Oklahoman Jailed In Fiery Death Of Wife

Insurance On Wife, 3 Sons Paid Father

Second Mate Died Screaming Year Ago At Durant

DURANT, Okla., Aug. 19 (AP)—Stooped, quiet John O. Story, 60-year-old soap peddler, was in an undisclosed Oklahoma jail tonight accused of murdering his second wife who died screaming in a flaming smokehouse a year ago.

County Attorney Bill Steger said the sandy-haired Story collected $21,460 on her death.

The prosecutor said officials had been informed of the violent deaths of three sons of Story in three different states. On each, he added, the father held policies averaging over $1,000.

All four victims were members of burial associations, Steger said. Story himself has had four accidents, on two of which he collected insurance, and "has owned homes in every town in which he has lived and had fires covered by insurance," the county attorney declared.

Three Sons Survive

The mustached peddler's insurance purchases extend also to his three surviving sons, Steger added. Two of them with $1,000 double indemnity policies and the third with $224 double indemnity.

Story, arrested Thursday at De Queen, Ark., declared the four deaths were accidental and talked freely of them as such.

Derailement Injures 17 On Crack Train

CHATSWORTH, N. J., Aug. 19 (AP)—Seventeen persons were injured late today, three of them seriously, when the "Blue Comet," crack Central Railroad of New Jersey Atlantic City-New York Flier, was derailed in Southern New Jersey's pine wilderness during a heavy rainstorm.

Most of them were in the observation car, last of five which leaped the rails, and were pitched back and forth with furniture as the cars bounced 50 feet down the ties before breaking loose from the locomotive.

On either side was a drainage ditch for a cranberry bog. Cars tilted at dizzy angles, but none went over.

Rescue squads from a score of communities in four neighboring counties had to carry the injured three miles along the tracks to this crossroads community. Uninjured passengers, after spending two to four hours in the derailed coaches to escape the downpour, had to lug their baggage the same distance to meet a relief train, prevented from coming to them by the Blue Comet's locomotive, which was stalled with a derailed tender a mile beyond the coaches.

Mrs. Theodore Teich of Newark, riding in the dining car with her husband, said "it seemed as if everything piled on top of us."

Forty-nine passengers were reported on the train. Several women

Convict Kills Nurse And Wounds Doctor

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 19 (AP)—An injured convict killed a nurse and wounded a doctor and a guard today in a thwarted break for freedom at Good Samaritan hospital.

Mrs. Hattie Hooker, 60, died a few minutes after a bullet smashed her jaw. Detective William Peters said it was fired by Hulen Presley, 24-year-old Washington state fugitive.

Band To Lead Delegation To Birthday Fete

Schulkey Urges Many Pampanos To Go To Perryton.

Ochiltree county will hold its Golden Jubilee party and Perryton will observe its 20th birthday on Tuesday and Dr. C. H. Schulkey and his Pampa Chamber of Commerce goodwill committee are planning on leading the largest delegation of any Panhandle city to the big party at Perryton.

The combined High school and Junior high school band will be there, under direction of A. C. Cox, and will march in the gigantic parade at 10:30 o'clock and play at the massed band concert at 11:30 o'clock on the courthouse lawn.

"We want every man, woman and child who can possibly get away to meet at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock sharp and join the caravan to Perryton," said Dr. Schulkey. "We'll be disappointed if we can't have at least 100 from Pampa at the party."

Good roads boosters of Pampa are planning on attending the party and talking with road builders of Perryton regarding a north-south road between the two cities and Miami.

The celebration will open with an historical parade at 10:30 a. m. Prizes amounting to $110 will be awarded winners. The massed band concert will follow.

Hopis Will Dance With Rattlesnakes In Their Mouths

MISHONGNOVI, ARIZ., Aug. 19 (AP)—Fasting and praying in their subterranean kivas today were the Hopi snake priests, who at sundown Wednesday will dance with their little brothers, the rattlesnakes, then dispatch them to the tribal gods with supplications for rain.

The tribesmen are placing desperate hopes in their weird, impressive snake dance, for Hopiland is in the grip of the worst drought in 20 years.

100,000 Germans On Polish Border

(By The Associated Press)

Signs of a decisive turn of events soon multiplied yesterday (Saturday) in unsettled Europe.

While Pope Pius XII voiced a new appeal for peace, these highlights pointed to tense days ahead in the old world:

1. Germany had nearly 100,000 troops strung along the Polish border.

2. Gradual mobilization of Slovakia's army, pledged to "cooperation" with Germany, was in progress.

3. A meeting of key ministers of the British Cabinet was called for Tuesday.

4. The controlled German press heaped fresh scorn on Poland, insisting that she come to terms on Adolf Hitler's demands for possession of Danzig.

It seemed to a neutral observer in Berlin that everybody in authority all over Europe was hoping the nerves of the other fellow would crack first. How long that condition could endure was anybody's guess.

Pope Pius, addressing more than 2,000 Italian pilgrims at his Castel Gandolfo summer home, said he maintained his trust that those who govern nations would refrain from an "appeal to force."

He kept his hope, he said, that "feelings of moderation and objectivity would serve to avert a conflict," and he recalled his own efforts to prevent war since his election in March.

A short while later the Pope received James A. Farley, United States postmaster general. After the audience Farley said he was convinced of the pontiff's anxiety for world peace.

Can America Prevent War In Europe?

By ANDRUE READING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—As Europe seems nearing another crisis, many men in high places here are again asking themselves, "Is there anything on earth we can do to stop it?"

One of the most important officials in the direction of foreign policy to the writer, "there are still several ways open to us."

But what are they? Another appeal for peace? President Roosevelt has made no fewer than three appeals for peace to Chancellor Hitler in the last 11 months.

Could there be a call for an international conference? But the idea of a conference to settle a crisis has now assumed unpleasant overtones after Munich. It smacks too much of "appeasement" of "selling someone out to the river."

Besides, President Roosevelt suggests

EPITHETS HURLED IN BITTER BUND QUIZ

Routine questioning nearly turned to violence as Dies committee on un-American activities opened Washington summer session. Representative Joe Starnes of Alabama, left, asked Fritz Kuhn if he believed that those who govern nations would refrain from an "appeal to force."

right, Starnes leaped to his feet, advanced "You can't call me a liar," he belted. But reporters, other committee members cooled them off.

Community Picnic To Be Held In Big Creek Grove East Of Borger

It's an old American custom that will be exemplified when the third annual community picnic sponsored by the Kerley-Grossman American Legion post 334 of Pampa, is held in a grove seven miles east of Borger, on Labor day, Monday, September 4.

Purpose of the annual affair is to bring together the citizens of the Top O' Texas area in a neighborly goodwill gathering for the sole purpose of a friendly, social good time for all, especially for the children.

15,000 Attended 28 Picnic

There were 11,000 persons who attended the community picnic held in 1937 near LeFors. Last year 15,000 were present at the picnic held near Miami. This year a site has been selected near Borger, five miles closer to Pampa than the picnic spot in 1938.

One of the reasons for selecting a location near Borger was the recognition of the completion of the 20.37-mile paved road connecting Pampa and Borger. The picnic site is in a grove that is claimed to be the biggest the committee members could find in the entire Panhandle. It is located on an 80-acre tract, one-half mile south of the Pampa-Borger road from Texroy. There is sufficient parking space on level ground for 5,000 automobiles.

Fire Destroys Derrick Floor Near Pampa

Lightning, accompanying a 70-inch rainstorm in Pampa early Saturday morning, struck a Magnolia oil well on the J. J. Wall lease, four miles west of Pampa on the Pampa-Borger road, causing a fire that burned out the derrick floor.

The lightning struck the belt hall about 12:30 o'clock. A quantity of gas under the floor of the derrick ignited. Some of the rig timbers were destroyed by the blaze.

A crew of six magnolia employees, including Supt. J. R. Posey and L. E. Jones, farm boss, contained water from a well and had the fire out two and a half hours after the blaze started. A man was kept on duty at the well all night.

At midnight Friday the Pampa fire department was called to put out fire at the Pampa Lubrication company on West Brown street. Damage from smoke was the only loss. Firemen attributed the blaze to a possible short in the wiring of a battery charger.

The showers here early yesterday pushed the precipitation for the month to 2.62 inches. It was the fifth and heaviest rainfall of any single date thus far this month. Rainfall for the year to date totals 37.11 inches.

El Paso Masons To Confer Third Degree Tomorrow

A degree team of thirty-third degree Masons from Scottish Rite Cathedral in El Paso will be in Pampa Monday night to confer the third degree for the Pampa lodge.

The meeting will be held in the High school gymnasium. Lodge will be opened at 8 o'clock by Worshipful Master C. F. Jones.

The five El Paso men are driving to Pampa and will arrive here on Monday afternoon. Members of the degree team are E. A. Wells, secretary of the El Paso Scottish Rite bodies; F. F. Klohs, executive secretary of the El Paso Community chest; O. J. Allen, manager of the Globe Pico Manufacturing company; W. M. Stockwell, secretary of Fraternity lodge No. 1111, AP & AM; W. L. Slaughter, president of the Slaughter Electric and Machine company.

Every Master Mason in this section, in good standing, is invited to attend the meeting.

"It is seldom that a lodge is honored by a visit from such a distinguished group of men and we are anxious to have a large turnout for the meeting," Mr. Jones said in announcing the coming of the El Paso men.

Sadler And Thompson Assail Ickes' Threat

AUSTIN, Aug. 19 (AP)—Announcement that the production allowance to the big East Texas field would be boosted in the next proration order and a reply by two members of the State Railroad commission to Harold L. Ickes, Federal Secretary of the Interior, highlighted developments today on the Texas capital oil front.

Commission Chairman Lon A. Smith and member Jerry Sadler said recent federal court decisions would compel an increase in the East Texas allowable, and production of other districts would be lowered to offset the increase.

The Railroad commission has appealed from these decisions but a circuit court hearing is not scheduled until October 2.

"We want to hear evidence at the statewide proration hearing August 28," said Smith and Sadler, "as to whether or not various allowables can be reduced in order to stay within the Bureau of Mines estimate for market demand. In view of existing court decisions we have your tires balanced the scientific way. Dixie Tire Co. Ph. 101.

Airplane Crash In Street Kills Pilot

MT. VERNON, Wash., Aug. 19 (AP)—Ceryl T. Hubert, 39-year-old Portland pilot, died in a Mt. Vernon hospital late today following the crash of his light plane on a residential street.

His flying companion, Miss Irene Courton, 30, of Brush Prairie, Wash., was in the hospital with multiple injuries. Her physician said she had a "fair" chance for recovery.

G. M. Matson, of Mt. Vernon, said Hubert and Miss Courton were en route from Portland to East Stanwood, where Miss Courton was to have visited the flier's fiancée. Matson said Hubert swung low over Mt. Vernon and asked that he be met at the East Stanwood airport. Just as he straightened out his plane to continue the flight, the ship crashed.

