Sharing The Comforts Of Life --- By R. C. Hoiles

A PANDERER, A NATURAL LEADER OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

Some people might be shocked at the fact that Willie Bloff, panderer of Chicago, is at the head of the great union of motion picture unions in Hollywood. It is only natural that men of this type become heads of collective bargaining groups.

The columnist, Westbrook Pegler, has performed quite a service to the people of the United States by digging up the police record of Willie Bloff. He found in the Courts of Chicago, that Bloff was convicted of pandering and received $29 in a specific instance, the earnings of a prostitute inmate of a brothel in which he admitted that he was a bartender and in which the State contended he was a partner.

Mr. Pegler brings out the fact that he only served eight days of the six months' sentence and never paid the $300 fine. Mr. Pegler says:

"I have received many letters, unfortunately anonymous, from persons purporting to be members of various Bloff unions pleading for publicity regarding the union's treatment of its own members. Meanwhile, also, individual members of the Newsreel Photographers' Union have told me that they were compelled to pay an initiation fee of $1000 and an income tax of ten per cent of their gross salary to work at their own trade. They have been afraid to permit their names to be used in criticism of Bloff or Browne lest they be thrown out of the union and thus barred from their occupation or beaten up or killed."

When people come to believe that groups of men have a right to combine to keep other people from learning trades or participating in work, these kinds of leaders are the eventual and natural results. So there is nothing to be shocked about, that union leaders are men of the Bloff, Bridges type. Collective bargaining cannot and will not attract men who believe in the principles of Americanism—of equal rights for all human beings.

COMPETITION IS COOPERATION

E. Stanley Jones in his "The Choice Before Us," contends that his substitute cooperation for competition. He fails to realize that complete cooperation in production is cooperation. They are one and the same thing. The competitive system is a system that cooperates by permitting each man to use his talents to the best advantage and rewards each man in proportion to the service he renders.

Probably the reason Missionary Jones and many theorists are confused about the desirability of competition is that we have not had a complete competitive system. We have not had enough competition. We have interfered, by laws and by customs, with individuals having the right to render service that nature intended them to render.

When one attempts to defend cooperation on any other basis than a competitive basis, he immediately approaches a dictatorial, tyrannical society. The competitive system is the democratic, Christian system, because it recognizes the rights of each and every individual and gives no man a right that another man does not have.

Yes, competition is cooperation.

TILTING THE CART

(By E. C. Krause in Los Angeles, Cal. Times) Yesterday's decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia, setting aside the $711,000 verdict of a lower court in favor of the Apex Hosiery Co. and against the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, is one which threatens to upset the appellate on which the National Labor Relations Board has been riding. While apparently a victory for the union, labor organizations may say with Pyrrhus, "Another such victory and we are undone."

For the court finds that the Apex sit-down strike was outside the jurisdiction of the Federal anti-trust law for the reason that the effect on interstate commerce was incidental and remote, though it tied up one of the country's largest hosiery mills for seven weeks. How this decision can be made consistent with numerous court decisions holding that much less important labor disputes were within Federal purview and the decisions of the Supreme Court that labor disputes "affecting the flow" of commerce are of Federal concern is a question that will not be answered by laymen. The decision, it will be noted, is handed down in Philadelphia, a city whose lawyers are famous for hair-line distinctions.

Furthermore, the court does not deny that the Apex company is entitled to a remedy for its damage, but on the contrary specifically affirms it; it holds that such a remedy must be sought in the State courts where the company has suits pending against the union and against the city for refusing it police protection. So that the union is not out of the woods in the matter of being liable for damage.

However, the court finds the union was "not guilty of engaging in a conspiracy to restrain commerce," and had "no intention of violating" the anti-trust acts.

Whether this will have any effect on the anti-trust prosecutions against unions and employers' associations, initiated recently by Assistant Attorney General Arnold, is a question, but the situations appear to be distinguishable.

a race, the British are not famous for individual exploits. Once in several generations there will be a Captain Drake to raid the Spanish Main, a Lord Byron who rushes off poetically to die with the Greeks fighting the Turks. Once in a blue moon there will be a General Miller to fight with Bolivar to free the Latin republics, or a Laurence of Arabia.

And when there is such a man the British will cheer and feel comforted and serene, but rarely tempted to go and do likewise.

With the French, the Americans, and the Germans, it is different. They fight with élan, with one eye on the enemy and one eye on a daring individual exploit.

Nevertheless the British caught Napoleon, caught the World War raider Emden, and now are catching under the darkening Arctic circle for a chance to slug it out with the Deutschland.

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10—Jane Withers and Gene Autry are co-starring in a picture called "Shooting High." It's a modern and—from the standpoint of budget—a modest western, which probably will earn a million dollars. It will, anyway, unless Mr. Autry gets himself kissed.

This is the singing cowboy's first adventure in the major studio league, and at 20th-Fox he was warned by ribbers that things were going to be different—there would be glamor gals and romance and everything.

But Little Autry just laughed and laughed. He knew what was in his contract. Even if the big studio is paying him more than he gets from Republic, no amount of money could persuade him to sell his career for a kiss. What would the kids think?

FAN'S SENTIMENTS REFLECTED IN LETTER

What the kids would think is pretty well expressed in a little girl fan letter which I found the western hero chuckling over. The script girl on the set copied it for me, and here's most of it:

"Dear Gene: I just read a silly article in the paper about you and 'Miss Weaver.' She's some flirt, if you ask me, and you'd sure better get back to Republic Studio if you know what's good for you. I'm mad, and darn good and mad. Of course I'm glad you had sense enough to refuse, but if this keeps up you must not be what you're cracked up to be."

"I've seen your pictures (almost every one of them) and you know as well as I do that kids don't like love-dove stuff, and neither do girls. And anyway it ain't right. . . . Sometimes a little boys and girls fan letter like this is a picture, or out of it either. . . ."

And that, multiplied by 20,000,000, is the reason why Gene Autry confines his sentimental thoughts to song and his osculatory activities to an occasional salute to the velvet nose of Champ, his trusty horse. The kids, and the groupies, want the love-dove stuff left to Gable and Taylor. They testify to this by sending more fan mail to Autry than is received by Tyrone and Gable combined. Their appreciation of bucolic, honey sentiment is expressed by the purchase of twice as many of Autry's records than of any other vocalist's including Bing Crosby's.

MARJORIE WEAVER GETS HER KISS

That interesting clause in the quoted letter, "I'm glad you had sense enough to refuse" referred to a widely-publicized incident before "Shooting High" went into production. Marjorie Weaver was the romantic role in the film, and there was some speculation about whether she could be corralled in the hero's arms at the finish. Mr. Autry, knowing what was bad for him, said no.

Miss Weaver, partly miffed and partly amused, caught Autry in the portrait gallery one afternoon and said, "Ach-he, my proud hero! I understand you have refused to kiss me!" So SHE kissed HIM. They say that, since Autry wasn't wearing makeup for his stunts, the photographer had to wait half an hour before his blusher subsided.

