WHILE PAMPA STREETS weren't quite at flood levels Tuesday afternoon and evening, the half inch of rain that fell was enough to make it soggy going for vehicles on the city streets. The threat of thundershowers still existed today, but the skies were clear to partly cloudy at press time this afternoon. (Staff photo by Gary Clark)

Floods swamp Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Hundreds of residents scrambled for higher ground Tuesday as more than five inches of rain sent three creeks spilling over their banks and raised the Wichita River to threatening levels.

Floodwaters inundated about one third of the area devastated by the massive tornado that killed 48 persons when it cut a swath April 10 through the southwest side of this city, which sits near the Texas-Oklahoma line.

But flooding problems were reported in low-lying areas in several other sections of Texas, also. Flood warnings were issued in several other places and at least three funnel clouds were spotted in widely separated locations about Texas.

In Wichita Falls, a fire department spokesman said Tuesday at least 12 persons had to be evacuated from their flooded homes. There were no reports of injuries.

Officials said as many as 200 families may have heeded warnings to seek higher ground.

Red Cross chapter manager Jan Beall said survey teams reported at least 50 to 100 homes had been flooded. She said the teams, which were still checking homes late Tuesday night, found many streets impassable.

Floodwaters swirled about four feet deep in some of the houses along the Holliday, Plum and McGrath creeks, said Red Cross worker Pat Root.

The rampaging waters washed out at least three bridges in Wichita County and inundated others, the sheriff's department said.

Assistant City Manager Bob Haley said employees would survey the extent of the damage today.

Residents living near the banks of the Wichita River were urged to move to higher ground Tuesday as the river approached flood stage.

Severe thunderstorms dumped torrents of water and twirling funnels snaked out of dark clouds at opposite ends of the state Tuesday.

Other Texas towns and cities reporting flooding from the hard-hitting thunderstorms included Fort Worth and Jacksboro in North Texas.

Funnel clouds were sighted by the public in Corpus Christi near the Gulfway Shopping Center, near Earth in Lamb County, northwest of Lubbock, and west of Sabine Pass in Southeast Texas.

Grounding of all DC-10 jets ordered by FAA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration today suspended the design certificate of the DC-10, indefinitely grounding all 138 of the jetliners flown by the nation's airlines.

The FAA acted after new cracks were found in the engine mounts of two of the jumbo jets that had been inspected and cleared earlier, an agency spokesman said.

The spokesman, Jerry Doolittle, said the grounding order came in the form of an emergency suspension of the DC-10's design certificate, an apparently unprecedented step involving a commercial jetliner.

Doolittle said the design certificate is required before a type of airplane is given an airworthiness certificate, a document that attests to the safety of the airplane.

"It's too early to tell" exactly what the inspections will entail, said another FAA spokesman, Jerry Lavey. "We're going to have to satisfy ourselves that the aircraft now in operation conform with the original design we approved. We're going to look at everything."

Doolittle said that while the order covered the design of the entire plane, the engine mounting area was "the only area we're concerned with at the moment."

Lavey said it was not known how long the DC-10 fleet will be out of service.

Special inspections of the engine mounts of the DC-10 came after an American Airlines DC-10 lost an engine and crashed in Chicago May 25, killing 272 persons aboard the jet and three on the ground. It was the nation's worst air disaster.

The DC-10, a tri-engine, wide-body transport built by McDonnell Douglas Corp., carries an estimated 33,000 of the nation's air travelers daily. Eight U.S. airlines operate the plane.

At least three of the eight airlines, United, Continental and Northwest Orient, said they were cancelling all DC-10 flights immediately. United and Northwest Orient said it hoped to substitute other aircraft for the grounded jets, but Continental said it had no spare equipment.

Overseas, Lufthansa German Airlines grounded all its DC-10s on orders of the West German government. In all, 33 foreign air carriers fly the DC-10, and they are not legally bound by the FAA grounding order.

Lavey said the DC-10s in the air when the certificate was suspended were permitted to continue on to their nearest destination.

The order was hand-carried to McDonnell Douglas' plant in Long Beach, Calif., Doolittle said.

A McDonnell Douglas spokesman had no immediate reaction to the FAA's action.

The FAA's action early today came only hours before the agency was to return to federal court here to try to convince a judge that the jumbo jet was safe to fly.

Doolittle said the agency acted after receiving information Tuesday night that two American Airlines DC-10s, previously inspected under recent government directives, were found to have 2-inch cracks in their engine pylon mounting systems.

"We obviously haven't found the cause of these cracks," said

Doolittle, who called the situation "disturbing."

On Tuesday, Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. of U.S. District Court here initially issued — but later postponed the execution of — a temporary order to ground the DC-10s. In staying his order, he said he wanted to give the FAA a chance to try to show that the jets were safe.

Robinson's action was in response to a request from the Airline Passengers Association.

ABDULLAH AL-MUTAWA, Ali Al-Saad and Mohammed Al-Subaiyel are Saudi Arabian students training at the Celanese Chemical Company plant west of Pampa. The trio say they are enjoying their stay in Pampa, but — like several other young adults in the city — wish there was more of a night life. They will return to Saudi Arabia in the fall to complete their studies and graduate from college. (Staff photo)

Arabs enjoying life in Pampa

By JOHN PRICE
Pampa News Staff

Abdullah, Ali and Mohammed think Pampa is a good place to live. As Abdullah said, "It's quiet and the people are nice." But like other young, single Pampa residents, the three men wish the town had more of a nightlife.

Abdullah Al-Mutawa, Ali Al-Saad and Mohammed Al-Subaiyel are Saudi Arabian students who arrived here April 13 to begin a six-month training period with Celanese Chemical Co. The men, all in their mid-20s, are seniors at the University of Petroleum and Minerals in Saudi Arabia.

