PAMPA — Work to rehabilitate a Gray County Farm to Market Road will begin Monday, July 10, according to Jerry Raines, Pampa Area engineer for the Texas Department of Transportation.

Contractors for TxDOT will be improving the driving surface of FM 2300 between U.S. 60 and FM 293 west of Pampa. The $262,540 contract was awarded to L.A. Fuller & Sons Inc. of Amarillo.

During construction, FM 2300 will be reduced to one lane of two-way travel. Flaggers will guide drivers through the construction zone during the day. Both lanes of FM 2300 will be open at night. The project should be completed in September.

"This major road rehabilitation will increase the life of FM 2300," Raines said.

PAMPA — Exposito College of Hair Design, 613 N. Hobart, will be holding a Cut-A-Thon on Monday, July 10, with proceeds to benefit the Pampa Area Disaster Relief Fund.

The Cut-A-Thon will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday at the college, with a minimum of $4 donation per cut requested.

Services will be provided by students and staff. Other licensed cosmetologists are also welcome to participate for all or part of the day by bringing their scissors with them.

BRISCOE — The Fort Elliott Consolidated Independent School District Board of Education will meet in regular session Monday at 7 p.m. in the superintendent's office at 501 E. Wilson in Briscoe.

Items on the agenda include the appointment of Superintendent Dave Johnson as records management officer for the district, consideration of depository bids, consideration of personnel, consideration of salaries of certified personnel and consideration of a WADA agreement with Wheeler and Shamrock.

Meetings are open to the public.

MIAMI — The Miami Independent School District Board of Education will meet in regular session Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the school administration office.

Items on the agenda include amending the 1994-95 budget, approval of the use of a bus for a fire department trip, the appointment of a committee for the Texas Association of School Boards Policy Update 49, the appointment of an integrated pest management coordinator, and discussion of the 1995-96 budget.

Meetings are open to the public.

FEMA denies initial request for tornado aid

By CHIP CHANDLER
Staff Writer

A request for federal funding for Pampa and Gray County in the wake of the June 8 tornado has been denied for now, state and local emergency management officials say.

An initial proposal asked for a federal disaster declaration for Tom Green, Llano and Nolan Counties for the hail storms of May 28 through 31, "and continuing to date," according to a June 5 letter to President Clinton from Gov. George W. Bush.

Pampa/Gray County Emergency Management Coordinator Ken Hall says that the Texas Department of Public Safety's Division of Emergency Management had hoped the "continuing" phrase would allow FEMA to include the June tornadoes in Gray, Hidalgo, Parmer, Wheeler and Wilbarger Counties.

But, Hall said, the declaration signed by President Clinton called for federal funds only for the storms between May 28-31.

"Because they got very specific in their wording, then we fell out," Hall said.

Jo Moss, public information officer with the DPS Division of Emergency Management, terms FEMA's actions "very unusual."

Moss said the state had already received a declaration for Tom Green County, and traditionally they had been allowed to request the addition of other counties that are affected by the same storm system. They used this process when 36 counties in Southeast Texas were struck by floods earlier this year.

The division's meteorologists told them that the storm system responsible for the San Angelo area hail storms also caused the Panhandle tornadoes.

The letter of disaster declaration from President Clinton did not mention the Panhandle counties, Moss said, so they have to try again.

The state Division of Emergency Management is meeting today with Gov. Bush's office, as well as U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison's office, to explore their options, said Moss.

Those options include appealing the president's declaration or filing another declaration.

If another declaration request is filed and a disaster is declared, locally that would mean assistance for the city of Pampa and Gray County, as well as for individual assistance and grants.

Pampans could expect no-interest loans and low-interest loans if a federal disaster were declared.

Hall hopes to hear from the Division of Emergency Management next week.

A new request would be formatted much the same as San Angelo's original request, stating that a series of natural disasters in the region in a certain timeframe has drained local and state coffers.

Though the request would group the Panhandle counties together, FEMA will consider requests on a county-by-county basis, unless they decide to group the counties together as "one big disaster declaration," Hall said.

Hall said he doesn't know what to expect with the latest request.

"Because we are so far removed from the decision makers being up here in the Texas Panhandle, it's hard to second-guess them," he said.

He does feel some "apprehension," though.

"People who are not from this area may not be able to see" just how much damage was sustained, he said.

"We feel that we've suffered a great deal, not only in the hardship the people have endured, but also in the economic devastation," Hall said.

Hall and other local officials do have contingency plans if federal funding does fall through.

Hall says he has been in contact with officials from the Federal Housing Administration, who have offered some assistance if FEMA is unable to help.

That assistance is "not as good" as that offered by FEMA, but it does include some low-interest loans with minimal down payments.

Hall assures those who suffered property damage in the tornado that Pampa and Gray County are doing all they can to find money somewhere to aid in rebuilding.

The tornado touched down at approximately 4:30 p.m. June 8, ravaging a strip about a mile long through an industrial park and into a residential area, with lesser damage occurring into the city past Central Park and north-east of Loop 171.

In exchange, she will receive 25 percent of the $32.1 million and five percent for expenses or a tidy $9.63 million, according to the letter.

Sue Carroll became suspicious about the letter she received Thursday after a television news show a month or so ago warned Americans about a Nigerian scam to access U.S. accounts and milk them dry.

"This is a scam. People are only wanting your account number and will drain all the funds from your account and no money will be transferred to you," said Det. Charlie Love of Pampa Police Department.

Love called Amarillo agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation today who told him this scheme has been going on for years and he gets about 30 letters a year. Love said an agent explained many Nigerians are involved and there is no way to conduct a thorough investigation.

"Letters need to be ignored and be sure not to send any information about your business or personal accounts. You will be cheated out of your funds," Love said.

Wilson said this particular letter is new to him, though the Post Office handles chain letters regularly.

A call to a U.S. Postal Inspector in Fort Worth was not returned by press time.

The letter came in a plain white envelope, is hand addressed and bears a Lagos, Nigeria postmark.

It advises Carroll to contact the writer by telephone/fax to find out how to go about applying for the release of funds into a personal account.

The letter bears an unreadable signature in blue ballpoint pen.

"I'm glad that television had that special on about this kind of deal because these other people lost all their money on something like this," said Carroll today.

"Beware, if it sounds too good, it is," she said.

Nigerian letter offer 'too good to be true'

If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is, said Postmaster Richard Wilson today.

That was his response to a local woman's letter from a Nigerian engineer asking her to make her personal or company's off shore account available to him for a repository to $32.1 million made "from over inflated contracts in the Nigerian National Petroleum Corporation."

In exchange, she will receive 25 percent of the $32.1 million and five percent for expenses or a tidy $9.63 million, according to the letter.

Central Freight Lines to close Pampa office

WACO — Central Freight Lines, Inc., announced today that it will consolidate the operations of its Pampa terminal into the operations of its Amarillo terminal in order to streamline its operations and improve customer service.

Jerry Gillis of the Pampa terminal says this will mean no loss of jobs locally.

"They're going to take care of everyone. They'll be offered a choice to transfer to Amarillo," Gillis said.

The terminal employees three local people and one from Amarillo.

The last day of operation for the Pampa terminal is Friday, July 14.

After that date, the Amarillo terminal will provide daily freight pickup and delivery service in Pampa and the 31 other points previously served by the Pampa terminal — Alanreed, Allison, Bellco, Briscoe, Canadian, Coltexo, Dodson, Dozier, Glazier, Higgins, Hoover, Kellerville, Kingsmill, Laketon, Lefors, Lela, Lipscomb, Lutie, Magic City, McLean, Miami, Mobeetie, Norrick, Quail, Samnorwood, Shamrock, Skellytown, Twitty, Wellington, Wheeler and White Deer.

"Consolidating the operations of our Pampa terminal into the operation of our Amarillo terminal will not affect the superior freight transportation service relied upon by our customers in Pampa and the surrounding service area," Central President Joe Hall said in a press release.

"These consolidations are part of an overall operations plan that focuses Central on providing its customers high-quality freight service in the most efficient manner possible," the release continued.

"Because of a constantly changing business climate and environment in Texas and the Southwest, Central Freight Lines must continuously enhance the efficiency of its operations by reducing the handling of our customers' freight, as well as picking up and delivering shipments as quickly and efficiently as possible. We accomplish these objectives in several ways, including the consolidation of terminal operations, which have taken place throughout Central's 70-year history," Hall said.

