Forewarning Given To Evans Skipper

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (UPI)—The captain of the Australian carrier Melbourne said today that nine days before his ship sliced a U.S. destroyer in two, he had warned the American skipper to maintain the sharpest alert against collisions.

Capt. John P. Stevenson, 47, told a six-man joint U.S.-Australian Board of Inquiry that he had made the statement to Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore and the captains of four other destroyers participating in the exercise during a May 25 dinner aboard his ship.

"I made clear on no uncertain terms my concern," Stevenson said, an obvious reference to a previous collision between the Melbourne and an Australian destroyer in 1964 which claimed 82 lives in the South Pacific.

The Australian naval officer told the panel that he had warned the other captains to "watch and keep clear" when operating with his carrier, explaining that the Australian government and navy could not stand another tragic accident.

Stevenson testified that he had the guests aboard his ship while it was anchored in Manila Bay on the eve of the start of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) exercise Sea Spirit. The Melbourne and Evans collided nine days later, on June 3, killing 74 American sailors.

Red Deer Trail Beautification Plan Is Studied

Further beautification of Red Deer Trail is being planned by city and Pampa Garden Club officials.

Virgil Barber, of the Texas Tech parks department at Lubbock, met yesterday afternoon with Mayor Milo Carlson, City Commissioner Hugh Burdette, City Manager Charles Hill and Garden Club representatives.

Barber was engaged to study the proposal and make recommendations for the beautification.

The Australian officer appeared before the board during its afternoon session. During the morning, the panel met in closed session to examine a transcript of the earlier testimony by McLemore.

The Vallejo, Calif., resident testified before the board in open session Wednesday and Thursday.

Under questioning of the U.S. counsel, Capt. Horace B. Robertson of Washington, D.C., and senior U.S. board member Rear Adm. Jerome H. King Jr., a native of Youngstown, Ohio, McLemore made these points:

—The task force consisting of the Melbourne and five destroyer escorts were operating at a speed higher than normal for the exercise on the night of the collision. The base speed of the carrier was 18 knots and the destroyers patrolling in front in an antisubmarine screen were zigzagging at a speed a few knots faster.

—The Evans had three months' experience in operating with carriers and in doing the type of station changes which led to the collision. A few hours before the accident, the Evans moved from a position forward of the carrier to the "plane guard" station astern without incident.

The Garden Club was represented at the meeting by Mrs. Jimmy McCune, Mrs. V. N. Osborn and Mrs. Thelma Bray.

City Manager Charles Hill said today the project will be financed from a $30,000 balance left from the $100,000 gift of the Gray-Pampa Foundation for city parks sprinkler systems.

Red Deer Creek Trail is an asphalt bike-and-hike trail extending from N. Banks St. on the west side of the city across Hobart St. through Central Park for completion of the trail from Duncan to Fir St. and from Alameda Park to Evergreen St.

L.A. Man is Shot When Producing ID From Wallet

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Donald Lee Oughton was a bit slow-witted and had a severe speech impediment.

Oughton, 29, always carried a card in his wallet giving his name and address in case of an emergency.

An emergency came up Thursday—and the card apparently cost Oughton his life.

The tall, lanky man, described by his neighbors as "a nice fellow," was shot to death by a policeman in a tragic series of errors apparently resulting from Oughton's inability to speak clearly.

It started with a report of a sniper shooting at passing cars on a freeway. Nothing was found, but Policemen Norman P. O'Malley and Henry Kennedy, a rookie, started cruising the area in their patrol car.

They saw Oughton running along a sidewalk, but then he suddenly slowed down and started to walk slowly, which the policemen thought suspicious.

They left the patrol car and Oughton approached them. O'Malley stood in front of Oughton and began to frisk him while Kennedy moved behind the suspect.

Oughton turned and reached for his back pocket, withdrawing a long wallet—a wallet that contained the card giving his name and address.

Kennedy, unable to see clearly in the dark, shouted "Watch it, he's got a gun."

Oughton, surprised, whirled toward Kennedy, who drew his gun and fired once, missing (See MAN, Page 3)

U.S. Command Says New Offensive Ready

By WALTER WHITEHEAD

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist shellings and terror attacks overnight killed 52 South Vietnamese and wounded 14, Allied headquarters said today. The U.S. Command reported a new offensive under way to the north.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese gunners fired shells into 22 population centers or military camps, including Da Nang and Bie Hoa, two of the biggest Allied military bastions in the country.

South Vietnamese headquarters said one of the 38 rounds that hit the Bien Hoa Air Base just north of Saigon landed in a hospital, killing 15 government soldiers and wounding 11.

Five rocket rounds slammed into a U.S. Navy compound at Da Nang, doing no damage, but a sixth fell short and hit a shantytown. Spokesmen reported eight civilians killed and 16 wounded.

With no major ground fighting reported, the U.S. Command announced the beginning of Operation Pipestone Canyon against North Vietnamese troops 15 miles southwest of Da Nang on the north coast.

At least 2,000 U.S. and South Korean troops began the offensive May 26 and since then have killed 234 guerrillas. American losses were put at 31 dead and 240 wounded.

Simpson said Pipestone Canyon's mission is to bring under government control the "rice triangle" between Hoi An and An Hoa. The area is a Communist bivouac on an approach route to Da Nang.

Among the major population centers and towns that came under Communist fire overnight were Hue and Duc Pho.

In Hue, the nation's third biggest city after Saigon and Da Nang, terrorists fired three antitank rockets into a police station and three policemen were killed. The terrorists escaped.

A 20-round mortar attack into the district town at Duc Pho in the Central Highlands killed three civilians and wounded 12. Headquarters said 60 per cent of the village was damaged in the attack and resulting fire.

The American Command in addition reported two new Communist violations of the border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) Thursday, drawing U.S. counterfire that killed five Communists and destroyed 19 bunkers.

Both incidents occurred in the southern half of the zone above Allied bases at Giolinh near the South China Sea coast and the rockpile further inland. No U.S. casualties were reported.

U.S. B52 bombers in seven raids overnight dropped their 500- and 750-pound bombs on the northern coast, 60 miles northwest of Saigon, and on infiltration corridors from Cambodia to the capital.

Another aerial weapon in the Allied arsenal, helicopter gunships, accounted for 35 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed Thursday military spokesmen said. Fifteen of the guerrillas died near Katum on the Cambodian border, with 20 others dead near Dak To in the highlands.

U.S. Marines sweeping the flatlands on the northern coast found bodies of 24 North Vietnamese spokesmen said had been killed in air and artillery strikes three days ago.

Task Force To Crack Down On Campus Violence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has ordered formation of a task force to crack down on campus violence and issued a mandate to use a civil rights law for the prosecution of troublemakers, it was disclosed today.

The task force, still in the formation stage, would use "military-type intelligence" to prosecute hard-core leaders of student uprisings.

The Justice Department's plans were outlined by Jerris Leonard, head of the Civil Rights Division, in testimony before a Senate appropriations subcommittee. The transcript of the hearings was released today.

By contrast, the Nixon administration Thursday joined the Democratic opposition to a bill designed to crack down on campus rioters. The bill has widespread support among House Republicans.

Robert H. Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr., at a meeting of Republicans on the House Education Committee both opposed legislation to cut off federal aid to universities which do not adopt codes of conduct covering students and faculty members.

Leonard told the appropriations subcommittee the Justice Department plans to use a prosecution vehicle a section of the 1968 Civil Rights Act which prohibits interference with people involved in or getting benefits in any federally-funded program.

North Korean Speedboat Captured By South Korea

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—South Korean gunboat, troops and planes captured a North Korean speedboat trying to rendezvous with a Communist spy in the nation's west coast, the Korean Central Intelligence Agency said today.

"The invaders were annihilated . . ." the announcement said.

The agency said the North Korean vessel launched a rubber boat with three men aboard late Thursday night to try to pick up Kim Yong-Ku, 39, a North Korean arrested on spy charges by South Koreans May 30.

At that point, South Korean army, navy and air force units attacked. There were no reports of survivors among the 15 men aboard the North Korean boat.

The agency gave no details of the battle. It said before his capture, the suspected spy had used a radio in reporting information to the Communists.

Dong-A Ilbo, South Korea's largest newspaper, said South Korean forces had advance information about the Communist vessel and were waiting for it. The Seoul troops suffered no casualties.

The intelligence agency said the 75-foot, 60-ton vessel could travel 35 knots and was equipped with four engines and armed with an 82mm gun, four 40mm guns, two 14mm antiaircraft guns, two heavy and three light machine guns, eight submachine guns, five pistols and two antitank grenades.

