

Connally Says Legislature to 'Dig Graves'

HOUSTON (UPI)—Legislators will dig their political graves if they approve a $10 tax on moving motor vehicle violations, former Gov. John B. Connally said Wednesday.

"I just don't believe that the legislature is about to pass that portion of the bill," Connally said. "It would be known as the retirement act of 1969 if they did."

Connally predicted the legislature will snub Gov. Preston

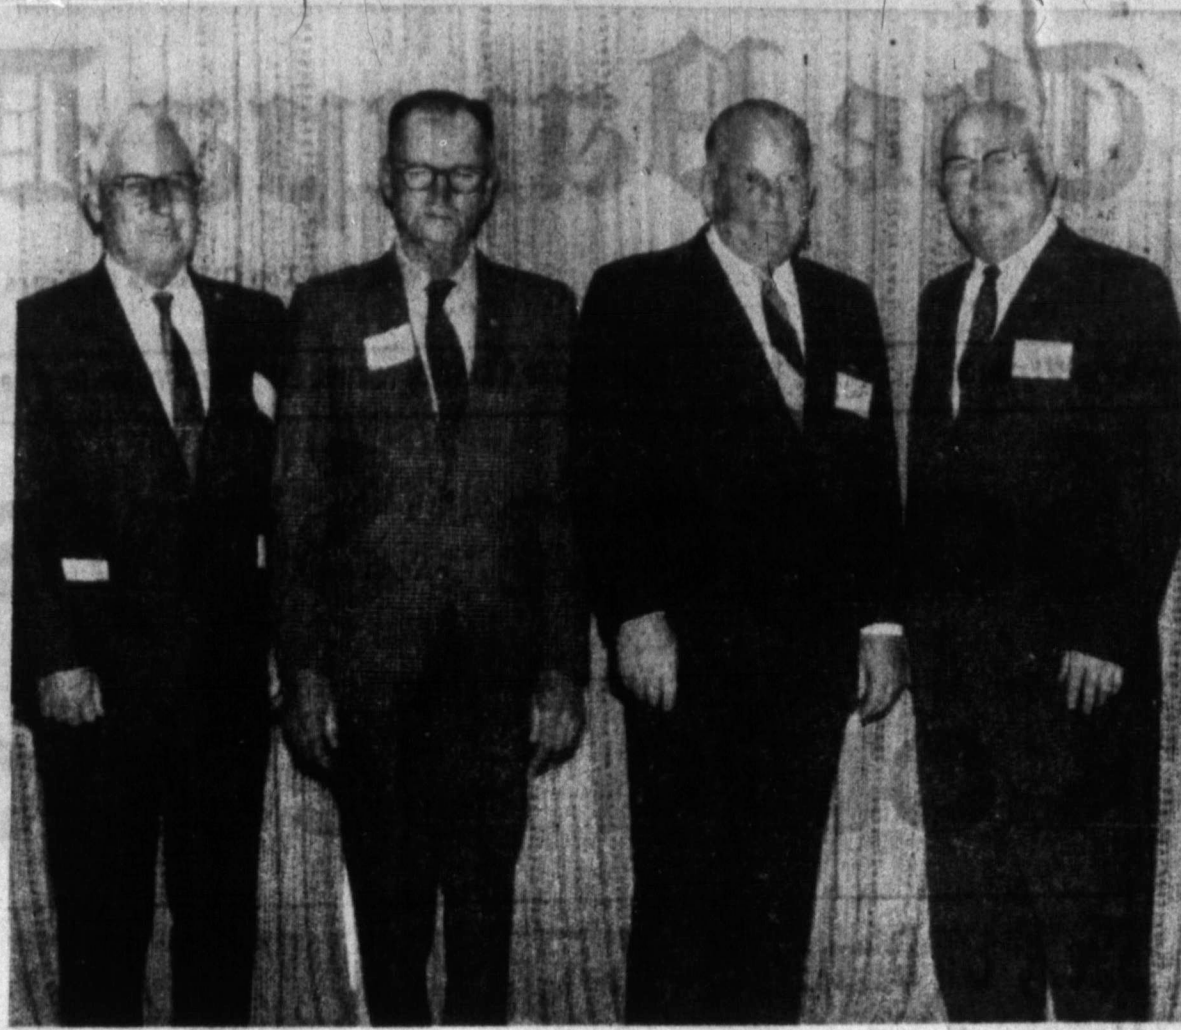

Smith's most recent tax proposals because of the traffic ticket surtax. Smith made his latest request Wednesday to a joint session of the legislature.

"The whole package is going to be very difficult to pass because an integral part of the whole tax bill includes $38.5 million which the state anticipates from these $10 fines," the former governor said.

"Trying to write a bill that would just tax the gross

HAM SHINES FOR EASTER DINNER
... mix apricot preserves with orange juice for rolled ham glaze

Ham Symbolizes Newness Of Spring

CHICAGO, Ill. (Spl) — Easter, coming as it does while spring is fresh, symbolizes the season's newness. For many it's a new spiritual outlook at life or at the particularly bright spots in one's own world.

It's also the time for new fashions when many join the parade with their best fashion foot forward. And, it's a time to usher in newer fashions in seasonal foods, starting with Easter dinner in particular.

Ham is the tradition for Easter, and that, according to some goes back as far as the 11th century.

But this year's ham is very modern: lean, boneless, calories trimmed and a shining, splendid entree to behold on the table, especially when topped with a simple, sunny glaze. Like fashions, hams come in many shapes and sizes. Some are in rolls, others are pear shaped, some actually have a ham shape although they're boneless.

If you wish, buy the bone-in variety: a shank half, butt half or the whole ham. All of these varieties come in "cook-before-eating" as well as "fully-cooked." These latter are cooked to an internal temperature of 130 degrees, as measured by the roast meat thermometer, or 160 degrees for the former. In either case, it's not a long drawn out roasting process as it once was.

A glaze as golden as spring sunshine tops the ham. Spoon it on during the last half hour of oven time, just long enough to set it. Apricot preserves thinned with frozen orange juice concentrate are the only ingredients.

