Twinkles

We hereby predict a warm spring, so watch out for the snow!

And next summer will be a scorcher. Weather records for the last 100 years are the basis for the prediction. Old Sol will be with you longer every day now.

Education isn't so bad. The youngsters in school are doing quite well. We need some sort of schooling for the adults.

Newest strike threat: Local caddies tell us they may hold out for 75 cents instead of 50 for 18 holes. They assume that better times are here, and more money in golfers' pockets. We hadn't noticed it, but we hope they're right, and lucky.

Sometimes signs fail. An out-of-state motorist who picked up a horse-shoe in his auto tire has a doubtful respect for the wild west.

Brevitorials

Musings of the moment: Understanding ends many an argument. We agreed with the McLean News that placing of "bear grass" at the edge of road paving on curves is not ornamental. Now we learn from the highway department that the idea is to discourage motorists from cutting inside the curve and wearing off the shoulder of the road. . . Oldtimers are not laughing at attempts to make trees gray. When we hit ways. They will be satisfied if one tree out of every 25 planted thrives. . . Where and how are snows made? Do the sun spots and the planets have much to do with it? Can pigmy man have any effect upon the weather? We're asking you. . . Synonyms for rain: Plash, mizzle, drizzle, flurly, downpour, spl.

WE'LL tell you the snows were not over for the winter. Admittedly, we were feeling a bit shaky over our prediction, but we felt all along that it would snow instead of rain when some warm air currents began to circulate through the Rockies. When we smelled the air Saturday and noted the wind drift, we predicted "warm-tr, partly cloudy" when we hit an early Sunday edition and the government forecaster used our identical words. We can prove it. But we're not bragging. Neither is the federal man. Both of us were wrong, or at least pigkers. The Panhandle can take some awful kickings from the weather, but you can almost always depend upon a last minute come-back.

SO let's be happy. Let's watch for the early spring flowers. The See COLUMN, Page 6.

SIGNATURE OF PRESIDENT IS ON NAVY BILL

FURTHER REDUCTIONS IN ARMS PARLEY PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt today proposed further reductions in naval strength in the 1935 disarmament struggle as he signed the bill authorizing construction of the American navy up to existing treaty strength. "It has been and will be the policy of the administration," said Mr. Roosevelt in a memorandum "to favor continued limitation of naval armaments. "It is my personal hope that the naval conference to be held in 1935 will extend all existing limitations and agree to further reductions. "The construction measure contemplated expenditures estimated at $500,000,000 to $750,000,000 over a 7-year period for ships and airplanes. The bill would permit construction

Minister Scores Indifference of Church Members

Paul was pictured as the man who held the Devil's coat while Stephen was stoned, by the Rev. Gaston Poole in the revival at the First Methodist church last night. There are many people in the church who are in the "same boat" that Paul was, because although they make no effort to destroy, they make no effort to prevent the devil from destroying, the pastor said.

The minister, addressing his remarks to members, declared there is too much "professionalism and politics" in the church. He pointed out that it was difficult to differentiate many church members from the so-called sinners. He compared many church members to wax figures who continuously hold a pose and do nothing else. He urged church members to throw off their lethargy, and quit "holding the Devil's coat."

Vehicle License Deadline Arrives Next Saturday

Gray county residents who took advantage of the extension of time in which to buy vehicle licenses are advised that this extension will expire March 31. Persons found driving their cars without license plates after Saturday will be required to pay the fee for the entire year plus a 20 percent penalty. Fractional year fees without penalty may be paid if vehicles have not been used this year.

Reveals 'Plot'

A "brain trust" member revealed to him a plan for a "U. S. Soviet, with Roosevelt supplanted by a Stalin," William A. Wirt, above, noted Gary, Ind., educator, stated in a letter that stirred a storm when read to a House committee in Washington. Wirt declined to give the name of his informant.

NEW ELECTORAL PLAN APPROVED BY ROOSEVELT

Method of Electing President Would Be Changed

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt's approval of a proposed constitutional amendment changing the method of electing a president was placed today before the rules committee.

Representative Jeffers (D., Ala.), chairman of the house elections committee, told the rules committee that he had discussed the Lea-Norris amendment with the president and "I was authorized to say that he thought the principal of the proposition was sound and good and that he would be glad to see this proposition put through at this session of congress."

Under the Lea-Norris resolution, a new constitutional amendment would be submitted to the states for the approval of three-fourths of them within seven years.

It would, first, abolish the electoral college. The 48 states would retain the number of electoral votes they now have.

However, instead of a candidate who got a majority vote in one state receiving the total electoral vote of that state, he would get the same proportion of electoral as popular votes.

For instance, a presidential candidate who gets 75 per cent of the popular vote in a state under present law gets all the electoral votes of that state.

Under the Lea-Norris proposal, the presidential candidate in a state with four electoral votes would get only three, and the other candidate one electoral vote.

The use of such a system in the past, Representative Lea (D., Calif.) told the committee, would have changed the result in at least three presidential elections.

CRUTCHFIELD'S 'CRAZY' ACTS ARE RELATED

DR. BRUNOW DECLARES WHITE DEER MAN IS INSANE

AMARILLO, March 27 (AP)—Former neighbors of Frank Crutchfield testified in his trial for murder today that he beat a stalled tractor with a fence post, ploughed up a road to keep the public from using it, and took a set of tools to bed with him for fear the bed might break down with him.

