OFFICE SEEKERS are notoriously fussy. It is not wholly to their discredit, however, that they find it necessary to speak in general terms. A plain statement is apt to be a very misunderstood statement by the time it is read by persons of widely varying viewpoints. The English language is not an exact language. American thinking is often warped by preconceived notions. So don't be surprised when some gubernatorial candidate tells you in a pompous style and in a voice heavy with exaggerated zeal that "the purpose of our state government is to make possible the establishment of such achievements and activities as will make the return of prosperity widespread and which Japanese immigration and social justice and economic security in every portion of our great and glorious Lone Star state."

Hey, fellows, if you are not afraid to think, Dr. J. L. Duffol talk to the Young Democratic club next Monday evening at the city hall. He may jar your complacency, but if he does you can cross-question him after he closes his speech. He will criticize the new deal, pro and con, as you have not heard it discussed.

GOOD GOVERNMENT, primarily, rests with the people and should be most evident in the work of the senators and representatives. A good legislature and a well-meaning governor make up about the best combination possible in a democracy.

So Mrs. Ferguson has called the Texas legislature into "extraordinary session" has she? Well, all Ferguson legislative sessions are apt to be extraordinary.

We note that Farmer Jim will lend folks $150 toward payment of their poll taxes. And it's just too bad for us that he said that after we had paid ours.

Office seekers are nice, courteous, helpful, optimistic, aidal, cooperative, and collaborative. Who said politics was all bad!

The Lubbock Avalanche says there is nothing wrong or immoral about chewing gum. Right, and if a whole assembly could do it in perfect rhythm, it might be art, who knows? It is the out-of-stepness that worries us.

Mdivanis, Parted At Reno, Reunite On Japanese Ship

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Prince and Princess Mdivanis, parted January 7 at Reno—by California process servers, not by the usual Reno method—were reunited on the Japanese liner Tatsuta Maru today.

Thus, a separation beginning with the threat of a California subpoena and maintained on a trans-Pacific voyage and which Japanese immigration authorities Wednesday threatened to extend further, ended on the 19th day.

Charge Tammany Caused 'Worst Prison' Scandal

FRENCH HIT IN TAXING POWER AWARDED FOR

FOREIGN PERSONS AND FIRMS COULD BE HEAVILY TAXED

W. R. Barrett will leave Pampa hospital for his home at Phillips this afternoon.

WARDEN JUMPED WHEN HIGHER UP CALLED

Forty Cooks Strike When 'Dope' Is Cut Off

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—The existence of a direct link between Tammany Hall and the "world's worst prison" where gangsters lorded it over 1,700 lesser prisoners living in misery, was charged today.

Harry M. Shulman, prison expert and author of a detailed report on conditions at the Welfare Island penitentiary, declared that whenever a certain Tammany leader telephoned the prison, the warden would jump up as if shot from a catapult and rush into a telephone booth.

"Will you say who that leader was?" Shulman was asked.

"I will give the name if Commissioner Austin H. McCormick asks me for it," he said.

MacCormick, Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia's new commissioner of corrections, led the raid on the prison which uncovered conditions that shocked the city.

Meanwhile, as MacCormick strove to restore discipline, seven men of a force of 40 employees in the prison bakery went on strike because of the sudden cutting off of their narcotics supply.

Clown Provides Tragedy in Play On Circus Life

HE, the one who gets slapped, dominates the play of that title, which will be produced next Thursday and Friday nights by the Little Theater. This major role will be interpreted by Reg Farless, a newcomer to the Pampa stage but an experienced actor in the Dallas Little Theater.

HE, in the play, is a man of high education, of great intellectual achievement, who leaves life, willingly in appearance, but forcibly in fact. HE becomes a clown. HE performs stunts, he gets slapped, he public laughs, being unaware that this laughter is a mockery itself, at its culture, as its thought, at its achievement.

The characters of the play are depicted with a better sarcasm and unkindness. The characters, Consul, Zinda, Bezano are only stray rays of light out of places in the world, even in the world of champagne and human outcasts. It is a story of a circus family—Consul, Louella Wade) sold by her debauched father, Count Mancini (John Ketter) to a human spider Baron Regnard (Neal Bean), Consul and Bezano (Charles Morrison) live each other. In the end the Baron shoots himself. HE poisons himself and Consul.

E. O. Van Winkle of Borger was a Pampa visitor last night.

WALTER D. CLINE of Wichita Falls, president of the West Texas chamber of commerce and one of the most prominent speakers in the state, has been invited to address the annual chamber of commerce banquet here Feb. 13.

TOUHY SNEERS WHEN POINTED OUT IN COURT

OTHER 4 DEFENDANTS SLOUCH DOWN AND GAZE AT FLOOR

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—John Factor today identified Roger Touhy and two co-defendants as the men who kidnaped him for ransom last July.

His face trembling, Factor three times stepped down from the witness stand, walked dramatically across the courtroom and pointed out Gustav (Gloomy Gus) Schafer, Albert (Polly Nose) Kator, and finally Touhy.

The four defendants slouched down in their chairs, and all except Touhy gazed at the floor. Touhy looked squarely back into Factor's face with a sneer.

Factor said Touhy was the man who stood before him, partly shielding himself with a blanket and commanded him to write a letter to be used in making ransom negotiations.

Factor came to court under his usual heavy guard. He has been safeguarded in a loop hotel since his abduction, in a 15th floor suite looking out on two corridors, with "speakeasy" glass, allowing only one way vision, in the doors. Police guarded it from a second suite across the hall, the door of their suits ways open.

At times Factor appeared to be near a breakdown, as he told of the cruelty of his captors.

He said he sat up all of his first night in captivity and slept the next night in a vermin infested bed. During all of his abduction period he never took off his shoes and could do but little walking now because of infection in his feet.

Tulsan To Speak At A. P. I. Meeting

PRODUCER PAYS PROCESSING TAX PACKER OPINES

Wilson Testifies On Jones Cattle Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The house agriculture committee was told frankly today by Thomas Wilson, Chicago packer, that the "big part" of the processing tax on livestock was having to be paid by the producer.

On hearings on the Jones bill to add cattle to the list of basic commodities and open the way for possible levying of cattle a processing tax, he contended it was impossible for the packer to bear the tax or to pass it all on the consumer.

Referring to complaints from livestock producers against their having to carry the processing taxes on hogs, the packer said "I think it is hardly the proper way for the producer to look at it."

"It is the duty of the AAA," he added, "to refund to the producer virtually all of the amount involved through the corn-hog program."

"Unfortunately, the producer figures it is a special dividend from the government that ought to be added to the price he gets for his hogs."

He said hog and cattlemen, also, were unwilling to feed 45 cent corn, but locked it up and tried to liquidate in their livestock.

Wilson told the committee that after the 50 per cent increase comes in the hog processing tax next month, raising it to $2.25 a hundred on top weights, it would mean 4.8 cents a pound more on the price of pork loins for instance, an increase of almost 50 per cent.

DILLINGER SAYS HE WILL FIGHT EXTRADITION TO INDIANA, OHIO

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 26 (AP)—John Dillinger, midwest gang chief, and three henchmen, Harry Pierpont, Russell Clark and Charles Mackley, were held under $100,000 bond each on fugitive charges by Justice of the Peace C. V. Budlong today.

