Accident in Wheeler kills child

A two-year-old Wheeler boy died Wednesday morning as a result of injuries he received in a back yard accident involving a home made barbecue grill.

Christopher Michael Wells, of Rt. 1, Wheeler, was playing in the yard of his parents Mr. and Mrs. David Bradstreet when a heavy barbecue grill made from a steel drum apparently came loose from its base and fell on the child, according to Wheeler County Justice of the Peace Charlie Whiteley.

The child was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident at 11:50 a.m. by Justice of the Peace Whiteley.

Services for Christopher M. Wells will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Ernie McGaughey officiating.

Burial will be in the Wheeler Cemetery under the direction of the Wright Funeral Home.

The child was born Feb. 18, 1978 in Sayre, Okla.

Survivors include his parents; his father, Stanley Wells of Grand Junction, Colo., one brother, Russell Bradstreet of the home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thoman Helton and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bradstreet both of Wheeler, and Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of Mobeetie; great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Helton and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Evans, both of Briscoe.

Texas gets Brilab after agents lose cover in California

HOUSTON (AP) — A Justice Department attorney says the Brilab investigation, which resulted in the indictment of Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton on racketeering charges, was moved from California to Texas after newspaper articles blew an FBI informant's cover.

During the third day of a pre-trial hearing Wednesday for Clayton and three other Brilab defendants, Bruce J. Kelton of Los Angeles testified the investigation was originally planned to center in Southern California, but later crossed state lines.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ronald Wood called Kelton to the stand in an effort to bolster the government's contention that federal jurisdiction was valid in the Brilab investigation.

Kelton told the court that the Brilab focus was switched after a series of newspaper articles in February of 1979 blew FBI informant Joseph Hauser's cover in Southern California.

At the close of Wednesday's proceedings, Wood also said he planned to call two FBI agents who posed as insurance company executives and accompanied Hauser during the 10-month investigation.

U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor was informed of the plan just after defense attorneys asked O'Connor to listen to a taped conversation between Hauser, labor leader L.G. Moore and Austin attorneys Randall B. Wood and Donald W. Hay.

Moore, Ray, Wood were indicted along with Clayton on June 12 by a federal grand jury here on charges of fraud, conspiracy, extortion and racketeering in connection with an alleged insurance kickback scheme.

After defense attorneys filed motions asking that charges against the four be dismissed, O'Connor has spent three days listening to tape recordings secretly recorded by Hauser.

Jury hears tapes in murder trial

By DEBORAH BRIDGES
Of The Pampa News

LIPSCOMB — A tape recording of a telephone conversation between Cathy Darlene Smith — on trial for the January murder of her husband, Dennis Smith — and a Texas Highway Patrol Trooper with whom she had had an intimate relationship was heard by the 10 woman-two man jury Wednesday.

The taped conversation between Mrs. Smith and Wayne Williams was played to the jury today after it was ruled admissible by 31st District Judge Grainger McIlhenny after a two-hour battle between District Attorney and John White, the defense counsel.

The tapes, Comer said, establish "the previous relationship existing between the accused and the deceased, together with all the relevant facts and circumstances going to show the condition of the mind of the accused at the time of the offense are admissible in a murder prosecution."

"Her comments on the tape specifically with reference to where she indicates on the tape that she went back to her husband because the witness (Williams) would not have her," he added.

On the tape recording, the voice identified by Williams as Cathy Smith's says, "I wanted you, but you didn't want me."

Also on the tape, the voice says, "He bought him another gun and he gave his old one to me. We've got guns. Listen, who cares, if worse comes to worse."

Tapes heard by the jury included quotes in a female voice which said, "He wasn't going to give me a divorce anyway. He would have dragged it on for months, so he made me so miserable, I would have had to do something."

At the end of the conversation a woman's voice said, "Oh, oh, he just drove by and I am on the phone... see, I've gotten myself into trouble... I may not live to see another day... (laughter.)"

The jury was recessed Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. The court remained to listen to the 45-minute tape at White's request.

One other conversation between Williams and Mrs. Smith was on all of which were not admitted into evidence.

As his reason for taping telephone calls, Williams said he made the tapes because of threatening phone calls he had been receiving and because of some "rumors that I was saying something I wasn't."

The relationship between Mrs. Smith and Williams, he said, began the last of August, 1979 when he received a phone call from Mrs. Smith about a "problem."

The problem, Williams said he was told, was that she was not in love with her husband, anymore.

"There was this one person," Williams said Mrs. Smith said in that phone conversation, "that came into Steddum's that excited her, that turned her on."

She said later in the call, Williams added, that "the person was me."

Williams said he told her he was "flattered" but that he did not see married ladies because of DPS rules and for personal reasons.

"I told her I would see her if she was single," he said. One day later, he said, she filed for divorce.

Williams and Mrs. Smith had intimate relations on two occasions, Williams said, before Mrs. Smith returned to her husband about 10 days before the 60 day waiting period of her divorce was up.

To Comer's query if he knew why she returned to Dennis Smith, Williams said, "I believe I do. I told her I wanted to see other people and she took it as a rejection, that I did not want her."

Williams testified that she called him again when the Smith's returned from a second honeymoon in Colorado Springs early in October. This is the call, he said, which has been submitted into evidence.

While testifying, Williams faced the jury or the judge directly, not looking at Mrs. Smith.

The defendant watched Williams as he answered the questions, at times shaking her head emphatically or emitting a small laugh. It appeared once that her eyes misted with tears as he talked of their affair.

Testimony Wednesday by Amarillo pathologist Jose Esquivel-Diaz — who performed the autopsy on the deceased — revealed Dennis Smith died of a "hemopericardium."

In simpler terms, Dr. Diaz said, Smith died when his heart failed after the area between the wall and pericardium or sac surrounding it was filled with blood from a gunshot wound which pierced the heart.

At the time of his death, Diaz testified, Smith was "legally drunk." Blood tests showed a .20 percent level of alcohol in his blood stream, he said.

Smith was also suffering from a moderate amount of emphysema and some arteriosclerosis — hardening of the arteries, which Diaz said was unusual for a man of his age and physical condition.

Diaz told the jury that the 30-year-old Smith was well-developed and well-nourished and appeared to be in his twenties.

The second gunshot wound located in the upper abdomen entered the body at an approximate angle of 10 degrees, Diaz said. The bullet was farther from the body when it was discharged than the first bullet which entered the heart, he said.

Other testimony heard Wednesday included District Attorney Investigator, Kirven Roper and two witnesses from the DPS Criminal Investigation Laboratory in Austin.

Roper identified the physical evidence gathered at the scene of the murder he received from the Pampa Police Department and had taken to the DPS laboratory in Austin.

This evidence included the shirt worn by Smith the night of the shooting, two .38 caliber handguns, three spent cartridges and several live rounds of ammunition.

Calvin S. Storey of Round Rock, a ballistics examiner from the lab testified that the bullets retrieved by Dr. Diaz from the body of Smith were shot from the .38 caliber revolver found near the deceased the night of the shooting.

A test of the "trigger pull" the amount of pressure needed to fire the gun, he said, showed the revolver did not have a "hair trigger" but need 3 to 5 pounds of pressure to fire, if already cocked or 11 to 13 pounds to fire without cocking the gun. Both were within the normal range, Storey said.

A chemist for the crime lab, James M. Thomas of Austin, said his tests of the shirt Smith was wearing when he died, indicate the gun muzzle was located two inches from the chest when it was first fired. The second shot was fired with the gun muzzle at a distance of approximately two feet from the chest, he also stated.

Three other state's witnesses are expected to be called today, Comer said, including a polygraph examiner from the Department of Public Safety in Lubbock.

Wayne Williams resumed testimony today saying that he and his partner, Trooper Gordon Miller, were working the night of the shooting in the vicinity of the Smith residence. They heard the report of the shooting over the police radio band.

They responded to the call as a back-up to city police, a normal practice. When he arrived, Williams said, Mrs. Smith was on the porch hysterically crying. He quoted her as saying, "Do something for Dennis," before fainting at his feet.

He and Officer John Bennett carried the woman to a police vehicle. She sat in the front seat on the passenger side next to Bennett. Williams testified he sat in the back directly behind the woman. Williams said he began to rub her neck and shoulders, "trying to calm her down."

Williams said he asked Mrs. Smith what happened and said, "Did you tell him?"

At this point, White objected to Williams' testimony. Judge McIlhenny overruled the objection and Williams continued.

Williams said she (the defendant) told him the argument began when she told her husband she was going to leave him. Mrs. Smith told Williams the victim said, "You are breaking my heart. It's killing me. You might as well do it yourself." Williams testified she then told him Smith thrust the gun toward her and pulled her and the gun toward his chest. Mrs. Smith said she did not remember anything after that, Williams said, and then she began crying.

Mrs. Smith phoned him twice prior to the shooting Williams said.

He said the first time was January 10 when she called to see if he had received a five dollar bill from her in the mail. The money was in connection the pair had made earlier. The second call, Williams said, came the following Saturday about 3:30 p.m. At that time, Williams said, Mrs. Smith was upset. "She said she was thinking of leaving her husband again." She told him also he (Dennis Smith) said it would break his heart, that it would kill him if she left, Williams said.

In cross examination, White asked Williams whether Mrs. Smith had told him that she felt it was her duty to go back to her husband. Williams answered that he did not recall that, but that he remembered her saying she had talked to her husband and to her brother who had told her divorce was not allowed by their religion.

Testimony in the trial was continuing late this afternoon.

Radioactive warning issued

TOKYO (AP) — A Soviet nuclear submarine caught fire in international waters off Okinawa today and at least nine crewmen were killed and three injured, the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency reported.

It warned ships and aircraft to stay clear of the area because of possible radioactive contamination, but first reports, from a patrol plane dispatched to the scene 84 miles east of Okinawa, said no sign of radiation was found.