Borger Underpass Partly Completed

All of the sub-structure of a 350-foot-long overpass on Texas Highway 117, one mile south of Borger, has been poured, with the exception of one pier, J. C. Dingwall of Pampa, Texas Highway department engineer said Saturday.

Mr. Dingwall supervised work on the overpass after he had finished an assignment of a seven-weeks course for department engineers at Austin.

Work on the seven-span overpass started in early July and the overpass is due to be completed by November 1. The structure will have a 22-foot clearance. There are 70 men employed on the project.

Grabek Gives Up 3 Hits As Oilers Win 4-0

Doubleheader To Be Played Here Today

The Pampa Oilers, with one victory over the Lubbock Hubbers under their belts, will cross bats with the league leaders in a doubleheader here this afternoon, the first game called at 3:30 o'clock.

This afternoon's games will not be broadcast. The first game will be over the usual nine-inning route with the second game seven innings by agreement.

Last night the stands at Road Runner park were filled to overflowing with a Ladies night crowd.

Another large crowd is expected this afternoon as the games will be the last this season for the Hubbers and the Oilers, unless they meet in the playoff.

The Oilers opened the scoring in the fourth when Gordon Hill, first up, got on base by being hit. Lloyd Summers then blasted one of Bridwell's pet pitches over the left field fence.

Two In Eighth Two more runs crossed the plate in the eighth after Seitz had gone out. Neil came through with a single and Summers crashed out a double. Malvia singled to score Neil and Summers was trapped between third and home on some bad base running.

Jordan came through with a single that scored Malvia. Grabek was safe on an error but Grabek ended the rally by going out on an infield play.

Bailey and Malvia followed Summers in the slugging department, Bailey bagging a triple and Malvia coming through with a double and single.

The score might have been much greater except for some poor base running. In the third Bailey was rapped off second when Grabek hit a fly to first in attempting to sacrifice. Bailey took too great a lead and was caught in a double play.

In the same inning Sparito made third easy but stepped off the base and was tagged.

Six Hubbers Fanned Grabek, although in trouble in several innings, pitched a masterful game. He fanned six Lubbock sluggers and walked only two, one of them intentionally. Zorko got two of the Lubbock hits. Carr got the other, a drive off Jordan's shin on a hard hit ball.

The Malvia to Sparito to Bailey double play combination went into action to take Grabek out of a bad hole.

The Oiler victory pulled the league leaders down to within five games of them.

Campbell Sets New Speed Mark

CONISTON, England, Aug. 19 (AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell slammed Bluebird II's blunt snout over the placid waters of Lake Coniston to a world motorboat speed record today, an achievement which brought him to the threshold of a new era in water speed.

The huge silver sled averaged 141.74 miles per hour on two trips over the measured mile, shattering Sir Malcolm's own record by 10.81 miles per hour. The engine was a seven-year-old Rolls Royce product, a fact that makes the wholesale pounding of miles into minutes even more remarkable.

She covered the southward run over the mile in 25.2 seconds and hit a top speed of 142.85 m.p.h. or 124.06 knots. Campbell swung her through a smooth semicircle and back she came, this time in 25.6 seconds and 140.62 m.p.h. or 122.12 knots.

It was a businesslike performance. Mechanics who had worked all night changing the position of the intake for the water cooler had led her out to the start just after 10:30 a. m.

An hour later Campbell swaggered through a crowd of bung-eyed yokels and was rowed out. He got in, a tiny white figure against the dull silver of the boat, and a moment later the motor thundered to life.

Five minutes later Sir Malcolm's son came down the course in a motor boat to hallow "Dad's" done it. He's broken the record" to waiting newspapermen.

750 Texas Mules Sail For Turkey

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19 (AP)—Seven hundred and fifty young mules from Texas left here today on a month's sea voyage in air-conditioned comfort to join the Turkish army.

The braying cargo, first of its kind out of New Orleans since the World War, slipped down the Mississippi river shortly after 5 p. m. aboard the Lykes Brothers freighter Scottsburg, which is coming back for 750 more animals as soon as the present cargo is unloaded in Istanbul.

Despite the twenty ventilating fans installed on the ship especially for today's cargo, the voyage won't exactly be a cruise, for the animals must remain standing, packed tight four in a pen nose to hip, until the ship docks. But there was a medical hospital and a veterinarian on board to take care of any developing sickness or otherwise imposed.

The purchaser was the Turkish Ministry of National Defense which sent Kemal Aran of the Turkish Bank of Commerce and Major Siki Guner, Turkish government inspector, to the United States to buy the mules, and who will remain to pick the second shipment.

O'Brien Will Pitch Against Pro Packers

DALLAS, Aug. 19 (AP)—Football's oak knob durable, 150-pound Dave O'Brien today signed with the Southwest Collegians for their Labor day charity game here against the professional Green Bay Packers.

Thus, the All-America kid who took Texas Christian University through an undefeated season last year and riveted them to the nation's No. 1 spot with a Sugar Bowl triumph over Carnegie Tech, gave the Southwesterners two of football's best passers.

Spindly-legged Billy Patterson, formerly of Baylor but now chief reliance of the Chicago Bears, had previously signed. The two youngsters, through three years of Southwest Conference competition, passed, kicked and punned against each other in the sector's top rivalry.

To come back "home" and pitch once more, O'Brien must go through a rather fantastic schedule. He will play with the college stars at Chicago Aug. 30 against the New York Giants, skip over to Hershey, Pa., on the night of Sept. 2 to play with the professional Philadelphia Eagles, and then fly here for the Sept. 4 date.

Coaches Lou Meyer of Texas Christian and Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, who will pilot the Collegians here, didn't worry about Dave Meyer's famed passing plays from three years of engineering them and has been muddled all the new puzzles Bell and Meyer have cooked up since last season.

One of the stoutest lines yet assembled in the Southwest will front the dream backfield. Ed Aldrich, Texas Christian's All-American center, tackles I. B. Hale and Allie White of Texas Christian; Guards Jack Rhoads of Texas and Forrest Klime of Texas Christian and ends Sam Boy of Baylor and Bill Dewell of Southern Methodist, form the line.

Others in the flock are: Ends—Gene Hodge, East Texas Teachers; Bruno Schroeder, Texas A. and M.; John Widaman, Indiana. Tackles—Jesse Hines, Rice and Riley Matheson, Texas School of Mines. Guards—George Sanders, SMU, Clifford Mathess, SMU, and George Griggs, East Texas Teachers.

Cotton Prices Still Dropping

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Cotton prices declined for the third day in a row as the Agricultural Department said today, reporting an average price for a spot market of 8.95 cents for a pound of middling at 3/4 inch cotton.

Sales at spot markets were more active, exports relatively small, and mill activity well maintained during the week.

The survey said the 10-market average for the week ended August 18 compared with 9.20 cents last week and 8.28 cents a year ago.

Exports of 90,000 bales in the 10 markets were larger than the preceding week, 59,000, and the same week last season 30,000. Sales for the season, August 1 to August 18, of 19,100 bales were larger than the same period last year, 18,400, but less than the 216,000 bales sold two years ago.

Exports of 118,000 bales from August 1 to August 17 compared with 134,000 bales a year ago. However, Secretary Wallace announced that agreements had been made to pay for new government cotton export subsidy of $7.50 a bale on more than 600,000 bales.

Stocks of American cotton in European ports were reported usually low. On August 17 they totaled 263,000 bales, as against 1,086,000 bales a year earlier and the recent five-year average of 710,000 bales.

Stocks of American cotton at Japanese ports also were small.

District Softball Tourney To Be Held In Amarillo

For the first time in four years Pampa will not be the softball center of the Panhandle. Jack Beck, commissioner of softball for the Panhandle, announced yesterday that the district tournament for men's teams would not be held in Pampa this year.

"We have no location for staging the tournament," Commissioner Beck announced. "Our diamond at Recreation park is being flooded every day while WPA workers are painting the grandstand and laying sidewalks and we are unable to play at night so it's impossible to hold the tournament this year."

Amarillo softball officials called Commissioner Beck yesterday afternoon and asked permission to stage the tournament in that city. The request was granted and if enough teams enter, the district meet will be staged in Amarillo.

Eight teams have been competing in the Jaycee softball league here but no winner has yet been declared as team managers failed to turn in scores to the league statistician. An effort may be made to hold a playoff later in the season.

Texas League

Shreveport Loses 6-5 BEAUMONT, Aug. 19 (AP)—Quinn Lee pitched clever ball today and the Explorers defeated Shreveport 6 to 5 in ten innings to open the series. Lee struck out nine and allowed nine hits, one of which was Easterling's score-tying homer in the eighth with one aboard. Mullin hit for the circuit, for Beaumont in the first and drove over four runs during the game. The loss was charged to Jack Brillheart, third, Shreveport pitcher, although the deciding tally was unearned.

HOUSTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Edward Pyle, left-hander, had control tonight and he bested Red Barrett in a brilliant mound duel as San Antonio scored a 1 to 0 win in the series opener to halt the Buff winning streak at 11 straight games.

SADLER SHOW BACK IN CITY

Harley Sadler, above, Texas showman, is bringing his tent theater to Pampa for a four-night engagement starting Monday night, August 28, under the auspices of the American Legion. The big tent will be located opposite the American Legion but all new plays and vaudeville will be presented. Henry, world-famed artist and magician, is featured, and other acts are Jeanne Layne, acrobatic dancer, Eddie LaVerne, acrobaticist, the Farrer twins, radio and recording artists, the Musical Bathers, eccentric musicians, Billy Heath singer, Gloria Seidler, singer and dancer, Virginia Goodman, blues singer and a 10-piece orchestra under the direction of Bob Siler. Many new faces are in the cast and the special scenery and lighting effects are carried for each play. No doubt, large audiences will meet this popular tent organization during their engagement in Pampa.

Texan Owns Rare Indian Collection

TEMPLE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Stored in shoe boxes and sacks is one of the rarest collections of Indian relics in Central Texas. It belongs to Louis Fry of Palo Alto, west of Killeen.

Within these humble receptacles rest a flint, Maltese cross, said to be one of the two in the world, the second being at the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, a flint, flint blade, a flint war club and a hammer, a steel arrowpoint, Indian war paint, pottery, arrowheads and spearheads, and a maulstone used to draw venom from flesh.

Fry's best find in many years of hunting and digging into mounds is an Indian skeleton. Around the neck was a strand of fish-scale beads and under his head a Spanish Bible, a Catholic cross and a flat rock upon which were inscribed strange hieroglyphics.

Ora, W. Beverly of Copperas Cove and books on Indian writings have been by Fry in trying to decipher the message. So fine is the writing on the rock that a magnifying glass must be used. With it can be deciphered the picture of an Indian, a history of seven Indian priests and locations of their burial places.

According to the writing, one of the burial places is 140 miles south of where the stone was found. Fry intends some day to look for it.