Potatoes au Gratin with their cream sauce and cheese-crumbs topping are a good companion with baked ham. Broccoli gives a lovely green vegetable to go with a springtime menu.

Curly endive contributes a festive look to the salad made of pear halves with fresh or canned green grapes. Yellow in the cake gives a favorite seasonal fashion color to make a lovely duet with "boiled" frosting topped with fluffy coconut.

BAKED HAM-APRICOT-ORANGE TOPPING
8 to 10-lb. boneless smoked ham
Apricot-Orange Topping
1 can (16 oz.) apricot halves...

Place ham, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb is in the center of the meat, being sure the bulb does not rest in fat. Do not add water; Do not cover.

Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees), until the meat thermometer registers 160 degrees for a "cook-before-eating" ham and 130 degrees, for a "fully-cooked" ham. Allow approximately 20 minutes per pound for a boneless "cook-before-eating" ham and 12 to 15 minutes per pound for a boneless "fully-cooked" ham.

During the last 20 to 30 minutes spoon Apricot-Orange Topping over ham. Return to oven to finish roasting. Garnish ham with canned apricot halves, if desired.

APRICOT-ORANGE TOPPING

1/2 cup apricot preserves
3 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate.

Combine apricot preserves and orange juice. Mix well. Yield: Approximately two-thirds cup.

Fresh Fruit Cup Is Taste Treat

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Editor

Fresh fruit has its own particular virtues.

Many of us have rarely if ever enjoyed the sweet tang of fresh pineapple. Try it. Combine fresh pineapple wedges with other fresh fruits and dot with fresh grated coconut. Now that is a fruit cup deluxe.

Strawberries are slightly high now. But for Sunday or a party dinner, you may want to try them in this Fresh Strawberry Custard.

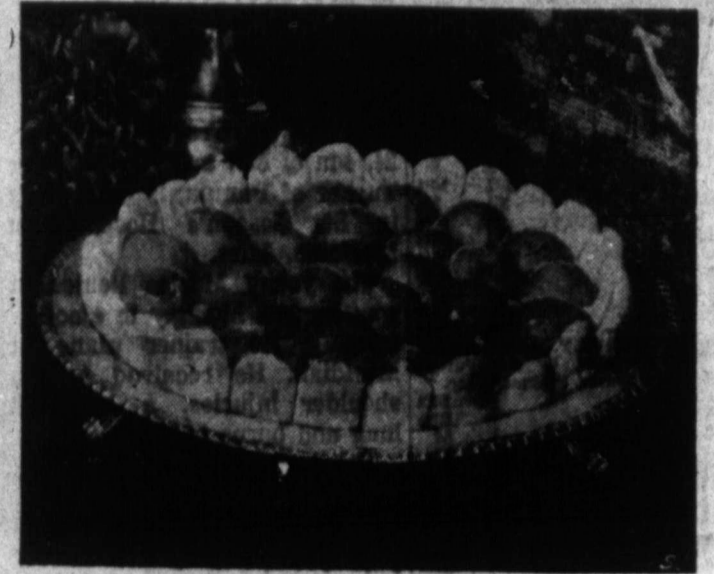

FRESH STRAWBERRY CUSTARD

4 eggs, separated
one-third cup sugar
1 cup hot milk
1/2 teaspoon ground mace
1 1/2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 pint strawberries, washed, capped and halved

Beat egg yolks until light and lemon-colored. Beat in sugar. Gradually stir in milk. Stir and cook in top of double boiler 15 minutes or until custard thickens. Remove from heat and stir in mace and vanilla. Cool thoroughly. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually beat in remaining 1/2-cup sugar. Fold into whipped cream. Fold in chilled custard. Serve immediately in tall sherbet glasses, layering custard with strawberry halves. Top each with a whole fresh strawberry. Six servings.

Lemon Juice Ice Cubes
Freeze lemon juice in ice cube trays, then transfer to plastic bags. This will be easy for cooking. One cube will usually hold the juice of one lemon.

Sweet Treat For Calorie Counters

A dessert that has everything, as far as dieters are concerned, is one that has very little in the way of calories. Of course, the flavor and appearance should be especially inviting. Just as they are in this pretty Apple-Apricot Charlotte. Low calorie canned apricots and applesauce provide the delicious waist-watching flavor combination — the perfect finale for any meal.

Apple-Apricot Charlotte
12 to 16 whole ladyfingers
2 to 3 cans (8 ounces each) low calorie Diet Delight applesauce
1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk
1/4 cup ice water

Cover bottom of a flat 9" or 10" rimmed serving dish with split ladyfingers, rounded side down. Cut some of the split ladyfingers in half cross-wise, to make a scalloped rim. Sprinkle ladyfingers lightly with juice drained from apricots.

To prepare filling, first chill bowl and beater. In electric mixer or with rotary beater, whip milk and ice water until soft peaks form, approximately 4 minutes. Add lemon juice and whip until stiff, about 4 minutes. Fold in applesauce and add almond extract and sugar to taste. (Sweeten foods to be served cold slightly more than usual.)

Pour filling into ladyfinger shell and refrigerate until filling is firm, about 30 minutes. Top filling with drained apricots, placing them flat side down and covering filling completely. Makes 10-12 servings.

Total calories: approximately 941
Calories per serving: approximately 94
NOTE: Shell and filling may be frozen.

There is an unusual marble-type finish you can do with antiquing kits, according to the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. The secret is in the way you handle the surface after you have applied the toner. First, apply a relatively heavy coat of toner and lay a large piece of wrinkled clear plastic lightly on the top of the area. Pat the plastic lightly with a cloth to make sure that wrinkles and air bubbles appear. Pick up the plastic quickly and carefully — do not drag it. You can achieve this same effect by using a sponge, burlap, a feather or any combination of these. Just be imaginative.

Freezing a number of hamburgers, chicken parts, chops? Save yourself aggravation. Pack them with layers of foil to separate the pieces. They will be easy to get apart and they will defrost faster when you're ready to use them.

Beat jellied cranberry sauce until smooth and season with worcestershire sauce, salt and minced onion for a tangy barbecue sauce.

