Mexico Looks For Pitched Battle Today

By BEN F. MEYER

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 26 (AP)—General Juan Andres Almazan brings his presidential campaign into Mexico City today and there was frank speculation that his political rally might become pitched battle between his followers and opposition elements.

So intense has become the political campaign that newspapers for weeks have discussed the possibility of "bloody clashes" at the Almazan meeting in this hotbed of political cross-currents.

Mexico City is the seat of the national administration whose policies Almazan has criticized, and the headquarters of General Manuel Avila Camacho. Almazan and Avila Camacho are now the two outstanding candidates for the office of President.

An open challenge to seven senators who recently criticized Almazan's repeated charges publicly at the Sunday meeting increased the tension over the situation. Almazan followers published the challenge in newspapers. The senate's administration bloc, in accepting said it wanted to be sure the "real people" of Mexico are represented.

The senators therefore invited the CDM and other groups (friendly to Avila Camacho) to send representatives to the Almazan meeting also. In speaking upon this opportunity to bring opposition elements to the meeting, the anti-Almazanists engineered a neat political coup.

The Almazanists withdrew their challenge, also withdrawing their suggestion that opposition groups attend. However, anti-Almazanists are expected to be represented at the meeting.

leaders repeatedly were howled down. Mrs. Emma Tenayuca Brooks, local secretary of the Communist party, her husband, Homer Brooks, party state secretary, and the rest fled by rear exits before the mob, held at bay for more than an hour by officers instructed not to use force. Crashed through doors and stormed into the darkened building. Damage was estimated at $3,000.

Brooks openly condemned American Legion leaders, asserting "a statement... of the Legion cannot clear it of its responsibility in this act of violence and un-Americanism." He declared the party would continue what he termed its "struggle for civil liberties in San Antonio and would attempt to meet again."

"The crowd of 5,000 was led by a few hundred hoodlums," Brooks charged, "the majority of whom were from out of town." Clom J. Smith, commander-elect of a local American Legion post who had begged in vain through loud-speakers for the mob to disperse after he had led the crowd in singing patriotic songs, blamed the mayor for the riot.

"Cause of the whole thing rests on the shoulders of Maury Maverick for not rescinding his order and insisting that she (Mrs. Brooks) would speak in the auditorium," Smith said. "As long as they don't meet in the auditorium and meet in the open where we can watch them, we don't care."

Herman Nami, commander of a Legion post, asserted: "We repeatedly warned the mayor and councilmen about what might happen, but they did not hearken to our protests." Two of four city commissioners had expressed themselves against issuance of the auditorium permit to Mrs. Brooks.

Rev. Marcus Valente, Catholic archdiocesan chancellor who was among those struck by missiles, also pleaded with the rioters "to go home." Later he participated in an "Americanism meeting" of the crowd in the auditorium proper and, still later, led prayers for a group in front of the Alamo, shrine of Texas liberty.

Before dawn, Maverick was hanged in effigy at the city hall.

Texas Ready For War, Says General Knox

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (AP)—Should this country get into a war, Texas is prepared as never before to swing into action quickly and do its part in the nation's defense.

"We are prepared," Adjutant General Harry Knox Jr., said in an interview today. He lauded the condition of the Texas National Guard as well as an elaborate new plan of volunteer enlistment in a war emergency, which aims at placing approximately 50,000 Texans under arms within 60 days.

"I consider the Texas National Guard in better shape now than many troops were at the end of primary training in the World War when they cross the seas," Knox stated.

"Recently Brigadier General R. O. Whitaker, commander of the 61st field artillery brigade, informed me his command was in better shape than on the day they started firing on the western front."

"Our cavalry is among the best in the United States. The Texas plan of voluntary enlistment has been declared by the war department to be one of the three best in the United States, the other two being Ohio and Pennsylvania."

Under the volunteer enlistment plan, which has been worked out to the minutest detail and was revised and brought up to date June 1, Texas would be expected to enlist 24,000 the first month and 16,000 the second.

In addition, the National Guard, now at minimum strength with 8,712 officers and men, which about 86 per cent of full strength, would be expanded to the maximum. Knox pointed out there is considerable turnover in the Texas National Guard and estimated that possibly 35,000 men had been given a year's training in the last three years.

Many of these probably would show up promptly when the call for men went out and would be splendid material for commissioned or non-commissioned officers.

All this is intended to take place before any broad national plan of training millions of men, as followed in the World War, gets underway.

For that war, Texas supplied 198,238 soldiers, sailors, Marines, nurses all branches of the national service.

The Associated Press advised 60 stocks added 1/8 of a point to its 1-point jump of the preceding session, and, at first advance after 4 consecutive weeks of decline, transferred 42,129 shares were the largest for Saturday since July 22, and, for the six days, topped the previous week by about 1,000 shares.

While all frontiers bristled with military preparations, the general scene in Wall Street was that hostilities would be avoided, at least for the time being. At the same time, some commission house customers declined to stand aside on anything could happen over the week-end.

of state, and Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, regarding plans to meet the problems a war would present for this country.

Neither the White House nor the state department had received any indications as to when, or whether, Adolf Hitler would reply to the President's peace appeals. It generally was assumed, however, that week-end developments would show whether Europe would be plunged into a war or would settle its differences by negotiations.

The French and Polish ambassadors called at the state department and discussed the fast-developing European events with Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state.

Jerzy Pstotski, the Polish representative, expressed the appreciation of his government for Mr. Roosevelt's efforts to avert war. "The only thing we can do now," he asserted, "is to wait and wonder what Hitler will do."

Poland Thinks Hitler Might Be Weakening

WARSAW, Aug. 26 (AP)—Warsaw waited and prayed through a day of drizzling rain for diplomacy's decision in greater capitals that might break up the clouds of war.

The popular Polish view here tonight was that Hitler by summoning Henderson, had indicated that his basic policy was one of "intimidation" and that his reported interest now in negotiations must be regarded as a "weakening."

The Poles declared they had done their part, consistent with honor, by agreeing to refrain from any hostile act if Germany also avoided "such act, direct, or indirect."

President Moscicki in a message to Henderson, agreed to a suggestion for conciliation—the German-Polish quarrel (Adolf Hitler has not replied but he was believed to have advanced a compromise plan through the British ambassador to Berlin, who carried it to London today).

Interest was focused tonight on the conversations between Hitler and Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, and the impression in Polish circles was that Germany has been impressed by the firm stand of the western powers and Poland.

Official circles said the British government had been informed by Henderson that the main object of these talks was one of "general proposals" concerned only with British-German relations.

This led to rumors here that Hitler had submitted a 23-aggression pact to Britain. Responsible circles declared they were "completely confident that Britain's reply to Hitler's proposals would not harm Polish interests in the slightest manner."

The Polish telegraph agency reported that for the last two days, there were 34 cases of violation of the Polish frontiers by German airplanes.

loan officials attributed the remarkable increase to better business conditions prevailing throughout the state, and the inclination of savers and investors to place their funds in local institutions having the protection of the federal government insurance.

Following Fire Trucks Assailed By Chief White

Following a fire truck is a dangerous practice and one that must be stopped if Pampa firemen are to do their best work. Fire Chief Ben White declared yesterday.

"How can firemen work with cars parked all around the truck and spectators under their feet?" queried the chief. "Latest fire fighting method is to send the truck to the scene of the fire and then to the fire plug. If a line has to be strung from another hydrant a block away, how can the truck turn around and get there with cars blocking all avenues to the plug?"

"On Thursday afternoon we left a call to the Pampa Tourist court on North Purviance street. We left the nozzle at the scene of the fire and went to the hydrant at the corner of Purviance and Kingsmill. Believing another line might be necessary, the driver tried to turn the truck and go to another hydrant but he was blocked in by cars."