Crutchfield is charged with slaying Preston Burnam, Amarillo officer. "It is my personal hope that the naval conference to be held in 1935 will extend all existing limitations and agree to further reductions. "The construction measure contemplated expenditures estimated at $500,000,000 to $750,000,000 over a 7-year period for ships and airplanes. The bill would permit construction

J. S. Garrett, who lived near Crutchfield in Deaf Smith county, said Crutchfield hauled two of Garrett's grain binders for four miles and wrecked them in a ditch. He also testified that Crutchfield chased his horses with a car, bumping into them occasionally, and that he shot his milk cows with a rifle.

Pampa residents may sign for the summer lawn rate beginning next Monday. The rate allows use of 7,000 gallons of water, with additional water at 20 cents per thousand gallons.

SIMON REPENTS OF SLAYING IN MISSION DRAMA

Gets Load off Chest And Walks Out Into Rain

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—"Repent!" exhorted the evangelist. Some of the men at the Jerry McCaulley mission on West 42nd street last night shifted uncomfortably in their seats and looked around uneasily. These missions would be completed in a day or so. North side residents may begin using water in excess of their usual consumption in the knowledge that, if they sign for the summer rate by April 20, they will not be charged under the old rate.

Leaders Certain Veto on Vet Bill Will Be Upheld

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt today vetoed the independent offices appropriation bill because it carried increased allowances for war veterans and government workers exceeding his budget by $23,900,000.

"I am compelled to take note of the fact," he said in a message to congress, "that in creating this excess the congress has failed at the same time to provide a similar sum by additional taxation."

"Moreover, to the extent that the amount of money appropriated by the congress is in excess of my budget estimates, and in the absence of provision for additional revenues, there must be a decrease in the funds available for essential relief work."

"It was the first veto of a major piece of legislation by the president and congressional leaders predicted he would be sustained. The house planned to vote immediately on whether to override the veto."

KIWANIANS TO HEAR TRAFFIC SAFETY EVENT

HONOR CERTIFICATE TO BE PRESENTED AT BANQUET

PAMPA Kiwanians, who in their Junior police work have had a big part in local traffic safety, will meet in weekly luncheon tomorrow instead of Friday to hear a traffic safety broadcast sponsored by the National Safety council.

At the same time, there will be a local program in which Pampa will be presented a certificate for having taken second place in the nation for cities of this size. Visitors will be welcomed at the banquet at the Schneider hotel at 12 noon, when city officials will be special guests.

Floyd Gibbons and Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper will be the featured speakers over the big NBC network of 31 stations, tomorrow in connection with the official awards made to winning cities in the second annual traffic safety contest.

The competition, in which more than 300 towns and cities took part during 1933, was sponsored by the National Safety council. A unique feature of the broadcast is the installation of radios in luncheon halls of more than 50 cities where local celebrations are to be held. They comprise the 18 prize winners in six population groups together with the honorable mention list. The talks by Mr. Gibbons and Secretary Roper will be made a part of all these local programs. Formal announcement of the list of cities winning honors will be made over the network by John E. Long, president of the National Safety council.

The participating municipalities were graded first on an actually lowered highway death rate and second on the setting up of administrative machinery and the conduct of educational activities which, according to general experience, are certain to bring about eventual accident savings.

M. Gibbons will discuss "The War on Our Highways" and Secretary Roper will talk on the national aspects of the motor vehicle accident problem.

14 SCOUTS ARE GIVEN RANKINGS AT HONOR MEET

Court Presided Over By Rev. Hyde; Post Talks

REV. A. A. HYDE presided over a Boy Scout court of honor last night, assisted by E. E. Plank of Pampa and John Rickard and E. F. Vandenberg of the Hopkins community.

Rev. Hyde made a short talk emphasizing that it was much better for boys to be in the district courtroom as Scouts than as criminals. President A. G. Post of the Adobe Walls council announced that the local drive for funds was making good progress.

Troop 18 of Hopkins took the first rung on the ladder for attendance of Scouts, parents, and Scouters, followed by W. F. G. Stein's troop 14, Rev. Hyde's troop 15, Ben Guill's troop 80.

Another court of honor will be held April 23. Last night Scouts were advanced as follows: Harold Rickard, troop 18; Robert Lee Banks, troop 3; Lawrence McBeck, troop 15.

With Wolman will serve Nicholas Kelly, representing the industrial side, and Richard Byrd of Pontiac, Michigan, for labor.

REPORTERS ATTACKED BY HOODLUM GANG

REPUBLICAN ELECTION JUDGE SHOT AT, NEGRO DIES

KANSAS CITY, March 27 (AP)—One killing, numerous sluggings and other disorders marked the hotly contested municipal election here today between the powerful democratic organization and the citizens-fusionist ticket.

William Findley, a negro election worker, was shot and killed in a polling place at 1901 West 24th street. He was reported to have been struck by a bullet intended for a republican judge.

Douglas Gregg, another democratic worker, was reported to have been badly beaten. Justin Bowersback, 32, reporter for the Kansas City Star assigned to cover the election, said he had been slugged in the head and six or eight shots had been fired at him and two citizens-fusion workers near a polling place in the first district.

Bowersback said he and Arthur H. Wells, citizens-fusionist candidate for councilman, and Lloyd Cole, a worker for the same party, were following three cars carrying persons they believed to be trouble-makers. The reporter said that the three cars blocked his machine and six or eight shots were fired in the scuffle which followed. Bowersback said one of the men dragged him from his car and hit him with a brick.