The fire occurred just before dawn. The submarine had radioed for help but crewmen apparently were able to get the situation under control fairly quickly.

As the damaged submarine lay virtually dead in the water, in calm seas, a Soviet ship arrived in response to an earlier call for assistance. The vessel, identified as the training ship Meridian, took about 20 crewmen off the sub.

A British ship, the 48,000-ton tanker Gari, was first on the scene in response to distress calls from the sub and stood by throughout the day. A Japanese patrol boat also reached the scene but the submarine's captain refused to allow the Japanese aboard his craft.

One of several Japanese air defense helicopters dispatched to the scene reported about 50 crewmen were on the deck of the sub waving flags.

Photos taken from the aircraft showed some of the crewmen wearing what appeared to be white, ankle-length cloaks and seemingly segregated from the rest.

Japanese and U.S. officials said they could not speculate on the purpose of the clothing or the apparent separation of the crew members. A U.S. Navy source said he knew of no type of similar apparel aboard U.S. nuclear subs.

Officials at the Maritime Safety Agency's headquarters in Okinawa said the submarine was a 1960s-vintage craft of the "Echo" class.

According to the British publication Jane's Fighting Ships, the sub originally was fitted with missiles but they were removed in recent years. The vessel normally carries a crew of about 100 and is based at the Soviet Siberian port of Vladivostok.

Maritime Safety officials said they learned of the casualties from intercepted radio traffic between the submarine and the Meridian.

It was the second fatal mishap involving Soviet military craft in the vicinity of Japan in two months. On June 27, a Soviet reconnaissance plane crashed in the Sea of Japan, apparently killing all aboard.

Pampa Mall celebrating first year with huge cake

By SHEILA ECCLES
Of the News

The exacting ingredients of the six foot cake which was displayed in the Pampa Mall include some 30 pounds of sugar, eggs measured in gallons approximately two, 100 pounds of powdered sugar for the icing, an electric drill, one hammer and a saw.

To E. Lee Henson, the creator of the towering culinary delight, the whole thing is, "just my job."

Henson is, in real life, a Bakery Merchandiser for the Safeway Chain of food stores headquartered in Oklahoma City, and creating huge delicacies is one of his many bakery talents.

"Actually this cake is not very big, but it is my top of the line scratch cake," Henson said.

As part of the first anniversary celebration, the cake was ordered and will be served to Mall customers. "The cake will serve at least 500 persons, we actually started with a cake that would serve 300 but I got carried away," Henson said.

A cake of six foot dimensions must be supported by a wooden base and, according to Henson, "cutting those boards was the hardest part. The form will weigh approximately 75-80 pounds when we are through."

The "we" includes an assistant, Theresa Barker, employed by the Pampa food store. Theresa provided much of the help during the "putting together" stages.

Orders starting with "Theresa hand me this, and Theresa where is that," could be heard throughout the day, as Henson hurried to finish his creation on time.

"The hurry up part of the job keeps you moving," Henson said. "You can't waste time when you have an order to fill."

The cake progressed from six separate, round and rectangular bland forms into a towering ambrosia, frosted with a multitude of small candied rosettes, all hand made by the deft Henson.

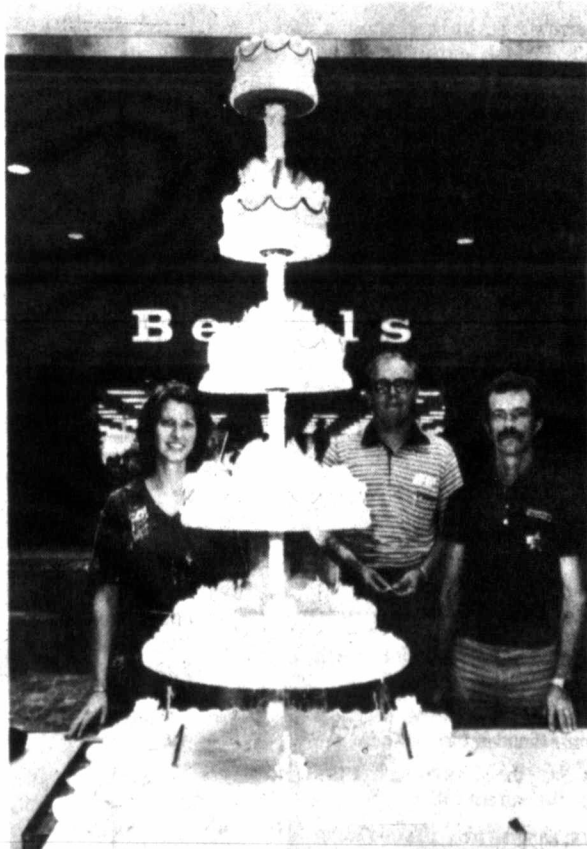

"After eight hours we should be finished," Henson said, "as Theresa looked a bit doubtful, he quickly added, "Well it may take a bit longer."

The finished product will be made of an all white moist cake, with creamy white frosting and a variety of sculptured earth tone roses. "We hope," Henson said.

Encouragement comes from everyone as they pass the bakery and watch the marvelous confection take shape.

After 32 years in the bakery business Henson said, "The only time I really stop and enjoy the aromatic smells is early in the morning, when I first go into a store."

As a final look at the cake brought a satisfied smile to Henson, he sighed and said, "I just hope it doesn't fall down when my back is turned."

IT IS ONLY A JOB. E.L. Henson says baking giant confections is "only a job," as he worked on a giant birthday cake for the Pampa Mall. The giant cake will serve 500 well wishers visiting in the Mall today, tomorrow and Saturday as merchants mark the first year in operation.

A BIG FIRST YEAR CELEBRATION CAKE will be served at Pampa Mall, marking one year in operation today, Friday and Saturday. Merchants in the complex are marking the event with special activities. Measuring up the giant cake, from left Cheryl Every, manager of the Mall, Jay Trooper, manager of Vance Hall and T-Shirts Plus manager, Miles Cook.

NO ONE could enjoy the deliciously frosted white cake more than a curious 2-year-old, and Hans Jorgensen, 313 N. Wells seems to fit the description to a tee. The six-foot cake in all its splendor never looked as good as Hans thought it tasted.

Florida priest shortage prompts recruiting

A bold billboard towers over a busy Miami intersection in Florida: "White Collar Workers Needed." This is no plea for briefcase-toting business types — the ad recruits priests.

Roman Catholic authorities in Florida say the state is in "desperate need" of holy men — with many fewer priests per person than the national average.

The priest shortage is not confined to Florida, however, according to the Rev. Caesar Russo, vocational director of the Diocese of St. Augustine. He said it's a national and worldwide problem.

"There is no doubt that there is a (U.S.) shortage," concurred Bob Wonderly, spokesman for the U.S. Catholic Conference in Washington, D.C., "but the situation is turning around."

Wonderly said there were 59,192 Roman Catholic priests in the United States in 1970, the most ever. By 1979, the figure had declined to 58,430, but this year the total number has risen to 58,621.

He declined to estimate the number of priests needed within the U.S. church: "There are never really enough."

Wonderly also declined to connect the shortage of priests with Tuesday's announcement by the Catholic Conference that married Episcopal priests will be permitted to become Roman Catholic priests and remain married, under a plan approved by the Vatican.

The two matters are "completely unrelated," he said.

The U.S. average of priests per persons of the Roman Catholic faith, while still indicating a need for more priests, is far better than that in some areas of the world, notably Latin America and Africa.

According to Vatican statistics, America has roughly 120 priests for every 100,000 Catholics. The numbers of priests for Latin America and southern Africa, respectively, are 16 and 33 per 100,000 worshippers.

Last month, the Vatican's Congregation for the Clergy appealed to dioceses in America and Europe (where the rate is 93 priests per 100,000 people) to send more men to countries which sorely need priests. But the appeal comes at a time when bishops, even in priest-rich regions, feel they can barely cover their own parish needs.

Reasons for the lack of priests are hard to define, priests say.

Wonderly noted the steady level of resignations from the priesthood that followed the controversial decisions of Vatican II in the mid-1960s and said interest in the priesthood is only now picking up again.

"It's not anything against the church," said the Rev. Thomas O'Dwyer, dean of students at the Archdiocese of Miami. "It's really an accumulation of things." Materialism and a lack of some sense of commitment by many men could be blamed in part, he said.

Family flees Afghanistan

PLANO (AP) — An Afghani airline official who said he had been tortured by Soviet secret police led his family across 150 miles of rugged mountains toward freedom and political asylum in the United States.

Aziz Hamid, 47, his wife, five children and elderly mother escaped Afghanistan on foot, fleeing from the Soviet invaders he said accused him of spying for the United States.

"In this country there is freedom," said Hamid, whose dramatic escape began more than a year ago in Kabul.

"I wanted to come here because it is a land of opportunity," he said.

Hamid and his family are the first Afghani refugees to seek political asylum in the Dallas area.

Hamid said the Russian secret police tortured him for two hours each night after his January 1979 arrest by sending electrical charges through wires to his toes and legs.

"They were asking if I was connected with the CIA," Hamid said. "It was nonsense ... the actual reason was my grandfather, on my mother's side, was related to the former king of Afghanistan, Mohammed Zahirshah."

After two weeks of interrogations, the secret police released him with orders that he was to stay home and not work for any government or foreign agency, Hamid said.

He said the Russians also confiscated his family's large land holdings.

"We had 700 acres of land in the eastern part of Afghanistan, a mill, tractors, a farm house," he said. "We didn't have any income to live on. At that time we decided to leave the country. My life was in danger. Secret police were watching me."

The family decided to escape, and late one night walked to a bus stop one by one — since the Soviets do not allow more than two people to walk together on Kabul streets — and traveled to Galwalabad.

They hid two days and three nights in a house they owned before leaving with Afghani guides who were to take them through the mountains to the Pakistani border, Hamid said.