Dillinger refused to answer to the name or arise as Justice Budlong called the roll of prisoners. "Officer," directed Budlong, "stand the man up!"

Dillinger was yanked to his feet, shouting "No! I ain't Dillinger!"

The gang chief, talking through the bars of his cell, requested newspapermen to ask the "best lawyer in Tucson" to get in touch with him immediately, prepared to "frame up" something to keep him and his gang members in Arizona.

Resignation Of Cabinet Is Near

Minister of Justice Quits French Cabinet Because Of Pawshop Scandal.

PARIS, Jan. 26 (AP)—The resignation of the entire French cabinet was reported imminent in the lobby of the chamber of deputies today after Eugene Raynaud, minister of justice, quit the government because of the Bayonne pawshop scandal.

Premier Camille Chautemps was quoted by the socialist delegation in the chamber as saying he would go to the Elysee palace of President Lebrun tonight to resign.

Hessey Outlines School Progress - Asks Re-Election

County Supt. J. B. Hessey today cited his record in announcing his candidacy for re-election.

Mr. Hessey gave the following facts concerning himself:

I am 36 years of age and have been a resident of Gray county for 27 years. I have worked with the rural schools in Gray county for 13 years; 7 years as a teacher in the rural schools and six years as County Superintendent. I have had four years teaching experience in rural schools in other parts of the state of Texas.

In order that you might be fully advised and acquainted with the work that I have accomplished for you and your children for the last six years, I want to call your attention to the following major achievements that I have been able, through the cooperation of patrons, children and teachers of Gray county, to accomplish.

Six years ago there was not a brick school building in the rural schools of Gray county; now there are six new modern brick buildings and two new frame buildings that our community would be proud to claim. We also now have four new modern teachers. Six years ago most of the schools of Gray county were operating only six months and not a one was operating full nine months; this year every rural school in Gray county will have the privilege of a nine-month term.

To date, our system has not an out-standing warrant. Every school under my supervision has paid its teachers the amount due them and has met its other obligations, and this year we are operating on cash basis for a nine-month term in each school. In the time that we have just passed through, tax collections generally have been very poor. I consider this an outstanding achievement in comparison with our neighboring counties and the entire state, where teachers' warrants are being discounted at a great reduction and holders are unable to cash some of them.

Every school in Gray county is a standard rural school. This means that these schools have been inspected and passed on by the State Department of Education as being of a class of the highest ranking of rural schools in the State of Texas. This is another of our outstanding achievements.

As to equipment, our schools are equipped for efficiency equal to the best rural schools within the state. I endorse equal educational opportunities for every child in Gray county. I endorse a 12-year education.

BACKSTAGE IN WASHINGTON

By GILMORE N. NUNN, Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—"Political showmanship!" Boy what a phrase! If it weren't for that, and all it implies, however, the visitors in the galleries would have a pretty dull time of it while sojourning in the nation's capitol.

When we're back home toasting our toes in front of the old outside we read about Mr. Gilmore N. Nunn, 50-and-so, Senator from Kentucky, and his republican opponent, from Vermont engaging in a spectacular argument on the floor of the senate.

Mr. Nunn, who already has introduced up there in Washington on the scene of things. — Then some day we do get up here, and the first thing we do is make a dash for the hill, hoping to see and hear some of this oratorical warfare!

Nine times out of ten we sit for hours at a time—maybe days, at a time—waiting for one of these verbal bombshells to explode. When it does, well and good—it is probably worth having waited for, but it just ain't right to make people who are rushing for time sit around two and three days at a time to see one senator jump down another's throat—or maybe miss such a scene entirely.

I firmly believe I could be elected at senator-at-large (?) from any state in the union if I promise passage of a bill calling for the usual soap-box setto every hour in our legislative chambers. Boy, would I get the constituents on that sort of a platform.

SURPLUSES OF WHEAT COTTON MAY BE TAXED

COMPULSORY CONTROL ADVOCATED BY ALABAMANS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The senate voted today to give the secretary of treasury sole jurisdiction over the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund proposed in the administration monetary bill, rejecting an amendment to place a board of five in charge of the currency operations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt was said by Alabama members of congress today to be ready for a switch to compulsory control of cotton production through a prohibitive tax on surpluses.

The president was said to have made his decision when told that the voluntary acreage reduction plan threatened to break down.

Senator John Bankhead (D, Ala.), who already has introduced a measure to provide rigid control, said senators and representatives from the middle west were studying the possibilities of applying the same plan to wheat.

The senator and his brother, Representative Bankhead (D, Ala.), called at the White House yesterday and told President Roosevelt that intensive cultivation and non-cooperating farmers would defeat the voluntary acreage reduction program to regulate the cotton market and raise returns to farmers.

Encouraged by the talk with the president, the brothers laid plans to press for immediate action on compulsory control legislation which would affect this year's cotton crop.

Meanwhile, Secretary Wallace continued preparation of a questionnaire which will be sent to 32,000 farmers in every county of the cotton belt to determine their attitude on baleage rather than acreage control. Wallace has stated he will support the legislation if the southern farmers show they want it.

Enrollment In CWA School Is Gaining Daily

Enrollment in the CWA school, in which classes will start Monday, had reached 50 yesterday and will continue from 4 to 8 p. m. today in the high school entrance hall.

A general meeting of all students is announced for 8 p. m. Monday in the high school building, when announcements will be made concerning classes and schedules. Five experienced teachers will be in charge of the school.

Subjects will range from the elements of reading, writing and arithmetic to advanced and technical subjects. Class schedules will be arranged from 4 to 9 p. m. Enrollment is open to everyone.

While the school is a relief project in the sense that unemployed teachers are to be given work, it is by no means limited as to students, Superintendent R. B. Fisher, supervisor, emphasizes.

Representative citizens of the city are enrolling, many for such courses as languages, and sciences in which new developments have made their training of several years ago obsolete.

Road Committees Outline Program

A committee representing the highway committees of the Board of City Development and the Junior chamber of commerce will meet with W. J. Van London, district state highway engineer, in Amarillo tomorrow relative to some road work in Gray county. The two committees met yesterday afternoon in the city hall and tentatively outlined a road program for 1934.

B. C. D. highway chairman and Harry E. Hoar is chairman of the Jaycees committee. The Pampa delegation will leave at 8:30 in the morning and meet with Mr. Van London at 10 o'clock.

I HEARD

Gene Shackleton remarking, "well, we've had our rain for 1934" as this morning's sprinkle ended.

THE WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy to night and Saturday; warmer in north portion tonight.

The gang chief, talking through the bars of his cell, requested newspapermen to ask the "best lawyer in Tucson" to get in touch with him immediately, prepared to "frame up" something to keep him and his gang members in Arizona.

"Aw, I ain't saying nothing," Dillinger replied.

"I wonder," he said, "how long we could stay in this state by fighting extradition."

"Do you think you'll stay very long in jail?" a reporter asked him.

"Well," he replied, "unhappily, it looks that way right now, but you never can tell about those things. We're in now, though, and that's what matters."

"I got nothing to say," the mob leader first replied, when asked to comment on his capture, but his interest brightened when he was told "folks back in Chicago are wondering how you happened to get caught in Arizona."

"Aw, it was just one of those things," he said. "I don't know just exactly how or why."

"I left my place about 9 o'clock and started over to see Clark a-while. When I got there I wasn't sure which house it was."

