Present rally tendencies can be explained as due to "desperate attempts, as long as the inflation rate continues t climb, to protect the purchasing power of present assets," the firm says, but a game which investors "are almost obliged to play if they do not wish to hold depreciated dollars."

> The very durability of the market in the face of unsettling news has provided the major impetus for the current upward drive, Bache & Co. observes.

> It is difficult to pin down whether investors are motivated more by a belief that disinflation will indeed turn out to be gradual or by a continuing hope for a Vietnam breakthrough. "Perhaps it is a combination of the two," the firm adds-

Dean Witter & Co. says President Nixon's request for repeal of the Investment Tax Credit, coupled with other antiinflationary moves of the administration and the Federal Reserve Board, "appears to b reflected in strengthening bond prices and a moderate lowering of interest rates." Increased investor interest in fixed income investments in general and in municipal bonds can be expected, the firm points out.

The average investor and the market itself "are still very jittery", despite the continued ability of many stocks to hold or advance in periods of selling pressure and the tendency of downside volume to contract, Hayden, Stone Inc. notes. A cautionary and discriminating policy about making new commitments is definitely advisable, the firm adds.

The Weekly Message

DERREL LEWIS, Pastor BARRETT BAPTIST CHURCH

In our day it has-become a popular past-time to ridicule the church and to criticise it as being not relevant to our day. It is blamed for many of the social ills of cur day. It is called archaic and out of step with the times. Somehow our society has come to the realization that the world is not as it ought to be and in a sense of frustration has sought a scape-goat. Because it is the church that is in the business of salvaging the souls of men and transforming lives through Jesus Christ, the church was the logical scape-goat. It is blamed for the racial frictions, the ghettos, the hungry and the ill. It is also under attack from the opposite side of the camp in that as the church stands against legislation that promotes crime, violence, lust, and degeneration; it is called puritanical, fanatical and ridiculous.

Perhaps we need to think again the purpose of the church. It was not to force revolution in the world nor to single-handedly clean up the world's dirt. When Jesus instituted His church, it was to carry on in a multiplied and magnified manner, the same work Jesus had begun while yet in flesh. Jesus said He came "to seek and save that which was lost," and His instruction to the church was the same. He said, "As the Father hath sent me,even so, send I you." The Lord Himself fed the hungry only after He had preached the Word. He treated the physical ills only in relation to the spiritual. It is only the outreach of the church through Born Again Individuals that affect society around up. It is the transformation within the individual that makes him act differently toward those around him.

John 20:31, in discussing the miracles of Christ said, "But these are written, that ye might believe Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through His name." The church was, is, and will continue to be Jesus' method of outreach upon the earth until He comes again. It is still revelant to our day and still has the same purpose it did in its beginning. The only time it fails in being this is when it begins to follow the mandates of man rather than the direction of God as

Let the church be the church and not a political machine for chaos and upheavel. Those who sit on the outside and scoff at us and refuse to have a part in the church because you say "There are too many hippocrites in the church," come on and visit us; if there are as many as you say, one more won't hurt.

CONVICTIONS

THAT LED TO

OUR BELIEF IN A UNIVERSAL SINGLE STANDARD OF RIGHT

Want Information

We believe that most of our political trouble comes from putting confidence in persons who continue to advocate government economic planning even though they can neither rationally answer questions about what they advocate, nor find anyone who can.

We know of no better way to learn and develop. and thus be able to be useful, than have our convictions questioned either privately or publicly.

The Pampa News believes in a system of universal natural law.

It is our belief that every fact of existence—if it is a fact—is immutable, irrevocable and eternal.

That is—we believe that moral facts are no less. concrete and timeless than physical facts. The law of gravity does not change with seasons; atomic behavior is not subject to the good intentions of man. For physical facts are not capable of change; else they would not be facts.

And so we believe it is with moral facts which stem from the same source as physical laws.

Let's take two facts, one physical and one moral.

1. Water seeks its level.

2. Stealing is wrong.

It is commonly accepted that the first fact is not subject to amendment. A change in political administration, a vote of the people, a petition of the Society of Learned Mathematicians of the World cannot change it. It exists as a fact.

The second law, we believe, is no more subject to amendment than the first. The majority might wink at it, try to reconcile it with some base or unsound conviction. But that does not affect the law -only the people who must live by it. Jumping out of a five-story building to flout the law of gravity will hardly bring about a suspension of that law. Neither will disregarding moral law bring about its

Guide To Morality

Now, we have outlined our convictions in fundamental moral law, or fact.

