

Bobby Fischer Wins World Chess Championship

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—American challenger Bobby Fischer won the world chess championship today when Boris Spassky of Russia telephoned his resignation in the 21st game, which had been adjourned overnight.

Max Euwe, president of the International Chess Federation, said Spassky had telephoned Lothar Schmid, match referee, shortly before the game was to resume with Spassky in a probable losing position.

It is the first time an American has ever held the title, although Paul Charles Morphy of New Orleans, who lived from 1837 to 1884, dominated play in the 1850s and came to be known as unofficial world champion.

The title match here had a limit of 24 games. Today's victory gave Fischer 12½ points to Spassky's 8½. Fischer won seven games, each worth a point. Spassky took three, including a forfeit—thus he actually won only one out of 10 games at the playing board. Each of 11 draws was worth half a point to each contestant.

Fischer, who is 29, is from Brooklyn. He stood to win $156,000 in prize money, counting a bonus put up by a British fan. He will reap further thousands in book royalties and other fees before he has to defend his title in 1976.

Spassky, who is 35, is to receive about $100,000 as runnerup. He had won the title in 1969 from Tigran Petrosian, a fellow Russian—indeed Russians have almost monopolized title play most of this century.

Referee Schmid announced on the stage where the players were to have resumed their 21st game at 3:30 p.m. that Spassky had telephoned his resignation at 12:50.

Schmid took the call and informed the American camp, but the Americans initially refused to accept the resignation as official. Schmid's announcement made it official.

Fischer arrived at the playing hall 15 minutes late after Euwe ruled that he would have to appear to claim the title.

Fischer walked on stage and stood looking at the chess board with one hand on his hip.

Then Schmid stepped forward and declared him the new champion.

The capacity crowd of 2,500 Icelanders cheered and some began a slow handclap. Fischer walked off and the ceremony was over. Spassky did not appear.

Frank Skoff, president of the U.S. Chess Federation, said Fischer had not been informed of Spassky's telephone call and had been analyzing the game position until the last minute.

The match between the brilliant individualist—Fischer—and the smooth product of the state-supported Soviet chess machine had excited fans throughout the world.

Fischer saw the match as a personal vendetta against Soviet domination of chess.

At the end, feelings between the two players appeared less than cordial. Euwe said he wished Spassky had shown up at the playing hall to congratulate Fischer, but added that the Russian "was a little bitter" amid the controversy surrounding the match.

Fischer had shown up for the match several days late. He had kept Spassky waiting, leaving New York only after the British fan, financier James D. Slater, doubled the purse to $250,000.

The U.S. challenger told friends he thought he had a winning position on the board when the Russian champion sealed his 41st move and play was adjourned Thursday night. That was also the consensus among the gallery of grandmasters and other experts outside the Soviet camp. The Russians as usual weren't talking.

At that point, Spassky had four pawns and a bishop and Fischer a rook and two pawns. International Grandmaster Isaac Kashdan, analyzing the match for The Associated Press, said "The material is considered about even, but Fischer's king is far forward, and he has a passed pawn ready to advance to decide the issue."

Kashdan predicted today's would be the final game of the match and said it would be "a worthy victory for Fischer."

The 29-year-old American was leading 12½-8½ in the 24-game series and needed only one more point—a win or two draws—to take the crown, which a Russian has worn since 1937. Spassky won it in 1969.

The Icelandic Chess Federation announced that a prizegiving banquet will be held in the playing hall two days after the end of the match.

County Sanctions Community Action

By RAY BAXTER

The Panhandle Community Action Corporation is coming to town. After two previous attempts to get the needed official invitation from the Gray County commissioners court, an impressive array of local leadership appeared in behalf of the community action group.

A local committee will work with the corporation in establishing services and guidelines for providing them. At present a day care center and family planning are the only two projects to be introduced into Gray County.

It was further pointed out that the family planning program would greatly ease the burden now expended through the county welfare agency.

It was again emphasized that the county is not obligated in any way for funds to establish this community action work. All that is needed of the commissioners court is official sanction in the form of an invitation to come in and go to work. The community action organization already serves 26 countries of the Texas Panhandle.

The county judge was authorized to borrow $75,000 from the county depository to pay operating costs and salaries for September and October. After that incoming tax monies should ease this situation. Gray County Judge Don Cain did note that this was using next year's tax money to complete this business year, a situation that reevaluation will hopefully remedy in time.

The judge was authorized to employ counsel to expedite easements for the Perry LeFors Field aviation rights and the Red Deer Creek project.

A 7:30 p.m. meeting was added to the schedule for Sept. 12, when the commissioners will sit as a board of equalization to hear from local taxpayers regarding reevaluation.

Following a report on the state of the jail in relation to requirements of the law, the court adjourned until Sept. 11, for the regular monthly meeting.

Red Sappers Stepping Up Attacks

SAIGON (AP)—Communist sappers and gunners stepped up their attacks today on the eve of North Vietnam's national day, killing 24 rangers and wounding 23 in one assault.

The Saigon command reported four attacks along a 150-mile stretch of Highway 1, the country's main north-south road, between Da Nang and Qui Nhon on the northern and central coasts.

The heaviest assault hit the town of Tam Quan, 50 miles north of Qui Nhon.

The Saigon command gave this account:

Simultaneous assaults were made shortly after midnight against the district headquarters, which was defended by a militia unit and against a ranger command post 500 yards south of the town.

Cool Front Brings Drizzles To Pampa Area

After a high of 93 yesterday, Pampa was blocked in with drizzles and gray skies this forenoon as another cool front pushed through the area.

Summer is still officially on the calendar, but it looked more like fall today.

More showers may occur tonight as a 40 per cent chance of rain was in the forecast with 30 per cent for Saturday.

At least one tornado was reported in the Panhandle area last night as bristling thunderstorms surged through the area during the night as the cool front pushed deeper into the state, according to Associated Press reports.

A twister dipped into an open field near Husband, west of Amarillo, causing a tornado watch to be posted in a 140-mile wide corridor from Lubbock to Ponca City, Okla.

About the same time winds up to 90 miles per hour hurricane force were reported four miles northwest of Amarillo, with some damage reported.

The heaviest storms, according to the National Weather Service, occurred in an area embracing Amarillo, Hereford, Hale Center, Tahoka and Brownfield.

By this morning showers were reported in areas near Sherman, San Angelo and the Dallas-Fort Worth area, with others falling near the coast around Corpus Christi and Galveston.

New Trade Pact Reached At Pacific Summit Talks

U.S.-Japanese Leaders Conclude 2-Day Meet

HONOLULU (AP)—President Nixon and Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka wind up their mid-Pacific summit today, reaching accord on a one-shot Japanese effort to ease the plight of the dollar.

The agreement to be spelled out in a joint communique, envisions Japanese orders for an extra $1 billion-plus of American goods, with the bulk to be paid for in advance.

American officials had hoped to leave Honolulu with a similarly specific meeting of the minds on longer range solutions to a chronic and growing deficit in U.S. trade dealings with Japan. Such matters, however, are being left largely to future negotiations.

Nixon and Tanaka were said to have spent a third of their time in private talks Thursday discussing trade matters. Sitting in on their initial discussion were Henry A. Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser, and Nobuhiko Ushiba, Japan's ambassador to Washington.

While they met at the Kaula hotel on Oahu's north shore, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Japanese Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira presided at a companion conference of other officials from the two countries. They were joined for an hour by Nixon and Tanaka before all summit participants took a break prior to an evening working dinner at the hotel.

After a final meeting and issuance of the communique, Nixon flies back to his San Clemente, Calif. home Friday night. Before departure he will participate in a ceremony marking the retirement of Adm. John S. McCain Jr. and his replacement as commander in chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific by Adm. Noel Gayler.

While her husband spent all Thursday conferring with the visiting Japanese and getting a Vietnam report from Ellsworth Bunker, ambassador to Saigon, Mrs. Nixon did some touring around Hilo on the island of Hawaii.

From the standpoint of the Americans, trade was the key summit topic in view of pressure on the dollar resulting from Japan's currently estimated $3.8 billion surplus in commercial dealings with the United States.

However, Nixon and Tanaka also spent a good bit of time talking about developing ties between their two countries and mainland China. Tanaka is expected to visit Peking in about a month.

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press secretary, said Nixon and Tanaka also discussed trade and political relationships among the non-Communist countries and how the relationships should grow and develop in a changing world.

He quoted Nixon as saying the two leaders had had "a good exchange."

McGovern To Campaign In Texas

HOUSTON (AP)—Sen. George McGovern will bring his presidential campaign to Texas next week, his local campaign headquarters said.

An advance man for McGovern said the Democratic candidate will stop in Dallas next Wednesday evening. The candidate may also make appearances in other Texas cities, he said, but no definite plans had been made.

