Agreement Is Expected On Fire Contracts

Agreement on long delayed fire protection contracts with Gray, Roberts and Carson counties and the City of Lefors is expected to be reached at Tuesday's meeting of the Pampa City Commission.

Old contracts have been renewed for several months because Gray County and Pampa commissioners were unable to agree on a proposed increase in charges for runs made by the Pampa fire department.

Gray County commissioners said they thought the increase was too great. Pampa officials said there had been no increase since the 1950s and the runs were being made at a loss.

Carson and Roberts counties and Lefors are expected to go along with the new contract agreement.

Other agenda items at Tuesday's city commission meeting will include:

Expected retention of City Atty. Bob Gordon to represent the city in certain condemnation proceedings pertaining to right-of-way along proposed U.S. 60 improvements inside the city limits.

Discussion also is scheduled on the report of the Citizens Finance Committee, submitted at the last council meeting, in which the committee recommended that steps be taken to call an election on a one-cent sales tax to bolster the city's general operating fund.

Awarding of bids for furnishing meals for city prisoners, purchase of petroleum products, purchase of three new police cars, and purchase of new water meters.

Second reading is scheduled on an ordinance setting a public hearing in connection with assessment paving for N. Nelson St.

Charpie Is Named Cabot President

Cabot Corp. Saturday announced the election of Robert A. Charpie as president and director, succeeding Louis W. Cabot, who becomes chairman of the board.

Charpie was with Union Carbide Corp. from 1950 to 1968 where he started as a physicist. Later he became assistant director of Oak Ridge and director of its Reactor Division, and then successively general manager of Union Carbide's Development department, director of technology, and lastly president of the electronics division. In 1968 he became president of Bell & Howell Co.

The 44-year-old Cabot president was born in 1925 and is a native of Cleveland. He obtained his B. S., M. S., and D. Sc. (theoretical physics) from Carnegie Institute of Technology. In 1964 and 1965 he was deputy U. S. Delegate to the United Nations Atoms-for-Peace conferences. In 1965 and 1966 he headed the Panel on Innovation and Invention for the United States government.

He was a member of the Technical Advisory Board of the Department of Commerce and the Research Advisory Committee of the Agency for International Development. He is a Fellow of the American Physical Society and American Nuclear Society, a trustee of Carnegie Institute of Technology and of Mitre Corp.

As President, Charpie takes over full responsibility for managing the Cabot organization.

CHECKING THE BOOKS — Barbara Cockrell, head librarian at Lovett Memorial Library, left, served as hostess for a workshop for area librarians Saturday. Checking the books in the Pampa library are Virginia Pauwels, Borger; Elizabeth Crabb, extension co-ordinator for Amarillo's public libraries; Mrs. John Goede, Friona, and Mrs. G. M. Walls, elementary librarian for Pampa schools.

Area Librarians Hold Workshop Meet in Pampa

Librarians and their assistants from nearly a score Texas Panhandle towns and cities joined 30 Pampans at Saturday's all-day workshop in Lovett Memorial Library.

The morning program included "Schools and the Public Library — The Big Team," with a panel discussion by Frances Walls, Pampa public schools librarian, Barbara Cockrell, Lovett Memorial librarian, moderated by Mrs. Marjorie Gaut.

This was followed by a group discussion and a talk on "Is Johnny Happy in Your Library?" by Elizabeth Crabb, extension coordinator of the Amarillo Public Library.

The morning session was opened by City Manager Charles Hill who welcomed the visiting librarians to Pampa.

The Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Pampa, spoke on the topic, "Children Become What They Read."

Following a noon luncheon recess, the afternoon program was started off with a 45-minute panel discussion, "The Talk of the Town." Panelists were Warren Hasse, manager of KPDD; Ronnie Wood, city personnel director; E.O. Wedgeworth, chamber of commerce manager, and Tex DeWeese, editor of The Pampa Daily News. Mary Louise Boyd, director of publicity for the Amarillo Public Library was the moderator.

Two other topics were on the afternoon program, "Storytimes," by Elsie Page, children's librarian at the Amarillo Public Library, and "Summer Reading Programs," by Kate Holman, children's librarian at Amarillo.

The workshop which had the theme, "Library Excellence for Children," was concluded with summation remarks by Rosalyn T. Shamblin, Amarillo field consultant for the Texas State Library.

The day's program was sponsored by the Texas State Library, Mary E. Bivins (See LIBRARIANS, Page 3)

17-Year-Old Pampan Year's First Victim

Apparently seized with cramps after swimming approximately 20 feet of the 33-foot distance from the bank of Lake McClellan to the spillway, Billy Horace Haynes, 17-year-old Pampa High School sophomore, drowned Saturday afternoon as onlookers watched, unable to help.

The youth, described as a good swimmer, was seen struggling in the water. Others in the swimming party of five high school students dived several times but were unable to reach the victim.

The drowning occurred at 2:45 p.m. according to C.L. Wallace, deputy sheriff. From the Gray County sheriff's office also was Buster Collins. Shirley Nickols manned the communications system, coordinating efforts.

Also quickly on the scene were members of the Highway Patrol, including Ken Evans. Several rescue units from Clarendon and Shamrock responded as well as game wardens.

Pampa firemen directed by Chief Finis Dyer, and members of the McLean Fire Department joined in the search. The body was recovered about two and one half hours after Haynes went down. Depth of the water at the site was approximately 25 feet.

It was the boat directed by Buck Williams, game warden of Pampa, which finally located the body.

Judge Ernest Beck of McLean gave a verdict of death by drowning.

The youth was a sophomore at Pampa High School. He had been swimming, according to relatives, since childhood. With him on the Saturday outing were Ginger and Donnie Snapp, Debbie Dooley and Sandy Lyon.

Young Haynes was born at Pampa March 13, 1952. Surviving are his mother Mrs. Jean Allison, 430 N. Naida, and his father Russell Haynes, 427 N. Russell; a brother Charles Swift, Boys Ranch, Amarillo; two sisters Janie Haynes and Brenda Helton, both of Pampa; his grandfather Clay Kuykendall, Pampa; and a grandmother, Mrs. Horace Haynes.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Duenkel Funeral Home. Final details, were not available late Saturday night.

Apollo 10 Astronauts Headed Home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 10's astronauts gave earthlings a parting "fantastic" view of moon via color television Saturday, then streaked back toward earth—convinced their efforts will prove a "betterment to all mankind."

Thomas P. Stafford, Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young, sweeping behind the moon on their 31st orbit, fired their command ship engine and broke free from the lunar gravity pull that had held them in a 69 mile high orbit.

As they whipped from behind the moon and back into communications with earth-spacecraft Commander Stafford called out:

"Hello Houston, Apollo 10: returning to earth."

The world, including the wives and children of the astronauts, breathed a sigh of relief for the three pathfinders who have all but proved conclusively that America will be able to cash in on its $23.7-billion space gamble and put a man on the moon in July.

"I'm thrilled," said Mrs. Cernan.

The astronauts will splash down about 11:31 a.m. CDT Monday 400 miles east of the south Pacific island of Pago Pago.

At the Houston Space Center, Flight Director Milton Windler was asked whether he saw anything that would prevent a July 16 launching of Apollo 11 on a lunar mission to land July 20.

"I don't," was his crisp reply.

Warren, Jurists Confer On New Code of Ethics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chief Justice Earl Warren met in private with a panel of eminent jurists Saturday to discuss the possible establishment of a code of ethics and financial disclosure for all federal judges.

The meeting, called at Warren's request, was with the 11-member Committee on Court Administration of the U.S. Judicial Conference. The session was held behind barriers at the Supreme Court building.

Rev. Hager Guest Speaker Sunday At Vesper Service

The Rev. Martin Hager will speak on "The man for This Season" at Sunday's vesper services honoring members of the Pampa High School graduating class, '69.

The service will be at the PHS field house, starting at 5 p.m.

The Rev. Jimmy Phillips, First Assembly of God, will offer the invocation; Guy Caskey, Church of Christ, will read scripture; the Rev. Max Browning, St. Paul Methodist, will pronounce the benediction.

The school's concert choir will sing "You'll Never Walk Alone." Bill Davis directing; and the band will play the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance."

VOTE NEXT WEEK

State Solons Ethics Bill Expected to Fail

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The Texas Senate is scheduled to vote next week on a "code of ethics" bill requiring legislators to disclose potential conflicts of interest, but the House sponsor said he expects the lower chamber to kill it.

At the insistence of Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, the Senate State Affairs Committee last week approved the bill for debate and Barnes said he would recognize its sponsor, Sen. Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, to seek a Senate vote next week.

But in the House, similar legislation has languished in one committee and then another, and the sponsor, Rep. James E. Nugent, D-Kerrville, said "I figured there appeared little likelihood any details would be made public immediately.

Any recommendation the committee might arrive at will be presented to the Judicial Conference, which administers the federal judiciary system but has never adopted any formal rules of ethics.

Leaves Private Post

Warren called the meeting following the resignation of Abe Fortas as a Supreme Court justice in the face of criticism of his relationship with the Wolfson Family Foundation, and just before announcement Friday that Justice William O. Douglas had resigned as a $12,000-a-year president of the Albert Parvin Foundation.

The judicial session also coincided with a vote by the American Bar Association's board of governors to forward to its Committee on Ethics an inquiry regarding the propriety of Douglas' affiliation with the Los Angeles-based foundation.

The board, opening its two-day spring meeting at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, authorized ABA President William T. Gossett, of Detroit, to pass along to the committee a letter from Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., asking for an opinion in the matter.

An ABA spokesman said few details were available to the ethics panel on Douglas' relationship with the Parvin organization, and there was doubt as to what if any ruling it might make. One possibility was that it would merely refer Williams to its ruling that Fortas' dealings with the Wolfson Foundation were "clearly unethical."

Robert P. Armstrong Jr., chairman of the ethics committee, was reported to be in Washington but was not immediately available for comment.

Mayo Trustee

The judiciary and ABA meetings also followed disclosure Friday by the office of Warren E. Burger, U.S. Appeals Court judge and President Nixon's chief justice-designate, that he had received $2,000 a year since 1966 as a trustee of the Mayo Foundation.

Sen. Williams has said he will start action within the next few days on legislation to deny tax-exempt status to any foundation paying for the services of jurists or other public officials.

While he did not say as much, Warren's convocation of the judicial panel apparently was prompted by Fortas' acknowledgement, following a

Burglars Clean Out Farm Home

A young family was "about cleaned out" of its possessions, except large pieces of furniture, when burglars entered a farm home overnight Friday, sheriff's officers reported Saturday.

The home is 14 miles South and 1 1/2 miles east of Pampa on Hwy. 70.

The home was that of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Vanderburg Jr., who had just moved to the farm Friday. Vanderburg had been at school in Oklahoma. The couple has one small son.

After moving into the house the couple left about 9:30 p.m., they told officers, spending the night in Pampa. They left the house doors unlocked.

Returning at 10:30 Saturday morning they found virtually nothing but basic furniture left. Among the missing items were dishes, silver, electric appliances, bedding, including an electric blanket, a movie camera with projector and screen, tool box with tools,

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—There has been an abrupt change in stock market psychology in recent sessions rather than any significant change in fundamentals. W.E. Hutton & Co. says. Once more the market has been proved to be very thin, both on advances and declines. To the extent that the rise from the February-March lows was based on hope of an early and sudden peace in Vietnam, there is now disappointment, the firm says. In addition, some of the more "nervous" cash already has gone back to work. Another rise in the prime rate is being discussed. There is more concern among businessmen and analysts that corporate earnings may drop during the latter half of the year. And there is a feeling that there has been over-speculation in specific stocks, in particular the "discovery" oils.

CONQUERS MOUNTAIN

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—A five-member Swiss mountaineering group has conquered 22,686-foot Mt. Tukucho in western Nepal the leader of the expedition said today. Georges Hartmann said his team scaled the mountain twice in one day.

Hayden, Stone, Inc. suggests a "selectively bullish" approach to the market. Volume considerations remain favorable on declines, the daily odd-lot and advance-decline ratios are still in strong positions, and there is increasing pressure on institutions and individuals to commit sideline funds, the firm says.

E.F. Hutton expects a near-term period of backing and filling over a narrow range in which "increased selectivity will be necessary for trading success."

Lefors School Students Receive Special Awards

LEFORS—A total of 109 students enrolled in Lefors schools system received awards in school assembly May 21-22, in the high school auditorium. Annual awardees are selected by student elections and teacher selections. Receiving awards in high school assembly May 21 were Denise Keith and Doug Gates; popularity; Sue Gatlin and Joe Don Elkins, personality; Marsha Close and Dale Finney, sportsmanship; Mignon Nickel and Jim Gilbreath, best all-around. Best leader and student council president went to Dale Finney. In the Who's—Who selections were Sandra Cain, band; Lea Ann Timmons, choir; Margie Chastain, drivers education; Dale Finney, editor; Marsha Close, cheerleader; Rhonda Shipman Warner, Linda Taylor, Pat Moxon, and Susan Cain. Outstanding Band boy and girl were Sandra Cain and Larry Gilbreath. Band Spirit award winner was Ethel Denton, outstanding first year member was Brian Marlar. Next year drum major will be Cheri Tarbet; twirlers Sandra Cain, Linda Gilbreath and Guyla James. Salutatorian Ann Garrett and valedictorian Robert Maples. In assembly May 22, there were 57 students receiving reading certificate awards, with the third grade registering 99 percent of class receiving certificates. A student must have read and reported on 20 books during the school term. Mike Robbins eighth-grade student, Darla Taylor, sixth grade and Johnny Sierman, fourth grade all received perfect attendance awards. Receiving certificates for UIL work in contest were Raymond Henry, story telling; Leatrice Vincent, picture memory; Elaine Webb, picture memory; Darla Taylor, spelling; Carol Vincent, spelling; Wyatt Fenno, numbers sense; Jan McPherson, numbers sense; Lou Ann Sims, numbers sense; Randy Klein, spelling Jr High; Ann Vincent, spelling, Jr High; Mary Jane Adams, ready writing; Jr. High; Vicky Cotham, oral reading, Jr. High. Globe-News spelling bee, David Prestige, Randy Klein, Vicky Cotham grades 6, 7 and 8. Larry Franks and Darla Taylor received outstanding boy and girl band member awards. Graduation exercises will be May 27, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium, with the Rev. D.C. Read, pastor of Lefors Methodist church, as speaker. Mary Jane Adams is valedictorian with 92.06 average and Lou Ann Sims salutatorian, with 89.69.

Sirhan Placed in Death Row Cell

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan today was brought to San Quentin Prison and placed on death row to await execution for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The 25-year-old Arab immigrant was taken from his fortress-cell in Los Angeles County Jail at 3 a.m., whisked by helicopter to Van Nuys Airport in the San Fernando Valley, placed aboard a state-owned airplane and delivered to the prison warden at 5:30 a.m. Sirhan was sentenced formally Wednesday by Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker despite a plea for mercy from the family of the slain senator. Kennedy was gunned down June 5 in a pantry of the Ambassador Hotel.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

Editor's note—This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers.

Q—I have my refund. Does that mean my return was alright and will not be audited?
A—No, it does not. The fact that you have your refund indicates only that your return contained all the required information needed to process it. IRS generally has three years from the filing deadline of the return to examine the return and propose an adjustment in the tax liability.

Q—I lost my refund check. Can I get it replaced?
A—Yes, report the loss to the IRS Service Center where you filed your return. They will send you the forms needed to apply for a replacement check.

Q—I forgot to deduct my medical expenses when I filed my 1968 tax return. Is it too late to do it?
A—No, it is not too late to amend a 1968 return. To make a change, obtain a Form 1040x, Amended U. S. Individual Income Tax Return, from your local IRS office and enter the information called for. It is not necessary to file a completely new return.

