TRICK OR TREAT — Spooks like these may greet you when you answer the doorbell tonight. And you better be ready to treat 'em or they'll "getcha if you don't watch out!" Terri Lynne, 5, and Gary, 2, are shown holding open their trick or treat bags in a neighborhood doorway. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kimbley, 1117, Sandelwood. # Castro Refuses to Take Sides Against Red China

Fidel Faces Dilemma In Choice of Friends

LONDON (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has refused to line up formally with the Soviet Union against Communist China, but apparently runs no risk of losing Soviet aid, diplomatic sources said today.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, however, was reported to have decided against leaving Castro in charge of Communist plans for penetrating Latin America, the sources said.

According to the diplomatic dispatches reaching here, Castro, who pledged full support last summer to the Soviet attacks on Peking, refused to make a formal declaration of support more recently when Moscow began lining up the world's Communist parties to be counted.

A summit conference of the parties supporting the Moscow line is reported under preparation in Moscow. These talks during next month's celebrations of the Russian revolution anniversary could begin the process that leads to China's expulsion from the Moscow-led bloc.

Communist, theoretical organ of the Soviet Communist party, reported a few days ago that 65 parties have declared themselves in favor of Khrushchev's peaceful co-existence and opposed to China's militant foreign policy.

This count left more than a score of Communist parties unaccounted for. Some, like Albania, North Korea, and apparently North Viet Nam, support the Peking line.

Others prefer to stay neutral, and a third group has declined to commit itself for the present. Cuba is in this last group, according to the reports in London.

There was no hint of Soviet retaliatory action in the form of an aid cutoff, the sources said. The Soviets value Cuba too highly as a staging area for the Communist penetration of Latin America to let it go.

Castro was believed confronted with a dilemma between his revolutionary aims — which are akin to Peking's — and his dependence on the $1.6 million daily Soviet aid.

One other sign of his sympathies for Peking is his refusal to sign the nuclear test ban treaty concluded by the Soviets with the West.

Search Pushed For 3 Missing Military Aides

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Forty-five U.S. helicopters today spearheaded a search for three U.S. military advisers believed captured by the Communists Tuesday in an ambush.

Two of the men, both Army officers, were believed to be wounded.

The condition of the third, an enlisted medical technician, was not known.

The Defense Department in Washington identified the Americans as Capt. Humbert R. Versace of Baltimore, Md.; First Lt. James N. Rowe of McAllen, Tex.; and Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer of Spring Lake, N. C. They were officially listed as missing.

In another development, three members of the United Nations observer mission to Viet Nam left Wednesday for the city of Hue in central Viet Nam, where the government's crisis with the Buddhists began last May.

The observers were sent here to investigate charges of religious repression in connection with President Ngo Dinh Diem's crackdown on the Buddhists. A U.N. spokesman said they will hear testimony from several witnesses in Hue, where government troops fired on Buddhist demonstrators May 8, killing nine.

New England Is Rocked by Quake

BOSTON (UPI) — A mild earthquake rumbled across northeastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire late Wednesday, shaking buildings, cracking plaster and moving furniture about.

The quake, felt in a 35-mile arc northwest to northeast of Boston, apparently did no serious damage and no injuries were reported.

Mechanical Flaw Holds up Rescue

PEINE, Germany (UPI) — A mechanical flaw in the rescue rig today condemned three trapped iron miners to spend another night in their air-bubble 262 feet underground.

The mining company manager said the three men who have spent seven days in the flooded mine could not be rescued before Friday.

Rescuers originally had hoped to bring the miners to the surface today.

Manager Rudolf Stein of the Ilesder Mine Company said a balky airlock was holding up rescue efforts.

Unless the airlock seal is pressure-tight, the men could drown in a sudden rush of flood water from below when the giant American-made drill breaks through to them and allows high pressure air in their chamber to escape.

Fierce Fighting Raging Again in Border Warfare

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — Fierce new fighting raged today between Algerian and Moroccan forces along their disputed border despite a cease-fire agreement that comes into effect Friday.

Moroccan King Hassan II returned home from Bamako, Mali, where he signed the cease-fire arrangement Wednesday with Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella.

An announcement said that Algerian troops launched attacks at three points in the western Sahara in the past 24 hours and said fighting is still going on.

The battles took place to the north of Colomb Bechar, Algeria, near the village of Ich; at Djebel El Hammar in the Ksar Es Souk Province 180 miles southwest of Colomb Bechar; and at Ain Char, about 80 miles west of Figui, all are points along the disputed border in areas where unexploited mineral resources reportedly have been found.

Heavy losses were reported by Moroccan sources said all three attacks were pushed back and that the Algerians suffered heavy losses. Moroccans at Ain Bechar reportedly captured 40 Algerian paratroopers.

Spooks, Goblins Will Haunt Pampa Tonight

Under moon-splashed Panhandle skies and in darkened-by-ways, thousands of pint-sized spooks and goblins go on their haunts tonight to threaten "tricks or treats."

From Pampa to points north, east, west and south, it's the annual celebration of Halloween, the ancient rite that dates back to the Druids of earliest Britain.

"From ghoules and ghosties and long-legged beasties," the old Scottish poem goes, "a d things that go bump in the night, good Lord, deliver us!"

Pampa's young spooks will be out in full force going from door to door with their trick or treat bags.

Estes Case Tied Up With Appeals

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas court of criminal appeals must now decide whether bankrupt farm financier Billie Sol Estes got a fair trial when he was convicted of fraud and sentenced to eight years in a state court at Tyler last year.

Lawyers for Estes claimed Wednesday he did not, and asked the court to reverse his conviction.

Prosecutors said he did, and asked the court to dismiss the appeal.

It will be a long time, possibly months, before the appeal can be decided at the state level. If necessary, new appeals could be made to the U.S. Supreme Court.

If the state court holds the trial was fair, Estes' attorneys will file for rehearing. Prosecutors will call for a rehearing if the decision is reversed. Subsequent motions can be filed if the state court answers the earlier motions with written opinions.

Patrolman Quits City Police Job

Police Chief Jim Conner announced today the resignation of James P. Davis, a city patrolman.

Davis joined the police force June 16 and resigned from the force last Thursday. Davis is formerly of Quanah and plans to return there, according to Chief Conner.

State Victor in Slant-Hole Suit

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Attorney general's assistants said today they are "very pleased" with the state's victory in the first slant-hole penalty suit ever tried in Texas.

A district court jury Wednesday assessed total penalties of $304,800 against four oilmen for operating a Wood County well that the jury found was botched to an adjoining lease.

The jury assessed a daily penalty of $800.01 for the 16 days the well was being drilled and a daily penalty of $80 for the 3,650 days it produced oil before being closed down by the Railroad Commission. The state had asked a daily penalty of $1,000 for a total judgment of $3,650,000.

The jury penalized Harry M. Harrington Jr. and Reid Allgood, both of Longview, $117,416.72 each. Charles W. Lutes of Longview was assessed $60,841.72 and J. W. Baton of Rusk County was charged $9,125.

The jury assessed no penalty against Douglas Godfrey of Kilgore. Testimony indicated Godfrey was not in on the drilling and acquired a share of the well later from Baton.

The well is Harry M. Harrington T&P Co. No. 1, Duncan lease, in the Hawkins Field of Wood County.

Tests Scheduled For Moon Shots

HOUSTON (UPI) — The nation's space agency in tests Nov. 7 at White Sands, N. M., will study methods of saving men and equipment from emergencies that may arise on launch pads during Apollo moonshots.

Cold Front Due In Texas Tonight

By United Press International

A Rocky Mountain cold front that produced seven inches of snow in Colorado moved into Texas today. Forecasters said it would drop Panhandle temperatures to near freezing by Friday morning.

Readings in the 50s were expected over most of Northern Texas by Friday. Although the forecasts called for an increase in cloudiness over the state, no rain appeared in sight.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the mercury would drop to 33 degrees in the northwest corner of the state tonight and dip into the 40s throughout the rest of North Texas.

Forecasters said the cold front would reach Central Texas by Friday morning.

U.S. Combat Unit To Be Sent Home

PARIS (UPI) — The United States plans to withdraw its first major combat unit from Europe despite German objections, sending home 5,000 and perhaps many more men, it was learned today.

The withdrawal will involve an armored cavalry regiment and will represent only about two per cent of the Army's over-all combat strength in Europe. But informed sources said studies are being made which could result in much larger cuts.

Firemen Open Workshop to Repair Toys

Pampa fire stations, beginning today, will be turned into workshops for Santa's helpers as local firemen started repairing toys for needy children.

Fire Chief Earnest Winborne said firemen are ready to take "any toy that can be repaired in any way," to give to needy children for Christmas.

"Toys will be accepted at any time," Chief Winborne said. "If contributors cannot bring the toys to the central station they can call us and we will be glad to pick them up."

The toys will be given to needy and underprivileged children at the annual VFW Christmas party a week before Christmas, according to Chief Winborne.

NAB Wants More Freedom of News

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) wants Congress to approve a pending freedom-of-information bill and make government data more readily available to press and public.

But Howard H. Bell, an NAB vice president, called Wednesday for an amendment to protect the privacy of certain financial data filed by broadcasters with the Federal Communications Commission. Bell testified on a bill which would give newsmen greater access to government data and provide for appeal to the courts if information is withheld.

Walter Potter, publisher of the Culpepper, Va., Star-Exponent and spokesman for the National Editorial Association, also testified on behalf of the bill before a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

Three Americans Captured in Cuba

HAVANA (UPI) — Fidel Castro claimed Wednesday night his men had captured U.S. counter-intelligence agents smuggling explosives into Cuba and he threatened to shoot them along with prisoners from an American-organized raiding party.

Decision Up To People

Junior College Facts Outlined by Speaker

Members of the Junior College committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce addressed the Pampa Rotary Club yesterday on the requirements, procedures, facilities needed and estimated cost of establishing a junior college system here. The meeting was held in the Coronado Inn.

Committee chairman E. L. Henderson said that a junior college in a community serves three main purposes. It provides a means for students to obtain two years of college at home. Many students end their education at the high school level because they cannot afford the expense of attending college away from home.

Terminal education, where courses are taught in the technical fields, could be provided. The third purpose would be to provide an adult education program in which college credits could be obtained through night classes.

Henderson added that in order to establish a junior college in Gray County, approval must be obtained first from the county school board, then the state board of education, and finally by a bond issue approved by property owners in the county.

County Superintendent of Schools Burt Nuckols stated that according to surveys made of the number of Gray County high school graduates each year, should a junior college be established, a plant would need to be constructed to house 400 students. Such a plant would be needed within five to eight years, he stated.

Gene Hollar projected the possible costs involving a junior college with an enrollment of 400 students. He said that average instruction costs per student would be $700. Average building costs per student would be $3,060. Estimated cost of a bond issue would be $1,224,000.

Clinton Evans discussed an estimated annual budget. He said that operating costs would approximate $280,000 per year and building costs per year would be (See SPEAKER, Page 3)

Soviet Spies Get 'Walking Papers'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three Soviet U.N. diplomats accused of spying hurriedly packed their bags today to comply with a State Department notice ordering them out of the country immediately.

The diplomatic note, issued Wednesday, charged the three with taking part in an espionage ring allegedly involving an American of Russian extraction.

The note, delivered to the chief of the Soviet mission in New York, ordered their "immediate departure," meaning within 48 hours.

The three were Yuri A. Romashin, 30, third secretary of the mission; Gleb A. Pavlov, 39, an attaché, and Vladimir I. Olenev, 37, a mission employee.

Caught In Station

The FBI seized Romashin and Pavlov Tuesday night in the parking lot of the Englewood, N. J., railroad station. With them were the American, John William Butenko, 38, an engineer with the International Electric Corp. of Paramus, N.J., and Igor A. Ivanov, 33, a Russian chauffeur for the Soviet trade agency, Amtorg.

Oklahoma Solon Makes a 'Startling' Discovery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At the age of 59, Rep. Tom Steed has just discovered that sex is more interesting to people than government.

The Shawnee, Okla., Democrat casually announced Wednesday that he had discovered two call girls on the payroll of a senator. He did not identify the senator, and said he would not do so, even if called before congressional investigators.

"I'm not taking a moralistic position about it," he said. "I only mention it to point up the fact that secrecy in congressional matters operates to the benefit of nobody but a few of the members. It certainly is not in the interest of the people."

Steed, a newspaperman for 20 years before his election to Congress in 1948, included the call girl report in his latest blast at the Senate for its insistence that House members give up the use of so-called "junk" or unaddressed mailings under their franking privilege.

"People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones," Steed said. "If the senators want to reform things around here they ought to start with the Senate."

He said the Senate's system of publishing members' payrolls quarterly lends itself to abuse. He said senators in some cases apparently do not list everyone they should. House members' payrolls are constantly open to public inspection.

More important, in Steed's view, is the preservation of "comity" between the two Houses, a traditional system under which each chamber makes its own rules without advice from the other.

Steed said he had been complaining since June, when the Senate added its anti-junk mail rider to a House-passed appropriation bill to run the House and Senate for the current 12-month period.

"But I just discovered today that sex is more interesting to people than government," he said. "Nobody paid any attention until I mentioned call girls."

Yes, how about those call girls? He was asked.

When, where, and how did he meet them, and how did he know what they were and who they worked for?

"I stumbled into the wrong pew one night," Steed replied, recalling a social gathering where he met the girls earlier this year. "It became obvious what they were in the course of the conversation. And they told me whose payroll they were on."

Are they still on the senator's payroll?

"There is no way for me to know," Steed replied.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis-Hdwe (Adv.)

IT JUST GREW—The first permanent income tax was levied just 50 years ago, making life a bit more complicated for 425,000 citizens whose incomes were affected. Today, nearly everyone pays income tax. In 1913, the top tax was 6 per cent on individuals (91 per cent today) and 1 per cent on corporations (52 per cent today). That year federal income from all taxes was $344 million, with the income tax representing a mere $35 million of that. Newschart shows that things have changed somewhat. In 1962, federal tax collections were $99.4 billion, with income tax accounting for $77.5 billion. Data from Commerce Clearing House.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
The federal spending budget will be higher next year. There will be another deficit. And, as usual, no elected official will accept responsibility for this dangerous fiscal situation. It just happened.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon outlined the situation the other day before the American Bankers Association in Washington, D.C. from the voters here should be—but isn't—a rising taxpayers chorus: "Oh, yeah!"

Dillon told the bankers there would be a further moderate increase in the federal budget for the 1965 fiscal year. This budget will be submitted to Congress next January to begin functioning on July 1, 1964. Dillon said the spending increase was caused by conditions over which government had little control. That invites another skeptical: "Oh, yeah!"

