TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI)—Libya's one-day-old military regime said today it would honor all of Libya's prior agreements and ordered its citizens to protect the possessions of all foreigners including vast Western oil concessions and the U.S. Wheelus Air Base.

The Libyan news agency resumed its broadcasting in Arabic after a 24-hour silence that followed the bloodless coup Monday in which a group of military officers overthrew the government of King Idris I and established what it called a "socialist republic."

The political orientation of the government became clearer today when Syria joined Egypt, Iraq and the Sudan in recognizing the new government.

In London, Britain announced it had received assurances from the new regime that it would honor all treaties and agreements made by the civilian government of Premier Wanis Al Qaddafi, which was overthrown in the Monday coup.

(A British Foreign Office spokesman said the new regime handed a message to the British Embassy in Tripoli expressing the "revolutionary command's determination to honor all treaties and agreements." The spokesman said Libya gave similar assurances to other nations.

The Libyan regime announced it would partly lift the 24-hour curfew imposed Monday immediately following the dawn coup. The revolutionary command council said persons could move freely from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

King Idris, who had ruled as chief of state since 1952, left the Turkish spa of Bursa today aboard a Greek ferry to Greece. The 79-year-old monarch has insisted that he is still "king" of Libya and that the "attempted coup" will fail.

The orders broadcast by Libya Radio indicated the officers who seized power do not want to do anything to upset revenue-producing arrangements with Western oil companies.

It also was seen by some Western observers as an indication no immediate move was planned against the air base at Wheelus, biggest U.S.

military installation in North Africa.

The discovery of oil in Libya 10 years ago changed the kingdom on the Mediterranean coast of North Africa from one of the world's poorest countries into one of the more potentially prosperous.

In Los Angeles, a spokesman for the U.S. Occidental Petroleum Co., one of 46 Western concessions that pump out about $340 million in oil a year to world markets, said its operations were proceeding normally.

The country's share of the oil revenues is about 60 per cent.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman estimated there were about 10,000 Americans in Libya and said that according to preliminary reports, there was no danger to them or to U.S. property. He estimated U.S. investment in the country at $1 billion.

The coup ousted King Idris 79, who was in Bursa, Turkey. He has used most of the revenue from the oil deposits to improve the social and economic life of the nation's 1.7 million people.

Egypt and Iraq, leaders in the militant anti-Israel bloc of Arab states, extended full recognition to the Libyan Republic regime Monday night.

The leaders of the coup said nothing to indicate they would align their nation more closely with the Egypt-Iraqi faction in foreign affairs.

The Revolutionary Council described the aims of its coup Monday in a radio broadcast as "undertaking to build a revolutionary, socialist and progressive Libya which will fight against racism and colonialism."

U.S. Announces Destruction Of Major Guerrilla Base Camp

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. military command today announced the destruction of a major guerrilla base camp near Cambodia by American warplanes dropping bombs and napalm.

The camp 70 miles northwest of Saigon and two miles from which the Communists were expected to launch new attacks today on Hanoi's 24th Independence Day.

U.S. war communiques reported 11 overnight shellings and scattered combat, much of it around Saigon, but listed no major attacks of proportions that could signal a new offensive.

Summoned by an aerial spotter who saw some Communist troops in the open, the warplanes zeroed in on the Cambodian border base and killed 18 guerrillas, destroyed 72 bunkers and burned 15 tons of rice with their bombs and napalm, reports said.

In another aerial raid nearby, helicopter gunship pilots caught another Communist unit in the open and reported killing 16 soldiers.

"As I came in, I could see the NVA (North Vietnamese soldiers) sitting next to a couple of 107mm rockets. On our first pass, we hit the 107s, which exploded and killed at least four," said Lt. Stanley Zimmerman, a copter pilot from Philadelphia.

Allied intelligence has said it expected the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to begin a new but limited push to mark the 24th anniversary today of Hanoi's declaration of independence from France.

South Vietnamese troops in Saigon and in the provinces around the capital remained on special alert, with all leaves and days off canceled, but Allied headquarters reported only light combat.

At least three clashes erupted Monday on infiltration routes leading to Saigon, including the American air attack on the base camp.

Planning Commission Sought In Panhandle

Elected county and city officials from a 25-county Panhandle area have been invited to attend a meeting in Amarillo to discuss the forming of a Regional Planning Commission.

The forum will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday in the Amarillo Civic Center.

Speakers for and against the forming of the council will include former Pampan Melvin Munn of Dallas and Senator John G. Schmitz of California.

Tom Vandergriff, mayor of Arlington and Dan Petty from the governor's office in Austin, will detail merits of the plan.

The forum will include a question and answer period.

City Manager Charles Hill said he planned to attend Thursday's meeting.

County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. indicated the county had not made a decision to attend, but would probably do so at today's commissioners' meeting.

Forming a Regional Planning Commission, which is also called a Council of Governments, was enacted by Senate Bill 547 in 1965, during Governor John Connally's term of office. Council of Governments have been formed in Brownsville, El Paso and Abilene under HB 547.

According to Section 4 of the bill, a regional planning commission, or a council of governments "shall be a political subdivision of the state with the general purpose to make studies, plans to guide the unified, far-reaching development of the area, to eliminate duplication and to promote economy and efficiency in the coordinated development of the area."

State funds would finance the council with a minimum annual sum equal to $10,000 plus five cents per capita for all population served over 100,000.

The grant, according to provisions in the bill, "shall not exceed local funds available to the recipient agency."

COG activities would be administered by a paid staff and consultants; the apportionment of the cost, expenses and the purchase of the property and materials, will be through joint agreement of COG members.

Latest House Measure Relies On Higher Tax

AUSTIN (UPI)—Spectators await the unveiling of a new statute. Readers anticipate the debut of a new author. Teenagers contemplate the next record by their favorite vocal groups.

And when the big day comes, they find it's just the same thing they've seen, read and heard many times before.

The Senate was expected to reveal today for the seventh time its version of what the state's tax bill for the next two years should look like. The House passed its seventh such bill Thursday before adjourning for the Labor Day weekend.

The Senate bill, like that from the House, promised to be an encore of the song played six times before.

The latest House measure relies primarily on raising the state sales tax from 3 to 3.5 per cent for much of the needed revenue. It would also raise cigarette taxes, corporation taxes and vending machine fees. New taxes would be placed on alcoholic beverages served in private clubs, sand dredging operations, extracting shell and gravel from silt water and on transactions involving stocks.

The Senate tax writers claim the consumer bears too much of the cost of this bill and the term "a more balanced bill" was heard again Monday in public hearings held by the Senate tax writing committee.

The Senate's bill probably will put beer and liquor under the sales tax, even though this is the main stumbling block to an agreement between the two houses.

The Senate committee heard a parade of witnesses Monday complain about at least one section of the tax bill.

Harold R. DeMoss Jr. of Houston called the proposed shell dredging tax "confiscatory, punitive, unconstitutional and unwise." He said it would put dredgers out of business.

Frank Hoagland of Austin told

Commissioners Re-Appoint Airport Board

Gray County Commissioners today made appointments to the Gray County Airport Board, approved a hangar lease and made plans to file a damage suit for destruction of a bridge in Precinct 4.

Re-appointed for additional terms on the airport board were Ralph Prock, Ed Simmons, Paul Bowers to three-year terms; Ray Chastain, Stu Youngblood for two-year terms; Milo Carlson and George Cree Jr. to one-year terms.

Commissioners approved a five-year hangar lease transfer at Perry Letor's Airfield from Ray Chastain to Harold Starbuck. Terms of the lease call for an annual lease fee of $64.40 annually to be paid to the county.

At the suggestion of County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr., commissioners decreed a damage suit be brought against the Magic Circle Drilling Co. of Panhandle for the destruction of a bridge on the Johnson Ranch near Alanreed. The bridge collapsed when a reportedly overloaded truck drove over it.

Commissioners also authorized advertising for bids to restore the bridge.

Judge Lenning said he would attend the information meeting in Amarillo Thursday concerning the formation of a Regional Council in the Panhandle area.

Prosecutor Doubtful Of Teddy's Attorneys Stalmating Inquest

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (UPI)—The Duke County prosecutor said today he doubted attorneys for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would try to block with a federal court injunction an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne, set to open Wednesday.

Walter E. Steele of Edgartown, who has been on a first-name basis with Kennedy since they served together in 1961 as assistant district attorneys in Boston, told UPI, "My educated guess is the senator wants to get it over with as quickly as possible. My guess is the lawyers won't do it."

There had been speculation here, that attorneys for the 37-year-old senator and other witnesses to be called to the inquest into the fatal auto accident July 18 would go to the federal court in Boston with a request for an injunction.

At a pre-inquest hearing last week in Edgartown District Court, the lawyers argued strenuously that the inquest was "accusatorial" in nature. They unsuccessfully sought to win the right to cross-examine witnesses and seek rulings from Judge James A. Boyle, who will preside at the judicial review. Edgartown Police Chief Dominick J. Arena said he was making careful security precautions to protect Kennedy and Dist. Atty. Edmund S. Dinis, whose life has been threatened. Steele said attorneys for the five girls who with Miss Kopechne attended a party before the accident on Chappaquiddick Island, met here Monday for a strategy session. Steele also predicted the inquest would run from four to five days. "It will go no less than four days," he said. Dinis previously estimated a three-day inquest.

Meanwhile President Judge Bernard C. Brominski of the Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, Common Pleas Court said Monday night he would have a ruling "sometime before noon" also wanted an autopsy.

Dinis' request for exhumation and autopsy on the body of the 28-year-old Miss Kopechne, to determine the medical cause of her death. The inquest will attempt to establish a legal cause for the death of Miss Kopechne, a Washington secretary and a former Kennedy aide.

Dinis has said an autopsy is vital to the inquest, and Monday in New York William Vanden Heuvel said Kennedy also wanted an autopsy.

Fog Shrouds City On First School Day

The only thing missing from the scene this morning were the sounds of Big Ben chiming in the distance as Pampans made their way to work and the first day of school through fog-shrouded streets.

Visibility was restricted to a half-block.

The rains stopped today in West Texas around El Paso but flooding was still reported in the mountainous areas north and east of the city.

A main street was flooded Monday in El Paso.

