122 Miners Still Missing

BARROTERRAN, Mexico (UPI)—Recovery teams battled new waves of poisonous gas and possible cave-ins today in their search for bodies in Mexico's worst mine disaster.

Kentucky State Mining Commissioner H. N. Kirkpatrick, a member of the U.S. team of experts sent to help at the time, said there was a "very, very small" chance some miners had barricaded themselves some-

Two Americans Among 53 Dead In Air Crash

WARSAW (UPI)—A Polish Airlines two-engine turboprop loaded to capacity crashed near the city of Cracow Wednesday, killing all 53 persons aboard. Two of the passengers were Americans.

The Soviet-built high-wing AN24 went down in the foothills of the Tatras Mountains near the village of Podpolec, about 25 miles southwest of Cracow, the Polish news agency PAP said.

The Americans were identified as Richard Andrews, 45, of Forest Hills, N.Y., and Jean Irwin, 25, of Los Angeles, Calif.

An official of the KIM Royal Dutch airlines said Andrews worked in KLM's passenger handling department at Kennedy International Airport and was on a family visit to Poland. Miss Irwin was a student of dancing and drama at Warsaw's Grand Theater. She had spent about 18 months in Poland.

Three other foreigners aboard were identified as Ulica Zaulek, 26, Paul Turner, 37, both of England, and G. Barril, 38, of Italy.

Polish victims included four children and Cracow University Professor Zenon Klemensiewicz, a member of the Polish Academy of Sciences.

The crash was the third and most serious accident involving a Polish Airlines (LOT) AN24 in four and one-half months.

A similar model plane skidded off the runway at Warsaw's Okęcie Airport Nov. 11 without causing injuries. Another AN24 made a crash landing near (See CRASH, Page 3)

Reds Say No Progress Seen Yet In Talks

PARIS (UPI) — The United States said today there can be no lasting peace in Southeast Asia until North Vietnam withdraws its forces from Cambodia and Laos as well as South Vietnam.

The Communists countered with charges it was the United States which committed aggression in all three countries and said the Nixon administration was trying to mislead the American public by making them believe there has been "progress" in the Paris peace talks.

"The Paris conference on Vietnam has so far made no progress at all," Viet Cong chief negotiator Tran Binh Kiem told the 11th session.

Deceiving Americans He said optimistic American reports of "secret talks" while putting forward other conditions "expose their deceitful and stubborn nature."

The American position was set forth by Lawrence E. Walsh, heading the U.S. team in the absence of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge who is in Washington for consultations. Walsh is Lodge's deputy.

"The people of South Vietnam cannot hope for a lasting peace so long as North Vietnam continues to violate its international obligations—so long as this infiltration from North Vietnam continues and so long as North Vietnam refuses to respect international demarcation lines and international boundaries," Walsh said.

"Your discussions cannot be regarded as serious until you recognize that there must be a mutual withdrawal of external forces," Walsh said. "We believe that our proposals are practical steps toward peace. We ask that you address yourself to them seriously."

Chief North Vietnamese negotiator Xuan Thuy took the opposite view.

"The Nixon administration has not only intensified the war in South Vietnam... but again recently has raised its sights to extend the war to Laos and Cambodia," he said.

Kiem followed with charges the Americans bombed and shelled Cambodia causing casualties "most of them women and children." In 1965, he said, the United States is "frankly increasing its 'special war,' openly introducing American infantry into that country."

Both Thuy and Kiem demanded the Nixon administration show its willingness to seek peace by pulling back its troops.

Green Berets Scouting Reds In Cambodia

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States for the past year has been sending U.S. Green Beret teams into neighboring Cambodia to scout Communist troop movements there, military sources said today.

Cambodia has proclaimed its neutrality in the Vietnam War but the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have set up base camps there because it is free from American bombing or ground attacks.

The sources said Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia has given tacit approval for the American forays so long as they are done secretly and do not put him in a position of compromising Cambodian sovereignty.

Green Berets lead small teams of mountain tribesmen into Cambodia on missions specially approved by Washington. They chart the locations of Communist troops and do not fight unless they have to, the military sources said.

The disclosure followed by a week a report from U.S. military authorities that the American Vietnam command has asked President Nixon for permission to bomb the communist camps just across the Cambodian border.

The sources said the Communists are supplying most of their current nationwide offensive from their Cambodian camps. The offensive entered its 40th day today with 20 barrages into military camps across the nation, military spokesmen said.

U.S. headquarters reported two Communist attacks against South Vietnamese units guarding infiltration routes from Cambodia, both of them beaten back early today with a total of 38 guerrillas slain.

Both attacks centered southeast and southwest of Tay Ninh City, 50 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border. A total of seven South Vietnamese soldiers died and 50 were wounded in the fighting. (See BERETS, Page 3)

Long, Sad Train Ride Home Starts For Mamie

ABILENE, Kan. (UPI)—Mourners after they laid Dwight D. Eisenhower to rest in the stony dignity of his "Place of Meditation," prairie disc jockeys were back playing the top forty records and Abilene police were broadcasting helpful hints to motorists on how to get out of town.

Down in the railroad yards, an emotionally depleted widow sat disconsolate and almost unperceiving.

This was the brutal part of mourning for Mamie Eisenhower—when the emotional courage faded and she was left to the stark aftermath—while the rest of the world went on after having been stilled for a few moments for a man President Nixon called an "authentic hero."

The Eisenhower burial Wednesday was a model of military decorum. Only one thing went wrong—a sharp wind kept the former President's casket disturbing, the flag on the top of the Eisenhower Library.

It was this same flag, folded into a compact triangle before the casket was lowered into its vault, that Mamie clutched to the folds of her black fur coat as she walked tearfully and unsteadily from the tiny chapel on the strong arm of her son, John D. Eisenhower.

Then she and the family, some of the grandchildren sobbing, drove back to the Model of Decorum

After seeing Milton Eisenhower either at Walter Reed Army Hospital where Ike died last Friday, or going to Milton's Baltimore home for a visit, the widow of the country's 34th president would make plans to go to Belgium.

Her son John, the new U.S. ambassador to England and his family planned to leave shortly for the post of which he was appointed by Nixon. Apparently funeral train which had brought them from Washington.

A few friends received aboard the train, another trip to the grave, and then the train headed east with the family aboard. It was due back in Washington about 7 a.m. CST Friday. Then Mrs. Eisenhower's first thought would be for her brother-in-law, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, who could not come to the funeral because of illness.

Reuther Hits At Wealthy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, told Congress today it is "absolutely indefensible and intolerable" for the wealthy to escape taxes while young men are dying in Vietnam.

The labor leader told the House Ways and Means Committee that Congress should quickly plug the major tax loopholes and help low income people as the priority items in its tax reform plans.

In prepared testimony, Reuther suggested reforms to stop high income taxpayers from avoiding taxes through capital gains, oil depletion allowances, tax-free municipal bonds and "fictitious" farm losses.

"The deep rumblings of a taxpayer's revolt are becoming more audible as the small and middle income home-owner is forced to carry a disproportionate share of the tax burden while the rich, by taking advantage of the many tax loopholes available to them, avoid paying their share," Reuther said.

The committee is in its third month of tax reform hearings. The Nixon administration has said it will introduce tax reform legislation later this session.

Reuther said tax inequities are "grossly unacceptable" at any time.

"They are absolutely indefensible and intolerable at a time when our country is at war, when our young men are being required to offer up their lives in that war, and when 99 per cent of us at home are not only paying our regular taxes,

Houston Lawmaker Urges Solons To Toughen Anti-Pollution Law

AUSTIN (UPI)—A Houston lawmaker urged legislators Wednesday to "close the loopholes" in state laws which allow corporations to avoid legal prosecution for polluting air and water.

Rep. Rex Braun, D-Houston, offered a series of bills to the House State Affairs Committee which he said would "put tough anti-pollution laws in our books."

Similar legislation sponsored by Sen. Criss Cole, D-Houston, has already been passed in the Senate.

Braun said individuals who pollute air and water are liable for criminal prosecution, but corporations are "immune to that kind of attack under Texas court of civil appeals decisions."

Local enforcement under public nuisance statutes now on the books is "the most modern and effective approach" for curbing polluters, Braun said.

Seek Injunctions "The key to attacking air and water pollution," he said "is to go into the courts and seek injunctions ordering corporate polluters to abate their pollution, to install pollution control equipment, and to come back into court in a few months and show that positive steps have been taken to clean up their pollution."

Dr. Walter Quebedaux, director of pollution control section of the Harris County Department of Health, testified that present laws are so lax that one chemical manufacturer in Houston has escaped prosecution while dispersing "48 tons of toxic sulfur dioxide gas" into the air daily.

Houston Lawmaker Urges Solons To Toughen Anti-Pollution Law

Quebedaux said industries can obtain "variance permits" from the state water quality board and continue to pollute without fear of legal action. If they are indicted, he said, present fines that may be assessed are insufficient to act as a hindrance.