The gumbattle erupted near Hukusan Island, 70 miles off the west coast of South Korea in the Yellow Sea.

A South Korean patrol boat spotted the Communist boat, disguised as a fishing boat, and radioed for air force support. Planes dropped flares and naval vessels opened fire, the intelligence agency said.

While being towed to port, the North Korean speedboat sank but was recovered, the agency said.

The North Korean boat left the North Korean port of Chinnampo on Wednesday to try to pick up the spy and return him to North Korea, the agency said.

On Aug. 21 last year, a North Korean speedboat carrying 14 commandos tried to contact another Communist agent on the island of Cheju, 55 miles off South Korea's southern coast on a similar mission.

South Korean troops killed 12 of the Communist commandos and captured two of them after several hours of fighting.

Last Sunday, South Korean troops sank a rubber boat trying to land three Communist agents near Bukpovng, 115 miles east of Seoul. When the rubber craft came under attack, the mother vessel fired a shell that smashed into a house on shore and killed five members of a family.

Eight Communist agents landed at Chuminjin 40 miles north of Bukpovng March 16 and attacked a police checkpoint, killing a South Korean policeman. All eight were later killed by South Korean troops.

Two Gray County Commissioners Say: County Retirement Plan Needs Study

BY RON CROSS

When Gray County Commissioners Truitt Johnson and Jimmy McCracken voted Thursday that would put county employees on a retirement system, effective July 1, they were not voting against a retirement plan.

Both stated they just wanted more time to study the plan proposed by County Judge Sherman Lenning, Jr.

A consulting firm in Austin is making a study for the county, and has been for quite some time, to determine how much each month a county employee will receive when he retires.

McCracken and Johnson both said they preferred to wait until the study was made and they could look it over.

"I am most certainly not against a retirement plan for our county employees but I think there are other avenues we can discuss," McCracken said.

The present plan calls for the county and employees both to pay five per cent of monthly salaries into the retirement plan.

McCracken stated he wanted to study the idea of each paying seven per cent.

Johnson wondered if maybe setting a flat figure wouldn't be best.

Judge Lenning said after the meeting that he felt the commissioners were stalling the project because they were afraid taxes might have to be raised to supplement the money paid out under the present plan.

Under the present plan the county and employees would pay in $2,286 monthly or $27,550 yearly.

"We might have to raise taxes," Lenning said, "but we probably will have to anyway, later."

Under the plan a county employe would have to be 60 years old and have worked for the county 12 years.

Anyone who had been employed by the county and resigned but came back to work less than five years later, would still be credited with the number of years worked.

An example:

If you had worked for the county for three years, then left, but went back to work before five years had passed you would not lose the three years.

If the plan goes into effect this year any employe who retires will have to wait for a year before he can begin drawing his retirement money.

"We will have to do this the first year to let our fund build up," Judge Lenning said.

An employe who has paid money into the retirement plan but leaves his job will be able to draw out his money at three per cent interest.

At present there are between 85-90 persons on the county payroll. About 41 of these are eligible for retirement.

Highland General Hospital employes also are counted in the plan but the hospital and not the county will pay the five per cent.

At present there are 212 persons employed by the hospital but only 20 are eligible for retirement.

In other action at the monthly commissioners meeting Thursday $30,000 was transferred from the general fund to the salary fund.

Commissioners approved the appointment of Jeri D. Finch as assistant Home Demonstration Agent to replace Jeanne Ford.

Miss Finch will assume her duties June 23 at a salary of $105 a month.

Commissioners also made final approval of $26,840 to be paid for the construction of a bridge two and one-half miles east of Pampa on a county road. A total of $2,600 was paid also as the Engineer's fee.

The bridge was damaged last December on Red Deer Creek and has been repaired.

The county, apparently, will have to pay less for construction and improvement of Perry-Lefors airfield than was first thought.

Two years ago county commissioners approved a $500,000 bond issue $250,000 of which went for airport improvements.

But consulting engineer Gen Barber told commissioners Thursday at the present time the total cost is $397,253.

But $196,255 of the total will be paid from FAA and Texas (See STUDY, Page 8)

Not Enough Money Available For Salary Hike

AUSTIN (UPI)—State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert said today the state does not have enough money for him to certify a $61.9 million teachers pay raise and the $2.8 billion budget passed by the legislature.

"If I had to do it this morning, I couldn't certify it," Calvert said.

Calvert said the budget would have to be trimmed before he could certify that the state will have enough revenue to cover the cost. But he declined to say how much would have to be lopped off from the one-year spending bill written by the legislators.

"We're not in a position to pin it down right now," Calvert said.

Could Veto Items
Calvert pointed out that Gov. Preston Smith could line item veto specific matters in the budget to get the spending bill in line with what the state will have in its bank account over the next year.

But Smith, an outspoken critic of one-year budgeting, may not wish to save the spending bill approved by the legislators over his objections.

Smith earlier had indicated he was considering vetoing several of the fund transfers passed by the legislators in an attempt to finance the spending bill without new taxes.

Money Not There
But today Smith said Calvert informed him there would not be enough money in the state's coffers to certify the spending bill even with the fund transfers.

Smith said Calvert and members of his staff met twice with him Wednesday.

"They said if every one of the

WEAPONS CACHE

BANGKOK (UPI)—Communist guerrillas have again attacked a police unit occupying one of their base camps on the Thai-Malaysian border prompting speculation that a Communist weapons cache or supply dump may be located near the camp, which was overrun by government forces May 11, police sources said Tuesday.

A thought for the day: Miguel de Cervantes said, "Tell me thy company and I'll tell thee what thou art."

TEN YEARS SERVICE—George Weems, right, member of the Pampa Selective Service Board for 10 years, receives a certificate of appreciation at the hands of George Scott, board chairman. The certificate, signed by President Nixon, notes the decade of Service was contributed "without monetary compensation, as a public service." The ceremony took place Wednesday at draft board headquarters. Gov. Preston Smith signed the citation, as did Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, and Col. Morris E. Schwartz, state SS director. Weems represents Wheeler County on the board.

Former Richmond State School Superintendent Filing Suit

AUSTIN (UPI)—Dr. Floyd McDowell, the former superintendent of the Richmond State School, who contended he was fired for political reasons, filed suit Wednesday seeking $160,000 in damages and a hearing on his dismissal.

In the suit filed in federal district court, McDowell said he was "arbitrarily and capriciously discharged from his position."

McDowell was dismissed June 19, 1968. He said he was removed because he refused to admit the son of Sen. Wayne Connally, D-Floresville, to the Richmond State School. Connally's son was admitted after McDowell left.

McDowell charged four individuals named in the suit with "malicious defamation of character and professional and occupational qualifications and competence" and with "libel and slander."

He said the four "acting in concert and single sponsored and published libelous, false statements about" him and these statements were "calculated to and did injure" his reputation.

McDowell is currently employed by the State of New York.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—This is a very complicated and indecisive period for the market, says Hayden Stone Inc. "The technical damage inflicted recently—upon the averages (especially the rails) will require further time to repair," the firm points says. In addition, overall investor confidence has deteriorated quite sharply, reverting to increasing bearishness, and no strong base of consolidation has had time to form.

W. E. Hutton & Co. feels this is no time to be increasingly bearish concerning stocks, or even bonds. The market may go a little lower, "but there's more room for higher prices than for any real investment disaster."

This bull market has been financed on a cash-and-carry basis rather than on margin credit, the firm says, "and while there may be a shortage of money to buy bonds, to loan or borrow for commerce, thus far there is no shortage of funds earmarked for investment in equities."

The popular focus of the developing stock market boom will be the oil discoveries in Alaska, says Winslow, Cohn & Stetson. Ultimately, the company believes, these discoveries will prove to be of sufficient magnitude to surpass and perhaps displace those of the Middle East.

Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis advises purchasing paper equities for long-term appreciation. Paper companies will have record earnings this year or the next and the developing disposable market provides paper makers with their best outlook in history, the firm says.

'Wharf Type' Rats Attacked Infant Twins

HIGH POINT, N. C. (UPI)—Rats described as "wharf-type" attacked infant twins in their bed early Wednesday, mutilating the right foot of one of the two-month-old girls.

Physicians at High Point Memorial Hospital said the babies would recover if infection could be prevented.

Dinetta and Anita Floyd, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alvester Floyd, were bitten as they slept in a $50-per-month, four-room duplex apartment.

A portion of Dinetta's right foot was mutilated and Anita suffered several small puncture wounds.

Mrs. Floyd said she checked on the twins about 3:15 a.m. Wednesday and found them all right. When she returned to their room at about 5:45 a.m., she found the covers over them soaked with blood.