"Luckily the fire was confined to a garage, in which it started and the roof of one of the houses. 'I'm asking motorists to think that it might be their home that is on fire and that they'll stay away from the fire with their cars. If fire destroyed their home under such circumstances the department would probably be blamed.'"

Last night the firemen went out the back door of the station to extinguish a fire. It was a blanket in a car parked at the Schneider hotel.

"The Legion of the Condemned"

AS HUNDREDS of Pampa children make their way to school this fall they will represent a corps of the "Legion of the Condemned" . . . Condemned by the reckless, thoughtless driver, who every day is a menace on the streets of Pampa.

Children feel and act on the impulse of the moment without regard to the safety of themselves.

Possibly as they stand on their side of the street, and the organ grinder comes down the opposite side, or some like attraction to a child . . . without hesitation or thought to their own safety, because of their tender, innocent desires, swiftly, they cross the street, not heeding the approaching automobile, not thinking of the many "don'ts" of safety. . . then, too late to stop, another broken, lifeless body.

About 3,400 children will die in automobile accidents this year. A large proportion of these accidents would never occur if drivers were ever alert. School opens next week. . . Make Pampa streets safe for the "Legion of the Condemned!"

Eighty Years Of Oil To a country watching somewhat anxiously the convulsions of the oil industry as it struggles to find a means of operation that will be fair alike to producer, refiner, distributor, and consumer, it seems strange to think that the whole oil industry is only 80 years old.

Oil is at the bottom of our economy today. It is at the bottom of world power and military might. Nations fight for it, lie for it, steal for it. The lifeblood that runs in the veins of modern industrial civilization is oil.

So greatly has the world changed since the day, 80 years ago, on Aug. 27, 1859 when dejected "Uncle Billy" Smith was preparing to knock off work. They had been drilling with salt-well drilling apparatus for two months near Titusville, Pa., laboriously forcing the drill deeper with blows of heavy wooden mallets. "Uncle Billy" and his boss, "Col." Edward L. Drake, were pretty discouraged. But that night before he left, "Uncle Billy" happened to glance into the open end of the pipe. He saw that it was almost filled with a thick, blackish liquid.

He didn't even have a bucket to dip out the oil. So he stuffed rags into the end of a rusty tin roof-spout, and began bailing. That was how he drew out the first oil ever produced in the United States. Eighty years have passed, and a world has been put on wheels by the golden liquid. Millions of dollars have been lost, millions more gained, in the feverish race to discover and produce oil. The United States soon led, and today leads the world in its production.

But with all the plenty which nature hid deep under the ground, we have apparently not learned how to handle it. Because millions of barrels of the precious oil were allowed to run uselessly away or to burn in spectacular torches against the skies, movements were set on foot to regulate oil production. Throughout all the jumbled history of this regulation, no system has emerged which would prevent the kind of shutdown which now paralyzes a great part of the industry. Thousands of men are without jobs, hundreds of wells are endangered, scores of producers' investments are tottering, because of conflicts between producer, refiner, and distributor which they have not been able to settle in a less drastic way.

Thus far there is no consumer shortage. Nor must there be. For the general rule that applies to many people and things applies also to the oil industry: "Who cannot control himself must submit to control by others."

The Nation's Press

CULTURE VERSUS AGRICULTURE (Chicago Tribune)

The last week was an event at the stockyards. The $5 hog came back for the first time since 1934. In August, 1937, a hundred pounds of live pork delivered at Chicago fetched $12; last year, $3, and now only $5. And the end in the decline has not been seen. For there will be more corn this year in the country, counting carryover and crop, than ever before and the spring born pigs are as numerous as they used to be when the export market was wide open to our excess pork products.

In these columns on July 25 we pointed out a feasible method for disposing of our excess corn and pork products. We urged that our excess supplies of lard be exchanged for German products for which we have need. That proposal was taken up by a number of members of congress, by the agricultural associations, by packers who supply the lard, and by mail order houses which might absorb some of the German products received in exchange.

If the lard is not sold to Germany it cannot be sold. There are no other possible markets. All of the other old customers are already receiving their full requirements of pork products from us or from other countries. Germany, which used to be our second largest pork customer, has recently been buying almost none at all. Germany alone is short of lard and wants to acquire a large part of our surplus. If we don't sell to Germany we don't sell at all. And if we do not sell the excess lard the surplus is bound further to depress prices to the detriment of the American farmers and our national prosperity.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

YOUR RESPONSIBILITY TO ENLIGHTENED OF UTMOST IMPORTANCE You people who read this column probably have a pretty good conception of what kind of laws would permit full employment at decent wages. But, in order to have officials elected and laws passed that will permit free enterprise to function, it becomes necessary that the majority of voters be informed. Those people who need to be informed most are not the kind of people who read serious articles—articles that are attempting to create constructive thinking. About the only way these people can be reached is by personal contact.

Every reader who does not believe in the principles set forth in these columns should point out how they err in being of service to society as a whole, either publicly or privately. If a reader does, however, believe in these principles then it is his duty, as much as the duty of the writer of this column, to attempt to enlighten others on things that will be generally beneficial to society. If we are to return to prosperity and full employment, it undoubtedly will be due to the conscientious efforts of individuals who will take the time and energy to explain sound doctrines of liberty, of government, and of production to people who will not take the energy to read for themselves.

It is hoped that this column will from time to time give illustrations and present thoughts that might be passed on to people who need enlightenment. The whole country is saturated with the pleasant beliefs that we can increase the standard of living by taking from one and giving to another. This is the fundamental principle of the New Deal, of the Townsend Plan and of the (?) 30 Every Thursday. It is a serious matter. It is a question of getting people to understand before we get so disheartened and discouraged that we are willing to give up what liberty we have left in order to follow the dictated laws of production and distribution.

Besides personally talking to people who need to be informed, those who have practical ideas as to how we can increase production and the standard of living of all the people are invited to use the columns of this newspaper to help bring light on the subject. A spreading of light is what we need.

PEACEFUL CIVIL WAR

Inasmuch as we now have passed so many laws to encourage collective bargaining and what is called "peaceful picketing," it might be well to take stock of what collective bargaining and "peaceful picketing" really mean.

The very word "collective" means the opposite from the individual. It means that the rights of an individual is taken from him to produce wealth and exchange it on the best basis that he can. This taking away the individual's rights is a form of coercion, and coercion is a form of war. In this case, it is a form of civil war. It is the exact antithesis of real democracy and of Christianity.

No, there is no such thing as "peaceful picketing" any more than there is a peaceful war. Picketing and collective bargaining is for the sole purpose of coercing, of forcing, of intimidating, of doing harm and injury to some one. It is one of the primary causes of the recession in the greatest increase in prosperity that any people ever had. When we realize there is no such thing as "peaceful picketing" or collective bargaining for the people, then we will be taking an advanced step to return to the constantly increasing higher standard of living and better wages that we enjoyed for over a hundred years.

Collective bargaining has done as much to lower the real wages of all workers as any other cause.

AN ACCOMPLISHMENT OF THE NEW DEAL Those people who are so sorry for the poor, but have no remedy and still are believers in the New Deal, should explain how the New Deal legislation that compels people to join the Coal Miners Union and then permits the head, without the consent of those people who are forced to pay dues, to contribute over $700,000 to political campaigns, benefits the poor. And yet, New Dealers call themselves humanitarians and sympathetic to the poor when they coerce the poor in this manner to contribute to the political campaigns that many of them do not believe in.