"Trigger man," arrested with Dillinger, Russell Clark, and Charles Mackley, interposed.

"Be careful, Dill, what you're saying," Pierpont was listening from his cell some distance away.

"Aw, I ain't saying nothing," Dillinger replied.

"I wonder," he said, "how long we could stay in this state by fighting extradition."

"Do you think you'll stay very long in jail?" a reporter asked him.

"Well," he replied, "unhappily, it looks that way right now, but you never can tell about those things. We're in now, though, and that's what matters."

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

International Sunday School Lesson for January 28.
General Topic: Standards of the Kingdom.
Scripture Lesson: Matt. 5:1-12, 43-48.

1. And seeing the multitudes, he went up into the mountain; and when he had sat down, his disciples came unto him:

2. And he opened his mouth and taught them, saying,
3. Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
4. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

5. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.
6. Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.

7. Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.
8. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

9. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called sons of God.
10. Blessed are they that have been persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

11. Blessed are ye when men shall reproach you, and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.

12. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven, for so persecuted they the prophets that were before you.

43. Ye have heard that it was said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy:

44. But I say unto you, love your enemies, and pray for them that persecute you:

45. That ye may be sons of your Father who is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sendeth rain on the just and the unjust.

46. For if ye love them that love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same?

47. And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even the Gentiles the same?

48. Ye therefore shall be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.
Golden Text: Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.—Matt. 5:8.

Time: Midsummer of A. D. 28, the second year of Christ's ministry.
Place: The Horns of Hattin, a hill west of the Sea of Galilee.

Parallel Passages: "Sermons on the Plains," Luke 6:20-49.

Introduction.
"The Sermon on the Mount is the moral law of the kingdom of Christ; or in other words it occupies in the New Testament the place which in the Old Testament is occupied by the Ten Commandments."—Bishop Charles Gore. This great discourse occupies three chapters of Matthew, and we are to study the chapters on three successive Sunday.

Augustine first gave it the name of "The Sermon on the Mount." Genung called it "The Magna Charta of the Kingdom of God."

Dykes named it "The Manifesto of the King." Jesus may well have delivered the entire discourse at this time, and the portions of it at other times. Every sermon worth preaching once is worth preaching often and in many forms. The Sermon on the Mount is logically constructed and forms as it stands a unified and powerful discourse.

"Cheserton says somewhere that on the first reading of the Sermon on the Mount you feel that it turns everything upside down, but the second time you read it you discover that it turns everything right-side up." The main moral content in the word "Christlike" must be the Sermon on the Mount.—E. Stanley Jones, in "The Christ on the Mount."

Mount of the Beatitudes.
The traditional "Mount of the Beatitudes" is Kurn Hattin, or "Horns of Hattin," a two-peaked hill about sixty feet high near the center of the west coast of the Sea of Galilee, two or three miles from the sea and seven miles southwest of Capernaum. Between the two peaks is a level place large enough for a considerable audience, Luke's "plain." We are to think of Jesus as going up on a slight eminence to one side, and from that pulpit addressing the throng. Luke 6:12 tells us that Christ had spent the preceding night in solitary prayer, doubtless that he might be divinely led in the selection of his twelve disciples, which immediately preceded the Sermon on the Mount. The sermon was addressed particularly to the Twelve, and then to all the assembly.

"Blessed Are They That Mourn." Every one shrinks from sorrow at first, and needs to learn its blessedness in the school of Christ. "It is not only a great Christian truth, but it is a practical, common-sense truth that sorrow is necessary for the making of character, Luke's 'perfecting of life.'—Rev. T. Arthur Bailey. "For they shall be comforted." "Comfort" is from two Latin words, "fortis," strong, and "con," together, "made strong together." The Christian comfort means the strength that comes from fellowship with Christ. "The promise in the first Beatitude involves coming to Christ; that in the second Beatitude involves abiding in Christ."—Rev. Howard Agnew Johnston, D. C. "Hunger and Thirst After Righteousness."

"Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." This Beatitude "shows us a man ravenous with hunger, parched and panting for food and drink, then we are among the blessed of the Lord."—Principal W. B. Sebie. "Always pursuing, yet always attaining; always hungry, yet always fed; always thirsting, yet always satisfied."—Rev. Frederick P. Shannon, D. D. "To hunger and thirst after a thing is to feel that you need it, you desire it, you must have it. That is the 'I want' of life. But if we are to be happy, and if life is to be satisfied, Jesus tells us that we must hunger and thirst after righteousness. Desire and duty must blend. Blessed are they in whose heart the two voices say the same thing."—Rev. Percy C. Ainsworth.

"Blessed Are the Merciful." "Christ did not mean that a man was to be merciful for the sake of obtaining mercy from God, but that if he were merciful, he would, as a necessary result, obtain mercy. Mercy is the reward of mercy. Those who give mercy become more and more merciful. "Serene and happy lives the men who have learned to the well of his friends and of the world he lives in, who is not looking for faults or delighting in the mistakes or offenses of his fellows, whose mind instinctively takes a generous tenderness which make life gracious and beautiful. The source of happiness to others, that man is happy himself."—Rev. R. H. Fisher, D. D.

"The Peacemakers . . . Sons of God." "Blessed are the Peacemakers: for they shall be called sons of God." Let us remember how the "herald angels" at Bethlehem sang of "peace on earth." These sons of God "were not, it must be noticed, the Peace-lovers or the Peace-Talkers; they were the Peace-Makers, the constructive agents of tranquility, the efficient contributors to security, the mediators of peace. The Peace-Makers are not merely peaceable; they are committed to a continuous and creative task."—Prof. Francis C. Peabody. "The Order of the Sons of God! Some of the titles which people invent for themselves are very high-sounding, but they are not necessarily true. But if God calls us sons, we may be sure that it is neither fancy nor flattery, but that there is good reason for it. That reason is that those who are so called really live like himself."—Rev. Will Beason.

Reproaches "For Christ's Sake." "Reproaches are no blessing, of course, unless they are spoken falsely; and persecution in itself brings no beatitude, but only when it is incurred in the service of Christ. "This is the key-phrase which looks up the whole list of Beatitudes: 'For Christ's sake.' It is this that transmutes poverty of spirit into heavenly humility, that brings comfort to the mourning, and glorious riches to the meek, and plenty to those that hunger and thirst after righteousness. It is this that has been the spring of mercy in the heart of peace in the peacemakers, and it is this and this only that makes it a glory to endure the scoffs and revilings and persecutions of men."—Prof. Benjamin B. Warfield. "Ye Are the Light of the World." Having set before his hearers a portrait of the Christian, our Lord bade them not to conceal it, but to illustrate it before all men, not for their own glory, but for God's. They are to be "the light of the world" but a light lit from above. It is probable that men's best work is that which they know least about; their unconscious influence.

At the Perfection. "Ye therefore shall be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect." "The Authorized Version had the imperative, 'Be ye perfect'; but this is the future (compare Mat. 1:21), with the force of command. The absolute perfection of God is not attainable, but love which is perfect relatively to man's capacity and condition—is."—Prof. W. F. Slater. "In these hopeful words of the Master we hear sounded the keynote of that harmonious anthem which shall usher in the dawn of the second creation. The end of this royal law is man's perfection, completeness and entirety."

Miss Louise Ballard is to be dismissed from Pampa hospital today. Miss Norma Jean White visited in Miami yesterday.

