CWA Appropriation Bill Goes To President

Twinkles

Some of these Lions may be arrested for telling barnyard stories in the minstrel tonight, but we'll wager not for originality.

Persons are peculiar about off-color jokes. Some absorb them sponge-like and are always ready to be squeezed. Others cannot remember them until they cross the next block. . . . And what is so rare, these days, as a short, laugh-getting story fit to tell in public?

Some folks still believe in the double-standard of like telling; to wit, that they should not be told in mixed company. Our impression is that the dear ladies have abolished the double standard. Our personal admiration is for those persons, male and female, who do not make risqué stories in any company.

Some way, we ought to pass a law to make rascals in government quit talking so much "horse sense." And we ought to devise some way to make safe, dependable lawmakers start talking more "horse sense" to the folks back home.

Here's our salute to the memory of "Buster," Pampa's most famous dog, now dead.

Brevitorials

Musings of the moment: When is a joke "bad"? We hear much argument over the subject since the first performance of the Lion minstrel. Perhaps you, after you hear the second and last performance at the city hall tonight, can tell us. . . . We are sure of one thing—we know when a joke is old. Some of those used by the end men Monday night were of the tried-and-true variety. Some of the others were well, you tell us. . . . On the theory that we have worn out the word "depression," here are some synonyms: Trench, channel, track, seam, groove, furrow, rut. We think "rut" is more a proper term for depression, if you study social and economic trends. . . . The cooking school announced by THE NEWS will be worthwhile if it will teach cooks how to prepare green beans so they are edible.

WE are indebted to little Mary Lou Douglas, who brought us a copy of the New York Herald (facsimile) of April 15, 1865. It bears the sad news of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln. In common with most papers of that time, the headlines are one column wide and half a page deep. For example, the headline on the slaying of Lincoln reads as follows: "IMPORTANT. Assassination of President Lincoln. The President Shot at the Theater Last Evening. Secretary Seward Dagedged in His B-d But Not Mortally Wounded. Clarence and Frederick Seward Badly Hurt. Escape of the Assassins. Intense Excitement in Washington. Scene at the Death-bed of Mr. Lincoln. J. Wilkes Booth, the Actor, the Alleged Assassin of the President. &c &c &c."

SECRETARY OF War Edwin M. Stanton is quoted in an official dispatch, saying that "this evening at about 9:30 p. m. at Ford's theater, the president, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Harris, and Major Rathbone, was shot by an assassin who suddenly entered the box and ap-

SENATE OKAYS HOUSE ACTION BY ONE VOTE

ROOSEVELT ADVOCATES OUTRIGHT SUBSIDY OF OCEAN MAIL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The senate today completed congressional action on the $950,000,000 appropriation bill for the CWA and relief. It now goes to the White House.

Final action came on a motion by Senator Borah (R., Ida.) to reconsider a previous action in approving a partial conference report. He was defeated by a single vote, 42 to 41. The motion appeared to have carried, but Senator Tydings (D., Md.) strolled into the chamber and swung it the other way.

President Roosevelt wants a complete reorganization of the ocean mail contract system and favors an outright subsidy in place of the present form of government aid to shipping.

In ready answers to questions of reporters who surrounded his letter-piled desk at his press conference, it became plain that the president is weighing decision on the future of the air mail service along with many other matters.

The house adopted a stringent rule for the $258,000,000 tax bill barring all but ways and means committee amendments from being offered.

Sixteen hours of debate will be allowed on the measure, however, before it is turned over to the senate next week.

Pampa Deputy To Seek Custody Of Preacher Tonight

Deputy Sheriff R. B. Stout, stranded at Tulsa when his car broke down, was to go to Galena, Mo., tonight to seek custody of Rev. L. H. Shockley, wanted here in connection with the poisoning slaying of W. T. Hudgins of McLean.

City Restaurant Is Burglarized

Alex's Lunch at 507 West Foster avenue was entered sometime last night and $15 worth of cigars, tobacco, and candy was stolen. Several pennies were taken from the cash drawer. Entry was made through a rear door. City officers are holding two men in connection with the theft.

City officers arrested a man this morning in connection with a "short-change scheme" about which the officers were tipped. Chief of Police Jno. V. Andrews is writing officers in several cities in Texas and Oklahoma where the man is believed to have worked his scheme. He had a roulette cover in his possession when arrested this morning.

HEARD—

Several members of the Danciger Roadrunner baseball team getting "all het up" to start practicing. Manager Aaron Ward knows this summer weather can't last and is reluctant about getting his boys started this early.

Gene Pathereau remarking that golf is like love, if you don't take it seriously it "ain't no good," and if you do it gets you in trouble.

'Naughty' Revue Will Be Given Again Tonight

A few dozen choice reserved seats at 75 cents each remain on sale at Father's Drug. The Lions minstrel show tonight. Most of the auditors will be unrecruited at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children; first come, first served.

Gags by the black-face end men and a couple of scenes in the second act were the "talk of the town" today as the big cast of the Lions club's 1934 minstrel show and musical revue prepared to stage the second and last performance at the city auditorium tonight at 8:15 p. m.

There were some citizens—more than a few—who thought some of the gags and scenes were a bit too rough for civic clubmen to put before the public. These residents did not hesitate to telegraph THE NEWS and members of the cast to voice their protests.

There were others who, after hearing Eddie Cantor, Jimmy Durante, and the rest of the radio wisecrackers, thought the gags and scenes were not too rough, but were too clumsy. And there were hundreds who laughed long and loud and said they "expected such things at a minstrel." Everyone appeared to think the music was the best of the show—raising of funds to enable crippled children to walk.

A number of Lions are frankly worried by the reaction of some members of the audience Monday night. Many members of the cast had not seen the second act and could not see it Monday because they were behind the scenes. But the object of the show and the marvelous work the proceeds make possible have inspired the clubmen to sacrifice many evenings of their time in the preparation of the benefit performance.

Tonight's show will be substantially the same as that of Monday night, since it is impossible to make many changes on short notice.

So the show will go on, with an audience in the role of jury to "try" the comedians' humor.

WHAT'S GOOD FOR PAMPA IS TALKED AT BANQUET—HUMOROUS ENTERTAINMENT IS PROVIDED

The always fascinating subject of what is good for Pampa was discussed at last night's Banquet of City Development annual banquet at the First Baptist church.

Tom E. Rose, a director, said that "highways make a town," and outlined highway building progress in this area. He showed that steady expansion of the good roads program was going on and that the cost of the system would be much less than originally believed.

F. M. Foster, another director, made a stirring talk on how service to a territory has replaced exploitation as a chamber of commerce objective. He stressed the importance of intercommunity visits and that they proved they would remain of interest in their neighboring communities.

Many members of the Junior chamber were in the audience of more than 100 men and women. Past-presidents' pins were given to W. T. Frerking and Jim Collins on behalf of the Jaycees by John Osborne.

Talks and entertainment features included gentle satire for Amarillo's newly formed chamber of commerce. Charles Wolfkin, president of the Amarillo chamber, made a brief talk parrying the humor.

