City Employees Will Sell Zoo Creatures

Pampa children will have to go to some other city to see monkeys, pheasants, deer, coons and other animals and birds usually found in a zoo because the little zoo here is no more. City employes who bought and collected the animals and birds and housed and fed them on their own time are selling the animals and birds.
That decision was reached after the city commission decided it was costing too much to feed the zoo inmates. The commission purchased some of the food but the remainder was collected by city employes from local cafes before working hours and at noon.

O'Daniel Replies To McNutt Criticism

AUSTIN, Jan. 22. (AP) — In a three-repeated radio broadcast yesterday, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel retorted criticism of Federal Social Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, blaming the Governor for failure to call a legislative session on the WPA intake problem.
"McNutt had some very critical remarks to make about me as Governor," O'Daniel said, "but he followed his cryptic remarks by some rulings more favorable to the poor people of our state. If it pleases the honorable Paul V. McNutt to abuse me in order to encourage him to help the poor, who needs jobs and financial assistance, I am happy to take his abuse."

Steen's History Of State Comprehensive

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 21. (AP) — "Steen's History of Texas," the recently published text book by Dr. Ralph W. Steen, associate professor of history at Texas A. & M. College, covers all phases of Texas history from the time it was a province of Spain to the twentieth century, including its people, farm, ranch and industrial development and its politics.
Dates, names and statistics are given only when they add something to the historical value of the book, Dr. Steen says "it was not written to perpetuate the fame of one man nor take sides in the controversial issues of Texas history, but to give the pupil an understanding and appreciation of the whole of Texas history."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 22. (AP) — Winter refused to relax its grip on Florida today, bringing a holiday to school children in some sections but only worry to farmers throughout the state's citrus and truck belt.
Continued cold was forecast for the peninsula with frost again Tuesday morning in the north.
Sub-freezing temperatures extending from Lake City in the north to some points in the Everglades section, predicted for early today, carried the greatest threat to fruit and vegetable crops of the three-day cold spell.

He directed scores of films, the best remembered being "Ramona," "Resurrection" and "Revenge."

I Saw...

About 30 ice skaters in a huddle at the city lake. They named Stanley Brake to ask the News to ask the City to flood a section of the lake which now, due to frozen snow, is too rough for skating. The lake is frozen to a thickness of several inches, and the skaters decided if they could induce the city to run an inch or two of water over the ice, they would have swell skating.
"It looks now as if the ice will be frozen all winter," said Mr. Brake who remembered that last week in Kansas a city removed a telephone pole to provide a good sled run for the kids. About 50 cars were at the lake yesterday watching the curtailed skaters.

HARVEST GRAINS

Problem number one in P. H. S. is the hall conditions. During a recent meeting of a prominent school club the noise in the hall was so bad it was almost impossible to hear the speaker. Cooperation of all students is the only suitable solution for correcting this matter.

To the school officials who are responsible for the installation of the school matrons, the girls of P. H. S. express their thanks. A great improvement has taken place.

Gold basketballs were received by each member of the Harvester team as a reward for winning the invitation tournament held here December 22 and 23.

Despite the week-old request that students take all ink from their lockers, 40 bottles of ink were removed from lockers by school officials last Monday. Hereafter ink will be provided in all classrooms, and students will not be permitted to keep ink in their lockers, according to Principal D. F. Osborne.

Any student who cares to take up diversified occupations at the end of the semester may contact Harry Kelley, Monday and Tuesday mornings, and it is desired that students not get the class called occupations, that is offered the third hour next semester, confused with diversified occupations.

Plans for the new high school building have been in the hands of the Works Progress Administration engineers in San Antonio these last few days, and an opinion is hoped to be obtained in the near future, said Supt. L. L. Sone.

Student Assistants Do Everything From Typing To Ringing Bells

Maybe you think students around Pampa High school don't work. Of course, being a student myself, I know we all work. What I am getting at right now is that there are many who do their own work and still have time to help others too.

Now there boys! It's not anything to get excited about. Sure your best girl friend more than likely has your English for you last night, but that is not what I mean. I am referring to the different assistants and helpers around school. These students are doing everything from ringing bells to typing letters. I might add that most of these make the honor roll every time and are outstanding in all their work and in addition take a prominent part in activities.

Martha Orr, Bill Muskimmins, Ellen Keough, Wayne Coffin, Emma Buesch, and Hil Schneider are students working in the office and helping Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar. They run errands, answer the telephone, put up the mail, make announcements, take up absentee slips, and work on the files.

Tom Herod, assistant principal, has his helpers too. They are Norma Jean McKinney, Ann Chisholm, Joyceln Jackson, Jerry Smith, Helen Dudley, and Beryl Jean Hagood. Their duties are to stamp absentee slips, and tardy permits and to run errands for Mr. Herod.

Library assistants keep plenty busy too. They dust books and shelves, check books out, replace books on the shelves, take care of magazines, and lately have helped make out orders for new books. These students are Elizabeth King, Nadine Woods, Alma Joy Franks, William Jones, Donald Stanley, Raymond Stevens, Mary Alice Higginbotham, Mary McHenry, Mary Nell Minaret, Evelyn Morehead, Ella Taylor, and Peggy Williamson.

In the book room we find students doing hectograph work, typing letters, mimeographing tests, checking books in and out, and acting as salesmen for all items sold in the book room. Those who are doing this are Olin Walker, J. B. Snelling, Valmore Stallings, Edna Spivey, Karl Rippe, Zeida Mae Hurst, Alice Marie McConnell, and Evelyn Morehead.

Ogla Cox, and Edward Bradford type letters and help Harry Kelley, coordinator of diversified occupations. Other students assist in checking workbooks, caring for the laboratories, etc.

Teachers Federal Credit Union Elects Directors For 1940

Members also are entitled to obtain small loans without security.

School Officials Discuss Problems At State Meet

Health, government and crime were the three main topics for discussion at the state school superintendents' meeting in Austin week before last. Supt. E. W. Cobe, Jr., supervisor of instruction, who attended the meeting along with Supt. L. L. Sone and Supt. George Heath of White Deer.

"The meeting was a very valuable one, from which we received special assistance along the line of the health program in our schools," reported Mr. Cobe.

Accounts of health work made by those on the program indicated the people are not sufficiently educated on this subject. Approximately 50 per cent of those questioned believed tuberculosis to be caused by something other than a germ, and approximately 25 per cent said that it was not contagious.

Dr. Homer P. Rainey speaks at the University of Texas, delivered an outstanding address on "Employment Situation of the Young People," in which he recommended that the schools take the responsibility of placing students in jobs, besides educating them.

Dr. Rainey declared that it was the business of the school, meaning both high schools and colleges, to make a survey of where positions are going to be located, and to be able to inform students how many jobs of a certain kind will be available.

According to a recent survey, it was discovered some of the outstanding causes of crime are poverty and slums, broken homes, poor environment, ignorance, unemployment, and idleness. Fifty-five per cent of those persons questioned about capital punishment believed it, and 35 per cent did not believe in it, and the remaining 10 per cent voiced no opinion.

Two of the major features of the entertainment were the North Texas State Teachers college A Cappella choir, consisting of 45 members, and chorus of singers from Austin Junior High school.

Sport Lites--By LANE

Many students have asked the difference between the Pampa Sophomores and the Gorillas. Both teams work together under Coach Oscar Hinger, and several players are on both teams. However, when the team plays in the Panhandle junior high basketball league, only sophomore boys are allowed to play.

Under this condition, they were allowed entrance in the league. The Gorilla team is composed of boys who have another year eligibility on the Harvesters. There is no definite classification of the Gorilla boys.

