R. SMITH NAMED AS FORGER

Official Says Gov. Allen's Name Forged

Attorney Reports $118,000 Bonds Involved In Deal

RATON ROUGE, La., July 8 (AP)—State Attorney General David M. Ellison said tonight the name of the late Governor O. K. Allen clearly had been forged on $118,000 bonds used by the resigned Louisiana State University president, Dr. James Monroe Smith, now imprisoned here in the parish jail, in his fantastic market speculations.

Ellison, together with Frank S. Shattuck, state supervisor of public lands, disclosed that Dr. Smith had available nearly $2,000,000 university bonds, most of the unauthorised securities, for his market plunging.

Of this amount, they said, Smith attempted to use $964,000 bonds in his trading operations and actually did use $589,000 as collateral with Fenner & Beane, New Orleans brokerage firm, without the university's authority or knowledge.

Concerning the $118,000 bonds, Ellison said:

"We are certain they were forged. The bonds were found mutilated with the signatures torn off but we have photographs of these bonds before they were thus destroyed and the signature of Governor Allen obviously is a forgery as compared with Allen's signature as reproduced correctly in facsimile on the bond coupons."

Governor Allen died in office in January, 1936.

NYA Will Operate Under New Agency

AUSTIN, July 8 (AP)—With NYA operating under the Federal Security Agency since July 1, State Youth Administrator J. C. Kellam today announced work assignments would be in charge of a new division of employment headed by C. P. Little, formerly district director at Dallas.

Kellam said A. D. Granger, formerly of NYA which previously handled NYA finance and employment, had been appointed NYA director of finance.

Victor B. Jaeggli, University of Texas engineering graduate, will be in charge of the projects program for out-of-school youth.

Deputy State Administrator Willard Deacon said NYA would continue to operate district offices at Marshall, Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Laredo, Amarillo, Lubbock, San Angelo and El Paso.

Ray Dudley New Pampa Speed Cop

Ray Dudley is now working as Pampa traffic policeman, succeeding Buel Robinson who resigned last week. Police Chief J. I. Downs said last night.

Oil Compact Will Meet In Santa Fe

AUSTIN, July 8 (AP)—Minimum standards for engineering principles eliminating waste in oil and gas production will be the theme of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission meeting in Santa Fe, N. M., July 19-20. Chairman Ernest O. Thompson announced today.

Thompson asserted current crude production of 3,462,000 barrels daily was well within the 2,491,000-barrel federal estimate of market demand.

A letter from Tommy Solomon, prospective Rice footballer, to his folks, which said that the ex-Harvester is working with a gas pipe line surveying crew this summer at Jackson, Miss. Tommy naively wrote that hornet "bit him."

Note to plum customers: The boys are temporarily out of plums, while waiting for the fruit to ripen, but will have more this week. Plums in your orchards and they'll be delivered when they arrive. Note to yard owners: Thus far you have given jobs to 30 different boys. Keep up the good work. How about those vacant lots? If I'll help the boys, they'll help you and the looks of the town.

Briton Warns Against 'Indirect Aggression'

Model Planes To Be Tested Here Today

LONDON, July 8 (AP)—A blunt warning that Great Britain would use force to resist "indirect aggression" as well as a direct attack came from a cabinet minister today in a speech dealing with the Danzig situation.

The speech, which apparently had government approval, was made by Earl De La Warr, president of the board of education, before a conservative party rally at Derby.

It marked the first time a government official had declared publicly Britain intended to go beyond the actual wording of her guarantees to smaller states.

As De La Warr spoke the nation launched a great air "rehearsal" with a blackout covering half of the country to test defense measures taken during recent months of tension.

De La Warr declared it was useless to try to settle Europe's problems by compromise "if one side feels it break their word at any moment" and that "if and when we are convinced of a real will to peace we do see any hope of compromise likely to lead to a permanent peace."

"Our only possible course, therefore," he said, "is to stand firm by those to whom we have pledged our word and to make it clear that Britain is able and prepared to fight any and every aggressor, however indirect may be the method of aggression."

He added:

"It would be well if Herr Hitler were to look beyond the pitiable figures of those who control this country to the masses of people here and millions of people in other lands who are determined that the liberties that they have now shall not be curtailed and that the rule of law in the world shall prevail."

Parliamentary circles expected Prime Minister Chamberlain would make a statement Monday in the House of Commons defining specifically Britain's position on Danzig.

Neutrality Bill Deadlock Unbroken

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—Administration neuters engaged in a desperate effort today to round up sufficient votes to bring the neutrality bill out of the foreign affairs committee, but there was no sign they had gained any ground.

Both Senators George (D-Ga.) and Gillette (D-Iowa), regarded as the two "doubtful" senators on the committee, refused to commit themselves on how they will vote when the committee meets Tuesday to consider reporting a bill.

George reported however, that it appeared to him "highly improbable" that there would be any action on neutrality in this session.

"If the statement which was issued yesterday in behalf of 34 senators can be accepted as a statement of fact and it is true that many senators subscribed to it then it seems to me that action at this session of Congress is highly impossible," he said.

The statement, pledging its adherents to oppose repeal of the present law's embargo on arms shipments to nation at war—which the administration has set as its chief objective—was issued by Senator Johnson (R-Calif.), after nearly a score of senators, including Democrats (Republicans and Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis) had met in his office.

The situation within the foreign affairs committee was reported tonight to be: Ten members opposed to the administration's program of reporting any bill; eleven ready to go along with the administration; George and Gillette, uncommitted.

Garrison had been a professional wrestler and wrestling promoter before his employment as a pumper at the Phillips plant water station. He came to Pampa 10 years ago from Harrison, Ark.

Two Bonds Posted. Mrs. Garrison was released from county jail on the afternoon of December 2, last year, after she had posted $1,500 bond on the complaint filed in justice of the peace court. She also posted a $2,500 bond, following the grand jury indictment.

Sturgeon and Sturgeon are attorneys for the defendant. District Attorney Clifford Brady and Bruce Parker, special prosecutor, will represent the state.

Neither the district attorney nor the Phillips camp, Justice of the Peace E. F. Young announced a verdict of death from gunshot wounds.

Law To Save Gray County Over $225,000

Governor O'Daniel Signs Road Bond Assumption Bill

A movement in which County Judge Sherman White has worked energetically developed into a law Saturday when the road bond bill, estimated to enrich county coffers by $150,000,000 in the next 25 years, was signed by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

Gray county will benefit by approximately $225,000. The sum credited to this county will cover the six miles of paved road extending west of Pampa to the Carson county line, and the Pampa-McLean road.

The law was passed by the legislature on June 21.

The road bond measure is financed by a one-cent portion of the gasoline tax which is paid into the county and road district indebtedness fund.

It reenacts the present road bond assumption act making eligible for state payment the obligations incurred by counties and road districts in building roads which have become a part of the state network not later than January 1, 1939.

Proceeds Use Regulated. Because revenue exceeds these obligations the surplus will be distributed among counties for a formula based on area, motor registration, lateral road mileage and population. After payment of obligations counties may use the proceeds for:

Purchase of right of way. Construction of county roads. Payment of debt on lateral roads not on the highway system. Supplementing federal matching funds for WPA roads projects.

Co-operating with the state highway department and federal government in constructing farm-to-market roads.

Five Other Bills Signed. Other bills signed by the Governor today:

License and regulate real estate dealers. A $3 license fee is required of dealers and their salesmen who are subject to regulations made by the securities division of the Secretary of State's department which has authority to suspend and revoke permits after hearing, from which court appeals may be had.

Add teeth to a statute prohibiting illegal refunding of gasoline taxes.

Authorize the Railroad Commission to formulate safety rules for installation of butane gas tanks.

Doctrinal Revival In Progress Here

A doctrinal revival is in progress at the Central Baptist church with the Rev. J. C. McKenzie, district missionary of Amarillo, speaking each evening at 8 o'clock.

The sermon subject for this evening is "A Universal Salvation." Subjects each night are concerning Baptist doctrine.

Mrs. Hancock, Cherokee Indian from Shawnee, Okla., will speak at the church this morning at the 11 o'clock hour. Mrs. Hancock who is working under the Home Mission Board of Southern Baptists, is an outstanding singer and speaker.

The church will present the ministerial alliance program this evening at 6 o'clock over radio station KFDN. T. M. Gillham, assistant pastor, will be in charge of the program with Rev. McKenzie speaking.

Phillips was not prepared to say a suit would be filed, but announced it would be in federal court if and when one is brought.

He said proceedings would be brought in several ways, one of which would be on the attempt to condemn state land.

Swimming Pool To Open From 6 To 8 For Adults

Is your waistline embarrassing you? Do you complain you don't get enough exercise? Would you like to start the day off feeling refreshed? If so, then you should join the early morning swimming club for adults only, which will report daily beginning tomorrow morning from 6 to 8 o'clock at the swimming pool.

Authorities say early morning swims are best for the health.

Especially invited to take advantage of the opportunity to do their swimming early are members of civic clubs, women's clubs, young women's and men's clubs, and "tired" business men, also all other adults, according to W. Postma, manager of the pool.

Members of the club will give adults an excuse to "go to bed early, get up early and be healthy, wealthy and wise."

Another enticing feature of the early morning swim is the rates which will be $2 for a season ticket, $1 for a one-time purchase (15 cents) or 15 cents single admission (regular admission any other hour is 25 cents). The pool is not open to any other customers until 10 o'clock.

Lifeguards Ford and Luper will be on hand to give diving and swimming instructions to anyone who wants it. Persons who desire a tan can also get it at that hour during this month with no blistering involved. Adults who don't have suits may rent them at the pool for 20 cents each. Members of the club may organize parties, Postma suggested.

Charles Thomas To Present Religious Drama At Church

"Family Portrait," a religious drama, will be presented by Charles Thomas this evening at 8 o'clock on the First Methodist church lawn.

This play, which was popular last winter on Broadway, has its setting in Jerusalem and Nazareth and portrays the earthly family of Jesus.

Mr. Thomas will speak on religious drama and will give the theme of the scene of the play. Also he will sing a solo.

Hillsboro Melts As Temperature Soars To 108

(By The Associated Press.)

A wave of midsummer heat baked much of the nation from Maine to Texas yesterday, sending temperatures to record highs in some states and causing at least 47 deaths.

Only in scattered sections of the heat zone were there forecasts promising a respite today. Warmer weather was predicted for most of the middle west.

Uplstate New York, after five hot days, was cooled by thundershowers, but the rain was accompanied by lightning and wind which caused extensive damage. New Englanders watched the skies for anticipated rain.

Metropolitan centers in New Jersey reported temperatures of 94 while at Asbury Park and other seashore resorts a cold southwest wind made it too chilly for bathing. Cool breezes off Lake Michigan held Chicago's temperature to a maximum of 76 during the afternoon.

Seven persons, including 15 firemen, were overcome by the heat while fighting a fire at Louisville, Ky. Two of the victims were taken to a hospital.

A parade of maximum temperatures 100 degrees and above continued in Texas Saturday with the

Jaycees Vote To Back Big Bend Funds

DALLAS, July 8 (AP)—The executive committee of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, meeting here today, endorsed as an immediate project the support of a campaign to raise funds to buy land for the Big Bend National Park.

W. C. Cooper, president, said work would begin immediately to raise a $25,000 promotion fund to be used in a campaign for the $1,500,000 or more needed to land purchases.

E. C. Arcock of Fort Worth was made chairman of the campaign committee. Representatives from each of the state's seven districts will be appointed to serve with him.

Gathering of evidence on freight rates in Texas also was made an immediate project. Al Brady of Dallas was made general chairman of this committee. Men will be named in each city to work with him.

Brady's appointment followed his resignation as vice-president, tendered because of his recent moving from San Angelo to Dallas. John Shepperson of San Angelo was elected to succeed him as vice-president.

Elton Auburn of Texas City was named Americanism chairman and Ray Armstrong of Borger was appointed to head the conservation committee.