But the published story didn't explain that Autry had his revenge. As he left the portrait studio, he passed Miss Weaver, who was attended by three Hollywood admirers while she posed for some pictures.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Every year you hear people complain "I doesn't seem a bit like Christmas." Unknowingly, those people are admitting that they don't have a Christmas spirit which is nothing more nor less than the picture always in your heart of the birth of the little Lord Jesus, and so a good way to get the Christmas spirit is to hear the annual singing of the Messiah. This year, it will be sung Thursday night at the First Methodist church. It will be beautiful because it is so hard to sing it unlovely. Director Lester Aldrich and Pianist Mrs. May Carr and their singers have rehearsed diligently, and you yourself will receive the greatest benefit in going. . . . It was a weary Handel who withdrew in himself in 1739, and none but his intimates saw him for almost a year. In the drawing rooms of Piccadilly they were saying that Mr. Handel was thru. Suddenly, in November, 1741, he emerged from his shell, and sailed for Ireland at the invitation of the lord lieutenant. He was travelling heavy—in his luggage was the manuscript of Messiah which he had composed the previous summer in little more than three weeks. Late in March, the first playbills announcing Messiah appeared in Dublin, and on April 13, 1742, it was produced. Scenes of wildest enthusiasm occurred at this performance. Two cathedral choirs sang the mighty choruses superbly, and the notorious Mrs. Cibber, who had created the role of Polly Pecheon in The Beggar's Opera, sang the air "He was despoiled" with such devout tenderness that the Rev. Dr. Delany exclaimed, "Woman! for this thy sins be forgiven thee!"

The pribilof Islands, property of the United States and home grounds of most of the world's fur seals, were considered so unimportant to explorers that they were discovered and forgotten three times before they were given a name.

The yokel from Republic stepped over and kissed her twice, affectionately and heartily. "So long, honey," he said.

So far as the actual picture is concerned, though, Mr. Autry and Miss Weaver will come close enough together only to suggest a felicitous finish. The glamor boy of the sugarbrush has shunned feminine proximity ever since, three years ago, he was persuaded to go into a clinic with Ann Rutherford. For that brief embrace, there was hell to pay from the outraged fans.

The Family Doctor

(This is the first of a series of three articles by Dr. Fishbein on Vitamin B1, now receiving the attention of the public as well as of medical science.)

More is being said, written and published nowadays about vitamin B1 in the American diet than about any of the other vitamins. We can remember when vitamin D was the one with which we were most concerned. Today vitamin D has a definite place in our diets. Children get their vitamin D in milk, in cod liver oil and in other preparations.

The use of oranges, tomatoes and the juices of fresh fruits is now so widespread that the efficiency of vitamin C is well established. Mothers know that babies must have vitamin C during their growing years.

Vitamin A has had plenty of public attention because of its relationship to night blindness. That is just one of the aspects of the use of vitamin A, but it has served to focus attention on that vitamin.

In the meantime research on vitamin B1, particularly with relation to pellagra and the use of nicotinic acid, has also had public attention. Now, some of the work that is being done with vitamin B1 is in the forefront of scientific advancement.

If people's diets consisted of a wide variety of foods, we would not have to give much consideration to this point. But the American diet is tending more and more to specialities of one type or another. The amount of food eaten is not as much as it used to be; and we are beginning to realize that the American diet, so far as concerns its content of vitamin B1, is unsatisfactory.

The Council on Foods of the American Medical Association has authorized publication of a special survey on this subject, made by Dr. George R. Cowgill of New Haven, Conn. Surveys made by a number of independent observers show that the person who spends less than $2 a week on food is likely to have a deficiency of vitamin B1.

A deficiency of vitamin B1 reveals itself in various forms of neuritis, some of these having been classified as alcoholic neuritis, diabetic neuritis, and metabolic neuritis.

An adult requires about 300 to 350 international units of vitamin B1, which is equivalent to about one milligram, or thousandth of a gram, of pure thiamin. Thiamin is the scientific name for the vitamin.

Pre-school children apparently need as much as 20 to 25 or more international units of the vitamin for every 100 calories of food that they eat each day.

No Charges Filed In Highway Collision

Investigation by county officials of the motorcycle-automobile collision that occurred near Groom on the Will Rogers highway has apparently been concluded with no charges filed as a result of the accident early Friday morning. The accident occurred when an automobile driven by Bob Barnett of Clarendon was in collision with a motorcycle owned by William Daniel, 22, of Oklahoma City. Daniel suffered minor injuries and was given treatment by a Groom doctor. District Attorney Clifford Braly yesterday said he knew of no charges being made, but that the matter might possibly be considered by the Gray county grand jury, when it meets at the next term of court.

New Amendments to Social Security Act Explained

(Editor's Note: The following is one of a series of eight articles prepared by Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Board, located at 324 New P. O. Bldg., Amarillo, Texas. These articles will explain the new amendments to the Social Security Act and it is believed the information contained in this series will be read with interest since it is educational and explanatory of the provisions of the old-age and survivors insurance program.)

Examples of Monthly Benefits

A few typical examples of payments under the amended old-age insurance law will serve to show what these new provisions will mean to workers and their families: Tom Jones, who is now 65, may begin to receive monthly benefits in 1940 if he has earned as much as $50 in each of any six calendar quarters since 1936, on a job covered by the law. Assume that he has been working regularly up to 1940 at an average salary of $100 a month; in that case he can draw $25.75 a month for the rest of his life if he is single. If he has a wife who is also 65, she will get a benefit equal to half her husband's monthly payment, or $12.88. Together, the two of them will have $38.63 a month. If he dies, his widow would get three-fourths of her husband's monthly payment of $25.75, or $19.31 each month as long as she lives.

A younger man can build up a larger income for his old age; meanwhile, his family is protected in case of his death. Suppose Paul Smith was 25 years old on January 1, 1937, when the old-age insurance system went into effect, and suppose he makes about $25 a week or $100 a month on an average. At that rate, by the time he is 65 his old-age insurance payment would be $25 a month. If he is married, and his wife is 65, she would get an additional $17.50, making a total of $42.50 a month for the couple as long as they both live.

If the worker dies before he is 65, leaving a widow and minor children, the widow receives three-fourths and each child one-half of the amount of the monthly benefit to which he would have been entitled at the time of his death. If Paul Smith, who has worked an average of $100 a month, dies in 1940 after he has worked three years in covered employment, his monthly benefit rate would be $25.75. His widow would therefore receive $19.31, and a minor child $12.88 a month. Thus, if his widow has two children in her care, the family would have $45.07 a month as long as both children were under 16, or 18 if attending school.

If there were no children, the widow would receive a lump sum equal to six times her husband's monthly benefit (in this case $154.50). In either instance, after she is 65, if she has not remarried, she would receive $19.31 a month for the rest of her life.

If a wage earner, who was fully or currently insured, dies leaving no survivor entitled to a monthly benefit at the time he dies, a lump-sum death payment will be made to the widow or widower, or children, or parents of the deceased, equal to six times the monthly benefit that would have been due. If no one of these is living, a payment covering the burial expenses will be made to the person who paid them.

The new law sets both a minimum and maximum for monthly benefits. The monthly benefit is always at least $10. The maximum payable to an individual or his family is the smallest of the following three figures: $85, or twice the worker's own benefit or 80 per cent of his average monthly wage.