Pineapple Sodas Cooling For Spring

Springtime sodas get a taste of the tropics with canned pineapple juice. Choose your best looking tall glasses to fill with canned pineapple juice, vanilla ice cream and ginger ale. For pink color stir in a little maraschino cherry syrup. Canned pineapple chunks, maraschino cherries and lime slices make pretty swizzle stick garnishes.

TROPICAL PINEAPPLE SODAS
1 (46-ounce) can pineapple juice
1/2 cup maraschino cherry syrup
1 quart vanilla ice cream
Ginger ale or sparkling water
Canned pineapple chunks
Cherries
Lime slices
Divide chilled pineapple juice among 6 to 8 tall glasses. Add a tablespoon cherry syrup to each glass and a double scoop of ice cream. Fill glass with ginger ale or sparkling water. Make swizzle stick kabobs by stringing pineapple chunks, cherries and lime slices on straws or bamboo picks. Makes 6 to 8 sodas.

Northern Kitchens Adopt South's Hominy Grits

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Editor
If you like corn and cornmeal, you'll probably like hominy grits. They are a traditional item in many southern states. Recently, they have been packaged and placed on sale in the northern states. Now you northerners can have something new that is also very old. Try these two recipes from the south.

SAVANNAH BAKED GRITS WITH CHEESE
1/4 cup enriched white hominy grits
1 1/4 cups boiling water
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 teaspoon red pepper
Dash paprika
Slowly stir grits into boiling salted water. Cover and cook slowly 25 to 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Add 1 1/2 cups of the cheese. Reserve remainder for topping. Stir a small amount of hot grits into the eggs. Add egg mixture to grits, stirring constantly. Stir in red pepper.

Pour into a greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Top with remaining cheese; sprinkle with paprika. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes. Six to 8 servings.
HOMINY GRITS HOTEL ROANOKE-STYLE
6 cups boiling water
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon butter
1 1/2 cups enriched white hominy grits
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1 egg, well-beaten
1 cup milk
1/2 cup fine cracker meal

Episcopal Priest Takes Up Cooking As Hobby

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK — It was just a natural sequence of events that Father Robert Farrar Capon, an Episcopal priest, should take up cooking as a hobby.

He was born into a family of cooks. His mother was an excellent cook. One grandmother was a professional cook in private homes, and one grandfather was a butler who worked for caterers during the Great Depression.

"My grandfather used to come home with a jar of caviar in each tailcoat pocket," said Father Capon. "And my father always played around with cooking."

Father Capon not only is a kitchen hobbyist, but is also a teacher of dogmatic theology and Greek, a philosopher, an author, and a man whose zest for living shines in any conversation.

Many of his views on cooking and its role in living are set forth in his "The Supper of the Lamb," subtitled "A Culinary Entertainment" (Doubleday).

Father Capon is parish priest of Christ Church in Port Jefferson, a Long Island suburb of New York. He teaches nights and Saturdays at the George Mercer Jr. Memorial School of Theology in Port Jefferson.

His wife, Peggy, and their six children, ages 8 to 18, share the priest's culinary enthusiasms in varying degrees, he said, during a visit to Manhattan.

"There's a detective story by Dorothy Sayers in which she says gastronomy is like philosophy — it's not for the young. It has an intellectual fascination. Young people are not intrigued by eating.

"They have to fight you on something. By and large, it's impossible to please them. They don't even like hamburger because you don't cook it the right way. They like eggs vulcanized.

"Cooking is a very good hobby for a man," said the priest. "It doesn't take all that much time. You can get your wife to do the shopping and the cleaning up. You can destroy the evidence of bad cooking. And it's sufficiently absorbing and demanding to be relaxing, recreative.

"I very commonly bake on Sundays. Between masses, I can get puff paste going.

"I do like to cook. But the real reason I wrote the book — I wanted to get in all these things about idolatry, the shape of creation and man's ability to delight," he said.

His book suggests that persons who forego high calorie food—who diet rather than fast—are practicing idolatry.

As for delights, he said they include mastering a knack, such as baking, not to show off, but for the satisfaction of doing something and seeing it work the way it should. He also delights in figuring out what goes with what in meal planning and in improvising recipes.

His views on convenience foods are not likely to entertain their manufacturers.

"Most don't come off," he said. "Some commercial Danish pastry is very good for what it is but it isn't real Danish — layers of flaky pastry. It's rich butter cake.

"Two more generations of instant gravy eaters and no one will remember what a domestic kitchen smelled like."

The few recipes in his book include Swedish pot roast, Jewish, Armenian, French and Danish pastries, German pot roast, Italian risotto — rice combinations, Irish bread and the Chinese stir-fry method applied to Western as well as

A purist who advocates homemade soup stocks and meat glazes, Father Capon conceded that few women are apt to share his view. He praised his own wife as a good cook who "would not be caught dead making meat glaze — but she will help me."

Wives who must cook two or three meals a day every day have his sympathy, particularly if the husbands are meat and potatoes men.

"No woman can be a good cook for a husband who doesn't like food or variety," he said.

Cooking is such a pleasure for the minister that he said he often "contrives something" — usually an invitation to friends to drop in for an evening visit which turns into a late dinner.

Most guests are served in the family's 18-room house that has two dining rooms. "They're referred to by waggish priest friends as chapel A and Chapel B."

Father Robert F. Capon's royal pot roast is of Swedish origin. Wipe a 3 to 3½ pound round or rump roast with a cloth wrung from hot water. Brown the roast on all sides in 2 tablespoons of oil in an iron dutch oven. Pour off oil and add 2 tablespoons of butter, ¼ tablespoon of salt, ¾ cups of brown stock or milk, 8 black peppercorns, ¼ teaspoon of white pepper, 1 small red onion, diced, 1 bay leaf, 6 Swedish anchovy fillets, ½ tablespoon of light Karo syrup, 3 tablespoons of cognac and 1 tablespoon of vinegar. Cook, covered, about 3 hours. Turn meat occasionally. When done, remove roast to platter and strain gravy. Melt 1 tablespoon of butter in a skillet, stir in 1½ tablespoons of flour and cook, stirring, for a few minutes. Gradually add gravy, cook for 10 minutes more, add 2 tablespoons of cream, and serve.