As the group gathered, the uniformed 25-piece band of the Sam Houston school played, directed by Estill Foster. This band is making remarkable progress.

Dr. H. H. Hicks presented entertainment which included Neal Bean and Ben Gull in a Laurel and Hardy act, and Harry Kelley and Roy Wallbratenstein in a hayseed banjo duo. Dr. Hicks received a soft, pie full in the face from Mr. Hardy.

The excellent meal, composed mainly of Gray county products, was served by women of the home demonstration clubs.

Because of the condition of his wife, who was injured in an automobile accident, Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls, slated to make the principal address, could not be present. Jack Cunningham, B. C. D. president, was toastmaster. Clarence Kennedy, Jaycee proxy, spoke briefly.

DOG WHOSE GRIEF AND LOYALTY 'MADE' RIPLEY'S COLUMN DIES

"THE best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son and daughter that he has reared with love may prove ungrateful. . . . The one absolute friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that is true to him through the thickest fog of grief, is his dog," said Senator Vest of Missouri in his famous oration.

Buster is dead. His passing is mourned by more than his mistress. He had more friends in Pampa than many men and women of the city. Buster was the black, and white Shepherd dog that for 14 years had been the faithful friend of Mrs. Alex Schneider Sr., and of Mr. Schneider before his death 5 years ago this month.

Buster died of old age at the Schneider hotel yesterday afternoon. He died peacefully passing into the face of Mrs. Schneider, who today is much grieved over the loss of her faithful friend. Buster was buried last night behind the old hotel where he loved to romp and play with Mr. and Mrs. Schneider. When they were away he would remain in their room most of the day and would eat only enough to keep him alive. . . . A few years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Schneider went back to Switzerland and Buster's grief was pathetic. He met them at the depot upon their return.

When Mr. Schneider died, Buster would not leave the casket and accompanied it to the grave. He remained at the cemetery until forcibly taken back to the hotel. Every morning about daylight for a year after Mr. Schneider's death, Buster would be seen at the cemetery, lying across the grave. The incident was published in Ripley's Believe It or Not column.

Mr. Schneider got Buster when he was a few weeks old. He had only one pet before Buster, and that was a Great Dane which lived for 19 years.

Masons Will Hold Washington Service

Gray county Masons will meet in Pampa, Feb. 21 for a George Washington service. On the following day, a district celebration will be held in Amarillo.

The local service will begin at 8 o'clock in the city auditorium. H. E. Nicholson of Wheeler, deputy district grand master, will be present and will present a speaker, whose name has not been learned here. Every Mason in Gray county is urged to attend the service.

MULTITUDE OF INJURED NOT YET COUNTED

WOMEN FIGHT SIDE BY SIDE WITH MEN IN VIENNA SUBURB

BY WADE WERNER.

Associated Press Foreign Staff. VIENNA, Feb. 14 (AP)—Scores of women and children are unofficially reported among the casualties of Austria's civil war.

While the government is publishing no death toll details, feeling that would only add flame to the public excitement, an unofficial estimate shows between 1,000 and 1,500 persons have been killed in combat throughout the nation.

There are uncounted multitudes of injured. The estimate of casualties is entirely unofficial but was arrived at through conversation with government officials, army officers, and a personal inspection by the Associated Press staff on the scenes of warfare.

This inspection indicated it was safe to say that there have been at least scores of women and children among the casualties.

It is hard to look at the shell-torn factory homes and buildings in the suburb of Floridsdorf alone without a temptation to allow at least one woman or child for every 20 male casualties there.

For it was in Floridsdorf that women fought all through the night beside their men against overwhelming numbers of government troops while shells screamed and smashed their homes into powder.

Indications that the government recognizes the danger to children were seen in a government decree, issued tonight, closing all Austrian schools indefinitely and advice issued yesterday to keep children off the streets.

Although the socialist quarters in Vienna were momentarily captured today, after a short lull, the battle was resumed through streets still littered with the dead.

Judge Pickens Will Speak At Church Banquet

An address delivered by Judge J. E. Pickens of 84th district court at the annual meeting of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council at Berger recently, will be repeated by the jurist at a father and son banquet tomorrow night at the First Christian church, the Rev. John S. Mulholland, pastor, announced today. The program will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m.

Judge Pickens, an eloquent orator, held his listeners spellbound at the Scout banquet. His address exploits the scout ideals from a surprising viewpoint.

The program will also include stunts by Scouts. Three troops of Scouts, including troop 4 of the Christian church, troop 16 of the Baker school and troop 18 of Hopkins will be present.

Retail Clerks To Organize Tonight

A retail clerks organization will be completed tonight at a meeting of all retail clerks in the city. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock in the oil field union hall in the Wynne building.

The charter arrived yesterday and will be presented after organization. Officers will be elected at the meeting tonight. Every retail clerk in the city is urged to be present.

Miss May, shown here in a San Francisco in her uniform as stewardess on a transcontinental line, has traveled more than 550,000 miles by plane in the course of her work.

MURREL'S JURY WILL GET CASE LATER IN DAY

Witness Claims Miss Ralls Was Not Intoxicated

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Both government and defense completed testimony today in the trial of Lieut. John H. Murrel, former West Point football star, accused of attacking Miss Blanche Ralls last fall and the court granted each side one hour and forty-five minutes for arguments, indicating that the jury would begin deliberation about 5 p. m.

The government introduced testimony in rebuttal intended to show that she was not intoxicated at a night club party a few hours earlier.

Mrs. Ed Quail, a prosecution witness, said Miss Ralls was not drunk and testified that her actions and demeanor the night the alleged attack occurred were not unusual.

Sergeant Robert E. L. Cisco of the military police testified that he had questioned Sergeant R. R. Richmond, a defense witness, shortly after the alleged attack, concerning the appearance of an automobile near the army radio towers the morning of Oct. 22, Richmond told him, Cisco testified, that he had not seen a car and had not heard a woman scream. Richmond testified yesterday that he saw an automobile and heard a woman vomiting.

On cross-examination, Mrs. Quail admitted that liquor was served at tables at the night club but stated positively that Miss Ralls was not intoxicated.

Footie Will Start New Study Tonight

Paul, the apostle, will be the subject of a new course of study which the Rev. Gaston Footie, pastor, will start at the "food-faith-and-fun" gathering tonight at the Methodist church. Mrs. Footie will begin a new course for young people. Over 100 persons are expected to attend the weekly program which begins at 6:45 tonight with a covered dish luncheon, followed by a new form of recreation and a question box discussion. Members and friends of the church are invited. Rev. Footie returned today from Matador where he was the chief speaker at the annual banquet of the Motley County chamber of commerce.

FORMER CONVICT AND YOUNG POLICEMAN SHOT FOLLOWING DISTURBANCE AT RESIDENCE

OFFICER IS KILLED IN LINE OF DUTY EARLY THIS MORNING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—An executive order opening income tax returns of manufacturers of naval airplanes to a house committee was predicted today by Representative McFarlane (D., Texas) after a call upon President Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The treasury announced today its $800,000,000 note issue was four times oversubscribed.