Behind The News Of The Day

BY PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—One of the barriers to agreement in the Mexican oil dispute lies in the hope of some of the operators that next year's elections in Mexico and the U. S. will bring changes of policy. In Mexico, conservative voices are asserting that socialization of the country under President Cardenas has proceeded too far for the present. Now is time for consolidation of gains. The same thing has been said for several years of the New Deal.

In the United States the suggestion is advanced that a change of administration in 1941 may bring a change in our attitude toward Mexico. Some hardening might be expected. A shift in the U. S. attitude would be equally as important as a change in the Mexican attitude. Long experience demonstrates that no administration in Mexico can survive without U. S. approval. Huerta tried it for a time before the World War, but finally folded.

If the U. S. should withdraw recognition from the present type of Mexican government under protest that it is irresponsible, in time that government likely would fall and one would rise with a disposition to be more "friendly" toward American interests.

MEXICAN CONSTITUTION

Already there have been at least two sharp changes in Mexican policy under the new constitution. Shortly after its adoption in 1917 there was a disposition to advance forcefully toward its objectives, to make big estates into little ones for division among the poor, and to take for the government a greater share of the revenue from natural resources. (Mexico's newest and biggest oil field, for instance, had to pay 15 to 35 per cent government royalty.) But in time the leaders of the Revolutionary party themselves began to acquire property and to turn conservative. There were other reasons for the change as well. Even President Calles in 1929 began to ex-

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Back in Ohio the snow is long gone and the farmers have scratched the rich earth once again in spring planting, and her in Hollywood farmer Louis Bromfield is a-planning for his "old Ohio home," just like the fellow in the song.

Farmer Bromfield, more than six feet of him, blue-slacked and dark-shirted, sprawls on a couch in his studio office during time out for a cigarette and a chat and gives forth with the why and how of his presence in Hollywood, whence a few years ago he took a walk. They're making at 20th Century-Fox the film version of "The Rain Came," his best-selling novel of India. And they're going to make the story of Brigham Young, which is the real reason he's here—despite the pull of his 400 acres outside Mansfield, despite the call of his first real spring as a country squire there.

WORD BUILDING. By adding letters to words, or taking some away, you can create other words of entirely different meanings. Try these: 1. Begin with a woman, take one letter away to form a barrier, add suitably to form derangement. 2. Begin with a clergyman, subtract a woman's name to form a vehicle, add a composer's name to get a ship. 3. Start with a famous city, subtract three letters to form a boy's name, add an old French coin to get an Anglo-Egyptian protectorate. 4. Take a cattle house, subtract one letter to get a form of soap; add a bird to form a tool.

COMPANY PROFITS HIGH?

The oil workers consistently received the highest wages in Mexico, but continued asking more—putting on a big load of demands in 1936. In addition to blanket pay increases, they wanted, for instance, double pay for working in the rain or on oily ground.

A Mexican board of experts asserted that the companies could pay more than they admitted. The board accused British companies of siphoning profits into Canadian companies.

Company compromise offers failed. Expropriation followed. There isn't enough free money in Mexico to pay for the oil company investments unless the most extreme of Mexican views is accepted. That is that the companies already have earned many times what they have invested, so that little or nothing is owed for the costly plants.

Since expropriation in 1938 all sorts of complications have arisen. Mexico isn't having too much success operating the wells. American and British refineries buy little Mexican oil. Many workers are jobless. On the other hand, Germany is buying oil and filling Mexico full of German machinery and goods. The whole thing is bad for the good neighbor policy. Moreover, neither American officials or businessmen want the Mexican expropriation idea to set a precedent for the rest of Latin America. Every last one of those countries has a provision in its constitution permitting expropriations. Once out of hand it could go like a bunch of firecrackers.

People You Know

A financial statement, being a thing of dollars and cents, is usually, on the face of it, bereft of emotion and hard-boiled, but you can, by reading between the lines, see a warm human thread of charity running thru the financial statement of the Lions club, published in the last edition of the Lions Tale.

The list of expenditures under the head "disbursements" show that the Lions do something besides throw biscuits. They have a right to be proud of their organization because it is humane; you could go behind the scenes of that cryptic, terse financial statement and find a thousand acts of charity and kindness. For instance, there is this entry, "glasses, sewage treatment, etc., $176." And this one, "consultations, $362.60." Then this one, "Meals at H. M. School, $44." Blunt, brief entries, they are, but you can look beyond that statement and see scores of Pampa children who can now read without suffering a trip-hammer headache right above the eyes, children whose throat won't be sore all winter because of bad tonsils, children who were hungry when they came to school and who could sit in their seats without the pangs of hunger gnawing at their innards. Yes sir, those Lions are true humanitarians—and of course you know and I know that the other two civic clubs have their humanitarian activities. It's just that today we have before us this poignant, eloquently articulate financial statement of the Lions club.

Rheumatoid arthritis is one of the most prominent causes of disability in human beings nowadays. Next to the common cold it is the most frequent cause of disabling illness. The condition has also been called atrophic arthritis and chronic infectious arthritis. There are so many varieties of this affliction that classification is difficult. This condition may affect people of any age, race, sex or social position. It seems to affect women more frequently than men and the poor more commonly than the rich. Afflictions of this type are found frequently in unsatisfactory environments. Exposure, cold and insufficient food are contributing factors. Sometimes this form of joint inflammation may be unrelenting from the beginning. More frequently there are periods of inflammation of the joints which are short, spaced by intervals when there are no symptoms. There is a tendency for the condition to become worse and for some of the joints to develop changes that are permanent. There may be serious changes as well as attempts to compare these cases with intervals when there are no symptoms. Pfluger Wampler, the linotype operator, submits this bit of alleged punning on the current European crisis, as a take-off on my now-famous Northern and Southern Eskimo joke of several weeks ago: Said the Northern German to the Southern German: "How munny hours till ve Geering to Goebbel up Poland?" Replied the S'thern German to the Northern German: "Der Fuehrer der better, you-all!"

Well, what do you think? . . . To me, it's pretty terrible, and probably as an addenda he could have had the Southern German saying: "Hitler won't be long now!" which would have added materially to the punch, if you can by any degree of graciousness make the admission that any pun has punch. . . . And as the man who runs the Polish dance hall said, "After the war is over, there still will be Fred Danzig in the Corridor tonight."

Personally, the skipper of this space—in the face of overwhelming opposition Saturday night—still feels there will be war over Poland. . . . And, if by the very remote chance Hitler should back down, which he won't, they sh'ld push him back in the corner, shove his tin hat down over his face and say: "Listen, you!"—and then make him listen plenty. . . . It has to come some day, whether it comes this week or not. . . . It's the only way Europe can be kept from being thrown into a turmoil every three months or so.

The war scare cost me plenty of sleep Friday night and Saturday morning. . . . I got to listening to the boys from Paris, London, Berlin, and Washington discussing the situation and became so interested that I lost all sense of time until about 2:30 a. m. when I had to muster up all the courage left to turn off the radio, put the cat out and go to bed. . . . The radio commentators are doing a big service by chewing the rag all night that way. . . . Maybe they'll talk somebody out of something.

It was a striking thing to me that voice from Berlin sang an altogether different tune than the voices from London and Paris. . . . When Berlin came in on the conversation, you could almost picture Wilhelm Goering standing behind the commentator with a club. . . . You can bet your bottom German mark that Hitler isn't going to let anything go out of Germany that doesn't sound just right to the National Socialist cause. . . . Anything heard from Berlin should be in one ear and out the other, it should at least be taken with an extra, large grain of salt.

That "20 Club" plan, being announced elsewhere in today's Pampa News, looks like a splendid idea to protect the lives of school children. . . . The object of the club is to get members to pledge not to loiter about 20 minutes an hour over city streets. . . . There's no fee, no membership dues. . . . It's a small request that will produce big dividends on life if motorists will but let the spirit of the thing. . . . When you drive down town tomorrow morning stop at the police station, the sheriff's office, or any gas station, and join the "20 Club!"

