The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP) The United States shortly may have on its hands two new dilemmas growing out of the European war and both involving indirect but nevertheless powerful aid to the Berlin-Rome entente in its conflict with Britain.
They are the questions of (1) dealing with the famine which already is threatening Europe, and (2) what we are to do if and when Herr Hitler has cracked the British blockade and demands American food and war supplies on the cash and carry basis.
The Old World is heading straight into a terrible food shortage is the consensus of observers on both sides of the Atlantic. Hunger already has appeared in numerous localities, including Belgium.
Former President Hoover, speaking from the background of his great experience in directing European relief in the World War, said the other day that Europe is threatened with "the most disastrous famine in history."
I was closely associated with Mr. Hoover's relief headquarters in London in the last war, and know something of his vast experience in assaying situations such as are now being rapidly created. When he concurs with the view that Europe is approaching hunger, it is something to make us sit up and take notice.

Hungary Mobilizes As Russia Sends 'Flying Tanks'

(By The Associated Press)
German troops held British soil today for the first time in the war—capturing the English-owned channel islands of Guernsey and Jersey, about 90 miles from Plymouth—to gain still another base for the projected assault on the island Kingdom itself.
The channel islands, virtually emptied of inhabitants a week or more ago, lie southeast of German-occupied Cherbourg.
The Germans said the occupation, long since discounted because the islands were left defenseless, was carried out by a "coup de main of the German air force"—apparently meaning the troops were landed by plane or parachute.
The seizures places Hitler's forces in no closer position for an invasion of Britain than they were already at Calais and other points.
In the war-frenzied Balkans, Hungary mobilized troops on the Rumanian frontier and called for reservists throughout the nation while an official Hungarian news agency declared "the general impression is that Rumania is on the point of collapse."
The Hungarian mobilization was seen as a thinly-veiled German counter to Russia's invasion of Rumania, a vital source of supplies for Germany.
This interpretation of the Hungarian move—in direct contrast to the theory that Hungary wants only to regain territory lost to Rumania in the world war—found support in a Hungarian foreign office communique.

War Flashes

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—The British government announced today that all communications with the channel islands had been suspended. (This apparently was the only immediate official British reaction to the German high command's announcement that Guernsey and Jersey had been seized by the German air force.)
LONDON, July 1 (AP)—The ministry of information warned Britons today to disregard the advice of a "self-styled new British Broadcasting company which is a German short-wave station operating from Germany" to flee their homes in the event of bombardment. "This advice is directly opposite to the government's direction to civilians to 'stay put,'" the ministry said.
WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The navy today ordered construction of 45 more warships, at a cost of a total of approximately $500,000,000.
BERLIN, July 1 (AP)—Neville Chamberlain has earned the title of "spine" in his radio address last night, so far as Germany is concerned, authorized sources said today.
"We certainly are going to remember his assertion that the civilian population constitutes a part of Britain's armed force," these sources said.

Colonel Fires 5 Questions At O'Daniel

MADISONVILLE, July 1 (Special)—Five more questions were fired at Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel here Saturday by Col. Ernest O. Thompson, candidate for governor. The fighting Colonel challenged O'Daniel to answer the questions, along with other questions previously hurled at him at his rally in Waco next Tuesday night.
A crowd of three thousand cheered the red-headed Colonel as he lashed out at the "do-nothing" attitude of the governor and hurled these questions at him:
1. Why did you refuse to call the legislature into special session to plan adequate state defense and to combat fifth column activities?
2. Why did you veto a part of the appropriation for the department of public safety? Why did you cut the state highway patrol?
3. Why did you veto funds for the narcotic division of the department of public safety and leave the youth of Texas at the mercy of dope peddlers. The mothers and fathers demand an explanation for that vicious veto.
4. Why did you veto the money appropriated by the legislature for the return to Texas of fugitive criminals?
Why do you want criminals to stop across the state line and evade arrest? Your veto of this fund condones crime and obstructs justice. Your letter to Sheriff W. N. Adams of Amarillo, president of the Texas Sheriffs association, states there are no funds available for the return of criminals to Texas. You cannot expect sheriffs to spend their own money to go after criminals. Why did you cut off that appropriation?

FDR Message To Urge Tax On Excess Profits

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to enact a "steeply graduated excess profits tax" applicable to all individuals and corporate organizations "without discrimination."
The text of the president's message follows:
"We are engaged in a great national effort to build up our national defenses to meet any and every potential attack.
"We are asking even our humblest citizens to contribute their mite. It is our duty to see that the burden is equitably distributed, according to ability to pay so that a few do not gain from the sacrifices of the many."
"I, therefore, recommend to the congress the enactment of a steeply

PWCA Will Meet At Lake Tuesday

The meeting was called in connection with the program of the Pampa chamber of commerce and Junior chamber of commerce, at which a barbecue will be held.
As several members of the PWCA and SCSS will attend the program, it was deemed appropriate to call the meeting at the same time.
Carl Hinton, PWCA secretary, is en route here from Washington, D. C., traveling by automobile, and will arrive at the lake at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Death Toll In Texas Flood Area Mounts

HALLETTSVILLE, July 1 (AP)—The death toll mounted to eight today in Texas floods as rescue workers here and elsewhere in south and central Texas dug thru the mud-smeared debris of river bank homes seeking additional victims.
Mayor J. G. Trasher estimated damage here would total $1,000,000. He said Red Cross relief workers were assisting several hundred homeless and that fears of epidemic dwindled as the city water supply cleared up. It was first feared it had been contaminated.

Several hundred persons were rescued from homes and the tops of buildings by boats in the Hallettsville and Cuero areas.
Damage at Cuero was estimated unofficially at more than $150,000 after the Guadalupe river rose 12 feet in some business houses.
Crews were rushed into the area to repair washed-out bridges and communication lines.
From a few miles below Austin to Wharton the Colorado river struck at Bastrop, Smithville, Lagrange and Columbus.
Railroad bridges were reported washed out both east and west of Schulenburg.

Attack On Trotsky Leads To Moscow, Police Announce

MEXICO CITY, July 1 (AP)—Police circles reported today that the investigation of the machine-gun assault against Leo Trotsky last month had led the police into what appeared to be a network of secret agents of the Communist OGPU.
The police theory was said to be that the sensational attempt to kill the former war commissar of Soviet Russia was definitely a "political crime" with roots reaching toward Moscow.