Afternoon and evening showers were seen for scattered areas of the state today.

Clear to partly cloudy weather prevailed in other areas outside of El Paso. Considerable cloudiness stretched across West and Northwest Texas today.

Rain was reported from the Panhandle community of Dalhart to the Rio Grande city of Laredo.

Labor Day Violence Killed 69 Texans During Three-Day Holiday

By United Press International. Boys. Their car struck a tree in Arlington. The victims were Gary Rushing, William Joyner and Ricky Smith, all of Arlington.

David Michael Bayless, 33, died Sunday at Sherman when he apparently slipped and fell through a glass shower door, cutting an artery in his chest. Col. Wilson Speir, head of the Department of Public Safety, predicted 44 persons would die on the state's highways.

Only California, in which 54 were killed on highways, had a greater death toll than Texas. Still to come, however, are those who might die later from accidents which occurred during the Labor Day travel period.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Summers are wonderful for perspective. You sit on a beach somewhere, say Mexico, and perhaps read the Alexandria quartet or something by Dostoevsky or Oscar Wilde—and you are ready to face again television press releases describing a cartoon as a "classic." Marvellous.

Well, suppose today, then we skip all those cartoon "classics" and even the soon-to-come new video series that will be remembered for about 30 seconds after they are eventually canceled. Instead, let us scan some of the more special programs and news that the home screen is going to offer us in the near future.

Tuesday, for instance, CBS-TV will present an hour called "The Ordeal of Anatoly Kuznetsov," featuring an interview with the writer who recently defected from the Soviet Union. Also on Tuesday, NBC-TV has a filmed portrait of Ernest Hemingway's son Patrick, a professional hunter in East Africa. This report will appear on the "First Tuesday" series.

One of the big gridiron attractions of the year will appear on NBC-TV Sept. 14, when Joe Namath and the Super Bowl champion New York Jets take on financial star O. J. Simpson and the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League season opener.

The same day, ABC-TV will have the premier of "College Football...1969" a weekly hour-long series spotlighting top stars and games. ABC-TV on Sept. 12 will also offer an hour prime time special entitled "What the Cheering was All About: College Football's First Hundred Years." On Sept. 15,

Irked Pupils Hurl Brickbats

NEW YORK (UPI)—This land of fruit and plenty is a farce.

"I'm tired of adapting to schools; let the schools adapt to me."

"From a lousy elementary education, I was led like a lamb into the slaughterhouse known as the American high school."

"It's relevance or revolt... and when it comes to revolt, you haven't seen anything yet."

These are not slogans from extremists on college campuses. Nor are they jottings on a prison wall. Or wild ravings from the very disturbed ward in a mental hospital.

They are words straight from the mouths of high school students — directed to the ears of high school superintendents, 42 of them meeting recently at Teachers College, Columbia University.

It was a workshop, the 28th annual one for superintendents, with 25 states represented. And they listened as the students mixed open pleas with their diatribes.

The superintendents were prepared. Many have had protest situations within their schools during the past year. They were familiar with surveys showing three out of five principals nationwide reporting some form of active protest.

The students, including some already finished with their exposure to the education machine in the United States, told other students who are regarded by themselves and others as second-class citizens.

They told about marking systems which convinced students by the end of elementary school that they did not have it and wouldn't make it.

The superintendents listened soberly as students told about racism in corridors, classrooms, and offices; teachers who like neither their jobs nor their students.

A former-Radcliffe College coed, 22, said as a high school senior she ran away from home and became addicted to drugs. She told the superintendents that less money should be spent on formal drug education programs in the schools and more on teachers who can communicate with their students.

"Schools have as much responsibility as parents in helping kids to grow up to be healthy, happy, loving people," she said.

"It's time for schools to change from cold machines to 'caring' institutions."

Repeatedly during the conference, the supervisors were warned to expect violent student disruptions unless schools are reorganized to give students more power, reduce racial tension, introduce new courses, and change teaching methods.

Teens Take To The Road

NEW YORK (UPI) — During the coming school year more than half of the nation's 16-year-olds will be taking driver education in some 17,000 schools, usually for little or no graduation credit.

The three million will be enrolled in a standard course that features a minimum of 30 hours of classroom instruction and six hours of behind-the-wheel tutelage.

The standards were developed by several organizations interested in traffic safety, including the National Commission on Safety Education. The National Highway Safety Act of 1966 requires all states to provide comprehensive highway safety programs, including driver education.

Many schools have set up multiple-car ranges for practical off-street driving experience. These ranges include turn-around stalls, parking spaces, and lanes for driving passing, and backing.

The instructor, usually situated on a platform providing a 360-degree view of the driving area, supervises the practice sessions by two-way radio or a bull horn. One instructor can supervise 20 students at a time this way.

In training laboratories, complex simulators and instructional film provide realistic driving experiences. One advantage is that students can be exposed to dangers on film that could not be included in actual driving practice.

Leaders in the driver education field would like the subject, as part of safety education, to permeate the curriculum from kindergarten through high school.

They do not suggest special courses or units — except at the sophomore level — but rather the weaving of safety education into other subjects.

The business and financial community already have been pragmatic enough to recognize that galloping inflation is no remedy for galloping inflation, and that on the contrary, galloping inflation feeds on any failure to soak it up," observes The Janeway Service.

The prognosis now is for the cost-price push to continue rolling onward and upward.

News From Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Alfred Hitchcock, rotund and rubicund, celebrated his 70th birthday this month filled with enthusiasm over the completion of his 51st motion picture.

Appearing surprisingly as he did 20 years ago, Hitchcock views today's young turks of film making as his contemporaries.

"I feel about 35 years old," said the master of suspense dramas.

"These new schools of directors are made up of young men who are given 16mm cameras and told to photograph something, so they come up with a lot of tricks."

"I don't believe in improvisation on the set. I can visualize an entire picture on paper from the beginning. It's better to improvise in your office before the film starts."

Compares With Composer "You can compare it with a composer improvising a symphony with a full orchestra. He can do it all better alone on paper."

"This saves time, money and gross mistakes."

"But I'm all in favor of innovation. They've called me the father of the nouvelle vague. I used a hand-held camera with a gyroscope in it all the way back in 1927."

"This multiple screen business and other visual tricks prove nothing. You get the same effect with a montage."

"In almost 40 years of directing I've only made 51 pictures. I can't chum them out because I work with the writer from the very beginning."

The story, and how you tell it, is the only thing in film. And self-plagiarism accounts for style. I am guilty of that."

"I never start a script until I've visited every location. And I never begin a picture without a completed script."

Hitchcock, whose string of successful films is unparalleled in movie history.

Labor Day frequently has been followed by more emphatic business and stock market trends, observes W. E. Hutton Co. It marks the end of summer and the beginning of a new business year in the thinking of many people.

For this reason, it says, trends in both the financial markets and commercial activities should be watched closely during the next few weeks.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Summers are wonderful for perspective. You sit on a beach somewhere, say Mexico, and perhaps read the Alexandria quartet or something by Dostoevsky or Oscar Wilde—and you are ready to face again television press releases describing a cartoon as a "classic." Marvellous.

Well, suppose today, then we skip all those cartoon "classics" and even the soon-to-come new video series that will be remembered for about 30 seconds after they are eventually canceled. Instead, let us scan some of the more special programs and news that the home screen is going to offer us in the near future.

Tuesday, for instance, CBS-TV will present an hour called "The Ordeal of Anatoly Kuznetsov," featuring an interview with the writer who recently defected from the Soviet Union. Also on Tuesday, NBC-TV has a filmed portrait of Ernest Hemingway's son, Patrick, a professional hunter in East Africa. This report will appear on the "First Tuesday" series.

One of the big gridiron attractions of the year will appear on NBC-TV Sept. 14, when Joe Namath and the Super Bowl champion New York Jets take on financial star O. J. Simpson and the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League season opener.

The same day, ABC-TV will have the premier of "College Football...1969" a weekly hour-long series spotlighting top stars and games. ABC-TV on Sept. 12 will also offer an hour prime time special entitled "What the Cheering was All About: College Football's First Hundred Years." On Sept. 15, meanwhile, CBS-TV will have a prime time special called "Pro Football: Big Game America," marking the 50th anniversary of the pro sport, with Burt Lancaster narrating.

Well, let's see. On Sept. 14, ABC-TV will present the notable movie about surfing, "The Endless Summer." And the same network, on Sept. 16, has scheduled an hour called "The Folk Gospel Music Festival. Mahalia Jackson will be one of the performers in ABC's hour.

NBC-TV, it should be noted, has scheduled a special for Dec. 28 examining the revolt of the white middle class. Title of the hour is "Election '69: What We Learned," and it deals with the mayoral races. NBC-TV also has announced that Paul Newman will be the guide for its Oct. 7 two-and-a-half-hour program "From Here to the Seventies," which looks back at the 1960s and ahead to the next decade.

Looking to the future, meanwhile, Pearl Bailey will have her own musical variety series on ABC-TV in the 1970-71 season, and Goldie Hawn, the lovely scatterbrained blonde of "Laugh-In," has signed a contract to headline specials for NBC-TV during the next three years. Dana Andrews also has signed on with NBC-TV: To star in a new soap opera, "Bright Promise," which bows in the afternoon of Sept. 29.

Irked Pupils Hurl Brickbats

NEW YORK (UPI)—This land of fruit and plenty is a farce.

"I'm tired of adapting to schools; let the schools adapt to me."

"From a lousy elementary education, I was led like a lamb into the slaughterhouse known as the American high school."

"It's relevance or revolt... and when it comes to revolt, you haven't seen anything yet."

These are not slogans from extremists on college campuses. Nor are they jottings on a prison wall. Or wild ravings from the very disturbed ward in a mental hospital.

They are words straight from the mouths of high school students — directed to the ears of high school superintendents. 42 of them meeting recently at Teachers' College, Columbia University.

It was a workshop, the 28th annual one for superintendents, with 25 states represented. And they listened as the students mixed open-pleas with their diatribes.

The superintendents were prepared. Many had had protest situations within their schools during the past year. They were familiar with surveys showing three out of five principals nationwide reporting some form of active protest.

The students, including some already finished with their exposure to the education machine in the United States, told other students who are regarded by themselves and others as second class citizens.