Ali is studying purchasing, Abdullah is studying accounting and Mohammed is involved in process engineering at Celanese. Abdullah and Mohammed are roommates at the Lexington Apartments, and Ali is living with the Leonel Ford family at 1612 Evergreen St.

The three men speak fluent English, which they learned at the university. Their schooling has been paid for by the kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

"Unlike the U.S., the (Saudi) government owns everything — schools, hospitals, everything," Mohammed said. "So everything is free."

Also unlike the U.S., he said, there are no taxes in Saudi Arabia. Revenue from oil production — an average of 8.5 million barrels per day — pays the bills.

Ali, Abdullah and Mohammed all come from fairly large families. Their Arabian houses, made of concrete or mud, are quite different from houses in the U.S.

"We don't use much wood," Ali said. The two-story houses are square, with flat roofs. People often sleep on the rooftops, they said, and for good reason: lack of air conditioning combined with temperatures that can reach up to 120 degrees.

To beat the heat, the Saudis wear their distinctive robes and headgear, known there as thobes and guttra. Abdullah, Ali and Mohammed said they usually wear the native clothing while at home.

"At your home town it's not too good to wear trousers, but you can at school," Mohammed said. The three students brought their thobes and guttra to Pampa, but Abdullah said he has worn them only inside his apartment.

The men dispelled a few American stereotypes about Saudi Arabian geography and culture.

"It's not true that all of Saudi Arabia is a desert," Ali said. Much of the country is sandy, he said, but there are some oases.

Saudi Arabia has four distinct seasons, they said. Winter is the rainy season with a minimum temperature of about 40 degrees in the middle and eastern provinces of the country. The south, a mountainous region, receives rain throughout the year. Right now the average temperature in the country is 85-90 degrees.

Because most of their food is imported, the Saudis are big fans of such American cuisine as hamburgers and sandwiches, Mohammed said.

The Arabian peninsula was the birthplace of Islam, and the men acknowledged that theirs is a strictly religious nation. Mecca and Medina, two of the three sacred centers of Islam, are located there.

Ali, Abdullah and Mohammed admitted a lapse in their religious fervor since coming to the U.S. For example, they said, they haven't been praying five times daily as they do at home.

"In Saudi Arabia we are religious because we have to be," Mohammed said.

The three visitors will return to their homeland in October to attend a last semester of school and graduate. They are planning careers in the chemical industry, but will be working for the government since it also controls Saudi Arabian business. For example, Ali said, Celanese and the kingdom will soon enter into a "joint venture" by which the company builds and operates and plant, to be owned by the government.

In the meantime, the students are enjoying their stay in the Panhandle. They have traveled throughout the region and visited Amarillo, Dallas, Houston and Tulsa.

Abdullah said he spends most of his leisure time in his apartment, reading and watching television. Ali enjoys an occasional game of tennis and likes to swim.

"We learn different cultures and habits — see new things," Mohammed said when asked what he enjoys most about the U.S. Smiling, he summed up his American experience with "So far, so good."

Crash releases gas

Department of Public Safety officers are continuing their search today for the driver of a 1978 Chevy pickup which crashed into a gas measuring station at the intersection of Price Road and Gwendolyn Street early this morning, breaking a gas line.

DPS Officer Steven Easterly said it took workers two hours to shut off gas released from a 4-inch line, after officers received a report of the accident shortly after 3 a.m.

Three ambulance units, a Pampa fire truck and Pampa police joined DPS officers at the scene. There was no fire as a result of the incident.

The truck is owned by Permian Inspection Company of Pampa. According to company supervisor Lewis Jackson, about six local employees have keys and access to the truck. Jackson said he did not know if any employee had taken the vehicle Tuesday night.

The gas measuring station is owned by Getty Oil, and is part of a re-pressure project designed to pump natural gas back into the ground to drive up oil.

Easterly said the truck ran a stop sign at the end of Gwendolyn Street, crossed over the embankment, and struck the metal measuring station building.

Officers reported that the truck, which Jackson said contained an estimated $20,000 worth of equipment, was virtually destroyed.

There was no indication of injury, Easterly said. But the officer said that an inch of dirt from the pressure of the gas leak covered the truck, making it difficult to detect blood.

Easterly estimated that the incident occurred sometime between 2:30 and 3 a.m.

Denver Allen, Getty natural gas supervisor, said repair of the station began this morning. He said monetary damage to the station would probably be a "small amount."

Weather

The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies and a 20 percent chance of thunderstorms through Thursday. The high today is expected in the low 80s with the low in the low 60s. The high Thursday is expected in the mid 80s. Winds today will be out of the south and southwest at 10 to 15 mph.

Satellite students taught hair care

There is a cut-and-dried way to learn good grooming, and professional cosmetologist Janet Giles (pictured above) demonstrated it last week to a group of special education students in Pampa.

She explained hair care to the Satellite students at their school located in the First Presbyterian Church at a morning class session.

The demonstration continued a Red Cross good grooming course for the school's young adults, whose learning has been impeded by handicaps.

Giles began by shampooing, cutting and styling the hair of student Paula Brown (also pictured), and explained the fundamentals of hair care to a crowd of lady onlookers from the Satellite program.

The Satellite school, which provides employment for young handicapped adults, started the good grooming course April 2, and the Red Cross will present certificates to students completing the class on June 12.

In this part of the course, Giles told her listeners to eat properly for good hair health and to wash and brush their hair often.

Giles repeated the performance of styling a student's hair and explaining steps to take in proper hair care to the men of the Satellite School.

The young men, enjoying the morning's activities, were amicable and cooperative with the cosmetologist.

Ruth Harmon, the head of the Satellite program, said it was the first time a professional had shown students proper hair care.

Five sought in judge's ambush

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The FBI has released a total of five composite sketches of men being sought for questioning in the May 29 sniper slaying of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

Federal officials issued three composites Tuesday of men witnesses told investigators were near Wood's townhome either the morning the judge was assassinated or a undetermined number of days prior.