"We hired a bus to take us near a town close to the boundary," Hamid said, "but it broke down. So we started walking."

Aided only by two donkeys — one for Hamid's 75-year-old mother and for him because his leg wounds had not healed — the family trudged over the mountains with little food and no extra clothes, he said.

The reached the border on May 4, 1979 and stayed in Peshawar two months while recovering from the journey. Then they went to Islamabad to seek visas and political asylum from the American consulate.

The family spent three and a half months in Islamabad and five and a half months in Frankfurt, West Germany, before receiving permission to enter the United States.

Hamid said he came to Plano because he had heard of the low unemployment rates in the area. They live with their sixth son, his wife and child.

The family, now penniless, has found no jobs despite three weeks of searching, he said.

U.N. Council censors Israel's Jerusalem law

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — With the United States abstaining, the U.N. Security Council censured Israel's new Jerusalem law and called on the 13 nations with embassies in the Holy City to withdraw them.

The council resolution, adopted Wednesday by a 14-0 vote, declared the law was "null and void and must be rescinded." It ordered Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim to report by Nov. 15 whether Israel obeyed the order.

Israel was certain to reject the resolution, as it does all such U.N. actions against it. Israeli Ambassador Yehuda Z. Blum told the council the law "merely reaffirms the situation that has prevailed in Jerusalem for a long time."

The law, passed by the Israeli Knesset, or Parliament, on July 30, declared all of Jerusalem the undivided and eternal capital of the Jewish state. But all of Jerusalem had been Israel's capital since the Jewish state annexed East Jerusalem, the Arab sector and site of the city's Jewish, Christian and Moslem holy places, after capturing it from Jordan in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Blum said it was "an indisputable fact that although throughout the centuries Israel has known many rulers, it (Jerusalem) has been the capital city for only one people — that is the Jewish people. No amount of gansaying, distortion and hostile resolutions can alter that undeniable historical fact."

In an unusual move, Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie appeared before the council to explain why the United States could not support the resolution. He said it was

"fundamentally flawed" because it censured only Israel without condemning "violence against Israel or ... efforts to undermine Israel's legitimate security needs."

Muskie, who interrupted a vacation in Maine for his first U.N. speech since becoming secretary of state in four months ago, also defended "the Camp David process...and its ultimate goal of a just and lasting peace throughout the region." He accused the United Nations of "recourse to debates and resolutions that are not germane to the peace process and even harmful to it."

Zehdi Labib Terzi, the Palestine Liberation Organization's U.N. observer, called Muskie's speech "pontification" for political ends.

"I am sure the American administration is grateful to us for convening the session because it afforded their spokesman a platform for his electioneering campaign," said Terzi.

The PLO and its Arab supporters wanted a resolution calling for military and economic sanctions against Israel, but the Arabs accepted the lesser censure when it became clear they did not have the council majority needed to pass a sanctions resolution. Muskie confirmed that the United States would have vetoed any resolution calling for sanctions against Israel.

Only 13 nations had recognized Jerusalem as Israel's capital by maintaining embassies there. Three of them — Venezuela, Ecuador and Uruguay — announced after the Knesset vote that they will move their embassies to Tel Aviv, the Israeli commercial capital, where the U.S. Embassy and all others are located.

Two joggers killed in Kansas City street

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Two joggers were shot to death and another wounded at an intersection near Liberty Park by a gunman firing a high-powered rifle from a nearby field. Salt Lake police said today.

Lt. R.O. Bramun said shots fired Wednesday night were possibly from a .30-caliber rifle. He said six casings were found in the field.

Detective D. Bell said Ted Fields, 20, and a Dave or Daniel Martin, 18, were killed.

He said identities of the wounded jogger and a fourth jogger, who was not injured, were not available because they are juvenile girls.

Bramun said one girl suffered a minor wound when hit by a bullet fragment, and the other girl was suffering from shock.

He said officers had a suspect, not in custody, who might have been acquainted with the victims. He declined to say what motive was suspected.

Blood stains indicated one of the men was shot near the middle of the road and the other about 20 feet nearer the curb.

Names in the news

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Edward Koch, who came out the loser in two recent bets, is trying to recoup from Chrysler Corp. chairman Lee Iacocca.

The wager was initiated by Iacocca, who heard Koch say during the Democratic National Convention that a federal loan guarantee for the financially ailing automaker was "ridiculous."

Iacocca wrote "I'll bet you a box of Monte Cristos (Cuban cigars) that we pay off our guaranteed loans before New York City does."

He referred to the more than $1 billion in guarantees given to save Chrysler from going under and the $1.6 billion in guarantees to keep New York City out of bankruptcy.

Koch's gambling fever recently cost him a bushel of apples in a baseball bet with Baltimore Mayor William Donald Schaefer over a series between the Orioles and the Yankees. He also lost a weight-reducing contest with the Queens Borough President Donald Manes and had to pay off with a dinner.

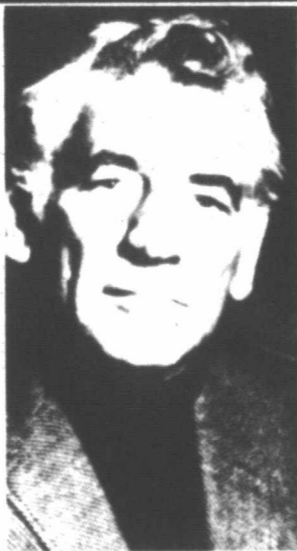

Koch said he wished the Chrysler chairman "the very best."

Seranak has been the scene of composition and conducting seminars every year since Koussevitzky founded the Berkshire Music Center in 1940 — with Bernstein in the inaugural class.

In recognition of Bernstein's gift, the Boston Symphony will name the main living room of the mansion for Bernstein.

Sect must stay in booth at fair

ABILENE (AP) — A U.S. District Judge has ordered members of Krishna Consciousness, a religious sect, to remain in booths if they solicit money at the West Texas State Fair, adding the fair is not a government institution.

The Krishnas contended since the fair was operated by a government institution — the county — confining their activities to a booth infringed on their religious freedom under the First Amendment.

Federal Judge Hal Woodward struck down the Krishnas' request to roam the fairgrounds in a ruling late Tuesday.

"Although a Texas statute authorizes a county to operate a fair, such a fair cannot be construed as one of the traditional governmental functions such as levying taxes, health, fire and police protection," Woodward said.

Texan willing to leave Titanic lie

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Texas millionaire Jack Grimm, who spent $1 million to find the sunken luxury liner Titanic, says he's willing to leave it in its cold grave. But he's also willing to spend another $3 million to get to its safe.

His searchers, aboard the H.J.W. Fay, were heading for dock in Boston today carrying evidence that convinced them they have located the 66-year-old hulk of the proud British ship 350 miles off Newfoundland.

Grimm said Wednesday he was convinced enough by the search party's findings to spend $3 million to reactivate a 51-foot submarine with 9-foot robot arms to cut through the Titanic's hull next May or June.

"We just want to recover the safe in the purser's office," said Grimm, 55, of Abilene. The purser was an officer handling money and valuables aboard ship.

"With the sonar images, we can prove this is the right ship," said Grimm. "We had the configuration of the ship, 882.5 feet long, 95 feet wide, 175 feet tall from keel to stacks. It was one of a kind."

"I've already laid claim. We will be filing papers in the United States, Canada and England."

Grimm said he planned to be on the Aluminaut when it dives next summer. He said its robot arms will cut a hole with a torch in the starboard hull and lift out the safe and other items.

Even if the safe doesn't contain diamonds, Grimm is sure it will contain the valuables of its passengers, who included some of the day's most prominent society figures.

The Titanic, the largest of its day at 46,328 tons and billed as unsinkable, struck an iceberg on its maiden voyage April 15, 1912, and sank. A total of 1,517 of the 2,200 aboard perished, including both pursers.

"I don't know what's in the safe. One English magazine reported the safe contained a $125 million shipment of diamonds," he said, adding their worth could be nearly $300 million at current exchange rates.

He said the search already has cost him in excess of $1 million.

"It'll cost approaching $1 million to outfit the submarine Aluminaut and another $2 million to conduct the dive," he said.

"My banker is looking at me very closely."

The American search party aboard the H.J.W. Fay reported Friday that a sonar scanning sled submerged beneath the Atlantic located what appeared to be the sunken ship's outlines at 12,000 feet.

Stormy weather prevented the searchers from lowering a television camera, and the mission was called off Sunday.

Accident victim satisfactory

The condition of a Pampa man, Tom H. Glover, 55, of 817 N. Wells, who was injured in an early morning accident Monday, is listed as satisfactory today at St. Anthony's Hospital. Glover is suffering from a broken leg and various abrasions and contusions.

Glover was a passenger in a 1976 Buick driven by Paris Lee Rains, 54, 933 Duncan at the time of the accident. Rains was treated and released from the Highland General Hospital Emergency Room.

According to reports from the Texas Highway Patrol officer Trooper Johnny Carter, the accident occurred at 7 a.m. on the Clarendon Highway when a 1978 GMC pickup driven by Eugene Douglas Brock, 36, of Box 1321 Pampa, stopped at the stop sign on an intersecting road and the highway. The Brock vehicle then proceeded on the path of the southbound vehicle.

The pickup was broadsided by the Buick, Trooper Carter said. The driver of the pickup, Brock, was not injured.

Former attorney general says stop state fight on Medicaid

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Former Attorney General John Hill says he will urge the State Board on Monday to end the fighting over Texas' $400 million-a-year Medicaid contract by giving it to H. Ross Perot.

"I do expect to make a presentation, particularly about the underlying merits of the case — what is in the best interests of the taxpayers," said Hill, who lost a race for governor in 1978 and now handles some of Perot's legal business.

Hill said he advised Perot to visit each of the three board members after they voted July 15 to give the contract to Bradford National Corp. of New York City.

