corporation poll indicates strong support for the principle of "Right-to-work." Apparently, the public is generally unconvinced that unions need the protection of compulsory membership under existing economic conditions. Regardless of public opinion, the drive for compulsory unionism has taken an ominous turn. More and more, we see strikes among public employees. Pressure is now being exerted on the federal government to require all federal employees to pay union dues.

In the light of the record, there appears little doubt but that if millions of federal employees fall victim to compulsory unionism, the principle of no strikes against government would be killed once and for all.

Writing on the Rocket

The Soviet Union used American-manufactured components in its Soyuz 4 and 5 manned satellite flights. To be sure, the items were rather minor — just ballpoint pens.

At the urging of cosmonaut Alexei Leonov, says Aviation Week & Space Technology magazine, Russia last year purchased 100 zero-gravity ballpoint pens and 1,000 nitrogen-pressurized refill cartridges made by the Fisher Pen Co. of Van Nuys, Calif. Russian-made ballpoints are useless in a zero-gravity environment.

The Soviets got the same 40 per cent quantity discount on the $3.96 pen and $1.60 refill as our NASA.

Many have long been urging Russo-American co-operation instead of rivalry in space exploration. Well, this is a beginning. The ballpoint pen may be mightier than the rocket.

The undersea Mid-Atlantic Ridge is the world's longest mountain range, stretching 10-000 miles, says the National Geographic.

Students Of World See It Different

By LEON DENNEN

Foreign News Analyst NEW YORK (NEA) — Perhaps no time in history has youth attracted the attention of the world to the extent it has done in recent years. Revolutionary youth movements and student riots in the Communist East and the democratic West emphasize the existence of social, political and psychological problems requiring a new and special approach.

But there is a profound difference between youthful unrest in the Communist world and student violence in the United States and other non-Communist countries.

In the East young intellectuals and workers seek to liberate themselves from the oppressive yoke of Marxist-Leninist dictatorships. They are increasingly reaching out for Western values of freedom and lems the student revolts in the human decency.

But a majority of the rioting students in the West — who are often overfed and bored sons and daughters of affluent parents — glorify Lenin's or Mao Tse-tung's dictatorial practices as a guide to a "participatory democracy" in a permissive society.

The so-called New Leftists shout that American (or Western) society is unsound and decadent.

"Down with it, root and branch," they proclaim.

To be sure, many of the problems the student revolts in the West reflect are often genuine. But for many of the rebels the riots are primarily "happenings" — publicity devices to focus attention on their half-baked theories of revolution.

The fact is, of course, that neither the practice nor the "theory" of the New Left are coherent enough to be seen as an attempt to seek rational goals and solutions by rational means.

"Make love, not war," the rioters say. Yet they accept Mao's dictum that "political power grows out of the barrel of a gun." They would like to be regarded as genuine pacifists. Yet they are less influenced by a Gandhi or a Martin Luther King than by Russia's anarchist-terrorists.

Like Bakunin, Tkatchev and Nechayev, they believe that violence and destruction are constructive — that it is necessary to destroy the "dominant system."

"A revolutionist despises public opinion," Nechayev wrote a century ago. "He despises all the pretensions of Everything that glorifies revolution is moral to him."

Lenin borrowed much of his "philosophy" from Nechayev and Tkatchev when he created the Communist dictatorship against which youth behind the Iron Curtain is now revolting.

The most moving aspect of youth's dissent in the Communist dictatorships is its general respect and longing for the permanent values of Western democracy and culture.

Young Pavel Litvinov, grandson of Stalin's foreign minister, cited decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court when he defended in Moscow his right to protest against Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia. He paid dearly.

It was in protest against Communist dictatorship that the young Czechs, Jan Palach and Jan Zajic, burned themselves to death.

It is one of the supreme paradoxes of history that the rioting students in the United States and elsewhere in the West not only keep undermining the Western values cherished by the youth in the Communist East but they do so in the name of a discredited Marxism-Leninism.

It seems as though the humane and rational principles of Western democracy are moving eastward, while inhuman principles of totalitarian terrorism are moving westward.

We have got some ICBM's that can go more than 5,000 miles but the Russians are TALLINN the saddle with their anti-ballistic-missile system now ringing Moscow, Leningrad and other places over there.

MIRV, there is strange going-on at the POSEIDON as the POLARIS. I think they are pulling a SKEAN of wool over our eyes because of the SCROOGE. It is downright SAVAGE.