EVERY BOY ELIGIBLE TO PLAY

Harvester football or basketball this year is asked to meet Coach Odus Mitchell at the high school gymnasium Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Interscholastic league rules in effect this year does not allow issuance of equipment or practice before September 1. Because of the late starting date, Coach Mitchell wants to meet his boys in advance and give them instructions for reporting for practice.

Suits and other equipment will be taken up. School will not open until September 1 and first practice will be called one hour later.

Plans call for morning and afternoon workouts through September 7, excepting Sunday, when classes will take up. School will not open until September 5 and it will take two or three days to register students.

The Harvesters, who will start the season with only three regulars back from last season, will play their first game on September 15 in Vernon. On September 22 they'll be in Casper, Wyo., for a game. They'll return home the following week for a game with Central of Oklahoma City.

Coach Mitchell has just returned from Houston where he attended the Texas High School Coaches association school. Previous to that school he attended one in San Antonio. Assistant Coach J. C. Freeman will be on hand for the opening practice.

Recknagle To Play In Second Round Of Tennis Tourney

Leo Recknagle drew a bye in the first round of play in the West Texas-New Mexico Tennis tournament yesterday in Clevis and will meet Curt Crane of Amarillo Sunday morning.

Harry Jameison, other Pampa player in the tournament, lost to Ralph Board of Hobbs.

The Pampans paired to defeat McKinney and Whitesides of Clevis in the morning but lost their second round match to Utterback and Jordan, Amarillo champions.

Quota System Washed Up By Immigration Tide

Because the world today is such a different world from that of 1924, the immigration quota system enacted at that time is having unexpected effects. When the quota system was proposed, the background was roughly this: Congress apparently felt that immigration in the early 1900's was overly weighted with people from the south and southeast of Europe.

For some years it appeared to work fairly well toward the end goal. Then came the depression. Immigration stopped almost entirely. During the first few years of business depression, almost no country filled its allowable quota, and for a time there was even a flow of the immigrant tide back to Europe.

Then the dictators tightened their grip on several European countries, and organized religious and racial persecution as a state policy began to appear. Instantly the applications for immigration visas from the countries affected began to rise. So today we have a curious situation in regard to immigration, one not imagined by those who framed the law of 1924.

This makes it clear that the basic immigration act of 1924 is no longer a suitable basis for an immigration policy. When the working of an act is such as to bring about a result contrary to the purposes of the act, it is time somebody suggests restudy and re-drafting of the law.

A TAX ON THE POOR (Chicago Tribune) The price of milk has just been raised in New York. That is the New Deal's present to the New York poor. In March the federal court there threw out a New Deal milk control law in New York. Before the decision, when the control was operative, milk sold at 13 1/2 cents a quart. Shortly afterward the price dropped to 11 cents. The difference, 2 1/2 cents a quart, is the tax which the New Deal had imposed upon the consumers in New York.

In June the Supreme court in Washington reversed the lower court. Now the New Deal controls are again operative and the price of milk has again been raised to 13 cents. We are in the period of maximum milk production, when an increase in price could be imposed only by artificial means. The New Deal has these means at its disposal and the tax on the poor has been reinstated.

This record may well be placed beside the President's oft-repeated claim that he is primarily interested in improving the lot of the ill-fated one-third of the population. That is what he says but in New York as in all the other places where the New Deal has intervened in the milk business, the interference has meant higher prices and therefore less fresh milk for the poor. If this deprivation worked a permanent improvement in the situation of the dairy farmers, they, at least, could approve it on selfish grounds. But in fact nobody benefits except the bureaucrats who get the jobs. The farmers exchange a brief temporary improvement of a permanent injury. The higher price for milk results in lessened consumption of bottled milk and that means larger surpluses of milk to be sold by the farmers at unprofitable prices to condenseries, ice cream manufacturers, creameries, etc.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

CRITICIZE EMPLOYERS One hears very frequently nowadays men say that the unions have gone too far but it is due to the employers taking advantage of labor in the past.

When these people are asked what they mean by taking advantage they invariably say that they do not pay them what they are worth. When asked how they should determine what they are worth, they invariably say that they do not pay them a living wage. In short, when they say the employer did not pay them what they are worth, they are vague and have no practical idea of knowing what they are worth.

It is true, of course, that shortsighted employers have taken advantage of workers temporarily. This, however, soon reacts on the employer and it makes his labor cost higher than if he had tried to pay his men on a strictly competitive basis. So, this shortsightedness or temporary injustice to the worker is corrected in the natural way and there is no need of collective bargaining to correct it. There is no way of determining what any worker is worth other than an approach to a free market. Labor unions certainly are the exact antithesis of a free market. Their whole purpose is to eliminate a free market and to get more for what they produce than hundreds of thousands of other people are willing and able to perform the same service for.

So if no one can even think through a plan of collective bargaining that will benefit all workers it certainly seems absurd and foolish to be giving lip service and trying to put into operation something that even in theory cannot be rationalized and explained. It is simply the blind leading the blind by blind faith. It has always been very costly.

362,000 NEW FEDERAL EMPLOYEES When one remembers the speeches made by Roosevelt in his '32 campaign about the importance of economy and what effect it would have on returning to prosperity, one is shocked with the fact that during the Roosevelt Administration there have been 362,000 new jobholders added to the federal payroll; that there are now more people working for the Federal Government than any time in the nation's history, even including the war period. The total number is now 925,000, not including the army, the navy and the judicial and legislative branches, or persons on relief. When Roosevelt took office, the figure was 563,000 a net gain of 362,000.

Among the calamities of war may be justly numbered the diminution of the love of truth by the falsehoods which interest dictates and credulity encourages. A peace will equally leave the warrior and the reeler of wars destitute of employment; and I know not whether more is to be dreaded from streets filled with soldiers accustomed to plunder, or from garrets filled with scribblers accustomed to lie.—Samuel Johnson.

Behind The News Of The Day

WASHINGTON—Frank McHale, presidential campaign manager for Paul V. McNutt, is not even missing small bits for support in 1940. Somebody tipped him off that Senator Bone of Washington was born in Franklin, Ind., which is McNutt's home town. "Of course you will support a fellow townsman," he wrote to Senator Bone.

The power-hating senator from Washington enjoyed the "touch." But maybe McNutt as a boy did not have "that commanding personality" which his friends say now distinguishes him. Anyway, Bone doesn't remember him. One of the troubles with the administration's spending-lending bill was that it had too many aliases, none of which quite explained what it was. "Self-liquidating projects bill," was one; "Works financing bill" another. More commonly it was known as the "Spending-Lending bill." Foes combined these words into horrendous "Spending."

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishburn Since science has learned that human beings may be sensitive to all sorts of proteins, we have found that some people react much more than others to insect bites. We know that there is such sensitivity and that sometimes the response to the bite of a fly or the sting of a bee or wasp is far more serious in some people than in others. Not long ago a woman was bitten by a deer fly while in the woods in upper New York state. Following these bites, she became subject to blisters which appeared all over her body. The condition is called urticaria. Insect bites have been known to cause prolonged urticaria in some people. Even deaths have been reported from this cause. The reactions have occurred not only after the bite of deer flies, and the sting of bees and wasps, but also after the bites of mosquitoes, fleas, bedbugs, and sand flies. Experts in allergy, or in the treatment of desensitize patients to such bites by injecting them with extracts of the insects concerned. These extracts have been made of bee venom, of bodies of mosquitoes, and of other insect species. Unfortunately the results are not curative in every instance. One report showed that of 25 people who were injected with bee venom extract, 15 were completely relieved, and six others improved. People may be sensitive to the sting of one insect, but not to that of others in the same family. An instance is reported in which a man was stung by a hornet when he was 12 years old and was unconscious for an hour. When he was 63 years old he was stung by a yellow-jacket and was unconscious for 20 minutes. At the age of 65, he was stung by a yellow-jacket, was unconscious for more than two hours, and was quite sick for several weeks thereafter. In this case it was found that the man was sensitive to the hornet and yellow-jacket, but not to the honey bee or the bumble bee, since the stings of these insects did not affect him in any way. People who respond with extraordinary manifestations after the sting of insects might well determine whether or not they are especially sensitive. Such tests may be made by physicians who specialize in making a study of sensitivity to various protein substances.

Pettengill

Eight Years Democratic Congressman From INDIANA PANIC VERSUS RECOVERY When conversation laps ask your friends this question: How much larger do you think the average national income has been under Mr. Roosevelt than under Mr. Hoover? If you care to send the answers to me at Shorham building, Washington, D. C., I will summarize them in a later column. So far as I know, no nationwide poll has been taken on this question. I am certain the answers will prove extremely interesting. I confess that I was surprised when I worked out the figures. I thought they would be in Mr. Roosevelt's favor by an average annual margin of, say, $5 billions a year. Well, it is a sad thing when a belief collides with a fact. The fact is that the average national income under Roosevelt has been less. It is almost certain that at the end of eight Roosevelt years, it will be less. Here are the facts as to national "income produced," with 1938 estimated. In the four Hoover years, 1929-1932 inclusive, the income was $81.1 billions; then 68.3; 68.8; 40. Grand total $243.2 billions, or an average for the four years of $60.8 billions. In the six Roosevelt years, 1933-1938 inclusive, the figures are as follows: 42.3; 50.1; 55.2; 63.5; 69.8; 63.5. Grand total $344.4 billions, or an average for the six years of $57.4 billions. This shows an average national income under Hoover of three billion two hundred million dollars more than under Roosevelt! Believe it or not. If consideration is given to increase of the public debt, by $3 billions a year, to be paid by future taxation, and the further fact that the Roosevelt administration has taken from income in current taxes in excess of one billion dollars more annually than under Mr. Hoover, the comparison would show the Roosevelt administration at a still greater disadvantage. If Mr. Roosevelt's eight years are to average as much as Mr. Hoover's four years, 1939 and 1940 will have to produce together $142 billions. It is plain that an annual average of $13.4 billions more than the previous six years. There is no present indication they will do this. If not, Mr. Roosevelt's two terms will end with the unhappy thought that the total national income of the American people averaged better under the "Hoover panic" than under "Roosevelt recovery." On a per capita basis, under Mr. Hoover annual income was $507; under Mr. Roosevelt, $452, or 10 per cent less. Dollar income does not, of course, tell the whole story. I have mentioned the increased debt and the larger tax collected from the smaller income. Two other factors remain. One is the increase of population. It is plain that income should increase at least as fast as population. But it has not done so. Income has been less and population more. In other words, the smaller income must be spread among at least 5,600,000 more people than there were six years ago. Another factor is the price index or cost of living. This is in Mr. Roosevelt's favor. The same income in dollars has bought somewhat more goods. The wholesale price index of all commodities averaged 80 during Mr. Hoover's four years, and about 75.5 during Mr. Roosevelt's six years. If population had not increased an income of $57.6 billion would buy just about the same amount of goods at 75.5 as an income of $60.8 billions would buy at a price level of 80. But with the increase of population it is clear that the average American has bought less under Roosevelt than under Hoover. The industrial worker, IF EMPLOYED FULL TIME, has been better off under Mr. Roosevelt on account of higher wage scales. But the average includes the worker who has been laid off, and the worker wholly without work, of whom there are still 10,000,000 or more. These, and many other classes have clearly had much less to buy with. There were evil things before Mr. Roosevelt. Otherwise there would have been no crash. Mr. Roosevelt took over a badly damaged machine. No one questions that, and a great majority approve the repair job he did at the beginning. But we are looking ahead now to 1941. We need a machine will be delivered to the next President? In the long last, people will not vote even for sincere promises or lofty intentions. They vote for results. By neglecting to vote for "reform," Mr. Roosevelt has played one game too long. His real friends in the Democratic party have warned him repeatedly. Instead he has surrounded himself with Socialists and political nondescripts such as Hopkins, Ickes, Madam Perkins, Berle, Tugwell, Cohen, Caccorini, David Sapos, Aubrey Williams, Amle, and the like, who have sacrificed recovery for revolution. Mr. Roosevelt still has a chance to save his waning prestige. It is to announce how he will run again, separate the revolutionaries from the payroll, make a generous peace with the Garner Democrats, to whom he actually owes far more than to any other group, and thus give business the go-ahead to get millions of men to work. If he is big enough to do these things, he may still leave the White House with banners flying. If not, he may find one more that a stubborn "pride goeth before a fall!" —SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL. Probing into the wooden fuselage and the hollow wings, mechanics found families of rats nesting there.