Bowersback said he was dazed and attempted to explain he was a newspaper reporter, but the man continued to strike at him. The reporter said he turned and ran around the block, where he was picked up by friends, who drove him hurriedly to the Kansas City Star building.

The reporter said a machine with two men in it followed him to the door of the building.

Air Mail Will Go To Private Companies Soon

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt intends to permit limited bidding by private lines for air mail service and to turn airmail transportation over to them as soon as possible.

He called in officials of the post-office department today to arrange for bids to serve during a temporary period before permanent legislation is enacted.

Methods of restoring the air mail service to private lines were withheld pending a conference called for later today.

Mr. Roosevelt arranged for this action on the eve of his departure from the capital for a ten-day vacation in southern waters.

Meanwhile, opposition to the Sheppard bill to subsidize civil aviation training and equipment development was expressed before the senate commerce committee by the war and navy departments, while the commerce department countered with endorsement of its purpose.

Stock Prices in Sharp Decline

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—Selling slackened and prices recovered moderately in the stock and wheat markets after a sharp selling flurry in early dealings today.

Prices dropped $1 to $4 a share in many issues in the New York Stock Exchange in the heaviest selling experienced in weeks during the first half hour, but at midday prices had regained $1 or so in some issues, and trading was dull.

Wall street was distinctly disappointed by the overnight news of President Roosevelt's decision that the Fletcher-Rayburn bill met the minimum requirements for regulation, for brokers had been hopeful of further modification.

NEW DESK DEPUTY Buford Reed of McLean has arrived to take up his duties as desk deputy in the sheriff's department. He will succeed Floyd Hollenbeck, who has taken more permanent employment here. Mr. Hollenbeck will stay on duty the rest of the week to show Mr. Reed the bookkeeping system.

OBJECTIONABLE SOLICITATION

San Francisco housewives suffered, as do housewives in every city, the annoyance of handbills littering their front porches and lawns. Nothing happened, however, until the city street cleaners grew tired of sweeping up similar litter representing handbills thrust into parked automobiles and thrust out again by annoyed motorists.

It is strange that advertisers should persist as in the San Francisco case in a form of advertising which obviously can not be of great advantage since it aroused the resentment of possible purchasers. The housewife who finds her front porch littered with handbills, or finds them blown into her shrubbery and flower beds, is not likely to feel more kindly toward the advertiser nor more eager to purchase the wares thus brought objectionably to her attention.

Easter Weather Promises Aid to Wind-Swept Mode

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—If Palm Sunday weather is a indication, the Easter parade next Sunday will be really wind-blown, and gusty breezes will be right in tune with the new spring clothes.

This year's parade, which will bring out the new spring clothes on every city's main street, will be streamlined and sailor-hatted, too. And it will be the busiest parade in years.

This probably will be the most widely worn Easter costume. A blue suit of some type, white or pastel accessories. As to flowers—gardenias or violets.

Probably the next most popular garb will be a "redugote" wrap, worn over a printed dress. Cartwheel hats, orchids, bracelet, sleeves and wide pointed lapels also will be seen.

Men will be in the Easter parade, too, but they will be just plain men playing a minor role.

If their silk hats and cigars are poised at a jaunty angle it will be because business is better than at Easter last year.

It will be a more conservative parade than many of the predecessors—for instance, the parade of 1913 when slashed skirts and hats with up-flung "beanstalk" trimmings appeared.

HAUNTING MEMORIES HOUND MAN INTO CONFESSING STRANGE CRIME

HOUSTON, Texas, March 27 (AP)—Driven to desperation by haunting memories of a strange crime in which a drunken man was stripped of his clothing and left to die of cold on a Memphis, Tenn., street, James E. Shipley surrendered to police here and he said, gained mental relief by telling of the tragic deed.

Conscience-stricken dreams which he said disrupted his sleep ever since commission of the crime five years ago drove him into the empty life of a vagabond and finally brought him to the point where he decided he must either commit suicide or tell authorities of what he had done.

NAVY

However, a final decision for construction of most of the ships and planes would be left with the budget bureau. It must approve the actual expenditures.

Ship contracts would go alternately to government and private shipyards. Private builders could not make more than 10 per cent profit on contracts of $10,000 or more.

Mr. Roosevelt has not yet decided how much immediate building will be done. The statement of the president follows:

"Because there is some public misapprehension of fact in relation to the Vinson bill, it is only right that its main provisions should be made wholly clear.

"This is not a law for the construction of a single additional United States warship. The general purpose of the bill is solely a statement by the congress that it provides the building of our navy up to and not beyond the strength in various types of ships authorized, first, by the Washington naval limitation treaty of 1922 and, secondly, by the London naval limitation treaty of 1930.

FAKE NEWSMAN LANDS IN JAIL IN EAST TEXAS

Works Watch Racket On Longview Druggist

LONGVIEW, March 27. (AP)—Tripped up when the managing editor of a Longview newspaper recalled that the Associated Press does not issue credentials to its representatives, a young man who identified himself as a member of the North-Central Texas family was in jail here today charged with swindling.

The young man's trick was to present credentials not of the Associated Press but of an organization with the words "The Associated" as a part of its name and then identify himself as a representative of the Associated Press on assignment.

The faker confessed to Charles Young, assistant district attorney, in the presence of newspaper men, that he had "worked the watch racket" on E. B. Oliver, Longview druggist. He was identified by Mr. Oliver.