Murder Charges Dismissed Against Cameron Of Clovis

RATON, N. M., July 8 (AP)—Murder charges were dismissed today against Harold Cameron of Clovis, in jail here nearly two months in connection with an investigation into the 9-year-old disappearance of Ray Sutton, veteran prohibition agent.

Cameron's mother and his brother, Wayne, were previously released following an exhaustive investigation into the revived prohibition day mystery by federal and state officials.

Undersheriff Byrch Telford said authorities were still holding Allen Lestroh, former Raton man arrested in Washington state and returned here on a warrant charging Sutton's murder.

Telford said Cameron was released on the recommendation of D. W. Black, special agent of the federal alcohol tax division.

Sutton disappeared in August of 1930 after starting out to investigate reports of a still operating in the back mountain country near here. No trace of him was ever discovered subsequently, save his automobile partly hidden in some brush.

Wheeler County Seat Near 3 Rail Lines-- But Has No Station

Special To The NEWS
By JAMES A. CRUMP

WHEELER July 7—Wheeler, the capital of the oldest county in the Panhandle, has the distinction of being a county seat that doesn't have a railroad, although it's located within "winking distance" of three different lines.

Highways extend in every direction and busses serve the city, located only 15 miles east of the Oklahoma line. Shamrock is 17 miles south, Canadian 33 miles north, Mobeetie 11 miles west, and Pampa 42 miles west of Wheeler.

If there had not been other towns in Texas in 1905 by the same names, Wheeler might not be Wheeler today, but Maude, Alice, or Emma, according to James A. Crump. It was 34 years ago that 160 acres was designated by J. B. Stanley and R. B. Rogers as a townsite.

The name Maude was chosen, after a daughter of Mr. Stanley and also after the name of Mrs. Rogers. Since the town was located within three miles of the center of the county, the name of the county also served as the name selected for the town.

R. B. Rogers was Wheeler's first postmaster. A half dug-out, north of the Stanley grove, was moved into the new location, for the postoffice. Stanley and Rogers paid for the services of Robert Crowder, mail carrier.

Tom Bond was given a 1 1/2 on which to build Wheeler's first store. Doc Brazil's house was the first to be completed. A blacksmith shop and other buildings were soon under construction.

The Stanley ranch house was used as general headquarters until the George Brazil hotel was built. Rogers shipped a cut building and all his household furnishings from the World's Fair at St. Louis. This house was the largest in Wheeler for a long time. The city hospital now occupies the site of the house.

First Schools and Churches
A small school house was moved first to the town section, and later to where the school buildings now stand. This was known as the Broncho school and was moved from two miles west. Judge Reynolds was the first lawyer to live in Wheeler, and his daughters taught the first school after it became the Wheeler school. This house was also used for Sunday school and church until the Baptist church was built. The wedding of Miss Bonnie Rippey and Mr. Frances Devines was in the Broncho church in 1906 just before it was moved. A church wedding was quite an exciting affair in those days. The wedding of Miss Dorothy Reynolds and Tom E. Stanley in the new Baptist church in 1938 was a big event, and Sam Holt whispered to another cowboy, "Don't go breaking into the fine stock stalls." His father, E. E. Holt, bought the Frank Patton ranch with J. E. Stanley in 1901.

Rev. Levi Harris was in the Broncho church in 1906 just before it was moved. A church wedding was quite an exciting affair in those days. The wedding of Miss Dorothy Reynolds and Tom E. Stanley in the new Baptist church in 1938 was a big event, and Sam Holt whispered to another cowboy, "Don't go breaking into the fine stock stalls." His father, E. E. Holt, bought the Frank Patton ranch with J. E. Stanley in 1901.

Versatile Preacher
Other early-day ministers were Dubbs Adams, Gilliland, Stetser who was Mr. Rogers' father-in-law. Besides being a teacher, post master real estate agent, and notary public, Mr. Rogers was a Baptist preacher and often times "filled the pulpit" when regular ministers were not present. An Irish carpenter and contractor by the name of Johnson from Missouri was a minister and preached many sermons and held many funerals, while in Wheeler, Sunday School and prayer meetings were first held in the homes. A union Sunday School was carried on at the time. And later different ones of denominations were organized.

In 1906 Rev. E. A. Wesson held a camp meeting in the large grove, and people for miles around attended.

The Citizens State Bank was chartered on Aug. 11, 1908. E. E. Holt was president, J. E. Stanley, vice president and D. E. Holt, cashier. It opened for business in the court-house, which was moved from Mobeetie to Wheeler, in 1907, and placed in the center of the square, where a new and larger building now stands.

The bank later occupied a frame building, and then moved to its present location.

Courts
The first session of court was held in the church while they were moving from Mobeetie to Wheeler.

In 1908 C. Bee Stevens and most of the other county officers moved to Wheeler. Mr. Stevens was district clerk. He died July 22, 1909. J. J. Long, who was the father of Mobeetie, and a real pioneer, was county treasurer but didn't move the office while he held office. He died August 9, 1925. Nute Bowers was sheriff. He now lives at Kellon.

Mark Huseby was county assessor, died about 1936. Marvin Sanders was sheriff from 1906 to 1912. He died August 11, 1937.

Roads
There was a move for better roads. Pete Reed of Mobeetie was appointed president of the road association and he acted many years in that capacity. Besides making many roads safe for automobiles (or streamers to ford), the association brought about a closer relationship that still exists. The president, with the aid of Stanley and Rogers, spent time and money trying to bring a railroad through the county seat.

A New York promoter, by name of Major Anglin, induced them at one time to give a dollar for every acre they had, for the promotion of a railroad, but to no avail. Major Anglin soon dropped off the scene. Pete Reed finally picked up interest in building better highways. He moved from Mobeetie to Pampa where he died several years ago.

R. B. Rogers moved to New Mexico. His family still lives at Portales. J. E. Stanley was mayor of Wheeler until he moved to Lampaas in 1937 at which place he died Feb. 17, 1931.

Early Days
The lumber to build this town was hauled in 1906 by four horse teams

Military Monarch

A sure "nuff sergeant might bellow at the sight of those slippers worn by 4-year-old Feisal 11 of Iraq, but outside of that detail, the youngest king in the world looks quite the snappy soldier in his state military uniform.

and oxen teams from the railroad at Shamrock over deep, narrow, sandy roads. The men carried their drinking water but its stage at Wheeler; about all one saw on the route was barb wire fences and cattle. It might have been dangerous, but it was interesting to have a lobo wolf follow at a distance for a long way. Rattles didn't seem to be plentiful. There was fish in every little stream and the water was so clear we had to hide or be quiet to catch them.

First Automobile
The first car to plow its way thru sand and ditches (there were no roads just paths in places) was owned by a doctor in Oklahoma. This was in 1903. The second car ran between Mobeetie and Miami as a passenger and mail car for a while. It was owned by Pink Hines of Miami, Canada.

Sooners called "Herd-Laws" but few people had them.

Many a courtship was brought about by home talent plays. Often times the first sign of a young man's intentions to marry was a new buggy and a matched team.

The drug stores carried patent medicines and staple goods. PERUNA was one of the favorite tonics. People helped each other in sickness. Redding, Blackerby, Smith and Jess were among the doctors of the times.

Oklahomans were called "Herd-Laws," but we liked each other. Everybody killed their own meat, (once in a while somebody would beat you to the fastest calf. There was a spirit of friendliness to the extent that all doors were left unlocked.

Most cowmen would lend anything but their horse and saddle.

Julius Carter came here in 1903 with his wife and brother John. They dug wells by hand. Julius tells of the time he went into the only grocery store, priced the breakfast food. Mr. Bond said, "Ten cents a box, or three for a quarter," Julius said, "Give me three." Mr. Bond looked excited and said, "Please don't. You'll buy me out."

Freighters 'Eat-Out' Store
The Stanley boys, A. E. Crump, Dr. M. M. Meeks, and the oxen driver, John Kemp, came in very hungry from freighting. They agreed to buy of man Bond out. ("Eat him out," they called it). And they kept buying until there wasn't a can of goods on the shelves.

Early Advertiser
"L. L. T." was printed in large letters on Bronson Holt's cut house. Someone began to inquire. Finally, in a timid way, The old minister, father of Mrs. J. E. Stanley and uncle of Bronson Holt, half whispered, "Well, I did that work, and that's some one might want me to do some carpenter work for them."

The 1939 spring outlook for egg and production in the United States indicated an increase for the year over 1938.

Thursday night Dr. Lunn is scheduled for an address at the square in LeFors and the following night at McLean. Dr. Lunn will come to Pampa from Claude, where he is to speak tomorrow night.

BATON ROUGE, La., July 8 (AP)—Without warning or explanation, Governor Earl K. Long announced today he had called for the dismissal of Dr. J. A. Shaw, director of the minerals division of the State Conservation Department, who has control of pro-rata production and issuance of drilling permits. "I think my action speaks for itself," was the governor's only comment. Last Thursday he said he had found, during his first ten days in office, that a practice existed whereby "certain state officials" bought supplies from concerns in which they themselves were financially interested, and that these officials sometimes had brought "pressure" on private citizens and firms to patronize their concerns. William C. Rankin, conservative commissioner, whom Long ordered to dismiss Shaw, would not comment. It was the first dismissal of a major jobholder since Long succeeded Richard W. Leche as governor. Long said he would appoint David McCallister, a brother of Mrs. Huey P. Long, to succeed Shaw. Leche resigned shortly after announcing a scandal at Louisiana

State University which since has widened into a federal, state and county investigation searching throughout the state. Annually, about 200,000 books are published throughout the world.

The Law Lid Blows Off Completely

People used to have a funny idea that there was a limit to the things you could do by law. Of course we know better now. You can do anything by law. Why, not long ago we had a law telling people what they couldn't drink.

There is no longer any limit. Illinois is pioneering. It is on the point of passing a law forbidding picture houses to show double features.

This of course opens the way for a lot of new laws which nobody had dared to think about before. Let your imagination go a little:

How about a law that there must be not less than three, nor more than five shrimps in a shrimp cocktail? This is practically a tradition, anyway, like the third term.

How about a law against any one woman spending more than six hours in a beauty parlor in any one day?

How about a law providing that a vegetable plate shall always consist of equal dabs of spinach, butter beans, carrots, and peas?

How about a law providing that all restaurants serving chop suey must publish on the menu its exact contents?

How about a law prohibiting doubleheader baseball games?

How about a law prohibiting people from showing more than once those movies they made on the vacation to Gezeck Falls?

How about a law prohibiting doubling at bridge? Or in brass?

In short, how about a law? Well, how about it? You might think, in your innocence, that the question of how many pictures a movie was going to show would be a business question, purely between the people who make and sell the movies, the people who show them, and the people who go to see them.

That would be the old-fashioned view. So purely private a matter as this, a matter so little tinged with the public interest, would scarcely have been considered a matter behind which to throw iron regulation and the majesty of the law.

But Illinois is on the point of declaring otherwise. Do the kids love to sit all afternoon watching an interminable show? No matter—the law knows best. Do the elders want to drift in, catch a quick show, and beat it? No matter, the law knows best.

Any such law as that now proposed by Illinois would certainly seem destined straight for a long career in the courts, which will then be faced with the difficult task of determining precisely how much movie the citizen is entitled to see for his quarter.

More than 7,000,000 trout are to be stocked in Vermont lakes and rivers next year. The Republicans must expect to elect a President.

American men are glad that one thing about King George didn't get much publicity during the royal tour. The monarch gets his hair cut once a week.

Men of the Mezinkas tribe of northwest Asia speak a different language than do women of the same tribe. Lucky Mezinkas.

The Slovak government has urged that girls marry instead of going to work. This will call for stern measures from Mr. Hitler.

The Nation's Press

WE ARE BORED WITH BILLIONS (Chicago Daily News)

One of the Washington dispatches telling of President Roosevelt's latest spend-lead prescription for recovery said: "President Roosevelt today sprang upon an astonished Congress a request for a long range $3,860,000,000 public works program starting July 1 and perpetuating itself thereafter as a revolving fund."