They told about marking systems which convinced students by the end of elementary school that they did not have it and wouldn't make it.

The superintendents listened somberly as students told about racism in corridors, classrooms, and offices; teachers who like neither their jobs nor their students.

A former Radcliffe College coed, 22, said as a high school

Teens Take To The Road

NEW YORK (UPI) — During the coming school year more than half of the nation's 16-year-olds will be taking driver education in some 17,000 schools, usually for little or no graduation credit.

The three million will be enrolled in a standard course that features a minimum of 30 hours of classroom instruction and six hours of behind-the-wheel tutelage.

The standards were developed by several organizations interested in traffic safety, including the National Commission on Safety Education. The National Highway Safety Act of 1966 requires all states to provide comprehensive highway safety programs, including driver education.

Many schools have set up multiple-car ranges for practical off-street driving experience. These ranges include turn-around stalls, parking spaces, and lanes for driving passing, and backing.

The instructor, usually situated on a platform providing a 360-degree view of the driving area, supervises the practice sessions by two-way radio or a bull horn. One instructor can supervise 20 students at a time this way.

In training laboratories, complex simulators and instructional film provide realistic driving experiences. One advantage is that students can be exposed to dangers on film that could not be included in actual driving practice.

Leaders in the driver education field would like the subject, as part of safety education, to permeate the curriculum from kindergarten through high school.

They do not suggest special courses or units — except at the sophomore level — but rather the weaving of safety education into other subjects.

News From Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Alfred Hitchcock, rotund and rubicund, celebrated his 70th birthday this month filled with enthusiasm over the completion of his 51st motion picture.

Appearing surprisingly as he did 20 years ago, Hitchcock views today's young turks of film making as his contemporaries.

"I feel about 35 years old," said the master of suspense dramas.

"These new schools of directors are made up of young men who are given 16mm cameras and told to photograph something, so they come up with a lot of tricks."

"I don't believe in improvisation on the set. I can visualize an entire picture on paper from the beginning. It's better to improvise in your office before the film starts."

Compares With Composer
"You can compare it with a composer improvising a symphony with a full orchestra. He can do it all better alone on paper."

"This saves time, money and gross mistakes."

"But I'm all in favor of innovation. They've called me the father of the nouvelle vague. I used a hand-held camera with a gyroscope in it all the way back in 1927."

"This multiple screen business and other visual tricks prove nothing. You get the same effect with a montage."

"In almost 40 years of directing I've only made 51 pictures. I can't chum them out because I work with the writer from the very beginning. The story, and how you tell it, is the only thing in film. And self-plagiarism accounts for style. I am guilty of that."

"I never start a script until I've visited every location. And I never begin a picture without a completed script."

Hitchcock, whose string of successful films is unparalleled in movie history.

Wall Street Chatter

Labor Day frequently has been followed by more emphatic business and stock market trends, observes W. E. Hutton Co. It marks the end of summer and the beginning of a new business year — in the thinking of many people, the firm notes. For this reason, it says, trends in both the financial markets and commercial activities should be watched closely during the next few weeks.

"The business and financial community already have been pragmatic enough to recognize that galloping insolvency is no remedy for galloping inflation, and that — on the contrary — galloping inflation feeds on any failure to soak it up," observes The Janeway Service.

The prognosis now is for the cost-price push to continue rolling onward and upward.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Summers are wonderful for perspective. You sit on a beach somewhere, say Mexico, and perhaps read the Alexandria quartet or something by Dostoevsky or Oscar Wilde—and you are ready to face again television press releases describing a cartoon as a "classic." Marvelous.

Well, suppose today, then we skip all those cartoon "classics" and even the soon-to-come new video series that will be remembered for about 30 seconds after they are eventually canceled. Instead, let us scan some of the more special programs and news that the home screen is going to offer us in the near future.

Tuesday, for instance, CBS-TV will present an hour called "The Ordeal of Anatoly Kuznetsov," featuring an interview with the writer who recently defected from the Soviet Union. Also on Tuesday, NBC-TV has a filmed portrait of Ernest Hemingway's son Patrick, a professional hunter in East Africa. This report will appear on the "First Tuesday" series.

One of the big gridiron attractions of the year will appear on NBC-TV Sept. 14, when Joe Namath and the Super Bowl champion New York Jets take on financial star J. Simpson and the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League season opener.

The same day, ABC-TV will have the premier of "College Football...1969," a weekly hour-long series spotlighting top stars and games. ABC-TV on Sept. 12 will also offer an hour prime time special entitled "What the Cheering was All About: College Football's First Hundred Years." On Sept. 15, meanwhile, CBS-TV will have a prime time special called "Pro Football: Big Game America," marking the 50th anniversary of the pro sport, with Burt Lancaster narrating.

Well, let's see. On Sept. 14, ABC-TV will present the notable movie about surfing, "The Endless Summer." And the same network, on Sept. 16, has scheduled an hour called "The Folk Gospel Music Festival. Mahalia Jackson will be one of the performers in ABC's hour.

NBC-TV, it should be noted, has scheduled a special for Dec. 28 examining the revolt of the white middle class. Title of the hour is "Election '69: What We Learned," and it deals with the mayoral races. NBC-TV also has announced that Paul Newman will be the guide for its Oct. 7 two-and-a-half-hour program "From Here to the Seventies," which looks back at the 1960s and ahead to the next decade.

Looking to the future, meanwhile, Pearl Bailey will have her own musical variety series on ABC-TV in the 1970-71 season, and Goldie Hawn, the lovely scatterbrained blonde of "Laugh-In," has signed a contract to headline specials for NBC-TV during the next three years. Dana Andrews also has signed on with NBC-TV. To star in a new soap opera, "Bright Promise," which bows in the afternoon of Sept. 29.

Irked Pupils Hurl Brickbats

NEW YORK (UPI)—"This land of fruit and plenty is a farce."

"I'm tired of adapting to schools; let the schools adapt to me."

"From a lousy elementary education, I was led like a lamb into the slaughterhouse known as the American high school."

"It's relevance or revolt... and when it come to revolt, you haven't seen anything yet."

These are not slogans from extremists on college campuses. Nor are they jottings on a prison wall. Or wild ravings from the very disturbed ward in a mental hospital.

They are words straight from the mouths of high school students — directed to the ears of high school superintendents, 42 of them meeting recently at Teachers College, Columbia University.

It was a workshop, the 28th annual one for superintendents, with 25 states represented. And they listened as the students mixed open pleas with their diatribes.

The superintendents were preoccupied. Many had had protest situations within their schools during the past year. They were familiar with surveys showing three out of five principals nationwide reporting some form of active protest.

The students, including some already finished with their exposure to the education machine in the United States, told about other students who are regarded by themselves and others as second class citizens.

They told about marking systems which convinced students by the end of elementary school that they did not have it and wouldn't make it.

The superintendents listened soberly as students told about racism in corridors, classrooms, and offices; teachers who like neither their jobs nor their students.

A former Radcliffe College coed, 22, said as a high school

Teens Take To The Road

NEW YORK (UPI) — During the coming school year more than half of the nation's 16-year-olds will be taking driver education in some 17,000 schools, usually for little or no graduation credit.

The three million will be enrolled in a standard course that features a minimum of 30 hours of classroom instruction and six hours of behind-the-wheel tutelage.

The standards were developed by several organizations interested in traffic safety, including the National Commission on Safety Education. The National Highway Safety Act of 1966 requires all states to provide comprehensive highway safety programs, including driver education.

Many schools have set up multiple-car ranges for practical off-street driving experience. These ranges include turn-around stalls, parking spaces, and lanes for driving passing, and backing.

The instructor, usually situated on a platform providing a 360-degree view of the driving area, supervises the practice sessions by two-way radio or a bull horn. One instructor can supervise 20 students at a time this way.

In training laboratories, complex simulators and instructional film provide realistic driving experiences. One advantage is that students can be exposed to dangers on film that could not be included in actual driving practice.

Leaders in the driver education field would like the subject, as part of safety education, to permeate the curriculum from kindergarten through high school.

They do not suggest special courses or units — except at the sophomore level — but rather the weaving of safety education into other subjects.

"The business and financial community already have been pragmatic enough to recognize that galloping insolvency is no remedy for galloping inflation, and that, on the contrary, galloping inflation feeds on any failure to seek it up," observes The Janeway Service. "The prognosis now is for the cost-price push to continue rolling onward and upward."

News From Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Alfred Hitchcock, rotund and rubicund, celebrated his 70th birthday this month filled with enthusiasm over the completion of his 51st motion picture.

Appearing surprisingly as he did 20 years ago, Hitchcock views today's young lunks of film making as his contemporaries.

"I feel about 35 years old," said the master of suspense dramas.

"These new schools of directors are made up of young men who are given 16mm cameras and told to photograph something, so they come up with a lot of tricks."

"I don't believe in improvisation on the set. I can visualize an entire picture on paper from the beginning. It's better to improvise in your office before the film starts."

Compares-With Composer
"You can compare it with a composer improvising a symphony with a full orchestra. He can do it all better alone on paper."

"This saves time, money and gross mistakes."

"But I'm all in favor of innovation. They've called me the father of the nouvelle vague. I used a hand-held camera with a gyroscope in it all the way back in 1927."

"This multiple screen business and other visual tricks prove nothing. You get the same effect with a montage."

"In almost 40 years of directing I've only made 51 pictures. I can't teach them out because I work with the writer from the very beginning. It's the only thing in film. And self-plagiarism accounts for style. I am guilty of that."

"I never start a script until I've visited every location. And I never begin a picture without a completed script."

Hitchcock, whose string of successful films is unparalleled in movie history.

The Almanac

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 2, the 245th day of 1969 with 120 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.
The morning stars are Venus and Saturn.
The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1945 Japan signed the unconditional surrender on the American Battleship "Missouri" in Tokyo Bay, ending World War II.

In 1964 World War I hero Sgt. Alvin York died at the age of 76.
In 1968 the toll in earthquakes which hit Iran was fixed at 12,000 dead.

A thought for the day:
Manilius said, "As soon as we are born we begin to die, and the end depends upon the beginning."

Wall Street Chatter

Labor Day frequently has been followed by more emphatic business and stock market trends, observes W. E. Hutton Co. It marks the end of summer and the beginning of a new business year in the thinking of many people.