McGovern will come back to Houston Sept. 10 and 11 for a Houston stop, including a public rally the afternoon of Sept. 10, he said.

Sargent Shriver, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, will campaign in El Paso, San Antonio and Wichita Falls Sept. 12 and 13, a local McGovern spokesman said.

A complete schedule of McGovern's Texas tour was to be released today, the McGovern headquarters here said.

TEE FOR TWO—Hart Warren, left, head professional at the Pampa Country Club and Jim Simpson display the silver service that will be awarded to the winner of the 35th annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament this Labor Day weekend. ## Labor Department Reports Strong Employment Growth

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department today reported a substantial rise in the nation's employment, boosting the total number of Americans with jobs to 83.5 million.

At the same time, the unemployment rate rose from 5.5 to 5.6 per cent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The report said actual employment rose 61,000. But on a seasonally adjusted basis, the bureau figured the rise at nearly 300,000 and called it a continuation of strong growth evidence since the middle of last year.

The number of unemployed actually fell 316,000 but since it normally drops more in August, the bureau figured the slight rise in the unemployment rate on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The bureau also reported average wages of some 50 million rank and file workers rose two cents an hour to $3.64 and $1.12 per week to $137.23.

In the past year, the report said, average pay has risen $8.20, or 6.4 per cent per week. Living costs have risen three per cent over the same period.

The bureau said the nation's total employment has increased by 2.6 million in the past year.

Virtually all of the August rise in jobs was among women working part-time, the report said. Over the past year the rise in the number of job holders included 1.1 million men, 1 million women and 500,000 teenagers.

The total unemployed included 1,738,000 men with a jobless rate of 3.9 per cent, 1,772,000 women for a rate of 5.5 per cent, and 1,347,000 teenagers for a rate of 16.9 per cent, the bureau said.

In a racial breakdown, the bureau said the jobless rate for white workers edged up from 5.0 to 5.1 per cent with a total of 3,894,000, while the unemployment rate for other races—mostly blacks—edged down from 9.9 to 9.7 per cent with a total of 963,000.

Both employment and unemployment can go up at the same time if the rise in the labor force is greater than the increase in employment.

In August the labor force rose 390,000 on a seasonal basis to 86.9 million. Thus, the bureau figured both a 290,000 increase in employment and a 102,000 increase in unemployment on a seasonal basis.

Florida Atty. Gen. Reveals Another Break-In Incident

MIAMI (AP)—State Atty. Richard Gerstein of Miami says the testimony of a photographer points to a second break-in of the Democratic National Headquarters where correspondence between party leaders was secretly filmed.

Gerstein said Thursday that a Miami commercial photographer had testified he developed prints of what appeared to be handwritten letters between Democratic leaders one week before five men were arrested inside the party's headquarters at the Watergate complex in Washington, D.C.

Photographer Michael Richardson identified the men who paid him for the "special rush job" on June 10 as former CIA agent Bernard L. Barker and Frank Sturgis. Both were charged with the June 17 break-in at the Watergate. Gerstein said.

"The only conclusion you can reasonably draw is there was another break-in at the Watergate or somewhere else where these people came into possession of documents they shouldn't have had," said Gerstein, a Democrat who is running for re-election this fall.

Gerstein said his investigation of the Watergate affair is "continuing," but declined to say if formal charges would be filed. He said the probe was "totally nonpolitical."

Richardson was subpoenaed by Gerstein and gave a sworn statement last week. Gerstein said the 29-year-old photographer passed a 2½-hour lie detector test Thursday "with flying colors."

However, the state attorney refused to say how Richardson's story came to his attention. Martin Dardis, Gerstein's chief investigator, said only that Richardson's role came to light with a tip from an unidentified third party.

In his statement, Richardson said Barker and Sturgis came to his father's firm, Rich Photos, on June 10. He said the two men described the photographs as "legal documents and notes, stuff like that."

But Richardson said when he began to develop the 8x10 prints, he started to suspect "some sort of hanky panky."

The commercial photographer told investigators the 38 pictures from two rolls of 35mm film showed what appeared to be personal correspondence between Lawrence F. O'Brien, then chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and other Democratic leaders. He said many of the letters were signed simply, "Larry."

Richardson testified he first thought the onion-skin copies were being held by "deformed hands" on a "deep shag rug" background. He said he later realized that the hands actually were ill-fitting surgical gloves.

Raza Unida Delegates Open 4-Day Convention In El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The role of the new Mexican-American Raza Unida party in the national presidential campaign will be main topic as the party opens its four-day national convention today.

The big question as delegates began the state conferences was whether the party would throw its support to either the Democrats or the Republicans or concentrate on state elections.

Neither party had confirmed at a late hour whether it would send a top representative to the convention although both candidates—Sen. George McGovern and President Richard Nixon—were invited to speak.

Raza Unida leaders, especially in Texas, have criticized both the GOP and the Democrats in recent months, accusing them of neglecting the Mexican-American population and taking its vote for granted.

The convention is the first of its kind of the party which was organized in Texas three years ago and is making its first attempt at statewide politicking by running candidate for governor and the U.S. Senate.

Gubernatorial candidate Ramsey Muniz, a 30-year-old San Antonio attorney, has led the charges against the Democratic party and said last week Raza Unida will support McGovern only if McGovern will support Raza Unida's Texas candidates.

Muniz noted that the Democratic candidate for governor, Dolph Briscoe, has said he will not work for the election of McGovern in Texas, although Briscoe voted for McGovern's nomination in Miami Beach.

If McGovern and the liberals of the party are sincere about their interest in Mexican Americans, this is their chance to prove it by backing Raza Unida," Muniz said.

The party's criticism of the Democrats not imply a swing to the GOP or President Nixon whom party leaders accuse of

Two Die, Eight Injured In Freeport Plant Blast

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP) — An explosion and fire at a chemical company plant here Thursday night killed two persons and critically injured two others.

Another six persons were hurt in the blast at Rhodia, Inc., plant officials said.

Killed were Milton Hood of Alvin and David Elliott Laughlin, 25, of Angleton, both plant workers. Jess Holland, 35, of Hitchcock and Bernie West, 35, of Lake Jackson, were transferred to a Galveston Hospital in critical condition with burns over 75 per cent of their bodies.

Officials at Brazosport Community Hospital said Billy Williams, 30, of Freeport was admitted for smoke inhalation and H. A. McDouglas, 41, of Brazoria, for burns. Both men were in satisfactory condition, they said. Four other persons were treated and released.

George Mussa, manager of the Rhodia plant, said the explosion occurred in a new unit of the plant that had just gone into operation Thursday.

We were running a chemical reaction," Mussa said. "Everything was going normally when all of a sudden it exploded. We don't know what caused it." He said there had been no determination of damages to the plant, although most of it appeared undamaged.

Firemen from surrounding areas quickly put out the flames in the plant. But a brush fire started by the blaze was not brought under control until about four hours after the blast.

Witnesses said the explosion rattled houses five miles away and broke windows about a mile and a half away in stores on nearby Texas 288.

Old Timers Picnic Set At Mobeetie

Mobeetie is celebrating its annual Old Timers picnic at the Old Jail in "old town" Monday, which is Labor Day. Everyone is welcome—old settlers and new settlers.

Registration will begin at the Old Jail at 9 a.m. Everyone must be registered in order to be served.

Special recognition will be made of the oldest person, oldest settler and the person traveling the longest distance to attend.

A barbecue will be served at noon. Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish with pie or cake to finish off the barbecue.

John Connally's Brother Campaigns For McGovern

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — While former Secretary of the Treasury John Connally is leading a Democratic for Nixon drive, one of his brothers is campaigning for George McGovern.

Golfrey Connally, an economics professor at San Antonio Junior College, admits he hasn't always taken such an active role in politics.

But he says the race between President Nixon and McGovern offers the clearest distinction of issues and party lines since the 1930s.

Golfrey remains silent on his thoughts about the support given Nixon by his brother, a long-time Democrat and former Texas governor.

He did say in a recent interview that Democratic support for Nixon is "another step in the development of a Republican party in the South that has been in the process for about a generation."

Golfrey, who has hair about as gray as his brother's but modishly longer, particularly favors McGovern's economic policies.

He told a Democratic gathering here this week that McGovern's fiscal stands are not "radical" but "responsible."

Dallas Policeman Arrested And Charged With Assault To Murder

DALLAS (AP) — Fellow policemen arrested Felix F. Florio, 33, and charged him with assault to murder Thursday in a shooting which nearly killed a young Dallas secretary.

Police Chief Frank Dyson immediately suspended the patrolman and took away his badge and identification card.