Department of Human Resources staff members and consultants said Bradford's bid would be $20 million to $50 million cheaper than Perot's.

Perot made the visits, and the board reopened the contract on July 29. It will hold a public hearing Monday on the issue.

Bradford's chairman, Peter Del Col, said he would sue if the board gives the contract to Perot's National Heritage Insurance Co. Del Col says Perot violated the Texas Administrative Procedure Act in visiting the board members.

"The Administrative Procedure Act does not apply in this instance," Hill said.

Bradford ran full-page newspaper ads today complaining of Perot's activities and the board's backtracking on the contract.

"That seems like desperation tactics to me," said Hill.

Texas is the only state that pays the medical bills of welfare recipients — 700,000 of them — by paying premiums on a group insurance policy for the needy.

Perot formed National Heritage Insurance Co. about four years ago to bid on the Medicaid contract, then held by Blue Cross.

Jamming suspected in Soviet radio broadcasts of strikes

MOSCOW (AP) — Heavy interference, sounding like buzz-saws and garbled voices, drowned out American radio broadcasts to the Soviet Union for a second day today raising speculation the Kremlin was trying to silence Russian-language reports of the widespread strikes in neighboring Poland.

The Voice of America accused Soviet authorities of jamming its Russian-language

Father fights moonies to see daughter

By GARY LANGER
Associated Press Writer
CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — For five years, Don Kieffer has been fighting to see his daughter. His wish came true in U.S. District Court here — but she was testifying against him in a $1 million suit he filed against the Unification Church.

Kieffer's civil suit contends the church recruited his adopted daughter, now 21, when she was a minor, exercised "mind control methods" over her and "wrongfully deprived him of his natural parental right."

Jana Kieffer's court appearance Tuesday and Wednesday satisfied one of his goals: "to bring her into court and see if she's all right."

But she disputed his claims. "I don't think brainwashing goes on. ... You can't control somebody's mind. That's ridiculous," she told Judge Shane Devine.

She said she still is a member of the church founded by the Rev. Sun Myung Moon, a Korean industrialist and evangelist, and its affiliate, Collegiate Association for the Research of Principals.

Miss Kieffer left her New Hampshire home in June 1975, joining her divorced mother at the Unification Church seminary in Barrytown, N.Y.

Gloria Kieffer had joined the church after she was divorced in 1973 from Kieffer, who won custody of their four children, including Jana and another child from her previous marriage whom he had adopted in 1962.

Miss Kieffer said her mother introduced her to the church and she joined because "I just felt very insecure living where I was. I just didn't see anything happening to my life that I could look forward to."

Kieffer refused his daughter permission to join the church, but he was "totally unaware of how to retrieve her. I tried to keep it as a family matter, tried to resolve it by writing to her and phoning her. But she seemed to be quite hostile to me."

When he tried to visit her in August 1975, he was told she wasn't there.

"In early 1977, I met my first ex-moonie and she just stood my hair on end with the story of what had happened to her," Kieffer said.

Legal action began that year after his ex-wife, then remarried, moved to Manchester and tried to contact his two younger children, Kieffer said.

Fearing she would try to bring the other children into the church, Kieffer sought to cancel his ex-wife's visitation rights and have his daughter produced in court.

The visitation rights were canceled in late 1977, but the Hillsboro County Superior Court said it could not compel the church to produce Miss Kieffer.

After amending his suit to seek damages against the church, the trial opened here this summer.

So far, ex-members of the church, a psychiatrist, and Kieffer's ex-wife have testified, and the trial is expected to last through the week.

Anderson narrows VP choices to three

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — John B. Anderson has narrowed his choice of vice presidential candidates to three possibilities — former Wisconsin Gov. Patrick Lucey, Boston Mayor Kevin White and former Texas Rep. Barbara Jordan — according to sources close to the independent presidential candidate.

The sources say Lucey, a former deputy national campaign director with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's failed presidential campaign, is the frontrunner to be offered the No. 2 spot with Anderson.

Closing the list to three prospective candidates followed an intensive, but unsuccessful effort to recruit Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., sources said.

Lucey, who also served as President Carter's ambassador to Mexico, is known to be willing to accept an offer to become Anderson's running mate.

A decision on the critical choice of Anderson's vice presidential candidate is expected soon, probably by early next week, when it will likely be announced in Washington.

Sources said White is still seriously considered because some campaign officials believe Anderson, a Republican congressman from Illinois, must choose a northeastern Democratic liberal to balance his ticket and ensure substantial voter support in the industrial states.

Ms. Jordan, who retired from Congress in 1978, is recalled for her performance as a speaker who spellbound delegates to the 1976 Democratic National convention which first nominated Carter.

As a black woman, she would appeal to minorities, among whom Anderson has been attempting to tap support which will most likely go to Carter in the Nov. 4 general election.

Republican expresses opposition to 'prayer and politics'

DALLAS (AP) — Ronald Reagan's participation at a two-day religious forum could link the Republican presidential nominee too closely with an emerging alliance of fundamentalist leaders, says a delegate to next month's state GOP convention.

And delegate Maury Schermann said Wednesday he plans to introduce a resolution denouncing the "religious overtones" of the National Affairs Briefing aimed at rallying ministers and laymen at the ballot box in November.

Schermann said he is outraged that Reagan, former Treasury Secretary and Texas Gov. John Connally and Rep. Phillip Crane, R-Ill., had agreed to speak to the non-denominational gathering about church participation in politics.

Also appearing at the two-day conference that opens today are Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry; Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C.; anti-ERA activist Phyllis Schlafly and the Rev. Jerry Falwell, television evangelist.

Between 10,000 to 20,000 people are expected to hear speeches about the Equal Rights Amendment, rights of homosexuals and abortion.

The proposed "Freedom of Choice" resolution, to be introduced at the Republican state convention in San Antonio next month, would reaffirm the Constitution not only guarantees freedom, but "rejects the religious overtones within politics," said Schermann.

The Rev. James Robison, conference co-chairman and television evangelist, rejected allegations that the briefing stepped over the constitutional barriers separating church and government.

"The basis of separation of the church and the state was intended to prevent a state-controlled, tax-supported church. The church has a duty to influence the direction this nation is heading and the people deciding policy," said Robison, who heads an expanding evangelist association near Fort Worth.

However, Schermann charged, "Mr. Robison wants to make the church and state as one entity. Obviously, he does not believe in the Constitution."

Schermann said he and other party leaders were concerned the campaigns of Reagan and other GOP candidates would be linked too closely to Robison and other fundamentalist leaders.

"I think some of the speakers don't know what they're getting themselves into. It scares the hell out of me, and if Mr. Reagan persists, I'll be against him," he said.

Relief officials say some hurricane loss claims false

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Almost half of the 9,000 South Texans who have sought disaster aid for damages caused by Hurricane Allen apparently are giving false information to relief workers, federal officials say.

The disturbing pattern was noticed Wednesday morning during a meeting of directors of the six federal aid centers.

"In at least two of the six federal aid centers ... interviewers are being besieged by alleged victims who all claim they lost exactly $20 worth of food while electrical power was out," federal coordinating officer Dale Milford said.

Federal officials refused to specify the two centers.

"We have indications that as many as half of those visiting the disaster assistance centers are telling something less than the truth about their disaster-related losses," Milford said.

Suspected fraud cases will be turned over to the FBI and state officials for investigation and prosecution.

Airlines head tries to 'clear the air'

GRAPEVINE (AP) — When it comes to Braniff Airways' financial straits, says Harding Lawrence, don't believe everything you read.

The airline's chief executive officer spent an entire workday closeted with reporters at Braniff's world headquarters here Wednesday, trying to "clear the air" of reports the company is on the verge of collapse.

"Braniff is not in financial trouble," Lawrence said emphatically. "We're not wrapping ourselves in glory but we are doing all the right things to adjust to the economic environment."

In the past few months, Braniff's financial maneuvers have come under close scrutiny by the financial community, including local business reporters.

"I read them and I cringe," Lawrence said of the reports.

The company recently sold 15 of its Boeing 727 jetliners, a move interpreted as a desperate effort to acquire cash.

Braniff also delayed taking delivery on a Boeing 747 jumbo jet it ordered, closed three domestic stations since the year began and reported a loss of nearly $48 million in the second quarter of this year.

Lawrence told the gathered reporters, in a session he admitted was "unusual," that all the company's maneuvers were planned well in advance and were management responses to changing economic conditions.

He said selling the airplanes — "There's an implication we were selling the family jewels."

was part of a planned fleet reduction in anticipation of a national recession "that will last, I think, well into 1981."

He said waiting to accept the 747 was a matter of convenience, not necessity, and is a common industry practice.

The 1980 loss, he said, is in line with losses reported by other major carriers when compared to total revenue, and can be blamed on jet fuel price hikes.

"It was one of the most serious problems I've ever had to deal with because I didn't understand it," he said of the fuel prices, which now make up 66 percent of the company's operating cost.

"That is the culprit, that has been the culprit, and it continues to be the culprit," Lawrence said he retains the full confidence of his directors, stockholders and major lenders — "If I didn't, I wouldn't be here." — and said rumors of his impending resignation are simply that.

"In two to three years, my role with Braniff will be dramatically different than it is today," he said, predicting he eventually would relinquish operating control and become a "dollar-a-year man."

But he added, "I will be available to this organization for the rest of my useful life, if there is a role I can play."

"If I had it all to do over again I would do it exactly as I have done."

He said he hoped the company would "return to profitability" by the end of this year and, concerning 1981, "we're working on that now."

But he made no predictions.

"I don't speculate, I don't guess — not publicly," he said.

Texas briefs

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — A Jefferson County grand jury has indicted a second school district official here on charges of theft, official misconduct and aggravated perjury.

Deputy Superintendent Bernard Fleener, 58, of the Port Arthur Independent School District, is accused of turning in expenses for a trip to Houston for a secondary education seminar he did not attend and of lying to the grand jury about it, said District Attorney James McGrath.