Next, it is incumbent upon us to state a single universal law or fact as we believe it:

Persons, groups and governments ought not threaten to initiate force or use it to attain their ends. This would certainly mean, Thou shalt not steal individually or collectively. If no person or group stole, there would be no murder, no false witness, no adultery.

To express the belief positively, all individuals or groups should get what they get in a manner that would be profitable to all. Then all would respect the private property of others 100%. That would be true liberty and voluntaryism.

That is our interpretation of the Declaration of Independence. This is the universal single standard of right we use as our measuring device of morality -a yardstick of ethics.

Thus we believe:

1. That every man is born with equal unalienable rights to take moral action to make more secure his property which includes first his life, then his liberty and all he produces.

2. That these rights are the endowment of the Creator and not the gift of any government.

Since we believe these facts are expressed in this guide of human conduct, we do not believe any. man has the moral right to curtail the rights of his brother. That is, no man has the right to initiate force against his brother. Every man, to be sure. has the right to resist the initiation of force, but should not initiate it.

In all of recorded history, men have banded together for certain reasons-to hunt, to play, to trade, to build. In a voluntary association, such as the one that publishes this newspaper, each man exercises his rights through the group. BUT, simply because each man is a member of a group, he cannot morally assume rights he did not possess as an individual. And, neither does the group possess rights which the individuals in that group do not possess as individuals.

An example—John Doe is a shoe salesman. He does not have a right to sell shoes at gunpoint. Even if 10,000 John Does in the shoe business form an organization, that organization does not have the right to sell shoes at gunpoint.

After a figure of the about the arms

Rights and morality are individual matters. These moral laws do not make exceptions for groups. They do not say. "Thou shalt not steal except at the desire of the majority." They say, "Thou shalt not steal" Period. And a man's association with a group does not relieve him of the burden of these laws.

We believe, therefore, in a single standard of conduct. Thomas Jefferson stated the matter. He wrote: "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

Immanuel Kant, another great student of morals, in his "Metaphysics of Morals" wrote: " . . . I ask myself only: Can I will that my maxim become a

Single Standard of Conduct

Our belief in a single standard of conduct, and in the existence of individual rights, and in the fact of universal-Natural law, brings us to oppose all things in which an individual or group seeks to initiate force—that is, curtail the just rights of any other individual or group.

We must oppose each brand of socialism, whether it is called Communism, Fascism, Fabian Social ism. New Dealism or New Frontierism.

We oppose socialism in factories, schools, churches and in the market place.

We do not believe there is any such animal as good political socialism." either on a local, national or international scale. We do not believe in initiating force for any reason, even though the cause is a "good" one.

We believe it is violating the rights of the individual to force him to support a school, church industry, business or profession if he does not choose

Two men out of a hundred have no moral right to force the 98 to support a school or church. Neither do the 98 have the moral right to force the remaining two men to support that school or church.

If that belief is contrary to the above standards we want to be convinced. Repeatedly we have offered as much as $1,000 to prominent persons who advocate using collective initiated force to examine publicly the morality of using such force where each person would agree to answer questions as he would before a court. We earnestly seek to be shown any errors in our reasoning.

If six, 26 or 6,000,000 individuals voluntarily get together to establish a church, school, business or club - and if those people do not curtail the rights of anyone inside or outside their own group-we have no argument with them.

The majority cannot write moral law. Neither can the minority. But, neither does the majority enjoy any moral advantages denied the minority. or the individual.

We believe therefore, in a voluntarily supported government. The state, at best, exercises those powers which the individuals in that state voluntarily have turned over to the state for administration. An example: We prefer a private police force because we'd rather support a police force than wear a gun. But if some do not want to support a police force, they should not be forced to do so. Nor should they receive its services. The police force should have no powers denied any individual, and neither should the existence of a police force abridge the right of any citizen to defend himself.

We do not believe the state has any rights simply because it is a state.

Governments should exist only to try to protect the rights of EVERY individual-not to redistribute the property, manipulate the economy or establish the pattern of a society.

These are the basic elements in our belief and of our editorial convictions.

*Regrettably, we do not always follow this principle. We fail into error. Our humility, perhaps, is not sufficient to the effort. But it is our belief to the degree a universal single standard of right is followed you will have a deeper understanding of your religion, greater freedom and security and more happiness and a higher standard of living. This belief will also benefit every person in the community, the state, the nation and the world. That is the reason it is our belief.
