Police Hunt Attacker Of Five-Year-Old Girl

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Police canceled holiday leaves Saturday and assigned extra officers to an all-out effort to find an apparent sex deviate who kidnaped and criminally assaulted a 5-year-old girl, then dumped her in a ditch near a junk yard.

The girl, Michelle Moran, was in satisfactory condition at Sparrow Hospital, where she was suffering slightly from exposure and a bruised face. Hospital officials confirmed that she had been criminally assaulted.

At least a dozen detectives were assigned to work under Chief of Detectives Elwyn Grook to find the attacker. A roundup of known sex deviates was carried out all day Saturday.

Grook said there were "100 to 150" suspected sex deviates in the area. He said all files on deviates in the community would be checked. State police were ordered to give any assistance necessary.

Michelle and her brother, Frank, 8, were in a car parked about 100 feet from a drug store in which their mother, a divorced school teacher, was shopping for Halloween toys when the kidnaping occurred Friday night.

Frank told police the kidnap-

Celanese Holds Science Seminar

More than 100 high school students from five area high schools participated yesterday in a science seminar conducted by the Celanese Chemical Company west of Pampa.

Schools participating in the program were: Pampa, Claude, White Deer, Stinnett and Phillips.

The Science Seminar provided an opportunity for students who are interested in science, particularly chemistry, to see at first hand a modern petrochemical plant, and to participate in discussions of five technical subjects necessary to the operation of such an enterprise. The students toured the plant, and attended classes in mass spectrometry, gas chromatography, industrial finance, analytical techniques and distillation. The seminar opened at 9 a.m. and ended at 4 p.m. Celanese staff personnel served as instructors and tour guides.

The Pampa School District, and in particular the Pampa High School science department, assisted with the planning of the seminar, Celanese officials said. Pampa High School Science Club members served as hosts.

Herschel Wilks, manager of the Celanese plant, explained the purpose of the seminar.

"We have long felt that industry in general should work more closely with our school systems," Wilks said, "in showing young people how businesses are operated. Through the science seminar, we feel that we contributed something to the education of the participants, who had already shown interest in the sciences, but who may not have had the opportunity to observe chemists and engineers in their working environment previously."

Russian Spying Triggers Danger

LONDON (UPI) — British experts said Saturday that stepped-up spying by Russian trawlers on allied naval movements could spell danger to the projected mixed-manned nuclear surface force.

Russian vessels of an estimated 100-strong Soviet "spyfleet" of trawlers shadowed allied ships during NATO exercises off the coast of Scotland this week, according to official naval sources.

This followed similar tactics by Russian trawlers during NATO naval exercises in the Bay of Biscay last summer.

British experts estimate that Russia currently operates some 100 "trawlers" which are in effect disguised spyships, equipped with radar and latest-type electronic devices.

Negroes Demoted From Post Office Jobs in Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — Three Negroes who were promoted to supervisory jobs ahead of more qualified white candidates in the Dallas Post Office have been demoted.

W. M. McMillan, Dallas Regional Postal Operations Director, said the decision to cancel the promotions for 35 days at no loss of pay was made in Washington. He said the three were re-assigned as temporary supervisors until a study is made of the case.

J. Howard Payne Jr., a clerk at the post office and son of a former Dallas postmaster, filed a protest when the three: Buford R. Tyler, Andrew J. Galloway and Herschel Gillins, were promoted ahead of 54 white persons on the promotion list.

Khrushchev Threatens to Call Off U.S. Wheat Deal

Grenier Says GOP Disenchanted By Kennedy Dynasty

John E. Grenier of Birmingham Ala., Republican state chairman from Alabama, emphasized the Republican Party's "disenchantment with the Kennedy dynasty," during his address before 150 members and guests at the annual G.O.P. fund-raising dinner Friday night in the Coronado Inn.

"We stand for the premise you cannot co-exist with an enemy who has sworn to cut your throat every day he is alive and who has sworn to stamp out free enterprise," Grenier stated.

"Sen. Barry Goldwater will be the Republican nominee for 1964 because he has stood for that premise and because he will defend our individual freedom and the dignity of man."

Grenier's topic "Elect Goldwater in '64," explained the current and historical reasons for the "disenchantment."

Russia Also Quits Race To Put Man on the Moon

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in a statement published Saturday, served notice the Soviet Union will not buy American wheat if the United States advances any "discriminatory conditions."

Khrushchev, in answering question of a meeting of leftwing newsmen, restated the Soviet claim to "do everything to strengthen the unity of the international Communist movement."

He also called for an end to name-calling in the bitter Sino-Soviet dispute and for a cooling off period.

Khrushchev last called for a halt to the Sino-Soviet polemics when attending a meeting of the East German Communist party in East Berlin this year. The Chinese ignored the call.

Khrushchev referred to negotiations now going on between the Soviet and the United States for the sale of up to 8 million tons of wheat for approximately $250 million.

"Now negotiations are being conducted on buying wheat in the United States, but we don't know whether we will buy their wheat," he said.

"If the Americans in selling us wheat will advance any discriminatory conditions, then we will not buy wheat in America."

"This is the state of affairs." The discriminatory conditions which Khrushchev apparently had in mind was the current haggling over shipping rates for the wheat on board American ships.

President Kennedy in announcing approval of American wheat to the Soviet Union stipulated the wheat should be carried aboard U.S. vessels.

The American shipping price is $11 per ton above the cost of shipping in foreign ships.

Khrushchev, in a statement published Saturday, also declared the Soviet Union is withdrawing from the race with the United States to put a man on the moon first by 1970.

The premier announced that "at the present time we do not plan flights of cosmonauts to the moon."

"I have read a report that the Americans wish to land a

Moroccan Troops Open New Drive In Sahara Desert

ALGERIA (UPI) — Heavily reinforced Moroccan troops launched a sharp offensive in the sun-scorched Sahara Saturday in an apparent attempt to encircle Algerian army units on the mineral-rich southwest corner of Algeria.

The new drive was reported in the Tindouf area, a desert region rich with iron ore deposits, as both Morocco and Algeria maneuvered to strike a possible knockout blow that would enable them to negotiate from strength at a peace conference table.

Despite confusion and deadlock that appeared to becloud the prospects of quick peace negotiations, Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella announced he would leave Sunday or Monday for African summit peace talks in Tunis or Tripoli.

But within an hour after Ben Bella's announcement, Morocco's Marrakech said African summit peace talks would open Tuesday at Bamako, capital of the Republic of Mali. There was no confirmation from any other source.

The new Moroccan offensive, according to Algerian government sources, appeared to be aimed at Tinfouchi, 50 miles southwest of Hassi Beida, the Sahara frontier outpost for which the Moroccans and Algerians have battled in a see-saw campaign. The sources said its aim seemed to be to encircle Algerian troops in the Tindouf area.

Ginny Changes Mind, Now Drifting to Sea

WILMINGTON, N. C. (UPI) — Hurricane Ginny swung back to an east-northeast course Saturday and the weather bureau said the threat to North Carolina was decreasing "with each passing hour."

A late weather advisory centered the storm about 140 miles nearly due south of Cape Hatteras, N. C.

The meandering storm stalled off the Carolinas coast this morning and then began a drift toward the southeast, as high winds of 95 miles an hour concentrated in a small area near its center.

Despite the lessening threat, the weather bureau kept gale warnings up on the southeastern North Carolina coast from Cape Fear to Maneto, and said frequent reconnaissance flights would be made into the hurricane area.

The weather agency said the storm had a forward speed of at least six miles per hour.

A northeasterly course would carry the center of the tropical twister toward the cold North Atlantic, the graveyard of hurricanes.

Another tropical storm on the weather boards, Helena, was fighting an uphill battle to gain hurricane status. The storm hit the eastern Caribbean island of Dominica with 60 mile an hour winds Saturday, lost some of its punch but started rebuilding once it was over the open water again.

Forecasters said conditions were against Helena developing (See GINNY, Page 3)

Don Yarbrough To Run Against Connally in '64

HOUSTON (UPI) — Houston attorney Don Yarbrough will oppose Gov. John Connally in next year's gubernatorial primary, the Houston Chronicle reported in a copyright story Saturday.

The Chronicle said Connally opened the door for Yarbrough's official announcement, expected any day, when he attacked the Houston federal court's decision in the Texas redistricting case.

Yarbrough, a liberal Democrat, was narrowly defeated by Connally in the 1962 Democratic primary.

Fund Total Hits 56 Pct. of Goal

About 56 per cent of Pampa's $62,000 United Fund goal for 1963 was collected and turned in during the second check-in coffee, Friday in the Coronado Inn, according to Clyde Carruth, drive chairman.

Thirty United Fund workers attended the coffee and turned in $1,293 making $34,459 the total collected so far, according to Carruth.

The new 100 per cent firms are J. B. McGuire and employees, A. J. Carubbi and employees, L. J. Zachary and employees; Fred Cary and employees; Myers Music Mart; Gizon's Jewelry; Citizens Bank and Trust Co.; Pioneer Gas Co., and Pioneer Gas Transmission Dept.

Door prizes at the check-in coffee were won by Don Hauck, Mrs. Melba West, David Tucker, Bill Power, Mrs. Allie Morgan and Effie Kreimeyer. The prizes were donated by White's Auto, Bentley's, Heath's Men's Wear, Kyles, Penney's and Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, the outstanding individual collector, turned in $167.

According to Grenier, disenchantment with the Democrat Party started in the election of 1932 when the Democrat leaders realized that if they were to win the election they would have to concentrate on manipulating the vote of large groups in big cities in the East.

"With the creation of the big city political machine, that rolls on the grease and oil of political patronage, a marriage between politics and the welfare state resulted," Grenier said.

"The inevitable end of that strategy has resulted in a federal budget that goes up and up until we get to the point where the people of the South and the entire nation feel the pressure of power from Washington," Grenier stated.

According to Grenier, the "only alternative is the Republican party," because he believes "Southerners know we are going to stand up and say what we believe in and our highest values are individual freedom and the dignity of man."

Grenier stated he and the Re- (See GRENIER, Page 3)

Fireworks Plant Blows up in Ohio

BELLAIRE, Ohio (UPI) — A series of explosions rocked a fireworks factory near here Saturday night, lighting up the sky like a Roman carnival, touching off fires in more than 150 acres of bone-dry woodlands and resulting in evacuation of about 50 families.

The explosions sent skyrocket and cherry bombs hurtling through the area, igniting countless fires as they landed.

Chamber Opens $5,000 Industrial Survey Drive

A campaign seeking investments in an industrial and economic survey of Pampa and vicinity is being initiated through the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The campaign, in which $5,000 is sought to finance a survey of the area's assets to potential industries, is under direction of the chamber's Industrial Committee, Frank Culbertson, chairman.

"This is the first step in providing a long-range, planned industrial program for Pampa, with a professional touch. Texas A&M has been in the 'research business' for many years, and we are expecting a comprehensive report when the survey is completed.

"The study will not only give us a complete inventory of our assets, but will give our Industrial Committee a definite plan to follow."

"The cost of the survey is $5,000 and will of necessity have to come from the people of Pampa who are interested in the economic future of this community. We want to appeal to each and every resident of Pampa to invest what he or she can in this campaign to assure its early and successful completion."

Letters have been mailed to each member of the Chamber of Commerce, explaining the project and asking for investment.

However, chamber officials have stressed the point that participation in the project is not limited to chamber members and that each resident of the community is urged to take part by investing whatever amount he can.

Participants should mail their checks to Industrial Fund, Pampa Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 1942, Pampa, Texas, by return mail. Fill in the coupon on Page 3 of today's Pampa News.

The survey itself will include a complete inventory of factors in the community that are of concern to industrial prospects, such as markets, available labor, raw materials, transportation, etc. It will also provide a list of industries for which the area is best suited, along with a plan of action toward securing the industries.

Culbertson stated further, "It has been said that a town or city doesn't stand still. It either moves forward or backward, and we feel that this is more true today than ever before. There is great competition among cities for industrial plants to locate in their area. Why? First, it is a matter of economic survival. We must have job opportunities if we are to keep our young people in our community or attract others to come here. This is what makes communities grow."

"This survey is the first step in what we hope will be an active, long-range plan that we think will bring fruitful results."

The decision to make the survey was arrived at after Bradley met with the chamber board and members of the Industrial Committee, followed by an all-day workshop attended by local civic leaders, in which the proposed program was explained. Unanimous approval of both the

Kiwanis Speaker Defines Liberals, Conservatives

Dr. Milton V. Davis of Dallas and candidate for U.S. Senator in the Texas Republican primary, defined the changes in the definition of liberal and conservatism in his speech to the Downtown Kiwanis Club yesterday in First Methodist Church.

About 70 members and guests were present to hear him discuss "Conservatism, the Sign of Our Times."

Dr. Davis defined a liberal as someone who was not satisfied with things as they were, who was willing to try new things and willing to change the complexion of the power structure. A conservative used to be one who was not willing to change the status quo."

Today's conservatives "want to progress from collectivism and socialism to individual responsibility and local control of government affairs," he said.

According to Dr. Davis, "today's liberals are not concerned with individual dignity, but with mass movements and voting blocs. Conservatives are interested in people and individuals and in their productivity and dignity."

Dr. Davis told the Kiwanians that a small group of "militant socialists" have been able to work actively in the public field because the conservatives are busy, productive people who are not taking part in public affairs.

The conservative group thinks, according to Dr. Davis, that the United Nations cannot be an effective instrument to make and keep world peace because "it was conceived in deceit with known communists in positions of authority and planning."

He remarked that even the Communists definition of peace is completely opposite from the American definition.

"In the Communist dictionary, peace means 'cessation of hostilities against Communism.' In the American dictionary peace is defined as a 'pact or agreement to end hostilities.'"

In giving the conservatives stand on the U.N. Dr. Davis said that "overwhelmingly conservatives feel we should not disarm, should not transfer any military force to a U.N. police force or sign any treaty with the Russians."

Two Youths Fall From Moving Car

Two Pampa youths were slightly injured about 10 p.m. Friday when they fell out of a car as the driver tried to pass another automobile and lost control of his vehicle on Gwendolyn St., between Dwight and Wells Sts.

According to Police Capt. Denny Roan, E. D. Boyd, 19, of 710 N. West, was driving west on Gwendolyn when he passed a car, pulled in front of it and lost control. Both the driver and Stephen Craig Smiley, 17, of 917 E. Francis, fell out the right door of the car, Roan said.

"The driverless auto kept going, hit an unoccupied parked car in the 800-block of N. Wells. The parked car, belonging to Ann Caviness, received a bout $200 damage," Roan said.

The runaway car kept going, crossed a yard at 800 N. Dwight, and rammed into a house at 801 N. Dwight and stopped. The house belonged to R. B. Ragsdale.

Boyd was given a police citation ticket for failure to control speed to avoid an accident.

Heavy Rainfall Floods Streets In South Texas

By United Press International
Up to nine inches of rain pounded extreme South Texas Saturday flooding streets at Edinburg and sending water gushing across a farm road near Rio Grande City.

Farm Road 755 northeast of Rio Grande City was blocked by the rain, but no other serious flooding was reported.

The Starr County sheriff's office said nine inches of rain fell 17 miles northeast of Rio Grande City, five inches fell south of town. The city itself had an estimated two inches.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Brownsville issued special warning for residents of the area, warning of possible flash floods and told owners of equipment on the Rio Grande downstream from Falcon Lake to be ready to evacuate their interests.

Streets were temporarily closed in Edinburg. Mission and Weslaco after thunderstorms dumped up to two and a half inches of rain in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Scattered showers were reported along the Gulf Coast with lighter showers extending through northeastern and north-central Texas and into southeastern Oklahoma.