AUSTIN, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Texas senate started consideration today of a bill designed to protect real estate owners from forced sales of their property under foreclosures during the existing financial emergency.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Washington Evening Star said today that Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, is "expected to resign shortly." Woodring denied an intention of resigning, "Neither officially nor unofficially," he said, "have I discussed or has anyone discussed with me the subject of a resignation."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Postmaster General Farley today telegraphed a reply to Charles A. Lindbergh's letter protesting cancellation of air mail contracts. If Lindbergh does not accept it, he said, the text will be released in Washington.

Letters Being Read in Woman Doctor's Trial

GREENWOOD, Miss., Feb. 14 (AP)—District Attorney Arthur Jordan today began reading to a jury trying Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean on a murder charge for the alleged poison death of Dr. John Preton Kennedy, letters which the defendant wrote the surgeon prior to his strange death last August.

In putting the letters in evidence, Jordan told the court he was seeking "to establish a motive for the murder of Dr. Kennedy."

The first letter read was dated July 17, 1933, and said: "I am leaving for the east. . . I must see you. I think you owe me a going away party and a set of coffee spoons. I must see you, call me. Best wishes. Love, Ruth."

The second was dated July 17, 1933, the date on which the state alleges Dr. Dean and Dr. Kennedy never read this letter as it had arrived on the following day, after he became ill. The letter said: "Sorry I missed you last night. Please call me when you get this. I want to turn something over to you, Ruth."

Lenten Season Observed Here

Lenten season was opened this morning at Holy Souls church with the blessing and distribution of the ashes at the 7:30 mass. A series of weekly Lenten sermons will begin Friday evening at 8, when the Rev. J. A. Zienta of Price Memorial college, Amarillo, will speak. A second service today will begin at 8 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited to all these special services, the Rev. Joseph Wondery, pastor, announces. A question box will be a feature of the weekly sermon hours.

The ceremony this morning is one intended to impress upon the recipient the transitory nature of earthly things. This is expressed by the words God used when He banished Adam and Eve from the garden of paradise. "Remember, man, that thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return."

Asbes of palms blessed a year ago on Palm Sunday are sprinkled in much the same manner as the Jews used as a sign of repentance. The ashes will be distributed again this evening following the Way of the Cross at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. "Brownie" Akers of Lubbock were here Monday evening for the Lions minstrel show.

R. F. Karlin of Skellytown visited in the city last night.

AMARILLO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Chester Grounds, 25, Amarillo policeman, was shot and killed early this morning in line of duty. Clarence Hammonds, 31, ex-convict, who fired the fatal shot, was slain by police as he resisted arrest while attempting to escape.

Grounds was one of four officers patrolling in two scout cars who were dispatched to investigate what turned out to be a family quarrel at the Hammonds home.

Hammonds was killed an hour later as officers Curtis Crays and Sales Coffey found him having his car serviced at a filling station. There were five bullet wounds in his right side and chest, and a shotgun charge in his right shoulder. His .38 revolver was clamped in his right hand.

The officers said they fired when Hammonds "pulled his gun." Crays fired with a pistol, Coffey used the shotgun.

"A woman has been knocked in the head at 305 Cleveland street," was the radio report picked up by the scout cars. At that address the officers found only Hazel Hammonds, 18, standing in the street. She directed officers to their home address, but Hammonds was not there.

A few minutes later Grounds and Patrolman Audrey Giles made a second trip to the Hammonds home. Hammonds fled out the back door, firing three times. One of the shots hit Grounds in the right chest and ranged downward. Fellow officers rushed Grounds to a hospital, while a general alarm was spread by the police radio. One shot had been fired from Grounds' pistol.

"He had been drinking," sobbed the youthful Mrs. Hammonds. "We had been having trouble. We were going to move, and he took me in his car to look at some places. We quarreled. When we got back home he grabbed a gun and threatened to kill me."

Hammonds had served a term in the Texas penitentiary for burglary, having been received there in May 1931, for a term of from two to three years.

Grounds is survived by his widow and a year-old baby.

Brothers Plead Not Guilty In Clovis Slaying

CLOVIS, N. M., Feb. 14 (AP)—Pleading not guilty to a charge of first degree murder for the death of Vernon Tate here Monday afternoon, Louis, Bee, and Carsey Bohanan, brothers, were held to preliminary hearing late yesterday without bond.

The hearing will be held Saturday morning before District Judge Harry L. Patton.

The shooting is said to have been the culmination of a 12-year feud between the Bohanan and Tate families.

Library To Close Saturday Morning

Because of the congestion in the city hall basement Saturday mornings while CWA checks are being distributed, the public library will be closed.

And, instead of closing Saturday afternoon, the library will be open from 1 to 5 p. m. Patrons are asked to remember this change.

UNDERSTANDING THE FRENCH MIND

It would be easier to understand the French situation, in Pampa, if the scenes were transplanted, as a commentator did the other day to America through the imagination.

To do that, we may start by assuming that Ponzi, the famous old Boston swindler, somehow had got on the inside of—say—the RFC, and had both hands into the federal till, clear up to the elbows.

Let us say, further, that Andy Mellon still was secretary of the treasury and was conniving with him.

Suppose on top of all this, that ten years ago we had been through a disastrous period of inflation in which most of us had lost something like 75 per cent of our money; and suppose that the federal budget remained unbalanced in such way that another dose of inflation seemed almost inevitable.

Then suppose the president was forced to resign every time congress voted against him, and that congress now sitting was not the docile one of 1934, but the divided, hostile, and effervescent one of two years ago.

Suppose that the depression steadily was getting worse instead of better and that no man in public life, from the president down, had our confidence.

Suppose the United States chamber of commerce loudly was demanding a dictatorship, that the communist party was 20 times as large and active as it really is, and that the American Legion was pressing militantly for a change in government.

Now, with all this peculiar set-up by way of background, suppose that the above-mentioned Ponzi swindler, involving Andy Mellon and probably several other cabinet members, suddenly was revealed to a startled nation; suppose that Mr. Roosevelt, whose position roughly corresponds with that of French premier, had resigned in favor of Mr. Garner, who presently had given way to Ogden Mills, who had been succeeded by Norman Thomas, who in turn had quit two weeks later to let Senator Fess take his place.

Suppose inflation looked more and more likely, and that there seemed daily less and less chance that the government could do anything to ease the depression.

Our affairs, in short, would be in an unholy mess, and if the members of the chamber of commerce, the communist party, and the American Legion went out into the streets and started breaking things, most of us probably would cheer them on.

This little scene is fantastic, but it's a fair reproduction of France's situation today.

PHILOSOPHY OF CHILDHOOD

OAKLAND, Calif.—It was all in the day's play for 7-year-old Edward Miller and his little brother, Albert, 4. They ran away to hunt bears, made camp with a blanket behind a bill board and were captured by police who placed them in the women's ward of the city prison. Then, they very loudly and enthusiastically "played jail" until their father, Edward Sr. CWA worker, came for them.

Only Death Will End Disagreement, Says Movie Star

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14. (AP)—Disagreement will be the only solution of the disagreement of John Gilbert and Virginia Bruce, the blonde actress said today.