"They're not suspects as such, but we want to find out who they are and what they were doing there," said Special Agent Manuel Marquez.

The FBI had released two composites last Friday of men witnesses said were in the "immediate vicinity" of the Chateau Dijon Townhomes about the time Wood was cut down by a single bullet to the spine as he left for work.

Marquez said Tuesday that those two men had not been identified despite an intense investigation, rewards totaling $125,000 and numerous tips phoned in to a special 24-hour telephone.

The 63-year-old Wood, who had earned the nickname "Maximum John" because of his stiff sentences in drug cases, died from a single .243-bullet, which splintered on his spine and sent deadly fragments into vital organs. Such a bullet is usually fired from a high-powered "varmint rifle" used in South Texas to hunt javelinas, coyotes and deer.

The slaying was the second time in seven months a Western District of Texas official involved in West Texas drug cases had been fired upon. Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr escaped serious injury

Nov. 21 when his car was riddled by bullets. No one has been arrested in that case.

FBI officials refuse to say whether they believe there is a connection between the two assaults. Both Kerr and U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd have said they believe Wood's slaying is connected to their massive West Texas drug crackdown.

The sketches released Tuesday show one cleanshaven man in his 40s or early 50s with thick, medium length hair salted with gray. Another showed a cleanshaven man in his 20s, with short hair, buck teeth and acne scars on his cheeks.

69th McLean 66 rodeo set for June 15-16

MCLEAN — The 69th Annual McLean 66 Roundup Rodeo is set for June 15 and 16 in the Felton Webb Arena north of McLean.

Both night's performances will begin at 8.

A dance will follow each performance of the rodeo. The dance will be on a concrete slab at the arena, with Gary LaGrone and the Young Country playing.

Stock contractor for the rodeo is Holiday Rodeo Co. of Elida, N. M. Sponsors are the McLean Roping Club and the McLean Lion's Club.

Books will open June 11 and close June 13. Those desiring to enter can contact rodeo secretary Carl Henley at 779-2679 in McLean.

Buckles will be given for first place in each event.

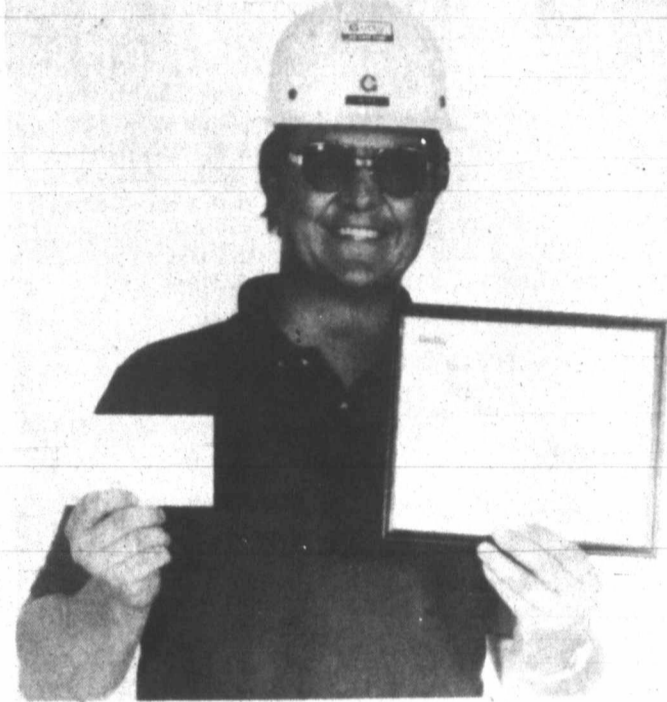

A limit of 30 entries will be observed in bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, and bull riding.

Other events include calf roping, bulldogging, heading and heeling, girls barrel race, kids steer riding (12 years and under), and stick horse race (5 years and under).

Saturday night will feature a businessman's wild cow milking contest. A rodeo parade has been scheduled for 10 a.m. June 16, in conjunction with the rodeo and the homecoming celebration.

A jack pot team roping has also been scheduled for June 17 at 1:30 p.m.

President of the McLean Roping Club is Jim Allison, vice-president is Thacker Haynes and secretary-treasurer is Casper Smith.

MICHAEL E. CLINE, a Getty Oil Company employee in Skellytown, took first place honors in the company's safety slogan contest for his entry, "Safety will last a lifetime." His slogan will be used throughout the year on various printed materials and displayed on the company's safety equipment. He received a $200 savings bond and certificate in recognition of his entry.

Passengers group says FAA ignored requests to test DC-10s

DALLAS (AP)— An airline passengers organization says it pushed for the grounding of all domestic DC-10 jetliners only because aviation officials ignored earlier pleas to test the planes.

U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. issued an order Tuesday grounding all DC-10s immediately. Later, however, he delayed implementation to allow the Federal Aviation Administration to make further arguments in a hearing today at Washington.

Robinson's rulings came on the request by the Airline Passengers Association at a hearing Tuesday in his Washington court.

Hal Salfen, a spokesman for the consumer airline passenger group, said Tuesday at the organization's headquarters in Dallas that the 50,000-member association got no response to telegrams it sent Langhorne Bond, the FAA chief, and James King, commissioner of the National Transportation Safety Board.

The telegrams, he said, asked for tests on a plane similar to the one that crashed recently in Chicago killing 274 persons.

After being ignored in that request, Salfen said, the organization decided to seek court action to force the groundings.

"They never bothered to answer us. We felt we had to pursue it," he said.

The telegrams, he said, "asked that scientific tests be made to check for metal fatigue and possible design problems."

Salfen said the telegrams sent Saturday to King and Bond asked only that a plane of similar design and age be tested, and "groundings would be a disservice to the air traveling public."

"We are not gleeful over the thing at all," he said. "We are sorry so many people will be inconvenienced. That was not our aim and not our desire at all. We are looking out for the safety of our members and the traveling public."