And that ain't all—why, the SARK and the SERB are trying to put the PROTON to our SABMIS. But we will GOEM one better with our ABM, the anti-ballistic-missile to intercept and destroy incoming warheads as opposed to IBM who is there to destroy in-

Harlem Speaks Up On Crime

(New York Daily News)

Many victims of the criminal romps that go on in Fun City are residents of Harlem and Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section. They are pleading for better and tougher law enforcement, as their leaders made plain when a joint legislative committee on crime allowed them to speak up. And speak up they did.

Assemblyman Hulan Jack, president, urged life terms for muggers. State Sen. Basil Paterson warned that vigilante groups would spring up "unless we get fair action." His own law office was burglarized four times in a year.

Vincent Baker, chairman of the crime commission of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, reported that neither housing nor jobs nor education concerned the Harlem public as much as safety on the streets.

There were reports that some 20 drugstores are closing in Bedford-Stuyvesant because of robberies and that in Harlem drugs are sold nightly at 114th Street and Lenox Avenue. Women fear to walk on the streets at night.

Who's to blame? The cops were lambasted and Mayor Lindsay came in for criticism because of a reputed order to the police to "cool it." If he issued such an order, Baker noted, "he must have been misled by some of the so-called leaders who misread the feeling of the majority of Harlem people."

Baker himself has changed his mind and now favors the "stop and frisk" law which

This is an appeal to our leaders and editors to save our children, your little children from debauching, by SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of U.S.)

Excerpts from Sunday Oklahoman, Nov. 24, 1968: "Foes of Early Sex Education Take Aim At Director Group."

Members of Sanity on Sex (SOS) aimed their current fight against acceptance of early sex education in Oklahoma schools Saturday at some directors of a national organization.

"SIECUS has 52 directors on its board, including officers. A particular SOS target is the treasurer-Dr. Isadore Rubin, editor of Sexology, a magazine SOS members consider questionable on the grounds that its content is "pornographic."

"But more than that, we question Dr. Rubin's background in view of a Louisiana representative's report to Congress last June," Mrs. Charles B. McFarland, SOS organizer, said.

Attacks against the SIECUS material and programs are aimed at the idea of providing SIECUS recommended sex education information to school pupils.

U.S. Rep. John R. Rarick introduced a lengthy attack against the proponents of compulsory education on sex for children from 5 to high school age during proceedings and debates of the 2nd session of the 90th Congress.

The information concentrated on SIECUS and said Rubin was identified as a member of the Communist Party in public testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities on May 3, 1955.

Rubin is identified in the Congressional Record as a teacher in New York City School system who was dismissed in 1951. Rubin, under testimony, invoked the protection of the fifth amendment concerning his Communist affiliations during a Senate Internal Security Subcommittee meeting in 1952.

Congressman Rarick said "SIECUS uses material from Dr. Albert Ellis, director of the Institute for Rational Living, Inc." He said Ellis condones perversion, adultery, teenage and premarital sex.

The professional sexologists who are pushing pornography in coming merger investigation. If all this has not made it very clear to you, then just fire one and put me into orbit. I will ride out on my shield like a SPARTAN.

school classrooms are contemptuous of religious promiscuity.

Sex education has seen a catastrophic increase in venereal disease among Swedish youngsters. Gonorrhea and syphilis are said to be more widespread in Sweden today than in any other "civilized" country in the world.

The disgraceful "SIECUS" program is being sneaked into schools all over the USA. Please use your great power and stop it. You will save our little children.

We have just received word that the El Paso School Board rejected the Sex Education program. They are happy but still alert and on guard!!

Editor:

Years ago, the basis of education was considered the three R's. Today, however, it seems to be the three D's, for the policies of our government-operated public schools are being shaped by three groups of people: (1) Those who are Disinterested; (2) those who favor Dictatorship; (3) those who would Destroy our youth. It is these three groups of people who are today clamoring for sex education in our government schools.

The disinterested is the one who does not want to accept the responsibility of raising his own child. Naturally, he not only will not offer his child instruction in the area of sex education, but also even refuses to make sure that his doctor or church does the job.

The second group is composed of those who would do the teaching themselves, or at least select the programs to be taught. They are convinced that parents do not know best what to teach, and so they are intent upon doing the "greatest good for the greatest number." These are the dictators. They want sex education in the schools; they know best, just as any dictator always knows what is best for everyone else.

The third group consists of those who want to eliminate individual responsibility. When they have been successful in this regard, as it relates to sex education, the family unit has been completely destroyed. Their real aim is more all-encompassing than this, however, for in reality they want to create amorality, which they have relabeled "modern standards." These individuals are easily identifiable by their associations with Communist fronts and in some instances lewd publications.

Do you favor sex education in your government-controlled public schools? If so, to which group do you belong?
Richard E. Woodin
San Gabriel, Calif.