Q—Is a gardener considered household help? If so, will I have to withhold social security taxes on wages paid?
A—Wages paid to a gardener are subject to social security taxes. If you pay him cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter then you are required to file a Form 942, employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees, and pay social security taxes. Income taxes, however, do not have to be withheld from wages paid gardeners and other household help.

Q—My son is taking a job this summer and plans to put most of the money he earns in the bank to pay his college expenses in the fall. If he earns over $600 will we lose our dependency exemption for him?
A—If your son is under 19 at year end or will be a full time student during the year, the amount of money he earns will not disqualify him from being claimed as your dependent as long as you furnish more than one-half of his support and the other dependency tests are met. He must file his own return, however, if he earns $600 or more during the year.

McKINLEY MAHAN

Death of McKinley Mahan, 75, was ruled due to natural causes by Justice of the Peace E. L. Anderson after the man's body was found in a flower bed Saturday at his home, 1032 S. Neilson. The body was found at 6:10 p.m., but death had occurred several hours earlier, medical examination indicated.

He had a history of heart disease going back several years, according to the widow, Mrs. Lennie Day Mahan. Her husband had been weeding the flower bed earlier in the afternoon, she said.

Carmichael-Whitley Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Mahan was born April 22, 1892 at Chattanooga, Tenn. and came to Pampa in 1945 from Hobbs, N.M. He has been associated with Humble Pipeline Co. 35 years, retiring ten years ago.

He was a member of First Christian Church, a veteran of World War II, a member of IOOF Lodge and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Survivors include the widow; three daughters, one son, four stepchildren and a brother.

Red Chinese Ask Soviets for Talks

TOKYO (UPI) - Red China said Saturday Soviet attacks were continuing on a Ussuri River island claimed by both sides and called on the Russians to settle such border issues peacefully through diplomatic negotiations.

In a lengthy statement distributed by the New China News Agency and broadcast by Peking Radio, the Chinese government urged the Soviets to make a "positive response" to its offer.

At the same time, the Chinese said "the Soviet government has continued to direct Soviet troops to open fire with light and heavy machine guns on China's Chen Pao island and areas deep within Chinese territory."

"And to this day, the firing has not ceased. At the same time, it is the Soviet Union is carrying out provocations in other sectors of the Sino-Soviet boundary."

The Chinese statement came only a day after the Soviets accepted a Chinese proposal to hold a meeting of a joint commission that controls navigation of their border rivers in the Soviet Far East city of Khabarovsk.

The Soviets suggested that the session be held June 18. Chen Pao Island, called Damansky by the Russians, was the scene last March of several bloody battles between forces of both sides. The Soviet lost at least 43 men in the clashes. Chinese losses have never been disclosed.

"The Communist party of China and the Chinese government have always held that boundary questions should be settled through diplomatic channels," Saturday's statement said. "And pending a settlement, the status quo of the boundary should be maintained and conflict averted."

"The Chinese government proposes that the date and place for the Sino-Soviet boundary negotiations be discussed and decided upon by both sides through diplomatic channels. The Chinese government hopes that the Soviet government will make a position response to the above proposals."

The statement repeated earlier claims that chen pao island was "China's territory" and charged incidents on the island were "deliberately provoked by the Soviet government." It added, "neither a small war, nor a big war, nor a nuclear war can ever intimidate the Chinese people."

A radio valued at $37.50 was taken from the home of Mrs. Cherry Kuhlman while she was at work as a meter maid for the city. She had called her daughter to adjust the monitor for frequency when the girl reported the appliance was not in its usual place. After searching the house she was still unable to find the radio.

This was the third time in the past few weeks the house at 1053 Neel Rd. had been entered. Other charges have been malicious mischief, destroying a school paper, and breaking a garage door.

Police said a neighborhood boy was suspected and juvenile officers were alerted.

An unknown person shot the headlights out of Mrs. Owen Carter's car while it was parked at the Youth Center she reported. Patrolmen S.R. Belt and H.J. Grimes were unable to find anyone in the area.

Dogs were killing her chickens, Mrs. Raymond Cox, 1116 Bond, complained. The owners should pay for the damage, she believed. They concurred and paid for the loss of the fowls.

When a man thinks he needs a drink very badly he is likely to go to some lengths, the police are certain. R.F. Ragain, 520 N. Christy, they said, refused to lend a man a dollar to buy liquor. So the man stayed around the Ragain kitchen talking for an hour or so and when he left a valuable watch, given to Ragain when he left the employ of Cities Service, was missing.

It Wasn't Easy On Hamburger Hill

A SHAU VALLEY, South Vietnam (UPI)—By mid-afternoon, a misty drizzle had become a bone-chilling downpour that soaked the fallen U.S. paratroopers, splashing off their ponchos in torrents.

Cigarettes dangling from the tight lips of wounded men flickered dead. The sing-song chirp of tropical insects and the echoing bellow of artillery faded into silence. The jungle closed in tighter.

The wounded men were stretched out on the ground head to toe, along a trail at the base of "Hamburger Hill" 375 miles north-northeast of Saigon. Drugged with morphine, most felt only numbness and the cold. Some shivered but said nothing.

A Negro medic as black as the jungle night cradled the pale white face of a badly wounded 101st Airborne Division trooper, filling his ears with words of comfort.

Nearby, a young soldier turned away from the pelting rain, has glazed eyes wide with fear. He moaned softly for 30 minutes and then died.

Thick clouds settled over the tiny clearing, casting a ghostly appearance on more wounded GIs with stunned expressions who stumbled off the mountain in tattered fatigues.

Medics worked frantically over the prostrate forms of the seriously wounded — cutting, carving, bandaging, injecting, soothing. The rasps of labored breathing grew louder, the rain stronger. Officers cursed into briefcase-sized field radios.

"Where the hell are the evacuation choppers?" "They can't get in. The weather's too bad." "Well, Goddammit, some men will die if they don't hurry."

But only "Crazy" Rairdon was flying this night.

Hauls Ammo And Wounded

His bubble-shaped helicopter droned into the gloom, hauling ammunition to the mountain and the wounded back to the clearing.

"Crazy" is a warrant officer, 20 years old, from Seattle, Wash. He made 20, perhaps 25, trips before a bullet caught him in the leg and he was forced to land.

It seemed like another joker in a stacked deck. Nothing had gone right. The paratroopers had fought for eight days to get the hill. They had made 11 assaults.

They had weathered an accidental attack by U.S. helicopter gunships which killed one of their buddies and wounded 35 others. They had learned to hate and fear the hill with all the intensity they could feel.

But none of this brought victory any closer. Two days of fighting lay ahead. More men would die and more would be shredded by bullets from the North Vietnamese troops in deep bunkers atop the hill. The paratroopers knew this as surely as they knew that somehow "Hamburger Hill" would be taken.

In the meantime, there was nothing to do but wait—wait for the clearing skies, the evacuation helicopters, the next assault on the peak.

As they waited, several soldiers sloshed across the clearing to examine the cardboard name tags attached to bulky rubber body bags. They peered at each to learn who had not lived to fight another day.

Astronauts Face Two More Crucial Tests

By PAUL K. HARRAL, UPI Space Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Two more critical phases of the Apollo 10 mission stand between the astronauts and their reception next Monday on the deck of the recovery carrier.

Those two phases—blasting out of moon orbit and the blazing trip when the command ship re-enters the atmosphere—have both been performed before.

The most dangerous period of the mission ended early today when the lunar lander and the mother ship docked after a wild ride in the bug-shaped craft the astronauts call "Snoopy." Navigation tests occupied the men's time today in moon orbit.

Wild gyrations Thursday started astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan as they jettisoned the descent stage of the lunar lander and blasted out of their 50,000 foot orbital approach to the moon. But the astronauts made it safely back to the mother ship and blasted the empty ascent stage into permanent orbit around the sun early today.

Switch in Wrong Position

The gyrations occurred when a procedure was left out of the pilot's checklist. The pilots left a switch in the wrong position and the spacecraft was not oriented properly for the maneuver. But it was things like this Apollo 10 was meant to uncover.

The navigation tests today were also an important part of the mission. Space scientists need this information to help predict the effects irregularities in the moon's gravitational field will have on future spacecraft.

The firing of the big service module rocket engine to kick the spacecraft out of moon orbit and start it on the quarter-million mile journey back to earth will be performed behind the moon and the world will have to wait until the spacecraft comes around the edge of the satellite to find out if it worked. But the rocket engine already has been tested several times on this flight with no trouble reported.

Perhaps the most dramatic event remaining to those on earth is the re-entry. Stafford, Cernan and John W. Young are required to hit an imaginary "hoop" 30 miles wide and 40,000 feet high southwest of the Fiji islands, east of Australia.

If they come into atmosphere too sharply, the heat building up from the friction of the air will burn the "boys" and hit the life support systems aboard.

Just prior to meeting the first edges of the atmosphere, Stafford, Cernan and Young will jettison their big rocket engine and burn its fuel to hurl it into the air, slowing it behind them.

Twenty-six seconds after the spaceship hits the air, a cloud of electrically charged gas boiling off the charring heat shield blankets the command ship and cuts off communication with earth. The heat might reach about 4,000 to 5,000 degrees during this period. Four seconds later the astronauts feel half their weight return.

Sixty-four seconds later they weigh almost 6 1/2 times their normal ground weight. Radio communications return after three minutes of silence and seven minutes later the two 36.5 foot drogue parachutes are fired out of the spacecraft by air jets. These first parachutes slow it from 300 miles an hour to 175 miles an hour and orient it properly.

Committee Says Malnutrition Does Exist in United States

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee challenged allegations that millions of Americans go to bed hungry. But it said malnutrition does exist and insisted people in this category be given free food.

The committee said its own investigation of two widely-publicized hunger reports turned up what it described as evidence of staged incidents and other attempts to "inflammate the American people instead of providing the facts."

It said the record did show individual cases of hunger exist, despite the world's best food supply, general prosperity and vast food aid programs. The committee recommended extra funds for food stamps, school lunches, surplus commodity distribution, and free or subsidized milk.

In a report to the House, the committee noted that the agriculture secretary previously had been given $50 million in unasked funds especially for feeding the hungry.

"In view of continuous allegations of hunger, the committee must insist that the secretary meet this responsibility by providing free food on an individual case basis wherever he finds and can certify that such hunger does in fact exist," the committee directed.

"If we are to reach those who may actually be hungry, the department must locate such people and see that they are properly fed." But it said large, mass feeding programs which the committee said some people were proposing would never reach "these isolated cases where the people cannot participate in the food stamps, direct distribution, on special feeding programs because of illness, isolation or ignorance."

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL, Executive Secretary ARC
It is almost time for the Annual meeting of the American Red Cross and by the time you read this, we will have plans completed (we hope) for the first breakfast meeting for our annual meeting. If you do not have your reservation, you can get tickets at the door and hear our guest speaker, the Honorable Bob Price, who will speak on the Vietnam Crisis and the Red Cross. Mrs. Jack Foster is in charge of arrangements and the breakfast will be worth your $1.75 we are told. All reports have been mimeographed and there will be no long drawn out reports. We hope that you will come and be with us at this important meeting.

Did you read the letter in our Pampa Daily News where the new born baby girl had had a letter from her father in Germany? We were glad to have had a part in sending the wire to notify the father of his baby girl. We are always glad to report births to the fathers overseas, but we have other news that must be reported too. We worry with the family over the return of the serviceman when there is a death in the family and are concerned when we have to send wires for families when the serviceman is wounded and in a hospital. The long arm of the Red Cross is good when we are needed and I am sure that many people are aware of our work.

The day we registered for the summer swim program was a rainy dismal day with only one hundred showing up to register. If interested families will come to the Red Cross office after 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., we will register for the City Pool May 28 and 29th. Fee for the use of the pool is $1.00.

The following boys and girls passed their beginner swimming course at the Pampa Youth Center May 20th under Jackie Marlar, WSI for Red Cross. They are: Terry Smith, Janine Duncan, Mark Coufal, Donna Coufal, Reeves Bevens, Jalores Duncan, Kyle Beasley, Jeff and Mark Eastman. Those who passed their Advanced Beginner Class were: Jack McDowell, Karen Hampton, Carol Sparkman, Lynn Esson, Dee Joiner, Warren Joiner, Steve Gruver, Laurel Gruver, Richard Fry, Dan Keim, and Jim Cox.

Our community does not know that we keep a permanent record of the persons who are registered in our swim classes and who pass each class. Yesterday a girl came into our office and stated she had lost her Junior Life Saving Card and needed another for a job she hoped to get this summer.

Rep. Bob Price Scheduled Red Cross Speaker

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa will take time out on a whirlwind tour of the Panhandle to speak at the Gray County Red Cross annual meeting Monday.

Price, who has visited the Far East several times, will discuss "The Red Cross and Viet Nam."

The meeting is scheduled for 7 a.m. at Coronado Inn and is a community-wide event. Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary, notes. Reservations have been made in advance for all who may be interested. Every contributor is, per se, a member.

For the first time the annual gathering will take the form of a breakfast, starting at 7 a.m. John Skelly, chapter chairman, will preside and Ben Sturgeon will introduce the Congressman.

The Rev. Dan Cameron of First Baptist Church will offer the invocation. Randy Linville will lead the pledge of allegiance. The Rev. Amos Harris of Pampa Apostolic Faith will pronounce the benediction.

Awards to three directors who have served 3-year terms will be conferred by Joe M. Daniel, Red Cross board director.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

THE BITTER WOODS — John S.D. Eisenhower; the dramatic story, told at all echelons — from supreme command to squad leader — of the crisis that shook the Western coalition; Hitler's surprise Ardennes offensive.

CECILY — Isabelle Holland; the effect is that of understanding the people and their relationships so well that you want to get into the book and make them understand one another.

FLASHBACK — Roger Dooley; the investigation of a murder in Hollywood which brings back the glittering era of silent film stars.

THEODORA — Samuel Edwards; the story of Emperor Justin and Theodora who ascended the Thrones of the Eastern Roman Empire in 527 A.D., told in fictionalized form and filled with all of the intrigue, splendor, and decay that marked the reign of the Emperor and Empress who restored a crumbling empire.

THE VALACHI PAPERS — Peter Maas; for the first time — the real story behind the celebrated Mafia informer, the man who blew the whistle, the notorious and deadly Joseph Valachi.

THE DREAMING TREE — Allan W. Eckert; the story of a boy maturing, experiencing his first flush of loneliness, the first awareness of nature.

THE NAZI HUNTER — Bynum Shaw; suspense novel that deals with the powerful questions of personal vengeance, the secret Communist threat to the West German republic, and the willingness of the people of that republic to forgive, even to honor, unregenerate Nazis.

THE FEUDING POSTMASTERS — Neill C. Wilson; in the tradition of a tall tale, this novel traces several generations of a Midwestern family who are the town postmasters.

NAMES SUBCOMMITTEE — WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., chairman of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, charged a subcommittee Tuesday with the task of turning the spotlight of public opinion on the scope of dope and whiskey abuse. Yarborough appointed Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, a man who licked a liquor problem, to head the subcommittee.

ENLISTED KITTEN — BOURNEMOUTH, England (UPI) — The British army has enlisted a kitten to guard against rats and mice that gnaw through top-secret communications cables.

'ASTRONAUT' PRICE — Pampa congressman Bob Price is shown here "getting the feel" of riding the lunar excursion model module simulator which is an exact replica of the one scheduled to land on the moon during the Apollo 11 flight in July.

And Another Thing

By RUTH LEWIS

I am sure it was not intentional but the program makers for Monday's Red Cross breakfast DO have the disaster chairman of the chapter presenting the slate of new officers!

If we all keep our fingers crossed, maybe nothing untoward will happen.

Everybody loved Bob Harrington—even those who didn't see him—when he spent four lively days here last week. At his final service at Central Baptist Church the crowd was so dense that he invited everybody to answer his SOS ("That means 'Scout Over Some'.")

When the boss here offered me a ticket to the Red Cross breakfast—he had two—I looked at mine and asked for an exchange. Why? he wondered.

"Because these digits add up to thirteen."