Another question being currently asked is why Grover Heiskell, a four-time Harvester last season, is playing on the Gorillas this year. Grover is not eligible this year because he has been in high school 8 semesters, but next year, when the semester ruling is out, he will be eligible. Therefore, he is playing on the Gorilla team with future Harvesters.

Although only two games have been played in the junior high league, the field already appears to be narrowed down to the Pampa Sophomores and the Gorillas. In the game at Amarillo, in the game at Mobeetie, the Gorillas defeated the Pampa Junior High Reapers and Horae Mann of Amarillo showed poor team work and lack of experience. Both the Sophs and Sam Houston looked good. However, Central of Amarillo is still an unknown power.

Handball, a game played with an elastic ball which is struck with the gloved hand, is the sport Coach Hinger's physical education classes are to play next semester. Handball is adapted to "singles," "doubles," or to three players. It is especially helpful in developing the use of the left hand.

Boys in Mr. Hinger's classes are learning a variety of sports. Thus physical education never loses its interest. This year shuffle board, basketball, baseball, boxing, and table tennis have already been taken up. Usually the introduction of a sport to the classes was followed by a play-off tournament.

Boxing, undertaken last six weeks, has become an outside activity. Boys out for the school boxing team are working out after school. Mr. Hinger has announced that an intramural tournament in boxing will be held as soon as new equipment arrives. All boys in school are eligible for intramural boxing. However, boys out for the team to represent the school must be eligible according to the Interscholastic league rules.

Tuesday night the Harvesters defeated a team of P. H. S. exes 26-25. Playing for the Exes were Claude and Grover Heiskell, Johnston, Miller, and Kiser, and Nelson. In a previous game the Exes had led the Harvesters for the first three quarters and lost by only two points late in the game.

Juniors High P. T. A. Speakers

Guess Who?

Above is shown one of Pampa High's feminine teachers who has a sense of humor that won't stop. She is a favorite with both boys and girls who take courses under her. Can you guess who it is? R. L. Edmundson correctly guessed the last Guess Who to be Mr. Osborne.

Traveler Discusses European Youth

By Jeanette Nichols Mrs. Leah House Stoker, world traveler and lecturer, told how the young people of the foreign countries live in an interview last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Stoker is visiting her friend, Mrs. P. E. Leech.

Last Tuesday Mrs. Stoker spoke at the annual Founders' Day dinner of the American Association of University Women.

In England when the boys graduate from Eton, unless they graduate in the lowest rank of their class, they get their names carved on the walls of the school. When the walls become filled, new panels are put up. On these walls can be seen the names of some of the oldest families in England.

Until a child is about 7 years old, he is under the care of a nursery. Then he is ready to enter the public school which is superior to the American private school in that a tuition fee is charged. In the wealthy families the child is under the guidance of a nurse-governess until he is entered into the public school.

Upon entering public schools the boys and girls are separated. They attend separate schools. From their first year in school until they finish, they are taught the classic languages. A child of 9 or 10 can read and write foreign languages well.

Each morning they are required to attend chapel. In the universities the students are not required to attend class but every English student is required to go to chapel.

The young boys of England wear navy blue suits with a short striped Jersey jacket. On the left breast pocket is embroidered the coat of arms of the school which he attends. After the child is about 9 years old, he abandons the skull cap for the high school silk hat. Upon entering high school, the boy wears a short coat with tails and the high silk hat.

Classifications Not To Change, Says Osborne

Registrar Explains Spring Activities

No changes will be made in classifications or home rooms at mid-term, according to Principal D. F. Osborne.

Mr. Osborne urges that all students read the handbook carefully to acquaint themselves with the regulations of the school, as many questions will arise in the next few weeks regarding such activities as the junior-senior banquet, the Carlsbad trip, the junior play, and eligibility for Interscholastic league contests.

Particularly seniors need to study the requirements for graduation before completing their new schedules.

"That a pupil is expected to participate throughout the school year in the activities of the class for which he was eligible at the beginning of the school year is made quite clear in the student handbook," says Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar.

Regarding classifications, the handbook says: "A pupil is a freshman until he has completed three units of credit; a sophomore until he has completed seven units of credit; and a junior until he has completed eleven units of credit. A pupil is eligible to participate in the activities of the class to which he becomes eligible at the opening of the school year."

Slightly different rulings apply to the junior-senior banquet and the Carlsbad Gavern trip. Students who have completed nine units of credit by the beginning of the second semester will be eligible to attend the banquet. However, no pupil may attend more than two junior-senior banquets. All students attending the banquet will be expected to buy their own tickets.

Students who have completed eleven units of credit by the beginning of the second semester are eligible to go on the Carlsbad trip. However, no student will be permitted to make more than one trip to Carlsbad with the seniors. This trip is intended primarily for the graduating seniors.

Carlsbad Trip "Lists of students attending the junior-senior banquet and making the Carlsbad trip are kept in the office and a careful check is made each year to enter on these regulations," says Mrs. Roberts.

As to the junior play which is to be presented soon, only those students who had seven units of credit at the beginning of the school year will be eligible to take part in the junior class play.

Senior-Senior Banquet

After the show refreshments were served at the red brick building.

The social committee in charge of the party is composed of James Evans, chairman, Jeanne Lively, Bill Davis, Clarabel Jones, and Heidi Schneider. Ray Boyles is president.

Sponsors for the senior class are Miss Zenobia McFarlin, Miss Martha Cox, Miss Gladys Brandon, Aubrey L. Steele, W. N. Anderson, and B. G. Gordon.

Harvesters Win Shamrock Tourney And Continue Lead In Big Five

By defeating Thalia 27 to 13 Saturday night, the Harvesters for the second consecutive year won first place in the annual Shamrock basketball tournament. They also continued their lead in the Big Five with a 37 to 17 win over Plainview here Thursday night.

Two Big Five games are scheduled for this week. Friday the Harvesters will journey to Lubbock for a game with the Westers, and Saturday they will play the Bulldogs in Plainview.

Closest game played by the Pampa boys in the Shamrock tournament was that with McLean Friday morning, which the Harvesters won 32 to 21. Saturday morning the team defeated Phillips 30 to 22. Saturday afternoon they won from Panhandle by the uneven score of 30 to 13.

Pete Dunaway, guard, and Belton Bearden, forward, were placed on the all-tournament team by the officials. Other Harvesters who saw much action in the tournament were Seth Cox, forward; Ed Terrell, center; and Chief Carlisle, guard. Reserves included Tom Cox, A. C. Enloe, Junior Frasher, Cletus Mitchell, Durward Mitchell, Billy Mounts, and Thomas Dewey.

Saturday morning the reserves played a practice game with Thalia, losing 7 to 26.

Winning their second Big Five game the Harvesters triumphed the Plainview Bulldogs 38 to 17 last Thursday night. Bearden was high point man with 14 points, just one more than Dunaway. This leaves Pampa with two wins and no losses in the Big Five league.

The Plainview reserves inflicted the first defeat of the season on Pampa's reserves, downing them 17 to 15. Tom Cox led the reserve scoring with six points.

Exes were entertained between games by prominent business men of Pampa who shot or attempted to shoot free shots. Dr. Malcolm Brown was the star of the "exes," making nine out of ten baskets.

Plainview defeated Berger easily the night before, so the Harvesters' prospects of winning the Big Five championship look bright this year.

Harry Kelley has found out that he is not appreciated on that radio program of his every morning. They hardly let him tell any of his 20-year old jokes. Stay in there, prof!

The Harvesters are still talking about a basketball-queen. If you students like the idea, tell the coaches.

