British Prime Minister Macmillan Quits

Queen Asks Lord Home To Set Up Government

By HARRY STATHOS
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan resigned today and Queen Elizabeth promptly asked Foreign Secretary Lord Home to replace him and form a new government.

The series of moves came swiftly after eight days of consultations that appeared to rack the ruling Conservative party. In choosing Home as the next prime minister, the queen obviously followed Macmillan's advice from the sickbed where he is recovering from a prostate gland operation.

The decision eliminated the present deputy prime minister, R.A. (Rab) Butler, who had been a leading candidate for the job many times, but never had been able to muster enough party support to win it. Macmillan beat him out for the prime minister's role last time, and Home was chosen over him this time—presumably because a contest between Butler and Science Minister Lord Hailsham could not be reconciled and Home was an acceptable compromise candidate.

There was wide belief that Home's choice as a compromise candidate was made in hopes of averting a dangerous Conservative party split — especially now, when the new prime minister must lead the party into general elections before next October in the face of a united Labor party which is favored in current polls to win a majority of seats in the next parliament.

Opponents of Lord Home fought apparently to the last moments to sidetrack his selection.

Although he has had a successful record as foreign secretary for three years, Home is virtually a political amateur. His opponents charged he did not have the experience for the rough and tumble of parliamentary debate nor the toughness required of a party leader.

Widely rumored as possible new foreign minister was Edward Heath, 46-year-old lord privy seal and best known abroad as Britain's chief negotiator in the nation's unsuccessful effort to enter the European Common Market.

Home is an earl and thus a member of the House of Lords, not Commons. To become an effective premier, he must resign his seat in the Lords and run for Commons.

Although the queen is not bound to follow any recommendations for a successor to Macmillan, no monarch since Queen Victoria has turned down a majority party recommendation.

The slender young jet jockeys, all less than 34 years old, are the cream of 271 applicants who answered the space agency's call three months ago for more astronauts to beef up its pilot team for stepped-up manned flights into space starting in 1965.

Informed sources said the new astronauts probably will be assigned almost exclusively to Project Apollo—the program (See SPACE TEAM, Page 3)

They will compete with 16 veterans—the original seven Mercury astronauts and nine others added 13 months ago to the more advanced Project Gemini—for berths aboard U.S. space-ships headed for lunar landings in the next five to seven years.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), which is running the $40 billion U.S. program to conquer the moon, planned to introduce the new space pilots late today in the University of Houston's Cullen Auditorium.

Notified of Selection The 14 were notified only last Saturday that a top-level team including NASA Administrator James E. Webb and deputies Hugh Dryden and Robert Seamans had approved their selection.

Korth Stock Deal Under Senate Quiz

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators have been looking into the role of recently resigned Navy Secretary Fred Korth in a now-settled stock manipulation suit in which Korth was a defendant, informed sources said today.

Settlement in the case was approved by Federal Judge Sarah T. Hughes last May, with Korth and his associates denying any fraud or illegality. No action was taken by federal authorities or state authorities in Texas where the suit was filed.

The Senate group interested in the case is the investigations subcommittee which has been inquiring into award of the controversial TFX fighter plane contract to General Dynamics in Fort Worth, Korth's hometown.

Dispute Gets Blame Korth's resignation was announced Monday. It generally was attributed to his dispute with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara over whether another nuclear-powered aircraft carrier should be built.

There were reports, however, that the resignation was linked to the TFX inquiry. Conflict of interest questions have been raised involving Korth, director of a Fort Worth bank which has loaned money to General Dynamics, in the TFX investigation.

Subcommittee spokesmen have declined official comment on the matter following Korth's resignation. But inquiries here and in Dallas made it clear that subcommittee investigators became interested in the case shortly before Korth tendered his resignation.

Bought Stock Cheap In the suit, Korth and five other directors of the All States Life Insurance Co. were said to have purchased 300,000 shares of stock in the company for 20 cents a share when stock was offered publicly at $6 a share. Korth and his associates put up notes for their indebtedness to the company which was headed by B. F. Biggers.

Under the approved settlement, Korth and the other directors gave up a portion of their stock holdings, as did Biggers. Additional stock was issued to a trust for the stockholders who brought the suit to recover nearly $12 million in profits and $3 million in damages.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. William Proxmire, R-Wis., said today that recent increases in some wholesale prices raise the threat of inflation, a prime obstacle to any major tax cut this year.

Proxmire, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, issued a statement opposing the administration's $11 billion tax reduction measure shortly before the committee began its fourth day of public hearings on the bill.

Budget Director Kermit Gordon and Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon were scheduled to testify for the House-passed bill. For Dillon it was his fourth appearance before the committee, which is not expected to act on the measure this year.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Eighteen F100 U.S. fighter planes will fly to India next month for a joint training exercise aimed at developing modern air defenses for Indian cities.

The Defense Department said Thursday that British, Australian and Indian air force planes also would participate in the two-week operation, called "Exercise Shiksha."

C-C Speaker Outlines Personal Ethics Code

The problem in any city or town is for individuals in the community to decide what they must do in order to be truly responsible citizens.

This was the message brought last night to some 400 persons by Dr. Leslie E. Munneke, professor in the department of management at the University of Houston, as he spoke at the annual Chamber of Commerce membership banquet in Robert E. Lee Junior High cafeteria.

"And in this respect," Dr. Munneke said, "you and I are our own worst enemies."

The speaker said that many individuals refuse to take on the task required in self-responsibility.

"Each of us must adopt a code of personal ethics that puts the burden upon us — not upon others," Munneke added.

"When problems arise we must not take on the attitude that they will solve them," he continued. "Instead of asking 'why don't THEY do something about it?' — ask yourself, 'Why don't I do something about it?'"

Dr. Munneke said the measure of success of an individual is determined by service performed and not by gain.

"Your community and mine is in serious danger if we do not adopt the personal code of ethics that moves us to individual responsibility."

"As an individual you must not be afraid to strike out at those things which you believe to be morally wrong."

"Those who undermine us are those who believe in a unanimity of opinion."

Munneke also discussed the field of labor-management relations and deplored the attempts of labor's bosses to defeat and eliminate right to work laws.

Tito Illness Delays West Coast Trip

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) — President Tito of Yugoslavia was bedridden today with symptoms of influenza and forced to delay his departure for California, the second leg of his U.S. tour.

The 71-year-old Balkan leader, who pledged to President Kennedy Thursday he would work for reduction of cold war tensions, was stricken during the night and his two personal physicians said this morning his temperature had risen to 100.2 degrees, then dropped slightly.

"The president will spend the day at his Williamsburg residence," they said in a medical bulletin.

Angier Biddle Duke, U.S. protocol chief accompanying Tito on his American tour, disclosed the Yugoslav president's illness and said Tito had asked for the delay in his flight to Castle Air Force Base at Merced, Calif.

Biddle indicated some decision might be made later today on resuming the tour.

Tito cancelled his activities here Thursday night upon his return from a meeting with President Kennedy in which he pledged to work for reduction of cold war tensions.

Duke said Tito was running the temperature Thursday while he met with President Kennedy at the White House. Duke said he was called late Thursday night to consider a possible delay in the departure this morning. Tito's personal physician was with him today.

Tito and his wife had been scheduled to depart this morning from nearby Langley Air Force Base for California where he was to tour Yosemite National Park, spend the weekend in San Francisco and then fly to New York to address the United Nations General Assembly.

Tito held two meetings Thursday with President Kennedy at the White House during a six-hour visit to Washington. At a news conference before he returned to Williamsburg, he said he believed both East and West now realize they must "follow the path of negotiation" on cold war issues. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev also shares this opinion, he said.

Mme. Nhu Again Charges 'Snub' by U.S. Officialdom

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu's "real sincere serenity," which has run the gauntlet of egg-throwing demonstrators and picket lines North and South, faded yet another test today in the nation's capital.

South-Viet Nam's traveling First Lady was scheduled to speak before the National Press Club, and Student Peace Union and the Students for a Democratic Society planned to picket her appearance.