There Is Responsibility
Responsible, Dillon said, was the sharp step-up in defense and space needs during the past three years, reflected by appropriations previously approved by Congress. No one responsible? How's that again, Mr. Secretary? Individual congressmen are responsible because the money cannot be spent unless it is appropriated. The President and the executive branch are responsible because they spend the money after Congress appropriates. Dillon packs a fat share of responsibility because he has been a big, policy-making man in two big spending administrations. Both failed to make economies in non-defense items as defense needs increased. These two administrations were under Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy.

Dillon is substantially accurate in saying that defense needs during the past three years have greatly increased. He didn't mention that non-defense spending also has been increasing. Anyway, a 10-year span is a fairer standard than the past three years in judging the trend of political spending by the federal government. It is absolute baloney that defense spending created the budget deficits that have afflicted the U.S. Treasury in eight of the past 11 years. Ditto for the deficits that will afflict the Treasury next year, the year after that. For example:

Spending Over Outlay
In fiscal 1954, defense, international affairs, space and research spending was $48.8 billion against $63.3 billion in the current '64 fiscal year. That is an increase of $14.5 billion. For the same years, non-defense spending was $19.5 billion and $36.7 billion, a hike of $17.2 billion. So, from 1954 to 1964 fiscal years, inclusive non-defense spending increased $2 billion more than did the non-defense outlay.

As the very steep defense spending trend developed, Congress and Presidents, then and now, permitted non-defense spending to increase also. This should chill the taxpayer-voters against all politicians. Republicans are nearly as bad as Democrats when it comes to spending other people's money to stay in office.

Unlimited Use of Autos Blamed in School Orgies

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (UPI) — The disclosure of widespread sex orgies among St. Charles High School students shook this city of 21,000 persons today. Officials blamed indifferent parents and teenagers' car privileges.

"The scope of this thing is amazing," county juvenile officer Edwin Stein said. "I consider this a crisis."

Twenty-five persons have been arrested and three of them remain in jail. A 17-year-old girl, a high school dropout, has been placed in a mental institution.

County prosecutor Donald E. Dalton said a major factor in the growing scandal was the unlimited use of autos by both boys and girls. He said many parents have given cars to their children on their 16th birthday.

He said several of the incidents took place at unchaperoned or poorly chaperoned parties during which couples would retire to darkened autos. Beer was drunk at some of the parties.

Dalton said the six-week investigation had turned up some cases of unnatural sex acts. But, he said, "I think we caught this before it spread very far."

A court observer said six persons have been charged with statutory rape and four with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Fifteen others have been sentenced for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Stein would not say how many of the high school's 1,365 students were involved. He said it was "well over that figure (25). To say 25 would be very inadequate."

Four Injured in Two-Car Accident

Four persons remain in Highland General Hospital today as a result of a two-car collision about 11 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Brown and Cuyler Sts.

According to hospital authorities, Mary Louise Baker of 640 N. Roberta, Keith W. Heathington, 23, of the Adams Hotel and Floyd Kenneth Morris, 32, of Farwell, are in good condition and Jerald Foster, 18, of Farwell, is in fair condition.

Heathington was driving north on Cuyler and the other driver, James Marvin Clark, 18, of Canyon was going west on Brown, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

According to police, Miss Baker and Morris were passengers in the car driven by Heathington and Foster was a passenger in the auto driven by Clark, who was not injured or admitted to the hospital.

When there were horse buggies to boost out the chicken coop or outhouses to tip over.

Kids in Erie, Mich., will have to have identification cards to night to prove they are local ghosts. Officials said they wanted to avoid giving treats to youths from other cities, mostly Toledo, Ohio, who are brought in by car and let out to go door-to-door.

Retired grocer Roy Hough of Newton, Iowa, passed out more than $1,500 to the youngsters Wednesday night — in fake Confederate bills. Each had a penny taped to the back.

Hough said he never had so much fun "in all my life."

Frank Culberson, chairman of the C of C industrial committee, spoke on behalf of the industrial survey of Pampa, which will be conducted by the Research Division of Texas A&M.

He urged all those interested in the future industrial and economic development of Pampa to contribute to the $5,000 cost of the survey.

America's On The March, JFK Tells Country

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — President Kennedy, who campaigned three years ago on a pledge to get the country moving again, Wednesday night told a Democratic fund-raising dinner that "America is on the march."

In a five-hour visit that netted the Democratic party treasury $450,000 and gave a boost to Mayor James H. Tate's chances of election to his first full four-year term, Kennedy dwelt on the gains made in the 33 months of his administration.

The president arrived at 4:56 p.m. EST, was whisked to a downtown hotel, attended a reception for 200 Democrats who paid $250 each for the privilege, dined alone in his room, addressed 4,000 party faithful at a $100-a-plate dinner at Convention Hall, and was airborne for Washington at 10:04 p.m.

The Chief Executive referred only slightly to the racial issue which threatens to play a major role in next Tuesday's mayoralty election here.

But he praised Tate, Rep. William J. Green, D-Pa., the Philadelphia Democratic city chairman, and the people of Philadelphia whose support in the 1960 presidential election swung Pennsylvania's 32 electoral college votes to him.

Green, who was credited with persuading the President to lend his presence to shore up Tate's candidacy, rode beside Kennedy and the mayor in an open limousine down the 6.5 mile trip from the airport to the hotel in 49-degree weather.

Former Pennsylvania Gov. David Lawrence and Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., as well as four Democratic congressmen from Philadelphia, flew in the plane with Kennedy. He was met at the airport by Green and former Mayor Richardson Dilworth, whose resignation to run for governor last year boosted Tate, then president of city council, into the city's top spot.

Tate's administration has been plagued by the racial issue this year, notably school integration and job equality problems. There have been a series of riots and near-riots in recent weeks and within the last week 59 firemen were dismissed for picketing a Tate political speech in demands for pay increases. The dismissals are now being reviewed.

Police Cowboys
Rope Stray Cow

Police received reports yesterday of a "wandering cow," and one incident of malicious mischief.

"Someone called yesterday about 9 a.m. and reported a cow was wandering in the 600 block of W. Brown," Police Chief Jim Conner said.

Capt. Denny Roan and Dog Warden Buster Collins caught the cow with a rope and took her to 1101 S. Clark to a pasture belonging to Sam Whatley.

"Anyone who has a cow missing should call MO 4-6638," the Chief said.

Buck Cooper, 1328 Starkweather, reported to police someone threw a small piece of concrete through a back window of his home sometime Tuesday.

Police Sound Warnings On Halloween Vandalism

Although tonight is Halloween, Pampa Police announced today they will not make any allowances for persons committing extensive or permanent property damage.

"Sometimes people think that because it's Halloween it is all right to damage property and get by with it," Police Chief Jim Conner said. "The law doesn't make any allowances for any time and if permanent damage is done, someone will

Two Girls Sent To Gainesville

Two of the three juvenile girls involved in the theft of two cars Oct. 21 were sent today to the Gainesville State Training School for Girls according to Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard.

Leonard said the three girls, ages 12, 14 and 15, were judged delinquent yesterday by Judge Bill Craig in a hearing in County Court. The case of the 12 year-old girl is pending.

Obituaries

Mrs. Lola Blanche Hailey
Mrs. Lola B. Hailey, 73, died at 9:30 a.m. today in Highland General Hospital. A member of the First Assembly of God Church, she had been a resident of Pampa for 20 years.

Mrs. Hailey was born in San Saba County, Tex. July 5, 1890.

She is survived by her husband, Oscar W. Hailey of the home at 317 N. Wells; one daughter, Mrs. Bernice W. Kelley of Abilene; two sons, Sgt. Charles R. Hailey, with the U.S. Army at Fort Worth, and Horace P. Hailey of Pampa; and nine grandchildren.

The body is being sent to Dublin, Tex. for funeral services and burial.

"We feel that if parents cooperate with us and would talk to their children and explain the danger of these so-called pranks, the incidents of malicious mischief would decrease."

"In the past, not too much serious damage has been done and we hope none will be done this year," Chief Conner said.

The chief also warned motorists to be even more careful tonight because trick or treating children will be out and most will be wearing dark Halloween costumes.

"Parents with small children should accompany them across streets and those with older boys and girls should at least warn them of the danger of darting across a street without looking in both directions," he warned.

FRENCH FRIED SANDWICHES — For new zing in the everyday sandwich, French fry old favorites. This idea will whet the lagging appetite of the most delicate eater. (National Preserve Association)

Golden-Rich Party Parfaits

Here's a golden opportunity to make the most of ice cream for dessert—a memorable party parfait with the good old-fashioned flavor of vanilla ice cream and a special gourmet sauce. The quick sauce, made with mince meat according to a new Borden Kitchen recipe, blends deliciously with the vanilla ice cream. The parfaits are easy to make and can be prepared well ahead of time in brandy glasses, regular parfait glasses or individual dessert dishes. Keep the parfaits in the freezer until just before serving time.

Golden Vanilla-Mince Meat Sauce Parfaits
(Makes 6 to 8 parfaits)

2-2/3 cups (one 28-oz. jar) Nona Such Ready-to-Use Mince Meat
1/2 cup orange juice

1-1/2 tablespoons finely grated orange rind
1 quart old-fashioned Golden Vanilla Ice Cream

In medium size saucepan, combine mince meat, orange juice and rind. Cook over medium heat 5 to 7 minutes, or until thoroughly heated. Stir frequently while heating. Yield is 2-1/3 cups sauce.

To prepare parfaits: Allow 1/2

Raisin Little Packs for Trick or Treaters

Sweet California raisins in little packs are a favorite treat for Halloweeners in every neighborhood. Each 1 1/2-ounce carton contains the perfect amount for a quick energy snack and they're easy for children to handle, too. Buy them singly or in bundles of six at grocery stores everywhere.

These festive raisin cup cakes, made with cake mix, also set the Halloween mood. Dark seedless California raisins are arranged in the shapes of prowling cats atop the raisin chocolate cakes. Orange icing contrasts with the dark cake and raisin decorations to carry the traditional color scheme of the day.

BLACK CAT RAISIN CUP CAKES
1/4 cup dark seedless raisins
1 package devil's food cake mix

Orange Icing
Raisins for decorating tops

Chop raisins coarsely. Prepare cake batter according to package directions for cup cakes; fold in raisins. Spoon into paper baking cups set in muffin cups. Bake as package directs. When cool, frost with Orange Icing. Make cat shapes with whole raisins on each cup cake.

ORANGE ICING: Beat together 1/4 cup butter, 1 tablespoon grated orange peel, 2 cups sifted powdered sugar, 2 tablespoons half and half and few drops orange food coloring.

CURTAIN DRYING TIP

To keep curtains from drying unevenly, hang them from the selvage edge or top hem. Use regular or springtype clothespins, closely spaced.

DRESSING SCOOP

Use a small sugar scoop to insert dressing into chickens or turkey.

CLEAN AND USE AGAIN

Here's a way to save some money at your parties. You can wash your plastic tidbit picks in hot, soapy water. Rinse with hot water and let dry.

PROTECT INVESTMENT

A good alligator handbag is a worth-while but expensive investment. It's wise to carry a plastic case inside the bag so that you can protect it from damage should it rain.

New Zip for Preserves

There's some sort of magic food appeal in the words, French fried. Label any food thus, and its popularity zooms, particularly with the youngsters.

Now we have old-fashioned preserve or jelly sandwiches French fried to a new deliciousness. Crusty on the outside, with sweet fruit filling on the inside, flavorful throughout, they're an ideal lunch for the school crowd; fine, too, for a quick-and-easy family supper on those days when Mother is involved in afternoon civic activities. As a matter of fact, the young lady of the house can fix them while Mom is kicking off her high heels and hanging up her walking suit.

For a very special treat, serve French fried jelly and peanut butter sandwiches. They'll score high at an after-game gathering of teenagers and, later in the season, they'll be wonderful after ice-skating sessions. Try them soon, and you'll probably get unanimous requests for a French fried sandwich meal at least once a week all winter long.

FRENCH FRIED JELLY AND PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICHES

12 slices white bread
1 jar (10 to 12 ounce) preserves, marmalade or jelly, any flavor desired

3/4 cup peanut butter, creamy or chunk style
2 eggs
3/4 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup butter or margarine
Confectioner's sugar
Nutmeg

Spread 6 slices of bread with desired preserves, marmalade or jelly. Cover with remaining bread slices spread with peanut butter. Beat eggs; add milk, sugar, salt and vanilla and stir until sugar dissolves. Dip each sandwich into egg mixture quickly; turn and quickly remove from egg mixture. Drain. Brown on both sides on grill or in skillet in melted butter or margarine turning sandwich only once. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar and nutmeg and cut in half diagonally. Yield: 6 sandwiches.

DECORATING TIP

Variety of color or pattern in floor often provides an effective definition for various activities in the home. The 250 different colors and endless variety of sizes, shapes and textures of ceramic tile make this life-lasting, waterproof material ideal for deciding rooms. Using this method instead of actual partitions is especially desirable in small homes. A feeling of spaciousness is achieved without ciousness is achieved without sacrificing identity.

CLEAN SWEEP

New designs in appliances are permitting more flexibility in kitchen design. Wall-hung refrigerators, for example, not only place frequently needed food and drink items within easy reach but also avoid the interruptions in counter work space caused by free-standing refrigerators. Unbroken counters surfaced with waterproof and scorch proof ceramic tile are among the most important facilities in one of the most important rooms in the home.

'Open House' Works Both Ways For Visiting Tourist, European

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thousands of Europeans voluntarily open the doors of their homes to American visitors in the interests of better understanding and friendship between peoples of different nationalities.

These are "average" working, business and professional class citizens taking part in such good-will programs as "Meet the Danes," "Don't Miss the Swiss," and "Get in Touch with the Dutch."

Through these programs sponsored by national and local tourist associations in various countries, American tourists can make arrangements to spend a few sociable hours with a European family of similar background and interests.

These "open-house" programs offer the American traveling abroad a rare opportunity of meeting and chatting with the "real" people and getting a first-hand idea of how they live.

Too often, the American traveling in foreign lands comes in contact only with those persons associated with tourism — guides, hotel workers, porters, taxi-drivers, waiters, etc.

This works both ways. The U.S. travel service (USTS) reports many overseas visitors are most anxious to meet Americans in their homes.

"They want to see first hand how we live," said Voit Gilmore, director of USTS. "Many visitors expressed one disappointment — they didn't have the opportunity to sit down in an American home and 'chew the fat' with an American family over a cup of coffee."