Besides the Braun "package" of bills, other legislation attacking corporate pollution was sponsored by Reps. Arthur K. Vance, D-Pasadena, and Bill T. Swanson, D-Houston.

The bills were referred to subcommittees which will be named at a later date.

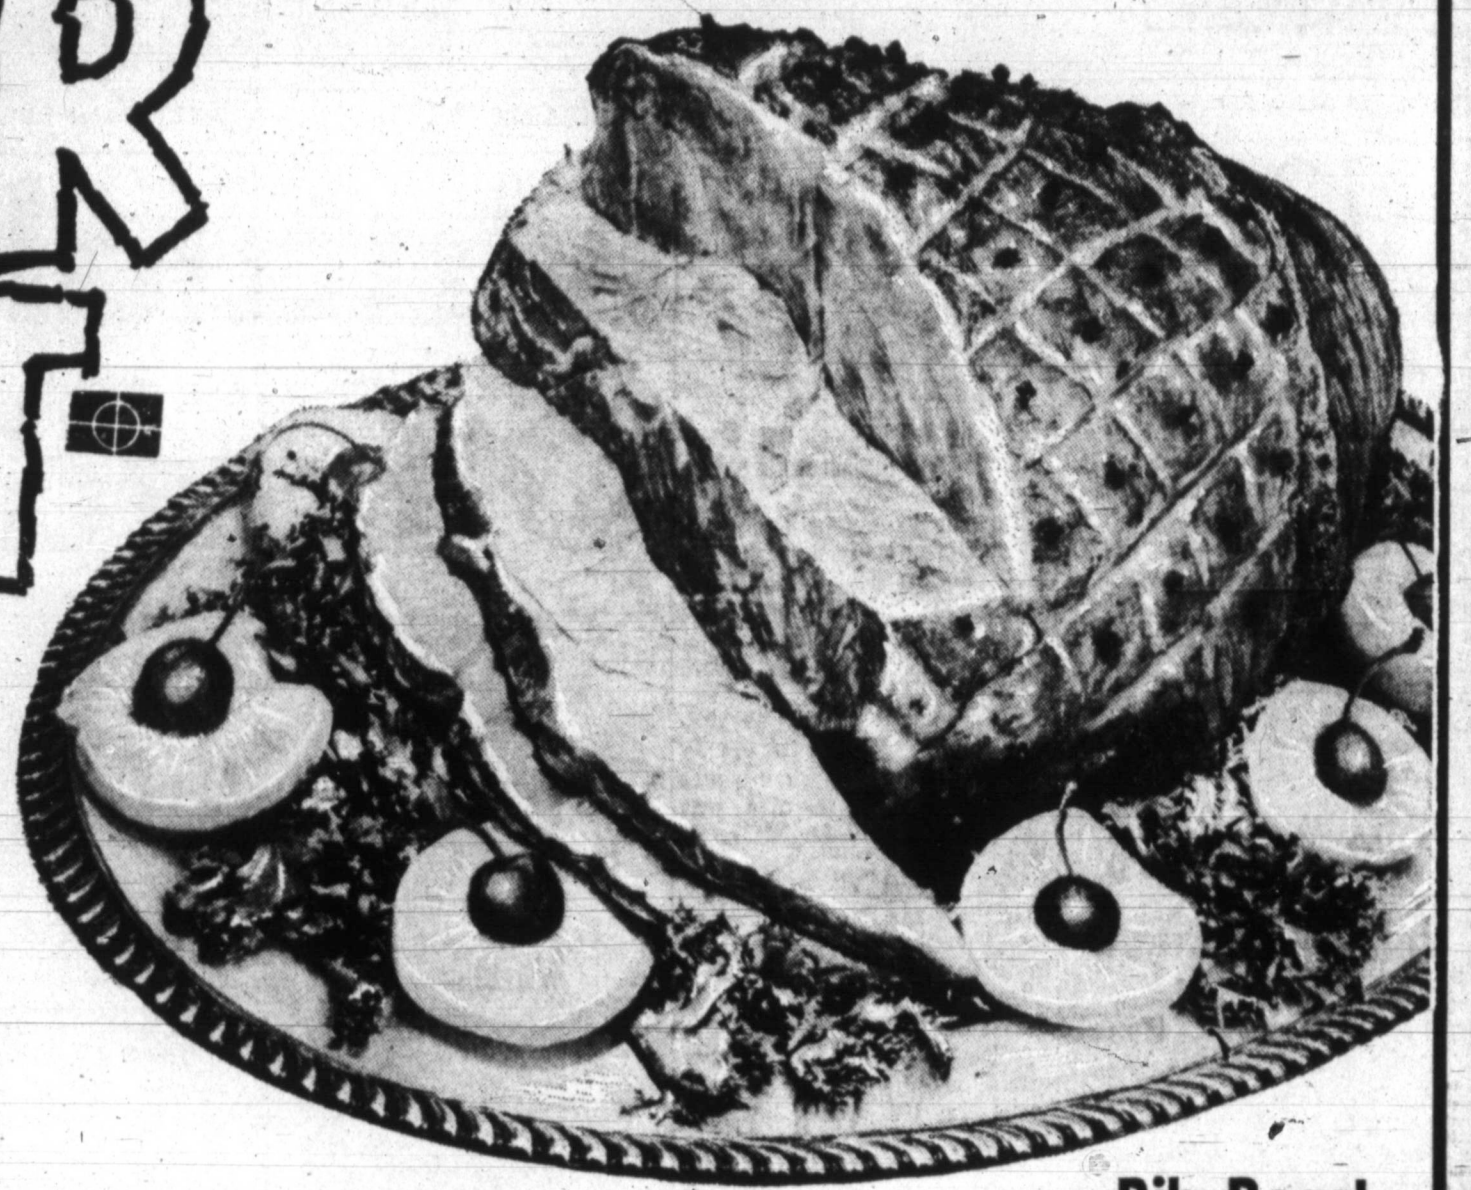

The State Affairs Committee also approved a group of bills which would strike out certain segregation statutes which still remain in Texas law.