Mrs. V. R. Gehr left this week for New York, Chicago, and other eastern cities to buy merchandise for her Violet shop. She will be gone about three weeks.

"Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." This Beatitude "shows us a man ravenous with hunger, parched and panting for food and drink, then we are among the blessed of the Lord."—Principal W. B. Sebie. "Always pursuing, yet always attaining; always hungry, yet always fed; always thirsting, yet always satisfied."—Rev. Frederick P. Shannon, D. D. "The Authorized Version had the imperative, 'Be ye perfect'; but this is the future (compare Mat. 1:21), with the force of command. The absolute perfection of God is not attainable, but love which is perfect relatively to man's capacity and condition—is."—Prof. W. F. Slater. "In these hopeful words of the Master we hear sounded the keynote of that harmonious anthem which shall usher in the dawn of the second creation. The end of this royal law is man's perfection, completeness and entirety."

Miss Louise Ballard is to be dismissed from Pampa hospital today. Miss Norma Jean White visited in Miami yesterday.

Mrs. V. R. Gehr left this week for New York, Chicago, and other eastern cities to buy merchandise for her Violet shop. She will be gone about three weeks.

"Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." This Beatitude "shows us a man ravenous with hunger, parched and panting for food and drink, then we are among the blessed of the Lord."—Principal W. B. Sebie. "Always pursuing, yet always attaining; always hungry, yet always fed; always thirsting, yet always satisfied."—Rev. Frederick P. Shannon, D. D. "To hunger and thirst after a thing is to feel that you need it, you desire it, you must have it. That is the 'I want' of life. But if we are to be happy, and if life is to be satisfied, Jesus tells us that we must hunger and thirst after righteousness. Desire and duty must blend. Blessed are they in whose heart the two voices say the same thing."—Rev. Percy C. Ainsworth.

"Blessed Are the Merciful." "Christ did not mean that a man was to be merciful for the sake of obtaining mercy from God, but that if he were merciful, he would, as a necessary result, obtain mercy. Mercy is the reward of mercy. Those who give mercy become more and more merciful. "Serene and happy lives the men who have learned to the well of his friends and of the world he lives in, who is not looking for faults or delighting in the mistakes or offenses of his fellows, whose mind instinctively takes a generous tenderness which make life gracious and beautiful. The source of happiness to others, that man is happy himself."—Rev. R. H. Fisher, D. D.

"The Peacemakers . . . Sons of God." "Blessed are the Peacemakers: for they shall be called sons of God." Let us remember how the "herald angels" at Bethlehem sang of "peace on earth." These sons of God "were not, it must be noticed, the Peace-lovers or the Peace-Talkers; they were the Peace-Makers, the constructive agents of tranquility, the efficient contributors to security, the mediators of peace. The Peace-Makers are not merely peaceable; they are committed to a continuous and creative task."—Prof. Francis C. Peabody. "The Order of the Sons of God! Some of the titles which people invent for themselves are very high-sounding, but they are not necessarily true. But if God calls us sons, we may be sure that it is neither fancy nor flattery, but that there is good reason for it. That reason is that those who are so called really live like himself."—Rev. Will Beason.

Reproaches "For Christ's Sake." "Reproaches are no blessing, of course, unless they are spoken falsely; and persecution in itself brings no beatitude, but only when it is incurred in the service of Christ. "This is the key-phrase which looks up the whole list of Beatitudes: 'For Christ's sake.' It is this that transmutes poverty of spirit into heavenly humility, that brings comfort to the mourning, and glorious riches to the meek, and plenty to those that hunger and thirst after righteousness. It is this that has been the spring of mercy in the heart of peace in the peacemakers, and it is this and this only that makes it a glory to endure the scoffs and revilings and persecutions of men."—Prof. Benjamin B. Warfield. "Ye Are the Light of the World." Having set before his hearers a portrait of the Christian, our Lord bade them not to conceal it, but to illustrate it before all men, not for their own glory, but for God's. They are to be "the light of the world" but a light lit from above. It is probable that men's best work is that which they know least about; their unconscious influence.

At the Perfection. "Ye therefore shall be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect." "The Authorized Version had the imperative, 'Be ye perfect'; but this is the future (compare Mat. 1:21), with the force of command. The absolute perfection of God is not attainable, but love which is perfect relatively to man's capacity and condition—is."—Prof. W. F. Slater. CULLUM MOTOR COMPANY IS SHOWING NEW PLYMOUTH—A BIG, BETTER, FASTER CAR

The new Plymouth for 1934 which created such a sensation at the New York automobile show is on display here for the first time at Cullum Motor Company. The new cars climax a rise in popularity during which Plymouth sales have more than doubled in just the past year.

Introducing radical new improvements and smart new styling to the low price field, the cars are the Plymouth six and the new De Luxe Plymouth. The De Luxe model has all of the improvement of its lower priced companion car, plus additional De Luxe features.

They have a new type of individual front wheel springing with coil springs of a new alloy steel declared to be practically unbreakable under prolonged tests; more powerful 77 horsepower motors with floating power engines mounted; smart new bodies of low, rakish design; new interiors with luxurious trim, and many style and mechanical advantages. The new Plymouth six and the new De Luxe Plymouth retain all of their basic Chrysler Motors engineering features, including hydraulic, self-equalizing brakes and new safety-steel bodies, reinforced with steel.

The new Plymouth six is offered in four attractive body styles—the business coupe at $495; the two-door sedan at $535; the rumble seat coupe at $545, and the four-door sedan at $585. Wheelbase is 108 inches. Overall length is 180 inches.

The new De Luxe Plymouth six is announced in five smart body styles—the business coupe at $575; the two-door sedan at $595; the rumble seat coupe at $615, the four-door sedan at $650, and the convertible coupe at $690. Wheelbase is 114 inches. Overall length is 180 inches.

Performance of the new Plymouth six surpasses anything previously offered by this company. Last year's car with an engine developing 70 horsepower had a top speed well in excess of 70 miles per hour. The new Plymouth sixes have an engine which develops 77 horsepower with the standard head and 82 horsepower with the special 6.5 to one compression ratio aluminum head using standard fuel.

The more powerful engine has a bore and stroke of 3 1/8-4 3/8, giving a piston displacement of 201.3 cubic inches, as compared with less than 190 cubic inches last year. The higher torque curve is flat over most of the operating range, which means that pulling power has been materially improved at low as well as at high speeds.

INDIAN WHIPS WILD MAN IN EVERY ROUND

JOE VERNON AND BUCK ROBINSON STEAL FIGHT SHOW

Winning every round of the 10-stanza fight last night at the Plamor auditorium, Chief Eugene Parris of Oklahoma City made Pete Regal, Borger wild man, look like a tame kitten. The wild-swinging Regal failed to connect with a clean blow during the 10 rounds, while the Indian pounded him at will and talked to him in several languages in an effort to make the Mexican fight.

The fight that stole the show was the opening six-rounder between Joe Vernon of Pampa and Cowboy Buck Robinson of Oklahoma City. Vernon won every round, but Robinson's ability to take anything and everything dished out by Vernon, made him popular with the crowd. Vernon landed often and hard but Robinson always came back for more and handed the Pampa man some stiff jolts.

Earl Madden of Spearman won a shady decision from Kid Stamper, local boy. Madden entered the ring the heavy favorite but Stamper put up his best fight since moving to Pampa and nearly earned a draw with the Spearman jumping bean. Blows landed were about even but Madden had more steam behind his punches.