Within a week or ten days she will begin suit to break their marriage and afterward, she said, she will attempt to resume the film career abandoned after marriage.

Engaging a lawyer to represent her, Miss Bruce said she separated from Gilbert January 14 and that a "chat" over their affairs had shown their positions to be irreconcilable.

New Bishop Is Native of Los Angeles, Calif.

The Rt. Rev. Robert E. Lucey, pastor of St. Anthony's church at Long Beach, Calif., whose appointment by Pope Pius XI as bishop of the Amarillo diocese was announced Monday, is a native of California.

He was born in Los Angeles on March 19, 1891. After attending Sacred Heart school and St. Vincent's college, he entered St. Patrick's seminary, Menlo Park, completing his ecclesiastical studies at the North American College in Rome.

272 Millions To Be Spent On Army And Navy

TOKYO, Feb. 14. (AP)—A budget bill providing for the largest peacetime defense appropriations in Japan's history was passed by the house of representatives today.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Serial by HERBERT JENSEN

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, the explorer, Janice Kent, the movie star, and Homie Greene, her press agent, are all held prisoner in the Yucatan jungle by a savage tribe called by the Mexican "subevidos." Don Raoul Ortega, who has betrayed them to the Ahkin, high priest of the tribe, tells Grahame and Greene that they will die in the morning. Ortega declares that Janice will not be murdered.

Chapter 32 THE THREAT "Easy, Greene old man," cautioned Frank. "I'd like to write his obituary," started the milk Mr. Greene. Ahkin's voice spoke, flat with finality. "She dies with the others! Greene was breathing rapidly. He turned to Frank. "I didn't get all that. What did he say?" Ortega had spoken to them in English. Frank did not believe that the high-priest understood the language. Yet he must have understood the substance of what Don Raoul had told them because his threat against Janice had tied in with their discussion.

He muttered to Greene, "I'll tell you later, Ortega, listen to me: You're a white man. This native here is mad. You can see it in his eyes. You got her into this—never mind us—get Janice out of this, or God, if it's the last thing I do I'll get you. Get you, hear me! I know a way!" Ortega smiled uncertainly. "The girl will be all right," he said in English. "Ahkin is bluffing." Again the priest spoke in level tones. "She has eaten with these men, the food of the Gods. She has smirged. Yum Chac will not accept her alive as a bride; he will take her dead as food."

Ortega's face paled slightly. "No," he said. "We did not agree upon that." The high-priest's glance examined Ortega coldly. "Senior Ortega," he said softly in his slurring Spanish. "Has it occurred to you that your usefulness in this matter is ended? In fact, I am wondering about your future worth to us." "What do you mean?" Don Raoul mumbled in his lips. "Yesterday a runner from Merida told me that the revolution has ended, unsuccessfully. There is a reward offered by the new Governor for your capture."

"I do not care for the money offered," he continued contemptuously, "but it seems that your services have no value to us now." Ahkin's voice became brittle. "Take care, man. Cama-zotz is a thirsty God, and your heart would be as empty as the others." Ortega stepped back into the shadows. As the group filed out of the doorway, his big figure seemed queerly shrunken. Greene mopped his forehead. "Fwew!" he exclaimed. "I'm wringing wet. I wonder if I've got fever. Between that big slob Ortega making me hot, and that wicked-looking priest giving me the chills, I shouldn't wonder. What all went on? I didn't get half of it."

Yankie considered. He wondered if he should tell Janice's press-agent all the implications. The little fellow had proved his courage. He was a little ashamed of his former annoyance with him in Hollywood. "Hollywood! How remote it seemed. He decided to explain the situation to Greene in every aspect. Two heads were needed to pool every scrap of information that might be of possible value to them in their extremity. While Greene was excitable, the chance of his flying off the handle must be taken. He said in as light a tone as he could muster: "Got your notebook, Greene? This is the hottest stuff you've ever heard."

Greene sighed. "I wish I had it at that, only—" He studied the bars of the window. "Myberg probably wouldn't let me use it if I could." Despite himself Frank smiled slightly. The little press agent's obsession labeled him an artist. He spoke to Greene primarily to inform him of the circumstances and also to piece together and clarify the bits of information that were swarming in his own mind. "We're in a bad spot, Greene," he began. "I'm amazed at just about everything I've seen and heard. The people on the coast call these interior Indians subevidos. Unconquered fellows."

"But they've always been reported as a friendly, ignorant lot so long as they were let alone. Occasionally the drift to the coast with blocks of chicle—chewing gum—and haven't gained any particular reputation for ferocity. "Did you notice some of them were nearly white? The old Spaniards told me that some even have gone to the States to be educated, but like our own Indians, they generally drift back to the jungle and lapse into the old ways. "It just shows you what dynamite will do if somebody provides a fuse to touch it off. The Ahkin, for instance. He was the same one I saw run away from the automobile the night Spin Winslow and I caught up with Janice—. By the way, why wasn't Spin along on this trip?"

"His arm was still on the Fritz," Greene explained. "He may come later. I damn. Too late to do us any good." "You've read up on the archeology business. When the Spaniards arrived in this country the natives were sacrificing, they say, twenty thousand young men and women a year in Mexico City alone in their altars. "Something like that is evidently going on here."

"Pleasant," muttered Greene. "I read where they took them to a cliff brink and threw them off." His lips were a little pale. "I don't like high places. I've never been in an airplane in my life."

"This ahkin—ahkin is evidently a title, not a name—" continued Frank. "Is doubtlessly the dynamic fuse in this locality. He must be quite a man. The jungle is all cleaned up and the old temples reconstructed better than the Peabody people have done at Chichen Itza. But did you notice his eyes? He's mad. Mad as a—"

"Yeah. What-a-man!" interrupted Greene wearily. "Supposing we catch some shut-eye? They going to hurt Janice?" Frank turned his head into the shadow. "I thought so," said little Mr. Greene. "Listen Frank, and remember this: You'd do a foolish thing on the temple top the other night. If you get a break—any kind of a break—forget me. Forget me, will you? Take Janice and get the hell out of this place! Good night. I'm going to sleep and think about havin' our throats cut. Pleasant dreams!"

Grahame slept fitfully, his rest harried by fantastic visions. His shoulder wound had begun to heal and it itched excruciatingly. As the moon sailed higher it threw its beams against their prison. The rays filtered through the two openings in the walls above him. He heard Greene tossing. Finally he must have slept a little. He came away suddenly, as a dog awakes, senses alert but with body motionless. Some sound, he could have sworn, had broken his rest. Greene was breathing deeply but with the regularity of the slumberer. He placed his feet upon the floor, and with eyelids widened, strove to pierce with his gaze the darkness that blanketed their cell except for the two silver patches of moonlight, that stabbing through the windows, sprawled one upon the wall, one upon the floor. Across the moon-patch on the floor, gridironed with the shadows of the window bars, a faint gray tracery seemed to wiggle toward him. In an instant he was upon his feet and stepped softly toward the center of the cell. His toe touched an object, he stopped and picked it up. It was a stone, the size of a large walnut. Tied to it was a strong white cord that lay along the floor to the wall, then up and out of the window opening! He tugged gently upon it. Immediately there was an answering double pull! He drew the cord toward him. There was a flicker of white at the sill, and with a faint plop, a paper, rolled like a scroll, fell at his feet. His fingers trembled slightly as he untied the string that secured it. He unrolled the paper and found that it was a message of some kind penciled in Spanish. He held it to the faint light. It was addressed to himself, beginning with the elaborate salutation of Spanish punctilio. "Muy estimado senior, y mi amigo Don Francisco Grahame."