So I was superstitious, Mr. DeWeese commented. "Superstitious?" I am ridden with superstition. Every week of some new superstition I never knew about before, and I add it to string of dreadfuls. For instance, I have long been a devotee of sitting down when I go back for any item I have forgotten. I solemnly performed that rite in a Pampa shop the other day and the owner asked, "Do you count to ten too?"

Dear me, I thought, all my going back and sitting down for naught—just because I didn't know about this requirement.

So ever since, I have added the ten-count to my routine. Ladders? I wouldn't wald under one for a fortune, more or less. (And if I did there would probably be a painter at the top ready with a bucket to spill at that moment.)

And black cats. I love cats as probably no other Pampan ever did, but I walk blocks to avoid meeting a black one at right angles. I used to have a black cat named Midnight and I assumed the superstition was abrogated insofar as she was concerned. It was SHE who actually had the bad luck though. Some evildoer had put out poisoned meat for marauding dogs and she became a victim. She had just borne her first kittens, one black and two gray. We named the black one "Five", for "five minutes to midnight."

Well, it was our bad luck too for Midnight was, of course, the most beautiful and intelligent of cats. She adored jumping upon my desk and playing with the pencils there. She would start them rolling, then deftly stop each one right at the edge.

All three of her kittens as well as she herself, died. It was inevitable, I suppose.

I hate to start a new job of any kind on a Friday. I have heard that old saw all my life. Or to pass a pin without picking it up.

The most inconvenient of superstitions though is that one about putting a garment on wrong side out. (If you do, you must wear it all day like that, for it's "bad luck" to go back and change.)

Once I wore a dress with the inside out all day. But I was a very new mother then and probably didn't stay still long enough for anyone to notice.

I suspect that our forefathers—and especially foremothers (is there such a word?)—invented these folk beliefs just to make their children more careful. Pins, for instance, probably were not always cheap. It was important not to lose same. So—someone started the bad-luck fiction and everybody religiously picked up those that fell.

And carelessness in dress must be discouraged, even in young children. So "How would you like to wear that dress wrong-side-out all day? It would be bad luck to change; better watch how you put it on." Something like that, maybe.

But I DO wish I'd never heard of such folklore. Then I could go about blissfully breaking mirrors—what mirrors? that's SEVEN YEARS' BAD LUCK. Oh no!

for Midnight was, of course, the most beautiful and intelligent of cats. She adored jumping upon my desk and playing with the pencils there. She would start them rolling, then deftly stop each one right at the edge.

All three of her kittens as well as she herself, died. It was inevitable, I suppose.

I hate to start a new job of any kind on a Friday. I have heard that old saw all my life. Or to pass a pin without picking it up.

NIXON WEEKEND — WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Nixon are spending part of the weekend at the Camp David presidential retreat in Maryland. They were accompanied by H. R. Halde- man, presidential assistant, and Charles "Bebe" Rebozo, Key Biscayne, Fla., long-time Nixon friend, when the party left the White House by helicopter Friday. The Nixons will return in time for worship services conducted in the White House Sunday by Cardinal Terence Cook of New York.

QUICK THINKING

LOWELL, Mass. (UPI)—John Thompson, 28, of Lowell was driving south under the Boston & Maine Railroad bridge over Route 3 when he spotted a northbound tractor-trailer truck about to collide with the top of the bridge.

Thompson stopped his car, shut off the engine and slid across the seat and out the passenger door. The truck rammed the bridge, flipped over, and flattened Thompson's car.

It was the 12th time in a year a trailer truck had struck the bridge. Neither Thompson nor the truck driver was injured.

Dodgers Drop Cards; Yanks Streak Stops

National League Roundup

Padres Take Padres, 7-5
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Bernie Banks cracked a bases-loaded homerun in the fifth inning Saturday to pull the Chicago Cubs from behind and propel the leaders of the National League's Eastern Division to a 7-5 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Dodgers 5, Cards 0
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Walker's bases-loaded single in the seventh inning keyed a three-run rally that helped the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 5-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday.

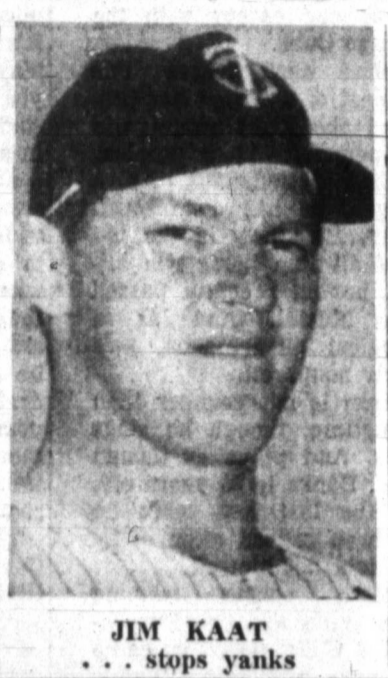

Astros 5, Mets 1
HOUSTON (UPI)—Two homers by Jim Wynn and one by Curt Blefary accounted for four runs Saturday night as the Houston Astros defeated the New York Mets 5-1 behind Larry Dierker's four-hitter and stretched their winning streak to seven games.

Phillies 8, Braves 3
ATLANTA (UPI)—John Callison drove in four runs with two singles and a home run Saturday night as the Philadelphia Phillies pounded the Atlanta Braves, 8-3.

Giants 5, Pirates 2

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Lefthander Mike McCormick pitched a seven-hitter as the San Francisco Giants defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2 Saturday.

Reds 11, Expos 2
CINCINNATI (UPI)—Lee May socked two homers and Tony Perez and Johnny Bench each hit one as the Cincinnati Reds clobbered the Montreal Expos 11-2 Saturday night behind the effective pitching of Tony Olmon.

Twins 2, Yankees 1

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Kaat hurled a five-hitter and Leo Cardenas and Tony Oliva drove in one run apiece Saturday as the Minnesota Twins defeated New York 2-1 and broke the Yankees' eight-game winning streak.

Orioles 2, Oakland 1
BALTIMORE (UPI)—Elrod Hendricks' sacrifice fly with one out in the seventh inning drove in Boog Powell with the tie-breaking run Saturday night and gave the Baltimore Orioles a 2-1 decision over the Oakland Athletics.

Pirates 3, Tribe 2
CLEVELAND (UPI)—Tommy Harper drove in two runs and stole home for the first time this season to run his stolen base total to 22 Saturday and pace the Seattle Pilots to an 8-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Harper stole home in the two-run second inning and capped a three-run rally in the fifth with a bases-loaded single.

Tigers 4, Angels 2
DETROIT (UPI)—Al Kaline drove in three runs with two homers and Jim Northrup homered over the 440-foot fence in center field Saturday powering the Detroit Tigers to a 4-2 victory over the California Angels.

Royals 5, Sens 4
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pat Kelly singled home Mike Fiore

from second base with one out in the 10th inning Saturday to give the Kansas City Royals a 5-4 victory over the Washington Senators.

Chisox 9, Boston 3
CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago White Sox broke the Boston Red Sox' four-game winning streak Saturday with a 9-3 victory highlighted by Bill Melton's grand slam homer in a five-run third inning.

Foyt Wins Pole
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Hard-charging A. J. Foyt, the Texas tornado with a heavy foot, whipped an orange-colored racer named Coyote around the speedway at better than 170 miles per hour Saturday to win the 500-mile pole position for the second time.

Green Rally Beats Gold, 33-22

BY RON CROSS

John Jenkins rallied his lagging Green forces in the final quarter, here Saturday night, for an exciting 33-22 victory over an outmanned but game Gold team in the annual Green-Gold contest.

The Varsity first teams played eight minutes of each of the first two periods and the first 12 minutes of the third period and the final 12 minutes of the fourth period.

You couldn't pick an outstanding back.

Jenkins connected on eight of 20 passes for 157 yards while the Gold could get just 55 yards from Ross Holman, Dan Hood and Dale Ammons.

Scotty King, as usual, was the game's leading ball carrier with 88 lengths on 13 totes while Don Willis, playing on an injured leg ran for 48 yards on eight totes.

But then there was Rickey Harris for the Green with 23 yards Garvin McCarrroll with 32 yards.

The Gold running was led by lightning fast Monroe Woods who gained 60 lengths, Johnny Roth added 21 more, Randy Cantrell 10, Johnny Clark, 27, sophomore. Alvin Ferguson added 14 more.

Jenkins prime receiver was senior Denny Johnson who caught seven aerials for 143 yards, one a 63 yard bomb for a touchdown.

The Green raced to a 14-0 first period lead.

The second time the Gold had the ball Chuck Lanehart recovered a fumble at the Gold 13 and three plays later King raced in from the one. David Cash's kick made it 7-0.

Jenkins then passed to Johnson for the second touchdown on the next possession.

The Green ran the count out to 21-0 in the second period, marching 57 yards in 12 plays

The Gold then began taking command and went 48 yards after intercepting a Jenkins pass, in just five plays with Woods going in from three yards out and seconds later went over with a two-point conversion to make it 21-8 at halftime.

The Green found itself in lots of trouble for a quarter and a half.

The Gold marched 82 yards in 12 plays with Holman throwing the final seven yards to new-comer Steve Scott of the score. Dan Hood ran the conversion to cut the lead to 21-16.

The Gold went in front briefly in the four-then period when freshman Alvin Ferguson capped a 23 yard march by going in from the one to make it 22-21.

But the Jenkins-led Green came alive and on its next possession went 70 yards with King going in from the three for a 27-22 Green lead.

The final Green score came just 2:40 from the end when Jenkins scored on a quarterback sneak from the two.

Aussie Crampton Shoots 68 for Atlanta Golf Lead

ATLANTA (UPI)—Curly-haired Bruce Crampton, an Australian who has been playing professionally for nearly half of his 33 years, shot an erratic 68 Saturday to surge into a two-stroke lead at the end of the third round of the Atlanta Golf Classic with a 10-under-par 206.

Crampton, who started the day in a five-way tie for third, three strokes off second round leader Pete Brown's pace, had seven birdies and three bogies in a scrambling round that required some fancy chipping to keep him out of trouble.

Brown skied to a 74-209 to wind up in a five-way tie for fifth place.

A couple of foreigners, South Africa's Gary Player and Australian Bruce Devlin, moved into a tie for second at 208 along with Bert Yancey, the lone American among the top four.

Player, dressed in green instead of his accustomed black because "It was too hot out there," had the day's best round—a 6-under-par 66.

Devlin had a 68, Yancey a 69.

Another foreigner, Canadian George Knudson who had a 71 Saturday to stand alone at 21.0 209 along with Jacky Cupit who had shared the first-round lead with Knudson, Fred Marti and Bob Erickson. Cupit shot a 71 Saturday, Marti a 69 and Erickson a 71.

Bob Charles, the New Zealand lefthander who won the 1967 Atlanta Classic, had a 71 Saturday to stand alone at 21, giving foreigners half of the top 10 spots.

Then came Lionel Hebert with a 72-211 and next, at 212, veteran Art Wall who had a 72, Grier Jones with a 74

PROTECTING THE QUARTERBACK—Johnny Clark (46) and Flip Darce (63) did a good job of holding green team member Jay Roth (67) away from gold quarterback Ross Holman (10). As a result Holman had plenty of time to get this pass over the head of Roth. The pass, however, fell short of its mark. The action was in the early stages of the spring football game Saturday night at Harvester Field.

HOW'S THIS for a wood shot? Kermit Zarley had his troubles Saturday in the Atlanta Open Tournament. He had to peer through a few natural obstacles in lining up a shot on the second hole.

Millican Shines in Net Tournament

Joe Millican won the boys 16 and under singles finals then teamed with the boy he beat in the finals to win the doubles championship in the annual Jaycee tennis tournament.

6-4, 6-2 to win the singles.

Millican defeated Joe Daniel, 6-4, 6-2 to win the singles championship then he and Daniel bumped Mark Shackelford and Ray Kenney, 6-3, 6-2 to claim the doubles championship.

Shackelford won the boys 16 and under championship by downing Doug White, 6-1, 6-1 in the semifinals and getting a forfeit over Barry George in the finals.

Jim Daniel and Lee Loshier lost out in the 16 and under doubles to Doug White and Richard Stowers, 0-6, 6-1, 6-3.

In the girls finals Sallie Charlton defeated Clesie Vaughn, 6-4, 6-4 in the finals of the girls 16 and under.

In the girls doubles finals Millican-Vaughn defeated

Stowers-Charlton, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

The Results:
Doug White def. Lee Loshier, 6-3, 6-1; Mark Shackelford def. White 6-1 6-1; Erry George def. Jim Daniel, 6-1, 6-1; Shackelford win by forfeit.
Doug White and Richard Stowers def. Jim Daniel and Lee Loshier, 0-6, 6-1, 6-3.
Boys 16 and under: Doug Carmichael def. Steve Bossay, 6-2, 6-3; Joe Millican def. Ray Kenney, 6-2, 3-1; Millican def. Carmichael, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5; Joe Daniel def. David Car, 6-3, 6-2; Millican def. Daniel, 6-4, 6-2.

Cowboys Trade Rhome To Cleveland Browns

The Cowboys Friday agreed to give Rhome up to the Cleveland Browns in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice in next December's collegiate lottery.

Rhome tried for four years to rise to the top of the ranks in the Dallas backfield, and wound up behind not only Don Meredith, but Craig Morton as well. And, with former Navy star Roger Staubach coming into the Dallas fold this year, Rhome wanted a new home.

Dallas head coach Tom Landry agreed, and, after the trade was finalized Friday, Landry indicated the Cowboys did the best they could for Rhome.

"You don't go necessarily where you can make the best deal," said Landry. "We go where we think a team has the most desire to have the player. I like to see someone really want to have one of our players."

Rhome rewrote the NCAA passing record book during his years at the University of Tulsa.

As a senior in 1964 he completed 68.7 per cent of his passes for 2,870 yards and 32 touchdowns.

In his four years with the Cowboys Rhome played only occasionally and spent most of the 1968 season on the taxi squad.

Wills Slugs Sportswriter

HOUSTON (UPI)—Maury Wills surrendered four inches and 55 pounds to his opponent. And yet, if the scoring went on the number of punches thrown, the speedy Montreal shortstop would have been the winner in a unanimous decision.

Wills engaged in a brief jousting match with Montreal sportswriter Ted Blackman Tuesday when the Expos, the last place team in the Eastern Division of the National League, were traveling by bus from the Houston airport to their motel.

Details of the incident were not learned until Friday, however.

It all began when Expos outfielder Mack Jones called Blackman to the back of the bus to ask him about a story critical of first baseman Donn Clendenon. Wills joined the conversation which quickly turned to something Wills said and Blackman reported. Wills told Blackman not to use his name anymore in Blackman's paper.

"I have to use your name as long as you're the starting shortstop on this ball club," Blackman said.

"I was standing no more than two feet away when you said that. This happens all the time. Sometimes a player will be interviewed and there will be 20 writers in a group around the batting cage," Blackman said.

Wills then slapped Blackman and Jones had to restrain the sportswriter to keep Blackman from returning the blow.

Later Blackman said he and Wills met for two hours after the slapping incident, solved any disagreement and "forgot it."

Foster Keeps Title, Referee Stops Bout

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—Bob Foster, enraged and turned into a brawler by an accidental butt slash open Andy Kendall's left eye and stopped him with a vicious barrage on the ropes in the fourth round Saturday afternoon to retain his world light heavyweight title.

Kendall managed to rise but the referee called a halt after taking a look at the glazed eyes of the challenger from Portland, Oregon.

A-Giants Nip Albuquerque In Texas, 3-2

By United Press International
The cities of Dallas and Fort Worth may have been three degrees cooler than El Paso Friday night, but the Texas League ball club was three runs hotter.

Both the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs and the El Paso Sun Kings were two of the hottest teams in the league going into the game. The Spurs were on a seven-game winning streak and the Kings had won their last six in a row.