Olive Guiche Makes A Surprise Recipe

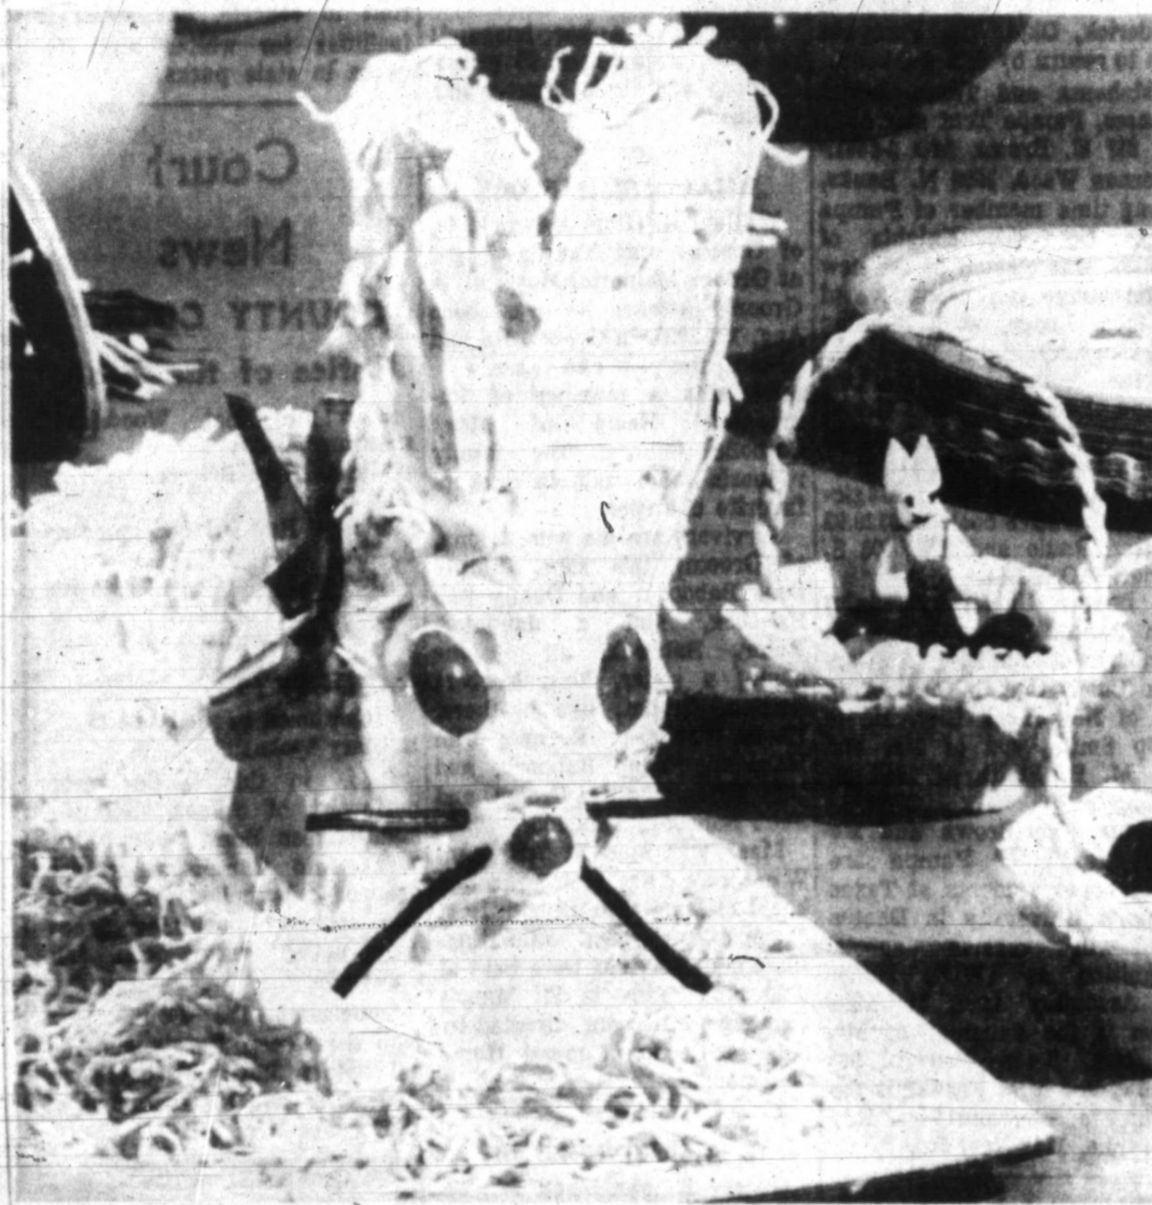

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Easter dinner should be a springtime fest and all festivities include surprises. That is why this ripe olive guiche, a California adaptation of Quiche Lorraine, is suggested. It is new, different and delicious. For the first course, before the baked ham, it is ideal.

- RIPE OLIVE QUICHE
- 1 cup canned ripe olives
 - 3 cups onion rings
 - 3 tablespoons butter
 - 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
 - 1 tablespoon flour
 - 4 eggs
 - 1/2 cup half and half
 - 1/2 cup catsup
 - 1/4 teaspoon seasoned pepper
 - 2 tablespoons chopped pimento

Cut olive into thin wedges. Cook onions in butter until tender crisp. Transfer onions to pastry shell; sprinkle with flour. Beat eggs with half and half, catsup, salt and pepper. Stir in pimento and turn into pastry shell over onions. Scatter olives evenly over top. Bake in 450-degree oven 15 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 15 minutes longer or until knife inserted 1-inch from edge comes out clean. Cool 15 minutes before serving. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

AN EDIBLE EASTER BUNNY FOR DESSERT... a loaf pan cake disguised with coconut and marshmallow frosting

Coconut Easter Bunny Cake For Dessert Decorates A Festive Table

ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N.J. — Prepare one-half package cake mix according to package directions or one-half your favorite layer cake recipe; or use the recipe below for Old-Fashioned Loaf Cake. Pour batter into a well greased and floured loaf pan (9x5x3 inches) and bake in 350 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes, or according to recipe directions. Cool for 10 minutes; remove from pan and finish cooling on cake rack. First Step in Making Easter Bunny Cake: Slice oblong cake lengthwise on diagonal in two places. Make the smaller upper cut, for large ears, about one inch from top left corner tapering to the middle of the cake. Start the second cut about one inch from bottom left and extend it to middle of right edge of cake. Trim ears to equal size. Second Step: Move ears forward to front and arrange in upright position. Slide large central part of cake forward to form head and body. If necessary, trim edges of cake so bunny will stand straight. Place in upright position on cake plate. Fasten ears and body together with wooden picks or skewers. Spread with no-cook marshmallow frosting, rounding out shape of bunny and using a generous amount to form tail. Sprinkle with shredded coconut. Use jelly beans which have been cut in halves for eyes and ears and make rakish whiskers with licorice strips.

1 1/4 teaspoons vanilla... Add salt to egg whites and beat with electric or rotary beater until mixture forms soft peaks. Gradually add sugar, about 1 tablespoon at a time, beating until smooth and glossy. Continue beating and add corn syrup, a little at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition, until frosting peaks. Fold in vanilla extract. Makes enough to cover bunny or will frost tops and sides of two 9-inch layers.

2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup corn oil
1/2 cup water
4 egg yolks
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1/2 teaspoon mace
1/4 cup sugar
4 egg whites

Mix and sift first four ingredients. Make a well and add in order corn oil, water, egg yolks, vanilla extract and mace, if used. Beat until smooth and well-blended (about 1 minute). Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in sugar. Fold into first mixture (do not beat). Turn batter into well greased, waxed paper lined loaf pan (9 1/2 x 5 1/2 x 3 inches). Bake in 325 degree oven about 1 1/2 hours or until cake springs back when touched lightly with finger. Cool 15 minutes in pan; loosen with spatula. Remove from pan and complete cooling on rack. Frost with No-Cook Marshmallow Frosting.

Food Buying Guide
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The following guide to the nation's good buys for the weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture (USDA) and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that Easter weekend food shoppers will find excellent displays of meat and poultry and good supplies of some fresh fruits and vegetables in food stores and supermarkets.

All stores should feature abundant supplies of eggs for the traditional Easter egg hunts and for dyeing.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue as the most abundant meats. Beef roasts, steaks, and ground beef are also in the abundant class and should be featured in most areas. Pork items are ample enough to fill all shopping needs. These include bacon, Boston butts, chops, ham, roasts, sausage, smoked picnics, and spareribs. Maine sardines, canned salmon and fish sticks and portions are the fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, carrots, onions, and potatoes repeat as the most abundant fresh vegetables in all areas. Fresh fruit in best supply include bananas, grapefruit, and oranges.

USDA's plentiful foods for April will supplement your shopping list this weekend—they include prunes, canned and frozen green beans and corn, dry beans, rice, and peanuts and peanut products.

Dietitian Creates Taste Appealing Menus For Passover Season

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

when God, smiting the first-born of the Egyptians, passed over the houses of the Israelites marked by the blood of a lamb. Many changes in foods have occurred since the first recital of the Kiddush, the benediction which began the Passover meal more than 3,000 years ago. In fact, Deborah Ross, a dietitian and nutritionist, wraps up nearly 300 recipes in "The Manischewitz Passover Cookbook" to show mama, bubeh (grandmother) or the newest daughter-in-law how to be a gourmet whiz while remaining kosher.

As a helpful guide to the beginner or to a hesitant long-time pro at preparing for Passover, Miss Ross lists the growing number of foods and cleaning supplies labeled "Kosher for Passover."

Relying on her knowledge of what is available for Passover nationally, Miss Ross banishes the Jewish adage, "When in doubt, don't use it," and urges Jewish homemakers to brighten their holiday menus.

The honeyed duck with orange sauce certainly fits her reminder that on Passover, "The head of the house is a king, his wife a queen, and the children princes and princesses."

With ORANGE SAUCE
2 large ducks
1/2 cup honey
2 teaspoons paprika

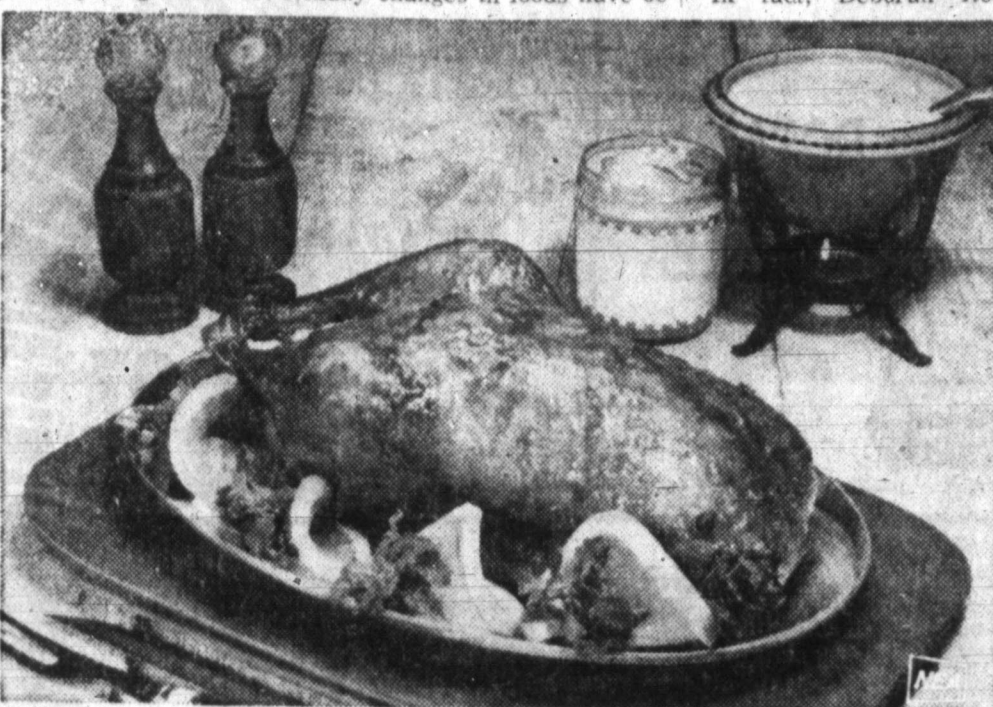

Sprinkle ducks with salt and pepper. Place on a rack in an uncovered roasting pan and place in a 350-degree oven for 2 1/2 hours, turning to brown evenly. Drain off fat. Mix honey with paprika. Brush ducks on all sides with ducks after 15 minutes and brush with remaining honey mixture. Bake until skin is crisp and brown, about 15 minutes longer. Serve with orange sauce. Makes 4 to 8 servings.