Pettengill

Democratic Congressman From INDIANA

The Battle Lines Take Form Sam Rayburn has declared for John Garner. Standing by itself his statement may appear of only moderate significance. But it does not stand by itself. The relationship between the two men makes it important. And the sequence of recent events makes it more important.

John Garner came to Washington in 1903, Sam Rayburn ten years later, in 1913. That was 26 years ago, and during that time these men have become intimate persons and political friends. Seven years ago, in 1932, Mr. Garner was a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Mr. Rayburn was his campaign manager. Since then Mr. Garner has been vice president. Mr. Rayburn, chairman of a powerful committee, and a highly respected Democratic floor leader. Besides, they are both Texans, and Jeffersonian Democrats. Together they know and know each other every important Democrat in the land.

Now for the sequence of events. John Lewis had only recently made a violent attack on Mr. Garner. Congress had just adjourned. The Hatch bill had become law. Mr. Roosevelt had sent a message to the young Democrats at Pittsburgh saying that his "self respect" would make it impossible for him to support a "conservative candidate." How to fathom his mind on this subject has been the mystery of the fact that Mr. Roosevelt in a very recent speech before the retail merchants described himself as a simple pure "conservative," tried and true, and all who disagree with him as "radicals."

Nevertheless, his Pittsburgh letter was generally interpreted as another attack on Mr. Garner. But without waiting for the smoke to clear, Sam Rayburn announces that he is for Garner. He does so flatly. There are no ifs, but words, or words of any description. He does not say that he is for John Garner if Mr. Roosevelt does not seek a third term. He says he is for Garner—Garner of Texas, meaning Vice President Garner. Moreover, he describes his candidacy as a "liberal," which, in my judgment, he truly is.

Now all this, and more that I have been told by some of Mr. Garner's closest friends, leads me to this conclusion. Mr. Garner is and will from now on be an active candidate for the nomination. For weeks I have seen editorial comment to the effect that Mr. Garner really does not seek the nomination. I have not agreed with this comment and today I am more convinced than ever that it is wholly wrong.

Is it to be supposed, for example, that Mr. Rayburn did not consult with Mr. Garner before he made his statement? Nor that the whole situation was not canvassed by the two men? Suppose Mr. Roosevelt later does announce that he will seek a third term. Did Mr. Rayburn not think of that? And if that happens, will Rayburn then desert Garner? I think not. Rayburn will still be for Garner.

The declaration seems of first importance, therefore, as an index of decision. Mr. Garner has definitely formed. He could not let his old friend saw off a White House limb unless he meant business.

Now for the sequence. Mr. Rayburn will still be Democratic floor leader in the next session of Congress. Suppose the next session develops into a dog fight between Roosevelt and John Lewis against Garner. What then? Mr. Rayburn, as floor leader, is not likely to let the clerical play against his old friend. And as at no time within the last two years has Mr. Roosevelt had control of Congress without Sam Rayburn's help—and often not even with it—there would be without help.

This seems to forecast a session that will "put the cattle out to grass," i. e., be helpful to business, recovery and re-employment. In other words, it is my guess that Mr. Garner and his friends are standing solidly against Mr. Roosevelt and his non-drinking, non-poker-playing friends (if any) will run the next session. If so, look for better business and perhaps the beginning of really good business.

Mr. Roosevelt is rapidly being brought to a great decision. He will either stand by his statement to the young Pittsburgh Democrats, and split the Democratic party on the reef of his ego, or he can do the magnanimous thing. He can bring peace to his party and healing to his country, by standing solidly, squarely and telling the party that is greater than he, that he will honorably strive to get the convention to nominate a candidate favored by him; but that, nevertheless, he will carefully and generously support the nominee, whoever he may be. It seems that it would be out of character for him to do this, but if he did, he would leave a larger name in history.

Both Clovis and the Oilers have been riding in tough luck on the road and today they'll both be shooting the works for a win.

Betty Jameson Of Texas Wins National Open

By BILL BONI

DARLEN, Conn., Aug. 26 (AP)—Sturdy Betty Jameson, who insists she can't putt, rapped in a 28-foot-er for a winning birdie 3 on the 30th green, ranged in a 16-foot-er for a vital half in birdie 4 at the 31st, and thereby became the first Texan ever to win the National Women's Golf championship.

The 20-year-old star from San Antonio had to go through three holes to defeat Dorothy Kirby, of Atlanta, 3 and 2, in their 36-hole final of the 43rd title tourney at the Wee Durn club. But for Betty and the gallery of 1,200 that trailed this brilliant match, she had sealed the slim southerner's doom with those two putts.

Miss Jameson had been 4 up at the end of the morning 18 holes, when she was a sparkling 76 and took the lead, never to lose again on the fourth hole. She looked an easy winner then, but when she needed 41 strokes to play the outgoing nine in the afternoon and 1 1/2-half her margin, there were many who felt the courageous, 19-year-old southerner might haul the match out of the fire.

In the face of this final threat, Miss Jameson never wavered. Having won the 27th, by hitting two beautiful wood shots to the green, she played for her pars and got halves in the 28th and 29th. Came the 30th, and Miss Jameson slipped her feet up 28 feet from the cup. Miss Kirby went her six feet better. But it was Betty, who studies every putt as if it were going to be her last one, who rolled the ball into the hole, and she was back 3 up.

It was the first shed cannon of more than 10 feet, but there was another to follow. Miss Kirby, putting all her 120 pounds into her shot, was 30 yards short of the 31st green in two, while Miss Jameson, with some 25 pounds more behind her drives, was almost home in two on this 427-yarder.

For the last eight holes, Texas Betty was two under par. She had only one three-putt green in the entire 36 holes, on the 28th, and didn't play a really bad hole all day. She was eight off line at the start of the afternoon round. But even at the short 28th, where she missed the green, she exploded out two feet from the cup to win the hole with a par.

Elwood Cooke Will Rejoin Davis Squad

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 26 (AP)—Wary but jubilant, Elwood Cooke, of Portland, Ore., set out to rejoin the U. S. Davis Cup squad tonight as the Newport Casino singles tennis victor and one of the runners-up in that historic doubles competition.

Cooke, dropped from the international squad last week when he and his regular partner, Bobby Riggs, were overwhelmed in a national doubles semi-final by the eventual victors, Australia's Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, came here to re-establish himself.

His victorious sweep through the brilliant singles field of 104 ended this morning when he overcame Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, 8-10, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2, by grim determination and stubbornness in a two and a half hour match.

Pampa Boxers Drop Three Out Of Five Bouts

Pampa amateur boxers dropped three out of five bouts in Berger Friday night. A team of eight boys was supposed to represent Pampa but three of the boys failed to appear and Trainer Cliff Chambers had to take the small team to Berger.

Several snappy exhibition bouts filled out a high class card on which a Negro Lattie royal was a highlight. Napoleon Lafoltz and Allen Barber were the last two in the ring so they battled three rounds with the decision going to Barber.

Berger won the first match of the night when Wayne Neal was given the decision over Frank Brown.

Roy Ray evened the count for Pampa when he gave away eight points and defeated Elwood Neel.

Then it was Berger's turn again. Clyde Neal winning by the KO route over Jack Smith in the third round. Mickey Simpson again evened the count for the Pampa team when he kayed Louis Wolby in the second round.

Doed Massey, Berger's ace second-weight, defeated Joe Hornbeck in a wild battle.

