Connally Cites Need For Oil Imports Formula

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International
DALLAS (UPI) — Gov. John Connally said yesterday that the petroleum industry needs a new formula to solve the import problem.

Connally was the first speaker at the 34th annual meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA). "We need a formula with no leaky seams," Connally said. "One where we know that the domestic industry will get its fair share of the 3 per cent annual increase in domestic demand. One that will no longer consider the Rocky Mountains as a greater barrier than the Pacific Ocean. One that will avoid shaky theories based upon too much guesswork."

Connally said that crude oil imports are limited to 12.2 per cent of domestic production. He said the trouble is that it is not possible to tell what the 12.2 per cent is based on.

"At first blush, it is a paradox that the industry that supplies three-fourths of the energy requirements of the most advanced industrial and technological society in history is plagued with problems," Connally said. "However, the blush turns to blanch when we consider that the U. S. has only 10 per cent of the world's reserves and that tiny Kuwait has twice the reserves of our country."

"The backbone of our domestic industry, the independent producer, must search harder and harder to find fewer and fewer reserves, only to be told he must wait longer and longer to produce what he has found and get less and less for it."

Connally said there are 33 oil producing states and IPAA members come from 40 states. "Few industries in our nation have so broad a base or frankly so much potential support," Connally said. "Yet year after year we have to fight to save the depletion allowance and prevent other devastating changes in our tax laws, and our margin is smaller each time."

FISHING!

CHICAGO (UPI) — Salt water fishing has become the fastest growing sport in the nation, according to Garcia Corp., which makes all types of fishing equipment. The number of salt water fishermen has risen from 4.5 million in 1955 to the present 7 million. The amount spent on gear has jumped from $489 million to 700 million. The company predicts this will increase to $1.3 billion by 1976.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON

United Press International

There must be a wealthy foundation or philanthropist somewhere in the United States who would be eager to help American high school and college students understand and revere the Constitution of the United States.

Requests Accumulate

About 18 months ago the committee had a backlog of 80,000 requests for Norton's pamphlet. These requests have been filled. But there had accumulated as of Oct. 8 a backlog of requests for 200,000 copies. The 80,000 books distributed since the late spring of 1952 were at a cost of $1 each. The cost has risen to $1.50. Some of this added cost is represented by increased labor and paper costs plus the need for a sturdier binding to resist rough treatment by young America.

The committee says the new edition is ready to go to 200,000 young Americans if some old Americans will come up with funds. In support of its appeal the committee can present letters asking for the book. Typical is one from the Very Rev. Msgr. Edward M. Connors, associate superintendent of schools, the Archdiocese of New York. He wrote, in part: "Would it be possible for us to have as many as 15,000 of these books?"

Colleges Also Ask

John T. Bernard, administrative assistant to the president of Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, wrote: "Our previous experience with the Norton classic has been heart warming. Accordingly, we respectfully submit a request for 10,000 copies to be distributed among our students enrolling in the required American Heritage course. This essay is an unpaid advertisement in a good cause."

NO CONTEST — Contest judges had a total of 8,525 entries, plus 95,040 sent in by one contestant. It was a technical contest sponsored by Studebaker Corp., aimed at engineers. George N. Woodruff of Cape Canaveral came up with a new contest wrinkle. He set a computer to work getting every possible combination of the numbers involved. He's shown here with his 3-pound, 160-foot-long entry. Six other contestants tied with him for first prize.

rather large order, but our total student enrollment is now over 11,000. The Norton book would be of great value to our big student body."

A letter from T. B. Ertle asked for copies of the book in behalf of 220 students studying U.S. history at James F. Byrnes High School, Duncan, S.C. Perhaps some admirer of the delightful Jim Byrnes would put up the funds for JFB High. Needed $330.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
In Rabat, a UPI correspondent just back from the scene of the desert fighting along the Algerian-Moroccan frontier, sat down at his typewriter and endeavored to sort out his impressions.

"...like something out of Beau Geste," wrote UPI man Carlos Mendon.

"In Hassi Beida, I counted eight date palm trees. No town. No vegetation except for those pitiful palms clustered around one well..."

Indeed, it scarcely seemed worth a man's life.

But around the small Hassi Beida oasis men were dying, even as leaders of both Africa and the Arab world maneuvered for peace.