Was Congress really astonished? If so, Congress astonishes with remarkable ease. It is a safe bet that few Americans outside Congress were astonished. What's astonishing about a demand for money from the White House? It has been routine for seven years, and today the reaction is a mental yawn from ocean to ocean.

To restore prosperity? To promote recovery? Oh, yeah! All this gibberish about pump priming, self-liquidating projects, revolving funds, making jobs and the like, rank today with Mr. Hoover's vanishing corner and two chickens in every garage. The public is bored to death, and the fact that it is now difficult to arouse any excitement about a plan involving $3,860,000,000 is probably the most significant aspect of the President's proposal.

That sum is a lot of money. That it has become difficult even to write about it in serious vein is damning testimony to the doping of the public mind by the New Deal, and also testifies to the remoteness from economic realities that prevails in the cloistered groups of medicine men who take counsel with the Great White Father.

The masses, benumbed by 10 years of depression, dole, joblessness and WPA make-believe, have no faith in another inflationary shot in the arm. Finance and big business, now so largely servants of the Washington credit machine, criticize but do not fight. They deplore deficits in public, while privately investing in government paper that is being used to put them out of business eventually.

As economics, Mr. Roosevelt's plan ranks with another dose of Pain-Killer or another rub with Snake Oil. As politics, it can only be condemned as another scheme to buy an election next year—but even that condemnation can hardly be hearty, because it isn't enough to buy the election. Thirty billions would hardly do it.

People are bored, and to bore the voters is the unworkable sin of politics. The electorate can be detached to elect charlatans as long as they are pulling new tricks, but not to re-elect a magician who can't find something new to pull out of his hat. Mr. Roosevelt's white rabbits are moth-eaten.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life ---

By R. C. Hoiles

NEW DEALERS' INTERPRETATION OF LIBERTY

I find that there is quite a different idea as to what the New Dealers and Socialists believe liberty and freedom mean, as compared with what is usually meant by liberty and freedom by those people who believe in constitutional government.

When I point out to some of these Socialists that each individual has a right to go into any line of work that he sees fit, this Socialist invariably contends that the individual does not have the money or the ability, so thus, is not free or at liberty.

It would seem that the Socialist and the New Dealer's definition of liberty is not the right to the pursuit of happiness—the right to do a thing if the man has the ability, but a responsibility on the government or society that they give this man the things he aspires for so that he can be called free or that he has liberty. This would mean that there could not be any such thing as a man having liberty, if he had any wants that were not satisfied.

These New Dealers and Socialists who are posing as being such great friends of the poor and having such sympathy for the poor, are the ones who are causing the poor to want more and more of this misnamed "liberty." They are teaching the poor that they are not free, when they do not have what they think they need. The result of this kind of an interpretation of "liberty and freedom" would be that there could be no abstaining, no saving, to create better tools so that we could support a larger population or improve the living standards of the present population.

OUR GOVERNMENT AND OUR LIBERTY

Friedrich A. Von Hayek has rendered a great service to his fellowman. He presented more clearly than any presentation I have ever read the eventual results of economic planning by the government. He logically shows step by step how economic planning eventually leads to the government planning all the acts of its citizens.

He says, "The fateful possibilities which such analysis suggests deserve further attention. If the suspicion should prove right that the expansion of state control over economic life, which is so generally wanted, should necessarily lead to the suppression of intellectual and cultural freedom, it would mean that we are witnessing one of the greatest tragedies in the history of the human race: more and more people are being driven by their indignation about the suppression of political and intellectual freedom in some countries to join the very forces which make the ultimate suppression of their own freedom inevitable."

Dr. Von Hayek also points out, "government by agreement is possible only if government action is confined to subjects on which people have common views."

This is where the people of the United States have egregiously erred. They have been demanding that the government do one thing after another. They pay no attention to the rights of the individual to support and do things that he is convinced eventually will destroy all private liberty.

The only possible way that our liberty can be saved is to arouse the people to recognize the direction and the eventual results that face them, if we continue to permit the government to regulate our economic production.

Behind The News Of The Day

BY BRUCE CATTON

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the most interesting names in Washington right now is Congressman Jacob Thorkelson, Montana Republican.

Thorkelson is interesting for several reasons. First, he is a colorful sort of person in his own right—an ex-captain of windjammers and a distinguished surgeon, to say nothing of a big game hunter and a salty, outspoken personality.

Secondly, he is in grave danger of becoming an object lesson for freshman congressmen.

The object lesson business arises because the congressman is rapidly becoming stamped with the most fatal of stamps—that of anti-Semitism. He has put into the Congressional Record lately various remarks which (to put it gently) are susceptible of an anti-Semitic interpretation. The lunatic fringe of the vaudeville organizations is beginning to infest his office. And he made himself somewhat conspicuous by sitting in General Moseley's corner while the general was under interrogation by the Dies committee.

The tough part about that is that Thorkelson doesn't mean to be that way. Basically, he is a down-the-middle western conservative, a sworn foe of the "money trust," a disbeliever in all isms and a sound-money man. But Moseley, Felley and Deatherage have called on him, the above-mentioned lunatic fringe

THE GOVERNMENT IS WORKING ON IT NOW

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, July 8. — Short takes: Director William Wellman and Actor Ernest Cossart got into a fender - and - bumper entanglement while trying to drive out of the Paramount parking lot the other evening. "Wild Bill" led with a remark and Cossart doubled him, in spades. The quarrel grew hot, but just short of the fist-swinging stage Wellman suddenly quieted, looked at the actor intently and said, "Say, I can use your sure do look mean when you're mad!"

And he engaged him for the heavy role in "The Light That Failed." A producer of quickie pictures was talking with a friend. "Things are mighty bad with me," he said. "I lost $5,000 on my last picture, and almost as much on the one before that. On the previous one I dropped about $7,500 and that was just after I'd lost $10,000 on that little musical."

"I should think you'd get out of the business," suggested the friend. "Well," shrugged the producer. "I got to make a living!"

A man has finally been added to the cast of "The Women," but you won't see his face or know his name. Metro couldn't resist having a clinch fadeout in the film, so the last scene will show Norma Shearer hurling herself into the arms of her husband, who will be a bit player with his back to the camera.

Greer Garson, who came to Hollywood and then was sent back to London for her first picture, "Mr. Chips" may have to return to England for her second. . . . Red-headed Dolly Haas, from Germany, has established a sitting record in Hollywood. For more than two years she waited at Columbia, smooching out her acting, drawing paychecks and never once facing a camera. Then Ernst Lubitsch put her under contract for a film, but the production was shelved. Now Warner Brothers has accepted her to play opposite Paul Muni in "We Are Not Alone," and she should go to work day by day.

It's Roland Young's story about the married vaudeville team who set out on a tour of the hinterlands. A few weeks later their manager received this wire: "Dolly died yesterday, but don't worry, I'm a wov as a single."

When "Maile" was released, Metro not only discovered that it had a surprise hit, but that it had an umph-girl on its payroll. Ann Southern will be given other stories which had been planned for Jean Harlow. . . . "Modern Cinderella," the Irene Dunne-Charles Boyer flicker at Universal, is the product of 26 writers. . . . While the camerera stared, Joan Crawford took a bath in a glass tub the other day. Cecil DeMille is still gnashing his teeth for not having thought of it first.

Gregory Ratoff is directing Leslie Howard in "Intervista" in Hollywood. Irving Hoffman recalls that 10 years ago Leslie Howard directed Gregory Ratoff in "Out of the Blue Sky," on Broadway. That was a play for which Clark Gable was tried out and rejected. "Hollywood Cavalcade" all want to see Alice Faye and Don Ameche. Buster Keaton, Chester Conklin and Ben Turpin—who were greater stars in their day—aren't even recognized. You couldn't find anything ob-

Notes taken on a reporter's beat:

Garnet Reeves, sly expert at rounding up delegations, says that Gray county was practically the only county in the Panhandle that did not have a delegation at Washington during the last week. Most of the delegations were lobbying for lanes. . . . Mrs. Mickey Conley yesterday celebrated the seventh anniversary of the opening of her "Irish" cafe. Mrs. Conley opened the place following the death of her husband, a veteran cable tool driller. She gives most of her profits to charity and her church, and says she's not a bit afraid of old age because she'll never be old. . . . This one ran into Aaron Hunter and Clovis Green at separate times last week. Both are ex-Harvesters. Aaron was the lad who had the intriguing little hop and skip when he shot at a basket on a basketball court, and Clovis was the big boy who played in the line about 1932. Clovis leads quite an intellectual life, what with reading and writing, and Aaron has mastered a bit of the art of conversation. . . . GREAT MINDS DEPT.

A great banker said to a young matron: "I am ashamed of my failure to keep abreast of modern science. Take the electric light, for instance. I haven't the least idea how it works."

The young matron gave him a patronizing smile. "Why," said she, "it's very simple really. You just press a button and the light comes on—that's all there is to it!"—Christian Science Monitor.

"Goodie!" enthused Ida Knowe, our bright little file clerk. "They have just made my brother draft clerk at the bank!"

"That egg? Draft clerk?" he echoed. "Sure!" said Ida. "He opens and closes the windows."

HAD GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

And the point of it all is that with all of this background, plus the favorable spot he got into by coming down to Washington as the man who beat Jerry O'Connell, Congressman Thorkelson could have gone places in politics.

The first rule for freshman congressmen is: keep your mouth shut, learn the ropes, do jobs for your constituents, and let nature take its course. A certain distinguished senator went out of his way to impress that on Thorkelson, in friendly fashion, way last January. But Thorkelson didn't follow it.

Instead he made speeches. He let some of them sound anti-Semitic. And recently his fellow members began to do an almost unheard-of thing: when he asked leave to revise and extend his remarks in the Congressional Record, they kept him from doing it. Both Minority Leader Sam Rayburn and Bruce Barton publicly assailed the material he had put into the record.

As a result, unless he gets on a new tack very soon, Congressman Thorkelson will lose both his influence and his prospects. Which is a shame, because fundamentally he is a swell sort of person.

GOOD MIDSUMMER ADVICE comes from a writer and nature observer. . . . "What everyone should do at midday in summer," she says, "is to follow the example of the cows that lie down under comfortable shade trees. The people of tropical countries have the best of it. Why shouldn't we? In July and August, in much of this country, the weather is almost as muggy and hot."

Most people at work can't manage a midday rest, but many who could do so often miss the chance. A midday rest for children, even though too old for naps, would be an aid to keeping them well in the summer. Strenuous vacations would be wise to interrupt their activity for a bit of genuine loafing after lunch. Tourists would find a midday stop in some quiet spot more valuable than the little loss in daily mileage they might suffer. . . . In fact, a modified type of siesta might improve the minds, dispositions and health of all of us.

FED UP WITH Yankee and Giant victories, New Yorkers are turning to Brooklyn for baseball. It isn't just that the Dodgers lose, now and then. . . . It's the entertaining way they play. Two trucks collided, spilled 100 gallons of beer on a Colorado highway. Every passer-by wanted to help clear up the wreckage. . . . In one large city, it is estimated $15,000,000 is passed out annually to panhandlers. What's worrying officials is that cups-of-coffee sales don't match the outlay.

Movie publicity story says Crown Prince Olav of Norway "roared" at Sonja Henie's quip on a movie lot. Sonja couldn't cry, said: "But we don't cry in Norway." Soft job for somebody: being Olav's court jester. . . . Japan and Russia seem to disagree as to which side won these Outer Mongolia clashes. . . . So long as both are happy, however, we're willing to let them keep their opinions.

THE BEST NEWS of many months is the estimate of the National Industrial Conference Board that unemployment has for the first time since last December fallen below 10,000,000. Forty-four and a half million working—less than 10,000,000 not working. That is the score as of May, the latest estimate, with every trend indicating that as of June and probably July, more people were working, fewer not working.

Of course it is not enough of a dent in the problem—basically it remains. But if autumn sees the figure cut to 8,000,000, with the jobs boosted to 45,000,000, the direction at least will be right. . . . And direction, these days, is everything.