Submitted for winner of the feet contest was Kenneth Carman. Well, he won't have to use them much now; he's got a new car!

Last week the Sage asked the student council about a dance, and he hasn't had an answer yet. What's the matter, bunch?

You know, the Sage is lookin' forward to this next term, what with the senior trip, kid day, and stuff. Well, anyway, we believe that everything is going to be sa-well; so let's everybody make it that way.

A hint to the ones--never take life seriously, because you won't get out of it alive anyway.

Students of a Washington school have no classes on Mondays and Wednesdays. On these days they are free to do as they please, either attending school or taking part in outside activities. The result of the experiment is that the students work harder on Monday and Wednesday than any other day.

A hint to the ones--never take life seriously, because you won't get out of it alive anyway.

The same program is to be presented to the Junior High assembly next Tuesday at 9:25 o'clock. The public is invited to both concerts.

Health Department Visited By Class A visit to the city health department was one of a series of field trips made recently by the senior science class.

Dr. T. Vorrall, city health officer, directed the class through the department.

This trip was made in connection with a recent study of foods and diseases. Earlier this semester, the class visited the weather forecasting station.

Senior science is being offered in Pampa High school for the first time this year. It is a general science course taking in chemistry, biology, physics. Miss Martha Cox is the teacher.

They take pride in studying the old German lore. The students of Germany are permitted to take any subject they wish.

The night life of these young people is very gay. They dance, give parties, and attend vaudeville. They wear in sweaters and skirts and wear heavy soled shoes. The girls wear bright colored aprons.

In Italy the slums have been cleared. The young people who are unable to read and write are now being educated. The young people are not taken away from their parents. A bus calls for them of mornings and brings them home from school. At the age of 7 the boys and girls are separated.

The life of the Italian youth is rather free. They still sing and dance in the streets.

In Morocco the boys are given vocational training. They study languages and history. The girls are not educated. They are taught how to be beautiful and how to attract men. Their only purpose is to be wife and mother.

A 'Gold Mine' That's Not In The Sky

The latest issue of the Manufacturers' Record is given over to a resume of the industrial resources and progress of the south.

It would require more than available space to go into this with any thoroughness, but some of the more significant highlights may be mentioned.

Texas, with its area of 265,896 square miles has a long lead on every other state in total resources. The western part of the south is recognized, incidentally, by showing a picture of the Dallas skyline on the front cover of the magazine.

One of the items that will surely become more important in the near future is that of raw materials, both mineral and agriculture. New inventions and chemistry will mean the surge of many new industries dependent upon such resources.

Texas is the foremost state in the union in total production of minerals, surpassing Pennsylvania in this respect.

Texas has just issued a magnificent brochure entitled "Possibilities for the Industrial Development of Texas," under the leadership of Governor O'Daniel.

Have all of us given due thought to the enormous potential of raw materials in this state? Are we keeping up with the newly awakened procession?

Business Marches On

Glance at the evidence, noticeable in reports and utterances released every day. John W. Hanes, until recently under-secretary of the Treasurer, who might be expected to know, had this to say: "There are signs that, if the abnormal circumstances and conditions abroad do not prevent, we have begun to enjoy what should be a reasonably long and sustained period of good business, increased industrial production and higher employment."

On the same day, the General Electric Company reported substantial increases in the quantity of electric power used, with resultant orders for expensive new equipment, coming in from all over the country.

And the Pennsylvania department of public assistance announced that one-third fewer persons were compelled to accept state aid in 1939 than in 1938.

Yes sir, this looks like the real McCoy.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A combination of detective story thriller and of tragic-comic human drama was unfolded by Thomas O'Malley, regional director for the Wage-Hour Administration, when he returned here from Chicago to make a report to Col. Philip Fleming, acting administrator.

O'Malley told Col. Fleming about the largest cash restitution to underpaid workers yet made under the wage-hour law—payment of $103,000 to employees of a hairpin manufacturer in Chicago.

The hairpins were made by machinery and the process was cheap; the costly part was the hand-work of carding, boxing and bunching the finished pins, and this work was let out to tenement dwellers who received around 10¢ cents an hour and put their children to work to help them.

OLD-FASHIONED GUM SHOES UNHEARTHED CHILD LABOR O'Malley recalls that complaints about this form of child labor began to come in shortly after his regional office was opened. Instances were reported, he says, of clergymen in the neighborhood pleading from their pulpits with mothers, asking them not to work their children so long.

His men had to turn detective in regular movie style to prove that the children actually were employed. To do this they had to creep up tenement fire escapes and peek in windows to see children at work.

One man lurked near the factory with a camera and managed to get a photo of a child getting a package of uncarded pins from a factory official.

The next job was to show that the payments made were below the legal minimum. To do this, O'Malley got figures on the company's gross output, and had time studies made to see how fast an adult could card and box the pins.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hollis

WHO WERE THE DOGS? WHAT IS HOLY? There is one quotation in the Sermon on the Mount that the New Dealers and the self-proclaimed "liberals" seem not to understand—"Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you."

Now what did Jesus mean by "holy," by "dogs" and by "pearls," by "swine"?

Certainly he must have had in mind that the most holy thing every man has is his right to freedom of choice, freedom of conscience; that he must do everything possible to preserve this freedom for himself and for every other man.

He must have meant that those who did not believe in others having equal freedom of choice were the "dogs."

Jesus certainly did not mean that a personal God was a holy thing that would reward and punish at will and would reveal his will exclusively to certain people and compel all others to learn the will of God from him through them.

Nor did Jesus intend to regard as dogs or swine those people who believe in a rational impersonal God of love and respect, as those who appoint themselves as exclusive agents of God, would try to make the people believe.

Jesus well realized that there always would be certain people who do not have respect for other people's equal rights. He, therefore, admonished those who did have, not to give that which is holy to those people who did not have respect for other's equal rights. He designated this kind of people as "dogs."

Jesus certainly did not mean that they should not give them all the light and truth they were capable of understanding, but he meant that they should not permit these kinds of people to have control of what was the holiest of all things; namely, freedom of conscience, freedom of choice with due regard to other people's equal freedom.

It would seem that this statement of Jesus would make democracy mean not the voting majority, who could take away the holy things from people who respected the rights of others, but it would mean a way of life that strives to permit each individual to have the greatest possible freedom to develop his character and to pursue happiness.

It is because we have failed to follow this admonition in the last half century, that we are gradually drifting to catastrophe and are seeing the results come about which Jesus said would happen—that these dogs and swine would "trample them under their feet and turn again and rend you" if they were given holy things.

By giving people the right to decide by majority rule on the holy things of life is to give them power to trample down pearls and take away from people the holy thing of life—namely, freedom.

This is the reason there must be a covenant, a constitution, to protect the salt of the earth—those who believe in equal freedom to the pursuit of happiness, from the dogs and swine who do not respect the equal rights of others.

MIGHT BE USED TO PENALIZE CRITICISM At the demand of the public, Congress repealed the Undistributed Profits Tax. Within a month after Congress had repealed the Undistributed Profits Tax, Roosevelt's appointee, the Treasurer, made a ruling, under Section 102 of the former tax law, that corporations which paid out less than 70 per cent of the earnings were presumed to be tax dodgers and subject to surtax of from 25 to 35 per cent. The proof that it is entitled to exemption is up to the corporation.

Now if this means anything, it means that the Administration, through its Treasurer, can willfully penalize by taxing them 25 to 35 per cent on their undistributed profit, any newspaper publisher or any corporation that criticizes the Administration.

This means, of course, that these newspapers that are penalized will have their growth and influence retarded.