There were compelling reasons for settling the quarrel quickly. But there also were reasons why peace would not come easily and why, if it did come, it might prove as illusory as Arab or African unity.

Fighting May Spread
A compelling reason for peace was a fear that, if continued for long, the fighting could not be confined to a single border.

In Paris, with intimate knowledge of both, there was a belief that militarily the Moroccans were better trained and equipped for this kind of fighting and would win out over Algeria.

But there was also the belief that United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser and the Communist bloc would intervene to save Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella from disaster.

Eventually, such a war would engulf the whole of North Africa.

There were plenty of would-be peace-makers, including virtually every head of every state bordering on the Sahara. The belligerents also spoke of a desire for peace but continued military maneuvers to negotiate from positions of strength.

But these moves were viewed from the short term.

In the longer view, Ben Bella of Algeria and King Hassan of Morocco had become the personifications of a struggle convulsing both the Arab and the African worlds.

Admirer of Castro
Ben Bella is a dedicated socialist, an admirer both of Nasser and Fidel Castro of Cuba. And Moroccans ask Western reporters:

"Have you forgotten Cuba?"
In Moroccan eyes, Morocco stands between Nasser and a socialist federation of North Africa wherein private enterprise would be subject to nationalization, political opposition crushed and free enterprise discouraged.

There also is bitterness in Morocco growing out of a belief that the Western world is more interested in the oil of the Algerian Sahara than in the rights or wrongs of Morocco's case.

But in the long run, whether by evolution or revolution, the struggle must go beyond the boundaries of either Algeria or Morocco. For this is a struggle of opposing ideologies. The revolutionary socialism of a Nasser or a Ben Bella cannot for long tolerate peaceful co-existence with a frankly pro-Western Tunisia or the monarchies of Libya, Morocco, Ethiopia, Saudi Arabia and Jordan.

THE WORLD IN FOCUS

WHO'S HOME?—Taking a census is a pretty tough job, especially when the census taker has homes like this in Northern Rhodesia to contend with. Yet, that is just what is being done. Census takers had it really rough in the remote Lukanga Swamp, above, which is inhabited mainly by primitive, unfriendly fisherfolk.