Mme. Nhu took time off from blasting the U.S. government Thursday to let newsmen in on her beauty secrets. "If it is true that I do not look my age (38)," she said, "it is just because I am always very serene — a real sincere serenity. I always try to keep my serenity."

Mme. Nhu held a news conference, addressed a Washington Junior Chamber of Commerce lunch, flew to Raleigh, N.C., and spoke at North Carolina State College Thursday to give her views on the Vietnamese situation.

A group of pickets paraded outside the college student union building where she spoke.

He fired a .45 caliber bullet from the cork gun.

The boy was shaken but unharmed. The toy was shattered.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Webb Washington, a 53-year-old Negro handyman, knew the wealthy widow had put him in her will. He couldn't wait for her to die to get the inheritance.

So he took a claw-hammer and killed Mrs. Sonya Gue, 53. Washington said Thursday he rode a bus to the widow's fashionable home Saturday and found her preparing supper. He had the hammer concealed in a paper sack.

Washington said he was hard-pressed for cash and she gave him a $5 bill and asked him to straighten a hallway rug. He told police he flattened her with his fist, dragged her to the bedroom and beat her to death with the hammer.

Washington, who had worked for Mrs. Gue 12 years as a yardman, said he knew he was in her will and police confirmed that she had left part of her $100,000 estate to him.

"For a man who was in her will, we wondered why he made no effort to contact us," said Detective Capt. Will Fritz.

The woman's body was found Monday and police arrested Washington the next day.

Dear Abby.... Girls Listen While A Teacher Speaks

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Will you please publish in your column the correct dress for high school girls? We teachers have tried to set some standards of dress, but so many parents complained that the Board of Education wouldn't uphold us. In our high school, over half the girls come to classes in everything from the shortest shorts to tight stretch pants. I have had girls in my classes for nine months, five days a week, whom I've never seen in skirts. High school boys are not mature enough to control the natural emotions stirred up by the sight of all this nakedness and revealing outlines of feminine figures. It is no wonder more and more high school girls are forced to leave school because of pregnancy. If mothers could see how their daughters behave in unladylike dress, they wouldn't let them out the door.

don't know whether a man is permitted to marry while he is serving time in the County jail. Even though the girl is pregnant, she is under age, and I can't blame her parents for opposing the marriage. Ask to see the chaplain, and let him advise you.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions".

A TEACHER, OSKALOOSA, IOWA
DEAR TEACHER: A few years ago a study of several schools was made, and it was learned that discipline was improved sometimes 100 per cent when dress was improved. It is not up to the school authorities to dictate dress, hair styles, make-up, etc. Parents should make these personal decisions. BUT, in the absence of old-fashioned common sense and good judgment from home, a committee should be set up at school, composed of a few parents, a few teachers, and several students—the latter elected by the student body. And it should recommend standards of reasonable attire—although it would not, obviously, have legal authority to enforce its findings. Any comment?

DEAR ABBY: My problem is in the form of a pet peeve. My husband has been using an expression for the past umpteen years that is driving me crazy. It's "not bad." Nothing is ever "good, fair, wonderful" or "great." It is always "not bad." He is practically perfect in every way, but when I ask him how I look, and he gives me that "not bad" answer, I want to scream. How can I break him of this habit?

GOING CRAZY
DEAR GOING: Let him have his little flaw. You would only feel inferior if you had a perfect husband. Personally, I'd say he's not bad!

FIRE CHECK

Make a practice of conducting a periodic fire inspection of your home. To be sure you do it, set a definite time for your tour. Make a note of the areas that should be cleared of debris or require replacement of dried-out, inflammable materials. Your best insurance against fire, of course, is a material that is itself flame-proof, such as genuine ceramic tile.

Two New Members Welcomed At Twentieth Century Culture Meet

The Twentieth Century Culture Club met Oct. 8 in the home of Mrs. Ross Buzzard, 2429 Christine. Mrs. L. J. Zachary was co-hostess.

Trip

"cordial and friendly" talks expressed hope for further improvement in relations between Yugoslavia and the United States. It specifically mentioned trade, as well as cultural and scientific contacts.

Tito said Kennedy had accepted an invitation to visit Yugoslavia, but that no date had been set for the trip. U. S. sources reported that there was no present plan for such a visit, but said Kennedy expressed "a desire" to make the trip in the future.

with the national goal of landing Americans on the moon by late 1968. Assignments aboard the interim, earth-orbit flights of Project Gemini will go to the 16 previously selected spacemen.

From bases throughout the United States and as far away as Japan, the neophyte space pilots were pouring into Houston Thursday for their formal introduction.

Won't Reveal Names
The federal space agency steadfastly refused to reveal either the names or the number of members on the new team. But informed sources identified three of them, among the earliest arrivals, as:

—Air Force Capt. Charles A. Bassett II, 31, of Berea, Ohio, onetime fighter pilot, a flier of experimental jet aircraft.
—Air Force Capt. Theodore C. Freeman, 33, of Haverford, Pa., and Lewis, Del., who graduated from the University of Michigan with a master of science degree.

Law Firm Hired To Prosecute County Attorney

CANADIAN (Spl) — Nugent and Wingate, an Amarillo law firm, was employed yesterday by the commissioners court to prosecute Hemphill County Attorney Jim Crow, who was arraigned Sept. 3 by County Judge Sanford Cole on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Crow entered a plea of not guilty at the original arraignment and asked for a trial by jury. He was released after posting a $1,000 bond.

The complaint was filed by State Highway Patrolman Charlie Pryor of Perryton who arrested Crow August 30 on U.S. 60, about two miles north of Canadian, following what Pryor said was a high speed chase of several miles.

Crow was arrested and jailed for about two hours after the arrest. He was released on a doctor's advice, in custody of his father, Will Crow.

According to sources, several area law firms were contacted in an effort to find someone to prosecute the defendant, since, as county attorney, Crow could not prosecute himself.

Judge Cole is expected to meet with a representative of the Amarillo firm Tuesday to review the case.

Crow will be defended by his father, Will Crow, who is associated with Crow and Crow of Canadian.

The charge brought up several legal technicalities, which resulted in contacting the state attorney general for a ruling.

Crow is presently acting in his capacity as county attorney.

Drought Is Spreading New Ailment to Texas Cattle

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—The drought is rapidly spreading among Texas livestock an ailment that cattlemen bitterly call "Hollow Belly," an Agricultural Extension Service specialist said today.

Hollow Belly means that for lack of food an animal gets gaunt. It affects sheep as well as cattle and unless the animal starts eating regularly, it dies.

"Cattle and sheep are wandering around on powder-dry pastures that are not even supporting a good weed crop," according to U. D. Thompson, an animal husbandman with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Ranges in the driest areas of the state are beginning to look like they did in the seven-year drought of the 1950s."

Thompson said stockmen are particularly worried this year because of the dry spell's lateness. Fall rains usually produce grass that cattle can winter on. But there is not time enough before frost now for grass to grow.

Give Them Feed
Thompson said that if cattle are on dry pastures it is a good idea to get them into pens and feed them, even though feed supplies are scarce and high-priced.

"Generally, it is more economical to feed high energy feeds, which are higher in cost than low energy, lower cost feeds," he said.

Only the strongest and most valuable stock should be kept under severe drought conditions, Thompson said. Calves and lambs should be weaned as early as possible.

Late calves should be sold so their mothers will not have to nurse them during the rough winter coming up. It is easier to winter dry stock than wet stock.

Thompson also advises selling heifers expecting calves along with older animals. Steers can be wintered even easier than dry cows.

Other Recommendations
Thompson also recommends:—Giving stock easy access to water. Bog holes are good places for weak animals to get stuck and die.

—Try feeding a phosphorous supplement, such as bonemeal, with salt.

—Feed stock in fair condition only enough to maintain weight. Feed flesh stock on a level at which they can lose weight with out affecting production.

—Feed thin animals during pregnancy enough to offset birth weight losses. This amounts to a gain above thin condition of about 150 pounds for cows and 18 pounds for ewes.