Little Kid Granite of Oklahoma City took one round and 20 seconds to win the opener from Kid Young of Amarillo, substituting for Kid Karr, who was unable to come to Pampa because of a beating handed him in Oklahoma earlier in the week. Granite had Young on the floor at the bell and finished the bout with a two-fisted attack early in the second round. Young went down from a blow to the chin.

Regal lost the few backbones he had in Pampa by his exhibition in the main event. He refused to fight even when Parris gave him an opening. The Indian kept gloves in Regal's face during the entire fight and the Borger wild man was unable to get one of his famous hooks off the floor. The Indian started the first round by slapping Regal around the ring.

Every time Regal would duck in preparation to swinging, he found one of the Indian's gloves in his face. He changed tactics and commenced swinging with a right but the same thing happened—Parris' fist was in his eyes. When Regal tried to stand up the Indian used a straight left or right that just couldn't be deflected.

It was rumored after the fight that Parris was considering moving to Pampa to make his home.

Other Amarilloans, mainly Lions, who were present were Fletcher Upshaw, Guy R. Fuller, E. D. Lamb, and E. A. Simpson. W. A. Bratton was the local program chairman.

Other visitors included M. K. Brown, G. P. Buckler, D. J. Gribbon, Phillip Pond, W. A. Myers, and Frank Hill.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Serial by HERBERT JENSEN

SYNOPSIS: Frank Graham, the explorer, with the help of his pal Spin Winslow, stunt aviator, has rescued Janice Kent, the movie star, from a gang of abductors. They believe to have been led by a man named Ortega. Janice disagrees with them. The day Frank learns that his aviator friend Bill Langton may yet be alive in the Mexican jungle Janice answers his proposal of marriage with a slap. He leaves her, and Janice hysterically tries to reach him.

Chapter 15 LANGTON GOT WINSLOW ON THE WIRE

Finally Janice got Winslow on the wire. "Spin," she said breathlessly. "It's about Frank. He was here and—"

"You mauled him plenty. He came to see me?" Winslow's voice was remote, faintly accusing. "Frank's a swell guy. He's not like you. He can't take it... yet. You shouldn't have—"

"Oh, Spin, I know! I know! I've tried to get him on the phone, but he's out or won't answer. I don't know what to do. I think I'm in love—I like him very much. I—"

She heard Winslow's disgusted snort. He said in an even voice that was dimly bitter. "You don't know how you feel. You haven't got a legitimate emotion; with you it comes in cans. It's your mess. I hope you love him. I hope somehow he marries you. And then I hope he'll beat hell out of you!"

She heard the receiver slam. Tears sprang to her eyes. She threw herself on the chaise longue and sobbed. It was two o'clock in the morning when she made her last call. There was no answer.

In complete exhaustion she fell asleep at last upon the chaise longue. Her final impression was the shadow of her guard who patrolled the lawn—the employer's insurance that his star would not be molested.

Frank had walked aimlessly away from Janice Kent's house with no particular destination in mind. He was sorely hurt and bewildered. All that old basic cynicism that had been before he knew Janice—knew in his attitude toward women—had returned in full effect. Until this moment the relation of the sexes had seemed very simple and uncomplicated. Women had certain outstanding characteristics: love of home and of children; they were gentle and dependent. One asked the girl he loved to marry him, and she accepted or declined; that was all.

He knew he loved Janice; he believed that she returned this emotion at least in part. The test had failed; to him there was no recourse.

His walk brought him near Spin Winslow's place. He saw the stunt-flyer for a brief interval. At first he made no reference to Janice. He simply told his friend that he was going away. He was going to prove about on his own account to see if he could discover what had really happened to Bill Langton.

But Spin was not deceived. "If at first you don't succeed," he said quizzically, "take another slap on the snoot. You get used—"

Frank's face flushed a dull red. He could not prevent the unconscious jerking of his hand toward his cheek.

The flyer whistled softly. "Sorry old man," he said gently. "Didn't mean—I'm a clumsy fool."

It didn't matter, Frank told him in a dull voice. He'd just asked Janice to marry him and she had refused him.

"I can tell you I'm going away, Spin. I can't stick it out. Yellow, maybe; but I can't work on the set with her for months—seeing her, talking with her, thinking about her—"

He took up his hat and walked to the door. "So long, Spin. Explain to Myberg I'm called south. Happy landings."

Later he found himself walking deserted streets. He was unconscious of time. In the froth of his memory were dim, hazy, mental scenes of warm-washed beaches spotted with lavender shadows of leaning coco-palms. Finally he went to his apartment.

It was very late. He lay down on his bed without troubling to undress. He would wait for daylight. Closing his eyes he hoped to conjure up thoughts of salt on his lips, and that he sailed over warm seas into tropic dusk.

But Janice's face smiled at him. She was in his arms. He caught the fragrance of her hair; he tasted the faintness of her lips.

With a smothered curse he sat upright.

He packed his trunk and his bag. The sun was an hour over the horizon when he phoned for a taxi. By ten he was installed in a Pullman compartment of the train that in the ticket office had told him made the best connection at Laredo for Vera Cruz.

By his side was a sheaf of newspapers, most of which contained press despatches of transcripts from the Hydrographic Bulletin, published at Washington, D. C. The transcript was what later became known to the world as the famous Langton Bottle Paper.

Bottles containing data to aid in the determination of and to add to the knowledge of current drifts were thrown overboard and recovered as follows:

First position not given. Recovered on January 2, 193— at center of sand bank East Triangle, off the coast of Yucatan, Mexico, in (approximately) lat. 20 degrees 35 minutes West, long. 92 degrees 13 minutes West. Paper in bad condition from sea water. Fragments believed to be in the handwriting of William Langton.

The writing (said the papers) had been definitely established as Langton's. Upon further examination of the document the belief was expressed that the pigment used in the writing was human blood. This fact was to be confirmed by laboratory analysis.

The bottle itself—an ordinary "pop" bottle—seemed to indicate to some that the paper was a hoax—a tragic hoax, if true.

However it was pointed out that the bottle and the beverage it contained was largely exported, particularly into South American countries, and that it would not have been unusual for Langton to have taken a supply with him when he began that ill-fated flight. Further, handwriting experts denied any possibility of a hoax.

The paper itself was a torn-open cablegram envelope. No address appeared on the reverse side. Langton may have carried a supply with him on the plane.

The message—what could be deciphered—was meager. The first portion was fairly legible; it told that bearings had been lost about a hundred miles south of Belize in British Honduras. It referred to the hurricane and his attempt to make Belize for a landing.

The legibility faded swiftly here. The word "native" was made out. And startlingly vivid, almost as if the emotion of the writer had been concentrated in those four words was the fragment, "I die tomorrow morning."

Since the general theory appeared to be that Langton had gone down at sea; since it was concluded that the message had been written with a splinter and blood from a wound, this was interpreted to mean that Langton had hoped that some native craft would pick him up, and that by estimating the rate at which his wreckage was sinking he would die by "tomorrow morning."

Frank Graham put down the paper he was reading and gazed out at the countryside flashing by. To him that interpretation made nonsense. No one in the middle of a storm lashed ocean, hanging on to what was left of an aeroplane could possibly figure with any accuracy a rate of sinking, even had that person—assumed to be wounded and desperate—thought of it in the first place.