MASONIC TEAM TO CONFER THIRD DEGREE

A degree team composed of thirty-third degree Masons from El Paso, pictured above, will be in Pampa on Monday night to confer the third degree for the Pampa lodge. The meeting will be held in the high school gymnasium at 8 o'clock. All Master Masons in good standing are invited to attend the meeting.

THIS WRECKING JOB DONE AFTER FORECLOSURE

It looks like a prank of a tornado—but, actually, this home wrecking is man made. While Mrs. Minnie Behning and daughters stand by helpless, workmen tears half their North Chicago houses away. Reason: part of home stood on lot lost to Home Owners Loan Corporation on foreclosure.

Three-Year Old Union Cuts New York Milk Supply To Nearly Half

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—Led by an ex-sailor, a farmer's union which three years ago had only eight members throttled the milk supply of 7,000,000 persons today with the latest strike in New York's turbulent $2,000,000,000 dairy industry.

Grim pickets tightened blockades around upstate plants, further cutting the huge metropolitan market's dwindling supplies in their fight for higher prices. New York's doughty Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia called a Monday conference between rival factions.

Immediate acceptance to the conference did come from the ex-sailor, Archie Wright, 47-year-old chairman of the Dairy Farmers Union which called the milk strike in demanding a uniform base price increase to $2.35 per hundredweight (47 quarts). Dealers and leaders of rival farmer marketing factions also agreed to attend the New York City meeting.

Wright's union, which now claims a membership of 15,000, started its boycott of metropolitan dealers Tuesday and with each succeeding day made heavier inroads on deliveries. Today only 60 per cent of New York's normal daily intake of 4,000,000 quarts was delivered.

Widespread violence, the death of one picket, arrests and wholesale milk dumping marked the first days of the strike until Gov. Herbert H. Lehman ordered all available state troopers to patrol the strife-riddled milkshed.

Numerous arrests for minor disturbances were reported today in the "trouble zones," but Major John A. Wagner, superintendent of state police, reported the situation "well under control."

This week's strike is the latest move in a long series of disturbances in the huge dairy industry over the past decade by which farmers have sought to raise prices and solve the complicated milk problem.

Wright, a former maritime union representative, helped organize the farmers union three years ago after he bought a farm near Ogdensburg, N. Y., for his father's health.

Hopes to Smoke the Rabies Away

In "tobacco," smoked in favorite 3-inch stem pipe, 64-year-old Nestor Sildanen, Vancouver, Wash., farmer, puts faith that he won't get rabies. Bitten by mad dog some weeks ago, Sildanen has refused Pasteur treatment. Health authorities give him only 50-50 chance to beat disease and quarantined him.

Cards, Circulars, Movies To Ballyhoo Jaycee Air Show

Publicity for the Pampa Air Show, to be held here September 23-24, will utilize window cards, circulars, and motion pictures to attract attention to the local air derby, which is sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Bert Howell, general chairman of the show, said Saturday that distribution of 5,000 circulars and of 500 13 x 24-inch show cards was to be started next week.

A motion picture trailer is to be exhibited for a three-week period, beginning September 3. The film is to be shown first in Pampa, then for the second week in Borger, then to be exhibited in another Pampa theater for the concluding week, September 17-24.

Races, a delayed parachute jump, and special contests are on the program of the meet, for which a total of 75 entries have been received to date. A dance and banquet will be given for visiting pilots who will include the squadron of flyers composing the Texas Air Tour, making a flight in four states.

Pampa Waterworks Employees Discuss Local Problems

Members of the Pampa Waterworks department and a number of visitors met Friday night at the South Hobart street works and discussed water works problems. Meetings are held twice monthly, on the first and third Friday nights, and are open to the public.

Supt. Andy Crocker spoke on disposal plant problems, demonstrating how sewage is drawn into houses. He recommended that water lines be laid in separate ditches.

C. C. Scoggins discussed water meters and necessary accuracy.

A. A. Smith spoke on cooperation among city employees.

C. L. Stephens discussed service connections, use of tapping machines, wet connections and how they are made.

C. H. Kelly spoke on meter box making.

L. P. Duvall gave an interesting talk on sanitation.

Boy Scouts To Go On Air Over NBC

Boy Scouts will take over the blue network of the National Broadcasting company Tuesday from noon to evening.

The Scouts will be assigned to the offices in the Radio city to learn how the network operates. They will also assist in a number of programs in various ways.

At 12:45 p. m. Pampa time, the Scouts will broadcast a 15-minute melodrama, written and acted by themselves, with some of them replacing the regular engineers at the controls and serving as announcers.

Boy Scouts of the Adobe Walls council are urged by Executive Fred Roberts to listen to the program.

Federal Prisoners Held In Jail Here

Charged with breaking into the postoffice at Goldsmith and removing a safe containing stamps and money, two federal prisoners, Willford Rushing and Sam E. Williams are being held in Gray county jail, pending removal to the United States District court at Amarillo for trial.

The two prisoners were brought to Pampa late Friday afternoon by Bill Lampa of Amarillo, U. S. deputy marshal.

There were 14 prisoners in all in the county jail late Saturday afternoon, about half of them federal prisoners.

Douglas Burks, a federal prisoner, charged with forgery in alleged connection with a federal check, last week was removed from the Gray county jail to Austin for trial.

Lion Company Shuts Down Until Monday

EL DORADO, Ark., Aug. 19 (AP)—The Lion Oil Refining company, after successfully resisting for one day efforts of the Arkansas Oil and Gas commission to force shutdown of its 22 producing wells in the Shuler field, Jones sand near here, agreed voluntarily late today to suspend operations in the area until 6 p. m. Monday.

The surprise move interrupted a hearing by Chancellor W. A. Speer on the commission's petition for a court order to force the Lion to abide by the general shutdown decree that went into effect on all Arkansas controlled fields Thursday.

The commission went to court for an order today after the Lion yesterday obtained an injunction preventing state police from enforcing the shutdown.

Chancellor Speer, announcing the Lion's voluntary week-end "holiday," recessed the hearing until 9 a. m. Monday when he will consolidate the commission's petition with a suit filed by the Lion Thursday for a permanent injunction against application of the general shutdown decree to Jones sand wells.

The oil company contended the shutdown order was a price fixing and not a conservation move.

Lion officials said the 52 wells, which resumed production last night after state police were withdrawn from the scene would be closed tonight by the company's crews.

Two months ago the last tragedy of the series of family tragedies took the life of Joe, 15.

Shot Through Heart
The boy was shot through the heart, June 8 while hunting rabbits near DeQueen, Ark., where the family moved from Hece.

The prosecutor said Frank, 10, drowned March 8, 1937, in a creek near Galveston, Tex., while fishing.

In both cases Sheriff W. O. Taylor related, the father led the hunt for his sons and himself found the bodies.

The third son, Charley, died 20 years ago when he was run over by a train at Peoria, Ill. Steger reported Steger told him.

Steger, who walks with a cane, told of his own accidents, the official said, as follows:

A finger was shot off, for which he collected accident insurance.

A train mashed off four fingers and he collected.

Some coal dropped off a passing freight, striking him but he didn't collect.

A train passing over a bridge dropped some coal on his head but again he didn't collect.

Steger said Steger was convicted of a box car robbery at Alton, Ill. January 5, 1917; was admitted to Joliet penitentiary January 15, 1917, and released on parole July 8, 1918.

The downpour which apparently caused the wreck also was heavy enough to prevent possible loss of life. The train was running under "caution" orders and the crew reported to division headquarters at Long Branch that they were going only 30 or 35 miles an hour instead of double that speed.

The locomotive dragging behind it along the ties, rolled more than a mile up the track before it could be stopped. From there the engineer and fireman ran into Chatsworth and summoned help.

Fire broke out in the dining car, but was quickly extinguished. Windows here and in other cars were broken.

Lions and Ladies To Attend Group Meeting At McLean

Pampa Lions and their ladies will go to McLean Tuesday night to attend a group meeting of the Lions clubs composing group 3 of district 2-T. McLean, Clarendon, Pampa, Wheeler, and Miami, comprise the unit.

Entertainment numbers for the affair, to be held at the Meador cafe, will be furnished by each club of the group. Duke Baltherpe is in charge of Pampa's part in the program.

the effect that you stand ready to suspend the Connally hot oil act in the event of an emergency.

"In view of the fact that the regulatory bodies of five states have successfully met this attack of the Standard Oil company and its affiliates in their vicious attempt to rule or ruin the industry, it strikes me that your statement is poorly timed and unbecoming for."

"Warns" Secretary
"I must warn you, Mr. Secretary, that your desire for federal control which has long been your objective does not conform to the ideas of the people of the oil producing states nor to the rest of the nation. . . . While you have the authority to suspend the Connally act, you of course realize that to do so would encourage, promote and stimulate violation of state laws in all the affected states. I must also call your attention to the fact that Texas has been the only state in which you have ever shown an interest in placing into effect the provisions of the hot oil act. . . ."

"Your interest in the welfare of the consumer is commendable. But your domination or interference in the present situation is completely, wholly and entirely uncalled for."

Thompson asserted that Ickes' statement "changes the situation not at all."

"The only federal tender board in America," Thompson said in a statement, "is the federal tender board No. 1 at Kilgore in the East Texas oil field. That oil field is shut down completely by order of the Texas Railroad commission. The operator in the great field with its 27,000 oil wells are unanimously observing the shutdown order and from all reports sentiment of the people in that district is heartily in favor of the shutdown as a waste prevention measure."