Stating to Mr. Oliver that he was an Associated Press man on assignment and had had car trouble and needed enough money to get to Dallas, the young man now under arrest displayed a watch bearing the imprint of a standard watch company and obtaining $8 as a loan, saying he would redeem the watch later.

His confession was, however, that he bought the watches in Dallas for $3.50 each and had been pawned to the Dallas Associated Press bureau. The bureau reportedly has issued warnings that the presentation of credentials purporting to identify the holder as an Associated Press employee is of itself prima facie evidence of intention to defraud because the Associated Press does not issue credentials of any nature whatsoever to any employee.

Labor Troubles Flare Again in Seminole Area

TULSA, March 27. (AP)—The labor controversy which brought the greater Seminole oil area to the brink of a strike flared anew today with announcement of H. L. Phillips, Sinclair Oil company head here, that Sinclair employees would vote "within the next few days" to decide how they want to arbitrate questions that arise.

Phillips said the workers would decide whether they preferred to be represented by chosen employees, an outside union or other agency, or if they want to take up matters directly.

Informed of the projected election in a long distance telephone conversation with Phillips, Lon Code, chairman of the federated committee representing the Seminole union workers, telephoned Dr. Geo. Stokking of the federal labor policy board in Washington.

Dr. Stokking was quoted by Code as saying he would telegraph Phillips that the proposed election would not be recognized by the board since the company had agreed to allow matters to remain as they were pending a resumption of arbitration in Washington April 2.

ROAD TO MEXICO CITY WILL NOT BE FINISHED UNTIL EARLY 1935

MEXICO, D. F., March 27. (AP)—Automobile associations in Mexico and the United States advise Americans not to drive to Mexico "by way of the Laredo-Mexico City highway until New Year."

Regardless of this caution a steadily increasing number of tourists are making the trip over this important but unfinished link in the proposed Pan-American highway.

Notwithstanding there has been but one fatal accident among motorists attempting the passage in the last six months, the road is so dangerous in places that even the most experienced drivers are warned not to try it until construction is finished.

This will be late this year or early in 1935, according to present plans of the Mexican government. A bond of 12,000,000 pesos to supply funds for the work was recently put on the market and the contract let to a Monterey company.

Work was begun early in March and between 1,500 and 2,500 men now are laboring to make the curving, climbing road through the mountains in the states of San Luis Potosi and Hidalgo ready for the stream of traffic expected to start this fall.

Roosevelt Will Leave Tonight On Yacht Trip

WASHINGTON, March 27. (AP)—President Roosevelt plans to mix a little vacation with pleasure on the vacation fishing trip upon which he departs tonight.

It became apparent today that several bulging brief cases of official business will be hauled out before the trip to southern waters ends.

Several aides have been invited to hop aboard Vincent Astor's yacht, the Mourmahal, before it touches at Miami's little more than a week hence.

Eugene S. Johnson, industrial administrator, stood first upon the list of those invited to call off the coast of Florida during the cruise. He probably will accept.

Mr. Roosevelt will leave tonight by train for Jacksonville, Florida, where tomorrow morning he boards the Astor yacht. The Mourmahal is equipped with radio that will keep the president in touch with affairs. Marvin H. McIntyre, a secretary, is establishing a news contact base at Miami. Only old "cronies" will be aboard the Mourmahal at the start, including those who made the trip a year ago with him—George St. George, Frederic J. MESQUITE AND CONLEN TEAMS ARE DEFEATED

MISSISSIPPI SEXTET BEATS PANHANDLE CHAMPIONS

WICHITA, Kan., March 27 (AP)—Even without the fame that preceded them to the Women's National A. A. U. basketball tournament, the Durant Cardinals would have had little trouble convincing the other teams that they are the defending champions.

Not satisfied with one victory, the championship sextet played another team in the first round to help the tournament committee pare the second round down to an even sixteen teams.

The two games were merely practice sessions for the Cardinals. They whipped St. Teresa, Kansas City, 61 to 7, and swamped the Winnsboro, Texas, entry, 39 to 4.

Only two upsets marked first round competition. Mesquite, Texas, a favorite, was eliminated by the Sewells of Topeka, Kan., 44 to 37. Dale, Okla., ousted the strong Kansas City All-Stars, 32 to 26. Lambuth college, Jackson, Miss., defeated Conlen, Texas, 42-34.

(This is the second of a series dealing with outstanding three-year-olds of the turf.)

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—The east, with its usual array of candidates for three-year-old honors, presents Singing Wood, Cavalcade and Chicstraw as the horses to beat in the Kentucky derby and the prearkness. Each is quoted at 15 to 1 in the future books.

As earnings go, Singing Wood, a son of the imported Royal Mintrel from Mrs. John Hay Whitney's stable, rates at the top—even above the flashy western filly, Mata Hari, the derby choice.

The big colt won only three races in time as a juvenile but one was the turf's richest race, the Belmont Futurity, and his total earnings for the year were $88,050.

Singing Wood tailed off near the end of the season but has done everything asked of him in early training this spring. Despite reports to the contrary, Big Jim Healy, the colt's trainer, says Singing Wood is being pointed for both the derby and the prearkness.

HILL AND ROB ROY ARE HELPED FROM RING AFTER BATTLE

The days of Jack Rose, Tex Watkins, Joe Kopecky, Jack Purdin, and other maulers of the old school were brought back to Pampa last night when Don Hill, Hollywood sheriff, gave Rob Roy, pride of Goodnight, a beating at the Pla-Mor auditorium. The Hollywood wonder proved to the Scotchman that it doesn't pay to get rough with a mauler of his caliber.