Skies remained clear in Central and Western Texas. Temperatures were generally in the 80s in northern parts of the state and the upper 70s in southern Texas.

Pampa had return of summer temperatures Saturday afternoon when the mercury rose to a high of 83 degrees.

Violent thunderstorms assailed San Antonio Friday night with rain, hail and lightning. Flood waters of Alazan Creek swept Baldozero Munoz, 34, to his death.

The Weather Bureau called for thundershower activity Sunday to be confined mainly to coastal regions. Clear to partly cloudy skies were forecast for the rest of the state.

Romney Says He Is Not Candidate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michigan's Republican governor, George Romney, said Saturday he has a "commitment" to serve in Lansing and therefore "will not be a candidate for national office in 1964."

"This is not a pose," Romney said. "This is my position." "There is no circumstance that I can think of in which I would be a candidate," the former president of American Motors Corp., said.

He said polls indicated that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is now leading in the unofficial race for the Republican nomination.

U.S. Blasts New Nuclear Device In Nevada Desert

FALLON, Nev. (UPI) — The United States exploded a 12-kiloton nuclear device deep under the desert floor Saturday in an spectacular but sophisticated experiment aimed at giving scientists the know-how to police a full test ban treaty.

Packing the wallop of 12,000 tons of TNT, the device was triggered at 1 p.m. EDT at the bottom of a "buttonhook" shaft 1,200 feet underground.

The ground directly above the shot point heaved momentarily and clouds of surface dust billowed 100 feet in the air. A small plume of smoke rose from one of the shafts.

Seconds later there was a prolonged rumbling akin to distant thunder.

The bomb followed out a bubble in the ground approximately 170 feet in diameter, the walls of which were coated with molten rock. The initial shock pinched shut the walls of the "J" shaped shaft leading to the blast chamber, sealing it off before radioactive gasses and debris could reach the surface.

Newsmen stationed atop a mountain 8,000 feet from Ground Zero felt a distinct motion as the shock waves rippled from the blast.

Seismologists hoped this motion will provide the key to pinpointing sub-surface atomic detonations at great distances in other parts of the world.

Man Who Spat on Stevenson Faces Two Years in Jail

DALLAS (UPI) — A Dallas man who spat on U.S. Ambassador to the U.N. Adlai Stevenson Saturday was threatened with a two-year jail term and $1000 fine.

Robert Edward Hatfield, 22, of Irving was arrested on a complaint of aggravated assault on a policeman following a near riot Thursday at a Stevenson speech to celebrate U.N. Day in Texas.

Assistant Dist. Atty. A. D. Jim Bowie noted that in Texas, an assault against an ambassador was not as serious as an assault upon a police officer.

Bulgarian Reds In Dogged Drive To Oust Canines

VIENNA (UPI) — The dog no longer is man's best friend in Communist Bulgaria.

Instead, according to the party daily in Svishtov, he has become "a dangerous carrier of infectious and parasitic diseases to man and cattle" which must be eliminated.

The Bulgarian regime has been carrying out an extermination campaign for a long time, claiming that dogs are responsible for everything from rabies and worms to fowl pest and swine-pox.

Eighty per cent of the ox and sheep livers brought to the meat combine in Svishtov has to be destroyed because they are infected with parasites, "which are spread mainly by dogs," the party organ said.

So the Town Committee of Svishtov's Communist party passed a resolution forbidding the possession of dogs in the town.

"Only the offices of the National Defense Ministry, the Ministry of the Interior, organized hunters, some enterprises and house owners, who have permits for watchdogs are allowed to possess dogs," the order said. "All other dogs are subject to destruction."

The Committee ordered specific days for the destruction of dogs but noted that "the number of citizens who turned up with their dogs was very small."

The paper reminded the people of the councils' resolution. "The next time dates are fixed for the destruction of dogs, let all owners bring them to the place specified."

Dog owners not complying, it warned, would be fined.

"Officers of the Council, the Hygienic Commission and individual citizens will help in tracking the dogs," it said.

The measures were taken, the

The man's estranged wife told police that he took the children away from her home after struggling with her.

paper said, "in order to protect the health of the workers, to abolish the losses to livestock as well as in order to improve the general hygiene of the living quarters."

The dog, it seems, has replaced the once mighty Stalinist as the number one menace to Bulgarian health and society.

It is a matter of opinion whether President Kennedy is in orderly retreat or demoralized rout with his tax and civil rights bills. He has been compelled to compromise. Liberal Democrats are denouncing the tax bill and Negro leaders are accusing Kennedy of a sellout on rights.

Republicans and conservative Democrats oppose Kennedy's plan to finance tax reduction with borrowed money. Left-wing Democrats accept tax reduction at the expense of more borrowing but they object, and in some anger, to the administration's surrender on some of the tax reform program originally proposed as essential to tax reduction.

The House Ways & Means Committee eliminated these reforms. The administration decided against trying in the Senate to reinstate them. Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and others among the left wing of the Democratic Party now call it a rich man's bill. Douglas and Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., gave Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon a hard time during his testimony before the Senate Finance Committee.

Tax Bill Comes First
 The tax bill continues to enjoy No. 1 priority among administration legislative proposals. The brave talk of enacting the tax reduction before Christmas, however, has diminished. More likely, the tax bill will go over until the second session of the 88th Congress, which will convene next Jan. 3.

There is no assurance, of course, that the civil rights bill will get through Congress before Christmas. If it fails to do so and if the tax bill also is stymied, the traffic jam in session No. 2 of the 88th may be a record breaker. That would come at a bad time for the Kennedys. Next year comes a presidential election. President Kennedy urgently needs to set his administration's record straight before going to the voters again.

All of this is doubly distressing to the Kennedys. They need the tax cut in this session on the theory that it will stimulate the economy, make jobs and so improve the political climate as to help next year to re-elect the President. As Dillon told the Senate committee a week ago, the overriding necessity was for Congress to enact the tax reduction this year.

Need Rights Legislation

The Kennedys also urgently need civil rights legislation now. The more time that elapses between an angry Senate civil rights filibuster and the meeting of the 1964 Democratic National Convention, the more time there will be for party hurts to heal. So civil rights has a sort of second class No. 1 legislative priority of its own. If civil rights goes over to the second session it may block other legislation essential to the Kennedy record.

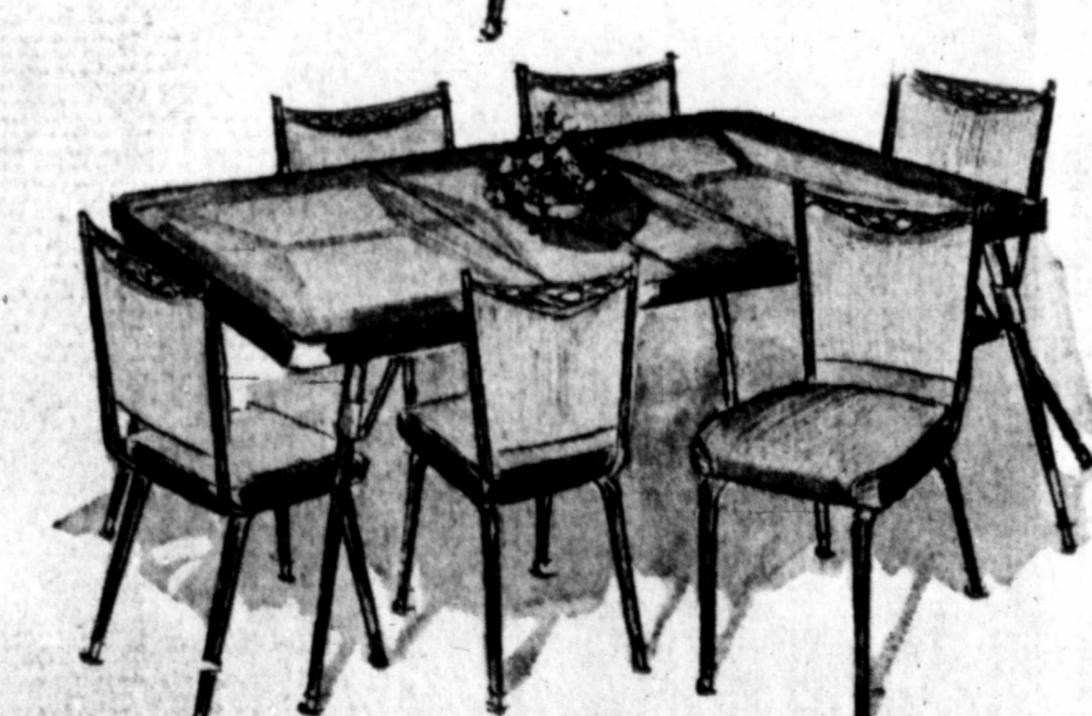

No matter how it may wreck plans for the second session, civil rights cannot be postponed until 1965. Not with a presidential election coming up next year. The bill now pending was supposed to have been passed the first session of the first Kennedy Congress, in 1961.

Candidate Kennedy promised that to the Negroes in his 1960 campaign.

 Sponges are very simple animal forms. The body of a sponge consists of a rather loose aggregate of cells supported by a framework of fibers which form the skeletal structure. Sponges nourish themselves from minute organisms contained in the waters which flow through their pores.

Memphis Upsets McLean, 18-13

MEMPHIS (Spl) — A box of diapers, a bad case of fumbles and three intercepted passes set up one of the biggest upsets of the season here Friday night as the weak Memphis Cyclones downed the strong McLean Tigers, 18-13, in a district 2-A football game.

Fired up by the gift of a box of diapers in the mail and an accompanying note which read "Here, crybabies, you'll need these Friday night," the lightweight Cyclones literally blew up a duststorm over the bigger and presumably better Tigers.

Five times McLean lost the ball on a fumble to either kill a drive or set up one for Memphis, while two of the intercepted passes set up Memphis scores.

Memphis also had trouble controlling the pigskin, and on the second play of the game, fumbled the ball to McLean on the Cyclone 30. Dickie Crockett and Gary Graham carried to the 15 and Jim McCarty went around right end behind Eddie Windom for the touchdown. Bob Patton's conversion kick was a wide.

Memphis moved down to the McLean 20, where the Tiger defense stiffened and took the ball away on downs. McLean punted and Memphis started again from their 35, with a pass to James Waites taking them into McLean territory as the quarter ended.

Gary Graham intercepted a pass to kill the threat, and both teams proceeded to swap fumbles. McLean started moving on the running of Crockett and Graham, but fumbled again and Memphis recovered on the Tiger 45.

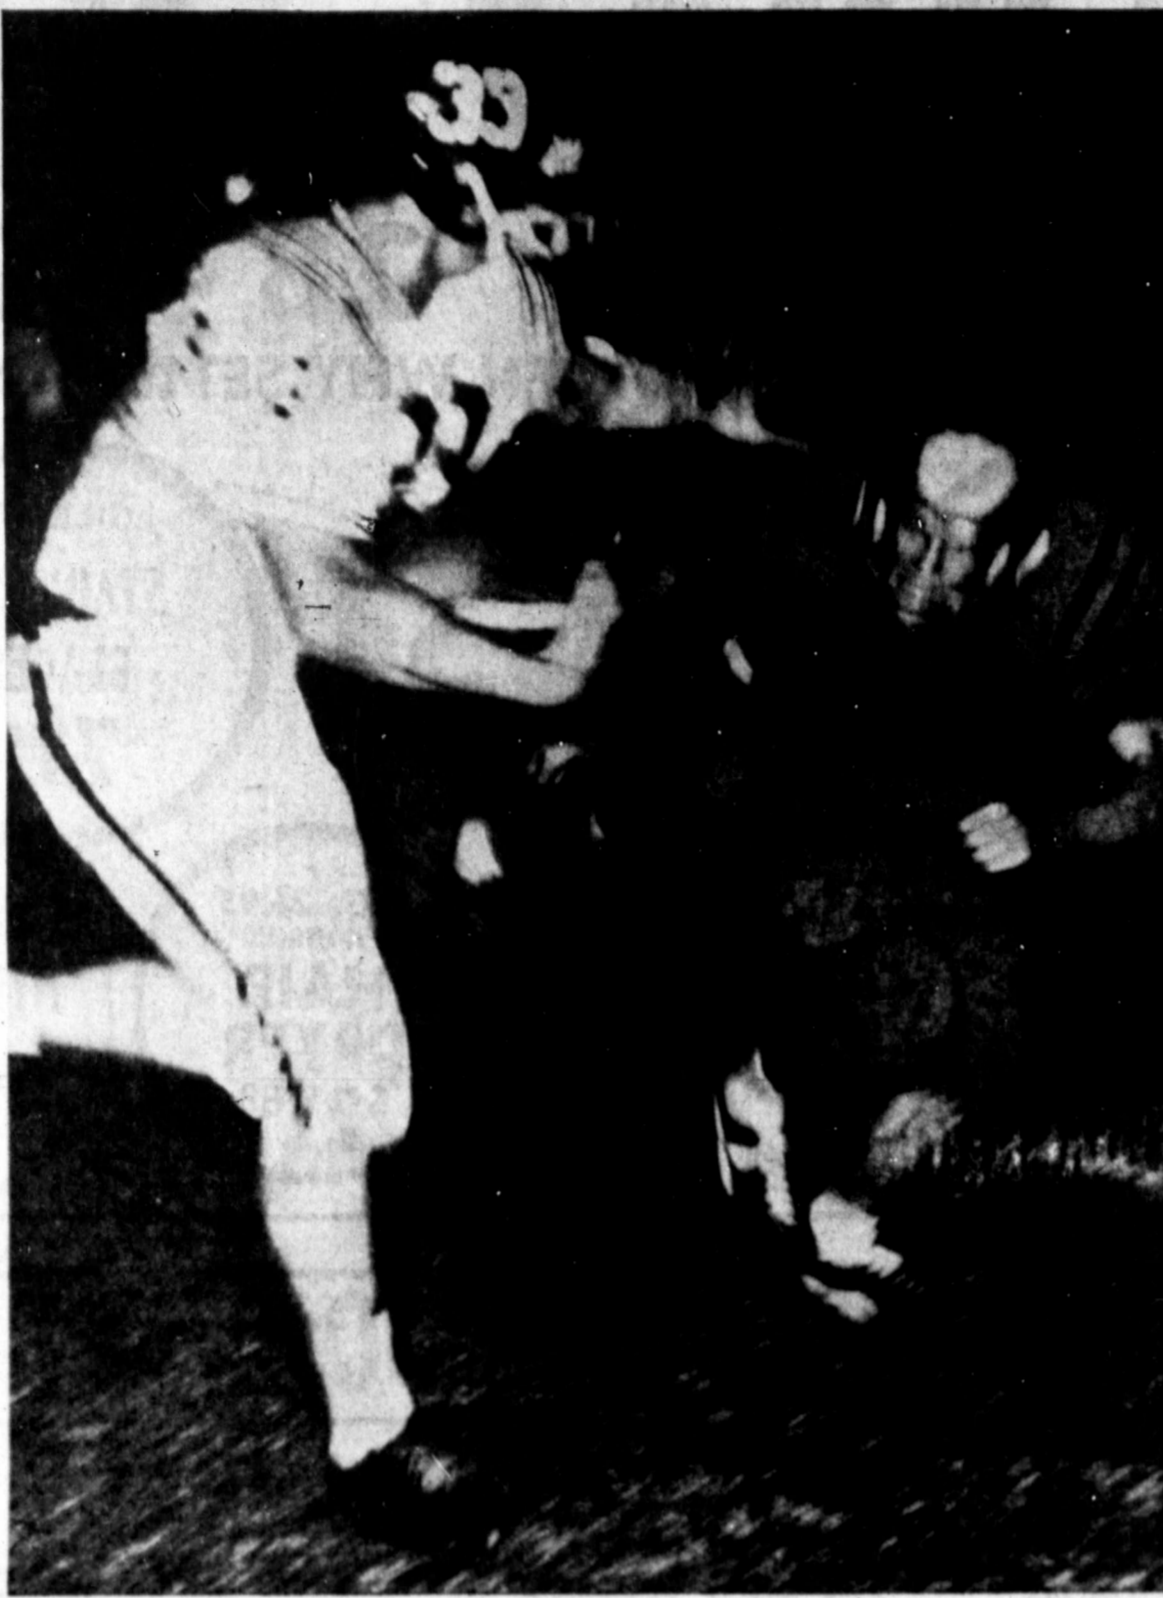

Quarterback Jimmy Sturdevant ran the ball to the three-yard line and fullback Mike Crow bulled over to tie the score. The conversion run was stopped.

