Commission Gives Nixon Choice On FTC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special report has laid it on the line to President Nixon—either change the leadership of the Federal Trade Commission and shuffle its priorities or abolish the 55-year-old agency.

Often the agency has seemed more concerned with protecting competitors of an enterprise practicing deception rather than the consumers—a special commission said Monday in a devastating report on the FTC.

Nixon had requested the American Bar Association's commission to study the FTC to recommend changes in the agency, formed before World War I to administer antitrust and trade regulations.

The special commission's report to the President said the

Evans, Skipper Found Guilty Of Negligence

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (UPI) — Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore, skipper of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans, today was convicted of negligence in the collision of his ship with an Australian aircraft carrier. He received an official reprimand.

McLemore, 40, of Vallejo, Calif., would have been sentenced to two years at hard labor and dismissed from the Navy. He was sleeping in his cabin when the carrier Melbourne sliced the Evans in two June 3, killing 74 Americans.

The military judge, Capt. City, Mo., deliberated 35 minutes before bringing in the guilty verdict.

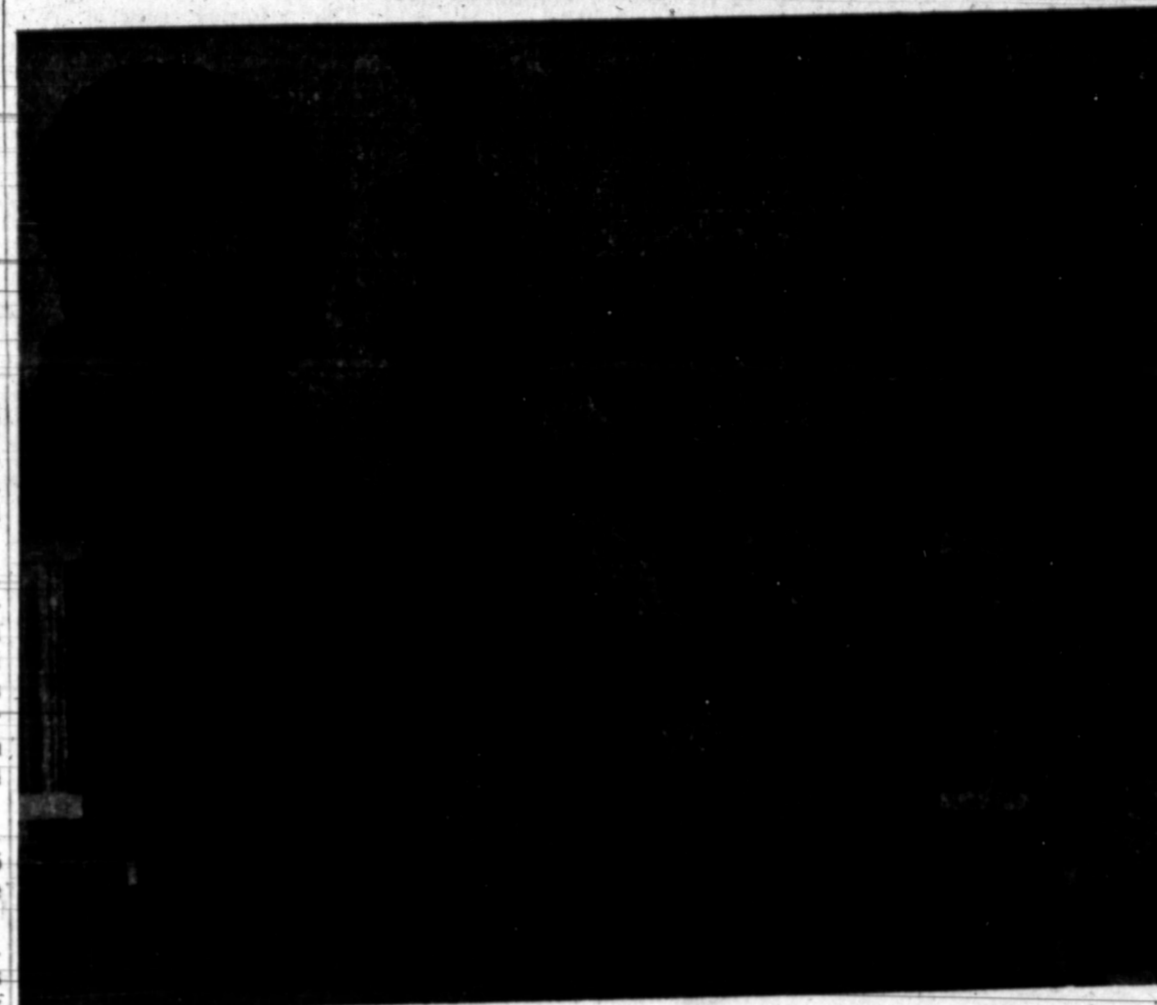

Commander Albert S. McLemore, it is my duty as military judge to find you guilty of all charges. Keys said in the court room.

McLemore also had been charged with dereliction of duty.

The Navy had tried to prove McLemore negligently failed to alert the officer on the bridge of anticipated close-quarters maneuvers and that he failed to specifically order the same officer to awaken him when the maneuvers began.

The guilty verdict was something of a surprise. Six of McLemore's former officers on the Evans gave what appeared to be testimony favorable to their former skipper, saying he had left wake-up orders.

The collision occurred in the South China Sea during Southeast Asia Treaty Organization SEATO war games.

Representatives From 126 Countries Attend

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Diplomats from 126 countries converged on the United Nations today for the opening of the 24th annual General Assembly. Prospects were private talks on a handful of questions would overshadow public meetings on the 104-item agenda.

The session was scheduled to start at 2 p.m. CDT.

The diplomatic galaxy included two heads of state, two prime ministers, one deputy prime minister and 63 foreign ministers who were expected to make their views known before the session adjourns around Christmas.

The private talks were expected to center on the Middle East situation, nuclear disarmament and the repeated demand by allies of Communist China that Peking be seated in the United Nations.

President Nixon was to deliver a major policy speech Thursday in a one-day visit. Secretary of State William P. Rogers planned to remain at least two weeks, conferring privately with his opposite big four numbers and most of the other foreign ministers.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, expected to clarify Moscow's position on the Middle East peace formula, arrived in New York Monday night, saying the world organization should take "new steps designed to promote peace."

Gromyko planned to speak in the assembly's opening policy debate Friday, the same day Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban was listed to speak. Gromyko and Rogers are scheduled to meet Sept. 22 and 26.

Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden, special UN Middle East peace envoy, also arrived Monday night. Jarring, who serves regularly as Swedish Ambassador in Moscow, was summoned by Secretary General U. Thant to make himself available for private talks on the Middle East.

The assembly's first business today was the election of a new president, slated to be Angie Brooks, 41, assistant secretary of state of Liberia. She will be the second woman to preside over the assembly.

'SPACE PRAYER' Smith, Barnes Endorse Local Jaycee Project

The Pampa Jaycee project in the program, and thus far "Space Prayer" has rocketed approximately 90 per cent of off to a good start with approximately 5,000 letters in the hands of Pampa citizens, and about 2,500 signed and returned.

The club has also received letters from people in 12 different states and 36 Texas cities showing their support of the project.

The campaign was adopted by the local Jaycee Club after state President Eddie Dyer, appeared recently on television requesting a statewide effort be conducted to counteract activities of atheists in their attempts to prohibit astronauts from praying while on space flights.

According to Schneider, the local goal is 5,000 letters with the state's set at 300,000.

All letters will be taken to the Jaycee's state office at Grand Prairie and then trucked to NASA headquarters in Houston.

Schneider said the state project was started following a recent deluge of letters to NASA officials sparked by atheists after the recent Apollo 11 moon landing.

Barnes also wrote a letter stating, "I strongly feel that their (astronauts) freedom of speech includes the right to make religious utterances whenever and wherever they choose." Schneider said.

The chairman said community civic leaders and clubs have been asked to participate

LARGEST WEAPON Countdown 'Go' For Detonation

PAHUTE MESA, Nev. (UPI) — Countdown began today for detonation of one of the largest thermonuclear weapons to be tested in the United States.

The only factor which could delay the hydrogen blast was weather. A briefing was scheduled a few hours before the 100-foot instrument package was to be triggered at 6:30 a.m. CDT.

Residents in Las Vegas 100 miles away were warned a week in advance that high rise buildings—such as towering gambling resorts—would be swayed by the explosion. Miners were told to stay out of underground shafts and an old adobe building in Beatty, Nev., 30 miles from ground zero, was evacuated.

Geophysicist Wendell Weart of the Sandia Laboratory in Albuquerque, N.M., said at a briefing Monday persons in Los Angeles, 250 miles away, might feel "ground motion at blast time. Experts said no off-site damage was expected.

The nuclear device, probably the third most powerful in the history of the United States underground testing program, was lowered into a 3,800-foot hole several days ago. The unceasing shaft drilled into this volcanic mesa was filled with rock and cement after the weapon was in place, to prevent radiation leaking into the atmosphere.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the test, code-named "Jorum," would be somewhat less than a megaton, leading observers to believe it carried a weight equivalent to 800,000 or 900,000 tons of TNT. A one megaton has the equivalent of one million tons of TNT—enough TNT to fill Yankee Stadium.