The passengers' group was rebuffed Sunday in an earlier attempt to have the DC-10s grounded.

The National Transportation Safety Board then announced Monday that improper maintenance procedures may have produced a crack that led to the Chicago crash May 25.

Lefors School Board to meet

LEFORS — The salary schedule for the 1979-80 school year budget of the Lefors district will be discussed when the school board meets here in regular session Thursday at 7 p.m.
The board has been awaiting the Texas Legislature's decision on teachers' salaries to take any action on increasing wages, according to Superintendent Jerrel Julian.
The resignation of two teachers and a nurse and the retirement of another instructor will be approved, and possible replacements will be reviewed.
The $3,000 homestead exemption for persons over 65 will be rescinded in other action as the new Texas legislation on market value exemptions of $5,000 and $10,000 are enacted.
A decision on the possibility of a six-man football team will be made, and a bank depository will be selected. Pampa's First National Bank has served the school district as its depository for many years.
The board will also discuss renewal of the Media Services Contract with the Region XVI Service Center at a cost of one dollar per student for film use and other services.

Weather
National weather
By The Associated Press
Heavy rains sent three creeks spilling over and raised the Wichita River to threatening levels, forcing hundreds of residents in Wichita Falls, Texas, to scramble for higher ground.
A flash-flood warning was issued for a small part of east-central Texas this morning, with flash-flood watches in effect along the lower Rio Grande Valley and portions of southeast and north Texas.
Showers and thundershowers reached from the southern half of the Plains through the lower Mississippi Valley as well as across the Ohio Valley and north Atlantic coast states.
Widely scattered showers were also reported across Arizona, New Mexico and Florida and over portions of the Northern Rockies.
In Wichita Falls, floodwaters inundated about a third of the area devastated by the massive tornado that killed 48 people April 10. Three bridges were wiped out in the storm Tuesday but no injuries were reported.
Early morning temperatures today were in the 60s and 70s over much of the nation. New England was cooler, with readings in the 50s, and the mercury fell down to the 40s in the Great Lakes region.
Temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. (EDT) ranged from 39 degrees in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to 86 in Blythe, Calif.
Scattered showers and thundershowers were forecast for today from North Dakota through south-central Texas, across the Mississippi and Lower Ohio Valleys, and the southern half of the Appalachians and the Gulf Coast states. Showers were also expected to reach along the Pacific Northwest coast, as well as through much of the Upper Missouri Valley.

West Texas — Partly cloudy with a chance of thunderstorms mainly east of the mountains Friday through Sunday. Not as warm north. High temperatures 80s north to 90s south except near 105 Big Bend. Low temperatures 50s Panhandle to 70s extreme south.

Texas forecast

West Texas — Partly cloudy through Thursday. Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms more numerous northeast. Highs low 80s mountains and Panhandle to mid 90s Big Bend. Lows tonight upper 50s mountains to near 60 Panhandle to upper 60s southeast.

County to be reimbursed for registrations

Gray County is receiving $1,148 in state funds under a law designed to encourage voter registration and accurate registration lists, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock.
The Texas Election Code provides local reimbursement of 40 cents for each new registered voter and 40 cents for each cancellation made to update lists. Texas counties will share more than $365,407 in state funds under the law.
Individual county payments are made after approval by the secretary of state. Payments to all but 10 counties, whose requests have not cleared the secretary of state's office, have been made by the comptroller's office.
More than 5.9 million Texans have been registered, Bullock said.
Reimbursements sent to other area counties include: Carson County, $195.60; Hemphill County, $129.20; Hutchinson County, $472.80; Roberts County, $44; and Wheeler County, $134.

Police save child's life

A Pampa child was saved from choking to death Tuesday by the quick action of police officers.
At about 1:45 p.m. Tuesday, police received an emergency call about a child choking at Jim's Grocery, 1001 E. Frederic. Two officers rushed to the store and found 21-month-old Tie Ferguson of 324 Tignor, with a piece of candy lodged in his throat. According to police, he couldn't breathe and was turning blue in the face.
While enroute to Highland General Hospital, the officers dislodged the candy from Tie's throat by reportedly squeezing the boy. Tie was examined at the hospital and released.

Dear Abby
by abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm a waitress with a complaint I'll bet you've never heard before. Some customers tip according to how they like the food!

Yesterday I had a really bad day. Our regular chef was off, and we had a substitute. I served dinner to a quiet, middle-aged couple, and when they left, the man said, "I'm only tipping you a dollar because the food was lousy."

I said, "But the service was OK, wasn't it?" And he said, "Yes, the service was OK, but the food was lousy," and with that they walked out.

Abby, please tell people that the waitress has to serve whatever she picks up in the kitchen. And it takes just as much effort to serve a lousy meal as it does to serve a good one. Thank you. You can sign this, either "Varicose Veins" or "Fallen Arches." I've got both in...

CINCINNATI

DEAR CINCINNATI: Most people tip according to their moods. Even though it's grossly unfair to the waitress, if she serves a lousy meal she's in very much the same position as the messenger who gets shot because he delivers bad news.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I plan a large wedding. His mother is asthmatic and highly allergic to perfumes and colognes.

Would it be proper to write on our wedding invitations, "No perfumes or colognes, please"?

MAKING PLANS

DEAR MAKING: No.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I need a solution to a very sticky problem. A couple we knew as neighbors several years ago in another city still regard us as their "dearest" friends although we never felt especially close to them. (We have kept up a Christmas card contact.) They wrote saying, "We would love to visit you this summer and can arrange our vacation accordingly. Which week would be convenient for you to have us?"

Abby, at no time did we invite them to be our houseguests, but that is obviously what they have in mind. We wouldn't mind entertaining them for one evening at dinner, but we certainly don't want them staying with us.