Morning accident

Four people were injured about 10 a.m. today when a dark green Ford Explorer and a small red GMC pickup carrying fresh fruit collided at 30th Ave and Perryton Parkway. Emergency workers said a woman in the pickup was trapped briefly until Pampa firefighters could release her foot from beneath the crumpled dash. Authorities said the Explorer was westbound at the time of the accident. The pickup was northbound on Perryton Parkway. One person was in the Explorer. Three were in the pickup.

Atlantis ends historic U.S.-Russian docking flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - After nearly four months in orbit, American astronaut Norman Thagard joyfully returned to Earth today with seven others who took part in the first U.S.-Russian space linkup in 20 years.

It was the end of a long, tiring journey for Thagard, who rocketed away from central Asia last March. His new spaceship, NASA's shuttle Atlantis, landed at Kennedy Space Center at 10:54 a.m.

President Clinton called the astronauts and cosmonauts before they left Atlantis to congratulate them on their docking mission with Russia's space station. He offered special praise for Thagard, saying "we're all very proud."

Fed lowers key interest rate

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Reserve has decided to stop worrying about inflation and start worrying about a recession. But only time will tell whether it made the decision soon enough.

The central bank announced Thursday that it was cutting a key interest rate by a modest 0.25 percentage point to 5.75 percent. It was the first reduction in the Fed's target for the federal funds rate, the interest that banks charge each other, in nearly three years.

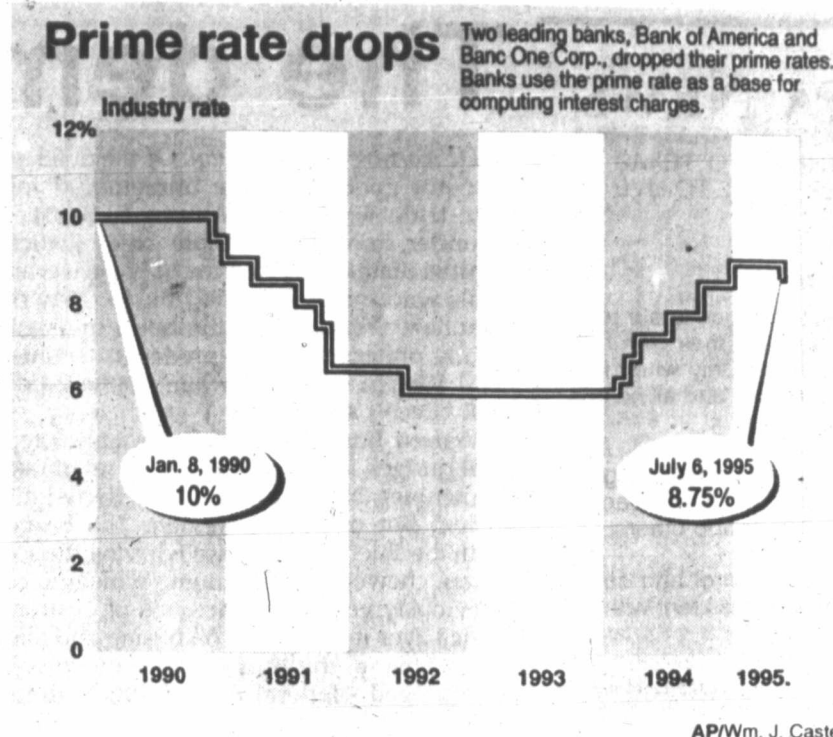

It was followed by announcements that several major banks were cutting their prime lending rate, the benchmark for millions of business and consumer loans, by a quarter-percentage-point as well, to 8.75 percent.

The Fed's rate cut triggered a bullish response in financial markets. The Dow Jones industrial average jumped more than 48 points to close at a high of 4,664, as investors read the Fed action as offering the strong promise of further rate cuts if the economy continues to show weakness.

A key report on that score - unemployment figures for June - was due out today. In advance, analysts predicted the report would show the jobless rate remained unchanged at 5.7 percent and businesses added around 100,000 workers to their payrolls.

The payroll gain would be considered modest in most months, but it would represent a refreshing change after two consecutive months of declines.

Many economists believe the overall economy, as measured by the gross domestic product, may actually have shrunk in the just-completed April-June quarter. Two consecutive quarterly declines would fit the traditional definition of a recession.

The government's chief forecasting gauge, the Index of Leading Indicators, flashed its own recession warning signal on Thursday, hours before the Fed acted. It registered its fourth consecutive monthly decline.

The Clinton administration, however, argues that the leading index is giving a false signal and the current slowdown is only temporary and will be followed by stronger growth in the months ahead.

"Many of the factors behind the recent weakness are likely to operate with less force in the future," Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin and Council of Economic Advisers Chairman

Joseph Stiglitz said in reaction to the Fed rate cut.

But other observers are not so sure.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, the senior Democrat on the House Banking Committee, blasted the cut as "too little, too late."

"It is already too late to stop the economic harm caused by the Federal Reserve's misguided doubling of interest rates," Gonzalez, D-Texas, said.

The National Association of Manufacturers, which has been campaigning for a rate cut for months, called Thursday's action by the Federal Open Market Committee "a small step in the right direction."

"Our only regret is that the rate cut wasn't larger. The Fed had room to lower rates twice as much," said NAM Vice President Michael Baroody.

Texan held in Russia may be coming home

SHREVEPORT, La., (AP) - A Texan is scheduled to return home this weekend from Russia, where he's been fighting charges of "hooliganism" since mid-April.

William "Mack" McCarty, 24, was granted amnesty on all charges Thursday after the court's prosecutor did not show up.

"Mack said the judge said he was sick of messing around with this thing for three months," said his father, David McCarty of Marshall, Texas. "They said, 'Here's your passport, all the charges are dropped, your record is cleared. Go home.'"

Mack McCarty, an interpreter for a Houston based firm, was arrested April 11 for urinating outside his stranded car in Moscow. He was held in a Moscow jail for five weeks before being detained in the country until his case was resolved.

"He said it's been three months since he's had a decent meal, a decent bed and a decent night's sleep," David McCarty said. "He's ready to get home and get all three. I really don't know if Mack's coming home has hit home with me or my wife. Three months is a really long time."

"When he gets off the plane and into my arms, then I know it'll hit me."

State briefs

Drugged animals

HOUSTON (AP) - The exhibitors of five animals at the most recent Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo have been disqualified because they violated rules on drug use with their animals.

Three of the five violations did not appear to involve any intent to cheat, show officials said.

The pain reliever Lidocaine was found in two pigs; Lasix, a diuretic, was found in one steer and one pig; and, Clenbuterol, a steroid, was found in one lamb.

While officials said three of the five animals were breed champions, they did not provide further details on how they placed in competition.

In all five cases, the money bid for the animals at the auction sales was withheld. Only one person was barred from returning to the Houston show in future years, Shafer said.

License clarification

WICHITA FALLS (AP) - An Associated Press story dealing with mailing delays some Texans are experiencing with their drivers licenses implied that National Business System is the only company providing such services for the state.

The story should have indicated that any delays of more than 60 days have involved licenses still being produced under the old system, operated by NBS, which is being phased out.

Polaroid has the contract to produce the new digital licenses, and all full-time offices will be using it by Aug. 1.

Virtual reality at Six Flags

ARLINGTON (AP) - A downturn in the defense economy is turning into a blessing for Six Flags Over Texas, which will be the first U.S. company with a "virtual reality" game made by a flight simulator manufacturer.

The technology for the game comes from Alexandria, Va.-based Veda International, which has designed flight simulators for the Navy and the space program.

The company expanded into the amusement business when a declining defense budget slashed the need for flight simulators.

Man who killed for ATM card convicted

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - A 19-year-old man has been sentenced to death following a conviction for the January 1994 robbery and slaying of a man he encountered at a bank's automated teller machine.

Oscar Dick Ortiz III was punished Thursday after a jury deliberated about two hours. He was convicted June 29 in the death of construction contractor Joe Ince Jr. "I think justice has been done," said the victim's younger brother, William Ince.

Joe Ince was abducted shortly before 10:15 p.m. on Jan. 19, 1994, after depositing a paycheck at a bank.

Testimony during the seven-day trial showed Ortiz and a female accomplice took Ince and forced him victim to give up his ATM card and account access code.