Allen aided shrimpers along Texas Gulf coast

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Hurricane Allen blessed local shrimpers with catches up to six times greater than before the storm and the windfall has come at a time when they need it the most.

"It came when we needed it because prices of diesel fuel and the imports from Mexico were about to bankrupt the industry down here," said shrimper Carl Gayman.

The hurricane stirred up Gulf shrimp on the ocean bottom two weeks ago and the heavy catches should last another week or two, he said.

"It will be a shot in the arm for everybody, depending on how long it lasts. It will sure salvage the year for us," Gayman said.

One of the largest shrimp fleets in the world operates out of Brownsville and Port Isabel, with 500 to 700 boats.

The large harvests are welcome news in South Texas where many shrimpers last season applied for Small Business Administration loans because of a dismal catch.

Shrimpers blamed the poor year on heavy rains that killed young shrimp, high diesel prices and the closing of Mexican shrimp grounds to U.S. boats.

"It was shaping up to be a bad season two years in a row. I think we were looking at a lot of bankruptcies," said Melvin Power of the WPB Shrimp Producers Inc. of Port Isabel.

Gayman said his boats were hauling in only 200 pounds a night before the storm. However, he said trawlers now are taking in up to 1,200 pounds in a day's work.

A check with other shrimp fishermen in Brownsville and Port Isabel shows similar catch increases following the storm.

"It happens after every hurricane," said Power. "It activates the ocean bottom waters and puts the shrimp closer to the surface. It probably won't last more than a week or two."

After the seas calmed from Hurricane Allen, shrimpers headed out to see if the storm would have the same result as past ones.

"Some went out Aug. 11 and on the 12th, they started getting real good catches," said Carlos Villarreal of Trans-Gulf Trawlers Inc. in Brownsville.

Villarreal said his company's seven boats have been averaging between 1,000 to 1,500 a day per trawler.

"The shrimp are out in the daytime. Usually they're just out at night. And that helps the crew. They can see more of what they're doing," he said.

Guy Pete, a longtime Brownsville shrimper, said every storm he's been through since the 1933 hurricane has been a boon to the industry.

"You know you get the good with the bad. The hurricane does a lot of bad things. But with every hurricane the shrimp show up and they show up good," Pete said. "It'll make it a fair season."

Pete said some of his boats also have pulled up file cabinets, window frames, furniture and other debris that the storm washed to sea.

Memories of 'Golden Age' scheduled by networks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Public television puts on the rose-hued glasses this evening, and takes a glance backward at TV's "Golden Age" with a kinescope presentation of Rod Serling's 1956 masterpiece, "Requiem for a Heavyweight."

It's the right moment for such an endeavor, when today's television industry is struck dead and the postponement of its fall season fare is not universally lamented. Now NBC announces it plans to bring "The Flintstones" back — on prime time. Yes, a perfect time to bathe in the bright memory of a Golden Age.

"Requiem" has come to be a symbol of what was right with television in its beginnings, a standard against which to measure the medium's progress.

Some of the principals from that "Playhouse 90" offer their views in a prologue to tonight's presentation of "Requiem," part of a series called "The Golden Age of Television."

"I think it was just a marvelous time," says Jack Palance, acclaimed for his portrayal of the vanquished pug, Mountain McClintock.

Jack Klugman, host for the series:

"You know, live television drama is a rarity these days. But there was a time back in the '50s when you could find at least one live drama on TV every single night.... Oh, they were exciting, and they were classic and they were modern and intriguing — wonderful...."

"We had incredible writers. We had Paddy Chayefsky and Gore Vidal and Reginald Rose and Rod Serling. We had brilliant young directors. We had Johnny Frankenheimer and Sidney Lumet and Arthur Penn and Ralph Nelson...."

You're tempted, especially after hearing that NBC is going to bring "The Flintstones" to prime time, to swallow that line and its implication:

That is, that television was once an inspired and glorious art form with grand promise for the future before the low-browed public and the industry's moneygrubbers and salesmen conspired to subvert this great national treasure, television.

Oh yeah? The 1956 season, in which "Requiem" and other dramas to CBS, was also the season of "What's My Line?"

Of that season's top 10 shows, three were comedy-variety shows, two were sitcoms, two were game shows, one was a western, one was suspense. There was but one live drama show in the lot, CBS' "General Electric Theater."

So, watch "Requiem for a Heavyweight" tonight, if your PBS station is carrying it.

State position in spill events said inadequate

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A proposed agreement between the state and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency on how the state should react to oil spills is inadequate, according to the Sierra Club.

The Sierra Club says the agreement leaves out one important aspect of spills — preventing them.

The agreement was presented at a Wednesday public hearing that attracted only two witnesses. The proposal includes eight project priorities for the coming fiscal year.

The first item in the proposal was handling of oil and hazardous substance spills.

"The importance of this problem is increasing each day as there are more frequent and/or serious accidents with industrial growth and changing trends in energy demand and supply," the proposed agreement said.

Under the plan, the Texas Department of Water Resources would be responsible for developing a computer-stored collection of spill data. TDWR would also do a study of the Gulf Coast to determine vulnerable areas.

However, in written testimony, Brandt Mannchen of Houston said the Sierra Club is not satisfied.

Non-productive society members improving standards

NEW YORK (AP) — Personal income rose $28.6 billion or 1.4 percent in July, but those who work for a living aren't likely to celebrate by going on a spending spree. They know they didn't get it.

They have learned that statistics mislead when taken out of context. And they know also that they should suspect signs of good news when their own senses tell them that we are in an economic predicament.

Suspicious aroused, they ask how personal income could go off so very sharply in its own direction while other economic measures fell?

When, for example, unemployment has been rising, and second-quarter economic output fell at a near-record rate of 9 percent, and corporate profits fell more sharply than in any quarter in 25 years.

When July's factory operating rate fell to 74.2 percent, the lowest since July 1975. When final sales were off. When some of the biggest and once most successful companies were struggling to survive.

But most perplexing, when wages and salaries in the very same month of July fell $1.7 billion, and the income of farmers didn't rise at all.

The confusion is cleared up — but not the problem — when a breakdown of the personal income figure shows that all but $4 billion of the increase resulted from what are called transfer payments.

Transfer payments are aptly named, being payments transferred to people other than those who produced the income. To beneficiaries of Social Security, to recipients of welfare, veterans benefits, unemployment.

Transfer payments leaped in July, mainly as a consequence of a 14.3 percent cost-of-living adjustment for Social Security recipients, an increase that wage-earners might be denied under wage-price guidelines.

The situation, that of non-productive members of society retaining or improving their standards while economic life deteriorates for others, may be only temporary, but it generates some serious questioning.

How far, for example, can the country carry its propensity to proffer growing benefits on a growing population of retirees without raising economic production, and the efficiency with which it produces goods?

Isn't it futile to expect the latest increase in personal income to fuel greater sales and hoist the country out of recession? Especially when recipients of transfer payments generally have to use most of their payments for living expenses rather than discretionary purchases?

Should Social Security benefits be allowed to rise at such a rate, particularly since retirees are shielded from some of the increases — such as higher mortgage rates — included in the living cost index?

Girl in court after spider threat

WINONA, Minn. (AP) — A 14-year-old Winona girl, apparently inspired by a TV movie about tarantulas, has been charged in Juvenile Court after threatening her parents with one of the hairy spiders, police said.

A tarantula seized by police for evidence was drowned in rubbing alcohol.

Police Chief Robert Carstenbrock said the girl, whose name was withheld because of her age, was charged Tuesday in Winona County Juvenile Court with theft, making terroristic threats and assault.

The charges were filed after her parents had complained that she allegedly stole the family's grocery money, hurled a pop bottle at her father and threatened to burn down the house, police said.

When the girl allegedly threatened to kill her parents by putting the tarantula in their bed, they called the police, said Officer Tom Nyseth.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 20-year-old daughter is living at home again after three unsuccessful attempts at apartment living.

She works, but pays us no rent. She's been dating a young man for a short period of time and goes out with him once a week. She stays all night at his apartment, comes home in the morning, changes her clothes and goes to work.

This is upsetting my husband and me. We've told her so, but she says she is doing no wrong because she "loves" him. She also says she has to live her own life, and if we don't get off her back she will move out and we'll never see her again.

We are afraid that this direction she has taken will hurt her. How can he love her if he sees her only once a week, and then just for a sleep-over date? If this relationship doesn't lead to marriage, and she thinks she "loves" another one, and another one, and still another, what kind of person will she become?

Abby, it's so hard for us to accept this and be quiet, yet we don't want to lose our daughter. What should we do?
UPSET PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Tell her that as long as she lives under your roof, she'll have to abide by your rules, which do not include sleeping out. If she wants to move, you can't stop her, but I doubt if she will because she's not financially able to hack it alone.

DEAR ABBY: Recently the director of the ballet company of which presidential candidate Ronald Reagan's son is a member felt compelled to issue a statement to the press that the younger Reagan and all the other male members of the troupe were "straight" and had "nice girlfriends." It is a sad commentary on our society's attitude toward human sexuality that such a statement was made at all.

Implicit in that announcement were the following erroneous assumptions: 1) That male participation in ballet requires lengthy justification lest it threaten our traditional view of masculinity and femininity; 2) that all male ballet dancers are suspect and therefore proof of their masculinity is required — i.e., having girlfriends; 3) that without proof of their manliness, people might think they were gay; and 4) that being gay is bad.

Do you have any additional observations on the above?
R.K. IN NEW ORLEANS

DEAR R.K.: No. Right on! Readers? Write on.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the reader who was surprised and disgusted to receive an invitation to a "potluck wedding feast."

The bride and groom were no doubt members of the Society of Friends (i.e. Quakers).