Dr. V. D. McFall said Dinetta's foot could be restored through skin grafting.

The duplex contained holes which were used by "wharf-type rats."

O'Malley, believing Oughton was shooting, opened fire, hitting Oughton in the face and twice in the back and killing him.

Oughton was unarmed and no weapons were found in the vicinity.

Mrs. Dick C. Rania, Oughton's mother, said "My son doesn't own a gun and he never carried a gun." She said he was on his way home to watch wrestling on television.

Neighbor Cecil Baldivino said "everybody in the neighborhood knows him. He was a nice fellow, that guy."

"The last time I saw him was the other afternoon when he was feeding a small cat in his back yard."

Severe Weather Inflicts Damage
In Oak Creek Lake, Western Texas

By United Press International
A reported tornado, high wind large hail and heavy rains lashed the western part of Texas Thursday night causing considerable property damage but apparently injuring no one.

Police reported a tornado touched down in Oak Creek Lake, Tex., 40 miles north of San Angelo, overturning four trailers and knocking seven of their foundation. No injuries were reported, but damages were estimated at $25,000.

Hail reported at Winters, Tex., about 45 miles northeast of Abilene, smashed out windows in the downtown section earlier Thursday night.

Nearly four inches of rain, 3.96, swamped Talpa, Tex., 40 miles south of Abilene, and more than an inch and a half, 1.69, of rain drenched Mineral Wells along with hail ranging from marble size to one half inch diameter.

A cold front stalled in Central Texas early today but was predicted to move slowly southward into Arkansas triggering thunderstorms there.

Thunderstorms were still quite active in North Central Texas early today, but in the west were diminishing. Severe thunderstorm watches for 33 Texas counties Thursday evening were cancelled for the most part today.

A bolt of lightning in Anson, Tex., 20 miles north of Abilene, started a fire Thursday which destroyed an electrical shop in the downtown area. Damages were estimated at $30,000.

Widely scattered showers and thundershowers were expected to develop this afternoon and evening over most sections of the state.

Temperatures were generally in the 60s over Northwest Texas with 70s prevailing elsewhere. The high Thursday was a 102-degree reading at Presidio.

Today May Be Unlucky, So
Was Wednesday

Today may be Friday 13th but the Ledford family of Pampa and Skellytown he s it won't, be unluckier than Wednesday.

But they did prove that neither rain, nor sleet, snow or two separate car accidents can keep the Pampa Daily News from being delivered.

Mrs. Ada Ledford Westbrook of Pampa and Miss Sharon Ledford of Skellytown were delivering papers for their mother, who was on vacation, when the first accident occurred.

Mrs. Westbrook sustained minor injuries and was treated and released but damage to the vehicle rendered it useless to continue the paper delivery.

Kinfolk were called in to help and Jerry Ledford, Skellytown, and Carolyn Earls, were prevailed upon to finish the route.

They were involved in an accident about an hour later on Brown Street and Miss Earls and another passenger Miss Deborah McAlister, Stamford, sustained minor injuries.

The paper was finally delivered by circulation Manager Bert Stevens — who made it around the route without a scratch.

Behrman's Store Is Sold to Perryton Buyer

Behrman's, women's wear store in downtown Pampa, changed hands this week. The store was taken over by Louis Saide, owner of a similar business at Perryton.

Mrs. Leah Behrman, who has been in business here since 1934, will remain close to the business. And the name, "Behrman", will be retained.

Mrs. Behrman and her husband the late Bernard Behrman, established the store under their own name when there were only two other women's stores nearby—Violet's, across the street and Mitchell's, down the block. Both closed some years ago.

Immediately back of Behrman's, which is on the corner of Cuyler and Kingsmill, was the original Richard Drug, now further south on Cuyler.

"The old Johnson Cafe there was on the corner where Woolworth's is now," Mrs. Behrman recalled.

The Behrman store has been remodeled several times and in 1959 was completely made over the recent owner says. "We just made it a brand new store inside and out."

The Behrmans were a very young couple when they moved here and "grew up" with Pampa. She recalls fondly the dances that used to take place in the "old Schneider Hotel," Now Pampa, Hotel.

Mrs. Behrman grew up with the women's clothing business; her father Jacob Winer, owned dress shops in Fort Worth, Dallas, Vernon and Wichita Falls during his lifetime.

Presnell Inducted
As New Leader
At Lions Banquet

(See Photo Page 1)

Max Presnell was inducted president of the Noon Lions Club at an installation banquet last night in Coronado Inn's Starlight Room.

Presnell succeeds E.E. Shultz who presided over the program and relinquished his gavel to Presnell.

Dr. Joe Donaldson, a past president of the club, was the installing officer. Other officers inducted included Red Cox, first vice president; Jim Hughes, second vice president; O.K. Gaylor, secretary; John Rosenburg, treasurer; John Hansard, lion tamer, and Gene Martindale, tail twister.

Three new directors also were installed. They were Jerry King, James McCune and James Stallings.

District Governor-elect Ed Flood of Amarillo, a former president of the Pampa club, was a special guest last night.

Club guests were introduced by Jim Hughes. The invocation was given by Rufe Jordan and service awards were presented by outgoing president Shultz.

Dinner Music and special entertainment was furnished by the Miami Stompers and two acts from last Saturday's Old Timers Reunion in Miami.

John Hansard led the pledge of allegiance and the invocation was given by Rufe Jordan.

Texan Named
As Ambassador
To Venezuela

WASHINGTON (UPI)— U. S. Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., was elated today over President Nixon's choice of ambassador to Venezuela.

Nixon announced Thursday his intentions of nominating his Texas campaign manager, John G. Hurd of Laredo, to the post.

"It is a pleasure to recommend such a distinguished Texan for this highly responsible position," Tower said.

But when White House spokesman Ronald Ziegler made the announcement of Hurd's potential nomination, a question of conflict of interest arose. Hurd, an independent oil producer, has long standing ties with the U.S. petroleum industry and is bound for a diplomatic post in an oil-rich South American nation.

"These things are checked thoroughly" by Nixon before a nomination is made, Ziegler said.

Woman Ok After Attempted Suicide

For the second time in two nights Pampa police were called to the hospital to investigate an apparent attempted suicide.

Police were called to Highland General Hospital late Thursday night and found that a Pampa woman had cut her wrists.

Her wounds were not serious, according to the hospital. The woman said she had become despondent because she and her boy friend had broken up.

MEMORIAL DESTROYED

BERWICK - ON - Tweed England (UPI) — Vandals destroyed a war memorial to U.S. airmen atop Cheviot Hill, police said today. The memorial, which included the propeller from an American B17 bomber, had been erected in 1968 in memoriam to American fliers killed in World War II.

Service Awards To Be Made At City Hall Picnic

Thirty-five city employees, who have served Pampa for more than 15 years will receive service pin awards Thursday, June 26.

The awards will be made at a picnic and ice cream party for the city's 175 employees and their families in Hobart Street Park.

Activities are scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m. with softball games, horseshoe pitching and other sports.

A short program when 15 and 25-year service awards will be made is set for 5:15 p.m. A picnic basket supper will follow.

City Manager Charles Hill said today it is hoped to make the affair an annual event.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 14, 1969

Your birthday Saturday: The coming year is as nearly normal as you can expect in these changing times. You will find many chances to simplify or straighten out matters you could do nothing about just a year ago. Your approach to life and its problems is apt to be more matter-of-fact than in earlier periods. Romance beckons the eligible. Saturday's natives concentrate strongly on one special skill in which they have an intellectual interest.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your recent efforts on the job now bring some surprises—good or not-so-good, according to how you have directed your efforts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your ability to earn rises, which may bring some new adjustment. Young people tend to get beyond normal bounds.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Without panic or fuss, quietly make sure your home is secure and free of hazards Saturday and in the evening. New opportunity in personal ambitions opens all around you. Your timing gets to be narrow enough to be rather stressful.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Old documents, review of things past, historical research are all in keeping with the direction of your attention.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You have friends all around, and with just a little enthusiasm from you, they tend to jump in and help your endeavors along—perhaps faster than you had bargained for.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your business and public life becomes quite active Saturday. Avoid any overcrowded condition, particularly in areas you do not normally frequent.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Excitement may lead you to neglect essential precautions. Avoid traffic tie-ups and heavily populated public places, especially neighborhoods strange to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your reserves increase, and your advantage in investment considerations builds up.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Partnership or group affairs are stressed. Hold your calm in public. Moments for reflection have a steadying influence. Discard household clutter in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Take the time to get any discomforts or symptoms checked. Working conditions need revision. Unfinished business, correspondence can be more readily wound up in the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Luck is just ahead in dealing with children, savings. Avoid

Shape Up Calves

To improve the shape of your calves, try doing this toe-riser exercise: Stand with your toes on a book and hold a fairly heavy book in each hand. Now let yourself down until your heels touch the floor. Then, slowly, rise up on your toes again. Do only a few of these at first, gradually working up to about 20.