They drove to several banks and made one withdrawal, then Ortiz fired a single round from a .22-caliber revolver into Ince's left temple, according to testimony from his admitted accomplice, Xiomara Yvonne Hernandez, 15.

Ortiz continued driving around before pushing Ince's near-lifeless body out of the pickup. They later made another withdrawal, upping their total take to $600, police said.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Fort Worth Star-Telegram on German help to U.N. peacekeepers:

There surely are misgivings in some parts of Europe - including Germany - about the decision of the German government to contribute warplanes and 1,500 medical and air support personnel to the NATO effort to protect U.N. peacekeepers in the former Yugoslavia.

The aircraft will be based in Italy but would attack targets in Bosnia if called upon. The medics will be at a hospital in Croatia. Yugoslavia was invaded by Germany in 1941, then partitioned and occupied. Yugoslav Chetniks and Partisans fought the Germans and each other. There were atrocities in Yugoslavia, although the worst may have been committed by Croats and Serbs against each other. Modern German commanders are aware of the memories stirred by a German military presence.

"We've all had doubts about the wisdom of a mission in an area where the German Wehrmacht committed atrocities," said Lt. Col. Johann G. Dora, a squadron commander, "but we can't eternally fall back on historical guilt."

There is no statute of limitations on national guilt from past wars, but surely 50 years is time enough to indicate that Germany today is far from the Nazi Germany of 1941. Germany has faced its past. It is a democracy. It has functioned as a responsible member of the European community for almost two generations.

Becoming a small part of a European military effort - the so-called rapid reaction force that is intended to protect U.N. forces - is a logical next step in Germany's acceptance as a world power and in German recognition of its natural role as a partner in European efforts to deal with explosive situations such as that in the former Yugoslavia.

Midland Reporter-Telegram on drug testing:

While some Americans may view the Supreme Court ruling giving public school officials freedom to conduct random drug tests on student athletes as a dangerous relaxation of the Fourth Amendment's safeguard against unreasonable searches, we don't think so - for several reasons.

We agree with the court's contention that traditional concerns for privacy based on the Constitution are overridden by a school system's inherent responsibility for ensuring the well-being of not only young athletes but schoolchildren in general.

The court's additional observation that student athletes cannot expect much privacy in a locker room where drug testing typically takes place anyway was also valid.

Anyone who has even casually observed the sports world in recent years and the number of athletes who use drugs - legally or not - must concede that random drug testing is a reasonable tool to control use of drugs by student athletes.

A U.S.-JAPAN PACT MADE SENSE

The demise of a chief justice

De mortuis nil nisi bonum. Of the dead, say nothing but good, goes the immemorial injunction. The truth is, the late Warren E. Burger made a sounder, more responsible chief justice of the United States than swarms of big government liberals who might have had the job. Say of Burger that he was endlessly, infinitely, exquisitely, galactically preferable to his predecessor, Chief Justice Earl Warren - though when you've said so, you still haven't said much.

Warren Burger, unlike Earl Warren, recognized that judges are not the measure of all things. Sometimes, his decisions even reflected that recognition. But not often enough. The Burger court, with the chief justice himself driving the social bulldozer, chewed up terrain into which no court had previously ventured. The smell of destruction still hangs over its decisions on busing and abortion.

On busing, the Burger court allowed - indeed, encouraged - federal district judges to tear apart urban school systems. What would fix the supposed racial injustices that inhered in public education, the judges said, was formulas of racial balance, school by school: so many blacks, so many whites mixed together in class. If the subjects of this grand experiment lived miles away from the school to which they were assigned, gee, that was tough. They would go there anyway.

Except that they didn't. Huge numbers of those human horses the judges led to water refused to drink. In fact, they bolted. White families left town or enrolled their children in private schools. Urban school districts lost the vitality and patronage of the white middle class. The Supreme Court had misjudged the willingness of Americans to do something just because high domed thinkers said they ought to.

The Burger court's abortion decision is likely the worst decision in Supreme Court history. It was historically the states' right to formulate policy on abortion. With Roe vs. Wade, the Burger court wrested away that right, saying no - here is the new dispensation.

Once again, as with busing, honorable, tax-paying, God fearing Americans said back to their Supreme Court: Oh, yeah?

Yeah! replied the unelected justices from their lofty, marbled perch. The showing match commenced. It is not over yet. But we know whose fault it is that the match goes on at this pitch and tempo: It is no one else's fault but the Supreme Court's.

By leaving this complex and divisive matter with the states, the court would have ensured whatever resolution best suited the whim or temperament of the people themselves. The legislatures already were reopening the question as the nation's moral climate grew warmer and more relaxed. In 1969, for instance, the Texas legislature held hearings on a bill that would have greatly liberalized Texas' strict anti abortion statute. I covered the hearings for the old Dallas Times Herald. The legislature, in the end, declined to act. It was our state's unamended statute that the Burger court struck down in Roe vs. Wade - and with it the statutes of the other states. No more local discussion! cried the justices. Everybody shut up! We've got this thing all figured out!

One sees, of course, how everybody has shut up. Abortion, a non-issue 30 years ago, is the thorniest issue with which we deal - because the Burger court took upon itself our instruction in what really up-to-date people think about abortion.

The point here is not that democracy is all about the tallying of yeas and nays. The point is that bitter social controversies are worsened, not resolved, whenever an unelected body takes to imposing its own vision on the Great Unwashed.

The Earl Warren court did so without remorse. The Warren Burger court was supposed to stop all this nonsense, except that Burger himself was fond of imposing visions. Still, the republic was in better shape when Burger left the high court than when he joined it. May he rest in peace - and may a genuine friend of representative democracy, Mr. Justice Clarence Thomas, live forever!

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, July 7, the 188th day of 1995. There are 177 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On July 7, 1865, four people were hanged in Washington, D.C. after being convicted of conspiring with John Wilkes Booth to assassinate President Lincoln.

On this date:

In 1754, King's College in New York City opened. (The school was renamed Columbia College 30 years later.)

In 1846, U.S. annexation of California was proclaimed at Monterey after the surrender of a Mexican garrison.

In 1898, the United States annexed Hawaii.

In 1930, construction began on Boulder Dam (later Hoover Dam).

In 1946, Italian-born Mother Frances Xavier Cabrini was canonized as the first American saint.

In 1954, Elvis Presley made his radio debut as Memphis, Tenn., station WHBQ played his first recording for Sun Records, "That's All Right (Mama)."

American sports have no standards

"It's sleazy, and I'm ashamed my school did it," 18-year-old Alison Rafter told The Washington Post.

She was referring to the decision by George Washington University to recruit Richie Parker, a high school basketball player who pled guilty to sexually assaulting a 15-year-old sophomore. According to news accounts, Parker and another student accosted the girl in a school stairwell and forced her to perform oral sex on both of them.

Ah, but the fellow can shoot, and George Washington prides itself on its basketball team. So the school entered into an arrangement: Parker would receive a basketball scholarship, and his victim (who had filed a civil suit against him) - though only a junior in high school now - would be granted a scholarship worth $100,000, presumably in exchange for dropping her lawsuit. Officials at George Washington are clearly in need of a moral compass. But to whom should they look for guidance? To professional sports?

George Steinbrenner, owner of the Yankees, has just offered more than $800,000 to Darryl Strawberry - drug addict, wife beater and tax evader. The man deserves a second chance, Steinbrenner explains.

Of course, Strawberry has already had many, many second chances - chances offered without any real evidence of repentance. Pete Rose was thrown out of baseball forever and forbidden entry into the Hall of Fame (perhaps justly) for gambling. Strawberry has assaulted two wives, cheated on his taxes and taken illegal drugs repeatedly, and yet is offered more second chances than a cat has lives.

Of course, Steinbrenner is not anybody's idea of a moral exemplar. He would probably offer a contract to Saddam Hussein if he could bat .350.

Besides, Steinbrenner lives in New York, the town that just unrolled a red carpet for convicted rapist Mike Tyson. Thousands turned out to greet the former heavyweight champion in front of Harlem's famed Apollo Theater. He was serenaded by Roberta Flack and embraced by hustler-in-chief Al Sharpton.

Democratic city council member Adam Clayton Powell IV told The Washington Times that Tyson had paid his debt to society with his three-year stint in prison and should be welcomed back to the community.