It was signed Juan Piedra—the lad who by this time, had he escaped the search parties, should have been well upon his way to the coast! (Copyright, 1934, by Hergert Jensen)

Whose Fault?

Here's a boy who gets good marks, has time and energy for play. He is never ill, hardly ever has so much as a cold. When he does show any symptoms of being sluggish, his mother knows just what to do. She gives him a little California Syrup of Figs—and that is all. It's a natural, fruitily laxative that is agreeable to take, and its gentle laxative action comes from senna. Parents are urged to use just pure California Syrup of Figs. Be sure bottle says "California."

Reduction of the maximum unit tax from $500 was made by the committee last night after argument had been advanced that it would derive a greater revenue. The taxation scale would be $3 for one store; $15 each for two to five; $25 each for six to ten; $50 each for 11 to 25; $75 each for 25 to 50, and $100 each for 51 and over. Filling stations, lumber yards, and parking houses would be exempt from the proposed tax. With the exception of the scale of taxes, the bill is the same as one passed by the house at the regular session last year but defeated by the senate. Frank G. Jordan, California's secretary of state, is beginning his twenty-fifth year in office.

HEDELEY CAGERS BEAT HARVESTERS

EVANS STARS IN 36 TO 30 PLAYOFF TILT

HARVESTERETTES PLAY PANHANDLE THIS EVENING

A one-man scoring threat by the name of Evans defeated the Pampa Harvesters in Hedley last night in the first game of a series to decide which team will play for the district championship. The final score was 36 to 30. Evans made 24 points for his team and passed for many others.

Coach Odus Mitchell even tried two guards on Evans but to no avail. He pivoted, dribbled, took almost impossible passes, and shot from any angle on the floor. It little mattered whether he was close to the basket, or well out on the floor, the ball went through the hoop just the same. Evans probably "won't" be so hot here Friday night because he will not be so used to the large playing surface. He will be watched closely, Coach Mitchell said.

The game was rough and many fouls "got by." Bill Dunaway, Harvesters guard, was forced out of the game in the last quarter with his team in the lead. Hedley sent in substitutes and switched players with startling rapidity and before the Harvesters could find their men, Hedley was in the lead. Evans had three fouls on him at the half, but failed to draw another.

The same two officials will handle the game here Friday night. Coach Mitchell has informed them that he would like the game to be basket ball. The "headmen" were Frank Stacking of Clarendon and Frank Marroe of Pampa.

Captain Miles Marbaugh and J. R. Green tied for high scoring on the Harvesters quintet. Each looped 12 points. Everett Woodward, who relieved Irving when he failed to get started, looped four points. Dunaway added the other two counters. Heiskell, usually good for some long shots, failed to get the range on the small playing surface and went scoreless.

Both teams played brilliant basketball but Evans stood above the other nine in victory. The two teams will meet here Friday night. A win for the Harvesters will necessitate the playing of a third game, but a victory for Hedley would give her the sectional title. If the odd game is necessary, the site will be decided after the game here.

The Harvesters go to Panhandle tonight to meet the Panhandle sextet in the first game of a series to decide sectional championships. The Panhandle girls will return the game Friday night. FRNKA'S 36 CHAMPION LIONS MADE AVERAGE GRADE OF 82

Figures Show That His Boys Made The Most of Their Regular 'Skull Practice'

By The Associated Press

Henry Frnka, the rather clever young gentleman who piloted a bunch of Greenville high school youngsters to the Texas schoolboy football championship, wants the general populace to know his titleholders are not just ordinary lads.

Just "for the boys' sakes" and not of all things—for publicity purposes, the popular coach from the city of "White People and Black Land" has rooted around and extricated statistics to show his boys had their minds on something besides "that new spinner over left tackle" during the recently buried grid season.

The "figures that don't lie" presented by Frnka can be used very handily by proponents of high school football in assuaging back those who contend too much emphasis is laid upon the relative merits of a pig's hide amongst the younger athletes.

Primarily, Frnka wants to divulge the fact that the average grade among his group of 36 footballers stood during the entire first term, which included the grid season, at 82.2-9 per cent. Which is not bad for a lad who never glimpsed a football.

Of the seven regular backfield men, who toiled enough leather to win a state championship, four were total exemption students. And the average grade of the other three was 80.

ACTING PRESIDENT OF NOTRE DAME HEARS OF HARVESTERS

Rev. O'Hara Takes Look at Pampa From Santa Fe Depot During Train Stop.

The fame of the Harvester football team and of Pampa has penetrated the citadel of American football—Notre Dame, largely through pertinent remarks made yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Joseph Wonderly of Holy Souls church.

The Rev. John F. O'Hara, C. S. C., acting president of Notre Dame university, South Bend, Ind., took a good look at Pampa from the Santa Fe brick siding yesterday when Father Wonderly mentioned that this was the home of the Harvesters. Altogether, one might say that his ears pricked up and his eyes were sharper as he looked at all he could see of the town. Specifically, the noted educator, also spiritual director of Notre Dame, stopped off here a few moments to visit with Father Wonderly whom he knew back in Indiana. Incidentally, Father O'Hara says he left Peru, Ind., (winter home of a number of circuses) as a boy the same day as the circus.

Besides taking Harvester information with him, Rev. O'Hara left some. He said that the correct way to pronounce Chevigny, new coach at Notre Dame grid star, is Shev-uh-nee, and no She-vean-nee. Grid fans should remember that.

Then too, Rev. O'Hara left the impression that all is not football at Notre Dame. For instance, he attended five football games last season, more than he attended in the last two years. "People outside of the university," he said between quick draws on a cigarette, "are more interested in the Ramblers' fortunes than the persons in the school. If they don't win, we don't allow it to get in our hair, but citizens of the U. S. do, you bet!"

Oh yes, Rev. O'Hara believes Mr. Jack Shev-uh-nee (accent on first syllable, first e short) will produce a winning team at Texas shortly and that Elmer Leyden, new Notre Dame coach, will turn out a winning team at Notre Dame, sooner or later, probably sooner. Mr. Leyden and Mr. Shev-uh-nee are built along the same lines as far as temperament and brains are concerned, he reflected. Father O'Hara rode the train on to Kansas City. He had been vacationing on the Pacific coast for several weeks.

Score of 285 Likely To Win Galveston Open

GALVESTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—A bombardment of golf shots zoomed down the Galveston municipal course fairways today as crack professionals and amateurs perfected their games for the first annual $2,000 Galveston open. The amateur-pro event will be tomorrow. The 72 holes of medal play competition starts Friday and extends through Sunday.