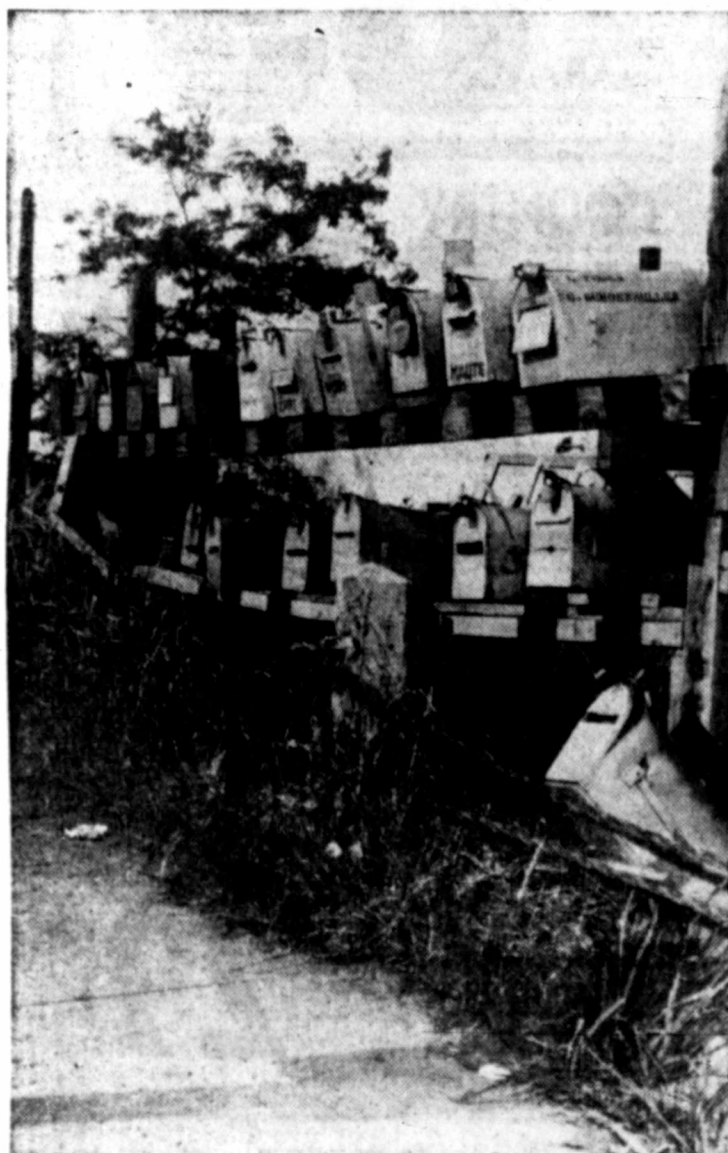

RIGID WORK—Because rigid foams are excellent thermal insulators, a sensitive antenna designed for space is encased in tough, porous plastic foam. Trio of engineers give it final check in Mountain View, Calif.

Capes, Coats Vie for Honor

Capes and coats vie for fashion honors this fall. Two-faced cape (left) in olive brown is lined with an acetate fabric of the shearing type. Orion and wool double-knit red jersey, dress has high neck and long sleeves. This costume is by Anne Klein for Junior Sophisticates. Orion and wool blend to create the off-beat fabric in double-breasted straight coat (right). The bulky tweed is in eggplant and off-white. Narrow bandings are of purple velvet. Jo Copeland of Fatello is the designer.

'Tween Years' Will Be Study Course Subject

The fifth session of the PTA Study Course will be held at the Lamar School gymnasium Thursday from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. "The Tween Years" will be the subject covered by a panel of three adults and another panel composed of high school age students.

The Rev. Donald Hauck, Mrs. Don Cain and Sam Begert, principal of Horace Mann School, will discuss the problems of teenagers.

Richard Fatheree, Jane Wells, David McDaniel, Barry Peterson and Carolyn Tucker will review their experiences in junior high school.

Mrs. Bill Prock, study course chairman, Lamar PTA, states that coffee and rolls will be served during the coffee break, and that a nursery will be available for pre-school children.

Dear Abby.... Parents Earn Devotion And It Is Retained

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the debate on whether boys or girls were preferable: You never spoke truer words, Abby, when you said, "Wait for your sunset years and see who gives you more attention." I am the mother of married sons and daughters. My daughters call me every day and always find time to drop by to see Dad and me. Our sons have grown apart from us. It makes no difference how loving a son is, once he is married (except in rare cases) you might as well kiss him goodbye. Nine times out of ten his wife takes him over to her side of the family.

ONE WHO KNOWS
DEAR ONE: Are the parents of your daughters' husbands complaining about the attention you get? Things even out. Besides, don't generalize. All married sons are not "lost." And more often than not, Mom and Dad retain the devotion they've earned.

DEAR ABBY: No problems, but I want to tell you how much my husband and I enjoy your column. By the way, we raise basset hounds and one of the best females we ever owned was named Abigail. She has helped many a champion.

ANNETTE
DEAR ANNETTE: I've whelped a couple myself. But could your dog write?

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you published a letter from a truck driver's wife. It seems her husband came home from a run with a long scratch on his thigh. He told his wife it must have been caused by a sharp feather in the motel mattress. Wife was suspicious. And YOU, Dear Abby, didn't help matters much when you replied, "A likely story! They don't put feathers in mattresses anymore. It was probably the whole chick." Well, I have news for you. This morning I awakened with a handsome scratch on my backside. I know they don't put feathers in mattresses anymore, and since there were no chicks around, I investigated. I found they do put steel springs in mattresses these days, and one sharp coil had come loose and worked its way through to me! Sincerely, VICTIM

DEAR ABBY: The controversy about the Little League manager brought to mind this amusing story: A Little League pitcher had walked the first eight men at bat. The manager sent in a new pitcher. Out of the crowd stormed the lad's mother. "What do you mean taking him out of the game?" she yelled. "He had a no-hitter going!"

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Medley

Skellytown Couple Honored By Children on 39th Anniversary

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. Claude Medley were honored on their 39th Wedding Anniversary Sept. 22.

Hostesses for the reception were the couple's four daughters, Mrs. Alvin (Naomi) Cornelison of Skellytown, Mrs. Bobby (Lorraine) Phillips of Pampa, Mrs. Charles (Mavis) McCurley of McLean, Mrs. E. R. (Zelona) Guinn of McAllen.

The honored couple received guests at their home. Mrs. Charles McCurley registered the guests.