Referee Oscar Dotson won a couple of falls himself. At one time he had both wrestlers to face but he came out unscathed and kept fair order. Hill, instead of retaliating with the same kind of medicine handed him, sometimes gave Roy such punishment in straight holds that the Scotchman was almost ready to wrestle according to the rules.

The bout started fast with Roy the aggressor, working Hill into a bad arm hold from which he slammed him twice. Hill got a double hold but the Scotchman came out and slammed Hill five times. The Hollywood mauler came back with a pin wheel which almost kayoed Roy. The Scotchman came up with fist

ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES, DANCE PLANNED FOR EXES THIS WEEK

Exes God-Father, C. O. Busby, Has Arranged Basketball, Football, Baseball Games.

An athletic home-coming for ex-Harvesters, now at college or recently out of college, is being planned for this week-end. Although all plans have not been completed, it is expected to start the activities Friday afternoon with a baseball game.

On Friday night, a series of basketball games will probably be played in the high school gymnasium. Then on Saturday afternoon the "Exes" will scrimmage the Harvester prospects at Harvester park. A dance is being planned for Saturday night.

C. O. Busby, sponsor of the Exes activities, is trying to arrange a double-header baseball game for Sunday afternoon at the Hoover Diamond where a celebration is to be held.

Pampans interested in assisting in welcoming the former Harvesters should get in touch with Mr. Busby at the Harvester Drug Store. Busby has done a great deal for graduates and has by no means finished his work. He sponsors a baseball team for students and graduates every summer and for two years has assembled the "Exes" to scrimmage the Harvesters. He is in touch with the boys who go to college and keeps them in touch with their home town.

Among the ex-Harvesters expected home for the Easter holidays are Joe and Bob Kahn, Troy Stalls, and Jim Pool of Tulsa University; Clorly Green and Paul Hill of Texas Christian University; Siler Faulkner of Southern Methodist University; Robert Woodward from Baylor University; Elton Trenary from Texas Tech; Hoot Pullington from Texas Military College; Lloyd Moore, Ralph Poe, H. L. Ledrick, Don Duncan, and Bill Priddy from West Texas Teachers College; Wayne Kelley from Amarillo College; Tom Braly from Oklahoma University; Clinton and Allen Evans from Texas University; Tom Clayton from Trinity University; and Park Brunley from Arkansas University.

Glider type boats for passenger service on rivers have been invented in Germany that are driven by aerial propellers at speeds that rival express trains.

BRAVES STILL MINUS NEEDED BATTING PUNCH

OUTFIT SUBSTANTIALLY SAME AS LAST SEASON

(Note: This is the eleventh of a series of stories dealing with the 1934 prospects of major league baseball clubs.)

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Still minus the batting punch they have been seeking for years, the Boston Braves will enter the 1934 National league pennant race with substantially the same club which gave the Giants a hassle last season until September, finally wound up in fourth place and broke its own league record for defensive skill.

It is an old baseball custom to treat the Braves somewhat lightly in pre-season pennant calculations, only to discover later that they are as tough to beat as any club in the league. The three principal reasons for this are (1) the possession of a first-class pitching corps, headed by Ben Canfield and Ed Brandt; (2) rare steadiness in the field, which led to a new high mark of .978 for the club last season; and (3) the sagacity of Manager Bill McKechnie, who rarely "pops off" but has the happy faculty of getting as much out of his material as any pilot in either league.

The Braves, after a gallant fight, dropped back and finished nine games behind the Giants last year, chiefly because of the lack of another experienced starting pitcher and enough batting punch for the stretch drive. McKechnie now hopes he has the answer to both problems in the prospective return to form of Bob Brown, sensational young right-hander, who did not even start a game last year because of a sore shoulder, and the comeback of Bob Worthington, outfielder who hit .303 for the full 1932 season but appeared in only 17 games in 1933.

"These two fellows can supply the balance we need to show improvement in the league race," says McKechnie. "If he can come through to help Canfield, Brandt, Frankhouse and Betts—who combined to win 65 games for us last year—we will have no pitching worries."

Even if Worthington picks up where he left off with the big stick, the Braves will have to hustle to offset the advantages other clubs will collect from banging the liverball through the infield defense. McKechnie had only two consistent hitters last year, Wally Berger, his all-star centerfielder who batted .313 and Randy Moore, right-fielder, with .302. Outfielder Hal Lee and third baseman Pinky Whitney, obtained from the Phillies at considerable expense, failed to meet expectations offensively.

Improvement by all of these players will be necessary to keep the Braves' pitching staff from losing most of the close decisions. The burly backstop, Frank Hogan, can strengthen both the offense and defense by reducing his waistline.

McKechnie is badly in need of reserve strength for his steady but light-hitting infield combination of Baxter Jordan at first, the petulant Rabbit Maranville on second, Bill Urbanski at short and Whitney on third. Dick Gyselman, the lanky youngster bought from the coast league two years ago, has been tried at second base.

Al Spohrer will spell the portly Hogan behind the bat, Rupert Thompson has the edge on Joe Mowry for outfield utility work, while Leo Bangum, Bob Smith, Tom Zachary and Steve Swenonic will complete the pitching staff.