Graham and Crockett again moved the ball into Cyclone-land, but Waites intercepted a Johnny Fuller aerial and returned it to the Tiger 37. With a minute left in the half, Sturdevant engineered a drive to the one-foot line and went over from there himself just before the halftime whistle for a 12-6 lead.

McLean threatened twice in the third quarter, moving to the Memphis 41 before fumbling again, and then Graham and Crockett later plowing to the host 15, where the Cyclones held. Memphis penetrated on a pass to James Odum, but the Tigers held in turn.

Early in the fourth quarter, the Memphis pass defense clicked again, with an interception on their 45 by Odum. Two plays later, Sturdevant fired a scoring bomb to Odum for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

In the closing minutes of the game, the Tigers took the ball on their 40, went into the tackle-eligible formation, and Fuller fired a touchdown pass to Patton, who toed the extra point to finish the scoring.

Louisiana State U Shuts Out Florida

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Louisiana State's powerful running backs converted two Florida errors into scoring assaults and a 14-0 upset victory Saturday before a record 48,000 homecoming crowd.

LSU, robbed of an aerial attack by the absence of injured quarterback Pat Screen, used burly halfback Danny Leblanc and fullback Donald Schwab as a two-pronged ground spearhead. Relief caller Bill Ezell, working behind a solid forward wall, overwhelmed the Florida defenders through constant use of these two battering rams.

A misjudged pass from Florida quarterback Tommy Shannon gave LSU an interception which produced the first touchdown and later Gator rushing star Larry Dupree fumbled to give the Tigers their second scoring play.

But Shannon and Dupree produced Florida's only dangerous drives into LSU territory. The Tiger pass defense broke up many of Shannon's long passes but he still produced the yardage which took Florida to the LSU four-yard line for the best Gator effort.

Dupree joined Shannon in holding LSU within their own territory for most of the second period. But he could not overcome the fine defensive play of fullback Mike Vincent, guard Robie Hucklebridge and right end Bill Truax.

Trull Heads Baylor Romp Over Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Baylor's Don Trull fired touchdown passes of 33, 12 and 27 yards to Lawrence Elkins Saturday and plunged one yard for another to lead the Bears to an easy 34-7 victory over Texas A&M.

The three scoring receptions by Elkins, a 197-pound junior halfback, tied a Southwest Conference record.

Baylor's reserves scored a touchdown late in the game on a five yard pass from Bobby Maples to Dwain Heath. It was set up by Donnie Laurene's interception that gave the Bears the ball on the Aggie 14.

Texas A&M drove 55 yards in 11 plays late in the game for its only score. Quarterback Charles LaGrange plunged over from the one-foot line.

The victory pushed Baylor to a 4-1 record and fanned hope for a bowl game bid. Texas A&M now has a 1-4-1 mark.

The Bears built up a 21-0 halftime lead, holding the Aggies to only 65 yards and two first downs in the process. For the game, Baylor led the Aggies 19-7 in first downs.

Elkins, No. 3 pass receiver in the nation, pulled in a total of 10 passes in the game for 156 yards. Trull had 70 completions in four games for second place in the nation, two behind the leader, George Mira of Miami, Fla. He completed 16 more Saturday.

A&M missed an early scoring opportunity when George Hargett stole the ball from Elkins after he caught a pass on the Bear 10. But Baylor held and Bobby Lee was wide on a 30-yard field goal.

Trull moved the Bears 80 yards in five plays for the first touchdown, passing the final 33 yards to Elkins who was by himself inside the 10 yard line. Tom Davies kicked the first of four extra points.

Alabama In Close Win Over Uoffl

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Benny Nelson, a halfback with a built-in rocket engine, scored one touchdown on a 35-yard run and caught a pass for another Saturday to lead fifth-ranked Alabama to a 21-13 victory over winless Houston.

En route to his finest day and Alabama's fifth win, Nelson ripped Houston's defense to shreds, averaging 9.9 yards per carry, although he had to fight for every inch most of the day.

Nelson gained 99 yards rushing and 24 yards passing to account for 123 yards of Alabama's grand total of 322 yards gained.

The Cougars, who prior to this game had never scored a touchdown against Alabama, put a scare in the Crimson Tide on passes from junior quarterback Jack Skogg to junior halfback Mike Spratt.

The combination was good for 41 yards and a touchdown in the second period to tie it up at the half and clicked again in the last quarter for 75 yards and another touchdown.

MSU Defeats Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — Half pint halfback Sherman Lewis ran 87 yards for one touchdown and caught a 29-yard pass for another in a one-man show which carried Michigan State to a 15-7 triumph over ninth-ranked Northwestern Saturday.

Lewis began Northwestern's downfall when Northwestern defensemen Jim Dau and Mike Buckner batted Steve Juday's pass into the air in the end zone and Lewis gathered it in for the first Spartan score.

Lewis set up the clincher when he made one of the day's two interceptions of passes by Northwestern ace Tom Myers. Then he made his 87-yard dash.

Don Anderson Leads Tech Over SMU Mustangs, 13-6

DALLAS (UPI) — Sophomore halfback Donny Anderson ran, snagged passes and punted two touchdowns favored Southern Methodist on submission Saturday in leading Texas Tech to a 13-6 Southwest Conference victory.

Anderson's 68-yard punt in the first quarter and two which were killed around the SMU five-yard line kept the Mustangs in the hole most of the afternoon.

Anderson gained 109 yards in 19 carries and caught five passes for 40 yards in pushing Tech out in front to stay in the second quarter.

Texas Takes 10-6 Win From Rice

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The accurate bare toe of kicker Tony Crosby and quarterbacking of Duke Carlisle overcame a charged-up Rice University defense Saturday night to give the top-rated University of Texas a 10-6 victory.

Texas, for its fifth consecutive game, marched over its opponent's goal line to score the first time it got possession of the ball. Tailback Tommy Ford scampered 33 yards for the touchdown that provided enough margin for the win.

Crosby kicked the extra point, his 19th consecutive without a miss, and made a 22-yard field goal in the second quarter to give the No. 1 ranked Longhorns their victory margin.

After Texas marched 73 yards in 10 plays to score in the first period, Rice, with alternate quarterback Walter McReynolds directing the Owl attack, drove 71 yards for its only score. Guard Tommy Nobis blocked the extra point try.

Arizona Defeats West Texas, 6-3

CANYON, Tex. (UPI) — Quarterback Eddie Bricker's six-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter Saturday gave the University of Arizona a 6-3 victory over West Texas State.

Bricker's run midway in the final period capped a 52-yard drive and caught the Buffaloes waiting for a third-down pass.

Neither team mounted a serious threat the rest of the game.

Ollie Ross kicked a 32-yard field goal in the second quarter for a 3-0 West Texas lead and its only score of the game. It looked as if the slim margin would be enough until Bricker disappointed a West Texas homecoming crowd of 17,376 by punching across the touchdown.

Stanford Stuns Notre Dame Irish

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Underdog Stanford, spurred to fighting fever by the brilliant running and passing of halfback Steve Thurlow, pulled one of the season's big football upsets Saturday when it stunned heavily favored Notre Dame, 24-14.

With Thurlow, a former quarterback now playing from the left half spot, running for two touchdowns and passing for a third, the oft-beaten Indians spotted the Irish a touchdown in the first period but came roaring back to take a 17-14 lead early in the third quarter and retain ball control the rest of the way.

It was Stanford's first victory over Notre Dame in three meetings — and to make matters worse for the Irish, the famed Four Horsemen of the 1925 Notre Dame victory over the Indians were in the stands watching the battle.

While Thurlow was the back field hero of the game, a 230-pound tackle named Al Hildebrand spent most of the sunny afternoon in the Notre-Dame backfield knocking over the Irish ball carriers.

Minnesota Nips Michigan, 6-0

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Minnesota punched over a second period touchdown and protected it with defensive muscle and lady luck for a 6-0 victory over Michigan in college football's Little Brown Jug classic.

The Gophers scored early in the second period. The surge went 42 yards in 10 plays with little Jerry Pelletier posting the touchdown on a six-yard dash through the middle. Stan Skjel's kick was wide.

After that the Gophers were content to protect the slim lead with defensive stars Carl Eller, Frank Marchlewski, Milt Sunde and Willie Costanza.

Hebert Leads Harvesters To Second Loop Victory

PLAINVIEW (Spl) — Kenny Hebert led the Pampa Harvesters in their greatest offensive explosion of the year here last night as the Green 'n Gold slaughtered the Plainview Bulldogs, 47-15.

The Dogs, led by Tom Sawyer, made a game of it in the first half, twice leading by one-point margins, but Hebert, passing for three touchdowns, running for two, kicking two extra points and passing for two more, made a shambles out of the game. Sawyer was ejected from the contest in the fourth quarter after a slugging session with Mike Bridges, and without the tall blond, the Bulldogs were no longer in the game.

Both teams started out with trick plays, Plainview running a shotgun offense and Pampa two-platooning after every play, but the two squads quickly settled down and played football. Plainview scored first when they recovered a fumble on the Harvester 20, and three plays later, Joe Don Ford went up the middle for one yard and the score. Trent Jordan kicked the extra point.

Rickey Stewart returned the kickoff to the 38 and Ronnie Oler went to the 44. Hebert then rolled out on the option, bounced off four tacklers and turned on the speed for a 56-yard TD run. The conversion run failed and Plainview led 7-6.

Pampa came right back as Hank Henry recovered a Dog fumble on their 45 as the first quarter ended. Runs by Oler and Hebert and a pass to Stewart moved the pig to the 33 and Jerry Garrison then sprinted around left end and into the clear to paydirt. Hebert passed to Criss with 10:48 left in the half for a 14-7 lead.

The stubborn Bulldogs came right back as Sawyer led them to three first downs and Robert Barnett ran to the Pampa seven. Mike Buchanan got a yard and Sawyer ran right for the touchdown with 7:03 left. Ford took a pitchout for the two-pointer and a 15-14 lead.

That was the last growl out of the Bulldog as Hebert took the kick on his three and tied to the Plainview 40. It took Pampa five plays to score, with the big gainer being a 19-yard run on a fake pitchout by Hebert, to the 10. Kenny then rolled out and fired into the end zone, with Stewart making a great leaping catch for the score.

Sawyer went to the air lanes, and with 25 seconds left in the half, Hebert intercepted a pass on the Plainview 38 and returned it for a score with 10 seconds left, kicking the extra point for a 27-15 halftime lead.

The second half was all Pampa, despite a pile of penalties, as Hebert ran one backfield and Phil Smith and Larry Johnson alternated quarterbacking the other. Eugene "Bandit" Madrid took the kickoff on the 16, handed off to Garrison, with both of them faking out the whole Plainview team, and Jerry rambled to the 46. Pampa scored in seven plays, with Stewart, Oler, Madrid, Garrison and Red Griffith carrying the mail and

Billy Lothridge Leads GT Win

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bobbing Georgia Tech took advantage of Tulane fumbles Saturday to come from behind and score a 17-3 Southeastern Conference victory at Sugar Bowl Stadium.

Quarterback Billy Lothridge ran, passed, and kicked for all of the Tech points.

The homecoming crowd of about 15,000 watched Tulane grab a 3-0 lead in the second quarter and hold on to it until five minutes remained in the third quarter.

Then the Greenies started fumbling and lost their sixth game of the season and their 17th straight over a two-year period. It was Tech's fourth win against two losses this year.

Fumbles cost Tech several chances to score and set up the situation for Don Bright of Tulane to kick a 26-yard field goal in the second quarter.

Lothridge put Tech out front in the third quarter with a touchdown and the 16th field goal in his collegiate career.

The field goal put him within one of the national collegiate record held by Ed Dyer of Auburn.

Oklahoma Coasts By Kansas State, 34-9

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — Fullback Jim Grisham scored on a 56-yard burst Saturday and halfback Lance Rentel scampered 71 yards with a punt return to power Oklahoma University to a 34-9 triumph over Kansas State in a Big Eight Conference football clash.

Grisham, who gained 152 yards on 20 carries, scored the first touchdown for the seventh-rated Sooners on a one-yard smash in the first period. Rentel, who picked up 87 yards on 5 carries, turned in his brilliant punt return score minutes later in the same period.

Quarterback Bobby Page also scored for Oklahoma on a 1-yard run and halfback Jackie Cowan added another on a four-yard run. George Jarman kicked four of his five conversion attempts.

Kansas State jumped off to a surprising 3-0 lead on a 26-yard field goal by Jerry Cook early in the first period. With Oklahoma out of reach, Bill Matan picked up a blocked field goal and raced 72 yards for a Wildcat touchdown in the final quarter.

Grisham's 56-yard run with just over 2 minutes left in the game ended this scoring.

The Sooners' ground game picked up 441 yards, compared to only 105 for the Wildcats. Kansas State's passing attack never got started Saturday as the big Sooner line consistently spilled quarterback Larry Corrigan for heavy losses. The Wildcats gained 55 yards in the air and Oklahoma collected 48 on passes.

The Kansas State homecoming crowd of 14,000 whooped it up when Jim Crechus intercepted the first pass of the game on the Wildcats 29. In 10 plays Kansas State moved to the Oklahoma 9, where Cook booted his field goal for the 3-0 lead.

Bowling

By MAXINE HAWKINS

Again the Pampa women bowlers are winning honors in the Western Open tournament in Amarillo. Des Watson became a member of the International "60" Bowling Club for the series she rolled in the "B" singles event. Des's games were 217, 203, and 168 for a 618 series in "B" singles. Mary Pryor rolled games of 204, 207 and 167 for a 578 series. Elisen Greer rolled games of 236, 153, and 181 for a 570 series in "A" singles.

Wilber Waggoner was unable to carry the load of his team, Pampa Lumber Co., as they lost three to Crossman Appliance. Wilber rolled games of 179, 213 and 199 for a 591. Teammate Ray Covatt had one strike and one spare the first game for an even 100. Improving a little the second game, Ray had one strike and two spares for a 115. The third game he found four strikes but failed to spare for a 125 game. Another team member, Walden Haynes started the series with a 105 game, but improved a little as the evening wore on. Better luck next week!

Bill Hinkle was having his troubles, too. Bill's only mark one game was a double which gave him a 112. Minnie Cable managed to string six strikes, but scored only 188. Joe Sears rolled games of 125, 116 and 91. Glenn Sanders had a 112 game, but then rolled a 181. Carl Beavers rolled games of 131, 208 and 176. Jerry Peurifoy went from 193 to 119. Gerald Smith was off with a slow start with a 119, but then had games of 170 and 219. Dorris Houck followed the same pattern with games of 97, 144 and 180. Buddy Epperson was well on his way to a 600 with games of 193 and 202, but then—146. Jackie Evans rolled a 183 and a 96. Vi Dunham had a 171 and a 119.