HERE'S WHERE YOU GET CLIPPED.

Right in the newspaper. Or magazine.

Men will clip you. Women will clip you. Kids, too. And if your dollar volume begins to swell, swell.

But first, you've got to set yourself up for it. Putting coupons in print media is the best way. Print lets people clip and save your message. Or file it. Or compare it. Or pass it to a friend. Or mail it back to you.

And that's not all. Print shows your product off to its very best advantage. It flashes its color. Struts its style. Displays its beauty. Shouts its uses.

Print can do lots of things for you. Even get you clipped.

FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1969
YOUR BIRTHDAY Friday: This coming year will bring to the surface your greatest talents for expression. Public notice is likely. More important, you tend to seize and retain all the results, even of unearned windfalls. This being the trend, you owe it to yourself to seek the highest possible revelation of your character and values. Friday's natives possess potential talents in art. If born near sunrise, they have usually more energy than judgment; also military skills.
ARIES (March 21-April 19): Rapid changes in your life go along with sudden incidents among partners. Wait for further details before acting. Check your plans and resources tonight; have a ready sum for immediate use.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): More changes take place on the job. New procedures to be developed cause a delay. At night, after mulling over the day's incidents, seek extra rest.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Move boldly with the ideas you've been tossing about in your mind. The results are better than expected. The circumstances change rapidly, leaving nobody with all the answers handy, so concentrate steadily on making adjustments.
CANCER (June 21-July 22): Friday may turn out to be a supreme test of how well you work under pressure. Sudden turns of circumstances defeat devious plans. After all the urgency is over, celebrate!
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Keep all plans flexible, as swift changes in direction or details are almost certain to upset schedules and sequences. There is unusual gain in the day's effort.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The indications are for unexpectedly high receipts and disbursements. Try to delay spending for a later time. It is urgent that a complete record be kept of even the most trivial actions at this time.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Associates stir better cooperation via fresh viewpoints. Use the chance to break out of your own old habits, think more positively. Unearth some new activity.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The result of your recent efforts on the job should show up now. If definite signs of progress are not clear, find out just what can be done to improve matters that you have not already tried.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You may feel a bit self-conscious on discovering how deeply some people believe in you and your possible achievements. Take this and other surprises in stride. The evening is a time for very small groups.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be ready to stake a claim on anything new that comes your way. Events are such that formal arrangements are suddenly outdated and improvisations become the order of the day.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): With new information, you may have to move abruptly. This might take the physical form of an emergency journey sparked by urgent demands from other people. Just be ready to try.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A twist of events brings you much of the needed resources for a better balanced program. Whatever income arrives can be safely put back into your earning projects now. Harmony in working conditions is essential, make the effort to achieve it.

To banish morning-after-the-party odors, place a saucer full of activated charcoal in a strategic location in the room. The charcoal absorbs the odors.

50 YEARS OF MARRIAGE -- Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Murphy, of Pampa, center, were honored for their 50th wedding anniversary recently in First Baptist Church parlor. Special guests at the anniversary celebration were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hatcher, (standing right and left), from Richland, Wash. Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've got mother-in-law trouble—but not the kind you usually hear about. I am 33 and my mother-in-law is 45, and a real swinging divorcee. She's the kissy type always kissing me hello and good-bye, even when I'm only going into the next room.
 If I sit down, Maureen (that's her name) is on my lap in two seconds. She's always wanting me to dance with her, and when she cuddles up, her instincts are anything but maternal.
 My wife doesn't even notice, and thinks it's great that her mother likes me so much. Abby, it's gotten so I dread being left alone with Maureen. How can I chill her without making an issue of it?
A SON-IN-LAW
DEAR SON-IN-LAW: First start calling her "Mother" instead of Maureen. Then tell her you don't feel like dancing, and she's too heavy to hold on your lap. If she's still in your hair, you must be doing something wrong. I've yet to meet a 33-year-old man who couldn't run faster than his mother-in-law.

DEAR ABBY: I have never told my troubles to anyone before, but I think it would help me to unburden myself. I have been married for 42 years and have three wonderful married children. This is my complaint: My hubby has retired and he stays home all the time now. He is forever changing everything around in my household, and I am going crazy trying to find things. If I say anything to him about it, well, Abby, you never heard such foul language. Then he will get angry at me and won't speak to me for days. I don't mind that, but he slams doors and pulls out drawers until I think I will lose my mind.
 I am a nervous wreck. I have always looked forward to growing old gracefully, not being frightened to death by a raving maniac. What can I do?
MISERABLE
DEAR MISERABLE: Your husband sounds like a sick man. Tell your story to one of your three wonderful married children and ask them to help you get their father to a doctor for a check up. It's not unusual for a retired man to make his presence felt around the house, but your man is overdoing it.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for "WEAK TUMMY" who gets "sick" to her stomach at the thought of eating at a relative's house where the dishes are washed in the same sink the baby is bathed.
 I am 13, and I still remember taking baths in the kitchen sink. It was great fun! I want to add that my mother is probably the cleanest woman alive.
 Truthfully, ANDREE
DEAR ABBY: When our twins arrived, shortly after World War II, the only place we could find to rent was a three-room apartment with a shower — no tub. Luckily we had a double sink in the kitchen, and that's where I bathed the babies for a year. (I fastened one on the drainboard by her diaper while I bathed the other one.)
 If I had any concern about "germs," it was that the babies be free from coplamination. I scrubbed the sink very well before and after each baby bath, and if our guests ever threw up after eating here I never knew about it.
STILL HEALTHY

Registering the guests was Mrs. Gary Craiton, a granddaughter. Miss Jennifer Davis, another granddaughter, played piano music. Mrs. Murphy's sisters and sister-in-laws served at the table.
 The serving table was covered with a white satin and net cloth with a white pyramid arrangement of yellow gifts from friends, decorated the serving room. The three-tiered cake was decorated with gold bells.
 Other floral arrangements used. The centerpiece was a tall and epergne.