POLICE LAY HANDS ON NEGRO EXTORTIONER BUT HE ESCAPES

MARK HANNA'S NEPHEW GETS KIDNAP NOTE

SUSPECT WIGGLES OUT OFFICERS' GRASP IN 'PLANT'

By CECIL M. JONES
THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 27 (AP)—Police searched today for a negro who attempted to extort $10,000 from Howard M. Hanna, nephew of the late Mark Hanna, and then slipped out of a trap set for him after officers literally had their hands on him.

Hanna, prominent Cleveland financier, had reported the threats to police, and when instructions for the payment of the money were received, armed officers surrounded the rendezvous last night. Hanna's chauffeur, driving his car, tossed a dummy package into the bushes by the side of the road.

A negro scurried out of the bushes and seized the package. Police rushed upon him from all sides, but the negro shook them off and disappeared into the darkness under a rain of shots.

A short time later members of the posse picked up a negro whom some of the party believed to be the one who had peeked up the package. He, too, escaped under fire from police guns.

"The first extortion note was written March 29 and named a rendezvous which police ambushed at the appointed hour. All they got for their trouble was a warning in a second note, received Saturday, that the plotters had discovered the trap and that they didn't want to 'kill' to get their money. Hanna was told 'we'll get you' if the second rendezvous were not kept.

Hanna is chairman of the board of the M. A. Hanna company of Cleveland and a director of the Union Trust company of Cleveland, the National Biscuit company, the Products Steamship company and the Eastern Coal Dock company.

Judith Lane

SYNOPSIS: Morton Lampere is poised to launch his attack against Big Tom Bevins' will and against Judith Dale, who has been left the Bevins millions to complete Big Tom's dam on the Rio Diablo. The catch is that Norman Dale, Judith's husband, is Lampere's law partner, and friend of Big Tom's widow and his treacherous daughter Mathie. But Judith stands firm behind the promise made Big Tom when she was his trusted secretary.

Chapter 18
TOM BEVINS SPEAKS

Judith stood up. She had removed the small hat and the befruffled jacket, and with it some of her girlishness. In the plain cream blouse, her hair drawn smoothly back in a coil, she looked more the efficient secretary they had seen at previous board meetings.

"Before going into this, Mr. Chairman, I wish to ask one favor. Will you please look upon me as secretary to the late Mr. Bevins, not as the wife of a member of your legal department?"

"At the time I received the order from Mr. Bevins pertaining to the dam and to be executed in case of his death, I was not married. I went to his physician, Doctor Kenneth Kelly, to learn the seriousness of his condition."

"Doctor Kelly assured me that Mr. Bevins had every chance to live to be a hundred, if he took a reasonable amount of care of his health. Because of this assurance, I went on with my marriage, which I had sincerely hoped would not be thrown from its normal course by my return to business."

"She sat down, conscious that several stockholders were looking at her with great respect. Then Morton Lampere began to talk and her attention was literally riveted to his message.

"As everyone present knows, our dearly beloved colleague, so recently departed, left five million dollars with this little lady." He paused impressively. "He also left her the controlling interest in the Bevins Construction Company." Another pause.

Judith controlled an impulse to demand why she had not been called into the closed meeting if she held this property.

"Prior to his departure from this world, the old gentleman had begun the development of the hobby of his life, the building of the Rio Diablo Dam. During the survey, word came to him that his was making a vital mistake, that due to certain phases of the river bed it was not advisable to follow the natural bed but start an artificial channel through virgin land."

"Bevins refused to listen to reason and as a result we, the stockholders, may suffer complete loss of our investment."

"In an effort to avert this calamity, we the remaining members of the board, ask you, Mrs. Dale, to relinquish your claim on the money left for the purpose of erecting the dam, that we may carry on this work in a safe and sane manner, and in accordance with the advice of our finest engineers."

"You needn't," Judith was standing, eyes bright. "You may have it now!"

"Don't be hasty," warned Morton Lampere.

"Hasty"—Judith's voice was low, controlled. "Mr. Lampere, the decision was made for me by Mr. Bevins on the night of August 25th. He foresaw all of this. He even knew that you would be the one to lead the insurrection."

"Mr. Lampere, under no condition will I resign!"

Judith sat down, trembling with emotion, but with her mind alert. She saw Mathie whisper to Norman, but Norman did not seem to hear. His face was haggard and Judith cried in her secret heart for the pain she was causing him.

"You have made that final, Mrs. Dale," observed Lampere with satisfaction. "Now kindly accept the unanimous resignation of your board and the withdrawal of your stockholders."

"The resignations and the withdrawal are accepted," agreed Judith, and turned to the men who were watching her with different expressions. "May I ask what you wish to do with your stock?"

"I'd like to get my money while the gettin's good," remarked one man.

"If you will make an appointment with my secretary, I will attend to that," interposed Judge Morgan.

"And now, gentlemen," said Judge Morgan, "I would like to read a message to you from this man whom you admitted and respected during his life—"

"I protest," Lampere was on his feet. "This, this is entirely out of order."

Those present voted unanimously to hear the message, and Judith felt a quick glance at Norman, turned to the judge who stood waiting for attention.

"My friends: There has come to me, suddenly and unexpectedly, knowledge that some of you are working to undermine my plans, due to your desire to exploit the Rio Diablo land for selfish purposes. I am warned by my physician that I haven't time to wait and prove your loyalty and so I am reposing all of my faith in the girl who has worked at my side the past four years, Judith Lane, daughter of my former partner and life-long friend, Emil Lane.