The First National Bank team bowled like pros the first game.

but then they really fell apart. Jeannie Seitz dropped from 181 to 130. Eloise Woldt went from 192 to 126. Beth Ramsey fell from 173 to 119.

Bill Richardson is shooting consistently as last week he rolled a 602 series, and this week he had a 609. Bill Abernathy had a 608 series.

Lonnie Harmon has been getting quite a lot of practice shooting at splits and it paid off as he pulled down the 4-6. Red Payne picked up the 6-7-10. Other big splits converted were: Jeanette Nail, 4-10; Virginia Herring, 3-7; Charlotte Tribble, 5-7-8; and Peg Kastein, 4-10.

Bobby Nutt had an unusual series. His average was 173, and he rolled a triplicate score of 173. The only other one we know of in Pampa was two weeks ago when Jim Ragain rolled a triplicate of 157, his average exactly.

Peg Kastein rolled a 567 series with games of 189, 179, and 199. Barbara Moore had a 200 game for a 550 series. Navy Tops Pittsburgh 24-12

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Navy intercepted three passes and recovered a key fumble to stop Pittsburgh Saturday in handing the nation's third-ranked team a 24-12 loss before a record crowd of 30,231, including Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy.

End Jim Campbell, a Homestead, Pa., native, proved to be what the Panthers hadn't reckoned for as he took seven passes for 92 yards plus a 13-yard return with an intercepted aerial in sparking two of Navy's three touchdowns drives.

Even though Roger Staubach, Navy's All-America quarterback candidate, was thrown for long losses repeatedly all afternoon by burly Pitt linemen, he still managed to drop the Panthers

IPA Asks Chance To Urge Changes On Oil Imports

WASHINGTON (Sp) — The Independent Petroleum Association of America has asked Interior Secretary Stewart Udall for an opportunity to "present recommendations with respect to changes" in the Mandatory Oil Import program.

Harold Decker, IPAA president of Houston, wrote the Interior Secretary that the IPAA membership will meet in Dallas Oct. 28-29, and "review the import program for the purpose of determining means whereby the program could be made more effective."

"In this effort," Decker said, "we hope to be constructive and of assistance to you and your department." He requested an opportunity to present IPAA's views "before final decisions are made by the government as to the (import) program for 1964."

The IPAA president said experience had provided "increasing evidence that a sound program of restricting oil imports is essential in the interest of national security."

"The domestic petroleum industry continues to suffer from depressed conditions," he said. "Exploration and drilling trends continue downward. If the oil import program is to serve its objective of maintaining a vigorous and healthy domestic industry, the program must be strengthened in every way possible."

Decker commended Udall and other officials of the Department of Interior having responsibility with respect to oil imports "for constructive efforts in support of a more effective program."

Lefors Man to Retire After 42 Years of Service

John F. Stevens, who has completed 42 years of service with The Texas Pipe Line Company, will retire from the Wichita Falls Division of the Company at Lefors, effective November 1, it was announced today by W. T. Palmer, division manager.

Stevens is a native of Glen Rose, Texas, and attended public schools at Bowie, Texas. He first joined The Texas Pipe Line Company at Burkburnett in 1919 as a laborer. He worked there as a pump station engineer, assistant gauger, delivery gauger and gauger until 1924 when he left to work for Noble Oil and Gas Company.

Stevens returned to work for The Texas Pipe Line Company at Verran in 1925 and worked there until 1928 when he transferred to Kings Mill, Texas. He has been in the Panhandle District since that time and will retire from service as a District Gauger at Lefors.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens live at Lefors and plan to continue there after retirement.

FCP Must Decide Pipeline Battle For Gas Market

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Any way you look at it, $412,386,000 is a lot of money. But that is what three interstate pipeline companies are ready to put up as the next installment in a long and bitter fight for the Southern California natural gas market.

The three — El Paso Natural Gas Co., Transwestern Pipeline Co., Houston, and Gulf Pacific Pipeline Co., Houston — have now filed with the Federal Power Commission (FPC) construction or expansion applications adding up to that figure.

The filings were made under ground rules set up by the FPC to bring the rivalry to a head in an orderly manner and under one tent. Other steps will follow. It will then be the commission's task to decide whether El Paso and Transwestern, which already have firm footholds in the market, must share it with Gulf Pacific which proposes to build an industrial gas line from Texas to California. Or whether Gulf Pacific, a subsidiary of Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., Houston, must retreat in frustration as Tennessee did once before.

Buy Big Volumes
El Paso and Transwestern look upon Gulf Pacific as an interloper. So do Pacific Light and Gas Co., and its two subsidiaries, Southern California and Southern Counties Gas Companies. These three already buy big volumes of gas from El Paso and Transwestern and have long-term contracts for increased deliveries as the market expands.

But they will lose their biggest industrial customers, Southern California Edison Co. and the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, if Gulf Pacific gets FPC authority to build its $313,923,000 boiler fuel line. Gulf has contracts to that effect but it will forfeit them if it can't begin deliveries by July 1, 1965.

El Paso would add $51 million of facilities to its present system and Transwestern $39,490,000 worth. In addition both have smaller expansion proposals pending.

The FPC, in its role of Solomon, has now reached the point where it can begin the tedious process of determining who is entitled to what and what future prices the consuming public would have to pay. It has stressed that the public interest must come first.

The first step was to require the companies to submit their proposals by Oct. 12. This has been done. The FPC then put a Nov. 5 deadline on the filing of interventions. Then, on Nov. 18 a joint hearing of all the parties will be held here to find

Labor Leaders Call for Shorter Hours, More Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An AFL-CIO spokesman has stated the fact that a recent upsurge in production did not make a dent in heavy unemployment showed the need for a 35-hour week and increased public works spending to create more jobs.

AFL-CIO Research Director Nathaniel Goldfinger said the jobless ratio held steady at 5.6 per cent of the labor force during the past year while the nation's output of goods and services rose by $31.7 billion.

The third-quarter advance in the Gross National Product — the barometer of output — reached a two-year peak of $8.9 billion but unemployment did not show any significant drop this summer, Goldfinger added.

Instead, the economy expanded just enough to provide jobs for 1 million more persons — the same number who entered the labor force looking for work during the past 12 months.

Goldfinger said an "extraordinary" rise in productivity — output per man-hour — was mainly responsible for the paradox of rising production without corresponding increases in job openings.

More than three-fourths of the U.S. population suffers from poverty at some time, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Tulsa Defends Title 'As World Oil Capital

By TRAVIS HUGHES
United Press International
TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Tulsa is the "Oil Capital of the World," no matter what is believed in some quarters down in Texas, back east or up in Canada.

And any place, large or small, that thinks the title can be dislodged easily is mistaken.

Tulsa and its citizens take pride in their heritage as the hub of the petroleum business. And nothing stirs up a Tulsan faster than an intimation that some other city is laying claim to the Oil Capital title.

John Leland, writing in the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce magazine, relates that the "upstarts" are at it again.

"Hardly a year passes," laments Leland, "without somebody gunning for its title of Oil Capital of the World."

Just an Upstart
"This year, an upstart in Canada proceeded to proclaim itself the Oil Capital of the World. Drayton Valley, with a population of 3,800, got carried away with its 10th anniversary celebration of the discovery of oil, and the local citizens decided to give themselves No. 1 billing.

"It still comes as somewhat of a shock for a Tulsan to drive into New Mexico and as he nears the outskirts of Hobbs, in the prolific oil fields of the Permian Basin, to see a sign: 'Hobbs, the Oil Capital of the World,'" wrote Leland.

In a stroke of diplomacy, Leland and other Tulsans leave Houston and the booming Texas Gulf Coast free to call themselves "The Natural Gas Capital of the World" or anything else—as long as its not "the Oil Capital."

Don't Think Oil
Some Tulsa oil firms have moved to Houston and the coastal area did give birth to such giants as Humble, Gulf, and Texaco which have big offices in Houston. But the Texans, despite what is generally believed, don't really "think" oil like Tulsans.

As an example, Houston currently calls itself "the Space City."

Facts and figures aside, Tulsa is the oil capital because the petroleum industry itself looks on the city as its home. Tulsa is the headquarters for at least eight national trade and professional associations representing various branches of the industry.

The Genetic Code — by Isaac Asimov; the first book for the layman to explain the story of this fantastic breakthrough in molecular biology.

Basketball's Greatest Stars — by Al Hirschberg; the author has put together accurate and sympathetic portraits of the men who have helped to make basketball one of the country's most popular spectator sports.

No. 10 Downing Street — by R. H. Minney; No. 10 Downing Street, the headquarters of Britain's Prime Minister, has been the constant witness to the changing fortunes of a nation, and its biography provides fascinating reading.

The Expectant Mariner — by Shirley Deane; a gay and ebullient account of a family's adventures, weathering storms and grappling with every sort of emergency, will delight those who prefer to take their nautical adventures ashore, and lure travelers to make notes for their own future trips.

No longer is it enough to gouge out eyes and a snaggle-toothed mouth to make a jack-o'-lantern. "Sculpt" is the word for what to do these days, and some of the results are delightful. A linoleum knife, paring knife with a saw-tooth edge, grease pencil, tempera paint and odds-and-ends for decorations are the things you'll need. Examples reproduced here are top pumpkins. They were contest entries submitted by American Greetings artists in Cleveland, Ohio.

Holiday Symbols May Be Removed From Liquor Ads

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — Santa Claus may bring cheer to thousands of New Mexico children this year, but he may not be seen with any liquor in his hands.

Santa, along with other holiday symbols, will disappear from newspaper liquor advertisements in the state if regulations submitted by the state liquor director are approved.

Liquor Director Howard Babcock this week submitted proposed regulations for control of liquor advertising — including the expulsion of Santa Claus — to the attorney general.

The regulations do not cover radio and television advertising of liquor, already controlled by the Federal Communications Commission.

The new regulations will prohibit liquor advertisement references to Santa Claus, Mother's Day, Holy Week and Easter.

Pictures and statements utilizing athletes also will be prohibited, as well as pictures of women which are "immodest, undignified or in bad taste."

Patriotic symbols, such as the American flag or any emblem of the state or nation also will be prohibited, Babcock said as will any reference to the armed forces.

Nuptial Vows Read In Home Wedding

CANADIAN (Spl) — In a recent ceremony performed in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Crawford of Spearman, Miss Mary Louise Crawford became the bride of Harry James Thompson. Mr. Thompson is the son of Mrs. J. Lloyd Thompson and the late Mr. Thompson of Midland.

The Rev. Charles K. Gates, pastor of the First Methodist Church performed the ceremony before a long draped window flanked by tree candelabra holding honey beige candles. Grape clusters and ivy hung from the candelabra and were twined about the wrought iron balustrade of the stairway which the wedding party descended before the ceremony. Decorations of grapes, ivy and candles were used on the table where guests were registered and on the bride's table at the far end of the room.

The bride wore an informal gown of champagne imported silk with matching hat and shoes. Her corsage was made of green cymbidium orchids.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Roger Odegaard, who was attired in a darker shade of beige and wore a corsage of beige cymbidium orchids.

Scott Thompson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Miss Lois Thompson, sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests.

The bride's table was laid with a white net cloth over dark brown and featured a three-tiered wedding cake topped with an angel. Punch was also served, with Linda Holt, a cousin of the bride, presiding. Mrs. Larry Porter served the cake. Following a wedding trip to New Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are at home at the Brainard Ranch east of Spearman. Mrs. Thompson resided in Canadian until her marriage.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Harry V. Robertson and Miss Newell Cummins of Dennison; Mrs. J. Lloyd Thompson of Midland; Mrs. J. Wyman Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Jack King and Karol of Canadian, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Porter of Amarillo.

World Traveler, Writer and Minister, Rev. Frank Peery, Will Address UCW

Rev. Frank Peery of Muleshoe, writer, minister, traveler, Chairman of the Board of Christian Social Concerns, Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church, will be guest speaker when the United Church Women meet on November 1. Mrs. John Nutting, program chairman, reports that the Rev. Peery was a member of a Churchmen's Study Tour of Europe and the Soviet Union. He spent seven weeks traveling in those countries in the summer of 1962. Seventeen days were spent in the Soviet Union. Rev. Peery was a most prepared observer. In addition to extensive study before he left, he arranged all sorts of elaborate checks on the sincerity and integrity of his hosts. Some of his findings will be the theme of his talk to the United Church Women, according to Mrs. Nutting.

Rev. Frank Peery

program will begin promptly at 10 a.m. in the Chapel. Women have been asked to bring friendship kits as part of their offering for this occasion. These consist of two wash cloths pinned together on 3 sides with safety pins. Placed inside is a child's toothbrush, a tube of toothpaste, a bar of soap, a comb, hand-aid, a tube of vaseline, and a hand towel. A small toy, a box of crayons, or a pencil and a pad of paper may be added if there is room. The completed packet is pinned across the top. These packets will be used in Santiago, Chile and in certain areas in Brazil where United Church Women maintain extensive programs of classes in sanitation, health, nutrition and child care. Mrs. Kermit Lawson, president will preside over a brief business meeting. Officers for 1964 will be elected. A nursery will be provided.

Kappa Alpha Holds Acceptance Dinner

A blaze of autumn flowers and leaves decorated the dining room of the Court House Cafe recently for the acceptance dinner of the Kappa Alpha chapter of Kappa Kappa Iota sorority. Returning members and initiates were welcomed and given a preview of the activities for the year by Judy Neslage, president.

The highlight of the festivities for the evening was a review of Joe Flannan's entertaining best seller, "Never Tease a Dinosaur", given by Mrs. Ruth Holladay. The book concerns an amusing but all too true account of the experiences of a male elementary school teacher.

Attending were members: Geraldine Rampey, Stella Kizer, Peggy Turner, Shiela Chisolm, Ann Collard, and Sue Durham; Mmes. John Best, Wynn Veal.

El Progreso Has Guest Day Tea

The auditorium of Lovett Memorial Library was decorated with cowboy boots, chaps, branding irons, spurs, and other forms of Western motif for the Annual Guest Day Tea of the El Progreso Club recently. Mrs. Charles Lanehart, president, introduced Mrs. Dudley Steele, who reviewed the book, "The Restless Land" by John Culp, following the theme for the year, "Texas."

Mrs. Lanehart used a unique introduction quoting remarks of Mrs. Steele in lieu of excerpts from commentaries. Mrs. Steele is a well known speaker in the area, and succeeded in making her review a real tour of the Old West and early Ranch Country. Costumed for her role as reviewer, Mrs. Steele portrayed each character of the book from the old-time cowboy to "Lil, the Dance Hall girl."

During the social hour, 56 guests and members were served from the beautifully decorated tea table, covered with a green cloth and centered by an arrangement of maize and mums held in a copper bowl. Copper serving pieces completed the appointment. Hostesses for the event were Mmes. Kermit Lawson, Bob McCoy, Glen Radcliff and Lonnie Richardson. Guests attending from Pampa were Mmes. C. O. Drew, F. R. Spears Jr., Charles Wooley, W. C. Mitchell, Roy Lee McCoy, Bernard Johnson, Glen Nichols, John Zuerker, W. F. Members of Twentieth Century Forum Club Hear Autobiography Reviewed

Members of the Twentieth Century Forum Club met recently in the home of Mrs. M. McDaniel, 1800 Charles. After a business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Felix Vendril, president, Mrs. James Harris presented the program, following the theme for the year, "She Walks in Beauty". Mrs. Harris reviewed a book "The Stars at Noon", by Jacqueline Cochran. A quote from her book, "Until I was eight years old, I had no shoes. My bed was usually a pallet on the floor. Food, at best, consisted of the barest essentials — sometimes nothing except what I could forage for myself", gives an idea of the "chance" she had. At eight, she was working a 12 hour night shift in a cotton mill, and at 12 she was an expert beauty operator. A few years later she was associated with Antoine's of New York, and today she owns three cosmetic firms. In 1953, she was voted "Business Woman of the Year".

