FDR Upholds Poland In Message To King

War Flashes

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (AP)—The United States embassy this afternoon unequivocally and officially advised Americans to leave Germany.

The following statement was issued: "The American embassy upon inquiry has been informed and is continuing to inform Americans that it is desirable to leave Germany."

LE HAVRE, France, Aug. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, the president's mother, boarded the United States liner Washington for New York today, saying she wanted "to relieve my son of all unnecessary anxiety in this crisis." She joined her grandson, John Roosevelt, and his wife who said wistfully, "Nobody ever knows what grandmother will do."

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (AP)—The official German News Bureau, DNB, in a special dispatch from Danzig asserted tonight the free city had been encircled by a mixed Polish division in the south and west, and the danger of an immediate coup d'etat was very great.

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Pope Pius XII tonight broadcast a new appeal for peace, reminding governments and people it was not too late for negotiations to avert war.

"Let men return to mutual understanding, let them begin their negotiations anew," the Pope implored.

He declared "empire which are not built on justice are not blessed by God."

Dies Searches For Silver Shirt Head

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—House investigators searched today for William Dudley Pelley, Silver Shirt leader, cited by Chairman Dies (D., Tex.) as attempting to sabotage the work of the committee on un-American activities.

Disclosure by a committee source that a subpoena has been issued for the Asheville, N. C., publisher, lecturer, came shortly after Dies declared the Silver Shirt organization had attempted to place an undercover agent on the committee's staff.

The committee yesterday recommended a "prosecutive action" against Fraser Gardner, 37, Washington political researcher who was employed by Pelley's Skyland Press while seeking a job as investigator with the Dies group. "This is a clear case," Dies said, "that Pelley and his Silver Shirts have undertaken by this method to secure information in advance and sabotage this investigation."

Lion Terrorizing Ship's Crew Slain

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 24 (AP)—Coast Guardsmen climbed aboard the S. S. Amazon six miles southeast of here today and shot with rifles a lion that had broken loose from a cargo of wild animals bound for Venezuela and was terrorizing the ship's crew.

In response to a wireless plea for help seven men armed with two sub-machine guns and 30-caliber rifles, left in the Coast Guard boat CD-159 shortly after noon.

Two hours later the ship wireless the lion was dead and "many thanks for your help."

Work Starts On Denison Dams Despite Phillips

DURANT, Okla., Aug. 24 (AP)—Workmen began clearing timber on the Oklahoma side of the Denison damsite today despite an assertion by Gov. Phillips that he would take steps to prevent it.

C. L. Schult, contractor, said a crew had been put to work with saws, axes and other small equipment. Heavy machinery will be moved on tomorrow, he said. "Let them work on the Texas side if they want to."

MIGHTY RUSSIAN ARMY IS KEY TO ALIGNMENT OF MANPOWER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt renewed today his efforts to avert a European war, by appealing to King Victor Emmanuel of Italy "for formal proposals for a specific solution of the present crisis."

The President sent word to the king that if the Italian government could do so, "you are assured of the earnest sympathy of the United States."

"We in America," he added, "having welded a homogeneous nation of many nationalities often find it difficult to visualize the animosities which so often have created crises among nations of Europe which are smaller than ours in population and in territory, but we accept the fact that these nations have an absolute right to maintain their national independence if they so desire. If that be sound doctrine then it must apply to the weaker nations as well as to the stronger."

In effect, an official said, the President was asserting the "absolute right" of Poland to maintain its independence if it so desired.

"Again a crisis in world affairs makes clear the responsibility of heads of nations for the fate of their own people and indeed of humanity itself. It is because of traditional accord between Italy and the United States and the ties of consanguinity between millions of our citizens that I feel that I can address your majesty in behalf of the maintenance of world peace."

Ambassador William Phillips, on arrangements made by Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Ciano, had an audience with King Victor Emmanuel and presented the President's message orally at 2 o'clock Italian time (7 a. m. CST).

The text of the communication then was made public here by Secretary Hull as the President himself hurried back to Washington for conferences with his advisers on foreign affairs.

The President told the king: "It is my belief and that of the American people that your majesty and your majesty's government can greatly influence the averting of an outbreak of war by causing 'any general war to cause to suffer all nations whether belligerent or vanquished, and would clearly bring devastation to the peoples and perhaps to the governments of some nations most directly concerned."

This was the second appeal addressed to the king.

Maverick Declares He Despises 'Isms'

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Defeating a Communist rally in municipal auditorium, Mayor Maury Maverick warned prohibiting one group from talking would lead to similar action on others "until one group remains, like in Russia and Germany of today."

In a local radio broadcast last night Maverick declared "I abhor and despise Communism, as I despise Fascism and all forms of tyranny."

President's Mother Returning To U. S.

Here's Text Of Hitler's Treaty With Soviet Russia

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (AP)—Following is the text of the German-Russian non-aggression pact:

The German Reich's government and the union of the Socialist Soviet Republics, moved by a desire to strengthen the state of peace between Germany and the U. S. S. R. and in the spirit of the provisions of the neutrality treaty of April, 1926, between Germany and the U. S. S. R., have decided the following:

I. The two contracting parties obligate themselves to refrain from every act of force, every aggressive action and every attack against one another, concluding any single action that taken in conjunction with other powers.

II. In case one of the parties of this treaty should become the object of warlike acts by a third power, the other party will in no way support this third power.

III. The governments of the two contracting parties in the future will constantly remain in consultation with one another in order to inform

ENGLAND—600,000

FRANCE—1,000,000

ITALY—950,000

GERMANY—1,750,000

RUSSIA—2,000,000

POLAND—500,000

TURKEY—300,000

RUMANIA—275,000

GREECE—200,000

German announcement of non-aggression pact with Russia shocks world as European crisis approaches another climax. Here are latest estimates of major European powers' land forces, including air and mechanized units. Against 2,700,000 Italian and German troops, likely allies could pit at least 2,875,000 men. But mighty Soviet army, it now appears, would be either neutral or definitely on side of axis nations.

Famous Playwright Killed By Tractor

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—The theater world mourned today the death of Sydney Howard, one of the nation's foremost playwrights and film scenarists, who was crushed to death by a tractor on his summer estate near Tyringham, Mass., yesterday.

The writer had worked several hours in the morning on his dramatization of Carl Van Doren's Pulitzer prize biography of Benjamin Franklin.

Howard, son-in-law of Walter Damrosch, noted musical conductor, won the Pulitzer prize in 1925 for his play, "They Knew What They Wanted." One of his most recent successes was "The Ghost of Yankee Doodle," which he wrote for Ethel Barrymore.

Americans Advised To Leave France

PARIS, Aug. 24 (AP)—The United States embassy today formally advised all American citizens to arrange to leave France after the French government called up the fifth class of reservists in a partial mobilization to meet the threat of war.

The crisis took such a turn for the worse during the morning that the embassy which for days has been privately advising Americans it would be wiser to go home issued the following "notice":

"In view of the situation prevailing in Europe it is considered advisable to recommend that Americans who have no compelling reasons to continue their journey here to arrange to return to the United States."

FDR Sees 'No Way Out' Of War Crisis

SANDY HOOK, N. J., Aug. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt told reporters today he would confer immediately with Secretary Hull about the European crisis upon his return to Washington, and check up also on plans that have been ready for two years for evacuating Americans from Europe.

ITU Terminates AFL Affiliation

FORT WORTH, Aug. 24 (AP)—Fifty-eight years' affiliation with the American Federation of Labor was due to be terminated by the International Typographical union today, with adoption of a majority report on the resolutions committee calling for "strictest neutrality" in the AFL fight with the congress of industrial organization.

The report was sent back to the committee last night for "clarification," ending five hours' debate which saw the defeat by a scant 12 votes of the progressive-supported minority report, which proposed that ITU delegates fight for their seats at the next AFL convention and attempt to amend the AFL constitution to conform with policies of the ITU.

In debate yesterday, Secretary-Treasurer Woodruff Randolph of Chicago, and First Vice-President Francis C. Barrett of New York City, spoke in favor of the minority report, and President Claude M. Baker of San Francisco led the battle for adoption of the majority report.

Debate on the issue indicated the delegates were divided along strictly party lines, with progressive supporting the minority report and independents favoring the majority proposition.

The effect of the neutrality proposal backed by independents, as interpreted by various speakers, would be that the ITU was walking out of the AFL. The progressive proposal, on the other hand, would leave to the federation the decision regarding suspension of the printers for non-payment of assessments.

The progressive recommendation was voted down, 140 to 128.

Baker declared the substitute proposal would lead inevitably into a futile lawsuit between the ITU and the AFL.

Randolph declared the ITU could never effect peace between the AFL and CIO by withdrawing and attempting to call a "peace conference," at some later date.

William Green, AFL president, announced recently ITU delegates would not be seated at the next AFL convention unless a special assessment levied during rivalry between the AFL and Congress of Industrial Organization, was paid.

Picnic Committees Will Meet Tonight

While European army staffs seem military maps tonight to make their "estimate of the situation," another estimate will be made in Pampa as M. P. Roche, general chairman of the third annual community picnic and his staff of 21 committees meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the American Legion hut.