Spectators Must Pay War Tax On Theater Tickets

Not even motion picture tickets are exempt from the new federal taxes for national defense that went into effect today.
Beer, liquor, and tobacco are other commodities subject to the new taxes.
Every time adult Pampans pay to see bullet flick across the screen they are going to pay also for real bullets.
This means new prices at Pampa theaters. Whether it's a sagebrush saga with bullets flying, or a sophisticated drama, movie thrills are going to cost more to the public.
Carl Benefiel, manager of the Griffith Amusement company's Pampa theaters, announced today the scale under the new federal tax would be:
On 25-cent admissions, three cents, total 28; 30-cent, three cents, total 33; 35-cent, four cents, total 39; 40-cent, four cents, total 44 cents.
This will increase the admission prices at the LaNora and Rex theaters, while the admission price at the State, 20 cents for adults, will remain unchanged, under the federal law which provides for a one-cent tax for each 10 cents or fraction thereof when the admission price exceeds 2 cents.
The Crown will not be affected by the tax as the theater will make uniform a 20-cent admission price, at least for the present. Heretofore, the admission price has been 20 cents for matinee and 25 cents at night.
Applies On Passes Also
Even passes won't be exempt from the tax, for the law provides a tax on passes redeemed when the admission price is 21 cents or over.
Box offices in Texas theaters however, won't know half the head-

Keep America Out Of War, Wheeler Advises Democrats

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) predicts that should the Democratic party follow the action of the Republican national convention and refuse to include in its platform a pledge not to send American soldiers "to a foreign shore," a "new and great anti-war party" would be formed.
Speaking at a "keep America out of war" mass meeting last night, the Montana Senator asserted that the Democratic party "must be a peace party" and have in its platform the peace plank rejected by the Republican convention.
Wheeler's name has been mentioned with John L. Lewis, CIO chief, in political speculation in connection with the possible formation of a third party and also regarded as a possible candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Marriage Of Miss Ruth Waggon And Wayne Phelps Solemnized Sunday

Couple To Visit Mexico City On Wedding Tour

In an impressive ring ceremony solemnized Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Central Baptist church, Miss Ruth Waggon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Waggon, became the bride of Wayne Phelps, son of Mrs. Eugene Phelps.

The Rev. J. O. Himes of Chickasha, Oklahoma, uncle of the bride, officiated as the vows were read before an altar banked with woodwardia fern and Kenia palms. Floor baskets of white gladioli flanked a cathedral candelabra arrangement and aisle stands of the same flower were used at the entrance. A bouquet of white daisies and gladioli decorated the piano and white satin bows marked the pews.

Preceding the service, Mrs. H. E. McCauley played "The Flower Song," "June Brought the Roses," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," after which Mrs. Byron Hilburn sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." As the bride party entered, Mrs. McCauley played "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin (Wagner), and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played as the recessional. During the ceremony, "O Promise Me" and "Because" were played by Mrs. McCauley.

Bride Given By Father

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white frosted organza fashioned with short puffed sleeves and a square neckline, edged with wide lace ruffles, a close fitting bodice, and flared skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a pleated coronet of organza. She wore white lace mittens and carried a bouquet of white gladioli tied with a bow outlined in white tulle and satin.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Isabelle Waggon, who wore a dress of peach colored frosted organza matching that of Mrs. Phelps' gown and a floral chapeau of white carnations. Miss Waggon's colonial bouquet was of white daisies and carnations centered with pink gladioli and showered with streamers.

Miss Eugenia Phelps, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Charlene Wetzel of Bellevue, who assisted John Wayne, brother of the bridegroom, and Guy LeMond in lighting the candles, wore floor-length dresses of pink silk organza with coronets of split carnations. Walton Johnson of LeFors county, of Mr. Phelps, was best man. Ushers were the bridegroom's brothers, John, and Mr. LeMond.

Reception Follows

At the reception held in the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony, Mrs. Freda Barrett poured punch and Miss Betty Jo Townsend presided at the three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, which centered a lace-covered table lighted with tall pink tapers in crystal holders. Small wedding bells tied with silver ribbons hung over the arrangement.

The couple left on a trip to Wichita Falls, San Antonio, Monterey, and Mexico City. For traveling, Mrs. Phelps chose a navy blue sheer redingote with blue and white accessories. Upon their return, the couple will be at home at 1003 1/2 Christine street.

Mrs. Phelps, who was graduated from high school in Frederick, Oklahoma, has been employed by the Standard Pipe and Metal company. She is an active member of the local Beta Gamma Kappa club.

Mr. Phelps, a graduate of Quannah High school, has been employed in the advertising department of The Pampa News for the past four years. He was formerly connected with the Port Worth Star Telegram, Wichita Daily Times, and Quannah Tribune Chief. He is a director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and retiring president of Everyman's Bible class of First Baptist church.

Alanreed 4-H Club President Raises Various Vegetables

President of Alanreed 4-H club, Lola Prock, who is an enthusiastic gardener, has planted 12 varieties of vegetables and his 4,000 feet.

From this she helps feed her family, both fresh vegetables and by canning them for the winter months. These vegetables include beans, peas, lettuce, onions, radishes, okra, carrots, cucumbers, squash, tomatoes, and beets.

To further assist, with the family food supply, Lola is raising chickens. She has 70 which she works with and feeds daily.

"I believe in having a comfortable and cheerful place in which to live so I have really enjoyed working on my bedroom this year," Lola stated. She has refurbished a dresser and added five other useful and attractive articles to her room.

County Wide 4-H Club Officer Adds Dresser To Room

"I am really getting a lot of good use from my 20 cent dresser," said Margaret Rogers, vice-president of County Wide 4-H club, in describing her dressing table which she has added to her bedroom this year as a part of her 4-H work.

This dresser was made by standing two orange crates upright, securing them together by nailing a board across the top and putting extra shelves for clothes inside. Flowered cretonne was purchased for the founce and a mirror was placed on top.

Margaret also boasts of the dishes she serves her family from the seven varieties she has planted in her 25-foot garden, and it will not be long until she will be feeding them chicken for she has only lost one from the 50 which she hatched. This good work has been accomplished through careful tending and proper feeding.

No city in the entire southwest has more of a right or is better able to put on a wild and woolly re-creation of the scenes of the cattle roundups than Canadian.