We hate to hurt their feelings and we don't want to make up any lies we might get caught in, such as... "illness in the family, we're redecorating our house, or we plan to be away all summer, etc." So how can we tell them they can't expect to be our houseguests?

NO LOCATION, PLEASE

DEAR NO: Try total honesty. Simply say that you would be pleased to entertain them for an evening but you cannot accommodate them as houseguests. Blunt? Yes. But unless you spell it out clearly, they might appear at your doorstep prepared to stay for a week.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Polly's Pointers
by polly cramer

DEAR POLLY: I have such an infestation of weevils that they crawl on the kitchen counters, through the cupboards and even on the stove. I have removed everything, such as flour, that they live in and have used various insecticides but nothing helps. A long time ago you printed a remedy and I do wish you would repeat it. — MERRIA

DEAR MERRIA: I am repeating the best remedy I know — this is the season when others may be plagued with the same problem. It is very simple and I learned it in Florida (where I notice you live) many years ago. When containers are clean and free of the bugs, drop a bay leaf or two in each of them. I also put them in any opened boxes of cereal, corn meal, etc. where I think bugs may appear. To first rid yourself of them it may be necessary to have an exterminator. Then start out clean. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY: I would like to share my recipe for making almond paste with Ellen and any other interested readers. Grind one and a half cups of whole blanched almonds (a portion at a time) in the electric blender or food chopper using the fine blade. Combine with one and a half cups sifted powdered sugar, one egg white, one teaspoon almond extract and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Work into a stiff paste and refrigerate in an airtight container or disposable plastic bag. This makes one and a third cups of almond paste. — MRS. H.H.C.

At wit's end
by erma bombeck

A mother wrote me the other day questioning the property rights of mothers. (Who has custody of the ice cubes, transparent tape and the piece of chicken in the condensed chicken soup.)

"Within minutes last weekend," she wrote, "I found my 19-year-old had taken my mascara to Michigan with him to keep his blond mustache noticeable... my 11-year-old had scrubbed the grass stains off his gym shoes with my toothbrush... and my four-year-old had taken my magic marker and made hex signs all over my heirloom bedspread. Do mothers have any rights at all?"

It all depends. Do you remember signing anything in the delivery room? Some women sign the MATERNAL VOW OF POVERTY while still heavily sedated. I don't remember signing it at all but when I awoke the kids had rights to the fillings in my teeth.

Would it shock you to know I have not found my comb in 15 years and comb my hair by running my fingers through it? Or that everyone has worn my white sweater except the dog? (And only because he looks lousy in white.)

At this point I am trying to outlaw the MATERNAL VOW OF POVERTY by introducing a Mother's Bill of Rights.

Visitation rights to the kitchen would be limited only to those either cleaning it or cooking in it. A mother would be able to "put by" a small, cold pork chop or a half bottle of cola without planting mines around it.

Persons lifting pencils, paper clips, rubber bands, typewriter ribbons, yardsticks, scissors, hairbrushes and other personal effects of mother would be prosecuted for trespassing.

Daughters pilfering soiled pantyhose would be detained, questioned, given a defense and a trial.