Among Quakers, the potluck wedding feast is traditional, and it would be bad form for Quakers to serve a catered wedding dinner such as one finds at a mainline Protestant wedding.

Of course, it's also possible that these folks are just cheapskates — not Quakers.
A QUAKER IN MAINE

DEAR QUAKER: This Quaker tradition is news to me, as I'm sure it will be to my disgusted correspondent — plus a few million other readers.

Quakers who invite a non-Quaker to a "potluck wedding feast" should explain that it's an old Quaker custom, lest the guest thinks this "Friend" is a cheapskate.

(Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

The People Page

DEAR DR. LAMB — Some time ago I had a prostate operation — a TUR. Now I find that when I reach a climax during sex nothing happens. Does this go with that type of operation or does the fluid find its way out of the system without harm? Should I refrain from sex because of this?

DEAR READER — I'm asked this question rather frequently and it tells me that many patients who have a prostate operation don't understand what its effects are. As you probably appreciate, a high percentage of men, as they get older, do require prostate surgery so it is an important point.

In the type of surgery that you had, the little valve at the outlet of the bladder is usually affected. As a result, when you reach a climax the secretions actually flow backward into the bladder. Technically, we call this retrograde ejaculation. All the other sensations are normally there. Of course, the secretions are then eliminated the next time you empty your bladder.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 15-6, Prostate Gland, to give you more information about its functions and the problems you can have with it, including cancer of the prostate. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read that no paternal blood actually flows through the fetus blood and there's no direct fetus blood flow to the mother's blood during pregnancy. Then just how does the developing baby get its oxygen and nourishment?

DEAR READER — Most people think of the circulation as the blood that flows through the arteries and veins. Actually that's only the tip of the iceberg. Fluid leaves the blood vessels entirely and moves out into the tissue spaces. That clear fluid carries with it the nutrients for your cells and also the dissolved oxygen for your cells.

After the fluid has released its oxygen to the cells and its nutrients and picked up cell carbon dioxide, it returns to the circulation.

A similar situation exists between the mother and her developing baby. The exchange organ, of course, is the placenta. There is a membrane between the circulation of the baby and the circulation of the mother within the placenta itself. The fluid from the blood of the mother in these spaces gives off oxygen and nutrients that pass through the thin membranes within the placenta.

Stories reflect on life and death

GETTING THROUGH. By John McGahern. Harper & Row. 172 Pages. $10.95.

Novelist-short-story writer John McGahern takes a close look at the human condition in the 11 stories gathered together in "Getting Through," and his findings are bittersweet.

Yes, McGahern seems to be saying, life indeed is worth living — but there are times when it is a difficult burden to carry, times, as the book title implies, when living seems much like something that a person does while waiting to die.

The priest-narrator of "The Wine Breath," for example, is obsessed by death — death that has happened and death that will happen. As he goes about his parish, he periodically remembers with vivid clarity the death some 30 years before of a friend and neighbor and the memory hauntingly reminds him of his own mortality because "being a man he had no choice, he was doomed to die

...". Death also permeates "The Beginning of an Idea," an absorbing story about a woman who hopes to use the death of the writer Chekov as a means of rebuilding her own life. The effort is doomed to failure, but the effort, at least, was made and it was a gallant one.

Death as a means of resurrection also figures in "All Sorts of Impossible Things." Here, McGahern tells of two old friends, one weary of life, the other dying. When the dying man does pass on, his death spurs the world-weary survivor to a new life, one in which "his mind raced with desire for all sorts of impossible things."

Despite the theme, the stories are not depressing. McGahern is an exceedingly fine writer, and he is able to use his words in such a way that they lead the reader to reflect rather than brood, to accept death — but, and more important, also to embrace life.

AT WIT'S END

By Erma Bombeck

In Sweden, a 12-year-old child divorced his parents on the grounds of incompatibility and irreconcilable differences.

In Chicago, another 12-year-old waved goodbye to his Russian parents, said he liked his new school, and was defecting to the United States.

It's part of a growing trend that focuses attention on the rights of children.

I remember when I was 12. Every Friday, my parents went to their friends' house to play cards. After I had teased their dog, slugged down 16 ounces of pop and listened to the radio, there was nothing left for me to do but fall asleep on the sofa. About one or two in the morning, they stood me on my feet and stuffed me into the car where I shivered myself to death all the way home.

I had been doing this for about four years when one night I suggested that they let me stay at home and sleep in my own bed. My mother wanted to know why I wanted her dead.

Most of us who are raised by intimidation and public humiliation have a difficult time relating to this new-found trend.

Looking back, there wasn't a day that went by that I did not have sufficient grounds for dissolving the relationship. A stepfather certainly constituted "alienation of affection." Whether or not they were going to let me stay out all night at the prom was "mental anguish" beyond belief. Telling me to spend my own money for a bicycle was definitely grounds for "non-support," and switching my legs for lying was "aggravated assault." I wrote the book on "coveting" and not returning anything.

If my parents had been any different, I would have had nothing to talk about to my friends. Our parents and their inhumanity to us was all we ever talked about...or bragged about.

We made us salute the flag, believe in God, say thank you, flush, eat everything on our plate, keep our feet on the floor and our knees together.

We couldn't swim after we ate, pick our noses, hang on the phone, put our elbows on the table, go to bed with dirty feet, drink milk out of a carton or smoke cigarettes.

They punished us for talking back to teachers, leaving the refrigerator door open, playing with our gun, losing our bicycle and stealing.

Babies have come a long way. I'm weak. I don't want to be the one to tell my mother.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Recent torrential rains didn't stop 1,600 women runners from competing in the all-women's L'eggs-YWCA 10,000-meter road race. Among the entrants was a San Diego politician, 2nd District Councilwoman Lucy Killea, who "wouldn't think of not running," even though the race was physical rather than political.

Sad-looking, silent clown makes children laugh

STRUTHERS, Ohio (AP) — Alfred Suppan is a real clown. Being funny, he said, is hard work.

He has been, off-and-on for 28 of his 70 years, a retiree who occasionally dons ridiculous makeup, a "Not Neat But Sweet" T-shirt, baggy trousers, and an "ALL I WANT IS LOVE" pin for Shrine parades, benefits or a chance to visit a children's hospital.

That's when the tramp, otherwise known as Soupy Suppan, really shines.

Soupy never speaks. The black lines through white makeup that exaggerates his mouth, elongated eyebrows and baggy clothes speak for him.

Suppan, retired from a steel mill welding job, began clowning when the Al Koran Gorto was organized in nearby Youngstown. For two years he was a white-faced clown struggling for laughs until he met a professional who told him he would be better as a sad, silent tramp. He changed his costume, makeup style and quit talking, and says he has found the image that fits his personality.

Suppan comes from a family of European circus performers. His mother is a prima ballerina, his father a circus comedian in Yugoslavia. One cousin is a tightrope walker and two others have an aerial act on wheels.

His bag of tricks includes a putty nose, endless effort at expression, a rubber hot dog and a handful of fake diamond rings. Occasionally he's a flirt, leaning across a child to encourage a woman to kiss his painted cheek. If she tries, he quickly jerks his head away.

But mostly he looks sad for the kids. When they ask him why he's so sad, Soupy throws up his arms, shrugs his shoulders and shakes his head to convey an "I don't know."

The most important aspect of clowning, he said, is knowing how to approach children.

He said some clowns approach them too fast and scare them. If a child seems afraid of Soupy, he moves away or goes to another child. If the frightened youngster indicates his curiosity is piqued, Soupy may come back, but if not he leaves him alone.

"Prep-Teen's"

Hi! I'm Christie Higgs and this is your invitation to become part of... the Hollywood "Prep-Teen's"

Christie Higgs is affiliated with The Hollywood, and also is a model for the Diane Dick Modeling Agency.

What is the "Prep-Teens"?

Prep-Teens is a special group of girls in the 9th grade through Senior's in High School. They want to learn more about how to improve their own appearance and self-image. In addition, they want to advise The Hollywood's J.R.'s on the type of fashions and fashion trends they see as most appropriate for themselves.

What do they do?

They model for The Hollywood in style shows, attend monthly meetings on personal grooming, makeup, walking, fashions and fashion trends, pose, developing style, and other subjects selected by the group. These girls will also receive a special discount for The Hollywood purchases.

How do I Join?

Come on down to The Hollywood any night (6-9 P.M.) this week and ask for a Prep-Teen application. The number of applicants will determine how the group will be organized; i.e. class in school, interest, etc. Because of limited space The Hollywood reserves the right to select those girls which it feels will benefit most from the Prep-Teen program.

Get things in shape for fall garden

COLLEGE STATION — Although there is still plenty of hot weather ahead, it's time to start getting things in shape for your fall vegetable garden.

Much of Texas is well suited for year-round gardening, and fall vegetables generally have better quality and flavor than those grown in the spring, says Sam Colner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Many popular warm-season vegetables such as tomatoes, pepper, eggplants, pole beans, potatoes, okra, cucumbers and squash can be planted during the coming weeks.

Also, the so-called "winter" vegetables such as broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, greens, parsley and carrots can be planted now for early harvesting. Later plantings of these cold-hardy crops will supply fresh vegetables well into winter.

What are some of the important aspects of fall gardening?

First of all, get the land into good shape, suggests Colner. If you had a garden this spring and fertilizer was applied, little if any additional fertilizer will be needed before fall planting.

For new gardens, apply two to three pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 10-20-10 per 100 square feet and work it into the soil. It recommends the horticulturist. If plants make slow growth, apply a light amount of fertilizer between rows and water it into the soil.

Adequate water is vital for a successful fall garden, particularly for seed germination and early plant growth. Colner suggests "pre-irrigation" before planting followed by subsequent, light waterings three or four times a week to keep soil from drying and crusting.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of four articles on planning for college, written for the Associated Press by the College Board, a non-profit educational association that sponsors programs that sponsors programs to expand educational opportunity. This article deals with taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

NEW YORK (AP) — To prepare or not to prepare? That is the question more than a million high school seniors planning to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test for college admission will be asking this fall and winter.