She started flying in 1932 — when "not more than a few thousand people in the United States had pilots licenses", and now recalls, "Earthbound souls know only the underide of the atmosphere in which they live — but go up higher — above the dust and water vapor, and the sky turns dark until one can see the stars at noon. I have."

Members present for the meeting were Mmes. Harold Barrett, Holt Barker, Arthur Teed, John Sweeny, E. J. Dungan, William-Ellis, Aubrey Steele, Joe Franklin, William Frasier, Homer Johnson, Calvin Jones, D. M. Lawrence and John McCrery.

Attending were members: Geraldine Rampey, Stella Kizer, Peggy Turner, Shiela Chisolm, Ann Collard, and Sue Durham; Mmes. John Best, Wynn Veal.

A demonstration of Swedish tea ring and cinnamon rolls was given by Mrs. Roy Tinsley, president of the club.

It was announced that the all council luncheon will be held Oct. 29 at 10 a.m. with delegates to the State Convention giving reports, and Christmas suggestions being offered.

Members present at the meeting were Mmes. Matilda Smith, N. B. Cude, W. G. Kinzer, Stella Wagner, O. G. Smith and guests, Mrs. Minnie Hogan and Mrs. James Ormand.

Howdy Partner Party Enjoyed

A "Howdy Partner" party was held recently at the Bar T Ranch at Lefors with Mr. and Mrs. Tooter Henry as hosts. Guests introduced themselves and paid "one old shoe" for admission. Contests were held with Linda Taylor winning first place in the Twist, and Don Hill and Vick Bridwell winning the old shoe contest. The boys won the tug o' war. Hot dogs, marshmallows, potato chips and cokes were served to the guests.

Twentieth Century Club Hears Ways of Aiding Handicapped

The Twentieth Century Club recently held a meeting in the home of Mrs. Jack Stroup. Mrs. Tom Rose, president, called the meeting to order and read the "Thought for the Day" entitled "The Art of Peace", by Wilfred A. Peterson.

Following the Pledge of Allegiance, Mrs. Jack Stroup, secretary, read the minutes which were approved and the treasurer's report and budget which was accepted.

Mrs. G. F. Branson presented a "Texas Fact" for her committee on Texas Heritage. Mrs. David Tucker reported for the Fine Arts Committee. Mrs. Kermit Lawson was presented and accepted as a nominee for the office of vice-president for the District. The club voted to terminate the associated membership of Mrs. Frank Culberson and instate her in active membership.

Mrs. Bill Roots introduced the program which was given by Mrs. Jack Foster. The "Exceptional Child", as defined by Mrs. Foster is one with fundamental motives and drives common to children in general but with these characteristics: there is a specific handicap or condition that requires special service. In tracing the history of society's reaction to these individuals from the earliest recorded time, it has been found that in Pre-historic times it was a case of survival of the fittest, and this was the pattern of existence even as man moved into tribal life. The Greeks and Romans made it legal for the father to destroy the child at birth. In the "Middle Ages", the afflicted ones were exploited as "Fools" or "Jesters" for the amusement of the nobility.

The religious orders of the day provided the only refuge for the unfortunates. Dr. Jean Iord of Paris, with his work on the abandoned boy of the Areyon Forrest, is considered the first scientific experimenter which brought about the change of custodial care to medical treatment and education for the child. 1848 marks the first school for the handicapped in the United States, The Massachusetts School for the Feeble-minded. Laura Bridgman was the first deaf, blind, and mute child to receive attention, and from her experiences, as related by Charles Dickens, Helen Keller's mother was determined to obtain help for her. "Much is still to be desired from society," stated Mrs. Foster. "There needs to be established diagnosis centers, acceptance of responsibility, industrial absorption for work in the ability ranges and accelerated research programs". With the facilities, 75 to 85 per cent can be made self supporting, a remainder can provide for themselves with some sufficiency and only 5 per cent will need be institutionalized.

Pampa is fortunate in having two classrooms, one at Sam Houston and the second at Young's Junior High School for youths up to 20 years of age. Also, the Exceptional Children's Association with the purpose to provide extra equipment for these children in order to enlarge their social horizons. Through generosity of various clubs and organizations it has been possible to establish a swimming program, Boy Scout Troop, Church School, art class and Speech Diagnostic Clinic, parties, and plans for a bowling team."

During the remainder of the business meeting, the president appointed Mrs. Jim O'Connor to serve as scrapbook chairman, and closed the meeting with the members repeating the Club Collectible.

Members attending were: Mmes. G. F. Branson, W. R. Campbell, Jack Foster, J. W. Gordon, Paul Harbaugh, Raymond Harrah, V. J. Jamleson, R. E. McKernan, Fred Neslage, James O'Connor, Bill Roots, Tom Rose, R. H. Sanford, R. W. Stowers, Jack Stroup, H. R. Thompson, David Tucker and F. M. Culberson.

NEW YORK (UPI) — There seems no end to new products for the motorist — and no end to motorists' interest in anything designed to improve appearance, performance or safety of their cars.

To stymie the would-be auto thief, Auto-Marine Gard, Inc., Andover, Mass., has designed the Gard-Tron, a replacement ignition lock which incorporates features that respond to tampering by shutting off the fuel supply, applying brakes and blowing a fuse in the circuit that connects the battery to ignition lock.

Stumbling Blocks Befall Women On Way To Executive Positions

WOMAN TO WOMAN By PATRICIA MC CORMACK United Press International NEW YORK (UPI) — Females tip-toeing toward the brink of the executive suite must figure on facing 10 stumbling blocks — notions male bosses have about females with executive potential.

The male who says so bases his say-so on more than a decade's experience helping women to develop their careers in business.

But he's hopeful, claiming that most of the bars to the executive suite are myths that need knocking down.

The male who's going out on a limb on behalf of women with executive potential is Bill Dyer, president of Career Development Services.

He's just come East—to New York—to establish a branch of his firm, an organization he says has proved itself in California by helping women to promotions.

The myths about women in business, as experience has taught Dyer, range from lack of ambition to a weakness that makes them crack under pressure.

Here, in capsule form, are the myths—and Dyer's rebuttals: —Women lack a sense of proportion and don't know how to put first things first. The truth: women are fine organizers. Executives lean very heavily on the judgment of good secretaries. Career women at high level have proved repeatedly that one of their assets is the ability to separate the important from the unimportant.

—Women are unstable and change jobs frequently. The truth: statistics show that women are more stable than men as far as long tenure is concerned. It is true, of course, that women retire at a much earlier age. Aside from this, there are many instances of women who have remained at one firm until the regular retirement age.

—Women are too emotional. The truth: good secretaries have the chore of calming down their bosses. The modern career girl is usually poised and relaxed and keeps any personal problems away from the office.

—Women are not ambitious. The truth: just check the average salaries women are demanding today as compared to a few years ago. They want more money.

—Women are not ambitious. The truth: their own jobs and lack a team sense about the good, old corporation. The truth: women usually are the first to spot trouble points in company operation and they don't hesitate to tell the proper executives. Or—other women who band together to tell the boss.

—Women lack managerial judgment. The truth: if so, then why are so many women in authoritative positions in the retail field.

Dear Abby....
And Now,....
The Defense Rests!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I notice in your column so many people complaining about the high cost of drugs. I, for one, would never complain. If sulpha had been in existence in 1933, I might have had a pair of twin sons celebrating their 30th birthdays this Christmas.

"BLUE BOOTIES"

DEAR ABBY: Today's prescription is the biggest bargain in history. Mozart, the great Austrian composer, died at the age of 35 with a simple fever! Robert Louis Stevenson died at 44 with tuberculosis. Felix Mendelssohn, 38; Jack London, 40; Robert Burns, 37; Chopin, 39; Keats, 26; Lord Byron, 36; Jean Harlow, 26; Rudolph Valentino, 31; George Gershwin, 39; Thomas Wolfe, 38. Think what these talented people might have accomplished had they lived another 30 or 35 years! Modern drugs almost surely would have extended their lives.

NO COMPLAINTS

DEAR ABBY: I was shocked to learn that people are stupid enough to resent not being able to return medicine. There is a law which prohibits returning prescribed drugs. This is for the consumer's protection. How does the pharmacist know what has happened to the drugs once they have left his store? Wouldn't the crooks have a field day ordering drugs in capsule form, extracting the medication, filling the capsules with sugar and returning them to the store!

NEW PILLS, PLEASE

DEAR ABBY: Twenty years ago it took an average of three months' wages to pay the hospital bill resulting from a case of pneumonia. Today, a case of pneumonia can be cured at home—with drugs that cost an average of only five hours' wages. Please be fair, and print this for all those people who think prescribed drugs are "expensive."

C. D. A.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to tell Harold of Gardena a thing or two. He says all the pharmacists in California are paid a minimum of $7 an hour. Ask him where, please? It takes a man six years of college and $10,000 to become a pharmacist. A plumber doesn't need a college education and he earns more. And furthermore, he isn't taking someone's life in his hands every time he picks up a wrench.

Short Color

Your shade of nail polish can play tricks with the shape of your hands. Dark shades make your fingers appear shorter. So, if you have stubby hands and fingers, select pale or colorless nail polish and you will draw less attention to their size.

Accurate Examinations Could Reveal Hidden Vision Defects

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Now that your child's back at school are you sure he really sees all he should?

Your child's school no doubt has an eye examination program. This usually consists of the familiar Snellen chart—lines, letter or symbols of different sizes.

When a child cannot see from a distance of 20 feet the lines prescribed for his age, his parents are informed that a professional examination is in order.

Detects Obvious Defects
Many parents, however, do not realize that passing the school test does not necessarily mean a child is free from a visual problem. The Snellen test was devised only to detect the most obvious vision defects.

The test is recognized as a good one for uncovering nearsightedness—the ability to see at close range but not at a distance.

"It's also good for picking out some forms of astigmatism—a structural fault that blurs part of an otherwise normal vision. But it does not reveal a great many other visual faults."

Inquire about whether your child's school offers other vision screening examinations. Samples: Tests that screen for farsightedness—the ability to see distant but not nearby objects clearly; for color vision; for depth perception; muscle balance of each eye; near and far vision acuity tests.

The latter test shows how clearly a child sees at distances up to 20 inches and at distances beyond 20 feet.

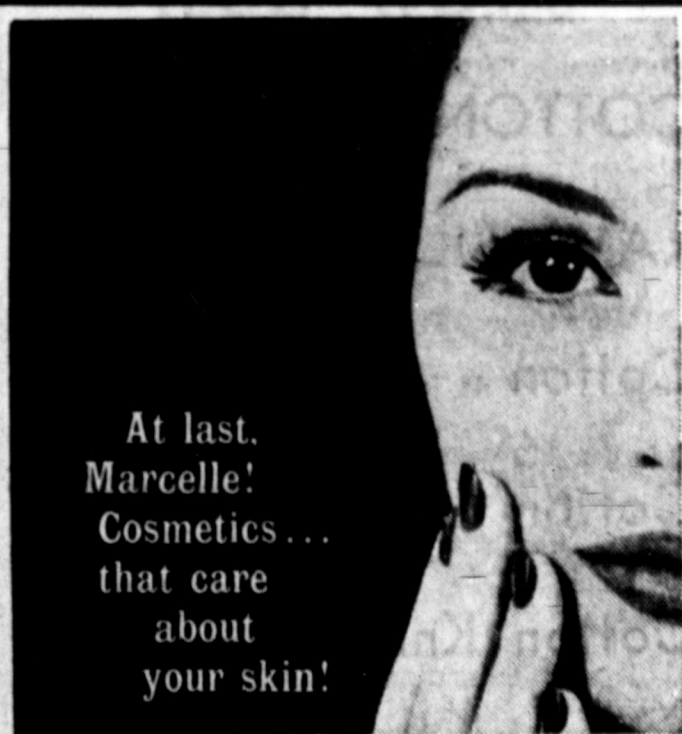

Yearly Examination
But regardless of the tests at school, children's eyes should be examined on a regular yearly basis.

Now if your child already wears glasses, are you sure he wears them all the time—especially when playing? A doctor recently was startled to see his neighbor's son put his glasses in his pocket before he mounted a bike.

An informal survey of children in his neighborhood showed that boys particularly take off their glasses to roller skate, play baseball, touch football, or just plain play.

And yet most of these children should have been wearing their glasses all the time. Why the take-off? Each child queried was afraid he'd break his glasses at play.

Make Ironing an Art

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Pressing means lifting the iron gently over a fabric to smooth out wrinkles, fullness or to open seams. It usually is done with a press-cloth between iron and fabric.

Ironing means pressing down hard on your iron to press out all wrinkles, often to produce a glossy surface.

No matter what the weight or design of the fabric, wool must be pressed thoroughly. Every seam must be pressed with enough dampness between iron and fabric to smooth out any fullness.

Ironing Board: Have a well-padded board—many thicknesses of old worn sheets or blankets—so smooth there could not possibly be a wrinkle.

Ironing Board Covers: Choose a heavy one. Wash and replace when soiled, then put on a new cover. If ironing a fabric whose color runs, remove the fresh cover and use the old.

Pressing Hams, Sleeve and Seam Rolls: Shown here are some pressing essentials—a ham for pressing necklines, armholes, pockets, the little "hard to get at" places in a suit, blouse, dress or coat. Press exactly into the curved portions just as you would flat, only shape it over a ham or sleeve so that you can reach all places without making creases.

A sleeve roll is a great convenience when sewing for children. It allows you to put your iron into the tiny yokes, sleeves, or waist bands easily.

Shown is a "pounding block." Tailors use this for bulky fabrics, to pound the very bulky fabric before, and during steaming and pressing.

Press Cloths: Use a store-bought treated one or use 18x36-inch firm piece of unbleached lint-free muslin. Wet this in warm water, wring, shake, then put over your woolen fabric. This to provide even moisture and prevent shine. Use a hot iron.

When pressing silk, use a piece of cheesecloth next to the fabric. Put your damp press cloth over this to control amount of moisture. Use less heat than for wool.

For man-made fibers, test carefully the heat of your iron for it cannot be hot. Press many as for silk.

Pressing chiffon: Use cheesecloth thin enough to see through. Press carefully so fabric does not stretch.

Net: Requires tissue paper and a moderate iron. Press, don't iron.

Velvet: Have a wire press board for this. Buy a small one. Use a press board for imitation fur and heaviest wools and all deep-pile fabrics. You can trickle moisture very lightly in a seam with your fingers, then press, don't iron.

Leather: Press on the wrong side with dry cloth or tissue under a warm iron. If you need to press very hard, use heavy writing paper or brown wrapping paper under iron.

I saw a pressing pad about 12x24 inches covered with lint-free, scorch-resistant aluminum, ideal to have at your elbow when sewing.

Never 'Out-of-Style', Vests Making Startling Comeback

By HAROLD SHEEHAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—The vest is one of those staples which continues in favor decade in and decade out. It may never make big fashion news. It lurks almost out of sight but visible—like blank parking tickets in a policeman's pocket.

There are two types of vests, matching and casual. The matching vest, that is, one sold with a suit, made a modest comeback about three years ago. Big buyers were from the college set who—clothing experts believe—never wore a vest before and were intrigued by the novelty.

The casual vests are now finding popularity among men who now wear the rough-textured, natural clothing of the day. The vest is a perfect complement to these garments. The styles are as varied as the jackets—solids with metal buttons, paisley prints, plaids and camel hair. And for fall and winter a vest can be a practical garment, as well as good-looking.