That new Pampa-Borger highway is going to come in mighty handy for baseball fans in the Twin cities—now that Borger and Pampa both are members of the West Texas-New Mex league. . . . One suspects that the pavement will be hot this afternoon with Pampa fans going to Borger for the Carbon Black capital's first game in the league. . . . Borger, you know, has taken over the franchise of the Abilene club, effective today.

Frequently people on vacations spoil most of their fun and are unable to get any rest because they are bitten by an annoying little parasite commonly called chigger. They are also known as harvest mites. In Mexico they are known as red bugs or bete rouge. The scientists call them Trombicula irritans.

The larvae or chigger mites attach themselves to the skin by means of their hooked projections. This sets up a severe irritation of the skin with intolerable itching. A few hours after the chigger first catches hold, there is a burning sensation which changes to severe itching within 36 hours. Red blotches appear, and then water blisters form in these blotches.

In most places chigger bites occur during the late summer and early fall among people who have been walking through woods and shrubbery.

There seems to be some difference among scientists as to whether or not chiggers penetrate the skin. Some insist that the chiggers burrow into the skin and die. One expert permitted himself to be attacked by chiggers and observed them daily, using a microscope. He found that on the first day the chiggers attach themselves only by their mouth parts and do not burrow into the skin. In the northeastern part of the United States chiggers show a tendency to attach themselves to the hair follicles of the skin and actually try to enter, but cannot get into the skin because of the very small size of the hair follicle in comparison to the size of the chigger. A chigger cannot get into the skin unless the pores are greatly dilated.

Apparently the chiggers live during the winter on the skins of birds and animals, particularly the ears of the rabbit.

In foreign countries some of the parasites of the type of the chigger are capable of carrying disease, particularly in Japan where they carry a condition called tsutsugamushi fever. The itching of chigger bites may be relieved by any of the ordinary lotions or creams for itching which contain small amounts of menthol, thymol, or phenol. Otherwise, all that is necessary in most cases is merely to keep the skin clean to make certain that there is no secondary infection from scratching.

How good is your memory—if you don't have to force it back any further than 1938? Otherwise, all that is necessary in most cases is merely to keep the skin clean to make certain that there is no secondary infection from scratching.

JEW'S BRAIN—AND A FIRE

—BEAT NAZI MONEY RULES. LONDON (AP)—A German Jew has found a new way of defeating the Nazi currency regulations—to the tune of $280,000.

A British lawyer called to Berlin to take details of British stock certificates, watched astounded as his client threw them on the fire.

After reaching England the refugee had the lawyer file a sworn statement as to the destruction of the certificates. Under British law this enabled him to obtain the necessary duplicates—at a cost of around $720.

BREAD, CRACKERS, CEREALS COMPRISE HIS DIET.

HOUSTON (AP)—Francis V. Davis, 34, of Dallas, has never eaten meat, vegetables, or fruits.

"I don't like their odor," he explained.

The former Carrollton, Ill., man said his diet, since he cut his milk teeth, has consisted of bread, crackers and cereals.

"I have never used a knife and fork," he added.

Apparently in perfect health, Davis is weighs 135 pounds and is 5 feet and 9 inches tall.

Oil Activity Sports In Panhandle Field

July To Be Big Month For Drilling

Despite the fact that the number of locations reported this week, a total of five, showed a slight decrease, drilling activity in the Panhandle field, especially in Hutchinson and Gray counties, is expected to be a larger-than-usual number of locations this week under way, and it is believed that July will be a banner month in the Panhandle in drilling operations.

Seven completions in the Panhandle raised the potential considerably. Biggest well of the lot was the Power Petroleum company's Halle No. 3 which had a potential of 492 barrels.

Completions were as follows: Magnolia's J. S. Morse "E" No. 9, potential 192 barrels, total depth, 2,725 feet; pay, 2,682-2,695 feet, Gray county.

Power Petroleum company's No. 3 Halle, potential 492 barrels; total depth, 3,079 feet; pay, 3,020-3,079 feet, Hutchinson county.

Phillips Petroleum company's No. 1 Jarvis, total depth, 3,257 feet; pay, 3,194-3,245 feet; potential 151 barrels, Hutchinson county.

Phillips' No. 3 Supreme, potential

322 barrels, total depth 3,253 feet; pay, 3,222-3,253 feet.

Intentions to drill:

Bomber Raid Rehearsed In Great Britain

(By The Associated Press.)

A heat wave, a French campaign for more babies and another British warning against aggression yesterday (Saturday) gave Europeans something to ponder over the week-end.

Germany bore the brunt of the heat, which sent Nazi officials to the cool of the countryside, but didn't interfere with military activities.

Notices were posted ordering young Germans, born at the end of the World war, mustered for the six months of labor service and two years of military service which every able-bodied Nazi male must undergo. In neighboring France, Premier Daladier studied measures designed to reverse the nation's declining birth rate. He was expected to use his dictatorial decree powers shortly to put into effect proposals which would provide financial rewards for big families, train youths and give them outlets in colonies.

Hungarian Nazis Parade.

France is disturbed by the fact that while her population has been falling off that of both Germany and Italy has been increasing.

Blunt notice that Britain would use force against indirect as well as direct aggression was served by Earl de Warr, president of the British Board of Education, in a speech at Derby. It was the first public declaration of a British official that Britain intended to go beyond the actual wording of her guarantee to smaller states.

As he spoke Britain launched a great air raid "rehearsal" with a blackout covering half of the country to test defense precautions.

Green-shirted Nazis trooped thru Budapest streets chanting: "Poor Szalasi is behind the bars waiting to be released to relieve us of slavery!"

The plan was to Major Ferenc Szalasi, the "Hitler of Hungary," who currently is languishing in a Hungarian jail, near the end of the first year of a three-year sentence for treason.

Conservative Hungarians are bothered by the fact that Szalasi, despite his imprisonment, has managed to become a power to be reckoned with through his control over one-fifth of Hungary's legislators.

France Reveals Proceeds.

In Moscow British and French envoys carried new instructions from their governments into a two-hour conference with Soviet Russia's premier-foreign commissar on the long-sought tri-power mutual assistance pact. The usual Moscow silence enshrouded what developments the meeting produced, if any.

The last days of republican Spain were lived over again in Madrid by Julian Besteiro, last head of the republican regime, whose life was demanded by nationalist prosecutors before a military tribunal trying him for "aiding rebellion" during the Spanish civil conflict.

A tribunal of four generals and two lieutenant-colonels last night debated the fate of the 69-year-old socialist professor of philosophy who sought in vain for "an honorable peace" and finally capitulated to Franco's stern demands for unconditional surrender.

Clint Small's Senate Term Up In 1940

(By HOWARD C. MARSHALL.)

ASTIN, July 8 (AP)—The campaign for seats in the next legislature, the forty-seventh in Texas history, was started.

Many among the 16 senators and 150 state representatives who must seek re-election or yield their places to others already are pointing for the 1940 political wars.

They aren't actually making speeches on fixed itineraries and asking votes. That will come later, sometime after January and most probably next spring. But there is activity galore, reports reaching Austin show.

All over Texas, in a multitude of ways, legislators have gone to work among the home folks. They are repairing old political fences damaged in the recent general legislative session, especially in the battle over "S. J. R. 12," the sales tax constitutional amendment Governor W. Lee O'Daniel fought so hard to have submitted and saw buried without benefit of clergy. And they are creating new ones.

At country cemetery workings, at East Texas log rollings, at singing conventions, picnics, fish fries and gatherings of every description, the candidates are shaking hands, dispensing goodwill, broadening personal acquaintanceship, and making friends.

15 Holdovers.

Fifteen members of the senate really are in position to enjoy themselves. They will not be up for re-election until 1942. They are what is known as "hold-overs." But 16 have to face the music of 1940.

The 16 are: A. M. Alkin Jr. of Paris, E. Harold Beck of Tarrant, Houghton Brownlee of Austin, Gordon M. Burns of Huntville, Wilbourn B. Collie of Eastland, Doss Hardin of Waco, J. Manley Head of Stephenville, Vernon Lemens of Washburn, G. H. Nelson of Lubbock, Will D. Pace of Tyler, John S. Reddick of Lufkin, Morris Roberts of Pettus, Clint C. Small of Amarillo, J. Franklin Spars of San Antonio, Albert Stone of Brenham, and H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton.

A senator's term is four years, and half the membership runs each two years.

A representative, on the other hand, has a two-year term, and the entire house is elected each biennium.

Rainbow Division To Hold Convention

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 8 (AP)—Veterans of the American Legion are organizing the formation of National Guard troops from 26 states to arouse a general interest in the American Expeditionary Forces of the World War—will open their annual reunion.

The Rainbow—officially the 42nd division—was formed to awaken the entire nation to the emergency of war. It was the first complete division to arrive in France.

Attending the one-day meeting will be delegations representing chapters in each of the 26 states.

Its nickname was suggested by General Douglas R. MacArthur, who at one time commanded the organization.

The division comprised the following units: headquarters troops from Louisiana; infantry regiments from New York, Alabama, Ohio and Iowa; cavalry units from New Jersey, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Michigan; field hospital units from the District of Columbia, Nebraska, Oregon and Colorado; field artillery from Illinois, Indiana and Minnesota; medical units from Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Georgia; engineers from North Carolina; trench mortar units from Maryland; supply train from Texas; ammunition train from Kansas; signal battalion from Missouri; military police from Virginia, and engineers from California and South Carolina.

Plans For Hospital Service Discussed

GALVESTON, July 18 (AP)—Plans for the organization of Group Hospitalization Service of Texas, Inc., were discussed at a meeting here today of a committee of the Texas Hospital Association with Dr. J. H. Crossland of Dallas, president and chairman of the board.

A decision on the cities in which six branch offices of the service will be located will be reached at a meeting of the board of directors tomorrow. It is expected that the service will start operations next week.

Bryce L. Twitty of Dallas, recently named administrator, has recommended location of the branch offices at Houston, San Antonio, Austin, San Angelo, Lubbock and Amarillo or Pampa provided certain conditions are met by these cities.

In 1937 the average running time per active patient in the textile industry was 3,870 hours; in 1927 it was 3,209 hours.

Fans To Picn Players All-Star Game

Site Of Game To Depend On Attendance

Baseball fans in the two divisions of the West Texas-New Mexico League today were asked to begin balloting on the players they believe will make the strongest lineups for the big North-South All-Star game to be played Tuesday, July 25.

In another column on today's Sunday News sports pages fans will find a ballot on which they may write in their all-star team suggestions. After careful thought this ballot should be filled in and mailed to the Sports Editor of the Pampa News.

Fans in Amarillo, Borger and Clovis, N. M., will do the same thing. These ballots will be forwarded to league officials at Dallas and from them the All-Star team roster will be selected.

Fans in this district, of course, will pick their players from the four teams because of the fact that Pampa, Amarillo, Clovis and Borger comprise the Northern division of the league.

The city in which the All-Star game will be played is to be selected about a week prior to the day of the game. It will be selected at a meeting of representatives from all league cities. Principal factor entering into the selection of the All-Star game site will be attendance.

The city that is drawing the biggest attendance at that time will have the edge on getting the game.

Harold Miller, business manager of the Pampa Oilers, said Saturday that Pampa has a good chance of getting the game if attendance at Road Runner Park keeps growing from now until the time for the league meeting to decide on the All-Star game site.

The Pampa team has been playing in excellent form against Lubbock, the league first-half champions and 1938 champions.

Fans balloting for the players to form the North All-Star team are urged to consider that Borger now is in the league and that Borger players now are those who formerly made up the Abilene Apaches in the southern division.

Lubbock, a North team until today, now falls in the southern division insofar as balloting for the All-Star team is concerned. Other South teams are Lamesa, Midland and Big Spring.

So, if you want to make sure of good representation on the North All-Star team, it behooves every baseball fan to fill in a ballot and mail it at once to the Sports Editor of the Pampa News.