The firm notes. For this reason, it says, trends in both the financial markets and commercial activities should be watched closely during the next few weeks.

"The business and financial community already have been pragmatic enough to recognize that galloping insolvency is no remedy for galloping inflation, and that, on the contrary, galloping inflation feeds on any failure to seek it up," observes The Janeway Service. "The prognosis now is for the cost-price push to continue rolling onward and upward."

Hollywood Reports

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It would appear that female novelists have cornered the market on pornography, or at least clinically oriented stories dealing with sex.

Latest authress to emerge from the stacks of prurient literature is Gwen Davis, who has had five previous books published.

By way of explaining some far-out sex adventures in her book, Miss Davis (who is married and a mother of two youngsters) says, "I'm fed up with the non-book by the non-writer for the non-reader."

"I decided to write the dirty book to end all dirty books," she said.

Miss Davis could not be described as a shrinking violet. She is a shrewd female who seldom speaks without thinking and who rarely thinks unprofitably.

Her decision to write the ultimate dirty novel is not altogether altruistic.

She hopes it will make a great deal of money.

She flares up a bit when compared with other feminine novelists.

"Don't put me in their class," she cried. "I'm an established writer. A college graduate. I have a masters degree from Stanford."

She added a few gratuitous observations of the others.

"It took me a year and a half to write this book," Miss Davis said. "Sometimes I worked 12 and 14 hours a day pounding it out. And some of what I wrote is offensive. I admit it."

"But then the character I'm writing about is offensive."

Miss Davis was asked why she used so many four-letter words in her literary exercise. Again, she was offended.

"Why do you have to ask that?" she demanded.

She was queried if the book was larded with less than polite language to increase sales. Her answer was evasive:

"The fact that I can't stand to listen to those words doesn't mean I can't write them."

Even as her latest book is climbing the best seller lists, Miss Davis is busily pecking out her sixth book, one she identifies as a simple love story.

In defense of her current novel she said, "There is not one gratuitous sex scene. Only one scene in the whole book could be called really shocking. But it is written as comedy erotica like Doccaccio and Baudelaire."

Miss Davis clearly sees herself in the same company with the two authors mentioned. History may not record things the same way.

The title of her tome: "The Pretenders."

Alexandra's Eighty Thousand Dollar Strip Tease Spotlighthed

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The spotlight pointed a skinny yellow finger at the frightened blonde as she did an amateurish strip-tease on the little black stage. The camera crew looked bored; but they really weren't. They all knew this was something different, even for Hollywood.

The girl was Alexandra Hay. She was involved in what may be the most expensive screen test Hollywood has ever seen.

Nobody knows for sure. But for a studio to spend six days (and maybe even more) and probably around $60,000 on a screen test has to be pretty high up on the expensive -test ladder.

This was Bob Aldrich's idea. He wants to do a picture called "The Greatest Mother of 'Em All," about a horrible stage mother. This nasty lady pushes her daughter into stardom via stripping at 15 and worse at 15 1/2 going on 16.

ABC Pictures is interested in the property. But the part of the daughter is the key one — "She carries the picture," Aldrich says — and they don't want to O.K. a $2 million film without being sure the girl who plays that part can cut it.

Aldrich has Ann Southern to play the mother and Peter Finch and Kate Woodville set in other parts. And he thinks Alexandra Hay is right for the girl. ABC wants to be shown — so Aldrich is showing them.

He's putting together a 30-minute film, with scenes from the script, Ann Southern and Peter Finch and Kate Woodville have volunteered their services to the project; Aldrich only pays their expenses. He had sets built and a 25-page script written from the original.

He is now, three days into the test filming, more convinced than ever that Alexandra Hay is perfect for the part.

"When we started," he says, "I was sure she was sexy enough but I wasn't sure she was a good enough actress. Now I know she is a good enough actress — but she hasn't come over quite as sexy as I would like. I can fix that, however."

"I'm sure they'll buy her for the part. I don't see how they can turn her down. If they don't take her, they don't know their backside from a hot rock."

She was supposed to be stripping in a sleazy San Fernando Valley club. Choreographer Alex Romero had worked out a sleazy San Fernando Valley club routine, and she was going through it grimly — throwing her clothes, piece by piece, into the wings and chewing gum and making love to the pink drape.

Alexandra Hay is 21. She looks maybe 16 in this scene.

but Aldrich says in other things she actually does look 15. Between takes, with a cigarette dangling from her lips and her blond hair piled on top of her head, she looked 21 again.

Aldrich thinks that maybe in the old days they did things like this. He remembers hearing about David Selznick doing a few tests for girls to play Scarlett in "Gone With the Wind." But others on the set believe that they really didn't do the elaborate things he is doing for this — didn't build new sets or hire choreographers or tailor scripts.

It all got so elaborate, in fact, that some of the other actors were a little worried. They figured that maybe they weren't so smart in volunteering to do this for nothing.

"We had to reassure them," Aldrich says, "that we weren't just going to add a few close-ups and presto, have a finished movie. What we did was to use very stylized sets, so they know not one inch of this test footage will wind up in the finished movie."

When it's all done, it will be cut and edited and scored.

"Then I can show it to the cereal manufacturers who run the movie business today," Aldrich says.

Crazy World Of Washington

By LEON BURNETT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Odds and ends from the nation's capital—mostly odd:

During the 1960 presidential campaign, Sen. John F. Kennedy inquired rhetorically in a speech at Culpeper, Va.: "What has Richard Nixon ever done for Culpeper?"

Well, let the record show that Richard Nixon now has done something for Culpeper. His administration has declared the place free of sheep scabies.

Being seen around town these days are bumper stickers, whopped up by militant American Indians, reading:

"Custer died for your sins."

Sen. Spessard Holland, D-Fla., took a chunk of the Senate's time to tell it:

"Claims have been made heretofore by the distinguished senators from Tennessee, Virginia, and Kentucky as to the unsurpassed excellence of the hams produced in their respective states."

"Undaunted by these extravagant claims, my colleague from Florida (Republican Sen. Edward J. Gurney) and I have arranged for senators, in the several Senate dining rooms, to partake of Florida 'cured ham...and thus prove beyond doubt the superior quality of Sunshine State pork products..."

"We will delight in observing the looks on the diners' faces, as we know their pleased expressions will attest to the superior quality of Florida cured ham."

Headline on a news release: "One of the Nags Goes to Italy." Being a way of announcing that Linda Barbine, a member of the National Association of Government Secretaries (NAGS) has won a tour.

One section of the Army is still handing out its special prize, too:

Income Tax Questions, Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I was billed for additional income taxes. Can I pay this off in installments?

A — Full payment is due by the date stated on the bill. There is no provision in the law for paying these taxes on an installment basis.

Q — I lost my refund check and filled out a form for a new one over a month ago. What is holding it up?

A — Before another refund check can be issued a thorough search must be made of Treasury records, the Post Office and other sources to see if the missing check can be located. When this search is completed another check can be issued.

Q — I made a profit when I sold my vacation home. Can I postpone paying tax on this if I put all the money into another summer place?

A — No, the provision in the tax law that permits the postponement of tax on the profits from the sale of a personal residence or applies to the taxpayer's principal residence. A second home, or a vacation home, is not covered.

Q — I sold some standing timber on my farm to a lumber company. Is this regular income or a capital gain?

A — Such a sale is usually reported as a capital gain or loss. For details on when sale of timber is treated as a capital gain, send a post card to your District Office requesting IRS Publication 54, Sales and Exchanges of Assets.

The Department of Agriculture also has a publication on this subject. It is Handbook No. 274, "The Timber Owner and his Federal Income Tax," and is available from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, for 35 cents a copy.

Q — When my father died I inherited the sports car he had. If I sell it, will I have to pay income tax on what it brings?

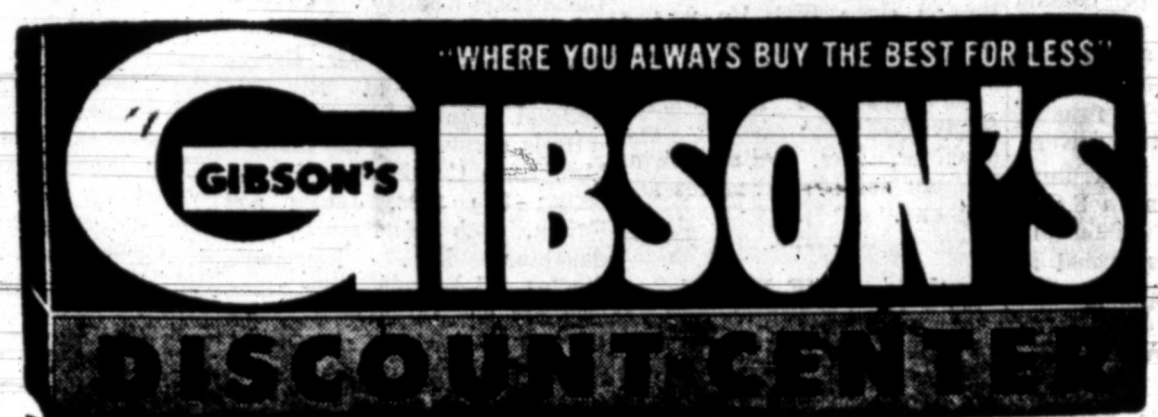

A — Probably not. There would be no Federal income tax to pay on the sale of the car unless it has increased in value during the time you owned it.

There would be a gain to report if you received more for the car when you sold it than its fair market value at the time of your father's death.

Famed Columnist Drew Pearson Dead At Age 71

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bureaucrats feared Drew Pearson. They worried he would unearth something in their department for which they might be rightly or wrongly blamed.

Most of his readers liked him. They considered his daily Washington Merry-Go-Round a journalistic crusade, and the bigger the names Pearson wrote about the better his readers liked it.

Most of his fellow journalists respected him. He was highly controversial and his efforts often drew harsh words from his press cohorts, but they felt generally he accomplished more good than bad.

Pearson, 71, died Monday of a heart attack. His column will be continued by his long-time associate, Jack Anderson.

Pearson was stricken at his Potomac, Md., farm and died shortly after noon at Georgetown University Hospital.