USTS has been working with civic and other interested groups throughout the United States, and more than 20 communities already have set up "open house" programs. Among them are Kalamazoo, Mich., Hollywood, Fla., Philadelphia, Washington, Detroit and Chicago.

Housewives in Miami Beach opened their homes to more than 600 foreigners who visited Florida early in 1963. They enjoyed it so much that they now set up their program on a permanent basis.

Then there was a group of French visitors who expected to spend a one-day stopover in Logan, Utah, resting. But the people of Logan arranged a complete program for them, including visits to local homes. The French travelers later said the Logan stop-over was the highlight of their tour.

"The overseas visitors want not only to see our sights but also how we live," said Gilmore. "And, he wants to get to know us. By establishing programs to invite overseas visitors to a home for a cup of coffee, communities are fulfilling the desires of visitors and helping him get a true picture of the American way of life."

The "open house" programs here and abroad are similar. The service is free. It costs the guest nothing (unless he wants to bring a small gift). And the host neither receives nor expects compensation.

The American tourist simply files his request to meet a local family with the tourist or travel office on arrival in cities where such programs are set up. Among them are Copenhagen, Amsterdam, Curich as well as other cities in those countries and elsewhere.

The chemical is pumped into the tank or pipeline to displace most of the explosive contents and combine with the rest to form a safe, inert atmosphere.

EYEGLASSES for chickens increase egg production, says California poultryman Al Schriener. The molded plastic contact lenses, at three cents a pair, fit over the chicken's eyeballs, are held in place by the lids. Purpose, however, is not better vision but worse. With lenses, chickens can see to eat and drink but not well enough to fight with each other.

TOOTH BANKS in which healthy teeth will be stored for transplantation is the dream of Dr. Miklos Caserofsky, D.D.S. of Washington, D.C. For a transplant, he says, the root structure of the donor tooth must be only partially developed and no strain must be put on the new tooth for at least three weeks.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Some odd sounds have been coming out of Peking lately. Among them has been the seemingly frank announcement that "it may take a few more years" before China is ready to explode an atom bomb. This would suggest a delay until at least 1967, with another 10 years necessary after that for mass production and construction of a delivery system.

Accompanying that disclosure by Red Chinese Deputy Premier and Foreign Minister Chen Yi was the admission that Chinese industry at the moment simply is not up to the job. It would seem a galling admission of weakness by the normally boastful Communist Chinese leadership, and a question arises as to why make it at all and what is to be gained by it. But there is more.

Last September, Liu Shao-chi, president of Communist China and chosen successor to Mao Tse-tung, said in North Korea that "it is impermissible for any Socialist country to be the first to use nuclear weapons under any circumstances..."

War Can Be Avoided
On Oct. 1, Peng Chen, mayor of Peking, said that a world war could be averted through united effort and "concerted struggle" by the peoples of the world, including the United States.

Approaches Are Interesting
Just what lies in back of the Chinese statements must be a matter of speculation. But there are a number of interesting avenues of approach.

The Red Chinese deputy premier and foreign minister accompanied his admission of Chinese atomic unreadiness with a firm declaration that China never would knock under either to Nikita Khrushchev or the United States.

Chen Yi also disclosed another year's delay in Red China's five-year plan. For it, he blamed withdrawal of Soviet aid, the U. S. blockade and natural calamities. And therein may be the key to Red Chinese utterances so at variance with past performance.

Chinese agriculture is improving but for both agriculture and industry she needs help which must come other than from either Soviet Russia or the United States. And it must come from the West.

Farm to Market Roads Scheduled For Improvement

AUSTIN (SpI) — The Texas Highway Commission has announced approval of an $18,144,500 program to improve the safety factor and protect the state's investment on 3,056 miles of farm to market roads.

At the same time it emphasizes the Commission's concern with reducing driving hazards in the farm to market road complex as well as on multi-lane arterial systems. Although the dollar value of the program is not greatly in excess of the $18 million - plus spent a year ago, more of the funds allocated will be used for reconstruction and reconditioning of existing roads and upgrading the safety factor. Some 67 per cent of the total allocation will go for this purpose.

heavier load requirements of farm to market roads. When many of the older farm to market roads originally were built, demand for stronger bases, wider traffic lanes and thicker surfacing was not so great. Besides protecting the state's investment in its farm to market system, the new program is aimed at incorporating safety features to meet the demands of modern day traffic. The program will include the widening of culverts, channelizing of traffic at intersections and other engineering projects which will further contribute to motoring safety. Work is proposed on 524 projects.

Schools Taking Steps to Combat The Age-Old Problem of Dropouts

By PRESTON MCGRAW
DALLAS (UPI) — Texas schools are beginning to do something about the problem of dropouts — students who quit before they graduate.

The dividends go to both the student who is persuaded to stay in school and to society. A student who finishes high school makes $60,000 - $100,000 more in a lifetime than the student who drops out.

The dropout's problem is not only of making less than the student who graduates but also of getting and keeping a job. Twenty-five per cent of school dropouts between 16-21 are unemployed.

The dropout continues to be the No. 1 problem in our fight against crime," says Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

V. C. Sumner, supervisor of statistics and supports for the Texas Education Agency, estimates that there were 61,000 dropouts in the state for the 1962-1963 school year.

More Boys Quit
Negroes, Mexican-Americans and poor readers of any race

are more likely to drop out of school than other students. Boys are more likely to drop out than girls.

The Houston Independent School District, the state's largest, strikes directly at the dropout problem by providing special classes for students who learn slower than the average.

Houston school officials call them "talent preservation classes."

University Junior High School in Austin is running an experiment to find the causes of dropouts and the cure. The Austin school system and the University of Texas Hogg Foundation are paying for the experiment.

"This is an awfully good pilot program," says T. P. Baker, administrative director of instruction for Austin schools. "If it pans out half as well as it looks like it will, it will spread through the whole system."

Cites Two Reasons
— A new state law that requires 160 days' school attendance in a year. Students living on farms used to stay out of school until late in the fall. Consequently, some fell behind in their studies, got discouraged and dropped out.

— Difficulty nowadays in finding a job without a high-school diploma.

Raise in Federal Payroll Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Post Office and Civil Service committee yesterday approved legislation to raise the pay of congressmen, Cabinet members, federal judges, and about 1.8 other government employees by $600 million a year.

The measure would raise the pay of practically every civilian federal employe, from the vice president to the lowest ranking civil servant. Increases in civil service and postoffice ranks would range from 3 to 22.5 per cent. Top level appointed and elected officials would get increases of up to $10,000 a year. The committee approved the bill 15-9 but it is sure to run into plenty of opposition from economizers in congress. Under the plan, members of Congress would have their pay raised from $22,500 to $32,500 a year. Cabinet members would get a hike to $35,000 from $25,000. Prior to revisions, the pay legislation would have raised Cabinet and congressional salaries by $12,500.

Dear Abby...
If Car Pool Is Swamped,
Tell Her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Three other mothers and I are in a car pool. My problem is not with them. It's with a mother who is not in our car pool. This mother has never asked if her children could ride with us. She just sends them over every morning with instructions to get in the car. We have four children in our car without her two, and it is very crowded. This mother has a car sitting in her driveway all day. Am I wrong to resent the nervousness of this woman? How can I put a stop to it without getting a bad name with all the neighbors?

only decorated for bravery. Apologize.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged (ring and all) to a girl for whom I care so much it hurts. We have fought bitterly about one matter, but I finally gave in because it meant so much to her. She was engaged before, but returned the diamond. However, she did not return a gold charm bracelet he gave her. It is loaded down with charms from HIM. Each has sentimental significance — the anniversary of their first date, his gold football, even a small calendar with a tiny ruby marking their "wedding date." She wears this bracelet constantly and claims it means nothing to her. She says she tried to give it back to HIM, but he refused it. Am I wrong to resent it?

CROWDED

DEAR CROWDED: With a car in her driveway, and lacking the manners to ASK if her children may ride with you, this woman should be asked not to send her children over for a ride because the car is filled to capacity without them.

DEAR BUGGED: No. She is either cold and unfeeling, or very cruel. Take a long, hard look at this woman. In my opinion she has too much jewelry at the moment to appreciate a wedding ring.

BUGGED

DEAR ABBY: I was painting my house on the outside and my neighbor's cat (she is one of those mushy types; got paint smeared all over herself. It wasn't my fault. Now this neighbor thinks I put paint on her cat intentionally, but I didn't. Should I apologize, or shouldn't she have taught her cat not to bother people when they're painting?

CONFIDENTIAL TO ROG: The difference between a prejudice and a conviction is that you can explain a conviction without getting mad.

GEORGE

DEAR GEORGE: People can't resist other people when they're painting, so don't expect more from an animal. Curiosity has killed many a cat. Your neighbor was lucky. Hers was

After attending a safety meeting recently, I read this article which you may enjoy too.—In a steady stream of Sunday traffic, a small sedan stopped without warning. Screeching brakes testified to the alertness of a dozen drivers who narrowly missed a "chain accident." The driver of the car behind the offender jumped out and demanded an explanation. The offender was obviously taken by surprise. "We didn't mean to cause any trouble," he explained. "My wife and I were just trying out our safety belts." (By Bennett Cerf)

A guest of Mrs. Mollie Hethcock Tuesday was her cousin, Mrs. Myrtle Ball of Alanreed. Mrs. Joe B. Williams is visiting with her daughter in Houston.

Hawaiian Slides Shown at Meeting

Mrs. J. A. Howard, 2101 N. Wells, was hostess for a recent meeting of the Top O' Texas Garden Club.

The business session was conducted with Mrs. Kenneth Osborne, president, presiding. Committee reports were given, and further plans were made for the Bazaar and Bake Sale to be held in November.

The program, a series of slides made by Mrs. J. A. Knox, concerned flowers and trees that thrive in the semi-tropical climate of Hawaii.

The serving table featured a centerpiece of dried material and vegetable as decoration.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Templeton, a guest, and mother of Mrs. O. M. Prigmore. Members present were Mmes. W. L. Gabelman, a new member; Tom Patton; A. H. Kouri, Margery Mack, Fred Hinkley, O. M. Prigmore, and Joe Rutledge.

Lullaby Shower

Honors Mrs. Eakin

WHITE DEER (Sp) — A theme of pink and blue was carried out in the decorations of a recent lullaby shower honoring Mrs. Paul Eakin.

Favors of pink and blue sugar babies and baby rattles were presented to the guests. Mrs. Eakin was presented a corsage fashioned of baby socks by the hostesses.

Hostesses for the event were Mmes. Jerry Braddock, Fred Haiduk, R. L. Haiduk, Joe Gordzelik, Doyle Doggett, Meredith Meaker, John Kotara III, Melvin Kalka, Eddie Kalka and Alvin Kalka.

Approximately 30 persons attended the shower.

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — Members of the Skellytown Rebekah Lodge met recently in the IOOF Hall for a short business meeting with Noble Grand, Mrs. John Simmons, in the chair.

Four sick visits were reported and 10 cards had been sent during the week. Mrs. Bob Heaton was reported to have been in the Highland General Hospital, and the bake sale report was given.

The group planned a bazaar to be held the last of November at the IOOF Hall.

After the business session, members enjoyed a dinner in Borger, honoring the Past Grand, Mrs. Tommy Hill. Invocation was given by Mrs. C. C. Coleman. Praying Hands book markers were presented to each guest by Mrs. E. E. Crawford.

Mrs. Hill was presented a gift from the lodge by the Noble Grand, Mrs. John Simmons.

After the dinner, the members went to Cedar Lanes for bowling.

Attending were Mmes. Tommy Hill, E. E. Crawford, Jack Houston, Floyd McCoy, Cliff

ford Coleman, J. R. McKernan, W. S. Berry and Gertrude Huckins.

Beef Cattle Imports Hit Domestic Prices

Cattle prices are low. Some cattlemen face financial distress. They see the current high level of beef and veal imports—a level topping 10 percent of domestic production—as being largely responsible for their dilemma. The United States policy of low tariffs and no quotas has cramped the market for our own cattle, particularly fed beef, by encouraging a flood of foreign meat products.

Fed cattle prices declined steadily during the first half of the year. Choice steers at Chicago dropped from $30.13 in November, 1962, to a low of $22.61 in May, 1963. They rose to an average of $24.72 in July and ranged around a $24 average this week. The Agriculture Department expects fed cattle prices to average close to those of recent weeks through the remaining months of the year. "Fed cattle"—cattle held on feed to fatten them for marketing and slaughter—provide the best quality beef. Prices of cattle of lesser quality have not been so drastically affected.

Imports of beef and veal have increased from 1.8 percent of our domestic production in 1954 to 10.6 percent at the current level. These are the percentages of imports to domestic production for recent years: 1954, 1.8 percent; 1955, 2.1 percent; 1956, 1.6 percent; 1957, 3.9 percent; 1958, 8.6 percent; 1959, 8.16 percent; 1960, 5.9 percent; 1961, 7.19 percent; 1962, 10.6 percent. The Agriculture Department says that more than four-fifths of the beef and veal imported is of fairly low quality and is used in the production of processed meat products rather than sold as fresh meat.

But cattlemen say that regardless of quality, imports have come along to take a steadily increasing share of business over the meat counters. It is well known that substitution by consumers of one meat product for another has important effects on the prices of both.

The Department of Agriculture contends that supply is the major factor affecting the price of fed cattle at market. A recent statement by the department said, "Year-to-year changes in fed cattle prices now seem to be as fully explained by changes in domestic fed cattle production as were price movements in earlier years. The sharp drop in fed cattle prices over the past several months has been associated with an upturn in fed cattle slaughter and continued heavy marketings of certain competing products." The Department warns that ranges are carrying an increasingly large number of animals. Large increases have been noted in the number of cattle on feed. It has been a dry year—and continued dryness could bring on heavy marketings and further downward pressure on prices.

Several of the large farm organizations, while critical of the level of meat imports, are also inclined to the view that the decrease in fed cattle prices is mainly due to cyclical supply factors.

American farms and ranches produce one-fifth of our total export volume. Approximately $300 million of our $5 billion in agricultural exports last year was in beef and other livestock products. Most Americans believe that it is wise policy for us to seek to expand our exports, and 1963 promises to be a record year across the board. But at the same time we should not, while pursuing aggressive trade policies, become an international dumping ground for the meat products of other nations. Supporting the contention that we are becoming just that are these facts: During the period from 1956 to 1960 our average annual imports of all meat, converted to a carcass weight basis, amounted to 890 million pounds. In 1962, this figure was more than doubled to 1,850 million pounds. For all the rest of the world in the same period the increase was only from 5,138 million pounds to 5,496 million pounds—a gain of less than 7 percent.