A few miles to the north lies the historic Adobe Walls, where a small group of white men managed to hold a group of redskins; east of Canadian the Buffalo Wallow monument; and numerous points in this area are the scenes of a number of Indian battles where General Miles and his soldiers withstood the assault of picked warriors.

In later years the cowboy made it his headquarters, and it was the route through which many a herd of longhorn steers came from the land of the Rio Grande, to Dodge City and north to Wyoming and Montana.

So Canadian is prepared to celebrate the memory of its past, and toast its future with a great show. It will be the eighteenth year of the Anvil Park Rodeo, and this Wednesday will see the fifty-fourth consecutive performance of the show. It is estimated that the total attendance in the past eighteen years has been in excess of 125,000 persons.

"raining" parachute troops on Rumanian soil and landing baby tanks from Soviet "kangaroo" planes.

Nazi ire was reported aroused by Russian seizure of German-owned materials in Bessarabia.

Berlin officials, while diplomatically scolding any possibility of a German-Russian clash, said Germany's main interest was to prevent any disruption of her supply of vital materials—oil for her mechanized armies and foodstuffs—from Rumania.

Nevertheless, the Rumanian government has already appealed to Hitler to make Russia live up to last week's ultimatum agreement for ceding territory, thereby giving the Nazi Fuehrer an excuse, if he wants one, for marching into Rumania against Russia.

In any event, Rumania appeared the loser—threatened by an axis-supported Hungarian invasion to stop Russia and by a possible German move to safeguard Nazi interests in Rumania.

Balkan capitals reflected mounting nervousness over Russian plans in southeastern Europe today as the Soviet's Red army seized command of the lower Danube river in Rumania, one of Germany's vital supply lines.

Concurrently, other dispatches said Russia demanded that Turkey grant her a share in defense of the Dardanelles, key link between the Black sea and the Mediterranean, while Germany and Italy are concentrating on the battle against Britain.

A flurry of land and air fighting over the weekend on the Libyan-Egyptian border indicated a faster tempo in the Mediterranean area.

The Italian high command reported the capture of several British positions, with attacks by British motorized units reported between 10 and 15 miles officially described as considerable.

Reports from Khartoum said two British armored cars knifed through Italian defense on the Eritrea border in east Africa and routed 2000 cavalrmen with heavy casualties.

British R. A. F. bombing planes striking at Germany in mass attacks in a "warm up" for the expected great battle for Britain moved over the north-west coast of the Reich during the night.

The German high command said the British sky raiders attacked "non-military targets" and that 18 were shot down—an indication that the attackers must have been in considerable numbers.

The Nazi high command also reported a British cruiser of the Orion class (about 2,000 tons) was sunk off the coast of France, and that a German U-boat sank 23,000 tons of enemy merchant shipping.

"Two of the sunken steamers were torpedoed from a strongly protected convoy," the communique said.

MACKENZIE

Mr. Hoover said he had communicated with Germany, Great Britain and the "refugee government" of Belgium, seeking consent for some "third party intervention" to feed the starving.

About the last thing the average person would imagine, would be that such a humanitarian proposal might run counter to anybody's interests.

Wholesale relief, however, undoubtedly would give Britain something to ponder—in fact already has been taken note of abroad.

The point is, of course, that England's greatest hope of defeating Germany still lies in economic strangulation of the Reich by blockade.

Hard as it may sound, a food shortage in Germany is all to the good for Britain, since it would tend to hasten the collapse of the enemy.

But if Germany takes food from invaded countries like Belgium or Holland, and that food is replaced by American relief, it actually is a mighty boon to the Nazis and helps them evade the blockade.

The situation which this country will have to meet if Germany should attempt to take advantage of the "cash and carry" privileges, is summed up in the following question which has been laid before me in a letter:

"With control of the French Atlantic ports, the Axis powers will be able to trade directly with the United States, as well as Latin America. They will certainly be privileged to take advantage of the 'cash and carry' provisions of the neutrality act just as well as have the Allies.

"While it undoubtedly is true that a vast preponderant sentiment of the people of the United States would be averse to dealing with Germany and Italy in any way to help them in waging war, what would this nation want to do in the matter of selling them raw materials, gas and oil, and even war supplies they might want, if they should seek to run the British blockade?"

graduated excess profits tax, to be applied to all individuals and all corporate organizations without discrimination.

Mr. Roosevelt did not estimate how much revenue an excess profits levy might yield. House Majority Leader Rayburn, who attended the White House conference which preceded the issuance of the president's message, said, however, that the tax would be along the lines of one levied in World War days.

The tax described would be both a revenue producer and a measure to hold down profits on war time business.

The congressional leaders were advised of the tax plan at a regular Monday White House conference with Mr. Roosevelt. Attending were Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Rayburn, and Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.). Byrnes substituting for Senate Majority Leader aches of box offices in Oklahoma where the state has its tax, payable in mills.

For example, say an Oklahoma theater has an admission price of 25 cents. There's the new federal tax of three cents, plus the Oklahoma tax of five mills, making the admission cost 28 cents and five mills.

Now when Aunt Susan and Uncle John and Cousin Sam, come to the theater, along with Betty Ann, 6 Johny, 4, and Tom, 3, you can see the girl in the ticket window hurrying to figure out the amount due for tickets for the six.

Uncle Sam is mighty definite on his tax, thus throwing another headache at the theater owners. He says the tax can't be absorbed in admission prices when the time comes to pay the bureau of internal revenue. It must be kept separate. The same applies to "mills" (one-tenth of a cent) in Oklahoma, which sooner theaters have to almost compel the Sooner to take in change.

In the past Oklahomans have often left an extra penny at the office rather than be "bothered" by mills, but it's "no go" on that now.

Do you think those who are educated by the state should be required by law to pre-government service in defense of the democratic government which provides these educational facilities and makes possible our liberty and protects the rights of property?

"This question," Thompson declared, "is in every mother's heart. Every father would prefer his boy be taught to defend himself and his country instead of being left as defenseless cannon fodder."

Thompson was introduced by Buddy Wakefield of Madisonville, a war veteran, who said that he and all other ex-service men resented "the slurs which had been cast upon Col. Thompson by the present governor."