Leaders' Statements Conflict On Proposed Troop Withdrawals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon announced today plans for withdrawal of an additional 35,000 American troops from Vietnam by Dec. 15.

This will raise to 60,000 the total number of GI withdrawals by Nixon since he first announced the U.S. cutback program June 8 at the Midway Island meeting with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

The withdrawal of 60,000 troops is a significant step, the President said, referring to the original 25,000 called for in the first installment, completed Aug. 31.

The authorized Vietnam troop ceiling at the start of this administration was 549,500.

"I have decided to reduce the authorized troop ceiling in Vietnam to 484,000 by Dec. 15,"

President Nixon said in a statement. He explained that under this new ceiling, "a minimum of 60,000 troops will have been withdrawn from Vietnam by Dec. 15."

The new figure of 35,000 men to be pulled out—as well as the date for completion of the withdrawal—were different from the number and date mentioned Monday in Saigon by South Vietnam's vice president, Nguyen Cao Ky.

Ky said 40,500 more Americans would be pulled out by the end of November.

The White House said the total reduction in authorized troop strength by Dec. 15 would really amount to 65,500, but within the authorized ceiling all units are shown at 100 per cent strength.

In actuality, most units are slightly below full strength so this war.

House To Vote On Electoral College Revisions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House prepared to begin voting today on proposed revisions of the 180-year-old electoral college, starting with a plan rejected by the founding fathers.

After a brief time out to honor the Apollo 11 astronauts, the lawmakers were ready to take up the first challenge of the direct popular vote plan the House Judiciary Committee recommended for presidential elections.

The challenge was in the form of a motion by Reps. David W. Dennis, R-Ind., and John Dowdy, D-Tex., to substitute a district election plan. The district plan, defended by its sponsors Monday as "a return to the basic electoral unit in Congress and in presidential elections," would retain a modified electoral college.

It would make the allocation of electoral votes automatic with the popular vote winner each "electoral district" in a state receiving one electoral vote. The statewide popular vote winner would get two bonus electoral votes.

A similar plan was rejected in the 1787 Constitutional Convention, as was direct popular election, and the Electoral College was adopted as a compromise.

Haynsworth Questioned On Alleged Conflict Of Interests By Committee

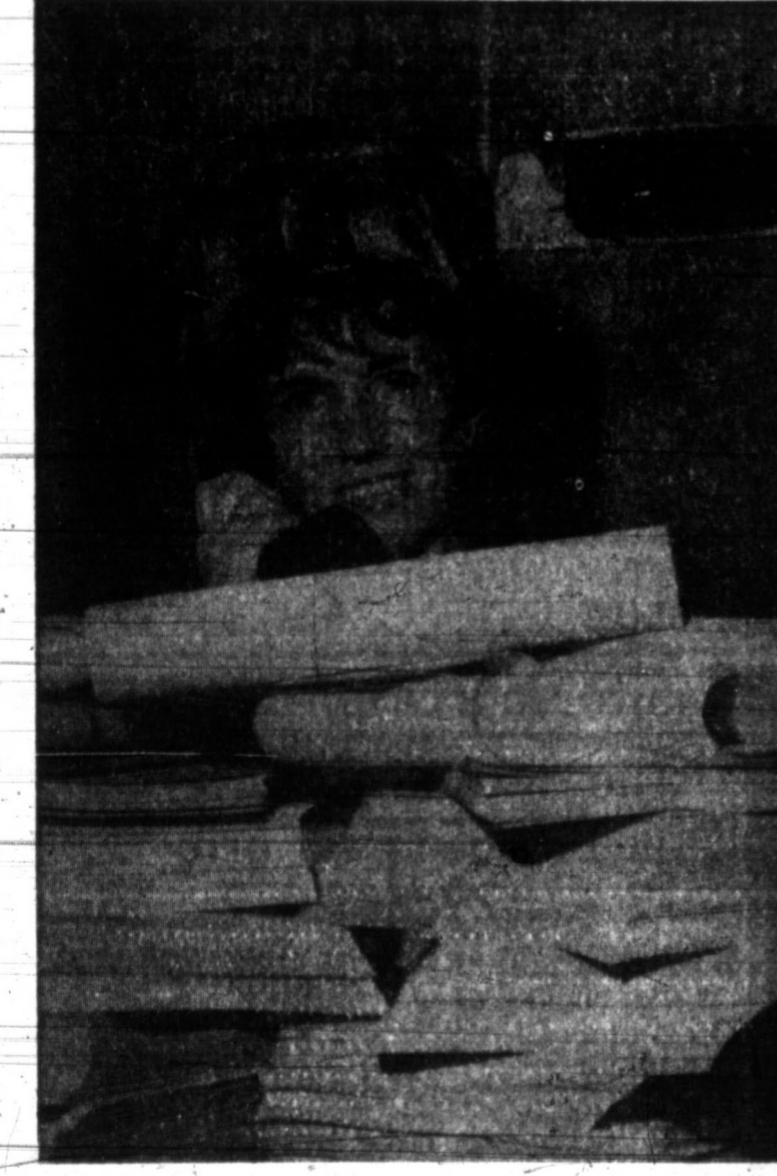

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. denied conflict of interest allegations today at the opening of Senate hearings on his nomination to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

One senator charged that "special interests" were trying to kill the 56-year-old South Carolinian's nomination by President Nixon.

Haynsworth told the Senate Judiciary Committee that his ruling in a 1963 case involving an unfair labor practice charge against a textile firm had no connection with his interest in a vending machine firm that had operations in plants owned by the firm's parent concern.

He acknowledged that the vending company got "slightly more than $100,000" in business during 1963 from the firm which benefited from a ruling by the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, of which he is now chief judge.

But Haynsworth said the textile men who negotiated the vending contracts did not even know the judge was associated with the vending firm.

RIOT-TORN BELFAST British Troops To Begin Dismantling Barricades

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British army troops today began dismantling barricades in the Roman Catholic Falls Road area. They met no resistance from Catholics who had vowed to fight to keep the fighting was centered during the Aug. 14-15 riots.

An army statement, issued shortly after a meeting between the Northern Ireland government and Gen. Ian Freeland, the British army commander, said three infantry battalions had moved into the area to

Turkish Airliner Hijacked

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — A Turkish airliner with 57 passengers and four crewmen aboard was hijacked today to the Bulgarian Communist capital of Sofia, a Turkish Airlines spokesman announced.

The spokesman said he had been informed the plane—an internal domestic flight from Ankara to Samsun—landed at Sofia Airport at 2:30 p.m. (4:30 a.m. EDT).

He said there were "several" non-Turkish passengers aboard.

The spokesman said the plane, a Viscount turboprop, was hijacked eight minutes after taking off from Istanbul's Yesilkoy Airport at 12:35 p.m. (6:35 a.m. EDT).

The plane's captain, Nazmi Kirssever, messaged the control tower that an unidentified man had placed a pistol at his head and ordered him to head for Sofia.

The captain told the control tower the hijacker spoke Turkish with an "eastern accent" and was possibly of Afghan.

Rolling Clouds Give Up Only Few Sprinkles

Pampa recorded a trace of moisture in Monday's early evening hours, as clouds rolled over the city and winds took on an authoritative velocity.

But the most the clouds could drum up in the way of moisture was only a trace of sprinkles.

Temperatures dipped down into the 50s in the Panhandle overnight, when a cool front moved in slowly across the plains area.

Temperatures are expected to remain on the cool side today, a little milder in Northwest Texas, with little change elsewhere.

Second Member Of Motorcycle Club Arrested For Murder

HOUSTON (UPI) — The second member of the Banditos Motorcycle Club wanted for murder was delivered as promised to police Monday night by other members of the gang. He was listed in excellent condition at the city jail.

Jimmy Lee "Little Lee" Lindsey, 27, of Jacinto City, was brought into police headquarters Sunday night by three other members of the Bandits "beaten to a pulp."

Lindsey and David McGraw, 38, of Houston, are charged with the murder of James Tagliarino, 29, of Jacinto City.

Police said McGraw "didn't have a scratch on him" when he surrendered to police by the Banditos Monday night.

Unlike McGraw, Lindsey, told police he was beaten with and died the next day.

UT Unable To Strip Alumni Of Degree

AUSTIN (UPI) — University of Texas regents cannot administratively strip Dr. James McCrocklin of his doctorate without going to court, according to Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

Martin, ruling in a 10-page opinion Monday, held that the regents cannot rescind McCrocklin's doctorate if he is awarded by the university in 1954.

A UT faculty committee has recommended that the degree be declared null and void because of resemblances between McCrocklin's 1954 dissertation and a 1939 Marine Corps report. Both concern American Marine intervention in Haiti.

The UT faculty committee found unanimously that McCrocklin's dissertation was "mainly plagiarism" and that it "failed to meet the standards of quality required for doctoral dissertation."

McCrocklin former undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare under former President Lyndon Johnson, resigned as president of Southwest Texas State College in April in the midst of a controversy surrounding his doctoral dissertation.