ORANGE SAUCE
Giblets and necks from 2 ducks
1/4 cup canned condensed clear chicken soup, undiluted
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons potato starch
1/4 cup orange juice

1/4 cup honey
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
Dash ginger...

Cook giblets and necks in the chicken soup and water until tender. Mix potato starch with a little orange juice. Add balance of orange juice. Add 1/4-cup giblet broth, honey, salt, orange rind and ginger. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst
 By most of the rules Nigeria's tragic civil war should have been over months ago.

That it is not and in fact could go on for years was rediscovered personally this week by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, whose peace mission to Nigeria not only failed to produce results but also subjected him to the embarrassment of a snub by the leader of break-away Biafra.

Lt. Col. Odumegu Ojukwu rejected Wilson's proposal for a meeting outside rebel territory and accused the prime minister of conducting a "political and propaganda exercise."

Millions Died
 An estimated million Biafrans have died so far in the conflict, most of them from starvation.

But the Biafrans not only have surged back from the edge of defeat but now also talk of moving on Port Harcourt, the port taken from them by government troops fairly early in the 21-month-old civil war.

The Ibo tribesmen who make up most of the population of the former eastern territory, now called Biafra, remain totally committed to independence.

Thirty thousand Ibos died in the northern territory massacre which preceded the civil war and they say never again will they entrust their security to others.

Intervention by the big powers also is a reason for the continuation of the fighting.

Britain has backed a "one Nigeria" policy and is supplying arms to the Nigerian government in Lagos.

Airlifts Agree
 France has supported Biafra's "right of self-determination" and runs an airlift of small arms to Biafra from Gabon, one of four African nations that have recognized the Biafran government.

Also lined up on the side of the Lagos government are the Russians who have "provided rockets, trucks, the latest in automatic rifles and MG17 fighter bombers. Attempting to stay neutral in the conflict has been the United States. It continues to maintain its embassy in Lagos but refuses to sell arms to either side. It has, however, loaned airplanes to help maintain the food airlift to Biafra on humanitarian grounds.

And so the war that should have been over months ago still goes on and victory by the Lagos government no longer can be considered a certainty.

Ft. Worth Wins Damages Case

AUSTIN (UPI) — The City of Fort Worth won a 15-year battle Wednesday to collect $60,000 in damages from Rattikin Title Co. and Harvey G. Pippen for their part in a series of land sale deals.

The Texas Supreme Court ordered Rattikin and Pippen to pay the $60,000 in damages, plus 6 per cent interest on that sum since June 26, 1967. The court also upheld a $10,000 assessment against Pippen for exemplary damages.

EMPLOYMENT RISE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Federal Expenditures says civilian federal employment rose in February for the fourth consecutive month. Mahon said that for the first eight months of the 1968 Revenue and Expenditure Control Act, permanent employment had dropped about 48,000, partially offset by increases of 15,000 in exempt employment. The biggest drop was last September—90,000. The increase in February was 7,117.

The automatic rotary bottle filler and capper was perfected in 1911.

The French claimed the island of Mauritius in 1715 and called it Ile de France.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Interviewing a doctor is often the most rewarding assignment in journalism.

It may not be very productive news-wise, but it provides a splendid opportunity to obtain a little free medical advice.

A good reporter does not solicit such information overtly. He brings it out subtly so that the doctor is unaware that he is participating in a feeless consultation.

I recently arranged an interview with Dr. Maynard K. Shapiro, president of the American Academy of General Practice, who came here from Chicago to testify at a Senate hearing.

Wanted Explanation

I told the good doctor I wanted an explanation of the new program under which general practice is being elevated to the status of a medical specialty.

My true purpose, however, was to find out what to do about a pain I had been having in my left shoulder.

"The new specialty of general practice is really not a contradiction in terms," Shapiro said. "Traditionally, the general practitioner, or family doctor, has functioned on an episodic level. That is, he treated people who came in with something the matter."

"This is crisis care and is not the best approach. The new specialist will be oriented through education and training to provide health counseling—preventive health management—as well as medical service."

I said, "That's very interesting. What would the new specialist do about a pain in the left shoulder?"

Type of Pain "It would depend in part on the type of pain," Shapiro said. "Another difference between the classical general practitioner and the new specialist is the way he acquires his bedside manner."

"What the old-time family doctor acquired through experience the new specialist will acquire through the study of behavioral science and training programs."

I said, "Suppose it's a sort of shooting pain that usually goes away in the daytime but frequently comes back at night?"

"Could be a nerve or muscular problem, among other things," Shapiro said. "There is now a much greater demand for physician services than there are physicians to provide them."

"We hope that giving family practice a specialty status will encourage more young physicians to go into that line of medicine rather than becoming clinical specialists or consultants."

Shapiro obviously was too wrapped up in the subject to supply the kind of information I was seeking.

Next time I interview a doctor I'll pick a left shoulder specialist.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Arsenic and Old Lace" was a famous Broadway hit and, with Cary Grant, one of the funniest movies ever made.

It is a wild farce that gains its charm from the sweetly innocent and daft couple of old ladies who happen to poison elderly gentlemen to give them peace and tranquility, and then bury them in the cellar.

Apparently the fact that "Arsenic and Old Lace" has done pretty well on its own all these years—note the television reruns of the movie—was not enough for the adapter-producer of Wednesday night's two-hour ABC-TV version, Luther Davis.

Alters Script He felt it necessary to alter the incomparable script, to jazz it up with attempts at being very contemporary.

An example of the updating is that the male lead, the frantically worried nephew of the old ladies, was changed from a drama critic to a television critic. His fiancée, meanwhile, was switched from a minister's daughter to a hip television actress, on a show named "Homicide," no less.

Well, as anyone surely can see, these changes were monumentally necessary.

Naturally the new version started with a prolonged dis-cotheque scene. And by the time Wednesday's "Arsenic and Old Lace" was five minutes old, it was, for all practical purposes, over, the mood ruptured, the direction of the piece roughly 180 degrees off.

The first thing is that the production was reduced to the dimension and flavor of a situation comedy. There was, alas, a laugh track. At one point, there was an inexplicable shot of an audience as if to prove there was no laugh track. It was not very convincing proof.

Not Merely Comedy Then there was the pace of Director Robert Scheerer. He seemed unable to be convinced that "Arsenic and Old Lace" is not merely comedy, but farce. Farce, So, played, as it was, at a normal pace, it was slow, slow, slow. There was no bubbly feeling as the production remained earthbound. The lines were telegraphed, the performances overplayed.

Where Cary Grant was hilarious in his extreme agitation and disbelief, Bob Crane, in Wednesday's production, was, by comparison, just another upset guy. And as the pivotal old lady, Helen Hayes' essential solidness and certainty rendered her not nearly flighty enough to save the day, as the play demanded. Lillian Gish portrayed the other sister.

As the critic's dangerous older brother, Fred Gwynne seemed to be doing an imitation of Boris Karloff...

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am really worried about my son in Vietnam. He's been there nearly a year and has four girls waiting for him back in the States.

He writes them all that he "loves" them and is going to marry them when he gets home. All these girls have sent him cigars, goodies, stationery, radios, watches, tapes, etc. (He tells them what he wants, and they send it.)

These girls do not know each other, but they all telephone me when they hear from my son, and they read me parts of his letters. One girl, in particular, is lovely. She's asked me to help her with her "wedding plans." Should I tell this girl what is going on? And should I tell my son I know what he's doing?

SOLDIER'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Don't tell the girl, but do tell your son that not only does he have four girls waiting for him, he may have four sets of parents waiting for him. But don't be surprised if he decides to sign up for another hitch.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman in my late forties who has kept company for three years with a man of about 60. We had a sort of "understanding," but nothing definite was said about

Methodist-WSCS
Meets at Groom

GROOM (Sp1) - The Women's Society of Christian Service met in the Methodist Church parlor for their regular meeting recently with the president, Mrs. Bill McKee in charge. Mrs. Ray Elmore was leader for the program, "Two In a Tussle".