On top of that, major beef exporting countries such as Australia and New Zealand, which would seem to want a lowering of world trade barriers for their exporters, have not hesitated to protect against imports in order that their own producers do not suffer.

In the controversy over this question one thing is clear: The American cattle industry has been hurt. I believe that the high level of imports has contributed significantly to the cattlemen's problems. And I believe the time has come when technical people in the industry and in government must make a thorough review of all factors to determine the impact of imports on our domestic cattle market, to determine what level of imports should be permitted in order that American producers are not damaged. The cattle industry has asked little of its government. We must not permit it to be damaged by unwise trade policies.

Personal note:
On a flight to Texas last weekend, Mrs. Rogers and I very much enjoyed talking with Miss Mary B. McCanne, an American Airlines stewardess based in Dallas. Her home formerly was in the Panhandle, in Lakeview, folks making the Dallas-to-Washington flight would enjoy a visit with her, as we did.

Alaskans Angry Over Russian Fishing Invasion

BY THOMAS M. BROWN
KODIAK, Alaska (UPI)—The brawny, leather-faced Alaskans who earn their living scooping king crabs from the sea are men long on action and short on diplomacy. They're seething in anger at Russian fishermen who have been coming through carefully developed fishing grounds like vacuum sweepers, carelessly gathering huge quantities of crabs and killing and maiming thousands of others. The crab fishermen's private cold war with their Soviet counterparts could turn hot any day—perhaps to the point of shooting—if the Russians persist in destructive "invasions" of the rich fishing waters off Alaska. Some of the U.S. fishermen are going to sea armed and they don't intend to sit idly by while the Soviets threaten the very existence of this community's $8 million-a-year crab industry by using fishing methods which violate U.S. law.

It all started two years ago, on Thanksgiving Day, when a single-engine plane dipped low over the choppy, steel-gray Gulf of Alaska and state Fish and Game Department employe Ovid McKinley saw a fishing trawler below with a red hammer and sickle painted on its stack. Since that first Soviet vessel was detected in traditional U.S. fishing waters off the 49th state, as many as 82 Russian ships—ranging in size from 127-foot trawlers to 575-foot processing vessels—have been counted off Kodiak Island at one time.

Invasion Of Grounds
American skippers and state officials call it an "invasion" of U.S. developed fishing grounds. Fishermen have testified under oath that Russian vessels are deliberately harassing them, destroying their gear, and as one put it, "generally making themselves obnoxious."

THE GREAT PUMPKIN, HIMSELF—For more than 10 years this 80,000-barrel gasoline storage tank at the Los Angeles Refinery has beamed its toothy smile for the two weeks leading up to Halloween. The tremendous grin—the mouth is 73 feet long and 10 feet high—can be seen for several miles. Each year thousands of visitors come to southern California to visit what could well claim to be the world's largest Jack-o'-lantern.

Spy's American Wife Believed To Be With Husband

MOSCOW (UPI)—The American-born wife of H.A.R. (Kim) Philby, the "third man" in Britain's Burgess-Maclean spy case, is believed to have joined her defector husband in Russia.

Informed sources in Moscow said Tuesday night that Mrs. Eleanor Philby was issued a Soviet visa early last month and was believed to have flown into Russia on Sept. 26. There was no specific indication of her whereabouts, however.

Earlier this year the British government named Philby, who once worked as a correspondent in Beirut, Lebanon, for a British newspaper, as the mysterious "third man" who tipped off turncoat diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean that British agents were on their trail. Both fled behind the Iron Curtain in 1951.

Philby disappeared from Beirut early this year and then turned up inside Russia, where he became a Soviet citizen.

The defection of Burgess and Maclean was one of the biggest spy cases of the post-war years. Both had served in the British Embassy in Washington, where Philby also was employed while in the foreign service.

Burgess died last summer. Maclean has been reported working for a publishing house in Moscow. Maclean's wife Melinda, also American-born, joined her husband about a year after he and Burgess escaped.

Last July Britain's Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath identified Philby as the man believed to have tipped off Burgess and Maclean, and shortly thereafter the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia reported he had been granted "asylum" in Russia.

At that time, a spokesman for the British Foreign Office said there was nothing to prevent Eleanor Philby from joining her husband.

EXPENSIVE FLAPS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It has been costing American taxpayers an extra $68,000 a year because the Marine Corps and the Army disagree on having flaps on hip pockets of uniforms.

The General Accounting Office, which made the estimate Wednesday in a report to Congress, said the Army finally had backed down and future tropical wook khaki trousers would have flaps as the Marines wanted.

Catholic Bishops Vote to Assume More Church Rule

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Roman Catholic bishops of the world voted overwhelmingly yesterday to accept Pope Paul VI's invitation to assume a larger role in the government of the church.

In a series of historic ballots at the Ecumenical Council, the bishops by large majorities affirmed a theological doctrine asserting that bishops "by divine right" share with the Pope "full and supreme authority over the universal church."

In another important vote today, the council fathers approved restoration of the ancient order of deacons. The deacons will be ordained clergymen performing some but not all of the duties of priests.

If the bishops of a country see fit, the deacons may be allowed to marry instead of observing clerical celibacy.

The actions were taken in a series of five crucial ballots on questions designed to test the fathers' sentiments on the two issues which have been most hotly disputed in a council debate on a document concerning the church.

The document has been under consideration since the current session opened on Sept. 29. Four of the questions dealt with the single issue of declaring bishops to constitute a "college" which has a divine right to act in partnership with the Pope in formulating Catholic doctrine and administering the affairs of the church. The fifth question dealt with the diaconate, or body of deacons.

PARIS (UPI) — France has launched a 2,205-pound two-stage "Dragon" rocket 310 miles into space above the Sahara Desert, Gaston Palewski, minister of state for science announced Wednesday night.

He told the National Assembly the rocket brought France a step nearer launching a satellite and further ahead in its effort to compete in the space race.

we took this big V8 and put it in the '64 Chevy II...

Chevy II Four-Door Station Wagon. Luggage carrier rack shown, optional at extra cost.

WOW!

A pretty potent mixture. The car's the same size. Just as trim and easy to handle as ever. But now you can have a full-grown V8 in it. A Turbo-Fire 283* that turns out 195 hp. It's the kind of machine that doesn't take much coaxing to set in motion. (Especially when you consider it has over 60% more power than the Chevy II that won North America's toughest rally last spring—the Shell "4,000.") And we've also added a choice of a 4-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission* with a floor-mounted shift. But in case your tastes run somewhat milder, we should point out you have a pick of three other engines as well. The standard 4 (on 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6*.

And, of course, whatever one you decide on, you're getting a car with the pure and simple integrity of a Chevy II. (Upkeep has been even further reduced this year by such refinements as larger self-adjusting brakes.)

It's a simple matter to spot one of these '64's by styling touches like the new grille design and trim accents. But we'd like to suggest a more memorable way. Drop down to your dealer's and drive one.

Soviet Newspaper Blasts Out at Communist China

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet military newspaper Red Star has leveled new warmongering charges against Communist China despite a weekend truce call by Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The exchanges are pushing the two giant Communist countries farther apart in both party and governmental relations, diplomatic sources said here.

The defense ministry newspaper said:

"The Chinese theoreticians invited a law, which states the more people the reactionaries kill, the stronger the might of the revolution.

"According to their logic, it appears the Socialist countries would continue in the new world nuclear war, a just revolutionary policy."

The writer, Col. P. Trifonenko, declared that the Chinese "are not dismayed by the fact that a thermonuclear war would destroy 'millions of working people.'"

Trifonenko added that the Chinese have published "distortions," "monstrous inventions" and "slander" about the Soviet Union's own views on war and peace.

The harsh tone of the article was in marked contrast to the moderate address of a top Chinese trade union official Tuesday at a union gathering within the Kremlin walls.

Request to Raise Debt Limit Gets Committee Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Acting with unusual speed, the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday approved the administration's request to raise the national debt limit to $315 billion for the last seven months of this fiscal year.

Republicans fought the move, arguing the figure was too high but lost on a straight party-line vote.

The current temporary limit of $309 billion will expire Nov. 30 unless Congress acts. The debt ceiling then would revert to its permanent level of $285 billion, far below the present actual mark.

The national debt now stands at $307 billion.

Why the Raised Eyebrows?

Miladys' Fancy Attire Tells You Not a Thing

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The fact that an attractive young German woman was forced to return home because of her alleged friendship with unnamed officials here is of little interest to me.

What I find intriguing is the manner in which the matter came to light.

According to a report I have been reading with beady little eyes, the State Department became suspicious of her conduct because she was "dressing beyond her means."

Presumably, her clothing was more expensive than the wife of a German sergeant would ordinarily be able to buy.

This strikes me as being a rather slim reed upon which to base an investigation. My own wife, for instance, has been dressing beyond her means for years. Or at least beyond my means.

But as far as I know she has never caused an eyebrow-lifting at the State Department.

Who's in Charge?
If buying dresses that their husbands can't afford is a sign that women are less than virtuous, then there must be a terrific traffic jam along the path.

What I would like to know is this: Who at the State Department has charge of noticing that women are dressing beyond their means? And how do you go about getting a job like that?

Much of the social life in Washington revolves around the embassy circuit. The dress inspector therefore must be a pretty busy fellow.

Publicity that the Ellen Rometsch case has been getting, coming on top of the Christine Keeler case in London, undoubtedly will make his work a lot harder.

If I were a socialite, I would be sure I wore last year's dress the next time I attended a party on Embassy Row.

Would Be Suspect
Ladies attending these functions probably will find it more difficult from now on to maintain their composure when they spot some guy giving them the once-over.

It would well be, of course, that the State Department's dress inspector is a woman. That would permit the inspector to feel the quality of the dry goods without risking a punch in the nose.

Or it could be that the department uses a two-man inspection team, one being a fashion expert and the other an accountant.

As for us husbands, the case suggests a rule of thumb that we can follow. As long as our wives' clothing keeps us broke, we can be fairly certain they are being faithful.

Prospects Still Seen for Wheat Sale to Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Undersecretary of State George W. Ball held a long talk Wednesday with a leader of the Soviet wheat delegation. A Department spokesman said afterwards that prospects still were good that a deal for sale of American wheat to the Russians can be worked out.

The department said the meeting was concerned, particularly with arrangements for shipping the wheat, which is to be sold by private American traders with the permission of the U.S. government.

President Kennedy's stipulation that the grain be shipped in American flag vessels where available has caused a hitch in the negotiations. American bulk cargo rates run more than $10 a ton above those of foreign ships.

However, there have been indications from the maritime commission and other government agencies that U.S. shippers might be willing to make some adjustment in this case.

State Department officials said Ball and the Russian official, First Deputy Trade Minister Sergei A. Borisov, will meet again this week, probably on Friday.

State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips said after Wednesday's meeting that prospects were good that the wheat sale, which may run around $250 million, will ultimately go through.

1964 Citrus Crop To Be Smaller, Demand Greater

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department said today there will be less citrus fruit produced in 1964 than this year.

In a review, the department said consumer demand for fresh and processed fruit is expected to be a little stronger in 1964 than this year.

Producer prices for most fruits are expected to continue at relatively high levels this fall and winter, the department said.

The prospective decrease in the 1963-64 U.S. citrus crop (excluding California Valencia oranges) stems from reduced production in Florida resulting from loss of trees from last winter's severe freeze. The early midseason, and navel orange crop is expected to total 44.4 million boxes, 25 per cent below last season and 32 per cent below average. The grapefruit crop (excluding California "other areas") is expected to total 32.2 million boxes, 3 per cent below last season and 21 per cent below average.

The department said orange and grapefruit production is expected to increase over the next few years as Florida and Texas citrus groves recover further, and as newly-planted trees start to bear. The agency said that after several more years, production should reach the pre-freeze volume, and then expand further.

A SALUTE TO TEXAS PRODUCTS

Pampa and Gray County joins in the "ALL OUT" salute of TEXAS PRODUCTS during Texas Products Week. Texans are proud of their products, and rightly so. For we have a diversification of products that provide year 'round steady employment for the skilled and unskilled workers. Among products currently manufactured here are gun barrels, industrial machines, steel fabrications, oil tanks, oil field pumping equipment, foundry castings, ceramic products, petroleum products, mattresses, feeds, furniture, pipe, soft drinks, meat products, cabinets, tents, awnings, sheet metal products, boots, oil well cement, building blocks, and many more Texas Products.

State Industrial Commission Sponsors Texas Products Week

Manufacturers Join Weeklong Observance

The official industrial promotion agency of the State of Texas, The Texas Industrial Commission, is the official sponsor of Texas Products Week. Houston Harte Sr., a San Angelo man with wide newspaper and communication interest throughout the state, presented the idea to the Commission in the Spring of 1963. He was a member of the Texas Industrial Commission at the time but has since resigned although he is currently chairman of the Commission's "Texas Products Week Committee."

"We feel that a successful Texas Products Week program will do much to increase the industrial development potentials of Texas," stated Harte. "The No. 1 reason for most of the new industrial plant locations in Texas is due to markets and it just makes sense, the more Tex-

Abundant Supply of Electricity And Gas Provides Low-Cost Power

Texas produces 50 per cent of the entire nation's petroleum and natural gas. An abundant supply of inexpensive power and fuel is a standing invitation to both home grown and imported industry. Oil and a seemingly endless supply of natural gas are Texas' most available fuels.

Texas is first in the number of steam-electric generating plants and also has more plants of this nature than any other state. The installed capacity is second only to New York State and our cost per million BTU is fourth lowest.

Electricity and natural gas, two essentials for industrial development, are available in quantity in Texas at about the lowest cost in the nation. For instance, a kilowatt of industrial electricity made from Texas natural gas can be bought for less than in other states except where federally-produced power is cheaper.

Over Half Million Employed In Texas Manufacturing Plants

Over 500,000 Texans earn their livelihood in manufacturing plants in the Lone Star State. The approximate number in mid-1963 was 512,700. They are almost evenly divided between the durable and non-durable goods manufacturers with 251,800 in the former and 260,900 in the latter.

The category with the largest number of workers is the Food and Kindred Products with 79,100 and this group continues to show a steady increase almost every month. The Chemical and Allied Products grouping of industries are next with 46,800 workers followed by the Machinery category with 41,100 workers. Close behind in fourth spot is the Apparel and Other Finished Textile Product group with 40,200 industrial workers in Texas based operations.