It is certainly too much power to give to any man or group of men. Of course, the whole theory of taxing a man because he furnishes tools, capital, is based on barbarism. It is force, it is confiscation, it is plain robbery. We are suffering the results of this unethical, un-Christian and undemocratic procedure.

Now happiness consists in activity; such is the constitution of our nature; it is a running stream, and not a stagnant pool. —J. M. Good.

The Nation's Press

ANOTHER ABUSE OF POWER (Kansas City Times)

How would any employee feel if he were ordered to sign or even to reach an agreement with an employer, regardless of whether the terms of the agreement were satisfactory to him?

He would feel, of course—and correctly—that it was a case of forced labor and he would resent it—also correctly. He would have a right to freedom in a matter so close to his interests. No doubt the great majority of workers in the country would concede that same right to the employer, the other party in industrial relations.

So the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago has checkmated the unjustified action of the labor relations board in ordering an employer to sign a contract with a labor group. This is the case of the Inland Steel company and the C.I.O. steel workers. There has been a lot of bitterness over this dispute. But the one principle involved in the case before the court towers clearly above everything else.

The court rules that even the one-sided Wagner act does not demand the signing or even the reaching of a contract. Collective bargaining is mandatory, says the court, but "the result is not." But the Wagner act does something else which goes a long way toward explaining the high-handed ruling of the board: For the court states of the case before it that "this record as a whole discloses the danger of imposing upon a single agency (the board) the multiple duties of prosecutor, judge, jury and executioner."

It is surprising, after all, that with such enormous power in its hands the labor board should have become inflated with its sense of authority and overstepped the boundaries of the law in this instance and in others? It isn't. Human nature works that way.

A REMARKABLE BIRD IS THE PELICAN

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 22.—In addition of the whoop-tie-do with which the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences grants its annual awards and closes the guessing season, almost everybody in town—from Mr. Benny's Rochester to Miss Dietrich's Sealym—is making up a list. The 10 best pictures, the best actor, best actress, best director, best writing—they're all making the same conventional, categorical selections.

But I'm not. If the boys will hang onto their hats, this leering correspondent will nominate the Ten Best Bathing Scenes of 1939:

Most Startled Bather: Miss Ann Sheridan in "Indianapolis Speedway," when John Payne interrupts her shower in her girl friend's tiny apartment. (Maybe you didn't mark this as an especially torrid item; but in that case, you didn't see what I saw on the set.)

Most Luxurious Bather: Joan Crawford, swathed by foam in her ornate, translucent, crystal tub, in "The Women." If you recall the pillowed rests, the bathside telephones and the sliding tray of perfumes and manicure accessories, you can understand why Cecil DeMille, publicized maestro of intimate abdications, went home after the preview and cried all night.

Most Voluptuous Bather: Brunet Hedwige Feuille in "Lucresia Borgia," directed by M. Emil Gance. "The DeMille of France." This was no ordinary tub, but a fancy outdoor plunge surrounded by (1) the camera, (2) meticulously barbed cypress trees, (3) Lucrecia's maid-in-waiting, who tossed in rose petals while Ma'm'selle abandoned herself to the rippling embrace of the waters. This is the long shot of Mile. Feuille stepping out to be dried and clothed.

Most Businesslike Bather: Marjorie Weaver in "The Honeycomb Is Over." A demonstrator for bath salts, she took a mud bath, which actually was more revealing than those of most actresses immersed in foam.

Most Thoroughly Scrubbed Bather: Blond and elegantly Madeleine Carroll in Paramount's "Safari," where she takes three baths: (A) aboard Tullio Carmintini's yacht (hot shower); (B) in the jungle, from a nail-perfumed bucket (dip and appointing); (C) in a tin tub on the floor of a hotel room in East Africa (fair).

Merriest Soap-Bubble Queen: Dimpled Ellen Drew in "French Without Tears." Hums and smiles as she employs the towel technique (a Sally Rand adaptation) to baffle the peeping camera.

Best Singer-in-the-Bath tub: Jeanette MacDonald in a century-old tin tub in New Orleans, for "New Moon." About what you'd expect.

Most Contented Bather: Dixie Mizruchi in "Adventure in Diamonds." Just paroled from prison, she revels in the long-anticipated delights of a marble tub.

Most Startlingly-Revealed Bather: Irene Dunne, behind a glass-enclosed shower, for "My Favorite Wife." Unfortunate feature of this, like Miss Sheridan's shower, is that you won't see the first take. When they got the lights on it, Miss Dunne's protegee, inervening door proved much, much too transparent.

A BID FOR A SMILE THE TIPOFF The gentleman carefully removed two cigars from his upper vest pocket and placed them on the table. Then he opened his arms. But the girl did not rush into them. "You," she said coldly, "have loved before."—Pathfinder.

People You Know

By Archer Fullington This column is proud to announce that Pascal Massey, Pampa boy who is now a flying student at West Texas State college, Canyon, intends to come to Pampa on his cross-country flight, required in the course, we'll let you know what day he'll fly here. Pascal, who has had nothing but airplanes in his mind since he was a tow-headed shaver, is in hop-heaven down at Canyon because he is realizing his most-cherished ambition. He now has his flying time up to 13 hours. Vernon Casey is close on Pascal's heels. Pascal has graduated out of Stage B which is mainly practice of landings and is in Stage C which is all precision work, that is, precision landings, turns, spins, Vern and W. L. Davis are in Stage B. How did Pascal, who is incidentally one of the best swimmers at the college, feel when he soared? "I felt perfectly at ease when I left the ground," he said in answer to a direct question. "After about two solo flights all tensions disappear and it seems that you have been flying for years. It seems the most natural thing in the world. After about ten hours you get to fly the plane without any conscious attention to the controls. This is about the same when you drive an automobile." Pascal expects to buy a plane next summer if he can get a job, so let's hope that he does get a job. This is Pascal's second year at Canyon. He is taking an academic course, in addition to the flying instruction. It will be remembered that he built dozens of model planes while he was a kid, and when he did step into a plane he knew a lot about one.

Most people think of the period of growing as that which comes after the child's birth and continues through adolescence. Actually, the period during which the child is still within the body of the mother is most important for growth.

Experts in metabolism estimate that the needs of the growing child put an extra strain on the prospective mother amounting to an increase in her nutritive requirements of 10 to 100 per cent. At this time she must disregard all her food prejudices and must eat properly to save her own tissue and to aid those of the coming child.

A well-known nutritionist points out that very few women get enough iron, protein and calcium daily, not to mention the fact that because they do not select their foods properly.

If the prospective mother wants to assure herself of sufficient amounts of the right foods through her diet alone she would eat:

One quart of milk daily, at least two servings daily of fruit, including a citrus fruit like oranges or grapefruit; at least one serving each daily of a raw vegetable like a leafy green vegetable and a cooked vegetable like beans, peas or cabbage; one or more eggs daily; one or more servings of lean meat, especially liver, and occasionally fish; some whole grain breads or cereals; some butter and cod-liver oil, and a few other foods to keep up her appetite by appealing to it and to supply calories needed for energy. To this she should add six to eight glasses of water each day.

When the list is studied it does not seem to be a great deal of food, and yet this minimum amount is not eaten by a good many prospective mothers. Because it is vital for the health and growth of the unborn child, an effort must be made to see that every prospective mother takes it.

Some of the latest research indicates that swelling of the tissues, frequently occurring late in pregnancy, may be due to lack of a sufficient amount of the right protein foods.

An adequate supply of protein is also important in connection with the later yield of milk. The mother who wants to nurse her own baby, and every mother should if she possibly can—must take a diet with lots of eggs, meat, fish and cheese.