She was assisted by Mrs. James Lanier. Refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. C. A. Morrow and Mrs. Turner Kirby, to Mmes. Bill McKee, Curtis Schaffer, Ray Elmore, Manuel Ruthardt, E. R. Hess, Johnny Eschle, J. W. Angel, George Latta, O. R. Major, James Lanier, Glynn D. Harrell, Roy Ritter and Van Earl Steed.

Well, suddenly a 19-year-old kid turns up from out-of-nowhere, and this friend of mine has sure taken a shine to him. Now he says he is going to adopt him. Is this possible?

JUST ASKING
DEAR JUST: Almost anything is possible. Adoption laws vary from state to state, but one thing is standard. Before anyone is allowed to adopt a child (this is a "child?" there will be a thorough investigation and a lot of questions asked.

DEAR ABBY: My husband came home one day with a ring bearing the emblem of his lodge. He had removed the gold wedding band I had given him and replaced it with the lodge ring. I expressed my hurt and disappointment, but it did no good. He continued to wear the lodge ring. When I tried to explain how I felt about it, he emphatically told me he did not want to hear any more about it.

Soon after this he got another very heavy ring for his right hand, also with the lodge emblem on it. He wears both rings every day. I think it is nice that he is so proud of his affiliation with this lodge that he wears a symbol of it on each hand, but that wedding band is also a very important symbol to me. It was a constant reminder of love, our home, and our children. Do you think he is trying to tell me something?

HURT
DEAR HURT: I think he has indeed told you something. I also think he is either incredibly insensitive, or needlessly unkind. One wonders if his left hand knows what his right hand is wearing.

DEAR ABBY: A number of young people engage in experimental sex. It may be that this practice results in part from the temptation to use people and love things. That philosophy has long been bankrupt. More satisfying living results when we love people and use things. This attitude finds

FRIDAY, APRIL 4
YOUR BIRTHDAY Friday: Determine now to permit yourself no laxity in finishing up responsibilities you take on. Pressure comes from all sides to take on more than you can complete. Friday's natives are frequently interested in speed records, particularly in swimming and athletic events. Many are talented athletes but not aggressive socially.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Put forth your usual effort, but allow others to help. The direct approach is more applicable today than subtle one. Inquire about a raise (if you have earned one).

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Friday is the time to ask for whatever is owed to you. This is the end of a cycle of windfalls. Clear off all details as you go, as there may not be another opportunity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): New projects are not favored Friday. Do only what you must, use the extra time for added rest if you can. Look at your diet from the standpoint of health, and resolve to improve it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You come out a notch higher in human affairs Friday. Take on new contacts with confidence and an open mind. Social activities are favored for the evening.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Legal and home affairs claim attention this morning. Younger people stir up confusion later. Leave yourself plenty of time to enjoy the turmoil without taking too active a part in the proceedings.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Short or brief travels for business produce well now. You are at a peak of persuasive talent and should be able to communicate your ideas fluently.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Continue your current program unchanged, just fill in and properly recognize more details. Make sure your efforts come to the attention of people whose opinions count. Revise your accounts where changing circumstances so indicate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your personal interests are supported Friday with cheerful news, the chance to see people and things that are new. Young people take a great share of your attentions. Be prepared for an odd question for which you have no answer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Get an early start and do a full day's work with the chance exists without distractions. Make peace on all sides wherever there has been misunderstanding. Entertain (modestly) in the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Finish off the routines. New operations are better postponed. Just get rid of all clutter. Expect no vigorous reactions from your loved ones now - offer them serenity in return.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Strive to consolidate your position. Clear away weekday details, leaving nothing to drag over into the next week. Make announcements, final reports, applications - get them into the mails early.

Pound Pirates Install Officers

The TOPS Pampa Pound Pirates installed officers during its regular weekly meeting Monday night in First Lutheran Church.

Retiring president Linda Scott was presented a gift by the club after refreshments were served. New officers installed were Etta Wallace, weight recorder; Kathryn Elms, treasurer; Melba Cross, secretary; Geneva Schroeder, corresponding secretary; Fran White, vice-leader, and Pam Stafford, leader.

After the installation club members were entertained with humorous songs by Dean Steadman, Etta Wallace, Linda Scott and Ellen Hamlin.

After secret pal gifts were exchanged, secret pals for the past three months were announced.

The retiring president sponsored a come-as-you-are party after the club meeting.

Blockout. Blockout. They are the features of new machine washable, durable pressed insulated draperies. The drapes are designed to completely block out all light - daylight, sunlight, electric light, moonlight. They are constructed of an opaque acrylic backing with specially-treated lining permanently laminated to the face fabric. The lining makes draperies light-tight, practically air-tight - for insulating elegance as other lined draperies.

Ice Referees Get The Worst Of It

Mid-week musings while wondering whatever happened to Francis the mule. . . . Football referees occasionally get hurt while performing their duties and baseball umpires are prone to get hit with foul tips but that poor ice hockey official. This season's casualty list in the NHL includes a 19-stitch cut to linesman Neil Armstrong, a splinter in the eye from a broken stick to linesman Pat Sheiler, broken collarbone to referee Wally Harris, severe leg injury to referee Vern Buffey, broken ribs to linesman Mat Pavelich, injured tendon in foot to referee Dave Newell, cut hand for linesman George Ashley, back injury to referee Bill Beagan and severe bruises to referee Malcolm Ashford. This list doesn't include a punch thrown by Boston center Phil Esposito that landed referee Bob Sloan on his fanny nor a belting by LA general manager on referee Bruce Hood. . . . Former San Diego Charger quarterback John Hadl became a free agent Tuesday and probably will have no trouble signing with another club. But what will Commissioner Pete Rozelle do if Hadl signs with another team.

You Don't Say . . . By RON CROSS

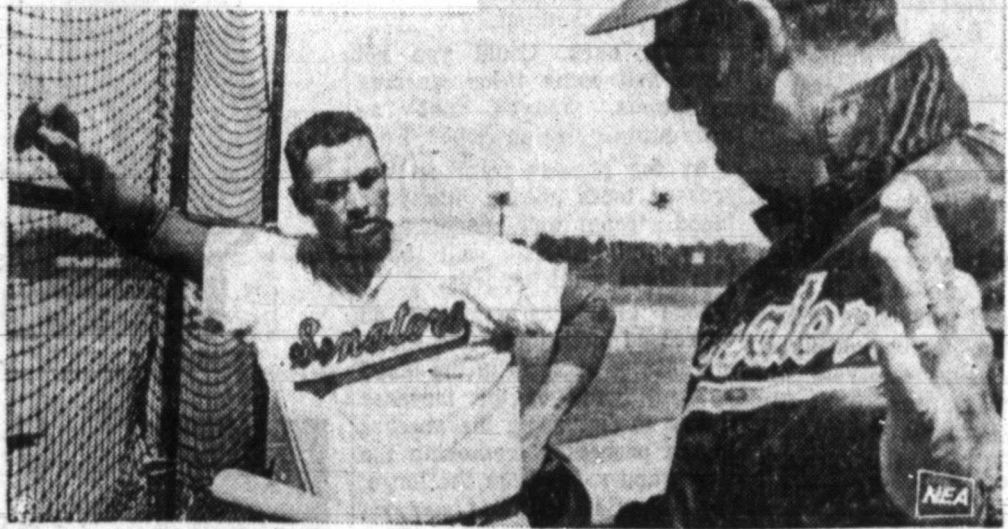

Rozelle must compensate the Chargers for a quarterback who in 1968 led the AFL in touchdown passes, yards gained passing, completions and, just to prove nobody's perfect, interceptions. . . . Emergency rules in effect on golf courses in England during World War II, included the following: "Players are asked to collect bomb and shell splinters to save these causing damage to the mowing machines. In competition, during gunfire, or while bombs are falling, players may take cover without penalty for ceasing play. A ball moved by enemy action may be replaced as near as possible to where it lay, or if lost or destroyed a ball may be dropped not nearer the hole without penalty. These are just a few. . . . Reports from Japan indicate that the Japanese are getting tired of recruiting