A map of the grounds where the picnic is to be held, located six miles east of Berger, will be shown to the committeemen and each committee will be instructed what part of the grounds it is to supervise.

Costs of the picnic, an accounting of finances, and a budget will be analyzed, at the meeting tonight.

General Chairman Roche has stressed the importance of all committeemen attending the meeting so that all may know exactly what has been done and what remains to be done to hold the picnic on Labor day.

Exile May Return To Succeed Suicide

SANTIAGO, CHILE, Aug. 24 (AP)—Col. David Toro, exiled former president of Bolivia, declared today he would return to La Paz if he were summoned to help form a government to succeed the dictatorship of Col. German Busch, dead of a gunshot wound.

The death of 35-year-old President Busch at his residence yesterday in the Bolivian capital was said by Bolivian Propaganda Minister Mario Flores to have been suicide.

Toro was overthrown by Bush in 1937 and attempted a counter-revolution in March, 1938.

The Bolivian propaganda minister, according to dispatches from La Paz, said Busch had been "mentally depressed" because of "intense work during the past days."

Britain Defies Hitler And Will Stand By Poland

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler unexpectedly arrived at Berlin's Tempelhof airfield at 5:56 p. m. (10:56 a. m. CST) today from his mountain retreat near Berchtesgaden.

The Fuehrer was greeted by the Italian Ambassador, Bernardo Attolico, who chatted with him a few minutes.

Few persons were at the airport at the time of his arrival in a heavy junkers plane carrying several members of his staff. He quickly left the airport for the Chancellery.

'God Knows I Have Done All Possible'

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain declared in the House of Commons today that Adolf Hitler had demanded a free hand in Eastern Europe and had declared that any country which interfered was to blame for an ensuing war.

"God knows I have done all that is possible in efforts for peace," the prime minister said after he had declared Britain's obligations to Poland "remain unaffected" by what he called an imminent act of war.

"As we think, so shall we act unflinchingly," Chamberlain said solemnly and the House rose and cheered.

The prime minister said Hitler's claim to a free hand in Eastern Europe without interference came as a reply to a message delivered to the German chancellor yesterday through the British ambassador in Berlin, Sir Neville Henderson.

This message, Chamberlain said, restated Britain's own position. "Speaking against the background of a rapidly arming Europe, the prime minister asked Parliament to enact an emergency powers bill, giving the government virtually dictatorial authority to deal with any emergency."

"The cheers that rose from all sides of the House at the close of his 33-minute speech indicated quick acceptance of his prime minister's reply."

"The German chancellor's reply includes what amounts to a restatement of the German thesis that Eastern Europe is a sphere in which Germany ought to have a free hand," said the prime minister.

He went on to say that "we still See CHAMBERLAIN, Page 5

John Austin One Up On Memphian

Pampa's John Austin was one up on Frank Foxhall of Memphis at the end of the first 18 holes of the play in the championship flight of the Top O' Texas Golf tournament being played over the Pampa Country club course today.

Austin got the jump on Foxhall and although the count was tied several times, he ended the morning round ahead of the veteran left-hander who is 1939 Greenbelt champion.

Frank Mitcham of Shamrock won the consolation division in the championship flight when he defeated Marvin Harris of Pampa, 1 up, this morning.

R. C. Allen and Art Swanson were even at the end of the first 18 holes of play for the first flight championship. Tommy White defeated O. B. Hill of Memphis for first flight consolation honors, 3 and 1.

Neither Austin nor Foxhall shot the type of golf witnessed in previous matches. Each came in with 38, two over par, on the first nine holes. Austin was par on the back nine with Foxhall one under. Each registered two birdies on the first 18 holes. They were scheduled

European Crisis Most Prevalent Topic Of Conversation In Pampa

There were just two subjects that you could get anyone to discuss with any degree of interest in Pampa today.

One was the possibility of war in Europe, and the other was the chances of the Pampa Oilers to finish second in the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league.

But, most everybody was agreed that of the two subjects there is a little more at stake over what will happen when the deadline is reached tomorrow for Poland to turn Danzig over to the Germans.

"Well," one fellow said, "Britain and France can't back down now like they did on Czechoslovakia. If they do, Hitler will move in on England next."

"He's bluffing," said another. "Don't ever kid yourself," said a third in the street corner discussion of the vital issue now hanging over Europe. "He'll go to bat the minute somebody tries to cross him."

Russia's signing of the non-aggression pact with Germany was viewed by the street corner diplomat as a feather in Hitler's cap and one which made war inevitable.

In stores, in offices, in shops—in fact in almost any place you chose to go in Pampa today—folks were talking about the war clouds in Europe.

One man who has been keeping up with foreign affairs expressed the opinion that there will be no war, saying that Hitler will succeed in persuading the Poles that their position is hopeless and that it would be foolish for them to attempt to resist.

At any rate, Pampa, in common with the rest of the outside world, is standing by watching with bated breath developments abroad.

The time is growing short.

The big question on the lips of everyone is this: "What will happen if it does start—and will the U. S. soon be drawn into it just as she was in the World war?"

Baby Boy Born En Route To Hospital

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 24 (AP)—Scout Car Officers Sidney L. Wade and Frank Carr stopped to investigate when they saw an auto pull out from the curb, wheel back and halt.

"I'm glad to see you," said the woman driver, pointing to the rear seat—"She's having a baby and I can't get to the hospital in time."

The officers took the 8-pound boy and mother to the hospital.

British And French Will Leave Moscow

MOSCOW, Aug. 24. (AP)—The British and French military missions were reported reliably today to have decided to leave Moscow tomorrow, definitely breaking off negotiations with Soviet Russia for a three-power mutual assistance pact.

This decision was reached after Germany's foreign minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop left Moscow by airplane to report to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler on his successful completion of a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia.

Swastika flags were interspersed with Soviet red banners as decorations to the entrance of the huge Moscow civil airfield when Von Ribbentrop arrived at the airfield.

It was the first time in its history that Soviet Russia had officially put up the swastika emblem.

Members of the British and French military missions obtained their passports and visas last night and were expected to fly back to Paris and London tomorrow.

Terms of Pact
By the pact, Germany and Russia bound themselves not to war against each other nor even to associate themselves with any lineup of powers aimed "directly or indirectly" at either.

Diplomatic quarters expressed the conviction that the four-paragraph nonaggression pact—that which covered taking sides with "any other grouping of powers" aimed at either nation—was the death warrant for any prospect of alliance with Britain and France.

The British and French had been seeking a mutual assistance treaty for more than four months.

The agreement was signed behind the Kremlin's massive walls about 12 hours after the arrival of Adolf Hitler's emissary to Joseph Stalin, Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop. There were less than eight hours of formal deliberation.

Stalin attended the final talks which started at 10 p. m. yesterday, and also sat in on a three-hour meeting yesterday afternoon between Von Ribbentrop and Premier-Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.

Molotov signed the accord. The pact shifted Europe's balance of power in one of the most critical periods since the World War. Apparently it barred any agreement among the Soviet, British, French and German demands on Poland.

Russian official quarters, however, have insisted the pact was not incompatible with a defensive alliance linking Moscow to Paris and London.

Japs Plan To Take Over Settlement

SHANGHAI, Aug. 24. (AP)—Six thousand Japanese soldiers were reported today to have been landed in the Shanghai area in preparation for "some action" against the international settlement, garrisoned by nearly 5,000 American, British, French and Italian soldiers.

The sources of this report, the most reliable foreign quarters, said the landing took place yesterday and the Japanese had been planning for some time to occupy the settlement, whose extra-territoriality dates back to 1845.

These quarters said the Japanese previously had postponed action because of Soviet Russian-German negotiation of a nonaggression treaty which left them uncertain of Japan's position in the world lineup.

The original Japanese plan was said to have called for cutting off all rice supplies for the settlement's population of 1,120,000 Chinese. The foreign population of the settlement, including Japanese, is 28,588.

This move, it was supposed, would intensify rice riots which have been sporadic in the past few days. When the situation was deemed by the Japanese to be out of hand they intended to march into the settlement, it was said, on the grounds police were unable to maintain order.

Some support for these reports was given by the Japanese army spokesman at today's press conference when he said that unless settlement authorities were able to solve the rice situation the Japanese "would feel bound to take appropriate measures."

Il Duce Talks With Military Chiefs

ROME, Aug. 24. (AP)—Premier Mussolini discussed military matters today with the chiefs of the Italian army, navy, air force and Fascist militia.

The conference at Mussolini's office in the Palazzo Venezia took place as Italians viewed the German-Polish situation with increasing concern, at the same time holding hopes for a peaceful settlement might be arranged.

The chiefs with whom Mussolini conferred were: General Alberto Pariani, undersecretary of war; Admiral Domenico Cavagnari, undersecretary of navy; General Giuseppe Valle, undersecretary of air; and General Luigi Russo, chief of staff of the militia.

Received at the same time was General Gastone Gamba, new ambassador to Spain, who formerly commanded the Italian troops in the civil war there.