Regents chairman Frank C. Erwin Jr. asked Martin for a legal ruling on the board's authority to withdraw degrees.

The attorney general ruled that such degrees "can only be set aside or annulled by a court of competent jurisdiction rather than by an administrative decision."

But Martin said the university could take the legal position that the degree was fraudulently obtained and is canceled insofar as the university is concerned.

"The taking of such a step does not alter the legal rights of the recipient to the degree nor have any binding legal effect as to third parties," Martin said.

McCrocklin said when he resigned the Southwest Texas post he would devote full time to "dispelling the false smear upon my personal integrity," and on UT and Southwest Texas.

Further discussion of the E. Worth & Denver Railroad's petition to abandon freight train service between Wellington and Pampa is scheduled tomorrow at a meeting of city, county and railroad officials with the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the chamber conference room.

George B. Cree Jr., chamber president, said today a representative from the railroad's Amarillo office will attend the meeting.

The chamber board voted yesterday to make no decision in the matter until conferring with city and county authorities.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers already has filed a protest against the discontinuance of service and has offered to assist the Chamber of Commerce in event the chamber should reach a decision to protest the move.

The ICC has not yet set a date for a public hearing on the case.

Rescue Teams Re-Enter Mine — MANNINGTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Two teams of 25 men each reentered the Mannington No. 9 mine today to set up a communications system and find the source of wafting water which stowed a search for the bodies of 78 coal miners.

Officials said they were "not too concerned" over the high water which forced a recovery team to pull back Monday in an initial probe in the fire and explosion-wrecked deep pit where the 78 victims were killed last November.

The mining officials said the teams would try only to locate the source of the water and would not make any attempt to remove the water.

San Antonio's Two-Week Bus Strike Ends

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — A "successful" two-week strike by San Antonio bus drivers and mechanics ended Monday by unanimous agreement to accept a new 25-month contract and a shift time from 13 hours 20-crease.

Financial secretary Clarence Long said the union was pleased with the new contract and that strikers would return to their jobs today.

"We think it was a real successful strike," he said. "The vote was real strong in favor of it and then we made it unanimous."

The strike's end came the same day as Dist. Judge James C. O'Neil delayed his decision on an injunction ordering the union back to work. O'Neil postponed his decision until today because he said there were new proposals in the works for ending the strike.

Long said the union vote came just 15 minutes after a new section was added to the proposal by negotiators. The new section provided for a reduction in shift time from 13 hours 20 minutes to an even 12 hours.

The section insured that a driver would be able to finish an 8-hour shift within a 12-hour period.

"We were real proud about this," Long said. "This is what we proposed. This was what we wanted."

The new contract shortened the length of the previous proposal from 30 months to 25 months. The contract expires Aug. 1, 1971, with pay increases raising the hourly wage to $3 per hour.

The first increase, 4 1/2 cents, begins immediately with a 5 cent increase coming Jan. 1, 1970, another in July and the $3 limit in Jan. 1, 1971. Long said the new contract also allowed four weeks vacation after 25 years rather than 30; granted two weeks after three years and provided for a three-day emergency leave in case of death in the immediate family.

He said the pay increases agree on extend across-the-board through the entire union including drivers, mechanics and laborers.

SALES TAX ELECTION

Friday Set As Deadline For Absentee Ballots

With the deadline for absentee voting only three days away, 24 persons had cast advance ballots up until noon today in Pampa's Sept. 24 city sales tax election.

The deadline falls at 5 p.m. Friday, according to Stanley M. Chittenden, city secretary.

The city secretary's office is the only place absentee ballots may be cast.

Chittenden again reminded voters there will be only one voting place on election day. That will be the City Commission room at City Hall. City precinct voting places will not be open.

Voting hours will be from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. to permit city residents to ballot for or against the one-cent sales and use tax.

Any registered voter residing within the Pampa city limits will be eligible to participate in the election, Chittenden stated.

Queen Juliana was scheduled to deliver her annual "speech of the throne" today to open a new parliamentary session.

The police spokesman said emergency security precautions were in full effect and they were prepared "for all eventualities."

Another Senator Bids For SJC Seat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York today bid for a seat on the Senate Judiciary Committee, setting off another in the liberal-conservative showdowns which have plagued Republicans since the death of their leader, Everett M. Dirksen.

Goodell's last-minute move blocked the conservative aspirant to the prized seat because the liberal New Yorker has seniority over Sen. Edward J. Gurney, a Florida first-termer.

But it was considered highly probable the conservatives would retaliate by getting one of their own with more seniority than Goodell to go after the seat.

The republican committee on committees, which has to make assignments strictly on a seniority basis, was scheduled to meet again today to go over the requests.

TOBAGO AND TOBACCO — SCARBOROUGH, Tobago (UPI) — Tobago's name is a corruption of the word tobacco. One version of its origin is that Spanish explorers found Indians growing tobacco on the island and another is that the island is shaped like a typical Indian pipe.

Topflight Entertainers Team With Convicts For Annual Rodeo

HUNTSVILLE - The 1969 version of the annual Texas Prison Rodeo, which will be held here every Sunday in October, promises to be a "Stars and Stripes" event when top-flight entertainers will team up with tough convicts to present a thrilling two-hour spectacle in the prison's one million dollar stadium. For the opening of this year's series on Sunday, Oct. 5, the star attraction will be Wanda Jackson, who has reached fame with her recordings of "Your Tender Love" and "You Cheated Me". On Sunday, Oct. 12, Merle Haggard, of night club and recording renown, will present a program of some of his top tunes. These include "Branded Man" and "Sing Me Back Home". For the third performance of the World's Wildest Rodeo on Sunday, Oct. 19, the featured attraction will be Buck Owens, country-western singer and television star. Owens has made guest appearances on the Dean Martin Show, Kraft Music Hall and other well known television series. Hank Snow, known as "The Singing Ranger", will highlight the closing performance of the Prison Rodeo on Sunday, Oct. 26. Some of his best hits are "The Golden Rocket" and "Rome Wasn't Built in a Day". As usual, during each performance, the toughest convict cowboys will be competing for prize money in an effort to tame outlaw rodeo stock in an array of unusual contests. Convict riders will perform in

STRUCK GOLD

NEVADA CITY, Calif. (UPI) - One October day in 1850, George McKnight was chasing his cow across a pasture in Nevada County when his foot struck an outcropping of rock that broke off quite easily. He stopped to examine the rock and found it was quartz that was shot through with gold. From the very spot where the rock broke off came $1.5 million in gold and from just 150 feet away came another $4 million in gold. Today a granite shaft topped with a large piece of gold quartz marks the spot.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Every time I begin to lose confidence in the mother country, something happens to reassure me there'll always be an England. The secret of England's ability to endure is her capacity for producing the right man for the times, such as David Lindo and Peter Madgett of Great Yarmouth.

They are the two young chaps who set out to cross the North Sea in a rowboat, that being the method they had chosen to quit smoking.

Left their cigarettes behind, they did, hoping that by the time they reached the Netherlands in a week or so they would be dishabilitated.

The voyage was cut short alas. Lindo and Madgett were forced to turn back after eight hours which is hardly enough time to kick the smoking habit.

At any rate, it would be a mistake to write off the expedition as a failure. Indeed, historians may some day rank Madgett and Lindo along with such other illustrious seafarers as Nelson and Drake.

For although frustrated in the achievement of their personal goal, they have provided new hope and inspiration for thousands of other smokers.

Just this week the Gallup Poll published the results of a new survey on smoking. According to Gallup many smokers who were asked why they kept puffing away in the face of health warnings replied "I can't quit."

That sort of defeatist attitude surely will be conquered by the indomitable spirit displayed by Madgett and Lindo. Now that they have shown their mettle, other smokers with less queasy stomachs will be encouraged to try the North Sea crossing, and will succeed.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: These women who complain that their husbands get very dirty in their work and are often too tired or too lazy to take a bath, can take a lesson from me and my wife.

I am a farmer and often get very grimy and sweaty but my wife has never gone to bed with a smelly husband.

Our secret? We always climb into the tub together. We have done this since shortly after we were married.

It has become such a habit with us that we wait for each other to take our bath. Abby if a husband and wife can sleep together, they can bathe together. Believe me, it makes for a clean and happy marriage in more ways than one.

A FARMER: VICTORIA, TEX.
DEAR FARMER: Shall we say, "The couple that bathes together stays together?"

DEAR ABBY: I have a baby, five months old. I have a sister-in-law who has a baby seven months old. She comes to visit me very often—like four or five days a week.

My problem is she never brings any diapers with her. She's always borrowing mine.

Abby, she has a washing machine and I don't—I have to go clear across town to my mother's to wash. I use a whitener and a softener and my sister-in-law doesn't. And when she returns the diapers she borrowed she brings me hers instead of mine, and it takes me forever to get them white again.

I have told her a dozen times to bring her own diapers, but she always "forgets." Can you help me?

DEAR FED: Take your diapers, whitener and softener and go to your sister-in-law's and give her a lesson in diaper washing in her machine. You may have to give her three or four lessons, but you'll get your diapers laundered properly and you'll both benefit.