"Miss Lane has in the past carried out my plans with such precision of detail, that I feel no hesitancy in leaving my orders for the construction of the dam in her hands. She is qualified to act as a

Editor Missing After Brawley Labor Troubles

BRAWLEY, Calif., March 27 (AP)—Ellis Jones, former Columbus, Ohio, newspaper editor, was reported missing today following a threatened recurrence of labor troubles in the Imperial valley.

His disappearance was reported by Ernest Bessig, Los Angeles lawyer, representing the American Civil Liberties Union. Bessig said he and Jones were threatened by a group of farmers when they arrived at Calexico yesterday to attend a labor meeting. Jones was to have presided at the meeting.

Bessig fled to the protection of the jail at Calexico.

Alexander Irvine, lecturer and former clergyman, sought similar protection here after telling authorities he had been abducted a short distance from the city and beaten. He said his niece, Laura Hardin, who was riding with him, was kidnapped, but later released at El Centro.

The two were en route to the Calexico meeting, where Irvine was scheduled to speak.

Labor troubles in the valley recently led to the organization of the Imperial Valley Anti-Communism association.

'LOVE THIEF' CLAPPED INTO CHICAGO JAIL

MRS. BLACKLIDGE FAILS TO PAY JUDGMENT TO 'COP'S' WIFE

CHICAGO, March 27 (AP)—Mrs. Marie Tanner Blackledge was a star boarder at the county jail today, with her bill paid a week in advance.

She was the "guest" of Mrs. Suzanne Nottingham, a policeman's wife, who had her clapped into jail last night for failing to pay a $7,500 judgment. Mrs. Nottingham won the judgment in a suit in which she charged Mrs. Blackledge with stealing the love of the policeman.

Mrs. Blackledge, former collector of internal revenue, was arrested by four deputies while limping away from a South Side apartment.

Deputy Sheriff Bert Meyerling said that Mrs. Nottingham's husband, Norman, was with Mrs. Blackledge when she was seized.

"Mrs. Blackledge," he said, "seemed to have a sprained ankle and Nottingham was helping her along."

The jury which awarded the wife the judgment found that Mrs. Blackledge "maliciously" stole Nottingham's affections, so now it is possible for Mrs. Nottingham to keep her rival in jail six months by paying her weekly board bill of $3.50 unless an appeal is filed. Mrs. Nottingham has paid $3.50 in advance.

Ninth hour after she was locked up, Nottingham went back to work, driving a police patrol. He had previously indicated unwillingness to accept a list of ten commandments listed by his wife, who said she'd let the "whole matter drop" if Nottingham would agree.

She demanded, among other things, that the policeman "give up all women but me" and come straight home from work, bringing his paycheck with him.

Nottingham denounced the arrest as an "outrage." He then called up his wife on the telephone and said: "I hope you're satisfied."

Friends United In Grave by Odd Cremation Pact

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., March 27 (AP)—Two men are united in death here today by the bonds of a strange covenant.

A dozen years ago, Jacob Los, well-to-do California realtor and at that time an elderly man, met Albert Coffman, young Santa Ana war veteran, when both were confined in the same hospital.

The acquaintance developed into an affectionate friendship, and after the two were discharged they never parted. Coffman went to live with the older man in Santa Ana, helping him manage his business. Los always referred to Coffman as "my son."

Three years ago Los died, and thereafter Coffman carried with him wherever he went a small black satchel. He never would tell anyone why he carried it or what it contained.

Coffman died last week in Council Bluffs while attending a reunion of his wartime company. A sister, going through his effects, came upon the familiar satchel. She opened it, and found an urn containing Los' ashes, with a note written by him attached to it. The note revealed that Coffman had promised always to keep the ashes until he would be lived. It further asked whoever took charge of Coffman's burial when he came to die see that the urn be buried with him.

The wish was granted.

Talks to Parents

EXPLOITING THE CHILD
By Brooke Peters Church.

"Now Amy, I want you to play your new piece for Mrs. Jones."

Sometimes Amy would perform very nicely. At others she would either refuse to play at all or only after much persuasion.

The advisability of asking a child to play for people is in any event questionable. If it helps the child to gain confidence it has a certain value, but only to the child. For the listeners, unless they are interested members of the family, it is generally a very doubtful pleasure, and often causes them embarrassment when they are asked afterwards to express their appreciation.

Certainly a child should never be urged to play if it shows the refusal is merely a bid for attention, and the more persuasion that is used, the greater the child's success in taking the center of the stage and increasing his feeling of self-importance.

The child who recites or plays or dances before an audience should understand that the whole object of his performance is not to display virtuosity, but to give pleasure. His attention should be directed upwards towards his listeners, and not inwards towards himself.

It is always a pleasure to see a child rise with ease and graciousness, give his little contribution toward the entertainment, and then retire to his place again, with no effort to do either more or less than is asked of him.

No matter how indifferent his performance, his manner discards criticism and leaves a pleasant impression. But the child who comes forward with the manner of one conferring a favor, or the arch expression of self-consciousness, or who refuses to do anything without urging, or insists on playing an encore when none was demanded, is always a parlor nuisance.

A locomotive to be driven at a speed of 125 miles an hour by air compressed to a pressure of 400 pounds to the square inch has been designed by an Atlanta man.

"DODGING TRAFFIC TAKES HEALTHY NERVES, TOO, MR. HOCKEY PLAYER."