Tonight the Spurs will play the same El Paso club, although this time Dallas-Fort Worth will be protecting an eight-game winning streak. The Spurs cooled the Kings somewhat Friday, 6-3.

In other action, Memphis and Shreveport split a doubleheader, Memphis winning the opener, 4-0, with the Braves taking the nightcap, 4-1; Arkansas bombed San Antonio, 11-4; and Amarillo edged Albuquerque, 3-2.

Gerry Schoen recorded his second win in three decisions for Dallas-Fort Worth. He was relieved in the eighth inning when Bill Parlier, with one man on, hit his third homer of the season.

Bill Seals evened his record at 3-3, pitching a two-hit shut-out for Memphis' win in the opener of its twinbill. But Tony King turned around in the nightcap and went the distance, surrendering only one run in the bottom of the fifth, to pick up his second win of the year against one loss.

The Travelers battered two San Antonio pitchers for 18 hits and 11 runs in handing the Missions their sixth loss in a row. The last time San Antonio won a game, it was 10 days ago against this same Arkansas ball club. At that time the Missions were in second place by one game. Today they occupy the Eastern Division cellar, five games off the pace.

The Giants scored two runs in the top of the eighth to top Albuquerque and even their present series at one game apiece.

National League Roundup
By United Press International
Grant Jackson is 152 homers behind Richie Allen but he may be closing the gap soon if he keeps taking lessons from Allen.

Allen, who hit the 153rd homer of his career in the sixth inning, gave Jackson some batting tips before Friday night's game with the Atlanta Braves—and Jackson went out and hit his first major league homer to power the Philadelphia Phils to a 6-2 victory.

John Eriggs singled and stole second and the Braves then intentionally walked Larry Hise to bring up Jackson in the seventh but Jackson foiled the strategy with his three-run drive.

Ties Game
Allen's homer in the sixth had tied the game 2-2.

In other National League action, Cincinnati edged Montreal, 4-3, Houston blanked New York 7-0, St. Louis nipped Los Angeles, 1-0, San Francisco beat Pittsburgh, 3-0 and Chicago topped San Diego, 6-0.

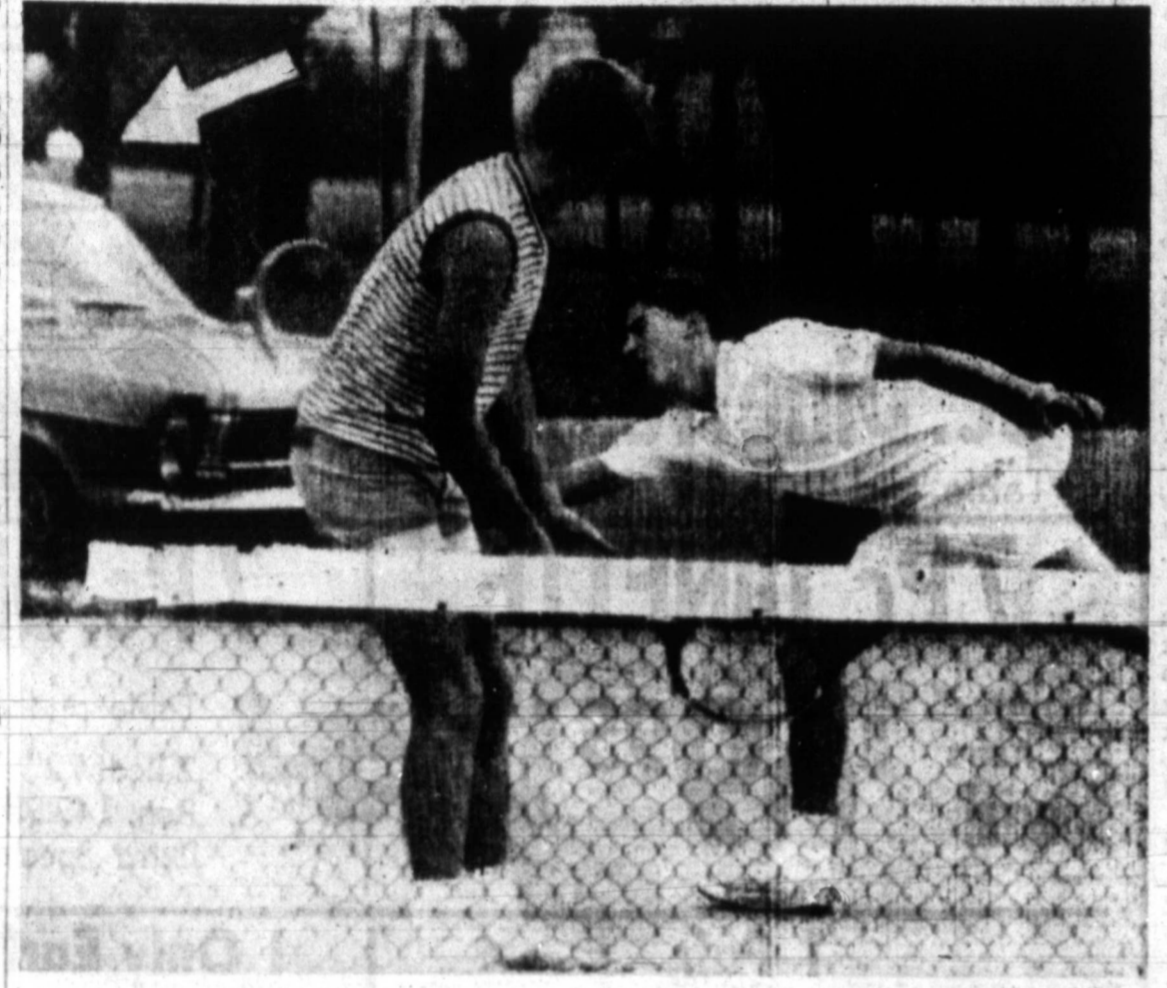

In the American League, Cleveland drubbed Seattle, 7-1, Baltimore nipped Oakland 4-3.

New York beat Minnesota, 3-1, Boston nipped Chicago, 4-2, Kansas City beat Washington, 4-3 and Detroit stopped California, 6-3.

Dick Selma pitched a two-hitter as Chicago beat San Diego. It was Chicago's seventh shutout in its last 11 games.

Gary Ross, who was involved in the deal in which Selma was sent from San Diego to Chicago, started against Selma and took the loss. It was the sixth straight loss for Selma.

Foytack Watches Lolich

DETROIT, Mich. (UPI)—Paul Foytack picked an appropriate night to see his first baseball game of the season.

The former Detroit Tiger pitcher came out to Tiger Stadium Friday night and threw some batting practice between watching Mickey Lolich break the all-time Tiger-strikeout record by fanning 16 batters, as he beat the California Angels, 4-0, on a four-hitter.

The 16-strikeout performance broke the Tiger record of 15—set in 1956 by Paul Foytack.

Mickey Stanley hit a grand slam in the fourth inning to give Lolich all the help he needed.

Eighth Loss
Stanley, hitting .217 going into the game, hit his grand slam to the opposite field after loser Andy Messersmith walked the bases loaded. It was the Angels' eighth straight loss.

In other American League action, New York topped Minnesota, 3-1, Baltimore edged Oakland, 4-0, Cleveland drubbed Seattle, 7-1, Kansas City nipped

HOW DO YOU MEASURE GROWTH?

You can't use a tape measure or a yardstick when you're talking about people... especially when you're talking about the young people who comprise our new graduates.

Time and time again, they've proven their ability to grow... and now as they come to this time of commencement, we think they stand pretty tall.

Congratulations, Seniors... May you continue to grow in success and happiness.

Pass Laws Causing Uproar

By CHRISTOPHER MacDERMOTT
 JOHANNESBURG. South Africa (UPI)—There is new political uprear in South Africa over the nation's strict "pass laws" which cover the movement and activities of Africans.

part of South Africa's official apartheid (separation of the races) apparatus, is to control the movement of Africans into the cities.

The latest furor was touched off by the suffocation of three Africans in an overcrowded police van last month. The victims were awaiting trial for failure to carry valid identification booklets, as required by the pass laws.

Primary intent of the laws, Over 14,000,000 Americans are building for the future with Living Insurance from Equitable. Shouldn't you too? Your Equitable protector can show you how.

 NEW YORK, N.Y.

As a result of the new controversy and heated debate in parliament, Police Minister Lourens Muller has ordered an inquiry into the police van deaths, although he accused the opposition of raising the matter for political rather than humanitarian reasons.

"The more the incident is blown up the more harm it will do South Africa," Muller told the House.

The police minister expressed his regret over the deaths, and extended his sympathy to the families of the men. They were among 89 minor offenders being transported from a detention camp 20 miles outside the city to the Bantu Commissioner's Court in Johannesburg in the custody of two african policemen.

The debate in parliament on the suffocations erupted into a major row between the government and the opposition United party, which charged that pass offenders were being held in prison for six weeks and that they were being detained too far from the court.

Discuss Case
 Many of South Africa's most influential papers have discussed the case editorially. The anti-government Rand Daily Mail estimated some 2,500 African men, women and teenagers, are arrested "for purely technical offenses" every day.

This, it said, was leading to "broken families, unemployment, poverty, bewilderment and racial bitterness."

The pro-government Vanderland did not link the deaths with the pass laws, but it said: "An injustice towards our non-whites is a double evil because out of it only hate against whites is born. The overseas propoganda which has flown from this sorrowful affair we do not even wish to consider."

The pass laws compel every African over 16 to carry identification stamped with the areas where the bearer may live and work.

The Prairie Wind

By CLEO TOM TERRY

When we knew there was to be an oil well drilled on our creek we had mixed emotions, and felt that unless it was really a good well the royalty paid to others who were interested would not begin to pay for destruction of the grass, the cover, and the danger to cattle and game.

had them for longer than that now, and it's been so muddy that they couldn't get Cookie and Cowboy out of the lots to ride them! Not till Sunday.

Our two ball-players, Randy Pulse, who always sends his schedule to his Uncle Cammie and Billy Bob Terry, have had similar bad luck in that most all their games have been rained out.

Imagine our delight and surprise when, on going to the rig we found a "spotless operation". Not one cement sack, not one old discarded garment, not an oil can, was thrown around. The slush pit was big and deep enough to hold all oil and waste. The drilling operation was as neat and clean. Accustomed as we were to seeing junk and filth around even pumping units, we were more than pleased at the good fortune we had in having such a company do the drilling for the group that has our lease!

Jet and Wood Hardcastle arrived from Silverton Friday and spent the week-end at the Duncan Ranch where they lived and worked for around twenty-two years.

Someone else was at the ranch for the branding—he isn't an old timer but I betcha he has lots of brandings in his time. He is Ronald Austen Cox and he lives with his parents of two weeks, Patsy and Bill Cox out on a farm near Canyon. He was born on May 12 and since he is already 21½ inches tall he ought to be able to ride Pat's little saddle by the time he is a yearling!

If I'd had the camera wit me horse-back today, I'd have got a picture I would treasure all my life. My 73-year-old husband on Sissy's horse, Goog, and my 81 year old father on Be Bo's Cowboy working cows down at the windmill. Cammie hauled Cowboy home after we'd mated and cut out some cows and calves, but Dad, Ernie Jones of Pampa, and I rode home horseback.

"As ignorant as a town dog" is a term all farmers know. It doesn't mean actually ignorant, nor is it meant to be derogatory, because town dogs, mostly living inside, instead of outside like farm dogs, are generally cute and lovable.

It just means that "they don't know theirself nothin'" about livestock and get all excited and nervous around them. A horse that spent all of his life in town would be exactly like the dogs, uneasy or too anxious around stock.

Key Clubbers Tell Plans For Future

Five members of the Pampa High School Key Club, four seniors and a junior, told members of the Downtown Kiwanis Club Friday what they plan to do in the future.

They were Joe Daniel III, Key Club president; John Carr, John Barnhill, Edward Moultrie, Terry Pulse, all seniors who will be graduated Thursday night, and Tim Tim Duke, a junior, who is lieutenant governor of Division VI of the Key Club's Texas-Oklahoma District. Duke, son of Kiwanian J. W. Duke, is moving from the city with his family.

All five Key Clubbers said they plan to enter college next fall to study for careers in business, teaching or the ministry.

D. W. Bond asked Kiwanians to support a club project by assisting the Salvation Army to send 40 underprivileged boys to camp this summer. Bond said a boy can be sponsored for $25 and urged any Pampan wishing to send a youngster to camp to contact him at the Cabot Corp. in the Hughes Bldg. or notify any Kiwanis Club member.

Royce Laycock, club president, announced that Kiwanis Ladies Night has been scheduled for Friday, June 13. The club will not hold a regular meeting next Friday

WANDA MAE HUFF, WOMEN'S EDITOR

Miss Pamela Noe Weds John Locke

Miss Pamela Jean Noe and John Gregory Locke exchanged marriage vows in an afternoon wedding ceremony in First Baptist Church parlor Saturday. Rev. Marion B. Smith officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie W. Noe, 1830 N. Nelson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Locke, 1101 Charles.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length white peau de soie trimmed with white lace around the hem. It was designed with an empire waistline, A-line skirt and fingertip, pointed sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was anchored by a white chiffon bow and white chiffon flowers, embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and ivy.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Sharon McConnell, Pampa, was matron of honor, with Miss Charla Noe as bridesmaid. Both were dressed in emerald green peau de soie princess style dresses of street-length and carried nosegays of white mums and green carnations.

Duane Evans, Lubbock, was best man; Mark Stiggins, and David Bowersock, Lubbock, were ushers.

Jerry Whitten, pianist, played wedding selections as the couple exchanged vows in a setting of white mums, white gladiolas and green carnations.

RECEPTION

Whitten played music for the reception in the church parlor as Miss Janetta Baten registered guests. Mrs. Harold Taylor served punch and was assisted by Mrs. James Simpson serving cake. Miss Alisia Quinn distributed rice bags. The serving table was covered with a white cloth with green net and decorated with a three-tiered white cake which was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and decorated with green sugar bells.

For the honeymoon to Red River, N.M., the bride traveled in a yellow silk shantung coat and dress with white accessories.

The couple plan to live in Crownfield this summer. The bridegroom is attending Texas Tech majoring in chemical engineering and will be employed at Seagraves this summer.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS

A bridal shower was given by the bride's sisters in Phi Epsilon Beta and a rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Buna Uselton, Burkburnett; Mr. and Mrs. C.T. Locke, Miami; Miss Jan Whitaker, Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Quinn and family, Odessa.

MRS. WILLIAM RANDAL KERANEN
... nee Narvella Mosley

Miss Narvella Mosley Exchanges Vows With William R. Keranen

Miss Narvella Jane Mosley was united in marriage with William Randal Keranen in an evening ceremony in Mary Ellen and Harvester Streets Church of Christ recently. J.R. Chism, of Gardner St. Church of Christ, Borger, officiated for the double-ring wedding vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Mosley, 1114 Mary Ellen. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Keranen, Borger.

BRIDE

Given in marriage with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride was dressed in a full-length white peau de soie dress worn beneath a full-length gown of white chiffon. The chiffon was designed with a rounded neckline and long sleeves. The sleeves were accented with lace floral and leaf design from the wrists to elbows. The floral lace pattern extended over the shoulders and down the front of her bodice and was accented with seed pearls.

The shoulder-length illusion veil was bordered in scalloped lace and attached to a floral headpiece of lace trimmed in seed pearls and chiffon. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

ATTENDANTS

Best man was Ronald Ray Keranen, brother of the bridegroom. Ringbearer was Damon Dees, Borger, with LeRece Knight, Borger, as flower girl. John Clark Jr., and Jon Mosley seated wedding guests.

Miss Mary Lynn Keranen, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor and was dressed in a full-length A-line satin dress and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

Music was sung by a bridal choir of Gardner St. Church of Christ, which presented "More," "Walk Hand in Hand with Me," and "Bridal Chorus."