Italian shippers were advised French railroads had refused to accept any further freight shipments from Italy.

Tourist agencies said few Americans were leaving the country, although the American consulate ad-

Thompson Suggests Meeting To Consider New Shutdown

AUSTIN, Aug. 24. (AP)—Declaring "there's no use doing this thing halfway," Chairman Ernest O. Thompson proposes a meeting of the Interstate Oil Compact commission here Monday to consider whether the six-state shutdown of oil production should be extended.

The closings were ordered in an effort to restore oil prices at least to their level before Aug. 9, when price cutting began. The shutdown in Texas, first state to close its fields, will end next Tuesday night.

Flow of oil also has been stopped completely or partially in Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico.

Thompson last night sent telegrams to oil conservation officials in the shutdown states and also in California, Colorado, Illinois and Michigan, inviting them on behalf of the Texas Railroad commission, to attend as observers a statewide hearing here Monday.

He pointed out executives of the major oil companies were expected to testify and said "I am recommending to the members of the Interstate Oil Compact commission that we have a called meeting here at that time."

He said the oil company officials would be asked to testify under oath on the position of their gasoline and crude stocks.

Meanwhile Cosden Oil corporation of Fort Worth announced posting an increase of 20 cents a barrel in crude oil buys in Young county, North Texas, and in Howard, Glasscock and Ector counties in West Texas. Retroactive to 7 a. m. Aug. 23, Cosden's increase restores the schedules in effect before it met Humble Oil and Refining company reductions Aug. 12.

Two other independent refining companies previously had restored the cut, Bell Oil and Gas company of Tulsa, Okla., and Danciger Oil Refineries, Inc., of Fort Worth, Tex.

Although Cosden's price raise is effective at once, actually it cannot buy oil at that price until the shutdown is lifted, because it has no connections in those counties with wells exempted under the closing.

The new Young county schedule for West Texas starts at 53 cents a barrel for below 20 gravity with a two-cent differential upward for each degree of gravity to a top of 95 cents a barrel for 40 gravity and above. Cosden buys 11,000 barrels for its Big Spring refinery and 1,000 barrels for the Graham plant.

Daladier Plans To Unite All French Factions

PARIS, Aug. 24. (AP)—Premier Daladier plans to form a national union government, uniting all factions in France, it was learned today as five classes of reservists based under partial French mobilization.

Men called to the colors moved to their posts swiftly in special trains and requisitioned buses and automobiles.

In Paris, after a 2 1/2 hour cabinet meeting with President Albert Lebrun, officials said France' powerful premier plans a nation-wide appeal for union, to be followed by the formation of a cabinet backed by virtually all parties. Whether this would include Communists was not stated.

France mobilized a fifth class of reservists, adding approximately another 150,000 troops to the men already under arms in answer to threats of a European war.

Previous estimates of the number of troops under arms had been placed at two million.

Reports were current three more classes may be called within the next 24 hours. Three more would bring France close to what is widely considered general mobilization.

The extraordinary cabinet meeting at the Elysee Palace under President Albert Lebrun ended after two and a half hours, but only an ominously brief communique was issued. It said the meeting was devoted entirely to the international situation. Premier Edouard Daladier informed the cabinet of the military measures and Foreign Minister George Bonnet reported on the text of the German-Russian non-aggression pact as sent to Paris by French Ambassador Paul Naggiar.

Orange trees were introduced into Florida by Spanish explorers about the beginning of the 17th century. Spanish missions introduced orange trees as well as olive, fig and other fruit trees—into California at the end of the 18th century. Now California and Florida produce approximately 97 per cent of American oranges.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pain, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, gelling up, night sweats, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

'Why Kill Each Other?'

The shame of the world is compressed within the appeal made recently by the British National Council of Labor to the German people under the poignant heading "Why Kill Each Other?"

"Neither you nor we," ran part of the appeal, "must submit to the belief that war is inevitable. The mind and will of man must assert themselves. You Germans, we British, and all other peoples must determine to be the masters and not the slaves of our fate. We must not suffer the indignity and sorrow of drifting into a catastrophic war."

There follows a long indictment of the German leadership for its war-threatening policies, and an assurance that alliances being undertaken are made necessary by defense, not contrived to encircle Germany.

"We are your friends," resumes the appeal. "War, in fact, threatens you not from outside but from inside your own country, and the responsibility for that threat belong to Herr Hitler and his government. Herr Hitler is encircling himself—and you. And it is all so foolish, so wicked, so futile!"

The appeal continued with an invitation to Germany, instead of being encircled, to join the circle itself with a world-wide combination of nations. It closed: "Let the governments of all lands know that the peoples have no wish to slaughter each other but to live together in peace and friendship."

This appeal, of course, was not published in the German papers. The only reference to it was sneering comments to the effect that such efforts to wear the German people away from their leader would not succeed.

The British labor council is on the right track, though its message may not be immediately effective. For the root of the evils of international affairs is not yet touched. Even if some temporary compromise averts the menace of Danzig, we must dig deeper.

When Germany began its revolt against Versailles, it had grievances, many of them well-founded. The League of Nations existed then, but what chance was there for a real redress of vital economic grievances before a League dominated wholly by "have" powers interested not in a better-balanced world, but in the status quo? Very little.

So it is now as it was in 1914. The major blame for a war will rest on him who first draws a sword. But not all blame. The blame for failure to establish a civilized world order must fall in varying degrees on all countries and on all peoples.

A Boy Can Do It

Two generations from horse-and-buggy to airplane!

Grandfather was brought up to drive a "rig." He knew how to hitch up the family mare in the buggy, and how to handle both. He learned to drive a car, later, but he was never really at home in it.

Dad was brought up with autos. He has always been perfectly at home behind the wheel. But his experience with horses was sketchy, and he is still just a little skittish about riding in, let alone flying, an airplane.

But son—his air-minded. Take, for example, Sammy Glinder, 9-year-old son of a naval flying officer. For four years he's been begging for an airplane ride. The other day daddy took him up in a big twin-engine transport, and with a brief explanation of the controls, actually let Sammy fly it for a few minutes at 9000 feet and 200 miles an hour. A bit advanced, perhaps, but a foretaste of the manner in which the next generation will be just as much at ease in a plane as granddaddy was in the family buggy.

The Nation's Press

PAPERS FIVE TIMES AS GOOD (Bloomington, Ill. Pantagraph)

It is generally conceded that in no other form of commodity does the average American citizen get so much value for his money as in his newspaper.

That he gets from 250 to 500 per cent more information and entertainment in his newspaper today than did his grandfather a half century ago, is the conclusion of experts who have made a careful comparison on behalf of a great insurance company concerning the contents of today's newspapers compared with those of the Civil War period and later.

One striking innovation which has come into general use in the period mentioned is the vast array of informative, background and explanatory materials. This factor enables every reader to form his own interpretations of today's news dispatches from a point in the world, for instance, which he had never heard of until today.

The wealth of pictures, the number and ability of signed articles by well-informed writers interpreting the day's news, the discussion of foreign affairs against an intelligent background, accompany the virtually universal treatment of news without any editorial bias or distortion. A paper's political or economic views are expressed only in its editorial column. Material which is common today but was almost unknown in newspapers of a half century ago has to do with such subjects as health, beauty and other topics of special concern to women and children.

The average newspaper of 50 years ago consisted of four pages. Today the sizes run from 16 to 46 pages on an average day.

It's no wonder that only one family in six of the country's population regularly received a newspaper 50 years ago. Forty years ago the average was one paper for each two families. Today one and one-fourth copies are printed for each family.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

THE HATCH BILL

The reception of the Hatch Bill has received over the country in its attempt to keep the politicians from perpetuating themselves and using their office to reward their friends, has met with favorable reception. It is an encouraging sign. If this desire to make government officials impartial and real servants of the people could be carried still further, it would eventually mean that those people who are occupying government jobs would not have the right to vote in the division of government in which they were employed. The fact that any man works for the government makes it impossible for him to be 100 per cent impartial in his vote. Voters should be as nearly as possible like jurymen—their decision should not directly affect their material wellbeing.

Of course, the argument against carrying this to this degree is that those outside of the government would have a right to vote themselves in, while those in the government could not vote to keep themselves in. This could be alleviated by also preventing an announced candidate from voting in the subdivision in which he was a candidate.

Then, again, if the remuneration were not so strong and so permanent, there would be fewer people striving for the jobs for the sake of salary and power. Possibly more people then would be elected who were really interested in giving impartial service. Anything that will limit the growth of government will be good for humanity.

The Hatch Bill is certainly a move in the right direction.

'NEW BUSINESS'

In every business transaction both parties must believe they are benefited, if exchanges are to continue. When either party comes to believe that he is not benefited, there are no exchanges. This is an axiom to all students of the private capitalist system. Only socialists believe otherwise.

It is another way of saying that "competition is the life of trade." Anything that interferes with the benefits on either side tends to stop business.