At the conclusion the winning professional will receive a $500 check as first prize money. There will be fourteen smaller checks for the also-rans providing they don't run too far behind. The low amateur will receive a trophy.

In the pro tournament consensus that 285 will win providing the weather continues clear and the wind doesn't get too strong. Players rank the local course with its par 6-36-72 tougher than Brackenridge park at San Antonio where Willy Cox's 283 last Sunday won the Texas open and a check for $750. The course here is longer, the fairways softer and the greens slower than at the Texas open. Delicate iron shots are required to prevent taking too much soft turf through all fairways.

EX-CHAMPION IS DEFEATED

Max Schmeling Loses 9 of Hamas, Ex-Footballer, 12 Rounds to Young Steve

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14 (AP)—Max Schmeling has gone the way of all those ex-champions who attempted comebacks. In a stunning ring upset young Steve Hamas whipped him through most of the fight, except the last round, when the black-browed German had to stave off a terrific drive.

Schmeling started last night on his comeback trail, a former heavyweight champion of the world, and he stumbled down to the end of twelve rounds, still trying, still grinning, but beaten by the gloved fists of Steve Hamas.

Hamas is the 26-year-old youngster from Passaic, N. J., who made his first athletic name half a dozen years ago as a fullback at Penn State.

A crowd of 15,000, the largest to see a fight in Philadelphia since Gene Tunney won the heavyweight title from Jack Dempsey in the Sesqui-Centennial stadium in 1926, saw Schmeling hesitate, fumble, try and fail against the rugged, clean-cut youngster.

Hamas stabbed him with left jabs, and the Schmeling who used to brush them aside and shuffle in with right hand chops to the head, strength-sapping left hooks to the body, stood and took them.

At the end, Schmeling, only 28, was the stronger of the two, but the decision of Referee Spud Murphy and two judges was unanimous.

Schmeling won only three rounds, the second, fourth and twelfth on most of the experts' cards. Hamas won the other nine.

Bozeman, Hoppe Are Favorites In Cue Tourney

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—The world's three-cushion billiard championship had settled down today to where J. N. Bozeman, Jr., of Vallejo, Calif., and Willie Hoppe, the old master, both of whom have perfect records, ruled the favorites to dethrone Welker Cochran.

Bozeman, the youngest player in the tournament, was in first place by reason of having played one more game than Hoppe. The west coast sensation won his fifth straight last night in defeating Augie Klekhefer, Chicago southpaw, 50 to 45, while Hoppe has accounted for his four starts. The 46-year-old wonder had a chance to catch his youthful rival today, however, in a match with Otto Reisel, of Philadelphia.

In addition to winning the most games, Bozeman had turned in the shortest game of 34 innings and the best inning average of 47 2-5 innings per game.

Two of the three players, who have dropped only one game, also got into action today with Johnny Layton meeting Tiff Denton, Kansas City, at night, and Allen Hall, Chicago, clashing with Kinney Matsuyama, New York, in the afternoon. The other matinee match was to bring together Len Kenney, of Chicago, loser of seven straight contests, and Arthur Thurnblad, one of the former champions from Chicago.

Cochran remained in running for his crown last night by overwhelming Kenney 50 to 29 for his fourth victory in five games.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14 (AP)—The market continued feverishly active all morning and prices continued to slump on the execution of stop loss orders and general liquidation, the principal cause of which appeared to be fears of failure of the Bankhead bill. May dropped to 11.85, July to 12.91 and October to 12.17, down 74 to 76 points from Monday's close.

Late in the morning the market rallied 10 to 12 points on covering by shorts. May trading up to 11.97, July to 12.11 and October to 12.27, at these levels showing net losses of 62 to 66 points.

ANGELO BOXER HAS IMPOSING LIST OF WINS

KELLY HAS ARRANGED FAST CARD FOR TOMORROW

Although little is known here about the ability of J. D. Spamm of San Angelo, who will meet Eddie Murdoch of Los Angeles in a 10-round boxing match at the Pla-Mor auditorium Thursday night, two or three local fans who have seen Spamm in action declare he is a good battler. His fight with Art Dula recently was a "world beater." Besides he comes from a town where good fighters are demanded.

Murdoch kicked little on Spamm's weight but agreed to give the five pounds difference in their weights. The California boy has never seen Spamm in action but he has heard about the San Angelo boy. "I hope he isn't a lefthander, along with his record," Murdoch remarked.

The semi-final arranged by Promoter B. W. Kelly could be a final on anybody's card. Joe Vernon, local boy, has improved a lot since his last appearance here. He is faster than ever and his terrific right is still deadly. Mickie Dunivan of Springfield, Mo., is the boxer. He doesn't pack much of a wallop but he keeps a fist in his opponent's face all the time and is fast on his feet. He never leaves himself open to a direct hit.

Vernon and Dunivan have been watching each other for some time but neither was anxious to start hostilities. Promoter Kelly had to offer the boys a lot to get in the ring at the same time. The distance set is six rounds.

A special six-round battle between Earl Madden of Sparman and Cowboy Robinson of Oklahoma City has been arranged. Both fighters are wild swingers and terrific punchers. It shouldn't go the distance, Madden was seen here some time ago when he made a hit with Pampa fight fans.

A good four-round preliminary will open the card on time. General admission will be 40 cents with ringsides 75 cents. Ladies will be admitted for the tax.

THEY PREFER WATER

PARIS (AP)—American students arrive in Paris on the water wagon and, if they get off, indulge in wine and beer—with moderation.

Officers of the American foundation at the university city find that of 390 students patronizing the restaurant daily, 75 per cent drink plain water; 12 per cent beer; and 6 per cent milk.

Many a gas says "Instant Starting" in the ads

PHILLIPS 66 says INSTANT STARTING in your motor

It is unfair to call your car a hard-starting brute," because you had to crank it by hand or by a passing driver to give you a push that bent the rear bumper.

Perhaps you had the wrong gasoline in the tank! Always remember that high test is what it takes to start a motor in freezing weather.

Every gallon of Phillips 66 is packed with quick-starting elements. These super-volatile parts go to work at the first flash of the spark plugs. The gas is actually anxious to get going—so live and eager, that enthusiastic drivers say: "On cold days Phillips 66 is like liquid lightning under the hood."

Maybe you have read quick-starting claims for gasolines that did not prove-up in your own motor. But the chances are 100 to 1 that you have never seen any ad, except Phillips', which published in plain figures the exact gravity range.

These figures do more than prove that Phillips 66 is high test. They are conclusive evidence which tells you how high the test is.

Every time you start your car, after you, Phillips with Phillips, you will marvel at the instant response... the smoothness... the quick warm-up. And freezing days or mild ones, you always get the pep, power, and mileage resulting from Phillips CONTROLLED VOLATILITY.

Here's the reason: As the temperature drops, the gravity of this greater gasoline goes up—protecting performance against changes in weather.