Green Bay Packers Capture Grid Crown

Giants Beaten In 27-0 Rout In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 11. (AP)—The amazing Green Bay Packers have done it again.

For the fifth time in 11 years these stalwart football representatives of a town of 40,000 have smashed their way to a national pro football championship over the best the nation could offer.

They started winning titles back in 1929. They took two more in 1932. They took two more in 1934. In 1936 they won again. But never did they reach the peak they attained here yesterday when they beat the New York Giants, 27 to 0, to win the 1939 National Football League title.

The club that Sunday afternoon against an eleven that had the best defensive record in the national circuit was the hottest team the play-for-pay circuit has seen in many a year.

Strangely enough, this was the same club that barely squeezed the extra point in the western division title and the right to participate in the play-off.

The Giants played good football against the Packers, but it was like trying to stop a wave.

There wasn't much doubt about the outcome after the Packers had piled up seven points in the opening quarter.

The touchdown came on a seven-yard pass from Arnie Herber to the veteran end, Milt Gantenbein, in the end zone. Tiny Engbreiten placed-kicked the extra point.

The Giants had the wind in the second period but the Packers checked all of their thrusts.

Green Bay resumed its drive in the third quarter, marching 40 yards on six plays. When the Giant line stiffened, Engbreiten dropped back to the 29 and booted one home from placement to give the Bays a 10 to 0 edge.

Later in the same period Gantenbein intercepted a Giant pass on the New York 35. From the 31 he passed to Joe Laws for a touchdown. Engbreiten's toe added the other point.

A place kick by Ernie Smith, packer reserve tackle, from the 42 in the final quarter added three points to the score. The final marker came shortly thereafter following a pass interception by Bud Swendsen.

20 Teams Will Play For Region Football Titles

(By The Associated Press) Twenty teams square off this week in the battle for regional championships in the Class A division of Texas schoolboy football.

Such outstanding clubs as Ennis and Humble are missing as the Class A boys prepare to wind up the season. This division goes no further than regional titles.

Ennis fell before McGregor 20-7 and Humble, conqueror of Hull-Dalesta, which boasted the greatest winning streak in schoolboy history, was beaten by Nederland 7-6.

Ennis had run up an extraordinary record, number several Class AA eleven among its victims.

In the regional round they pair off like this:

- Region 1—Perryton vs Shamrock.
- Region 2—Olton vs Pecos.
- Region 3—Burkburnett vs Dublin.
- Region 4—Garland vs McGregor.
- Region 5—Piano vs Mineola.
- Region 6—Center vs Overton.
- Region 7—Elkhart vs Nederland.
- Region 8—Galena Park vs Caldwell.
- Region 9—Taylor vs Yoakum.
- Region 10—Victoria vs Alice.

Langston Negroes Named U. S. Champs

ATLANTA, Dec. 11. (AP)—Oklahoma's powerful Langston University "Lions," undefeated and tied once this season, were rated national negro collegiate football champions today.

The Langston team, which finished at the top of the Southwest Athletic Conference, piled up 98 points and yielded 26 in eight games.

Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College at Tallahassee, last year's national champion, was runner up with seven wins, one tie and two losses. The Floridians, the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, scored 154 points and allowed 36. Their rating was 24.64.

Playing before more than 9,000 spectators in the seventh renewal of the annual Orange Blossom contest at Orlando Saturday, Florida A and M whipped Wiley University of Marshall, Tex., 42-0 for their fourth Blossom victory.

WHITE DEER, Dec. 11.—Honoring the 1939 football squad, the pep squad of the White Deer High school entertained with a "Sports Page" banquet, Friday evening at the high school cafeteria.

A miniature football field with candles as goal posts formed a centerpiece carrying of school colors of blue and white. White footballs marked the places and the blue programs were tied with white ribbons.

Georgia Faye Overstreet was the "Sports Announcer." The boys' quartet, composed of James Stalls, Bill Hawkins, Donald Crumpacker, and Bob Martin, sang "Swinging into Sports," and "Billy Boy," accompanied by Glenn F. Davis.

Jennett Moore in "Interviewing the Players," gave a toast to the boys, and Bill Hinkley, the sports reporter, responded. Coach B. E. McCollum talked on "Nothing but Training Rules."

A group of girls, dressed as news-boys, gave a "Talking Extra Edition" of comments and jokes. Superintendent George A. Heath, the "Sports Columnist," gave the main toast of the evening.

Martha Jo Freeman gave the "Parade of Pigskins," as football boys were presented to each boy on the squad, and the program was brought to a close with the entire group singing the school song.

The "newsboys," Dolores Bishop, Irma Ray Smith, Margery Davis, Elizabeth Bednorz, Jean Beth Culbertson, Virginia Satterfield, Ernestine Jones, Dallen Kotara, Beatrice Haldick, and Dorothy Colgrove, served.

The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of Martha Jo Freeman, and Georgia Faye Overstreet, pep squad leaders, Geneva Moore, Eileen Green, Frances Lamb, Mildred Haggerty, Christine Austin, and the sponsor, Miss Virginia Martin.

About 85 persons, including the football boys, the pep squad girls, and the high school faculty, were present.

Tennessee 'Not A Great Team,' To Leave For Rose Bowl Dec. 21

By KENNETH GREGORY

ATLANTA, Dec. 11. (AP)—Tennessee's Volunteers might well be termed football's most unusual team.

Coaches, writers and fans who have watched the boys coached by Major Bob Neyland agree most definitely Tennessee isn't a great football team, but is a collection of players who do everything well—enough to win.

And a team that has been winning as long as Tennessee should by any stretch of the imagination be called a fine football club. The Volunteers have dropped 23 foes in a row and perhaps the biggest angle to all arguments is the fact the orange-shirted army's goal line hasn't been crossed in 15 contests.

"It's a d— good football team," was the way one of the south's most able coaches described Tennessee. "They play smart, alert football. They take advantage of every opportunity."

The Volunteers, first Tennessee football team in history to be selected for the West Coast classic, will leave the Knoxville campus December 21, by train, arriving in Los Angeles Christmas eve. They will travel the southern route, via Memphis, Dallas and El Paso, Tex.

Meanwhile, the players began a nine-day rest before resuming practice.

The related clearing up of the Rose Bowl situation gave the Southeastern conference a clean sweep of the major post-season games. Georgia Tech and Tulane, co-champions of the Big Thirteen group along with Tennessee, will play other sectional titleholders.

Tulane's Green Wave, tied by North Carolina, meets the Texas Aggies, Southwest Conference champions in the Sugar Bowl and Georgia Tech's fancy ball-handling Engineers clash with Missouri. Big Six titleholders in the Orange Bowl.

Under the plan outlined to the conference by Fred F. Florence, acting for the new Cotton Bowl directorate, the conference committee named several months ago would control the post-season game and would have the full cooperation of the board of bankers and businessmen.

This conference committee is composed of three representatives from each of the seven conference schools. Dan D. Rogers, Dallas banker and member of the Texas Christian university board of trustees, is president of the committee.

The following formal statement of the conference action was issued by Dr. Trautman:

Holy Cross Record Most Consistent

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—If your son is determined to be a cheer leader, send him to Holy Cross.