Yet, in spite of this axiom, Townsend advocates, the New Deal advocates and the $30 Every Thursday advocates contend that "new business" will pay for the taxes to support people in idleness. They forget their simple arithmetic. Every tax reduces the buying power of those taxed an equal amount to the increased buying power of the recipients of the tax. Every tax tends to reduce exchanges. Every tax discourages people from producing some new purchasing power. This is proved by history. There are no exceptions.

The New Dealers, the Ham and Eggers and the Townsends all defy this axiom and contend that "new business" will pay for the tax. Instead of adding new business, it will greatly reduce new business. This is history. But "the wish is father of the thought," in the case of the Townsends, the Ham and Eggers and the New Dealers. All of these theories are business killers, not new business creators.

It is interesting to contrast this with the situation during prohibition, when a Bostonian guest at Al Capone's Florida home asked the Chicago gangster why he didn't move in on the Boston field. Capone told him there wasn't enough money in the Boston rackets to make it worth while.

That, say those who are in a position to know, may have been true then but it isn't true now. It is asserted that the underworld has more (and richer) big shots now than it had during prohibition. One angle of this is the generally-accepted report that Boston has become a key importing and distributing center for the drug racket.

HOLLYWOOD — Was Al Jolson being a little acid with that trade ad of his on "Rose of Washington Square" in which he clicked a comeback? "I never knew I had so many friends," he said. (And Al ought to know—what with those years he wasn't doing much in pictures.)

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

The luxuriant mass of morning glory vines which completely hide the front porch of the A. H. Doucette residence, has attracted a good bit of attention. Mrs. Doucette has always been partial to morning glories. They are fresh when you are fresh—in the morning, and that's the most," she said. "Seldom will you find so many good-looking young people as you will at White Deer. Their average is exceedingly high. Severin Kalaria, for instance, and Carl Moot. By the way, Carl who last year played on the White Deer basketball team, is going to the University of Oklahoma this year.

Goodbye, young Frederick Brown of North Sedwick, Maine, who spent the summer here visiting relatives. You'll find him a frame, well-built, with a sunny accent ever heard around here but you had a good heart. Come back some day. This columnist yesterday got the biggest thrill he's had since he left Hollywood when he got a telegram from Ann Sheridan. The wire said: "When Angels Wash Their Faces" plays in Nora theatre on the 24th would appreciate having your personal opinion. When are you visiting Hollywood again. Best regards, Ann Sheridan."

She's a frame, well-built, by either Carl Benefiel or Warner Brothers, but Carl denies he had anything to do with it, and we believe him, and Bob Watson of the Western Union investigated and found the signature was genuine and wasn't that enough looking in the mouth of the gift horse? As for the picture—well, it was as good as seen before the telegram came! After all, Ann is now the best actress in Hollywood.

U. S. Tourists Urged To Sail For Home

LONDON, Aug. 24 (P) — United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy today issued a statement advising all American tourists in the British Isles to sail for home at once.

American officials estimated there are between 2,000 and 4,000 American tourists in England, Scotland and Wales.

The ambassador's statement said "in a day or two" it might not be possible for them to get sailings for New York and warned them if they stayed they might be subjected to "inconvenience, possibly danger."

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Aug. 24 (P) — Vatican authorities announced today Pope Pius would deliver a radio speech at 7 p. m. tonight (noon CST) presumably in an urgent appeal for the nations of Europe to avoid war.

Advance details of the speech were not available. It was to be broadcast, however, by short wave from the Vatican radio station.

The Pope's speech will be broadcast on two wavelengths, 19.24 meters and 50.28 meters.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

This is the time of the year when we hear occasionally that someone has been bitten by the "Black Widow" spider which most frequently nips human beings in the United States. Persons in rural areas are most likely to come in contact with these insects.

A man bitten by a spider of this variety had almost immediately severe abdominal pain, nausea, and vomiting, with muscular cramps in both arms and legs. Numbness, tingling, and transient pains in the muscles persisted in the legs and arms for some months thereafter.

Of all the hundreds of species of spiders found in the United States, the Black Widow is the only one that is apt to produce a severe reaction of this type. The female is usually marked red or yellow, or both colors. As in the case of most insects, the female is usually the one responsible for biting human beings. This spider is often one-half inch in length and when it stretches its glossy black legs it may measure as long as two inches.

Usually the spot at which the person is bitten is not seriously inflamed, although in some instances there is secondary infection with inflammation. Apparently the spider does not eject its poison every time that it bites, since many instances are recorded in which people bitten by the Black Widow have not suffered.

While people generally have severe reaction and pain associated with a bite of a spider, there are as yet no deaths reported from an uncomplicated bite by a spider of the Black Widow variety.

Very rarely in the United States are people bitten by the dangerous spiders which are found in South America, such as the tarantula, the trap-door spider, or other large hairy spiders.

When a person has been bitten by a spider, it is well to use hot applications immediately. It may be necessary for a doctor to inject sedatives of various kinds to quiet the patient, since the nervous apprehension is frequently as much responsible for the patient's trouble as the bite itself. Sometimes it is desirable to apply simple antiseptics.

Nothing seems to be gained by cutting into the place where the bite occurred, by cauterizing it with heat, or trying to suck out the poison which the spider has ejected.

Pope Will Deliver Appeal For Peace

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Aug. 24 (P) — Vatican authorities announced today Pope Pius would deliver a radio speech at 7 p. m. tonight (noon CST) presumably in an urgent appeal for the nations of Europe to avoid war.

Advance details of the speech were not available. It was to be broadcast, however, by short wave from the Vatican radio station.

The Pope's speech will be broadcast on two wavelengths, 19.24 meters and 50.28 meters.

NEWSPAPERS SOMETIMES

inadvertently do an injustice to an individual or to a group, and when they do it is my opinion that the newspapers should be the first to admit the error and then try to correct it. . . . It is possible that such an article was done in this newspaper day before yesterday when a little "squeeb" appeared in which it was stated in the headline that "officers are hard to find at the courthouse."

While the main purpose of the little inside page story was to point out that so many things were going on outside of Pampa that a number of prominent Pampans had to be away from their desks that day, it was pointed out that some readers might have construed the article to mean that public officers were playing hooky from their official duties and that they were "out" when they should have been "in."

FOR INSTANCE, at least one of these officials was in Perryton where a delegation of Pampans had gone to join in Perryton's annual birthday celebration. . . . True, he was with the delegation, but while in Perryton he likewise was conferring with officials there on a matter of vital importance to Pampa citizens and was busily engaged in what sometimes is called "killing two birds with one stone."

Others were taking part in the Top O' Texas golf tourney, a very worthwhile sports event which necessarily needs the support of every Pampa golfer. . . . To not take part in this tourney would be neglect of civic duty on the part of any tournament golfer.

It is my opinion that not many citizens would be so narrow-minded as to construe that any Pampa or Gray county official was neglecting his official duties by not being in his office all day last Tuesday. . . . There are many times—and this is true not only of county officials—when a man can be of more use to his constituents by being away from his office than he could by simply sitting behind a desk all day, waiting for something to happen.

A public official's value to his public is not to be measured by punching a time-clock. . . . The best yardstick by which to measure a public official is the lack of results at the end of his term in office. . . . And, that is true of any business.

ONE OF the officials mentioned in the story was called on the telephone and advised by the man on the other end that it "looks like that newspaper is trying to clean out the courthouse at the next election." . . . Fact of the matter is we'd almost bet that every man mentioned in that particular story will be re-elected at the next election. . . . Insofar as this newspaper knows, all of them are high-type citizens and good public officials. . . . So what?

EIGHT YEARS Democratic Congressman From INDIANA

Mr. Roosevelt Discovers the Constitution

It seems that Mr. Roosevelt won his Supreme Court fight, after all. So he says. All that he asked for, he got, although "it is true that the precise method which I recommended was not adopted."

But that precise method was what all the shouting was about. It was a scheme to enlarge the Court so that its decisions would be about as independent as a Nazi plebiscite. And if Mr. Roosevelt now finds the objective reached by procedure he would have changed, had Congress and the country permitted, he has made for himself a discovery that some of those who opposed his Court packing were trying to tell him.

Also we find Mr. Roosevelt all of a sudden become greatly worried over the constitutionality of legislation. He was afraid that the Hatch Bill would put into jeopardy the rights of Federal postoffice.

The President's concern over the constitutionality of legislation, and his discovery that he doesn't have to tinker with the Supreme Court are extremely commendable. His concern and discovery came late, but forget not the joy in Heaven over the sinner that repented.

The degree of Mr. Roosevelt's conversion to the ancient faith of Americans, can be measured by his one-time urging a Congressional committee "not to permit doubts as to constitutionality, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation." This was with respect to Senator Joe Guffey's coal bill. Congress did as urged, swallowed its doubts and passed the bill. Then the Supreme Court held the law unconstitutional. A few months later, with the election behind him, Mr. Roosevelt attacked the Court that so declared, and proposed to pack it with new judges to reverse this and other cases.

Mr. Roosevelt showed how he felt about the Constitution by saying in effect that it was easier to change the Court than to amend the Constitution! Don't change the rules. Change the umpire. But be sure of your umpire.