Representative Clark Gives Up Attempts to Pass Abortion Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Rep. James H. Clark Jr. of Dallas said Wednesday he is giving up his effort to pass a bill liberalizing Texas abortion laws.

"It's dead," Clark said, "The committee is heavily against it."

The Dallas legislator criticized Archbishop Robert E. Lucey and other Catholic leaders for "incredible censorship" of information about Clark's bill in Catholic news media.

"I've got a few things I want to say to the archbishop," Clark said, "But I haven't had time to get them written down yet."

He said there "wouldn't be any organized opposition to the bill if it weren't for Catholic opposition."

"It's amusing to me that everybody goes to border towns where 90 per cent of the population is Catholic to get their abortions. Where is the archbishop there? Where is the Catholic church?" Clark asked.

He said his mail concerning the bill has been heavily against the abortion proposal, and said members of the House Committee on Public Health would not approve the bill because of "political repercussions they fear from Catholic opposition."

"I'll be in favor of this as long as I live," Clark said. "If I'm around here in the future, I'll bring it up again and I'll support candidates for public office who will vote for it in the future."

Clark said "It's just not time for it in Texas yet."

His bill would have permitted abortions under certain conditions when a three-member committee of a hospital approved it.

The abortions could have only been approved when:

—Pregnancy endangers a woman's life or would gravely impair her physical or mental health.

—There is substantial risk the child would be born with a grave physical or mental defect.

—The pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

Smith Asks Lawmakers To Levy New Tax on Tobacco

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Preston Smith asked the legislature Wednesday to levy new taxes on the chemical industry and increase the tax on cigarettes to 15 cents per pack.

These taxes, together with the $248 million revenue package Smith proposed last month, would raise $319 million in new revenue in the next two years, just enough to balance Smith's proposed record state budget of $5.9 billion.

Smith proposed a gross receipts tax of one-half of one per cent on producers of chemical products. He said this would yield $45 million over the biennium.

Last month Smith had proposed an increase in the cigarette tax from 11 to 14 cents per package and Wednesday he recommended that it be raised another cent to 15 cents per package. The four cent increase would raise $71 million, he said.

"As most of you realize, the price per package is going up a nickel anyway," he said in a message to the legislature.

He told the legislature he will not support a move to delay new taxes through one-year budgeting, and warned that a corporate profits tax cannot be postponed indefinitely.

Smith was forced to make supplemental tax recommendations because part of his original proposal was declared unconstitutional.

WORLD'S LARGEST plane, the Air Force C-5 Galaxy, makes a four-engine aerial tanker look like a toy. The huge transport flies through a trail of water laid down by the tanker to test the C-5's ability to withstand ice buildup. Water sprayed from the tanker either turns immediately into ice crystals or becomes supercooled and freezes when agitated by contact with the plane. The Galaxy will be tested by the Air Force and Lockheed through mid-1970 from Panama's tropics to Alaska's extreme cold.

Hopes Low For Mideast Peace

By BRUCE W. MUNN UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—

There is hope at the United Nations that big four agreement at the U.N. diplomatic level may show the way to a settlement of the Middle East crisis. But there isn't much confidence in a quick settlement.

After six weeks of preliminary sparring in the forum of bilateral talks in various combinations of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France, prospects of a big four solution for the Middle East appear little better now than when France first proposed that the major powers' representatives discuss the situation here.

Gunnar V. Jarring, the silent Swedish ambassador to Moscow who for 16 months has plodded his discouraging way in a fruitless mission ordered by the Security Council to get Arab-Israeli peace talks started, recently began a new round of on-the-spot parleys with the principals.

Reported Disheartened
Jarring, after a month here which he talked with the big four ambassadors individually and with those of the Mideast countries, was reliably reported disheartened to the point of quitting when Secretary General Thant persuaded him to return to his headquarters in Cyprus for another go at the capitals of Israel, and the United Arab Republic. Syria and Jordan refuse to talk with him.

The hope of Thant, who shares President Nixon's fear that the next Mideast flareup might bring a Soviet-U.S. confrontation was that the big four could reach agreement on a peace plan which would be submitted to the Security Council to be carried out by Jarring. As President Nixon has done, Thant also made clear that no such plan must be conceived as being imposed upon the Middle East belligerents.

Recently the United States, despite angry Arab protests, agreed to sell 50 F4 Phantom jets to Israel. Even so, best estimates are that the Arab air forces today outnumber Israel's by at least three-to-one. The Arab edge in armor and guns is considered even greater.

Seven Divisions
Informed Western estimates are that Egypt has up to seven well-equipped, heavily armed divisions stationed west of the Suez Canal.

Yet, despite their massive military buildup, Western experts believe it will be another 18 months to two years before the Arabs could be ready to risk another armed showdown with Israel.

These guerrilla forces are thought to total as many as 7,000 to 10,000 men. Their manpower is drawn mainly from young Palestinian Arab refugees. They apparently have plentiful supplies of mainly Communist bloc arms, paid for by such wealthy Arab countries as Saudi Arabia and Kuwait.

Three main guerrilla organizations—the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, the Palestine Liberation Organization, and Al Fatah.

Al Fatah Bases
They have their bases in Jordan, Syria and—more recently—Lebanon. In Jordan they constitute almost a state within a state. King Hussein not only has been unable to control them but they have become a major threat to his throne.

Guerrilla squads operating from Lebanon have brought that most peaceful of all the Arab states to the brink of war with Israel.

Israel's policy all along has been to destroy the guerrilla commands after they cross the frontier and occasionally to hit back with crushing strikes—mainly directed against neighboring Jordan.

The Israelis claim to have killed or captured more than 2,700 guerrillas since the end of the six day war. The guerrillas have killed about 900 Israelis.

Recently, Israel erected a 40-mile long electronic barrier along the Jordan Valley to make it more difficult for the guerrillas to cross into Israeli-held territory. But Israel has been unable to contain, or still less to crush, the guerrillas.

Arab Refugees
Looming in the background and poisoning the whole Middle East atmosphere is the festering ing sore of the Arab refugees.

Originally, there were some 750,000 of them—Palestinians who fled from Israel when the Jewish state was established in 1948.