Summers, Bailey, Beavers Fatten Batting Averages

Only Lloyd Summers, Bob Bailey and Eddie Beavers fattened their batting averages during the past week. Other members of the Oilers saw their batting marks toboggan with league leading Gordon Neel and Manager Grover Setts in the van.

Neel continued to lead the Oilers at the plate through Friday night although his average dropped to .384. He went hitless in four games during the week. Manager Setts dropped to fourth in the batting list with an average of .316.

Lloyd Summers hiked his average to .323 while Bailey brought his up to an even .300. Beavers added to his mark to reach .298.

Through last Sunday Billy Capps of Big Spring was hitting Neel for the league batting lead with an average of .371. At that time Neel was hitting only .377. Stone of C'ovis was only one point behind Capps at that time.

Manager Setts had such a lead in stolen bases through last Sunday that only Watkins of Lubbock could see him with a pair of field glasses. Setts had pilfered 42 bases and Watkins 32.

Fullenwider of Lamesa was only one home run behind Neel through last Sunday but since then Neel has bagged two. Fullenwider's record is unknown since then.

Pitchers also got a bad mauling during the past week when the Oilers dropped two to Lubbock and two more to Big Spring. Only Frank Grabek added to his string of wins and he now has 19 against 11 losses to go one up on Milbert Vannoy. Dilbeck and Hallbourg, the newcomers to the staff, still lead the pack.

Errors And Nell Help Pampa Beat Lobos 12-4

LAMESA, Aug. 26.—The Pampa Oilers won the first game of a brief series with the Lobos Friday night, 12 to 4, mainly on errors and the hitting of Big Gordon Neel, who scored four hits, one his fifty-first double of the season, and drove in five runs.

Both the Oilers' Lefty Dilbeck and Lamesa's Red Hay were hit hard. Hay taking up 17 hits and Dilbeck an even dozen. Dilbeck lightened in the clutch while Hay broke.

Joe Saporito followed Neel in the hitting department with a double and two singles. Summers bagged a triple and single while Phillips cracked a triple.

The Oilers played errorless ball with Malvica handling 10 chances and Saporito five. Jordan had a quiet night at the hot corner, not handling a chance.

Sam Malvica and Bob Bailey combined to make two snappy double plays which pulled Dilbeck out of holes.

Dilbeck fanned only two and didn't walk a man. Hay whiffed nine Oiler batters and walked two.

Neel hit for Hay in 9th. Pampa 12-4 Lobos. Time of game—1:40. Umpires—Cops and Howell.

LeFors Coach Calls For Grid Meeting

A meeting of all boys interested in playing football and basketball will be called by Coach Francis Smith for 9 o'clock Monday morning at the high school gymnasium.

First practice session will not be held until the morning of Sept. 1, but Coach Smith wants to meet with his boys and look them over before that time. First practice will be called at 10 a. m. Sept. 1 and two practices will be held daily until school opens Sept. 5, Coach Smith said yesterday.

Nine cut of 13 lettermen will be eligible to report to Coach Smith. Seven of them will be starters from last year. Among the missing will be Carruth, Ellington, Pite and Johnson. Carruth, Ellington and Pite will enroll at Southwestern university, Georgetown, in September.

Odus Mitchell, head of the Kiwanians to four runs until his last inning when he let up. Travis Lively was behind the bat. First practice will be called at 10 a. m. Sept. 1 and two practices will be held daily until school opens Sept. 5, Coach Smith said yesterday.

Ernie Voss started on the hill for the Kiwanians but before the barrage of base hits had ended "Red" Wetherford and "Doc" Johnson had seen mound duty. Alvin Bell worked behind the plate.

Mitchell and Pumphrey led the Kiwanian scoring parade with five runs each. Lively and Hughes followed with four each.

Jack Goldstein was the only Kiwanian to score more than once. "Maybe the rest of the boys will play some more, but we're through. No competition," announced the Rotarians' board of strategy.

Fans' Mat Favorites Will Appear On Wrestling Card

There's going to be war in Pampa Monday night regardless of whether or not there's war in Europe. The local war will be staged by Tiger Billy McEwin of Helena, Mont., and Count Otto von Ludwig of Berlin. The two will meet in a finish wrestling match at the Pampa athletic arena.

Hostilities will begin at 8:30 o'clock with likeable Don Carver, making his first appearance in a local ring for more than two years, facing the Red Shadow, a masked wonder on the mat. The two are scheduled to battle 20 minutes.

A human rubber man will appear in the semi-final in the person of elongated Bill Hall who will meet barrel-chested Frank Wolff in a 20-minute time limit affair. Hall will be remembered as the six-foot, 5-inch streak who wiggled and squirmed out of all kinds of knots applied by some of the best torture artists in the business last year.

Wolff figures his strength will overcome Hall's tricks. The McEwin-Ludwig affair is going to be settled for once and for all. It started several weeks ago when Ludwig was referee and McEwin wrestler. The feud became worse week by week as Ludwig continued to referee. Last Monday night open war flared and that was when fans and Promoter Cliff Chambers decided to give the pair a chance to settle their differences.

Fans voted for the card so Promoter Chambers got the pair together and made them sign contracts. Admission prices will remain the same as usual with women admitted for 10 cents.

U. S. Merchant Marine Better Than In 1914

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—This country's merchant marine is in a vastly better position to meet an emergency caused by war in Europe than it was in 1914 when the withdrawal of foreign ships from commercial service created chaos.
The expanded United States merchant fleet took on an immediate importance when the State Department, in announcing plans for evacuating American nationals from danger zones, said it would count upon the regular American merchant ships instead of naval vessels.
The United States now has 332 vessels of 2,200,000 gross tons available for operation in foreign trade. In 1914 this country had fewer than 100 vessels totaling about 500,000 gross tons operating in regular services in foreign trade.

1940 Buick To Be On Display Here Soon

Hugh Johnson, manager of the Tex Evans Buick Co., left Amarillo airport Saturday to fly to Flint, Mich., where he will attend a meeting of United States Buick dealers at the Buick factory Monday and Tuesday for the first showing of the new 1940 Buick.
Before his departure, Mr. Johnson said he expects to have the 1940 models on display in the Pampa showrooms on his return from the factory the latter part of this week.
The Buick plant at Flint, he said, has been in production for the past 30 days and dealers have been advised there will be no delay in deliveries of the new automobile.

Extension Of Oil Shutdown Recommended

ATLANTA, Aug. 26 (AP)—Chairman Ernest C. Thompson of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission announced today that he would advocate a 15-day extension of the current six-state oil production shutdown.
The announcement was made as leaders in the nation's oil industry headed toward Austin for meetings here Monday of the interstate agency and the State Railroad commission. The chief question before both will be whether the shut-in should be prolonged, and if not, what substitute step should be taken to strengthen oil prices.
"There's no use doing this thing half way," Thompson said. "The shutdown is working and 15 more days will do the job."
Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana have been parties to the production holiday, which will expire at various times during the coming week unless extended. The Oil and Gas commission of Arkansas, smallest producer of the six states, today ordered some of its fields reopened tomorrow, others September 1 and the remainder September 15. Arkansas' allowable production, however, will be slashed 14 per cent.
Since Texas normally produces considerably more oil than the other five states combined, the decision of its railroad commission after Monday's prorating hearing will be vital. The Texas shutdown now is due to end Tuesday night.
Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler stated before a trip to Washington and New York this week he would oppose extension of the closing. The deciding vote, therefore, appeared to be left to Commission Chairman Lon A. Smith, who had not returned from a national convention of public utilities commissioners.