At least, he will find his work more pleasant there than at any of the other hundred or so major colleges and universities whose five year football records are tabulated by the Associated Press.

For Holy Cross hasn't lost more than two games a year for the past five—and a victory mark of 396 built on 39 wins, five losses and four ties in that time.

The rock-ribbed Crusaders have replaced Alabama's Crimson Tide as the team with the most consistent record. Alabama 12 months ago, was on top for the second straight year of the tabulation, but slipped to sixth place in the past season, winning only five of nine games.

Close behind the Crusaders came two other powerhouse—Villanova and Fordham, tied at 87. Those twin southern terrors, Duke and North Carolina, took fourth and fifth places with respective averages of 85 and 84.

Tennessee, which went through the past season with a perfect mark and will risk that record—in the Rose Bowl, is tenth in the ranking for the five-year period. The Vikings at Lubbock Friday already have a mark of 37 victories, ten losses and three ties for a .787 mark. The other half of this year's Rose Bowl battle—Southern California—is in 34th place with a .539 average.

Defensively over the years, Fordham has the best mark, limiting its opponents to about four points a game, or 168 in 42 games. Holy Cross and Duke both allowed a greater total number of points, but their defensive records surpass Fordham's. Holy Cross held its foes to 3.56 and Duke, 3.63 points a game.

Duke won the greatest number of games—in the 1934-39 stretch, while the little Catholic University, the east's hero in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, was the only school to go through the five seasons without a tie.

Tuesday night games will begin at 7 o'clock with the Harvester "B" team meeting the Pirate second string, followed by the game between the two "A" teams. The Wednesday night attraction will begin at the same hour with the Pampa Guerrillas meeting Piemenons in the opening game. Then the Harvesters will match shots with the bearded boys.

The visitors feature a pinwheel offense—whatever that is. Basketball fans believe it's passing the ball in a circle until an opening appears and then the team rushes for a shot. The beards are a versatile lot, capable of anything, and can handle a basketball about as expertly as if it were a softball.

Coach Oud Mitchell of the Harvesters believes the experience gained playing the beards will be of great benefit to his team even though they take a drubbing. The Harvester, five—Carlisle, Bearden, Terrell, Dunaway and Cox—have been looking good in practice and in exhibition games.

Regional Tilt To Be Played At Perryton

The Class A football championship of Region 1, which is the Panhandle of Texas, will be decided in Perryton Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the Perryton Rangers and the Shamrock Irishmen play.

Officials of Shamrock and Perryton schools met in Canadian yesterday afternoon to make arrangements for the titular game. After considerable discussion, a coin was flipped and Coach O. Burke of Perryton called it right and Coach Forrest Kline of Shamrock and his Irishmen will invade Perryton Friday.

Use of Harvester field, Pampa, was offered for the game by W. B. Weathered, Bill Anderson, Garnet Reeves and Dan McGrew. Playing on a neutral field was discussed at length and both coaches seriously considered playing on a neutral field but finally agreed that home town fans in one city should get the benefit of the game so a coin was flipped.

Both teams stormed to the title game over tough opponents. Perryton is undefeated this season while Shamrock has been defeated twice, both times by Class AA teams and tied once. Only direct comparison between the teams makes the count even, each having defeated Canadian by identical scores, 26 to 0.

Shamrock, champion of districts 3 and 4, defeated Beckney 19 to 7 last Friday while Perryton, victor in districts 1 and 2, won a 14 to 12 game from Tulla.

Many Pampans plan to see the game Friday afternoon in Perryton. Those desiring tickets should see Coach Fatheree or Kline Noel at Fatheree Drug not later than tomorrow noon.

Two Fistic Crowns At Stake Tonight

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11. (AP)—Two fistic championships will be crowned tonight in Cleveland and New York's 14th annual Christmas toy fund, and one bout—the 10-round Henry Armstrong-Jimmy Garrison set to for the welterweight crown—can cause a lot of headaches for a lot of people, particularly the New York boxing commission.

In the other titular scrap Al Hostak, slugging Slav from Seattle, Wash., will defend his National Boxing association middleweight tiara against Eric Seelig, German-born New Yorker.

A week ago last Friday Armstrong was booked to defend his welter championship against Lightweight King Lou Ambers in New York. Armstrong caught a cold and the bout was cancelled.

Specialist John Phelan, chairman of the New York commission, warned Armstrong that if he went through with the Cleveland fight, after turning down the New York shot at Ambers, he would face suspension by the New York boxing board.

The New York commission recognizes nothing less than a 15-round bout for a title match. If Garrison should win, what would the New York answer be with Armstrong already facing suspension?

No one expects Garrison to win. Armstrong is in good condition now, and having won once from Garrison, he figures to do it again.

Waco, Woodrow Wilson Favored As Finalists

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Staff

Woodrow Wilson's Wildcats and Waco's Tiders roared into the quarter-finals of the Texas schoolboy football race today favored to clash the last week in December for the state title.

Woodrow Wilson's versatile team, sparked by one of the finest all-around players in interscholastic league annals, showed they had everything necessary in their conquest of a brilliant Masonic Home team last week.

Waco spotted mighty Breckenridge two touchdowns and then came back with the speed of the wind to beat the Buckaroos.

These two games had long been regarded as the top battles of the bi-district round.

Woodrow Wilson meets Sulphur Springs Saturday afternoon at Dallas in the quarter-finals and the Dallas Wildcats rate overwhelming favorites to march on.

Waco plays Tyler at Tyler Saturday afternoon the prohibitive choice to trim the Lions. Waco already holds a three-touchdown victory over Tyler, earned in a non-conference game.

Lubbock's revitalized Westerners, "dark horses" of the race, play the unbeaten, untied Sweetwater Mustangs at Lubbock Friday afternoon. This game is regarded as a tossup although the Sweetwater record far surpasses that of Lubbock for the season.

The burly Mustangs of Austin (Houston) meet Austin high at Houston Saturday afternoon. This game, also, is regarded as more or less of a toss-up although many will select the Mustangs to down the Maroons because of superior weight and power. But they'll have to battle up Travis Raven, a great all-around star, to do it and thus far has not been halted in his touchdown dashes.

Austin high and Sweetwater are the only teams left with spotless records. Sulphur Springs is undefeated but has been tied twice.

There are direct comparisons between the teams in their season's records.

Lubbock defeated Big Spring 18-0 and Sweetwater won over the same team 26-7.

Sulphur Springs beat McKinney 13-6, and Woodrow Wilson lost to McKinney 7-0 although the Wildcats were sorely crippled that night.

Sulphur Springs defeated Sherman 7-0. Woodrow Wilson won over the same team 18-7.

Austin (Houston) downed Jefferson (San Antonio) 2-0 and beat Reagan (Houston) 15-0. Austin high smashed Jefferson 39-0 and defeated Reagan 7-6. McAleer defeated Austin 26-13. Brownsville defeated McAllen 6-0 and Austin won over Brownsville 20-6.

But most of these games were early in the season and the comparisons now mean little.

Waco remains as the high-scoring team of the state with 319 points in 10 games. Sweetwater is second with 307 in a like number of tests.