Wakefield cited the Colonel's magnificent war record and said it was the "duty of every legionnaire and every ex-service man and every patriotic Texan to put a real man in the governor's office."

Col. Thompson also spoke in Huntsville, Hempstead, Navasota and Bryan.

Barkley who is in Kentucky, Rayburn said the question of a congressional adjournment was not brought up but that the congress probably would recess July 11 for the Democratic convention.

Britain Hints Balbo Murdered By Jealous Mussolini

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—The British foreign office drew a parallel today between the "unexplained" death of Italy's air marshal Italo Balbo in a plane crash in Libya and that of Germany's Col.-Gen. Baron Werner Von Fritsch in the siege of Warsaw.

Now Fritsch, a foreign office news department statement recalled, was an "opponent of Hitler's home and foreign policy."

Of Balbo, the statement said: "It will be recalled that he was appointed governor general in Libya because his presence in Italy was inconvenient to Signor Mussolini. Since then he has consistently been opposed to the policy of harnessing Italy to Hitler's war machine."

Quoting a German wireless announcement that "Balbo's death occurred in the same spirit as that of General Von Fritsch," the foreign office declared:

"The only fact which can be established is that Marshal Balbo did not perish in combat with the Royal Air Force."

McCoy was sponsored by the local post. Other Pampa boys attending the Austin "school" were Billy Mounts, sponsored by the Kiwanians, Ross Burnard, by the Rotarians, and Wayne Fide, sponsored by the Lions.

IT'S AN ART to spend money

Somehow, it's a lot more fun to spend money now, in the good old summer-time. Maybe that's because we spend more of it on living—and less on just keeping alive.

There's only one catch! The money we have to spend doesn't ever go quite far-enough. It's so easy to spend it all, and then some, before vacation time really starts . . . unless we take a tip from the stores and learn to budget our buying, and buy more for less.

How? Well, one step in the right direction is to watch the advertisements like a hawk, going through your newspaper every time it arrives, to find things you need now or will need very soon.

If you haven't formed that habit, start now. You'll be surprised how many extra-good buys you'll discover at every reading! How much more you get and how much less you spend!

That's why stores run advertisements—to tell you of special chances to buy fine things at advantageous prices. It's to your definite advantage to stop, look, listen . . . and ACT!

Jack Dempsey In Ring To Settle Feud With Texan

By KENNETH GREGORY
ATLANTA, July 1 (AP)—Eight years out of the legitimate pugilistic business in which he became a world idol, William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey returns to the ring here tonight to settle a grudge with a rough and tumble wrestler from Texas.

The opponent of the 45-year-old Manassas mauler, over a scheduled 10-round distance, is Clarence (Cowboy) Luttrell, with whom the former-wrestling heavyweight king has traded blows in his role as a wrestling referee on three occasions.

Some 15,000 fans are expected to jam the park for what is lightly whispered inside Dempsey's camp as his second "comeback" attempt, allegedly part of a test for a possible scrap with Joe Louis.

Dempsey will enter the ring weighing 205 lbs. his opponent 220.

Dempsey, who was dethroned by Kingfish Levinsky in 1933 in a memorable comeback, is thought to be in the Louis talk with a grin but would not deny that such an effort might take place if he can show enough ability in future fights.

Max Waxman, manager of Dempsey, said he is confident of a doubleheader with Luttrell, who he said is a "wrestler with a grudge."

"He'll take on some third raters," said Waxman, "and everything depends on how he looks on each attempt. We won't make the fatal mistake they did with Jim Jeffries in his comeback attempt against Jack Johnson."

Dempsey preferred to let Waxman do most of the talking.

"I feel great," said Dempsey, "and I think I can get this over with in a hurry. I've got all my old time punch, but, of course, my legs are not what they used to be and my wind may be short."

It was Luttrell who boxed three years before taking up wrestling, who brought up this evening's entertainment when he challenged Dempsey to a settlement of their feud after Jack dropped a punch on the Texan's chin during a recent wrestling show here.

Thrown Beer Glass Gashes Galento Chin

By GAYLE TALBOT
JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 1 (AP)—Apparently a beer glass, sailing through the air with the greatest of ease, was too central a detail to change Tony Galento's mind today about his ability to belt out Maxie Baer in the local ball park tomorrow night.

"Tony and Madcap Maxie wound up their training yesterday, such as it was, but the round gentleman from Orange was around today sporting a bandage on his chin, covering a cut brought about by the aforementioned beer glass. Complete details were sent to the press by the bar-room today, but the Newark Star-Ledger found witnesses who reported Tony had been having a dispute with his brother Russell, who pitched the glass at him in a moment of excitement.

He received a cut about an inch long, they said, and was taken to a physician's office for treatment. However, Mike Jacobs, who is promoting tomorrow night's "battle of the bums" announced Tony's managers had advised him a little thing like a split chin wouldn't bother "Two-Ton."

"They told me," Mike explained, "that Tony's injury was only minor, and that he would fight on schedule."

Tony customarily does his tapering off before a fight in his Orange saloon, where he can check on the case of an opponent. He is a customarily an outliner of his plans for the pending engagement. Russell asked for a couple of tickets for the fight, so the story goes. Tony cut him off with a curt "See me Tuesday," and Russell left fly with the glass.

Available interested parties said the cut was no where near as serious as first reports indicated. But

Magnolia Wins 6th Straight From Fritch

Magnolia's Flying Red Horses took their sixth straight win yesterday, when they defeated the Panhandle Eastern team of Fritch 10 to 1 in a baseball game played at the Magnolia diamond at the end of E. Foster.

Next Sunday the Red Horses journey to Miami to play a team three composed of boys back from college.

In the game here yesterday, Hadcock started for the locals, allowed four hits one run, struck out eight and walked three players in seven innings.

A. C. Miller, who relieved Hadcock, struck out four of the seven men to face him in the eighth and ninth innings and allowed one single.

Terry, starting pitcher for the visitors, allowed seven hits, struck out five, walked one, for six runs.

He was relieved by Osborne in the eighth, who allowed three hits, one a home run by White, struck out one, and walked one.

Fielding sensation of the day was a long running catch by L. Banks Frich, who caught a long fly by Keyser's in deep right field.

Robert Stevens of the Red Horses was the batting star of the game.

In four times at bat, he had two singles and a home run.