Florio, who had been non-billed last year in the slaying of an airline stewardess, was charged in the shooting of a woman, 22, who also was raped by a man who entered her East Dallas apartment by displaying police credentials. She was left partly blinded.

After being questioned, Florio was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert Cole, who fixed his bond at $10,000.

Dyson had reinstated Florio after the grand jury refused to indict him in the slaying of the airline hostess, who had been his girlfriend.

The Dallas chief declined to say what led to the arrest of Florio or what evidence had been gathered against the dark-haired officer.

Go Go Dancers Found Innocent Of Lewd Charges

HOUSTON (AP) — Two women who danced in a courtroom here Thursday clad only in bikini-type panties and two round Band-aids were found innocent of performing lewd and obscene dances.

The two, Mrs. Brenda Lou Andrews, 31, and Mrs. Edith Lee Hall, 30, were arrested in a similar costume July 8 at a local nightclub.

Thursday, before the four-woman, two-man jury and a packed courtroom, the women repeated their dance performing to a rocking beat from a phonograph while red lights flashed and strobe lights blinked.

County Criminal Court Judge J. D. Guyton ordered the doors of the courtroom sealed after spectators started standing in the aisles in an attempt to see the unusual session. Others crowded the hall outside and peeked through the windows in the courtroom door.

Mrs. Hall, the mother of three, told the jury she has been a go-go dancer in clubs for about five years and saw nothing wrong with it.

During a court break, both women said they would prefer to dance completely topless and quit using the small bandages.

The workers walked out after they were denied a 15 per cent increase in salary that would boost their pay to $412 a month.

ROYAL ROMANCE talk blossoms whenever Britain's Prince Charles appears in public with a new companion. Recent attention centered on actress June Ritchie, starring as Scarlett O'Hara in London's current hit musical, "Gone With the Wind," who was the prince's date at a Windsor polo match.

STAMP COVERS AFFAIR Worden Forced Out Of Astronaut Corps

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — One of three Apollo 15 astronauts who smuggled stamp covers to the moon and back, Alfred M. Worden, has been forced out of the astronaut corps and assigned to another space agency center, officials said Thursday.

But, in a reversal of a previous statement, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said that both Worden and an Apollo 15 crewmate, David R. Scott, "could be considered for space flight sometime in the future."

A NASA spokesman said Worden's transfer was mandatory and that his involvement in the stamp caper was one of the "considerations."

"This also is part of the planned phaseout of the astronaut office as a result of the declining number of space flights," a spokesman said.

Worden will become a research engineer and test pilot at the Ames Research Center, a NASA facility at Mountain View, Calif.

NASA reprimanded Worden, Scott and the third Apollo 15 crewman, James B. Irwin, for taking 400 unauthorized stamp covers to the moon and back.

An investigation by NASA showed that the trio planned to pocket $7,000 a piece from the sale of the stamp covers, but later declined the money. The covers were sold in Europe by a German collector for about $1,500 each. The rest were impounded by NASA. Scott has also been transferred out of the astronaut corps. Irwin has retired.

In a separate statement from Christopher C. Kraft, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, both Scott and Worden were said to be still eligible for space flight.

"Although he is no longer on astronaut flight status," Kraft was quoted as saying, referring to Worden, "this does not rule out the possibility that he could be considered for a space flight sometime in the future. The same applies to Col. Scott in his new position."

When asked if Scott or Worden would have to be transferred back to the astronaut corps before being named to a spacecraft, a spokesman said that under the current system they would.

"But this could change," he added. The continued eligibility for spaceflight, he said, applies only to astronauts who have been transferred as a result of the phaseout.

This would not apply to Irwin, who retired Aug. 1 to begin an evangelistic career in association with the Southern Baptist Convention.

The stamp affair is still being investigated by the justice department.

Although the astronauts were reprimanded for taking unauthorized stamp covers to the moon, Worden also took 144 covers which were approved by the space agency. A number of these were also impounded.

Free Lunch Applications At St. Vincent Available

St. Vincent's School board has announced applications are available for families whose children are eligible for free or reduced-rate lunches.

The board has adopted the new lunch policy to assist families who cannot pay the daily lunch fee of 40 cents per student.

Completed application forms, signed by an adult family member, should be sent to St. Vincent's school for consideration by school officials. Father Francis Hynes, C.M., has explained. Consideration will be made of any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect a family's ability to pay for school lunches, such as prolonged illness in the family, unexpected expenses due to fire, flood or other disaster, seasonal unemployment and other emergency situations.

Father Hynes pointed out a hearing may be requested if a family is not satisfied with the board's decision on the application. The appeal may be made orally or in writing to the St. Vincent School Board, who will review the application to determine if other arrangements can be made.

McGovern Tells Newsmen He Doesn't Worry About Polls

WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern says he has changed his position on issues probably less than any presidential candidate of recent times—and that he has better than an even chance to defeat President Nixon in November.

The Democratic candidate gave that estimate in a panel interview Thursday with foreign television newsmen, taped for broadcast abroad.

One of them, Claus Toksvig of Denmark, told McGovern that if current polls are accurate, he would have to convert to his cause 2,403 voters an hour from now to election time in November in order to win.

McGovern grinned and said this should not be impossible "with the magic of television."

"But I don't worry much about polls long before an election," he said, recalling that early in his drive to win primaries leading to the Democratic nomination. "If the polls showed us at 5 per cent, it was a good day."

"I think it will be a very hard race," McGovern said. "I think we can win."

He met with the foreign newsmen two days after unveiling a substitute for his controversial plan to reform welfare with a "demogrant" of $1,000 for everyone, and also a tough tax reform proposal.

But he told the interviewers "I think perhaps I have changed my positions less than any other presidential candidate in recent years."

Discussing the Indochina war, McGovern developed an idea he had mentioned earlier—that U.S. forces in Thailand could figure in bargaining for release of prisoners.

He said he is for immediate withdrawal from Indochina itself, but went on. "It has never been asked as a condition for ending the war that we immediately close out our forces in Thailand."

He was asked whether he would expect the United States to obtain the release of prisoners even if President Nguyen Van Thieu were to remain in power in South Vietnam after a U.S. pullout.

"I am confident we will," he said. He said he could not estimate Thieu's chances of retaining power in such circumstances, but "I don't think he has a wide popular base."

McGovern said he favors reducing U.S. troop strength in Europe whether or not the Soviets make comparable moves on their side of the Iron Curtain, but he said "I would hope the Soviets would reduce their force levels in eastern Europe."

Annual Elk City Rodeo Starts Saturday Night

ELK CITY, Okla.—Plans for the 34th annual Elk City Rodeo of Champions were nearing completion today. The action-packed rodeo will be staged on Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights.

Each evening performance will begin promptly at 8 p.m. (Sunday, 8:30), featuring the National champion cowboys. Beutler and Son will once again provide stock for all three shows.

One of the highlights of the annual rodeo is the colorful parade in downtown Elk City. This year the parade will be held on Monday afternoon, beginning promptly at 2 p.m.

One of the best announcers in rodeo, Hadley Barrett, will be on hand to describe the rodeo action. Music for the night shows will be provided by the John W. Shideler rodeo band.

Pampan Candidate Of J.D. Degree

Robert Leland Finney, 2140 N. Faulkner, was a candidate for a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from the University of Texas School of Law at Austin at the close of the summer session.

Approximately 130 students were candidates for the degree.

Colorado, sometimes called the Centennial State, was admitted to the Union on Aug. 1, 1876, a century after the Declaration of Independence was signed.

U.S. Bond Sales In Gray County Reach $276,766

George B. Cree, chairman of the Gray County Savings Bonds Committee, reported today that sales of Series E and H United Savings Bonds in the county totaled $42,289 during July. Sales for the first seven months were $276,766 for 66 per cent of the 1972 goal of $420,000.

July sales in Texas were $16,989,269 compared to $16,810,210 during the same period last year. Year-to-date sales amounted to $125,013,794, while 1971 sales totaled $118,726,731—a 5.2 per cent increase.

Nationwide sales during July totaled $493 million. For the January-July period sales were $3.7 billion—15 per cent above sales last year. Exchanges of Series E for Series H Bonds amounting to $27 million were reported for July, 13 per cent above the $24 million exchanged last year.

Vandalism Blamed

AMARILLO (AP) — The meanest thief nominations are numerous. But how about the meanest vandal?

A community effort to help feed needy neighbors was wiped out during a recent night when vandals dumped over 300 pounds of food on the floor of the Opportunity Neighborhood Center.

Most of the food had been canned recently and stored in the building.

Officials found that 200 pounds of sugar, 90 pounds of preserves, jelly and green beans, and 30 cases of milk had been dumped on every room of the center.

One official said the food canning program began in July and the demand had been so great for the food that the amount destroyed consisted of only two weeks' effort.