Funeral services will be private but a memorial service has been scheduled for 10 a.m. CDT Thursday in the National Cathedral. A family spokesman said his remains would be cremated and the ashes scattered over his farm.

In 1932, 34 years after he was born Dec. 13, at Evanston, Ill., Pearson joined with Col. Robert S. Allen to inaugurate the candid and revealing column which appeared in more than 600 newspapers across the nation and around the world. It had an avid readership ranging from presidents to taxi drivers.

President Harry S. Truman once called Pearson an S.O.B. and President Franklin D. Roosevelt once was quoted as calling him a chronic liar.

Both epithets were the result of columns Pearson wrote that Truman's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, allegedly used his White House position to his own advantage.

More recent presidents, if they had any comment about the journalist, did not make them public.

Pearson also had a weekly radio and television show. His zeal earned him respect, envy and sometimes outright hate from colleagues or others in the newspaper profession, as well as in broadcasting.

$10,000 Bond Set On Pampan For Assault, DWI
Bonds totaling $10,000 was set Tuesday on a 44-year-old Pampa man who Saturday night held police at bay with a rifle while using his children as a shield.

Bond of $5,000 on a charge of driving while intoxicated and another bond of $5,000 on a charge of aggravated assault was set by Gray County Judge Sherman Lenning, Jr. on Bob Luster, 404 Naida.

Luster was arrested by Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan Saturday night after he led Pampa police on a chase in the west part of Pampa and threatened to shoot them with a rifle while using his children as a shield.

The aggravated assault charge was signed by Luster's wife who said he beat her and her mother Saturday night before the events with police took place.

Grocery Store Has Second Call From Burglars
Pampa police are investigating the second burglary in less than a week of a local grocery store.

A burglar entered Foodway Grocery, 900 N. Duncan, sometime between 9:30 p.m. Monday and 7:30 a.m. today and took approximately $75 in change.

Store Manager M.O. Clemmons said entry was apparently gained through the roof. The asphalt lumber roof top had been broken through.

The burglar then went to a cashier's cage and pried open the cash desk where he got the silver. The burglar apparently left the store the same way he entered.

Thursday a burglary was reported at Cashway Food Store and entry there was reportedly gained through the roof.

Nixon's Domestic Program Collides At NGC Meet
By RAYMOND LAHR
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Broad segments of President Nixon's domestic program collided today with National Governors' Conference committee recommendations bearing the imprint of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The President outlined major domestic plans here Monday night on the eve of a debate by the nation's governors over the Rockefeller proposals.

The report from the New York governor's committee on human resources asked for more federal help for state and local government, including a "national universal health insurance program."

Some governors of heavily populated states, notably Rockefeller and Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, have complained Nixon's proposed welfare program would give them little help compared with states which have done less for welfare beneficiaries.

Nixon had his criticism clearly in mind when he addressed the National Governors' Conference, reviewing his policies and his "new federalism" to give more power to state and local government. Of his proposal for a $4 billion increase in federal aid for welfare, he said:

"Some object to these proposals—understandably—as seeming to favor one region over another or because they give the rich states less than the poorer states. We rejected these arguments because we are one country. We must think in terms of the people and their needs wherever they are. We must meet our problems where the problems are."

Illinois Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie told a reporter the long-range goals set in the committee report would not put the governors' conference at odds with the President. He said the administration must tailor its programs to fit conditions in a congress controlled by Democrats.

Miss America Beauty Pageant 'Going Mod'
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — The Miss America beauty pageant clearly is going mod, although officials avoid that label.

The 50 contestants rehearsed Monday night for the musical numbers they will perform with psychedelic stage decorations to the theme of "The Sound of the Young."

The atmosphere will return to tradition today, however, with the annual boardwalk parade.

Grand Marshal Arthur Godfrey is set to lead the girls, 38 bands and 38 floats along the oceanfront promenade past thousands of tourists.

The contestants were up at 4 a.m. today for a tight 16-hour schedule including more rehearsals. At Monday night's session, Judy Sousa, who will portray Miss America 1969, Judith Ann Ford, said the theme number was "discotheque jazz."

Earlier Monday, during their first meeting with the contestants, Miss America 1968, honey blonde Debbie Irene Bryant, and Miss Ford, the former Miss Illinois, told the contestants that each has an equal chance to win the title.

Miss Bryant is replacing Bess Meyerson Grant as NBC-TV's television commentator when the show is aired live Saturday night at 10 p.m. to more than 100 million viewers.

During the meeting, Albert A. Marks Jr., executive producer of the pageant, told the girls the production this year has not nearly gone mod, just "contemporary."

James F. Byrnes Remains On Critical List

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — James F. Byrnes, whose political career of 50 years placed him in all three branches of government, remained in critical condition early today.

His condition remains essentially the same. Dr. A. I. J. Josey, Byrnes' personal physician, said Monday night: "He has been resting comfortably and is in no distress."

Byrnes, 90, was hospitalized Friday evening after suffering an apparent heart attack at his suburban home. It was the third hospital stay this year for the former secretary of state and Supreme Court justice.

The Charleston native also served as U.S. representative, senator, governor and director of economic stabilization and the Office of War Mobilization during World War II.

President and Mrs. Nixon paid a visit to the elder statesman May 2 to celebrate Byrnes' 90th birthday and 63rd wedding anniversary.

USS Evans' Skipper, Deck Officer Charged With Negligence

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (UPI) — The U.S. Navy today announced charges of negligence and dereliction of duty against the skipper and deck officer of the destroyer Frank E. Evans for their part in the collision that killed 74 of their shipmates.

The Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne sliced the Evans in two June 3 during maneuvers in the South China Sea.

A Navy announcement said the court-martial of Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore, 40, of Vallejo, Calif., the Evans' captain; and Lt. (jg) Ronald C. Ramsey, 24, of Long Beach, Calif., its officer of the deck at the time, would begin about Sept. 10 at Subic Bay.

The charges against Cmdr. McLemore and Lt. (jg) Ramsey are obviously very serious ones, and trial by court-martial is the proper way of determining their guilt or innocence," the Navy said.

Conviction on the negligence charges would mean two years at hard labor, dismissal from the Navy and forfeiture of all pay and allowances. The military court would determine the penalty for dereliction of duty.

McLemore was asleep in his cabin and Ramsey was in charge of the ship when the collision occurred before dawn. The severed bow section of the destroyer sank, killing 74 men.

A joint U.S.-Australian Board of Inquiry found the Evans primarily responsible for the tragedy after a six-week investigation in June and July. The Australian navy absolved the Melbourne skipper, Capt. John P. Stevenson, of guilt.

McLemore was specifically cited for failing to give proper night orders to awaken him and for his failure to be on the bridge when high-speed close-quarters maneuvers were expected.

The Navy charged Ramsey with making seven mistakes, including failure to awaken the skipper, failure to seek clarification and advice from the Melbourne on the carrier's course, placing his ship on a collision course, and failure to sound the collision alarm.

Ramsey's assistant that night on the Evans' bridge, Lt. (jg) James A. Hopson, 28, of Kansas City, Kan., will not be court-martialed but will face the Navy's 7th Fleet commander.

200 Persons Stop At Jaycee Club's 'Rest Stop'
Seventy-eight cars with approximately 200 people stopped at the Pampa Jaycees' "Rest Stop" Monday two miles east of town on U.S. Highway 60.

According to Jerry Rogers, project chairman, the travelers were provided with pop, coffee, cookies, doughnuts and candy for the children. A tent was also erected to provide shelter from the rain.

The purpose of the "Rest Stop," Rogers said, "was to provide a place for people to relax while traveling."

Travelers from as far away as Canada, Oregon and Wisconsin enjoyed the Jaycees' hospitality.

Thefts Reported At Country Club
Theft of a watch, valued at $1,100, and $400 to $450 in cash from two lockers at the Pampa Country Club was reported to the Gray County Sheriff's Department last week.

The thefts, which occurred Thursday, are being investigated by Sheriff's deputies.

Buster Carter reported the theft of a yellow gold Rolex watch with diamonds in the face rather than numbers. Value of the watch is reported at $1,100 to $1,200.

Elmer Wilson, 1300 Williston, told sheriff's officers he lost between $400 to $450 in cash from his locker.

IT IS YOUR MONEY
You have a right to know these facts

You spend a lot of money for auto insurance. You have read wild statements about insurance costs and companies. If you would like some plain talk, here it is.

They say . . . Auto insurance companies are guaranteed a profit.

FACT: Before insurance companies can make a profit they have to first pay to have wrecked cars repaired or replaced, pay hospital and doctor bills for folks injured in auto accidents, pay for stolen or stripped cars, pay for cars damaged by hail, fire, wind or flood waters, pay wages or commissions to 95,400 Texans who give service to policy holders in every county in the state, pay taxes and operate their companies. If there is anything left after all these payments have been made, it is profit.

They say . . . Labor costs are a small part of auto insurance costs.

FACT: Labor costs make up the major part of auto repair bills and in some parts of Texas labor costs for auto repairs have increased in recent time by an amazing 40 percent.

They say . . . Texas auto insurance rates need to go up 11.4 percent.

FACT: The evidence is very clear. Accidents are up. Medical costs are up. Repair costs are up. Auto thefts and vandalism are both up. All this forces rates upward. Facts and figures prove that a 17 percent increase is needed now.

They say . . . There is nothing you can do to lower your auto insurance costs.

FACT: You can't lower labor and medical costs. You can't lower automobile and parts costs. You can help reduce the number of traffic accidents and crimes against automobiles. The accident that doesn't happen does not boost the cost of auto insurance. The car that isn't stripped or stolen does not increase the cost of your auto insurance.

Let Governor Smith, your Mayor and your County Officials know that you want a stop put to Texas' growing traffic accident and crime tolls. . . that you want the law enforced. Good law enforcement can reduce accidents and crimes against cars.

Lower accidents and crime rates can mean lower auto insurance rates for you. Isn't this worth a little effort on your part?

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have never found physical satisfaction in my marriage, although I must admit that all the other aspects of it are as nearly perfect as a wife could hope for.

For years I dreamed of other men while I found my husband sadly inadequate. I feel so cheap and dirty because of my secret thoughts.

I know that I could never be unfaithful to my husband because I have had many opportunities and have passed them by without regrets.