Outside or re-legalizing the sale of liquor, Mr. Roosevelt has proposed a number of other matters under the Constitution. Much of the vast power he now exercises, undreamed of from 1787 to 1933, came to him by short-circuiting constitutional provisions.

It can scarcely be contended, for instance, that it was intended by the Constitution makers that Congress should turn over enormous sums of money to the Executive to be spent in his sole discretion. Nor that he should coerce States to go into debt. Nor that he should have power to fix the value of money. Nor that he should use executive power to purge or elect Senators, Congressmen, or governors, as in Oregon, or mayors, as in New York City.

Mr. Roosevelt never worried about the Constitution when power was flowing into his hands. But now that the Hatch Act takes power from him by preventing his packing the next Democratic national convention with federal appointees responsible to him, and this to force his third nomination, or the nomination of his political legate, Mr. Roosevelt grows anxious over the fate of the Constitution.

Mr. Roosevelt made a significant speech on the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution, September 17, 1937. At that time he said in substance that the Constitution conferred upon the Supreme Court no power to hold acts of Congress unconstitutional. Of course if this doctrine were to prevail, all minorities would be at the mercy of majorities.

More of us thought this question was settled 136 years ago when the Supreme Court, for the first time, declared an act of Congress unconstitutional. That was in Jefferson's administration. Jefferson did not like the decision. He had control of both Houses of Congress. He ordered Mr. Jefferson made no effort to pack the Court, to reverse the decision which he personally disapproved.

Since Jefferson's time 90 justices have sat upon the Supreme Court of the United States. Not a single one of them so far as I know has ever agreed with the Roosevelt views on this question. In the intervening 136 years thousands of Congressmen and Senators have sat in Washington, tens of thousands have sat in different State legislatures. In the meantime all of the great political parties have had frequent national conventions and wrote many platforms to submit to the people. At no time has either House of Congress, any State legislature, or the members of any national party convention other than the Socialists or Communists ever taken any action to deprive the Supreme Court of the power it asserted 136 years ago.

If any doctrine could be considered as settled by the acquiescence therein of generations of Americans, it is that there must be some court somewhere to which an American citizen may go when he claims that an act of Congress or a Communist ever taken any action to deprive the Supreme Court of the power it asserted 136 years ago.

Boy, 2, Wanders All Day Alone in Pampa

Richard Earl Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dickinson, started out early in life to see the world. The husky 2-year-old left home late yesterday morning and didn't return until about 6:30 o'clock last night when a woman he adopted for a temporary mother heard a KPND broadcast and returned him to his home.

Young Richard left his home at 315 East Francis avenue and was seen twice on North Cuyler street. Shortly after noon he appeared in the 500 block South Cuyler street and immediately took up with a woman whose name police failed to learn. The woman tried to get Richard to take her to his home. He pointed north but the woman didn't think a little fellow like Richard could get from North to South Pampa so she didn't follow his directions.

Richard didn't seem to mind his experience. He called for his mother and father several times but didn't break down. He played and had a big time until arriving home. The parents notified police soon after noon and some time later officers asked station KPND to broadcast a description of the lost boy.

hope reason and sanity will find a way out. But," he said, "the issue of peace or war does not rest with us." Fight For Principles "If all efforts to find a peaceful solution—and God knows I have done my best—fail and we find ourselves forced to embark upon a struggle bound to be fraught with suffering and misery for all mankind and the end of which no man can foresee, we shall not be fighting for the political future of a far-away state in a foreign land.

"We shall be fighting for the preservation of those principles, the destruction of all possibility of peace and security for the people of the world. I trust those with whom the responsibility lies will remember the millions of mankind whose fate depends upon their actions," said Chamberlain. The prime minister's speech, delivered in solemn tones and with obvious emotion, recalled to many members of parliament the similarly grave speech of Lord Grey, British foreign secretary, on the eve of the outbreak of the World War in 1914. Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax made a similar statement in the House of Lords.

Wrings His Hands The prime minister who wrings his hands nervously and as usual fumbled with his spectacles, sat down after he had spoken 33 minutes. The diplomatic and other galleries were crowded. American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy was among the many diplomats. Notably missing, however, was one usually regular attendant—Soviet Russia's Ambassador Ivan Maisky. Chamberlain made his statement as he asked Parliament to give the government virtually dictatorial powers to deal with the international situation.

"New and drastic steps are required by the gravity of the situation," the prime minister said. The prime minister's proposals were embodied in a brief but sweeping "emergency powers bill" which was introduced at the opening of Parliament's emergency session. The measure would give the government power to put into operation immediately any measure considered necessary for the national safety. These would include such steps as: 1. Taking over railways and other transportation. 2. Control of food supplies. 3. Defense against air attack.

The international situation has steadily deteriorated until today we find ourselves confronted with an imminent peril of war," Chamberlain declared to a crowded house which cheered him as he entered. "Germany is now in a condition of complete readiness for war," he asserted. Poland, he said, has shown "great calm and self-restraint."

"Poland," he continued, "has always been and is ready now to discuss her differences with the German government if they could be sure that these discussions could be carried on without threats of force or violence and with some confidence." Then, turning to the new German-Russian non-aggression pact, Chamberlain said British-French-Russian military discussions were going well when this bombshell came. "The announcement of the pact came as an 'unpleasant surprise to the British government,'" he said. "The Russian government, he continued, while carrying on discussions with Britain and France had been secretly negotiating with Germany for purposes "which on the face of it were inconsistent with the objects of their foreign policy as we understood it." Turning back to Poland, the prime minister said that at the beginning of this week German troops began moving toward the Polish frontier. To Keep Pledge Then he said: "The government's first duty is to declare that British obligations to Poland remain unaffected." He was referring to Britain's pledge to aid Poland if her independence were threatened. "I wish emphatically to repudiate any suggestion that our defensive measures imply an act of menace," Chamberlain asserted. "Nothing we have done or propose to do menaces the legitimate interests of Germany. "It is not an act of menace to prepare to help friends defend themselves." When we sent Adolf Hitler a message yesterday, Chamberlain declared, Hitler replied Eastern Europe was a sphere where Germany must have a free hand. "Hitler says," he continued, "that if Britain or any other country chooses to enter, the blame for the ensuing conflict will be theirs." Chamberlain said the object of his communication to the German foreign minister yesterday through British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson was "to restate our position and to make sure there was no misunderstanding." "War between our two countries would be one of the greatest calamities that could occur," Chamberlain said. "The German chancellor's reply includes what amounts to a restatement of the German thesis that Eastern Europe is a sphere in which Germany ought to have a free hand. "This thesis entirely misapprehends the British position. We do not seek a special position for ourselves in Eastern Europe."

used to tee off at 1:30 p. m., on the final rounds. The first two holes were reeled off in par but Austin went one up on the third when he dropped his putt for a par, Foxhall going one over. Foxhall won the long number 4 with a par, and Austin took number five the same way. Six was even but on the seventh Austin laid his 140-yard tee shot close enough to sink his putt for a birdie. The eighth hole was halved. Foxhall won the last hole of the round. They halved 10 and 11 but Foxhall came through with a birdie on 12. The next two holes were even and then Foxhall went one up on 15. Austin started hitting his wood shots on number 15 which he won to even the count again. The short number 17 hole was par for both but Austin came through with a par to win the last hole and go one up.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—Financial markets fell and rebounded with bewilderment today as Europe apparently stood at the brink of war. Stocks tumbled 1 to more than 5 points in the first hour, only to pit on a quick turn-about before midnight in which price losses were substantially reduced or erased in many cases. Dealers were entirely on the retreat and, with the pickup, buying was sufficient to cause the tape to drop a minute behind flood traders for a brief interval. There was a subsequent slow-down and final prices were well in check. Transfers for the five hours approximated 1,800,000 shares. U. S. Government and foreign dollar bonds weakened in the bond market. Markets at London, Paris and Amsterdam took a nose-dive in the morning and, aside from a fairly resolute hold displayed by American securities, most ended well on the downside. The bank of England, in a precautionary move, boosted its discount rate from 2 to 4 per cent. Dollars were in much demand, but the British exchange control managed to hold sterling about even.

Louisianans Took Bribes, Ouchita Grand Jury Charges

MONROE, La., Aug. 24 (AP)—Former Gov. James A. Noe said payments cited in indictments returned here yesterday were not "bribes" to conservation department officials but "shakedowns" by the officials. Those indicted were W. D. Dark and L. J. Melton, manager and field agent, respectively, of the Monroe office of the conservation department. They were charged with taking bribes from several gas companies, including one in which Noe was listed as a stockholder, for not reporting certain production order violations. Noe said the Ouchita parish grand jury, which indicated the men, met at his suggestion and he furnished it with much of the information contained in the indictments.

Hitler's Zero Hour Likely To Be Tonight

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (AP)—German troops stood ready today to back up Adolf Hitler's demands upon Poland and the British government notified its consuls to advise British nationals in Germany to leave. Simultaneously the United States embassy for the first time began to tell inquiring citizens "unofficially" it would be best for them also to depart.