Miss Ruth Dodd of New York City speaks with authority on the perils of a pedestrian. She says:

"Of course it takes healthy nerves to lead a championship hockey team. But let me say a word about healthy nerves in behalf of those millions of us who do our walking along city streets. People rushing madly by—trolley's clanging—traffic whistles shrilling—huge trucks bearing down on you at every crossing—it's enough to make nerves jump and quiver! I enjoy a smoke any time—and smoke steadily, too. My cigarette? Camels. They're milder, taste, marvelously—and don't interfere with healthy nerves."

Captain "Bill" Cook of the New York Rangers, 1933 Champion Hockey Team, says: "A hockey player can't afford to have 'nerves.' The way I guard my nerves and yet smoke all I want is to smoke only Camels. They have a taste that sure hits the spot. I smoke a lot and I find that Camels never get on my nerves or tire my taste."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Few are those today who have not been face to face with the "jangled nerves" that our modern, high-speed life is blamed for.

You know the signs of nerves that pinch—tense—irritability. Fussy little habits like key-rattling—pencil-tapping.

Check up now on your habits. Eating. Sleeping. Your work and play. And get a fresh slant on smoking by starting on Camels.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.

You'll find Camels rich in flavor—yet mild and delicate. Smoking will have a new zest. And each Camel renews the enjoyment—the pleasure of smoking at its best!

Texas Misses to Model Frocks at Cotton Pageant

COLLEGE STATION, March 27.—More than fifty young women of Texas representing various cities and higher educational institutions of the state, will display the latest fashions in cotton costumes ranging from simple to evening wear, at the third annual cotton ball and pageant at the Texas A. & M. college, the evening of April 6.

Miss Will Anne Staudte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Staudte of Fort Worth, will wear a gown and a blouse, A. & M. college senior of Dallas, will be king of the affair, Miss Staudte is a senior at the Texas State College for Women, Denison, and was selected as the A. & M. cotton queen by the student body of her college.

This affair, designed to emphasize the role of cotton, will be the formal prelude to the third annual A. & M. college cotton contest for junior and senior students taking one or more courses in cotton. Cotton king and queen, will reign over the festivities incident to the ball and pageant.

Initiated in 1932 by J. S. McLeod, associate professor of agronomy in charge of cotton production at the college, the A. & M. college cotton contest has become a permanent phase of the college's program in instruction and research in cotton. The contest has as its purpose the encouragement of specialized study of cotton by agricultural students in order that specially trained young men may be added to the ranks of the industry.

LEAGUE NOW SEEKS TO PREVENT WILD ARMS RACE AMONG NATIONS

GENEVA, March 27.—The League of Nations, realizing that the reduction of armaments is a lost cause, intends to concentrate on the next best thing: an agreement to limit the armaments of nations to their present level and prevent a wild armaments race.

Arthur Henderson, president of the disarmament conference, expects to call the steering committee into session April 10. It was considered possible that the committee will recommend a general conference of interested powers or, at least, a neutral commission to study the disarmament question.

Los Angeles, March 27.—Chicago's Cubs are going to gamble on Chuck Klein, national league batting champion of 1933, and a bunch of promising rookies for the added impetus they believe will carry them to the top in the 1934 pennant race.

Determined youth has been injected into the club in every department and Manager Charles Grimm feels confident their prowess has improved the club both defensively and offensively. "In my years of baseball experience," said the general manager, "I have never seen a pitcher with a finer change of pace."

sap can now rise in the trees. Young men's fancies can flower in the proverbial fashion. Next Sunday is Easter. Let us be gay. Let's blossom out in new bonnets; let's celebrate the resurrection of our faith in the Pathandler. It was a glorious snow. Whether we had a thousand acres of wheat, or not a single plant, we can be happy.

OUR course, all is not as rosy as it might be. A big wheat crop means a lower price for our desperate scheme of things. The situation downward was immediate. We'll have to work for our money, instead of asking Uncle Sam for it.

WE look forward to blossom time. The plains have an abundance of wild flowers when there is a "season" in the ground. Wild plums and grapes abound in the sand hills. There is nothing wrong with the soil, which is deep and fertile.

PRESIDENT WRITES HE WANTS STOCK BILL PASSED QUICKLY

SAYS MEASURES OUGHT NOT TO BE WEAKENED

FOES PLANNING HIGHLY ORGANIZED DRIVE AGAINST IT

WASHINGTON, March 27. (AP)—The chances for quick passage of the stock market control bill...

The president served notice last night he would fight to have the Fletcher-Rayburn measure passed speedily.

The chief executive in letters to Senator Fletcher and Rep. Rayburn, asserted that the measure as it now stands should not be "weakened," and added:

"It has come to my attention that a more definite and more highly organized drive is being made against effective legislation to this end than against similar recommendations made by me during the past year."

Senator Fletcher and Rep. Rayburn, chairman of the committee handling the bill, at once hastened plans to report practically identical measures into both chambers before the week is out.

Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, was promised time by Chairman Fletcher to submit a list of proposed amendments.

Mr. Roosevelt stated he had looked the bill over and did not "see how any of us could afford to have it weakened in any shape, manner or form."

"I am certain that the country as a whole," he said, "will not be satisfied with legislation unless it has teeth in it."

"First, the requirement of what is known as margins so high that speculation, even as it exists today, will be necessary be drastic curtailed; and

"Second, that the government be given such definite powers of supervision over exchanges that the government itself will be able to correct abuses which may arise in the future."

He added he felt the present measure satisfied the "minimum requirements."