Vernon Kennedy Puts Slug On Birdie Tebbetts

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Just what the Tigers' catcher said to the Boston Red Sox pitcher isn't known at the moment, but the chances are Vernon Kennedy had a lot of moral encouragement from the rest of the American league when he upped and put the slug on Birdie Tebbetts yesterday.

"Birdie got that tag for his voice. It's a high-pitched affair that carries 'way out to the right field corner."

In instance, there's Ted Williams the very long distance biter of the Boston Red Sox. Birdie had Ted as jittery as a gal on her first date.

"Gee, Ted," Birdie will chirp from behind his mask when Williams steps up to the plate against De-De. "Did you see what those baseball writers did to you in the papers today? They moidered you. If you're keeping a scrap book, you'd better pass over today's papers."

The results show in Williams' record against the Tigers this year.

"However," Birdie admits, "I do not work the same stuff with Jimmy Fox. When I'd give him the needle, I'd see the corner of his mouth curl up—and the next thing the ball would be sailing out of the lot."

Tebbetts recalls that Art Fletcher, Yankee coach, had a fire in his house a couple of years back and there was considerable damage. So Birdie gets out behind Fletcher's door and inhales deeply of the breeze blowing off the left field corner.

"Gosh, Art," he calls, "Ain't it a swell day for a fire? No breeze, no clouds."

Fletcher runs for the nearest ball bat and there is anything but peace and the brotherhood of man in his heart. Is it any wonder, then, that Vernon Kennedy busted into the Tigers' clubhouse before yesterday's doubleheader and yelled Tebbetts right in the left eye?

Top Rodeo Hands Of U. S. Entered In Famed Rodeo

CANADIAN, July 1—The Beutler Bros. rodeo stock is fattening and getting acclimated in a pasture adjacent to Anvil Park, in preparation for the rodeo, opening Wednesday night at 8 p. m.

Beutler Bros. have furnished stock for all the leading rodeos and stock shows for the last ten years and it is only top stock that will be brought here for this annual celebration.

It is nothing uncommon for the bucking horses to throw all the riders, which has occurred at a number of shows recently. A re-ride never is given in the Beutler Bros. string because one doesn't buck.

Beutler Bros. stock was brought here early in order to become rested and acclimated to the higher altitude. They furnished stock for 20 rodeos last year, and this year will take care of the same number of shows.

A huge parade on Wednesday afternoon will officially open the rodeo and Fourth of July celebration. Preliminary rodeo events, with the top hands of the country competing for cash prizes and Southwest Rodeo Association points will be run off Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon, with finals Thursday night.

Wednesday afternoon a gigantic historical parade—depicting the progress of the cowboy from the pioneer days in the streets of Canadian.

A number of floats will appear in the parade, Bob Shaller, chairman of the parade committee, declared yesterday.

The parade will be led by the Canadian High School Band, and the Pampa Summer Recreation Band will also be in the parade, and play for the initial performance Wednesday night.

Among the top cowhands of the country—known from Madison Square Garden to Sidney, Australia, for their skill and daring—will be in Canadian on July 2-4, for Canadian's 15th annual Rodeo, the Beutler Bros. rodeo contractor who is furnishing the stock for the show here.

Among the cowboys to compete for large cash prizes here, Beutler said will be Slim Panhandle, of Petrolia, pick-up man, and noted calf roper, Jiggs Burk, Comanche, Okla., calf and steer roper.

Ralph Chappel and Levi London of Supply, Okla., and Fred Petrolia, who have participated in the Woodward Elk Rodeo at Woodward, Okla., for a good many years.

Roy Ross of Sayre, Okla., bulldogger and member of the famous "The Three Musketeers."

Many famous performers, in addition to the contestants, will be here to entertain the crowd. These include Jack Owen, noted rodeo clown; Veldt, Findall and her two daughters, Edna and Carlene, noted trick riders and ropers.

Dizzy Would Make Good Preacher If Comeback Fails, Says Grandma

By ED CURTIS
(AP Feature Service)
TULSA, Okla.—Dizzy Dean, trying to rekindle the $185,000 bonfire in his right arm with southwestern sunshine, is optimistic over the preliminary results.

"It's getting better," says the Dizzy One of his new "side-wheeler" delivery that he is attempting to develop as a means of relieving the muscle misery that has plagued him.

"The new delivery still throws me off balance a little but, we're working on that."

Dutch Reuther, the scout who was sent along with Dizzy from the Chicago Cubs to coach him while he tries to reconstruct his pitching form, says he, too, can see improvement.

The concrete evidence that Dizzy isn't doing so badly was displayed to the packed grandstands in the first two Sunday ball games that Dizzy pitched for the Tulsa Oilers in the Texas league. Dizzy won both games.

Trying Hard
His persistence and his enthusiasm under trying conditions have convinced his Oilers teammates that Dean is determined his return to the Texas league will be a short one and that he soon will be back with the Cubs.

The whole thing, of course, was Dizzy's idea at the start. His brother, Paul, once returned to the Texas league and he now is doing all right with the New York Giants.

"Paul's 100 per cent better for having returned to the Texas league," says Dizzy, who feels that if Paul did it, he can too.

Dizzy doesn't even consider the possibility that he won't be able to make the grade again with the Cubs and his Texas league fans seem to have the same philosophy—all except one of Dizzy's staunchest friends, Chicago doesn't attend baseball games but she has it all figured out what Dizzy can do if his arm falls him permanently.

Napoleon LaJoie Favors Headgear

By RAY BLOSSER
MENTOR-ON-THE-LAKE, O., July 1 (AP)—Napoleon (Larry) LaJoie, one of baseball's immortals, added his seldom-heard voice today to agitation for headgear to protect batters from whizzing "bean balls."

Tall and erect at 64, LaJoie looked up from the lawn mower he was pushing around his peaceful summer home and opined:

"It's better to wear a helmet than to be carried away on a stretcher."

While baseball fans still argue whether he or Eddie Collins was the best second baseman in the game's long history, LaJoie lives in near-seclusion at his white frame home on the Lake Erie shore, 25 miles east of Cleveland.

"They ought to be able to make something to stop the ball from hurting anybody, especially for night baseball," he declared.

"If you got in from a fast one like Bob Feller throws over the lights, it would be too bad. It's bad enough when you get hit on the back, but it looks like head injuries are increasing."