Today their numbers have swollen to an estimated 1.5 million.

They are a fertile recruiting ground for young men for the Arab guerrilla commands.

For nearly 16 months the world has based its hopes of a Middle East settlement on the U.N. Security Council's resolution of Nov. 22, 1967.

This called for Israel's withdrawal from occupied Arab territory, recognition by the Arabs of Israel's existence as a state, freedom of navigation through international waterways, a just settlement of the refugee problem and setting up of the Jarring peace mission.

Both sides, plus the United States and the Soviet Union, have come up with peace plans without bringing peace any closer.

The Arabs still refuse to come to the peace table until every inch of occupied territory has been restored to them. The Israelis just as firmly refuse any evacuation without a peace settlement.

Lines Harden
The lines have hardened, if anything.

Israel has served notice she will "never" surrender the Arab Old City of Jerusalem, the Golan Heights from which the Syrians shelled her border settlements for 20 years, or the Gaza Strip that is "like a dagger pointed at her heart."

So the Arabs go on rearming with Soviet help for the fourth round of all-out war with Israel, and Israel goes on grimly preparing for still another "war for survival."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hayden, Stone Inc. says the market decline has not yet hit bottom, adding that "no major base has yet reformed from which a substantial recovery could take place at this time."

The firm further notes that public participation in trading is relatively small and that the future action of the industrials, especially their ability to reform a valid base, should be watched very carefully. A low volume trading market holding in a narrow range would be most constructive over the intermediate term, the firm says, adding that investment considerable switch-attention increasing to generous yield stocks with low price-earnings multiples.

Bache & Co. feels that the phase of precipitous decline in the market is apparently ended. "Continued light volume suggests that institutional investors are holding pretty much to a sideline position, but cash continues to build in institutional offers," the company says.

Standard & Poor's sees little basis for a major rally in the current market situation. "While technical rebounds will afford some profit opportunities for nimble traders, the average investor is counseled to maintain cash reserves," it says.

Edinburg Named All America City

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI)—To a community, the title "All America City" is just about what the congressional medal of honor is to a soldier, and Wednesday, the city of Edinburg was so decorated.

The award was one of 11 given throughout the United States under the joint sponsorship of the National Municipal League and Look Magazine, and Edinburg was one of two cities in Texas to receive it.

The other winner was Snyder, with Lockhart, Tex., tapped for honorable mention.

Edinburg Mayor Lloyd Hawkins, in announcing his city's victory in the nationwide development contest, noted that the award is the highest honor that can be earned by communities in the United States.

"The efforts of all citizens pulling together to make Edinburg a better place in which to live is paying off in many many ways," he said. "Every citizen can feel justly proud that he is truly all American, living in an All America City."

Edinburg won its title in several areas of endeavor, the most spectacular of which probably was Hurricane Beulah, and the disastrous floods that followed it in 1967.

The big storm drowned out Edinburg's citrus crop, the mainstay of the community's jobs and income. Hardest hit were the thousands of already poor Mexican-American farm hands. They said they wanted jobs, not welfare, and Edinburg set out to find just that.

A labor survey found 7,000 eager workers in the area, and it was used to persuade a large clothing manufacturer to accept Edinburg as the site of a new plant. The plant, ground for which was slated to be broken this week, will employ 800 workers.

The spirit that won the All America City award became evident in Edinburg 15 years ago, when citizens found money to buy a new campus for fast-growing Pan American College. Today, citizen cash has just completed a brand new modern hotel to attract Mexico-bound tourists.

The coveted award carries no cash benefit, but traditionally, the advertising and publicity that follows its announcement is vast.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A minor mystery has developed over Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's choice for last year's Democratic presidential nomination.

In a put-down of Hubert H. Humphrey, Daley said someone else would have made a stronger candidate — someone with the "name of a former president."

It was widely assumed that Daley was referring to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. But then along came Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., with a rebuttal for that theory. Did Not Support Kennedy Ribicoff said Daley did not support Kennedy at any time before, during or after the Democratic convention at Chicago.

Whom, then, did Daley have in mind?

I posed this question to a group of political pundits the other day and it led to some rather interesting speculation.

"I doubt that Daley was talking about John Eisenhower," one pundit said. "The last time I checked, Ike's son was a Republican like his daddy."

"That's right," another pundit said. "And I think we can rule out Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, for the same reason."

"I doubt he was referring to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. either," the third pundit said. "Young Frank has more or less retired from politics."

"And so has Sherman Adams," the first pundit said.

"Wait a minute," the second pundit said. "We are only assuming that Daley meant the last name of a former president. Maybe he meant the first name. In that case, Abe Ribicoff himself could have been it."

"A Good Point"

"A good point," the first pundit said. "Or it could have been someone like Truman Capote, the famous author."

"Truman Capote is a bit too intellectual for Daley," the third pundit said. "A better guess would be Roosevelt Grier, the football player who was Bobby Kennedy's bodyguard."

"That won't hold water," the second pundit said. "Roosevelt Grier was too closely identified with the student groups that were tormenting Daley at the convention."

"I agree," the first pundit said, "and the same thing goes for the Jefferson Airplane. Daley would never have supported a rock music group for the nomination."

POCKET SEARCH OUT

KARLSRUHE, Germany (UPI)—The West German Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that parents do not have to search their child's pockets for potentially dangerous objects before leaving him in someone else's care. The court reversed a lower court ruling which ordered a couple to pay $2,750 to the owners of a vacation farm damaged by a fire set by their 6-year-old son who carried matches.

CONVICT ANIMAL OFFICIAL

LIMOUX, France (UPI)—The vice president of the local Society for the Protection of Animals has been fined $24 for mistreating an animal and ordered to pay $35 in damages and veterinary costs. Witnesses told a court that the society official, Jean Garrigues, savagely beat Andre Vidal's roaming dog after it caught its paw in a rabbit trap in Garrigues' garden.