—Save the best feed for use just before and after birth of calves and lambs. Weak stock and young bred stock need the best quality feed and should be fed separately from older, stronger animals.

Charges Cotton Subsidy Enriches Large Producers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Georgia congressman told the House today 13 farmers in 1964 received cotton "subsidies" totaling $6.4 million.

In the same year and under the same program, continued Rep. Charles Weltner, D., more than 650,000 farmers shared $40.7 million.

The totals—average approximately $649,000 for each of the 13 large cotton producers and $63 for each of the small growers, he said.

Weltner said the figures indicate that the cotton program is benefiting the big cotton farmer at the expense of the textile industry and the taxpayer, who he said, pays $608 million annually into the cotton price support system.

House Speech
In a speech prepared for House delivery, Weltner asked:

"Is $5 per month out of a subsidy of $608 million enough? Does the small farmer profit from these subsidies? 'Is our complex and expensive program helping him, who needs it most?' Or has it served only to enrich large producers who need it least?"

The Atlanta Democrat said the pending cotton bill may be the best possible solution to the "cotton problem" within the framework of the present support program. But he noted that it would cost the taxpayer an additional $250 million a year.

Weltner listed some of the leading recipients of cotton "subsidies."

Names Big Ones
They included the J. G. Boswell interests in Arizona and California with $2.2 million received in subsidies in 1961. It was followed by the Kern County Land Co., of California, with $2 million and the Griffin interests in Fresno, Calif., with $1.8 million.

Weltner figured the "subsidies" at the rate of 8½ cents a pound for cotton grown in the United States. This is the difference between the current U.S. market price of 32½ cents a pound and the world market price of 24 cents a pound.

The government does not actually pay the farmer a cash subsidy. What it does is to guarantee that price supports, that the farmer will be able to sell his cotton at a higher U.S. figure. If he cannot, the government will buy the cotton from him at that price.

JFK Rights Bill Called Too Broad By Eisenhower

HARRISBURG (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said yesterday the Kennedy administration's civil rights bill was too broad and this tends to unify the opposition to it.

Eisenhower said the individual items in the administration measure should be dealt with in separate legislation.

The former chief executive held a news conference here following a 50-minute meeting with Gov. William W. Scranton. "I am concerned that they are trying to put into one bill all of the corrective measures they can think of," Eisenhower said. "I think these things ought to be taken in priority in separate legislation."

However, Eisenhower said he did not believe the Kennedy administration was "pushing too hard" on civil rights legislation.

Eisenhower met with Scranton to discuss the Pennsylvania drive for new industries. The former President recently was named honorary chairman of the Governor's Committee of 100,000 Pennsylvanians for Economic Growth.

Eisenhower said there were "three or four" Republicans he favored for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination and said he would support any Republican who fulfilled these qualifications:

—A belief in strengthening free world alliances.

—Adherence to sound fiscal policies to "conduct government in a businesslike manner."

—The belief that more power should be delegated to state and local governments.

Psychiatrists Say Texas Needs More Mental Facilities

DALLAS (UPI)—Two psychiatrists told the annual conference of the Texas Association for Mental Health yesterday that Texas and other states need more local facilities for the treatment of mental illnesses.

The Texas association opened its 1963 conference yesterday. It will last through tonight. The psychiatrists are Dr. Paul I. Lemkau of the Johns Hopkins University and Dr. A. R. Foley of Columbia University.

Dr. Foley said treating mental patients on a local level, where they can keep up associations with family and friends and perhaps even continue with their jobs greatly improves their chances of recovery.

Liberal Tax Exemptions Taken Advantage Of

By ROBERT M. ANDREWS
United Press International

"In California a man can grow a beard, get a private religion, build a chapel and operate a business with a 52 per cent advantage."

So complains an unnamed churchman about the liberal tax exemptions that American churches traditionally have enjoyed, especially in business enterprises that have little or nothing to do with religion.

His troubled view is expressed in a thorough study of the controversial issue, just published by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The author is Andrew D. Tanner, a Nashville, Tenn., lawyer and authority on tax exemption litigation.

Tanner cites others — leading clergymen and laymen alike — who express uneasiness over the church's special position in the tax laws.

According to Tanner's report, the most widespread source of criticism is the way churches have entered competitive, profit-making businesses without having to pay the 52 per cent corporation tax on gross income.

Laundries To Hotels

Tanner cites these as "some typical operations":

One New Hampshire church operates a laundry. A major denomination's printing house, while grinding out tracts and Sunday School lessons, also prints supermarket trading stamps for profit. Other churches, or their organizations, own hotels, big city office buildings, radio and television stations, sports stadiums, department stores and industrial plants. One religious order, because of its taxfree status, owned a television station that sells advertising time 10 per cent cheaper than its chief competitor.

Since 1950, all income of a church or association of churches has been tax exempt, whether its source is "related" to religion or not, although most of it supports missionary and welfare work. Other charitable and educational organizations must pay taxes on "substantially unrelated trade or business activity."

Church And State

Arguments for and against removing or modifying tax exemptions go to the heart of the thorny issue of the separation of church and state.

Those in favor say a tax exemption is a subsidy as real as if the government made a cash gift equal to forgiven taxes. Those against argue that churches should not be taxed because "the power to tax is the power to control."

Tanner himself sides with the view that "tax exemption is necessary to maintain a free church in a free state" and that "any change should be slow and gradual."

As a start, he suggested that churches might volunteer to pay a reasonable amount for municipal services such as police and fire protection.

And, "in view of the attitude of most church leaders," churches should be required to start paying taxes now on business enterprises unrelated to religious activities, Tanner said. The same, he added, should apply to church property not used exclusively for religious purposes, such as meeting halls rented to outside groups.

Central Baptist Church Places Emphasis On Youth Training

Someone is always saying "The Youth of today are the hope of tomorrow." This statement is true as far as the church and the cause of Christ is always just one generation from going pagan.

This is the reason Central Baptist Church puts as much stress as it does on our youth organizations. Besides the regular Bible Study on Sunday morning and the activities on Sunday night, there is a tremendous program of mission study and activity on Wednesday evening.

These activities are for our youth from the ages of 4 through 18. Each Wednesday some 130 to 150 boys and girls are engaged in these activities. They have Sunbeams for boys and girls ages 4-8. This organization is directed by Mrs. George Wing, The Girls Auxiliary, for girls ages 9-12 meet on Wednesday evening also. The auxiliary for girls ages 13-15 meets on Monday afternoon. Mrs. John Adams is the director of this auxiliary. Royal Ambassadors for boys ages 9-14 is led by James Selles. Mrs. James Sellers is the director of Y.W.A.'s for girls 16 and up.

After game fellowships for all the youth is held following each home game of the Harvesters football team. There will be one tonight in the Central Baptist Church Fellowship Hall.

The pastor, T. O. Uphaw, returns to the pulpit Sunday and will preach on the following subjects: At the 8:45 a.m. and 11 a.m. morning worship serv-

Air Shipment of Drugs, Blankets, Food Sent To Haitian Survivors

NEW YORK, N. Y. (Sp) — Air shipment of drugs, blankets and food supplements for Haitian survivors of Hurricane Flora was launched today by Church World Service, overseas relief agency of U. S. Protestant denominations.

Included in the disaster supplies flown out of Miami were 1 million water purification tablets, 100,000 typhoid shots, 20 cartons of penicillin tablets, 5,100 tubes of sulfa and first aid creams, 1,000 blankets and 1,297 cases of survival biscuits.

Church World Service also announced 1,205,643 pounds of food was en route to Haiti by ocean freight. Most of these foodstuffs are scheduled to arrive before the anticipated peak need for food is reached in two weeks' time.

In addition to these commodities, shipped as the CWS normal program in Haiti, 250,000 additional pounds of food is being diverted to Haiti from other Church World Service programs.

John Barwick, CWS representative in Haiti, informed the agency that stocks on hand when the disaster struck had been turned over for relief distribution. Included were 900 cases of powdered milk, 180 bags of flour and 176 cases of cheese and butter.

An estimated 100,000 Haitians in the southern peninsula have been left homeless by the hurricane, which struck Oct. 3 with a death toll variously estimated from 2,500 to 3,500.