"He recalled his own theory: that Langton had gone down in the jungle back of the coast. It was puzzling, he admitted to himself; that the drift bottle had been picked out of the sea beyond the north coast of Yucatan; yet supposing that it had floated around from the east coast, Langton could not possibly have set the bottle adrift down some interior point since that coast had no rivers!

Still, maps of that coast were known to be inaccurate. The country was little explored. Perhaps there was a river of two topographers had missed—if a topographer had ever been there. Frank thought not.

"Once in the smoking room of a "banana boat" enroute to Havana, Frank had talked with an unusually tanned young man with a military manner. Later, remembering the incident, he suspected that the young man traveled in an official capacity of some sort—probably a Navy gun-shoer, or to be more exact, a Department of Justice operative.

"This gentleman whose eyes looked tired behind their bleached eyelashes had said something about Quintana Roo—about natives who perched in tree-forks above the trails, with their throwing sticks ready, and whose only agreeable trait was patience.

He said that he knew of only one white man who had been through that particular strip, that lies between Merida, the capital of Yucatan, and Puerto Morelos on the coast opposite the island of Cozumel.

THE POWERS and influence of Texas governors are greatly exaggerated. The opportunity for a governor to conceive and execute a great personally-devised program is strictly limited. But his capacity to do harm through vetoes, unfortunate appointments, and encouragement of factionalism is great. We have not yet given our governors dictatorial powers. And few legislators have seen fit to make themselves subservient to wishes of the chief executive of the state.

"He and a party of his business associates from over the district will be in later this afternoon," said one man. "They asked me for tickets to the gallery, and said they wanted to sit where they could hear me. Lord knows, Bill, I haven't anything to talk about today. You've got to help me out!"

"Are they influential enough to mean all that to you, John?" asked the other. "You know under ordinary circumstances I'd help you in a minute, but with all the folks back home backing the president so, I even hate to challenge an unimportant measure for fear they'll misunderstand me!"

"Yes, they are that influential," Bill, pleaded the first gentleman. "Just leave it to me. I'll bring up an unimportant question, you challenge me, then when I get through pouring it in on you, just keep your seat, and I'll switch the subject. It will mean a lot to me with those men."

"Okay, John," the second man replied. "I may want you to do as much for me sometime," he laughed, and they both walked out, arm in arm, talking things over most sincerely!

Like the barking dog with the wagging tail, it's hard to know which end to believe,—reports that come direct from the field of action, or reports as they are presented by the congressmen after going through the "committee" and "diplomatic" machinery. And if you've worked your last cross-word puzzle, try to figure out which report I meant belonged at one end!

An increased reader capacity of about 60 per cent has been reported at the library of congress. No wonder they're placing such as "Diamond Dick," "Arabian Nights," and the "Decameron" on accessible shelves!

If they want to increase their woman patrons they should put a few copies of "True Love," or "Romantic Revels" or whatever it is they seem to be going so strong for these days. Or else, let Buddy Rogers sit in a glass case at certain periods during the day. He's playing here in the city and for the past three mornings (he's been here three days) there has been a solid line for over half a block at the theater where he's appearing. Ninety-nine per cent of them are women!

It is unfortunate that the people cannot see the antics of the representatives while reading columns of the doings of the governor. For it is very unlikely that Texas will soon put its affairs in the hands of a dictator governor and a rubber stamp legislature.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Specialists held the spotlight in today's rather ragged stock market and a number recorded substantial gains.

The so-called leaders, however, were a little unsettled and most of these dipped moderately under further realizing. There was a brief last hour rally, but recoveries failed to hold. The close was easy. Transfers approximated 2,300,000 shares.

WORLD'S LOWEST PRICED CAR WITH INDIVIDUAL WHEEL SPRINGING

COME SEE...

The Only Low-priced Car with Individual Wheel Springing plus... Floating Power..Safety-Steel Body..

Hydraulic Brakes

YOU'VE SEEN TWO of the leading low-priced cars. Now see the only low-priced car with Individual Wheel Springing—PLUS the three other features that are vital to real car value today!

Plymouth is the world's lowest-priced car with Individual Springing. It's on all models—even the lowest-priced.

And note this: Plymouth's Individual Wheel Springing is the strongest and simplest type known. In principle, it's exactly like the kind used on much higher-priced cars!

And you pay no price penalty to get it!

But Plymouth gives you more than one feature to insure smooth, easy riding. Every Plymouth has patented Floating Power engine mountings to end engine vibration.

These mountings are more than just rubber

EXTRA VALUE FEATURES YOU CANNOT FIND IN ANY OTHER LOW-PRICED CAR

1. Rigid-X Box Section frame. Heavily one frame within another.
2. T-Slot Pistons. They're built in a better fit between piston and cylinder.
3. Four Rings per Piston. The extra ring prevents power loss.
4. Engine Oil Filter. For better lubrication.
5. All-Silent Transmission. Silent, easy shifting in low, second, high and reverse.
6. Four Main Crankshaft Bearings. Instead of the usual three.
7. Independent Hand Brake. An extra braking system, operating independently of the foot brakes.
8. Thirty Frictionless Bearings. Plymouth has more ball and roller bearings than any other low-priced car.

They suspend the motor in balance—it absorbs its own vibration.

You can rest and relax—because with these two big features, Plymouth gives you the smoothest ride in the low-price field.

It's the Safest Low-priced Car

Everyone wants to be safe—so look at Plymouth's brakes—and Plymouth's safety-steel body. Every Plymouth has a Safety-Steel body—built of steel reinforced with steel—then welded into one permanent piece.

That means real protection. It means no joints to rot, pull loose or squeak. It means longer life with less need for "service" because of body troubles.

And the brakes are all-hydraulic. No bolts, rods, cotter pins. Sure, smooth, equal action on all four wheels at all times—because hydraulic brakes are automatically self-equalizing.

Plymouth is the only low-priced car that gives you all of these important features. In fact—no other low-priced car offers you more than one of them. Ask any Dodge, DeSoto

New Ruling Makes Labels Accurate

To protect the buying public, the United States Food and Drug Administration has advised that every package of cereal labeled "Bran" state on the label exactly what it contains.

Before this ruling, even bran products were sometimes mistakenly referred to as "Bran." It was not easy for the purchaser to distinguish between a cereal that was entirely bran, or all bran with flavoring, and another that was mostly wheat.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is labeled "ALL-BRAN: Deliciously Flavored with Malt, Sugar and Salt," a statement which describes the product fairly and honestly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has won millions of friends because it corrects most types of common constipation safely and pleasantly. It furnishes generous "bulk"—needed to promote normal elimination.

However, ALL-BRAN is not a "sure-all." Certain types of intestinal disorders should be treated only on a physician's advice.

When you buy a bran cereal, for the relief of constipation, read the wording on the package. The facts are there! Make sure by asking for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It furnishes "bulk" in a form for satisfactory results.

P. T. A. Study Club
The first lesson of the Parent-Teacher study course, which was recently completed by the Merten P. T. A. study club, was reviewed by Mrs. J. B. Townsend, former president of Pampa Parent-Teacher council, yesterday when the Merten group met with Mrs. Charles O'Conner.

Members present were Mesdames H. B. Knapp, T. L. Thussman, W. A. Neal, W. N. Ruwwe, R. L. Carter, John Brandon, B. W. Bettis. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bettis.