33 Altrusans Attend Club Luncheon

Altrusa Club of Pampa met for lunch in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn. Mrs. M.Q. Wilson, president presided, and requested committee reports. Miss Evelyn Mason, corresponding secretary read letters from Renee Secrest and Jacqueline Combes. Altrusa Scholarship girls for 1968, expressing appreciation to the club; explaining their progress during the past year. She also read an invitation to the graduation of Evelyn Aurellano from the W.F. Dykes High School in Atlanta, Ga. and spent the school year in Pampa during 1965-66 with the M. McDaniel family, and was sponsored by the Altrusa Club of Pampa. Seating arrangement for the luncheon was by committees with club members as chairman of their table. Mrs. Frank Hearse, Altrusa Information and Mrs. Billy Tidwell, Community Service. Since Mrs. Horace Prince was absent, Mrs. M.S. McDaniel filled in as chairman for International Relations. Mrs. Charles Duenkel, Jr., was chairman for Vocational Services and Mrs. Roy Kay, Finance Chairman. The committees discussed programs and made plans for the new year, beginning in July. Thirty-three members were present.

REMEMBER, THERE IS NO ECONOMICAL SUBSTITUTE FOR QUALITY

MISS DEB

... answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming and interests.

Q. I can barely open my closet without something tumbling out. When we moved into our house, I thought I had loads of space, but now it seems to be shrinking steadily. What can I do?

A. If you're really serious about reforming, spring-clean thoroughly and toss out excess clutter. Then map a plan for using every bit of space. If you hang up your blouses and skirts, you can double your space by installing a second rod for them halfway between the floor and the first rod. If your closet is very deep, hang a second rod parallel to the first and use it for out-of-season clothes. Ask Dad to nail up more shelves where there's space. These can help in storing handbags, bulky sweaters, boots, shoes, and luggage. Then give your closet a face-lifting by covering shelves and walls with adhesive backed covering in a perky pattern to match your room.

Q. What's the best way to buy perfume? When I get home I can never stand the bottle that had such a great scent at the store.

A. With all the scents on the counters, it's hard to choose! Next time you shop for perfume, limit yourself to smelling only two fragrances first. Then go shopping for something else for a while. Without a brief rest, your nose can't sniff the differences between bottles. Too many dabs on your wrist fight each other. After a half hour, go back for another aromatic round, and you'll be able to pick the scent that suits you best.

Q. Now that I've started wearing make-up, my mother complains about the way I mess up the bathroom every morning. I'd like to remember to clean up, but since I'm always rushing to get somewhere, I forget.

A. Jog your memory by getting Dad to install a dispenser for paper towels in the bathroom. Buy a colorful dispenser and paper towels with decorator borders to match bathroom decor. Keep small bottles of cleaning products handy in a cabinet for washing off mirror and bathroom sink.

Dear Abby

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for one year. My husband is 70 and I am 61. I knew when I married him that he was fond of music, but I didn't know that he had to have the music going from the time he opened his eyes in the morning until he closed them at night.

He doesn't hear too well, so he keeps the volume up. Worse yet, our tastes differ. He likes the classics and the old stuff which makes me sad and I like Nat King Cole, Herb Alpert, Dixieland, and jazz.

This man listens to music while reading, watching TV, even during mealtime, which means there isn't much conversation between us. I can't do anything while there is music on except listen to the music.

I welcome the chance to get out of the house to get away from that music.

Would you call this a serious conflict? Am I overly sensitive or am I normal? I don't want to upset my husband as he is very considerate in other ways, but I must confess, this is a problem. What is your opinion?

TOO MUCH MUSIC
DEAR ABBY: If your husband subjects you to irritating music from dawn until dusk, the "other ways" in which he is "considerate" of you don't count for much. You have a legitimate complaint. Put it to music and sing it to your music lover.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I went on a skiing week-end with my father, uncle, and older brother, and I saw something I still can't believe. I saw my father and uncle with other women, and they certainly

New officers installed were Mrs. Vardeman Smith, worthy matron; John G. Hahn, worthy patron; Mrs. A.B. Whitten, associate matron; Lloyd Gooch, associate patron; Mrs. W.L. Parker, secretary; Mrs. Elmer Eyrars, treasurer; Mrs. Herman Jarrard, conductress; Mrs. Blake Laramore, associate conductress; Mrs. J.M. Hahn, marshal; Mrs. Palmer Kratzer, chaplain; Mrs. D.L. Mackie, organist; Mrs. Hubert Ayers, Adah; Mrs. Ira Dearen, Ruth; Mrs. Clifford Lewis, Esther; Mrs. S.T. Holding, Martha; Mrs. Raymond Lash, Electa; Mrs. Mark Harper, warder.

The new worthy matron's theme is "Devotion and Service;" colors, green, white, silver; and, her flower, all flowers. As a background for the installation, words of her theme were in white on a green background, centered by a white cross, with twining red roses.

The Bible was presented by Mrs. Joan Kingham on a white satin covered altar with white candles in silver holders. She was assisted by Kim Kingham who presented the square and compasses to the altar, carried on a small satin pillow. Sidney Beene was candle lighter.

Mrs. Smith gave an address of welcome and explained her theme for the year. She introduced her husband, Vardeman, and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gardenhire from Memphis. Mrs. Smith was presented one dozen red roses by her husband, a gift from him and their children who could not be present. Mrs. Darrell Bohlander presented her a gift from installing officers.

The Worthy Patron, Hahn, presented a past patron's pin to Bill Hughes after addressing the assembly. Out-of-town relatives of Mr. Hahn attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Been and son, Moore, Okla.

Mrs. Nadine Overstreet, accompanied by Mrs. Blake Laramore at the piano, sang two solos "How Great Thou Art" and "Faith Unlocks the Door." The worthy Patron gave the benediction.

Refreshments were served in the dining hall from a table covered with a green net cloth over satin. All appointments were crystal and silver. The centerpiece was an arrangement of red carnations with a white cross among them.

Mmes. Lloyd Gooch, J.H. Reeves, W.H. Chitwood, and W.F. Mulanax were hostesses.

Chapters represented by the 170 attending were "Top of Texas," Canadian, Tascosa, Miami, Canyon City, White Deer and Pampa.

Black Reparations Demand Looks Doomed to Defeat Now

World of Religion
By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The black manifesto demanding $500 million in "reparations" from U.S. churches has thus far produced a lot of publicity for its author and an opportunity for white churchmen to practice the difficult art of turning the other cheek.

It has not brought, and seems unlikely to bring, any cash contributions by churches to a manifesto authored by James Forman and his National Black Economic Development Conference.

On the contrary, many church leaders fear its net result may be a sharp drop in public support of existing programs of financial aid to Negro causes.

Insure Backlash

Even among liberal churchmen sympathetic to the basic idea of white reparations to black people, there is a feeling that Forman's tactics—including disruption of church services, seizure of church offices and blunt threats to extort money from churches by force—have insured a severe backlash among people whose voluntary contributions finance church programs.

The Episcopal Church, for example, for some time has been earmarking 20 per cent of its national budget for projects similar to those proposed in the manifesto. The vice president of its Executive Council, Bishop

Stephen F. Bayne, had this to say of Forman's demands: "I don't question the morality of reparations. I'm not even going to question the $500 million figure. Black people probably are entitled to a lot more than that from white Christians. But it is unreasonable to think that this is the way to go about raising that amount of money from the church. We are utterly dependent on the voluntary contributions of people. And this kind of confrontation tactic will accomplish nothing at all."

Although few are saying so publicly, church leaders also are leery of Forman's demand that the money be turned over to him and his followers to be spent, as they see fit.

Living in God's Way VBS Theme

"Living God's Way" will be the theme for Vacation Bible School at Zion Lutheran Church, beginning Monday, at 9 a.m. The school will continue for 8 days, with sessions conducted Monday through Thursday, June 16 through June 26. All children of the community are invited to attend the School at Zion Lutheran Church.

God, Preserver Science Topic

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of this week's Bible Lesson-Sermon which will be heard Sunday in all Christian Science churches.

"The Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever." This verse from II Timothy is the Golden Text.

A correlative passage, from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, explains: "The driving Mind that made man maintains His own image and likeness."