Gasoline Survey

Thompson also disclosed that the Railroad Commission was making a state survey of retail gasoline prices.
"We want to find out," he said, "why gasoline prices didn't go down recently when the crude oil price was cut."
The Texas Company, if pipe line facilities are available, will deliver 30,000 barrels of crude to the Shamrock Refinery, Thompson said. He had suggested yesterday that major companies sell oil to small refiners whose stocks are running low because of the shutdown.
The Interstate Compact commission chairman sent telegrams to officials of most other major oil-producing states calling their attention to the tremendous increase in East Texas bottomhole pressure resulting from the production holiday.
It is estimated that less than one-third of the words in any standard English dictionary are purely of English origin.
Thirty two Smith and 14 Jones were enrolled this summer at the East Texas State Teachers college, Commerce.
Scientists say that hot-blooded birds and cold-blooded reptiles have common ancestors.

8 Locations Staked In Panhandle Field

Six New Oil Wells Tested During Week

Despite the shutdown which closed nearly all producing wells in the Panhandle, six oil wells and one gas well were completed last week and eight new locations were staked. Many drilling wells were ordered shut down by company officials when the order was released but most of them have resumed drilling. New oil last week totaled 886 barrels while the single gas well was gauged for 17,029,000 cubic feet. The gas territory in Moore county showed the way in new activity with five of the eight locations. Gray, Carson and Hutchinson counties each reported one location in oil territory.

The Texoma Natural Gas company paced new activity with four of the gas locations.

The Panhandle's most interesting wildcat, the E. J. Dunigan Trustee No. 1 Ledrick in Roberts county, 25 miles northeast of Pampa, is standardizing and drilling will be resumed next week. Depth of the well is unknown but is believed to be below 5,000 feet.

Completions by counties:

Shanghai Story: How Japs Moved British Line Back

When Japanese troops tore down British barbed-wire barricades at Shanghai, China, re-erected them 100 feet within British defense sector, England's sector headquarters, left, ended up outside the barriers. Chinese residents of area fled homes, climbed through wires to diminished British sector.

War Seen As Aid To U. S. Oil Industry

By EDWARD CURTIS
TULSA, Okla., Aug. 26 (AP)—Oil industry leaders agreed generally today that war in Europe would stimulate demand for petroleum products and greatly aid the price-harassed industry—now in the midst of a six-state oil production shutdown.

They hastened to add that they expected no "war market" boom. One refining official said: "What effect war would have on prices would depend on how long the hostilities lasted. It would take some time for increases in prices of refined products to be passed on to the producer."

"We have noted an increased demand for aviation gasoline for the past 90 days from those countries directly concerned with the European crisis."

The current 15-day production shutdown followed a series of crude price cuts in the Midwest, beginning Aug. 9.

The imminence of armed combat might be one factor state conservation officials would consider in deciding this week whether the nearly completed shutdown period should be prolonged.

The United States is the world's largest crude oil producer. Last year's daily average flow was 3,290,000.

On the basis of 1938 available figures, Germany produced 11,548 barrels daily; Poland 19,384; France 1,274, and Russia, the world's second largest producer, 593,988.

England has no oil production at home, Italy virtually none. England's supply of oil must come either through the Mediterranean or from the western hemisphere.

Iran produces 211,000 barrels of crude daily and the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. has one of the world's largest refineries with a capacity of 200,000 barrels daily at Abadan. Its output is shipped mostly through the Suez canal and Mediterranean Ocean to France and England.

In the event of hostilities, Britain and France would be in the position of transporting much of their crude supplies past Premier Mussolini's front door.

Rumania's oil is at present a source of supply for the Axis powers. Rumania produces about 130,000 barrels daily and exports all except 30,000.

While Russia produces more than a half million barrels of oil a day, little of it has been exported. The non-aggression pact and trade agreement between Russia and Germany, however, might result in a change in that situation.

"Man" Topic Of Next Sunday's Lesson-Sermon

"Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 3.

The Golden Text is: "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him" (Gen. 1:27).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ. . . . Till we all come in the unity of faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ" (Ephesians 4:7, 13).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The eternal truth destroys what mortals seem to have learned from error, and man's real existence as a child of God comes to light" (page 288).

Wheat yields in Hartley county this year ranged from eight to 33 bushels an acre.

They Elected to Marry

While Georgia's Governor Rivers and John J. Mangham, of Bremen, Ga., fought each other in last year's gubernatorial election, Dan Cupid did a little campaign managing of his own. The returns show Geraldine Rivers, daughter of the Governor, and John Mangham, Jr., son of his rival, have elected to marry. They are pictured after both fathers voted "Aye" on the engagement.

USDA Officials To Visit Plains Museum On Trip

Special to THE NEWS.
CANYON, Aug. 26.—The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum situated on the campus of West Texas State college is included in the itinerary of more than a score of agricultural department officials who are conducting a 15-day inspection tour of the drought area of the middle west and the southwest.

The cavalcade of officials left Washington, D. C., Aug. 18. M. L. Wilson, an undersecretary of agriculture, is in charge of the party. Members of the group will spend Monday night in Amarillo, coming to the museum at 8:30 a. m. Tuesday for an hour's visit.

Tom Dale of the Amarillo Soil Conservation office arranged the visit to the museum here. The purpose of the tour is to determine just what the various federal agencies are doing in this area.

President J. A. Hill of West Texas State has announced that he will ask members of the college board of regents and presidents of the seven state teachers colleges, who will be in session here Sunday and Monday, to remain here Tuesday in order to meet the officials from the department of agriculture.

Nurse Held in Sister's "Mercy" Death

Quoted as saying "I feel happier now than I have all my life," Margaret Cowan, 77-year-old retired nurse, is pictured after her arrest in Allentown, Pa. Police say she admitted killing her sister, Mrs. Louella Saeger, to "put her out of her misery." The slain woman was a patient in the Allentown State Hospital, where the shooting occurred.

On a cold winter night, a few hundred feet of altitude on a hillside may make a difference of ten degrees in the temperature. Cold air slides down hill on a cold, still night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Meyer of Jefferson, 87 and 83, respectively, who observed their 60th wedding anniversary recently, have had no deaths in their immediate family. All their seven children are living.

ROGERS, NIVEN NEW LOVE TEAM IN RKO-RADIO FILM

'Wizard Of Oz' Also On Pampa Screen Today

The mirth-making talents which Ginger Rogers exhibited so effectively in such previous hits as "Stage Door" and "Vivacious Lady" are developed to new hilarious heights in the Crown Theatre's current offering, "Bachelor Mother."

Miss Rogers enacts the role of a department store salesgirl who suddenly becomes a synthetic mother. She finds an abandoned baby, and despite her frantic denials, the whole world believes she is the tot's mama. When she plans to abandon the baby herself, her boss informs her that he will so ostracize her in the business world that she will never have a chance of earning her livelihood—and all because she refuses to fulfill her duty to society: raising "her" baby!

Hopelessly Ginger accepts the task. When a romance springs from her boss' constant meetings with her under the guise of assisting her in bringing up baby, Ginger's self-appointed jealous boy friends apprise her boss' father that his son is actually the infant's father. The boss' father demands that his son marry Ginger so that he can rightfully assert his role as grandfather to the baby, and the story assumes hilarious, side-splitting proportions!

Matching Ginger's splendid portrayal is that of her co-star David Niven, seen as the boss. With Charles Coburn as the frustrated grandfather, Frank Albertson as Ginger's green-eyed admirer, E. E. Clive as an acidulous butler, Ferike Boros and Ernest Trues in the featured cast, "Bachelor Mother" boasts a superb acting roster. Garson Kanin, remembered for his brilliant work on "A Man to Remember" and "The Great Man

IN LILTING SINGING ROLE

Judy Garland as the little heroine of "The Wizard of Oz," spectacular musical opening today on the LaNora screen, wends her adventurous way through the magic land of Oz, singing such lilting ballads as "Over the Rainbow," "We're Off to See the Wizard," "The Merry Old Land of Oz," and "Ding Dong, the Witch is Dead." A brilliant new musical score was written for the production by E. Y. Harburg and Harold Arlen.