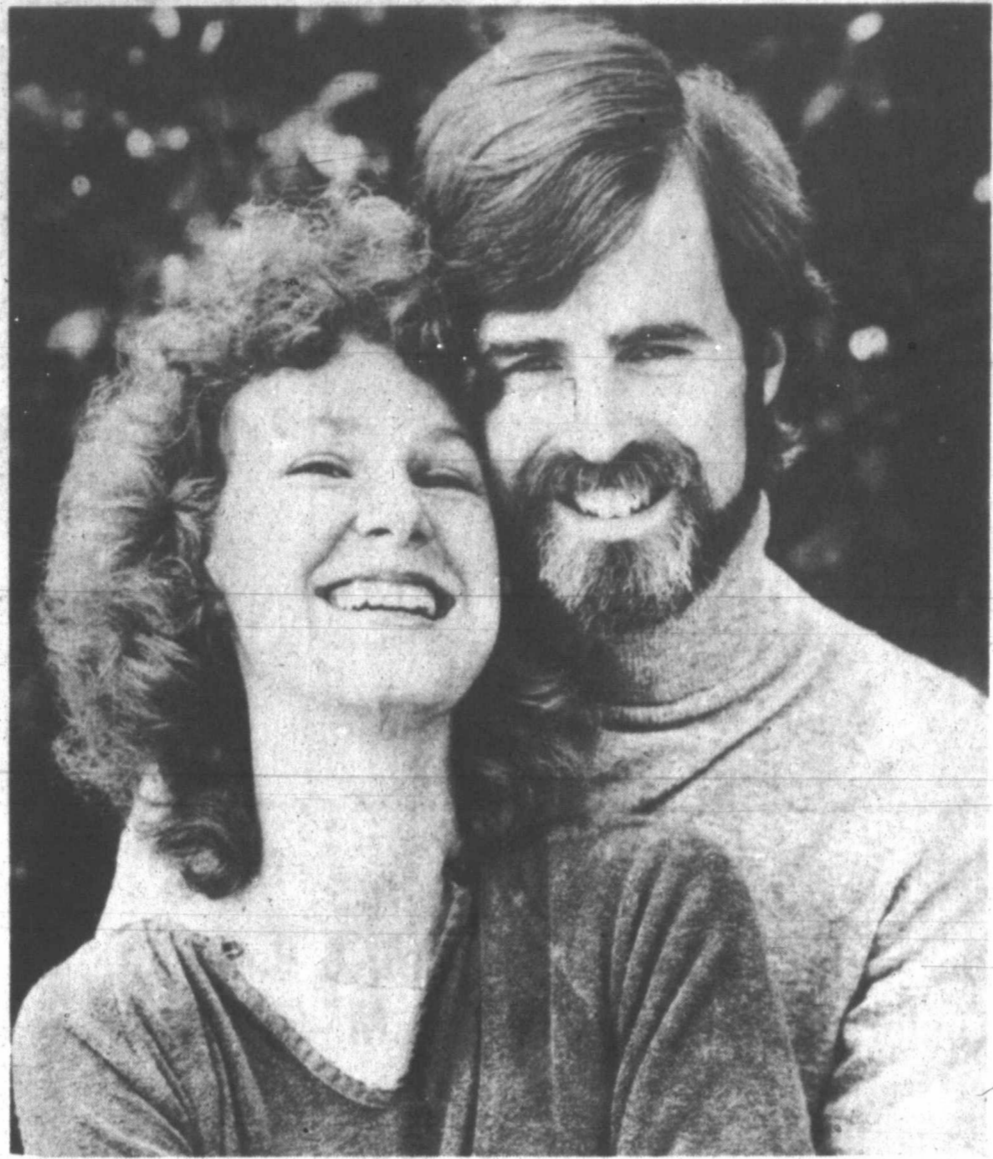

Daughters pilfering clean pantyhose would be shot on the spot.

Husbands returning your car with an empty gas tank are obliged to provide you a rental car and to try harder.

Birthday checks shall not be used to pay the phone bill and school lunches.

Wigs will not be "borrowed" for Trick-or-Treat and left to moulder in an old shopping bag.

And finally, mother will have one suitcase designated for her alone. She may need it.

ACTRESS LINDA KELSEY, who portrays investigative reporter Billie Newman on "The Lou Grant Show" is shown with her husband Genn Strand Monday in Los Angeles. The couple married May 20 in St. Paul, Minn., and honeymooned in Cape Cod, Mass. Strand is a theatrical carpenter, and met Linda five years ago while she was appearing in a play. He's 30 and she's 31. It is his first and her second marriage.

Dr. Lamb
by
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have been taking mineral oil most of my life. I am 72. I have pills for which I had surgery a few years ago. This left me with a tight muscle in the rectum and makes elimination difficult. However, the mineral oil doesn't seem to do what it used to and my stool is too soft and sometimes shreds.

Lately I've been introduced to Metamucil which seems to work fine and gives me a natural stool. I also drink fruit juices. What I would like to know is, is it safe to take Metamucil every day? I'm told that it is a physic and should not be relied on. It does seem to work nicely though.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Many doctors used to recommend mineral oil but most of us don't recommend it anymore. Originally it was not thought to be absorbed and was used to soften the stool. It worked very well for that in most cases. The problem is small amounts of it can be absorbed and act as an irritant to the organs in which the mineral oil is deposited. It also can interfere with the absorption of important vitamins and minerals. Then there's a little social problem of it leaking through.

I don't recommend chemical laxatives either. I'm sending you The Health Letter number 12-8, Laxatives, Enemas and Suppositories, to give you some basic information on which of these products you should avoid. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, TX 78292.

The People's Pharmacy

by Joe Graedon

Q. I read with interest your column about the dangers of the drug Phenacetin, which is found in many pain relievers. My doctor prescribed Fiorinal (containing Phenacetin) to be taken whenever needed for pain. Would one or two tablets be considered excessive or is this dose safe?

A. We have received quite a few letters from people who were concerned about the safety of their pain relievers after reading our People's Pharmacy Alert for Phenacetin. We emphasized in that column that the danger of kidney damage has only been associated with long term use of the drug at high doses. One or two tablets a day should not pose any problem.

The FDA has only expressed concern about the presence of Phenacetin in over-the-counter drugs. Presumably, the regulators feel that if a medication requires a doctor's prescription the patient will be less likely to abuse the compound and will rarely suffer an adverse reaction. Unfortunately, this assumption may not always be valid.

Some doctors are too casual when it comes to prescribing pain remedies. The following letter demonstrates the kind of problem some people can experience when they receive unlimited and unsupervised prescriptions.

Q. A friend of mine showed me your column on Phenacetin pain relievers - what a SCARE! But I sure need it because I am an intense abuser of the drug "Soma Compound." Six months ago a doctor gave me a "standing order" (any amount I want anytime) after I complained to him of a tense neck due to nerves.

Since then I've taken 500-600 of these pills (just bought another 100 today). Soma Compound makes me feel relaxed, confident and "high" after a certain point. At first three or four did the job... then six at a time - then eight: Twice I've taken 12 within two hours.

Time flies on this drug. Errands and such that I despise fly by with ease. By now I feel I can't face a somewhat difficult day without a bunch.

I am psychologically addicted - feel as though I couldn't live without Soma Compound; nor do I want to. How dangerous is the Phenacetin in this medication? What is "long-term" usage - six months? - Five years? God... I pray I can get myself off this.

A. You need help and plenty of it! You are indeed abusing this drug and if you're not careful it will abuse you. While it's very difficult to say how long it will take for the Phenacetin component in this medication to have an adverse effect, if you keep taking it at your present dosage levels it probably won't take too long.

Soma Compound is no more addictive or dangerous than many similar medications. Some people are just more susceptible to drug dependence than others. Since you are clearly vulnerable we suggest that you seek professional help. Not only do you need counseling that can assist you in breaking the "addiction" but you need support that can enable you to deal with the problems that make this type of drug-induced "escape" so attractive.

We also recommend that you find another doctor. Any physician who would give an open-ended prescription for this kind of drug without careful supervision is acting irresponsibly.

Q. Please tell me about the side effects of Naprosyn (Naproxen). Ever since I started taking this drug for my arthritis I have had a rash and unpleasant itching. My doctor says this is not caused by the medicine, but I am so sure. What can you tell me?

A. According to the drug company that makes Naprosyn, about one out of 20 patients will experience the kind of skin reactions you have reported. Itching, hives or a rash are a signal that a person may be allergic to the medication. Continued use could get you into trouble.