A primitive communications system and destruction and flooding of roads in the hurricane area has made assessment of damage difficult.

Win Tonight for Larry Gregory!

Harvesters Vow To Score for Him

The Pampa Harvesters are going into tonight's football game with a special desire... to win it for teammate Larry Gregory.

Gregory, due to illness, was forced to close out his football career this week after only three games. In return, his backfield mates have each promised to score a touchdown for him or "break a leg trying." His mates in the line have vowed to open large gaping holes in the Monterey defense to allow them to do just that.

So... the Pampa Harvesters have a threefold mission tonight at 7:30 in Harvester Stadium... to win their second straight game... to bring their district 3-AAAA record up... and to win one for Larry Gregory.

Coach Otis Holladay reports the Harvesters physically fit for the encounter, although three players, in addition to Gregory, have been lost to the team. Jesse Washington, Derrell Cash and Curtis Eastman have been dropped from the squad for failure to make practice, explained Holladay. Washington was the only one who had seen game action, as an offensive end and as deep man on punt returns.

Two defensive players have been moved up to starting berths following the grading of films. Carl Johnson has replaced James Williamson at defensive tackle and Hank Henry will take over Jim Arthur's right linebacker spot.

The loss of Gregory may change the Harvesters' plans to "two-platoon" the backfield. Against Caprock last week, with Kenny Hebert the man-under, the Harvesters used fullbacks Rick Stewart and Bandit Madrid and fullback Gregory in the first half, and then were just as successful with a fresh unit composed of Red Griffith at full and Jerry Garrison and Oler at the halves. San Williams has moved up to the number two spot behind Griffith, but whether the 155-pounder, who is a full-time defensive player, will be able to go both ways full time cannot be decided until the game itself. In any case, Holladay has indicated a definite desire to two-platoon the halfbacks.

McLean Coach Worried About Player Attitude

McLEAN (Spl) —The McLean Bulldogs, still slightly shell-shocked from the battering barrage of the Wheeler Mustangs, host the Clarendon Bronchos tonight in a district 2-A opener.

Coach Derral Davis admits that the Tigers have reacted strangely to the 32-7 defeat at the hands of the Wheeler team, the worst defeat ever inflicted on a Davis-coached squad.

"They don't talk much," reported Davis. "I don't know whether they're stunned, whether their pride is hurt, or whether they will get back up there, but I think they will."

"It wasn't any disgrace to lose to a team that good," continued the tall Tiger coach, "and Wheeler is great. We made some mistakes, we should have kept the score a little closer, but I don't think we could have won that game anyway."

"They simply had too much speed for us. The minute they got in that secondary, our backs couldn't catch them... Porter, Snelgroves, Hunter, the Vanpools... they're one of the fastest crews I ever saw. And that was a fine line they had too... it was opening holes real well on offense."

"We were real poor on our blocking, especially pass blocking, and our pass receiving too. Johnny Fuller really took a beating out there... Rogers and Sims and Overcast were crashing through on him before he could get the ball off. When he did, well, we dropped five good passes by my notes. We worked hard on blocking all week and we may have it cured."

"We should be favored over Clarendon, we have a better club physically, but mentally we have to get back up there. We lost Harlan Pool with a torn shoulder ligament, but everyone else will play, although some of them, like Dickie Crockett, are still slowed by pulled muscles or charlie horses.

Clarendon, with the lightest line in the district and only one line starter returning, has won only one game, squeezing out a 7-6 win over Groome. The Bronchos have lost to Panhandle, Glaude, Shamrock and Gruver.

Clarendon coach Jack James is high on his workhorse fullback, 170-pound Ted Graham. Graham does the bulk of the leather-lugging for the Bronchos and is expected to give Crockett a battle for rushing honors tonight.

"I hope we can get back on the winning road again," said Davis. "We're working on it."

Canadian Underdog To Mighty Pirates

CANADIAN (Spl) —Oh, me... sighed Canadian coach Dwain Currie when asked what his chances were in their district opener tonight against invading Lefors.

"I'm afraid it won't even be a game. I can't see how we can get on the field with them," moaned the normally cheerful-looking Cat coach in a manner reminiscent of tonight's foe, Doleful Dummie Goode.

"All kidding aside, now, they outweigh us 22 pounds a man in the line and 15 pounds in the backfield, what do you think?" asked Currie.

Informed that both Gruver and Sunray had had big weight advantages and the Cats had played them to a standstill, Currie admitted "Our little ol' kids are trying real good. They've come a long way since the season started. I don't think we've come far enough to beat Lefors, but we'll make a game of it. I'd have to pick them out their three touchdowns... their size and depth will wear us down... but they'll know they've been in a ball game."

"The kids played real hard against Sunray last week. It hurts losing those 8-6 games, but they keep coming back again or more. We just about gave them that one with that fumble on our own 15 that set up their touchdown, but, of course, they gave us one on an intercepted pass, so I guess that just about squares us off. We got a lot of unnecessary penalties that hurt... I guess we were just too eager."

"Our entire defense deserves credit for that game... it's been the defense that has kept us in every ball game. As far as us getting to Lefors with our passing attack, well, it's strictly hot-and-cold. One day Benny Eckles can't miss, but none of his receivers can catch the ball; the next game, we're overthrowing. Besides, Lefors has a great pass defense. They play four deep, and it's hard trying to pass over that."

"In any case, we'll be here to greet 'em."

GAME CANCELED

Tomorrow morning's scheduled C team game between the Pampa Thrashers and Borger has been canceled. Athletic director Weldon Trice reported today that Borger had called off the game due to lack of players. The game will not be rescheduled.

Pro Football Roundup

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The champion Green Bay Packers, just about everybody's pre-season picks to succeed, and the upstart St. Louis Cardinals, who were favored by practically nobody, reach a crisis state in their National Football League goals Sunday.

The NFL schedule-maker who arranged this inter-conference matchup last spring undoubtedly never realized just how important it would turn out.

Both the Packers and the Cardinals have a 4-1 record that puts them runnerup in each division behind the unbeaten Chicago Bears and Cleveland Browns.

Since the Bears and Browns figure to extend their records to 6-0 Sunday, a defeat by the Packers or Cards would leave either in a tough contending position two games behind the lead.

Packers Solid Favorites
The Packers are 9-point favorites for their first regular season visit to St. Louis. Oddly, in the five inter-conference games that have been played so far in the NFL, Eastern Division clubs have won every one.

The Bears, Browns, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Steelers all were made one-sided favorites to win Sunday. The Bears were a whopping 17 points over the Forty Niners at San Francisco; the Browns 11 at home over the Philadelphia Eagles; the Giants 10 at home over the Dallas Cowboys, and the Steelers 10 at home over the Washington Redskins.

In Sunday's two other games, the Detroit Lions were 1-point favorites at home against the Baltimore Colts, and the Minnesota Vikings were picked by 6 points over the Rams at Los Angeles.

Aside from a few not-too-serious bruises, the Packers and Cards are in good shape for Sunday's game which was expected to draw about 25,000 fans to Busch Stadium.

Taylor To Return
The Packers had a scare last Sunday when they scored a 37-28 win over Minnesota, but Coach Vince Lombardi undoubtedly will have his men "higher" for the game against the Cards. Fullback Jim Taylor, held out for a good portion of the Vikings game because of a groin injury, was expected to play full-time Sunday.

The Cards' offense, directed by young Charley Johnson, has generated more yardage (2,056) than any team in the league. Most of it (1,214) has come from Johnson's passes to Bobby Joe Conrad and Sonny (See PRO FOOTBALL, Page 9)

Rebels Blank Dumas, 14-0

DUMAS (Spl) — Gary McCarrell scored two quick touchdowns and the Lee Rebels shut the Dumas Gremlins out all the way for a 14-0 9th grade victory here yesterday.

From his own 16-yard line in the first quarter, McCarrell burst upfield on a power play, and Rick "Schnoz" Foster cleared the field with a sweeping block at midfield, McCarrell giving the rest of the way untouched. Steve Oler ran the conversion.