Dr. F. V. L. Patton, chief engineer for the commission, estimated that production of Texas oil wells exempted from the shutdown would not exceed 100,000 barrels daily. Numerous exemptions originally granted have been rescinded, he said, after further investigation.

Dr. Patton said all stripper wells on the Texas side of the Red river near Wichita Falls were being closed except "those operating under a high vacuum." He talked with Oklahoma officials by telephone regarding co-operation between the two states in handling pumping wells in that area.

Retreat For Men Will Close Today

Solemn Benediction this afternoon will conclude a three-day retreat for men at Price college in Amarillo, preceding a retreat for women to open this evening at St. Mary's academy. The women's retreat is to close with a High Mass on Thursday morning. Mrs. Guy Saunders of Amarillo is in charge of the women's ceremony.

Frank Kem, president, and Ed Dunigan, secretary, of the retreat association, both of Pampa, assisted Rev. T. J. Drury in arranging the men's meeting.

Rev. F. J. Mahoney, S. J., Ph. D., head of the sciences division of Regis college, Denver, will be the retreat-master for the retreat opening this evening.

PICNIC

center of the picnic grounds and there is an ideal spot for the running of races and holding of other picnic events.

So popular has the community picnic become that families utilize the occasion to hold reunions. Last year 50 families held reunions at the picnic near Miami, and an even greater number of reunions are expected to be held this year.

Bring Own Lunch
Following the same rules as in the past, everyone who comes to the picnic is to bring their own basket lunch. If, however, they do not desire to do this, they can buy their food, such as hot dogs, hamburgers, cold drinks, and ice cream, at the concession stands.

Two Dances Scheduled
Premiere of the picnic will be the modern dance that will start one minute after midnight Sunday, at 12:01 a. m. Labor day. Helricks Rhythm Clowns of Amarillo will provide the music. The outdoor pavilion of Sacred Heart church of White Deer has been acquired for a platform for the dancers.

At 10 o'clock on Labor day morning the picnic proper will start, as families gather for their reunions. At 7:30 o'clock that night an old-fashioned dance will be held, with music by Bill Jesse's orchestra of Pampa, and at 10 o'clock a gigantic fireworks display will be presented.

Plans are being made to secure W. Lee O'Daniel's Hill Billy orchestras, in addition to the other two orchestras, for the picnic dances.

Contests at the picnic will include tobacco spitting, fat and lean men's races, a race for plump and slender women, rolling pin throwing contest, pie and cracker eating tilts. A 1939 Chevrolet town sedan will be awarded during the day.

Plans are also being made to secure circus device rides for the children from a Lubbock concern.

Roche General Chairman
M. F. Roche, commander-elect of Kerley-Crossman post, is general chairman of the 21 committees arranging this year's picnic. Paul D. Hill, post executive committee member, is in charge of concessions, which will include bingo, novelty, food and drink stands, and the circus riding devices.

Persons who wish concessions at the picnic can do so by making arrangements with Mr. Hill, telephone 363.

A meeting of all picnic committee chairmen has been called for 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Texroy Service station. The committeemen are to meet at the station, then go to the picnic site.

5 Locations Filed Despite Oil Shutdown

The Panhandle field, closed down for 15 days by order of the Texas Railroad commission, registered five new locations last week. Texas Railroad commission employees here tested no new wells.

One of the new locations was for a wildcat test in Cottle county, 15 miles southeast of Paducah. The test will be drilled by J. H. Burnes on the Moss ranch in section 5, block 1-A, Fosythe survey. Contract depth is 4,500 feet.

Gray, Wheeler, Hutchinson and Moore counties had one location each.

Intentions to drill:
Magnolia Petroleum co., No. 4 Worley, 990' from the north and 330' from the east lines of the northwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 39, block 24, H&G survey, Wheeler county.

S. C. Evans No. 5 Benton, 330' feet from the south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 64, block 3, L&G survey, Gray county.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line co., No. 1 Brown, 150' east and 240' north of the southeast quarter of section 64, block 44, H&C survey, Moore county.

Power Petroleum co., No. 5 Halle, 330' from the north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 5, block M-21, TCRB survey, Hutchinson county.

J. H. Burns No. 1 Moss, center of the northwest quarter of section 5, block 1, A. Fosythe survey, Cottle county.

Hays Wins Appeal
"We have come to the conclusion we cannot move the mayor. Our hope lies in prevailing on the city commissioners. Under the charter, the park commission is given control of all public buildings. Henry P. Helm (park commissioner) who is vice-commander of the Alamo Post, No. 2, American Legion, might assert himself."

Today the United Veterans' organization laid a wreath at the municipal auditorium with comment that "it was a sentimental gesture, decided upon since it has been a little known fact for so many years that the auditorium is dedicated to the world war dead. We thought this a ripe time to stress that fact."

Charles J. Lleck, one of six San Antonio attorneys who received telegrams from Arthur Garfield Hays, counsel for the American Civil Liberties union urging them to support Maverick's stand, said he wanted it understood he was opposed to the granting of the permit to the communists.

There'll be a bathing beauty contest and water carnival at 7:30 o'clock, followed at 9 o'clock by a big dance at Donley hall.

Brodbeck's carnival will be open all day. Another attraction will be the presentation of Bob Burns in "Our Leading Citizen" at the Ellis theater.

William S. Hart Given Back Trust Fund Of $13,265

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19 (AP)—The idolized western screen star of years ago, William S. Hart, went into court today and won what the judge called "a belated vindication" in a paternity case against him.

Superior Judge Thomas Gould returned to Hart a trust fund now worth $13,265 which Hart set up 23 years ago for a boy not his son, as first claimed.

Two years after Hart created the fund, the boy's "mother," Miss Elizabeth MacCauley, confessed she had adopted the boy in Boston from his real mother, Mrs. Lucy Webb, now of South Lincoln, Mass., and brought him to California to confront Hart.

Hart said he agreed to set up the trust fund because the then district attorney threatened to prosecute him on Miss MacCauley's complaint and his film popularity was at stake.

FOR STATE COMMANDER

Lou J. Roberts

The man under whose tenure as district membership chairman has been established the largest district American Legion membership in history, is the choice of the 18th district for department commander, the highest state office in the legion. The Berger man is to be nominated for the office at the department convention to be held August 26-29 at Waco.

K. C. To Be Guests Of Hereford Unit

Pampa, Amarillo, Dalhart, UMBarger, Nazareth and Slaton councils of the Knights of Columbus will be guests of the Hereford council at a district meeting to be held next Sunday on the banks of the Tierra Blanca, five miles northeast of Hereford.

The gathering will take the form of a basket dinner. Members and their families and friends will bring their dinners and evening lunch. Refreshments will also be sold on the grounds.

Games will be played and talks made by the district's outstanding knights.

Center Stripe On Berger Road Being Painted

The final chapter in the history of the Pampa-Berger road was written Saturday, when a crew of 10 workmen began painting a center-stripe on the highway. The work was due to be completed on the 2.37 mile strip within two days. Late Saturday, the striping had been advanced through Gray county to the Carson county line.

Center-stripping of the road, being done now for the first time, is the last bit of construction on the highway. Maintenance is the only task ahead of the highway department on the road now. J. C. Dingwall, resident engineer said yesterday.

Mr. Dingwall, under whose supervision the highway was graded and paved, is to be transferred by September 1 to Houston. Asked Saturday if the Texas Highway department office here would remain closed, he said he had not been informed, but believed it would. Records are still kept in the local office, located on the third floor of the courthouse, and no orders have been issued concerning their removal.

AMERICA

gested in his April appeal that discussions (which might mean conferences or diplomatic exchanges) be started on three main topics, political, economic and disarmament, in the last two of which the United States would be glad to join—and the result has been nil.

Could there be a Pan-American appeal for peace coming simultaneously from the 21 American republics—the New World appealing with the Old World not to destroy itself? Some officials have toyed with this idea, are toying with it still, but the idea has, in effect, already been tried. When President Roosevelt sent his appeal to Hitler last September he simultaneously sent copies to all the presidents of the American republics who thereupon joined in with him.

This government is willing, at any rate, to go beyond an appeal.

Center Stripe On Berger Road Being Painted

It has in mind definite economic concessions it is willing to make Germany—credits and access to American surplus commodities, the moment Germany signs a disarmament agreement.

President Roosevelt is being minutely informed by the State Department of developments in Europe. Presumably, while on vacation at Campobello, he will give due consideration to whether there is any action the United States can effectively take as the crisis seems to draw near. To judge from the frequency of his moves in past crises, it is not to be excluded that he will act again.

A majority of state department officials in touch with European developments indicate a belief that a grave crisis is inevitable sometime before October 1. But the majority of this majority declare that the crisis need not necessarily result in war.

Week's Building Here Totals $8,000

Two building permits amounting to $8,000 were issued here last week, bringing the total for the year to $160,950.

J. O. McCoy was given a permit to erect a $5,000 brick building in the 300 block, North Cuyler street. A. R. Randolph was named as contractor.

The other permit was taken out by W. A. Nelson for a $3,000 residence in the North addition with R. L. Whitlock the contractor.

Catholic Women Entertain With Bridal Shower

Mrs. John Russell Gray, who was Miss Shirley Johnson before her marriage last Saturday, was accompanied by women of the Holy Souls parish with a linen shower Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Hostesses for the event were Meses. G. T. Bunch, A. T. Case, Frances Bradley, and W. J. Haley. Also a farewell handkerchief shower was given by the group to honor Mrs. O. M. Johnson, mother of the honoree, who will leave soon with Mr. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Gray to make her home in Tacoma, Washington.

A profusion of garden flowers decorated the hall and a lace covered table was centered with a huge blue bell which concealed the gifts. The bride's book was of blue satin bound in white lace.

The afternoon was spent in playing games and musical numbers were given by Miss Helen Poulos on the violin with Gene Finkbeiner at the piano.

Refreshments of punch and cake were served to Meses. O. M. Johnson, M. F. Roche, George Heller, Mickey Conley, A. T. Case, O. M. Bynmiller, L. H. Sullins, T. J. Gill, J. F. Schwind, H. B. Carlson, T. Four Circles Of Baptist WMS To Meet This Week

Members of four circles of Woman's Missionary society of First Baptist church will meet in regular weekly session on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. J. J. Simmons will be hostess to members of circle one in her home, 727 South Barnes street, at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

A meeting of circle two is to be conducted Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. L. A. Baxter, 310 North Faulkner, while circle three members will meet in the home of Mrs. Frank Johnson, 921 Charles street, at 2:30 o'clock the same afternoon.

On Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock members of circle four will meet in the city park.

Bride-Elect Named Honoree At Shower Given In Panhandle

PANHANDLE, August 19—Complicated Miss Lola Pearl Cox, who will become the bride of Clarence Howe today, Misses Nancy Lee Sparks, Evelyn Cox, Alene Sheppard, and Mrs. Clarence Sheppard, were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in the Panhandle Inn Thursday evening.

