Crowds, Lack of Help Slow Down Election

By WANDA MAE HUFF News Staff Writer

In spite of "insufficient clerical help and election officials," 1,911 Pampa voters turned out Tuesday and approved the school district's $900,000 school bond issue by a vote of 1,336 for and 575 against. Trustees will canvass the elections at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Polls-were to close at 7 p.m., but because about 80 votters were already in the polling lines at Pampa Junior High gym at the closing time, polls stayed open until 8:05 p.m.

The Lighter Side By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)-President Nixon has proposed that 1.000 additional policemen be hired to help curb crime in the nation's capital.

This may be a good idea as far as the District of Columbia is concerned, but it is causing some alarm in the surrounding suburbs.

Suburbanites fear that crime becomes impractical in Washington, the holdup men, muggers, looters and pursesnatchers will move out to their neighborhoods. Already officials of a neighboring Maryland community have complained that they are getting a big spillover of crime from Washington.

So here we have another application of West's Third Law of Dynamic Frustration, which starts that "the solution to any problem is likely to create another problem bigger than the one it solves."

Suburbanites, however, are a farsighted breed. "Plan ahead" is their credo, and they are unlikely to let a problem sneak up behind them.

Just the other day a real estate developer disclosed plans for a new subdivision of $200,000 homes protected by guard houses, an encircling wire mesh fence and electronic sensors hidden in the shrubbery.

A spokesman said the project would provide "maximum security for residents during this crime-ridden era."

This may be the beginning of a late 20th Century adaptation of the medieval walled city concept. But with a reverse twist. In the Middle Ages, people built walls around cities to keep evildoers out. The modern version may be to build walls around cities to keep evildoers in:

If all of the suburbs around Washington and other American cities erect barriers, criminals will have no place to go when the police force is strengthened.

The playoffs get under way with the proud but aging Boston Celtics meeting the Philadelphia 76ers in Philadelphia, and the Los Ageles Lakers, rulers of the West, hosts to the San Francisco Warriors.

The Celtics, fourth-place finishers in the East, were strictly bystanders in the late stages of the regular season as Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York charged to the wire. The Bullets got home on top, bringing about one of the more astonishing reversals of form in the league's 23-year history. A year ago, Baltimore finished;