"We'll just have to start all over again," one man said.

Police said the vandals entered by prying open a window.

Church Will Host Mission Convention

First Pentecostal Holiness Church will host a missionary convention Thursday through Sunday according to the Rev. Albert Maggard, pastor.

Special speakers for the convention include Floradell Baldwin, institute Biblico Emanuel College, Monterrey, Mexico; The Rev. John Parker, superintendent, Costa Rican Conference; the Rev. O. N. Todd, supervisor of mission work in Nigeria and president of the Bible School at Lagos in that African country and the Rev. Harold Dalton, representative of the Department of Foreign Missions for the denomination.

Miss Baldwin, a former missionary to Costa Rica and Argentina, now teaching in the college in Mexico for Mexican ministers, will be the speaker Thursday night.

Rev. Parker will speak Friday night from his experience with missions in the tropics.

McCathern Appointed Associate

A former Pampa resident, Glen McCathern, has been appointed associate pastor in charge of education and youth at the First Baptist Church, Van Buren, Ark.

Located in the downtown area, the church has an average attendance of 500.

At the time of this appointment, McCathern was youth director at Burton Hill Baptist Church of Fort Worth. His youth group from this church held a "Jesus Rally" on the parking lot of First Baptist Church here recently.

A 1963 graduate of Pampa High School, McCathern recently received his master's degree in religious education from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McCathern, 736 N. Christy, and the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Porter, 1616 N. Hobart.

Youth Groups To Meet for Organization

With vacations over for another year, young people of First Baptist Church are reactivating their various organizations, participating in the program of the church.

Two groups have scheduled their first meetings of the fall for Wednesday evening.

At 7, Mission Friends begin their activities in their meeting room. Their study this month will be about the Navajo and work with this Indian tribe by home missionaries. This group includes ages 3-6.

Girls Auxilliary will organize with a place for all girls grades 1-6. Their first social event of the fall will be a wiener roast Saturday in Hobart St. park.

hour, the subject will be "Biography in 12 Words." A record attendance is expected at these services since the church invites all to share this special occasion.

It is a return visit for the British minister who was here five weeks in the summer 1962, in a pulpit exchange with the Rev. Robert Bratcher.

The past five weeks, he and his wife, Brenda, have been at Hennepin Ave. United Methodist Church, Minneapolis, Minn., in a similar exchange with the Rev. Dr. Chester Pennington.

The bond between the Pearce family and Pampa was further strengthened when their daughter, Catherine, spent the 1969-70 school term here under the auspices of the Pampa Rotary Club.

Now a student at the University of Nottingham, she is here this month renewing friendships.

The Peaces have another daughter, Heather.

They will depart the U.S. Monday to resume their work in Newquay.

Dr. C. Gordon Bayless will preach both services Sunday at First Baptist Church. He will continue his duties as pastor through Sept. 17.

Sept. 18, the Rev. Claude Cone will assume those duties. The church called Rev. Cone Sunday and Sept. 17 will be his last Sunday with his present pastorate, Calvary Baptist Church, Lubbock.

In the months since the resignation of the pastor, Dr. Bayless has served as spiritual leader for the church.

His sermon subject Sunday at 11 a.m. will be "Why Doesn't God Do Something?" and for the 7 p.m. worship, "The Man Who Came Back."

Kelley Enrolls At Dallas

Frank Kelley Jr., an August graduate of West Texas State University, left this week to enter Dallas Theological Seminary.

He will be a candidate for the Master of Theology degree majoring in the Greek and Hebrew languages.

Despite the biblical admonition that "a prophet has no honor in his own country" - at 23, Kelley has established himself as a masterful speaker, diligent Bible student and a popular figure with the young people of the city.

He has spoken or given his personal Christian testimony in many of the local churches.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Kelley, 1715 Christine.

The Dallas school is denominationally unrelated. It was started and has been maintained as a "work of faith." On that basis it has been recognized for the standards of study and the stature of its faculty.

Methodist Youth Eye Projects

Twelve members of the senior high department, First United Methodist Church held an organizational and planning meeting Sunday night with three projects proposed.

A party for sophomores was discussed as was a Sunday evening church service. Morris Mills, choir director for the church, explained the possibility of a youth choir as a third endeavor.

Sophomores were introduced and welcomed to the meeting by Ron Darnell, who also led in a discussion of "What Do You Expect From a Friend." The entire group present participated.

Linda Carter led the group as they sang a number of selections.

The youth organization is open to all young people in the city interested in a church-sponsored program of Christian education, recreation and fellowship. Richard and Betty Cooke are sponsors for the group.

Meeting time is 8 p.m. each Sunday in the youth building of First United Methodist Church.

Men To Hear Head Coach Of Harvesters

Coach Buddy Williams, chief mentor for the Pampa Harvester football team, will be the featured speaker 6:30 a.m. Sept. 7, at First Baptist Church.

The occasion is the regular fellowship breakfast staged each month by the men of the church.

Williams is facing his first season as head coach of the Pampa team. When he was appointed, his moral philosophy was said to be one of the recommending factors. Likewise, it was the thing that placed him in demand as speaker for this occasion.

Baptist men emphasize that all visitors are welcome to these breakfast meetings.

LAITY WANTS UNION
LONDON (AP) - Members of the Congregational Church in England and Wales have demonstrated that they "want unity and they want it now," says church educator Dr. John Marsh, following an overwhelmingly favorable vote on a plan for uniting with the Presbyterian Church of England.

A NEW DENOMINATION
WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) - One of the newest, unusually named denominations on the religious scene is the "Church of What's Happening Now," founded here recently by a black woman, the Rev. Sister Imogene Williams, whose church title is "Prime Minister."

PAMPA CHAPEL

Why Do I Serve Christ?
That is an easy one! I serve Christ because - hmmm-n-n-let me see - uh, well - We are a Christian nation, aren't we?

It is not such an easy question, after all. It demands serious thought and soul searching. Just what is my motive for serving Christ?

Social group pressure could be my motive. I was brought up in a community where it was taken for granted that you belonged to and attended church. After all, I did want my community to think well of me.

and taking an active part in church came naturally.

Duty is another possible motive. God expects me to serve Him. I am a man who meets his obligations and therefore will be a dutiful son.

Emotion may be another motive. I want to feel good, and going to church and associating with Christians makes me feel so much better. Serving Christ is an exciting thing and I enjoy feeling happiness.

No doubt there are elements of truth in each of these motives, but any one or a combination of them all falls short of what should really be my reason for serving Christ.

The only acceptable reason goes back to Calvary and to the total sacrifice Christ made for us there. "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son..." John 3:16. "Jesus... having loved His own... loved them unto the end." John 13:1. "We love Him, because He first loved us." I John 4:19.

Love, Calvary's love, is my supreme motive for serving Christ.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Illusion Of Busing

Is the program for busing school children from neighborhood to neighborhood for the purpose of racial balance merely stupid bureaucratic bungling or is it part of a master plan to program children to suit some sinister design? We are not yet certain that a vast conspiracy set the program into motion, but it is obvious that the politicians have pushed a bit too far to suit the parents.

The obvious political answer is a federally funded school program. And this means, of course, complete control by the federal bureaucracy. Such a situation might still be resisted by the public, even those who continue to have confidence in a tax-supported school system.

But when an emotional issue is injected, such resistance tends to fade. Parents might find it difficult to understand why a Washington-based school board is so bad if it is going to help keep their children closer to home.

The whole thing boils down to a revised version of the old pre-emption gimmick. The general idea is that the central government rushes in to solve a problem created by the local government, and so you wind up with a higher degree of centralization by the fact that the feds "pre-empt" the field.

In this instance, the central government created the busing issue and now the same central government comes to the rescue with a cure in the personage of Mr. President himself. So we have the feds playing the roles of Typhoid Mary and Dr. Kildare at one and the same time.

It is a sophisticated way of directing children away from allegiance to home, and family and programming them for service to the all-powerful state. The trick is to make the state appear as the solution to the problem when actually it was the cause.

Not many people will accept the idea that there is a conscious effort by politicians to destroy the American family. And it might be argued that these political moves are made with the best of intentions to provide equal opportunity to all children, to erase religious and ethnic prejudices and to expose all children to superior learning programs.

It may sound good, but stripped of all the high-sounding rhetoric, the school programs, the busing, the integration, the elimination of spiritual influences can lead only to the elimination of individualism.

Cosmetic Cover-Up

The multibillion dollar cosmetic industry is being prodded to consider the consumer more and their profits a little less than previously. One nudge in this direction was the request of President Nixon's consumer adviser, Mrs. Virginia Knauer, that cosmetic firms provide ingredient information that is readable and easily understandable to buyers.