DEAR ABBY: Would you tell your hostess that while you were a guest in her home someone got into your purse which was in the guest bedroom and stole your money? I wouldn't want the hostess to feel that she had to make good my loss. Thank you.

NO NAME OR CITY
DEAR NO NAME: Yes, I would tell my hostess.

DEAR ABBY: In response to the letter from a woman whose husband chased sirens: You should have told her to encourage her husband to join an auxiliary police group, an ambulance service, or a volunteer fire department. He could then experience the "thrill" of being at the scene of an accident and pulling corpses from a heap of twisted metal. Or rushing out at 3 a.m. in zero weather to fight a fire caused by a careless cigarette smoker. Or spend a hot Sunday afternoon walking through dense underbrush searching for a lost child.

If he is willing to do this, he has the right to follow the sirens, and do it legally and with pride. If not, he should at least stop and think, it could be my home or family needing assistance, and here I am, getting in the way slowing down the workers.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN:

Lost Children Whistle To Find Their Way Home

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Every year we hear of children getting lost by straying away from home or from others when on a picnic or camping party. I suggest that we all have metal chains to go around our children's necks, at such times, and have a shrill whistle attached to the chain which the child is taught to blow. He should be told to blow this only in an emergency and then stand where he is and not wander further away before someone comes.

DEAR POLLY—During summer and any other school vacations we put aside the weekly sum that would normally be used for school expenses and save it to have on hand to help pay for books and wardrobes at the beginning of a new term.

MRS. M.
Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I want to spray paint a low wicker chest that is about 15 inches tall and three feet wide. The front and top have a heart-and-swirl pattern of wicker over the regular weave that makes the rest of this chest. There is no way to remove the top patterned panel so I hope someone can tell me how to get to the weave beneath to paint it.

—STACI
DEAR POLLY—and Ruth with the scratched patent shoes—Take a water-resistant black gloss enamel paint and apply it to just the scratches with the point of a fine point fountain pen or a fine stick pen. By using a pen she will not leave a mark of paint on the patent.

just on the scratch. She could also try black India ink.

—CONNIE
DEAR POLLY—I love to cook up a storm and my two best helps are a wide putty knife and a tile "goo" spreader with tiny teeth on the edge. The wide putty knife is great for turning hard-to-turn things such as pancakes, hashed browns, etc. The one with the teeth will cut flour or seasoning into any piece of meat making it tender and yummy. Paint the handles to match your kitchen.

—SUE
DEAR POLLY—After my Dad fixed my sister and I a game of horseshoes in the backyard Mom was worried for fear we would fall on one of the stakes and get badly hurt. She put two rubber furniture tips over the stakes and they fit nicely.

Your Horoscope JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17 YOUR BIRTHDAY WEDNESDAY: The coming year is simply a straightforward matter of assiduous work—with reasonable advancement to match what you do. Have no hesitation in changing jobs if you aren't on the move where you are. You may outgrow some relations with people who do not progress compatibly. Wednesday's natives have a particular talent for assembling images into patterns to fascinate the beholder.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Technical matters are favored for discussion. Your plans are sought—and if you have none, you set a limit on yourself. New ideas are in demand. Concentrate on new contacts.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Stretch yourself to do a more complete job. Shared resources are more readily handled now, so resolve things while the opportunity is at hand. Add something to your savings account.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Promote public projects. Be cooperative so you can, in turn, enjoy help in your ventures. Children come in for special attention. The evening is a happy one.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): This is the day to exchange know-how. Go along with the moods of associates and loved ones. Get some time in outdoors if possible.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Get busy and find out what are the latest ingenious ideas in your field. Buy new gadgets for your home if the price is right. Unplanned events upset your afternoon routines—see the humor in the absurdity of the circumstances.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): There will be much adjustment to be made within the coming few months.

start now to get ready for sweeping changes. Begin the search for new studies which will help your progress.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Travel Wednesday if you can find any reason or excuse to do so. Try to collect what is owed you. There is quite an interesting story—do not pass it on until you are sure it is all in perspective. There is another side of the matter you do not yet know.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Financial affairs are more susceptible to profitable rearrangement. Keep looking for better knowledge on anything that is not clear to you. An opportunity is present in a most unlikely place.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Follow up a recent application to see what has happened to it. Apply for permits, visas, licenses. Your friends are full of plans and schemes—just listen for the time being. Seek light entertainment for evening, nothing too thoughtful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Urgent suggestions from friends must be taken into account. Some unorthodox scheme might turn out to be the only path to success. Be willing to switch plans.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Friends and consultants from far places combine to give you a guidance. Take the information but think in larger perspectives. Travel if you can.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Things come close to reality. Your carefully built up reputation is of great help in bringing advancement now. Avert nervous tension by amusements.

Quiet Yoga Society Creates Stir Among 'Indifferent' New Yorkers

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—The little old ladies searching through trash cans in mid-Manhattan hardly get a stare. Ditto for humans sleeping off too much of the devil's brew. The law says let 'em curl up and please, don't disturb. Mini-demonstrations for remote causes occur so frequently, the natives—real and transplanted—seldom notice.

The dozen of them, softly chanting a somewhat cheery tune to tinkling cymbals and the taps of palms on a muffled drum, shuffle in cadence—a slow, rhythmic step. I caught up with them near Radio City Music Hall, was offered some literature and asked for a donation. I put 50 cents in the collection plate—a sea shell, the kind you hold to your ear to hear the ocean.

for Krishna (God) Consciousness is in the lower East Side of New York. He and his God-seekers live on donations. Society literature made this point: "A living being in the mundane world has four defects: He is sure to commit mistakes; he is sure to be illusioned; he has a tendency to cheat; his senses are imperfect." The message draws little argument—even in New York.

Three L TOPS Meets In Lefors

A backslider contest was initiated to last until Oct. 21. The winner will receive $6. Several members will attend the Area Recognition Day, Saturday, Oct. 18 at Sunray. Members also planned a salad supper and KOPS graduation ceremony for Thelma Roberts Sept. 30.

Now you change the bathroom seat to match bathroom decor. Several designs are available including boldly printed zodiacs. The manufacturer says the lid change takes only a few seconds with a unique pin fastener, for which a patent is pending.

Asked his age, he replied: "This body is 24 years old but we're actually eternal so who knows?"

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Housatonic River, which rises in Washington, Mass., flows down through Connecticut and empties into Long Island Sound, is not only the World Almanac to be 148 miles in length. Its course is famous for its rich foliage and rustic beauty, so much so that Oliver Wendell Holmes was once prompted to pun: "The best of all tonics is the Housatonic."

Lefors 4-H Club Hears Report On NCW Workshop

LEFORS (SPL)—Skipper Youngblood, a delegate to the recent 4-H National Citizenship Workshop in Washington, D.C., spoke to the Lefors 4-H Club Saturday, at its weekly meeting.

Youngblood told the group how he was elected to attend the convention, how he earned money to finance the trip and of his activities while in Washington. He encouraged club members to work toward being selected for their trip in the future and said "it's a worthwhile experience."

Special guest at the club's meeting was Jennie D. Finch, Gray County home demonstration agent.

Members attending the meeting were Walter Griffith, Elaine Webb, Youngblood and his sister Cindy and Cherine Ayers. New members in the club are Elizabeth McCarthy, Kim McPherson, Doug Coleman, Billy Crain, Bobby Howard, Cheryl Auldeman, Donna Gifford, Kelly Douglas, Gary Timmons, O. C. Atkins, Larry Franks, Donnie Auldeman, David Winegart, Buddy Ring, Bill Mercer, Johnny Sherman, Terri Burke, Danny Brown and Bill Harper.

The club's next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 9. There will be an election of new officers and presentation of projects at the meeting.

Hollywood Reports

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Edward G. Robinson Jr. was a case history of the Hollywood star offspring gone haywire. For years he made news: Bad News.

If he wasn't hauled in on drunk driving raps, then it was disorderly conduct, probation violation, divorce, bad checks and the rest of the litany of petty trouble.

Inside Edward G. Robinson Jr. was an individual who was not a carbon copy of Edward G. Robinson Sr. screaming to get out.

A star the size of Robinson Sr. casts an enormous shadow and it is difficult for living things to grow and prosper in that much shade. Being Crosby's first family of sons discovered the fact as have others: Cheryl Crane, John Barrymore Jr., Peter Fonda, Liza Minnelli and Mia Farrow.

Some were able to cope and escape alive. Others sought fame any way they could find it. Some have become stars in their own right, surpassing their parent or parents.

Robinson Jr. ran the gamut. Since childhood he has been called Manny—an abbreviation for Emmanuel, his real name.

As Manny grew up he was staggered by the adulation heaped on his famous father. It planted the desire for his own stardom. He thought simply being his father's son would turn the trick.

When it did not, Manny was unable to handle the rejection. But the world did pay attention when he got into trouble, and that allowed at least some limelight to filter through the shadows.

Edward G. Robinson Jr. is a boy no more. He's 36 years old and father of a 16-year-old daughter. He is single now, and was ordered last October to pay $80 a month child support to a Hollywood secretary who claimed Manny was the father of her daughter.