Pro Elevens Pick Passers

By ARTHUR BYSTROM

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 11. (AP)—Professional football—1940 style—probably will be more of an aerial circus than ever before.

This was indicated as directors and club owners of the national football league met today to select 1939's outstanding college players for their preferred negotiation lists.

Nine of the first 10 men selected are capable passers, several of them experts in the overhead game, but Nile Kinnick, Iowa's great passer, was not among them, probably in view of his statement he was not interested in pro ball.

The Chicago Cards, by virtue of the center position in the league, got first pick and they took Tennessee's George Cafego, a triple threat star hampered much of the past season by injuries.

Kinnick was drafted by Brooklyn on the second round by the Cardinals. The draft meeting also brought forth the announcement that the Detroit Lions, consistently one of the top teams in the National League, was on the auction block.

C. E. Richards, owner of the club, announced that it was for sale. He said illness made it imperative that he release himself from all activity and responsibility in the ball club.

Indications were that the franchise would not move from Detroit, as a syndicate of businessmen from the motor city was reported ready to buy the team.

McFadden Popular Only one All-American was selected among the first ten in the draft list. He was Banks McFadden, fleet Clemson halfback who was rated one of the greatest passers and runners of the Southern Conference. Brooklyn got first chance to negotiate with him for a 1940 contract.

Under the league's draft plan, the team which finished on the bottom of the circuit had first opportunity to select a man it desired to negotiate with for the 1940 season. The team second from the bottom was given second choice and the remaining teams in the same order, until approximately 200 players on the list were drawn.

Clyde Turner, Hardin Simmons center, was the only lineman on the first ten. He was chosen by the Chicago Bears. Philadelphia drew George McAfee, Duke as its first choice; Detroit selected Doyle Nave, of Southern California; Pittsburgh, Ray Eskin of Arkansas and Cleveland, Ollie Cordell of Rice.

Others in the first ten were Ed Boell of New York University, drawn

Kinnick Named Outstanding Athlete Of Year By Experts

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—By a margin just about as narrow as Iowa's football victories over Notre Dame and Purdue, All-American Nile Kinnick was named the outstanding athlete of 1939 by the nation's sports experts today.

In as close a battle of ballots as the Associated Press annual poll ever witnessed in its nine-year history, the Hawkeyes' 90-mile ballplayer was out over Jolting Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankees' "Mr. Baseball," by the narrow margin of eight points.

Of the 61 experts who voted for the three outstanding male athletes, amateur or professional, 21 selected the Iowa youngster with the pleasing personality as their top choice; three picked him for second place and 40 ten for third. Votes were counted on a basis of three points for first, two for second and one for third.

FDR Approves WPA Expenditures

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt approved today expenditure of $1,248,991 for three WPA projects in the Cleveland area.

John Carmody, Federal Works Administrator, advised the president that these projects, with those previously authorized, would provide employment for six months for more than 14,000 persons in the Cleveland region and should relieve "the acute situation that has developed."

At a press conference Friday, the president said Ohio had not lived up to its obligations to take care of needy unemployed workers. His remarks started a controversy with Governor Bricker of Ohio, who said the president had made a political attack on a Republican administration.

Panhandle WMU Prayer Week Ends

PANHANDLE, Dec. 11—The Baptist W. M. U. week of prayer program was climaxed with an all day meeting in the home of Mrs. O. C. Weakley Friday from 10 until 12.

The theme, "Christmas for Christ" was used throughout the week's programs, with "God's Love" as the devotional.

Mrs. Weakley, who was leader, presented the program in the form of a radio broadcast over station P-R-A-Y, over a world-wide hook-up. Mrs. Fred Reinr led the devotional on "God's Love Climaxes." Others on the program were Mmes. E. E. Pierce, O. Z. Light, George Thompson, Margaret Bobbitt, Alf Pemberton, W. D. Evans, Frank Crist, and V. D. Biggs. Countries studied were China, Japan, Mexico, Brazil, Palestine, Argentina, Chile, Italy and Rumania.

The entire program was presented in the morning as an unbroken chain linked around the world for foreign missions. At the close of the program the women joined hands representing an unbroken chain, an offered specific prayers for mission work on the Southern Baptist field. A covered dish luncheon was featured at noon.

A total of seventy-five women attended the meetings through the week.

Attending Friday's meeting, in addition to the ones on the program were Mmes. Escar Watts, D. C. Landen, R. A. Mitchell, W. H. Kimble, and Rev. George Thompson.

They were riding in a car, driven by Houston which smashed into a truck loaded with cotton bales. The crash occurred just after the passenger car had crossed a bridge on the gravelled road. The automobile turned a flip but halted right side up.

The truck driver, James Lawrence of Bremond, was not hurt but his left shoe was ripped from his foot by the impact. It was found, the shoes broken, under a bale of cotton.

Houston was employed in a Waco cafe, while Clytee Watts worked in a Bremond cafe. Moore was married. The bodies were taken to Martin pending funeral arrangements.

SERIAL STORY

5 WOULD KILL

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, while Dawson searches her bedroom a second time, Helen Benthorpe goes to the garage with a bottle of milk. Flynn catches her there, takes her to Dawson. When the cat is brought in, it runs to her, fawns upon her.

CHAPTER XXIII

"THERE'S your answer, Captain," Flynn offered from the doorway. Dawson smiled at the success of his scheme.

"Mrs. Benthorpe, this cat is yours?" Dawson asked pleasantly. "What if it is? It's not against the law to own a cat, is it?" she challenged.

"No... But in this instance it may be almost that," Dawson watched her carefully. The cat, catching sight of the milk, mewed loudly. "This cat, I believe, may have an important bearing upon your husband's murder. It is quite possible that it was used with the idea of creating the impression that your husband's death was suicide—and then something slipped up. At any rate it was sufficiently important to be mentioned in Mr. Benthorpe's note."

"Note?" she asked incredulously. "Yes, your husband left a note. It has been most helpful to us. You may read it, if you wish."

When she handed it back to him, her face was ashen. "So he knew... he knew," she murmured.

"Your efforts to hide this cat, to steal out, unobserved, to feed it—in the light of this note—all look most suspicious," Dawson continued evenly. "Even you will admit that."

"I can readily see why you would suspect—how you would reach certain conclusions," she amended hastily, as some of her hope returned. "But I can easily explain. I just remembered, downstairs, that I hadn't fed Satan. And about the note—"

"You see, I am quite superstitious, too. Even more so than Arnold. You'll recall that just before Mr. di Torio was—was shot, we lighted three on a match, and I remarked about it," Dawson nodded. "I guess I was responsible for the 'three on a light' of Arnold's note, too."

"About a month ago this cat came to the house. It's good luck me."

to have a black cat come to you, so I immediately adopted it. But Arnold hated cats so—especially black ones—that I kept Satan hidden out in the garage.

"Last night he got out and crossed Arnold's path as he walked in from the garage. Arnold was terribly upset about it and I was afraid he'd kill Satan if he discovered him. So I left the house, after dinner, and hid him in the closet in the garage loft."