The SAT is one of two college admissions tests offered nationally. The other is the American College Testing Program. Different colleges have different requirements and some will accept scores from either exam.

How important are these tests? According to a major national survey of college admissions practices and policies conducted by the College Board and the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers, test scores, while important, are not by any means the sole determining factor in admission decisions.

The survey showed that high school performance is the most important factor in the admissions process. Test scores, according to the survey, are used as a supplement to the high school record, to determine if students need special assistance in completing their college program, and, along with other data, to provide a profile of the school's student body.

Still, many schools, parents, and students are concerned about whether or not, and how, to prepare for the tests. For the SAT, the College Board offers the following advice to students who are planning to take the test:

— The SAT measures developed verbal and mathematical reasoning abilities that are involved in successful academic work in college; it is not a test of some inborn and unchanging capacity.

— Scores on the SAT are subject to improvement as educational experience, both in and out of schools, causes these verbal and mathematical abilities to develop.

— Development of these abilities is related to the time and effort spent; short-term drill and cramming are likely to have little effect; longer-term preparation that develops skills and abilities can have greater effect.

— While drill and practice on test questions generally result in little effect on test scores, preparation of this kind can familiarize students with different question types and may help to reduce anxiety about what to expect. Students can become more familiar with the test by using the explanations and full test in "Taking the SAT" which is given to them when they register for the test.

— Whether longer preparation, apart from that available to students within their regular high school courses, is worth the time, effort, and money is a decision students and parents must make for themselves; results seem to vary considerably from program to program and for each person within any one program.

— Studies of special preparation programs carried on in many high schools show various results averaging about 10 points for the verbal section and 15 points for the mathematical over and above the average increase that would otherwise be expected from intellectual growth and practice.

— In other programs, results have ranged from virtually no improvement in scores to average gains as high as 25-30 points for particular groups of students or particular programs. Recent studies of commercial coaching have shown a similar range of results.

— Students should satisfy themselves that the results of a special program or course are likely to make a difference in relation to their college admissions plans.

— Generally, the soundest preparation for the SAT is to study widely with emphasis on academic courses and extensive outside reading.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

August 21, 1980

This coming year you may find yourself more in demand socially, which will make it a very active period for you. Treat everybody you meet warmly and conditions will last for a long time to come.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're sort of lucky today at things which have an element of chance about them. That doesn't mean however, that you can be reckless or bet on long shots. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Simply being with those with whom you have close personal bonds will make your day. You may not have to look any farther than your own home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may get the opportunity to be with someone you don't get to see very often. The get-together should be extremely pleasurable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Someone influential holds you in especially high esteem and may demonstrate it today by doing something nice for you. It could mean a raise in pay.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You may be exposed today to some type of enlightening information which will prove very helpful. Listen attentively to those with whom you come in contact.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone is working on your behalf today. Although you may or may not hear about it at this time, what you put in motion will be very helpful to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your cooperative attitude has led others to appreciate you more. They may be demonstrating it in some manner today, to let you know just how much.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something beneficial might happen in your behalf for a large and unexpected plus for you in areas relating to your work or career. You'll know what it is, so take advantage of it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Some of the good aspects working in your behalf for the last couple of days are still lingering, giving you another pleasant day with pals.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Because you hung in there, things should be working out today exactly the way you wanted them to go. Your persistence did the trick.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Although you are beginning to slow down a bit after some very busy days, you still are somewhat restless. Get out where you can mingle.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Conditions are still in your favor today in areas where personal accumulation is involved, especially if you're engaged in work or service for others.

Gilbert pleased with Pampa's kicking game

PAMPA END Steve McDougall, District 3-AAAA's top receiver last season, demonstrates his speciality during a Harvester practice session. The Harvesters open the season Sept. 5 at Hereford.

Pampa High football coach Larry Gilbert believes in accentuating the positive when talking about the progress, or lack of it, of the Harvesters.

Gilbert is in his most positive state, for the time being anyway, when he talks about the kicking game.

"We've been further along than we've ever been with our kicking," Gilbert said after Wednesday's practice. "I just couldn't expect it to be any better this early in the season."

Just how important are kickoffs, kick coverage, extra points, punts and field goals when looking at total strategy?

"It's hard to win games with kicking, but you can sure lose them by making mistakes," Gilbert said. "I want to avoid that. The kids are beginning to realize just how important the kicking game is."

Luckily, Gilbert has the supply to meet the demand. Cavin Coleman, Robert McCoy, Cody Ellyson and Robbie Leffel have demonstrated their ability in all aspects of the kicking game.

"Ellyson is just a sophomore, but he may be the one kicking the extra points and field goals for us this season. Him and Leffel have also been working on punts. Coleman has been doing the placekicking and McCoy the extra points and field goals. McCoy is a transfer from Lubbock Coronado. He didn't play football last year, but it looks like he's going to be able to help us," Gilbert said.

Gilbert said he has reached no final decision yet on the kicking assignments.

"I do feel that our kicking will contribute more than it did last year," the head coach added. Gilbert stressed kick coverage in Wednesday morning's workout.

"Some teams don't work on their coverage until the day before a game, but we're going to put a lot of stress on it," Gilbert pointed out.

Gilbert hasn't been pleased with the development of the offense and defense, but he's not singing the blues either.

"Our offense has looked sharper in the last day and a half, but we've still got a long way to go," he said. "The defense hasn't looked as good as I hoped it would, but they've had a lot of stuff thrown at them. They're still in shorts too, so that can make a difference."

However, Gilbert remains impressed with the physical condition and general attitude of the Harvesters.

"These guys came back from spring drills in great shape and they've had a real good attitude," Gilbert said. "I think it shows that winning is contagious and they want to keep doing it."

The Harvesters are moving toward a scrimmage date with Lubbock Estacado at 4:30 p.m. Aug. 29 in Harvester Stadium. Gilbert announced that a junior varsity game with Gruver has been scheduled for 3 p.m. here that same afternoon.

Pampa opens the season Sept. 5 at Hereford.

Warriors young, but competitive

By L.D. STRATE
Pampa News Sports Editor

Gary Pinson, Miami's new head football coach, feels the Warriors can overcome their shortcomings with speed and aggressiveness this football season.

"We're going to be young in the line and we're not going to have much size, but these guys have a very good attitude and that's going to make them competitive," Pinson said.

Miami's strength will be in the backfield where quarterback Gary Haws and halfback Keith Gray return to starting roles. Gray was Miami's leading rusher as a junior last season while Haws, a senior, was the team's second leading groundgainer.

"Gary is very intelligent, quick and a good passer," Pinson said. "He's just an All-American type young man. Keith has good speed and quickness and is a real fine competitor." Gray rushed for 676 yards.

Linebacker Bill Burgoon, a 175-pound senior, and Monte Smith, a 135-pound senior, will be counted on heavily.

"Bill is very aggressive and has a lot of offensive savvy," Pinson said. "Monte is the toughest kid we've got."

Pinson is mainly concerned with Miami's youth corps since only seven starters return.

"We're going to be pretty young," Pinson said. "We'll be starting a lot of sophomores and first-year players that are juniors and seniors."

Pinson, a Vietnam veteran, may have to call upon his combat experience to get past tough non-district foes like Vega, Perryton and Erick, Okla. District 1-A opponents may not be as formidable.

This is Pinson's first head coaching job after stints at Orange Grove, Allen and Muskogee, Okla. as an assistant.

Pinson was born in Jal, New Mexico and grew up in Odessa. He played JUCO football at Ranger and McMurray Colleges and graduated from Northeastern, Okla.

Miami opens the season Sept. 5 at home against White Deer.

Miami Football Schedule

TONY DORSETT of the Dallas Cowboys grabs a pass during pre-season practice at the Cowboys camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif. Dorsett has eased off of earlier threats to walk out of training camp if his contract is not renegotiated.

(AP Laserphoto)

Dorsett reneges on threat to leave camp

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett says he didn't come to training camp "to walk out" — despite his earlier threats to leave or ask to be traded unless his contract was renegotiated.

Dorsett seemed more willing to bend Wednesday, though he stopped short of saying he definitely would not leave the Cowboys, something he threatened to do earlier in the week upon the advice of his Pittsburgh attorney Steve Sokol.

"If suggested ... it would have to be weighed," Dorsett said.

Mike Trope, Dorsett's original contract negotiator, met with the Heisman Trophy winner at camp Tuesday and announced he had been asked to co-manage the star player with attorney Sokol.

Trope voiced support for Dorsett's contract demands, but added, "I've never, never given a player advice to sit out a camp."

"I've always found when you sit down with management and show a sincere desire to negotiate in good faith, most teams will. That (Sokol's advice) is one helluva way to ruin a career," he said.

After meeting with Dorsett Tuesday, Trope said the running back had "changed his posture and will not walk out of camp even if the negotiations are protracted."

Sokol revealed Monday Dorsett's salary in 1980 was $230,000 with $130,000 deferred through 2001.

Niehaus released by Vikings

It's a long jump between rookie of the year and all-pro. But Steve Niehaus discovered something else — it's a longer fall if you miss.

Niehaus, the second player selected in the National Football League's draft in 1976, was one of 15 players released as Minnesota cut its roster to 50 players, one man below the maximum. The Vikings announced the cuts Wednesday although the moves were required to be made by Tuesday afternoon.

Water ski record set

LINDALE, Texas (AP) — Skiing flawlessly, 13-year-old Sally Monnier set a new junior girls tricks record Wednesday at the opening session of the 38th annual National Water Ski Championships at Garden Vally Sports resort.

She scored 5,400 points to retain her title. Lori Powell, 12, of Lakeland, Fla., placed second and Judy Zeisler, 13, of Sandy Hook, Conn., finished third.