Perhaps confession is good for the soul, Abby. I feel so much better for having written this.

ASHAMED AND GUILTY
DEAR ASHAMED: You need feel neither shame nor guilt for your private thoughts. All normal people have sexual fantasies. Take the word of Dr. Judd Marmor, one of the most respected psychoanalysts of our time.

He said, "I have long felt that the biblical injunction that placed covering one's neighbor's wife on the same moral level with actual adultery is one of the most psychologically destructive heirlooms that the Judeo-Christian moral tradition has bequeathed to us. There is a profound difference between thought and action."

DEAR ABBY: We recently moved to this midwestern city (population approximately 90,000) from a slightly smaller eastern suburb.

Out East we lived in the same house for six years and didn't know any of our neighbors, except to say "Good morning" to, which was all right with me.

As the van unloaded me here, neighbors came from all over offering to "help." (Now, what can a woman do to "help" two moving men unload a van?) Several women even rang my doorbell extending invitations to come for lunch or coffee!

I don't wish to appear unfriendly or ungracious, but I have never been the type who runs in and out of neighbors' houses for coffee, and I would rather not start up with them here.

Is there some nice way to refuse their invitations without appearing snobbish?

NEW HERE

DEAR NEW: You can decline their invitations in your most unobnoxious manner, but sooner or later your friendly neighbors are going to realize that you want nothing to do with them. Perhaps you do not recognize simple hospitality when you see it. Why not taste and test this new form of neighborliness before you knock it? You may like it.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed OFF MY CHEST hit the spot. The new generation lacks something vital that the generation before them had. Example:

Recently I telephoned the public high school in our neighborhood asking for a student who wished to earn $5 by moving a pile of wood from one location to another. I explained that it wouldn't take more than one hour. I was told that someone would call me within a day or two. No one called. I telephoned the school three times, and when I had no response, I finally moved the pile myself. It took me exactly 45 minutes. Pretty good pay—$5 for 45 minutes work, I'd say.

Again I called that high school, asking if they could send me a young man to clear off a lot. We had two calls, but as soon as they heard it was "yard work," they said they weren't interested.

We have two sons who are married now, but if they had heard of any such opportunities to earn a little extra pocket money while they were in high school, they'd have been at the door at the crack of dawn.

What is the matter with our young people today?

L. B. OF L. A.
DEAR L. B.: Many of them (but not all) aren't interested in earning a dollar because they have a dollar.

Family Donates 'Owlbert' To Zoo

MINOT AFB, N.D. (UPI)—Many mothers consider themselves put upon for having to live with a house full of children and dogs. Not many would have the patience to add a snowy owl to the menagerie.

Until recently this was the situation in the household run by Tommie Johnson, whose husband Tom, a captain in the 741st Strategic Missile Squadron at Minot AFB, N.D., found a wounded three-year-old owl last March.

The wound healed and 'Owlbert' enjoyed the Johnsons' hospitality.

The Johnsons say they have had remarkably few problems with their unusual pet. In fact, the only enemy Owlbert made was a neighborhood cat who, although he never got closer to Owlbert than 10 feet, was frightened off by the sight of the bird's ruffled feathers and inch-long talons.

The Johnsons' own cat, Saint, got along well with Owlbert and was even known to donate some of his mice to his feathered friend. However, the Owlbert era in the Johnson home recently ended when they donated the bird to the Minot zoo.

I heard about the many birds the zoo lost during the spring floods," Johnson explained, "and I thought they could use Owlbert."

Ellis Wins Top O' Texas Championship

By RON CROSS, Sports Editor
Richard Ellis was 21-years-old Monday and gave himself the best birthday present of all. The former Pampa Harvester golfer who now plays for Texas A&M, won the 32nd annual Top O' Texas golf tournament, to no one's surprise, with a 72-hole score of 271.

place, five strokes under par at 279. Bracketed at 280 was 36-hole leader Max Hickey, hometown favorite Buster Carter and Steve LeCrone of Amarillo. Jim Deaton of the Oklahoma State University golf team was all alone at 281.

Tournament chairman Elmer Wilson put on a "Texas Tech" charge to win the first flight with a 54-hole score of 219, one shot better than Harry Wilbur of Canadian who led the first two rounds. Ellis, Hickey and Dick staged a dogfight for the championship honors but several bad drives and missed putts spelled doom for Hickey.

Ellis almost gave the title away during his afternoon round on the front nine when he bogied two of the first four holes. But the young champion rolled in a 12-footer for a birdie on No. 5 and this seemed to give him all the initiative he needed. He went on to birdie holes six, seven and eight to finish the front nine in 33, four strokes ahead of Dick and

For the day Ellis had 13 birdies and only three bogies. Ellis's 271 was only one shot off the tournament's 72 hole record of 270 held by John Farquhar of Amarillo. Ellis was runnerup to Farquhar in the tournament last year. Six golfers beat par Saturday, six Sunday, six Monday morning and six Monday afternoon. Rain hampered play somewhat Monday morning but by the time championship flight golfers set off in their afternoon round the drizzle had stopped.

CHECKING HIS card after winning the Top O' Texas golf tournament is 21-year-old Richard Ellis of Pampa, who won the title Monday with a 271 total for 72 holes.

A-Giants, Memphis Start TL Playoffs

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—The Amarillo Giants, who had the weather preserve the longest winning streak in the Texas League this year, hopes to add the most important game of all to that streak tonight when they meet the Memphis Blues here for the Texas League championship.

Based on numerical statistics, Amarillo looms as a heavy favorite to win the contest, but statistics are meaningless in one-shot title affairs such as this. The championship tilt is not a World Series type game, nor is it a best of five or even a best of three. It falls in the college basketball tournament-Super Bowl category. You lose tonight, Charlie, and the marbles are gone.

Best Record
Amarillo, which closed out the season Sunday with a 12-game winning streak going, has far and away the best win-loss record of any of the eight Texas League teams. The Giants won 80 regular season contests, lost 55 for a 59.3 percentage. Memphis' record was only the league's fourth best, behind Dallas-Fort Worth and El Paso in addition to the Giants. The Blues won only one more than it lost (66-65) for a .504 mark. The Giants also hold a 263 to 248 edge in team batting, although the two teams finished in the last couple of places in team home runs. Amarillo has an infield however that is batting at a better clip than anyone on the Blues' squad except Memphis outfielder Ken Singleton.

Infield Hot
Giant manager Andy Gilbert can start Jim Mallon (.302) at first, Damasco Blanco (.292) at second, Bob Erazier (.300) at third and Bob Holbert (.293) at short.

Veterans, Rookies Booted By National, AFL Clubs

By United Press International
The race is not always to the swift. Sprinter Tommie Smith, trying to follow in the footsteps of Bob Hayes, failed to make the Cincinnati Bengals' roster this season. Smith, one of the world's fastest track stars, was hoping to utilize his speed to win a job in pro football as a wide receiver.

But Smith was one of the seven players placed on waivers Monday by Coach Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals. The other players cut by the Bengals were defensive back John Gullory, kicker Mike Clemons, defensive tackle Bill Kindrick, linebacker Barry Brown, tackle Jeff Richardson and tight end Bruce Coslet. The Bengals also picked up offensive tackle Pat Talburt from Kansas City and guard Ernie Parks from Oakland.

Cut Another Veteran
The world champion New York Jets' cut another veteran of their Super Bowl squad, strong safety Mike D'Amato, as Coach Weeb Ewbank sliced six players from the roster. The other five players were defensive tackles Ray Hayes and Karl Henke, guard Gary Roberts, running back George Nook and linebacker Mike Hall.

The Philadelphia Eagles cut nine players including defensive end Tim Norton, who was put on the injured list after breaking his ankle last Saturday in the game against Detroit. The other players cut were Don Bandy, Aaron Martin, Bob Shannon and Dennis Hale.

The Pittsburgh Steelers put defensive back Merv Woodson and guard Sam Davis on the injured list but said they expected them to be back when the season opens. The club cut Dock Mosley and Dickie Brown. Houston cut 10 players including veteran linebacker Marion Rushing and last year's regular kicker, Willie Walker. Walker lost his job to rookie Roy Gerela.

The New York Giants cut one of last year's regulars, linebacker Ken Avery, along with Mike Cicciola and Doug Chatham.

The New Orleans Saints cut nine players including five veterans. The most noted was sub defensive tackle Lou Cordileone, who received fame of sorts when the New York Giants shipped him to San Francisco for Y.A. Tittle in one of the most lopsided deals in recent years.

Australian Tennis Stars Sweep Into U.S. Open Quarter-Finals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Australia's tennis amateurs may be paties these days but you sure can't knock those slick Aussie professionals. By sundown tonight, Aussie pros probably will own six of the eight slots in the men's singles quarter-finals of the $157,000 U.S. Open championship.

Three hustled into the last eight on Labor Day. Three more were favored to make it today. If form holds up, it could be 6-1 against the United States with defending champion Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., carrying the entire load.

It's already 3-1 against Arthur in his upper half of the draw. He's wheeled into the quarters Monday by blasting 1956 champ Manuel Santana of Spain with 21 aces in four sets but finds himself hemmed in by Australia's Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Roy Emerson, who also advanced in the same bracket. His next foe is Rosewall on Wednesday.

Today it was second-seeded John Newcombe of Australia, Ashe knocked over Santana, 7-5, 6-1, 6-8, 6-4 and headed for the clubhouse to pack his ailing right elbow in ice as a precautionary measure to ease a chronic case of tendonitis. Emerson dusted off Roy Barth of San Diego, 6-3, 6-0, 6-3, and Rosewall eliminated Romanian Davis Cupper Ilie Nastase, 6-1, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3 but suffered a mild injury to his right side in the process.

The ladies' idle in singles until Wednesday, gave the sending list a mild shakeup as four of them' reached d the semifinals. Sixth-seeded Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., in her first Forest Hills since 1966, exercised her usual hex over third-seeded Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., 6-4, 8-6, after being down 2-5 in the final set. Britain's Virginia Wade, the defending champ but seeded fifth, reversed a recent Wimbledon Cup defeat against fourth-seeded Julie Heldman of New York, 6-4, 6-3.