Cards, Gibson Appear Ready For Opener

By United Press International Bob Gibson's ready and that means the St. Louis Cardinals are ready to open the season provided only that they have signed up a guy to sing the National Anthem next Tuesday night. Gibson was tagged for a two-run homer by Norm Cash in the first inning but then allowed one run and three hits in the next six innings as the Cardinals defeated the world champion Detroit Tigers 11-3. Gibson struck out five and walked two in his strong performance. Sammy Ellis allowed six hits in six innings and Wilbur Wood pitched the seventh inning of a rain-shortened game as the Chicago White Sox beat the Chicago Cubs 2-0. Ron Reed, Ken Johnson and George Stone combined in a three-hitter to give the Atlanta Braves a 10-0 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds, who were shut out for the third straight game. George Mitterwald singled for his third hit of the game to drive in the winning run as the Minnesota Twins downed the Boston Red Sox 5-4. The New York Yankees raised their spring record to 16-7 when Frank Fernandez hit a two-run homer that sent them to a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators. On other fronts: Outfielder Chico Diaz' ninth-inning error enabled Ty Cline to score from second base, and give the Montreal Expos a 2-1 decision over the New York Mets "B" squad. Tommy Egan's two-run double with two out in the ninth gave the California Angels a 6-1 win over the Seattle Pilots. Matty Alou's three hits and Bill Mazerowski's homer led the Pittsburgh Pirates over the New York Mets' "A" team 7-2. Dave Morehead, Tom Burgmeier and Dave Wickersham combined in a one-hitter as the Kansas City Royals blanked the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0. Willie McCovey drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a solo homer in the San Francisco Giants' 9-2 romp over the Cleveland Indians. . . . Dick Green's three-run homer and two doubles and a single by Bert Campaneris paced the Oakland Athletics over the San Diego Padres 8-4 as Jim Nash went seven innings for the winners. . . . Ron Fairly drove in three runs and Tom Haller knocked in two, offsetting a homer by Jim Wynn, and giving the Los Angeles Dodgers a 10-5 triumph over the Houston Astros.

Knicks Wait Outcome of Boston, 76ers

By United Press International The "new" Celtics are now waiting for the "old" Celtics. "We play a lot like the Celtic teams of old," captain Willis Reed exclaimed Wednesday night after the New York Knicks completed an amazing four-game sweep of the Baltimore Bullets in the Eastern Division semifinal playoff series with a 115-108 triumph. The Knicks will now await the winner of the Boston-Philadelphia series for the Eastern Division finals. Boston now holds a 3-1 edge in that series and if the Celtics win Friday night in Philadelphia, they'll open against the Knicks Sunday afternoon in New York. In the other playoff game Wednesday night, Los Angeles ripped San Francisco 108-88 to tie their best-of-seven series at two games each. The fifth game will be played Friday night in Los Angeles. Atlanta and San Diego were idle in the other Western. . . . Atlanta holds a 2-1 edge in this series. The Bullets, the Eastern Division champion, became the first division title to be swept in a best-of-five or best-of-seven playoff series. New York didn't score for almost four minutes and fell behind 12-0 but rallied to win their first NBA playoff series since 1953 as a crowd of 19,500—the Knicks' 11th sellout crowd of the year—roared. Reed set a team playoff record with a 43-point spurge on 15 of 29 shots from the field and 13 of 14 free throws to pace the Knicks to the uphill triumph.

Boston, Montreal Speed By Foes In Playoffs

By United Press International The Boston Bruins look like they're going to get another shot at the Montreal Canadiens in the Stanley Cup Playoffs. Last year the Bruins made the playoffs for the first time since 1959—and promptly lost four straight games to the Canadiens. This season the Bruins finished second in the regular season standings and opened the playoffs Wednesday night with a 1-0 battering of Toronto. Tops New York Montreal, meanwhile, topped New York 3-1 in a close contest. If Montreal, which has won the cup three times in the last four years, and Boston both win their semifinal playoffs, they'll face each other in the Eastern Division finals. In the opening games of the two Western Division playoffs, St. Louis topped Philadelphia 5-2 and Los Angeles nipped Oakland 5-4 in sudden death action. Phil Esposito scored four goals as Boston routed Toronto and fell one goal short of the modern record for goals in a Stanley Cup game, 11, by the Canadiens against Toronto 25 years ago.

John Bucyk and Derek Sanderson backed Esposito with two each while Fred Stanfield and Ken Hodge picked up one each. The game was also filled with penalties and referee John Ashley handed out 56 minutes simultaneously after one third period brawl. Series of Battles A series of battles, one involving players, fans and police, broke out in the second period after Pat Quinn knocked Boston star Bobby Orr out with an elbow. After the tried to storm Quinn in the penalty box, the entire Toronto team came to his rescue and one policeman was cut on both the hand and face as a lucite panel shattered behind the penalty box. It took nine policemen to escort Quinn to the dressing room and they arrested one young fan who swung his program at Quinn. A third-period power play goal by John Ferguson snapped a 1-1 tie and carried Montreal past New York, which now has a 2-9 playoff record in the past three seasons. Henri Richard wrapped up the game when he scored into an empty net with 40 seconds left. Ted Irvine's goal 19 seconds into a sudden death overtime period gave the Kings the triumph over Oakland. Oakland's Gene Ubriaco tied the game at 17:22 of the final period to send it into overtime. Ab McDonald, Tim Eccles, Larry Keenan, Camille Henry and Terry Gray all scored as St. Louis swept past Philadelphia. Glenn Hall suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in the first period but was replaced in the goal by Jacques Plante, who held the losers to two goals. Plante will start in the second game tonight. The eight teams playing in Wednesday night's four games will be in action again tonight in the second game of the playoffs. NO. 1 SEED JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., has been seeded No. 1 in the women's singles of the South African Open tennis championships beginning Friday. Australian Rod Laver, although recently ousted in the opening round of the Madison Square Garden Challenge Trophy Open in New York, is top seed in the men's groupings.

Low Signs With Bucks

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Lew Alcindor's collegiate era in which he led UCLA to three straight national championships officially came to an end with the three-time All-America center's signing of a professional contract with the Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association. The Bucks and Alcindor staged a public contract signing ceremony Wednesday but refused to give the press a peek at the terms of the reported five-year, $1 million agreement.

4-4A District Golf Action Here Friday

Monterey will try and widen its 19 stroke team lead Friday when District 4-4A golfers converge on Pampa Country Club.

The Plainsmen will come into the fourth and semifinal round with a 924 team total, 19 shots in front of second place Tascosa who stands at 943.

Plainview is only six shots back of the Rebels at 949 then comes Borger (954); Coronado (958); Lubbock (983); Amarillo (994); Palo Duro (995); Caprock (1001) and Pampa (1004).

The leading individual is Buck Shuffield of Monterey with a 51-hole total of 222. He holds a three stroke edge over his nearest competitor.

B teams from the district schools will compete also and Monterey holds the lead in this division also.

The Plainsmen B squad has a 975 team total while second place Coronado is at 1006. Third is Tascosa at 1016 then come Plainview (1017); Borger (1036); Palo Duro (1061); Pampa (1096); Amarillo (1125); Lubbock (1131); Caprock (1143).

Jackie Gindorf is the leading Harvester golfer with a 54-hole total of 250. Gindorf is seventh in the individual standings and has a two-shot edge over Pampans Lee Waters and Harry Aureli, both at 252. Sherwin Cox has 18-hole scores of 85-85-94-264.

Among the Shocker golfers Greg White's 267 is best followed by Joe Foster at 277, Dudley Warner at 282 and Ricky

Golfers Eye Rich GGO, Snead Choice

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI)—Sam Snead says young golfers, like youngsters in other sports, are getting better.

Snead, who is always a sentimental favorite in the greater Greensboro Open (GGO) golf tournament that begins today, said "The boys as a whole are getting bigger and they're hitting the ball farther." The $32,000 offered in first prize money this year is more than the total place money Snead collected for his eight GGO victories.

There is no defending champion in the 1969 GGO, and for the first time in years, Arnold Palmer is not playing at Sedgwick Country Club.

Billy Casper, last year's winner, developed an allergy reaction during the Florida tour and is still sick this week.

Palmer is at Augusta, Ga., practicing for the Masters tournament that comes next week. So is Jack Nicklaus, but he has not played in the GGO in years, so he was not expected to this year.

But Palmer has been a regular here, and the Greensboro Jaycees, sponsor of the GGO, wish he were back this year.

Ticket sales are "breaking all previous records," Jaycees president Charles Whitehurst said Wednesday, but Palmer could have swelled the crowd even more.

The Price of Tomatoes

The above caption, for maximum effect, should have been, "How to Drive Up Prices, Lose Friends, and Infuriate People"—the prices being those of tomatoes in your favorite grocery or supermarket, the lost friends being our Mexican neighbors south of the border, and the infuriated people being both the budget-stretched American housewife and the Mexican tomato farmer, many of whose succulent vine-ripened tomatoes are rotting in the fields as a result of our Agriculture Department's latest bureaucratic meddling.

They are more than two and nine-tenths inches in diameter. Vine-ripened tomatoes must be at least two and one-third inches in diameter. Mexican growers say the size restrictions have barred at least 30 per cent of their crop from U.S. markets this winter and the figure will rise to about 50 per cent in coming months. Florida growers, meantime, acknowledge that only 15 to 20 per cent of the Florida crop is affected.