"Returning to the house, I found Arnold with this—this girl—"

"Miss Johnson?" Dawson suggested. "Yes, she claimed to be his daughter by a previous marriage. I did not believe her, and she threatened to make trouble... create a scandal. After she left Arnold and I quarreled."

THERE was much yet to be told, and Dawson's silence indicated that he expected her to continue. At last she went on.

"It was during that quarrel that Arnold said those terrible things... I can never forgive nor forget them... He told me that the girl was his daughter, that he had abandoned her mother 20 years ago in Salt Lake City. He told me, too, that he never loved me, but that he wanted to be somebody in society and he needed a rich wife to attain that ambition."

"She covered her face with her hands, as if to shut out the memory."

"But you told me you loved your husband," Dawson was surprised when she looked at him again, dry-eyed.

"I lied, just as I've lied all my married life, I hated Arnold Benthorpe from the moment I saw him. I married him to save my father's business."

"But Arnold wouldn't even permit me that victory. As he raved on in his anger, he told me he had been buying Alston Motors secretly, that he intended squeezing my father completely out of the company Dad's genius had created. Arnold not only wanted to take his daughter, but his business also. It would have left Dad nothing."

"I told Arnold I would divorce him, that I would tell my father everything. And he laughed at me. And then—he then he slapped me."

"I ran to my room, locked the doors and called my father. I begged him to come for me. I told him everything. I was waiting for him when Arnold was shot."

"You were waiting for your father—but you were already undressed and in bed. How do you explain that?" Dawson parried.

"I had undressed before going to the garage to hide the cat. After my quarrel with Arnold I was too angry, too hysterical to even notice that I wasn't dressed. I would have gone with Dad just as I was..."

DAWSON paused momentarily as he weighed his next question.

"Did you, Mrs. Benthorpe, during your quarrel with your husband tell him that you would kill him?"

For an instant she could not answer. "How did you know that?" "It is not unusual in the heat of a bitter argument to make such a threat," Dawson said. "But in this case it was more than just a threat. You finally intended to kill your husband and to make it look like suicide."

Helen Benthorpe's fingers gripped the arms of the chair as Dawson's condemning words pounded in her ears.

"You told your father what you intended to do, but you decided to wait until he arrived to bear out your story. Perhaps you had noticed that Ara had lost a button off her sleeve. You thought you might blame the murder on her."

"Or you may have even watched di Torio enter the house and thought he would be captured by police at the entrance of the passageway. But as you waited behind the dining room door the police whistle surprised you."

"You rushed to the study, pushed open the door, shot your husband."

"How can you... how can you think such a thing?" Helen Benthorpe sobbed.

"You ran to the back stairway, met your father. Between you, you hid the gun. Then you came upstairs, across the hall and down the front stairway. When you heard someone inside the study, and found the door blocked, you changed your story, decided to blame the murder on an unknown intruder—in this case, John Douglas."

"But di Torio saw you and di Torio was ready to tell—so you used your expert marksmanship again and killed him too."

"Arnold Benthorpe knew his murderer—it was his wife!" "A shot shattered the stillness of the room."

Scout Camp May Be Located At Marvin

CANADIAN, Dec. 11 (NS)—M. A. Graham, president of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council, Fred Roberts, executive, and J. Troy Israel, field executive, all of Pampa, made a tour of inspection of land adjacent to government land at Lake Marvin last week where a permanent camp may be established.

Sites for the proposed permanent camp for the Adobe Walls council would be on land owned by Hemphill county, just outside the government acreage on which the Lake Marvin and recreational improvements are located.

Panhandle P-TA Outlines Plans For Month's Work

Judges E. C. Fisher and other members of the Hemphill county commissioners' court favor giving the Adobe Walls council a number of acres of the county's land as a permanent site for the Boy Scouts of this section of the Panhandle.

No official action has been taken by the commissioners' court in that direction, but may be taken up in the near future.

PANHANDLE, Dec. 11—The executive board of the P-T-A met in regular monthly session in the high school this week to plan the month's business activities.

Mrs. H. B. Skelton was appointed Procedure Book chairman. Mrs. Chas. Franklin was asked to see that the P-T-A evergreen on the court house lawn is decorated for the holiday season.

Mrs. Chas. Franklin, president, reported Mr. T. B. Harris, sheriff, had given $6 to each of the five Parent-Teacher units in the county.

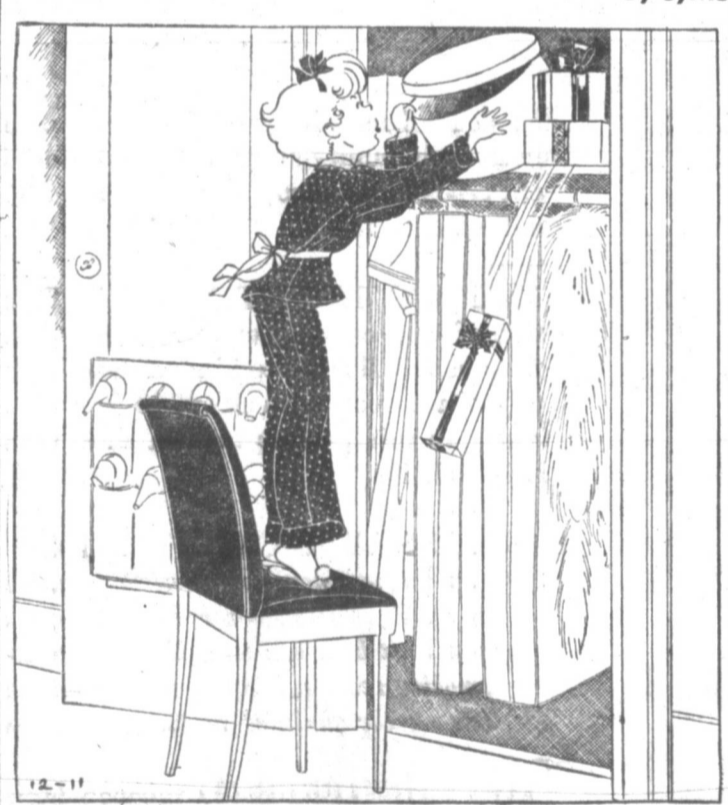

Miss Zedie Bell Walker, publicity chairman for Amateur Night, reported a down town parade will be featured Friday afternoon, preceding the show.

P-T-A will meet in the high school auditorium Thursday at 3:15 for a program on "American Youth."

Mrs. R. R. Spangler of Amarillo says if she had a section of land she would "grow lots and lots" of tomatoes. From one vine in her backyard she picked 157 plump tomatoes this fall.

U. S. Court May Consider Suit On Dam

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (AP)—The Supreme Court may decide next week whether it will consider an injunction suit brought by the State of Oklahoma to block construction of the $54,000,000 Red River dam near Denison, Texas, and Durant, Okla.

Saturday the court will hold a conference on the case and the decision may be announced when the court convenes the following Monday, Dec. 18.

Four Courses Open Any of several courses of action may be taken by the court. They may reject the motion of the State of Oklahoma, or they may agree to permit it to file a suit seeking to enjoin engineers from proceeding with construction on the huge flood control-power project. A decision on the motion might be postponed to permit oral arguments by both the state and the government. A temporary injunction halting construction might be issued pending decision.