Deadline date on the balloting will be announced within a few days.

A few simple rules must be followed to make the balloting legal.

Only signed ballots taken from one of the circuit newspapers will be counted.

No ballot will be counted if the voter lists more than FIVE players from any one team—with the exception that a vote for the playing manager is allowed outside this limit.

The team as finally selected by vote, however, is not limited to any number from a single team. The votes will decide.

All players on the active list of the league at any time during the balloting period are eligible for selection.

Rudolph Reimer is commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island.

Takewell is business manager of the Huber team.

'Golden Doll' Looks Like Lenglen In Winning Title

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 8 (AP)—Alice Marble, golden-haired girl from San Francisco, beat Kay Stammers for the All-England Women's tennis singles championship today and when she walked off the center court to meet Queen Mary, Britain's tennis experts agreed that here at last was another Suzanne Lenglen.

Playing with that relentless rhythm of all true champions and covering the court like some great inhuman golden doll, Miss Marble simply swept the beautiful English girl right off the court in 25 minutes and led the American team to one of the greatest triumphs of international sports.

The young American team not only won all five Wimbledon titles as they did last year but even took the men's consolation tournament to make it six. The only title they didn't win was the women's consolation singles.

Here's how they did it: Bobby Riggs, Chicago, defeated Fred Cooke, Portland, Ore., 2-6, 3-6, 6-2 (played yesterday).

Miss Marble defeated Miss Stammers, England, 6-2, 6-0. Riggs and Cooke defeated Frank White and Charles Share, England, 6-8, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Riggs and Miss Marble defeated Wilde and Nina Brown, 9-7, 6-1. Miss Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Cambridge, Mass., defending champions, defeated Heine Jacobs, Berkeley, Calif., and Billy York, England, 6-1, 6-0.

Don McNeill, Oklahoma City, defeated J. Van Der Eynde, Belgium, 3-6, 6-2, for All-England plate consolation.

Despite the American sweep, British critics are convinced the only champion who can be compared with past Wimbledon winners is Miss Marble.

Eight times Helen Wills Moody came over here and won this Wimbledon title but never in all these victories were British experts willing to concede she was as good as Lenglen.

Shining One Wins $25,000 Derby

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 8 (AP)—Shining One ran to a spectacular upset victory in the $25,000 Hollywood Derby today.

Overshadowed by supposedly more illustrious 3-year-olds, Shining One came from behind and grabbed the $18,725 winners' purse by a length and a half over Wedding Call and Counterpoise, while the co-favorites, the same pair one quarter event, Viscounty and Teddy Kerry, finished with the also-rans.

Never far off the pace set by Bubbling Boy and Wedding Call, Shining One suddenly burst into the lead as the field in rivals crowded into the turn for home.

Jockey Jackie Westrope was in the saddle and piloted the Circle M ranch's star over the route in time equalling the track record set by Seabiscuit—two minutes three and four-fifths seconds.

The race favorite, Roman Hero, was declared out of the derby two hours before post time. The Man-hasset stable's pride was found to have sustained a quarter-crack of the right front leg. Eddie Arcaro, brought here by plans to ride Roman Hero, switched to Vain Bo, George Raft's black gelding, and finished fourth.

Pampa To Play Borger In Inaugural Game

Duster Ends Oiler-Hubber Battle Here

Wind and dust broke up a tight ball game out at Road Runner Park last night. There had been no scoring and Lubbock was at bat with two men on and nobody out when somebody opened both the back and front doors to the park and the draft was too much. The ump, who never gave up until the last breath, called time for 30 minutes. More than half of the Ladies Night crowd of 1,800 persons knew more about a Panhandle wind and sandstorm than the ump, so they went home. The rest of the faithful stuck it out, and got their checks at the end of the 30 minutes. At any rate, it was no contest because the game ended in the first half of the fifth inning. The main interest for fans today, then, is the inaugural game over at Borger between Pampa and Borger at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It will mark Borger's first home game since taking over the Abilene franchise of the West Texas-New Mexico league. A hundred or two Pampa fans are expected to go to Borger today. The game will be broadcast over KPBN beginning shortly before 3 p. m. Sam Fenberg, Pampa baseball announcer, and Dale Robinson, of the Borger KPBN staff, will be at the microphones. Pampa was trying last night to make it three in a row from Lubbock. The Oilers trounced the Hubbers Thursday night, 16 to 6, and then came back Friday night and walloped them 14 to 5. Dilbeck was pitching a good game for Pampa when last night's game flopped, and Gorski was holding 'em tight for Lubbock. Pampa had made one hit, and Lubbock four when time was called. Both teams were playing errorless ball. Seitz made a sensational catch and quick throw-in in the second inning to hold runners on second and third. Although today's Pampa-Borger game at Borger was scheduled to be the first for Borger after taking over the Abilene franchise, the late wires recorded a 3 to 2 win for Big Spring over Borger at Big Spring last night. Previous announcements said the game scheduled between Abilene and Big Spring last night had been called off.

What To Do In Case Of Heat Prostrations

The beating Texas sun these July days is beginning to take its toll in heat prostrations, from reports reaching the Texas State Department of Health. A simple precaution to help prevent heat cramps and prostrations is to add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water you take. Laborers, mechanics, farmers and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely are in danger of having their body salt content become deficient with resulting heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat; the body loses large quantities of salt during hot days. In industry, a method of preventing heat cramps is to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to what they eat and drink. Salt deficiency may be prevented by taking salt in various ways. Where prepared tablets are not available, table salt may be used. Milk is a source of salt and will help to make up for the deficiency caused by sweating. Alcoholic drinks should be avoided. Heat cramps are characterized by (champs) in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases, by nausea and vomiting. The body temperature remains about normal, likewise the pulse rate. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until there is a deficiency; then various muscles begin to cramp.

Father Says Second Party Slew Couple

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 8 (AP)—A gray-haired, dignified former prospector, who took the witness stand in an effort to save his son's life, testified today the boy, Robert Burgunder, told him an unnamed "second party" shot and killed two automobile salesmen.

Over and over again the father, an emotional and dramatic recital, emphasized that his son denied killing Jack Peterson and Ellis McKoury.

The second party, who Burgunder said his son refused to name was waiting on the desert when the youth arrived with the salesmen at gun point.

"The other car was waiting," Burgunder quoted Bob as telling him. "The salesmen were made to get out of the car."

Peterson threw his pocketbook on the ground and was tied up. Koury was told to get to his feet.

"The gun then was given to the second party. While Bob was getting ready to tie the Koury the shots were fired."

"The shootings of these men were so unnecessary, so cowardly, so useless," the father testified his son said.

Cites Prison Code.
"I drove the salesmen's Ford car away," the elder Burgunder said his son continued. "The other man came too. That car was put back where it came from. The other man got in the car with me and I took him where he wanted to go."

The father, facing the jury and speaking earnestly and with suppressed emotion, testified that he pressed his son repeatedly to identify the purported companion.

"Dad," he said to the jury, "you know that in the reformatory there was a code of honor not to snitch on one another. When the man in the car was made a pledge that if one was caught he would not tell on the other."

"I asked Bob why he didn't take the man to Tennessee with him," Burgunder said, "but he told me the man got scared over what they had done."

The father testified that an over-whelming desire to gamble on slot machines led his son into the Washington reformatory and culminated in his being involved in the salesmen's deaths.

top of 118 at drouth-ridden Uvalde. The forecast held small prospect of relief as the lingering heat, wave sent thermometer readings to record-breaking highs. Uvalde's figure was the hottest there in 28 years. A 110 mark at Wichita Falls was the highest in three years. Groesbeck had 110.

Hillstoro, with 108, experienced his hottest weather in three years and hottest like temperature in 31 years. San Antonio 107 degrees was an all-time high, beating the 106 registered June 21, 1935.

Rotarians Again Vanquish Lions

Rotarians and Lions "feuded" it out at Road Runner park last night in a baseball game, preceding the professional contest between the Oilers and the Hubbers. Last year the Rotarians took two games from the Lions and the losers were anxious for "just one more chance."

The Rotarians made it three straight, whipping the Lions 9 to 4, in a five-inning game.

LIONS 020 11-4 6 4

Undecided On Tax Refund
Still unrevealed was Gov. O'Daniel's decision on a general tax remission proposal which would donate more than $3,000,000 annually in state ad-valorem taxes to the counties for five years, beginning in the 1940 tax year.

The Governor has asked the attorney general for an opinion on the legality of the tax donation proposal which results in the substantial one-half of the state ad-valorem impost for general fund purposes. The contributions could be appealed to numerous uses.

Still on the Chief Executive's desk were the major appropriation bills, earmarking more than $71,000,000 for state operation during the biennium beginning September 1.

These include the departmental bill more than $25,000,000, for several days the subject of numerous conferences between Governor O'Daniel and department heads who have been asked what items they could most conveniently sacrifice to the veto pen and the interest of state economy.

Budget Reductions Forecast
The Governor may contemplate whacking a healthy slice from each department's budget. Unverified reports are that the reductions might range up to 10 per cent.

O'Daniel, who frequently compares the operation of state affairs with those of a business corporation, has been eyeing assistance a $17,000,000 deficit in the general fund. Putting two and two together, some observers speculate his observations about the big figures on the red side of the ledger presage reductions in the departmental bill and possible veto of general tax remission. Officials of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce are urging all Pampa business and professional men to take this opportunity to visit the lake, which is practically full of water at this time, and to enjoy the fellowship of other business men.

The picnic will be strictly informal and everyone will be encouraged to come dressed in comfortable casual business men are invited to bring their children along if the youngsters are of an age to enjoy seeing the lake as it is not open to the general public because of the unfinished construction and lack of facilities and this may be the last opportunity to view the lake in several months.

Proud of Job
Officials of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce who have had one of their major projects for the past two years the building of this lake, are proud of the job that has been done thus far but are frank to admit there is much work yet ahead before the lake will be of any material use.

A recreational building, a youth camp, a boat house, a bath house, a superintendent's house, over night cabins and other facilities that are already constructed at Buffalo Lake, near Maricopa, Canyon and Herford, and Lake Marvin near Caddo, will be necessary before Lake McClellan will be of any material use.

It is the hope of officials of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce that the business and professional men of Pampa may attend the picnic and have a personal view of the lake and the need for these facilities.

Pampa business men are asked to leave Pampa about 6:30 a. m. giving about thirty minutes extra time to view the lake before the picnic lunch will be served about 6:30 Tuesday evening.

Barbecue Served 5,500 In Hour At McLean On Fourth

Special to The NEWS.
McLEAN, July 8.—W. W. (Slick) Boyd, general chairman of McLean's Fourth of July celebration, is still receiving praise for the manner in which he and his co-workers handled the event that attracted a record-breaking crowd to McLean Tuesday.

A total of 5,500 free plates were served in an hour at a chuck wagon lunch at noon, consisting of barbecue, beans, apricots, onions, pickles, and bread. The committee in charge was headed by C. M. Carpenter and Finn Bourland.

A crowd of 2,100 persons saw the r.e.o. held in the afternoon, and at night.

Featured in the parade held in McLean Tuesday morning was Mrs. Clyde Brown, the former Miss May Belle Grogan, 1937 "Top O' Texas" Fiesta rodeo queen, who rode in a 120 cowboy and cowgirl unit.

Mayors Lead Parade.
Leading the parade were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clifton, on horses, and carrying American flags. Mayor Vester Smith of McLean and Mayor Bill Walker of Shamrock rode together following the flag bearers.

Following the cowboys was a chuck wagon driven by Leon Waldrip and carrying John, a Negro from Childs, who entertained with his imitation of a steamboat whistle.

Other units in the parade were McLean's fire department, 25 boys and girls riding on Shetland ponies. Uncle George Sitter, owner of the Bar Lo ranch, riding in a buckboard.

D. A. Davis was responsible for a number of novelty numbers riding at various intervals in the parade. Some of them were: "Alley Oop" (J. M. Combs), the fighting Irishman (Bryant Roby), Clown on mule (Ishmael Swafford), his "Satanic Majesty" (Marietta Young), Indian warrior on wild mustang (Roy McMullen).