Superintendent R. B. Fisher of the Pampa Independent School district and Principal L. E. Stone of Central High school were re-elected for another year.

Pampa was to be an important point on a trans-continental highway to Canada highway, it was pointed out by George Briggs, after returning from a trip to Austin.

Maverick Says FDR Would Carry South

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22 (AP)—Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio, Tex., asserted today at a press conference that 80 per cent of the south's voters favor President Roosevelt for a third term.

"I feel quite sure that the president will run for a third term," Maverick declared, "but he must announce his intentions damn quick. I'm getting tired of waiting."

Maverick is here for a lecture Monday.

Democrat Congressman From INDIANA

The Gossip In Washington

Mr. Roosevelt, "they say," will not be a candidate for a third term. He could win. But at a recent evening meeting at the White House with a number of Democratic Senators and Congressmen he was given to understand definitely that he would not be drafted. In other words, he would have to fight for the prize, and even so, he could not be certain of getting it. The President realizes that a nomination grudgingly given by a divided party would not be worth the candle.

Nevertheless, he is not likely to throw the key down the political well until he has to. He will wait for a "break." If, as British Ambassador Lottian told the folks at Chicago, Hitler will "blow the works" as soon as the weather improves, the President's chance to control the convention might improve. And again it might not.

At the moment John Garner has the "opposition" as the chess players call it. He has a counter move for any play on the board. For once, F. D. R. is up against someone who is as politically smart as he. Don't be surprised if there is a big push to go back to the old two-thirds rule. There is a lot of quiet talk to this effect. And remember it doesn't take a two-thirds vote to readopt the two-thirds rule. A simple majority is enough. Merely remember, that presidential postmasters and marshals are not going to pack the convention. Under the Hatch bill you can't hatch postmasters.

If the two-thirds rule for nominations is adopted, that will be the pay-off. Mr. Roosevelt will not be nominated. More than two-thirds of the Democrats are against a third term for any man.

Garner is way out in front at the moment. If the President makes a determined effort to defeat the Vice President what card will he play? Very likely, some body with nobody. And John Garner is not nobody. Whom will the President get behind? Right now the gossip is Hull. But Mr. Hull faces determined opposition on the trade treaties.

Mr. Hull's chance as a compromise candidate between the Democrats and the New Dealers, might be better if he loses the trade treaty fight rather than if he wins it. If he loses, the issue is behind him and out of the campaign. Then his popularity on Latin American and foreign policies would be a big asset. But if he wins the trade treaty fight he would go into the campaign with a sore thumb. Western Democrats say Hull would not do on that issue west of the tree belt.

Then what? That brings Bert Wheeler of Montana into the picture in a big way. Wheeler will lead the Democratic opposition in the trade treaty fight. And believe me, he is some opposition. So count three—the farm vote, the labor vote and his friends on the Supreme Court issue. King, Queen and Jack. Some hand. But will John Lewis kill Wheeler off by endorsing him?

Who else? Robert Jackson now has cabinet rank and the janissariat would like to get behind him. If they did, Jackson would still be behind. Paul McNutt would make a better president than he has made a candidate. McNutt is not well placed. He ought to be Secretary of War. Everybody recognizes him as an organizer. And he would stand for no red or pink in national defense.

The unknown quantity in all this is our general national chairman, James A. Farley. He holds the trump card. Can he be certain the nomination will not go to anyone he is determined to be against. In short, he will name the candidate—Garner, Hull, Wheeler, or Mr. X.

The President is moving out of the picture politically much faster than his popularity indicates. Congress knows it. Even Senator Minton, whom whom there is no than-whom, comes out against Secretary of the Navy Edison's proposal to give the President war powers in peace time. Autherine, the "Ging King" and did any cabinet officer ever make a chump of himself in less time than Edison whose chief, if not sole asset, is his father's name?

The American Student Union have treated President and Mrs. Roosevelt shabbily. It was some of their young men whom Mr. Roosevelt took from Dies to tea. And then when the Union went to hold their convention in Madison, Wisconsin, the President wrote them a note of felicitation. Having met in convention assembled these precious pets then voted 323 to 29 in favor of Russia against Finland! A penny for your thoughts, Mrs. Roosevelt! Copyright, 1940, America's Future.

Roosevelt Greets Kiwanis Clubs Of U. S. In Message

CHICAGO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States and Canada today observed the 25th anniversary of the founding of the community service organization.

President Roosevelt greeted the membership with a message. A principal celebration took place in Detroit, where the first club was organized and granted its charter from the State of Michigan on Jan. 21, 1915.

The organization's clubs number 2,000 with a membership of 100,000.

STORIES IN STAMPS

St. Louis Fair Stamp Was McKinley Memorial

PRESIDENT WILLIAM MCKINLEY signed the congressional legislation that made the 1904 Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, Mo., possible, but he never saw the fair. McKinley was fatally wounded by an assassin three years before the exposition opened. The U. S. 5-cent stamp, above, of the Louisiana Purchase Commemorative issue, bearing his portrait, became a memorial to the President.

The 10-cent value of the U. S. Famous Americans series will be printed in sepi instead of salmon color. The other values will retain the usual colors: 1-cent, green; 2-cent, carmine; 3-cent, violet; and 5-cent, blue.

Turkey has released a new series of four stamps marking completion of railway service from Istanbul to Derzoum, on the Russian border.

Argentina has announced a series of stamps to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Pan-American Union. No details as to designs, values nor release dates were given.

'Trust Busters' Asked to 'Bust' Musicians' Union

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Government "trust busters" were disclosed today as considering whether they should try to "bust" the American Federation of Musicians, the union to which William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, belongs.

Before them were charges that monopolistic practices were being employed by the union on the radio industry.

The issue was "made work," one of the things Thurman Arnold, the U. S. justice department's anti-trust chief, has listed as a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The contention of the radio industry, whence the charges came, was that radio was being forced to pay for "made work" in the form of salaries for musicians who are not actually needed on radio programs.

The complaint was made to the justice department in answer to a threatened union walk-out allegedly intended to create an even greater number of "made work" jobs.

Whether for that, or for other reasons, the charges were not when the crucial date—the date of expiration of radio contracts with the musicians union—came three days ago.

Justice department agents in New York pleaded ignorance of the whole proceeding. Men from the anti-trust division in Washington, however, confirmed that the charges against the union had been received and were being studied. They said no decision has yet been reached on prosecution of the case because the staff of investigators available for anti-trust work was limited, and was already busy on the New Deal's country-wide anti-trust drive.

While the complaint lay on Arnold's desk—where a group of radio executives placed it at an informal conference weeks ago—union musicians today kept on playing on radio programs, without contract. It was the first time in years that they had done so.

Office Workers Increase Number Of Bone Injuries

BOSTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Office workers who become weak-and-athletes are largely responsible for a "mounting incidence" of bone and joint injuries. Dr. Russell Sullivan, Boston City hospital orthopedic surgeon, said today.

"While many fractures are attributable to automobiles and industrial accidents, Sullivan said, "I believe the increase may be traced to injuries among office workers who spend their Saturdays and Sundays skiing or playing tennis, despite the fact that they are not physically fit for such exercise."

Pampa Plays Confident Westerners Friday

Lubbock Has Entire 1939 Quintet Back

The Harvesters have something extraordinary to look forward to this week; specifically, Friday night when they will invade the stronghold of a team that is predicting it will win the state baseball championship—before it has played a game.

The team is Lubbock's Westerners, and in the lineup of that Westerner team are practically the same players that won the Texas inter-scholastic League baseball championship of district 3 last spring, and also the big-name stars who shone brilliantly last fall when Lubbock was winning the state football title.