Diane Welsh, president of the New York chapter of the National Organization for Women, told The Washington Times that she was glad the earlier scheduled parade for Tyson had been canceled, but she was quick to echo Powell's comments about the sufficiency of "doing the time." (She further explained - is this counter-revolutionary? - that the reason NOW issued no statement when the rally for Tyson was first announced was that she was "distracted by household chores.")

Defenders of Mike Tyson and the Harlem rally in his honor keep returning to the idea of paying one's debt to society. After a convicted criminal has done the time, goes the reasoning, the slate is wiped clean. He even deserves to be "welcomed back to the community."

But what if, like Tyson, the criminal is utterly unrepentant? The sanctions of criminal law are but one method a society uses to enforce decent behavior. A surer method is less formal, less expensive and more effective. It is called shame.

We haven't lost our sense of shame entirely in this country. But we've certainly begun applying it in peculiar ways. When Marge Schott uttered ethnic insults, she was (deservedly) written out of polite company, but when Michael Jackson included ethnic insults about Jews on his latest album, he was treated with kid gloves. Darryl Strawberry can cheat on his taxes, take drugs and beat his wives - and still count on understanding and indulgence from employers and the public.

Well, sports figures are not role models, say worldly sports columnists. They're just athletes.

But if your dentist did what Strawberry did, would you take your children to him? How about your pharmacist? Or your grocer? In point of fact, the role model question is a red herring. It isn't a question of leading children astray, but simply of enforcing some sense of shame and honor on everyone.

We have come to a lamentable pass when shame is not feared and when dishonor is seen only as an opportunity for synthetic "redemption."

Clinton still struggles with his image

One year's compelling issues can be fine-print footnotes the next. So rating the campaign of 1996 by the day-to-day business of 1995 is an exercise in guessing. But there are guideposts more likely to stand, in the statistics of voting, and in long set images of the candidates.

Both point to problems for the Democrats. President Clinton still is trying to shake the impression that he wavers and shifts positions, underlined by Democratic protests of the budget rewrite that Clinton meant to rival Republican balanced budget plans. It was supposed to make him a player in the budget debate, but was barely mentioned as Congress acted on the GOP plan for balance in 2002 with tax cuts to boot.

That's the blueprint, and Clinton can only talk about it, since it doesn't go to him for signing. The bills to take it from plan to reality will be subject to his veto, and he's warning GOP leaders he'll use it against cuts he deems damaging to American families.

"We share the goal of balancing the federal budget..." he wrote them. "I hope we can work together and avoid a situation in which I would have no choice but to use my veto authority broadly."

The administration's automotive trade agreement with Japan should be a political plus. He said his negotiators have done far more than Republicans ever did to win trade concessions from the Japanese.

"They may talk better, but we do more," the president said.

The Republicans will be watching, counting

Walter Mears
AP Special Correspondent

and almost surely discounting the Clinton deal before long. The White House counts it a victory, but the Japanese are crowing that U.S. negotiators yielded to them to get the deal.

And there's already a Democratic political problem in the making, since the U.S. trade deficit with Japan has headed upward from the $66 billion of 1994, and the new, probably higher accounting for 1995 will come out just as the presidential primary season begins next year.

The Democrats have put Clinton on the air with a $2.4 million television advertising campaign, seeking to show him as reliably tough against crime, a preview of 1996, broadcast in 11 states he'll need to sweep, or close to it, to gain reelection.

California is among them; Clinton carried it easily in the three way election of 1992 and those 54 electoral votes will be essential if he is to come back and win again.

Vice President Al Gore said the ads fit a consistent Clinton effort to put more police on the streets and defend the 1993 ban on assault weapons against Republican repeal efforts. He said they didn't feel that they've really started the campaign. They have, though, just as the Republicans have.

And a TV campaign depicting a firm, unwavering president deals directly with a problem issue - the broader Clinton, and the Democratic problem shows in the 1994 election numbers. Losing Congress, they also lost voting strength relative to the Republicans in every region of the nation, said election analyst Curtis Gans.

"The Democrats face a very difficult immediate future," Gans said in an appraisal of the 1994 returns by his Committee for the Study of the American Electorate.

He said their ticket will be unlikely to carry any Southern state except Clinton's Arkansas, and so they would have to get the electoral votes to hold the White House with victories in New England, the middle Atlantic region, the industrial Midwest and the West Coast.

That would lead necessarily to a Democratic strategy that writes off the South and the Sun Belt as Republican territory, in order to concentrate time and resources on states where the odds are better.

Gans saw signs in the 1994 numbers of a turning away from both political parties, "dealignment rather than realignment," with more new registrations by independents than in either party.

He said that, and the likelihood that the major party nominees will be set by the end of March, increases the possibility of a serious third candidate in 1996. Another three way election would work to Clinton's advantage.

Unless Republicans split among themselves, or a third entry divides the GOP vote, Gans said, "the president faces a daunting reelection battle."

Ashley Slagle

SAN ANGELO - Ashley Slagle of McLean attended the Texas Farm Bureau's 33rd Citizenship Seminar last month sponsored by the Gray-Roberts County Farm Bureau. She was among 400 high school junior students from over 150 counties across the state.

The purpose of the seminar was to provide students with a better understanding of their American heritage and the capitalistic free enterprise system, according to Greg Acker of Gray-Roberts County Farm Bureau president.

Speakers at this year's seminar and their subjects were as follows: Jack Jackson of Fort Worth, president of Jack Jackson and Associates, "Price of Free Enterprise" and "Free Enterprise Principles/Projects"; Texas Farm Bureau President Bob Stallman of Columbus, "Farm Bureau - Your Host"; and Miss Texas Farm Bureau, Jennifer Johnson, "Farm Bureau Youth Activities."

Also, Felix Livingston, Foundation for Economic Education, N.Y., "Economic Freedom and the Constitution" and "Private Property: Keystone of a Free Society"; Michael Broome of Charlotte, N.C., a motivational speaker, "You and America - Two Great Champions"; and Floy Lilley, Murchison Chair of Free Enterprise, Austin, "Dirty Air and Hot Air: What is the Lowdown?", "Defend Property or Be Some Thug's Property" and "Tragic Dog Babies - America's Chemophobia."

There was also a special presentation by Kurt Swanda from Fort Worth. The students were welcomed to the seminar by Dr. James Hindman, president of Angelo State University.

SAN JON, N.M. - An Evening on the Caprock will be presented by the Caprock Theatre Foundation on Sunday, July 9, at 8:15 p.m. in the Caprock Amphitheater south of San Jon, N.M. Janice Nash, daughter of Tom and Doris Nash of Pampa, Texas, will be performing in this extravaganza.

Bluegrass music, western songs and a variety of dance works will be presented by cast members of the TEXAS musical drama to benefit the Caprock Theatre and the Department of Dance at West Texas A&M University at Canyon, Texas.

The Caprock Theatre is reached by driving west of Amarillo on I-40 and then bearing south at San Jon for about 20 miles. The facility is located on a beautiful mountain setting.

Last season, Billy the Kid was presented in the theatre. This summer the theatre directors are sponsoring a variety of musical shows as plans for the future are being formulated.

The TEXAS performers will present many of the dances they performed in Austin for the rededication of the Texas State Capitol plus dances in the Folklorico, Spanish, Native American and classical styles.

The premiere of The Spirit Chief Names the Animals, an American Indian myth, will be included in the Caprock Canyon performance.

The Texas Bluegrass Orchestra will be featured in the presentation as well as singers from the TEXAS cast.

Admission to the performance is by donation at the door.

Danette Hoover

Danette Hoover, daughter of Dannie and Angie Hoover of Pampa, has been awarded a softball scholarship at Eastern Oklahoma State College in Wilburton, Okla. She plans to major in elementary education as well as furthering her softball career. She is a 1995 graduate of Pampa High School.

Her Pampa High School activities included Lady Harvester softball, basketball, volleyball and Spanish Club.

Honors earned include Lady Harvester Softball All-Stars; honor roll; local, regional and state science fair competitions; and membership in Pampa's All-Tournament Softball Team affiliated with the United Girls' Softball Association. This UGSA team competed in San Angelo in 1993 and Midland in 1994, placing second in state competition both years.

Hoover served as an Optimist assistant girls' basketball coach and donated time in concession work for the Optimist Club. She presently works at the Sirloin Stockade, where she has been employed for the past year and a half.