Jalopy Creates Fun.
Another fun-provoking number was George Hervey's jalopy "Dinah," which, when not "resting" by the roadside, carried some of the boosters on their good will trips preceding the celebration.

Though arriving too late to join other hands for the parade the Memphis high school band, accompanied by a number of boosters from Memphis, gave a concert on Main street at 5 o'clock and invited everybody to attend their Old Settlers' reunion on July 27-28.

Committees Listed.
Committee members, in addition to those above named, who helped with the celebration were: Joe Hindman, Joe Dowling, Jesse Kemp, ranch committee; Boyd Meador and John Sparks, fire department in parade; Shetland pony riders unit, Bartow Landers, Head.

Pioneer cattlemen's unit, John Carpenter, merchants' parade entries, John Cooper.

Bees Donated.
Donors of the bees for the barbecue, prepared by John Snider, were J. S. Morse, John Carpenter, Bill Webb, Slick ranch, Ed Clifton, Jess Kemp, James Noel, Jim McMurry, Wibb Fowler, C. E. Cooke, Joe Hindman, and Raymond Glass. Hindman, Glass and Carpenter were on the barbecue committee.

Butchering the Bees.
"Warty" Carnes and O. R. Blankenship. Helping to carve the meat were Clint Doolen, Peb Everett, Harry Crawford, Milton Bania.

Free Coffee.
Through the courtesy of Haskell Leaster of McLean and V. E. Williams of Amarillo free coffee was served from the Admiration coffee truck. Mike Wilkerson, local leaman, furnished refrigeration for the bees until time to be barbecued. Drinking cups and water fountains were also available free of charge.

Mrs. Buskirk Sings.
Performances of amateur rodeo began at 1:30 and 8 at the grand entry. Mrs. R. L. Buskirk sang "Home On the Range."

Stock was furnished by the Western Rodeo company, newly organized and composed of Ed Crews, Fayette Russell, and Clifford Sims, W. W. Boyd was arena director. Judges were Charley Gatlin and John Cubine. Timekeepers: Roger Powers and C. E. Cooke; flagman, Ruel Smith; announcers, Evan Sitter and C. A. Coyer; rodeo clerks, J. R. Glass and O. R. Blankenship.

Two girls, Jean Landers of Head and Minnie Catherine Morse of the Morse ranch, were given ovations in the steer-riding contests.

Prize Winners.
Money prizes were given to the first four winners in each event. Several pairs of Levis were presented to winners by J. M. Stubbiefield.

Winners for the afternoon were: Calf roping, Ed Clifton, first; Derby, Jerry Sporkman, fourth; Ribbon race, second; Racie Morse, third; Jerry Sporkman, fourth.

Orderly Crowds.
So congenial were the visitors as well as the local people, that the number of peace officers mingling with the crowds has little to do. Directing traffic were Sheriff Cal Rose, Chief Deputies George A. Pope and John Hudson from Pampa; Deputy M. M. Newman, Charley Nicholson, John Sparks, local officers and the following special deputies: Sydney Kunkel, Jim Sullivan, J. A. Brawley and Mr. Mitchell.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, July 8 (AP)—The stock market made a few feeble recovery gestures today, then resumed the slumber which it started at the beginning of the week.

While some utilities, coppers, rubbers, mail orders and specialties managed to edge up, advances in numerous issues finished unchanged to down a shade.

Attendance in boardroom was virtually at zero, made traders electing to lengthen the week-end holiday.

Losses of fractions to a point or so were about equally divided at the finish with the result the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 46.2. Due to a run-up Wednesday, following the Fourth of July recess, this composite figure advanced one point on the week of 7 of a point.

Despite its strike, General Motors held its recession to 1/4 of a point at 32 1/2. The company, after the close, announced fine sales of new autos, trucks numbered 154,859 units against 145,786 in May and 191,908 in June, 1938.

Coppers attracted attention as heavy world-wide demand brought another lift in the export price of the metal to 10.40 cents a pound, a new high since last Jan. 9.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem ended at yesterday's final quotations as next week's mill operations were expected to rebound sharply. Maintenance of large consumer spending for merchandise dropped.

Among the day's gainers were Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Edison, North American, Anaconda, Great Northern, J. C. Penney and N. Y. Shipbuilding.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 8 (AP)—Depressed by prospects of a huge Canadian wheat crop and by heavy marketings of U. S. grain as harvesters progress northward, world wheat prices today slumped more than a cent a bushel to the lowest levels in several years in some markets.

Chicago wheat closed 1/4-1/2 cent lower than yesterday, at the lowest quotations of the year and the lowest for July in seven years. Final figure of 66 1/2¢ for July contracts and 67 1/2¢ were only 1 1/2¢ to 4 cents above the season's bottom and were about 14 cents from the day's bottom.

Liverpool prices also were 1/4-1/2¢ off at the lowest point in nine years. Winnipeg quotations, which dropped 2 1/2¢ yesterday, tumbled 1 1/2¢ to one stage to new lows for the past several years. There were moderate rallies at Chicago and Winnipeg from the day's bottom levels, however.

The U. S. Government will release its July forecast Monday.

Other grains slumped with wheat, corn losing 1/4-3/8¢, oats 1/4-3/8¢, and rye 1/4-3/8¢.

Piano Concert Of Ernestine Holmes Praised

BY STAFF WRITER.

What lies ahead for Ernestine Holmes, young Pampa pianist? How far will she go in the art of playing the piano?

You naturally ask yourself those questions when you hear her play Beethoven, Chopin, Mendelssohn as she did Friday night at the First Christian church.

For Ernestine has come a long way since she began playing scales seven years ago at the age of six. When Ernestine plays two movements (presto and allegro vivace) of Mendelssohn's Concert in G Minor as she did Friday night, you know that she's good for a 13-year-old. You can't help but think that this child, now almost a prodigy, should some day be a nationally-known artist.

Of course that depends upon the quality of the technique which she develops in her already-long, slim fingers, upon the understanding and interpretation which they express, upon the long hours in which she must practice correctly. Her future career will depend upon that unique technical and fingering which differentiates between a good musician and a great musician.

In the presence of about 100 music-lovers, Ernestine did very well indeed Friday night. Young musicians become prodigies when their technique is flawless, and so we are not ready to say that Ernestine plays faultlessly, but we could write that after nearly every number she shared "very well done."

She did the most with Mendelssohn's Scherzo in E Minor, and the other Mendelssohn number, and Chopin's Raindrop prelude, and Beethoven's Sonata Op. 14 No. 1 (three movements, allegretto, allegro, and rondo).

Ernestine's playing affects her listeners, those who appreciate beautiful music very well. Morris Levine, who lives on Mary Ellen, said he could listen to her another hour. Kenneth Carman, who teaches dramatics in the high school and who formerly directed an orchestra in Illinois, said "students do not pick up Chopin by themselves, but when a child plays Chopin as well as she . . . He commented further that her "Chopin is the biggest inspiration of all," and of the Mendelssohn concerto, "precision outstanding."

And so only Ernestine herself can answer the two questions asked.

Ankara, Turkey, has increased in population from 20,000 in 1923 to 125,000 in 1939.

Passengers Flee From Burning Bus

DALLAS, July 8 (AP)—Passengers narrowly escaped death when a bus (All American Lines) was destroyed by a gasoline-fed fire about 7:35 p. m. here today. Mrs. James J. Huffman of Dallas said she saw a man light a cigarette, drop a match, and a piece of paper under the gasoline tank. She warned other passengers and they scrambled to safety. Firemen doused the blaze within a few minutes.

D. C. Jacobs, manager of the Dallas office of the line, estimated damage at $10,000.

PRISON REPEATERS.

MCALISTER, Okla. (AP)—The "Eye-Opener" Oklahoma state prison monthly publication, studied statistics recently and found that of 733 men received at the prison the first five months of 1939, over 300 of them had been in prison before. Of the 335 "repeaters," 220 had served previous terms at McAlester.

but only 19 of the 220 had studied in the prison school.

A little less than half the Americans in China live in Shanghai.

It's a Friendly Business

And we love it. It must be that furniture, being such an intimate and "homey" part of everyone's life, has an aura of friendliness of its own, even in the store before it's sold. Certainly, we enjoy helping people with their furniture problems, and the friendly spirit in which we approach each individual sale is well-known and liked here in Pampa. Then too, so many of the faces we see each day are not new to us. . . they're old customers, and old friends. We like to feel, even though we don't know EVERY person in town, that every person knows us, and knows further, that we stand ready always to give friendly, thorough service.

SUNDAY, JULY 9, 1939

(VOL. 37 NO. 79)

Miss Ann Stanley And Francis Parker Will Wed This Afternoon

Couple To Be At Home In Lubbock Following Trip

Miss Samantha Ann Stanley of Pampa will become the bride of Francis H. Parker of Lubbock in an impressive ring ceremony to be solemnized this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Robert Boshen, minister of the local church, and the Rev. W. A. Ewin of Pampa will officiate at the service which is to be read before an altar decorated with palms, white candles in candelabra, and tall white baskets of pink gladioli.

Preceding the service Miss Arlen Reynolds of Wheeler will sing "Indian Love Call." She will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Travis Stokes of McLean, who will play Lohengrin's Wedding March as the bridal party enters the church. As the vows are read Mrs. Stokes will play "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." The bride's chorus from Mendelssohn is to be played as the recessional with Miss Helen Pools at the violin.

The bride has chosen a white chiffon gown with short puffed sleeves, low neckline, shirred waist, and full skirt. Her circular fingertip veil will be held with a coronet of orange blossoms and she will carry an arm bouquet of red roses, cornflowers, and bridal wreath. Miss Stanley will wear white satin wedding slippers which have belonged to members of her family for more than 30 years.

Sister to Attend Bride. Mrs. Thurman Adkins of Shamrock, sister of the bride, who is to be maid of honor, will wear pink net, fashioned with short puffed sleeves, basque waist, and a full skirt. She will carry a bouquet of gladioli.

Attending Mr. Parker will be a brother, Jack W. Parker, of Abilene. Others are to be Dick Stanley of McLean and Tommie Stanley of Colorado Springs.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception will be given for the bride party and their families at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thuit. Decorating the table will be tall white tapers and a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with tiny roses and a miniature bridal party. Pink gladioli will be used throughout the entertainment rooms. Miss Helen Houston of Pampa is to preside at the punch bowl while Mrs. Spencer Sitter of McLean and Mrs. Dick Stanley of McLean will serve the cake. At the registry will be Miss Gloria Stanley of Shamrock.

Pair to Visit Colorado. The couple will leave after the reception for a trip to Colorado. Upon their return they will be at home at 2107 Eighteenth street in Lubbock.

The bride, who is a sister of Mrs. Thurman Adkins of Shamrock and Dick Stanley of McLean, was graduated from Amarillo high school and later attended Amarillo Junior college. She has been employed in the office of Charles Thuit, county clerk. Mr. Parker, son of Judge and Mrs. A. J. Parker of San Antonio, was graduated from Maine Avenue high school in San Antonio and attended the University of Texas where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was graduated from the San Antonio School of Law. For the past five years Mr. Parker has been connected with the Retail Credit company in San Antonio, Pampa, and Lubbock. He made his home in Pampa until June 1 when he was transferred to Lubbock.

Kingsmill HD Club Has Discussion On Flower Arrangements

"An interesting arrangement of flowers does not just happen; it is achieved only after one has gained a thorough understanding of flower texture, color combination, appropriateness of container, and how to display them advantageously after they are arranged," Mrs. G. G. Frasier, program leader, told members of the Kingsmill Home Demonstration club when they met recently in the home of Mrs. C. M. Nicholson.

"Choose flower containers with care," Mrs. C. P. Bastion added. "The flower bowl or vase should represent the flower growing in its natural condition; select containers of sufficient size and weight to support the plants. Low bowls should be used for low growing flowers, while tall vases are more desirable for tall growing flowers."