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church, the serving table was covered in a linen cloth accented with lace inserts and decorated with bride's and maid of honor's rose cascades. An epergne held pink candles, pink roses and white mums. The four-tiered cake was decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Lorita Walls served punch as Miss Frances Mudd served cake. Miss Sylvia Mosley registered guests.

For the honeymoon to New Mexico and Colorado, the bride traveled in a rose coat-dress with a pink and white plaid walking coat and a corsage of white roses.

The bride, a 1965 graduate of Pampa High School, attended Frank Phillips College one year and West Texas State University two years. She is employed by Cabot Corp. The bridegroom is a 1964 graduate of Borger High School, receives his Bachelor of Science degree from WTSU this month and is a member of WTSU chapter of Alpha Chi Honor Society.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Lecta Reynolds, Longview; Don Colvard, Columbus, Mo.; Miss Judith Kitto, Lenoran, and Mrs. Sarah Josey, Rush Springs, Okla.

MRS. DICK HOWARD WEATHERLY
... nee Patricia Ann McGlasson

Miss McGlasson, Dick H. Weatherly Repeat Double-Ring Marriage Vows

Miss Patricia Ann McGlasson was united in marriage with Dick Howard Weatherly in an afternoon wedding ceremony Saturday in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.N. McGlasson, Abilene. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Weatherly, 2117 N. Russell.

Rev. Dr. Elbert G. Peak officiated for the double-ring ceremony which was performed beneath an arch of yellow roses. Yellow roses also decorated banisters for the nuptial setting.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a full-length peau de soie dress which was designed with a high neckline and long sleeves. The sleeves were trimmed with wide cuffs and buttons. Her skirt was gathered at the waist with cummerbund. Her Mantilla was secured to a bow for a headpiece.

She carried a white orchid with stephanotis and English ivy on a Bible.

Miss Kathie Shell, Abilene, was maid of honor, and was dressed in a lime taffeta dress trimmed in white lace and designed with a high neckline. She carried a long-stemmed yellow rose surrounded by white carnations. Miss Monya Dixon, Abilene, was bridesmaid and was dressed in a high-necked yellow taffeta dress which was trimmed in white lace. Her flowers were the same as the maid of honor's.

Danny Winters, Pampa, brother of the bridegroom, assisted with best man duties. Groomsman was Leslie Weatherly, Organist, Ken Mayhall, Abilene, accompanied Albert Haile Jr. the bride's uncle, who sang "More," and "Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother was dressed in a powder blue shift worn beneath a full-length lace coat. Her accessories were white gloves, bag and shoes.

The bridegroom's mother wore a blue shift with a full-length coat of darker blue lace and wore pearly beige shoes and bag for accessories. Both mothers wore white carnations for corsages.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the bride's grandparent's home in Abilene, yellow roses and candles were used with a Bible shaped cake for the table centerpiece. Pam Martin, Abilene, served cake, and was assisted at the guest register by Mrs. Shirley Haile Jr., the bride's aunt.

For the honeymoon to Red River, N.M., the bride traveled in a blue voile dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Abilene High school and is attending West Texas State University. The bridegroom, a Pampa High School graduate, is a WTSU student and will be employed for an oil company.

Health baths exist in all countries, but Austria probably holds the record for them. About 100 spas in that country offer cures for more than a dozen diseases.

Among some of the mixtures used for bathing, in addition to water, are sand, peat, radioactive mud, milk, beer, aromatic herbs, salts, oils, ammonia and hot air.

MRS. DAVID LEON HARVEY
... nee Sandra Louise Kennemer

Miss Sandra Kennemer Says Vows In Chapel With David Leon Harvey

Miss Sandra Louise Kennemer pledged wedding vows with David Leon Harvey in an evening ceremony in First Methodist Church Chapel, Pampa, with Rev. Edwin W. Boyte, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kennemer, 1121 E. Foster. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Homer F. Harvey, Oklahoma City, Okla.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed an empire gown of white peau de soie with full-length bell-shaped skirt, a high wide neckline and elbow-length bell-shaped sleeves. The hem and sleeves were bordered with lace appliques. She carried out the theme of "something old, new, borrowed and blue" and wore a new penny in her shoe for good luck.

The shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a bow of pearl points of organza embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses with orchids in the middle with streamers.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Vickie Lea Hayes, Oklahoma City, was maid of honor, with Miss Donna Gail Huckins, White Deer, as bridesmaid. Both were dressed in street-length A-line dresses of deep rose brocade with empire waistline accented by matching bows and streamers. Their accessories were white gloves and silver shoes. They carried nosegays of split-white carnations with sweetheart roses in the center and streamers.

Best man was Donald Gene Featherstone, Oklahoma City. Groomsman was Donald Ray Bigham, Amarillo, and usher, Al Gomez, Pampa.

Rickie Land, organist, played "Because," "Wedding Prayer," "Whither Thou Goest," and "I Love You Truly." Church decorations were a pair of candle-labra containing white candles. Baskets of pink gladiolas and white mums were placed before the altar.

Attendants' nosegays were used as a centerpiece accented by six lighted pink candles in crystal candle holders.

The three-tiered white cake was decorated with pink roses and silver bells topped with white doves and silver bells with a miniature set of bride's rings.

Mrs. Don Bigham, Amarillo assisted at the punch bowl as Mrs. Fred Kindle served cake and Pam Johnson, Denton, registered guests. Other assisting were Mrs. Gerald Huckins and Mrs. Emily Enger, both of White Deer, and Miss Tonin Kindle who distributed rice bags.

For the honeymoon to Amarillo and Lake Texoma, the bride traveled in a blue long-sleeved linen dress with matching accessories and orchids from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, Pampa High School graduate in 1967, attended a keypunch school in Oklahoma City and is employed as a keypunch operator.

RECEPTION
For the reception in the First Methodist Church Chapel parlor, the serving table was covered with pink table

Altrusa Club Has May Noon Luncheon

Pampa Altrusa Club members attended their May noon luncheon recently in the Coronado Inn with Mrs. M.Q. Wilson, president, presiding as members heard district convention reports.

Mrs. Dick Sullins introduced Barbara Brown, Altrusa Girl for May. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Brown, she is a Pampa High School senior, president of her home room, a member of Concert Choir, Freedom's Children and Truteens.

Mrs. Fred Weeks, vocational services chairman, read correspondence from Linda Dyer, recipient of the $500 Altrusa scholarship and Sherill Mc-

Miss Dirce Borges

Carthy, recipient of the Inez Carter Altrusa Scholarship. Miss Dyer will attend Frank Phillips College in Borger. Miss McCarthy will be attending West Texas State University.

On a recommendation from the board of directors, the club voted to use its Career Clinic project for the Mamie L. Bass award presented by Altrusa International.

In response to a letter from the Salvation Army requesting help to send a child to summer camp, the club contributed $25.

Mrs. C.C. Fitzgerald presented the program on the recent seminar workshop held for Area III, District Nine in Odessa. Assisting Mrs. Fitzgerald in her report were Mrs. Van Vanderburg, Mrs. Dick Sullins, Mrs. Lora Dunn, Mrs. Billy Tidwell and Miss Vermell Meador.

A letter was read from Dirce Borges, who is in her third year at a South American university, studying to be a teacher. After graduation, she plans to teach in a Normal School-Teachers' College and while attending the university is teaching first grade children, seven and eight years old. Miss Borges received a scholarship for the university from Pampa Altrusa Club.

Twentieth Century Culture Members Install Officers

Mrs. E.E. Shelhamer, outgoing president of Twentieth Century Culture Club, conducted a unique installation ceremony for incoming officers, to highlight the club's recent luncheon meeting at the Coronado Inn.

Using a pharmacology theme, Mrs. Shelhamer presented to Mrs. Jack Hood, president, an apothecary jar symbolizing the apothecary shop and the president as head of the shop. To Mrs. Dan Cameron, vice-president, she presented a mortar bowl and pestle symbolizing putting all ideas and suggestions and compounding them into interesting programs. To Mrs. Paul Mitchell, secretary, she gave the prescription pad, to keep the records straight. To Mrs. Rufe Jordan, treasurer, she gave the balance scales, so receipts and disbursements might be balanced. To Mrs. Wayne Irwin, reporter, she presented a pencil and sketch pad for advertising the club's affairs; and for herself as parliamentarian, the Roberts Rules of Order.

For Child Styles, Moms Think Young

NEW YORK (NEA) — Little girls are lucky today. Their mothers are thinking young when they choose clothes for the small fry—because they think young when they choose their own.

And so the summer scene will include little girls wearing bell-bottoms, cut-outs and sheer fashions. They will sport culottes and like mom they will choose footwear that is functional as well as fashionable.

Styling in casual shoes for tots includes the smart rounded toe that is right for growing feet. And there are T-strap ties and slip-on models in cotton poplin.

Colors are sharp and bright yellow, orange and red. There are faded bright and navy blues as well. One group in red white and blue comes in solids and, in a check that combines all three colors.

Even the sneaker with its posture foundation construction that places a rigid wedge in the heel to help shift body weight to the outside of the foot to lessen muscle strain appears in a range of fashion colors.

Government figures of the Philippines show that 68,517 women are engaged in various community and rural development programs in Philippine villages.

MRS. CLIFFORD J. MOSLEY, JR.
... nee Linda Ann James

Miss James Weds Lt. C.J. Mosley Jr.

Miss Linda Ann James, West Texas State University, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon James, Newport, R. I., is serving aboard the U. S. S. Franklin D. Roosevelt in Portsmouth, Va.

The smallest bath is the finger bowl.

Clifford Jackson Mosley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jackson Mosley, Sr. of 1114 Mary Ellen, in a ceremony performed in St. Mary's Church, Newport, R. I.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an A-line gown of karate, featured Venice lace trim on the high scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Matching lace also accented the detachable Watteau train. Her veil of silk illusion was gathered to a Venice lace crown trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Miss Diane De Santis was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Watts, Miss Eleanor Faria, and Miss Nancy Rayburg. They wore gowns of marigold silk linen, featuring pleated bodices. White Venice lace bordered the neckline and short-puffed sleeves. They carried cascade bouquets of daisies. The best man was Lieutenant Commander William Soims. Ushers were Gordon James, Jr. brother of the bride, Jeremiah Lynch, Jr. brother-in-law of the bride, and Lieut. (J. G.) Ron Turtella.

A reception was held at Shamrock Cliff House. The bride, a graduate of St. Catherine Academy, attended Milgrim Secretarial School and is a secretary at the Naval Underwater Weapons Research and Engineering Station in Newport, R. I.

Lt. Mosley, a graduate of elegant fabrics play a part in at-home evening wear—for him. Consider: royal blue flared slacks of velvet and worn with a blue and white silk shirt and matching silk scarf. Brocades also make the man fashionable.

Avoid Clash
You'll be "cool" on even the hottest day on a beach towel that has "pizzazz." Fringed luxurious terry towels in glowing colors are as dazzling as the sun. One hint: Make sure your towel doesn't clash with your swimsuit.

UPHOLSTERY CHOICE
A Penn State University extension home furnishings specialist suggests that homeowners consider where and how a new upholstery fabric will be used before it is bought. Fabric that is suitable in color, design and texture, and is colorfast, soil-resistant and flame-resistant is a good choice.

Another Reason We're Number 1

Dear Abby
By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to tell you what in my opinion is about the rudest thing people can do.

It's sitting there with their eyes glued to the television when people come to visit them. They don't even bother to turn their heads toward you to answer a question. Half the time they don't even hear you they are so absorbed in the "hoob tube."

Please print this for those who are guilty of this unforgivable offense, and sock it to 'em, but good.

IGNORED
DEAR IGNORED: You did not make clear the "circumstances." If people "drop in" uninvited, perhaps the captive "host" is deliberately showing his displeasure. If invited guests must compete with the boob tube, I'd say the host is indeed rude, and the guests should make it an early evening.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are friends of a married couple who are having their marital problems.

Our problem is that they keep calling us—wanting to talk. We have told them that we do not want to get in the middle of their arguments, but they keep calling anyway. As soon as one hangs up, the other one calls. They call at all hours of the day and night, which takes a lot of nerve. We are sick of it.

It's getting so that we don't really much care if we retain their friendship or not. But how do we get them to quit calling us?

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: There must be something the matter with the way you've been telling them to quit calling you. Kindness is sometimes mistaken for weakness. So you will have to match them in nerve if you want to get out from the middle.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has an aunt who is filthy rich. She is getting on in years, and time has not mellowed her. She's still brittle and bossy and likes to run everything.

She has lots of very valuable jewelry, mostly antiques she's collected over the years.

She insisted that I read the letter of instructions she gave her lawyer regarding the disposition of her jewelry. I was shocked. She is leaving some pieces to me on the condition that I in turn leave them to our sons only if they marry within their faith! (Our sons are 5 and 8, and a long way from marriage. Besides, what has the religion of the girls they marry have to do with anything I give to them?)

If she leaves something to me, don't I then have the right to do with it what I please?

AT A LOSS
DEAR AT: If you don't wish to let your aunt direct from her grave the disposition of her jewelry (and I don't blame you), tell her you can't go along with her "conditions," so she had better leave the baubles to someone else.

Elegant Hair Style
If your hair is fairly long, and you're looking for a simple but elegant style that you can fix yourself, try this: Divide your hair into two sections—brush back and side hair into a high pony tail, and take the top front section, feather and spray it a little to give it some fullness, then wrap it around the rubber band holding the pony tail and fasten the piece of hair with a bobby pin underneath the pony tail. Feather and spray pony tail.

GAS ADDS GLAMOUR TO OUTDOOR LIVING

This year add the convenience and charm of an outdoor gas grill and Charmglow gas light to your backyard cookout fun. Pick the grill and light that best suits you and order from us.

MASTER CHEF (AMK)
One of the most popular we've ever offered. Cast of rust-free aluminum it lets you cook without mess or guess. Priced at $78.00, budget terms available.

PARTY HOST (HEJ)
This single unit is one of the finest on the market. It has an additional rack for cooking and warming. Priced at $90.00 with budget terms available.

FIESTA
New concept in design, it has a man-sized grill with FOUR COOKING LEVELS. Fiesta is 24" long, one third larger than the average grill. Cast of heavy-duty, care-free aluminum. Priced at $108.00, with budget terms available.

CHEF'S CHOICE (CC-1)
The ultimate in outdoor grills. CHEF'S CHOICE has TWO separate cooking units, each with its own controls. It lets you broil, roast, bake or boil. Priced at $133.20 with budget terms available.

A CHARMGLOW GAS LIGHT ADDS THE FINAL TOUCH
Add a Charmglow gas light and you've added more than illumination... you've added charm and atmosphere as well.

Available in black (#300) or white (#325), either is compatible with your style of architecture. The #300 and #325 are priced at $52.36 each with budget terms available.

SAVE $26 BY BUYING THE PAIR

Part of the romantic look in feminine fashions is old-fashioned smocking, now done by machine instead of by hand. The approved technique for keeping this decoration deeply indented after laundering is to hold the two ends of the smocked section and snap it taut. The "dimples" will leap neatly into place.

Pampa Order of Rainbows Installs Carrie Rogers as Worthy Advisor

Miss Carrie Beth Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rogers, Pampa, was installed Saturday as worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbows for Girls, Pampa Assembly 95.

Those participating in the ceremony were A. L. Moore, who presented her with the gavel and Miss Jan Osborne and Miss Carol Summers who sang the worthy advisor's song, "A Willing Heart."

Miss Rogers' theme is service. Her colors are lilac and blue and her flower is lilac. Installing officers were Miss Cathy Diest, chaplain; Miss Jeri Vaughn, recorder; Mrs. Lorena McNaughton, musician; Miss Nancy Elsheimer, officer, and Miss Clessie Vaughn, marshal.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FOR SUNDAY, MAY 25, 1969
Your birthday today: Your coming year is full of changes, reconstruction. Sweeping habits replace old ones. Business or job requirements may force relocation for many of today's natives. For those who stay put, the environment changes. Today's natives are very sensitive to visual stimuli, versatile and dexterous. Their occupations defy classification.