Manufacturing in Texas employs about one out of every 7 persons in the state. The average weekly earning for all manufacturing employees was $97.11 and average weekly hours worked was 41.5 per worker. Hourly earnings had a $2.34 average with the top wage $3.25 per hour average going to the Petroleum Refining and Related third with 221,400 workers. Of the total work force of 3,263,000 workers, the Houston-Baytown area had the most with 586,400 workers. Dallas was next with 494,200 and Fort Worth was third with 221,400 workers. The above information was supplied by the Texas Employment Commission through its monthly newsletter, "Texas Labor Market".

Texas Products Are Moved Over Complete Transportation System

Ribbons of pavement, rails of steel, trails of airfreighters and ships of all nations move the products of Texas to other Texans and states of our nation.

Texas products are blessed with a transportation system that truly makes them available to any part of the world and the state. With thousands of miles of interstate and farm to market roads any town in the state is accessible to truck delivery from any other spot in the state. The great distances that once were a problem in Texas have to a great extent been solved by supply and demand, that created a trucking system that has reduced delivery to hours instead of days.

Rail transportation in the state is taken care of by 20,901 miles of operating track and 32 railroad companies. These lines are continually improving their service with such innovations as "piggy-back" and special types of cars designed to carry special products. Rail lines carry the raw materials from our ports to processing plants in the interior of the state. For instance, bauxite arriving by ship from Jamaica at a Gulf port is transferred to rail for final delivery to Rockdale, Texas. East Texas and Mexican iron ore moves by rail to steel mills in Houston. From these basic producers their products move by rail and truck to such diverse places as an aluminum products manufacturer in Woodville and an aircraft plant near Fort Worth.

Airfreight in Texas is important because of the miles between its major cities. A garment manufacturer in Dallas can ship by airfreighter to El Paso in a matter of a few hours or a rush order to Brownsville. All-major cities in the state are quickly accessible to air freight service.

Another form of freight transport that is very efficient is motor bus. Buses serve throughout the state with frequent and fast service. They can give, in many instances, same day delivery on small shipments. This service makes it possible for consumer product manufacturers to locate away from their supply houses for tools and equipment, but still not suffer from isolation. Bus delivery is a method of distribution that is becoming increasingly popular.

While barge and steamship do not figure too strongly in moving Texas made products to Texas consumers, their presence and service insure Texas producers with the opportunity of overseas markets. These ports and barge canals have long been used by Texas producers to move bulky items to the Eastern seaboard and beyond. The state's twelve deep water ports will soon be increased by one with the completion of the Port at Port Lavaca, Texas.

Texas products can move to any part of the state to serve the Texas consumer, or they can move to markets outside the nation. The variety of transportation is an incentive for Texans to establish consumer product manufacturing plants.

One of the unique items produced in Texas are plastic human skeletons made by a plastic firm in Gatesville. "Texas Products Week" is the time of the year when special attention is directed to both the unusual and the common place of Texas made products.

VIEW WITH A ROOM—Furniture showing on one of the floors of a 27-story apartment house rising in Pittsburgh's golden triangle is in an "apartment" with natural air conditioning. Interior designers will be along later, presumably after the walls are up.

Primary Metals Set Pace for Other Industry

Although the final consumer quite often isn't aware of the role of the primary metals industry in Texas, nevertheless, this segment of our industrial empire is truly a giant. 26,600 workers are employed in almost 200 plants in this category.

Soon Texas will produce nearly 21 per cent of the nation's aluminum capacity, and by 1975 Texas steel capacity should be over 8 times the 1950 level. At present, Texas has the only U.S. tin smelter and is the sole source of magnesium ingot in the nation.

Texas produces 70 per cent of the nation's supply of carbon black and 80 per cent of the world's supply of sulphur. 16 per cent of the total U.S. zinc producing capacity is in Texas and 14 per cent of the U.S. copper refining capacity.

On the textile fiber side, Texas is the No. 1 producer of cotton, wool and mohair. Recently acquired scouring plants indicate an even greater growth in the latter two groups.

The world's largest salt dome is in Texas and so is the world's largest helium plant.

Texas is noted for its oilseed production (cottonseed, linseed, peanut, sesame, etc.).

Salt From Texas Has Many Industry Uses

That old saying, "He is the salt of the earth" is well known and has been used for centuries to describe men who are generous and fairminded yet humble. Salt in olden times was a valued commodity; it was used to preserve food for the winter, flavor and season foods, tan the leather that man needed to harness his horses or carry his sword. Today salt still plays an important part in providing man with many of what we think as space or plastic age inventions. Salt from Texas is going into the manufacturing of such diverse products as tires, pulp and paper and meatpacking. Texas produces 19 per cent of the total amount produced in the United States. It ranks 2nd in production to Louisiana. Salt is produced in the state from Hutchinson County to Kleburg, but only at Grand Saline in Van Zandt County is it mined in its rocklike form. Ten counties contribute to the salt production of the State, being mostly produced by the brine method.

In the salt mines at Grand Saline salt is reached by a shaft and rock salt is removed by draining gangways and panels or rooms, leaving pillars for roof support. The salt is undercut and blasted then loaded and hauled to the surface to be crushed screened and packaged. The salt that you buy in the grocery store for use at home is most likely purified from salt brine. The brine process accounts for over 90 per cent of the production of the state. To recover the salt from the ground a well is drilled, hot water pumped into the salt deposit and the brine pumped to the surface. Once the brine reaches the surface, it is ready for general types of treatment. One, it is crystallized by solar evaporation; this method is the simplest method; however, the system has become more sophisticated as the brine is pumped from one pond to another as the sun evaporates the water. By pumping the brine vats as the salinity increases, the impurities are trapped and the resulting product is very pure salt. Table salt, while it is recovered from brine, is refined in a more expensive way. Salt that must pour when it rains is refined by pumping the purified brine into a vacuum tank and boiled. This boiling in a vacuum makes the familiar cubic crystals that you see when you sprinkle salt on your food. This process of refining salt in a vacuum method is more expensive and is not used except for salt that must be very pure and will pour easily.

By far the greatest use for salt is in the industrial field. The U. S. Bureau of Mines reports that in 1961 approximately 80 per cent of the total salt sold or used in the United States was used to make Chlorine.

Texas is fortunate in having large deposits of salt in the state and also the petro-chemical industry. This combination makes a favorable combination for industrial development and the resulting consumer product manufacturer that basic industry will attract.

TRANQUILIZER—Television sets are getting a trial run in some taxis in Tokyo, Japan. To take the passengers' minds off the suicidal driving in Tokyo's fantastic traffic, perhaps.

Texas Has 21 More Major Markets Than Other States

Texas is growing and there are two positive forces that make it one of the most attractive potential markets in the United States. The two positive forces are money and people that are concentrated in 21 metropolitan areas in the state; 21 urban concentrations of people, more standard metropolitan areas than any other state in the nation. What is a standard metropolitan area? It is an area or group of contiguous counties containing at least one city of 50,000 or more people. These metropolitan areas in Texas are located in every part of the state. They provide the major market places for Texas made products and offer opportunities to local industrialization and branch plant operations by consumer product manufacturers from outside Texas.

These metropolitan areas jumped into being after World War II when the economic development of the state moved forward. During the period from 1950 to 1960 the citizens of Texas increased their total income by almost $5 billion dollars and their per capita income by an increase of 50 per cent in 10 short years. This buying power is available to consumer product manufacturers in Texas, but statistics tell us that only 35 per cent of the total personal income in Texas is spent with retailers in the state. Putting it another way the state's businessmen are failing by 35 per cent to supply the state's retail trade with goods to sell Texans and are not challenging buying potential here. These figures tell a story and pose a problem to Texans and their economic future.

The problem is obviously that as a state blessed with the raw materials needed to make a modern world we have, in the past, refined, processed, and then sent our raw materials out-of-state to be made into the cars, electric appliances, and clothes that we buy in our towns and cities. For example, the textile industry in Texas currently employs 6,500 making basic goods that are then sold to the garment industry in Texas and other states to be made into the shirts and dresses we wear to work. Our great chemical complexes on the Gulf Coast could furnish the basic chemicals for synthetic fabric to local processors. They would make it into yarn and from there to weaving mills and gar-

Western Wear Has Become a Texas Specialty

Although Texas is no longer the home of cowboys and Indians it is the home of hundreds of manufacturing operations who make all types of Western wear. The ten-gallon hat is made in several Texas communities and boot manufacturers are found in a number of localities.

Clothing made in the style long accepted as typical of these parts is produced in almost unbelievable quantities from El Paso to Texarkana. Several Texas firms rank among the largest in denim clothing and fancy Western shirts and trousers for both men and women are made at many points in Texas. Saddles and other leather items to complement the wearing apparel are products of Texas manufacturers. In fact, everything for both the man who makes a living riding the range and the thousands of Texans who call riding their favorite sport, is made in Texas.

COMMERCIAL HEARINGS WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) will hear oral arguments Nov. 25 on the proposal to limit the length and frequency of commercials on radio and television.

The FCC said Wednesday that anyone wishing to present arguments should notify the commission secretary by Nov. 10.

Weather Control Is Big Business Throughout Texas

Mark Twain is credited with saying "that we always complain about the weather but never do anything about it. This is not true of modern Texans! Factories, service organizations, sales outlets and other related establishments throughout the state are doing plenty about the weather. Furnace and heater manufacturers in Abilene, Amarillo, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and other cities in Texas provide the means of giving heat in the winter. Tyler, Dallas, Houston are but a few spots where air conditioning and related units are made to give Texans and other Americans a cool breeze in the summer.

Appliance stores and service centers are commonplace in all 254 counties of the Lone Star State. Thousands of Texans receive their livelihood from "doing something about the weather".

343 New Plants Locate in Texas Just in One Year

Each month the state of Texas benefits from the addition of new manufacturing plants. These plant announcements are the culmination of months, even years, of planning. These plants represent the hopes of many people, but more important, they represent the coming awareness by industry of Texas markets and Texas' future as a prime country for industrial opportunity and profit.

What does one plant in an area mean to that area? The U. S. Chamber of Commerce estimates that a new plant hiring 100 new factory employees will add $710,000 additional personal income to the area. Three more retail establishments, 165 total additional workers employed, and 97 more passenger cars registered. These are direct benefits to a community that new income producing manufacturing operations bring. A plant injects new money into the economy and new opportunity to the young people of the town or city.

The employees of these new plants will be spending approximately $331,000 per 100 workers on new retail purchases. They will increase local bank deposits by about $229,000 per 100 employees. A new plant in a town is an economic prize that is worth the effort and time of all citizens.

Though we have mentioned what the new plant will do in the way of benefiting the local economy there is another side of the coin that must be taken into consideration. The town benefits but it also has an obligation to the owners of the plant and to the employees of the plant. The town must probably will have to build more school rooms, hire new teachers, and add to the school budget to take care of the 100 new employees' children. There will be new streets to pave. The water department will have to increase the amount of water it pumps per day. The sheriff will probably have to make plans for

Retirement Plan System Topic at Teachers' Meet

About 160 teachers and administrators of the Gray-Roberts Counties division of the Texas State Teachers Association attended the division's first meeting of the year Tuesday in Robert E. Lee Junior High cafeteria.

Dan Johnson, principal of William B. Travis Elementary School and president of the association, presided. Burt Nuckols, county superintendent, introduced the speaker, Frank Jackson of Austin, executive secretary of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas.

In Jackson's address on the "Retirement System," he explained the system's history and progress since its beginning in 1937. He told the group how trustees and other officers are selected and appointed to the retirement board and discussed options T.S.T.A. members could select upon retirement.

According to Jackson, Texas is among the top 10 in the nation in its teacher retirement plan.

NOW YOU KNOW

Hallowe'en, now chiefly known as the eve of the Christian festival of All Saints' Day, long antedates Christianity with origins that trace back to the Druids of ancient Britain, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

While the products of many of these new plants will go into other products as parts and raw materials it is obvious that the state economy can benefit by Texas buying products made in Texas. Price and quality being equal you are helping yourself when you buy a Texas made product. You are helping yourself by adding directly to the economy of the state when your money "stays at home."

Support Texas made products as they support your through payrolls and their purchase of other Texas made raw materials and products.

Cabot Drivers Get National Award at Safety Exposition

CHICAGO (Sp) — National honors for outstanding safe driver performance were won by Cabot Corporation Machinery Division's long haul truck drivers in the petroleum division of the 32nd National Fleet Safety Contest conducted by the National Safety Council.

The Machinery Division fleet was awarded 1st place here today at ceremonies held in conjunction with the 51st National Safety Congress and Exposition. The award is based on the company's safety performance from July 1962 through June 1963. During this period, the firm's drivers operated 471,490 miles and had no accidents.

All accidents were counted in the contest except those occurring when a company vehicle was properly parked. Winners were determined after inspection of their records by an auditor appointed by the National Fleet Safety Contest committee.

Over 2,522 fleets competed in the contest operating 296,464 vehicles and traveling over 6,597,414,000 miles. The combined average frequency rate of 12.34 accidents per 1,000,000 miles is a decrease of 5 per cent under the previous contest period.

Don Conley, Cabot Corporation Safety and Insurance Director, congratulated the winners and presented Jean Douglass, Machinery Division Fleet Supervisor, with the first place award.

School Custodian Gets Higher Pay Than N.Y. Mayor

NEW YORK (UPI)—The salary of a Brooklyn high school custodian last year topped that of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, it was reported yesterday.

Eugene E. Hult, superintendent of design, construction and physical plant for New York City, identified the high-priced janitor as D. Paul Bishop, 66.

Hult said Bishop made $53,000 as against $50,000 for Wagner. The only public official in the nation with a higher salary is the president and vice president.

Hult said it was reported last week that Bishop—supervisor of a 15-member janitorial staff at Bushwick High School—made $43,695. However, a double check of the contract arrangements revealed the higher figure.

A special commission appointed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has been investigating the high cost of custodians and has turned up several instances of where custodians made more than $40,000 yearly.

About 50 custodians have been subpoenaed for questioning in the investigation in which it has been found that at least that many janitors earned at least $25,000 last year.

Although the custodians have to pass civil service tests, they are independent contractors who receive a flat sum to clean the schools. The amount includes salaries for helpers and for equipment. The contractors keep the rest as salaries. About 850 custodians are under contract to the city.

Senators Balk At Goldwater's TVA Suggestion

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A political hot potato, the suggestion that the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) be sold to private interests, has been tossed back into the lap of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R - Ariz., as "unthinkable."