SHOW DANCER

Jeannie Layne, acrobatic dancer, one of the features with Harley Sadler's tent theater which comes to Pampa for a four-night engagement starting Monday night, August 28, the tent theater to be located just opposite the American Legion hut.

GUESS WHO'S THE ESCORT

Whoever has taken a girl to a dance and then had to twiddle his thumbs while she persisted in dancing with other fellows, can appreciate the emotions of David Niven who is playing solitaire with the table d'hote as Ginger Rogers swings around the dance floor with Reed Hadley. Ginger and Niven are co-starring in RKO Radio's romantic comedy, "Bachelor Mother."

ROMANCE COMES TO JANE

Ah, sweet romance! Jane Withers has her first screen "crush"—mattily-uniformed George Ernest, who seems to be under Spring's influence too. But the "romance" is in that madcap Withers way in her new 20th Century-Fox comedy, "Boy Friend." The film's now show at the Rex theater.

Special to THE NEWS
SHAMROCK, Aug. 26.—County Agent J. L. Turner announced today that the date for the annual Wheeler County Colt show has been set at Sept. 30 and that P. G. Scroggs, county agent of Beckham county, Okla., has been selected as official judge. Scroggs has been in the past an official representative of the Horse and Mule Association of America and his classifications are accepted by all registration bureaus as official.

The business men of Wheeler have contributed premiums for all other classes. Turner pointed out that get-of-sire consists of the sire and three of his get, with sex or mixed sex, without regard to age. Get-of-sire premiums for jacks and stallions will be $15 for first, second and third, divided as the owners wish.

Showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday is 20th Century-Fox mystery-comedy, "Boy Friend," a typical Jane Withers vehicle. Arleen Whelan, Richard Bond, and Douglas Fowley are the other principals.
Significant in that for the first time slight romance is indicated for the young star. A girl, whose mother keeps a boarding house for rookie policemen, tries to assist them in running down a gang of crooks and is aided by the young brother of one of the rookies.
Wednesday, Thursday—"Bulldog Drummond's Secret Police" (Paramount), John Howard, Heather Angel, Reginald Denny, E. E. Clive, H. B. Warner. Murder and horror tale lightened by excellent comedy moments. Drummond's much postponed wedding plans are again wrecked by the loss of a valuable treasure. Continuous suspense and excitement provided in this production that will appeal to lovers of mystery.

More Beer Drunk In Texas, Fewer Watermelons Eaten

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL AUSTIN, Aug. 26. (AP) - Six years ago tomorrow newspaper headlines proclaimed that Texas had forewarned beer prohibition and legalized sale of beer.

"Texas voters repeal and welcome legal beer" said one headline on August 26, 1933. "State's rejection of national prohibition decisive as beer-legalized in Texas," screamed another.

It was only 3 1/2 beer, to be sure, but legal beer nevertheless. It marked the end of an era of a kind in Texas and the beginning of a new.

Texas was the 23rd state to ratify the 21st amendment to the federal constitution which abolished national prohibition, 36 being necessary for repeal.

Not until 1936 did the state stamp an "ok" on sales of wine and liquor, but, in the meantime, the brewing industry flourished. Development has continued since.

Beer consumption is increasing. A check-up today disclosed: Texas probably will consume more beer this year than ever before in history.

It may be sold legally in 142 counties but is prohibited, along with all alcoholic beverages, in 112. The state is receiving nearly $2,000,000 annually from taxes on beer and this year it looks as if a record in revenue from this source will be set.

A nip and tuck contest is on between breweries within the state and the out-of-staters to see who can sell the most beer in Texas.

About 15,000 persons or establishments have been licensed by the state liquor board to sell beer, and Harris county (Houston) leads all the rest in the number of permits.

Nobody agrees as to where the largest "licker" beer can be purchased, or the largest glass at any price either.

Drink Record May Be Set The liquor board reported that in the first seven months of this year Texas lapped up 28,650,719 gallons of beer, which was 788,454 more than the quantity which disappeared down their throats over the same period in 1938.

"If this sort of thing keeps up," said a spokesman, "a record will be set all right, but a record will be set all right."

The high mark in consumption for 12 months has been 47,949,132 gallons in 1937, which was an average of 7.71 gallons for every man, woman and child inside the state's borders.

Of course, not every man, woman and child drink that many gallons; thousands do not drink any. Therefore, the average for the actual beer drinkers is much higher.

There was a consumption slump in 1938 - officials say. The reason possibly was the business recession - only 46,094,517 gallons being downed for an average of 7.52 gallons per individual, figured on a basis of 6,117,000 inhabitants in Texas.

Explanation Made For Greater Thrift Now the trend is upward definitely. Consumption in July was 5,257,935 gallons, compared with 4,282,948 in the same month last year. June and April of 1939 likewise showed jumps over 1938.

"We don't know whether more people are drinking beer, or the regular drinkers are taking on more," the board commentator said.

Various explanations for the greater thirst or gallage are offered at the board and elsewhere. A reduction in taxes, better business generally, improved beer merchandising methods, better beer and a turn to beer from hard liquor are some reasons cited.

It is suggested this summer has been hotter; also that the water-melon crop is off. Still others say the liquor board is simply keeping better statistics. The person who made the point about the melon crop opined that when fewer watermelons are eaten more beer is drunk.

State Receives Large Beer Revenue A total of $210,281 was received by the state in beer tax revenue in July, compared with $171,817 in July, 1938. Yield from the tax for all of 1938 was $1,940,180 while in the previous year it was $1,881,965.

Three-fourths of the money goes for old age pensions and the other fourth to the available school fund.

SERIAL STORY Murder on the Boardwalk BY ELINORE COWAN-STONE

Yesterday, Christine goes to Inspector Parsons, tells him of Chandra and gives him the bonds. Parsons asks about her cousin's vision. Jasper might know her cousin, if police could find him. "You have already," Christine reports.

CHAPTER XII "JASPAR," Christine told the inspector very distinctly, "was that beachcomber who got away last night."

For a moment Inspector Parsons simply sat and looked at her. Finally he said softly, almost as if to himself, "I wonder if any policeman ever got the whole truth from any woman at any one time. . . . You said you read that early morning extra, Miss Thorenson. You must have seen the story about the abandoned launch the Coast Guard searched. Suppose I should tell you that, shortly after dark yesterday evening, this Jasper rowed out to that launch and spent some time aboard?"

"Are you telling me that?" "In so many words." "Then," Christine surprised herself by telling him, "if that launch really had anything to do with the murder, I should say that Jasper would have been too smart to stick his neck out that way if he really murdered my cousin."

"I wonder"—again he seemed to change the subject; but Christine waited warily—"if you were too young to recall the abduction of Mrs. Talbert's nephew, Earl Talbert, about 12 years ago. Who ever engineered that was pretty smart, too. Mrs. Talbert paid a sweet ransom; but the boy was never found."

"I was 10 years old then," Christine said. "Are you suggesting that I had something to do with that, too?" He ignored that. "This Jasper was employed by Mrs. Talbert at that time, also, wasn't he?"

"Ever since I can remember." "Can you think," he demanded, "of anyone who might have sent that will to the newspaper?" "Not unless that was Jasper, too. . . . But why should he? It puts him on a spot as well as me." "Any idea where this Jasper is now?" he shot at her. "No."

WHEN, at length, he let her go, Christine went out with her mind whirling. . . . If there were only someone she could talk to—someone who might have some key to this terrifying puzzle! As if in answer to her need, a girl's voice sounded in her memory—breathless, hurried, frightened—"If there's any trouble, Miss Thorenson, call Main 2022. Ask Thorenson."