Mrs. C. M. Nicholson told the group that plain neutral colors are best for vases. They give a base or weight to flowers and serve as a background. Colors most suitable are soft tones of green or brown. Glass is also suitable.

Prepare To Kiss The "Little Girl" Fashions Goodbye

By ROSETTE HARGROVE. While Mainbocher suits, the mood of his mode of the serious temper of the times. Paquin seeks to banish care with clothes that feature riotous tropical colors and all the tints to be found in a midsummer garden. There are summer flannel tailcoats in sweet pea shades with the dearest blouses and for the races, garden parties and summer twilight dinners or all three, a series of picturesque rows combining linen and lace in mauve, green, pink blue, and white.

For more practical wear, there are suits and town coats in cream pongee, a revival which is most welcome to women who have to spend some of the summer months in town as well as to the social butterfly. There is something essentially trim and yet feminine about a pongee suit or coat which few can resist.

Formal evening gowns "chez Paquin" are literally miracles of sewing. Skirts that measure anything from eight to twelve yards around the hem are worked in the finest encrustations, applications and seamings, whilst shirring is carried to such a degree of fineness in some afternoon dresses as to make one marvel at the patience and skill of the seamstress. Paquin nobly carries on the traditions of higher dressmaking.

There is a very definite feeling throughout all the more important collections that the exaggerated peasant skirt is near its decline, at any rate for all but the very young. All shows skirts that feature great fullness, but this is massed tightly either front or back, a fashion which is far easier on the average figure and extremely graceful. Some of her daytime skirts, especially those on long coats, are still very full, circular-cut, but then they are several inches longer than anywhere else.

DINE ON FAMOUS PRINTS.

The idea of using famous prints on luncheon mats is new and their use—but the prints selected to adorn modern luncheon tables are old favorites from Currier & Ives. The place mats are made of cork—a nice protection for a shining table top. The prints are securely mounted on the cork mat; then covered with a layer of cellophane, all laminated together by a process which makes the mats both durable and easy to clean.

Austin Misrepresented In Malicious Campaign Of 1836

(By The Associated Press)

Political mud slinging, fundamental to office seekers and their supporters in free countries, was first practiced in Texas in the days of economic and political chaos after the battle of San Jacinto when all citizens of the newly established republic were expected to think soberly and vote conscientiously. As a consequence, the strength and courage of Stephen F. Austin, who had given 16 years of unselfish service to the welfare of the people of the province of Texas, were taxed unnecessarily during a bitter election campaign into which his name had been thrust.

Oddly, too, Henry Smith who had created a faction among delegates to pre-revolutionary conventions, received more votes than Austin, notwithstanding Smith had withdrawn from the race before the votes were cast.

Stephen Austin's conscientious loyalty to his promises appears to have been the only reason for what occurred. The fact that he intended to keep peace with Mexico if at all possible later immigrants to Texas, to believe he was pro-Mexican. Actually he was in favor of peace first, provided it could be obtained by just means. This fall, he asked that the revolution be declared "for the return to the constitution of 1824." This forgotten document guaranteed state's rights to Texas, but the fever of the people had been aroused and they took the whole route and declared independence from Mexico.

At this point in Austin's reasoning the average new-comer to Texas stopped. Only official documents reveal within less than a week after Austin left Texas to obtain aid in the United States he declared that separation from Mexico "wholly and completely" was the only course.

Supporters of Sam Houston, the popular hero of the day, feared the strength of this small, intelligent man. They did not dare take the chance of his being defeated merely by Houston's enormous popularity.

They did not realize, as Austin did later, that Texas in 1836 was vastly different from the province he had left in 1835. There were more than 2,000 American soldiers; now in Texas who knew nothing of Austin's patient work with Mexico. There were 10,000 more Texans who had been in the province less than two years before the war broke out. This element knew Houston's heroic fame and nothing of Austin's valiant efforts.

But they did not rely upon Houston's strength among the voters so much as they relied upon the weakness of Austin's backing. They circulated reports that Austin still favored Mexican rule to independence, that he was still pro-Mexican and that he had declared against the Declaration of Independence even after it was made public.

These charges were untrue. Stephen Austin did not want war, but when he saw it was inevitable he asked only that it be for a cause that would not smear Texas' name. This course was to declare for the constitution of 1824. Later he realized that even this would not suffice, so he agreed to the principle of outright revolution, though at the time he left for the United States to obtain money and aid he had no belief that Texas could defeat the enormous Mexican army. Without his work in the United States, it never would have come so, for already Texas had lost at Matamoros, Refugio, San Antonio (Alamo) and Goliad. The runaway scrape was in progress at the time sufficient American forces arrived to aid Texas. This million dollars borrowed by Austin in New York was another potent factor in buying munitions.

These things were not recalled by the mud-slingers, Austin's health was too poor to enable him to tour the state in defense of his position and it is known that he did not want the position unless he were placed there by popular demand. He did the only thing he could, but at a date too late to accomplish much good. He published a modest reply in Gail Borden's Texas Telegraph published at the time "The people ought to be competent and analyze these matters and judge for themselves," he wrote Borden. "They are liable, however, to be misled by wrong impressions... It will be no personal mortification to me individually if am not elected, while such erroneous impressions exist... The things I have done since I came to Texas in 1821 will bear the close scrutiny and I have this proud consolation which nothing can deprive me of."

He closed his brief statement with "I do not pretend by this to say that I have not erred in judgment, and perhaps from imprudent counsel. I do say that no man has labored with purer intentions or with a more ardent and disinterested desire to promote the prosperity and happiness and liberty of Texas; and also I say that I consented to become a candidate at the election with great reluctance. I have been absent from Texas on public business for about three years. During this time my personal affairs have been neglected and much of the old colonization business remained unclosed."

Nevertheless, Stephen Austin was pitifully defeated. He received 599 votes while Houston received 8,640. Henry Smith, who had thrown his support to Houston, received 743.

Sam Houston knew almost as well as old residents that Stephen Austin wielded enormous power in diplomatic circles throughout the world. Even in Mexico, Austin's word was respected though his causes were not always so. Texas needed this sober type of individual at the head of its business, but the people wanted to reward a herd of the war, Houston, however, did not make the mistake that the voters did because he appointed Stephen Austin secretary of state, thus capitalizing upon his international reputation as a means of stabilizing the republic.

True to his word "I will give everything for the good of Texas," Stephen Austin accepted this office and died in his confinement less than a year later after his appointment, an old man at 43.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

If, during the remaining weeks of summer, she could manage to play tennis or golf, ride horseback for an hour or swim a quarter of a mile three times a week, the average woman would look and feel younger and be more supple by the time the snow flies.

There are no two ways about it: active sports are the great weight-equalizers and hardeners of flabby muscles. Besides, with regular outdoor exercise, sagging skin becomes smooth and firm again, because circulation is improved and the muscles no longer are flabby. Hair and nails become healthier and stronger. The eyes have an alive sparkle, the skin a rosier glow.

If regular outdoor sports are quite out of the picture, they probably aren't, even if you think so, walking and skipping rope certainly should not be difficult to manage. And if you walk two miles a day, stepping briskly, holding your chest up, stomach in and backbone as straight as possible, you undoubtedly will see a marked improvement in your figure and posture within six weeks.

Unless your doctor advises otherwise, try skipping rope for five minutes in the morning and for five more minutes later on in the day. Keep your head and chest up, your stomach in and knees quite flexible and relaxed as you skip.

For walking or rope skipping, comfortable shoes with low heels or medium heels with a broad base should be worn. Clothing to be light and loosely-fitted. A too-tight girdle and a narrow skirt are entirely out of order. That is, if you expect to get as much good out of your daily walk as a golfer does out of a tri-weekly game or a swimmer out of a tri-weekly quarter of a mile.

Oklahoma Wheat Crop Estimated At 40,000,000 Bushels

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 8 (AP)—Oklahoma's estimated wheat production for 1939 remained well over 40,000,000 bushels in the state department of agriculture's figures for July 1 condition issued today.

State crop authorities calculated the yield at 41,925,000 bushels compared with an estimate of 39,057,000 June 1 and a yield of 50,050,000 last year.

Exceptional yields of harvested wheat in the north central crop district helped to hold up the production figure despite damaging rains, high winds, and hail of the past month. The average yield for the state was estimated at 10.87 bushels an acre.

Cotton acreage was reported as 2,023,980 with heavy replanting due to rains, floods and hail.

BARRYMORE TOPS ACE CAST IN "ON BORROWED TIME"

Old Man Who Dares Death Film's Theme

"On Borrowed Time" (MGM), Thursday, Friday, Saturday. Directed by Harold S. Bucquet. Based on the play by Paul Osborn from a dramatization of the novel "On Borrowed Time" by Lawrence Sanders. Cast: Lionel Barrymore, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Beulah Bondi, Una Merkel, Bobs Watson.

Celebrating his thirtieth anniversary in motion pictures, Lionel Barrymore has one of the predominant characteristics of his career as a lovable, old, outspoken Gramp, who desperately fights death in order to prevent the young grandson he loves from falling into the hands of a scheming and unscrupulous aunt. That is a simple outline of the story which is full of warm humor and of thought-provoking and inspiring imagery.

There is no chase, no spectacular climax, but there is heartening laughter, rollicking joviality, the picturesque language of Gramp and Pud. There is humor in their first appearance together at church, and in the grim feud they wage with Aunt Demetria. And finally there is the catch in the throat at tragedy, offset by shiny-eyed rapture at the disclosure that death is not so fearsome a personality as he had first appeared.

Opening the week the LaNora is showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday Paramount's comedy spectacle, "Man About Town."

The picture is a visual conception of a Jack Benny broadcast. The story plot is similar to the weekly radio shows. It has been in a jam, and as is sometimes the case on Sunday nights, Rochester (Eddie Anderson) steals the show. He does it with his characterization, dialogue and the two comedy dance sequences in which he is solo featured.

Musical interludes, solos by Dorothy Lamour and Betty Grable and a "Lamour-Phil Harris" duet, are pleasing and the spectacular glamor girl episodes staged by LeRoy Prinz are alluring.

The picture was released only two days ago. "Tell No Tales" (MGM), Wednesday. Directed by Leslie Fenton. Melvyn Douglas, Louise Platt, Douglas Dumbrille. Original screen play by Pauline London and Alfred Taylor.

A mystery drama, well produced. Plot develops around the different views and standards of two newspaper men and the unraveling of a murder mystery. Will prove interesting to those who like concealed crime and kidnapping stories.

"The Gorilla," 20th Century-Fox. Today, tomorrow, and Tuesday. Directed by Allan Dwan. The Ritz Brothers, Anita Louise, Patsy Kelly, Lionel Atwill. Based on the play by Ralph Spence.

A mystery-thriller adapted to the peculiar comedy and style of the Ritz Brothers. This tells of a go-filmo murderer who is finally captured, though not by the three frightened detectives.

"The Strange Case of Dr. Meade" (Columbia). Wednesday and Thursday. Directed by Lewis D. Collins. Jack Holt, Beverly Roberts, Noah Beery Jr., Helen Jerome Eddy.

A challenging theme, a good story, as well as splendid acting are combined in an interesting production. A famous surgeon on vacation finds himself in a small, backward town in the South and attempts to introduce modern hygienic methods. The resistance to enlightenment which is always provoked by the ignorant is graphically related.

"The Renegade Trail" (Paramount). Friday and Saturday. Directed by Lesley Sclander. William Boyd, Russell Hayden, Charlotte Winters.

A ranchman sent to prison escapes and heads a band of cattle rustlers who are finally brought to justice by Hopalong Cassidy.

Lupe Velez Returns To Screen In Film Showing At Crown Today

Lupe Velez celebrates her return to American pictures in "The Girl From Mexico," current at the Crown theater, which in some respects parallels her own career which started with the discovery in a sleepy Mexican village, whence she catapulted to Broadway and Hollywood fame.