CANYON - Linda Haynes of McLean, Darcy Johnson of Happy and Kimberly Willis Holt and James Jasmin, both of Amarillo, attended the first West Texas A&M University Creative Writing Workshop "Writing with the Experts" June 16-July 1. All four were notified that their literature has been accepted for publication.

Haynes' "Pregnant with Meaning" was selected by Eric Muirhead, an editor with Chrysalis. Holt's story "Love Like Fig Newtons" was selected by fiction editor Mary Ellen Hartje of Concho River Review. Clay Reynolds, novelist, and Jerry Craven, WTAMU professor of English, directed the fiction sessions in which the stories were written.

Jasmin and Johnson's poetry was also selected for publication by Chrysalis. Jerry Bradley, WTAMU head of the Department of English and Modern Languages, and Millard Dunn of Louisville conducted the poetry sessions.

The publication announcements were made at a July 1 luncheon. Mark Busby, director of the Center for the Study of the Southwest at Southwest Texas State University and author of a new book on Larry McMurry, gave the luncheon's keynote address.

CONCORD, Calif. - Navy Seaman Amber Clark, daughter of James R. and Phyllis E. Clark of Skellytown, recently returned to Concord, Calif., after completing a six-month overseas deployment aboard the ammunition supply ship USS Kiska, which included duty in the Persian Gulf near Iraq.

Clark is one of 450 sailors aboard the ship who completed the 45,000 mile voyage. During the first part of the deployment, Clark and fellow shipmates supported the withdrawal of United Nations forces from Somalia by helping shuttle passengers, mail and cargo between Mombasa, Kenya, and the ships off the coast of Mogadishu, Somalia.

While spending 130 days at sea, Clark also visited Australia, Guam, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Japan, Kenya, Pearl Harbor, Seychelles, Singapore and the United Arab Emirates.

Clark's involvement in the deployment is an example of how America's influence depends on its ability to sustain military operations around the world.

Navy and Marine Corps forces have the unique capability of conducting air, ground and logistics operations supported entirely by ships at sea - a critical option in regions where access to land bases is limited or does not exist.

The 1993 graduate of White Deer High School joined the Navy in June of 1993.

SANTA ANA, Calif. - Marine Cpl. Armando Armendariz, son of Rosa and Armando Armendariz Sr. of Canadian, recently was promoted to his present rank while serving with the Marine Heavy Helicopter Squadron 361, 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, Marine Corps Air Station Tustin, Santa Ana, Calif.

The 1992 graduate of Canadian High School joined the Marine Corps in November 1992.

ATLANTA, Ga. - Niels Berzanskis was named to the Dean's List at the Georgia Institute of Technology for the spring quarter.

Berzanskis is the son of Peter and Cheryl Berzanskis and is a 1992 graduate of Pampa High School.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE CAVE OF ADULLAM---DAVID'S HIDEAWAY IN THE WILDERNESS!... THE TOWN OF ADULLAM, IN THE TERRITORY OF JUDAH, WAS IN EXISTENCE A LONG TIME. IT WAS INHABITED BY CANAANITES AS EARLY AS THE TIME OF JACOB (GEN. 38:1,2). A PETTY KING RULED AT THE TIME OF JOSHUA'S CONQUEST. IT WAS ALSO FORTIFIED BY KING REHOBOAM (I CHRON. 11:7) AND CONTINUED TO FLOURISH IN THE TIME OF MICAH THE PROPHET. ITS CLAIM TO FAME WAS ITS SECLUDED HIDEOUT FOR DAVID WHEN HE NEEDED A HEADQUARTERS THAT WOULD BE SAFE FROM KING SAUL. IN FACT, IT WAS HERE THAT DAVID WAS JOINED BY MOST OF HIS FOLLOWERS, INCLUDING HIS FATHER AND HIS BROTHERS.

Baptist youth count a penny for a life in abortion study

By CHERYL BERZANSKIS
News Editor

If a penny represents a life, how many pennies does it take to represent the 1.5 million abortions done in the United States each year?

It takes 29.7 cubic feet of penny rolls representing $15,000 cash, according to a local Baptist youth leader.

A current events class at Central Baptist Church studied abortion on Sunday nights and to focus their discussion, the 40 member class stuffed penny rolls with tissue and dowel rods to represent 50-penny rolls which represent 50 abortions, said teacher Lonnie Shelton.

"I just think it's important to let people how many people are killed and how many lives are taken in a year," said class member 17-year old Jennifer Rushing.

"The public just needs to know how many people are killed legally. It's just astounding how they just let this go," said Waylon Griffin, a Pampa High School freshman.

Shelton said the abortion study is only one of several topics the group has covered in the last year. They've also examined cults, sexual abstinence and the second coming.

Both Rushing and Griffin said they were pro-life before the study began, but learning about abortion, including points of view different from their own, was beneficial. Both teens say they know girls who've had abortions.

"I feel stronger now because I know how big the total is," said Griffin.

"If you know somebody who is going to have an abortion, you need to help them know what the latter consequences are. That child may become a somebody... a great person," he said.

Rushing called abortion "a huge problem" among her peers.

During their study, the youths looked at battle deaths from the Revolutionary War through the Persian Gulf War. According to Department of Defense battle statistics, Shelton said, 576,039 soldiers have been casualties of war in America's history.

"We honor those men and women who lost their lives but that doesn't even equal the number of kids who dies in 1973," Shelton said.

Jennifer Rushing, left and Waylon Griffin show off 29.7 cubic feet of penny rolls which represent 1.5 million abortions yearly. The display is in the foyer of Central Baptist church.

Ford to sing at Briarwood

Tenor Larry Ford will sing at Briarwood Church, 1800 W. Harvester, at 6 p.m. Sunday.

Ford began recording at age 15 and has been featured on the Bill and Gloria Gaither Homecoming Series of music videos. "My Faith Still Holds," produced by Gaither features Ford singing many of the songs he originally recorded on the videos.

Ford and his wife Sherryl, are the parents of five sons and live in Fort Myers, Fla. Ford sings at over 100 concerts yearly.

He pastored churches in Texas and Florida for 14 years and has 10 years of itinerant ministry.

The public is invited to the concert and a nursery will be provided.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWBT) has filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to offer a new service called Prepaid Calling Card (PCC) Service. A PCC would offer the customer the ability to place local and long distance (intraLATA, interLATA and international) calls from any telephone without the use of coins, credit cards, conventional calling cards, or operator assistance. A PCC would have a pre-established value, paid for in advance, that would decrease in value as calls were completed. This service would be similar to SWBT's current Calling Card Service in that SWBT would carry the local and intraLATA calls originating in its region. InterLATA and international calls would be carried by the Interexchange Carrier selected by the customer. Prepaid Calling Cards would be sold in varying denominations, such as $10.00, $20.00 and $50.00. The rate for local and intraLATA calls would be $0.40 per minute for all times of day. The rates for interLATA and international calls would be determined by the interexchange carrier that handles the call. First year revenues from PCC are estimated to be approximately $11 million. SWBT proposes that this application become effective on August 7, 1995.

Persons who wish to comment on this application should notify the Commission by July 28, 1995. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf. Questions regarding this service may be directed to SWBT at 1-800-836-7928.

Teachers struggle with church, state issue in schools with diverse students

By SALLY STREFF BUZBEE
AP Education Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — David O'Connell, whose students practice "a whole lot of different religions," says he's offended by critics who call teachers godless, secular humanists opposed to school prayer.

"I'm a Christian," the longtime teacher and counselor said Tuesday. "I pray in school on my own time, when I need it. I just don't push it on other people."

O'Connell and other members of the National Education Association, the nation's biggest teachers union, said they worry that recent Supreme Court actions allowing student-led prayer at graduations could erode church-state separation.

In a suburban Philadelphia middle school, with youngsters from 54 countries observing "a whole lot of different religions," the separation is a necessity, O'Connell said.

"We have Muslim kids who want to pray five times a day in our school. We have Christian kids, Jewish kids, Asian kids. If we have a student-led prayer at a graduation, whose prayer is it going to be?" asked O'Connell, an educator at the Beverly Hills Middle School in Upper Darby, Pa.

But while they worry about high-profile arguments over school prayer, many teachers here said struggles over religion haven't arrived at their schools.

"There's a lot of rhetoric right now," said Annabella Lastowski, who teaches sixth grade social studies in Swiftwater, Pa. "But when you get down to it, most people feel pretty comfortable with the way things are."