Washington Window

By GEORGE J. MARDER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—You wouldn't call Vice President Spiro T. Agnew the great dissenter. Nevertheless, he has taken some unpopular positions.

Agnew just can't understand why, having argued his case and lost, it can't be accepted that in good grace he can support the position he opposed.

The vice president complained about that at the recent National Governors Conference in Colorado Springs.

"I'm a member of a team," he said. Once an administration position is decided upon, he explained, "I stick with the administration."

That isn't always true, however.

Agnew opposed President Nixon's decision to limit income tax deductions for persons who buy tax free state and local government bonds—and he opposed it long after the decision was publicly announced.

The vice president held out some hope or a reversal. It didn't come. But neither did he get sent to the corner in the White House for arguing the governors' case with the administration.

Agnew is Nixon's chief contact with the state executives. He is becoming the chief bearer of bad news.

It was Agnew's unpleasant chore to break the news to the governors of a planned cutback in government construction spending to fight inflation. Nixon met with the governors a day before Agnew but never let a word out to soften the blow.

The vice president also had the task of telling the governors that Nixon would not commit the federal government to take over the full cost of welfare, as the state leaders had proposed. Agnew personally favored the takeover as a "final objective" but could not give it administrative blessings.

Career Corner

By JOYCE LAIN

Miss Lain awards a Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Randy Petersen, Lena, Ill.

"School is not too easy for me, but I'm willing to work hard to be a sports announcer. What are chances without college training?"

A—"Minimal," says Robert A. Poulsen, an authority on the subject. Eob, a talented graduate student in the U. of Kansas' radio-television-film school, is writing his master's thesis on sportscasters and has labored many hours interviewing successful sports broadcasters. Thanks for sharing, Bob. Though not all the...

BIG SPORTSCASTERS finished college, today it would be almost impossible to advance without education. There are few jobs; competition is intense. Bob estimates there are, at most, only 200 pro sports announcers, including less than a dozen network stars. You'll need all the training you can get to break in, and should you not make it, your education is insurance for another field.

SCORECARD. There are four types of sportscasters: play-by-play announcers, who describe the action of the game; color men, who provide analysis of the game; sports reporters, who broadcast sports news; and sports commentators, such as Howard Cosell. Sportscasters usually begin their careers in small radio or television stations, perhaps as a staff announcer. Others, such as Sandy Koufax, were athletes who made broadcasting a second career.

Employers are usually broadcast stations, networks, teams and colleges.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Almost everyone fancies himself a humorist, as the producers of "The Rowan and Martin Laugh-In" have discovered.

They receive 10,000 letters weekly—a figure that has not been subjected to audit by Price-Waterhouse—containing gags, sketches and one-liners by people who break up their friends with leg-slappers.

Because it seems a waste to discard this bulk of natural wit, and rather than ruin "Laugh-In" with it, a new half-hour daytime show, "Letters to Laugh-In," will be instituted Sept. 29.

Host and master of ceremonies of this panel-talk-game-audience participation show is Gary Owens, the long-suffering announcer on NBC-TV's top-rated comedy show who stands at a microphone with his hand cupped to his ear, adding confusion to ever-present bedlam.

"You'd be surprised how many of the letters are funny," Owens said.

"We'll have a panel judging the letters and giving out dumb prizes. Each week the panel will feature one of the members of the cast from the big show.

"One week it will be Dan Rowan, Dick Martin the next, Arty Johnson, Goldie Hawn, Henry Gibson and all the rest."

The prizes have dubious worth.

First prize for the best letter of the week will be an all-expense paid week in beautiful Downtown Burbank.

"We're serious about that," Owens said. "There's even talk of somebody building a Nernst Hotel there, at which our big winner would stay."

Wins Bigger Award

What about second prize? "Well the worst letter of the week will win an even bigger award," Gary explained. "He or she will get an all-expense two-week vacation in beautiful Downtown Burbank."

"The show will have other prizes, but how are you going to top those vacations in Burbank?"

There wasn't a trace of humor about Owen as he spoke. Checking later proved that he was telling the truth.

Proof that he belongs to the zany "Laugh-In" crew is his assessment of himself: "I am one of those rare, in-segregious talents who every decade or so shine through the banality of Hollywood, breaking the spirit of affirmation, but not necessarily entirely."

Owens may win a three-week vacation in Burbank.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comedian Jack Carter is laughing and crying over a recent visit from New York by his Yiddish mother.

"The minute she moved into my apartment all my friends called with two tons of jokes," Carter lamented.

"For the first time in her life my mother had taken an airplane ride," Carter said disconsolately. "I ordered her kosher meal on the plane but she insisted on the lamb chops instead."

When Carter told his mother the lamb chops weren't kosher, she replied, "What do I care? I'm stuck up here."

Because his mother wanted to see movie stars Carter took her to some of the fanciest restaurants in Beverly Hills whereupon his mother invaded the kitchens to show the chefs how to make minestrone.

Seven Meals A Day

"I'm eating seven meals a day, including an I-shoudn't-hurt-her-feelings snack," Carter cried.

"I had a party so she could meet some celebrities. When Dick Martin of Rowan and Martin came in the door she asked where the handsome one was Shirley Jones arrived and mother said in a loud voice she thought she knew her."

"When I came home in the evening mother complained that I didn't call her on the telephone. I had to explain as long as she's staying with me there's no reason to call."

Carter plans to incorporate his mother's visit in his nightclub act.

When he informed his mother she was going out for a game of golf she warned him: "You'll hurt yourself!"

The comic told her later the same day he was taking a dip in the pool, only to be advised, "Don't go in too deep!"

He completed a guest spot in "I Dream of Jeannie" and returned to the apartment to await another call from his agent. Because he had a couple of days between jobs his mother said, "Why don't you go out and get yourself some work?"

Stays Four Weeks

"She stayed four weeks and it seemed like four years," Carter grinned, "realizing every time she answered the phone I'd never know who called. Days later she would try to remember the names."

Carter complained that a friend invited him to screening but the message was never given him. Mama was ready: "I told them we didn't need to get the screens fixed."

"I'm working on material I got from my mother's visit," Carter said. "There's enough wacky stuff to build my act on. If I need any more situation jokes or one-line gags I'll invite her out for another visit."

Carter stopped. "I'd better give that careful consideration."

Foreign News Commentary

The Chinese Nationalists are confident of keeping their United Nations seat this year despite a possible switch in the votes of Canada and Italy in favor of the Chinese Communists. In last year's voting Canada abstained and Italy supported the Nationalists. In exchange, the Nationalists expect to pick up the votes of two African nations, Senegal and Mauritius. The Nationalists recognize their possible loss of support also from Belgium, Luxembourg and Chile. Even so, they do not believe these will be enough to change the vote which last year was 58-44 in favor of Nationalist China with 23 abstentions.

Israeli Arms?

As a sequel to the latest Mideast flareups, Israel can be expected to renew pressure on the West for additional arms supplies. In particular, she wants British Chieftan tanks to replace some of her outdated British-built Centurions and American-built Shermans and Patton's. The fact that Britain plans to go ahead with a $240 million arms deal with Libya will be used by the Israelis as an argument that she, too, should get British arms.

Former Harvesters Pace Rangers To 3-6 Victory

ALVA, Okla. — Former Pampa Harvester quarterback Larry Stephens led Northwestern to a stunning, 34-6, victory Saturday night over highly touted Ft. Stockton College.
 Stephens, who missed most of last season with a leg injury, scored two touchdowns and passed for another as he teamed with another former Pampa player, James Matney, for the victory.
 Stephens ran one and five yards for scores and passed 35 yards for another. He completed 11 of 21 passes for the night for over 200 yards.
 Matney blocked two punts and scored a safety for the Rangers as he led the Northwestern defensive charge.

Defense Ahead?

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UPI) — New Mexico State coach Jim Wood thinks his team's defense is running ahead of its offense but he won't be able to tell for sure until Saturday.
 That's when the Aggies open the 1969 football season against Lone Star Conference member Howard Payne of Brownwood, Better punting and less fumbling will be two points of football stressed in Pampa Harvester football drills this week, besides the usual blocking, tackling and running.

 When asked what one thing would be stressed more than any other in drills, coach Swede Lee answered with one word, "Punting."
 Short punts, most of them against the wind, and two fumbles spoiled an otherwise excellent game by the Harvesters against Hereford. Senior Wyatt Earp punted five times for a 27.1 average, far below his booming boots of last season.
 Senior Scotty King, who ran over tackles for 154 yards on 25 carries, fumbled the ball twice, once deep in Hereford territory and the first one came on the second play of the game but was recovered by King, who gained only two yards instead of 10.

 But the Harvesters have forgotten about Hereford and have started concentrating on Friday night's home foe, Dumas, a 42-7 loser to Palo Duro Saturday night.
 "The Demons aren't that bad, at least according to Lee, who witnessed the slaughter."
 "Palo Duro could score that many points on just about anybody. They are fast," Lee said.
 The Demons, a 29-7 winner over Pampa last year, have seven offensive and eight defensive starters back from a 5-5 season in 1968.