Services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 901 N. Frost, begin at 11 a.m., and all are welcome.

Lake Ministry To Strat This Week at McClelland

Beginning this week worship service will be conducted each week at Lake McClelland at a.m. Sunday School will be at the same time for children of those interested in attending worship.

The Rev. Max T. Browning, minister, St. Paul Methodist Church, will be the speaker each week.

The location is on the north side of the lake in the area where the old concession was located years past. Leaflets will be distributed at the lake Sunday advising of the location and the time.

The public is invited and encouraged to feel free to attend in lake clothes such as swim suits, shorts or any type of casual clothes. This is a ministry which has long been a dream of the campers at Lake McClelland and the concessionaire, Warner Phillips.

"We are looking forward to being able to worship together this Sunday at 8:30 a.m."

Says a spokesman: Sunday School at the same time for the children, 8:30 a.m.

AMERICAN-Made weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American-made weapons have been used in 55 wars since 1945—frequently on both sides—according to Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I. Pell said in a Senate speech U.S. arms suppliers have traded $60 billion worth of weapons on the world market in the past quarter century. "This is a daily dealing in death, a trade largely unseen and unchecked," Pell said.

GIVES GREEN LIGHT

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Home Loan Bank Board has given the nation's 4,500 savings and loan associations the green light to pump more of their reserves into the sagging home mortgage market. Board Chairman Preston Martin said the associations will be able to cut the amount of cash and stocks they keep on hand for brief emergencies from 6.5 per cent to 6 per cent. Martin said the associations will be able to cut the amount of cash and stocks they keep on hand for brief emergencies from 6.5 per cent to 6 per cent. Martin said this would free about $650 million, most of which will be shifted to the mortgage market.

Witnesses Will Meet Next Month

Jehovah's Witnesses from this area have been invited to attend an eight-day International Assembly in Kansas City, Mo., July 18-25.

Some 36,000 delegates will attend the gathering at Kansas City's Municipal Stadium. Although the majority of delegates will come from the Midwest, some from Germany, Venezuela, India, Peru, Mexico, Korea and Canada have sent requests for accommodations to Convention Headquarters.

The Kansas City assembly is one of 7 such meetings in the United States this summer, with 25 scheduled in other countries. They all have the theme "Peace on Earth." The convention's major address, "The Approaching Peace of a Thousand Years," reflects the Witnesses' belief that true peace will come to this earth in the near future. The speech will be delivered by N. H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Society, which directs the worldwide activities of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Information Gap May Be Good Name

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For 169 years they have called it Capitol Hill. Now some lawmakers fear the name will have to be changed. They say Information Gap soon may be a more appropriate title.

Say a congressman wants to know what has happened to HR1054 (a bill to authorize a study of polar bears and for other purposes.) He can: Look it up in the daily House congressional calendar.

Search the digest of public general bills. Study the Congressional Record. Ask somebody.

Naturally, being a $42,500-a-year executive and busy with inquiries from the polar bear lobby and other big voter blocs, he asks somebody.

That is why each House member is provided with 11 or 12 assistants (senators get about twice that many). And when one of them gets the congressman's inquiry he has four options—as above—and resolves them the same way.

What he does is call the affected committee. Which is why each legislative committee has clerks and counsel, paid up to $32,239 yearly, and secretaries who sometimes draw as much as $18,000.

One of these experts takes the query and looks up the answer in a printed committee calendar compiled for that purpose.

That, of course, is one of the reasons we have the government's world's busiest printer, at a cost to taxpayers of $39 million this year.

So now comes House clerk W. Pat Jennings, who for his $40,000 a year figures there must be some better way for congressmen to keep track of their business—including the 25,000 or so bills introduced during an average congress.

Jennings has nothing against reference works, clerks, committee staffers, or government printers. But he thinks computers can perform a lot of the work quicker, easier, and probably cheaper.

So what he recently installed in the Rayburn House Office Building was a sample data retrieval device. It looks like TV set. A user asks his question by pointing his finger at appropriate categories, sub-categories, and finally specific listings of information stored in a central computer.

The answer appears at once on the screen. HR1054, the computer advises, is lying doggo in the House Committee on Merchant Marine. The TV screen also offers up a capsule analysis of what the bill would do, in event it got passed.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Tipplers as well as teetotalers made up the ranks of 19th-century temperance lecturers. The bald Matthew teetotaler, gave the abstinence pledge to some 600,000 Americans in 1849 to 1851. The World Almanac notes. Mark Twain once described a pair of frauds who lectured on temperance, as well as hypnotism, fortune telling and medicine, "but they didn't make enough for them both to get drunk on."

LEST WE FORGET
By REV. T.O. UPSHAW

Some one has said, "The only thing we learn from history is that we do not learn." In our nation today, where we have gone pleasure mad, and about as many church members are to be found on the beaches and lakes on Sunday as are found in worship, the following article is very up to date.

Twenty-nine years ago, when London was being blitzed, the following article appeared in one of the British newspapers.

"We have been a pleasure-loving people, dishonoring God's day, picnicking and bathing — now the seashore is barred; no picnics, no bathing.

"We have preferred motor travel to church going — now there is a shortage of motor fuel.

"We have ignored the ringing of church bells calling us to worship — now the bells cannot ring except to warn us of invasion.

"We have left our churches half-empty when they should have been well filled with worshippers — now they are in ruins.

"We would not listen to the way of peace — now we are forced to listen to the way of war.

"The money we would not give to the Lord's work now is taken from us in higher taxes and high cost of living.

"The food for which we refused to give God thanks now is unobtainable.

"The service we refused to give God is now conscribed for our country.

"Lives we refused to live under God's control — now are under the nation's control.

"Nights we would not spend watching unto prayer now are spent in anxious air-raid precautions.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Military Double Standard

Senator Henry M. Jackson, of Washington, writing in the June, 1969, issue of Reader's Digest makes some interesting observations on our relations with the Soviet Union.

The article details some of the myths involved in our relations with the Kremlin, but the most interesting of all is the arms race. Sen. Jackson, by virtue of membership on the key Armed Services Committee, is well versed in the deployment of both our own military forces and those of Russia.

He makes the point that the more vocal opponents of the Nixon proposal for an ABM Safeguard system are operating under a double standard. The senator writes: "I have never heard one of these critics say that in deploying its ABM system some years ago the Soviets were 'escalating the arms race.' There is a clear double standard here, and I am confident that the American people, once they have the facts, will recognize it as a standard that is crudely biased against our own country."

The senator offers in evidence the following: "The Soviet Union acted first to develop ICBMs. The Soviet Union has developed and tested a 60-megaton bomb; it is the only nation to possess a terror weapon of anything like that size."

"The Soviet Union has developed and tested a Fractional Orbital Bombardment System (FOBS), a first-strike oriented weapon; it is the only nation to have available such an orbital weapon."

"The Soviet Union in 1962 tested fired an anti-ballistic missile (ABM) against an incoming nuclear-armed missile; it is the only nation to have conducted such a test."

"The Soviet Union acted first to deploy ABMs, is installing more than 60 ABM launchers, and is testing an improved model — whereas the United States has not yet deployed ABMs of any kind."

Sen. Jackson is a Democrat who places his nation's security above partisanship. His arguments appear to be substantial. It might serve the cause of national defense if all of the critics of the Safeguard ABM system and the constant apologists for the Soviet Union would take the few minutes necessary to read the senator's remarks. They might well learn something.

'Token Gesture' or Not?

It is still much too early to make any lasting judgment on whether the withdrawal of 25,000 American soldiers from South Vietnam, announced by President Nixon at his Midway Island conference with President Thieu, is merely the "token gesture" numerous critics of the war have branded it.

While it is "token" in the sense that it represents only about 1-22 of the total U. S. personnel in South Vietnam, much depends on what kind of troops they are. Not all the half-million-plus Americans are frontline soldiers, by any means. For every man who actively engages with the enemy, dozens more are required in supply and support roles.

If the 25,000 are indeed combat troops—the President identified them only as "the equivalent of a combat division"—the number is not as insignificant as it might seem at first blush.

What is ultimately disappointing in the announcement, welcome as it is after four years of seemingly endless escalation and deeper and deeper American involvement in the war, is that it was not presented as the first step in a scheduled series of similar withdrawals.

The President said that he would announce plans for further redeployment of U. S. forces as decisions are made in the future, but there was no indication of the hoped-for scope or timing of such redeployment—say 25,000 troops in August, another 25,000 by the end of this year, possibly a total of 100,000 by the end of 1970.