With Nazis seeking the establishment of Germany's pre-war eastern boundaries, one high foreign office official declared it was "very necessary" for Polish foreign minister Jozef Beck to go to Hitler quik-iv in his Bavarian mountain retreat.

Envisaging a possible reenactment by Beck of the trip to Hitler's chalet last March by President Emil Hacha of Czecho-Slovakia, the foreign office official said: "The Poles know exactly what we want of them."

The inference was that Poland had been apprised fully of Germany's demands, but perhaps no zero hour had been set for her reply.

Limited Ultimatum Seen
This zero hour was expected to-night after Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, following the swift conclusion of the Russian-German non-aggression pact, returned from Moscow and made his report.

There was a feeling the best guess was there would be a limited ultimatum to Poland of only a few hours.

Poland's only hope to avoid war then would be to send her foreign minister to Berchtesgaden to capitulate.

"Don't think for one moment that Hitler wants war," one spokesman said.

"Nobody would be happier than our Fuehrer if the Poles accepted our conditions without bloodshed."

At the same time, in the wake of the signing of the Russian-German pact, there were indications a clear understanding already existed between Berlin and Moscow as to what to do about Poland in the event of war.

Along with the orders to British consuls for a general evacuation of British nationals, the British and French embassies, with the exception of the ambassadors and a few secretaries—were preparing to leave.

Even Chef Leaves
French Ambassador Robert Coulondre last night presented what was believed to have been a reaffirmation of the French government's intention to stand by Poland.

The envoy called at the foreign office with his government's message following a similar demarche to Adolf Hitler yesterday by British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson.

Today the vestibules of both embassies were piled with luggage, boxes and packages.

Even the chef in the French embassy took off his white cap and deserted the kitchen.

Movements of troops and guns became more apparent in the heart of Berlin.

Anti-aircraft units, some moving in commandeered civilian trucks, passed briskly up the Unter Den Linden.

Hitler, following his firm answer to Great Britain regarding Germany's terms for Poland, waited in the seclusion of his mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden for a personal report from his Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop on the swift conclusion of the Nazi non-aggression pact with Russia.

Various reliable sources said the German armed forces, which have been taking extensive military precautions along the Eastern frontier bordering Poland, now were in a state of "highest readiness" from the fastness of the Tatra mountains to the Baltic sea.

Germany March Into Fortifications On Belgian Border

BRUSSELS, Aug. 24 (AP)—Long lines of German military trucks were reported today by border observers to be moving within sight of the Belgian town Expen, former German territory.

German fortifications facing the Belgian border were reported authoritatively to have been occupied during the night. Numerous artillery pieces were seen being drawn into place.

Official sources expressed disappointment no direct response had been received from any major power to the forceful appeal for peace delivered last night by King Leopold on behalf of seven small nations.

The king, urging the antagonistic powers to enter in "open negotiations" of their differences, frankly expressed hope that heads of other nations would take up his appeal.

Connally Speaks At Permian Basin Meet

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 24 (AP)—Large delegations from 30 West Texas and Southeastern New Mexico cities attended the meeting here today of the Permian Basin association.

The gathering marked the 19th anniversary of the basin discovery well in Mitchell county.

Senator Tom Connally of Marlin spoke at the congressmen's luncheon, at which Rep. George Mahon presided. Connally was to speak again tonight at a program to be broadcast over a state wide network.

Forster Made Danzig Dictator

DANZIG, Aug. 24 (AP)—The Danzig Senate in solemn session voted today to make Albert Forster, Nazi party Gauleiter of Danzig, the free city's chief of state.

This means that Arthur Greiser, who has hitherto been head of the little state as its Senate president, ceases to be chief executive.

Danzig's customs officers reported to free state officials today that Poland had closed the border between Poland and Danzig at 11:00 a. m. (4 a. m. CST).

Danzig's officials early had shut off telephone connections with Gdynia. This was said to be a reprisal against Polish action in refusing to accept calls from Gdynia.

DNB, official German news agency, said it understood the British consul general left the free city early today.

The elevation of Forster gives Danzig a chief of state known as a radical. Greiser is called a moderate.

Some sources interpreted the action as an indication Forster would have dictatorial powers to perfect the demanded reunion of the free city with Germany.

Expectant and armed, Danzig waited anxiously for announcement of a new decree which was considered likely to hasten the free city's return to Germany.

Officials said the law, now in preparation, probably would be issued later in the day. They declined to hint at its nature.

Danzig, under heavy guard, was tense.

J. M. Knowles, grade four; Mrs. Mary Sue Iverson and Barbara Hawkins, grade five; Ashley Little, grade six; Zeddie Bell Walker, grade six; H. G. Robinson, grade seven and Mrs. O. R. Owens, public school music.

Morrison Calls For Practice At M'Murry, Sept. 5

ABILENE, Aug. 24.—Dale N. Morrison, newly elected McMurry college coach, will eye carefully his freshmen candidates when the call for practice is issued here September 5. Though openly admitting that he has the nucleus of a fast team returning from the mediocre aggregation of a couple of guards, a center, and a tackle on his "must" list as he surveys 1939 possibilities. Back from last season's array are 11 lettermen and a host of promising squadmen, but nevertheless it'll take first year men of rank to make the club "go" during the forth-coming season. At present Morrison is doing little worrying about ends, one tackle and three backfield posts. At the terminals he inherits three monogram wearers and a promising squadman, In Clyde Wood, three lettermen from Winters, Morrison believes he has one of the classiest wings in the conference. Though shifted to end even after the past season was underway, Wood shined on a losing club, at a spring practice being team on the second all-conference team. A trio of husky aspirants will vie for the other terminal post. TOPY REYNOLDS, A BLACK-BALDED SOFTY FROM PAMPA, HOWEVER, SEEMS TO HOLD THE INSIDE TRACK. Other candidates are Frank Weaver, two-year vet from Rusk, and Gerald (Dopey) Anderson, squadman from Big Spring. Holder tackles are Earl Carter and Aldine Moore. A 200-pounder from Rogers, Ark., Carter looms as a consistent performer provided he can overcome an injury which has kept Morrison is also expecting plenty from Arthur Wylie, burly Plain-view lad, weighing around 220. Wylie looks the part of a "Greek Adonis." He is a transfer from Texas. Only returning veteran at guard is Donald Raymond, scrappy Abilene boy. Having put on needed heft since last season, Raymond appears good for part time duty at one of the guards. The other post, however, is wide open with a first year man most likely to get it. No centers are returning—not even a scrub. With five veterans and a trio of promising squadmen due to aspire in the backfield, Morrison isn't particularly worried about his ball-toting department. He adds, though, that he could use a hard blocker. The line includes lettermen Bill Emerson, Bill Gray, and squadman Al Simmons and Clifton Beasley. Buster Peek, the Paint Rock crusher, is expected to come thru again at full. Other letter backs are a bright squadman in Roy Badt, swivel-tipped Loraine, by. DARIEN, Conn., Aug. 24.—(AP)—A couple of female sports columnists representing newspapers on opposite sides of the United States threatened to steal the headlines for themselves today as they met in a quarter-final round match in the national Women's Golf championship. For Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N. J., who writes for the New York Times, advancing to the fourth round in this type of competition. But it's a major thrill for Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Calif., who writes for the Press Telegram there. In addition to the Hicks-Orcutt feud, the pairings today sent Dot Kirby of Atlanta against Dorothy Traug of San Francisco; Charlotte Glutting, against Laddie Irwin, her New Jersey neighbor, and southern champion Marion Miley against Betty Jameson, the Texas tornado.

Yanks Need Only To Play .500 Ball To Take Flag

By SID SPERT Associated Press Writer This might be an open letter to Mr. Clark (Old Fox) Griffith, with copies to the other members of the "Mount the Yankees Cheering and Chowder society." But it isn't. It's simply by way of letting the folks know the crumbling Yanks, the club that was ready for the old men's home and didn't know it, are limping along again at a mere .300 clip since they were getting the "wakeup" ready two weeks ago. Or let's put it this way: by taking 12 of their last 15 games, the most recent a doubleheader sweep at 7-2 and 10-4 over the red hot Chicago White Sox yesterday, the Yanks are in a spot now where, by playing .500 ball the rest of the way in the Boston Red Sox could overtake them only by moving at a 730 pace. In the light of recent developments, it appears the parties of the second part in this fall's world series will be those not-so-happy Reds from Cincinnati. They tossed a row of goose-eggs at the Phillies yesterday for a 3-0 decision to climb 5 1/2 games in front of the National league while the St. Louis Cardinals lost their third straight to Brooklyn, 8-3. The surge of the Yankees is largely due to Joe DIMA gio, and twirlers Red Ruffing and Alley Donald, who turned in yesterday's wins. The double win boosted the Yanks eight full games in front of the Red Sox, who took their single game in St. Louis, 9-1, as Fritz Ostermueller tossed a four-hitter. Pitting masterpieces of the day was turned in by Salter Bill Ponder with a one-hitter, which gave the Boston Bees a 1-0 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Only Pop Yungers' scratch single spoiled the no-hitter. Deacon Danny MacFayden rattled the Blue bats, 3-1, in the nightcap for a sweep of the bill. Seven homers were hit in Detroit before the Athletics nipped the Tigers, 7-6 in 11 innings, in the only other American League game. The Chicago Cubs collected a dozen hits and trampled the weary New York Giants, 8-3.