Val Campbell, 13, of Miami, Fla., won junior girls slalom crown. Jacy Skeldon, 12, of Joliet, Ill., placed 2nd in a runoff with Johnna Shull, 11, of Hartsville, Mo.

Kyle Tate, 12, of Hunt Springs, Ark., won the gold medal in junior boys slalom. Jerry Judge, 12, of Queens Town, Md., finished second. Tom Meachum, 13, Bethal Island, Calif., was third.

Robert Moore, Louisville, Ky., defended his veteran mens tricks title with 3,460 points. Jim McGraw, Lake Hopatcong, N.J., placed second. Tom Moore, Pompano Beach, Fla., finished third.

Justin Anderson, 12, Redding, Calif., won the junior boys gold medal in tricks with 4,290 points. Jimmy McCormick, 10, Seffner, Fla., placed second and Don Bonnett, 10, of Northbrookfield, Mass was third.

National League roundup

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Luis Salazar and Jerry Royster are learning to finish what they start.

Salazar, of San Diego, and Royster, of Atlanta, both came up with two hits in one inning Wednesday night, starting and finishing winning rallies for their clubs.

Salazar singled to open the fifth inning and then capped the six-run burst with an RBI-single as the Padres snapped an eight-game losing streak by beating the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5.

Royster led off the Braves' game with a single and then climaxed the seven-run first-inning explosion with a two-run single and Atlanta went on to defeat the Chicago Cubs 9-5.

All six National League games were inter-divisional matchups and all six were won by West teams. So Houston retained a one-game lead over Cincinnati and a two-game bulge over Los Angeles in the West, while Pittsburgh stayed two games ahead of Montreal and 2½ in front of Philadelphia.

The Houston Astros beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Montreal Expos 5-1, the Cincinnati Reds edged the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in 12 innings and the San Francisco Giants trimmed the New York Mets 2-1.

Padres 7, Phillies 5
The Padres trailed 5-1 before sending 11 men to the plate in the fifth.

Salazar singled and scored on Dave Winfield's 14th home run of the season. Willie Montanez singled, Craig Stinac was safe on an error by Nino Espinosa, both runners advanced on an infield out and Tim Flannery was intentionally walked to load the bases.

Pinch hitter Broderick Perkins reached first on an error by shortstop Larry Bowa, Montanez scoring. Richards then singled in two runs and Salazar completed the six-run rally with his RBI-single.

Braves 5, Cubs 5
After Royster's leadoff single, Rafael Ramirez tripled and Bob Horner hit his 27th home run of the season.

Chris Chambliss followed with a single, Dale Murphy doubled and both scored on a double by Glenn Hubbard. Then, after a walk to Bill Nahorodny and a sacrifice by pitcher Larry McWilliams, Royster drove in Hubbard and Nahorodny with his second single of the inning to make it 7-0.

Astros 5, Pirates 1
Houston got a two-run single by Enos Cabell and three bases-loaded walks to hand Pittsburgh's Jim Bibby only his third loss against 15 wins.

"It's always a morale lifter to beat somebody like Bibby, but I like being in the win column better," said Houston's Joe Morgan. "You can't get caught up in something like that. We've got to win games no matter who's pitching."

Dodgers 5, Expos 1
Los Angeles' Jerry Reuss hurled a six-hitter, struck out five and did not walk a batter in raising his record to 15-4, but afterward he said he didn't feel well.

"To be honest with you, I really felt sick out there," said Reuss. "I didn't feel well at all and I just tried to go one inning at a time. I don't know if it was the 24-hour flu or food poisoning. I got dizzy a few times, but that was about all."

Giants 2, Mets 1
The San Francisco Giants climbed to the .500 mark by handing the Mets their seventh straight loss behind the combined eight-hit pitching of Al Hargesseimer and Greg Minton.

"Getting to .500 is quite a feat," said San Francisco infielder Darrell Evans, "considering we were 10 games under .500 in April. Normally it would be a salary drive for us at this time of year, but we have the pitching and the bullpen to win the West."

But one bad note for the Giants came in the sixth inning, when slugger Jack Clark was hit by pitch from Mark Bombardier, suffering a bruise on his left hand and being forced to leave the game.

HOUSTON ASTROS second baseman Joe Morgan steals second in the third inning of the National League game at Houston Wednesday night as Pittsburgh Pirates second baseman Phil Garner takes the late throw from his catcher, Ed Ott. Umpire Steve Fields runs to catch the play. Houston took the game, 5-1.

Watson dislikes series format

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tom Watson thinks there are too many players in the World Series of Golf.

"The format is not to my liking. This is an important tournament and it's hard to be something special when you have 32 players," said the year's leading money winner before today's first round in the $421,900 tournament.

"You should have to win at least one tournament," said the 30-year-old Watson. "You should have the winners of the four majors, multiple winners, the top five on the money list from January to now and the leading Order of Merit players in each foreign country."

"That would make about 10 players. That's what it should be. That would make it truly a World Series of Golf."

Watson calls the $100,000 first prize an incentive to win for the seventh time this year and boost his 1980 earnings past an unprecedented $500,000.

"I've never seen anybody turn down cash, but in a way, it's a little out of reason. If it was truly a World Series, which I don't think it is, $100,000 might be justified," he said.

Watson maintains the old Series format of matching the champions of the four major tournaments created more interest. It was abandoned in 1975, the only year Watson has won this event.

American League roundup

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

George Brett resumed hitting after a one-game "slump" and the New York Yankees remained 2½ games ahead of the Baltimore Orioles in the American League East but both events were overshadowed by Dan Spillner's near no-hitter Wednesday night.

Spillner, a Cleveland right-hander with a 5.45 earned run average, came within two outs of a no-hitter before rookie Leo Sutherland singled for Chicago's only hit — an opposite-field grounder between third and short — as the Indians downed the White Sox 3-0.

Spillner quickly got those outs to preserve his first AL shutout. He had two with San Diego in the National League, including a one-hitter against — who else? — the Chicago Cubs.

Elsewhere, the Kansas City Royals turned back the Texas Rangers 5-3 in 12 innings, the Yankees downed the Seattle Mariners 6-4, the Orioles held off the California Angels 6-5 in 10 innings, the Oakland A's edged the Boston Red Sox 2-1, the Detroit Tigers beat the Milwaukee Brewers 8-6 and the Toronto Blue Jays trounced the Minnesota Twins 10-4.

Royals 5, Rangers 3
One night after his 30-game hitting streak was snapped, Brett rapped his 15th homer and two singles in three at-bats, boosting his average to .406, but Willie Aikens' sacrifice fly in the 12th inning drove in the winning run as the Royals stretched their winning streak to eight games.

Hal McRae opened the 12th with a double and Brett was intentionally walked for the second time. Darrell Porter also walked, loading the bases, and Aikens followed with his sacrifice fly. Brett later scored on a wild pitch.

Yankees 6, Mariners 4
Bobby Murcer drove in three runs with a single and double and Tommy John picked up his 17th victory. The Yankees took a 3-2 lead with two runs in the third inning on RBI-singles by Murcer and Reggie Jackson. New York's Bob Watson homered in the second inning and Murcer added a two-run double in the seventh. Tom Paciorek and Juan Beniquez homered for Seattle.

Orioles 4, Angels 5
Doug DeCinces' two-out single in the top of the 10th scored John Lowenstein with the winning run after the Orioles blew a three-run lead in the ninth. Lowenstein started the 10th with a walk and stole second. Lowenstein went to third on Dan Graham's long fly and DeCinces followed with his game-winning hit.

Home runs by Ken Singleton and Benny Ayala in the sixth inning helped Baltimore take a 5-2 lead but the Angels tied it with three runs in the ninth on Rick Miller's RBI-double and a two-run single by Bert Campaneris.

A's 2, Red Sox 1
Mario Guerrero's eighth-inning home run, the second and last hit off Dennis Ekersley, gave Mike Norris his 17th victory. Ekersley didn't allow a hit until Mitchell Page opened the Oakland seventh with a single. He stole second as Dave Revering struck out and continued to third base when catcher Carlton Fisk's throw went into center field.

Washington briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The total of jobless Americans receiving regular unemployment insurance has dropped for a sixth consecutive week, another sign that the economy may be on the way back from recession.

The Labor Department said Wednesday that a seasonally adjusted 3,777,000 people were receiving jobless benefits through regular state insurance programs during the week ending Aug. 2, a decrease of 37,000 from the week before. The number of those receiving regular benefits stood at nearly 4.1 million people as recently as the week ending June 28.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, is not optimistic about the outcome of his fight to block Senate action on an amendment weakening the 1977 Strip Mining Act. A filibuster led by Metzenbaum, which delayed action for two days, was expected to end today with a cloture vote cutting off debate. Metzenbaum said he and his supporters would switch to a new tactic to delay the amendment sponsored by Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

National briefs

DETROIT (AP) — Sticker prices for K-cars, Chrysler's new small high-mileage model, are going up even before the cars go on sale.

Chrysler Corp. had told its dealers that the cheapest K-car — being sold as the Dodge Aries and the Plymouth Reliant — would list for $6,065. But on Wednesday, the automaker announced that the least expensive K-car would list for $6,192.

The K-car is expected to compete with General Motors' X-cars. On Friday, GM announced that the cheapest 1981 model X-car, a Chevrolet Citation, would list for $6,148 — 9 percent more than the 1980 version and a larger increase than had been expected.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A prison rule that prohibited inmates from having pictures of nudes has been overturned, but the convicts still will not be able to hang the pictures on cell walls.

The 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said Wednesday that while inmates had a right to look at the nudes, convicts might infringe on the rights of other prisoners if they posted the pictures. The other inmates, the court said, might not want to look at the nudes.

A group of inmates at Powhatan Correctional Center had sued to overturn the regulation on nude pictures. A federal district court threw out the suit and the prisoners appealed.