On a desperate impulse Christine found a telephone booth, dialed the number, and asked for Lucille. . . . It would be better not to give her own name, she decided; so when a girl's voice answered, she began, feeling her way guardedly, "I wonder if it was you I talked to over the Beachmont exchange night before last? . . . I will be dark then—outside the Paris Smart Shop?"

"Oh, Miss Thorenson, I've been so afraid you wouldn't!" the other girl broke in. "And I couldn't think how to get word to you after you left the Crestview." "Well, I'm calling now," Christine said. "Where can I see you?" "Let me think," the girl hesitated. "It wouldn't do for you to come here. They may be watching the house."

They? Christine wondered. "Could you meet me about 9— it'll be dark then—outside the Paris Smart Shop?" "How should I know you?" "I'll be window shopping; and I'll wear a dark blue dress with a cherry hat and belt. I'll know you from your pictures in the paper. Don't speak to me; just follow—you know, kind of carelessly—when I move on."

It sounded so incredibly bizarre that Christine opened her mouth to refuse. Then, on one of her unpredictable impulses, she decided, "All right. At 9 then."

"Wait!" the girl called sharply. "You won't say anything to the police?" "Of course not," Christine recklessly burned her bridges. WHEN she came out from the booth, she bought a newspaper. There was, she decided after one glance at the front page, such a thing as being entirely too photogenic. As the girl Lucille had intimated, there could be no mistaking the original of her published pictures. Already people were staring at her. She spent four of her cherished dollars for a wide-brimmed hat and a pair of sun-glasses.

It was already 10:30 when she remembered that she was to meet Mr. Wilmet at that hour. Christine's confidence in her sketchedly assembled disguise was strengthened when Mr. Wilmet, peering anxiously from the drug store, failed to recognize her until she spoke to him.

"Well, well!" he exclaimed, blinking at her. "You've done something to yourself. And a smart idea, too. One of those important reporters followed me two blocks trying to get an interview."

He seemed so disappointed when she explained about riv-

ing her work—for she had decided that to go on would be impossible unless she wanted to be hounded by curiosity seekers—that Christine felt sorry for him. So much so that when he asked her almost wistfully to have dinner with him, she answered, "I have an engagement to meet a friend at 8; but I'd like ever so much to have dinner with you, Mr. Wilmet, if you don't mind my running away early."

At first Mr. Wilmet looked crestfallen; then he brightened. "If it's Mr. Yardley you're to meet," he said hopefully, "I just heard them tell him at detective headquarters that they might keep him till late tonight."

"Oh," Christine said blankly, "so you've been to headquarters, too?" "Inspector Parsons sent for me," Mr. Wilmet admitted. "About not being able to prove where I was last night. As if I wouldn't have sense enough to get an alibi ready before I killed someone. . . . Miss Thorenson, you don't suppose he really thinks I had anything to do with this?"

"Do you—I don't suppose you know what they wanted with Mr. Yardley?" "It was about his keys," Mr. Wilmet told her chattily. "He had been afraid, she realized, that she might not ask. "His keys?"

"Yes, I heard one of the detectives ask him how he could explain having a key to Mrs. Talbert's car. The little man fairly glowed with his news. "He—you aren't dizzy, are you, Miss Thorenson? It is hot."

Christine was; but she steadied herself to ask, "What did Mr. Yardley say?" "He said—Mr. Wilmet's inflection, deplored the fimsiness of Bill's story—that he did sit in a parked car near the Boardwalk for a few minutes to wait for someone; but that he didn't know why he had that key, unless it was that when he got out, he forgot the car wasn't his, and seeing a key in the door, just took it out and put it with his others."

Christine stood very still for a moment; but her mind raced, trying to sort and piece together scraps of memory. Mr. Wilmet was saying insistently, "Shall we say 7, then, at Decker's?"

"Why, I—yes, all right," Christine answered, and moved away, her legs dragging numbly as if in some hideous dream. If Bill's explanation had so maddeningly thin even to Mr. Wilmet, how would it sound to Inspector Parsons' case-hardened ear? (To Be Continued)

Cotton Subject Of Rotarians Program

Special to The NEWS. SHAMROCK, Aug. 26.—The program for the Shamrock Rotary club today had as a subject "Cotton" and program chairman W. O. Morrow introduced Howard Weatherby, vocational agriculture instructor of the local high school, who took as his subject "King Cotton."

After reviewing the history of the beginning and the growth of the American cotton industry in which he brought out the fact that cotton had its rivals in past years but was able to maintain its undisputed supremacy until recent years. Weatherby expressed his belief that a continued and consistent advertising campaign was one of the sure ways of restoring "King Cotton" to his throne. He drew home his points with well timed humor.

Visitors to the club were Melvin Billars of Twitty, Rev. Tim Guthrie of Greenville, Pat Flynn and A. C. Whittenburg of the Amarillo Times.

'Man Without A Country' To Be Deported Again

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 26 (AP)—Halm Flukman, "man without a country," who shuttled back and forth between the United States and Cuba as each nation denied him entry, was ordered deported again today. Immigration officials directed he be placed aboard the steamship Florida when it sails for Havana, hoping he finally may be permitted to land there and join his family. Flukman, a 47-year-old Russian-

Ice Men's Contest Ends In Dead Heat

Current issue of the Southwestern Ice Manufacturers' trade magazine carries an interesting story about two salesmen for the Pampa Ice Mfg. Co., who wound up all-even in a contest conducted to see which route salesman could close the greatest number of contracts in a 30-day period. Contest rules neglected to say what hour of the final day the contest ended, so when the work was over on that particular day, Hous-ton Allen pulled up ahead by three contracts. Gust Gilmore then decided the day didn't end until midnight, as he kept on working and closed three more deals during the night, the last one at 11:45 p. m., to close the contest in a dead heat with Allen. There was nothing left for the company to do, says the magazine article, but to make duplicate awards to the two contestants. A piece of wood that has been weighted and lowered to a great depth in the sea will no longer float when brought back to the surface.

A NEW MERCHANDISING ERA..... .....IN PAMPA

This picture shows the new modernistic sign of Cretney Drug Store. This sign lighted with neon captures a fantastic effect that is a distinction to the store. Not only making the store more easily identified, but adding an attractive appearance that is beauty in itself. Through proper lighting this store is "Trade Marked" to the public.

KEEPING in line with '39, Pampa merchants have begun to streamline. New modern fronts on stores, better merchandise displays, modernized with lines that accentuate the trend of the times. Simple design, yet with an art that is attractive, merchants have rearranged their stores, offering greater ease in buying and affording greater display of merchandise.

Another major factor in better stores has been employed by Pampa merchants. . . Light Conditioning, realizing the simple phrase. . . "Better Light, Better Sight," new perspectives are achieved with this heretofore unused public relations sales and good-will builder.

Shown on this page are three store fronts of Pampa merchants who have kept pace with the times, bringing about "A New Merchandising Era in Pampa."

"Realizing the highly specialized selling we do, it is with pleasure that I can publicly make a statement in regard to our new store and window lighting.

"Since installing new scientific lighting in our store windows we have made a check on previous traffic stopping, and looking as they pass our store. We have had an approximate increase of 15% of traffic stopping and those looking runs much higher. We can not praise Light Conditioning too highly for it is more effective than ever imagined."

ALWAYS

. . . the right kind of store Light Conditioning has shown a profit to the retailer and the wrong kind of store lighting has cost too much. The Light Conditioning for one store may be different from the Light Conditioning for another store. . . It's easy to prove that in your store.