Room Filled to Hear Recital by Costumed Singers

Costumes of various countries worn by pupils who sang appropriate numbers, added effectiveness to a recital last evening. The Pampa conservatory presented pupils of Mrs. Philip Wolfe, teacher of singing, at the city club room.

A crowd that filled the room heard the program, which opened with solos by Miss Hazel Yorkley of Canadian, Miss Frances Finley, and Mrs. Era Smith.

Miss Doris Price sang Irish numbers, Miss Dorothy Harris Japanese songs, Miss Dorothy Dodd Indian songs, and Jimmie Baldwin Gypsy songs.

Mrs. J. W. Garman, in her group of Italian songs, included an aria from Puccini's opera, La Boheme, sung in Italian. Mrs. Earl Thomason also used another language, Spanish, in singing Estrellita.

A trio, Misses Dodd, Price, and Marie Tinsley, sang a Chinese number. Cowboy songs were sung by David Whittenberg.

Coach T. H. McDonald made a change in his Harvesterette lineup during the week and his team stepped much improvement last night. Feltner, former guard, was changed to the center position. Her ability to work the ball into scoring position was largely responsible for the good showing. She made four points and guarded well. Minnie Neal was the high scorer on the floor with 15 points. Daisy Ann Shields added five points and Kentling accounted for the other scoring.

The guarding of De Ann Heiskell was outstanding. She had the hard task of guarding Oleta Back, McLean star, who scored 24 points against LeFors last week, and was successful in keeping the McLean flash from looping more than 12 points. Traywick, Gray, and O'Keefe also played guard positions. The team showed better combination and fight.

Back was the chief McLean scorer. "Findley" added four points and Graham made the other two counts. Young, Swafford and Back were guards.

Both McLean teams will come to Pampa next week to wind up the conference season.

LUBBOCK FIVE TO PLAY HERE THIS EVENING

PLAINVIEW QUINTET TO PLAY IN PAMPA ON SATURDAY NIGHT

A scrapping bunch of Tigers representing McLean high school gave Coach Odus Mitchell and his Harvesters their biggest scare of the season last night when it took an overtime period for the Pampa team to win, 26 to 22. The game, played in McLean, was the second conference game for the Harvesters and their second victory.

The Harvesters also sent their percentage up another notch by downing the fast McLean sextet 26 to 16 in a wild game of great shooting and wonderful guarding by both teams.

Pampa basketball fans will see two fast games in the high school gymnasium tonight and tomorrow night. The Lubbock Westerners will be here tonight and the Plainview Bulldogs will follow tomorrow.

Midget games will start at 7 o'clock, and fans will be well paid to arrive in time to see the little fellows play basketball.

Coach Odus Mitchell's Harvesters have been showing marked improvement with their new combination and, after their hard grind in McLean, should be able to give the visitors some stiff competition.

The Harvesters and Tigers were tied with 22 points at the close of the regular period. Soon after the overtime period got under way, Marbaugh tipped one to Green who shot it to Woodward, who made two points. Green then put the Harvesters out of danger by making two free throws.

Courtley and Dow of McLean nearly ruined the Harvester chances of staying in the lead in the conference race. The two Tiger forwards looped points from all angles, ending up with four field goals and two free throws each for high scoring honors of both teams. Carter and Christian each made a free throw. The guards fed the two forwards the ball with uncanny precision and their work was so effective that Dunaway left the game on personal fouls before the half.

Green made two field goals and four free throws, and Marbaugh dropped three field goals and two free throws to tie with eight points each. Monroe Owens had his eye on the basket to make four free throws. Heiskell scored two field goals and Woodward made a nice field goal.

The score was tied at the half with both teams having 10 points. The Harvesters started the early rally in the last half, but the Tiger evened things just before the final whistle with some nice combination work.

CARDINALS TO ENLARGE VAST FARM SYSTEM

RICKEY SEES BETTER TIMES AHEAD FOR MINOR LEAGUES

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26. (AP)—Branch Rickey, master farmer of the St. Louis Cardinals' vast farm system, sees brighter days ahead for the minor leagues.

"When times get better," he predicted today, "we'll have more minor leagues working than ever. The reason is obvious, as transportation has developed to such a degree that operating expenses for minor league clubs have been reduced considerably."

The reason the number of minor leagues now operating is smaller than years ago, he believes, is due to "general conditions," and not to lagging interest in the game.

"No, no!" he replied when asked, if he believed the supply of baseball players would diminish some day to such an extent, as to cause the Cardinals to reduce their farming chain store system.

"I've heard a lot of talk about baseball dying out, but I don't think it ever will. There are more men and boys playing the game now than there were ten years ago. Baseball in the bigger cities may not be played as much, due to the lack of fields, but I doubt even that, and I know that the game is being played more by men and boys today in the smaller cities, on the amateur and semi-pro fields."

In the operation of their farm system, Rickey estimated that the Cardinals each year have dealings with 500 to 1,000 players. "Each year," he said, "we turn adrift hundreds of players whom we try out and find wanting in ability. As a rule we do not retain any boys who do not show promise of eventually graduating to our major league club, the Cardinals, or to some other major league team. We usually discourage these boys so far as baseball is concerned, so that they can enter some other occupation which may hold out more promise of a successful future."

Busy Bee Club Has Program on Improved Rooms

"Insist on an inner-spring mattress for more perfect relaxation," said Miss Ruby Adams, county home demonstration agent, in a bedroom demonstration given to the Busy Bee club this week in the club room at LeFors.

Miss Adams demonstrated the making of mattress protectors from old blankets, covered with some white material and quilted on the machine.

An array of beautiful candlewick bedspreads, all wool spreads and blankets made from Gray County wool was arranged for the members' inspection.

Three visitors, Mesdames Harry Groves, Stanton, and Crossman, were present with 12 members: Mesdames C. W. Stonecipher, F. P. Boyd, C. C. Alexander, E. Bacus, John Tschirhart, L. R. Bolin, G. L. Lance, George Puckett, W. R. Whitwell, C. O. Carruth, John Rickard, and W. D. Champlin.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Feb. 1.

RANSOM TAKER SEARCHED FOR IN 27TH CITY

DR. CONDON TO DEVOTE LIFE AND FORTUNE TO CHASE

MONTREAL, Jan. 26 (AP)—A 74-year-old man has dedicated his remaining years and his modest life savings to a single-handed hunt for the men who got away with $50,000 ransom in the Lindbergh kidnap case.
Dr. John F. Condon of New York—the famous "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh case—continued today his scrutiny of rogues' photographs at detective headquarters, trying to find one that would lead to identification of the ransom taker.
It was Dr. Condon who, immediately following the abduction of the Baby Lindbergh in March, 1932, attempted to establish contact with the kidnapers by means of advertisements which he signed "Jafsie" (J. F. O.). As a result of those advertisements he received communication, and corroborating evidence which led him to believe he was in touch with the actual kidnapers of the baby. (It was some time later before it was learned that the baby had been killed on the very night of the abduction.)
Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was impressed by the Jafsie negotiations, and posted a ransom of $50,000 in denominations as demanded by the man with whom Jafsie was negotiating.
On the night of April 2, 1932, near a Bronx, N. Y. cemetery, Jafsie paid over the ransom money.
"Since then," Dr. Condon said today, "some people have suspected me of having kept the money. I have set out to prove my innocence. In order to do this I intend to visit the rogues' galleries of every city on the North American continent, if necessary, to see if I can find the faces of the men with whom I dealt in negotiations leading up to the transfer of the money to my hands."
"I hope to bring them to justice before I die."
"I have spent $10,000 of my own money on the search so far, with no results. It is little enough that I have, but I am ready to spend it all if only I can find the men who got the ransom money."
Montreal is the twenty-seventh city Dr. Condon has visited in his hunt.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 26 (AP)—Harvey Cox, 15, one of two boys missing from their home in the Wall community near San Angelo since Sunday, was found at the police station here this morning.
The youth walked into the station about 2 a. m. and said he wanted to sleep. Despite efforts of the desk sergeant to chase him out, the youth slept on a bench just outside the sergeant's office.
A police captain coming to work at 6:30 a. m. read the boy's description in a newspaper and questioned him. The boy first said he was Harvey Coxey, but finally admitted his identity.
He told police that his companion, Marvin Brasher, 11, had spent the night in a filling station. Police then began to search for the latter.