However, the burden of pressing such an action should not rest with a few appointed or elected officials. It would seem logical in a time in which people of all ages show concern about their total environment that cosmetic manufacturers would rush willingly to comply. Those who do not may find themselves faced with a barrage of chemical test reports and embarrassing questions before a Congressional committee.

Behind the velvet-gloved urging is the knowledge that cosmetics can contain ingredients that can be irritating and, in extremely rare cases, fatal to the allergic.

Protest Show Was Big Flop

By BRUCE BLOSSAT WASHINGTON (NEA)—Though television at the Republican convention in Miami Beach seemed far from dazzled by the street people, they still managed to get more attention than they deserve. And too little was said about the ugliness and emptiness of some of their "protest."

In the long pre-convention period, Police Chief Rocky Pomerance and his aides made much of the fact that the so-called nondelegates cooperated with the authorities, laid out their plans for all to see, promised no violence.

Yet anyone who worked his way north along celebrated Collins Avenue in the aftermath of the convention's final night found a scene which was fundamentally a carbon copy of protest settings in other cities in other times.

Quick-striking "tactical units" were racing about even at a late hour, making traffic barricades of benches, trash cans and metal newspaper containers. The roadway was littered with rocks and lesser missiles. Beer cans, swirling paper and other junk were all about.

Except for some window-smashing and a few fires, the protesters this time had indeed avoided serious damage to property.

But what struck me was the barren, bankrupt aspect of the whole thing. They say the roving disruption of that night was improvised after the protesters' plan to bar delegates from the convention hall collapsed before solid lines of decrepit old city buses. Well, the improvising was pale and unimaginative.

Some protester was quoted as saying he and his fellows had "made a statement" here for all the nation and the world to grasp—that the assembled street folk are against the Vietnam war and especially against the bombing. What it was, in truth, was a confession of their emptiness.

If this kind of "action" ever had meaning or effect in these years of controversy, it has been drained away long since by the futile repetition of the process.

The promised total stoppages never quite came off. The promised huge numbers never materialized. Ingenuity and humor did show up in the internal life of the protesters' encampments, but their big action tended to be an incredibly dull replay of earlier, more highly charged disruptions.

Far from registering as vivid theater, the thing had about it the stale air of a bad play. The most real element in this overblown pageant of artificiality was the ugly insensitivity of many protesters.

Two of my friends, quite cool and calm as observers, watched some frantic young men rocking a car at a stoplight.

Who was inside? At the wheel, a terrified old lady. In the back, some badly frightened children. It was a small masterpiece of callousness, done in the name of "humanity."

Yes, anger, hatred and a consuming urge for formless revenge were all evident enough, despite the emptiness of the "action."

Walking the street with my convention badge out of sight, I was still the focus of a young girl's hatred. For I wore a "straight" suit and therefore, by definition, must be bad.

"Well, How About Another Half a Bowl, Then?"

H.L. Hunt Writes

NEVER SEEK THE UNEARNED

In the early days of our country, there lived a strange type of people. These people lived in New England and their way of life was different from ours today.

These early settlers were hardy individuals who had to live from day to day through their own merits, without help from the government and, of course, without modern conveniences. These conditions helped develop many fine characteristics within these early settlers. They naturally, had to be brave, diligent and resourceful. But, it seems their foremost quality was that of independence.

Their independence was so strong, in some cases, that they wouldn't accept help from anyone. If you wanted to help one of your neighbors, you might ask him if he minded if you helped him.

How different from today! Today, we find a large number of people who will ask others for help in the most insignificant matters. A smaller, but sizable number of people will demand that you help them with money or anything else. Many people have their hands out for any and all kinds of government aid. There are even unions set up to secure more welfare for their members.

The people who ask for services rendered are asking for the unearned, the undeserved. But there is still a vast number of our people who would die before they'd go on welfare. These are the people who must pull us through, the spiritual descendants of the early New England Settlers. We must try to emulate their independence and never seek the unearned.

Paul Harvey News So We Are Bombing North Vietnam's Dikes!

By PAUL HARVEY

The Communists are pleading for mercy in the court of public opinion. They've had Jane Fonda and Ramsey Clark over there parroting their propaganda claim that our bombers have been bombing their dikes.

The butchers of Hanoi, whose troops publicly executed hundreds of South Vietnamese officials of Binh Dinh Province, have the audacity to seek to shame us now for doing what we should have done 45,000 dead Americans ago. It's time this should be said: There is nothing moral about war. There is no way to wage humane war.

You and I have learned to despise this outdated, barbaric, futile means of resolving international differences. But there is one thing more obscene than people killing people in the name of "humanity," and that is when old men in Washington sentence young men to wage a pulled-punches war which not one of those old men has ever volunteered for.

So we are bombing their dikes. I should hope so! If we're going to keep bombing in "defense" of the South Vietnamese—or whatever the presently professed reason—then let's make it count.

For too long we've dumped expensive blockbusters on worthless footbridges. First, I'd better say I had a tooth out yesterday, and I still feel mean and ugly and today's exasperation may be influenced by that, but as recently as the President's July 27 news conference he said we're not bombing dikes on purpose, and I don't think he should have to apologize.

Man alive, this enemy doesn't apologize for tossing mortars into the power supply for Saigon hospitals. This enemy doesn't apologize for smuggling grenades in baby buggies. This enemy employs schoolboys as saboteurs.

And history always drags all military adversaries down to the lowest common denominator. Let's look at those mourned dikes. North Vietnam is a nation of dikes. Some 3,000 miles of dirt dikes divert Red River water to the rice fields.

Since centuries before Christ the North Vietnamese—or whatever they were called then—have been at war with one another and that river. Within weeks you are going to hear that the Red River is flooding—overflowing villages—and that it's our fault.

The Red River overflows every August and September, menacing the countryside. Every year when the floods subside, the damaged dikes are repaired or replaced. North Vietnam has not been keeping up with its repair work this past year so the flooding may be worse, and it will be convenient if Hanoi can blame us.

If it were military policy to bomb those dikes, we could unleash billions of gallons of water over Hanoi and the surrounding countryside. We haven't. And the Communists figure if they can get us indicted in the court of public opinion we won't.

Meddling with Merchandise

To lift her spirits, Virginia decided to become a bleached blonde. She stirred two bleaching products together and applied the mixture to her hair. Result: scalp burns.

In short order, she demanded damages from one of the manufacturers. But at the trial, the company pointed out that its directions warned against mixing the product with anything else.

"The fact remains," said Virginia, "that a bleach should not become dangerous merely by being mixed with another bleach."

President Begins Campaign Course On A Bland Note

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

UTICA, Mich.—With White House aides still struggling to find the right formula in a campaign wholly unique for Richard M. Nixon, the President for the most part steered a bland and cautious course last week in his first day on the stump following the euphoria of Miami Beach.

In contrast to all his previous eight campaigns for office, Mr. Nixon's grand design this fall looks relatively simple: preserve the huge lead over Sen. George McGovern that, were the election held tomorrow, might conceivably result in a 50-state sweep (with only the District of Columbia's three electoral votes secure for McGovern).

To some of his advisers, the prohibitive odds now riding on the President rule out anything approaching the rock-'em-sock-'em campaign style that Mr. Nixon has made his trademark. That's why Vice President Spiro Agnew has been ordered to sheathe his sword.

To these advisers the course is obvious: go slow on the curves, because McGovern is so far behind, and say nothing that would return Nixon-leaning dissident Democrats to the McGovern banner.

But some other advisers, including White House staff chief H. R. (Bob) Haldeman and political aide Charles Colson, worry that a bland Nixon campaign might feed already dangerous over-optimism and lead the President down the fatal 1948 path of Thomas E. Dewey.

Dewey's say-nothing campaign snatched defeat from the jaws of victory against Harry S. Truman. Mr. Nixon well remembers Dewey's collapse, but he is still ambivalent about his own campaign this year under somewhat similar circumstances.

Typical of the Haldeman-Colson theory, which calls for only slight moderation of the traditional rock-'em-sock-'em Nixon style, was the way the White House sought to bar Democratic Rep. James O'Hara from the pristine non-political, non-partisan platform here in the gymnasium of the spanking new Dwight D. Eisenhower High School.

Utica is O'Hara's hometown. Consequently, the school board invited him to share the platform with Republican Sen. Robert Griffin when Mr. Nixon came here to dedicate the school to Gen. Eisenhower.

But the White House staff, long conditioned to press every partisan advantage and ignoring the fact that barring the popular O'Hara could cost Mr. Nixon votes here, pressured the school superintendent in the end, O'Hara was seated on the platform.

It is doubtful that the President himself knew anything of this altercation or would have countenanced the insult to O'Hara. In his talk to the children and parents of Utica, he generously gave O'Hara several friendly mentions.