Tennessee's two senators, almost all of the congressional delegation, and two top TVA officials headed a list attacking the proposal of the Republican presidential hopeful.

In a letter released last week-end, Goldwater said: "I am quite serious in my belief that TVA should be sold."

Tuesday, without mentioning Goldwater by name, TVA Board Chairman Aubrey J. Wagner dismissed the idea as being ignorant of the "facts" and "irresponsible."

A director of the $2.5 billion dollar seven - state agency, Frank E. Smith said "Goldwater might find TVA an issue in Tennessee."

mentioning Goldwater's name but attacking his opinion. "Recent suggestions that the sale of TVA to private interests would be to the benefit of Tennessee and the nation," Walters said, "are certainly without any basis of fact."

In the letter to Rep. Richard Fulton, D - Tenn., of Nashville, Goldwater had said the vast agency pays only five per cent of its annual gross to local governments, but would have to pay five and one-half times that much if it bore a tax levy comparable to those of private business.

Tuesday, in a speech before the Knoxville Rotary Club, Wagner said TVA pays no federal income tax because the federal government owns the agency "lock, stock and barrel including 100 per cent—not just 52 per cent of its net income." "Remember," the board chairman continued "that income tax is a tax on net income, not on gross income as the calculations of some TVA critics indicate they apparently believe."

Mme. Nhu Has a Rival In Princess Monique

By HAROLD SHEEHAN UNITED NATIONS (NEA) — Cambodia.— at swords' point with her next-door neighbor Viet Nam — may be missing a big opportunity.

Now that the Vietnamese regime has shown, through its Madame Nhu, that feminine beauty can help get across a political message, the time seems ripe for a follow-up. And the wife of Cambodia's leader, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, seems just the person to do it.

Unfortunately for television audiences, the lovely Princess Monique seems to have little interest in state matters, and is content to raise her ever growing family in the royal palace.

Sihanouk, now 42, met his wife when he visited graduation ceremonies of a school in Phnom Penh, the capital city. Monique, daughter of a French officer and Cambodian mother, was on her way into the world with her diploma. Sihanouk organized some postgraduate plans for her on the spot.

The Sihanouk family is said to be enormously popular with Cambodia's 5 million people. Not the least of the reasons seems to be their prince's efforts to create a "Switzerland of Asia."

"We feel we can say 'no' to anyone," said Cambodia's Ambassador to the United Nations Nong Kimay at an interview in his office.

"We are independent of any foreign power — independent of any interference, military or ideological. We also have the support of the people because the government fills their needs."

"This is why we can resist communism. South Viet Nam does not meet the needs of its people, and this is why they will lose against the Communists."

Cambodia, as the ambassador says, can say "no" to foreign countries. But she can also say "yes" at the right times.

Although Sihanouk took the reigns of government reluctantly in 1960 (he lamented that he couldn't ride his bicycle any more), he has shown a genius for playing both ends against the middle. And this is in a part of the world where the middle today may not be in the same spot where it was yesterday.

He has, for example, encouraged the French to act as technical and military advisers to the Cambodian economy and the 29,000 - man army. The French population is now larger than it was when the piece, along with Viet Nam and Laos, was known as French Indochina.

The U.S., moreover, is only too happy to supply Sihanouk's forces with a very complete arsenal. Washington also constructed a paved highway between the seacoast and the capital, as well as dredging a harbor to create the new port city of what else? — Sihanoukville. After this, the French put up the pier for the ships which would make Cambodia an independent world trader.

The Americans in Phnom Penh moved their bulldozers into a swampy wasteland, and with typical dispatch, made the land ripe for development. The big building that went up on the freshly turned earth was a gleaming modern hospital — built by the Soviets, staffed by Russians.

Commerce, in the meantime, rolls on merrily with Communist China, and with just about anybody else who wants to do business. This includes even South Viet Nam, with whom Cambodia has broken "political" relations over the Diem regime's treatment of Buddhists (Cambodia is 99 per cent Buddhist).

Outdoor Cooking Really Something The 'Texas Way'

The popularity of outdoor cooking has been happily received by at least two segments of Texans. Naturally the housewife, who is relieved from spending time in a hot kitchen, has received the development of the outdoor cooking with open arms. But the development of this current American form of entertainment has also been well received by Texas manufacturers and producers.

The outdoor cook can find a variety of Texas made products at his disposal when he joins that fraternity of modern outdoor chefs. Texas made cooking equipment from the basic old-drum oven to the fancy electric-driven spit and controlled temperature chamber are found on the market. Auxiliary equipment such as lighter fluid, meat tongs and forks, ranch style serving equipment, and of course that necessary ingredient charcoal all bear the "Made in Texas" label.

Charcoal and charcoal briquet manufacturers in the hardwood regions of Texas have benefited from the popularity of outdoor cooking. Historically, charcoal manufacturing has been in Texas for many years before the current craze, but it has only been in recent years that the industry sales volume has exceeded an estimated 25 million pounds annually.

The basic raw material used in charcoal production is wood and in particular hardwood; however, other types of ligneous material may be used. At the present time the majority of Texas made charcoal comes from oak, hickory, mesquite and cedar. Normally, charcoal is burned in a simple sod or pit kiln holding a few cords of wood or in a rectangular cinder block kiln that can hold up to 20 cords of wood. Kilns of this type can be found from the mesquite country of South Texas through the cedar brakes of Central Texas into the oak regions of East Texas. Quite often these operations are the results of land clearing operations for intensifying agricultural purposes.

Some Texas made charcoal results from burning scrap wood from saw mill operations. Charcoal produced in this manner is burned in an oven with an outside source of fuel.

Charcoal briquets are made by pulverizing charcoal, mixing it with a starch binder and water, pressing the mixture into briquets and then removing the moisture. The 1963 Directory of Texas Manufacturers list 6 briquetting operations in Texas. Texas made charcoal and charcoal briquets not only serve the fast growing Texas market, but has found its way into national and international markets.

585 apparel and related products manufacturers in Texas make everything from jeans for infants to high fashion evening gowns.

77,300 Persons Are Employed In Food Processing

Today in Texas the food processing industry is the largest employer of Texans. In more than 2,050 plants across the state 77,300 men and women prepare for their neighbors and for citizens in other states.

Some of the foods prepared are uniquely Southwestern, other are recipes brought from the old country by Texas' many ethnic groups. One of the most famous of these Texas foods is perhaps the Frito or Corn Chip that is now sold and manufactured in many parts of the nation, but originally came from one of our oldest towns. This item was inspired by the Mexican tortilla, that in turn came from the basic diet of the original Texans and Latin American, the Indians. Other groups have brought dishes and food from their countries to live today's Texan's diet; the German sausages still made and sold today in New Braunfels. Texas, are famous throughout the state.

These foods are made from products grown in the state and present what might be termed Texas' first industry.

When you enter a grocery store of today you will see arrayed along its shelves or counters foods that just a few years ago were seasonal or obtainable only at high prices. Today for instance the canning of orange juice from the Rio Grande Valley is an industry that, while not uniquely Texan, is one that did not exist many years ago. From the Rio Grande Valley in one year alone there were shipped more than 600,300 tons of fruits and vegetables. Some of these products were canned or packed in other parts of the state, many other tons were shipped on to feed the nation. The food processing industry is one industry whose dominant location requirements are raw materials and markets. These two requirements are being met by Texas' population increase and its intense development of irrigated farm areas.

Texas has the advantages of being able to produce all of the nations staples and with its long growing season will go a long way toward being able to supply its growing population with the food it needs.

Pro Basketball

By United Press International
Elgin Baylor isn't what he used to be — at least not so far in the young National Basketball Association season.

The Los Angeles star was the most consistent high point man last season in the Lakers' drive to the NBA playoff finals. However, the 28-year-old forward scored 25 points in the Lakers' loss to Cincinnati Wednesday night — a typical output this season.

Whereas Baylor's shooting percentage was 45 per cent last season, the five-year pro is hitting on only about 35 per cent in five games. NBA All-Star teammate Jerry West, who has topped Lakers scorers in their five games, had 37 points Wednesday night.

Cincinnati's Wayne Embry, with 30 points and 15 rebounds, and Oscar Robertson, with 36 points, spoiled the Lakers' home opener before 14,533 fans at the Sports Arena—the largest opening game crowd for the Lakers since the franchise moved to Los Angeles.

In other games Wednesday night, the NBA champion Boston Celtics remained undefeated by downing the Detroit Pistons for the 10th straight time 108-102; the St. Louis Hawks came from behind for the second straight night to defeat the New York Knickerbockers 121-104; and Hal Greer scored 39 points to pace the Philadelphia 76ers past the Baltimore Bullets 111-108.

No games were scheduled for tonight.

Boston remained the only unbeaten team (4-0) by profiting on a balanced scoring attack, albeit without the services this season of former NBA-great Bob Cousy. John Havlicek of the Celtics sat out the first half in the game against the Pistons, but wound up the game's scoring leader with 22 points.

Billy McGill, playing his first game for St. Louis, scored 15 points, 11 of them coming in a 15-minute flurry in the second half.

Gene Shue, involved in the McGill deal, netted seven points in his first game for Baltimore, one of his shots cutting the Philadelphia lead to 108-106 before the 76ers went on to win.

Preacher Not With Scorers

NEW YORK (UPI)—The share of the wealth campaign in college football this season is most evident by the race for the major individual scoring championship. It appears that nobody wants to wear the traditionally coveted crown this year.

NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today show three players tied with 48 points each, a figure that is approximately half what it took to lead the way at this point in any recent campaign. Jim Gray, of Toledo, last week's leader, finds himself in a three-way tie with Cosmo Iacavazzi of Princeton and Dave Casinelli of Memphis State, but there is only a one-touchdown difference between the leaders and the tenth player on the list and only 10 points separate the top 17 players.

Conspicuous by his absence in this closest scoring race in memory, is Jim (Preacher) Pilot of New Mexico State, heir apparent to the title won last year by Jerry Logan of West Texas State. Pilot won the crown with 133 points in 1961 and was runner-up to Logan with 92 last year. He began the season needing only 77 points to break Glenn Davis' three-year scoring record of 306 points, but has managed to score only six points after six games.

While Gray lost two-thirds of his scoring lead, he remains the leader in punt runbacks, although he added only one for 12 yards Saturday. Cornell's Gary Wood is the new leader in kickoff runbacks; Dick Van Rappoport is the new field goal pace setter with eight and Larry (Moose) Elkins of Baylor has overhauled John Simmons of Tulsa in pass receiving.

Cannon Back From Injured

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Oilers were expected to move halfback Billy Cannon from the injury deferred list Friday.

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy, whose team leads the Eastern Division of the American Football League, said Cannon was "running 'real good'" on a leg that suffered a pulled hamstring three weeks ago.

Bobby Brezina, rookie halfback, was placed on waivers to make room for Cannon in time for Friday night's clash with Boston Patriots.

Texas A & I Slips To 5th Nationally

NEW YORK (UPI)—The race for the national small college football title has narrowed to two teams — Northern Illinois and Delaware—but neither the Huskies nor the Blue Hens show any signs of letting up.

Both Northern Illinois and Delaware pulled farther away from the pack as a result of convincing triumphs Saturday. The Huskies piled up 43 points in blanking Eastern Illinois, and as a reward received 32 more points from the 35-man coaches board of United Press International for a total of 300 points and a third consecutive first-place rating.

The Blue Hens, who defeated Connecticut for their second straight victory over a major college team, actually received one more first-place vote than Northern Illinois—15 to 14—but accumulated a total of 281 points to rank second in overall standings.

Florida A&M maintained its hold on third despite a loss to Tennessee A&I, but the Rattlers dropped out of serious title contention for the present with a total of 180 points, and three first-place votes.

Wittenberg jumped two positions to fourth and Massachusetts made a similar advance to sixth while Texas A&I slid one rung to fifth. San Diego State dropped two spots to seventh, and Western Kentucky and South Dakota State stepped up to eighth and ninth, respectively.

Rudolph Pick In Tourney

ALMADEN, Calif. (UPI)—Mason Rudolph, an also-ran for most of his five years on golf's golden tour, goes to the tee today as the favorite to capture the $25,000 Almaden Open tournament.

The bespectacled shotmaker from Clarksville, Tenn., won the Fig Garden Open at Fresno last week — and if he could win this one, he would be the first man in 1963 to win two tournaments in a row.

That includes the likes of Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, who aren't competing in this one. Among the three they have won 13 events this year — but never has one man captured two in a row.

Rudolph's victory at Fresno, worth $3,500, was his first since he captured the Golden Gate Open in San Francisco in 1959. Since then he has had his ups and downs — although always a consistent money-winner.

This will be a tough field—even without Palmer, Nicklaus and Player. Tony Lama, who has won $66,237 this year, is on hand. So is Dow Finsterwald, who has dragged in $46,916.

The defending champion is Al Geiberger. And he is one of the hottest men on the tour right now. He finished in a tie for second place in the rich Sahara Invitational in Las Vegas two weeks ago, and last week came right back to finish in another tie for second at Fresno.

Wheeler Tangles With Tornados

WHEELER (Spl) — Despite the fervid protestations of Grady Burnett, there seems little chance that Texline will do much to stand in the way of Wheeler's eighth straight victory and third district win tomorrow night.

With a 4-2 season record and a 1-1 loop mark, the Tornados appear to have neither the speed, weight or depth to contain the seven rocks and four flashes that make up the Mustang powerhouse.

Burnett however, insists that Texline will surprise, and will not only become the first Class B team to cross the Mustang goal line, but could do it two or three times.

"This will be a lot tougher game than any we have played so far except McLean," insisted Burnett. "They lost to two good clubs by close scores, . . . 18-0 to Vega and 28-10 in the district opener to Claude. . . that's the closest anyone has held Claude yet. They also beat Follett, 14-6, and Follett is a good team."

"They don't have the weight to go with us, their heaviest man is 166, but they don't drop down much, they're all around 160."

"I'll tell ya, they'll probably be the best passing team we'll run into this season. They throw real well. They have a good quarterback, he runs and passes. He throws a lot of quick stuff, buttonhooks and flares and flats and jumps, stuff you can't defend against, and they have a tall end who can catch them. Their halfback Montoya is a fast boy too."

Burnett reported that his star player, Dunc "Baldy" Porter, was down with a sprained ankle. "He'll be okay, but he'll be slowed up and he's our best pass defender."

"No kidding, I wouldn't be surprised if they give us a fight. We think we can beat them, but it's not going to be any pushover."