The government, through assistants of the attorney general, contends that the Supreme Court has no jurisdiction in the proposed suit. Although the issue pending now before the nation's highest tribunal is simply whether it will permit the filing of an injunction suit, the briefs already submitted by both sides for consideration by the court contain the very same arguments that each side would present if the question at hand were actually the suit itself.

Oklahoma Opposes Woodring On Oct. 2 the State of Oklahoma, through its attorney general and the direction of Governor Leon C. Phillips, filed a brief asking to originate action against Woodring. The government then filed a brief in opposition. The court then fixed Monday as the deadline for Oklahoma to file a brief rebuttal, which was presented Friday.

In their original brief Oklahoma officials contended that the state had not given its consent to the construction of the dam that would inundate 100,000 acres of rich, tillable land in the state and reduce tax revenues, and that the project was "a direct invasion and destruction . . . of proprietary rights."

Went Action By U. S. These allegations were set forth in an effort to show that there was sufficient complaint to authorize the court to take original jurisdiction. The Oklahomans contended also that the matter was justly one for the Supreme Court to decide because Secretary Woodring was a citizen of another state—Kansas.

On the other hand, the government contended in its brief that the project was designed primarily for flood control purposes and was clearly constitutional, not only under the general welfare clause of the constitution, but in as much as it would have a beneficial effect on interstate commerce by removing the danger of disastrous floods which would wipe out bridges and otherwise hamper transportation between states on both sides of the Red river. The government advanced these and other arguments in its contention that there was no cause for action by Oklahoma. The government also contended the claim that because Woodring was a Kansas case should be filed in the Supreme Court, replying that actually the suit was directed at the United States and not the secretary of war as an individual.

"The complainant is here," the Oklahoma brief filed Friday stated, "seeking relief at the hands of this court to prevent what it contends is an irreparable injury to its sovereign rights and irreparable injury to its proprietary and boundary rights. More than 30 of the complainants' subdivisions of government will be either all together or largely destroyed by the acts and threatened acts of the defendants."

Former Farm Boy Becomes President Of Texas University

AUSTIN, Dec. 11. (AP)—Forty-three-year-old Homer Price Rainey, a farm boy who worked his way through college, Saturday formally became the twelfth president of the University of Texas, largest institution of higher learning in the southwest.

And colorful academic ceremonies attended by educational leaders of the nation, Dr. Rainey, a native Texan, was inducted into office by J. R. Parten of Houston, Chairman of the Board of Regents for the 56-year-old, 11,000-student university.

More than 200 representatives of universities and learned societies and nearly half a hundred college presidents marched in an academic procession which culminated in the impressive inaugural ceremony on the terrace in front of the towering administration building.

Charles H. Rowell, former editor of the San Francisco Chronicle and veteran educator, was the featured speaker; Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church in Dallas, delivered the invocation; and Dr. Thomas Stone Clyde, president emeritus of Austin College at Sherman, Tex., asked the benediction.

Sub's Inventor Urges Undersea Vessels As Way To Thwart Naval Blockades

By CHARLES CARSON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

MILFORD, Conn., Dec. 11.—While cash-carry neutrality gives the eastern maritime industry its biggest headache in many moons and knocks thousands of able seamen off decks and into the ranks of unemployed, the venerable inventor of the submarine sits wrapped in an overcoat in his unheated office here, stubbornly insisting that cargoes be carried under the seas.

It's an old story to Simon Lake, who tried without success to give away his plans and services to the U. S. government 20 years ago for the construction of freighter submarines to carry supplies under water through the German blockade to the Allies.

Just move normal commerce lanes 500 feet below the ocean surface to the safety of the ocean depths and the submarine threat to sea-going trade virtually is eliminated, contends Lake.

As a matter of fact, inventor Lake, who in the past 40 years has built all sorts of submarines for Germany, Austria and Russia, as well as the United States, was just about to contract with Germany in 1917 for the building of 5,000-ton cargo-carrying subs to run the allied blockade, when the United States got into the war.

Lake's current plans for submarine freighters, which have been submitted in some detail to President Roosevelt, call for huge 7,500-ton, 400-foot submarines able to dive 500 feet—well out of effective depth bomb range, says Lake.

These cargo subs, it is proposed, would carry a crew of about 30 and their speed would be around 10 or 15 knots average, similar to that of a surface freighter.

Lake's plans call for an observation tower capable of being raised 20 to 25 feet above surface, thus enabling the submarine to remain well below water while navigators had a full view of the ocean. If enemy craft appeared, the vessel could quickly dive to the safety of 500 feet. Cargo would be placed inside the hull and a narrow deck housing would give the crew walking surface when not submerged.

These factors, and others not revealed, combining the most effective features of the merchant ship and the submarine would allow cargo subs to pierce the naval blockades, argues Lake.

In support of his arguments for freighter submarines, Simon Lake recalls the German cargo-bearing U-boat "Deutschland," built along the lines of his own designs, which made four trips to America during the last war, successfully running British and French blockades.

And so the man whose invention gave the world the menace of the military submarine, believes that in the submarine lies the only effective answer to that menace.

LAKE'S CAREER A ROMANCE Simon Lake's career as an inventor has been a romance of science. The U. S. navy department rebuffed him just after the Spanish-American war when he took his first model of a submarine to them.

effect is that it removes the tariff on imported articles and places labor on the farm and in the factory on a level with the underpaid workers in other lands."

Many Republican legislators, and some Democrats, have indicated that they would fight re-enactment of the trade treaty law in the coming session of Congress. The present law expires June 12.

McNary was the first, however, to stress any depreciation of foreign currencies and the relation of this factor to Hull's trade program.

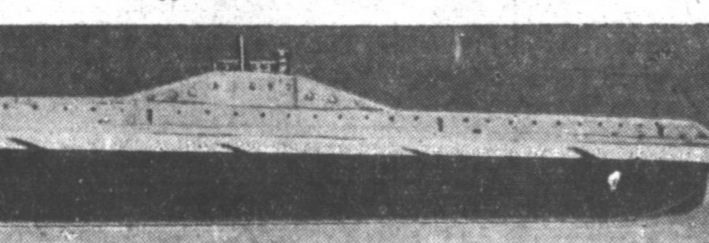

Panhandle Club Holds Yule Party Special To The NEWS PANHANDLE, Dec. 11.—The year's activities for Home Makers club were climaxed with a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Frank Berriss Friday afternoon.

Following seasonal games and contests, directed by Mrs. Jerry Cavanaugh and Mrs. M. D. Eagle, a gift exchange was featured from a lighted Christmas tree. After the gift exchange a salad course was served. To Misses C. H. Bell, A. V. Lowrie, Wendell Fowkes, Carl Metcalf, Jerry Cavanaugh, M. D. Eagle, M. L. Bender, O. G. The new officers will take charge at the first meeting in January which will be Friday, Jan. 5.

Simon Lake . . . "the venerable inventor of the submarine . . . sits wrapped in an overcoat in his unheated office."

A model of Simon Lake's projected cargo-carrying submarine.