McCarrell again went on a long run from the line of scrimmage in the second quarter, going 65 yards behind good blocking.

Monk McDonald went on a 45-yard jaunt in the same period, but failed to score.

The second half was a defensive battle, dominated by Lee. The Gremlins had one second-half TD called back, but could garner only 78 yards to the Rebel 274. David Smith, Johnny Kuhn, and McDonald led an outstanding team defense.

LONG PUNT
BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Dick Crayne, an Iowa fullback, kicked a 102-yard punt in a 1934 game against Indiana. He had a 35 mile-per-hour wind at his back at the time.

Houston 9th Tops Pampa

BORGER (Spl) — Houston 9th grade held off the rifle arm of Larry Stevens long enough to pull out a 36-22 win over the Pampa Reapers here yesterday.

Borger broke open a first-quarter tie with a 30-8 halftime lead, but Stevens, who accounted for every Reaper point, hit favorite target David Martindale for three long TD aerials to keep the Reapers in the game.

Houston scored in the opening quarter and Stevens-to-Martindale matched it with a 50-yard tally, the tying conversion coming on a pass to Bob Karr. Houston came back with three touchdowns in the second quarter after Pampa had driven to the Borger one only to be stopped by a penalty.

The third quarter saw a 30-yard touchdown pass play, and then the Reapers were stopped again, by a pass interception on the Houston 15.

In the closing minutes of the game, Stevens let go with the long bomb to Martindale for a 60-yard TD, and then ran the conversion.

Bulldogs Off To New Start After Triumph

The longest Texas high school losing streak came to an end last week when the Plainview Bulldogs nipped the Littlefield Wildcats in an inter-sectional meeting.

Plainview won the match, 20-18, unexpectedly ending the losing skein of 24 games, dating back to Nov. 1960. At that time, the Bulldogs edged Pampa.

Plainview had the only non-conference game on the District 2-AAAA slate, with other members involved in deciding the district championship.

The leaders came through with victories as Lubbock blanked Palo Duro, 29-0; Borger clipped Amarillo, 13-2; and Tascosa stopped Monterey, 19-0, in a Thursday night game.

In this week's action Plainview will try to pick up steam against Palo Duro; Lubbock takes on Borger in an important league match; Monterey plays Pampa; Caprock meets Amarillo; and Tascosa is open.

District 2-AAAA teams turned in two upsets during final non-conference games, and last week carried the fade into district warfare with the only two undefeated members taking it on the nose in the opening round of fights for the district crown. Top-rated Midland was spoiled by Abilene, 14-8, and hopes of an undefeated season went down the drain for Big Spring in a 12-6 loss to Odessa.

Lee stepped into the district race with a win over Cooper, 42-13, and San Angelo bounced Permian 29-6 in the full slate of district clashes.

In games this week, a showdown battle will take place between Midland and San Angelo, with Midland fighting to stay alive in the district race. Big Spring will also be seeking to rebound against Lee; Abilene tackles Permian and Odessa travels to Abilene to tangle with Cooper.

Dumas Eighth Takes 8-0 Win

The Dumas 8th grade scored in the first quarter and then held off Lee threats throughout the game to pull out an 8-0 win yesterday.

Led by the running of Dickie Henley, who averaged better than six yards a carry in 14 trips, the Little Rebels rolled to the Dumas nine-yard line in the second quarter where Dumas held, and to the 15 in the third quarter where the visitors intercepted a pass.

Rod Hale, Jimmy Cornutt and Kevin Francis were blocking standouts and Cornutt, David Schaube and Joe Fritz topped the defense.

Shockers Shock Plainview 36-8

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

Little Butch Crossland led the scoring parade yesterday as the Pampa Shockers rode roughshod over the Plainview Red Dogs, 36-8.

With Crossland going on successive scoring runs of 10, 31, 20 and two yards, backed by the all-round play of Joey Roden and a savage defense that allowed the Dogs a smell of the goal line only in the final frame, taking the ball away on downs, fumble recoveries and pass interceptions again and again, the Shockers remained undefeated in district B team play, with their 3-0-1 record second only to Caprock's 4-0.

The Shockers scored the first two times they got their hands on the ball. The opening score was set up by a 45-yard scat by Little Butch as he shook off two tacklers to the Plainview 20. Roden, Lolan Ellis and quarterback Larry Daniels worked for a first down and Crossland ran right from 10 yards out behind Teddy Bird and Frank Parrish. Lolan slammed up the middle for the conversion with 2:50 gone in the game.

A long kickoff by Daniels and a defense led by Jerry Wright, Larry Eckroat and Dynamite Dison forced the Red Dogs to punt out to their 45, with Crossland bringing it back to the 30. Little Butch went left to the 20, Roden to the 14, and then set back to the 31 on a penalty. Crossland broke into the clear on scat left. Hit at the 20, Little Butch staggered and stumbled, but somehow kept his feet all the way to the goal line. Roden went over for the two-pointer behind the Bird with 5:32 left.

Twice Plainview threatened, but Roden intercepted a pass to kill one threat and Lolan recovered a fumble for the other. Twice Pampa threatened, but Plainview recovered a fumble in turn and the Dogs held on downs on their four.

A short kick as the quarter ended, and Crossland opened the second frame by slithering down the left side for a 20-yard TD. Lolan ran the conversion for a 24-0 lead with 10:34 left in the half.

Pampa punted, Duck Ellis slammed into the receiver and Dison gathered in the fumble on the Plainview 12. Shocker skipper Don Myers sent in the second team and they hemmed and hawed for a minute before adding to the total. Larry Cotten went for the score, but it was called back and penalized to the 25. Three plays later, Charlie Walker fled left behind Jimmy Williams down to the one-yard line. Chuck Cauthorn carried the mail and it was 30-0 with 8:55 left.

Plainview went on the attack and "Big Daddy" Cary recovered a fumble on his 35. Plainview drove again and Jon Windsor led the defense that took the ball away on downs.

With six seconds left on the clock, Roden broke loose from his own 10 and went over 30 yards before Plainview hauled him down just short of the goal line.

The Shockers opened the second half in a repeat performance. Taking the ball on the 50, Lolan, Crossland, Cotten, Roden and a pass interference call took the pig to the 10. Daniels followed Crossland to the five, Roden went to the two, and Little Butch took it across for the only score of the period.

Plainview threatened a number of times during the second half, but were stopped by pass interceptions by Crossland and the Bird, good play by Billy Stokes, Roden, the Ellis twins, "JayBee" McLean and Dison; and another recovered fumble by the Bird, who flapped his wings and was everywhere.

Plainview finally avetted a shutout with 3:34 left in the game when Lane Wommack gathered in a pass and went 45 yards to Pampa paydirt, with Lloyd Watts running the conversion.

In the final minute of play, the stubborn Red Dogs drove to a first down on the Shocker 21, but Roden, Dan Patterson, Stokes and Parrish rose up to take the ball away on the 12.

Optimist Boxers Kick Off Amateur Fight Program

A 12-fight card opened the amateur boxing season last night before a near-capacity crowd at the Optimist Boys Club, with the Pampa Optimists winning two of six high school class bouts and four of six peewee bouts, the Liberal Athletic Club copying two of four high school clashes and the Skellytown Optimists taking their only high school class bout and a pair of peewee scraps.

Highlight of the evening was a bout between 140-pound champ Johnny Ironmonger of Pampa and Henry Cordova of Liberal. Billed as a no-decision bout, it was packed full of action. Cordova, unlike most of Ironmonger's opponents, came to fight, and fight he did, carrying the battle to the Iron Man most of the way as both scored well. There were no knockdowns, although Ironmonger slipped to one knee in the second round.

Darwin Jones of Liberal won a bloody Pier Six brawl over Jesse Velasquez of Pampa in a 130-pound fight. Velasquez abandoned his boxing style to mix it up with the shorter slugger and the two of them engaged in a slugging, wrestling, fighting tangle in the first round, with Jesse picking up a bloody nose.