Thus, do bureaucratic meddlings in the market place favor some while penalizing others with the tax-paying consumer, as usual, being the real and ultimate loser; for, naturally, tomato prices have soared. "The effect on U.S. prices," noted the Journal, "is evident. Food stores in the New York area recently have been selling tomatoes for as much as 65 cents a pound and in Washington and other cities the price runs around 49 cents. This compared with a year ago when the average price was 42.8 cents" and, the year before, when "it was 34.2 cents."

The Journal article went on to warn that, if the restrictions on both Mexican and domestic tomatoes are not lifted, tomatoes will soon be selling generally for as much as 69 cents a pound. In the meantime, noted the Journal, as a result of the competition killing ban, "almost 15,000 Mexican tomato workers have been disemployed."

The Journal article, quoting a Mexican long-time promoter of improved Mexican-American relations who, in turn, paraphrased Frederic Bastiat, the French economist of the 19th century, concluded: "What's next? If this keeps up in another 10 years we'll be shooting across the line at each other." Bastiat pointed out that, when goods and workers don't cross borders freely, armies will!

Heaven save us from our malfunctioning bureaucrats!

War-Making Demonstrators

Nine persons, including five clergymen, chose a poor method of protesting war. They broke into the office of Dow Chemical Co. in Washington, splattered blood over the walls and threw company papers out the window.

They apparently were protesting the use of napalm by members of the U.S. military forces, and chose Dow as the object of the depredations because Dow manufactures napalm and sells it to the military.

Transient Bacteremia

Presents No Real Danger

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: Some months ago I had an abscessed tooth extracted, and after, when it didn't hurt and hardly bled, I knew it was too good to be true. A few days later, while I was reading to my little son, I suddenly felt weak and couldn't finish. My MD assured me my heart was O.K., but a blood test showed that I had anemia, a condition I still have.

Do you think the poison from my abscessed tooth went through my system and caused my anemia?

—Mrs. Alfred P.

ANSWER: I've never heard of any tooth extraction causing any type of anemia. It must have been sheer coincidence for you to develop symptoms of this blood disease after you had your tooth taken out.

Think back. Could you not have had some prior warning symptoms, maybe not as dramatic as you describe? As for poisons from an abscessed tooth getting into your blood stream and reaching all your vital organs—well that's just about what happens.

Soon after extraction of an abscessed tooth there is a sharp increase of bacteria in the blood stream. Some of the increase is due to disturbing the abscess in the process of removing the tooth, and some from the large raw, open wound that remains from the extraction. This bacterial increase in the blood is called bacteremia.

The body responds to bacteremia by dramatically increasing the number of white blood cells to fight the bacteria and aid in removing them. During this period an imbalance exists in that there are more white cells than red, but this is a relative condition and cannot be called anemia.

To a patient in normal health transient bacteremia presents no real danger. But patients suffering from rheumatic heart disease, and some chronic debilitating diseases, such as chronic lung disease or diabetes, should be protected with antibiotics some days previous to the extraction and some days after.

This is the private word from Pentagon planners. They say the sophisticated early warning equipment, planned for the anti-ballistic-missile deployment, is vital, even if no defensive intercept is to be attempted.

In their view, the long-range radars of the "safeguard" warning net would be needed to alert the President to an incoming missile attack and to ready U.S. missiles and bombers for a possible retaliatory strike.

Perimeter acquisition radar (the acronym is PAR) gives the ABM system the ability to pick up incoming missiles at a range of about 1,000 miles. With related communication and data processing equipment, the PARs account for some $1.5 billion of the $6.7 billion estimated cost for a completed "safeguard" deployment.

The radar arrays are costly because of their complex electronics and their size. The giant PAR antenna is more than 100 feet in diameter, and the equipment is housed in a building 200 feet square and 130 feet high.

ABM critics have said the big radar installations—the long-range PARs and other radars or missile control—would, themselves, be attractive targets for a missile attack which could quickly immobilize the entire ABM system.

Military experts are saying that present systems are inadequate to give initial warning of incoming attacks, partly because the equipment has become outdated and partly because it is aimed to warn of rocket attacks from the North. The present system is not keyed to attacks from the nation's seaward approaches.

The Russians have an increasing ability to launch that sort of attack, the military planners say, with great damage to missile sites and, especially, U.S. bomber bases.

SLBM—Two Soviet weapons developments have caused the increasing concern about attacks from the continent's seaward reaches. One of them is the Kremlin's all-out drive to mass-produce missile-firing submarines of the Polaris type.

Such submarines could take station in the oceans off the U.S. coasts and deliver an attack on U.S. bases with intermediate range missiles fired from beneath the seas.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird recently told Congress that Russia now has the production base to turn out one submarine for launching ballistic missiles (SLBMs) each month. Like the Polaris, each of the WASHINGTON — Even if Congress should reject President Nixon's controversial anti-missile defense, expensive components of the "safeguard" ABM system will be needed to alert U.S. offensive forces.

A Step In The Right Direction

On March 14 at 12 o'clock noon, America listened. President Nixon had scheduled a press conference to disclose his decision on whether or not to go ahead with Sentinel Antibalistic Missile System (ABM). The controversy surrounding Sentinel had risen to such frenzied heights that no one quite knew what the President would do. Would he risk defying all of those powerful senators who opposed Sentinel? And, if so, what if the Congress refused to appropriate funds for the program?

Nixon took a compromise course. The ABM system he outlined at the press conference was substantially modified. It will not provide protection for our cities; there will be 2, not 18, ABM sites in the nation. Still, it will help protect America, and it is important that we know how and why it will do so.

We are committed to a "no-first-strike" policy — that is, we will strike only after the enemy has unleashed its nuclear weapons upon us. Therefore, our greatest chance for security is a deterrent. In other words, we must possess the wherewithal to inflict so great a damage on the enemy when we retaliate that the enemy won't attack us in the first place. Not only our own security rests upon this credible and workable deterrent — but also the safety of people everywhere. If our retaliatory weapons keep the Soviets or the Red Chinese from launching a nuclear attack, then those same weapons protect the world from a nuclear holocaust.

That is what President Nixon meant when he emphasized that the primary purpose of his proposed system is to protect our deterrent. By installing the two AEM complexes at the Montana and North Dakota missile sites, our retaliatory weapons system will be protected from destruction. Should we be hit by an enemy attack, we will still be able to hit back. Most importantly, the Communists must know that we can hit them back — therein lies the essence of the "credible deterrent" that just may save us from annihilation.

The weeks immediately preceding Nixon's announcement were filled with the cries of the disarmers. Hubert Humphrey was one of the most vocal. The United States and Russia, he said, must remain on that "strategic plateau" that provides security because "neither side can commit nuclear destruction without incurring unacceptable destruction in return." The trouble with his analysis is that, without ABM's protection, our side doesn't have what it takes.

President Nixon does have what it takes; he bucked the pacifist tide and he has a hard fight ahead in Congress, particularly in the Senate. With that in mind, may we suggest you write your representatives

Gun Control No Deterrent

By PAUL HARVEY

Frightened Americans who think we, the people, can't be trusted with guns. . .

And others who want us disarmed and helpless for other reasons. . . Failed to get all the gun controls they wanted from Congress. Now they are trying, state by state, to restrict the sale of guns and to force the registration of gun owners.

Many states now require gun registration. Taxation comes next. Then, history says, comes confiscation. The four states which have the strongest gun laws are New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and West Virginia.

The four states which have the least gun controls are Kansas, Kentucky, Minnesota and Vermont.

The states with the least gun controls have a lower murder rate than those states with the toughest gun controls: 3.9 per 100,000 population compared to 4.1 per 100,000 in the strict states.

For those who sincerely believe that the answer to crime is to outlaw guns, let's consider New Jersey, which was the first state in our nation to place severe restrictions on firearms of all kinds.

With few exceptions, New Jersey residents are required by law to obtain police-issued permits — after being fingerprinted — before they can carry rifles, shotguns or handguns.

Since that law became effective in 1966, crime in New Jersey has increased. Formerly, New Jersey had less armed robbery and killing than the national average; now it has more than the national average. New Jersey now has a higher crime rate than 39 other states.

Now I introduce a lawbreaking criminal who directed a probable flow of underworld gun traffic between Chicago and Detroit for two years before he got caught. Fred Green, now in prison, says "the hottest commodity on the underworld market is stolen REGISTERED guns."

Green says, "If I can pull a job and leave behind a stolen .45, and if the registered owner of that gun cannot prove where he was at that time, nobody will be looking for me."

Green says, "National gun control? Knowing what we are willing to do to get guns, these guys must be kidding! Did they keep us from getting booze during Prohibition?"

Most Americans who do not possess guns are unconcerned about registration, licensing fees and so on. They should be concerned. In Philadelphia the permit required for a gun purchase costs the purchaser only $1. But the paperwork to administer this monumental bookkeeping operation costs each taxpayer $15 per gun!