LaJoie declared a helmet should not interfere with anyone's batting average and he should know, since he hit above .300 for 16 big league years before he retired in 1910.

Reds Game And Half Ahead As Brooks Lose Second Tilt

By BILL WHITE
Associated Press Sports Writer
It will be better all around for the Brooklyn Dodgers when Pat Frazier wins his 200th major league victory.

He chalked up No. 199 yesterday—and the Dodgers were so tired from helping him win that they dropped the second game of the Boston Bees and lost ground in their attempt to catch the league leading Cincinnati Reds.

Frazier fidgeted through nine innings, scattering eight Boston hits, winning by 9-2, and coming within one game of his long-cherished desire. By the second game the Dodgers were dog-tired, and Manuel Salvo's steady nine hitter beat them, 7-2.

The Reds climbed a game and a half ahead of the Brooks when Bucky Walters pitched and Lums Pryor batted them to a 7-4 win over the Cubs in the first game and Eddie Joost came through with a ninth inning single to win the nightcap.

Johnny Rizzo, "the man nobody wanted" earned a spot in the heart of Philadelphia fans when he homered the Phillies to a 7-4 victory over the Giants in the first game of their twin bill. A six run uprising in the

Chamberlain Speech Hit By Editors

(By The Associated Press). LONDON, July 1.-Nazi planes bombed England, Scotland and Wales today in a continuation of raids former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain termed "only the prelude" to a German attempt at invasion in full force that may be "at any moment."

Two persons were reported killed and eight injured in German raids Saturday night. Though today's bombings were the tenth by Nazi warplanes in the last 13 days, both from Chamberlain and from British observers came new tributes to the power and effectiveness of the Royal Air Force.

Chamberlain, in enumerating the weapons with which Britain would fight invasions by the enemy, "until he or we are utterly destroyed," said the British Air Force "is stronger in numbers today than it has been since the beginning of the war and superior in equipment, training and morale to that of the enemy."

The Lord president of the council also asserted "all the members of the war cabinet are working together in complete harmony and agreement. Anyone who lends himself to German propaganda and listens to idle tales about dissension among us, or who imagines that any of us would consent to enter upon peace negotiations with the enemy is just playing the Nazi game. We are a solid and united nation."

The speech, containing the warning that the German invaders "may break through" got an unfriendly response from the tabloid Daily Mirror, which described it as "a mirror broadcasting out of the dreary past."

It concluded with the demand: "In God's name, go!" The Evening News' comment on Chamberlain's broadcast was that it "told us nothing we did not know or could not guess for ourselves" and was addressed "not so much to the citizens of this island as to those of other lands."

But perhaps it is wise to remind the people of America that we are not governed by Marshal Petains, said the News.

SERIAL STORY

PEACE--SHE'S WONDERFUL BY ISABEL WAITT

Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER I
 "Well, here we are!" Wayne Dennis grinned from the sober, blue-eyed, little girl at his side to the sober, dark-eyed, big girl who rose to meet him in the North Station at Boston. "Rhoda, this is Peace Warren. Peace, say howdy to Miss Lowell—your Auntie Rhoda."
 "She isn't my aunt." Peace wriggled defiantly.
 "No, honey. But you can play she is on the trip." He beamed at his fiancée. "Cute little trick, isn't she? Regular mouse. You can't imagine how grateful Warren was when I agreed to take her along with us. 'Old man,' he said, 'we'll never forget this.' 'Shucks,' I told him, 'it's no trouble at all. She'll be good as a kitten.'"
 Rhoda's neat brows puckered. "That," she intimated, scrutinizing the 6-year-old in chicory blue, "remains to be seen, Denny. Has the B-A-B-Y arrived yet?"
 "... taking her M-A-M-M-A to the H-O-S-P-I-T-A-L right now. Picked up the kiddy at the office. Promised to wire the minute we deliver Peace to her grandmother in Los Angeles. Be almost like a honeymoon, won't it, dear?"
 Rhoda's pale cheeks flushed. "Honeymoon? With this along?" She picked up a smart hatbox which had been resting on a huge gray suitcase.
 "Me don't like her," Denny heard Peace mutter, apparently to a tiny overnight case she carried. "She, that's all," he said hastily. "And no wonder, seeing we're both practically strangers." He picked up the bags. "Let's go."
 "She'll get acquainted." Rhoda started on ahead. "It's a scream—her being our chaperon! But you know my Aunt Tilly. Threw up her hands in holy horror at the idea of our going out west to your sister's to get married. Trotted out all her Beacon Hill phobias."
 "But taking Peace made everything perfectly proper?"
 "Not everything. I may as well say it now, Denny, Aunt Tilly isn't keen on my marrying you, anyway."
 Denny put down the heaviest suitcase. "What has she got against me?"
 "Oh, come on. It isn't just you. It's all men. She says you can summer 'em and winter 'em and still get fooled. Her one exception is that precious nephew of hers, my Cousin Bertrand. She made me promise to stop off and see him in Chicago, between trains."
 Denny scowled. "It's up to you, dear. Bees is planning to stage a simple wedding for us at LaJolla, but if you aren't sure—Maybe you'll get to like me en route."
 Confound that old blue stocking aunt, with her fat pocketbook! He signaled a porter for Rhoda's luggage, and tried to relieve Peace of her small case, which she toted gingerly and refused to relinquish. He saw her pick up a peanut from the station floor.
 "Don't eat that, honey. You'll mind me, like a good girl, won't you?"
 Peace hid the peanut in her pocket. "I'll mind you, but me won't mind her."
 What sort of talk was that? Then he remembered what Warren had said about an I-and-me coming to the child had. When she says "me won't," look out! Regular Jekyll-and-Hyde young lady. He hoped Rhoda would understand.
 THEY found their reservations and saw the luggage safely stowed away. The train didn't leave till 2 o'clock.

Illustrated by George Scarbo.

In a bound Denny reached the child, snatched her in his arms and dashed through the crowd. Behind him a woman screamed "Stop that man! Kidnap!"

Denny consulted his watch. "We've plenty of time. How about a nice cool drink back at the soda fountain?"

Peace chose strawberry, her favorite. Denny selected a couple of magazines and Rhoda made a last-minute phone call, but Peace was still straining at her straw.