The second round was the same, with Jones also starting to bleed heavily. Velasquez came out for the third round and started to use his reach to advantage, but the Liberal slugger had piled up the winning margin in the earlier rounds.

Pete Pettit of Pampa won a well-fought 120-pounder over Raymond Velasquez of Liberal. Both boxers landed well throughout the fight. Pettit with combinations and Velasquez with a rapier-like left, but Pete hit harder and more often in a strong second round and out-boxed Velasquez in the third canto to cop the duke.

Ken Davis of Skellytown led all the way in taking a 115-pound fight over Weldon Hobbs of Pampa. The left-handed Davis scored constantly with his left lead, keeping Hobbs off balance, staggered him in the second round, and then completely dominated the third round, with Hobbs refusing to go down.

Dean LaRue of Pampa and Bud Woods of Liberal tangled in a 100-pounder that was a slugfest from the opening bell. Both scored repeatedly with body punches, but Woods gave Dean a bloody lip in the second round and connected with several good blows in the third to take the win.

Benny Bennett won an opening scrap at 100 pounds with Mike Montana of Liberal. Most of the action was in the second round, with Montana staggering Bennett with a hard right to open the frame, but Benny coming back with several telling flurries to take the decision.

Peewee bout results:
John Vick of Pampa over Danny Ledford.
Rommie Watson, Pampa over Mike Ledford.
Andy Grim, Pampa over Larry Mercer.
Danny Van Meter, Skellytown over Melvin Vick.
Lonnie Lane, Skellytown over Bobby Fewell.
Gary Howell, Pampa over Jerry Ledford.

Celts Win Second Straight

By United Press International
It's two-for-two today for the Boston Celtics — a team so great it can lose Bob Cousy and go on winning like they never heard of the bloke.

Twenty-four hours after blitzing the Baltimore Bullets, the Celtics scored their second straight victory of the National Basketball Association season Thursday night, 93-92, over the Cincinnati Royals at Cincinnati. The loss was Cincinnati's first in a home opener since 1957.

Bill Russell connected with a free throw with seven seconds remaining to give the Celtics a 93-90 lead and they let Oscar Robertson drive in unmoistened for a two-pointer as time ran out. The Celtics went "cold" in the fourth period, hitting only 2 of 26 field goal attempts, and were outscored, 27-11, in the final quarter.

Sam Jones scored 24 points and John Havlicek had 21 for the Celtics while Robertson led the Royals with 20. Former Ohio State All American Jerry Lucas had 13 points and 20 rebounds for the Royals.

The Bullets rebounded from their Wednesday night loss to the Celtics by beating the New York Knickerbockers, 115-113, at New York. Si Green hit two free throws to give the Bullets a one-point lead with less than a minute to play and then stole the ball to clinch the victory.

Terry Dischinger led the Bullets with 25 points and Johnny Green had 23 for the Knicks. New York Coach Eddie Donovan was ejected from the game with nine minutes remaining for what referee Earl Strom said was "constant bickering, shouting and second-guessing."

Player Keeps Vow, Dies

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bobby Creel, a 17-year-old football player who kept a vow never to be carried off the field, died today of injuries received in a game last week.

The linebacker for Mid-City Baptist High School suffered a brain injury in a game against Buras last Friday. He refused help, got off the field on his own feet and then collapsed.

The boy underwent two operations at Ochsner Foundation Hospital this week but remained in critical condition throughout.

He died at 3:30 a.m. today.

ATTRACTS FASTEST PACER
WESTBURY, N.Y. (UPI) — Roosevelt Raceway's $150,000 Messenger Stakes has attracted the world's fastest pacer for its eighth running, Nov. 2. Overtrick, who established the mile standard of 1:57 1-5 for half-mile tracks, was entered in the pace for three-year-olds Thursday.

Pampa Eighth In 6-6 Tie

The Pampa 8th grade dominated the game throughout, but had two touchdowns called back and finished in a 6-6 tie with Houston of Borger 8th grade yesterday.

Houston scored first, but Al Gomez came right back to tie the game up in the first quarter on a 15-yard scamper.

In the second quarter, John Carlos went 40 yards on a beautiful fake, but a quick whistle killed the score. In the third quarter, Danny Stokes went 35 yards, but the touchdown was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Don Whitney and Barney Beesley headed the Pampa defense.

Grand Jury To Hear Weigh-In Inspectors

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Weigh-in inspectors Leon Yarneth and Phil Jachelski were scheduled to appear today before the grand jury investigating the ring death of boxer Ernie Knox.

Yarneth and Jachelski are considered key men in the investigation which is concentrating on a mysterious discrepancy of 25 pounds in two reports on the boxer's weight.

Knox of Baltimore, 26, was knocked out in the ninth round by heavyweight Wayne Bethea of New York at the Baltimore Coliseum last Monday night. He died Wednesday morning from a blood clot on the brain.

At Monday's weigh-in, before the fight, Knox's weight was announced as 178 pounds. Bethea's figure was 205.

But the grand jury investigation was touched off Thursday when the state medical examiner's office disclosed that Knox's body weighed only 153 pounds at Wednesday's autopsy.

The grand jury wants to find out whether a 153-pound middleweight instead of a 178-pound heavyweight was tossed into the ring against 205-pound Bethea for a fatal mismatch — through negligence or conspiracy.

The Maryland State Athletic Commission, which appointed inspectors Yarneth and Jachelski, had been scheduled to open its own investigation Thursday night; but it postponed the probe until the Baltimore Grand Jury finishes its work.

NEWSPAPERBOY DAY

He brings the world to your doorstep!

He is a newspaperboy. He may be in his early teens or even younger, but he's earned the title of businessman. Here's why . . .

He actually runs his own business. It brings him an independent income. He's his own boss. And he's learning that his success depends upon how much interest and drive he puts into his work.

A boy who operates his own business, as a newspaperboy does, is investing his excess time and energy in a way that will pay dividends for the rest of his life. He is doing something constructive, he is learning things you'll never learn from books or in classrooms, and in addition, he's earning his way at the same time.

The benefits of newspaperboy route training are things that a parent or a teacher can not give a boy. It is the intangible benefits, such as learning how to deal with people, how to make occasional sacrifices and how to overcome obstacles, that make a boy a better man.

A parent should consider it a privilege if his son is given the opportunity to become a newspaperboy. You are fulfilling your obligation of giving him a start in the world, helping him reach maturity in a practical way.

Is Every Extremist Wrong, Or Can He Be Very Right?

One word calculated to freeze the businessman into stark immobility is the word "extremist." You will hear the term again and again in the months ahead.

So the question arises, what is an extremist?

Obviously, an extremist may be either bad or good, right or wrong. If he's bad, he's very bad; if wrong, he's wrong indeed. On the other hand, a man who is extremely right on some important issue may be the very personality that Providence decreed as the cure for a desperate ill.

Perhaps, the best way to illustrate the points to take a real-life example.

Such an example is William Pitt of England. This man was so extreme that he entertained the notion that no person rightfully could be taxed unless he gave his individual consent.

This viewpoint ran directly opposite to the opinion of the British Crown which held that the power to tax is the essence of empire and that without that power the very government would crumble.

Pitt's convictions also contradicted beliefs of vast numbers of Englishmen who clung to the impression that the King is right even when he is wrong.

The conflict between Pitt and King George III was even more singular in that Pitt had been and continued to be a servant of the Crown — member of Parliament, Secretary of State, and finally Earl of Chatham.

The climax of their differences came on the question of whether Parliament had a right to lay taxes on the American colonies.

On Jan. 20, 1775, Pitt stood in the House of Lords and asserted, "As an Englishman by birth and principle I recognize to the Americans their supreme, unalienable right in their property: a right which they are justified in the defense of to the last extremity."

"The spirit which now resists your taxation in America," he declared "is the same spirit which established the great fundamental, maxim of your liberties, that no subject of England shall be taxed but by his own consent."

Pitt's arguments in support of his taxation theory has been outlined in an earlier speech.