The serving table was covered by a lace cloth centered with a white three-tiered wedding cake trimmed with crimson rose buds, and topped with a bride and groom.

The daughter, Mrs. Alvin Cornelison, served the cake. Mrs. Bobby Phillips presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Vester Cook presided at the coffee service.

and Mrs. Russell Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Rickett, Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Lynch and Peggy; Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Phillips and Ronny; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dalton, Mrs. Nettie Cornelison, Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Medley, Jim Medley and sons Bill, Ray Dennis and Douglas; and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sargent, all of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Hambright, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettit, Mrs. Jewel McCurley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bidwell and Terry Don; Mrs. Betty McCurley, all of McLean; Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCurley, Charles and Tina; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McBroom and Jesse Wayne of Lefors; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harris, of Stinnett and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Poston, Jill and Brooks of Borger.

Mr. and Mrs. Medley were married Sept. 22, 1924 at Iola, Kan. Mr. Medley has been employed with the Skelly Oil Co. for the past twenty years. They have resided in Skellytown for the past twenty six years.

VETERAN'S REWARD—The old town pump and its watering trough have been memorialized in new glory in the center of East Sparta, Ohio. Only water supply for the town for 150 years, the landmark was rescued through the co-operation of a leading industry in the area. U. S. Ceramic Tile Co. replaced the crumbling original handmade roof tiles with modern facsimiles. Unfortunately for postmistress Doris A. Kempf and her horse, the renovated watering trough is only a symbol and contains no water.

Cloaks, Daggers Gone From Aletti

By ALAIN RAYMOND
United Press International
ALGIERS (UPI)—The Aletti Hotel seems finished as one of the most notorious espionage centers in North Africa.

At various times during its colorful history, the Aletti housed Nazis, Free French, anti-Gaullist European terrorists and innumerable spies and once even flew the Vatican flag. President Ahmed Ben Bella's government has swept it up with other Algiers hotels and restaurants in his nationalization program.

And as Algeria settles down after its recent turbulent past there appears little chance that the Aletti will become anything but a large hotel like any in Atlantic City or other coastal resorts.

Once, Hollywood thriller-writers would have found scores of plots in the white, seven-story building perched on the waterfront.

It was briefly the headquarters in World War II of the Nazis in Algiers. The Germans were followed by the Vichy French, then the British and finally the Free French of Gen. Charles de Gaulle. Always there were the go-between agents.

The hotel was the headquarters for war correspondents for two years after the Allied invasion of North Africa.

Anti-Gaullist collaborators plotted in its bars and restaurants in 1942. Twenty years later terrorists of the Secret Army Organization (OAS) schemed De Gaulle's downfall for handing Algeria to the Moslems.

One story says the Aletti had so many flags in and before World War II, including a Vatican flag marking the 1938 Eucharistic congress, that French army officers used them to make underwear for themselves during the war's textile shortage.

The Aletti slipped into a lull between the end of World War II and the outbreak of the Algerian revolutionary war in 1954.

But soon French army officers, embittered by defeat in Indo-China, invaded it to proclaim France would not "sell out" Algeria and the hotel's bars rang with denunciations of French public figures who supported Algerian independence. The chant of "Algerie Francaise" sounded repeatedly through its corridors.

Less than 18 months ago one could make contact at the Aletti to meet Jean-Jacques Susini and other members of the die-hard OAS. The OAS watched newsmen at the hotel covering the war, once kidnaped a party of Italian reporters, slashed an American journalist with a razor, threatened others.

The Aletti was briefly the seat of the Algerian provisional government of Premier Ben Yousef Ben Khedda. Heavily-armed "Gorillas" stalked its corridors to protect its members from European reprisals.

Tax Policy Called Drag on Economy

DALLAS (UPI)—Leslie B. Worthington, president of U. S. Steel, said yesterday that federal taxes are a "ponderous drag" on the nation resulting in economic woes and unemployment.

Worthington told the 34th annual meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA) that "the freeing of businessmen and citizens from today's burden of taxation is the most important thing that needs to be done for the U. S. economy."

"It requires no more than a cursory glance around the nation to recognize that the tax policies advanced for the past several decades have become a ponderous drag on the national economy," Worthington said.

"Steep and progressive taxes on income, grossly excessive taxes on business profits and taxes which seem designed to punish savings and investments are a leading factor in restricting both economic and business growth and in creating unemployment today."