Another area where the vest is coming on strong is in the formal department. One major firm this season is pushing hard a neat, dressy vest with a moire finish—one of those strange weaves which changes pattern depending on the viewer's angle. The vest, while looking trim, also serves to keep the formal shirt from misbehaving and eliminates the need for a cumbersome, which some men find uncomfortable.

Politicians and TV Stars Will Join Ghosts and Goblins on Halloween

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Now is the time for witches to test-flight their brooms—and for goblins to practice hop-goblin. Halloween, in case you hadn't noticed, is a frightening one week away.

Just seven days remain to do that ghastly business—shop for hair-raising costumes. You pick through what's offered—skeletons and such—and more and more come up with comic and even political outfits.

Take political. The nation's biggest maker of spook clothes got up the nerve this year to turn out a First Lady and Mr. President costume. If you stretch a fiber, they look a bit like "Jackie and Jack."

Scare Republicans
Since the scare's the thing, apparently children who wear the Kennedy costumes are meant to inflict damage to the nerves of Republicans.

But the poor Republicans will be caught with their scare tactical costumes on the sewing machines—unless they hurry up. To counter the First Lady and Mr. President get-ups they'll have to rely on do-it-yourself stitchery.

No maker of costumes, you see, has seen fit to outfit a child with a Rockefeller, Goldwater, Nixon or Scranton uniform!

Politics aside, the biggest thing in spookswear is something that isn't supposed to happen to ghosts: A whole line of costumes can do double-duty—that is, be worn to dream-land as sleepers after scare-day. Or are they to be worn to nightmare-land?

They're frightening things—like jacks in the box. But among them are nice characters; spotty the pup, teddy the bear, pussy the cat.

Ben Cooper, who makes most of the spook clothes in the nation, says the old faithfuls are take-offs on childish television characters. To name a few: Mickey Mouse, Ko Ko the clown, Deputy Dawg.

Monster Characters Popular
Cooper, who designs a specially scare costume line for Woolworth Stores nationwide, finds also that monster characters do well year after year. These include Frankenstein, Dracula.

Forget about the hysterical, and listen to the historical, Halloween or All Hallows Eve, the name given to Oct. 31, now chiefly is known as the eve of the Christian festival.

But it long antedates Christianity. The two chief characteristics of ancient Halloween were the lighting of bonfires and the belief that this is the one night in the year during which ghosts and witches are most likely to wander.

Safety experts, meanwhile, caution parents about the accidental calling of "Saman" this Halloween.

Brushing Is Basic

Many women consider daily hair brushing old hat, yet it helps keep the scalp clean and stimulates circulation and spreads natural oils from the hair root to tip. Clean brushes and combs each time you shampoo your hair.

Kill Garlic Odor
If you like onions or garlic in your food, think of those whom you encounter later. A mint, lemon with salt or chewing on a sprig of parsley will help kill some of the aftertaste and odor. Gargle with a strong mouthwash for best results.

Kitchen and Dining Room Facilities Are Dominating New Home Blue Prints

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—The modern American family eats—and cooks—just about anywhere at home.

Kitchen and dining facilities are fast taking over as the dominant element in new homes being built today, according to Henry O. Radloff, a kitchen planning authority.

Radloff, who keeps tabs on home building trends as a guide for the design of dining sets that go into kitchens and other dining areas, said builders today are designing homes around the fact that American families have literally spread out in their eating habits, and are demanding more convenience for formal and informal dining, as well as entertaining.

Radloff said many medium-priced new homes have two separate kitchens, three distinct dining areas, plus an outdoor cook-off facility.

Kitchen Changes
The kitchen still remains the principal eating area, he said, although there have been significant changes in its design. "On the way out, for example," Radloff said, "is the single-room kitchen, with range, refrigerator, sink and counters on one side, and space for a small table and chairs in a corner."

"Many kitchens today are strictly food preparation areas. Eating takes place in the family room, which may be an extension of the kitchen with no separation, or may be separated by a snack bar." This allows use of a table for eight or ten and for informal entertaining also.

Breakfast nooks, with their built-in benches and tables are found less frequently, their convenient seating and difficult floor cleaning being considered drawbacks.

Second kitchens are making their appearance in multi-level homes with sink, range, refrigerator and counters, although perhaps on a smaller scale than those of the main kitchen. "The idea," Radloff said, "is to make it simple to entertain in the recreation room without having to run up and down to the kitchen. In the more deluxe recreation rooms, the kitchen may adjoin or be part of a bar facility. There may even be a fireplace with a built-in barbecue."

Dining Rooms Smaller
Although separate dining areas or rooms are back, they're not as large as they were 20 or 30 years ago. The dining area today may be a separate room entirely, or a 9 by 12-foot "L" off the living room, separated from the kitchen by folding doors. In any case, Radloff said, it is unlikely there will be room for a massive dining set. The homemaker with the traditional table and chairs, buffet or credenza, china cabinet and server probably will find she has to give up one or two pieces in a new home. Lighter scale sets are preferred with perhaps one major multi-purpose storage piece for silver and linens.

Permanent outdoor cooking facilities, Radloff said, are most often found in the West and South where the weather smiles on year-round outdoor eating. This usually consists of brick barbecue plus patio large enough to hold tables and chairs.

In the East and Midwest, he said, garages often can be converted into summer eating places simply by turning out the cars, raising the door and installing a full screen over the entrance. A garage with a second door in the rear and perhaps several screened windows will serve especially well.

For families who have older folks living with them, or for teen-agers, a small kitchen facility can be located in their private quarters. This might consist of combination range-sink-refrigerator unit plus a comfortable spot to eat.

purchase of a piano for the City Club Room and of a city-wide project that was adopted by the Council of City Clubs. Tickets are available from members of the Music Teachers Association and their students or at Tarpley's Music Store. They may also be purchased at the door at the time of the concert for $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Now that seat belts have become common things in autos, companies are working on improvements for them. Borg-Warner's Spring Division has come out with the Roll-a-belt, a reel-type retractor, similar to a window shade in operation, which snaps the belt into a neat roll against the back or side of the car seat when the belt is unfastened.

FRILLS AND FIREWATCHING—Sandra Taylor, 22, scans a beautiful panorama of forests and mountains near Medford, Ore., for signs of fire. A recent graduate of the University of Washington, Sandra is in her third season of fire watching. She hopes eventually to work in her chosen field of journalism. Meanwhile, the 50-foot tower is her home 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with a couple days off every three weeks. Her only trouble is with low-flying jets from a nearby Air Force base that mysteriously appear when she sunbathes.

Recitalist Will Perform in Pampa

Pampa Music Teachers Association is presenting Mrs. Margaret Heiny of Amarillo in a piano concert on Nov. 10 in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School Auditorium at 3 p.m. Mrs. Heiny is a talented recitalist, and has given many programs in this area. She has been a pupil of Leo Podolsky at the Sherwood Music School in Chicago, and has studied with Dr. Silvio Scintil.

Learn To Make Perfect Bias

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many dresses such as shown here, and blouses, sweaters, skirts, and coats have bias bands as trimming—many with no stitches showing. This makes an effective finish. Because of the care that must be taken for perfect work, it is usually seen only on the more expensive garments.

Say you are using a fine wool for a dress. There are some beautiful, lightweight wools that will make up into an all-purpose dress, a dress you can wear for church, for business, for bridge.

You do not want such a dress to be too plain, yet you do not want it ornate. Beautifully made satin or velvet bands can be your answer. Buy the firmest, best quality trimming fabric you can afford. You can buy as little as 1-3-yard.

This short length will mean piecing the bias strips together. To prepare for piecing, decide the width you want your trimming band. Measure with ruler and chalk on true bias as shown, making the bands twice the width you desire the finished band. Chalk the lines very straight. Later, bias edges can be brought together and overcast on the wrong side. Use only the longest strips and piece on the grain, as shown. When bias strips are stitched together, seams pressed open, they should appear as illustrated.

When raw edges are caught together, shape the bias as you want it—on a curve, as on the dress, or even in a motif, if desired. Point is to press carefully to place bias where you desire it, baste it to place, doing this very carefully.

Bias may be stitched on, but it is smarter looking slip stitched to place, so that no stitches show on the right side.

If you wish to bind an edge with a bias, as in a collar, cut bias twice the width desired plus 1/4-inch for 1/4-inch seam on each bias edge.

Join right side of bias to right side of garment, easing it but without wrinkles, if it is on a curve.

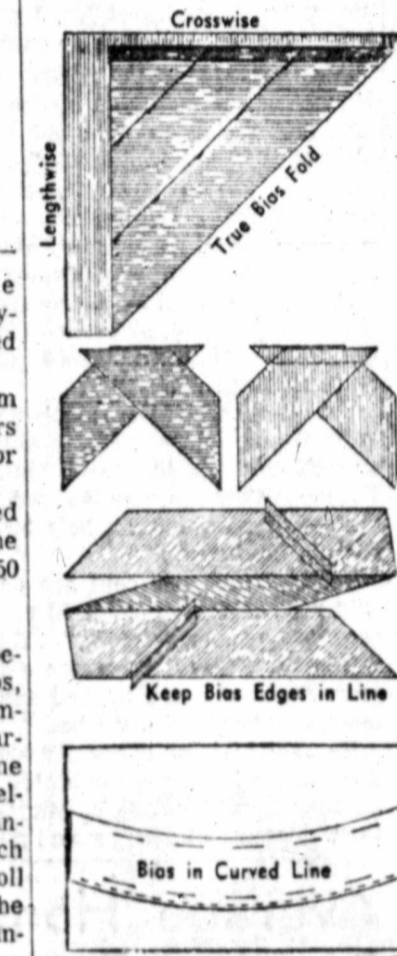

Make a 1/4-inch seam on the bias edge. Turn the bias over, turn in the 1/4-inch seam allowance and baste it, then slip stitch it to place.

Use Attractive Paperware, New Recipes, Boost Morning Appetites

tion parents that an adequate breakfast is vital to school-age children. Yet many of our 20 million teen-agers skip breakfast. Among the reasons: "Haven't time," and "Hate cleaning up."

Mrs. M. M. writes, "I think I've solved part of the breakfast problem by using attractive paper plates and cups. My daughter pours milk and fruit juice into paper cups, puts food in colored paper bowls and pauses long enough to eat well." Her daughters' favorite breakfast: orange juice swizzle, bacon on a roll and milk.

ORANGE JUICE SWIZZLE

(1 serving)
1/2 cup chilled orange juice
1 egg
1 teaspoon sugar
Combine all ingredients in container with a tight lid. Cover and shake vigorously. Serve in 9-ounce paper cold drink cup.

High-schooler Jill Johnson, 4-H Club leader of Fowler, Calif., reports that 61 per cent of teen-age girls, 30 per cent of the boys in her school skip breakfast. "Most of them say they never have time to sit down and eat. They are short-changing themselves by going without a basic breakfast of fruit juice, cereal and milk, bread and butter or margarine. They get irritable and tired by late morning."

Jill sent along one of her "snack" recipes.

CEREAL CRUNCH COOKIES

(About 6 dozen)

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup lard
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar, packed
2 eggs, beaten
3 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 1/2 cups rolled oats, uncooked
1 1/2 cups oven-toasted rice cereal
1 cup coconut
Cream together butter, lard, and sugars. Add vanilla, eggs. Continue creaming.

Sift together flour, salt, soda and baking powder. Add to creamed mixture. Stir in rolled oats, oven-toasted rice cereal, and coconut.

Form into small balls and place on greased cookie sheet. Flatten with fork; bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes.

From Britain comes a retractable seat belt which the maker says has an "automatic" action which not only retracts belt on to reel when not in use but "is sensitive to all sudden and abnormal movements of a car, rather than to movements of the occupants." This new Auto-lok reel, it is said, will lock the belt and hold wearer secure in any emergency.

HOME ON THE WAVES—They laughed when he backed down into the lake with his house trailer, but fellow in top photo has method in his madness. He's demonstrating something new for boating enthusiasts—an amphibious trailer which converts instantly to a houseboat. The 17-foot model can be transformed simply by rolling it into the water and attaching a pontoon unit that fits around the sides and rear, as shown in bottom photo. The unit supports the weight of the outside decks and gives the trailer additional stability. Tires and wheel parts do not have to be removed. With a 7½-horsepower motor, a speed top of six miles an hour can be achieved.

Churches Plan To Help Needy in Foreign Nations

By ROBERT M. ANDREWS
United Press International

With Thanksgiving a little more than a month away, the churches are preparing to help unfortunate peoples overseas share America's traditional harvest bounty.

The National Council of churches has asked Protestants across the land to contribute a total of $950,000 during the Thanksgiving season to finance distribution of surplus foods donated by the federal government.

The council's Church World Service calls its 1964 program "Share Our Substance." Plans call for 446,564,000 pounds of such goods as wheat, beans, cheese, corn meal and powdered milk to go to the needy in more than a score of countries in Africa, Asia, Latin America, the Middle East and Eastern Europe.

At the same time, Catholic relief services announced that the more than 16,500 U.S. Catholic parishes will be asked to donate clothing, shoes and bedding during Thanksgiving.

In 1963, the Catholic bishopsponsored drive brought in nearly 18 million pounds of clothing valued at $25 million, which was distributed under American supervision without regard to race, religion or color.

The church of the Nazarene is planning an ambitious project next month to boost its membership from the present 350,000. For 10 days, starting Nov. 7, its followers will distribute two million copies of the Gospel of St. John and invite each of the recipients to attend Nazarene church services.

Out of those two millions, the denomination hopes to gain 20,000 new members.

SEEKS SUPPORT

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI)—Kadiri Olupo, a 41-year-old garbage cleaner, came weeping to the newspaper Morning Post yesterday and begged for money to help support his newborn quadruplet children.

"I'm old," Olupo said, "and there is no magic to charm my life so that I can live long enough to help these innocent children." He said he earns eight pounds ($22.40) a month.

Removal of Poll Tax Will Not Cut State School Aid

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN (Spl) — School people have inquired whether passage of the constitutional amendment on November 9, removing the poll tax as a requirement for voting, will cut down on State aid to schools. The answer is "no."

Dr. D. Richard Bowles of Austin, former president of the Texas State Teachers Association, says repeal of the poll tax will not harm public schools financing since the levy provides only three-tenths of one per cent of State aid to local schools.

He noted further that the Amendment does not call for cancellation of the poll tax. It merely removes it as a requirement for voting. He added that the law is written so that if a school district lacks anything toward its minimum program, "it will be automatically made up from the Minimum Foundation Fund."

"School people who feel that the poll tax should be removed as a qualification for voting should have no hesitation about voting for Amendment No. 1 on November 9," Dr. Bowles said.

ALCOHOLISM RATE HIGH — Educating the public on alcoholism and trying to give aid to alcoholics is a very difficult job. But it is one to which the six-member Texas Commission on Alcoholism and its director, Macon W. Freeman, are devoted. It is estimated that there are close to 6,000,000 alcoholics in the U.S. with some 300,000 of these in Texas.

Freeman says the alcoholic tries to hide himself. His family and friends try to shield him. Together they succeed so well that most people think he's buried on skid row.

"About three per cent are on skid row. But more than 90 per cent are your neighbors," said Freeman. "They have good jobs. But they are disturbed and their families are disturbed."

He said that for every 100,000 alcoholics who are rehabilitated, another 250,000 get sick. Ministers, doctors, nurses, social workers, Alcoholics Anonymous and just plain interested citizens are working just that much harder to combat the disease. He said an estimated 50 to 75 per cent of "identified" alcoholics can be cured.

Texas Commission on Alcoholism works for education and rehabilitation through cooperation with other state agencies, and with some 30 community councils on alcoholism.

OIL OUTPUT CUT — Texas Railroad Commission ordered oil production for November set at the lowest point since January. Figure established was 27.5 per cent of potential. In brief that's 2,806,183 barrels daily as compared with 2,876,206 for October.