The Westerners haven't played a game yet, but they are confident of winning the district 3 title which would send them to the regional meet at Canyon, and they are not worried about Friday night when they will open their season against the Harvesters at Lubbock.

Coach Odus Mitchell's Harvesters have already played some 15 games, the latest being in the finals of the Shamrock invitation tournament Saturday night when the Pampa cagers beat the most amazing team ever seen in the Panhandle—Thalia's "blitzkreuz" mixers. The youngsters who are about 15 years old and small and spindly so astounded Coach Mitchell that the latter signed them to play two games here just before the district meet in February.

The Thalia lads had crushed the reserves, the tall Irish, Wellington and other teams by big scores before they tackled the Harvesters, and it is Coach Mitchell's honest opinion that the Thalia boys were slightly off in that final game.

They couldn't make their long shots and they couldn't get the rebounds. The Thalia's favorite trick was to let tall boys of the opposing team get the rebounds and then take the ball away from them. They handled the ball and passed better than the House of David, Mitchell said.

But back to the Harvesters' district trip which will take the Harvesters to Plainview, Lubbock and Amarillo this week-end. The Pampaans have already whipped Amarillo and Plainview, but are expecting trouble on the home courts of those teams because it was on those courts in past years that the Harvesters have got slugged up on.

They will expect their closest game against the tall Westerners, all of whom are over six feet tall, and who were 83 good last year they won the Lubbock district tournament over such teams as Abertney who recently beat Plainview badly, Lamesa, Dimmitt and other teams. Lubbock has the same team back this year, and because Lubbock had practically the same team back from the previous season was one reason they won the state football title last fall.

Cunningham To Quit Track This Season

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—The iron man of track, Glenn Cunningham, plans to quit running before his joints get rusty.

Just when people were beginning to wonder whether the durable Kansan would lope along forever, he disclosed in a radio (NBC) interview last night this would be his last season.

"For a long time now, I've postponed my retirement from active competition, but it's one of those things that can't be put off forever," he said. "It will be my last year."

"The contest in competitors these past two years mainly with the hope of trying for my third successive Olympic team. Now conditions on the other side have made the holding of the Olympic games impossible. So why go on?"

Mexican Matadors Fined 2,000 Pesos

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 22 (AP)—Two of Mexico's most famous matadors, Lorenzo Garza and El Soldado, have been fined 2,000 pesos (about $330) by the federal district government on charges of "shameful conduct" during last Sunday's bull fights.

The crowd that jammed the bull ring jeered their performance. The matadors faunted the crowd in response and the government men said their gestures were insulting.

Vince DiMaggio Has Inferiority Complex

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 22 (AP)—There is something in a name, after all, and in Vincent DiMaggio's case, it's his biggest handicap.

So says Billy Meyer, manager of the Kansas City Blues who peddled the oldest of the ball-playing DiMaggios to the Cincinnati Reds last summer for a reported $40,000.

"Vincent has an inferiority complex," explained Meyer.

"He thinks that Joe (his New York Yankee ball-busting brother) is the big stuff of the family, and don't push himself forward as much as he could.

"If he would forget Joe and play the game according to his own ability, I believe he would be just as valuable to the Reds as Joe is to the Yankees."

Of the 2,000 known kinds of germs and bacteria, only about 100 are believed to be harmful. The other 1,900 varieties are necessary to life in one manner or another.

WOW To Celebrate 50th Anniversary

The local camp Woodmen of the World is joining eight thousand similar units in formulating plans for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Society. On June 6, the anniversary date, thousands of celebrations will be held simultaneously from coast to coast, with a gala affair in Omaha, Nebraska, the national headquarters city, setting the pace.

Parades, pageants, picnics, roll-logs—all are planned for this national recognition of the golden anniversary of the Society. Programs will include an outline of the past, present and contemplated service of the institution to the homes of America.

A special edition of the Woodmen of the World Magazine is also planned for the month of June. It will contain early pictures and historical data as well as articles on camp activity, field work, hospitalization—in fact, on every branch of fraternal service exemplified by Woodmen of the World.

Local officers are: C. H. Walker, consul commander; J. E. Yoder, adviser; lieutenant; W. M. Craven, secretary; G. B. Higgins, escort; L. L. Nelson, watchman; J. W. Hulsey, sentry; and W. W. McDonald, financial secretary.

Nazis Sink Another British Destroyer

LONDON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Four British ships, one of them a sleek destroyer, were sent to the bottom in a wave of week-end shipping losses.

Three neutral victims also added to the heavy toll of men and ships, especially in icy waters around the British Isles, which some sources blamed on a sharp increase in mines.

Sinking of the destroyer Grenville, 1,485-ton flotilla leader, "by a mine or torpedo" was announced by the admiralty yesterday. She was the fourth British destroyer sunk in nearly five months of war and Britain's 21st acknowledged loss to her fleet.

The admiralty said 118 officers and men had been saved, but "eight are known to have been killed and 73 are missing."

To Britons, the disastrous week-end was a sad sequel to words of Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, who declared Saturday, "Things have never gone so well in any naval war."

$2-Better Sues Turf Club

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22 (AP)—Fred C. Jensen found a $2 pari-mutuel ticket at Santa Anita. He charged in a damage suit against the Los Angeles Turf club he was falsely accused of altering the ticket, detained two hours and threatened with imprisonment.

A jury fixed the payoff at $3,052. The payoff at track prices alone would have been only $37.50.

Babe, Fat And 46, Gives Up Hope Of Returning To Game

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—The greatest figure of baseball's modern age, Babe Ruth, has given up hope of ever returning to the game he glorified for two decades.

A mellow, bulging fellow living decorously on the amenities he had the good sense to lay away with part of the million dollars he earned in baseball, the Babe doesn't seem sorry.

"Well, I guess I'm out of it," Ruth said today. "I've got a comfortable home here and no worries. I get a few odd jobs to do, but mostly I keep busy trying to hold down my weight. I play a lot of table tennis and golf, go hunting and I've got one of those electric horses, too."

"I was out hunting all last week—got a bunch of birds and a bad cold."

He's a different bumbino now from the rollicking, carefree character who caused the record books to be rewritten, received up to $90,000 a year from the New York Yankees, squandered possibly a quarter of a million in luxurious living and paid some $20,000 in baseball fines.

He weighs 243 pounds, 15 or 20 above his playing weight, and will be 46 years old February 7. Tattled the grey is beginning to show on his temples. Somehow it was a melancholy scene as the Babe lounged in a smoking jacket amidst countless trophies and remark:

"I don't go to the games much anymore. Everytime I go I ruin a suit of clothes getting through the crowd. Somebody spilled ink all down the back of my coat the last time."

Although he doesn't see much of it, Babe still likes to talk about baseball and compare the old days with the present. He'll be heading south next month—to take a place on the faculty of a baseball school.

Ruth praised the present Yankees. "They're a great ball club and I think they'll be on top for a long time. Do you know who made this team? Joe Gordon. He came along just at the right time. The club needed a spark and he gave it."

Finally we asked the Babe a question he must have heard hundred of times—is anybody going to break his record of 60 home runs in a season. Looking up at a big diagram on a wall showing the date, the score, the team, the pitcher, for everyone of those homers, he mused: "I hope not. . . I hope not; not while I'm alive."

Yankees To Open 1940 Season Against A's

CHICAGO, Jan. 22 (AP)—The New York Yankees begin defense of their fourth straight American League title and world's championship this year on April 16 against the Philadelphia Athletics.

The date not only marks the beginning of the Yankees' campaign for five championships in a row but also the beginning of the league's 40th season.