Until it becomes unmistakably plain to Hanoi that South Vietnam is definitely acquiring the capability to assume an increasing share of its own defense, the fact that 25,000 American troops are going home is unlikely to have any dramatic effect on the progress of the peace negotiations in Paris.

And until it becomes clear to Americans that the 25,000 are the vanguard of 500,000 more, Midway is unlikely to satisfy for long the still-high expectations concerning the new administration's ability to find the formula that will end the war.

The Power of a Woman

There is an old axiom about not underestimating the power of a woman. It is even more difficult to measure the collective strength of a group of women.

Evidence of the formidability of "coordinated" effort by our female citizens can be found in The Lawbreakers, a book co-authored by Mrs. Margaret Moore, Indiana's Mother of the Year in 1965, and her son-in-law, M. Stanton Evans, editor of the Indianapolis News.

The book consists of two parts, the first dealing with a description of the problems of growing crime and its impact on our society. The latter section describes the growth of the Indianapolis Anti-Crime Crusade.

Though the section on lawlessness is shocking, the last seven chapters and conclusion offer a plan worth duplicating in other troubled areas of our nation. It tells how the senseless murder of an elderly school teacher by a 15-year-old purse snatcher led to a meeting of the presidents of several of the city's leading women's organizations to discuss the problem of crime in the community. From this grew the Anti-Crime Crusade and an atmosphere of cooperation between police and citizen, and between black and white.

The results range from a Stay-in-School campaign to help stem the tide of school dropouts, to a Spruce-Up campaign, which earned a Freedoms Foundation award for Mrs. Mattie Coney, a leader of the black community.

Another Indiana city appears headed in the same direction. An organization known as "108 Concerned Women of South Bend" is setting its sights on the petty thief in the market place. This includes the shoplifter and vandal who adds to the cost of living by increasing operating costs of the store keeper. We wish the South Bend ladies well. Perhaps they will write a chapter of their own and get others to follow their lead.

North central Siberia is the coldest inhabited spot in the world.

Old Soldiers

Moving Into Arms Plants

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Staff Writer

Old soldiers don't fade away, either; they just go into industry.

More than 2,000 of them have at the present time, disclosed Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who calls it a "most dangerous and shocking condition" that threatens the public interest.

Why no one has publicized the pertinent statistics before is a bit puzzling, for on their face they certainly constitute highly compelling evidence of a deeply entrenched "military-industrial complex."

There are, according to the figures Proxmire received on request from the Defense Department, 2,072 retired, high-ranking (none lower than colonel or Navy captain) military officers on the payrolls of the country's leading defense contractors.

These 100 firms presently hold more than $26 billion in military contracts, representing 67 per cent of U.S. defense budget. Just 10 of the 100 contractors employ more than half the retired officers.

Among the major contractors producing key components for the controversial anti-ballistic missile system (ABM), nine employ 456 retired officers, or an average of 51 each.

"The easy movement of high-ranking military officers into jobs with major defense contractors and the reverse movement of top executives of major defense contractors into high Pentagon jobs is solid evidence of the military-industrial complex in operation," claims Proxmire.

The greatest chance for abuse of the public interest lies in the fact that 90 per cent of all defense contracts are negotiated rather than awarded on an advertised, competitive basis.

Defense Department regulations generally forbid a retired officer to "represent anyone other than the United States in connection with a matter in which the United States is a party or has an interest and in which he participated personally and substantially for the government."

But a code is a code is a code if it is not enforced. There must be some reason for the popularity of ex-military officers among corporations, especially those doing defense work. The pool of talented civilian executives can't be that shallow.

Nor is this buddy system something that begins only with retirement. Proxmire questions how hard a bargain a Pentagon procurement officer might drive with a corporation with whom he could possibly find a lucrative position when he retires.

The situation, says Proxmire, "makes it imperative that new weapon systems receive the most critical review and that defense contracts be examined in microscopic detail."

It does that — and a lot more. Short of permanent world peace, which would permit the dismantling of the nation's defense forces (an almost inconceivable thought), it requires constant vigilance that the high-powered salesmanship of the military-industrial complex does not pressure the nation into buying one iota more of cold or hot war hardware than is absolutely essential to preserve security.

Here is the real matter for concern—not waste of tax dollars or resources, not personal aggrandizement (the vast majority of military men are honest patriots) — but the danger that we may come to have so much invested in the weaponry of war that we could not afford real peace.

Nixon Aim: Impress Thieu On Urgency of Ending War

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Although withdrawal of 25,000 U.S. troops grabbed the headlines, President Nixon also had three "behind-the-scenes" reasons for meeting with South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu on Midway Island.

Nixon wanted to convince Thieu that it is in South Vietnam's interest for the United States not to stay in Vietnam in force for years to come.

Key Nixon strategists now are convinced the longer the United States remains in South Vietnam with huge numbers of men, the more the politics, the economy and the culture of that country will be warped.

The Communists are given a rallying cry that must in the end win them more converts. Past a certain point in time, the longer the United States stays in force, the less able the South Vietnamese will be to develop their own strength.

It is like the man who relies so much on a crutch, he never learns to walk by himself. These American advisers remember Laos, whose politicians wouldn't co-operate and whose armies didn't begin to fight until U.S. aid was cut drastically. Only then did the Lao realize they were on their own to sink or swim. They decided to swim.

Nixon wanted to convince Thieu that time was running out, that Thieu must come up, and quickly, with some practical political plans for a postwar South Vietnam. This advice could best be done in face-to-face talks. In a memorandum, or in messages sent through an American ambassador, this sort of talk tends to sound like an ultimatum, the last thing Nixon wants.

Nixon wanted to urge Thieu that there must be peace within some reasonably short period of time—not four, five or six years in the future. He wants Thieu to set his sights accordingly and get to work quickly on getting the democratic forces in South Vietnam ready for that peace.

Nixon wanted to urge Thieu in person to come up quickly with some sort of a practical approach, satisfactory to the South Vietnamese, for bringing the war to a satisfactory end.

Nixon wants more progress in the negotiations. Since his administration has decided that the political solution must be what the South Vietnamese want, the basic initiative in Paris therefore depends on the South Vietnamese.

Though administration officials talk blithely of U.S. negotiations on further troop withdrawals and South Vietnamese talk on political solutions, the hard fact is that troop withdrawals are so dependent on political solutions that U.S. troop negotiations in Paris can't make headway until Thieu's government makes progress in its approaches to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese on the political matters.

Thieu's approach on this is somewhat leisurely by U.S. thinking. Nixon wants to implant a sense of urgency in the mind of South Vietnam's president.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Although sunlight is necessary for life it is not an unmitigated blessing. Looking at the sun will cause retinal burns resulting in a permanent blind spot. This is especially prevalent in persons who watch solar eclipses.

Prolonged work or play in the bright sun also cause a severe conjunctivitis or pink eye and snowblindness in skiers.

Prolonged exposure also dulls the luster of the hair, causes thickening and wrinkling of the skin and predisposes one to skin cancer and keratoses (senile freckles).

Then there is the danger of sunstroke, which is really a form of heatstroke. This can be prevented by wearing a broad-brimmed hat in the sun and avoiding vigorous exercise to the point of sweat depletion.

Perhaps the old saying, "He hasn't got sense enough to come in our of the rain," should be changed to: "He hasn't got sense enough to come in out of the sun."

Q—In a recent column you answered a man with angina pectoris who was taking nitrites, dicumarol and Librium. I have been told that a person who is taking Librium should not take anticoagulants. What do you think?

A—Although the effect of cholestyramide (Librium) on coagulation is variable, there is no reason why it can't be given with dicumarol so long as the patient's clotting ability is checked every two or three weeks to make sure it does not fall to a dangerous level.

Q—What is the cause and treatment of follicular lymphosarcoma?

A—The cause is unknown. This is a very malignant type of cancer. The best hope for survival is early and complete removal of the tumor followed by deep X-ray treatment of the surrounding area. Some of the newer chemical agents, such as vinblastine, triethylene amine and chlorambucil, may be helpful additions to the treatment.

Q—Although I sleep well every night, I have dark circles under my eyes. What would cause them? How can I get rid of them?

A—The cause may be a hereditary trait (thin skin in that region). The condition bears no relation to the state of your health but it may be aggravated by menstruation, pregnancy and aging. Masking cosmetics are the best remedy.

If you play it, it's recreation. If you work at it, it's golf.

THE GLOBAL VIEW

Soviet Covets Mao's Oil, Nuclear Lab in Sinkiang

By LEON DENNEN
PARIS (NEA)—The world Communist movement remains riven by the escalating conflict between Russia and Red China.

Despite all the efforts of Western Reds there is little prospect even for a partial compromise between the rival Marxist-Leninist countries.