Miss Nancy Lee Sparks presided at the guest book, in which 50 guests registered. As the guests arrived, they were served punch and cookies from table presided over by Mrs. Clarence Sheppard.

Margaret Helen Pylon entertained with piano music followed with several appropriate games, when the honoree was named winner and was presented with a large pan camouflaged as a pie containing the gifts.

Forty-Two Entertains Guests At Canadian Special To The NEWS CANADIAN, Aug. 19—Mrs. E. N. Sawyer was hostess at two tables of forty-two in her home recently. The decorations were bowls of glass-oli and ferns.

Chic and new are these two black, firm rayon sheer dress, molded on the lines of fall's most important silhouette—high-bosomed, and slim-waisted with moderate skirt fullness—swinging toward the back. Notice the embroidered medallions and gold kid belt on the slightly dressier model at left. And, at right, the interesting neckline and softly draped bodice.

Shower Given As Courtesy To Miss Griffin Recently

Variety Spices Up New Fall Frocks With Rich Shades Of Brown, Red, Green

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—Variety is the keynote of the collections of smart new fall street dresses. Regardless of your size, shape or the limitations of your budget, it will be no problem to find a September dress that is new looking and at the same time ultra flattering.

There's much talk of bustle bows and various other kinds of back fullness. Such effects are highly recommended—if you can wear them. If you cannot, there are slim, streamlined dresses with skirts so narrow that they often are slit at the sides. Also wide-skirted models, as Molyneux features. And, of course plenty with all emphasis laid on the hips, as Piquet's petgot treatments and Balenciaga's hip yokes. Front fullness and some side fullness are shown.

Regardless of silhouette, your first fall street dress is more than likely to be black. After a summer of pastels and prints, nothing ever seems quite so chic to the average woman as a suave little black number.

MAKE A DRESS However, all greens—from rich, dark and grayish olive to lighter tones—are widely used. Brown is an important headliner, with reddish, grayish, chocolate and tawny shades of it stressed in New York and Paris. Reds—dark and brilliant—are seen. Smoke-gray, mustard, yellow,

Mrs. Elkins Hostess At Kingsmill Club Meeting This Week

"Success in the making of a frock depends first on the pattern you use," Mrs. N. B. Cude told members of Kingsmill Home Demonstration club when they met recently in the city park with Mrs. E. S. Elkins as hostess and Mrs. Cude as leader.

"Use suitable finish according to fabric you have and mark with a powdered thread where the pockets are to be fitted," she continued and gave illustrations of banded button holes and set-in pockets.

"Use slide fasteners or zippers for plackets," Mrs. G. Smith told members as she illustrated the different types of plackets. "Buy them right in type, length, and color for your purpose; remember that there are different fasteners for plackets, both skirt and dress. Be sure to buy a cording foot at your local sewing store so that you can put in the zipper in a professional way."

"We want to look smart," said Mrs. L. G. Bastion said as she spoke about collars or necklines. "High collars should never be worn by a woman with a round face and a short chin. No matter what the fashion may be, you will be wise, if you are this type, to stick to the always good V or the smart square neck." Mrs. Bastion also showed illustrations of different hem finishes.

Mrs. C. T. Nicholson discussed her trip to the short course at A. and M. college where she saw the killing of meat animals ready to can.

Refreshments of ice cold watermelon were served to four visitors, Meses. E. C. Moore, J. E. Johnson, E. A. Twentier of Tulsa, and Russell Garwith; Meses. J. B. Conbbs, Otis Young, C. M. Nicholson, G. GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART

Nowadays, whether she is trying to lose weight or not, the smart woman does special exercises to keep her figure supple and youthfully graceful. Without a sense of balance and perfect co-ordination of muscles, she knows that she won't "walk young" no matter how slender she is.

For this reason, an important New York dancing studio has developed a complete set of exercises, sure to be appreciated by Mrs. Average Woman as well as by students of ballroom or professional dancing. A large, lightweight hoop is necessary equipment. The expert at the studio asks you to remember that in all of these exercises it is essential to begin by assuming correct vertical posture and to use only the center muscles of the body.

Here are directions:
Place legs and feet together and raise the hoop above head, letting rim rest firmly on back of shoulders or neck (the higher the hoop the harder the pull—and the quicker you will lose weight and become supple).

Now, inhale, elevating chest, pulling stomach in, straightening backbone. Holding this excellent position, rise up on toes. The simple routine strengthens and therefore flattens stomach and posterior muscles, and the push of the inner muscles of the legs forces them into the correct position, straightening them and reducing excessing weight of both legs and hips.

For the second routine, assume correct position with feet and legs together and hold hoop above head with rim pressed firmly against back of shoulders. Stomach should be held in. Now cross left foot in front of right, with weight on left. Bend upper part of body to the left, then forward, to the right. When you straighten up, shift weight to the right foot. Complete the circle by bending backward. Repeat eight times a day. This slenderizes waistline and hips and makes all of the body more slender and graceful.

The third and fourth steps are illustrated here. And the fourth develops a good sense of direction, which gives confidence and poise—also balance, which is important, of course.

In this, the hoop is held directly in front of you and grasped lightly with thumbs and forefingers. Pointing toes, step over the rim of the hoop. Now turn it until rim touches legs in front. Then step outside the circle with right foot, following with left. Repeat until you can walk thru the hoop without breaking a slow rhythm. A little later, reverse the procedure and walk backwards.

Masculine Ideas On Women Show How Funny Men Are

By RUTH MILLETT
Come on, let's draw a picture of a typical woman, using only the beliefs that men have about women in general. They think—

She has a perfect gift for understanding a man—which ends only at the altar.

She talks all the time and never says anything.

She is invariably catty when there are no men around.

She never thinks about anything except how to get or to hold a man.

She doesn't know anything and isn't capable of learning anything about politics.

She is a menace behind the wheel of a car.

She can't keep a checkbook straight.

Her facts—no matter what story she is telling—are open to question.

All she does when she is with other women is gossip.

She can always be counted on to change her mind.

She is a sucker for a profile and smooth manners.

She can't honestly like another good-looking woman.

LOTS MORE OF THE SAME

Nothing so infuriates her as to hear a man say that another woman has sex appeal.

No man is so unattractive for her to have matrimonial designs upon.

If she doesn't marry, it's because she never had a chance.

If she's beautiful, she can't possibly be very bright.

She doesn't mind what cracks a man makes about her mind, if he remembers to tell her often enough that she is gorgeous.

Funny people—MEN.

Woman Pioneers Poor Farm Into Rich Sheep Ranch

By RUTH MILLETT
Mrs. Lucille Jentzen could meet a pioneer woman face to face and never give an inch. She has done some pioneering herself.

Fourteen years ago this born-and-bred New Yorker walked out from behind the counter of a delicatessen, made the down payment on a house and 160 acres—optimistically called it a farm.

Today she's sitting pretty.

The New Jersey farm, vastly improved, is hers. On it she has a herd of 200 very special sheep—the kind whose hides go into the expensive Persian lamb coats. Her daughter—eight when the mother turned pioneer—has been sent through an exclusive college.

And Mrs. Jentzen, at an age when most business women start dying their hair in an effort to meet younger competition, hasn't a single fear for the future.

NO JOB IS TOO HARD FOR HER

Until you feel her muscle, impressive as a college football player's, it's hard to believe her story.

"I do everything myself, even to dynamiting boulders from the fields. I painted the outside of my 12-room house when it needed painting, put a new roof on it when the old one began to leak, laid a hardwood floor in the kitchen. I've built both wire and stone fences.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

- If you are very late in sending a wedding gift, should you write a note when the gift is sent saying why it is late?
- When giving a wedding gift, should you give the cost of the gift to your own circumstances or to those of the bride?
- Should a bride make "cracks" about her wedding gifts to her friends?
- Is it incorrect for a bride to leave the cards with the gifts when she puts them out for her friends to see?
- Is it good manners to say to a prospective bride, "Have you received a lot of wedding presents?"

What would you do if—
Your sister is to be married and you would like to entertain for her.
(a) Give a shower for her?
(b) Give any other kind of party?

GIVES ADVICE ABOUT FARMS

Agricultural colleges and farm bureaus around Mrs. Jentzen's part of the country send young people to talk to her when they say they want to go back to the farm—and make it pay. For her fame has spread.

Just the other day, the E. F. Goodrich company asked Mrs. Jentzen to bring her working overalls and be their guest of honor at the opening of Farm Week at the World's Fair.

She left her having long enough for that.

Wedding Should Be Built On Basis Of Regular Plan

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEW YORK, Aug. 19—The wedding which goes off smoothly, with the bride and her mother calm and serene instead of practically exhausted, was planned weeks and weeks before the day of the ceremony, of course.

In addition, the plans were carried out according to schedule, eliminating the necessity of frantic, last-minute telephoning, fittings, shopping, furniture buying, and so on.

These are the observations of Mrs. Alexandria Potts, director of merchandising service for The Bride's Magazine.

The girl who is going to have an October or late September wedding ought to make out a "wedding calendar" right now, listing everything she has to buy and do, then stick to it no matter how difficult it is to shop when the weather is hot, or how many parties are being given in her honor.

SCHOOLMASTER GLORIFIED IN "GOODBYE MR. CHIPS"

Screen Play Truly Shows Hilton Novel

A rare pleasure is offered in this delightful screen production of a character created by James Hilton in which Robert Donat distinguishes himself in his sincere and delicate delineation of Mr. Chips, a shy and gentle master in an English public school, which he enters as a young man, and grows old in service, endeavoring himself to the hearts of all he contacts.

Although unassuming, the drama of his life is crowded with both interesting and pathetic experiences, the greatest of which is his courtship and marriage to Katharine (Greer Garson) who brings into his life a radiance and beauty which he never loses.

The scene in his classroom the day of her death is one of the high spots of the picture, displaying the actor's ability to express his deep sorrow. The picture teems with intimate and homely details, with touches of humor. The traditions, discipline and codes of an English public school are very clearly defined, and the scenes showing the time-worn buildings interesting.

A well-selected cast adds to this delightful picture and the director (Sam Wood) shows sympathetic handling of a production which leaves the spectator a feeling of contentment. Designated as a picture of exceptional merit and among the best of the month by the West Coast Preview committee. Today, Tomorrow and Tuesday. "Million Dollar Legs," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Betty Grable, Jackie Cooper, Joyce Matthews, Donald O'Connor, Larry Crabbe, John Hartley. Showing Wednesday. Story of a college boy who wants to be coxswain of a college crew—only the college has no crew. Lack of funds, the principal difficulty, is overcome when the campus hocks his personal belongings to make a 20 to 1 wager on a horse race, and the horse wins. "The Angels Wash Their Faces," First National picture presented by Warner Brothers. Ann Sheridan and the Dead End Kids. Instead of being law violators as in the past, the Dead End Kids in this film become thoroughly law abiding youngsters who cooperate with the officers so smartly that they are chiefly responsible for bringing to justice a gang of adult criminals. Bing, a singer of telephone messages for a telegraph company, loses his job, acquires another as a taxi company's cruising troubadour, and in trying to help a friend becomes a suspect in a kidnapping case. Mischler Auer, excellent as Bing's Russian star-gazing roommate. One of the witticisms cleverly woven into the dialogue is: "This would be a better world if there were more singing and less dictating."