While the Yanks are opening at Philadelphia the Boston Red Sox begin at Washington, Cleveland at Chicago and St. Louis at Detroit. All the opening series run three days. The season closes on Sept. 29.

Cincinnati Fans Vote To Keep Big Ernie Lombardi

CINCINNATI, Jan. 22 (AP)—If the Cincinnati Reds' front office hasn't made up its mind about Ernie Lombardi, this 40 to 1 shout from Vox Pop may help.

Lou Smith, Cincinnati Enquirer baseball writer, has been conducting his own poll of opinion on the question of keeping the big catcher or trading him.

Smith announced these figures, with the mail still coming in on the man who won't sign his 1940 contract until a $4,000 salary misunderstanding is cleared up.

"To keep big Schmo—945.

"To trade him—22."

Cincinnati Fans Vote To Keep Big Ernie Lombardi

The names of the Westerner roster are quite familiar. Following are the returning lettermen who cavort to the district title last year: L. A. Storrs, Clifton Hill, Frank Smith, Lee Jackson, James Barker, and further. That squad name when lettered with room to spare. Then there's the gangling Pete Cavinton, standing just 6 feet 2 inches. And don't forget two stalwarts who were intelligible last year but are dug to push those lettermen plenty before the season ends: Joltin' Joe Tyson, the same grinning gridiron warrior who now makes the net sizzle with his sensational one-hand shots, and James Kelley, a gaffer hustler.

But that's not all. The rest of that squad includes: Max Walthall, a neat ball passer, Roland Nabors and hefty Robert McKinnon, a lad you are going to hear plenty about with the Cowhand cagers last season and easily earned berths with the Westerners.

Wen't Make Excuses

Then there are more recruits from the Cowhand ranks, any picked five of which can give any quintet from the above group a close call: J. A. Blackwell, J. D. Milner, Joe Dick Hensley, Carol Claiborne, Clyde Harrison and Morris Allen, the little brother of "Cotton" Allen, the skyscraper who was a star in '39.

That's the setup. Those boys make their bow at the Lubbock High gym Friday and Saturday nights. They may not win a game, but they'll lose seven straight before blasting the district tourist to smithereens last year. But regardless of the outcome, they don't have any alibis.

They won't need any.

For each piece of Christmas cake eaten in the homes of friends, the eater will have a happy month during the ensuing year, according to an English tradition.

Yankees To Open 1940 Season Against A's

CHICAGO, Jan. 22 (AP)—The New York Yankees begin defense of their fourth straight American League title and world's championship this year on April 16 against the Philadelphia Athletics.

The date not only marks the beginning of the Yankees' campaign for five championships in a row but also the beginning of the league's 40th season.

While the Yanks are opening at Philadelphia the Boston Red Sox begin at Washington, Cleveland at Chicago and St. Louis at Detroit. All the opening series run three days. The season closes on Sept. 29.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BREITZ

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Big money in Texas says either Baylor or Southern Methodist will bump off the high-riding Aggies next season. . . Miss Henie and Co. grossed $215,000 in the Garden last week and broke the joint record for telephone calls—more than 35,000. . . No use to rub it in, but the Yanks were set to go the limit for Paul Trout until his honor got wise to that $25,000 miscue and returned Paul to the Tigers.

Jersey City seems to be the East's last hope for the Galento-Baer fight for the poor Finns. . . The baseball rules committee huddled with Judge Landis at Belair, Fla., Feb. 12. . . Mike Jacobs planned to send Conn vs. Lenevich to Detroit to take the edge off Burman vs. Pastor, but was denied dates.

Today's guest star: Howard Brickley, Wichita Falls (Tex.) Times: "All that is needed to cap the Detroit baseball situation is for Dr. Robert Hutchins to drop over from Chicago and deliver his well-known lecture on de-emphasis and reform."

Here's a new angle on the Landis crack down. . . Burt Whitman, well-informed sports editor of the Boston Herald, says Charley Gelbert, the old infielder, was the underlying cause. . . Charley went to Detroit's farm with the understanding he'd get a shot at manager if a shift with in both instances regardless of "dope."

The Westerners are defending champs of the district, having eliminated Abernathy's Antelopes last year by one point for the title. Six men are eligible for service who have earned letters here, five from last fall, one from the season before.

Coach Keys has 11 boys, only three of whom are under six feet, from which it is the next thing to impossible just now for him to pick a starting lineup. It just can't be done. And then if a starting squad is named it's even harder with in both instances regardless of "dope."

After the week-end series here, the Westerners will start wading through such teams as Plainview and Borger on a home and home basis, and such other powers as Lamesa and Littlefield as warmups for district play.

Rice To Play Mustangs, Aggies, Bears This Week

DALLAS, Jan. 22 (AP)—Four games, tough ones, confront the Rice Owls this week before a long three weeks layoff to duel mid-term exams, and out of those games may grow the solution to the tight Southwest conference basketball race.

On Monday and Tuesday and Friday and Saturday down at the vast Coliseum court in Houston the Owls make their bid for the title.

First comes Southern Methodist, a truly fine club that has dropped three games to Texas, Rice and the Texas Aggies—current leaders—by a total of only eight points. Then on the next night the Aggies, stumped by Rice only a week ago, 62-44, come back for revenge. . .

The way the Aggies handled Southern Methodist last week, 41-49, definitely indicates they could do an about-face on Rice. But the big test comes on Friday and Saturday nights when Baylor, finally at its peak, plays a two-game series. . . Only team to beat Texas, the Arkansas Razorbacks, confidently marched into Waco over the past weekend for two dates with the Bayers and left for the Ozarks late Saturday night with two defeats, Baylor simply put a vise-like defense on the tall Porkers and smothered them 40-24 and 47-39.

So the setup for Rice in four games—the games they want to win and let the rest of the field try and catch them—makes for dramatic big business this week. . . Demarec's drive to leadership of the parade was accomplished in sensational fashion. After finishing in a tie for 10th at Los Angeles he won the Oakland tournament by coming from behind in the last nine of the 72-hole event. . . He qualified in second place in the San Francisco tournament then won five match play rounds without once being down to an opponent. . . Demarec's drive to leadership of the parade was accomplished in sensational fashion. He qualified in second place in the San Francisco tournament then won five match play rounds without once being down to an opponent.

Meanwhile Texas, tied with Rice for the leadership with four wins and only one loss starts its mid-term inactivity and won't return to the court until Feb. 10.

The Steers struck another severe blow in defending their title by beating Jean Texas Christian, 69-28, last Saturday. It begins to look like T. C. U., which dropped its twelve straight in the conference last year without a murmur, may repeat this year and take over the cellar for the sixth consecutive season. . . The Texas Aggies are hanging on with a three win, and one last percentage, doing some of the most confounding playing in the league. Despite Virgil Wikerson's 20 points heave again Feb. 19, when they start a two-game series with Arkansas in Houston, will the Owls start up again.

Wilkinson is pacing the scorers' with 66 points while Frank Carswell of Rice is second with 55 and Bob Kinney of Rice third with 54. Johnny Adams of Arkansas held fourth with 49. "Utterbug" Henderson of the Aggies and "Speed" Houpt of Texas are knotted in fifth position with 48 points. . . Only four Rice games are scheduled for the week.

Jimmy Demaret Wins $5,000 San Francisco Open Meet

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Professional golfers hiking along the winter tournament circuit made their salaried to a new leader today—Jimmy Demaret, from Houston.

When the Texas tornado, and no other appellation more fitly describes the way he blew through the tournament, defeated Willie Goggin, local crack shot yesterday to win the $5,000 San Francisco match play open championship, he wrote three new headlines for golf thus far in 1940.