Off to Russia went Lake with models, plans and plenty of conviction. There, at Kronstadt, during the Russo-Japanese war, he built the first modern naval sub. It was that vessel, along with later improvements by Lake that was copied by the Germans. Lake spent many years in Europe as a consultant to the governments of Russia and Central Europe in submarine construction before returning to his Connecticut laboratory.

There he still works with his son, Thomas A. Edson Lake, who, oddly enough, is an airplane inventor who believes that bombing planes can blow subs out of and off the seas.

U. S. Lends Ten Millions To Finns

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The products of American farms will become available to Finland's em-tattered population as the result of a $10,000,000 credit grant from the United States government.

A drawing account for Finnish purchase in the United States of "agricultural surpluses and other civilian supplies" has been established—with President Roosevelt's approval—by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the export-import bank.

Jesse Jones, the federal loan administrator, said that similar credits to Norway were being considered.

Hjalmar Procopo, the Finnish minister, said his government would use all the purchasing power thus made available, buying through the Finnish-American trading corporation in New York.

Thus, Finland benefited a second time—since Russian-Finnish hostilities began—from her policy of saying regularly the installments on her "war debt" to the United States.

President Roosevelt asked the secretary of the treasury last week to place in a suspended account the $24,000 installment which Finland is expected to pay on Dec. 15. He suggested congress might make the

Jubilee Buffet Supper Held At Carson Church

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS PANHANDLE, Dec. 11.—A jubilee meeting of members of the Board of Stewards and Finance and their wives was held Thursday evening when the Reverend and Mrs. R. S. Watkins entertained at a buffet supper, culminating the most successful year in the history of Panhandle Methodism.

M. B. Welsh, chairman of the board of stewards, was toastmaster for the occasion and introduced Ralph B. Randel who spoke on "The Responsibilities of the Laity." Mr. Randel, a member of the finance committee, stressed the obligation of the laity in conducting church finances in the same prompt manner as he conducts his business affairs, pointing out that a pastor is hired for a stated salary to assume responsibility of conducting one of the community's biggest organizations, meanwhile serving as a preacher, pastor, business man, social worker and caretaker of the church and parsonage. The services of this versatile man should be as promptly awarded as any other employee's services, Mr. Randel concluded.

Finances Reviewed A. A. Callaghan, chairman of the finance committee, responded with a resume of the church's financial accomplishments during the past year. At the beginning of the year, church members were faced with the possibility of losing the church and were renting a parsonage. During the past year, the local church has reduced its indebtedness of $11,100 to $5000 and in addition purchased a modern parsonage, free of indebtedness. Such a record is being pointed to with pride by every conference in Texas, Mr. Callaghan stated.

Frank Murray, a member of the Board of Stewards, was introduced and brought a stirring message of the opportunity presented the local church for a revival which Mr. Murray, likening to John Wesley's spiritual awakening, predicted would start in the heart of one man who read his Bible daily, spent much time in prayer, and conscientiously brought his life to the altar. One such a member, Mr. Murray explained could bring about the richest blessing this community has ever experienced.

The program was concluded with sentence prayers led by the Rev. Mr. Watkins. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murray, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Adkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Randel, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Welsh, Dr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Grout, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Callaghan, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, and Mesdames Ross Sterling, Frank Ford, Sam Rorex and Opal Cleek.

Panhandle FFA Holds Father-Son Banquet

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS PANHANDLE, Dec. 11.—A hundred guests attended the annual Father and Son banquet given by the P. F. A. boys in the high school cafeteria last week. The guest list included the 40 P. F. A. boys accompanied by their fathers, the following members of the school board, Mrs. J. B. Howe, R. A. Gilkerson, Ted Watkins, M. C. Davis, W. A. Miller, W. W. Evans, A. A. Callaghan, and Vern Wisdom; Frank Ford, county agent; J. P. Smith, vocational agriculture teacher, and all of the ten teachers of the school faculty.

Beargrass covered in crabapples adorned the decorations for the affair. Red shaded lights added a soft rosy hue to the setting. The program was centered around a farm yard theme, which included "The Call to the Maner" by the P. F. A. officers; "The Cock's Crow," by Troy Dowell; "Hill Billy Tunes," by Al Haiduk, and "Adolf and Chester Homen; "Roping the Steer," by members of the P. F. A.; "Throwing the Bull," Leon Martin; and "The Visiting Herd," by Leon Haiduk.

First and second year awards were presented to the boys by J. P. Smith, agriculture teacher. The first year men received bronze apple pins, and the second year, silver pins.

The banquet was prepared by the P. F. A. mothers and served by the first year home making girls. Girls serving were Lanora Ketchum, Helen Homen, Larue Eagle, Zolena Webster, Mary Lou Smith, Mary Earl Davidson, Peggy Lou McNeil, Joyce Powell and Coolen Harris.

McMurry Group To Support Garner

ABILENE, Dec. 11. (AP)—A group of McMurry college students lays claim to the organization of the country's first "Evil Old Man's" club in a college.

Headed by two seniors, Robert Bickley of Merkel and Weldon Edwards of Clyde, the organization was formed to further the candidacy of John Garner for the Democratic presidential nomination. It has 52 charter members or approximately one-eighth of the student body of the Methodist co-educational institution.

According to Edwards, the "evil young men" of McMurry are as serious that other college students follow their lead.

He added that he felt it was an excellent chance for college students to play an important part in framing future policies of the country.

Dies Investigator Blames 'Reds' For Advertising Attack

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—J. B. Matthews, an investigator for the Dies Committee, said today that "a great part of the current popular and official attack upon advertising is the direct result of Communist propaganda in the field of consumer organization."

Evidence to support this view, he declared, is in the committee's possession. Some consumer organizations served as "transmission belts" for the Communist party, he contended in a report.

Groups which he charged were formed by Communists included: The League of Women Shoppers, the Consumers Union, the Committee for Boycott Against Japanese Aggression, the Milk Consumers Protective Committee, the Consumer-Farmer Milk Cooperative, and the New York Consumers Council. Matthews said that persons not sympathetic to the Communist program—drawn in by "professed aims which are never x x x the same as the whole revolutionary program of the Communist party itself"—made up the majority of the membership.

Sweden Expects Emergency And Appoints Chief STOCKHOLM, Dec. 11. (AP)—The Swedish government tonight appointed an active commander-in-chief of all Swedish military forces—a step usually taken only in anticipation of an emergency.

The new commander is Lieutenant General Olof Gerhard Phoronel, previously a "coordinator" of army, navy and air force branches, but without power of active command.

His new post, one Swedish informant said, marks a transition to an effective and active post.

In a declaration to the troops, the new commander said: "Soldiers: The safety of the country is founded in the first line of your loyalty, your strength of will and your feeling of solidarity for Sweden's defense."

The foreign office said the step was a technical one, under consideration for some time.

The military defense orders enacted tonight, however, provide that "during war, or if war is threatening, there shall be a special chief commander of the country's defense forces under the king."

Sweden, having declared her absolute neutrality in the Russian-Finnish conflict and in Europe's older war, nevertheless has taken "precautionary measures" including what was termed "partial mobilization" of some military classes this week, after the Russian-Finnish trouble started.