Houston Against Boston Patriots For Eastern Lead

BOSTON — Fresh from a 28-7 conquest of the defending AFL kings the Kansas City Chiefs, coach Frank (Pop) Ivy's Houston Oilers take to the road for a Friday night showdown battle with the Boston Patriots scheduled for Fenway Park with the Eastern Division leadership riding in the balance.

After turning perhaps their best effort of the season last Sunday against the Chiefs, the Oilers extended their current winning streak to three games and also took a one-game bluff over Boston, thanks to a 28-21 win by Buffalo last Saturday over the Patriots.

The Oilers will be facing the AFL's top defensive team in coach Mike Holovak's Patriots. Prior to last Saturday's loss to Buffalo, the Patriots had allowed their opponents a total offense of 235 yards per game. Spearheading the "salty" Pats defensive forces are Jess Richardson, 265, Jim Hunt, 245, Bob Dee, 240, Larry Eisenhauer, 245, and linebackers Nick Buoniccontti, Tom Addison, Jack Rudolph and Harry Crump.

Offensively, Holovak's charges are sparked by quarterback Babe Parrilli, the hard-running Larry Garrison at halfback and fullback Billy Lott. The Pats also have the league's top scorer in flankerback Gino Cappelletti. Top targets for Parrilli aeriels are Cappelletti, Tony Romeo, Jim Colclough, Jim Crawford and Tom Stephens.

It will be the first meeting of the two clubs this season.

Ole Pro George Blanda continues to sparkle as the 14-year vet seems to improve with age. Blanda completed 20 of 31 attempts for 226 yards and three touchdowns. In his last three games Blanda has had only one interception in 109 attempts.

The Oilers used a flock of receivers against Kansas City although two-time All-AFL flankerback Charley Hennigan failed to catch a pass. Five receivers picked off Blanda's aeriels with big Bob McLeod leading the way with four for 62 yards and two touchdowns. The Oilers air game will get a strong test from Boston's top-rated defensive secondary of Dick Felt, former

Sandy Koufax Is NL's MVP Winner

BOSTON (UPI)—Sandy Koufax hit a $50,000 to $60,000 "double" today — a Cy Young award and a most valuable player award in one season.

The 27-year-old Los Angeles Dodger fireballer won the "second half" of the double Wednesday when the Baseball Writers Association of America selected him as the National League's MVP. Earlier, he was named winner of the Cy Young award as the outstanding major league pitcher of 1963.

The first man to win both awards since Don Newcombe of the Dodgers in 1956, Koufax's selection as MVP should lift him into the $50,000 to $60,000 salary class in 1964. Sandy may have hinted at his salary intentions when he called the MVP award, "the most important in baseball."

Nearly Unanimous
A 25-game winner with a 1.8 earned run average, 11 shutouts and 306 strikeouts, Koufax was named on 19 of the 20 ballots cast by veteran members of the BBWAA. Fourteen of the writers made him their No. 1 selection, three chose him second and he got one third and one fifth for 237 of a possible 280 points.

Shortstop Dick Groat of the St. Louis Cardinals was second with 190 points, slugging outfielder Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves was third with 135 and relief ace Ron Perranoski of the Dodgers was fourth with 130.

They were followed, in order from fifth through 10th, by outfielder Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, infielder Jim Gilliam of the Dodgers, first baseman Bill White of the Cardinals, outfielder Tommy Davis of the Dodgers, third baseman Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs and outfielder Vada Pinson of the Cincinnati Reds.

Very Surprised
"I didn't think a pitcher would get it," said Koufax when BBWAA National Secretary Hy Hurwitz informed him of his triumph. "I feel Groat would be up there but I'm amazed that Gilliam didn't finish higher than sixth. Jim never gets what he deserves. He deserved to be higher."

The sophisticated, Brooklyn-born Koufax capped his brilliant season by scoring two victories in the Dodgers' four-game World Series sweep of the New York Yankees. He set a series single game record of 15 strikeouts in a 5-2 opening game win and beat the Yankees, 2-1, in the fourth game.

Koufax's 11 shutouts were the most achieved by a left-hander in one season during the modern era and his 306 strikeouts are a National League record. Walter Johnson, Rube Waddell and Bob Feller are the only other pitchers who have struck out 300 or more batters in one season.

Oiler Bob Suci, Ross O'Hanley and Chuck Shonta.

Houston's ground game will be meeting a team which has allowed only 604 yards rushing against it in eight games. Fullback Charley Tolar, rookie Bobby Bill Tobin, rookie Bobby Brezina and fullback-linebacker Gene Babb will have their work cut out trying to move the ball on the tough Pat line. Tolar is still Houston's leading ball carrier with 430 yards on 136 carries. Tobin has added 95 yards on 29 carries.

Top-Ranked Teams In All Classes Hold Positions

DALLAS (UPI)—San Angelo, Dumas, Dalhart and Albany held firm as the No. 1 teams in this week's United Press International Texas schoolboy football ratings with changes held to a minimum in all four divisions.

In fact, Classes AAA and A remained intact from the previous week and only three new names were added to the entire list — two in AAAA to replace fourth- and fifth-ranked Galena Park and Borger, and one in AA to replace seventh-ranked Ballinger.

San Antonio Lee, one of only five perfect record teams left in the division, was awarded the No. 9 spot in AAAA and Dallas South Oak Cliff, a previous member of the Top 10 and also unbeaten-untied, made it back into the No. 10 spot.

First-Time Selection
In Class AA, once-beaten Pine Tree was a first-time selection in the No. 10 place.

Pasadena and Spring Branch High held onto their Nos. 2 and 3 rank in AAAA, while defending state champ San Antonio Brackenridge, Amarillo, Tascosa, Port Arthur, San Antonio Highlands and Garland each moved up two notches to fill the fourth through eighth rungs ahead of the newcomers.

In AA, Lake Highlands, once-beaten but now the highest scoring outfit in the state with 310 points in seven games for a 44.3-point average, moved from 10th to sixth behind last week's top five of Dalhart, Sin-ton, Katy, Rockdale and Denver City. Nocona, Mason and Caldwell filled the seventh, eighth and ninth spots.

There wasn't a close call for any of the AAA and A teams and they all held their rank.

Corsicana Second
Trailing Dumas in AAA were Corsicana, Graham, La Marque, South San Antonio, Brownwood, Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, Orange, Gonzales and Lampasas. Strung out behind Albany in A were Hull-Daisetta — just a shade behind Lake Highlands with a 42.3-point average, Rosebud, Goldthwaite, Ingleside, White Oak, Hallsville, Seagraves, San Augustine and Petersburg.

There may be some shakeups after this week's games, however, since Pasadena must play deflated Galena Park, Brackenridge plays once-beaten Corpus Christi Miller, Tascosa meets the Palo Duro team which bumped Borger, Garland plays once-beaten Richardson and San Antonio Lee plays once-beaten Corpus Christi Carroll.

In AAA, Brownwood could stumble over once-beaten Wichita Falls Rider and Lampasas meets undefeated-untied Austin Lanier.

In AA, Dalhart faces perfect record Stinnett, Katy plays unbeaten-untied Columbus and Rockdale takes on ninth-ranked Caldwell.

In A, Hull-Daisetta meets perennial rival East Chambers and Petersburg tackles perfect record Idalou in the two standout games.

Stram Insists Chiefs Still In AFL Race

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—What's happened to the Kansas City Chiefs?

"Don't count us out yet," insisted Hank Stram, optimistic coach of the defending champions of the American Football League.

In pre-season polls, the Chiefs were solid favorites to repeat as AFL champs. But with the season half over, Kansas City has a 2-4 record and is trapped with the Denver Broncos in the Western Division cellar.

In 1962, when the Chiefs were the Dallas Texans, they lost only three games all season. Stram, asked frequently what has happened to his team, always has a ready answer. The stocky, well-spoken coach immediately takes the offensive.

Have Good Club
"Nothing is wrong with the Chiefs," he insists. "We have a good, solid ball club and we'll win some games. We're not out of the race yet."

Without any urging, Stram will give an almost play-by-play account of each Chief loss and convince his listeners but for fickle fate it could have been a victory.

But pinned down for specifics, he will list three things which might account for the Chiefs' poor record. They are:

"We're the champs and everyone points for us."
"Every team in the league is better than it was in 1962."
"We've had some key injuries, especially to our offensive guards."

Stram emphasized, however, that these points were not excuses.

Not Accepting Challenge
"Even though the other teams

Dallas Cowboys
Revamp Lineup

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys, hoping to bolster a sagging offense and defense, reshuffled the lineup Wednesday in preparation for Sunday's National Football League clash with Washington.

On defense, Bob Lilly moved from right end to right tackle and Larry Stephens assumed the end post.

The Cowboys have won only one of seven games this season.

J. T. King Fears Rough Rice Owls

LUBBOCK (Spl) — Texas Tech faces one of its toughest challenges against Rice's Owls in the Red Raiders' homecoming game in Jones Stadium at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Rice's showing against the nation's No. 1 team, University of Texas, would have made a believer out of Coach J. T. King if he hadn't already been impressed by the Owls. Rice lost by just four points, 10-6, to the Longhorns, who earlier had blasted Tech by 49-7.

"Any team that can pass for more than 200 yards on Texas is bound to be great," asserts coach King, whose Raiders found the airways against Texas over-crowded. Also significant was the Owls' holding the Longhorns three downs from the one-yard line.

Despite the success of the Owls' aerial attack, second only to Baylor's in effectiveness, Rice also presents a sturdy running offense. Pacing it are fullback Paul Piper of Collierville, Tenn., averaging 41 yards a try; wingback Billy Hale of Pasadena, averaging 5.6; and tailback Gene Fleming of Beaumont, with a 4.0 mark.

Quarterbacks Walter McReynolds of Galveston Ball and Arling Bennis Hollingsworth of Ardmore appear equally effective throwing the ball to ends John Sylvester of Baytown and Jerry Kelley of Eunice, N.M., and Hale.

Texas Tech's big offensive guns are halfback Donny Anderson of Stinnett, fullback Leo Lowery of Lovington, quarterbacks Ben Elledge of Brownwood, and Jim Ellis of Lubbock Monterey. All-American candidate David Parks of Abilene has been the principal receiver.

CANADIAN (Spl) "There's no telling what will happen this week," sighed Canadian coach Dwain Currie as his Wildcats prepared for their third district game against a surprising Memphis team.

"How do you figure it?" asked Currie. Memphis had won only one game all year, a close one against weak Price College, and then suddenly rose up to decisively defeat a well-regarded McLean team last week.

"Now we don't know what to figure," said Currie. "I'll tell you one thing, they're going to be up higher than a kite after this. They've been coming along anyway. We'll be playing a team our own size for a change though. They only outweigh us four pounds a man and that's even to us."

"They've got real good overall team speed and two quarterbacks who can throw the ball real well. I watched them throw it 16 times in one game and complete a lot of them, and they're real fast if they ever get out there. Our defensive secondary is going to have to do a job this week."

"They have a 260-pound tackle on defense, the first boy Frank Robbins' size we've seen a 11 year, but he's a defensive man too. . . too bad they won't meet."

Reviewing last week's win over Clarendon, Canadian's first district win in three years, Currie was understandably ecstatic. "Everybody played a great game. If I had to pick any overall standout, I guess it would be Keith Yarnold. . . he did a fine job offensively and a good job on defense too. Joe Schaefer and Bennie Eckles really stood out both ways also. Schaefer and David Cook ran real well and we got good blocking from Henderson, Owens, Crozier and Gutierrez."

Quarterback Bill Grist is about recovered from his broken hand. . . he played some halfback, some end, relieved Eckles at quarterback and played defensive halfback. His return helps.

"Up? After winning our first conference game in three years, you know we're going to be up!"

Ernie Koy May
Quit UTexas

AUSTIN (UPI) — Fullback Ernie Koy, who suffered a shoulder separation this year in the Oklahoma State game, said today he may drop out of the University of Texas for the semester.

Koy's condition was complicated by an infection and he has been hospitalized twice. He had attended school only two weeks when the mishap occurred.

"I don't see how I can make up six weeks of class work," Koy, a star punter, said.

Wilson To FB, Hebert Plays...?

Which positions will Kenny Hebert be playing tomorrow night is the $64 question, as the Pampa coaching staff admitted with a grin that they were not going to reveal that particular piece of information until 7:30 Friday night in Lubbock.

The long-awaited duel between Greg Lott of Lubbock and Hebert may be a little different than last year's version. Last season Lott played at both halfback and quarterback and ran and threw from either position. This year he has been almost exclusively a quarterback. Hebert, on the other hand, has played practically every position except center, and if there were some way he could snap the ball to himself, he would probably be doing that.

Thus far, the Flying Frenchman has played mainly at quarterback, seeing heavy duty in two games and part-time duty in two others at end. This week he has been working out at quarterback, tailback and end. The familiar number 10 may be seen at any point on the field. Otherwise both teams expect to go with their best, physically healthy in the main. Westerner coach Carl Spoonmore, asked about the team, mentally and physically, said succinctly, "We'll know mentally 7:30 Friday night."

With a week's rest, Spoonmore said the battered Westerners would, he hoped, be in better shape than they were for the last game. Only two offensive changes will be made in the lineup. Left end Harold Sparkman, who injured his knee in the Palo Duro game, is still on the crippled list and will be replaced offensively by Eddie Stiles and defensively by Jerry Brasnel.

The great Larry Wilson will return to starting fullback for the first time this year. Wilson, the 190-pound line-smasher who was expected to join Lott in carrying the Westerners in district competition, was badly burned this summer. Ronnie Webb has been starting in his place, but Wilson has been seeing some action in the last few games, getting back in shape and will start against Pampa. The Harvesters will go with the same starting lineup that smashed Plainview last week, with two defensive changes. Hebert, who added an outstanding pass defense job to his offensive showing, will start at defensive halfback over San Williams. Hank Henry will get the starting nod over Jim Arthur at right linebacker.

DEADLY DUELLISTS — Greg Lott of Lubbock (left) and Pampa's Kenny Hebert will meet head-on in a duel tomorrow night to see who is the leading back in District 3-AAAA. The pair are running neck-and-neck in almost every statistical department.

Garrison Among Scoring Leaders, Hebert Moves Up

Jerry Garrison moved among the leaders in district scoring while Kenny Hebert placed in every other statistical department in 3-AAAA's weekly statistics. Despite Pampa's 47-15 slaughter of Plainview, the Harvesters remained fifth in team offense and fifth in team defense.

Garrison became the second Harvester to move among the scoring leaders, with Bandit Madrid having been up there for a short time early in the season. Jerry's two tallies Saturday night gave him four touchdowns and 24 points, tying for seventh with Joe Don Ford of Plainview and Neil Bearden of Borger.