WARNER Brothers melodrama, "You Can't Get Away With Murder" is on the State screen Tuesday. Humphrey Bogart, Billy Halop, John Litch, Henry Travers, Harvey Stephens and Gale Page are the principals in this story of a young boy and his gangster friend who are sent to the penitentiary. The boy's future brother-in-law is framed by the gangster, sentenced to die for murder. On the night of the execution a break is made by the boy, the gangster and three others. The boy is fatally shot, but lives long enough to confess and free the innocent man. "The Little Princess" 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor motion picture version of Frances Hodgson Burnett's story is a faithfully presented with charm and freshness. The role of the little princess fits Shirley Temple perfectly. Story is of a little girl in London, who refuses to believe her father is killed in a war in South Africa. Her refusal to accept the news and her faithful persistence result in a joyous meeting between father and daughter. Showing Wednesday and Thursday.

CROWN Frankie Darro and Dick Purcell have the chief roles in "Irish Luck," showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday. On Wednesday and Thursday, the Crown picture is "Assassin of Youth," for adults only. Friday and Saturday brings George O'Brien to the Crown screen in "Arizona Legion" an REKO Radio picture, telling a story of conflict between the Arizona Rangers and outlaws of the frontier in the days when the West was young. "Bachelor Mother," the first hit of the new season featuring Ginger Rogers and David Niven, has been booked for Sunday, August 27. THOMPSON Stresses New Wells Exempt AUSTIN, Aug. 19 (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, today telegraphed officials of oil-producing states that Texas was exempting from its general shutdown only wells which would be killed by closing and those which produce natural gas for domestic purposes where other gas is not easily available. Thompson, also a member of the Texas Railroad commission, which regulates oil in this state, said he acted to stop rumors Texas was allowing wells other than those specified to produce.

Marks Of Educated Man Described By Rev. Bayless In Kiwanis Talk

Ignorance is man's foremost enemy, the Rev. Gordon Bayless, pastor of the First Baptist church, told members and guests at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club Friday noon in Hotel Schneider. The Rev. Mr. Bayless, speaking on the topic, "The Educated Man," declared that the educated man is easily distinguishable. "He is marked," the speaker said, "by his poise, his good judgment, and he is dynamic but quiet—the man who talks the least is respected the most when he does talk. "The educated man is courteous and he is one who does not necessarily inherit the political convictions of his forefathers." Mr. Bayless asserted that an edu-

Phillips To Reach Decision On Dam

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 19 (AP)—Gov. Phillips said today a decision on whether he will institute court action to block construction of the Denison dam probably would be reached at a conference next Tuesday with his attorneys, C. C. Hatcher and William O. Coe. The Governor said Hatcher had been having difficulty obtaining information from army engineers on the rearrangement of highways to be inundated. "I don't think it's the engineers' fault," he said. "They just don't have any plan. They want us to swallow it in good faith and do the best we can."

Increase In Crude Oil Import Reported

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Commerce Department reports today an increase of nearly 15 percent in imports of crude petroleum and principal refined oils in the first six months of 1937. The imports totaled about 30,007,000 barrels. Larger purchases of foreign crude petroleum were the main factor in the gain in imports of petroleum and products. Imports of crude petroleum increased to 16,288,000 barrels, a gain of 3,844,000. Entries for immediate consumption went up 2,418,000 barrels because of heavier shipments from Venezuela and Colombia. Gasoline imports were negligible aside from 312,000 barrels from Mexico into bond at New Orleans.

Modern Rip Van Winkle, 41 Years In Prison, Startled By Fast Autos

DETROIT LAKES, Minn., Aug. 19 (AP)—A gray-haired, stooped, Rip Van Winkle is awakening today in the little town of Richwood near here.

He's Dan Blue, 64, struggling to catch up on 41 years of history that swirled past while stone walls and bars kept him prisoner for murdering a fellow farm hand for his money.

Danny, an Indian, thought commutation of his life sentence was pretty nice. But he is startled by paved highways, automobiles that travel 60 miles an hour, airplanes, tractors and radio.

Stillwater prison officials brought him home by car to the cottage and 80-acre farm he bought by earning 50 cents a day making straw mattresses and counting vegetables from the prison farm.

He last remembered traveling 12 miles by buggy to the station here when folks from the East told of a motor-hike a fanatic named Langley invented. The 12-mile trip was an all-day affair over muddy roads.

Danny since has seen planes over the prison. He heard they traveled 200 miles an hour. But 60 in a car— "Whey, it's too fast." He was sickened by fence posts flickering past. "Wonderful thing, radio. I heard one once."

"I never had one in my cell," he started again. "But when I put in a radio. That can go to the next fellow."

SERIAL STORY

Murder on the Boardwalk BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday, Chandra warns Christine of her danger, but she rejects his advice. Later she meets Bill Yardley, coming up from the beach, she tells him the whole story, they return to her studio, find a crowd gathered there.

CHAPTER VI

BILL said, "Wait here. I'll run ahead and see—" "Wait nothing!" Christine objected. "Bill—"

But almost at once he was lost to sight in the crowd.

An area of the walk had been roped off, and men in uniform were herding the crowd beyond the ropes—Bill among them. It did not occur to Christine that the ropes meant her, too; and no one seemed to pay any attention to her as she edged along the railing just behind two officers who were directing powerful flashlights down into the studio booth.

For the center of the excitement appeared to be below the level of the walk.

Suddenly a voice from the edge of the crowd called out, "There's that girl I was telling you about, Sergeant—right behind you. She was drawing pictures down there this afternoon, and this evening I seen her slip down again and come out reading a letter or something."

Glancing toward the source of the voice, Christine saw that it was the flashy dressed proprietor of the shooting gallery across the Boardwalk.

"Stick around, Miss," the sergeant directed, turning upon her. "We'll want to talk to every one who works about here."

"Why, of course," Christine tried to make her voice crisply casual.

She peered down into the booth, but she could not see much at first except uniformed backs. Finally, as one of the policemen moved, she saw a man in a white coat bending over a figure on the concrete bench at the rear of the booth. Something unpleasantly rigid about the coat-sleeved arm and gloved hand at the edge of the bench convinced Christine that she didn't care to see any more.

An officer climbed into the booth from the beach below and reported to a man in plain clothes who seemed to be in charge, "There's the marks of two row-boats in the sand down there, Inspector Parsons—both made since high tide. One of the boats is there yet. No one seems to know anything about it."

"Any signs in the boat?" "No, sir; but there's been a scuffle down there, and there's two sets of footprints coming up this way—only you lose 'em when they come to the dry sand. . . . And the boys are bringing in one of them beachcombers. He tried to beat it when he seen us; and he tried to throw this away after we caught him."

A small object changed hands. "Well, Doc, what do you make of it?"

The inspector turned to the man in the white coat.

"Well," the doctor said, "the victim had been heavily and repeatedly drugged. There are marks of a hypodermic needle. But death was caused by a wound from a slender, pointed weapon. . . . Found anything that answers that description?"

"We haven't found any weapon of any sort here."

THE doctor said something that Christine missed; but which the inspector seemed to find of peculiar interest.

"How long ago?" he demanded sharply.

"I can't be entirely sure—but before rigor mortis set in. That might be two hours ago. Perhaps a little earlier."

Christine glanced at her watch. One-thirty. It had been almost 11:30 when she and Bill had come this way before.

At this moment Bill loomed at her side.

"Sorry," he murmured. "But breaking out of jail is easy compared with breaking in here. . . . Say, this must be a Page One event! Half the Surf City police force speak of the press," he added as several flashlights went off near at hand.

"Hey—you!" the sergeant who had detained Christine turned beligerently. "Who told you you had any business in here?"

"My own chivalrous soul, officer," Bill answered smoothly. "This young lady is in my care. I'm taking her home."

"You are not. We want to talk to her."

At this moment several newcomers were admitted through the ropes: the man who had identified Christine, a newswriter, a waitress whom Christine had seen in the ice-cream stand next door, the resplendent doorman from the hotel across the Boardwalk, and finally—looking more than usually apologetic and helpless—Mr. Wilmet.

"My dear Miss Nevin!" Mr. Wilmet cried. "This is no place for you."

"It would be nice," Christine said, "if you could persuade the sergeant to take that view."

"Officer," Mr. Wilmet protested in his ineffectual way, "you surely don't need this young lady. I can tell you all about her. She is Miss Grace Nevin, a very accomplished artist who is in my employ."

Now he has ruined it, Christine thought. Because sooner or later they'll have to know my real name.

"I own this concession," Mr. Wilmet was going on; "and I must say it's a terrible shock to have a thing like this happen here just as business was picking up."

"Well, now," the officer said with heavy sarcasm, "it's just too bad the poor lady couldn't have planned to get herself murdered somewhere else."

Lady! Christine thought blankly—and realized for the first time that the dark-clad figure she had glimpsed so sketchily might just as well have been a woman's as a man's.

IT was at this point that a police ambulance rumbled down the Boardwalk and stopped. Men clambered down, lifted out a stretcher, and tramped down the ramp into the booth.

Inspector Parsons' head emerged above the railing.

"Now, Sergeant," he said, "before they move her, we'll find out whether any of these people know anything about her. . . . Down here, please, all of you."

The newswriter was first to file by the stretcher; then, in order, went the doorman, the waitress, the man from the shooting gallery, Mr. Wilmet, and Christine—closely followed by Bill Yardley.

Christine kept her eyes averted from the stretcher until her own turn came. When at length she stood beside the body and glanced down, a violent fit of shivering wracked her; and she turned abruptly away. One of the officers hastily opened the camp stool and eased her down upon it.

"Maybe I can help you, Inspector—" Bill Yardley spoke unexpectedly, his face paper white. "This is Mrs. Emma Talbert, who owns a country home out Beachmont way."

"I was aware of that. We identified her by papers in her purse. . . . Now," the inspector went on, glancing around, "how many of you were at your regular places of work between—say 11:15 and 1:30?"

The waitress had been, and the proprietor of the shooting gallery. Mr. Wilmet was nervously voluble about the fact that he had been attending a moving picture. Christine, shivering unbearably in spite of the warmth of the night air, shook her head mutely. The resplendent doorman had returned to duty at precisely 11:30.

Now he was staring at Christine with fascinated attention.