Oilmen got into a fuss at the statewide hearing. Alvin C. Hope of San Antonio questioned "self-appointed emissaries to Washington who want to bundle up our problems and drop them in the lap of the federal bureaucracy."

Stanley Wood of the Texas Landowners and Oil and Gas Producers Association said Hope was talking about him. Retorted Wood: "Washington isn't interested in taking over. They are concerned with deterioration of our domestic reserves. They want us to get our own house in order."

STUDY BOOK PROTESTS — State Textbook Committee recommended 116 books for public school use after studying written and oral protests against five on economics and three on world geography.

"What we want are books that will tell the students we want small government, not big government, for sound economics," said one witness, Roger K. Harland of Dallas.

Chairman John W. McFarland, Houston, said some of the objections indicated a lack of understanding of the maturity and thinking level of present-day high school seniors.

In its final vote, the committee recommended only two books which had drawn protests.

Average Homeowner Has Become Own 'Handyman'

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
NEW YORK (UPI) — "Homeowner" today is virtually synonymous with "handyman."

Rare is the homeowner who can afford professional help for all home maintenance, or even if he can afford it, who can find a real professional to do the job. The old-time, top-notch handyman, the jack-of-all trades is all but extinct and like it or not, the average homeowner has taken his place.

Today, many a homeowner—and his wife—wield the professional's tools with professional skill. And many of the professional tools have been modified and improved to make it simpler for the do-it-yourselfer.

One of the most versatile of these for the homeowner is the staple gun which has made many a household job simple even for the proverbial Mr. Bumble who couldn't drive home a nail without cracking a wall or smashing a thumb.

The staple gun started off as many other tools have—strictly a professional implement, very expensive, big, heavy and demanding a lot of hand power to fire. Today there are some 4 million lightweight, inexpensive guns in use for everything from putting up party decorations to installing insulation and tacking roofing, according to a leading manufacturer of staples and staple guns for home use.

The stapler will do almost anything small nails, brads, tacks, twine, and tape will do and usually faster. However, as with all tools, there are some bits of advice the user would do to heed. For instance:

—Most people have a tendency to grip the gun and squeeze, which means all the work is done with the fingers. Instead, use the heel of the hand to lean down; this gives a better stapling action and is far easier.

—Make sure you're using the right size staple for the job.

—No staple gun will work properly unless it is held firm and flush against the work surface. You can actually fire staples at a sheet of paper from a distance of only one inch without tearing the paper. So, make sure the gun is absolutely flat and firm before firing.

—When stapling into hardwoods or tough surfaces such as plastic or light metals, press thumb of your free hand on top of the stapler head to minimize bouncing action and give extra power.

—Last, but certainly not least, follow the instructions that come with the gun you buy.

Dillon Family Has $3-Million Riding on Case

By FRANK ELEAZER

United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon and members of his family have about $3 million riding on a tax case under continued study by the International Revenue Service, an arm of the Treasury Department.

A spokesman for Dillon said yesterday the secretary has taken every precaution to make certain that no conflict of interest arises in this or any other tax case. An IRS spokesman declined to comment on the case.

As one of his first acts in office, Dillon directed that no tax case be brought to his attention unless it had been established in advance that he had no interest in the affected firm.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

New 'Hangover' Cure Found in Las Vegas

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite its remarkable advancements in recent years, medical science has as yet been unable to find a sure-fire cure for hangovers.

Persons suffering from this widespread malady are still largely dependent on home remedies, based mainly on superstition and old wives' tales. None is guaranteed effective.

The other day, however, I heard about a new type of treatment that may be the answer. It was described to me by a New York advertising man I met at a luncheon here.

This chap has been working on an ad campaign for the Bulova Watch Co. and last summer his duties took him to Las Vegas, Nev., to obtain a group photograph of 107 cowboys.

Perhaps you're wondering, as I did, what they wanted with a picture like that. Well, it was to illustrate, ad-wise, that the company sells 107 different types of waterproof watches.

The impact of the fall stunned him momentarily, but when he got back to his feet he discovered to his amazement that his hangover had completely disappeared.

Stumbled On Solution
"This is incredible," I told the adman. "It appears that you have accidentally stumbled upon a therapeutic formula that has eluded medical science for years."

"All a person has to do to cure a hangover is fly out to Las Vegas, hire himself 107 cowboys, ride out on the prairie and do a swan dive over a gopher hole."

"That's about the size of it," the adman replied. "I thought of keeping the cure a secret and maybe cashing in on it commercially, but I'm too nice a guy for that. This is something I'm willing to share with all mankind."

"Do you think," I asked, "that the cure would work with only 106 cowboys?"

INCLUDING THE KITCHEN SINK—Debris of man's mechanized, packaged civilization mars the majestic panorama of this Nevada landscape. The litterbugging in giant-size perspective is a garbage dump on privately owned land northwest of glittering Las Vegas, Nev. The Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management photo suggests the size of the problem the nation faces if it is to keep its natural beauties intact for future generations.

NATIONS OF THE WORLD

Independent Italy Going Through New Renaissance in Industry and the Arts

By RAY MOSELEY

United Press International
ROME (UPI)—In more than 2,000 years actively on the world scene, Italy has had almost every type of government devised by man—republic, empire, the Church, monarchy, fascist dictatorship, occupation and democracy.

Less than 15 years ago, Italy disappeared behind the Iron Curtain. It still has the largest Communist party in the Western world.

Yet the country is firmly independent, and going through a new renaissance in industry and the arts.

This boot-shaped land jutting into the warm waters of the Mediterranean evokes superlatives in almost every field. Some of the greatest minds of civilization were born on its soil. They left their mark.

Stub your toe while walking anywhere in Italy and you've probably uncovered an ancient temple, tomb or masterpiece of statuary.

Much lies buried. But so many treasures still stand or have been re-created along with new marvels of our age.

Proud Of Heritage
The Italians—all 50,600,000 of them—are fiercely proud of their heritage and place in the sun.

Italy gave birth to the Roman Empire, which at the height of power in the second century ruled almost all of the then known world—from Britain and the Iberian Peninsula in the West, Egypt in the south to part of what is now Russia in the east.

Its rulers tried to wipe out Christianity at its inception. Yet, Rome became the stronghold of the new religion and has been the center of the Roman Catholic world for 1,600 years.

It led Europe out of the Dark Ages beginning in the 14th century, with the Renaissance—the greatest flowering of creative genius the world has ever seen.

But this peninsula could not weld itself into a nation after the fall of the Roman Empire, not until 1870—94 years after the United States proclaimed its independence.

Nation Of Contrasts
Some people prefer to think there are two Italys.

One is the Italy of booming factories, skyscraper cities and a style of living similar to that in the United States. This is the rich, modern Italy of the north, centered around the cities of Turin and Milan.

These northerners don't even look "Italian"—most are fair-skinned and even blonde.

The other Italy is the "poor south"—stagnating poverty and unemployment, superstitions, ignorance and social customs which have not changed since Medieval times.

The teeming slums of Naples compete with dishonor with those of Sicily. Both spawn the Mafia and bandits and swarthy, unsmiling peasants who seem to be born "old" as worn out as the land they till.

Most of the 10 million Italians who emigrated to the United States and elsewhere at the turn of the century and since fled from that Italy. For better or worse they created an image of their nation abroad.

With 116,237 square miles of land area, Italy is roughly the size of Arizona. Yet its population of 50,600,000 equals that of New York, California, Pennsylvania and Michigan combined.

A Farming People
Despite mechanical marvels (booming automobile industry employs about 1.8 million persons and one Italian in 20 owns a car) this is a largely farming nation—wheat, corn and rice. And of course, fruit and vines.

Tourism brings more than 19 million visitors to Italy each year. Also they pour an estimated $700 million into the economy. Italian fashions are another major source of income.

Working Italians average about $24.60 a week and, except for white-collar workers, most put in a six-day, 48-hour week.

Their pay is somewhat below the European average, but higher than it was just a few years ago.

Everyone in Italy complains of prices. The new prosperity has been partially offset by a rise in living costs. The purchasing power of the lire has dropped 20 per cent in the last 10 years.

An Italian has to work more than two hours for a choice steak, 40 minutes for a pack of cigarettes, 21 hours for a pair of shoes, 74 hours for a tailor-made suit of average quality.

Italians own 2.8 million televisions sets, and 2.5 million automobiles. They spend more money on movies than any other form of entertainment. After that, they prefer sports—principally soccer. Italians invented opera, but it ranks a poor third in popular support.

Love To Eat
They love to eat. A night out often consists of just that—going to a restaurant with friends and spending several hours talking and eating.

Perhaps because they are such naturally uninhibited people, Italians are not hard drinkers.

Italy's contributions to civilization have been immense in government, law, painting, music, literature, sculpture, architecture, science. Such men as Julius Caesar, Cicero, Leonardo da Vinci, Raphael, Michelangelo, Galileo, Columbus, Dante, Verdi, Garibaldi and Enrico Fermi have walked on its stage. Also tyrants, from Nero and Caligula to Benito Mussolini. Italy has seen it all. And is still there.

Labor Is Seeking To Create Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An AFL-CIO spokesman emphasized yesterday that organized labor was supporting President Kennedy's tax cut program "for one single purpose—to help create badly needed jobs."

The labor official urged more generous rate cuts for low-income taxpayers and elimination of what he called "unwarranted" tax benefits for corporations.

Andrew J. Biemiller, AFL-CIO legislative director, made the comments in a statement prepared for Senate committee hearings on the $11 billion tax cut bill passed by the House Sept. 25.

POSTPONES MOVIE
ATHENS, Greece (UPI)—The Greek government has persuaded representatives of Universal Pictures to postpone showing the movie "The Ugly American" in Athens on the ground that it might lead to demonstrations during the restive pre-election period.

The Press Ministry's Film Control Commission argued that Communists and other opposition "troublemakers" might use the movie's critical approach to American diplomacy in a mythical Southeast Asian nation to draw parallels with the Greek situation.

'Deep Purple' Back on Top Again After All These Years

CHICAGO (UPI)—If you last long enough all those out-of-date tunes you whistle will become high fashion once more. Take the number one number on the United Press International listing of top 10 tunes this week — "Deep Purple" by Nino Tempo and April Stevens — which topped Jimmy Gilmer's "Sugar Shack." It's just about 23 years since "Deep Purple" occupied a similar position in the music rankings of the depression era.

Or take the No. 7 song, "Maria Elena" by Los Indios Tavares. Two decades ago, give or take a year or two, that one was about the first big hit Lawrence Welk ever recorded.

But in between first and seventh place this week the melodies are newer.

Gilmer and the Fireballs are still sweetening the till with "Sugar Shack" in second place. "Washington Square," by the folk song-oriented Village Stompers is third. "I'm Leaving It Up to You" by Dale and Grace is fourth.

Ronettes' plea, "Be My Baby," is fifth and the Impressions nudged into sixth with "It's All Right."

In eighth place was "Mean Women Blues" by Roy Orbison. That mouthful of alliteration, "Donna, The Prima Donna," by Dion Di Muci, was ninth. Rounding out the first ten was Skeeter Davis' happy thought, "I Can't Stay Mad at You."

The complete list with the position last week and number of weeks in the top 10 in parenthesis:

1. (2-4) Deep Purple. Nino Tempo and April Stevens. Atco.
2. (1-7) Sugar Shack. Jimmy Gilmer and the Fireballs. Dot.
3. (4-3) Washington Square. Village Stompers. Epic.
4. (6-3) I'm Leaving It Up to You. Dale and Grace. Montel.
5. (5-8) Be My Baby. Ronettes. Phillips.
6. (0-1) It's All Right. Impressions. Paramount.
7. (11-5) Maria Elena. Los Indios Tavares. RCA.
8. (10-4) Mean Woman Blues. Roy Orbison. Monument.
9. (7-5) Donna. The Prima Donna. Dion Di Muci. Columbia.
10. (9-5) I Can't Stay Mad at You. Skeeter Davis. RCA.

You Just Don't Find Problems Like Ones Found in Show Biz

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—There are no problems like show business problems, which invariably come from way out in left field. The question puzzling Stuart Whitman is insanity. Simulated, that is.

The 14-month-old baby working with Phil Silvers requires a little make-up. "Oh, no you don't," a stern-faced lady says. Will the real George Chakiris please stand up? Not yet, thank you. He's making too much money as several other fellows and he...

SORRY, George, young Whitman came in first. A little "perplexing music" please. Isn't insanity every actor's idea of the perfect role? Sure it is. As a psycho in "The Mark," Stuart Whitman

Bob Hope Plans Christmas Show For U.S. Troops

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Bob Hope is planning to entertain American troops in Viet Nam this Christmas.

The comedian said in making the announcement yesterday that he was postponing a scheduled personal appearance tour of Australia and New Zealand.

He plans to take regular troupe members Jerry Colona, Anita Bryant and orchestra leader Les Brown on the tour. Hope, who has been entertaining American armed forces in many parts of the world since World War II, said preparations for the Viet Nam appearances forced postponement of his commitments in Australia and New Zealand until February of next year.

He was scheduled to leave for Australia Nov. 1 with stops scheduled at Melbourne and Sidney, to be followed by appearances at Wellington, Hamilton and Auckland in New Zealand.

even won an Oscar nomination. But now he's uncertain about the method in his latest madness, in a chiller titled "Shock Treatment."

His problem, Mr. Anthony, is that he plays an actor who simulates insanity to solve a murder.

"It's tricky, because the character is an actor and the audience knows he's just acting," the brilliant Whitman tells you. "You are just acting, of course when you play a real psycho but I don't think the audience sits there thinking, 'He's just acting.' They accept him as the character."

"In this film, it just isn't the same. It's a real problem for me."

There's still another psycho in Whitman's film future, "Signpost to Murder" for his own company.

THE SCRIPT puts the 14-month-old baby in Phil Silvers' arms for a close shot.

"Sorry," says the cameraman, "the lights are washing out the baby's face. He'll need a little make-up."

"Oh, no you don't," says a state welfare nurse. "The law says you can't use make-up on a baby under two years of age."

She relieves Phil of the baby, for a scene in his new telefilm series. The scene is an important one, so she agrees to telephone the state welfare board for possible permission.

The welfare boards says, "O.K. with us, if the baby's doctor approves."

The doctor says, "Sorry, I'm not qualified. Check with a dermatologist."

The dermatologist says, "I would suggest only tan-colored talcum powder — IF the doctor approves."

The doctor says, "I'll take the dermatologist's word — IF the state welfare board approves." The state welfare board says, "O.K., but use lightly and not for long."

A make-up man applies the talcum powder to the baby's face. The camera rolls.

Dick Trades Stethoscope For Lawyer's Briefcase

By JOAN SWEENEY
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Richard Chamberlain, the idol of countless teen-agers as television's Dr. Kildare, has starred in a movie which may leave his fans in need of medical treatment themselves — for shock.

In "Twilight of Honor," Dick has traded his stethoscope for a lawyer's briefcase. Instead of the antiseptic corridors of Blair General Hospital, the scene is a courtroom in which a sea of eyes and a sea of mouths are turned in terms of sex and murder unfolds in terms so explicit myopic Mr. Mago would get the picture.

Dick himself is the first to agree that this is not exactly proper fare for his younger followers:

"I don't think children — 13 and under — should be allowed to see it," he said.

First indications are that some of Dr. Kildare's fans may not be too happy about his moonlighting in such soiled surroundings.

Admirers Disturbed
On recent public appearance trips to Texas, he found that some of his young admirers were disturbed by advance word of the movie.