Hebert, who played his finest game of the season against Plainview, regained his punting lead, and moved up in every department except pass receiving, as he stuck principally to throwing and running, but still held second among pass receivers. The Flying Frenchman booted the ball three times for 153 yards, including one 62-yarder, to average 38.6 over the season. Hebert broke into the leading rushers department for the first time this year, his 125 yards moving him to third place, rated third in total offense and sixth in passing.

Battered Buffs Play Trinity

In the opening game against Arlington State, 9 Seniors and 2 Juniors started the contest. This Saturday afternoon in San Antonio against Trinity University, the Buffalo starters will consist of 6 Seniors, 2 Juniors, 2 Sophomores, and one Freshman. The freshman, with a total of 9 plays to his credit for the season, all last week against University of Arizona, will open the game at quarterback. He is Greg Klein, 6-3, 190 from Reading, Pa. Greg has made rapid advancement in the first two days workouts this week. His passing and ball handling are key points in the Buffs hopes for a victory over the Tigers. Backing up Klein is another freshman, Dave Fleming, from Pasadena, Texas. Dave stands 6-1 and weighs in at 165.

The Hogs will be minus quarterback Jon Brittenum, who was injured against Tulsa last week, and reserve guard Dave Walton when they meet Texas A&M this Saturday.

Broyles called the week's practice "satisfactory" and said the team knew its assignments "pretty well."

Texas A&M Coach Hank Foldberg said sophomore Charles La Grange will start at quarterback for the Aggies at Little Rock Saturday. Senior quarterback and punter Jim Keller, who had been doubtful because of an injured leg, will play in the game.

Fletcher Also Back. Foldberg said end Tuffy Fletcher and halfback Travis Reagan will also be back in action but tackles Ray Gene Hinz and Marvin Dawkins, guard Mike Swan and halfback Tommy Meeks will all miss the game because of injuries.

The University of Texas had a 90 minute defense and goal line offense session as they readied for Southern Methodist at the Cotton Bowl Saturday.

Fullback Harold Philipp missed practice because of a pulled leg muscle but was expected to play against the Mustangs.

Southern Methodist worked out behind closed gates in final preparations for top-ranked Texas. Coach Hayden Fry said they gave equal time to defense and offense.

Bears Rated Top Passers. The Baylor Bears, the highest rated passing team in the nation, forgot their aerial game and concentrated on defense against the rough ground gaining of Texas Christian, their weekend opponent.

Coach John Bridgers said he believed TCU had "the finest team they've had in the five years I have been in the conference."

Coach Abe Martin of TCU tapered off workouts in Fort Worth as the Frogs prepared to travel to Waco for the contest.

Rice University had a brisk scrimmage in preparation for their game with Texas Tech at Lubbock Saturday. Coach Jess Neely said guard Wayne Bertsch, who was promoted to first team Tuesday, did a fine job of blocking in the session.

The Tech Red Raiders held a light workout in Lubbock.

OUT FOR SEASON. ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Running back John David Crow will not see any more action for the St. Louis Cardinals this season. Crow was placed on the inactive list after the former Heisman Award winner was operated on Wednesday for ligament damage to his right knee. The operation, however, was a success.

Making Russia Look Good

Russia is not doing well in its economic system. As a matter of fact it is in dire difficulties. It has had a disastrous year in its harvests. The size of the purchases of wheat it is seeking to make reveals only a portion of its problem.

To put it bluntly, socialism hasn't worked for the Soviet Union and it is facing some pretty slim times unless other sources can be found to bail it out.

But there is one area in which Russia has been and remains supreme. That is its ability to distort truth, to deceive, to confuse, to spellbind.

Now the grain truth is that America hasn't done well in the areas where we have adopted socialism, either. And this shows up rather starkly when we talk in terms of dollars, in terms of gold reserves, in terms of the almost constant inflation which is in process of ruining our purchasing power.

But the saddest fact of all is the lack of ability we seem to display in this country to tell the story of free enterprise, to create a favorable image of our outstanding achievements. Compared to Russia, in this regard, we are years behind the times.

As a matter of fact it would seem that the only propaganda skill we have achieved in this country is the skill to make a Russia look good, even in the midst of its failures.

In Russia, nearly 60 per cent of its work force is tied to the land. Yet, strive as the peasants strive, they have little incentive to produce. The Russian peasant cannot own the land that he tills. He cannot move forward to provide security for himself and his loved ones. He is a serf in the communal feudalism which still survives in the vast reaches of central Asia.

To offset this lack of incentive, Russia has offered bonuses, profit-sharing of surpluses, time off for good behavior, and a number of other lures. Yet the food in Russia is of appalling quality and of meager quantity. With 60 per cent of its workers trying to raise the food stuffs necessary to sustain life in a vast population of more than 216 million, near-starvation is a constant companion of all but the privileged politicians and political sycophants.

In this country we do not have free enterprise in agriculture, either. But we still have a system in which the farmer may own his own land. At least he can come closer to independence and freedom than his counterpart in the land of Ivan.

Now, here is a golden opportunity for this nation to demonstrate to the whole world that the right of owning land privately is productive of more food. And better food. Granted that we have socialized agriculture to some extent, this is not the real reason for our success.

We have never had a famine in this country. Not since the days of the Plymouth colony. Russia has never been without some degree of famine in any year since her great socialist experiment began in 1917. Turn and twist as Khrushchev will, the facts are against him.

Are we exploiting this advantage? We are not. Instead, we are making it appear almost that Russia is doing us a favor by taking away some of our surplus. We are letting it appear that we would be better off to GIVE away some of our excess than to pay storage charges on it! Before we are done, the Russians will be taking credit for having relieved our gold shortage and for having bailed out the free enterprise system!

Our problem in this country is that too many of our people in government and elsewhere actually believe that socialism is a superior system. And men will always champion that which they believe! Our government has lost faith in free enterprise.

Except at tax time.

Skull Session Pros

One of the blossoming mysteries of current history is the speed with which heads of government can communicate thoughts.

Burdened with all the complexities of intergovernmental relations, our foreign friends come to Washington. There may be a luncheon, which we must presume is accompanied largely by social small-talk.

Afterward, there is a face-to-face discussion "for a full hour," usually. As the foreign guest departs, a statement is handed out that the meeting resulted in a "full and frank exchange of views" or that it was a "useful meeting."

And they were talking through interpreters, yet.

It would be helpful all around if our good and wise government would pass along this secret of fast action to the rest of us. In our office, the guys sit down for an "exchange of views" and by the time it's over, the morning is shot. So they continue at lunch and then come back for an afternoon session.

Once in a while, it even goes into the second day.

At PTA, any meeting which could possibly be called "useful" goes on until those little chairs get so agonizing that the group revolts and walks out on the officers.

No wonder those guys who meet so fast in Washington are heads of states.

SHALL AMERICAN TAXPAYERS SUBSIDIZE COMMUNISM?
No sooner had the Kennedy administration achieved ratification of the Treaty of Moscow than the New Frontier began to push for agricultural trading with the Soviet Union. This trade, if allowed to come into existence, would be a major danger to the American safety and economy.

The administration's hopes and plans became apparent in a number of ways. Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas, who steered the Moscow Treaty through the Senate, promptly ordered hearings for a study of ways and means of relaxing export controls. Secretary of Agriculture Freeman; who recently returned from a trip to Russia, also began discussing the possibility of selling agricultural products to Russia.

No doubt, the pressure will be heavy to approve this trade. The Soviet Union again has suffered a disastrous crop failure. It is badly in need of wheat and has made large purchases from Canada. Evidently, it hopes to make similar purchases of American wheat.

Why not sell it to them? Some people ask. "We don't lose anything by getting Russian money for surplus U.S. wheat." There is plenty wrong with that observation. Let's see what it is.

It is well to begin with Canada. In order to sell its wheat to Russia, the Canadian government had to agree to regard the Soviet Union as a favored trading partner. This means, for example, that the Canadians will have to buy large quantities of Russian goods. When this kind of two-way trade is established, it links countries together. Henceforth the Canadians will have to orient their thinking more in the direction of what the Russians want.

One reason the Canadian government approved a trade deal is that it wanted to boost prosperity in the wheat-growing areas and win popularity. Perhaps the Kennedy administration has a similar political goal for the U.S. wheat states. But when Canada buys more Russian goods, it buys fewer U.S. goods. This means that the gold flow into the U.S. is reduced, thereby making more vexing already critical gold problem.

The dollar is further undermined. If the U.S. were to sell wheat to Russia, the Russians would, of course, pay the world price. This is 60 cents a bushel less than our domestic price. But this domestic price is supported by U.S. subsidies. Understand what that means! If the Russians buy U.S. supported wheat at the world market price, the American taxpayers will be subsidizing wheat sold to the Reds.

It's bad enough to subsidize wheat that is to go into domestic storage, but it would be sheer financial and political madness to give Khrushchev a subsidy for wheat that he needs. It would amount to American taxpayers subsidizing communism.

Actually, it is in the U.S. interest to deny Russia access to wheat and to force her thereby to divert more labor into farm production. The Soviet Union much prefers to pay cash for wheat overseas than to make such a diversion of labor. The Reds don't want to take manpower out of their armaments plants and heavy industry, the areas where they are fiercely trying to catch up with the United States.

Therefore, if the U.S. allows Russians to buy wheat over here, it's helping Khrushchev carry out his grand design to strengthen the Soviet industrial system. Obviously, this is not in the U.S. interest. But these days the American government seems to have forgotten all about preserving the American interest, whether it is in the Caribbean, in space, the Far East, or on the farm.

In the struggle to preserve freedom, no form of warfare can be neglected. If America allows Russia to wage economic warfare with wheat purchases, we are asking for trouble. In exchange for some sales now, we would be harvesting possible national tragedy later on.

Also, it is silly and shallow thinking to take the position, as some people do, that it would be all right to sell wheat to Russia and the other Iron Curtain countries but not to Red China and Cuba. A communist is a communist.

ACCEPTS RESIGNATION
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has accepted the resignation of two members of the Civil Rights Commission and its staff director.

The White House announced Wednesday that those resigning were Commissioners Spottswood W. Robinson III and Robert G. Sotrey, and staff Director Berl I. Bernhard. Robinson has been named a federal judge for the District of Columbia.

Administration Laying Groundwork for Costly New Plan of Wheat Price Supports in '64; Stressing Past Expense

WASHINGTON — While the Kennedy administration is busily trying to arrange a huge sale of wheat to Russia, it is also quietly setting the stage to put through Congress a costly new plan for government price supports for this grain.

The administration's estimate of the cost of this two-year price support program is $381,250,000.

President Kennedy and his congressional chiefs are aware there is no chance of getting anything done on this new farm legislation this year. It's too late for that. What they are doing is laying the groundwork for action in 1964 — a major election year when the President, the entire House of Representatives and 34 senators, 25 of them Democrats, must run.

Administration strategy is to start the ball rolling as early as possible on this new farm program to enhance its prospects of enactment next year on the eve of a highly uncertain electoral battle.

Two little-noticed moves signaled this significant backstage maneuvering: — Circulation among influential members of Congress, particularly from surplus commodity areas, of a set of official statistics showing that farm price supports and "related programs" since 1933 have cost American taxpayers the staggering total of $36.4 billion. That is more than 10 per cent of the national debt.

— Introduction of a so-called "two-year wheat bill" providing for $2-a-bushel wheat in the domestic market and competitive prices in the world market — by three staunch administration supporters, Senate Whip Hubert Humphrey, Minn., and Senators Eugene McCarthy, Minn., and Quinton Burdick, N. Dak.

Senator George Aiken, Vt., senior Republican on the Agriculture Committee, asked the President, at a White House conference on selling surplus grain to the Soviet bloc, whether other commodities would be offered the Communists.

"Yes," replied the President. "Cotton and dairy products." The U.S. has surplus stocks of more than 12 million bales of cotton; 293,870 million lbs. of butter; 24,332 million lbs. of cheese; 416,650 million lbs. of powdered milk.

GREASING THE SKIDS — The set of charts detailing the stupendous expenditures for farm price supports since the start of that program in October 1933 is particularly noteworthy for two reasons: — This is the first time official stress is being placed on the immense cost of such legislation. Always in the past the financial burden of such farm aid has been soft-pedaled. But now the administration is going out of its way to make a powerful point of it. — These statistics reveal that

NOT CONFORMISTS

Freedom Can Not Be Regimented

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

Public politicians is not compatible to me. It's no different than stealing $100,000 from a bank for the purpose of distributing it around a community after the robber takes a slice off the top for himself.

Of course, the letter writers who complained about my opposition to any further increase in the cost of government behaved differently than any other segment of the population which might face a reduction in what they believe to be their share of the plunder. If the various welfare agencies, owned and operated by government even hint that a few of the "cases" get off the dole and try earning a living, the moans and groans reach an hysterical pitch. Take farmers off the dole and give them an opportunity to become first class citizens, and they'll scream bloody murder. Suggest that government subsidized defense plants go straight and behave like respectable members of the market place and the bleeding hearts wallow in their sorrow.

Specifically, to Sgt. Davidson, I make this statement. Neither the armed forces or any other segment of government gives me the right to say what I have to say. My right to stand on my own feet in freedom, Sgt. Davidson, is my right by virtue of my existence and I am not an apologist for my own existence. If your contention that my right to criticize stems from either military personnel or government should be considered correct by anyone, then no right, per se, exist. You presume too much, to put it mildly.

Regular readers of this column know that we pulled out of the market place for the express purpose of reducing our earnings, thereby reducing the amount of personal property which government could steal from us. In no way am I sympathetic to the moans or groans of anybody who is on any government payroll, nor do I expect them to be concerned with my problems but I will continue to resist all efforts to increase the size and cost and power of government.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom. From time to time I have mentioned my positive opposition to the socialist conglomerate. I have pointed a rigid digit at a few facts; the enslavement of business as a tax collector for the federal government, the theft of the earnings of Americans for the support of foreign governments, in-they can do our country no further harm. Communism does not hope to wrest control of the United States by a bloody war. It hopes to divide, to sow seeds of hate, fear, and doubt, to attack American laws, economics, customs, and beliefs, and then to infiltrate.

It can happen here. We need to wake up to the fact that there is something wrong in this country even though we are eating 'three meals a day and going to the polls when we feel like it and want to. How long are we going to continue in our freedoms? When are we going to wake up to the fact that when the socialists and communists take all our country over, the only freedom left to us will be to stand up against a brick wall and be shot?