A sprightly and gay comedy, "The Girl From Mexico" starts as a native girl in a tiny Guadalupe town where her singing attracts the attention of Donald Woods, a young advertising executive searching for a Mexican singer for a national radio program. He signs Lupe to a contract and takes her to New York.

Here the newcomer develops a few unique ideas. One of them is to break up Woods' engagement to a debutante and another is to tour the hot spots and sport arenas. Accordingly, she investigates Woods' susceptible uncle, Leon Errol, into her scheme.

From here on, Latin Lupe turns the now topsy-turvy with her madcap experiences. Matters move swiftly toward the hectic conclusion and everything comes out just as the Mexican spiffire planned.

Giving the vivacious Velez plenty of opportunity to display her abilities for high-speed comedy, rollicking romance and musical comedy, "The Girl From Mexico," an RKO Radio Picture, also affords Woods an excellent role as the harassed young hero, and the famous "rubber-legged" Errol an equally notable chance. Donald MacBride, Linda Hayes, Elizabeth Risdon, Eduardo Raquillo and Ward Bond also are seen in prominent roles, under Leslie Goodwin's direction of this production by Robert Sisk.

Wednesday and Thursday at the Crown the feature picture is "Panama Lady," an RKO Radio film, directed by Jack Hively, with Lucille Ball, Allan Lane, Steffi Duna, and Abner Biberman as the principals in the cast. Story is of a dancer

In a cafe who seeks to alone for her part in a robbery and finds herself in a different situation.

Rayburn Hits At Attack On House Jews

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—A criticism that some of the remarks introduced in the Congressional Record by Rep. Thorkelson, republican, Mont., "would appeal to racial prejudice" was voted this week by Rep. Rayburn of Bonham, house majority floor leader.

When Thorkelson asked for house consent to extend his remarks in the Record, where they appeared under the title "Shall Constitutional Government Prevail?" Rayburn asked whether Thorkelson intended to place in the Record, "as he does so many times, material that would appeal to racial prejudice, et cetera."

"I noticed," Rayburn said, as reported in the Record, "that in an extension of the gentleman's remarks the other day he referred to communists, various persons engaged in un-American activities, and so forth, and then in one paragraph still talking along that line, he named every Jew in the house who is chairman of a committee or a ranking member on a committee."

"Just what did the gentleman

(Thorkelson) mean by mentioning the names of these Jewish members in the remarks in which he was referring to persons engaged in un-American activities and to communist influences?"

"Then the gentleman quoted a provision in the constitution to the effect that no person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States shall without the consent of the congress accept any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state."

"Did the gentleman intend to accuse these Jewish members of being communists, or did he intend to infer that they were getting emoluments and favors from foreign countries?"

"I would just like to know what is in the gentleman's mind."

"I do not know," replied Thorkelson, "any reason why I should tell the gentleman (Rayburn) what is in my mind."

The majority leader continued by saying he had seen in Thorkelson's remarks "terrible accusations against the President of the United States and against certain groups in this country."

"I wonder if the gentleman really desires to spread racial prejudice throughout this country, in which all races and creeds have lived together in friendship and patriotism. I just wonder what the gentleman (Thorkelson) intends to imply when

Dividend Announced By Loan Association

Security Federal Savings and Loan association Saturday announced that it has paid dividends regularly at the end of each semi-annual period from the date the federal charter was granted on July 8, 1935, at not less than the current rate of four per cent per annum. The dividend paid on June 30 amounted to $10,911.57 and total dividends paid since July 8, 1935, amount to $23,227.25, according to association officials.

Investments in the association, they said, have increased during the past 12 months from $484,196.40 to $577,109.12. During the same period, first mortgage loans have increased from $475,723.12 to $555,437.61.

All funds invested in the association by the tenth day of July, whether in lump sums or monthly savings, will participate in the full six months dividend on next December 31, the statement says.

Each account is fully insured up to $5,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, Washington, D. C.

Rayburn later, asked whether he objected to Thorkelson's request to extend his remarks, said "No; do not object; let it go."

The Montanan's remarks in question consisted of an answer to a question criticizing him that appeared in the Pathfinder for June 24.

"I am rather amused," Thorkelson stated in the Record, "when this obnoxious tribe (a reference to the Pathfinder editors) begins to spit its communistic venom for it can only end, as it has before, in endless wandering."

"It is the first time the communist defamation league has made a personal attack upon me, and I hope it will be the last time for I want to be charitable . . ."

He repeated a quotation attributed by the magazine to Rep. Sabath, democrat, Ill., that "the gentleman from Montana has time and again stuffed the Record with column after column of material generally of a highly obnoxious and bigoted nature . . ."

SERIAL STORY

GHOST DETOUR

BY OREN ARNOLD
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Together with Dick Bancroft, the girls open the safe, find $12,000. Bancroft is amazed, looks at the girls mystified.

CHAPTER III

"AND so that's how it is, Mr. Bancroft," Roselee Dale was explaining, ever so seriously. "Christine here is my very dear friend, and when I bought Goldcrest she agreed to be my business partner. We can put up a big sign there on the paved highway, and I bet tourists will be glad to pay for a visit to our ghost town—don't you see?"

"Well!" he exclaimed. He was still sitting on his heels beside the bag of money.

"We had to do something," Christine put in. "Just had to. We're out of school. We couldn't just sit and loaf, and jobs are scarce."

"You're telling me?" he answered. Then he pointed at Roselee. "But you've got something! Sa-a-y, you can contact the travel agencies in Los Angeles and San Francisco and Denver and everywhere—you know, the bus people and tourist bureaus—and they'll help. They're always anxious to advertise road attractions, and—"

"I hadn't thought of that!" Roselee spoke happily.

"Yeah, and with a world's fair on both coasts this year the summer travel will be the heaviest ever, east and west both. A ghost town is ideal for attracting people who have read about the West and—"

All at once he halted as if suddenly remembering something. He swallowed, looking first at one girl then at the other, his young face very serious. Then he stared off at a blank wall of the old bank vault.

"Yes," Roselee picked up the conversation. "You've given us some grand ideas."

"Um," he sighed. "I guess it washes up my own plans, though. I—well Franklin and I had it all doped out for a keen summer together. You know what I mean. We thought the mining corporation still owned the place."

"Were you—you expected to work here for them?"

"Well, no. Not at first. Franklin goes in for books. He's smart. He's a swell guy, he is; understands all about English and American literature and all that and he was going to read a lot this summer here, while I plug along in dirt."

"You plug in dirt," Roselee repeated, wondering.

"I'm a mining engineer. I was just graduated from the Texas School of Mines."

"I know it," Roselee said. "How'd you know?"

"I—Christine and I saw you play football. Your team beat ours. You're famous. Tiny Bancroft, Richard Bancroft."

"Yes. No, I mean; I'm not famous. Just a fullback, forgotten now. I want to be a mining man."

"YOU expected to— to mine around Goldcrest? Roselee was in the glow of the flashlight Christine held. She looked little and lovely there.

"Yes. No, I mean. But I was going to run a lot of tests on the old ore dumps here. You see, there have been a lot of advances in mining methods. Low grade gold ore could now be worked profitably. Used to be that ore had to produce $25 a ton or better, to be profitable. A lot of this old Goldcrest stuff has money in it again under modern scientific Bancroft readily agreed to Roselee's plan to recapture the glamor of the ghost town, sell it to the tourist trade. But the robbers' loot was another problem.

standards, Miss Dale, see? I was going to run some tests and try to sell myself a job with the mining corporation that owns Goldcrest. Did own it, I mean."

"Um," Roselee was thinking. "Yeah. Well say, it's dark. You girls better come eat supper with me and—"

"We've got to go!" exclaimed Christine.

"Listen, Mr. Bancroft," Roselee put in, impulsively, ignoring the other talk. "You spoke about a job—well, would you like a job at once? Couldn't you start helping Christine and me with our ghost detour? You have the grandest ideas about it. You—you're a man, and I guess we'd need a man sooner or later, and—"

"Sa-a-a-ny!" he beamed at her. "—and when we got it running smoothly you could go on with your ore tests and maybe it would—"

"I'd have to see Franklin first. He and I are close friends. We thought about hobnobbing to China on a tramp steamer, then we decided to come here. I—I'd have to stick by him, and—"

"What's he like?" Christine asked that.

"What is he like? What sort of animal is he?"

"He's swell, I tell you! Franklin would loan you the last dollar he had and fight for you and help you with your studies and he was editor of the yearbook and he can make grand speeches and dance like nobody's business and—"

"Wrap him up," Christine commanded, wryly. "I'll take him."

"Sign him up. We need two men, Roselee, with a ghost town and a sack of money on our hands. I'm getting interested in this project!"

So that's how the deal was made. The two girls and Dick Bancroft, who was handsome and huge and vibrant with youth's enthusiasm and confidence, conferred for another half hour, happily and seriously, and agreed to meet there again bright and early next day.

They talked, too, about the money. Talked excitedly again after having already discussed it at length. They agreed that the $12,000 was doubtless robbers' loot. But what robbers? And what would they do now, and what should be done with the money?

Tiny Bancroft solved that last problem.

"Listen—I'll stuff the sack with waste paper and rocks," he explained, "and we'll just leave it like it was in the vault—I'll try to erase our tracks in the dust—and we'll hide the real money somewhere!"

"Where?"

"I dunno, I—we'll think of something."

Christine spotted his face with the flashlight. He was obviously thinking hard, but his expression was that of a boy who had a genuine adventure at hand. "He's the best-looking thing!" Roselee was telling herself in that swift moment, staring down at him. "I hope nothing happens to spoil it!" Common sense told her that she should never have offered any man a job, nor consulted him about money found on her property, unless she knew him to be thoroughly responsible and trustworthy. But then, youth doesn't rely too much on what oldsters call common sense; youth gets along pretty well on trial-and-error, impulse and intuition. Roselee Dale knew something about judging men already. She saw no reason to be wary of Dick Bancroft just because he happened to scare her and Christine silly at their first meeting. He had played ghost in good faith, to say the least.

"Yeah, and work out a plan to ambush the robbers, after that. Tiny spoke enthusiastically again. "Sa-a-ay, we got a job on our hands!"

Christine sighed, elaborately. "Just one of those lazy, languid summers," she drawled. "Wheew! If you and the fullback friend plan anything else exciting, Roselee, I warn you I shall stand right here and explode!"

Germans Born In 1918 Mustered For

BERLIN, July 8 (AP)—Young German boys and girls are being mustered for the six months of labor service and two years of military service every healthy German male must undergo.

Nazi leaders and the rest of the country meanwhile were trying to snatch a holiday from a sultry 84-degree (Fahrenheit) heat.

Fuehrer Hitler was reported to be at his cool mountain-top home above Berchtesgaden.

Small black and white notices—they appear at regular intervals—were posted on the country's billboards notifying the class of 1918, 1919, and 1920—youths born in those years—to report for examinations.

With them must go all the "war babies"—men of the classes of 1914, 1915, 1916 and 1917—who for various reasons so far have not done their service.

The next service period begins Oct. 1, when the newcomers start and those who have completed their two-and-a-half years will be dismissed.

Last year, because of the autumn crisis over Czechoslovakia, Hitler kept those who were to have been dismissed Oct. 1 a month longer.

The foreign office was almost deserted. Editorial writers set up on the calm to yodel "neurosis" in other countries.

TERRAPINS DODGE WATER.

LAREDO, Texas (AP)—The terrapin is a member of the turtle family but he doesn't like water. After heavy rains in south Texas thousands of the slow-moving creatures could be seen ambling across the highways seeking refuge on high and dry land.

CHIROPRACTORS COMBINE TO CURB FORGERIES.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California chiropractors have voluntarily started a system of finger-printing, to identify those in practice and also students in chiropractic schools. They expect to eliminate use of forged or stolen certificates.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A prospective bridegroom in California who plans to marry an Oklahoma City girl wrote to an Oklahoma City clothing store: "What do men wear at their weddings in Oklahoma?" He asked, "I want to be dressed properly."