"Taxation is no part of the governing or legislative power," he said. "The taxes are a voluntary gift and grant of the Commons alone. . . In ancient days the Crown, the Barons, and the clergy possessed the lands. In those days the barons, and clergy gave and granted to the Crown. They gave and granted what was their own. The distinction between legislation and taxation is essentially necessary to liberty."

Pitt's orations made profound impact on England, but not enough to change the course of history — a war and the first great division of the empire.

With hostilities long under way, though seriously ill, he pleaded once more the case for America and the case for the Empire, pointing out the measures he had condemned, and the results he had predicted, adding at each stage as he advanced "and so it proved! And so it proved!"

At the response of the opposition, he strove to rise again. Those who sat near him caught him in their arms. His teenage son, William Pitt the Younger, sprang forward to catch him. He died a few days later.

This passed a great extremist and friend of America. The history texts record his name and his actions, but few remember the cause for which he lived and died.

Overlooking Big News?

Okay. So you're keeping up with the big news of the day. But are you overlooking the bigger news?

By big news and bigger news we mean, of course, news about big trouble and bigger trouble.

For as any school kid knows, news to be good must be bad. Do you ever read or hear about a bank not being held up or a man kissing his own wife?

Well, it's about time for red-blooded Americans to stop worrying so much about what's going on over there in Europe and Asia and pay a little attention to the perils that are staring us in the face right here at home. TV squats, for instance.

You don't know about TV squats? Well, for Pete's sake, what do you think your child is getting as he sits there all day long in front of the old flicker box? Who says so? A bone specialist, that's who. He has told a group of doctors that kids are squatting frog-legged in front of TV sets instead of sitting cross-legged as they should.

The result is that one of these days we're going to have a race of people going around squat-postured instead of cross-legged.

The only bright spot in this whole picture is that most kids merely lie down on the floor in front of the television set, and all you have to do is go in and turn 'em over every day or so.

Just A Piece Of Paper?

Allen-Scott Report

House Probe Reveals Dunlap Espionage Quite Serious—Data Given on U.S. Nuclear Detection Blind Spots

WASHINGTON—Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur ("news management") Sylvester's syrupy gloss-over of the seriousness of the late Sergeant John Dunlap's espionage is another glaring instance of the Kennedy administration's persistent attempts to mislead the American public.

In flat contradiction of Sylvester's airy-fairy brush-off of this extremely grave security breach, among the worst in our history, the following is some of the highly secret information the dead spy sold to the Soviet:—Detailed details of this country's capability to detect nuclear tests and missile launchings. These documents, available only to top officials on a "need to know" basis, contained exhaustive data on Russian nuclear blasts and space shots.

The reports gave the Soviet a full picture of the degree to which the U.S. can detect nuclear and missile operations in the atmosphere and outer space.

—Central Intelligence Agency documents dealing with Soviet military, nuclear and space capabilities. Also numerous reports by CIA and National Security Agency agents on Russian naval forces and capabilities, particularly underwater.

—The Reds paid Dunlap more than $100,000 instead of the official announced $60,000. That figure was based on calculations on what he spent for high-priced cars, boats, and other luxuries. Carefully not mentioned was the fact that he also was a heavy race horse player, frequenting the tracks around the Capital and making big bets.

—Dunlap's guilt came to light literally by accident. He had never been given a security test, although he had access to the most secret documents of the super-secret National Security Agency. Only when he sought a civilian status with the NSA was he subjected to a polygraph examination that led to his being suspected and his subsequent suicide.

These are a few of the shocking facts uncovered by the House Committee on Un-American Activities in the backstage investigation it is now conducting of this extraordinary affair.

More will be heard from this probe which may prove spectacularly explosive.

WHY THE KREMLIN SIGN-ED—Very much on the mind of the House probers is whether there is any connection between the crucial information the Russians bought from Dunlap and their agreeing to the atmospheric test ban treaty.

As one authority expressed it, "The Soviet de-tely knows which tests and launchings we detected and those we didn't. That information is invaluable to them for a number of reasons. For one, as a result of this infamous espionage they will be able to cheat on the test ban agreement with impunity. They know our blind spots."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not insure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Are there no exceptions to the assumption that it is always harmful, in the long run, individually or collectively to initiate force against another human being or group?"

ANSWER: We can think of no exceptions. Therefore, we regard it as a moral principle.

One individual has raised a question that if a man had some property and the neighbors built close to him on both sides and they were keeping a firetrap, wouldn't he then have the right to have the city or the county protect him from this hazard?

It would seem that the rational answer to that would be that if his judgment was so poor that he got into such a mess, he shouldn't ask the men who were frugal and had foresight to help bail him out. If somebody is bailing you out of trouble all the time, you are not careful. If, however, you have to pay the cost of either paying more insurance or building a wall around your place to protect your property, or having to sell your property at a loss, you would then have a better chance to learn to be more careful in what and where you buy next. Undoubtedly, there would be much more harm resulting if the frugal people were required to bail you out of your trouble, than if you suffered the loss as an individual. It is the law of nature that men must reap what they sow. You sow trouble when you buy property with a narrow lot and build close to the line so someone else can build a firetrap on his land and endanger your property.

Of course, the usual answer is that it is the poor man that suffers. But he is poor because he didn't have the foresight or energy to produce, sacrifice and save. If the man without foresight is to be just as well off as the man with foresight, then there would not be much incentive for working, saving, and planning our own lives. Planning one's own life is the best way to develop it. Having official planners to protect you is the best way to destroy your life.

AT ARM'S LENGTH—Representative Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the powerful Ways and Means Committee, was a guest at the White House luncheon for Marshal Tito but there was no contact between them.

Mills insisted on that before he would agree to attend the affair.

The able and influential Arkansan is author of the provision enacted by Congress last year barring Yugoslavia and Poland from "favored nation" status in U.S. trade relations. President Kennedy has sidestepped this ban through a technicality.

As voted by Congress, the restriction authorizes the President to enforce it when "feasible." He has yet to proclaim that, with the result that Yugoslavia and Poland are continuing to enjoy "favored nation" status.

When the White House telephoned Mills that the President wanted him at the Tito luncheon, he replied, "I'll accept the President's invitation but only on the understanding I don't sit next to this Communist dictator."

Fervent assurances were given this would not happen. It didn't.

PREFER SLAVERY

Most Americans Afraid To Be Free

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

An extremely attractive 29 year old student just said to me, "I am not afraid to be free. I am afraid not to be free." Within the rather broad scope of my personal experience, I recognize the statement of the young lady as being highly indicative of a strong and courageous character. Freedom frightens the average American silly. They much prefer slavery!

Miss Sarah has no fear of the bright and shining light of freedom. She is willing to face life and accept the responsibility of a human being who would be free. She welcomes every opportunity to stand on her own feet, make her own decisions and live!

She will not sink into the mire of mediocrity and curse the darkness, moan about how she wishes she had never been born. She does not believe you or I owe her anything but she does believe she has the absolute right to her own earnings, to her own life and to whatever other property she may acquire, in freedom.

If she has ever been plagued by the urge to kill or steal or impose her will upon the will of others, she has outgrown such immaturity.

There are, fortunately, men and women who risk their lives fighting for their own freedom. They understand the feeling and the meaning of freedom. The truth, as they understand it, has set them free to think. Unfortunately, the majority of Americans fear freedom more than they fear death. They fear personal responsibility more than they fear death.

One of the favorite phrases of tyrants, attempting to convince you they are not tyrants, involves "man's inhumanity to man." Rulers, tyrants, politicians and the entire socialist conglomerate, will provide Miss Sarah with fine examples of man's inhumanity to man as they attempt to prevent her from achieving her personal freedom. While so doing, they will bleat in arrant hypocrisy about Miss Sarah's civic duties and other activities designed for the sole purpose of perpetuating the enslavement of every human being.

Make no mistake about it; Tyrants and rulers and politicians and the members of the socialist conglomerate are not free. They are slaves, abject slaves to their insensate urge for power. Every slavemaster is a slave to his slaves. The urge to dominate, dominates the tyrant and chains him to a mere existence.