Naprosyn more commonly affects the digestive tract. Side effects to be alert for include indigestion, nausea, vomiting, constipation (or diarrhea), heartburn and abdominal pain. Any of these signs should send a patient to the doctor because they could be an early warning of an ulcer or gastric bleeding.

We suggest that you discuss this drug with your physician another time. There are alternate medications available for arthritis that may not cause the kind of discomfort you have reported with Naprosyn.

Lessons offered

WHITE DEER - The White Deer Stampede Square Dance Club will be offering square dance lessons starting June 12 at 7:30 p.m. Dan and Lynn Rose of Pampa will be the instructors. A series of 20 lessons will be held at the Community Center.

President Marikham Waddhill would like to invite every one in the area to come and visit with the club and try a couple of lessons to see if you don't think that it is a good family pastime. Lots of fun and good fellowship.

For more information on dance lessons, get in touch with Jim Earnhart or Mark Waddhill in White Deer.

Society expresses thanks for drive

WHEELER - The American Cancer Society has just experienced another successful residential drive and Bike-a-Thon. The success of both events has been due to the efforts of many people including students. The ACS can never express enough thanks and appreciation to those people who have helped make this year's events successful.

The success we have in cancer drives gives some assurance to continued research toward the elimination of cancer in your lifetime. We are all involved one way or another.

The residential Crusade drive brought in $656.00. Bike-a-Thon brought in $2,000.00, and Memorials $281.84.

Your sphere of influence socially will increase considerably this coming year. This is a good period for you to join groups or organizations where you can meet people who share ideas similar to yours.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You work best today without having others looking over your shoulder. Try to arrange things so you manage them instead of them managing you. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Unless your objectives are clearly defined today, you will not accomplish all you hope to. Try not to place too much significance on side issues.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Success is likely where you try to do the greatest good for the greatest number today. In matters where you're too self-serving, it's another story.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unless you're very careful today you may snatch defeat from the jaws of victory. Don't rock the boat when things are going smoothly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your judgment is very keen today in most areas. One exception that could cause you problems has to do with business or finance.

Be prudent. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you're entering into any type of important agreement today, have everything spelled out to the smallest detail. That way, no misunderstandings will arise later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your mate's judgment may be a shade sharper than yours today, so listen attentively to what he or she may have to say in matters affecting both of you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Allocate your time productively today. Unless you establish an agenda, you're likely to fritter hours away on projects of little importance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Success is within your reach today through the soft sell. Take time for the pleasures, rather than going in immediately for the kill.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) No-se outsiders should be kept out of your personal affairs today. Their comments and influence could complicate something good you have going with another.

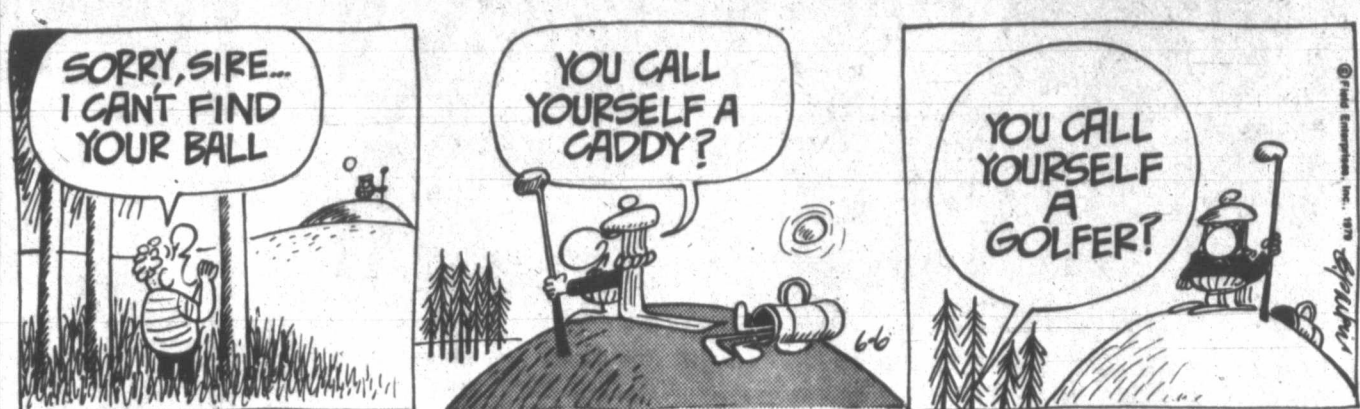

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have the ability today to salvage something good from areas that appear nonproductive. Put your skills to use.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In matters of material significance today, don't be hesitant to stand up for what's owed you. Keep a cool head, however.

Steve Carlton hurls one-hitter against Astros

By The Associated Press
Steve Carlton isn't having a Cy Young Award-winning year so far, but he usually looks like a Cy Young winner to the Houston Astros.

Like Tuesday night, when the two-time winner of baseball's most prestigious pitching award led the Philadelphia Phillies to an 8-0 victory with a one-hit beauty.

That masterful performance improved Carlton's lifetime record to 23-9 over the Astros, and gave the faltering Phillies a shot in the arm. They had lost eight of their previous nine games.

Rookie Jeff Leonard got the only hit off Carlton — a line drive single to left-center in the seventh inning.

Carlton gave up four walks and struck out four in pitching the fourth one-hitter of his career. The Phillies scored all the runs they needed with five in the fourth inning on eight hits, including McCarver's two-run double. Schmidt added a sixth run with his towering homer in the fifth inning.

Braves 3, Dodgers 1
Dave Parker hit a two-run homer in the first inning, triggering Pittsburgh over Los Angeles behind the combined seven-hit pitching of Bert Blyleven and Kent Tekulve. Parker's homer, his 11th of the season, came off loser Don Sutton and followed a one-out single by Tim Lincecum.

Angels 3, Blue Jays 0
Frank Tanana pitched his first complete game of the season, a four-hitter, and Bobby Grich and Don Baylor homered to boost California over Toronto. Tanana walked two and struck out three to raise his record to 5-3.