 "It was hard to tell just how good Dumas was because of the way Palo Duro played," Lee said.
 The coach had praise for some Pampa defenders who held Hereford to just 46 yards rushing in the first half.
 Junior Johnny Clark, who didn't start, and senior Roddy Porter, who scored a safety for Pampa, both made six unassisted tackles. Clark was in on seven others and Porter two others.
 Senior Randy Cantrell had four unassisted tackles and nine assists while King had two of his own and assisted on nine others. Senior Jay Roth assisted on seven and had two unassisted; Tommy Hawkins had three unassisted and five assists and Micky Sims had three unassisted and four assists.

 But when the Harvesters challenge Dumas in the 8 p.m. encounter the defense will have to be even better.
 "They have a real fine offense and their quarterback throws the ball good. Kermit Casas is a good runner, too," Lee said.
 "I'm disappointed that we lost but I do not feel discouraged. The things we did wrong are correctable and I think we can correct them," Lee said.
 Besides experience Dumas will bring good speed and a hefty offense and defense with them. The starting Demon backfield averages out to 164.2 pounds per player while the line averages 197 pounds per man.

 Six returning starters were in the game on offense for Dumas and, all 11 defensive starters, were on the starting team last year.
 Coach Bill Spaha is trying junior Mickey Hartman (150) at split end, 186 pound senior Scott Baird at tackle; Ken Maples, a 188 pound senior at guard; Bobby Laughrym, who lettered last year, at quarterback and 173 pound senior Gary Burks at fullback.
 None started fulltime last year but Laughrym threw two touchdowns passes against the Harvesters in last year's game and Casas ran one touchdown.

Cooper, Permian Battle In Top Prep Attraction

By United Press International
 It is not often that a game of championship quality comes on the second week of the high school football season, but there will be one this Friday night in Odessa.
 Abilene Cooper and Odessa Permian, picked by some to be the class of West Texas this season, meet Friday night in a district game that will outshine all other contests in the state.
 Cooper and Permian each have made it to the state finals in Class AAAA the past two years, only to be beaten by the same club—Austin Reagan.
 Cooper opened its season last weekend by clobbering a good Class AA Brownwood club, 42-22. Permian started off by breezing past Amarillo Tascosa, 27-12.
 Reagan got its season off on a winning note last weekend by shutting out San Antonio Churchill 35-0, extending the state's longest winning streak to 30 games. The Raiders will meet Corpus Christi King this weekend.
 Other top Class AAAA clashes will find Houston Kashmere traveling to Beaumont Hebert, Wichita Falls entertaining Amarillo, Port Arthur playing host to Spring Branch Spring Woods, Dallas Kimball trying Dallas North Dallas and Richardson facing Carrollton.

Green Bay Eyes Zeke As Coach

By United Press International
 Zeke Bratkowski has been a consistent, sometimes outstanding quarterback in the NFL since 1954 and a reliable backup man for the Green Bay Packers since 1964, but Monday the Packers had to break family ties.
 Green Bay coach Phil Bengtson asked waivers on Bratkowski Moe Agajanian and rookie receiver Dan Eckstein to bring the Packer roster down to the 40-player limit prior to the opening of league play this weekend.
 It wasn't as bitter for Bratkowski as Agajanian, because Bratkowski began the season as the Packer assistant coach, and should a team put in a claim for him, the waivers will be withdrawn and he will once again retire and concentrate on his coaching duties.
 Rookies, as usual, were the most expendable, but a few old pros also were given their walking papers.

Cards Carlton Good Loser

By United Press International
 Add Steve Carlton of the St. Louis Cardinals to baseball's list of magnificent losers—guys like Harvey Haddix, Ken Johnson and, yes, Bob Feller.
 And then add Ron Swoboda to the New York Mets' list of 1969 heroes—that improbable group which showed Monday night how a team can commit four errors and suffer 19 strikeouts while winning, 4-3, and increasing their lead to the National League's Division to 4 1/2 games.
 A 24-year old left-hander from Miami, Fla., Carlton set a major league record for a nine-inning game by striking out 19 Mets—but lost the game on a pair of two-run homers by Swoboda.
 Carlton's feat erased the previous record of 18 strikeouts set by Feller in a losing effort against the Detroit Tigers in 1938 and equaled twice by Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers and once by Don Wilson of the Houston Astros. Charles Sweeney, pitching for Providence in 1884, is the only other pitcher who ever struck out 19 batters in a nine-inning game.
 Like Feller, Carlton was a loser in his masterpiece and undoubtedly can sympathize with such other magnificent losers as Haddix and Johnson.
 Haddix pitched 12 perfect innings for Pittsburgh against Milwaukee in 1959 but lost in the 13th inning and Johnson pitched a nine-inning no-hitter for Houston but lost to Cincinnati in 1964.
 Swoboda, who also struck out twice, hit his first homer in the fourth inning and connected again in the eighth to overcome a 3-2 St. Louis lead. The homers followed the only two walks issued by Carlton—one to Don Clendenon and the other to Tommie Agee.

Carlton, who has a 16-10 record and leads the NL in earned run average, maximized his record—setting performance by striking out relief pitcher Tug McGraw, Bud Harrelson and Amos Otis in the ninth. McGraw, who shut-out the Cardinals in the last three innings, received credit for his eighth victory against three losses.
 The victory enabled the Mets to pick up a full game on the Chicago Cubs, who suffered their 11th loss in 12 games when they were beaten by the Montreal Expos, 8-2. Ron Fairly drove in four runs with a homer and two doubles and rookie Mike Wegener pitched a three-hitter for the Expos. Dick Selma dropped his eighth decision for the Cubs.
 The San Francisco Giants defeated the Atlanta Braves, 4-1, and the Cincinnati Reds beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 4-1, to further tighten the Western Division race. The Braves lead with a 554 percentage followed by the Giants at 551, the Reds at 549 and the Dodgers at 545.
 The San Diego Padres downed the Houston Astros, 5-3, and the Philadelphia Phillies swept the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1 and 4-3, in the other NL games.

In the American League, Minnesota defeated Oakland, 6-3, Washington edged Baltimore, 3-2, Cleveland topped Boston, 4-1, Detroit blanked New York, 2-0, California shut out Chicago 4-0, and Seattle nipped Kansas City, 3-2.
 Willie Mays drove in two runs with the 599th homer of his career and a double for the Giants as Mike McCormick pitched a five-hitter for his 10th win of the season.
 Alex Johnson doubled home one run and Tony Perez

Reds tag 19-game winner Claude Osteen with his 13th defeat for the Dodgers.
 Jose Arcia's three-run double in a four-run fourth inning enabled the Padres to shove the Astros 5 1/2 games out of first place.
 Dave Watkins singled home the winning run for the Phillies with two out in the ninth inning of the first game and Johnny Briggs hit a two-run homer for the big blow of the second game. Rick Wise won his 14th game and Jeff James his second for the Phillies.

Heffelfinger, Thorpe Are Chosen All-Time Greats

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fame may be a fleeting thing but the names of Jim Thorpe and Pudge Heffelfinger remain among the most famous in college football event though the great Carlisle Indian and the devastating Yale lineman played in another era of the sport.
 Thorpe, America's most versatile athlete of the half century, and Heffelfinger, a giant lineman in the period mass momentum football, helped recall exploits of the sport's infancy when they were unanimous selections on the early-day, all-time college football squad announced Monday.
 Thorpe was picked as a back and Heffelfinger at guard on the squad in which Fielding Yost's point-a-minute Michigan teams and Yale's juggernauts each placed two players on the honor squad.
 Yale, the Ivy League school which helped popularize the sport placed Heffelfinger and Frank Hinkley on the squad and Michigan was represented by center Germany Schulz and back Willie Heston.
 Honor Team Named.
 The honor team was picked by the Football Writers Association of America. A committee made up of presidents of the organization balloted. Nominations were made by colleges and universities throughout the nation.
 Selection of the squad coincides with the 100th anniversary of college football. A modern all-time team also will be picked.
 Thorpe played for Carlisle from 1907 to 1912 and his combination of speed and raw power enabled him to excel in all phases of the game. But his greatest exploits came as a running back as he rushed for 3,616 yards during his career and scored 53 touchdowns.
 Heffelfinger was a three-time All-American from 1889 to 1891 and played on the Yale squad that ran up 694 points while shutting out all 13 opponents in 1888.