Lastowski, a Catholic, uses the Bible as a historical text when she teaches ancient history to her sixth-graders. "It's part of the historical record. You can't ignore it. And I don't get complaints from parents, either the religious or the non-religious ones."

Joyce Arceneaux, a choir teacher in Natchez, Miss., said her students sing sacred songs during state music contests, "because it's part of the musical literature. It's not sung as worship."

In a state where "both parents and teachers are strongly religious," controversies have arisen over students' desire to lead prayers over intercoms during school hours, Arceneaux said.

And she worries that a recent Supreme Court decision on graduation prayer will add fire to those controversies.

The court on June 26 lifted a ban on student-led graduation prayers in nine Western states, but skirted the broader school-prayer issue that officials said had sparked "religious warfare" in public schools nationwide.

Recently, some religious and civil liberties groups, hoping to head off future lawsuits, have published guides clarifying laws on prayer and schools.

Generally, a student can pray in school if the prayer doesn't interfere with lessons. Religious groups have equal right to after-hours use of school buildings.

Teachers and school officials cannot lead prayers during school hours because that is considered state sponsorship.

First Pentecostal to host singing Sunday

First Pentecostal Holiness Church, 1700 Alcock, will host its monthly gospel singing from 2 until 4 p.m. Sunday.

Singing and musical groups from various Pampa and area churches will be featured and includes congregational singing.

The Rev. Al Maggard invites the public to attend.

Richards to pastor St. Paul's Methodist

Scott Richards has been appointed pastor at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Pampa and the Lefors Methodist Church.

Richards, 37, performed his first service June 18 in Pampa. This is his second appointment, following a stint at Lazbuddie beginning in June 1992.

"I want this church to be a place of love and support for people who need it," he said.

He attended Duke Divinity School in Durham, N.C.

Richards and his wife Sherrie have two children — David, 6, and Eleya, 4.

Sons' Shaved Heads Could Bring Unforeseen Close Calls

DEAR ABBY: We have two sons. One is 14, and the other is 11. They recently asked us if they could get their heads shaved. They tell us that all their friends are doing it, and it is the "in" thing right now.

Both sets of grandparents say this is part of growing up. When we were their age, fellows wore their hair down to their shoulders.

Should we allow our sons to shave their heads?

Fortunately, these periods of deep depression are usually only temporary. I urge people who have frequent thoughts about suicide to consult their physician — depression can be successfully treated.

DEAR CONCERNED: Shaving the head may be the "in" thing, but in some areas, it is also the "gang" thing.

If children adopt gang styles, even if they are not involved in gang activities, they can put themselves at risk. Gangs don't take kindly to non-members who "copy" them, and rival gangs attack members of other gangs.

The principal of your children's school, or your local police department, can tell you if shaved heads are dangerous in your community.

This selfish act has affected our family so deeply, I cannot describe the pain we are enduring.

Of course, the news of his death was in the local newspapers, but most people have been reluctant to offer words of sympathy because they don't know what to say — or even if they should mention it. Suicide is such an unsympathetic death, the family is left to grieve alone.

Perhaps if you print this, people will think before they take their own lives. To those who consider suicide, I say, "Please seek help before you do something that will affect the lives of those around you."

I asked my husband if I was controlling, isolating him from his friends or verbally abusive, and when he said "Yes," I started to cry. He hugged me, then I asked him to read your column.

He said that I have a problem with six of the 15 behaviors you listed. He told me he wants to help me work on those six.

I am very thankful to my wonderful husband and to you, Abby, for printing that list. I have it taped to the mirror in my bathroom where I can see it every time I go in and out. I read it every day to keep me in tune with my problems.

Graf, Vicario reach Wimbledon finals

By STEPHEN WILSON
AP Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — That they're meeting in the Wimbledon final is no surprise. Of the 33 times they've clashed, 22 have come with a title in the balance.

What was a surprise was the difficulty top-ranked Steffi Graf and No. 2 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario had in reaching Saturday's women's championship match at the All England Club.

And this time Graf and Sanchez Vicario will face each other in a plate they never have before: The Wimbledon women's final.

Graf, a five-time Wimbledon champion, reached her seventh final with a hard-fought 5-7, 6-4, 6-2 victory Thursday over Jana Novotna.

Sanchez Vicario made it to her first Wimbledon singles title match by ousting defending champion and fellow Spaniard Conchita Martinez 6-3, 6-7 (7-5), 6-1.

Graf is the top seed and world's top-ranked player; Sanchez Vicario is No. 2 in the seedings and rankings. And unlike their meeting in the French Open final, when Graf took over the No. 1 ranking by winning, the German will remain in the top spot, win or lose Saturday.

The men's finalists were to be decided today among the top four seeds. Top-seeded Andre Agassi played No. 3 Boris Becker and two-time defending champion and No. 2 Pete Sampras faced No. 4 Goran Ivanisevic.

Two years ago, Novotna almost had her name engraved on the winner's trophy, only one point away from a 5-1 third-set lead. But her game fell apart and Graf captured her fifth Wimbledon title, sending Novotna into tears and to crying on the shoulder of the Duchess of Kent.

This time, Novotna again lost to Graf in a match on Centre Court. But this time was different.

"I was really thinking I was going to lose," Graf said. "I just didn't have a good feeling at the start of the second set. But when I won the second set, it made me realize I could turn it around."

This time, Novotna forced Graf to raise the level of her game. This time, Novotna didn't collapse.

And she knew it.

There were no tears Thursday. Novotna smiled and laughed on court during the match, and afterward said she couldn't have played any better.

"This is the way I wanted to play for a long, long time," the 26-year-old Czech said. "It was one of the best matches I've played against Steffi since the 1993 Wimbledon final."

"I was playing pretty consistently through the whole match. But towards the end, Steffi was getting better and better ... If I had played anybody else today, I would have beaten her."

In the first match, Sanchez Vicario squandered a 5-2 second-set lead against Martinez, who was hobbled by blisters on both feet. But she battled back and when Martinez sailed a backhand long on the third match point, Sanchez Vicario let out a shriek of joy and fell over onto her back at the baseline.

"It's a dream come true for me," Sanchez Vicario said. "My goal was to get past the quarterfinals. Now I have nothing to lose. It's every player's dream to win here on Centre Court."

Martinez took two three-minute injury timeouts, one during the first set and the other during the final set, to receive treatment from the trainer.

While saying the blisters made it "very painful to run," Martinez blamed her defeat more on mental weakness than physical problems.

"I didn't believe enough in myself to win the match," she said.

British oddsmakers heavily favor Graf in Saturday's final. She's more wary.

"I'm not going to underestimate her at all," Graf said. "She's been coming through to the finals impressively."

Sanchez Vicario has won three Grand Slam titles: The French Open in 1989 and 1994 and last year's U.S. Open. But until this year, she failed to progress past the quarterfinals at Wimbledon in eight appearances.

Always known as a great retriever and defensive player, Sanchez Vicario has adapted her game and her approach for the faster play on grass.

"My attitude is different," she said. "I'm having much more fun on the grass. I mean I'm the No. 1 player in the world in doubles, so I believe I can go to the net and do well there. The way I'm thinking on grass now is completely different."

BASKETBALL

PAMPA — Check-in for girls registered in session two for the Lady Harvesters Fundamentals Basketball Camp will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. in front of McNeely Fieldhouse.

At the check-in, the balance of the tuition will be due. T-Shirts, water bottles and camp instructions will also be issued.

The camp will be held from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. July 10 through July 14.

BASEBALL

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — For a few moments, it seemed it might not happen, this uprooting trade Riek Aguilera had feared.

He heard the talk all season, yet there he was Thursday night, just hours from being able to veto any deal, jogging down the third base line at the Metrodome as if nothing would change.

Close game. Seventh inning. Time for Aguilera to head to the Minnesota Twins bullpen. He'd done this for five seasons, piling up more saves than any pitcher in Minnesota history.

This time he barely had a chance to take off his jacket.

While the Twins were beating the Boston Red Sox 6-4 on Thursday night, the teams completed a widely anticipated deal that sent Aguilera to the Red Sox for a pitching prospect and a player to be named later.

GOLF

LEMONT, Ill. (AP) — For one day, it was 1974 again. Or 1977. Or 1984. Tom Watson was the best golfer in the Western Open.