 Place water, salt and butter in a large saucepan; bring to a boil. Slowly stir in grits. Cover and cook slowly about 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Pour into a 13x9-inch baking pan. Cool slightly; cover and refrigerate overnight. Cut chilled grits into diamond-shaped pieces. Roll in flour. Combine egg and milk. Dip into eg; mixture and then roll in cracker meal. Heat vegetable oil, about 1/2-inch deep, in heavy skillet over medium heat. Fry grits pieces until golden brown on both sides. Serve with syrup. Six servings.

Negro Youth Chosen As Boy Of The Year

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon Wednesday presented a "juvenile decency" award to Perry Joseph Ludy, 17, of Oxnard, Calif. — first Negro ever chosen the nation's Boy of the Year.

Ludy was cited for "superlative service to his home, church, school, community and boys' club."

This is the 23rd yearly award in the contest sponsored by the Boys' Clubs of America, which has a membership of over 800,000.

Involving bureau noise and facilities.

The organization said of Ludy: "He serves as male head of his fatherless household, helping his working mother supervise the upbringing of three sisters and a brother."

He has won all-state honors for the last two years in basketball and track, and is considering scholarships from a number of colleges and universities.

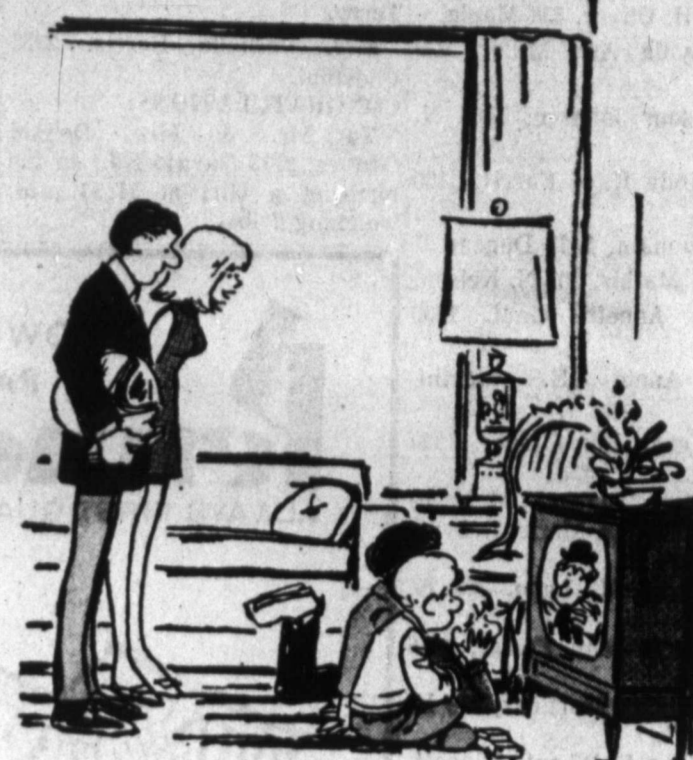

He teaches Sunday school and leads religious discussion groups for young people.

At his White House "installation" Ludy gave the President a gold honorary lifetime membership card of the Boys' Clubs of America.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The movie industry learned some time ago that no longer can you put an established star in a film and automatically guarantee a boxoffice profit.

Audiences have changed. They are demanding. In Hollywood today, in most cases, the story—the script—comes first and then the director, and then the stars.

If you approach a star nowadays to appear in a film, the odds are that the first question he will ask of you is who is directing. With the answer to this, he will have a pretty good idea of the quality of the project.

Television audiences are generally less demanding than movie audiences. It was not so in video's early days, when television sets were more expensive and were bought first by affluent citizens, and when the mass-oriented approach was not yet definite because there was no nationwide hookup.

When the mass approach came, television carved out for itself a basically conservative, stay-at-home, older, money-spending, easily satisfied audience.

Modernity is suddenly imposing itself on television, and the urban-oriented young people are beginning to make a big change, some of which is already showing in programming. But the fact is that most programming is still dominated by the star system.

Otherwise, how can one imagine the existence of something like CBS-TV's Doris Day series? It has been up and down in the ratings in its first year, not yet fulfilling the big hit status the network expected of it. The chances are, however, that it will build in popularity and be a long-run attraction.

Miss Day, whether one likes her performing or not, is a gifted and talented lady who has worked hard at her profession and learned a lot, and shows it as she progresses from one movie to another. On television, however, she has no stories to speak of. There is little or no character development. The directing is rudimentary. The lady is simply expected to pull off a miracle by just showing up.

Doris Day was and is a big star, but she is only human, and it would seem not only gallant but commercially wise to stock her future shows with believable stories instead of far-fetched ones, and with well-rounded characters rather than caricatures of human beings.

Police Can't Get Six Businessmen

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Police in San Antonio know the names of six businessmen making more than $100,000 a year dealing in stolen goods and they can do nothing to stop them.

San Antonio Police Chief George Bichsel said Wednesday no laws cover the dealer in stolen merchandise except a misdemeanor code in which "intent to sell stolen goods" must be proved in order for a conviction.

Commission Considers Stricter Regulations On Oil

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has asked the State Railroad Commission to make proposed regulations on offshore oil drilling activities apply also to wells in bays and inlets.

"If we're going to have any pollution (from wells) that's where it will come from," Sadler told a Railroad Commission hearing on proposed regulations aimed at preventing pollution from offshore wells.

He said "we have 1,440 oil and gas wells in bays and inlets," and only 108 wells in the Gulf of Mexico. "I strongly recommend that you include bays and inlets in the rules, particularly those regarding pollution," Sadler said.

Representatives of the city of Corpus Christi backed Sadler's request, and also called for regulations on tankers moving petroleum products along the intercoastal canal.

Tankers Pose Threat
 George Carson, petroleum inspector for the city, said he feels tankers provide a more serious source of potential oil spillage than do wells.

He asked that "assurances be provided that the regulation and inspection of the transports moving 250 million barrels of petroleum annually along the intercoastal canal are adequate, and are enforced so as to minimize the risk of major oil spillage."

Bob Barnes, Nueces County commissioner, asked the commission to include in its rules a provision making oil well owners responsible for cleaning up any beaches damaged by spillage from offshore wells.