This high test and anti-knock motor fuel does not cost a penny over the price of regular. We are able to give this greater value because we are the world's largest producer of natural high gravity gasoline. So it costs you nothing to try a tankful. DISTRICT CHAIRMAN PRESENTS NEW PROGRAM FOR CLUB CRISIS

TWILIGHT TEA HONORS MRS. AVRIETT AND OTHER GUEST OFFICIALS OF FEDERATION

GENERAL OBJECTIVES AND THOSE OF MUSIC DEPARTMENT OUTLINED BY VISITING LEADERS

GROWTH is the theme for federated women's clubs of the seventh district. Mrs. W. P. Avriett of Lamesa, district president, said in outlining objectives of her administration to Pampa club women yesterday afternoon.

She paid her first official visit here, accompanied by several board members, and was honored at a twilight tea given by Pampa federated clubs of the city club rooms.

Womans clubs are confronting a crisis, admitted in this district and in the nation as a whole. Reviewing club history in the United States, she showed that women have won the place that was the goal of the first clubs, and have consequently lost enthusiasm.

A national survey revealed four causes for this slump: Lack of cooperation between local and district, state, and national federations; lack of new blood in state and national federations; trend of modern recreation; lack of objective; all of these intensified by the depression.

The national federation has realized its errors and begun a new program with a young president, Mrs. Avriett said. For its part seventh district has set the following goals: cooperation with state and national federations; increased membership, one new club in each town; stressing student loan funds; reading the Federation News; aiding the state headquarters fund.

Mrs. Ardelle George of Dawn, district chairman of music, spoke briefly of her objectives, emphasizing music for young people. She urged women to promote junior musical organizations, to encourage better music in homes, and to take music to children in rural communities.

Other visiting club women introduced by Mrs. W. R. Campbell, in charge of the program, were Mrs. McCarty, president of the Potter

TEXAN TO TALK ABOUT AFRICAN MISSION WORK

CHRISTIAN WOMEN TO GIVE TEA FOR MISS MUSGRAVE

All women of Pampa are invited by the Women's Council of First Christian church to a tea Friday afternoon, when Miss Ruth Musgrave, on furlough from missionary work in Africa, will speak.

The tea will be given at the church, at 3-45. Miss Musgrave will speak again at 7:30 p. m., when the public is invited to hear her.

She is a former Texan who has recently completed 15 years of missionary service in Belgian Congo, where the equator cuts the continent of Africa.

Texas Educated Educated at Trinity university, Texas Christian university, and the College of Missions, she numbers among former classmates at T. C. U. two Pampa women, Mrs. Bass Clay and Miss Frances McCue.

Her work in Africa was to teach the women, children, and boys. The African boys, she says, are unusually quick and adaptable, and when they have finished their studies they go into the back country villages to teach their people.

She worked at Lotombe, one of the six mission stations maintained in Africa by the United Christian Missionary society. For a time there was no nurse at the station and Miss Musgrave assisted the missionary doctors.

When she returned to America, instead of going west on the Congo river to the ocean, then to Europe and America, she and three other women went east on the Congo, through the great game country in a motor truck, down the Nile by barge, across the Mediterranean, to France and then home.

In this way they saw parts of Africa rarely visited by white women. These and other thrilling experiences will be graphically presented in Miss Musgrave's talks Friday.

Little Theater Meets Informally

Entertainment took precedent over business in a meeting of the Little Theater Monday evening when Paul M. LeBeuf, president, was in charge of the program. A colored orchestra and dancers furnished the amusement.

Interest Grows In Homemakers Convention Plan

Interest is growing in the unusual method of handling the homemakers convention that will start here Tuesday with Mrs. Leonard Rust in charge, sponsored by the Pampa Daily News and Pampa merchants.

A morning session Tuesday, an afternoon meeting Wednesday, and the concluding program in the evening Friday, are scheduled. Food and health, household equipment and decoration, the family, and personal beauty and style hints are to be topics.

All meetings are to be in city hall auditorium. Women of Pampa and the surrounding territory are invited to be present at every session, hear the talks and see the demonstrations by Mrs. Irig, accredited food chemist and home-making expert, and ask questions concerning any home-making problem.

Arrangements are being made for the display and showing of the various types of merchandise and services advertised by both local and national firms sponsoring the convention.

The director, Mrs. Irig, is known to Pampa women as she has conducted cooking schools here, and her new program is being eagerly expected. She has recently completed a series of home-making conventions in Colorado.

proached behind the president. . . . The pistol ball entered the back of the president's head and penetrated nearly through the head. The wound is mortal. . . . At a cabinet meeting (earlier in the day), at which General Grant was present, the subject of the state of the country and the prospect for a speedy peace was discussed. The president was very cheerful and hopeful, and spoke very kindly of General Lee and others of the confederacy, and of the establishment of government in Virginia.

This is a private note to the man who inadvertently exchanged hats at the B. C. D. banquet last night with the Rev. John Muller. Rev. Muller waited until only one hat remained, then he took it—a hat sold by Ed Galloway Inc. of Oklahoma City. Please get in touch with Rev. Muller to "change back."

NEWSPAPERS of that day, while thorough in their methods of news presentation, were of course not as swift as today. We read that "wild excitement prevailed. Men, women, and children, old and young, rushed to and fro and the rumors were magnified until we had nearly every member of the cabinet killed." At the theater, Lincoln's assassin escaped by a back entrance, mounted a horse, and rode away. The reaction of the theater audience was about what it would be today under similar circumstances: "Hang him! Hang him!" The next reaction of those present was similar: "Stand back and give him air."

The spirit of New York journalism of that day, under the strain of the assassination, was shown in this headline: "The Rebels. Jeff. Davis at Danville. His Latest Appeal to His Deluded Followers. He Thinks the Fall of Richmond a Blessing in Disguise, as it Leaves the Rebel Armies Free to Move from Point to Point. He Vainly Promises to Hold Virginia at All Hazards. Lee and His Army Supposed to Be Safe. Breckenridge and Best of Davis Cabinet Reach Danville Safely. The Organ of Gov. Vance of North Carolina Advises the Submission of the Rebels to President Lincoln's Terms, &c." How great was the shock of Lincoln's death, even in the south, can be imagined, for both sides had confidence in him.

ADVERTISING in old papers is always interesting. The New York Herald's back page was devoted entirely to an advertisement for a catarrh of the heart, t. b., tape worms, and other diseases. The advertiser was the German-American Staff of Physicians. . . . Another part of the paper tells how in London war news of the American revolution was in great demand. British sympathies were with the secessionists.

The normal income tax rate is 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the personal exemption, credit for dependents, etc., and 5 per cent on the remainder of such excess amount. The surtax rates—in computing which many taxpayers make mistakes, usually to their own disadvantage—begin on net incomes in excess of $6,000. The rates increase in accordance with the amount of net income included in varying so-called income-tax brackets. On a net income of $6,000 or less there is no surtax. On a net income in excess of $6,000 and not in excess of $10,000 the rate is 1 per cent of such excess. The surtax upon a net income of $10,000 is $40 and upon a net income in excess of $10,000, and not in excess of $12,000, the rate is 2 per cent in addition of such excess. The surtax on a net income of $12,000 is $49.40, and upon a net income in excess of $12,000, in addition 55 per cent of such excess, the maximum rate. Many taxpayers make the error of applying the maximum rate instead of the rate provided for in the bracket in which their net income is included.