Ivory Still Third In Bareback Listings

DENVER (UPI) — When Larry Mahan gets on a bucking bronc or bull, there's nothing that can get him off.
 The 24-year-old cowboy from Brooks, Ore. who has won more money on the pro rodeo circuit in the past three years than anyone else, is well on his way to making it four years.
 Mahan stretched his lead in the all-around championship standings this past weekend by pocketing $8,954 in prize money. The Rodeo Cowboys Association announced today. He now has won $46,566 for the year and could easily surpass the record $51,996 he earned in all of 1967.
 Mahan won $2,854 at Pendleton, Ore., by winning the bareback bronc and bull riding events and placing in saddle bronc riding. He earned another $6,100 by scoring the most points in the annual big four rodeos—Walla Walla and Ellensburg, Wash., Lewiston, Idaho, and Pendleton.
 Nearest competitor to Mahan is Doug Brown of Silverton, Ore., with $37,814 and Dean Oliver of Boise, Idaho, in third place with $35,882. Brown leads the bull riding event with $24,760 and Oliver tops calf roping with $34,919.
 Other leaders include Bill Smith, Cody, Wyo., saddle bronc, $21,405; Gary Tucker, Carlsbad, N.M., bareback bronc, $18,120; Roy Duvall,

World Council And Cuba

A recent dispatch from Canterbury, England, said in part, the other day:
"The World Council of Churches declared the United States should restore diplomatic relations with Cuba and end its economic embargo on the Communist-ruled island."
A day or two later, United Press International reported from Washington:
"The State Department announced that the United States has ordered the expulsion of a member of the Cuban mission to the United Nations on grounds involving 'the security of the office of the President of the United States.'"
In all probability, diplomatic and trade relations will be resumed with Cuba some day, but not now. Not when Cuban agents are suspected of dirty work against the President or anybody else or anything in America. A State Department spokesman refused to say whether an assassination attempt against the President was involved but that was the consensus.

The World Council of Churches, which includes our own National Council of Churches, seems to have lost sight of the Christian mission and has evolved into a political bloc or club. Main objective of the council churches is to establish their version of social justice (socialism might be a more descriptive word to use) here, there and everywhere. And that means their idea of the good life (free lunches, medicare and the like) would be imposed by law and with tax money. Individual preferences don't count in

More Quiet On Campus?

Columnist Walter Trohan recently reported that there were 221 major demonstrations in 101 United States colleges in six months last year. This may cause a few students seriously interested in pursuing knowledge to back away from college attendance. Militants have had two months now in which they have likely whittled their battle plans into a fine outline for this next year.

On the other hand, the colleges (and we assume lower level schools) have had an equal amount of time to institute policies that will enable real students to proceed with minimum disruption.
From a survey by U.S. News & World Report, (Sept. 1) It appears that most schools will follow a harder line in the future. Some administrators felt that it was unwise to divulge their counter-plans, and others, at UCLA for instance, have avoided a battle plan "believing it would lead to a war situation." None of them want war, yet most are determined to see that the quest for knowledge will be possible for the responsible young people who want it, who want a study climate of peace, not war.
According to U.S. News, the hard line includes considering amnesty to troublemakers as a thing of the past; more suspensions and expulsion of unruly students; tightening of discipline with civil authorities asked to increase penalties for trespass; stronger campus security forces; notifying campus radicals at universities will not negotiate under threats of force this year. On the whole, there probably will be a greater participation by responsible students in formulating school policy and a conscious effort on the part of administrators to differentiate between legitimate demands and sheer recruiting by radicals.
Possibly some of the college officials are getting a little more backbone because there's a growing movement among sincere students opposed to the campus disruptions. National Observer, the Dow-Jones national weekly newspaper, Sept. 1 listed a number of the groups and movements that are being heard from.

These include the Majority Coalition, formed in Milwaukee and with chapters on campuses

Investment In Progress

While it is important to give individual taxpayers relief from growing burdens, it also is necessary that the nation's lawmakers bear in mind the need for maintaining investment in the country's free enterprise system. Nothing could be more hurtful to the financial interests of all citizens than a drop in investment of a capital in productive enterprises that furnish jobs to working people.
Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy clearly had this fact in mind when he proposed changes in the tax bill developed by the House of Representatives. Testifying at the Senate Finance Committee's public hearing on the House measure, Mr. Kennedy proposed that the House bill be changed to reduce corporate income tax rates by one percentage point in 1971, and by another in 1972. The secretary maintained that redistribution of tax relief corporations is necessary because of the bias in the bill against investment in favor of consumption.

Secretary Kennedy went on to observe that "such overweighing, embodied in the proposed treatment of capital gains as well as corporate tax increases, could impede economic growth in the years ahead by curtailing the incentive to make productive investments."
Liberal members of Congress are not likely to take kindly to Mr. Kennedy's proposal. They apparently feel that there is political mileage in soaking U.S. business. But informed citizens are aware of the tremendous importance of maintaining a high rate of investment. And investment is made only when there is an expectation of reasonable returns.

Current plans call for the return of large numbers of troops from the Far East. Most of these are young draftees who will leave military service on their return and start looking around for jobs. If they are to find jobs, industry must be expanded. The only way the nation's industrial plants are expanded is by investors putting more money into factories.

So if high employment is to continue in this country, the Senate Finance Committee will have to amend the House-passed tax bill to give free enterprise companies an adequate incentive to enlarge existing facilities and add new ones.
If industry lacks sufficient tax incentive, new investment will not be made on the necessary scale and job openings will not occur in the desired number. It's as simple as that. The alternative facing government will be to create jobs for government spending — to order-make-work projects, or relief, that is. And no thinking American wants relief programs instead of productive employment in private industry.

Secretary of the Treasury Kennedy was on the right economic track, therefore, in dealing with this aspect of the tax bill. Unfortunately, he didn't go quite far enough in another area — the oil depletion allowance area.
The Nixon administration has decided not to oppose the House plan for reducing the depletion allowance from 27.5 per cent to 20 per cent. Recent events in the news underscore the danger of reducing an allowance that encourages development of new oil fields in this country.

The liberals in Congress believe they have an easy target in the oil depletion allowance and try to present it as a present for "economic royalists" to use the old Rooseveltian term. Actually students of the oil situation around the world understand that he depletion allowance plays an important role in guaranteeing the United States adequate supplies of oil to power its industries and light its homes.

Only a short time ago a revolutionary socialist regime took over the North African country of Libya, which is the seventh largest oil-producing nation in the world. U.S. companies have invested heavily in the Libyan oilfields. These fields are now endangered by the leftwing regime in power in Libya.
The United States and its allies may need to develop new oil fields in speedy manner

WASHINGTON:

Ho Chi Minh Certainly Was No Viet 'Washington'

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Most astounding have been the series of editorials in a number of leading American newspapers praising the late Ho Chi Minh as an ardent nationalist and Vietnamese patriot.

By no standards was Ho a patriotic nationalist.
He began his career as a paid agent of the Comintern in the employ of the Russian embassy in Canton. He continued this career for years in South China, later in Thailand and then at various points in Southeast Asia.

In his early Canton days in the middle and late 1920s, he made considerable amounts of money selling out nationalist Vietnamese to the French police. Under the pretense of helping the nationalist cause, he acquired pictures of members of the Vietnamese underground studying in China, including those trained at Whampoa

Military Academy. Ho and his men would then contact these students. Those who became Communists were safe. Ho turned the pictures of the others over to the French along with information as to where and when each man was going to return across the border into Indochina.

One of Ho's most important betrayals was that of Phan Boi Chau, considered one of the greatest heroes of the Vietnamese nationalist movement. On the pretense of cooperation and through an old family friendship (Phan Boi Chau had once attempted to save the life of Ho's father), Ho lured Phan into a French police trap in the International settlement of Shanghai. Ho's argument was that the betrayal netted funds for the Communist party.

In 1946, Ho made an agreement with the French. Under this agreement Ho would be furnished arms and would be free from prosecution. In return, Ho would co-operate with the French in exposing and destroying the nationalist groups in Indochina. Ho kept his part of the bargain. By October, 1946, the nationalist leadership was destroyed. As one example of the approximately 70 nationalist non-Communist members of the coalition government legislature, only three were left by October. The others had been killed, arrested or kidnaped and never heard of again.

In the war with the French, Ho joined with another coalition. But as victory neared, he began to purge the nationalist non-Communists.
In the 1954 Geneva agreements with the French military, new material now available suggests that he agreed to let the south remain in the hands of the French on orders from Moscow. If Ho would allow the French a half victory, Moscow reportedly said the French would agree to stay out of the European Defense Community; this effectively killing that project of John Foster Dulles. He obeyed Moscow. The French stayed out of EDC by a narrow margin.

After the 1954 agreement, Ho took over in the north. He immediately began an intensive purge. High in the purge list were members of the various nationalist parties.
Ho's actions in the Tet offensive of 1968 show that he had not changed. It will be recalled that in the temporary occupation of some areas in Hue, Ho's men executed more than 3,000 victims earmarked in dossiers by the Communists carried into the city with them.

A number of these were leaders and members of some of South Vietnam's major nationalist political parties, leading Buddhist nationalists and others with a nationalist tinge.
This history makes it difficult to understand how Ho could be considered either a nationalist or a Vietnamese patriot.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Avoidance of Causes Will Prevent Hiccups

Q—Whenever I eat something sweet, I get the hiccups. No matter what I do, they last about 25 minutes. What causes them and is there any way to prevent them?

A—A hiccup is a spasmodic contraction of the diaphragm caused by an irritation of the nerve that controls this respiratory muscle. It may be brought on by overfilling the stomach, excessive smoking, gulping down fluids, sudden fright, prolonged laughter, trying to belch or anything else that promotes air swallowing.