Major oil company spokesmen testifying at the hearing "generally endorsed" the commission's proposed rules, but objected to a provision requiring that new pipe be used for well casings and that conductor strings of pipe be cemented 300 to 500 feet below the ocean bed.

Cementing Expensive
 Paul Hull of Standard Oil Company of Texas said cementing the pipe would increase the cost of drilling an offshore "dry hole" by as much as 50 per cent "without providing additional safety or pollution control."

The commission gave oil companies 10 days to file additional written statements concerning the proposed rules before acting on any new regulations.

Sadler said earlier there is some chance of a well blowout affecting the Texas Coast. The possibility of such a blowout suddenly moved closer to home Tuesday when two offshore rigs were spewing oil and gas into the Gulf off the coast of Louisiana. Oil slicks 21 miles long and two miles wide were sighted near one of the wells.

The rules would involve technical specifications for drilling and offshore platforms; would prescribe other methods for prevention of blowouts and would prohibit disposal of any waste liquid material in the Gulf other than salt water and other materials which have been treated for removal of constituents possibly harmful to aquatic life.

The General Land Office has jurisdiction over the Texas tidelands. It is an enforcement agency as well as a regulatory one. Sadler's squad of 18 men keep constant tabs on offshore drilling.

Texas Controls Stricter
 Sadler said Texas has stricter safety controls on offshore drilling than California.

Oilmen who drill within 10.5 miles (three leagues) of the Texas Coast line must:

- Have a double hydraulic safety valve on their rig and test it at least once every 24 hours.
- Use only surface pipe which the Land Office inspectors have inspected and approved.

The possibility of a water and beach-polluting blowout off the Texas Coast is further reduced by the stable formation conditions beneath Gulf waters.

An Active Area
 "The Santa Barbara Channel, as is everything else west of the Rockies, is in a tectonically active area, one that has faulting conditions," a production specialist said.

The majority of Texas' offshore drilling is in bays and inlets. There are presently 1,440 producing wells in bays and inlets and 17 oil and 91 gas wells in the open Gulf.

The Land Office has 1,271,699 acres of tidelands leased to oil companies for a total number of 2,860 total leases.

There has been one blowout off the Texas Coast. An Humble well blew out off Galveston in 1961, but Galveston beaches escaped the problems experienced in California. The oilmen simply set fire to the well and let it burn itself out.

Another Method Possible
 Sadler said the California well could have been set afire if the oilmen had acted before the black slick became too widespread.

Such a fire causes the water to boil and escaping oxygen feeds the fire.

Texas Beaches are still getting oiled occasionally.

One source of waste oil is tankers which occasionally blow the residue out of their tanks in preparation for handling another type of cargo. The residue might be only a few barrels, but a few barrels can thoroughly corrupt a beach.

Car Floor Splits, Fall Kills Youth

TROY, Pa. (UPI)—The rusted floor of an 11-year-old automobile gave way and dropped a one-year-old boy to his death on a highway here Wednesday night.

Police said Walter G. Bolt, 35, of Troy was driving south on route 14 near here with his son, Christopher, playing on the floor in the back of the car. The floor collapsed, dropping the child to the road and the auto continued over him. The boy was pronounced dead at Troy Community Hospital of a skull fracture.

Nixon Appoints Otepka to SACB

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Otto F. Otepka, a controversial State Department official suspended from a security job by former Secretary of State Dean Rusk, was named Wednesday by President Nixon to a $36,000 vacancy on the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB).

Otepka, who formerly was chief of the division of evaluations at the State Department, was penalized by Rusk for providing certain information to a Senate committee without department authorization.

The President's selection of Otepka for membership on the SACB is subject to Senate confirmation.

Otepka was named to a vacancy created by the death of a board member, Edward C. Sweeney. The appointment is for the remainder of Sweeney's term, ending August 9, 1970.

Rusk ordered Otepka fired in 1963 but Otepka stayed on the payroll while appeals dragged on through the years.

Rusk acted on charges that Otepka violated a presidential order by giving confidential documents to the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Otepka appealed the case first to a State Department hearing examiner and subsequently to the Civil Service Commission. The Civil Service Commission upheld Rusk's action in part by reprimanding Otepka but held that he should be demoted to a nonsecurity job rather than fired.

That was in December 1967. Otepka sought restoration to his previous $19,000 a year job when the Nixon administration took office but Secretary of State William P. Rogers ruled that his legal appeals had been exhausted.

Roman Catholic Church To Seek Council Membership

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

The Roman Catholic Church would hold a clear majority of the votes in all council bodies and also would pay more than half of its budget.

Possible Solution

Both Catholic and Protestant leaders feel that this would be an unacceptable situation.

One possible solution might be amendment of the council's by-laws to provide that no single religious body, regardless of size, could have more than one fourth of the total voting power or bear more than one fourth the total expense.

This limitation would not expose the Catholic Church to any serious risk of being outvoted on key issues by a solid Protestant bloc, because in actual practice, the council always seeks an overwhelming consensus on major decisions. Lacking any power to force its decisions upon affiliates, it obviously is in no position to make important policies on the basis of closely-divided votes.

A joint working group, representing the council and the U.S. Catholic hierarchy, has been formed to thresh out the organizational difficulties. It will begin work in New York April 8. Dr. John Coventry Smith, moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, will head the council representatives, and Archbishop John Carberry of St. Louis will head the Catholic representatives.

Voting Power

The biggest of these problems stems from the council's present by-laws, which allocate voting power and budget assessments among the affiliated denominations according to their respective memberships.

Thus a denomination with 4 million members has four times as many voting delegates in the council's general assembly and general board as one with only 1 million members. It also pays four times as large a share of the council's operating expenses.

This system worked satisfactorily so long as the council's biggest affiliate was the 10-million member United Methodist Church.

Negro Mother Feels Jury Was 'Unjust'

FORT WORTH (UPI)—A district court jury Wednesday denied a Negro mother $600,000 in damages she claimed the Fort Worth Transit Co. and one of its drivers should pay for the fatal shooting of her 17-year-old son.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Veola Bradford, said she thought the decision by the jury of eight men and four women was "unjust".