Moreover, Mr. Nixon's apparent disposition to keep his campaign bland was clearly evident in what he said here. He rambled on for half an hour about his own school days, expounding the importance of such old American virtues as patriotism and hard work. The busing issue, by far the most explosive political factor in these parts, he never mentioned once.

But a formidable busing statement demanding that Congress impose an immediate moratorium on all new court-ordered busing was handed to the press as a "statement by the President." Thus, Mr. Nixon had it both ways.

Inside the gymnasium, he was gentle Uncle Richard sharing schoolboy experiences. But in huge headlines across the state on Friday, he was portrayed as champion of the anti-busing forces.

Only once on Thursday did old campaigner Nixon allow himself a low-blow innuendo against McGovern. In a speech at Chicago before the American Legion, without naming McGovern, he praised America's Vietnam war veterans.

"America will not make a mockery of their sacrifice and devotion," he said, "by talking of amnesty for deserters while some of their comrades are held captive in brutal North Vietnamese prisons."

McGovern does not favor amnesty for deserters. Although the line drew huge applause, one campaign aide later shook his head. "That is pure demagoguery," he said, "and that is the one thing Nixon does not need this year."

Questions And Answers On Wages And Prices

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

QUESTION: Do the new regulations on food products impose a freeze on food prices?

ANSWER: No. Food prices are not frozen. The new regulations control prices for certain unprocessed food items, after sale by the producer, in the same manner as prices of other items. These regulations establish controls at the retail and wholesale level over previously exempt, unprocessed agricultural products of the type consumed in their original form. These products include fresh vegetables, fresh fruits, eggs and raw seafood. The regulations do not change the pattern of controls over processed food products.

QUESTION: I earn $2.25 an hour. Can my employer give me a 25 cent increase without worrying about the Pay Board guidelines?

ANSWER: Yes. Wage increases for individuals earning less than $2.75 are exempt from economic stabilization controls as of July 15, 1972.

QUESTION: Can a tenant do anything when his landlord asks for an exception from rent controls?

ANSWER: Yes. A tenant may provide the Internal Revenue Service with information he feels is pertinent to the exception request. The landlord also must provide a written notice to the tenants stating the details of the exception request and stating that the tenant may also provide information to the IRS within 15 days after the notice's date. The tenant must submit his information in writing.

QUESTION: I know that the catch-up exception to the Pay Board's 5.5 per cent standard is limited to 7 per cent. Are there any other limitations on this exception?

ANSWER: Yes. The catch-up exception allows employees who were getting less than a 7 per cent increase in each year of their employment contract or, in cases where there is no employment contract, in each of the preceding 3 years, to have the difference between such two sums added to the 5.5 per cent standard. Generally the exception applies only to employ units whose straight-time hourly pay rates are $3.00 or less. However, if a successor contract succeeds a contract expiring on or before June 30, 1972, and is entered into on or after July 1, 1972, the exception may be claimed without regard to the $3.00 limitation.

Spitz Wins 2 More Golds

MUNICH (AP) — "I'm very thrilled—yes, I'm proud," Mark Spitz said after beating the clock twice to become the greatest swimmer in Olympic history.

But there was no joy for Eddie Hart and Ray Robinson. The clock had beaten them.

Spitz, America's human torpedo from Carmichael, Calif., churned to glory with a world-record clocking of 54.27 seconds in the 100-meter butterfly for his fourth gold medal of these 20th Summer Games. And barely an hour later, he won his unparalleled fifth, anchoring the United States' victorious 800-meter freestyle relay team.

It brought him within two of his unspoken but determined goal of an unheard of seven golds here.

Spitz' five golds broke the record of four in the swims held by such Olympians as Johnny Weissmuller and Don Schollander. And it equaled the Olympic record of five won by any competitor. Italian fencer Nedo Nadi did it in 1920.

He goes after No. 6 Sunday in the 100-meter freestyle. The climax comes Monday in the 400-meter medley relay—or will it?

"If I win the 100," Spitz casually remarked after his remarkable performance. "I might not swim in the 400. I'd rather win six of six than take a chance on six of seven."

To this his coach and coach of the U.S. women's team, Sherm Chavoor, replied: "If he drops out of one, I'll break his damned neck."

The only things broken as far as Hart and Robinson were concerned were their hearts. They won't have a chance to break any records here because of a monumental scheduling foul-up that threatens U.S. domination of track and field's sprints.

Everybody, it seems, was blaming everybody else Thursday after Robinson, of Lakeland, Fla., and Hart, from Pittsburg, Calif., were so late arriving at the stadium that they missed their 100-meter dash heats.

Robert Taylor of Houston was late, too, but he managed to rip off his sweat suit, jump into his shoes and onto the starting blocks and, without a warmup, qualify for the semifinals in his heat.

Sprint Coach Dan Wright initially took the blame. "I gave them the wrong time. It was my fault," he said, explaining he had told his charges the heats began not at 4:15 p.m. but at 7 p.m.

Several hours later, though, American officials called a news conference and, displaying an apparently outdated schedule book, said the fault lay with the German Olympic organizers, who, the U.S. speakers insisted, had provided the wrong times.

But Hans Klein, Olympic Press Chief, and one of his aides, Ulrich Pabst, responded by producing a track schedule showing the events set up to run in the sequence in which they were conducted.

That schedule, dated Sept. 20, 1971, was mailed to all Olympic officials within a few days of publication, they said—and Klein, commenting on Wright's statement that the U.S. officials could not obtain an up-to-date schedule, replied: "I guess that's a good one—but why were all the others there?"

Spitz' performance in the 100-meter butterfly, in which he beat out Canadian silver medalist Bruce Robertson and bronze winner Jerry Heidenreich of Dallas, was a personal triumph—but he saved his kudos for his relay teammates, particularly Steve Genter of Lakewood, Calif.

Genter gave Spitz a 15-meter head start on the anchor after heroically wiping out a seven-meter lead held by West Germany at the halfway mark.

"His 200 meters today," Spitz said of Genter, "was one of the most outstanding swims I've ever seen. Steve has to go down as pretty tough, especially after what he went through." What Genter had gone through, just one week ago, was surgery for a collapsed lung.

In other U.S. track events, meanwhile, Munich-born Frank Shorter set an American record in the 10,000 meters as he qualified with a third-place time of 27 minutes 58.2 seconds.

Larry Young was the best U.S. finisher in the 20-kilometer walk, coming in 10th, and Willie White was 11th in the women's long jump with 20 feet 7 inches.

Defending champion Madeleine Manning Jackson America's top female hope for a gold, qualified in the 800-meter run and Dave Wottle, overcoming an ailing knee, qualified in his 800-meter trial.

The United States made its best showing ever in wrestling with three golds, two silvers and a bronze. "I predicted six medals," overjoyed U.S. Coach William Farrel of New York crowed, "but that was to psyche the team up. This is beyond our wildest hopes!"

One of the golds went to Dan Gable of Waterloo, Iowa, in the 149.5-pound class. It climaxed three years of three-day practices without a miss. "This is undoubtedly the happiest moment of my life," Gable said.

Wayne Wells, a 27-year-old Norman Okla. lawyer, also won a gold in the 163-pound class while Ben Peterson of Comstock, Wis., got his in the 196-pound class. "Great, great!" Ben cheered, hugging his brother, John, who earlier had nabbed a silver in the 181-pound division.

Tough Russians dominated the event as expected, taking five golds. One of them went the superheavyweight Alex Medved, his third straight Olympic gold. When he'd won it, the 280-pound 24-year-old Russian dropped to his knees, kissed the mat and announced his retirement. "Now I'm going to go hunting," he said.

In boxing, Ray Seales of Tacoma, Wash., won a light welterweight decision over East Germany's Ulrich Beyer and flyweight Tim Dement of Bosier City, La., easily beat Ali Gharbi of Tunisia.

America's soccer team wasn't as successful, though. West Germany belted the Yanks 7-0 to finish first in the final Group I standings. The Americans, who failed to score a goal in their three games, and managed only a scoreless tie against Malaysia, finished last.

"Big Mama" Is Back On Courts

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — "Big mama is back." That's how the public relations team at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships is billing the return of Margaret Smith Court to the tennis world.

What they've neglected to say is that she's back bigger and better than before.

Mrs. Court took 13 months off the circuit to have a baby. She returned in July and her string of successes since then started when she helped the Australian team beat United States women in the Bonne Bell Cup. Her most recent tournament win came just last Sunday when she beat Billie Jean King in the finals of a Virginia Slims tournament.

Today she continues her quest for a seventh U.S. Open crown, unprecedented in the history of the tournament. But since she goes against unranked Janice Metcalf of Claremont, Calif., the spotlight will again fall on the men.

Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., the top-seeded defending champ and Wimbledon winner, meets New York's Clark Graebner, the third-ranking USLTA men's player. Smith had a tough four-set win in the first round against 15-year-old Billy Martin of Los Verdes, Calif.

Also seeing second round action will be third-seeded Rod Laver of Australia, the 1969 titleholder, and Arthur Ashe of Miami, who took the crown as an amateur in 1968.

Fighting Harvesters To Scrimmage Tonight

The Pampa Harvesters scrimmage Vernon tonight at 8 p.m. at Harvester Stadium. The Shockers will take on the Vernon junior varsity in an earlier game at 5.

This will be the first opportunity for Pampa fans to view both of the teams that will represent PHS on the football field this season.

Vernon has three touted backs in quarterback Eddie Pruitt and running backs O'Keffe Cario and Jimmy Reese.

O'Keffe has a 10 flat clocking in the 100 to his credit and Reese has been timed in 9.9.

Pruitt is a two-year letterman and has been exceptional at running the Wing-T. The Vernon team's basic offense.

The scrimmage should be a good one and should give Harvester fans a great opportunity to get an over-all look at how the team has progressed through the first two weeks of practice.

Redskins Beat Miami On Knight's Field Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Curt Knight pulled a Garo Yepremian Thursday night while Yepremian looked like Jan Stenerud.

Yepremian's field goal last season ended the National Football League's longest game as Miami defeated the Kansas City Chiefs for the American Conference title. The Dolphin's three-pointer came after Kansas City's Jan Stenerud missed an "easy" field goal attempt.

Thursday night, it was Yepremian's turn to miss as the little booter was wide from the 33-yard line.

Knight, who led the National Conference in scoring last year, split the uprights with a 24-yard field goal with 36 seconds remaining in the game to give the Washington Redskins a 27-24 exhibition victory over the Dolphins.

Knight also kicked a 51-yard-

Monday night.

Baltimore recalled defensive end Bubba Smith from the injured waiver list Thursday to keep him from being claimed by other NFL clubs and cut offensive tackle Lynn Lawson.

Also on Thursday the Chicago Bears acquired the player contract of their coach, Zeke Bratkowski, from Green Bay.

Sal Maglie in Hospital

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Former major league baseball pitcher Sal Maglie was in Mount St. Mary's Hospital today, recovering from chest pains he suffered Thursday.

His condition was reported as satisfactory.

The 55-year-old ex-hurler, known as "Sal the Barber," was taken ill Wednesday at his home in nearby Grand Island. Hospital tests are being conducted to determine whether he suffered a heart attack.

Maglie's career in the majors spanned some 15 years.

An attendance record for a Maryland race track was set last year when 47,221 persons turned out to see Canoner II win the Preakness in record time.

Practice Rounds Underway Today

Practice rounds for the 35th annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament got underway today at the Pampa Country Club with over 200 golfers out getting their blows in and their swings grooved.

The annual Labor Day weekend event, which is one of the best and the most well-known amateur golf tournaments in the Southwest, has drawn its share of top golfers.

The field in the championship flight includes two Walker Cup team members and the 1971 Top defending champion Lloyd Moody of Oklahoma City.

Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz. and John Farquhar of Amarillo are the former Walker Cup players.

Dr. Updegraff is an internationally known amateur golfer and Farquhar is well known throughout this area and the nation.

Farquhar has won the Top O' Texas on several occasions, the last time being in 1968. For the past decade or so he has spent his Labor Day holiday either playing in the ToT or in the U.S. Amateur.

Others entered in the championship flight are local players Max Hickey, David Parker and Buster Carter.

Bob Ecton of Oklahoma City, James Allen of Odessa, Ladd Larsen of Austin and Amarilloans Bobby Sanders, Dick Weston and John Zett are some more of the entrants in the championship flight.

The first round of the tournament gets underway tomorrow. Eighteen holes will be played in the championship flight on both Saturday and Sunday and 36 holes will be played Labor Day.

26—HOUSTON OILERS

PROSPECTUS — Organization has gone through some turbulent changes last couple of years. Advent of Bill Peterson from college ranks is supposed to help Oilers settle down. Pete's going to need some time to adjust. Meanwhile he's saddled with spotty roster. He'll be performing miracles if he can just get them up to .500 mark.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—Was supposed to be a lock for young Dan Pastorini, but equally young Lynn Dickey's making it a real tough one. Either way, Peterson's been sending in the plays. Yet Charlie Johnson's out in the cold. Rating—B.

RUNNING BACKS—No effective ground game. Hard to tell whether it's because of backs or blocking they get. Woodie Campbell, sub Holmes are just steady pluggers. Rookie Lewis Jolley off to disappointing start. Willie Rodgers is the sleeper. Rating—C.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Swift starting combo of Charlie Joiner and Ken Burrough could become main reliance of offense. Jim Beirne's a valuable backup who could also double at tight end. Joiner has all-star potential. Rating—B+.

TIGHT END—Alvin Reed—tall, an excellent target with good hands, average blocker—has ranked with the best in the NFL in recent seasons. Rating—B+.

LINE—There is none—or at least one that's dependable unless they plug gaping tackle holes with old Walt Suggs, who's trying to get in shape for 11th season, and persuade Gene Ferguson his future is in Houston. Latter has size to pass block, can't get off dime for running game. Middle area of line just so-so. Rating—C.

DEFENSE

LINE—Will be fine when all the vets are in one piece. Elvin (The Big E) Beathie is ringleader of pass rush from right end slot. Pat Holmes at other end is smart old pro. Mike Tilleman and Ron Billingsley provide bulk in the middle, though Leo Brooks is coming strong enough to out one of them. Rating—B-.

LINEBACKERS—Obvious they're grooming Ron Pritchard to supplant Garland Boyette in middle. He was switched from outside. Just a matter of Ron learning the job. Could afford to move him because Floyd Rice, a camer, is available on strong side. Hope George Webster can play back to all-pro form of couple years ago—if he finds inspiration. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—Some of the best talent around. Ken Houston finally getting all-pro kudos for his work as a strong safety. He's been patching terror several years. Either John Charles or Bob Atkins will be at free safety, with Zeke Moore and Willie Alexander at the corners. Zeke's also a top-notch. Rating—B-.

KICKING—Dan Pastorini will handle the punting again; should be around for years. More shaky is Mark Moseley as the placekicker who doesn't come up with the vital boots. Rating—B.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Been a trouble spot because they've had to use a lot of rookies. For returns, Linzy Cole has speed; Moore on kickoffs, Houston on punts are also threats. Rating—B-.

PREDICTION

Fourth in Division. Too many new parts to be worked in for Oilers to function smoothly this year.

WINNING at weekend tennis improving your doubles game

By Tony Trabert with Joe Hyams

32. The Lob Volley

What is the lob volley?
The lob volley is one of the most delicate strokes in tennis and is seldom successfully used even by professionals.

You will see it used occasionally when all four players are at net and one of them attempts to pop a short lob over the head of his opponent. The problem is that if you hit a lob volley too short, your opponent will straighten up and knock it down your throat. If you hit it a little too hard, the ball will go past the baseline. I don't recommend you try it very often.

The flight of a tennis ball is dictated by how much you lay the face of the racket open. For a lob volley you lay the face of the racket open and give the ball a short punch. The elevation of the racket face makes the ball to go up into the air quickly.

Checked list for the volley

- Am I watching the ball?
- Am I keeping the wrist locked or firm and in one position?
- Am I punching at the ball?
- Am I making contact well in front of my body?
- Am I keeping the racket face slightly open?
- Am I coming down from above the ball?
- Am I standing up too straight?
- Am I turning sideways to the net when time permits?

Car Battery Care Pays Off

By CARLTON SMITH

One of the easiest ways for a car owner to blow $30 or $35 every now and then is to buy too many batteries. The typical driver, we're told by an authority on the subject, could save $300 to $500 during his years of car ownership—by having to buy fewer batteries—if he followed a few simple rules. Generally he wastes this money, one of three ways:

- Buying a battery that's underpowered for his particular car. It will have an unnecessarily short life.
- Paying for unnecessary quality.
- Failure to give his battery proper maintenance.