Following is an example of how to compute the tax on a net income of $14,500, the taxpayer being single and without dependents:
Net income $14,500
Less personal exemption . . . 1,000
Balance taxable 13,500

4 percent normal tax on first $4,000 160
8 percent normal tax on balance of $9,500 760
Surtax of $140 on $14,000, plus 4 percent on $500 in excess of that amount 160

Total normal tax and surtax 1,080
The earned-income credit allowed individuals under the revenue act of 1928 is entirely omitted from the revenue act of 1932. Therefore, no earned-income credit may be taken for the calendar year 1933. Taxpayers are advised to read carefully the instructions on form 1040 relating to the surtax, as well as all instructions thereon, before preparing their returns.

MICHIGAN'S BANK HOLIDAY YEAR AGO STARTED NEW MONEY POLICY

Michigan last February 14 frightened millions of gold into hoarding, started banks to crumbling and led to President Roosevelt's national holiday for 18,000 banks.
Since that epoch the reconstruction corporation has advanced more than $800,000,000 to help it reopen and has taken in return their preferred notes, capital stock and debentures.
Today, 14,640 banks have returned to full operation.
After the national holiday gold in circulation reached a $1,289,000,000 peak as hoarding quickened.
All money outside the treasury hit a record of $7,538,000,000.
Member balances with federal reserve banks hovered around the legal minimum as compared with today's per billion in excess reserves.
Congress rushed through the emergency banking law authorizing a gold export embargo, forbidding hoarding, creating the office of conservator for closed banks and authorizing the issuance of federal reserve bank notes.

Byrd's Crew Is Occupying New Winter Capital

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Feb. 9—(Delayed) (AP)—(Via Mack Radio)—Little America took on a boom town aspect today.
Heavily-dressed men bustled about. Dogs and sledges hurried in and out with supplies. Hammers pounded and saws sang.
This was the scene as preparations were rushed for winter occupation of this capital of a barren waste.
A new mess hall, radio shack, observation trucks and a library are under construction. Temporarily, the cows brought from the United States were placed in a tent. Their portable barn was converted into a bunkhouse.
Dogs and tractors collaborated in the work of hauling supplies from the east barrier cache a mile and a half to the south.
Admiral Richard E. Byrd was not a part of today's busy picture in camp. He was on the Bear of Oakland, the expedition's supply ship, making a brief exploratory voyage.

HOUSE SOLONS VOTE AGAINST LIQUOR PLAN

DRUG STORE LICENSE ACT REJECTED BY COMMITTEE
AUSTIN, Feb. 14—(AP)—Passage of a bill to legalize sale of whiskey in Texas at this season of the legislature was regarded as a remote possibility today.
The house committee on liquor traffic last night voted, 13 to 9, against a bill to authorize drug stores under state license to sell liquor in unlimited quantities on prescription of registered physicians. Notice of a minority report was given.
Representative T. H. McGregor of Austin, its author, contended it was not in violation of the constitution. McGregor asserted that the Texas prohibition section had been rendered inoperative when the state exercised control of liquor to the federal government.
Atticus Webb, superintendent of the Texas Anti-Saloon League, argued that passage of the bill would be placing the legislative stamp of approval on violation of the law and constitution.
"It would make a saloon of every drug store," Webb said. "It would be degrading to public morals and would increase crime."
Dr. Holman Taylor of Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas Medical Association, opposed the prescription method of sale.
"We have never been proud of the part we played in distribution of alcoholic beverages," Dr. Taylor said. "Pride in our profession will not permit us to subject ourselves to this bill even if demanded by expediency."

LOVE FOR BABY TAKES LIVES OF THREE PERSONS

LOUISE IS FRUSTRATED IN ATTEMPT TO KILL SELF
FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 14—(AP)—With the Larwills it was always one for all, all for one—even to death.
Relatives often commented on the family devotion in the household of Larwill, 565 E. Broad, where his wife, Mary 52, and their daughters, Mary 28, Louise 27, and "the baby," Florence, age nine.
Devoted they were; but that all should die because "the baby" died—Florence had been ill with scarlet fever since November. Monday the doctor came, felt of the feeble pulse and shook his head. The father, mother and two sisters understood. Florence was dying.
Death came for the child early yesterday. The doctor recalled that as he left the Larwill house the two sisters were highly hysterical.
Word of the child's death reached relatives. They went to the Larwill home to pay their respects and to comfort the family. The doors were locked. Even the screen doors, left on through the cold winter, were tightly hooked.
There was no creak on the floor. Police were called and they forced an entrance.
In the front bedroom lay the body of "the baby." The other rooms were still and empty, except for the bathroom. There they found the family—father, mother, and two sisters.
Three of them were dead. One daughter, Louise, was still breathing.
A hissing gas heater and the heavy odor of gas told the tragedy. There was, too, a note. It read:
"In view of the fact that we have nothing more to live for, we die together. Neither one urged the other."
The note was signed by all four—parents and two daughters.
But they did not die together. Fate, destiny or the everlasting gods saw to that. As the unconscious form of Louise slid from a chair it struck a bit of cloth that had been wedged into a crack under the door. The cloth was dislodged. Fresh air poured through the crack directly into the face of the young woman.
They took her—the last of the Larwills—to a hospital and today her condition was critical, but slightly improved.

Ponzi Is Freed From Prison But Is Re-Arrested

BOSTON, Feb. 14—(AP)—Charles Ponzi, whose self-made financial boom of a decade ago landed him behind the doors of the state prison, stepped from the institution today into the waiting arms of immigration officers, who arrested him on a deportation warrant.
The immigration inspectors took the one-time financial wizard to East Boston where he was placed, at least temporarily, in the custody of Miss Mary Ward, immigration commissioner here. It was understood that Ponzi's lawyer had arranged for him to have 90 days of freedom pending the final disposition of the government's efforts to deport him.
As Ponzi finished his sentence as a "common and notorious thief," he delivered himself of a plea for a "new deal" for Charles Ponzi.
"I leave prison in the humble spirit of a man who has much to be forgiven for," said the man whose name, through his swindles, became a part of the language.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—(AP)—Stocks rallied moderately in late trading today following a substantial recovery of cotton and improvement in trading sentiment. The list backed and filled, however, throughout most of the session. The heavy tobacco pared their losses and the alcohol erased most of their declines. The close was fairly firm. Transfers approximated 1,900,000 shares.

Melvin Traylor Stops Breathing For Two Minutes
CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Melvin A. Traylor stopped breathing for 2 minutes early today and only heroic measures by his physicians started his respiration again.
The banker, victim of pneumonia for a month, was very low during the early hours, but again as the morning wore on he rallied.
Traylor still essays a cheerful attitude during his waking hours.
Mrs. C. H. Olney is to be dismissed from Pampa hospital this afternoon.