Meyer Calls Ode Better Than Baugh

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 24.—(AP)—More over, Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien, you will have to make room on the Texas Christian's hero bench for Jack Ode—and it's your old coach, Leo R. (Dutch) Meyer, who says so. Meyer, who just has completed a three-day assignment as a coaching school instructor, says Ode is "the best of the trio." Ode is a 158-pound ball of fire who'll make everybody forget about O'Brien and Baugh." Meyer visions an even stronger offensive TCU team in 1939 than that which stormed through the Southwestern Conference last fall. The star Alpha Oriole sends mere heat to the earth than any other star.

Or let's put it this way: by taking 12 of their last 15 games, the most recent a doubleheader sweep at 7-2 and 10-4 over the red hot Chicago White Sox yesterday, the Yanks are in a spot now where, by playing .500 ball the rest of the way in the Boston Red Sox could overtake them only by moving at a 730 pace. In the light of recent developments, it appears the parties of the second part in this fall's world series will be those not-so-happy Reds from Cincinnati. They tossed a row of goose-eggs at the Phillies yesterday for a 3-0 decision to climb 5 1/2 games in front of the National league while the St. Louis Cardinals lost their third straight to Brooklyn, 8-3. The surge of the Yankees is largely due to Joe DIMA gio, and twirlers Red Ruffing and Alley Donald, who turned in yesterday's wins. The double win boosted the Yanks eight full games in front of the Red Sox, who took their single game in St. Louis, 9-1, as Fritz Ostermueller tossed a four-hitter. Pitting masterpieces of the day was turned in by Salter Bill Ponder with a one-hitter, which gave the Boston Bees a 1-0 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Only Pop Yungers' scratch single spoiled the no-hitter. Deacon Danny MacFayden rattled the Blue bats, 3-1, in the nightcap for a sweep of the bill. Seven homers were hit in Detroit before the Athletics nipped the Tigers, 7-6 in 11 innings, in the only other American League game. The Chicago Cubs collected a dozen hits and trampled the weary New York Giants, 8-3.

Meyer Calls Ode Better Than Baugh

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 24.—(AP)—More over, Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien, you will have to make room on the Texas Christian's hero bench for Jack Ode—and it's your old coach, Leo R. (Dutch) Meyer, who says so. Meyer, who just has completed a three-day assignment as a coaching school instructor, says Ode is "the best of the trio." Ode is a 158-pound ball of fire who'll make everybody forget about O'Brien and Baugh." Meyer visions an even stronger offensive TCU team in 1939 than that which stormed through the Southwestern Conference last fall. SERIAL STORY

Murder on the Boardwalk BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday Jasper escapes from the police and the others are allowed to go home. Bill tells Christine he saw Wilmer near the studio at 9:30, that Jasper was talking to him. Wilmer then disappeared. Was certain she knew Jasper.

CHAPTER X

"THEN," Christine said slowly, "if you're right, Bill—if he is skulking in the dark somewhere—and if he does kill some one else, I'll be well, a sort of accomplice, won't I—because I didn't tell the police who he was and have them lock him up?"

"Nonsense! Not telling all you know doesn't constitute you a criminal. If it did, most of us would spend a lot of time behind bars."

But in spite of Bill's light words, his voice was tense with worry.

A newsboy came along the Boardwalk shouting, "Wuxtry! Read all about it! Murder on the Boardwalk! Wuxtry! Wuxtry!"

Bill bought a copy. "Here's a good light," he said; and they stopped to read.

Most of the first two pages were devoted to the sensational murder of the wealthy and exclusive widow, Mrs. Emma Talbert.

All one of the items Christine stared with blanching cheeks. "You said awhile ago," she faltered at last, "that not telling all I knew didn't make me a criminal. . . . What would this make me?"

"An unknown person," the item read, "has mailed to this office a document purporting to be the will of Mrs. Emma Talbert. According to that will, the dead woman's entire fortune—except for a substantial bequest to the butler who has served her for years—is left to her only relative, Miss Christine Thorsen."

"It couldn't make you anything but what you are," Bill tried to say reassuringly, "sweet and good and honest."

A great deal of significance was attached to the footprints leading from the room to the bathroom, the booth where the body was found, one pair of which, police were reported to have said, had been identified as Mrs. Talbert's.

One item told of a strange seagull launch, which the Coast Guard lights had picked out, apparently drifting in from the sea or so off shore, directly opposite the booth where the tragedy had occurred. According to the newspaper, a detail from the Coast Guard had motored out and boarded it, only to find it abandoned.

A just-minute story told of the finding of the murdered woman's car, and the discovery in it of a hypodermic needle and a quantity of a powerful drug. "So the inspector's key did open the car," Christine said. "Key?" echoed Bill, who was frowning over the item.

In a moment he added, "Oh, those boys use car openers," but his voice sounded flat and strained.

ASIDE from the space given Jasper, Bill and Christine received the lion's share of publicity. Bill came off with flying colors. The impression conveyed was that he had pursued the killer along the beach in a heroic attempt to prevent the crime.

But Christine was horrified to find herself played up in lurid colors as the "Boardwalk Mystery Girl" . . . "WHY," one headline screamed, "WAS THE COUSIN OF THE WEALTHY MRS. TALBERT MASQUERADING ON THE BOARDWALK UNDER AN ASSUMED NAME?"

There was a gruesome description of the finding of the body, graphically contrasting Mrs. Talbert's rigidly cloistered life at exclusive Beachmont with the tawdry setting of her violent death.

Over that, Christine shed her first tears.

"Oh, Bill," she choked, her voice breaking at the stark pathos of it, "all these years she hasn't had any one but me, and I—I never really tried to be nice to her. . . . And now I haven't any one either."

Bill drew her to one of the benches that lined the Boardwalk and gathered her gently into his arms as if she had been a very little girl, and she sobbed against his shoulder until gradually she found relief.

Presently he said, close to her ear, "You've got me, Christine. You'll always have me—if you want me. . . . I didn't mean to tell you—not for months—because I didn't dare think you'd believe me. . . . I hardly believed myself that it could happen all at once that way. But this is what I've wanted from the first."

Because she had been so sure from the beginning that Bill was safe and wholesome as the fresh sea air and sunshine, and because she realized all of a sudden that this was what she had really wanted from the beginning, too, Christine did believe him, and clung to him as the one sure, sane refuge in a world suddenly gone insane.

And because this was Surf City, concerned first and only with its own interests, its own amusement, its own desires, the Boardwalk crowd eddied and passed without a backward glance.

At length Christine sat up, professing between tears and laughter, "Bill—all these people I couldn't have believed I'd ever do a thing like this."

And Bill said, a little unsteadily himself, "So far as you're concerned, we're not even here. . . . Anything could happen to any one on this Boardwalk, and no one else would even notice."

Later, in the crisis that rushed upon them with such cruel inevitability, Christine was to remember his words.

WHEN they finally reached Christine's door, Bill took her almost roughly into his arms again.

"I wish to God I didn't have to leave you alone," he said, his voice hoarse with trouble. "Promise me that you'll be careful, Christine—if you have any idea what the word means."

Once in her own room, Christine set systematically about the examination of her belongings.

I'm a superstitious fool, she thought in the release of her new happiness. But I've got to be sure that you'll be careful, Christine—if you have any idea what the word means."

She did the only other thing that occurred to her. Making sure that her rather flimsy door was locked, she pulled the heavy bureau in front of it, and went to bed.

Christine did not hope to sleep; but after a while she did.

She was hardly dressed next morning before she was summoned to the telephone. It was Bill calling.

"Bill," Christine said swiftly, "I've got to see you. Something—" "Listen!" Bill's voice was sharp, with warning. "Don't use words that mean anything over the telephone. You've probably got a reporter in each pocket. . . . And don't be worried when you read in the paper that the shoes of one William Yardley have been found to fit into one pair of footprints found by the police."

And the other pair, Christine remembered, were Cousin Emma's. (To Be Continued)

Drinking Driver Causes Most Road Deaths in Texas

AUSTIN, Aug. 24 (AP)—A skull and cross bones crown for the dubious distinction of individually causing the greatest number highway crash fatalities today was awarded the drinking driver by state police.

Analysis by statisticians of the highway patrol of causes of 699 deaths in Texas traffic the first six months of the year revealed drunks or those drinking while driving had been responsible for 24 per cent of highway fatalities and nearly 30 per cent of both country road and city street traffic deaths.

Second-highest cause of death by traffic mishap was excessive speed accounting for 16 per cent of the total.

Drinking pedestrians cause 2.4 per cent of the fatalities recorded. Classified by type of accidents, head-on collisions ranked first with 37 per cent on the highways and 18 per cent when urban traffic was added.