AIRIES (March 21-April 19): fairly good day for reviewing your health. Do your share is the community's expression of faith, then take it easy and let others come to you. It can be an enjoyable change.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The way you behave today sets the tone for a long time to come. Be agreeable and make every effort to be tolerant where you can not quit, accept the ways and needs of other people.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Find some new perspective on life. Wear new clothes for the first time. Cultivate new acquaintances to see if they may become friends. Drop by to visit your old friends (particularly those you have not seen for a while).

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Extra care is greatly needed today (in all travel or the use of mechanical equipment). After some initial confusion, a good day of visiting is promised.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Comment from others still has you annoyed - keep it under control. Arrange some way of changing your methods to obviate the criticism; never mind the embarrassment, of being noticed in the act of turning about.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your relatives and neighbors expect to see you this Sunday. Do the amenities gracefully, make the rounds (there are gifts for you here and there), then seek solitude.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Money has to be spent today on institutions and the use of them for various purposes. Take the time to check everything out before doing anything drastic. Finding the "why" in a situation may be more important than any other determination.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): There is a potential rift between your social obligations and your deeper personal interests. Criticism is merely something to live with for the moment while you seek a solution.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): There is no point in resenting supervision—if you do not like it, find or create conditions where you don't get it in unacceptable form. Today is a good time to think about service, employment, personal responsibility, and what your feeling for them may be.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Start early, do your share in local customs and community expressions of faith. Then visit your friends, meet new people. Keep going all day!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Consult mate, family, relatives, friends to see how much of a program you can adopt which will have something in it for all in proportion to their importance in your life. Make no promises, just listen.

PISCES Feb. 19-March 20): Sunday may find you in some quandary over a home condition. There should be help available.

MONDAY, MAY 26

YOUR BIRTHDAY Monday: Your coming year is taken up with those adjustments necessary for working cooperatively. The major trend is new homes for women, new relationship or marriage for men! A pair or group can accomplish double what the individual can. Really a time of opportunity! Monday's natives include many with revolutionary spirit, determined to upset the establishment.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your plans may have to be suddenly revised - Monday... Contacts with influential people are productive at this time. Group endeavors are promising and should be pressed industriously.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Go ahead with your plans as you have worked them out. Put in a full day of steady, constant effort, and feel the satisfaction of a job well done.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The week bursts open - don't let an early quirk give you a wrong slant on where to head for the day's activities. Bring some more people in on the deal and you'll have it all set.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Following a brief interlude of excitement or a broken appointment or two early in the day, all turns out systematic. Make a strong presentation of your projects if you are seeking support.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The morning at first seems more grim than the reality, particularly in financial matters. When you get into the swing of the day everything turns around for the better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): (See HOROSCOPE, Page 19)

PROMISE OF A GREATER AMERICA

The Seniors... young people on their way to ever-higher goals; young people dreaming bigger dreams and working hard to make dreams come true. This is what gives promise to making America's future ever greater. The diploma, like the flag is simply a symbol. The real test of greatness for people or for nations is in honorable and continuing achievement. The new Seniors have, by their past achievements, given every indication that they are willing and able to meet that test... to help make tomorrow's America greater than ever.

Our prayers and best wishes go with this outstanding Senior Class.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION—Mrs. H. M. Norris, who celebrated her 92nd birthday recently, opens one of the gifts she received during the celebration which was sponsored at 618 S. Reed St. by the Royal Neighbors and Friends. Refreshments were served to 18 family members and guests who attended the party.

tendency is to make decisions too quickly, on too little evidence. Try to take a second look before rejecting something new. Travel should be avoided, if you can.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): People come rushing in to ask you to change appointments. Keep your original plans as much as possible, through the hubbub of the day. Consultations with experts, people from far places can be immensely profitable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Endeavor the utmost to gather a new financial base on which to operate soon. A completely different direction this evening will be your best bet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You have a great deal to gain by staying on a straight path. Many tempting diversions, but all lead away from the main purpose. Secrecy seems difficult now, but some things require it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Haste Monday would be destructive in the long run. It is better to miss some opportunity than to head in a wrong direction.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): With an attentive ear, you may get the germ of a new project which can develop into great material advantage! Serious study in the evening brings important results.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): After confusion starts it off on a false note, the day gradually eases. Leave the arguments to those who wish to bicker, and follow the course which seems to you more natural.

Civic Culture Club Members Schedule Picnic, Discuss Educational Concepts of 21st Century

The Civic Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Frank Grantham in Groom as Mrs. Irvin Cole presided during the business session. It was announced the club's annual picnic would be at 7 p.m. Tuesday west of the bridge in Central Park.

Mrs. A. B. Cross introduced the program with Mrs. C. V. Forsman having as her topic "Stairway to New Concepts of Education." For her program she distributed to members a map of Europe and Asia showing the countries depicted in the form of animals, with Russia at the top in the form of a large black bear.

"By the time America enters the 21st. century, education as we know it today will no longer be in existence," Mrs. Forsman said. "In its place will be the most modern education ever envisioned by man. Educators who are gazing into the future are Dr. Water Buetten Bach, director of construction and planning; Dr. Albert Posner, assistant superintendent for educational media; Dr. Richard Guernich, assistant superintendent of secondary instruction. All three educators are from Torrance Unified School District near Los Angeles, Calif., and agree schools of the future will be dependent upon several conditions, absolutely 'new concepts'.

robots, information retrieval systems, and other complex electronic equipment." Mrs. Forsman said.

"Students will be studying subjects that are not taught in today's classrooms. The students will like it all, and the machine in the classroom may even cause more interest in school, but the most important thing to remember about the new equipment in the classroom is this: no matter what, there will always be a need for a teacher in the classroom," she said.

Mrs. Pennington installed officers for 1969-70, using as a theme "Praying Hands". After each officer was given her charge, Mrs. H. W. Waters and Mrs. A. C. Houchin sang "Precious Lord Take My Hand", accompanied by Mrs. Cole at the piano.

Assuming presidency of the organization is Mrs. A. D. Hills. Others installed were Mrs. A. B. Cross, vice-president; Mrs. C. V. Forsman, recording secretary; Mrs. John McKerney, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. C. Houchin, treasurer; Mrs. Irvin Cole, parliamentarian. Mrs. H. W. Waters, Emmett Osborne, and Mrs. Cole assumed the charge of membership chairman for Mrs. Pennington, the reporter.

Belief in Self Needed

"As future historians look back on our times," writes Willis W. Harman in an article in a recent issue of Stanford Today, "what will they conclude to have been the most significant event of the present decade in terms of its impact on the future? The riots in the cities? The Vietnam War? The Great Society programs? The hippie movement? Student protest? Technological and scientific advances? Man to the moon?"

"None of these, I would make bold to guess," Harman first tries to imagine the situation in 1600 to forecast probable trends. He says that if we were looking at the right things then we could have foreseen the reasons and outcome of the Copernican revolution. Questions raised by Nicholas Copernicus, and Giordano Bruno led to rapid development of physical science, and with this came the decline in the political power of the church. This was when the nature and significance of heavenly bodies passed from the theological and philosophical theory into the realm of scientific inquiry.

Galileo is still excommunicated from the Catholic church because he determined from his studies that the earth revolved around the sun, instead of the sun going around the earth. Similarly, geologists, paleontologists and biologists tackled the old theory of evolution and the origin of the earth, leading to another expansion of human knowledge.

Many scientists and advanced studies indicate we may be in the midst of another salutation. Harman says: "Much evidence suggests that a group of questions relating to the commonality and interpretation of man's subjective experience, especially of the 'transcendental,' and hence to the bases of human values, are shifting from the realm of 'philosophical' to the 'empirical.' If so, the consequences may be even more far-reaching than those which emerged from the Copernican, Darwinian, and Freudian revolutions."

A number of authors are cited to show that present civilization has reached a state where man needs a new image of himself working in consonance with divergent experiences of today. Admittedly, man has greater potential than we ordinarily imagine; studies in hypnosis, in sensory deprivation and even with hallucinogenic and psychedelic drugs indicate that mankind gains far more significant experience than we realize from unconscious processes.

"The new science will incorporate some way of referring to the subjective experiencing of a unity in all things," Harman predicts. "It will include some sort of mapping or ordering of states of consciousness transcending the usual conscious awareness. It will take account of the subjective experiencing of a 'higher self' and will view favorably the development of a self-image congruent with this experience. It will allow for a much more unified view of human experiences now categorized under such diverse headings as creativity, hypnosis, mystical experience, psychedelic drugs, extra-sensory perception, psychokinesis, and related phenomena."

Admittedly, some kind of new awareness is needed in these times when amid great affluence we have starvation. Though we can put a man on the moon we don't seem to know where we're going. While man appears to be able to accomplish anything he can think of, we're torn apart by disintegration.

"The great problems facing us are a sort where we need belief in ourselves and will to act even more than we need new technologies, creative social program concepts, and program budgeting," Harman concludes. "At a time when the nation may well be in its greatest peril in over a century, and Western civilization may hang in the balance, it could even come to pass that a new 'Copernican revolution' might provide a missing balance in some four-century-old trends started by the first one."

The 'Squares' Bless 'Em

Kalamazoo Valley Community College in Kalamazoo, Mich., opened its doors only last fall. Already its students have been involved with petitions and demonstrations.

Administration eyebrows were lifted some weeks ago when a flyer began circulating on the campus, which began:

"When a college has a poor administration it is the right of the students to protest."

Eyebrows went even higher at the next sentence:

"Further—if a college has a good administration and faculty it is the DUTY of the students to show their appreciation!"

It seems that the 1,500 students in the pioneer class of KVCC actually wanted to show their gratitude to the school for giving them an education. A petition was circulated thanking all of people—board of trustees for the many hours they had devoted to the development of the college.

A second petition thanked

President Dale Lake and the deans for "the creation of a student-oriented, full student participation college," a feature of which are regular "talk-ins" where faculty members, trustees and students informally exchange gripes, praises and opinions.

A collection was started among the students to purchase some plaques for the administration and trustees. On the day of the big "confrontation," during which the check for the plaques was presented, signs were displayed. One of them read: "Thank you for a fine first year."

Not a building was occupied, not an office ransacked, not a single non-negotiable demand was made.

All in all, a pretty square bunch of students and teachers at KVCC—square, that is, in the original meaning of the word.

Cure Is For The Birds

Scientists at Ohio State University are whistling "Bye, Bye, Blackbird" as they work. But so far their efforts—ranging from hallucinatory drugs to birth control pills—have failed to rid the state of a leading pest.

Blackbirds like to dine on young corn, often eating only enough to spoil the ear. This cost Ohio farmers some $12 million last year. For the entire nation, the annual damage figure is around $58 million.

A hallucinatory drug, designed to send the birds winding off on LSD-like "trips," has proved effective in some areas. Blackbirds, like many flocking birds, can be "spooked" by other members of the flock acting abnormally.

A contraceptive chemical which would prevent fertilization of the birds' eggs is another humane measure being studied.

A different approach is the development of corn varieties with husks too tough for the birds to penetrate.

From the bird's-eye view, of course, the feathered creatures are only doing their natural thing. But when man and animal clash over the same goal, the latter's days are numbered, no matter how "humanely" humans solve the problem.

Sensing The News By THURMAN SENSING

An Alliance For Conflict

The labor union movement, which has lost ground in recent years because of blue-collar disenchantment with union bosses and their political plans is trying for a comeback by forming new alliances with street militants.

The most significant development in this connection is the establishment of the Alliance For Labor Action, a union conglomerate launched by the United Auto Workers and the Teamsters Union.

The ALA, a product of UAW President Walter Reuther's mind, aims at harnessing the "new politics" of community action groups that flourish in the big cities. The Alliance hopes to organize minority voters in so-called "ghetto" areas, pack them on the voter rolls, and apply direct pressure on city councils, school boards and businessmen.

To beef up its operation, the Alliance is fashioning links to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy's street army organization that specializes in community disruption. Walter Reuther already has made a substantial financial contribution to a combined union-SCLC effort to force unionization of public hospital workers in Charleston, S. C.

The Southern states are likely to be the main targets of the first Alliance drives. Union strategists apparently believe that these states, many of them with right-to-work laws, represent a formidable obstacle. If they can be crushed by the Alliance, if their public services are virtually taken over by unions, then resistance in other states of the Union will rapidly crumple. Thus, in a very real sense the Southern States are the first line of defense against a new and dangerous form of unionism that threatens the liberties of all Americans.

It should be borne in mind that the United Auto Workers has a long history of industrial strife. The UAW was at the heart of grave industrial disturbances in Detroit a generation ago, when the "sit-down" strikes threatened a form of industrial communism in America.

The Teamsters, the other principal partner in the Alliance For Labor Action, is synonymous with union corruption. Vast quantities of evidence have been produced before Congress and state investigating bodies, showing its infiltration by gangster types. The last two presidents of the Teamsters Union have landed in prison.

Therefore, the prospect for U.S. cities and states subjected to Alliance campaigns is not a pleasant one. It is rendered all the more unpleasant by the involvement of the SCLC in union organizing efforts. What SCLC can furnish the Alliance are the burly-boys of civil disobedience, the professional militants who abuse the right of assembly and create a climate of tension and strife while professing "peace" and "non-violence."

Cities and states face the danger of paralyzing disturbances that require the use of police and National Guardsmen on a large scale and at great expense. Even relatively small bands of marchers, protesters, and placard-waving union organizers can interrupt the normal life of a community and deflect a state from important business.

Small businessmen—operators of retail stores and manufacturing shops with a limited number of employees—are likely to feel considerable harassment from the operations of the Alliance. Merchants may be exposed to intimidation and to shake-downs for contributions. One trick may be a "request" that a merchant buy advertising in a special "strike" newspaper issued by a union organization.

The time to deal with threats is before they mushroom and get out of hand. Business groups would be well advised to carefully consider now what new laws will be needed to assure a wider measure of community peace and to handle the more subtle types of intimidation and economic blackmail that organizers and protesters may resort to in the year ahead.

State legislatures may find it useful to conduct in-depth union organizers and demonstrators.

Wanted New Draft Boss With Shiny, Fresh Image

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's aides are quietly hunting for a new draft director to replace Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey and brighten the tarnished image of the Selective Service system.

Ideally, a new director would revamp the much-criticized draft machinery using the reform proposals which the President sent to Congress last week. Even if Congress drags its feet on those reforms, however, a new director would serve as a sign of change.

In that connection, there are hints that Hershey's replacement may not be another military man. Some administration aides are said to feel that a civilian director would make the draft seem less of a military procurement office for the Pentagon.

So far there is no widely advertised search for a new man. Feelers are out, however, and it is significant that some of Hershey's long-time supporters in the House and Senate are passing the word that it is time for the general to bow out gracefully.

Like J. Edgar Hoover in the FBI, Hershey has been the very personification of the Selective Service system. A former country school teacher and army officer in World War I, he was assigned to the early studies of a draft system which began in 1936. He has been draft director since 1941.

Like Hoover, Hershey would like to continue on the job. He is 75, however, his eyesight is poor, and his official retirement from active duty back in 1946 was on grounds of physical disability.

Moreover, unlike Hoover and the FBI, Hershey and the draft have come under heavy critical fire in the turmoil which has arisen from the war in Vietnam. Part of the criticism is natural and to be expected under the circumstances, but the courts have been dealing harshly with Hershey's attempts to use the draft's induction machinery to punish the fomentors of that turmoil.

A BOLD EDUCATOR? — Administration aides who want to put a civilian in the Selective Service command post talk about naming an educator to succeed Hershey, though they concede that the job may offer advantages for administrators on beleaguered college campuses.

The idea is that an educator could make administration of the draft law more responsive to the concerns of the young men who may be tapped for military service. Hershey, in this view, has helped to make the draft seem wholly subservient to the Pentagon and its wishes.