Indians 12, A's 3
Cleveland struck for two five-run innings as Rick Waits coasted to his sixth straight victory as the Indians downed Oakland.

Tigers 3, Mariners 1
Jack Billingham and John Hiller combined for a four-hitter and Jerry Morales slammed a solo home run as Detroit edged Seattle.

Royals 3, Yankees 1
Larry Gura scattered three hits to hurl Kansas City past New York.

Kansas City scored twice in the second with the help of an error. Pete LaCock and Hal McRae singled. Then losing pitcher Luis Tiant, 1-2, fielded Fred Patek's bunt single and hit him in the back of the head with the throw. LaCock scored on the play and McRae wound up on third. McRae came home on U.L. Washington's sacrifice fly.

Brewers 5, White Sox 3
Milwaukee downed Chicago as Cecil Cooper and Sixto Lezcano each singled home a run in the fifth inning, snapping 2-2 tie.

Twins 3, Orioles 1
Paul Hartzell allowed only three singles and retired 13 consecutive batters before being lifted in the ninth, following a one-out pinch double by Pat Kelly and a single by Eddie Murray as Minnesota beat the Orioles.

Red Sox 9, Rangers 3
Two-run homers by Fred Lynn and Carl Yastrzemski and a solo shot by Jim Rice powered Boston past Texas. The victory moved the Red Sox back into first place in the American League East for the first time since May 17. Johnny Grubb had three hits for Texas, to extend his hitting streak to 18 games.

Cardinals 5, Giants 4
Jerry Mumphrey drove in the tying runs in the seventh inning, then tripled in the ninth and raced home on a passed ball to give streaking St. Louis a tight victory over San Francisco.

Reds 6, Mets 1
Dave Concepcion hit a three-run homer and Dan Driessen hit a solo shot to power Cincinnati over New York.

Winner Fred Norman had a five-hitter through eight innings before getting relief help from Pedro Borbon.

Braves 4, Expos 1

Bob Horner broke a scoreless tie with a three-run homer in the sixth inning, leading Atlanta past Montreal.

Padres 11, Cubs 3

Dave Winfield slugged a double and a triple and Gene Tenace and Dan Briggs smashed home runs to pace San Diego over Chicago.

Pampa Open starts action Thursday

By JERRY GUNTER
Pampa News Sports Editor
A large number of entries is expected for the annual Pampa Open Tennis tournament which opens Thursday at two different sights.

The Pampa High tennis courts will be used for the tournament along with courts at the Country Club according to tournament director David Martin.

"We have had a whole lot of entries since Saturday," noted Martin. "I feel we will have a great turnout if we have good weather. We probably have about one-third more entries than we did last year."

Martin added that the biggest bulk of entries seem to be coming from the adult divisions, especially the B division.

Divisions for the tournament include men's and women's with A singles, A doubles, B singles, B doubles and a 35 division. In the junior division, there will be singles and doubles for 14, 16 and 18-year olds. Also, there is a special 12-year-old division for boys. It will be singles only.

In addition, there will be an A and B division mixed doubles division.

Martin said that entries are still being accepted. The deadline for adults will be Thursday, while the juniors have up until 10 p.m. tonight to enter.

Anyone interested in entering needs to contact Martin for more details. His address is Box 178, Pampa and his phone number is 665-5655.

Martin feels that several good tennis players will be on hand. In the A women's singles, three-time Class A champion Sonya Hutcherson of Memphis will be entered along with Amarillo High's Kim Clark and Kris Douglass of Pampa. Clark won the District 3-AAAA singles title this past spring, while Douglass finished as the runner-up. All three will also be entered in the 18 singles division.

Other names mentioned by Martin included Amarillo lawyer Mike Loftin, who will be in the A men's singles. Also, Leo Laborde, who is the former coach at both SMU and Amarillo College is entered. Martin said that he will compete in the men's A division doubles and 35 singles.

Laborde is the defending national champion in his age division.

Competition will run through Sunday. Singles will start at 9 a.m. each day with doubles action at 10 a.m.

NFL expected to outlaw the 'chop block'

NEW YORK (AP) — National Football League club owners were expected to outlaw forms of the "chop block" today in an effort to reduce the injury toll that has sidelined increasing numbers of high-priced talent in recent years.

The owners opened their two-day meeting Tuesday by banning tacklers from using their helmets to "butt, ram or spear" an opponent, and banning players from "unnecessarily" using the tops or crowns of their helmets against an opponent.

The prohibition against the use of helmets as battering arms carries a 15-yard penalty for violators, and was aimed at reducing rib and back injuries. The purpose of outlawing certain forms of the chop block would be to cut the number of leg and knee injuries.

"The chop block is an innovation of recent years where you get that low chop to the legs or knees...a lot of it is coached," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

He said the owners had debated legislation against it

Tuesday, but because some amendments were made, decided to put off a vote until today.

"They seem more concerned with the outside block rather than what happens on the interior line," Rozelle said in response to questions about the likely extent of the rule change. "It's a matter of how far they want to go."

Rozelle indicated that some club owners were reluctant to put further restrictions on what offensive linemen can do because "you open the gate to more injuries to the quarterback, the most valuable player on the club."

He said it was likely that a target of a ban on the chop block would be those offensive backs who zero in on pass rushers coming from the outside.

"They wait for the defensive end to come in, and then, when the offensive tackle is trying to hold him (the end) off, that back comes in and cuts him from the side," Rozelle explained. "He doesn't have to come in from the side. Even a small back, if the defensive end is being engaged by another offensive player, can come in and hit him head-on."

Rozelle said the proposed ban on certain forms of chop blocking and the ban on the use of helmets as weapons "were part of a continuing study to alter rules that will help reduce injuries."

The owners also agreed Tuesday on some modifications in the complicated procedure for breaking division ties in the standings and wild card ties.