Merrick Horse Wins Richest Ruidoso Race

RUIDOSO, N.M. (UPI)—Twelve-year-old Robert Merrick may well have started a new tradition for winners of the All-American Futurity—the premier quarterhorse race in the world. Young Merrick, son of Walter Merrick of Sayre, Okla., vowed Monday he would lie face down in the mud if his dad's colt, Easy Jet, won the world's richest horse race.

Easy Jet kept his part of the bargain by splashing his way to a half-length victory over the mud-filled Ruidoso Downs track. And true to his vow, Robert walked out to meet the mud face-to-face. "I made the vow this morning in the stables," said the youngster as tears of joy rolled down his mud-caked cheeks. "Easy Jet is the greatest," he said.

In winning the 400-yard $600,000 All-American, Easy Jets added $159,840 to his earnings—bringing his total for the year to a bulging $340,763. The son of Jet Deck and Lena's Bar had no trouble romping through the muddy stretch, edging out Miss Three Wars and Velox Bar.

Easy Jet broke on top from the number-two gate and with jockey Willie Lovell guiding him through the middle of the track, the classic colt kept the lead to the wire. His winning time was 20.4.

Miss Three Wars, owned by Paul Travis of Leonard, Mich., held off the fastclosing Velox Bar for second, with Top Divi taking fourth. "We put special types of shoes on him to try to compensate for the mud, but my main worry was that the wouldn't get out of the gate fast enough," said Merrick.

Easy Jet, the crowd's favorite, returned $5.90, $3.20 and $3.20. Miss Three Wars, ridden by Larry Wilson, paid $3.20 and $3.00, while Velox Bar, with Johnnie Bustamante in the irons, returned $6.00 for show.

Miss Three Wars' second place finish was worth $75,060 for Travis, with $35,100 going for Velox Bar's owners, Robert and Bruce Gentry of Lubbock, Tex. The win for Easy Jet was the 14th in 18 starts this year, and followed up his win in the $189,190 Kansas Futurity over the same track earlier this summer.

The 11th running of the All-American brought to a close Ruidoso Downs' racing season—expected to be the most successful in the track's history. Despite the week-long rains, more than 35,000 persons jammed into the small-but scenic track over the Labor Day weekend with some 14,000 of those viewing Monday's main event.

"I think I finally realized that you've got to make those short puts," Lunn said following the victory. His first on the tour this year.

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—Big Bob Lunn, a golfer with the build of a fullback and the touch of a basketball player, maintains the difference between success and failure on the pro tour is the ability to drop the three and four foot puts.

The 24-year-old Sacramento, Calif., golfer demonstrated the importance of putting Monday when he utilized his skills on the greens in taking the $100,000 Greater Hartford Open tournament on a four-holes sudden death playoff.

Views Of Lawrence Welk

Since members of "the trade" of "show biz" usually stick together we've often puzzled over some of the snide and uncomplimentary remarks tossed in the direction of Lawrence Welk, the creator and MC of the television program known as "The Lawrence Welk Show" by some of his more "avant garde" contemporaries. Putting the rancor down to professional jealousy and envy of Welk's phenomenal long-term success (Welk, incidentally, with his family-type show built around Americana and good, clean entertainment, doesn't appear to worry about "the ratings," those hobgoblins of the television world, to the extent others do), we let it go at that.

That, however, was before we were aware of the smiling, Welk's political philosophy and, particularly, his convictions with respect to individuals earning their own way and opposition to government administered "welfare" paid for with plundered tax dollars. After reading some of his views in the article, "Guaranteed Wage and Human Dignity," in the Aug. 5 issue of "Christian Economics," the snide attacks against him by left-of-center members of the trade began to add up.

Referring to the various plans to "end poverty" by taking from some (those who earned it) and giving it to others (those who didn't), the famous television personality said in part:

"To my way of thinking (speaking, not as a politician or a statesman, but simply as a father, a businessman, an orchestra leader and a concerned citizen of this country which I love so very much) this is a negative approach which does not solve the basic problem. Instead of inspiring and helping man fulfill his potential by working to support himself and his family it actually encourages him to sit back and do nothing, secure in knowledge that the government will take care of him. This destroys his initiative and his will to succeed. It robs him of his natural human dignity and even the right to direct his own life.

"I am also concerned," Welk continued, "about the effect... on our children. A child raised in an atmosphere of defeat and apathy, and taught to expect that his every need will be taken care of, whether he works or not, stands little chance of developing a strong character. His own natural eagerness to learn and to grow and to excel is cut off at the very beginning of his life, and he may never know the thrill of achievement on his own."

The most dangerous and destructive aspect of "welfareism," Welk went on at greater length, "... is that it endangers our free-enterprise system... and I believe with all my heart that this is the best system the world has ever known. We have achieved a higher standard of living, given more, and been more alert to the needs of our citizens than any people... in the history of the world... and I, for one, do not want to lose it..."

Speaking as a man whose parents came to this country as poor immigrants, a man who has known grinding poverty himself, Welk's words are worth reading twice.

Thank you, Lawrence Welk. That, and the courage it took to say it, all things considered, is much needed today. When we tune in on your show in the future, it will be with even greater appreciation than in the past. May your tribe increase!

To Reach The Unreachable

The accusation is often made, especially by the younger generation, that America is a nation of hypocrites. We proclaim a lot of noble ideals in our Declaration of Independence and Constitution but we fail to live up to them.

Adolf A. Berle, professor emeritus of law at Columbia University, recently made a reply to that charge which bears repeating, even though it is well past 30 and is a senior member of the Establishment, and he could not be accused of being a nasty conservative either.

Addressing a gathering of school superintendents in New York, the former assistant secretary of state, ambassador and government consultant agreed with the accusation of national shortcomings.

"A good teacher, far from denying this, would at once admit its truth," said Berle. "But he would add something surprising."

"He would say that no society would be worth the price of admission if it did not proclaim ideals which were beyond its present realization. For that matter, no man ever lived up to his ideals either.

"If ever American society fulfills all its ideals, it would be because the ideals were outrageously low. Seeking goals beyond your reach is essential—in fact, it is the first principle of government."

History, said Berle, is the record of the painful attempts by society to seek levels beyond its immediate reach and, if ever it has realized them, to seek still higher goals.

Another way of putting it might be to paraphrase the words of the poet: A nation's reach should exceed its grasp—or what's a younger generation for?

Too many youthful reformers, however, blessed with instant wisdom, appear to throw out the baby with the bath water and the teachers along with their teachings.

Their reach, regrettably, exceeds their grasp of history or of human nature.

Curves Tossed At Viet Cong

A Viet Cong in hand is worth two in the bush.

For that reason, psychological warfare designed to convince the enemy that he is fighting on the wrong side has always been an important part of the U.S. effort in Vietnam. Lately, psy-war warriors have been trying a new angle—or more exactly, some old curves.

Working on the reasonable theory that feminine pulchritude is appreciated by soldiers the world over, a team from the 1001st Airborne Division has been adding pictures of bikini-clad young ladies to the propaganda leaflets and safe conduct passes it drops by helicopters on suspected enemy positions.

It's what you might call a "soft sell."

So far, however, no surrendering Viet Cong has brought any of the pictures in with him. Can it be that someone has overestimated the power of a woman?

Laser 'Tape' To The Moon

The moon is 232,271,361 miles from earth—about 130 feet, give or take a few either way, more distant than measurements to date had indicated.

This is the finding of a laser beam which scientists, after several unsuccessful tries, have finally succeeded in bouncing off the reflector left on the lunar surface by Apollo 11

Astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin.

Strange, that the mission which proved the moon is not unreachable should also reveal that it is farther away than we had thought.

The planet Jupiter rotates on its axis in nine hours and 55 minutes.

The American Way

By D. R. SEGAL
DEAR MR. CONGRESSMAN
Mr. Congressman, we have never met (when is the next election?) but I have always had a soft spot in my heart for congressmen because it is my view that they work too hard. Or, more precisely, too much.

I thought you might care to know about this minority opinion from one of your constituents.

When you fellows raised your salaries a few months ago, there was some dark muttering from the hustings where $25,000 per, plus an expense account, is thought to be a living wage. I was a little alarmed, too, not for the reason that I begrudged you an extra $10,000 for good behavior, but because I was afraid you fellows would think that in order to justify the extra money you'd have to increase your gross annual production. A congressman who had not Thought Things Out—and I am persuaded there must be one or two like that—might feel that if he got a 35 percent wage increase he ought to show his gratitude by helping pass 35 percent more laws every session.

This, I should say, would be infinitely more unpleasant to the taxpayer (this taxpayer, anyway) than the little $10,000 lagniappe.

This constituent, Mr. Congressman, is acutely concerned with the state of your health; and nothing would distress him more than to hear that you had suffered some insalubrious occurrence, such as, say, a coronary, as the result of having worked far into the night, every night, thinking up new efforts to amend the laws of gravity and mathematical progression or to construct new statutes to make wicked thoughts, sly glances and a bad disposition illegal, or to work economic and fiscal magic.

In a phrase, cool it, Mr. Congressman. Play it real cool. Do as little as you have to. You don't even have to show up in the factory except when there is something to be voted against or some measure to reduce the total effect of big government is being offered. Otherwise, take tours of the historic spots, especially the home of T. Jefferson. Read a lot, avoid Russki spies and cocktail parties where you can get involved with faculty-intellectual types. Have a good time.

Do not feel obligated, for my part, to destroy your physical or mental health by excessive cooperation with applicants for "matching funds," who can run you nuts. I would not fault you for not knowing absolutely every avenue of approach to Ft. Knox as requested, by the raiding parties.

I had a congressman once who didn't do a whole lot. As in your case, it wasn't a bread and butter deal with him. He was loaded. He's head of a big insurance company now. He was a pretty good congressman. Didn't give a damn.

His successor was a real worker, but fortunately he worked in pretty much the right direction. On balance, he did good job. It was good enough to give the President a political heartburn.

His successor is a Latin American, which is hard on him. They used him for all sorts of chores to prove that the Democrats, like the presidential candidate in "Of Thee I Sing," "loves the Irish and the Jew" and also the Latin American. They sat him next to the Queen of Egypt or some such at a state banquet and they sent him all over hellion's half acre to prove to other "minorities" what a small-d democratic bunch we are over here. This kind of duty can destroy a man in time. But I guess he likes it.