Avoiding these causes will prevent an attack. Although many procedures have been tried with varying success, a treatment recently described has been found to work well in most cases. Sit up straight, inhale deeply, then, while holding your breath, throw your head back as far as you can and hold it there as long as you can without letting your breath out. If this maneuver doesn't succeed at once, repeat the procedure and, when you inhale, inhale smelling salts.

Q—What causes hiccups, that won't stop for three to six weeks? Can they be serious?

A—Hiccups that last for weeks or even months are a serious problem as they may cause excessive fatigue and loss of weight. Furthermore, the underlying cause may be serious—influenza, appendicitis, chronic bronchitis, emotional stress, uremia or brain tumor.

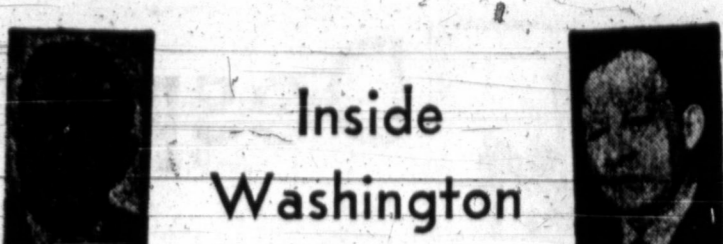

These attacks can sometimes be stopped by giving an anesthetic or an antispasmodic drug. As a last resort, it may be necessary to crush or cut the motor nerve that supplies the diaphragm.

A simpler method that worked in 84 of a series of 85 patients was recently reported. The physician passed a rubber catheter through the nose into the throat and in most cases the hiccups stopped at once. When it didn't, the procedure was repeated.

Q—A teenage girl friend told me she hadn't had the polio vaccine. Don't doctors give it to all children or young persons routinely?

A—Most doctors strongly advise the Sabin oral polio vaccine for all persons, especially those under 30 who have not had it. Perhaps your friend hadn't seen a doctor in recent years, or she may have refused the vaccine.

Demands Douglas Abstain On Draft—'Bias Notorious'

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Solicitor General Erwin Griswold is under forceful congressional demand that he formally ask the Supreme Court to require Justice William O. Douglas to abstain from sitting on a far-reaching case involving the validity of a key provision of the Selective Service Act.

This unprecedented proposal is being made by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., second-ranking member of the powerful House Armed Services Committee and chairman of its subcommittees on the National Guard, reserve and draft.

In a blunt letter to Griswold, who speaks for the federal government in arguments before the Supreme Court, Hebert flatly accuses the 71-year-old, fourtimes-married Douglas of having long displayed "open and vindictive bias and prejudice" against the Act, and being "morally and ethically unfit to sit on this crucial case."

"His record is as notorious as it is indisputable," declared Hebert, one-time crusading New Orleans newspaper editor.

This latest extraordinary challenge of Douglas follows on the heels of recent disclosure that he had been getting $12,000 a year as head of a foundation which derived much of its income from Las Vegas gambling casinos. Senators and congressmen indignantly demanded he quit the bench.

Douglas was defiant. He let it be known he would not resign as former Justice Fortas did under threat of impeachment on charges involving another foundation.

The last of the Douglas affair has not been heard. Hebert's vigorous demand that the militant "peacenik" be compelled to withdraw from cases involving the draft and related issues is certain to add fuel to congressional opposition to his continuance on the Supreme Court.

Members of the House Judiciary Committee are known to be considering offering a resolution caustically censuring Douglas and calling for his retirement.

Hebert lays the ground for such a move in his letter to Griswold.

Citing details of Douglas' "notorious record of bias and prejudice against the Vietnam war and just about everything relating to it," Hebert declares: "There can be no argument about that. Even he can hardly claim to have an open and fair mind on this. In fact, if he were a man of high character and probity, he would abstain on his own accord. But obviously he isn't, as evidenced by his conduct in other matters."

SHOCKING RECORD—The case underlying Rep. Hebert's unprecedented demand involves a ruling early this year by Federal District Judge Charles Wyzanski, Boston, that a provision of the Selective Service Act relating to conscientious objectors was invalid.

Wyzanski contended the statute violates the First Amendment, and the "old" Supreme Court agreed to review this opinion. The case will be argued when the tribunal resumes next month. Hebert maintains the outcome "is of the utmost importance to the security of the nation."

"It strikes at the very core of the military strength of the country," he wrote solicitor General Griswold. "The theory of 'selective objection' to a particular war is one of the major issues in this case. The resolution of this issue may vitally erode the ability of the Selective Service System to meet future military manpower requirements."

For this crucial reason, Hebert holds the Supreme Court's consideration of this case calls for "impeccable impartiality and unchallengeable objectivity. It is inconceivable that the slightest trace of bias or prejudice should be permitted, either pro or con."

The last man who can claim such scrupulousness is Douglas. "If ever there was a judge explicitly and militantly committed on an issue," Hebert charged, "Douglas is on the Vietnam war and just about everything relating to it. In speeches, lectures, written articles and legal pronouncements he has repeatedly demonstrated his personal vendetta and hostility, and sought every opportunity to take legal action to cripple the ability of the military to continue operations in Vietnam."

To leave no doubt in Griswold's mind as to the extent and nature of this "notorious record," Hebert cites a number of specific instances. "The records of the Supreme Court will show," he declared, "that in the past several years Justice Douglas has issued a number of stays in cases involving the Vietnam war after they had been refused by other members of the Court — among them former Chief Justice Warren and Associate Justices Black, Brennan, Harlan and White. In each of these instances, the Court subsequently vacated Douglas's stays, but not until incalculable and irreparable mischief had been done."

Despite these repeated rebuking rebuffs by his colleagues, Douglas is still continuing his meddling and obstructionism.

We're 'Dying' To Get Out

By PAUL HARVEY

Are we getting out of Vietnam or aren't we? We are.
State Secretary William Rogers says we are continuing our troop withdrawal despite the enemy's continuing attacks because, as he says it, "we are prepared to take sensible risks for peace."

The fact is that we are dying to get out of Vietnam.
Why, despite America's continuing withdrawal of troops from Vietnam, do the Communists persist in their punishment of our forces?
The enemy knows now that we will get out regardless.

In Paris, Red negotiators are stalling, determined not just to defeat us—but to humiliate us.
North Vietnam is confident that with this combination of guerrilla tactics on the war fronts and delay on the peace front they can achieve their objectives with no concessions to us: no coalition, no elections, no anything.

Recently, for the first time, Hanoi became convinced that we mean to disengage ourselves from this war regardless.
They figure it will take a year, maybe 18 months, before the fighting ends. But stalling costs lives and Asia has more than enough of those.

The enemy is using this time to set up so-called "liberation committees" inside South Vietnam.
As or when the Americans leave, if a major uprising inside South Vietnam is necessary to topple the present Saigon government, these committees will be ready to initiate that uprising.

Thus the next government of South Vietnam will appear to be the choice of the South Vietnamese.

Russia and Red China are presently preoccupied with their own border problems, leaving Hanoi a free hand.
If massive assistance is now less available from those sources, it is now less necessary.

North Vietnam's Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap has advised his government to abandon the strategy of all-out military campaigns. It is unnecessarily costly to maintain and sustain a major assault.

Instead, the old-time tactics of guerrilla operations will keep the pressure on, adding to the sometimes agony of combat the more devastating sustained anguish of uncertainty.
The inevitable future is not a rosy one seen through Red eyes.

Theirs is not one world, either. East and East are now just about as ideologically divided as are East and West. Theirs, like ours, is a continuing problem of internal fence-mending.

By continuing to hit and hurt the South Vietnamese, the Reds figure they can convince the South Vietnamese that they now have no alternative but to join hands with invincible, victorious Hanoi-brand Communists. And they may.
What I am saying is that we will not win this war. But then, nobody ever did win one.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS FOR TRUTH-SIDE

Opportunity is knocking for the Truth-side. We who are non-Communists need to answer the door. The turn to the Right, which has been noted so strongly among the good working people in recent elections, represents a golden opportunity for the Truth-side.

Freedom is a joyous idea and working for it can be sheer delight. Each of us can do with a glad heart whatever we can do best for Freedom and our Republic each day. New plans and activities are needed for the Truth-side to encourage Freedom's growth.

Seldom do those who love Freedom have such a golden opportunity to safeguard Republic USA by becoming more active in behalf of Truth and Freedom.

We who oppose communism are not outnumbered. Non-Communists outnumber the hardcore communists 17,000 to 1 and Truth, logic and history all are on the Freedom side. We can create plans and actions to help liberate us from our present dilemma.

Each positive stroke for the Truth-side suggests other and new avenues for the preservation of Freedom and our Republic USA. Creative activity far surpasses destructive activity in satisfying idealism. There is tremendous power in a positive attitude. Persuasiveness is weakened when based on negative arguments and a downcast frame of mind.

Our Republic, which was designed by the Founding Fathers, us, whatever minority we may belong to, will not be lost if we work, keep on trying and safeguard it for the next five years. A spirit of "crusade" may be required, but it can be made without panic. All can join in such a joyful crusade.