The 2 and 1 victory in the 36 hole finals put Demaret in the forefront of the current year's money-getters.

He captured his second major tournament in as many weeks—the other being the Oakland medal play open. At the peak of his game, steady as clock-work, and pacing the field, he'll be the one to beat from now until the boys bang out their shots in the U. S. open and the P. G. A. championships.

Along with $2,375 earnings—$75 in the Los Angeles open, $1,200 in the Oakland and $1,100 in the San Francisco event—Demaret became the first player in the 7th year history of the local tournament to win it twice. He was top man here in 1938.

Demarec's drive to leadership of the parade was accomplished in sensational fashion. After finishing in a tie for 10th at Los Angeles he won the Oakland tournament by coming from behind in the last nine of the 72-hole event. . . He qualified in second place in the San Francisco tournament then won five match play rounds without once being down to an opponent.

He shot sub-par golf over the Lake Merced course to take Goggin's measure in the 36-hole finals. For 35 holes played he was four under standard figures. Goggin finished two under.

Deadly iron shots to the greens in the face of biting wind and an unceasing putting touch that curled the ball in from all angles and distances on the greens made the Texan master of the match from the seventh hole on.

He went into the lead at that point then increased it to a three-hole advantage and matched putt for putt when they counted most.

So modest was Eleonora Duse, famous actress, that she did not like to sign her own name to her photographs. She always wrote the name of the character she represented in the picture.

Writer Sees Dead Russians On Icy Front

(Thomas F. Hawkins, native Oregon, Iowa, an Associated Press correspondent with Finnish forces in Finland's frozen Arctic gave graphic descriptions of the Finns' successes against the Russian 163 and 44th divisions. Today he reports another Finnish victory against the Red army.)

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
WITH THE FINNISH NORTH-EASTERN ARMY, Jan. 22 (AP)—The twisted and frozen bodies of seven Russians on the rough plank floor of a farmhouse at the edge of an ice-bound lake told the story today of another Finnish victory on the Salla front.

For ten days, three times daily Red army troops pushed onto the lake and tried to cross its half-mile width to the farmyard position held by the Finns.

Each time the Soviet band, about 100 in all, fell back, Finnish sky patrols finished them with grenade fire in a surprise attack. This happened during the darkness of yesterday morning.

A few of the Russians escaped but the bodies of most lay in the woods back of the house.

The scene was typical of the type of fighting on this front, a semi-circle of barnyard battlefronts to the west of Salla village, about 37 miles from the border.

The drive came within 20 miles of the town of Kemijarvi and stretched 60 miles to the north and south. Kemijarvi is about 75 miles from the frontier and lies to the southwest of Salla.

However, the lines now have been moved eastward to the Markajarvi sector, about half way between Salla and Kemijarvi, with the Russians retreating slowly to their main fortifications at Salla village.

The demolished lakeside farmhouse garrison constituted a small segment of the Russian force which the Finns believed totaled around 45,000 men in the whole Salla sector.

Legs Blown Off
The legs of one of the seven bodies in the farmhouse had been blown off by grenades. The arm of another had been shattered.

Probably members of a sky patrol to protect the Russian retreat, the seven had no time to reach for their weapons.

Their coats were off and apparently they had been resting or sleeping. Gas masks and knapsacks were strewn about the floor of the bare-furnished room.

Outside in the snow 21 gas masks and 21 knapsacks lay alongside a dead Russian and a baby carriage on sled runners.

To the west stood a Finnish cluster of farm fortifications, splattered with machine-gun and artillery fire, but still intact. A number of composed farmers were carrying on as nothing had happened.

One could see for five miles in any direction. It was this flat, open country that gave the Red army an opportunity to use its artillery and tanks to advance during the first few weeks of fighting.

The farm yard battleground in the nearby Kurai sector held by the Finns showed evidence of sharp fighting. Russian artillery had shattered a door and the roof and torn a gaping hole clear through one farmhouse.

Windows Broken
Windows in all of a cluster of twenty buildings were broken and nearly every one bore marks of shells which had been fired from the Russian fortifications a half-mile away.

The Red troops never were able to take the Finnish positions, however, and with their supply lines cut, they began to retreat.

Behind, the Russians left a well-built system of dugouts and lean-tos, and about 50 weapons. They carried off most of their tanks, artillery trucks and horses. The Finns captured two enemy tanks in yesterday's fighting.

The front was quiet today except for light artillery fire. There was no marked change in positions during the day.

Drunk Driving Charged in Wichita Fatality
WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 22 (AP)—P. L. Boswell, 21, was charged with murder here tonight in connection with this city's second traffic fatality of the year. Louis Lyons, 17, high school junior, was fatally injured when the motor scooter he was riding, a Christmas gift, and Boswell's collided, this afternoon.

A second youth on the scooter escaped with minor injuries. The murder complaint alleges Boswell was under influence of intoxicating liquor at the time of the accident. Only three traffic fatalities occurred here during 1939.

New Orleans Editor Sees Jones Election

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 22 (AP)—James E. Crown, battling New Orleans editor, described the campaign for "fumigation" of Louisiana politics and predicted "they won't ever steal again."

"I greet you from a state's unpurified and unsanctified—but in the course of fumigation," Crown said in an address to members of the Oklahoma Press Association.

"We're goin' to take 'em, too. You don't have to worry about that," he declared. "If we haven't completely whipped 'em this time, at least we've made christians out of 'em. They won't ever steal again—like they did before."

Crown, called upon to relate to the newspapermen how the "story broke," described details of the investigation which resulted in convictions against more than 30 and indictments against more than 180 affiliates of the political organization founded by the late Huey Long.

Crown also predicted that Sam Jones, Lake Charles, La., attorney, would be elected by a 100,000 plurality over governor Earl K. Long, brother and political heir of the late "Kingfish," in the runoff gubernatorial primary February 20.

Passengers Return From World Tour

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 22. (AP)—Passengers on the American liner President Adams returned from a world tour yesterday to tell of being halted by a warning shot across the ship's bow by a British patrol boat a Gibraltar.

Captain Gregory Cullen said the shot was a blank and the result of a confusion in signals. His ship had been stopped several times previously for Allied blockade examinations.

FOR Children's SNIFFLES

COMPARE your child's mucous membrane with that of a healthy child. The mucous membrane is the lining of the nose and throat. It is the mucous membrane that catches the germs that cause colds and sniffles. This gentle ointment soothes and protects irritated mucous membrane, reduces swelling and thus opens breathing passages wider. It soon checks sneezing and sniffing.

Also rub Mentholatum on the child's chest, back, and neck. This will improve local blood circulation and help relieve cold discomforts.

Mentholatum helps in so many ways that you should always remember this: For Discomforts, A Cold—Mentholatum. Link them together in your mind.

FOR EVERY SECTION

OF TEXAS

Twenty years ago only 30 counties in Texas produced oil . . . . .

TODAY oil and gas are produced in 147 counties. Ninety-eight additional counties are receiving the benefits of leasing and exploration activities.

Thus in 245 of Texas' 254 counties, business, government, tax collector, wage earner, farmer and rancher receive their part of the oil man's expenditures every month in the year.

Even the dry holes (52,000 drilled to date at a cost of a billion dollars) contributed their share of employment and wide distribution of money.

Last year land owners received fifty million dollars in lease rentals and bonuses alone.

In many counties where oil is a major factor, local government receives as much as 90% of its total tax revenue from the oil business.

Then, too, the State collects 45% of its tax money (exclusive of the gasoline tax) from the oil man. In 1938 this was thirty-two million dollars.

Every barrel of oil produced in Texas in that year paid an average of 9.3 cents tax.