The only dependable criterion of how much battery you're getting is the ampere-hour rating. It's a measure of how much electrical power it can generate over a given period of time. A car that's loaded with accessories needs a battery with a high power rating. The ignition system pulls only 2 or 3 amps; an air conditioner will pull 10 to 14. As an illustration of how much pull a battery can stand, the high beam of the headlights will draw 12 to 18 amps. Leaving the lights on for 40 minutes, with the engine off, will drain a fully-charged 40-ampere-hour battery to half charge. One rule, therefore, is to make sure replacement batteries have as high a power rating as the original, which the manufacturer matched to the car's accessories. The length of the warranty is related to the battery's construction and quality and generally reflected in its price. When buying a replacement battery don't buy unneeded battery life. Do you plan on driving the car another year or year and a half? Then you don't need a 42-month or lifetime warranty—your best buy if you plan to keep the car three years or more. The battery with an 18- or 24-month warranty will save money for the owner who's planning a trade-in within that time. Car owners sometimes buy batteries they don't need because a serviceman has assured them their run-down battery is worn out and won't hold a charge. Don't believe it until you've checked, with your own eyeballs, the hydrometer reading on each cell—before adding water. When a battery is fully charged, the reading is between 1.260 and 1.280. When it's completely discharged, you'll see a level of 1.110 to 1.130. All cells should read about the same. A difference of .050 or more means your battery is in poor shape and you probably do need a replacement. Most car owners would buy fewer batteries if they checked the water level more frequently. When it falls, there's a high concentration of acid in the cell and plates can be permanently damaged. Water level should be checked once a week during summer months and once a month or oftener in winter. The greasy dirt that collects on a battery will act as a conductor and cause a 24-hour slow drain on your battery. Cleaning it periodically is therefore another rule. If you want to know all about batteries, the federal Consumer Product Information Agency has a good booklet on "Automobile Batteries—Their Selection and Care," 40 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402. ## SO YOU WANT TO BE

Education Level Is Key To Many Sales Careers

By ERNIE HOOD

Sales work apparently appeals to many of our young readers. Over-all employment requirements are projected to increase 29 per cent between now and 1980—from about 4.6 million to 6.0 million. Projections are based upon population growth, rising income levels, new product development and business expansion as well as other factors. Minimum education requirements vary for sales careers, and while admitted some require no formal education, others specify a college degree in technical or scientific fields. Even for routine sales jobs, a high school diploma is a definite asset for beginners.

The need for retail salesworkers, by far the largest group, is expected to increase to 3.5 million in 1980—24 per cent more than the present 2.8 million. Although not essential, employers prefer to hire high school graduates. Most employers require automobile salesmen to be at least 21 and a high school graduate. A growing number have education beyond high school. Courses in public speaking, commercial arithmetic, business law and salesmanship are useful; previous sales experience or work requiring contact with the public also is helpful. There are 120,000 car salesmen at this writing, with projections of 145,000 in the work force by 1980 for a gain of 20.8 per cent.

FROM THE GUYS

LAS VEGAS (AP)—Even the high-rolling gamblers at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas have a sense of humor. July 12 was Julius Caesar's birthday, his 2072 to be exact. A group of the boys interrupted their action pursuits long enough to have a sash wrapped about the chest of the hotel-casino's 10 foot statue of the Roman Emperor. The sash read, "Happy Birthday, Big Julie."

Nairobi, Kenya's mile-high capital of 350,000 population, is one of Africa's biggest cities.

is the name of a popular song everybody was humming or singing in days gone by-and, that same spirit is on the lips of our clients this 1972 season. In these past few days several clients have bought modest homes through this Realtor's office.
MODEST OR LUXURIOUS-we have them in all price ranges and will be pleased to give you the personal attention to details that we give all our clients.
AS ALWAYS we can use a few good listings of property sellers would like to sell at realistic prices, to give us a variety to show our clients who need homes for their families. If your property is over-priced, we don't wish to tie it up with a listing that we nor any other member of MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE can sell.
HAVE A GOOD WEEKEND HOLIDAY-we'll be on the job here at home to serve you!

BATTIN' AROUND Should Denver Host 1976 Olympics?

By C.R. BATTEN
At this writing, the Olympic Games are getting under way in Munich. The Rhodesian team has been expelled because of protests by other African nations and sympathetic American blacks. Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee predicted that the Olympic movement is dead, if principles continue to be sacrificed for expediency. "It was a blatant intrusion of politics," he is reported to have said.

Meanwhile, in Colorado the question of whether Denver should host the 1976 Winter Olympics is being debated in the political arena. The International Committee has accepted Colorado as the site, but some Colorado citizens have other ideas. The taxpayers of the state were not consulted, they say. They have succeeded in getting on November's ballot a proposed Constitutional amendment that would prohibit the use of state funds for the Olympics.

Opponents believe that the influx of people and the facilities that must be built would compound Colorado's environmental problems. The costs of staging the games, they say, have been vastly understated, and they cite the experience of Sapporo, Japan, and Grenoble, France, as examples.

"The real tragedy," in the words of Michael W. Erickson of the U.S. Ski Association, "is that somewhere around the time of Hitler's Olympics in 1936, the Games became a massive exercise in spectating; an orgy of chauvinism and boosterism that makes the Tournament of Roses look like a Quaker meeting. The ancient Olympics were held in a simple rustic setting on hallowed ground. Today, the feeling persists you have to build a megalopolis around a mass media communications facility and arenas big enough to recreate the Battle of the Coral Sea. Collars have replaced the dignity of human competition. The stage manager and the bureaucrat have replaced the athlete."

"Denver should have the Olympics, and they could make the 1976 Games memorable... by returning the events to the athletes and the hallowed ground..." wrote Erickson. "If Colorado concentrated on being the site, and not the star attraction of the Games, the interests of sport, sanity and the environment could be served."

State Representative Richard D. Lamm has emphasized that the issue is: "Do we want to spend limited state and federal tax monies in this way?... We seek not to build walls, but to build fiscal sanity."

That is a noble objective. Yet even this statement does not get to the basic question. Lamm charges that the real reason behind the Denver invitation for the Winter Olympics is to promote Colorado. "This was once a valid State purpose," he wrote, "but we must ask, 'Is it a valid state purpose today?'" So the debate has become one of time, situation and priorities for public expenditures.

The debaters still have not

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Lois faces the same delicate situation that confronts millions of parents and teachers. This column has offered simple solutions to these sex problems for a generation. But belatedly certain leaders have now gone berserk in sensationalizing sex education!

CASE U-577: Lois G., aged 27, has a sex dilemma.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "we have a little boy who is just 3 years old."

"At our bridge party yesterday afternoon, he asked, 'Mommy, where did I come from,' and some of the women smiled."

"What should I have said or done?"

"One of the young mothers who was present casually told him, 'You came out of your Mommy's tummy' and that satisfied him."

"But suppose he should have wanted more details, as by inquiring, 'Mommy how did I get out' or even 'Mommy, how did I get into your tummy?'"

"What then, Dr. Crane?"

Sex Tutelage

When a child asks a sex query, he is not salacious but merely curious about facts.

"Where did I come from, Mommy?" is no more prurient to a toddler than is "Where does the sun go at night?"

In past generations, prudish parents blushed or tittered or raised their eyebrows and thus planted the idea in the child's mind that sex questions were very different from other scientific queries.

So here is the proper plan for dealing with a child's sex tutelage:

(1) Answer his question

WHEN IT IS ASKED but in a fashion that satisfies him, without prudish innuendoes.

"Johnny, you came out of Mommy's tummy," is a superb reply for a pre-kindergarten tot.

While not anatomically correct, it fits the child's concept better, for he views "tummy" as covering everything in the abdomen.

To discuss the uterus (womb) and other anatomical parts is wasted time, for they are "over the child's head."

Stay on the child's level of thinking when you answer him!

(2) But suppose he then inquires, "Mommy, how did I get out?" He won't!

For that idea requires several more years of mental age!

On the famous Binet-Simon Intelligence Tests, it was found that a normal youngster could copy a square when he was 4 years old.

But he couldn't copy a diamond till he was 7. Why?

Apparently it requires 3 more years of mental growth for him to notice the difference between the square's right angles versus the acute angles of the diamond!

So it is with his sex queries. If, at the age of 6 or 7, he then asks how he got out, tell him there are several ways, but describe the Caesarian method if you are in a mixed crowd where some prudish adults may make a scene.

(3) Finally, comes the question, "How did I get in your tummy, Mommy?"

It seldom occurs till 3rd or 4th grade mental age is attained.

To answer this final query, send for my booklet "Sex Education From 2 to 20 Years," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

asked the basic question: Is it a proper function of state or federal government to plunder the taxpayers in order to give money to the Denver Olympic Committee to stage the Winter Olympics of 1976?

In 1976 Colorado will celebrate its 100th anniversary. The nation will celebrate its 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. What an opportunity to re-affirm to the world the principles of freedom upon which this nation was founded!

If the games are to be held in Colorado, let's set them up as an example for the world to follow by financing them privately through voluntary methods. Let's return "the events to the athletes and the hallowed ground." Let's prove to the world that voluntarism and individual initiative, the very foundation of this nation; can provide for that which is truly worthwhile.