The hatred and fear that divide Moscow and Peking is exploding in new bloody skirmishes in central Asia on the border separating the Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan and Sinkiang Province in Northwest China.

The Russians claim that the Chinese are still holding some 15 square miles of Kazakhstan which they seized May 2 when they crossed the Sinkiang border into Soviet territory.

In the view of East European diplomats, Sinkiang, home of Peking's nuclear power, is fast emerging as the major battle ground between Russia and China.

Apart from ideological considerations, Sinkiang has long been a bone of contention between the two nations. In addition to being the testing ground of China's nuclear weapons, it commands the approach to Soviet central Asia. It is also rich in mineral resources and includes the great oil fields of Karamil.

More important for Russian strategy is the fact that of Sinkiang's total population of 7,000,000, only five percent are Chinese. The rest are Moslems of Turkic origin—Uighurs, Kazaks, Kirghiz and Uzbeks—who are closely related to the inhabitants of Russia's central Asian republics.

For two centuries, ever since they were subjugated by the Manchu Ching dynasty in 1755, the Turkic populations have rebelled against the Chinese. The Russians came and after them the Soviet commissars have always found the Sinkiang region a fertile field for subversion.

In 1935, Moscow helped Gen. Sheng Shih-tsai to stage a revolt against China which transformed Sinkiang into a Soviet-dominated province. But in 1942 Sheng turned against Russia and executed thousands of Soviet agents.

The situation was reversed in 1944 when local Moslem rebels, again backed by Moscow, set up an "eastern Turkestan Republic" in Sinkiang's three richest areas which border on Soviet Russia.

Then in 1949 Chinese hegemony was re-established when Mao Tse-tung's victorious Communist troops entered Sinkiang and abolished the Republic.

Yet as late as 1968 Mao had to purge Sinkiang's Communist boss Wang En-mao because he apparently conspired with Moscow to turn the province into an "autonomous" republic under Soviet protection.

Even before the latest outbreak of hostilities there was friction between Moscow and Peking over the escape of refugees from Sinkiang to Soviet territory. The Russians actively encouraged the migration and exploited it for propaganda purposes.

"We accuse the Mao Tse-tung clique of genocide and the persecution of Chinese Moslems," said an editorial in Kazakhstanskaya Pravda.

Chinese propaganda paid the Russians back in the same coin. Peking criticized Soviet policy toward non-Russian nationalities as "imperialist colonialism." It promised to liberate China's "blood brothers" in the Soviet republics of Central Asia from Muscovite yoke.

There are no longer any doubts that behind the ideological quarrel lies geopolitical problems arising from Chinese claims to large tracts of the Soviet Far East taken from the Chinese by the czars in the 1850s.

Mao, in fact, dreams of wresting from Russian ownership all territories ceded to the czars and the Communists by what he calls unequal treaties.

"We are still present to Moscow a bill for all the territories they took from us," he told a group of Japanese Socialists.

He even claims the Russian cities of Vladivostok and Khabarovsk where Moscow and Peking have agreed to meet to discuss their navigational troubles on the Ussuri River.

It is important to the security of the United States that our country engage in intelligence activity. It is equally important that these intelligence missions be adequately protected.

In recent months North Korea, one of the most aggressive countries in the world, has seized a U. S. intelligence ship and shot down a U. S. airplane engaged in reconnaissance. Neither the Pueblo nor the EC121 was protected.

When the North Koreans fired upon the Pueblo, the captain radioed for help. No assistance was forthcoming. The ship had been sent unarmed into dangerous territory with no U. S. warships nearby to provide help in case of attack. One crewman was killed, and the others had to spend many months in communist prison, undergoing brutal treatment.

Even after the Pueblo incident, reconnaissance flights were sent near to communist Korean territory without fighter protection. Our government should have realized from the seizure of our ship that the North Koreans were likely to commit hostile acts, but apparently this lesson was not learned.

The EC121 was an unarmed, propeller-driven airplane. It was shot down by Russian-built MIG jets. It had no chance at all to be saved. Thirty-one crewmen lost their lives in this attack.

In a news conference shortly after the loss of the EC121, President Nixon affirmed that intelligence flights would continue, because they were essential to the safety of 56,000 United States troops stationed in the Republic of Korea. He said that from now on these missions will be adequately protected, presumably by jet fighter cover. It is about time.

Question Box

(We invite questions of general interest and the proper function of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Do we require instructed or educated people as teachers in our school system?

ANSWER: The best answer we know is to quote Albert Jay Nock. What Albert Jay Nock says in his book "The Theory of Education in the United States" is: "We may observe then, in the first place, that our educational system has always been the object of strong adverse criticism. No one has ever been especially well satisfied with it. Or well pleased with the way it worked; no one, I mean, whose opinion was at the same time informed and disinterested, and therefore worth attention."

Nock quotes Ernest Renan, French philosopher and historian (1823-1892) as saying, "countries which, like the United States, have set up a considerable popular instruction without any serious higher education, will long have to expiate their error by their intellectual mediocrity, the vulgarity of their manners, their superficial spirit, their failure in general intelligence."

Nock continues: "This is very hard language, and I do not propose, for the moment, that we should undertake to say how far its severity may be fairly regarded as justifiable. I may, however, ask you to notice two things; first, the distinction which E. Renan draws between instruction and education, and second, his use of the word intelligence."

"... So in gradually building up an expression of our idea of education, we find the distinction drawn by Ernest Renan especially useful. Perhaps we are not fully aware of the extent to which instruction and education are accepted as being essentially the same thing. I think you would find, if you looked into it, for instance, that all the formal qualifications for a teacher's position rest on this understanding. A candidate is certificated—is he not?—merely as having been exposed satisfactorily to a certain kind of instruction for a certain length of time, and therefore he is assumed eligible to a position which we all agree that only an educated person should fill, yet he may not be at all an educated person, but only an instructed person."

Truckers Argue For More Permits

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI)—A long-simmering feud between South Texas truckers who are allowed to do no independent trucking, and the State Railroad Commission which regulates them will come to a showdown next month at Edinburg.

But State Sen. Jim Bates doubts if more than a few new intrastate permits will be issued as a result.

Packers and truckers of fresh produce from the lush fields of the Lower Rio Grande Valley long complain the Railroad Commission, which is empowered to issue or deny permits to haul crops, arbitrarily sides with big companies which charge hold an iron-fisted monopoly of the trucking business in Texas.

On July 7, 23 independent truckers who applied for the $25 permits will try to crack the ranks by proving a public need exists for their services, since that is the criterion which the commission says it uses in the permits.

Willis Deines, of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association, said the hearing, in Edinburg, initially was scheduled for June 16, but the sizeable number of requests for permits required postponement so attorneys involved could hold a pre-hearing conference to stipulate procedures.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Committee and other high interest critics have been giving bankers a hard time this week.

They are entitled to their opinions, of course, but all too often in controversies of this sort we tend to lose sight of the human element.

We need to be reminded that bankers have feelings, too. It has been my experience that bankers are really a swell bunch of fellows once you get to know them.

Many people don't realize that they look upon bankers cold business types and give them a wide berth except when discussing overdrafts and other financial matters. As a result, the average banker is starved for human companionship.

I get a steady stream of nice letters from strange bankers inviting me to drop in and open an account. This is balanced by an equal volume of friendly mail inviting me to drop in and arrange a loan.

It is my impression that the bankers don't actually care which type of transaction I drop in for, or even whether I conduct any transaction at all. Reading between the lines, I can tell that they merely are trying to create an opportunity to shake my hand, inquire about my health and strike up an acquaintance.

The spirit of good fellowship that motivates a banker is one of the reasons why they raised their prime interest rates this week to 8½ per cent, an all-time high.

Their invitations to strangers to drop in and arrange a loan had resulted in an extraordinary upsurge of borrowing.

Most people didn't understand that the bankers were only reaching out for companionship. When they dropped in the bank, they took the invitation literally.

Sgt. Robinson Receives Orders To North Carolina

Gunnery Sgt. Ronald Jay Robinson, son of Mrs. Dorothy Jones, 1004 Crane, has been assigned to duty in Cherry Point, N.C., following 13 months in Vietnam.

Robinson was in Pampa visiting his mother last week while waiting for his new assignment.

He will serve with the 1st Airwing of the Marine Air Traffic Control Unit in Cherry Point.

A Farmers' Union meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Building, 220 N. Ballard.

The meeting is open to members and anyone else that is interested.

Mrs. Minnie Bailey Dies At Age 86

DALLAS (UPI)—Mrs. Minnie L. Bailey, 86, said to have been the first woman to serve as a legislative correspondent for United Press, died Wednesday.