Yearly, this effort is costing Philadelphia taxpayers approximately $10 million. That much money would hire 1,000 additional policemen.

And significantly, Philadelphia's assistant district attorney in charge of prosecuting homicide cases said, "This panic legislation resulting from the assassination of President Kennedy has had no effect whatever on the homicide rate in our city." The defense rests.

WASHINGTON:

U.S., S. Korea Use Work Not Dole, to Fight Poverty

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent

SEOUL, Korea (NEA) — If President Nixon's men are weary-eyed from probing into the shortcomings of our domestic welfare programs, let them come to Korea.

Here they'll see a new twist in attacking poverty. Workers are enthused, the poor happy. The projects have been so successful, in fact, Washington is now using the plan in 75 countries — but not at home in the United States.

The aid is American food. It's given in payment to the poor for work. But the secret of success is that it is a particular kind of work — designed to help eliminate poverty.

Back in 1958 and 1959, in return for American aid food, thousands of South Korean farmers began working 15 days a month at building dams and dikes to reclaim thousands of acres of land along South Korea's long western sea coast and bench-terracing marginal lands in the highlands.

There were hundreds of such projects in the years that followed. As each was completed, the South Korean "poor" settled down on the land, producing rice, dry crops, salt.

Usually, not long after, the aid volunteer offices would begin receiving letters which read something like this: "As of next month, when our first crop comes in, we will no longer need the gift food. Thank you."

Over the years other poverty-stricken South Koreans have built reservoirs, wells, public comfort stations, farm roads, co-operative pigsties, chicken and rabbit houses, facilities for raising silkworms, irrigation dams and canals, school playgrounds, sewage ditches, flood-prevention embankments.

Large numbers of the men and women who have worked on these projects are now self-supporting and their communities considerably better off for the work they have done.

At present, 30,000 people are working on 266 projects in programs supervised by religious groups working jointly in cooperation with the U.S. aid program and the South Korean government.

Only one member from each family is permitted to work. He may labor under this program only 15 days a month (as it is not intended to develop into a permanent way of life). For these 15 days he receives a month's basic food for himself and his family.

It is not always thus. At the start of the use of American gift food for work was against U.S. law. But the religious volunteer agencies working in the program found the Koreans were unhappy at receiving handouts. They kept asking for something to do. Thus, the work program. At the start, some U.S. officials were "quite upset." But the program succeeded. There was a re-evaluation by the American government men, pushed, in fact, by a clamor from several countries whose experience was the same as Korea's.

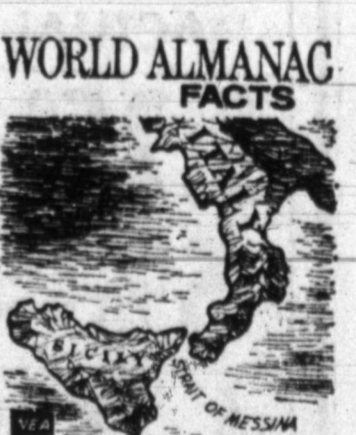

The Agency for International Development in 1964 asked Congress to change the law so that aid to needy persons should, where possible, aim at communities and other self-help actions designed to lessen the need for assistance.

That set the ball rolling. A five-year conversion program was begun that year. The majority of food-for-aid projects in 75 countries were to come under the new concept by some time in 1969.

As one volunteer in the South Korean program puts it: "The people show they like the program. . . They are doing things that are of their own choosing for which they feel the need. . . Their confidence has been built up for them to try themselves to do things they have wanted to do. . . Doing the work themselves and being paid for it takes away the feeling of dependency upon outside help and assistance."

It's pretty difficult to ask for more in a war-on-poverty program.

It's pretty difficult to ask for more in a war-on-poverty program.

The Strait of Messina posed two navigational hazards to the ancients, the rock Scylla on the Italian coast and the whirlpool Charybdis near the Sicilian coast. The World Almanac notes. The phrase "between Scylla and Charybdis" means a choice between two dangers, either of which is hard to avoid without falling into the other.

Republicans Defeated on Funds Bill

AUSTIN (UPI) — Senate Republicans were defeated by a straight party-line vote of 26-2 Wednesday on an attempt to reconsider a bill that allows state trust funds to be invested in bonds of the world bank.

Sen. Henry Grover, R-Houston, said he was "suspicious" of the measure because Robert McNamara, former secretary of defense under President Johnson, is president of the World Bank.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Ralph Hall, D-Rockwall, permits part of the permanent school fund to be invested in bonds issued by the World Bank.

Education Today

By FREDERICK H. TREESH
United Press International

Security guards go on duty next Monday at 20 of the most violence-prone high schools and junior highs in New York City.

The New York School System hired and trained the guards as a result of a three-month escalation of violence and vandalism. They are to be unarmed but have the power of arrest.

Several other major American city school systems already employ guards and, as urban tensions grow, it appears the guard will take his place alongside the principal, teacher and guidance counselor as a regular part of the school staff.

Guards in schools?

Shocking at first thought. But viewed another way, what other major place of business, urban or suburban, doesn't have some security staff, some facility for protecting its property and keeping out intruders? Colleges long have had campus police forces, frequently armed and possessing full police powers.

The intruder is the principal cause for schools hiring security men.

He may be a community militant bent on agitation or disruption.

In extreme cases, he may be a narcotics pusher or otherwise be criminally motivated.

More often, however, he may be a former student, a dropout.

Even though his intent may not be objectionable, the presence of the dropout inside a city school is disruptive—and commonplace.

"The world of the dropout is a lonely one. He frequently comes back to his former school to visit his friends," says one New York City high school principal. "Too often, he's a fomentier of trouble."

NEA Survey

According to a survey by the National Education Association (NEA) Newark, N.J., currently has at least one guard assigned to each of its schools and four or five at its high schools. St. Louis has at least one guard in each high school and two or three roving guards in three elementary districts.

Kansas City has 23 school guards, each carrying chemical Mace and handcuffs. The chemical spray, school officials say, rarely is used but when it is, it usually is against outsiders who intrude on school property.

Seven of 12 guards employed in South Bend, Ind., are off-duty policemen—and they are armed. Chicago has assigned 270 plainclothes police to 51 schools. Police were assigned to 20 schools in Philadelphia.

In general, however, most schoolmen believe the unarmed, private guard is preferable to the policeman with his gun and nightstick. And the nation's police forces also have no desire to occupy the schools and risk further antagonism of the young, especially racial minorities.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John

John A. Volpe administered the oath. Shaffer, 50, succeeds acting Administrator David D. Thomas, who will remain deputy administrator.

No other wagons have such a capacity for enjoyment.

Show you what we mean. Say you're in a Chevrolet Kingswood or Concours Walk-In Wagon, when suddenly the road becomes nothing but chuckholes and ruts. Only you can't tell it's rough. You see, Chevy wagons float along on computer-selected coil springs that smooth even the meanest road.

Maybe you're a bit more serious about the great outdoors. So are we. That's why we offer the Chevy Sportvan and Suburban. To an outdoorsman, they're like clear skies and no mosquitoes. So before you head out to see the U.S.A., better stop by your Chevrolet dealer's.

Canadians Are Different From US

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Many of you will recall, I am sure, that your Articles of Confederation as ratified in 1781 contained a clause which was an open invitation—and an exclusive one to Canada. And I read Article IV.

"Canada acceding to this confederation and joining in the measures of the United States shall be admitted into and entitled to all the advantages of this Union, but no other colony shall be admitted into the same unless such admission be agreed to by nine states."

So we've always had a favored position.

In any event we did not join. The results of our separate and distinct political existence are evident for all the world to see. Professional hockey is a major spectator sport from New York to Los Angeles, and Peanuts is one of the most popular comic strips from Halifax to Vancouver.

Never Underestimate But Americans should never underestimate the constant pressure on Canada which the mere presence of the United States has produced.

We're a different people from you and we're a different people partly because of you. Our two countries have pushed against one another from time to time, perhaps more courteously in recent years than previously when your invitation and your republicanism appeared more intimidating to us.

But, first let me say that it should not be surprising if these policies in many instances either reflect or take into account the proximity of the United States. Living next to you is in some ways like sleeping with an elephant. No matter how friendly or even-tempered is the beast, if I can call it that, one is affected by every twitch and grunt.

There is growing uneasiness in Canada, a growing sense that in a nation as rich as ours there is a problem of widespread poverty; that among people as dispassionate and as understanding as our Canadians, there is a linguistic apprehensiveness and there is inequality; that in a world possessed of the technological means to journey to the planets, there exist terrifying threats to our environment and to our very existence. Canada by itself cannot solve all these problems and perhaps not even some of them.

Canada is a federal state, the same as the U.S.A., yet two of our provinces—Ontario and Quebec—are so populous in comparison with the other eight provinces as to give them an immensely influential position.

Language Community Within Canada there are French-speaking universities, radio and television networks, newspaper and labor unions. There is a complete language community.