"Hurry up, honey. My, the instructions your daddy gave me," Denny said, as all three headed once more for the train. "Put her to bed early! Don't let her lean out of the window! Watch for cats! Don't allow her too much candy! You'd think—"

"All a-boooooooooooo!" called the conductor.

"Just in time. But the thing Warren stressed most," Denny went on, "was—don't let her get lost. Good grief! Where is she?"

"All a-boooooooooooo!" yelled the conductor again, assisting a beady-eyed woman, snugly upholstered in shining black satin, on to the train. "Chicago? Yes, Madam."

"Hold it!" shouted Denny. "Lost a little girl!"

"She was here a second ago," Rhoda interceded, while Denny raced away.

The conductor stared back at his watch. "Can't delay this train. Get about—"

Denny didn't wait to hear how much. He tore to the soda fountain. No sign of Peace! The waiting room seats, where they'd met Rhoda—was it 10 minutes or 10 years ago?

No blue coat! For a second he stood still, frantically scanning the huge depot. His heart beat so rapidly he thought it would burst.

There—down by the drug store side window, standing on tiptoe looking at that display of dolls! In a bound he reached the blue-clad human doll, snatched her in his arms and dashed through the crowd.

Behind him a woman screamed. "Stop that man! Kidnap!"

DENNY paid no heed. He had to make that train. Why

Enthusiasm has been shown in towns throughout this area, and many inquiries have come from hundreds of miles concerning this year's rodeo.

 CANADIAN: June 29—A week of hurried last minute preparations was anticipated by residents of Canadian today as July Fourth and the 18th annual and largest Anvil Park rodeo came into sight.
 The town has gone western with loud colored shirts, boots and neckerchiefs which would stampede any Panhandle herd. Mayor John Caylor last week urged the citizenry to dress in festive western togs, to which the entire town responded, some with the encouragement of a horse trough filled with water.
 Decorations of red, white, and blue have been strung throughout the business district, adding another note of color and patriotism. Already the vanguard of top hands entered in the rodeo and spectators has begun to arrive.
 Night shows, the first in the 18 years of Anvil Park, will begin at 8 o'clock the evenings of Wednesday and Thursday, July 3 and 4, and, of course, there will be the Fourth of July afternoon performance, starting at 2 o'clock. Lynn Beutler will be arena director, with Otto Yokley, uncle of America's typical cowgirl, Sydna Yokley, as assistant arena boss.
 Eugene Worley of Shamrock, congressional aspirant, will deliver a short patriotic address in Canadian auditorium at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, to be followed by a parade of transportation through the area. A record number of horses

Canadian Goes "Western" For Annual Rodeo

Special To The NEWS
 CANADIAN: June 29—A week of hurried last minute preparations was anticipated by residents of Canadian today as July Fourth and the 18th annual and largest Anvil Park rodeo came into sight.
 The town has gone western with loud colored shirts, boots and neckerchiefs which would stampede any Panhandle herd. Mayor John Caylor last week urged the citizenry to dress in festive western togs, to which the entire town responded, some with the encouragement of a horse trough filled with water.
 Decorations of red, white, and blue have been strung throughout the business district, adding another note of color and patriotism. Already the vanguard of top hands entered in the rodeo and spectators has begun to arrive.
 Night shows, the first in the 18 years of Anvil Park, will begin at 8 o'clock the evenings of Wednesday and Thursday, July 3 and 4, and, of course, there will be the Fourth of July afternoon performance, starting at 2 o'clock. Lynn Beutler will be arena director, with Otto Yokley, uncle of America's typical cowgirl, Sydna Yokley, as assistant arena boss.
 Eugene Worley of Shamrock, congressional aspirant, will deliver a short patriotic address in Canadian auditorium at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, to be followed by a parade of transportation through the area. A record number of horses

In his addresses Douglass is emphasizing that no man can serve two masters, demanding a return to fundamentals and forgetting trivial issues, and a vigorous fight against fifth columnists. In his race four years ago, which he barely lost, he demanded that legislators give the sources of their income, thus forming the basis for his discussion of no one being able to serve two masters.

Weary Willkie

Making one of the most remarkable whirlwind campaigns in the history of Presidential nominations leaves the weary side—as the photo of Wendell Willkie suggests.

U. S. Must Not Wave Big Stick In South America, Says Clayton

Willkie Coached Athletic Teams At Coffeyville

COFFEYVILLE, Kas., July 1 (AP)—Sly hints of romances which never blossomed and praise for his athletic teams—drat that poultry show anyway—are chronicled for Wendell Willkie in yellowing pages of the Coffeyville High school year book for 1914.

Then the Republican party's 1940 presidential nominee was a popular professor of history and, in the year book's own words, "fresh from the University of Indiana."

Then the name listed below a picture of a somewhat lean-faced man read "Lewis W. Willkie."

He was quite a man—professor, adviser to the Y. M. C. A., organizer of the debating teams, coach of the best track team ever turned out of C. H. S. and also mentor of the basketball team—but drat that poultry show.

That year his basketball team played 10 league games, winning six.

"The loss of the other four," the year book dutifully explains, "being due to lack of practice caused by occupation of the coliseum by the poultry show and the poor referees that are bound to show up ever so often."

His students fancied romances between their history professor and three women members of the faculty. One writer in the year book suggested a telephone between his room and that of one teacher. "It would save time," the students guessed wrong—he went back to Indiana and married a hoosier girl.

The author of the class prophecy predicted events for 1940. It even described an imagined visit to the white house to see the president. But the man the prophecy named wasn't Willkie. It was one of his students.

Creation Of Army Mechanized Force For U. S. Planned

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Creation of an army mechanized force of "great striking power" like Germany's hard-hitting Panzer divisions was announced today by the war department.

Acting Secretary Louis Johnson disclosed the order had been given to organize an armored corps of two divisions on an experimental basis, to be equipped with some 1,400 tanks, 600 artillery pieces and more than 13,000 automatic and semi-automatic rifles.

"Apparent developments in the character and use of mechanized power in Europe," Johnson said, contributed to the decision to create the force, first of the kind in this hemisphere.

Light and medium tanks and other armored vehicles hitherto assigned to the cavalry and infantry will be concentrated in the new corps of more than 18,000 officers and enlisted men, thus revising American tactical doctrines followed since the World war.

Other units of heavy tanks such as the army does not yet possess, are to be organized later, it was announced.