At least one military man is being mentioned, however, as a possible Hershey replacement. He is Gen. Harold K. Johnson, former Army chief of staff, who was replaced last year by Gen. William C. Westmoreland when Westmoreland returned from the Vietnam command.

It is argued that Johnson would also give a new look to Selective Service, since it is no secret that he was no enthusiast for escalation of the Vietnam war. Many Pentagon authorities think he was dropped by President Johnson for that reason.

BACK BURNER—Administration aides have been lobbying intensively for President Nixon's plan to select by lot for military service among 19-year-olds, who would experience one year of vulnerability unless there was a real national crisis.

Congressional champions of draft reform hailed the Nixon proposals (which were scarcely distinguishable from the Johnson proposals of 1967). Nevertheless, the reforms have been put aside in the House and Senate, at least for now.

One reason is that (as we predicted a couple of weeks ago) supporters of draft reform made it clear at once that they would seek to attach their own pet reform proposals to the President's plan. House and Senate military experts are worried about "riders" of that sort.

In addition, the draft reform bill must move through the same House and Senate committees that are considering the military procurement bill, which also includes authorization for President Nixon's Safeguard anti-missile defense. The committees just can't handle draft reform legislation for a while.

Finally, it must be reported that some congressional military experts are suspicious about the motives of the White House. The suspicion is not new, but dates back to the Johnson Administration.

Especially in the House, military experts have long complained that Presidents Johnson and Nixon could shift to a one-year vulnerability for 19-year-olds, at any time, under powers they have always possessed. Only the lottery-like random selection plan needs congressional approval. According to these experts, and the present, oldest-first, system could be used instead.

Top aides to Johnson and Nixon alike think the present system would be unworkable with the large reservoir of eligible 19-year-olds, but they haven't sold that idea so far. Consequently, some key congressmen think the White House has been trying to prod Congress for reforms that two Presidents have themselves been unwilling to initiate.

That suspicion is itself a major problem for the White House liaison crew.

H. L. Hunt Writes

COMMUNITY SELF-HELP

Government bureaucrats tell us that communities made up primarily of minority groups or low-income families cannot develop needed community spirit without government assistance. We are expected to believe that pride in one's neighborhood can come only as a result of government hand-outs.

This is obviously wrong. Government handouts decrease individual independence and deprive the individual of pride of accomplishment.

Self-help projects, on the other hand, in which residents of a neighborhood work together on local improvement, will bring about unity and a community spirit.

An example of this kind of self-help can be found in Orlando, Florida. A minority group neighborhood needed a community center. Instead of asking for state or federal aid, the people in the area helped themselves.

They formed the Washington Shores Recreation Association which conducted a vigorous door-to-door campaign. When their initial effort fell short, they did not give up, but worked even better. After many hours of work, the goal was reached. The community raised a total of $125,000 for their new center.

Congressman Louis Frey, who represents the area in which this drive took place, expressed his pride in the Washington Shores Recreation Association. He added: "It is refreshing in today's society to know that initiative and independence are still a vital part of the American way of life."

Congressman Frey went on: "Opportunity is everywhere. It is waiting for those who have the courage and dedication to seek it out." The residents of the Washington Shores area had this courage and dedication. They should serve as an example to communities all over the nation.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Man's impulse to domesticate extends even to the artifacts and ravages of war. The World Almanac notes, France's famed, but militarily useless, Maginot Line is being sold to civilians looking for a cool summer home with a good view of the Rhine. And in Germany, two mountains of rubble from the wartime destruction of 132,000 of West Berlin's 149,960 buildings are now ski and toboggan runs.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

By DR. BOB JONES

On two different occasions (Mark 4:35-39 and Matthew 14:22-27) the Lord's disciples were caught in a storm on the Sea of Galilee. The first time Jesus was asleep in the stern of the boat. In their fear they Waked Him asking, "Carest Thou not that we perish?" He arose and rebuked the wind and said to the waves, "Be still." With the simple language of divine authority He silenced the tempest and calmed the sea. The waves, like little dogs that obey the command of their master, lay down and went to sleep.

On the other occasion the disciples were in the boat without Him, and in the midst of the tempest He came to them walking on the sea. This time He did not speak to the wind or the sea but to them. "It is I; be not afraid." He had demonstrated His power over the storm once. Now His very presence should bring them confidence.

Christ is still able to quiet the tempests and subdue storms. He can still work the miracle of bringing peace and quiet out of turmoil and discord, but it is not always His will to do so. When He permits the storm to rage, His very presence in the lives of those who know and love Him brings peace and confidence in the midst of the storm. It is a wonderful thing to know the Saviour, Who is able to settle strife and subdue discord and bring peace out of tumult. It is even more wonderful to have a Lord Who can give inward peace and confidence to His followers in the midst of the storm it is not His divine will to subdue. Into every life comes a time of tempest when the winds blow and the waves beat and the seas threaten to engulf. In such a time the very presence of the Saviour is able to impart within our souls a sense of security and calm in amazing contrast to the tempest about us. In the midst of the storm which He permits to rage, He comes to His own, walking on the very waves which would become still if He should so command. He does not address the raging elements. He speaks instead to the frightened and storm-tossed ones. Above the sound of the storm and the surge of the seas comes the melody of His voice. "It is I; be not afraid," and all is quiet and peaceful within their breasts. So amid the storms of our life He speaks to His own, "My peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

Editor:—

In observing Municipal Government, and to some extent participating in it, it has come to my attention that "department heads" cannot control city finances.

Over the years, I recall "Master Plans," Canadian River projects, and more that could be mentioned. Such projects eat up City funds so fast that new methods to find more money, just can't keep up. During my tenure as City Commissioner, the commission called on the city manager to cut expenses drastically. He laid off one park employee at a saving of less than $300 a month.

Department heads, usually know about what will be condoned by the upper echelons, and they do not "poop off" untold thousands at a time. They can't because it is not within their power.

The City Commission, say commission, and the city manager, any city manager, has it within his grasp to save on expenses. To suggest otherwise, is like a bank president telling the janitor to ease off on making loans.

It has been my observation that the people who want their fingers in the City till, are those who are usually influential and bring to the City new plans engineered to make the operations more "operative," and it usually ends in, not pennies, but thousands of dollars. Such schemes are usually sold by skilled engineering firms, and they sell the local establishment and the men who are always willing to "go along" and the program is on its way, and so is the city's money.

One twist to local affairs, is that a year and a half ago, the city seems to have approached the National Government for a hand-out for the local filter plant. Wonder how many knew about it? I was perhaps out of town and didn't get the report.

The late Raeburn Thompson, with whom I served while he was mayor, once said to me, "If Pampa needs something, then I am sure Pampa is able to pay for it," end quote.

The Doctor's Mailbag

By Dr. Wayne Brandstadt
Q — What causes me to feel dizzy or lightheaded when I get up suddenly after sitting for a long time?

A — The dizziness is caused by a sudden drop in blood pressure in your brain. In some persons the adjustment, which is automatic, takes several seconds. If your doctor can find no reason to forbid it, a course of exercise and an hour or more of walking every day should help to condition you so you would not have these spells.

Q — My daughter, 41, has vertigo. What causes it?

A — True vertigo is present when objects in the room seem to be swimming, and when the eyes are closed you feel as though you were floating in outer space. It is due to an irritation of the inner ear and may be associated with nausea.

Q — I am 75 and have an unstable equilibrium for which I have taken niacin, Antivert and Bonine. They haven't helped. Have you any suggestions?

A — Antivert and Bonine are antihistamines widely used to allay vertigo. Niacin, a vitamin, is also helpful in many cases. Nisipent, betahistine or thiethylperazine (Torocan) may help you.

Q — About five weeks ago I awoke one morning feeling terribly dizzy. An ear specialist gave me some tests but they proved negative. He said the dizziness was caused by a virus. What can I do to relieve it?

A — Some virus infections involve the inner ear and cause dizziness. Most of them clear up gradually after three to eight weeks.

New 'Thing' in Way of Jump Suits

"Airport," designer Edith has whipped up something in stewardesses' outfits. She's short jump suits that she'll wear up—so a girl raises her arms without her underwear," Edith says. And she adds the outfits are sexy with out being sexy with out being sexy. So are most stewardesses. Bill Burrud is writing a show called "Lilies of the Sea," which NBC is interested in. Mitzi Gaynor is set for another busy week. She's putting together a Las Vegas act and, simultaneously, working on another television show. Don't tell Sondra

After the Oscars were announced this year, director Ralph Nelson (who did "Charly," Cliff Robertson's Oscar-winning film) got a wire from Sidney Poitier. Nelson had also directed "Lilies of the Sea," which won Poitier an Oscar.
"From now on," Poitier wired, "they should call the Oscar a half-Nelson."
Ralph Nelson hopes some day to have a full-Nelson—an Oscar honoring his fine talent—but he isn't too downcast that the Academy members failed to recognize him for "Charly" because he's been looking for a good property.

"I had many offers to do juveniles," he says.
What Nelson calls "juveniles" are what others call adult films—the sexy cycle of pictures.
"I think," he says, "it is more juvenile than adult to write dirty words on a piece of paper."
He has three pictures lined up now. First will be "tick... tick... tick," a story of a Negro sheriff in the South, with Jim Brown, George Kennedy, Fredric March and Lynn Carlin. Then a western love story. And, third, a film called "The Flight of the Dove," which is close to his heart. Nelson's 12-year-old daughter found the property, a juvenile book which he bought.

I treasure Chanin Hale's description of what it's like to be in show business: "It's like living in a straw house on the edge of a cliff during a hurricane."
Chanin (pronounced Shannon) is a bright and beautiful hunk of blonde who is a frequent foil for Red Skelton on his CBS show. And, though she admits being an actress is the height of insecurity, she loves it.
"I wouldn't trade places with

She singles out Lucy, because she'd very much like to do the kind of things Lucy does.
"I wouldn't trade places with her," she says, "because she's already done it—and I still have it to do. You know what they say about getting there being half the fun?"
She is having fun now. It wasn't always thus. She says she had an unhappy childhood—"divorced parents, and I was a skinny kid."
"Nobody bothered to tell me," she says, "that the ugly duckling could grow up to be a swan. Not that I consider myself a swan, but I'm not an ugly duckling any more, either."

Dancing Derby Tiring to Jane

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Only 12 couples were left on the floor. As the master of ceremonies, Gig Young, started them off, they staggered around, with the band and the spectators urging them on.
Jane and her partner, Red Buttons, struggled along. Their weariness was plain on their faces. Their clothes were torn and dirty. Every step was obvious agony.
"I'm getting more tired," Jane said, when the lunch break was called. "The first derby, I could have gone 10 laps. This time, I was dead tired" after two."

Director Sidney Pollock is shooting the film practically in sequence, so this was the effect he wanted. This second derby will be a chilling scene, reminding us of the cruelty of that "sport," in which people paid to see others' agonies.
Jane relaxed in her dressing room. Her hair was purposely messy. There were circles under her eyes. Her face looked drawn. Her eyes were sad.
She talked about her character in the film, that of a "cynical, depressed, suicidal girl" — a loser. Her leading man, Michael Sarrazin, plays a youth with a completely opposite personality — an idealistic dreamer.
Perhaps because she had been living with her character for so long, through such a trying, oppressive film, Jane claimed there was a similarity between herself and her role.
"I'm a lot like her," she said. "I don't mean suicidal, but I tend to be pessimistic and cynical about myself and life in general."
"People think I'm different than I really am. That's because I'm good at covering up the things I hate in myself."
"I know this sounds ungrateful as hell for someone who has been as lucky and has as much as I have, but every thing — success, hopes, relationships — so often seem to me to be based on such enormous lies, such futile illusions. Anyway, I know what I am. Success doesn't change that."
Feeling this way, she is bitterly amused by the many letters she gets. Her correspondents admire her, and they particularly single out her freedom and independence and wonder if she has a secret to impart to them. When she answers, she tells them to be themselves, not to accept passively hand-me-down roles, and to read a lot.
Her chief delight, at the moment, is her 6½-month-old daughter. Jane is already dancing. They believed, collectively, that Stevens had lost his mind.

today, with television, knows more than I did at 12. Yet the schools haven't compensated for that; they haven't changed."

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

The Texas 2020 Water Plan is going to get a big test this summer. A large part of the over-all plan will be on the ballot, in the form of a constitutional amendment, to be voted on in August. The amendment would allow the Texas Board of Water Development to issue $3.5 billion dollars in long term revenue bonds. Should the bond issue be approved the initial steps in the 2020 Plan will be begun. If the bond issue is defeated there will be no plan. We can only hope then for piecemeal, stop-gap measures as the crisis in water is head-on some years from now.

A number of big companies have staked their futures on the continued economic growth of the West Texas area. One of these companies is Southwestern Public Service. This Company has grown tremendously, as a number of others have since 1958. For a comparison, Southwestern Public Service KWH Sales in 1958 were $2,846,132,000. In 1968 the KWH Sales were $5,506,929,000. That kind of growth is one that would encourage the Company to increase its investments with a hope that West Texas will continue its economic growth. The future economic growth of the area, along with that of Southwestern Public Service, is predicated on a plentiful water supply.

In today's column I would like to tell you a little about this Company that serves West Texas.

The company's Denver City, Amarillo, Riverview and Moore County plants in Texas, and the Carlsbad and Roswell plants in New Mexico are interconnected by 115,000 volt transmission lines. The company's Cunningham station in New Mexico, Plant X, Tucco Plant and Nichols Station in Texas are interconnected by 230 miles of 230,000-volt transmission line. The company also has 39 miles of transmission line between Sundown Corner and the South Lubbock Interchange and 29 miles of transmission line between Nichols Station and the Hutchinson County interchange operating at 230,000 volts. The company also has 140 miles of other transmission lines designed for operation at 230,000 volts but presently operating at 115,000 volts.

The 45,000 square-mile territory served by the company, once considered primarily a "cows and crops" country, now has a well-balanced economy of agriculture, industry, and commerce. Rich in natural resources and in accessibility, various processing industries related to these natural resources have come to the area, bringing with them a desirable balance in the overall economy. Diversification within the elements of the economy has helped in adding stability to the rapid growth of the area, as emphasized by the constant percentage of the company's total operating revenues represented by the residential, commercial, industrial, and other classifications that make up such total. Adding stability to the agricultural industry itself are the approximately 5,831,000 acres of land under irrigation in the Company's service area, which represents about one-sixth of the land under irrigation in the United States.

With some 9,111 of the 45,000 square miles in the company's territory subject to irrigation from wells, the agricultural economy is not wholly dependent upon rainfall. At present there are approximately 64,100 irrigation wells located in the territory, approximately 17,300 of these being served by electricity generated by the company.

The company has an adequate supply of water for condensing and other purposes at its principal generating plants for a period estimated to exceed the life of these plants. In an effort to conserve the fresh, potable water of the area, the company's Nichols Station, located near Amarillo, uses approximately 2,770,000 gallons per day of reclaimed water from the City of Amarillo's water reclamation plant. The only fresh water used at the plant is for drinking purposes and for boiler make-up.

Agribusiness Seminar To Be June 4, Austin

All persons interested in agribusiness and agriculture are invited to attend the first Texas Agribusiness Export Seminar, set for June 4 at the Villa Capri Motor Hotel, Austin.

Exports are highly important to the economy of the state, it is noted by John C. White, commissioner of agriculture for Texas, "and perhaps this is the reason why Texas is Number One in the export of agricultural products."

White urges all farmers and business men who appreciate collaboration of the two areas of the Texas economy to attend this "fast-moving conference" concerned with Texas exports.

The meeting is jointly sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Department of Commerce.

4-H Corner

By JESSE HOERRMAN
The 4-H County Picnic and camp has been set for Aug. 1-2 at Lake McCrellan. Plans are to have the whole family come out for both days. Recreation will be planned. 4-H Council members on the committee are Ditty Morrison, Linda Staton, and Jim Pepper. There will be a meeting to start making plans on June 12 at the Agricultural Building. Those who could not make it to the camp could still come to the county picnic on Saturday.