Accidents on the highways accounted for 384 or more than half of the total number of deaths. Of 174 pedestrians killed, only 64 were struck on the highways, the rest in city streets.

Drivers passing others without sufficient clearance, driving while fatigued or drowsy, driving on the wrong side of the road or operating with improper, blinding or no lights, were found to cause accidents, in the main, on highways and not in urban districts.

New Law May Halt Some Of Gasoline Tax Evasions

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
 AUSTIN, Aug. 23 (AP)—A week from tomorrow Texas will have a new weapon in its struggle to enforce its gasoline tax refund law, evasions of which have been cheating the state of thousands of dollars in revenue.
 A revision of the statute under which refunds are made of the four-cent tax on gasoline not used in motor vehicles driven on highways will go into effect September 1.
 Just how effective this new weapon will be not everyone agrees, but it is being polished, aimed and ready for action, and the man behind it, employees of the comptroller's department, are hoping for the best. At the same time, they are a bit skeptical.
 Rep. Augustine Celaya of Brownsville, chairman of a committee of the House of Representatives, is optimistic. He thinks the revisions made at the recent general session of the legislature will prove to be just what the doctor ordered.
TAX EVASIONS ARE WIDESPREAD
 "There is little doubt evasions are widespread," Celaya said here yesterday. "The committee found evidence to support this statement. We do not know how much the state has been losing but the amount is large. The new law should be a big help."
 Comptroller's attaches reported refunds for the fiscal year ending August 31 would probably total in excess of $7,000,000, or about 14 per cent of the gross gasoline tax revenue, estimated at approximately $52,000,000.
 The amount of refunds has been growing from year to year, totaling $3,143,444 in 1933-34, but the gross tax collected likewise has been increasing, in that year being $33,979,000. The percentage of tax refunds with relation to gross tax collected shows increases of nine to 15 from 1933-34 to 1938-39.

GASOLINE DEALERS TO BE LICENSED

The revisions in the statute provide for licensing dealers who sell gasoline refunds, for the state's furnishing the forms for refund claims and for filing exemption claims on each delivery of gasoline.
 To sell refund gasoline a dealer must get a permit from the comptroller and give considerable information on his business and activities. He must also swear that he will comply with the law and rules and regulations promulgated under it.
 A dealer's license may be revoked if he violates the law and he will be unable thereafter to sell gasoline on which refunds may be claimed.
 The comptroller's department estimates about 7,000 dealers will qualify, out of 30,000 to 35,000 in the state who under the present law may sell tax exempt gasoline.
 Still another device to catch violators will be serial numbers on claim books. Dealers will have to account for numbers issued them, and if they are unable to do so new books will not be issued.
EXPERT SAYS TAX PLAN INADEQUATE
 "The new plan is good but it does not go far enough," said a state tax expert. "It would have been a help to color the gasoline, as it is done successfully in New Mexico and Mississippi. Color would force people to keep the refund gasoline separate and lead to detection."
 "We should require users of refund gasoline to specify machinery in which the gasoline will be used, and location and size of the farms.

Oil Shutdown Bolsters Move For U. S. Control Of Industry

Users also should pay a registration fee.
 "Most important of all, the enforcement staff would be larger. Texas is a very big state."
 "We have made a forward step," he said, "but I do not expect any sensational results."
 Virtually 85 per cent of refund gasoline is used in farm machinery, especially tractors, the comptroller's department reported.
 Some evasions have been by collusion of dealer and the purchaser who claim more gasoline was sold than actually was the case, thereby obtaining a larger refund. This is pure fraud.
 There have probably been more violations in the use of refund gasoline in automobiles.

Throughout the southwest oilmen are closing valves, cutting off about 2,000,000 barrels of oil daily in an attempt to stabilize the falling price of crude oil to the producer.

AFL Treacherous To Workers, Avers CIO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—The CIO contended today that American Federation of Labor proposals to revise the Wagner labor act constitute an act of deepest treachery to the workers of this country.
 The assertion was contained in a statement by Lee Pressman, CIO general counsel, and was submitted to the Senate labor committee as a supplement to previous CIO testimony in opposition to changes in the labor law.
 Among other things, the AFL amendments would curtail power of the national labor board to invalidate contracts between employers and labor organizations and would strengthen the hand of craft unions in dealings with the board.
 The statement conceded the Wagner act protects only workers and not employers, but added: "The employer's abuse of his power over the worker's job was the evil the act was designed to correct."

Writing Own Ticket

CENTRALIA, Ill., Aug. 24 (AP)—C. E. Brantley, a traffic officer assigned to enforce the city's two-hour parking ordinance, wrote out a ticket for an offender.
 The license number seemed vaguely familiar. He looked inside the car. It was his own.
 "The favorite dish of Siamese aristocrats is the deadly king cobra, poached in white wine sauce."

By WILLIS THORNTON NEA Service Staff Writer

The spectacular shutdown of southwestern oil wells by order of state governments is being watched more closely by several pairs of observant eyes than it is by the public generally.
 John Q. Public knows that there are nearly six weeks' supply of refined gasoline in storage and enough crude oil for almost another three months. He knows he could stagger along for four months or so even if not a single barrel of oil were produced.
 So he doesn't worry about a shortage as yet.
 But there are other eyes watching the southwestern situation more closely. Some of them belong to Congressman W. P. Cole's sub-committee of the House Interstate Commerce Committee. This is the primary congressional committee on oil, and one of the last acts of the expiring Congress was to charge it with an investigation of the oil industry.
 It is to report to the new Congress in January, where its findings will be brought to bear on a bill proposed by President Roosevelt just before the end of the last Congress for federal control of the entire oil industry in the interest of conservation.
ICKES BACKS REGULATION MOVE
 The other pair of eyes, twinkling in this case, belong to Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, who attempted oil control under the NRA and has been an active proponent of it ever since.
 The southwestern shutdown is, in part at least, a contest between states like Texas and Oklahoma which have provision, and states like California and Illinois which do not. The present controversy, though its roots go deep, began June 14, when Harry Sinclair attempted to lead all retail gasoline prices upward by announcing a price rise.
 He told the public that at present gasoline prices there isn't any money in it for refiners and distributors. Some of the larger companies failed to follow the Sinclair price upward, and he was compelling to take the other task of reducing the price of crude oil to the producer.
 It was easier to get followers for this lead, and the mid-continent shut-down is an effort to focus attention on the low price of crude and try to force it upward again.

Arkansas Impounds Lion Company Oil

EL DORADO, Ark., Aug. 24 (AP)—Attorneys for the Lion Oil Refining company today awaited release of a written chancellor's opinion before preparing an appeal to the state supreme court from a ruling upholding the Arkansas oil and gas commission shutdown order.
 Having ruled orally for the commission yesterday in the first court test of the crude oil production holiday in six midwestern and southern states, Chancellor W. A. Speer worked today on an exhaustive written opinion covering his decision.
 Pending disposition of the appeal, the commission held impounded in

Labor Day Trips To Cost One Cent Mile

A ticket rate of approximately one cent a mile is offered by the Santa Fe Railway company to travelers who expect to make trips during the Labor day celebrations or to make a week-end visit.
 Tickets are on sale between points in Texas and to destinations in Louisiana for trains that are scheduled to arrive at destination September 2, 3, and prior to noon September 4 at one-way coach fare plus 25 cents for the round trip.
 This means that 25 cents additional plus the one-way fare will pay the entire cost of transportation, on the dates and under the conditions specified.
 The rate is good in coaches and chair cars only and must be on trains that reach starting point prior to midnight, September 6.

State Department Seeks Trade Pact With Argentina

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—The state department announced today its intention of negotiating a trade agreement with Argentina.
 Overcoming difficulties which have hindered Argentine-United States commerce in recent years, the governments have agreed to undertake formulation of the first comprehensive commercial arrangement between them since the present treaty of commerce was reached in 1855.
 Argentina meat, around which much controversy has raged since they were excluded on sanitary grounds from this country is not among the products to be embraced in the trade agreement.

Pioneer Quana Resident Succumbs

QUANA, Aug. 24 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here Tuesday for Fred Chase, 80, pioneer Quana resident and widely known former newspaperman.
 In 1891, Chase came here as a partner of Harry Koch, publisher. A year later he went to Galveston to become business manager of the Tribune. Later Chase published a paper in San Antonio and returned here in 1909 to publish the Quana Observer until 1915 when he retired. In recent years he had engaged in the oil leasing business.
 Born in Portland, Me., Chase is survived by his widow.

List Of Teachers Will Be Announced Monday By Board

Names of all teachers in the Pampa Independent School district are expected to be released following a meeting of the board Monday, at which time the complete list is to be prepared, giving names of all teachers at Pampa High school, junior high school, Woodrow Wilson, Horace Mann, Sam Houston, B. M. Baker, and the negro school.
 Enrollment at Holy Souls Catholic school will start on Tuesday, September 5, with class work beginning the next day. There were 130 pupils attending the school last year. The faculty is composed of Sister Justin, the mother superior, and Sisters Catherine of Sienna, Althea, Placido, and Adelaide.