Brigadier General Adna R. Chaffee, present commander of the army's single existing mechanized force, the 7th cavalry brigade, was made commander of the armored corps. His headquarters will remain at Fort Knox, Ky., and the mechanized cavalry will be incorporated into the new corps.

Mexico Mobilizes To Assure Orderly Election Sunday

MEXICO CITY, July 1 (AP)—President Cardenas' administration today appeared to be mobilizing all its forces to assure an orderly and legal election next Sunday when an estimated 3,000,000 voters will decide the tensest presidential campaign Mexico has experienced in years.

"The picture as I see it, if the dictators win or there is a stalemate in Europe's war, is this: 'A bankrupt totalitarian Europe, returning to peace time industrial production at starvation wages and long hours, requiring vast quantities of foodstuffs and raw materials; 'Latin-America, Africa and Asia, warehouses bulging with raw materials, the sale of which was interrupted by the war, requiring manufactured goods of all kinds; 'The United States, with practically all the gold in the world, a huge industrial plant, working at high wages and short hours, large stocks of cotton, wheat, corn and other raw materials and a high protective tariff.

"This picture may be oversimplified, but it certainly suggests that South America, Africa and Asia will swap their raw materials to Europe for cheap manufactured goods and that the United States will be left holding its surplus both of agricultural and industrial products.

"This has for us both economic and political implications. Europe needs all South American products; we need only a few. 'Indeed, South America and the United States are competitors in the production for export of numerous commodities, principally cotton and grain.

Clayton said closer economic relations between Europe and South America almost certainly would be accompanied by closer political contact "which will render more difficult our enforcement of the Monroe doctrine."

If South America, Asia and Africa pre-empt the European cotton market, he asked "what are we going to do with our cotton surpluses?"

He urged closer trade relationship with South America, adding "there must be no wavering of the big stick. We must play the commercial game fairly. We must stop subsidizing our trade where it comes in competition with theirs."

At the end of the war, he predicted "trade imbalance between this country and Europe certainly will be corrected. If this correction is accomplished by the process of shifting European purchases of raw materials from the United States to countries willing to accept payment in goods, it will be a heavy blow to our domestic economy.

"xxx the only apparent way to hold these markets is to be realistic about the matter and be prepared to trade our goods for theirs, scrapping the tariff in the process.

"With so much of our industrial plant and labor diverted to military production, this suggestion may not be as difficult or radical as it may at first appear.

The cotton crisis as it affects Texas and the south in the light of recent developments in Europe was examined in most of its phases yesterday.

Dean E. J. Kyle of Texas A. and M. college said that unless ways were found to restore a substantial part of the cotton export trade the American cotton industry was doomed because the south cannot adjust itself successfully to the restricted home market which would be insufficient to restore purchasing power to cotton farmers.

A new scientific theory being tested is the coating of airplane wings with a thin layer of moving air to cut down air resistance. It is reported that this layer of air currents should prevent eddy currents from forming.

A Roosevelt at G. O. P. Conclave

The presence of some Roosevelt might upset the G. O. P. convention considerably. But not this one. He's Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., son of the late President, and a good Republican.

official government candidate, and General Juan Andreu Almazan, principal standard-bearer of the opposition, have retorted to such rumors and charges with the statement that any trouble would be the responsibility of "my opponent."

President Cardenas has frequently reiterated in his public addresses that he was confident the "patriotism" of the candidates and the peaceful desires of the Mexican people would prevent any serious clashes at the polls for any movement of armed rebellion.

But the government gave every evidence of taking no chances. The army and the police have been ordered to proceed with a general disarmament of the people. The carrying of weapons has been declared illegal from today until after the fifteenth of the month.

All persons found carrying weapons in that period will have them confiscated, according to the government order.

4,500 British Women, Children Leave Hongkong

HONGKONG, July 1 (AP)—A gray-coated Canadian Pacific liner, carrying the vanguard of some 4,500 British women and children being removed from this colony, nosed out of Hongkong harbor this afternoon. Other outgoing ships also were jammed.

Among the passengers was a sprinkling of Americans, although the majority preferred to remain until definitely ordered to leave.

The American liner President Coolidge remained here on order from Washington and Americans were prepared for the possible necessity of removing their women and children.

The exodus, authoritative sources said, is a precaution against possible Japanese enforcement of a land and sea blockade of the colony to enforce demands for the closing of the Burma route to the embattled Chinese government.

The unidentified Canadian Pacific liner, bound for Manila with a naval escort, carried 1,000 families of British military and naval personnel. She was expected to reach Manila July 3 and return immediately for further refugees.

Meanwhile, a Japanese charge that information concerning Japanese troop movements furnished the British authorities at Hongkong had been permitted to reach the Chinese army was declared to be "completely untrue" at London.

The scheduled departure of women and children from the British Crown colony in the Far East was described at London as a "precautionary measure related largely to the food situation, planned for a considerable time."

With the American liner President Coolidge returned to Hongkong on orders from Washington, Americans in this British crown colony were prepared July today for the possible necessity of removing their women and children.

According to military observers, the largest problem confronting the use of bombers in modern warfare is the installation of effective armament to enable the plane to protect itself.

Graziani Will Succeed Balbo

(By The Associated Press) ROME July 1 (AP)—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani succeeded the late Marshal Italo Balbo today as commander of all Italian forces in Libya as the high command reported triumphs in the air, on sea and on land.

Graziani, leader of the Fascist conquest of Libya and chief of staff of the Italian army, already has flown to the North African colony to replace Balbo, who died in a flaming airplane with eight military associates at Tobruk last Friday.

Capture of several British positions along the Libyan-Egyptian border was claimed by the high command, which also said that an Italian torpedo boat had sunk a British submarine. It reported at least 8 British planes were shot down.

It acknowledged the loss of the destroyer Espero, a 1,073-ton warship with a normal complement of 143.

(A communique of the British air force reported in Cairo that R. A. F. bombers had scored direct hits on Italian troops near Siderat, Italian East Africa, and also had raided Accico, bombing two naval vessels there.)

In sharp fighting on the Egyptian frontier, the high command said, Fascist forces put tanks and armored cars out of action.

The plane in which Air Marshal Balbo met death Friday was shot down by machine-guns in British planes when it appeared over Tobruk, Libya, while a British air raid was under way, the newspaper Il Popolo Di Roma reported.