The wind, which blew steadily at 15 to 25 mph, with gusts well over 30 mph, didn't faze him. Neither did the presence of one of the year's strongest fields.

He shot a 4-under-par 68 Thursday to take a one-stroke lead into today's second round at the 7,073-yard Cog Hill Golf & Country Club.

"Watson of old, that's right," he said. "Pretty good for a 45-year-old golfer."

Watson, whose first career victory came in the 1974 Western Open, hasn't won on the PGA Tour since 1987.

FOOTBALL

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — He ridiculed his perceived enemies, especially the NFL and the San Francisco 49ers. He cajoled the Oakland fans, to whom he fashions himself a savior. And he praised his beloved Raiders as much as his beloved self.

It was vintage Al Davis, full of raw ego and in-your-face combativeness, in his first public appearance since agreeing two weeks ago to return the Raiders from Los Angeles to Oakland.

On the NFL's plan to vote next week in Chicago on the proposed move:

"A vote isn't necessary. We may ask for a vote, but we do not concede a vote is necessary."

On the possibility of competing with the 49ers for fans and supremacy in the San Francisco Bay area:

"We're moving to compete with them, and that's the essence of the American way. We still live under the antitrust laws of the United States, and that's the essence of competition."

On the suggestion by 49ers president Carmen Policy that the 49ers will be due territorial reparations from the Raiders:

"I understand what Carmen's doing and I understand they don't want us here. The best way I can describe it is Don Quixote and the windmill. Maybe he gets a bonus out of it. I don't blame him for trying. But I've been through this before and I don't remember paying any money."

The Raiders owner, defied the NFL in 1982 by abandoning Oakland for Los Angeles, eventually winning an antitrust case against the league.

In a rambling 30-minute

Pampa's Hank Gindorf recently signed to play baseball at West Texas A&M University in Canyon. Gindorf caught, pitched and played the infield during his high school career.

Gindorf signs with WT

CANYON — Pampa's Hank Gindorf was one of four recruits recently signed to play college baseball at West Texas A&M University.

Gindorf, a 6-1, 180-pound catcher, graduated from Pampa High School this year. The other signees, all recently-graduated seniors, are shortstop-second baseman Darryl Barron of Amarillo Tascosa; shortstop Nathan Grindell of Carrollton and third baseman Nathan Monteil of Berthoud, Colo.

WTAMU coach Todd Howey said Gindorf assumed the majority of the Harvester catching duties this past season.

"Hank has good size and skills," Howey said. "Further, he has a great desire to play college baseball, which is always a desirable attribute."

Gindorf also pitched and played third base during his high school career. Gindorf was named the team's most valuable player and helped lead the Harvesters to the District 1-4A tri-championship this past season. He was an all-district pick.

Gindorf led the Harvesters in home runs and runs-batted-in this past season.

Barron, who played both middle infield positions for Tascosa, is expected to battle for starting time at either shortstop or second base. Barron is the second brother in his family to play for the Buffs since WTAMU brought back the program in 1993. Anthony Barron was the starting shortstop for the Buffs in 1993.

"Darryl is a tremendous and exceptional defensive player and possesses top-notch skills," Howey said.

Grindell led District 11-5A with a .500 batting average this past season. "Nathan is an all-around quality athlete who will help us on the field immediately, whether it be at shortstop or somewhere else on the infield," Howey said.

Monteil was an all-conference and all-area selection at Berthoud High School.

"Nathan has the unusual combination of hitting for power and average," Howey said. "Not only will Nathan provide the Buffs with depth at third base, he will battle for the starting role at the hot corner as a freshman."

Glo-Valve outlasts Cabot to win City Tournament title

PAMPA — Glo-Valve Service wrapped up the Optimist Major Bambino City Tournament Thursday with an 8-4 win over a stubborn Cabot Corporation.

Cabot had defeated Firefighters earlier Thursday, 10-7, to win the right to play in the championship game. Cabot finished last in the National League with a 3-10 record this season, but was 4-2 in tournament play in winning the runner-up spot.

Cabot beat the American League's second, third and fourth-place teams and the National League's first-place team to be eligible for the championship game. It is the first time a team seeded last has ever played in the City Tournament championship game.

Glo-Valve won its fifth city championship to go with five runnerup trophies and a third-place finish in the 19 years the tournament has been resumed.

Cabot, who had lost to Glo-Valve, 22-0, the day before and had already played a full game, came out fired up and looking for revenge. Jeffrey Warren, the winning pitcher in the first game, set down three of the first four Glo-Valve batters on strikes.

Cabot then took an early lead with an unearned run in the first inning off Kyle Keith, the only run he surrendered in the tournament. Michael Cochran doubled, moved to third on a single by Sean Pope and scored on an error.

The lead stood until the third inning. Matthew Smith and Isaiah Manzanares drew walks for Glo-Valve and moved up a base on a passed ball. Smith scored on an infield hit by Randy Tice. Matt Driscoll was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Shawn Strate, who had tripled in the second inning and was thrown out trying to steal home, doubled to score Manzanares and Tice. Driscoll tallied on a wild pitch. Tanner Dyer walked and was allowed to take second without a throw. Taylor Harris hit a line drive over the left field fence to provide Glo-Valve with a comfortable 7-1 lead.

Cabot pecked at the lead, scoring once in the bottom of the third when Matthew Crow was hit by a pitch, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored when the catcher's throw went into the outfield. Glo-Valve got the run back in the top of the fifth. Nathanael Hill walked and rounded the bases on wild pitches.

Cabot scored twice in the fifth on singles by Pope and Jeffrey Warren and a triple by Vivian Botello to pull within four at 8-4.

After two were out in the bottom of the sixth, Cabot refused to go quietly. Crow singled. Cochran, the leading hitter for Cabot, singled to right where right fielder Matthew Smith had trouble picking up the ball.

However, Smith recovered to make a perfect throw to Tice covering second base to nip Cochran and seal the championship for Glo-Valve.

Glo-Valve continued its successful strategy of tandem pitching. Keith allowed one unearned run and two hits in two innings pitched. He struck out one and walked none. Tice followed, giving up an unearned run on no hits. He struck out three, walked two and hit a batter in two innings. Strate finished up for Glo-Valve. He was touched for two runs on five hits in two innings. He struck out three and walked none. Keith was credited with the win, his fifth of the year without a loss and his third in tournament play.

Warren, who was credited with the win over Firefighters, took the loss. He allowed seven runs on five hits in three innings pitched. He struck out eight, but walked five and hit a batter. Botello pitched the last three innings, giving up one run and no hits. He struck out seven and walked four.

Glo-Valve ended its season with 14 wins, the most in the league, and three losses, the fewest in the league. Randal Tice was manager of the team. Rick Harris, Robert Wayne Dixon and John W. Warner were coaches.

Rangers defeat Yankees

ARLINGTON, (AP) — The Texas Rangers may have been tired after finishing a road trip with a rain-delayed game that lasted more than 5 hours, but they didn't play like a tired team.

The Rangers didn't get home until about 5 a.m. Thursday after the rain-delayed 2-0 loss to the Cleveland Indians at the end of a weeklong road trip. The New York Yankees had been resting in Texas.

But the Rangers weren't dragging in the first inning Thursday night, getting back-to-back homers from Juan Gonzalez and Mickey Tettleton on the way to a 5-2 decision over the Yankees.

"Everybody's bodies were tired but everybody's minds were ready," Gonzalez said. "Everybody on the team is working hard inside the lines."

The Rangers continue to excel at The Ballpark in Arlington. Their 22 home victories are second in the majors to the Cleveland Indians' 24. Since a 2-6 start, the Rangers are 20-7 at home.

"We always feel much more comfortable at home," Rangers manager Johnny Oates said. "But I don't think teams are more intimidated coming into here as teams are going into Cleveland."

The recipient of the early support was Rangers starter Roger Pavlik. Pavlik retired the side in order in the first inning for only the fifth time in 15 starts this season, then his teammates rewarded him with the three-run bottom of the first.

"I guess it helped Roger getting the runs early because he's struggled the last few games," said Gonzalez, who has seven homers in his last 16 games.

FREE "LIVING TRUST" SEMINAR

"What You Ought to Know About Living Trusts"
(What you don't know could cost your family thousands of dollars!)