If I may summarize my views, I should like you to know I do not expect you to abolish sin, poverty, greed, sloth, sex or human cussedness. I do not want you to protect me against my own indiscretions or imperfections; I do not want you to insure me, provide medical attention for me, or tell me whom I may associate with hire or sell my property to. It is easy being my congressman, Mr. Congressman. The watchword, really, is "DON'T."

All the best to you in what I hope will be leisurely employment for you.

WIT AND WHIMSY

Sooner or later old age will claim your entire physical being—but that doesn't mean you must throw in your mind for good measure.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

WORLD STARVATION

Every 24 hours, 210,000 persons are born into the world, hungry. In that same 24 hours, 40,000 people die from malnutrition.

The daily gain is 170,000 new mouths to feed. Half the world's people are now underfed or poorly fed; and the world's population is doubling every 35 years.

Many experts predict famine in various parts of the world in the 70's. Fifteen years from now there will be a billion more world bellies to fill, and less land to do it with. Unless the underdeveloped lands learn to feed themselves, the world in this century faces more deaths by starvation than lives lost in all the combined wars of history. Most of the people of the world's hungry nations are suffering from ignorance, apathy, socialism, lack of tillable land, machinery, fertilizer, water know-how and desire except sexual. The stork continues to outproduce the plow.

Heretofore, wars have been used to curb population excesses. Suppose an atomic war killed 100 million people tomorrow. In five years—assuming the fallout did not reduce reproductive capacities—the population would be restored to an all-time high.

"They" say—and I say "they" remembering vividly that one of my high school teachers repeatedly proclaimed that "they" is a liar—that the world's coal can't last another 500 years; that half the oil ever in the earth has been taken out since 1920; that half the metals ever mined have been taken out since 1935; and that soon many of us will be out of water. Now I'm one who staunchly believes that "necessity is the mother of invention" and that "God helps those who help themselves." I believe we'll soon convert sea water to fresh water, economically.

An estimated 12 billion pounds of fish can be harvested from American waters every year—2½ times the present rate. But what many Americans want to know is how much we can pay for not fishing? I have not fished now for a whole year, and I'm tired of being disadvantaged and discriminated against.

At the present rate of world population explosion, they say that in 500 years, you won't be able to stand with arms outstretched without touching another person. Oh well, a lot depends on who you touch. I suppose "They" say also that we'll take food from the air and the laboratories. But with only one yard of ground each we won't even have room to eat it!

O.K., you say, let's control the population of our part of the world! And we've over-run by the other parts?

Idealists who haven't done their homework claim a well-fed world would be a world at peace. A well-fed world would be like the wolf in Little Red Riding Hood—a big mouth, the better to swallow you with, my dear!

Our materialist do-gooders profess to believe that once we make Communist "haves" out of Communist "have-nots" (here and abroad) that we will have established "bridges of friendship" which will enable us to live together as brothers.

Some "liberals" even claim to believe that once the Communists become "haves" they will renounce Communism. There's as much chance of that as there is of the Pope renouncing Catholicism and becoming a Baptist. He couldn't do it and the Baptists wouldn't have him. The United States of America, under both Republicans and Democrats, has done more to help Communism succeed than have all the non-Communist nations in the world combined.

If the world had our capitalistic system and our methods, there would be no world hunger problem. But instead of trying to sell our system to the world our leaders constantly undermine it and support the Socialist-Communist systems which produced the hunger.

In the final analysis, only a tremendous and immediate program of self-help within the needy nations combined with mass birth control measures can stem the tide of massive world starvation.

Jim Brown is a football player who blocks anybody who gets in front of him—even when he's in a car.

According to reports from California he ran into a car from behind the pack, banged up the rear-end play, then attempted to move on down the field.

Arthur Brush, the victim, got out and showed Brown his drivers license. Brown elected to pass, and again began a sprint downfield in his auto. Brush got in front of the car and Brown banged his knees hard with the booming bumper, throwing Brush up on top of the hood.

After that, Brown couldn't move with the added weight, so he got out flung poor Brush off the field, and took off along the out of bounds line like a herd of turtles.

Brush whipped out a pencil and took down the license number, then brushed off his wrinkled suit and went to the police. A warrant was issued to Brown and bail was set at $2,500.

Now do you reckon there will be any conviction? O, Ha-Ha! I'll bet a heavier blanket that Brown goes scot free. That will be in keeping with the kind of shenanigans that are looked upon today with favor by judges.

JOHN GOLDSMITH Proxmire Near Victory In Bid To Cancel C-5A Military Jet Order
ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — It's a toss-up what the Senate will do on authorizing the purchase of an additional 23 giant C-5A military transports — at a cost of $533 million.

A backstage nose count disclosed a close line-up on this stormy issue — with the outcome resting with a handful of still undecided senators.

It will be determined when the Senate reconvenes this week. An amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Subcommittee on Economy in Government, to delete a $533 million provision for these huge planes is the pending business when consideration is resumed of the $20 billion military procurement bill.

This measure already has been under acrimonious Senate debate for some six weeks, and the end is still not in sight.

The unpublished poll revealed strong bipartisan support for Proxmire's amendment, with both "hawks" and "doves" in both parties favoring it. But the Air Force, strenuously battling for the transports, also has powerful backing.

Both sides did a lot of proselyting during the three weeks' recess, and the vote could go either way.

Importantly aiding Proxmire is that his amendment does not affect the already approved purchase of 58 C-5As — at an estimated cost of more than $2 billion. So far only five of these planes have been built.

His measure is limited to the proposed acquisition of 23 more nominally at a cost of $533 million, but actually a deal more, according to Proxmire. He hotly contends he and other congressional investigators have been unable to ascertain exactly how much more.

It is Proxmire's vehemently expressed belief that the eventual cost of these additional planes will be $45 million each.

This startling estimate is based on a so-called "reversible incentive" provision in the contract granted by the Air Force under which, Proxmire claims, the cost of these planes increases as more are built. As each a consequence, if the original 120 C-5As scheduled are bought, their cost will be at least $5.3 billion as against an initial $3.4 billion estimate.

This approximate $2 billion "outrun" has already been investigated by three congressional committees, and under Proxmire's amendment would be further probed by the General Accounting Office.

ASTUTE STRATEGY — Senator Proxmire unquestionably has made considerable headway against heavy odds by confining his attack to the 23 additional transports and with a series of telling arguments.

Air Force and Lockheed spokesmen have definitely been on the defensive in countering them and the hard-hitting Wisconsinite has made the most of that. With the "military-industrial complex" under fire in general, his specifics on the C-5A have made an impact on his fellow senators.

That is strikingly evidenced by the close line-up in the backstage nose count. Proxmire's main contentions boil down to the following:

"The transports are being built in a government-owned plant, with large amounts of government-owned machinery, and with huge 'progress payments' being made which in effect supply the working capital. The government's investment is very great, while Lockheed's investment is minimal."

"It is a contract which has a repricing formula in which there is a blatant reverse incentive. If the cost of the first 58 planes exceeds the original estimate, the contractor is rewarded. Each additional plane will cost more, not less. The contract gives incentives for excessive cost and inefficiency."

"It is a contract under which there is already a six months' delay in delivery."

"I do not say that U.S. should not have a rapid-deployment capability. No doubt, some rapid-deployment capability is desirable. But that is not the real issue. The 58 C-5As now under production will give us substantial rapid deployment capability. No doubt some of the question of whether the 23 additional C-5As will add significantly to our deployment capability. It is my judgment they will not. It is a very small capability considering the very large price we are being asked to pay."

Proxmire, up for a third term next year, holds a number of important committee assignments. In addition to being chairman of the Subcommittee on Defense Production, second is vice-chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, a ranking member of the joint Committee on Defense Production, second ranking member of the Banking and Currency Committee, and member of the powerful Appropriations Committee.

PERTINENT QUESTION — A native-born Canadian is chairman of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission — created by Congress several years ago to plan and organize the nationwide celebration in 1976 of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

He is John E. W. Sterling, chancellor of Stanford University, appointed to this prestigious office by President Nixon on July 23.

Born in Linwood, Ont., he got his B.A. degree at the University of Toronto, Master's degree at the University of Alberta, his Ph.D. at Stanford. He has a number of honorary degrees from U.S. and foreign universities, among them Durham University, England, McGill University, Canada, and the University of Caen, France.

The Bicentennial Commission consists of three groups of members: eight congressmen, four from the Senate and four from the House; 17 public members appointed by the President; and 10 ex officio members consisting of heads of executive departments and agencies which are deemed to have an interest in the bicentennial.

No salaries are paid; only traveling expenses.

The House has authorized an appropriation of $265,000 for the current fiscal year. The Senate has yet to vote on that. This amount is in addition to $150,000 previously approved.

Rep. H.R. Gross, R-Iowa, veteran economy champion, raised the point of the appropriateness of a native-born Canadian heading the Commission. Acknowledging that Sterling has long been a naturalized U.S. citizen, Gross still expressed doubt about his selection.

He questioned Representative Julia Hansen, D-Wash., Appropriations Subcommittee chairman in charge of the Commission's budget. "Does the gentleman know that the chairman of this American Revolution Commission is a native-born Canadian?"

"There are many native-born American citizens," replied Mrs. Hansen, obviously trying to avoid an argument.

"Would not the gentleman think it somewhat strange" persisted Gross, "that a native-born Canadian would be the chairman of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission?" It seems very remarkable to me."

Mrs. Hansen still refused to get embroiled.

"I did not make this appointment," she said pleasantly, "and without an impelling reason. I don't think I should comment on the background of the appointee."

That ended the discussion.

Dr. Sterling's predecessor as chairman was Carlisle Humelsine of Colonial Williamsburg, Va.

DEAD ISSUE — There isn't a chance this Congress will vote the long-sought home rule for the District of Columbia. Not only has it no prospect of getting anywhere this session, but next year either. As far as this Congress is concerned, it's a dead issue.

The House District Committee, headed by Representative John McMillan, D-S. C., is overwhelmingly opposed to home rule. That means it has no chance of reaching the floor of the full House. The Senate District Committee is more sympathetic, but is too busy with more pressing matters to get to this legislation. Further, most members of Congress generally are cold to the proposal.