GIVING POLICE THEIR DUE

Criticizing of policemen is an American sport. If the policemen were as articulate, they could say many cutting things about the people they serve. Many "cops" are unsung heroes.

There was a cop in New York named Ernest F. McCarron. There wasn't anything unusual about him. He was 30 years old, he used to be a professional prize fighter, he had had attended the public schools as a boy, and he spent his days pounding the pavement in a quiet and unexciting section of Brooklyn.

He was just like any other harness bull; you could have duplicated him on any police force in America.

Well, the other night McCarron was walking his beat, along about 4 in the morning, when he saw flames and smoke coming from the fourth floor of an apartment building.

He ran into the building, climbed the stairs and roused the occupants of the building, and then went to the box and pulled a fire alarm.

Returning to the building, he found that everybody on the fourth floor, where the fire was raging, had got out, except a 9-year-old girl. Somehow she had been overlooked; and by now even the first floor corridor was so full of black, choking smoke that nobody dared go in after her.

So McCarron went in. He didn't come out again, either. Hours later, after the fire had been put out, they found him, lying dead in the third-floor hall, the girls in his arms.

Somehow he had got to the top of the building and got the girl and started down with her. Getting her out had been too much for him. The cop and the little girl—her arms about his sunburned neck, had died together.

About the only thing to add is that next day a whole flock of youngsters called at the station house to ask when his funeral would be held. One of his jobs had been to handle traffic in front of their school; he'd helped them across the street every day for months, and he was their friend.

That's all the story. There's not much to it; so little, indeed, that it's hardly worth telling. A cop tries to save a kid, fails, dies; what of it?

What of it, Nothing. That's just the point. McCarron simply did what any cop would do—gave up his life without hesitation when his job pointed that way.

That's one of the things you buy when you spend your tax money on a police force. It's a thing to remember when you cast up the account of the average copper.

"A MAN MAY BE DOWN—"
CLARION, Pa. (AP)—Benjamin Cyphert, 65, a CWA worker painting the inside of the court house, slipped from a scaffold and fell three stories to the tile floor below, dropping through a narrow space between the stair rails.

Fellow workers took him to a physician. Other physicians were called in to study the case. They scratched their heads and announced:

"We can't find a think wrong with him."

Asked how he felt, Cyphert grinningly asserted he was "all right."

Walter Hill of Panhandle spent yesterday in Pampa.

Insull Charters Ship For Flight To Unknown Spot

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 26 (AP)—Samuel Insull has chartered a hydroplane and ordered it held ready for a flight to an unknown destination, it was rumored here today.

With the circulation of this unconfirmed report, it also was rumored that his destination if such a flight were undertaken possibly would be Abyssinia.

The possibility that he might attempt to make a clandestine departure before the date of his scheduled expulsion, January 31, had been discussed earlier.

It was stated officially, however, that Insull will be permitted to remain in Greece until his health is satisfactory provided he applies for a prolongation of his police residence permit and an official physician certifies that deportation would be dangerous.

It was said that unless the former American utilities operator were granted a longer stay on this account, he might try to leave within the next day or so without an American passport or a Greek laissez-passer—neither of which he has made any move to obtain. Those who suggested that such a leave taking might be attempted pointed out that there have been indications he might experience some difficulty in obtaining a visa for a Laissez-passer or permit to leave the country.

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS

ENGLAND'S BANK HAS MORE GOLD THAN UNITED STATES POSSESSES

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Since civilization's dawn, gold has caused men to do deeds heroic and morose, but always, whatever they did, gold was in the background.

Gold was one of the prime subjects of Grecian mythology. Jason led a filibustering expedition in his good ship Argonaut and brought back the golden fleece. Gold proved a boomerang to King Midas.

Three golden apples gave swift-footed Atalanta an alibi for losing a race to Hippomenes. One by one, Hippomenes tossed the apples at the feet of Atlanta; she stopped to pick them up. Hippomenes married Atalanta. History shows that gold was first used by man about 20 centuries before Christ. That was during the bronze age, when the art of smelting became known.

Its course was westward. From the East, India, probably, the Phoenicians carried it to Egypt. The early use of gold was ornamental. Ancient tombs bear treasures of gold; archeologists find golden trinkets apparently used as offerings to the gods.

Since those early times, man has never ceased scrambling for gold.

The U. S. bureau of mines has estimated that from 1883 to 1932 the total world gold production has been 1,085,000,000 ounces. Annual production has not varied greatly in recent years.

Of this amount, a comparatively small portion has been used for monetary purposes. Most of it is used by the arts and industries—to gild cathedral domes and cure bad teeth.

The monetary gold stocks of the world have shifted like a medicine ball among the leading nations recently.

Yesterday's statements showed that the Bank of England has 191,722,000 pounds; the Bank of France, 77,190,000,000 francs, the United States $3,559,900,000.

VERA CRUZ—A cargo of gold coins weighing 3,300 pounds was shipped for New York today aboard the ward liner "Oriente." Aboard the same liner was a large shipment of Habanero liquor, also bound for New York.

Garners Honored At White House With a Banquet

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The solid gold plate that adorns the White House table on state occasions was packed away today, but for the Vice-President and Mrs. John Nance Garner the memory lingers on.

Making one of their infrequent appearances in social Washington—a rite they've held during 20 years of official life here—the vice presidential couple last night attended the first dinner in their honor by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt last night mixed their invitations between democrats and republicans. All in all 26 senators and 10 representatives and their wives received the coveted invitations.

Among them were republican independents, including Senator Norris of Nebraska and Johnson of California. Others from the minority party included Senators McNary of Oregon, the republican leader, Reed of Pennsylvania, Capper of Kansas, and Couzens and Vanderberg of Michigan.

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—A charge of negligent homicide was filed today against Tom Ireland, 20, freshman student in the University of Texas in connection with the death of Agnes Carnahan, 11, who died of injuries received when Ireland's automobile struck her. The child was the daughter of Arthur L. Carnahan, assistant auditor in the Texas railroad commission.

Q. I am in a "rudson" condition due to a frequent cold and stomach trouble. What can I do to help this condition?

A.—This is not an unusual condition. You can help yourself by a diet which should include plenty of milk, fruits and vegetables. A good medicine like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which any good drug store can supply, has my greatest confidence.