Ford Refuses To Comply With NLRB Ruling On Unions

DETROIT, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Ford Motor company formally refused today to comply with a recent order by the National Labor Relations Board that it rehire 24 discharged employes and refrain from "discharging or criticizing labor organizations." The company's answer, filed at the Detroit office of the NLRB, declared Ford "has complied with the law and will continue to do so." Assailing the board's reference to "alleged statements of propaganda" by the company against unionism, the answer signed by P. E. Martin, Ford company vice-president, stated: "This paragraph of the order appears to be predicated upon the views of Mr. Henry Ford as expressed in his statement which were disseminated by the company among its employes. The review of these statements in the board's decision is incomplete and unfair. xxx The right of free speech, which is accorded to advocates of Communism or other isms, is denied Mr. Ford and the Ford Motor Company."

Texans Have Big Stake In Oil Conflict

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, Aug. 19 (AP)—John Q. Public may not know it but he has a big stake in the current oil war.

He may be inclined to think it is a battle to determine whether the majors will gobble up the independents or the independents will knock the major for a loop with the government in there swinging rather aimlessly.

Nevertheless, he is more than an interested or uninterested spectator. Whether he understands it or not, the turmoil in the oil industry concerns him.

This is the opinion of economists, officials and plain observers who are close to one of the centers of the whirling storm, Texas' state capital.

The immediate outstanding issue is whether the major oil purchasing companies can get away with a sharp reduction in the price paid for crude oil when not any too much oil is in the companies' storage tanks, there is good demand for gasoline and the states which produce most of the nation's oil have cut off the supply.

In the words of Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad commission and chairman of the Interstate Compact commission, "each citizen of Texas more than 6,000,000 is affected."

Much Change Unlikely
John Q. Public isn't likely to see much change in the price of gasoline put into his car.

As to why:

Experts say the cost of gasoline and the cost of crude oil are rather distantly related. When crude declines in price, gasoline doesn't necessarily drop. Same with crude goes up; gasoline often doesn't keep pace. When crude sold at 10 cents a barrel, compared with the present $1 or thereabouts, gas was higher than today.

It's a complicated matter to grasp. Generally, crude at $1 a barrel balances five-cent gas at the refinery, and five-cent refinery is what we have been having. The rest of the price JQ? pays when he says "Filler-up" in Texas is four cents state tax, one cent federal tax, one cent for transportation, two cents for the jobbers and four cents for the retailer. This adds up to 17 cents for the lowest grade gasoline.

About the only thing that could go up and down when crude prices fluctuate would be the five-cent refinery price. And, well, they're saying hereabouts, it will go up or down very far; that it can't. The margin isn't large enough.

Effect On Public
Suppose the price of crude remains cut. The effect on the public, says Thompson, will be like the effect when the bottom falls out of the cotton market, only worse because oil has supplanted cotton as the state chief industry. When cotton is up, everyone is prosperous; when it is down, business in general is bad.

Income for Texas oil last year was $500,000,000. That is, the oil sold for that amount. If the 20-cent a barrel cut prevails, $100,000,000 of that income will be lopped off. The effect will be the same as if it was cotton, wheat or potatoes.

It is authoritatively estimated 1,000,000 people in Texas are dependent directly on the oil business. These people, oil field workers, refinery workers, filling station men and so on, together with their families, make up one-sixth of Texas' population. About 100,000 men are employed in the production of oil in Texas.

The other five-sixths are indirectly affected by oil.

One-half of the production tax on oil goes to the general revenue fund of the state and one-half to the available school fund from which the state scholastic apportionment is paid. The comptroller estimates the 15-day shutdown will cost the state $515,000 in production taxes. Over a long period, the loss, due to the price cut, would be much more. The general revenue fund already has a huge deficit and can ill afford to lose any oil revenue.

Baptist Revival In Progress At Twitty
Special To The NEWS
SHAMROCK, Aug. 18—The Twitty Baptist revival is progressing nicely with large crowds in attendance and much enthusiasm, according to Rev. V. M. Lollar, pastor.

The Rev. J. D. Horton, who founded the Twitty church and was its first pastor, serving four years, and who is now pastor of the Pierce Street Baptist church in Amarillo is doing the preaching for the revival which started Sunday and will continue for two weeks.

He is just as efficacious in debate. On the spur of the moment, he cuts and thrusts with his oratorical rapier. He can make glorious fun of an opponent or he can scar him with invective.

Driving himself, he also drove those who worked with him. But he managed also to get the affection and devotion. In other words, a "natural leader of men."

Shamrock Methodists To Hold Bible School
Special to The NEWS.
SHAMROCK, Aug. 18—A daily vacation Bible school for all children from the ages of 5 through 14 will be opened at the First Methodist church on Monday, August 20 and extend through September 3. All children within these ages are invited to enroll in the morning classes which will be held every day except Saturday and Sunday.

The school will be divided into groups, the first of which will include all children of the ages of 5 to 9, the second group will include those from 9 to 14. The first group will have a Bible story class while the second will study the life and journey of St. Paul. Mrs. Lance Webb will direct the latter group.

Outline of the travel study for the first group includes: Monday, Brazil, Miss Ruth Zeigler, leader; Tuesday, pictures "Under the Southern Cross"; Wednesday, Japan, Mrs. W. R. Wooten, leader; Thursday, pictures, "A Visit to the Land of Cherry Blossoms"; Friday, Africa, Mrs. A. M. Hilburn, leader; Second week, Monday, pictures, "In the Heart of Africa," Tuesday, Life of John Wesley, Mrs. B. C. Lewis, leader; Wednesday, pictures, "Life of John Wesley," Thursday, Life of Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, Mrs. Jack Shull, leader; and Friday a picture "A Labrador Doctor."

Winston Churchill, At 65, Is Britain's 'Strong Man'

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Aug. 19—In his 65th year—an age which most Americans deem a period for retirement rather than for further strenuous efforts—Winston Churchill finds the Englishman-in-the-street and many in high places leaning upon him as a strong man in time of crisis.

The popular demand to include Churchill in the British cabinet in "Winston Churchill has so much energy that even when he is sitting down he seems as active as most men when they are running," was a London journalist's description of the 65-year-old statesman. Here you see Churchill (right) in a characteristic and recent photo, taken in London during the visit of former Premier Leon Blum (left) of France.

There is fighting blood in his veins. He is a direct descendant of a great Churchill who became the first Duke of Marlborough. He is a grandson of the seventh Duke. His father was Lord Randolph Churchill, himself a brilliant politician.

Winston Churchill was educated at Sandhurst, England's West Point. He fought with the Spanish in Cuba. He saw service in his own country's army in India, Egypt and South Africa. He made fame for himself as a war correspondent. Then he entered politics first as a conservative, later as a Liberal, and, still later, as a Conservative once more.

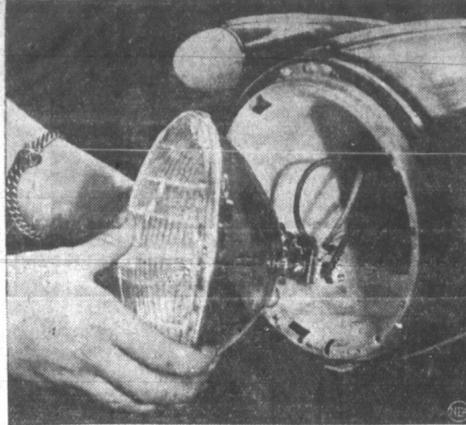

That the British fleet was all together in the North Sea and ready to the last button when the world war broke out, was largely due to the foresight of Churchill, who was at that time First Lord of the Admiralty. Later in the war, after serving for a time with the troops at the front, he was successively Minister of Munitions, War Secretary, Air Minister and Colonial Secretary. His last ministerial post was as Chancellor of the Exchequer under Premier Baldwin—1924-29.

HIS ORATORY A POTENT WEAPON
Since then he has been just a private member of the House of Commons, left out in the wilderness by Chamberlain. But his is one of the most potent voices in the House of Commons, and on the stump.

See him when he gets up to speak. His round, ruddy, almost cherubic countenance belies his years. His eyes sparkle with youth and fire. He has no old man's stoop.

But he has what, to an American, seems a sort of stammering, halting style—until he gets going. He has no notes before him. They

Fagged Out Oil Operators Welcome Week-End Of Rest

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 19 (AP)—Fagged-out oil men hoped tonight for a week-end of rest from the hubbub of crude price cuts, statewide production shutdowns and dwindling stocks.

The week of swift developments brought an assertion by Interior Secretary Ickes that the petroleum industry's helter-skelter state made more necessary than ever federal legislation giving the government part control of production.

Topping the week's news was the unprecedented action of six mid-continent states in clamping the lid on virtually all their oil output.

Texas, much the largest producer in the nation, led the way. Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas, Arkansas and Louisiana quickly followed.

Collectively they turned the spigot on two-thirds of the country's production in an effort to stem the tide of crude price slashes. They hoped to force the price back up to a dollar a barrel.

An emergency had developed as some major buyers and many small ones joined Sinclair Prairie Oil Marketing company in its cut of 20 cents a barrel in the mid-continent.

For the first time in its four-year history the interstate oil compact commission met in extraordinary session in Oklahoma City to discuss a remedy. Texas already had ordered a 15-day shutting in of wells.

Red-haired Ernest O. Thompson, compact chairman who also is a member of the Texas railroad commission, state regulatory body, declared the "sovereign producing states are capable of handling their own oil conservation problems."

Later came his that the federal al government like the ordinary motorist was watching gasoline prices.

Reserve Stocks Drop
With the supply of crude cut off, the level of reserve stocks at refineries dropped and the spot gasoline market strengthened, prices edging up 1-4 to 1-2 cent and later an added 1-8.

Brokers said no immediate effect was expected, however, on the retail price.

Secretary Ickes reminded that the Connally "hot oil" act, forbidding interstate shipment of oil produced in excess of state quotas, could be suspended if the supply shrunk enough to "cause lack of parity between supply and consumptive demand."

Today he announced the interior department had no reports of Connally act violations incident to the production shutdown.

In the face of the crude oil stoppage, reserves were falling, however, especially at the small refineries, and jobbers scrambled for gasoline to protect their territories.

Adding support to the shutdown was Michigan, which announced a temporary reduction in withdrawal limits cutting its yield nearly a fourth.

Only sharp resistance to the well stopping was by the Lion Oil Refining company, which won a court order temporarily enjoining Arkansas state police from keeping its wells padlocked in the Shuler field.

Oklahomans Protest
Meanwhile, the Oklahoma corporation commission acted to plug up leaks in the shutdown "strike." Ray O. Weems, acting chairman of the commission, telegraphed Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, that operators on the Oklahoma side of the Red River pool near Burk Burnett, Tex., "do not want to shut in unless operators on the Texas side shut in."

"All similar wells in Oklahoma are shut in," said Weems, "and we think these should be shut in. Please advise us your commission's position. Everybody here cooperating with very few exceptions."

The enforcement officer of the Texas board telephoned Weems an hour later that "a quick and thorough investigation" was being made and Oklahoma would be notified of Texas' position.