United Press was the predecessor of United Press International.

Mrs. Bailey was the widow of the late Lewis W. Bailey, editor of the Dallas Dispatch for 26 years. The Dispatch is no longer in existence.

Mrs. Bailey was a native of Edmore, Mich. She moved to Dallas in 1919 and handled the newspaper's milk fund for underprivileged children.

Funeral services are incomplete.

Baptists Consider New Resolutions

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Three resolutions demanding Baptists accept the Bible as the literal truth were up for consideration today at the annual meeting of the 11.3 million member Southern Baptist Convention.

One of the documents calls for the dismissal of all Baptist ministers who fail to sign an annual statement affirming their belief in a fundamental interpretation of the Bible.

The resolutions were introduced in committees Wednesday by Thomas Simmons of the Calvary Baptist Church in Hope, Ark. He asked that:

—Authors of Baptist literature be required to sign a statement with each manuscript "affirming their personal belief in the authority, the doctrinal integrity and the infallibility of the entire Bible, the word of God."

Two Persons Injured In One Car Rollover

Two persons were injured in a one car turnover Wednesday seven miles east of Pampa on Highway 152.

According to investigating Texas Highway Patrolman Paul Geiser a car driver by Mrs. Peggy Porter Hanson, 20, Canadian, went through a stop sign at the seven mile corner, ran off into a culvert and overturned.

Mrs. Hanson was taken to Highland General Hospital and was treated and released.

A passenger in the car, Howard Shoopman, 32, Pampa, was listed in satisfactory condition in the hospital with a head laceration.

Geiser said Mrs. Hanson told him that Shoopman struck her in the face as she was approaching the intersection causing the accident.

HOLERA CONTROL BANGKOK (UPI)—Emergency teams have vaccinated more than 40,000 persons to halt a cholera outbreak near the air base used by U.S. planes at Ubon in Northeast Thailand, spokesmen said Tuesday. The outbreak which felled more than 500 Thais, has been brought under control, they reported.

DePaula Answers Probers' Charges

NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York grand jury's probe into possible underworld infiltration into professional boxing apparently hasn't scratched the surface yet.

Berg is Choice Of Crowd, Kathy Title Favorite

Veteran golfer Patty Berg, who was guest of honor at a huge testimonial banquet the night before, was the obvious sentimental favorite today in the start of the $25,000 Patty Berg Classic at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Miss Berg, a 51-year-old Ladies Professional Golf Association veteran, was not among the top money favorites for the three-day, 54-hole tournament.

Instead, Kathy Whitworth, who has won four of 12 tour events to hold the lead among LPGA money winners with $18,875, was the top individual choice over the 6,130-yard, par-70 course.

"I have nothing to hide, my manager and I are clean," DePaula said.

Major League Roundup

Everybody Hitting for Chicago

By United Press International
 Hitting is becoming contagious in Chicago and Al Spangler is the latest "victim". Spangler, a light-hitting outfielder who hit only two home runs last season, smashed a pair of two-run homers Thursday night to help power the Cubs to a 12-6 romp over the Atlanta Braves.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati shaded St. Louis, 4-3, in 10 innings, Pittsburgh edged Houston, 4-3, Philadelphia ripped Los Angeles, 1-0, and Montreal downed San Diego, 4-1.

In the only American League game scheduled, Washington defeated Oakland, 4-1. Spangler hit his third home run of the season in the second inning after Randy Hundley was safe on an error and connected again in the seventh after Hundley reached base on a fielder's choice.

Dick Selma had a one-hit shutout in the eighth after pitching 5 2-3 innings of no-hit ball. But he needed help when Hank Aaron hit his 527th career homer.

Gives Reds Victory
 Lee May's bases-loaded single with one out in the 10th inning gave the Reds their victory over the Cardinals. Pete Rose led off the 10th with his third single of the night and Jimmy Stewart reached base when catcher Tim McCarver fumbled his attempted sacrifice. The runners advanced on a sacrifice and Tony Perez was intentionally walked before May's single. Pinch-hitter Carl Taylor's two-out single in the ninth inning scored Maury Sanguillen from third and gave the Pirates their victory over the Astros. Sanguillen was hit by a Fred Gladding pitch leading off the ninth, took second on a Jackson made it stand up with a fielder's choice. Jim Bunning, pitching his fourth complete game in 12 starts, scattered nine hits in boosting his record to 6-4.

Roberto Clemente hit his second homer in two nights to account for two of the Pirates' runs.

Johnny Briggs slammed the second pitch of the game into the right field bleachers for the game's only run and Grant Jackson made it stand up with a seven-hit, 11-strikeout performance as the Phils blanked the Dodgers.

Briggs hit his first home run of the year off loser Bill Singer, who suffered his sixth defeat against seven victories. The Dodgers have scored only five runs for Singer in his six losses.

Singer struck out 12 batters to boost his league-leading total to 113.

Ron Fairly, playing his first game for Montreal after being acquired from the Dodgers, singled in Gary Sutherland with the tie-breaking run to highlight a three-run ninth inning as the Expos beat the Padres.

Sutherland opened the ninth with a double and fairly hit reliever Billy McCool's first pitch for a run-producing single. Mack Jones tripled in Fairly and scored the third run on a groundout.

Murphy Out to Widen Lead

HOUSTON (UPI)—Bob "Florida Fats" Murphy, with a 4-under-par 66, leads the field into the second round of the U.S. Open golf championship on a Friday the 13th that will prove a sad day for most of the 149 players.

Murphy loosened up at exactly the right time Thursday, taking the course after Texan Miller Barber already was in the clubhouse with 33-34. He seemed headed for disaster right away when his second shot on the second hole caught a trap.

"But when I walked up to the trap I found I had just a perfect lie," Murphy said. "I hit it right out of there and into the cup—a 35-foot blast. That was the shot that made my whole round right there. Just when it looked like I would get a bogey, I got a birdie."

Murphy had four more birdies and was tagged with a single bogey on the rest of his trip around the tricky Cypress Creek layout. That gave him a one-stroke margin over Barber and two strokes over lanky Al Geiberger and Deane Beman, each at 68.

In a three-way tie at 69, three strokes off the pace, were Masters champion George Archer, long-hitting Tom Weiskopf, and Dean Refram—making a total of only seven players who were able to better par 70 over a course that a lot of them had been saying was easy. Six others were at even par—former champion Arnold Palmer, ex-football player Bunky Henry, Bob Rosburg, George Knudson, Dick Crawford, and Jack Ewing Jr.

The field will be cut to the low 60 and lies at the end of today's round, meaning that as many as 90 players may be eliminated on Friday the 13th.

Hockey Officials Fail to Get Anything Done

MONTREAL (UPI)—Executives from the major pro hockey leagues in North America finished the National Hockey League four-day annual meeting Thursday without having resolved much of anything.

From Photographer to Water Is Life of Charles Nicholas

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Charles A. Nicholas Jr. is a true sportsman.

Hsi appearance, however, is deceptive as he walks into the five-story Memphis Publishing Co. building, dressed in a stylish suit and buckle shoes with a giant gadget bag hanging from his shoulder.

Employees there know him as the commercial appeal's chief photographer. Few recognize him as a man who eagerly plans several weekends each summer challenging the elements and himself under water.

The first image of the trim but muscular Nicholas as a scuba diver is not so surprising. But the sight of a 43-year-old father of two sons—both as large or larger than he was with 60 pounds of cumbersome equipment into a chilling Arkansas lake is a manifestation of dedication.

There are many divers older and more skillful than the ruddy-faced "Nick" who admits he took up the sport, rather than deep-sea fishing, after a coin-loss five years ago.

Nicholas belongs to that special breed of pseudo frogmen who live hundreds of miles from the nearest coast and pursue their sport in the relatively murky and unexciting freshwater lakes of mid-America.

"It is a lot of trouble," he admits, noting the drive of several hours, the packing and unpacking of equipment and the stumbling entry over mud-covered rocks when the destination is reached.

"You take five hours to get ready to do something for one hour," he quips. "Much like a sky diver, I would guess, except their trip is a little shorter."

"I think it goes back to that old thrill," he said, a gleam growing in his eye. "I have always thought that being in the water satisfied something in human beings that might be traced back to evolution."

Nicholas and his sons were introduced to scuba diving with a day-long lesson in Destin, Fla. in 1964.

"I guess my first impression was of being alone—even with the instructor there," Nicholas said.

"Earlier that summer I had used mask, fins and snorkel at Greers Ferry Lake (Ark.)," he said.