Names for 4-H'ers over 16 that would like to attend the 4-day Natural Resource Camp in East Texas are due in the County Agents' Office this week. There is no charge for the camp.

OYF Group Treated Like Royal Guests

Farm couples from Mississippi, Maryland, North Dakota and Illinois won the "Outstanding Young Farmer" awards at the national finals recently at St. Paul, Minn.

The event was sponsored by the nationally famous St. Paul Jaycees, as local host, and the group "ran the event like clockwork," reports noted.

The group of nominees for the national "Outstanding Farm Couple" award was treated "like royalty," members commented, and all were kept in suspense until the final decree was announced.

Next year's finals will take place at Belleville, Ill.

There's at least one roundup in Texas which doesn't involve riding, roping and the other events well known to folks of the west. The Texas 4-H Roundup on the other hand involves some 1,800 members of the "Green and White and Head, Heart, Hands and Health" organization. These 4-H members will come from sections of Texas to the campus of Texas A&M University on June 3-4 for their annual state meeting. They've been doing it for well over a half century; thus establishing it as one of the oldest such meetings in the nation.

One was described as a house "with a quite appreciable amount of woodworm and dry rot," another as a "rather ugly mess house," and a third, a "very ordinary semi-detached place with a steep drive almost unclimbable on an icy day."

"I decided to try a bit of down to earth honesty," explained Hodges, "because people are fed up with being fooled into seeing a property which is nothing like what they have read about."

A thought for the day—Miguel de Cervantes said: "My honour is dearer to me than my life."

Texan Winner of Superior Service Award From FHA

WASHINGTON, D.C. — John O. Barnes, assistant state director of the Farmers Home Administration, has just received the coveted Superior Service Award of the U.S. Department of Agriculture from Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin.

In ceremonies at the Sylvan Theatre adjacent to the Washington Monument, Barnes was cited for superlative leadership of the Farmers Home Administration during a critical period when the state director was disabled.

Barnes is one of five selected for the award from among the 6500 employees of his agency.

Barnes, 48, took full responsibility for direction of the Farmers Home Administration program in Texas, which includes a staff of 430 people when former State Director Lester J. Cappelman was severely injured in an automobile accident last June and was away from his duties for several months.

Because the Texas program accounts for nearly one-tenth of the national loan volume of the USDA rural credit agency, high quality leadership in Texas is essential to success of the agency's programs, the Barnes award nomination noted.

More than $15 million in loans and grants was handled by the Texas Farmers Home Administration office in the last fiscal year, by far the largest state program in the nation. More than 35,000 loans are outstanding for family and community projects.

When confronted with the major challenges facing him as Acting State Director, Barnes could call on more than 16 years of experience with FHA, having joined the agency in 1952 in Jacksonville, Texas. He carried out increasingly responsible posts in Beeville, Carrizo Springs, Corsicana, and Greenville prior to his promotion to assistant state director at the Temple headquarters in 1967.

Washington Window

By JOHN HALL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Glorious controversy that is, the antiballistic missile issue in one important respect is no different than Potato Labeling Act of 1969: It will eventually be settled by the rulebook and he who knows the rules best will win.

The rules governing the houses of Congress, obscure and dry as they are, can be a symphony if played perfectly. That is one reason why Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., is the conduct—or of this particular orchestra. That is why Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., may frequently be seen reading a book entitled "Senate Procedure."

Important Movement
One important movement of the symphony is the conference committee on the disagreeing votes of the House and Senate.

In this case, it will be Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee and a support of the ABM. He will send to the presiding officer, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, a resolution and a pink slip. The resolution states that the Senate disagrees with the chair to appoint the conferees. After passage of that resolution, Agnew then will pick up the pink slip and read Stennis' list of conferees.

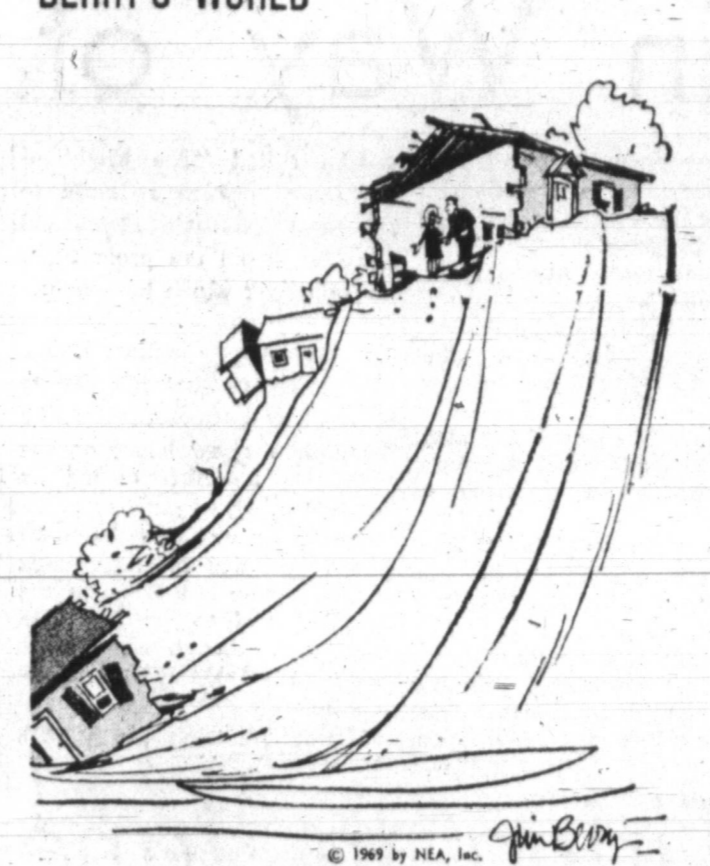

The Senate can give its conferees managers all the instructions it chooses, basically they can do what they wish—and what a majority of them undoubtedly wish will be the ABM.

Technically, a majority of the Senate could throw out Stennis' list of conferees and substitute men who could be expected to fight the ABM in conference. But that has been done previously only on two or three occasions and would almost certainly fail if tried this time because of the closeness of the contest.

Enters Soft, Subtle Passage
After the conference, the symphonic movement enters a soft and subtle passage. The bill, presumably with the ABM money back in it, is returned to both houses. A critical question arises: Which house acts first on the conference report?

It is a beautifully orchestrated section, filled with alternately subtle and fiery passages. But in the end, after all the glamorous words about "first strike," and "assured destruction" and "counterforce capability" pass into history, the ABM—like the Potato Labeling Act—will be measured by the tough, dry language of Jefferson's manual.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Sure, we've lost our house, but if L.A.'s declared a disaster area—think of the tax deduction we'll have next year!"

Social Security Questions Answers

Q.—I have just become self-employed and want to pay the social security self-employment tax. Do I report myself quarterly, paying both shares of the tax?

A.—No. As a self-employed individual you pay 6.9 per cent on up to $7,800 of your net profit for the year. This is paid at the end of your taxable year when you file your income tax return, or paid on a quarterly basis on the basis of your estimated income.

Q.—I got a social security card for my daughter when she was 5 years old. She is now 18. Does she need to get another card?

A.—No. She will use the same number all her life. When she marries, she should get her name changed on the card, but she will keep the same number.

Q.—My son is 17 years old and has been receiving social security benefits. He got married and his checks were stopped, even though he is not 18 years old and still in school. Is this correct?

A.—Yes. A child's benefit is terminated when the child marries regardless of age or school attendance.

Q.—A friend told me that you no longer accept delayed birth certificates for evidence of age. What should I do? My delayed birth certificate is all I have.

A.—We do give weight to delayed birth certificates in establishing proof of age, however, a birth or baptismal record recorded before age five is preferred, and if available, must be obtained. If none exists, the delayed birth certificate is acceptable but one other document showing your age or date of birth may be necessary. Your social security representative will advise you if you need other proof of your age; don't delay seeing him.

HAPPIEST DAY

CALTON, England (UPI)—Fred Aldis, 67, saved all his life to buy an 11-bedroom house on the sea to give children from poor homes a vacation.

"It's the happiest day of my life," Aldis said as the first contingent of 20 youngsters arrived at the house that cost him almost $200,000.

He said 200 children will have 10 days at his new seaside home by the end of summer. A trust fund has been set up for the future.

REJECTED FILM WINS
CANNES, France (UPI)—A film the Soviet government rejected as its official entry in the Cannes Festival won the International Film Critics Award Thursday night. A French distributor bought the movie, "Andreï Roublev," and showed it here. Critics said the Soviets refused to enter it because it dealt with difficulties of contemporary Soviet artists.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Last week we sent in a wheat sample from a farm north of Pampa to a plant pathologist in the Extension Service, Lubbock. The field was severely infected with wheat streak mosaic disease. No doubt this disease trouble will cost this producer a good 20 bushels per acre. The producer was advised to summer fallow the wheat if possible. Rotating to milo is the next best bet. We haven't seen a great deal of wheat disease this year. If you think you are having trouble, we would point out that our plant pathologist might help you.

Watershed Project
Curtis Schaffer tells me there is an excellent chance the McClellan Creek Watershed project might have a ground breaking within a year. Most of the hurdles have been passed and the construction cost is supposed to be placed in the Congressional budget this year.

Twenty-five thousand dollars has been raised through local contributions for the purpose of getting a planning party for the Red Deer Watershed. We hope some of these dams could be located fairly close to Pampa.

A planning party could be in the area by July 1, 1969 to start the planning in this area. There are over 50 proposed watersheds over the State that are being requested.

When area residents come up with a sizeable sum to match state request, it will give this a priority over those areas depending on appropriations outside the watershed.

Tractor School
We urge you to contact Kenneth Heflin, Employment Commission, should you need tractor drivers and other farm help for the summer. Over 50 local boys have gone through the tractor school and qualified themselves to drive tractors and do other work on the farm.

I heard the father of a boy who is 16 mention that his son would like a summer farm job on a steady basis. This kid has had considerable experience in tractor driving and doing general farm work. Give me a call and I will do what I can to help you find suitable farm help.

County Says No To Referendum On Cotton Acres

Gray County farmers rejected the referendum recently ordered on transferring cotton allotment out of the county in 1970. The vote was 63 to 46. Votes were counted May 14.

Hence, Gray County producers may lease and sell cotton allotments inside the county, but not outside during the year 1970.

Diverted acres cannot be grazed between May 15 and October 14. Farmers are urged to wait until Oct. 15 to graze such acreage.

Nor can any crop—for hay or other use—be harvested from diverted acres during the year.

The report is provided by Evelyn Mason, office manager for the Gray County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. She notes that the office will be closed for Memorial Day, May 30.

Strawberries And Their Care Talked

Whether you strawberry pick in your patch or a supermarket, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer market specialist, suggests you shy away from white-tipped and soft-fleshed berries, and handle berries with tender loving care.

White tips mean under-ripe tart berries; overripe fruit which has been on the shelf or vine too long loses its brightness, aroma and much flavor.

In the supermarket, a stained container may indicate overripe berries.

The fruit is at its best with full red color, firm flesh, good aroma and bright appearance. The current supply from near-by growing areas has only a short season, Mrs. Clyatt says.

Remember, she adds, that size does not affect quality and flavor of the fruit. Generally, small fruit makes more servings. The aristocratic strawberry bruises and decays easily. Buy strawberries last so they will not be squashed in the cart and don't leave them in a hot car.

The specialist says to store berries in the container, covered with cellophane in the refrigerator. Before using, wash them gently and quickly in cold water. Do not soak.

Forest Firefighters Ready in Southwest

As the fire season approaches, Southwestern National Forest firefighters are poised throughout Arizona and New Mexico. Like an army, these skilled forest guardians wait to be moved to the front line and into battle. The enemy and the weapons are unconventional. The enemy is wild-fire, age-old threat to the natural resources of the National Forests. The weapons are lookout towers, bulldozers, aerial tankers, smokejumper parachutes, and helicopters. For big fires, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service calls on the crack reserves. These are the specially trained organized firefighting crews from Indian pueblos and reservations in Arizona and New Mexico and the Spanish-American villages of New Mexico.

Each year forest fire experts of the Forest Service's Southwestern Region in Albuquerque and its 13 National Forests and Grasslands prepare for the worst. They know that many fires will be started by lightning and by people careless with smokes and fires. In the Southwest, the critical forest fire season begins in mid-April and lasts until the summer rains in July. In the spring, moisture from snow usually dampens forests and rangeland enough to keep fire danger low. This year, despite unseasonable rains in early May, the forests are becoming unusually dry. Forest Rangers fear that this may be a bad fire year, perhaps as bad as 1968, when 1,611 fires blackened 43,629 acres of area. (Arizona-1,00 fires, 37,477 acres. New Mexico - 611 fires, 1,152 acres.)

Fire season plans are being put into operation. Man fire lookout towers are already manned. More will be activated soon. Wm. D. Hurst, Southwestern Forest Service, says that the Coronado and Lincoln National Forests in southern Arizona and New Mexico now record extreme fire danger. Smoking and fire restrictions are in effect on these forests to help prevent man-caused fires.

"If we get no more rain until July," Hurst said, "more restrictive measures may have to be imposed. It may be necessary to limit or prohibit public access to some National Forests should the fire danger become more critical."

Forest firefighting requires careful planning, alertness, and readiness. Many fires get a lead on firefighters by starting in areas that are difficult to reach. In these cases the air tankers, converted World War II aircraft, can hold the line with pancake batter-like loads of slurry. The chemical mixture slows the progress of fires,

Roundup Time In Texas Is Coming To 4-H Members

COLLEGE STATION, May 22 — The number of head of livestock will be small but participants in the Texas 4-H Roundup, scheduled for June 3-4 at Texas A&M University, will include some 1,800 4-H Club members.

The 4-H members will come from every section of the state and the only livestock involved will be that used in judging and demonstration contests. State 4-H Club leaders say that in addition to the 4-H members approximately 250 county and assistant county Extension agents and adult 4-H leaders, 200 Friends of 4-H and contest donors and 30 members of the board of directors of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation will participate in planned activities for Roundup.

The leaders add that the annual event is one of the oldest statewide 4-H gatherings in the nation and traces its beginning back to near the turn of the century even before 4-H officially became the youth phase program of the Cooperative Extension Service.

The 4-H Club members who come to Roundup have already been named county and district winners in their respective judging and demonstration contests. Only first and second place district winners are eligible to compete in the state contests, the state 4-H leaders say.

The traditional barbecue will officially open the program on the evening of June 3. The first general assembly will follow with presentation of awards to individuals and business concerns as the highlight. Those to be recognized are strong supporters of 4-H on the district and state levels. The Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation will provide the awards.

HOSPITAL CHANGES DUE

DALLAS (UPI) — Hospitals used to be places where people went to die, but this is no longer true, according to Arthur L. McElmurry, president-elect of the Texas Hospital Association. He said hospitals will be changed in the future because of the demands for service and the growing complexity of health services.

Whether you strawberry pick in your patch or a supermarket, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer market specialist, suggests you shy away from white-tipped and soft-fleshed berries, and handle berries with tender loving care.

Dairy Foods Plentiful In May-June

Dairy products spotlight the foods in plentiful supply this June, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. June is the traditional time when milk production reaches its peak—assuring an abundance of such dairy foods as butter, cream, cheese and yogurt.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says canned tomatoes and tomato products, canned and frozen sweet corn, rice and turkeys also are plentiful.

Cold storage holdings of turkeys are well above normal. You'll find all sizes on hand. The large birds are just right for oven roasting, while the smaller sizes are ideal for outdoor grill.

Supplies of canned tomatoes and tomato products processed from the very large 1968 crop will continue to pressure markets. Frozen stocks of sweet corn are expected to continue to run at a high level. Canned sweet corn on hand is estimated at more than 32 million cases of 24 No. 303 cans—indicating plenty of corn for your cooking needs, according to USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.