If you own a home ... or you have assets worth at least $100,000 ... you owe it to yourself - and your family - to get the facts on living trusts. If you think you're protected with a simple Will ... think again ... A Will guarantees that your estate will go through probate, which means that your family may not be able to take possession of your estate for many months, or even years!

Plus, if your estate is over $600,000, your family may owe estate taxes which could amount to 37-55% of the value of your estate.

This means that your family may have to sell some assets just to pay the estate taxes!

A living trust avoids all this by avoiding probate and minimizing estate taxes. Plus, a living trust will protect your estate if you become incapacitated during your lifetime by avoiding a guardianship. This means your estate will be managed as you see fit, not as a court-appointed guardian sees fit.

To find out more about the benefits of living trusts, attend one of these free seminars...

Astros win in extra innings

HOUSTON (AP) — Just when Houston Astros manager Terry Collins was wondering what else could go wrong with his team something went right.

Rookie sensation Brian Hunter went on the disabled list with a broken right hand. Catcher Rick Wilkins, obtained from the Chicago Cubs last week in a trade, also went on the disabled list. Then starting catcher Tony Eusebio bruised his left hand.

Then Collins watched as the Astros fell behind 4-0 in the eighth inning against the San Diego Padres Thursday night after shortstop Orlando Miller failed to field what should have been a routine ground ball for an inning-ending out.

"At least it worked out OK for us," said Collins after catcher Terry Goff, recalled from Class AAA Tucson Wednesday to fill in for Wilkins, drove in the winning run with one out in the bottom of the 12th inning to lift Houston to a 5-4 victory.

Goff's fielder's choice to center scored Jeff Bagwell, who had three hits, to give the victory to Todd Jones (5-1). Former Astro Brian Williams (1-6) took the loss.

"With all the guys we've lost lately, to come back from four runs down in the eighth is a lift for this team," Collins said.

Shane Reynolds' hard luck continued. The Astros righthander pitched eight superb innings, allowing only five hits and no earned runs while striking out a career-high 12. He walked only one but did not get the decision. In two starts against San Diego this season Reynolds has yet to allow an earned run but he has no victories to show for his efforts.

San Diego starter Scott Sanders tied a career-high with 12 strikeouts and was rolling along with a three-hit shutout in the eighth when Bagwell singled with two outs, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Derek Bell's single. Milt Thompson then singled Bell home.

The Astros tied the game by scoring two runs after two were out in the ninth.

Padres reliever Trevor Hoffman retired Miller on a groundout and struck out Derrick May. James Mouton singled and scored on Craig Biggio's double.

Bagwell reached on former Astro Andujar Cedenos' throwing error, with Biggio scoring the tying run on the play.

"I just didn't get into position, I don't know why. I just didn't get into position to make the play, said Cedenos, who struck out five times in his first trip back to Houston since being traded to San Diego in December. "There's nothing else I can say about it. I should have made the play and we should have won."

Bagwell singled to lead off the 12th. John Cangelosi moved Bagwell into scoring position with a sacrifice bunt. After Eusebio was hit with a pitch both runners advanced one base on a passed ball. Thompson was walked intentionally to bring Goff to the plate.

Goff drove a sinking line drive into shallow center field that Steve Finley fielded and threw to second base for the force, but Bagwell had already scored the game-winning run.

"We've been scoring a lot of runs lately, but it's good to come from behind and win a close one. Hopefully it will give us a boost," Biggio said.

White House: $100,000 meals do not mean Clinton's for sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says it's OK to solicit up to $100,000 from wealthy Democrats to dine with President Clinton or socialize with his wife or Vice President Al Gore, suggesting it's a time honored fundraising tool.

No matter that Clinton criticized "cliques of $100,000 donors" in his 1992 campaign and shook hands with House Speaker Newt Gingrich just last month on forming a commission on lobbying and campaign-finance reform.

"We're not going to disarm ourselves unilaterally," White House spokeswoman Mary Ellen Glynn said Thursday.

But public interest groups cried foul, suggesting Democrats have put White House access on the auction block.

"There is no defense for this," Common Cause

President Ann McBride said of the Democratic National Committee's latest fundraising effort. "It is not enough to say that past administrations have engaged in similar sales of access to the presidency."

Some examples from the DNC catalogue:

- An annual $100,000 contribution brings two meals with President Clinton, two with Gore, a spot on a foreign trade mission with DNC and business leaders, "impromptu meetings" with administration officials and a daily fax "briefing" report.

- A $100,000 gift also gives donors the designation of "managing trustee," entitled to preferential treatment at the 1996 Democratic convention and a DNC staff member "specifically assigned ... to assist them in their personal requests."

- A $50,000 donor gets a presidential reception, a dinner with Gore and special policy briefings, plus other privileges.

- A $10,000 contributor gets a presidential reception and a dinner with Gore and "preferred" status at the convention.

- A $1,000 donor can get invited to events featuring first lady Hillary Rodham Clinton and Gore's wife, Tipper. A special package designed for women contributors also includes social events with female political appointees.

The various categories were first detailed by the Chicago Sun-Times. The DNC released some of the material itself on Thursday. Party chairman Donald Fowler defended the practice as corresponding "in significant detail to every donor program used by both political parties since Dwight Eisenhower was president."

Marlin Fitzwater, who was press secretary to Presidents Reagan and Bush, said the DNC effort "sounds like the same general approach, maybe a little crasser type of promotion" as used then by the Republican National Committee.

For $100,000, contributors to Reagan or Bush could join the "Eagle Club" and receive special White House dinner invitations and private briefings on policy issues.

"One of the cautions is that you don't promise government favors for money donated," said Fitzwater, now a GOP consultant. "The closer you get to that line, the more dangerous it gets. It sounds like they've just gotten a little closer to the line."

Not only incumbent presidents have used such techniques.

Rabbi arrested

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Prosecutors have dropped a sexual misconduct charge against a Hasidic rabbi accused of fondling a 15-year-old girl on an airplane, although their investigation continues.

Grunwald and his assistant, Yehudah Friedlander, were arrested May 31 as they arrived in Los Angeles on a flight from Australia.

The girl told authorities that during the flight one man reached inside her shirt and grabbed her breast and the other later pushed his hand into her panties.

Friedlander has been indicted on a more serious count of sexual abuse of a minor. He could be sentenced to up to 15 years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

The charge against Grunwald carried a maximum two-year prison term and a $250,000 fine.

Reporter jailed

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — A newspaper reporter says she will not obey a state Supreme Court order that she must reveal the source of her information on the sanity of confessed child killer Susan Smith.

"It would jeopardize my (credibility) and it would hurt other journalists. When you give your word to a source, it's a contract ... and so for me to divulge it would not be proper at all," Twila Decker said.

Decker, a reporter for The State newspaper in Columbia, was found in contempt May 26 for refusing to reveal who told her that state doctors had found Smith competent to stand trial but had a mental disorder that may have contributed to her actions.

The state Supreme Court ruled unanimously Thursday that the need for Decker to reveal her source far outweighs any "asserted" First Amendment right to keep it a secret.

Nixon envelope sales soar SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Put Richard Nixon behind bars and watch liberals lap it up.

Ever since a local publisher came up with an envelope that puts a stamp bearing the former president's mug in a jail cell, sales of the stamp have soared in this city known for its left-leaning politics.

The Nixon stamp was the slowest seller in the Santa Cruz post office until the envelopes hit, postmaster Don Cattivera said. Now many area post offices are sold out.

Thom Zajac, publisher of the Santa Cruz Comic News, an 11-year-old cartoon newspaper, admits voting for Nixon in a mock school election before becoming a Watergate junkie. These days, with 10,000 envelopes sold in the past month, he says it pays to poke fun.

Park fees now depend on age

DALLAS (AP) — State park visitors who turn 65 before Sept. 1 will continue to get free admission. Everyone else better be ready to start paying at least part of the access fee.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission voted Thursday to begin charging a small state park access fee for other seniors who hit that milestone birthday after Sept. 1.

A "grandfather" clause spares other senior citizens from the fee. TP&W executive director Andy Sansom cited growing numbers of active senior citizens as the catalyst for the discounted fees.

Although state park entry fee ranges from $2 to $6, the agency is working toward raising most of its park and license fees. New proposed fees are expected to be announced in August and won't take effect until Jan. 1.

Expected increases in hunting and fishing licenses and other license fees are not scheduled to become effective until Sept. 1, 1996.