LADY LOGGER—Mickey Cooper, 42-year-old grandmother of Shady Cove, Ore., makes like a Pauline Bunyan as she guides the loading of a logging truck. In partnership with her husband of 24 years, Mickey averages 200 miles a day piloting the huge trucks with 50,000-pound loads of Douglas fir, pine and hemlock over rugged logging trails.

Boxcar Shortage May Delay Wheat Sale to Russia

DALLAS (UPI)—The big push to move the nation's grain harvest is causing a seasonal tie-up of boxcars, which could delay any sale of wheat to Russia, railroadmen said today.

A spokesman for the Burlington Lines, a major mover of grains, said there is nothing unusual in the shortage of boxcars at this time of the year. "There is a lot of grain being moved and the Agriculture Department is relocating much grain at this time of the year," he said.

The Frisco Railroad, which is not a major grain carrier, said the company is moving Christmas goods, but there is no shortage of boxcars.

The Interstate Commerce Commission issued an order Oct. 21 for all railroads to release all Class A boxcars to the 11 major grain movers. Many boxcars were being used in the eastern half of the country, but they will be moved to the mid-west to help ship grain.

"In my opinion, it is definitely wrong to say we couldn't get enough boxcars if we sell wheat to Russia," the vice president of a railroad said. "There might be a slight delay, but we would move the wheat."

The Texas & Pacific Railroad said there is a shortage of boxcars, but it is a seasonal shortage. A spokesman said that the problem might be more acute this year because, due to finances, some railroads have not purchased new equipment.

Even the Poets Know You Just Can't Win Them All

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Marjorie Moore is one of America's best known poets. Which means that most Americans never heard of her.

In this country, alas, the names of poets rarely become household words, even in their own households. And that is a pity.

I'm not terribly fond of poetry myself, but the poets I've met have all been grade A human beings. It's too bad there isn't some way to give them more recognition, short of reading their poetry.

Miss Moore, who will soon be 76, has been in the public eye more than most major poets on account of her association with two enterprises that have since become extinct.

In 1955, Miss Moore, an ardent baseball fan, summoned the muses from the bull pen and batted out an ode to the Brooklyn Dodgers. It was called "Hometown Pierce for Messrs. Alston and Reese."

Considering the kind of teams that Brooklyn used to have, this salute from a Pulitzer Prize poet was a rare tribute. So what did the Dodgers do to show their appreciation? They moved to Los Angeles, that's what.

I had a chat with Miss Moore this week when she came down from Brooklyn to give a poetry reading at the Library of Congress. She made it plain that she still loves the Dodgers, despite their infidelity.

Yet all of the Dodgers who read Miss Moore's poems probably could stand on third base at the same time. Which sometimes happens.

It also was in the 1950's that Miss Moore was commissioned by the Ford Motor Co. to think up names for a new car it was planning to produce.

The Ford people, after considering her nomination of such poetic names as Silver Sword, Aerotter and Andante on Moto christened their car Edsel. It didn't last as long as the Dodgers did in Brooklyn.

I asked Miss Moore if she felt the car might have succeeded under one of her names. She replied to the effect that an Edsel by any other name probably would still have been a lemon.

She pointed out, however, that her list included the names Impala and Valiant, which subsequently were adopted by a couple of other auto companies.

So what do poets, baseball clubs and auto makers have in common? Each knows that you can't win 'em all.

Trucks Involved In Traffic Mishap

Two Pampa men were involved, but not injured in a two-pickup collision a mile south of Pampa yesterday at the intersection of State Highway 273 and F.M. road 749.

According to Vernon Cawthon, investigating highway patrolman, both pickups received about $200 damage when Robert R. Jones, 36, of 1829 N. Christy, failed to see the other pickup and pulled out into the intersection into the path of the pickup driven by Archie Griffin, 62, of 511 Red Deer.

"Griffin was going west on 273 and Jones was going north on 749," Patrolman Cawthon said.

Wyoming Oil Man Named IPAA Head

DALLAS (UPI)—H. A. (Dave) True, Jr., an independent oil producer from Casper, Wyo., yesterday was elected president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA). The IPAA is holding its 34th annual meeting in Dallas with more than 1,000 delegates from 36 states.

True succeeded Harold Decker of Houston, president of Highland Oil Co. True is the 15th president of IPAA, and first oilman from the Rocky Mountain area to head the organization.