"They expressed a kind of amazement, like I was violating something sacred," Dick said. "I had hoped that the character and the actor had become separate after the show's first year, but I think particularly the younger ones identify Kildare very strongly with me."

Despite the rumblings from the Lone Star State, Dick said, "I don't think the movie will hurt the Kildare image, because the character I play in the movie is a good guy too."

It's just that the surroundings seem a little sordid or frank. But the movie has gotten surprisingly good reviews.

"Asked if his use of 'surprisingly' meant he had expected something less, he replied, 'I think good reviews are always surprising. We steel ourselves for something worse.'"

While to some of his fans Jim Kildare may have seemed as real as the boy next door, he didn't to Dick.

"The first two years I was never able to feel Kildare was a real person," he said. "It gets uninteresting playing generalized nobility all the time."

"This year I'm beginning to feel more like he is an individual doctor. I think it should be good both for me as an actor and for the series."

CHIP OFF A STAR—When Peter Fonda, son of star Henry, decided acting was his wish, wild horses couldn't hold him. Here, he's shown with Sharon Huguely in his fourth film, "The Young Lovers."

JUST FOR YOU—It's for you to determine what's behind the enigmatic smile of Italian-born French film starlet Dominique Boschero.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

On the surface, Italians never had it so good.

Wages were up and sales of automobiles, refrigerators and television sets were booming.

Unemployment — not counting the unemployables — was down almost to zero.

And of the nations of Western Europe, only West Germany and France had more money in the bank.

But underneath there was trouble, some of it due to the very factors mentioned above and some of it political wherein Italy's large Communist party saw its greatest chance since 1948.

Events of the next few weeks would determine Italy's immediate future.

Italy's troubles were intertwined.

Politically, the question was whether Italy's largest political party, the Christian Democrats, could or would renew its partnership with the left-wing Socialists of Pietro Nenni to set up a governing center-left coalition.

A previous attempt under former Premier Amintore Fanfani collapsed after last April 28 elections in which the Communists picked up a million votes.

Socialists in Middle Caught in the ensuing tug-of-war were the Nenni socialists who in their party congress this week will be asked to decide whether to continue their ties with the Communist party or to accept a sufficiently moderate stand as to permit renewal of their partnership with the Christian Democrats.

The Communist part in the campaign followed a familiar pattern of strikes and violence, including one particularly violent demonstration in Rome and resulting injury to 155 Roman police.

A pawn in the struggle is the Italian economy whose rise has been among the most spectacular of all the European Common Market countries.

Part of the price paid by the Christian Democrats in the last government was agreement to Socialist demands for nationalization of the electric power industry.

Private Money Flees

The result was an investment panic which saw capital investment fall a quarter of a billion dollars below estimates and a flight of money to Switzerland.

At the same time, a tight labor market touched off a wage-price spiral which in turn started a consumer boom.

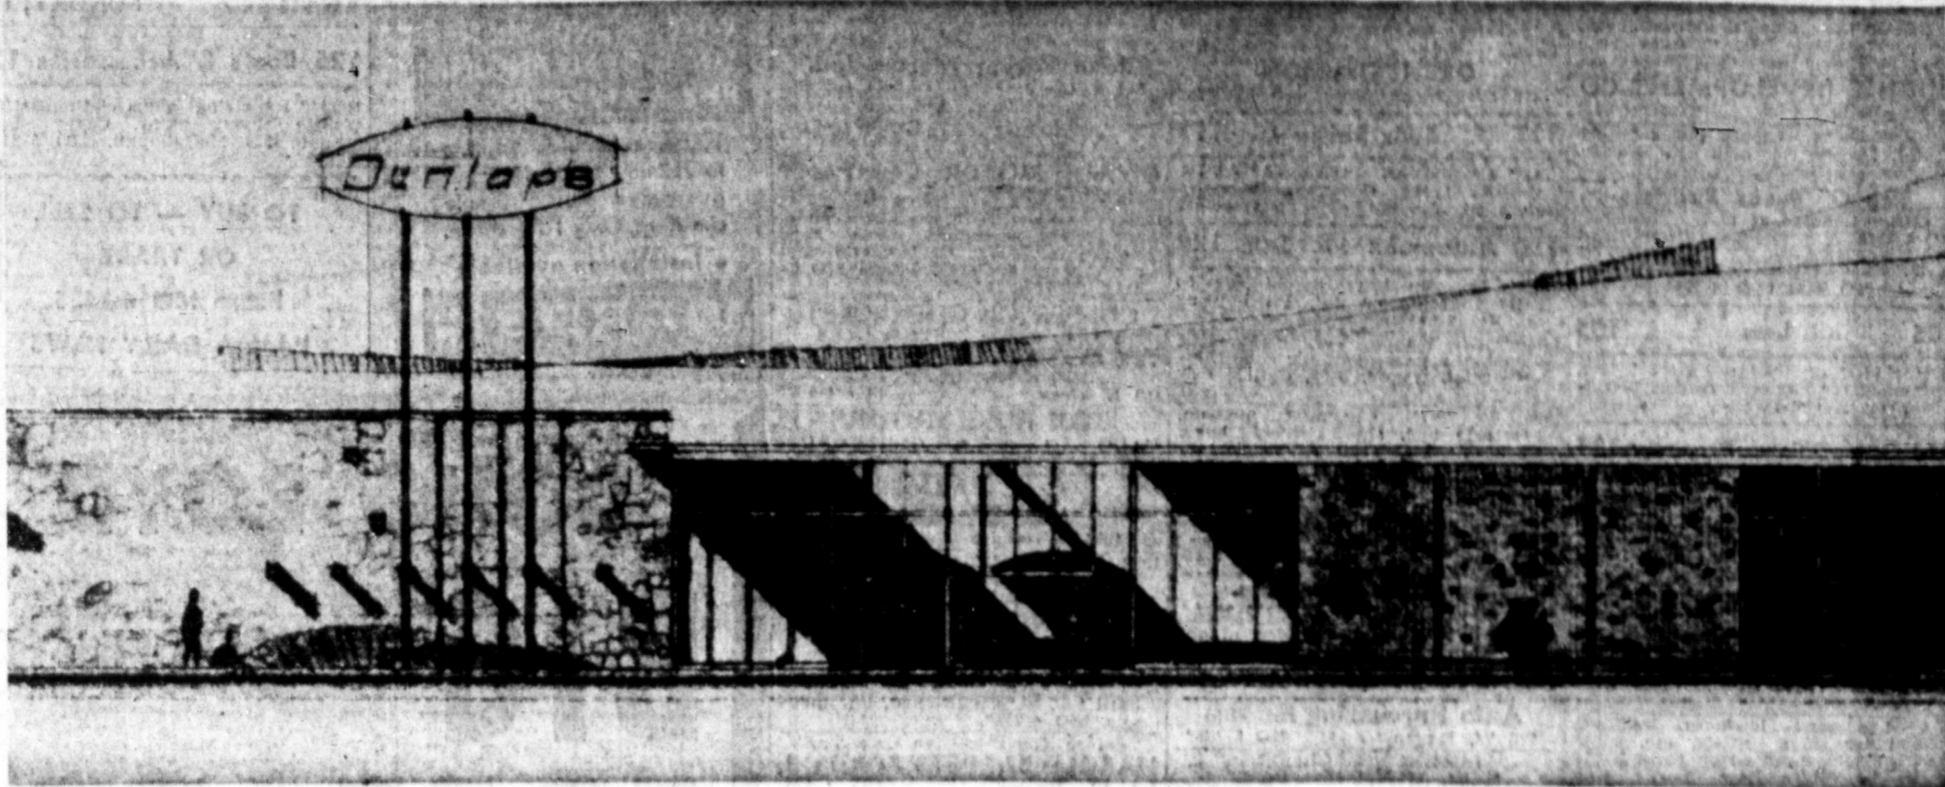

Consumer spending continues to be the largest single factor in the Italian economy but also continues to be a mixed blessing. This year for the first time since the 1950's Italy will show a deficit in its balance of payments as result of the heavy flow of imports.

The Communists have refused to tie wages with the increase in national production and have demanded that the Socialists join with them in what could be a calamitous attack on both the economy and any new government.

The stopgap government of Premier Giovanni Leone is to step down within the next two weeks to make way for what still is expected to be a coalition of Christian Democrats and Socialists.

Dictating Machine Has 75th Birthday

NEW YORK (UPI) — The dictating machine, a brainchild of Alexander Graham Bell which has become an office fixture and which laid the groundwork for the phonograph industry, is 75 years old.

The occasion was marked recently with a satirical revue at New York's Plaza Hotel, tracing the history of the office since the first dictating machine made its appearance on the American business scene. The musical show was staged by Dictaphone Corporation, founder of the industry.

Birth of the dictating machine took place at Bridgeport, Conn. in October, 1888, when Dictaphone's lineal ancestor, the Columbia Graphophone Company, was formed and moved into a former organ factory to build the world's first practical recording machine for business communication.

The machine had been invented by Bell and his Volta Laboratory associates. Chichester Bell and Charles Sumner Tainter, with the objective of helping businessmen save time, effort and money in getting ideas from mind to paper.

Today's modern transistorized dictating machines perform the same function and the industry has grown to a $100 million business.

Radical improvements have been made in dictating machines over the 75 years. The original recording instrument built by the Bells and Tainter was hand-cranked with a recording cylinder made of beeswax and paraffin. The sound was cut into it with a stylus, activated by an air jet. The patent for this historical machine became basic for the entire phonograph industry.

In 1908, the company, operating as the Dictaphone Division of the Columbia Graphophone Company, replaced the hand crank with an electric motor.

Recording cylinders were improved through the years but it wasn't until 1948 that they were eliminated altogether when Dictaphone introduced the first Time-Master dictating machine with its Dictabelt, a tiny plastic recording medium with visible tone grooves that produced high quality recordings. This provides a permanent record of dictation and can be easily mailed or filed.

The first transistorized dictating machine was marketed by Dictaphone in 1957. Another major advance came in 1962 with the appearance of a model one-third smaller than its predecessor. The Model-7 takes up less desk space than a letter, weighs only 7 pounds and is fully transistorized. A transcribing companion to this machine was introduced this year.

The dictating machine, besides its basic office communication function, now is being used widely in insurance claims statement-taking, post-operative dictation by doctors, police crime reports and travel use on planes and trains.

Anthropologist to Exhibit Stone-Age Man At Fair

NEW YORK (UPI) — What colors were known to man 30,000 years ago when his paintings first appeared on cave walls? Did the mounted followers of Attila the Hun use stirrups?

These were but two among dozens of similar questions facing Dr. Harry L. Shapiro, chairman of the Department of Anthropology at the American Museum of Natural History, when he took on the job of consultant of "The Triumph of Man" exhibit to be presented by The Travelers Insurance Companies at the New York World's Fair.

"We'll find the answers, of course," he said during a recent interview in his cluttered office at the Museum. "but it takes a lot of time and research when you want to be accurate down to the smallest detail."

Accuracy is a fetish with the tall, lean, pipe-smoking Shapiro. He has designed many exhibits for the Museum and heard them acclaimed by the public and fellow scientists. This was his first venture "outside," where elements of drama, of crowd-pulling had to be considered.

What he had to do first was to select from a million years of human experience twelve scenes suitable for presentation in life-size dioramas. Arranged in chronological order, they were to show how man progressed from naked hunter to the complex being of today as well as some of the hazards along the way. He doesn't remember how many scene ideas he had when he started out about a year ago. He does remember that he cut these down to twenty, only to be told that twenty was the limit.

He is not exactly bitter about this but, having spent the last 40 of his 61 years in the study of man, he is a little wistful about what had to be left out.

An early difficulty was gathering the material from which an artist was to make pictures of the sets. In some cases, there were drawings, paintings or written matter to serve as a basis for the desired presentation but in others Shapiro had to draw on his vast knowledge of the subject to describe how things must have been. This was a matter of piecing together fragments of evidence to arrive at a logical conclusion.

When the pictures were completed and approved, after "innumerable talks," they were turned over to fabricators who made miniatures of the actual dioramas which will vary between 20 and 30 feet in width and between 10 and 15 feet in depth. The miniatures were set up in order.

Shapiro, seeing them three-dimensional and in proper sequence for the first time, noted at once that changes would be necessary if the desired effect were to be achieved. At least two were discarded entirely and new ones designed and constructed. There were modifications in others.

Now it was time to turn the models over to contractors who would make full-size figures of men and animals. And now it was time for Shapiro and his researchers to dig into the details that were unimportant before.

What sort of shoes did the people of a given period wear? What weapons did they use in defending the ancient city of Ur from attackers? Purple was the royal color of Rome but just what shade of purple?

Scientists Okay Jets As Flying Astronomy Labs

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — The highly successful use of a jet transport for observation of the 1963 solar eclipse has convinced many scientists that such planes should be used as flying astronomy laboratories.

One scientist on the epic flight, Dr. Armin J. Deutsch of the Mt. Wilson - Palomar observatories in California, said the eclipse flight earlier this year convinced him that future use of a large jet transport for solar system and geophysical studies should be urged.

"Airborne research," Deutsch said, "could include the fields of meteorology, oceanography, ionospheric phenomena and the monitoring of atmospheric radiation."

The flight this summer was in a DC-8 that traveled the narrow path of total eclipse over Northern Canada with a 13-group scientific expedition, led by Douglas Aircraft Co. and the National Geographic Society.

While many observers at ground stations from Alaska to Maine were frustrated by clouds and haze, the airborne astronomers conducted 20 different experiments under nearly optimum conditions 40,500 feet above the earth.

The DC-8's 525-mile-an-hour speed gave the expedition scientists a 42 per cent bonus in observation time. For them, the sun was totally eclipsed for 142 seconds. From the ground maximum totality was 100 seconds.

Previous eclipses had been observed from airplanes, but usefulness of the measurements was restricted by vibration, limited altitude, window fogging and icing and cabin pressurization problems.

Another proponent of airborne astronomy is Prof. Guglielmo Righini, director of the Arcetri Astrophysical Observatory in Florence, Italy, and a member of the Douglas-National Geographic Expedition. A vice president of the International Year of the Quiet Sun (IQSY), Righini says he may propose to a jet aircraft be outfitted as a full-time astronomical observatory.

In addition to solar investigations, some scientists advocate airborne astronomy in support of America's lunar landing program. Better photographs of the moon's surface might be produced by a large airborne telescope.

A plane, one scientist suggests, might carry a telescope which would fill most of its fuselage. Such an instrument would have a focal length of more than 100 feet and an aperture of 36 to 40 inches.

Manned space flight also could be aided by airborne planetary studies of Mars, Venus and Jupiter.

SELF DEFENSE RULED

Mental Health Bill Now Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has signed into law a $355 million bill to combat mental retardation through improved maternal and infant care. It represents part of his broad, new mental health program.

Also awaiting the President's signature is a bill to attack both mental retardation and mental illness; the latter through local community treatment centers.

Together, the two pieces of legislation make up Kennedy's "bold new approach" to what he regards as twin problems in this area.

The $355 million bill places emphasis on federal activities dealing with infant mental retardation. The money will be added over a period of five to seven years to existing maternal and child health programs under the social security act and sets up several new mental retardation programs.

Force of air rushing over wings and fuselage of fastest supersonic aircraft is 10 to 12 times greater than that of any recorded hurricane.

Ford, Chevrolet Sales Hit Record

DETROIT (UPI) — Mid-October car sales were reported at a record clip today for Ford and Chevrolet divisions.

Chevrolet dealers sold 72,240 new cars and trucks for the eight selling days, 595 units higher than the same period a year ago.

Ford division said the sales rate for both cars and trucks was highest in history for the period. Cars totaled 47,322 and trucks, 10,399, more than 550 for the same day in 1962.