As she views the panorama of life and sees it clearly in the clean white of her intellectual comprehension of freedom, Miss Sarah will understand that selecting a different slavemaster by voting will only hinder her fight for her own freedom. The sophistries and idiocy of political action will no longer dull her ability to think, to reason and to understand. She will not sanction thievery. Refusing to sanction the acts of thieves, she will no longer be the slave of thieves. She will no longer be the slave of intellectual dishonesty. She will be and she will be forever, Miss Sarah.

It is so strange for me to insist that if a man or a woman will be true to anything, he or she must first be true to that which separates one human being from another, one's self! If you wish to call "I" is self by the name of soul or conscience or by any other name, the meaning will be the same as mine.

Is it so strange that I insist a man or a woman has no inborn desire to violate the laws of nature, to kill, to steal, to dominate, since men and women are entirely capable of understanding those natural laws?

And only in freedom, does the conscience, the soul, the self of a human being belong inseparably to that human being. While tyrants have enslaved through history, neither tyranny or slavery is a natural state in which human beings may be capable of exploring the full extent of their inherent intellectual capacity and what if you do get a headache from thinking for a change. Take an aspirin.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Editor:
 The John Birch Society takes the position that most of the Administration's so-called "civil rights" program is in flagrant violation of the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

The National Council of the Society, meeting in Boston, emphatically asserted that many actions being taken under the "civil rights" banner are a direct threat to both the person and property of every individual American, of whatever race, color, or creed.

The Society takes no position with regard to segregation or integration. It has both segregated and integrated chapters, in accordance with the wishes of our members in their respective communities. The Society believes that the serious questions involved in this racial problem should be decided by local or regional authorities, for the smallest practicable areas, and in no case by any unit larger than a state government. The Federal Government is strictly forbidden by the Constitution from either making these decisions or from using military compulsion to enforce them.

The Tenth Amendment is the keystone to our Bill of Rights, and it is explicit. Our Constitution could never have been adopted without this guarantee against the very usurpation of power in which the Federal Government is now engaged. The Tenth Amendment has not been repealed, and cannot be repealed, by the Supreme Court, or the Executive Department, or even by the Congress — but only by the people themselves, acting through their state governments.

The Council urges every patriotic American citizen to reread the Constitution carefully for himself, and enter into a gigantic moral crusade to insist that both the spirit and the letter of the Bill of Rights be observed by all public officials. The present course of this Administration, by substituting a government of men for a government of laws, is heading us straight for dictatorship and tyranny.

Weldon B. Adair, D.D.S.

The American Way

HOW TO CURE UNEMPLOYMENT

By Harry Browne
 Editor, Freedom Magazine

Is it possible to have full employment—where everyone who wants to work can get a job? Yes! This is what our traditional American free enterprise system offers us. In a free economy, there is always a need for someone who wants to work. For evidence of that, just look in the help wanted section of this newspaper.

You may not find the job you want most or the salary you dream of. Who does? But people don't starve to death in America because the capitalist system will always supply some kind of a job at a livable wage.

Supply and Demand
 At the same time, the miraculous private enterprise system automatically takes into consideration the real needs and wants of the consumer. A premium is thereby placed on work that is really needed, while others see lowering wages as an inducement to give up work that is no longer in demand.

This natural supply-and-demand system keeps everyone at work — and keeps production geared to our needs and wants. Why, then, is there so much unemployment today? What has thrown this great system out of balance?

Wage Fixing
 Basically, there are three main causes of our present unemployment. First, minimum wage laws keep some people—who are not worth the fixed minimum—out of work permanently. The man whose value is only $1 per hour is not going to be hired by a firm that is forced to pay $1.25 per hour.

Second, government unemployment-insurance systems force employers to contribute to a fund that tempts workers to remain unemployed. Why take a less-than-perfect job at $80 per week when you can draw $60 per week for not working? If the system were voluntary — supported by the worker's own savings—there would be more incentive to work.

Third, the government has granted special privileges to labor union leaders to permit them to force wage rates up to unrealistic levels. As with minimum wage laws, this forces the employer to make up the difference by hiring fewer people.

Capitalist System
 Full employment will come when we reclaim the capitalist system that is our heritage. We should eliminate minimum wage laws, transfer unemployment insurance to a private, voluntary system, and require unions to compete on the basis of service, rather than political advantage.

Then there will be jobs available for all who want them. Production will be geared to the real desires of the people — and can help move our standard of living ever upward.

Freedom is the most beneficial commodity known to man. Why do we trade its blessings for inept political meddling?

A thought for the day — The Italian theologian, St. Thomas Aquinas said: "Three things are necessary for the salvation of man: To know what he ought to believe; to know what he ought to desire; and to know what he ought to do."

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
The moment of truth came for the Kennedy administration when Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy appeared on Capitol Hill to plead for a softening of proposed civil rights legislation.

Republicans and Democrats alike have been for years playing politics with civil rights. The prize has been the numerous Negro vote concentrated in the cities of our industrial states. Without that vote in 1960 John F. Kennedy certainly would not have been elected president of the United States.

The acknowledged importance of the Negro bloc vote in the great cities has persuaded the major political parties to make impossible promises in their presidential platform statements of policy.

These promises are not limited to Negroes and to civil rights but extend to all areas of interest. It has come to be that the Republican and Democratic presidential platforms are commonly drafted on a something-for-everyone basis to the disadvantage of the generality of voters.

Promises Impossible
Some of these promises are impossible of fulfillment. The difference between promise and performance in American politics is so great as to invite speculation as to what would happen if the voters became aware of the hypocrisy being practiced upon them and moved to punish the practitioners.

There would be some openings in the top leadership of both political parties if that happy solution were had to the problem posed by this widespread political dishonesty. The morality of American politics is about what used to be the morality of American finance in Wall Street and among the big banks. That was before Judge Ferdinand Pecora and a U.S. Senate committee in the early 1930s focused public attention on the termites in the financial structure.

Out of that investigation came a truth-in-securities act which requires that promises made in furthering the sale of securities be matched thereafter by performance. If the seller makes a dishonest promise, the chances are pretty good that he will go to jail.

Reform Convention Systems
Perhaps we need a truth-in-politics act. A better way, however, would be to reform our political convention system. The conventions now name presidential tickets and write platforms. In the furious competition for delegate votes and the Presidential nomination, candidates are inclined to endorse any kind of phony platform promise, however impossible of fulfillment.

Candidates before and after the nomination endorse whole platforms without really knowing what is in them. This appears to have happened in 1960. The glib voters accept the promises as legitimate and thus presidents are elected. None of the test Bobby Kennedy applied this week to pending civil rights legislation was applied in 1960 to the civil rights section of the Democratic platform. Small wonder that Negroes expect more in the civil rights bill than they are likely to get.

The new reform would be this:

Amarilloan Quits EBHS Committee

AUSTIN (UPI) — Dr. A. B. Martin of Amarillo yesterday resigned as executive director of the Governor's Committee of 25 on Education Beyond High School.

Martin, president of Amarillo Junior College, said he is resigning as director of the committee for health reasons but will remain a member of the committee.

Committee chairman H. B. Zachry of San Antonio said no successor to Martin has been picked. "His contributions to the study have been highly significant," Zachry said.

The committee was named last spring by Gov. John Connally to work out a master plan for Texas higher education by next Aug. 1.

Robin Hood Meter Reader Favors 'Poor' Consumers

WESLACO, Tex. (UPI)—The city of Weslaco today discovered a Robin Hood meter reader has been costing the city money.

The city started checking into water usage when bills began to drop in one area. In August, 145 users were billed only $382.10 for use of 79,910 gallons of water. In September, when a check was run, the same 145 persons used more than 413,000 gallons and had a $1,310 bill.

The Robin Hood meter reader has admitted changing the figures for the past four to six months. The man, whose name was not disclosed, said he under-read meters of widows with children and other persons he felt could not afford to pay. He said they did not know he was doing it.

Robin Hood was fired. The users will have to pay the big six month bill, probably on the installment plan.

A thought for the day—British poet Samuel Taylor Coleridge said: "To have lived in vain must be a painful thought to any man, and especially so to him who has made literature his profession."
