DRAFT STATUS

Birth Date Key Factor In Alleged Massacre

WASHINGTON (UPI)—At 8 p.m. EST tonight, a young man will step up to a glass jar at the Selective Service headquarters, stick his hand down among 366 plastic capsules and draw one out to begin the nation's first draft lottery since the dark days of World War II.

It will be a picture from the history books—like the one showing War Secretary Henry Stimson pulling a green capsule from a "fishbowl" in 1917. But there will be an important difference. Tonight's scene in more or less the same year will be repeated every year from now on, unless the law is changed or President Nixon fulfills his announced desire for an all-volunteer Army.

And the concept of tonight's drawing is unlike all the previous in an attempt to come up with as fair a lottery as has ever been devised.

There will be 366 youth representatives at the drawing. They will draw and continue drawing until all 366 capsules have been opened. Each cap-

Shock Waves Re-Echo In Alleged Massacre

European Leaders Call Summit Meet

THE HAGUE (UPI)—European Common Market leaders assembled in The Hague today for a two-day summit conference called to pump new life into their six-nation community in the 1970s and perhaps open the door to Britain's entry.

As they gathered, numerous pressure groups issued statements or made declarations.

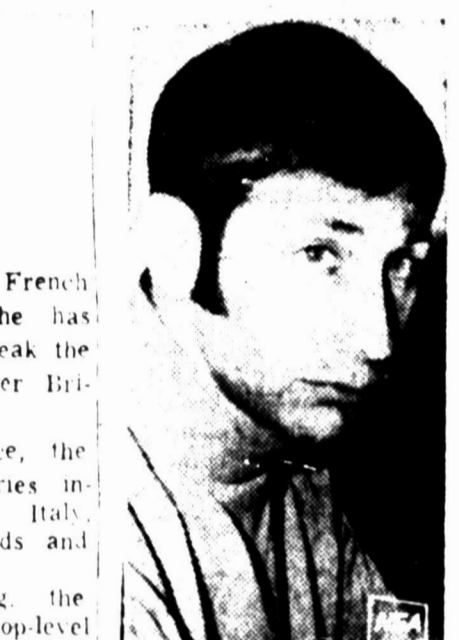

Walter Hallstein, first president of the Common Market Commission and now president of the European movement, issued a statement calling for the opening of early talks with Britain.

The European Federal party in its statement predicted complete failure of efforts to build a united Europe. And another group calling itself Keep Britain out organization pointed out that a recent public opinion poll showed only 22 per cent of Britons want to join the market.

The question of whether to set a firm date for starting negotiations with Britain was the main topic for discussion at the meeting. In addition, Ireland, Denmark and Norway are also seeking admission.

British entry into the group has been twice vetoed by former French President Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle's successor, Georges Pompidou, is making his first appearance at an interna-

A SPECIAL INVESTIGATION has been ordered by the Army to determine whether the alleged 1968 massacre by American GIs of South Vietnamese civilians was hushed up at the time. Lt. Gen. William Peers, center, will head the probe which came to light through letters written by Ronald Ridenhour, left, an ex-GI who said he learned of the massacre from men who were there. As a result, 1st Lt. William Calley Jr., right, has been charged with murder and faces court martial.

County Redistricting Plan Turned Down

Gray County Commissioners today turned down a proposal to redistrict the county's four precincts and approved a $50 across-the-board pay raise for all county employees to be included in the 1970 budget that will be presented to commissioners on Dec. 12.

Efforts to equalize the voting power and distribute top-heavy Precinct Two's voters among the other lesser-populated precincts was voted down by Commissioners Joe Clarke of Lefors, (Pet. 1) Jimmy McCracken of Grandview (Pet. 3) and John Johnson of McLean (Pet. 4) with the two affirmative votes cast by Precinct Two Commissioner Vernon Watkins and County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. Lenning said currently the

Senate Vote On Oil Issue Due Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate votes today on whether to cut the oil depletion allowance and raise the oil industry's taxes by $400 million a year.

Oil state senators were pessimistic about their chance of convincing a majority of their colleagues to retain the depletion allowance at 27.5 per cent—where it has been since its creation 43 years ago. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., has offered an amendment to keep the allowance at 27.5 per cent.

But they were optimistic about their chances of beating back a move by tax reformers to cut it to 20 per cent, the level approved by the House.

They seemed resigned to approval of the compromise action by the Senate Finance Committee pegging the allowance at 23 per cent, a cut which will raise the oil and gas industry's tax bill by $400 million a year.

That would diminish the value of the depletion allowance to the industry to about $1.1 billion a year.

The allowance lets oil firms exclude from their taxes up to 27 per cent of their gross income or 50 per cent of their net profits, whichever is smaller.

Troop Withdrawal Photographs Reveal Grotesque Killings

By United Press International

Photographs of the alleged Song My massacre are being shown around the world. They are gruesome. Reactions varied to the pictures and to eyewitnesses who continue to pour out their stories of alleged atrocities in Vietnam. There was outrage at the alleged slayings of civilians. There was outrage at newsmen for painting, some said, a bad picture of the American GI in Vietnam.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky publicly disagreed over what actually occurred March 16, 1968 at the village.

At the same time the Army covered with blood. No weapons are evident in the picture.

News media ran a picture during the weekend from the Chicago Sun-Times that showed a man, allegedly a Viet Cong, being dumped out of a high-flying helicopter. Europeans, in particular, expressed outrage at the picture. "But, this is a bunch of crap you guys are printing," said an unidentified Californian who called UPI.

Fred Sedahl, a reporter for the Savannah Morning News and a Vietnam veteran, wrote of a Viet Cong in 1966 being pushed out of a helicopter. Sedahl said he was flooded with telephone calls.

Was "Act Of War?"

In Saigon, a spokesman for President Thieu said, "The case is closed as far as the government is concerned. The incident was an act of war." Vice President Ky, however, said, "During a fight I accept an accident. But after the fight—once the fight is finished—you kill them, the innocent civilians—no!" He has called for a new investigation.

The Indians' claim to Alcatraz is based on a 1868 treaty between the federal government and the Sioux nation which provided for unused federal lands to revert to Indian ownership. The island has stood idle since it was closed down as a federal prison in 1962.

Electricians and plumbers were among the boatloads of Indians who arrived during the long Thanksgiving weekend. They went to work renovating the prison structures as an American Indian cultural and educational center.

The Indians have demanded that Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel come to Alcatraz to negotiate the "surrender" of the island. Hickel, in a stand up and find out if we are a silent majority or not."

With that, Preston van Han-ken, manager of the Andrews Chamber of Commerce, planned today's rally to see how many of the city's 12,000 residents support President Nixon's Vietnam policy.

Cong Forces Continue Camp Bombardment

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops bombarded the U.S. Special Forces camp at Bu Prang with 77 mortar and recoilless rifle rounds at daybreak today—the 34th consecutive day the camp has been shelled.

The salvos defied B52 bombers that came in during the night and dropped 360 tons of bombs around the isolated Cambodian border camp in an effort to ease the pressure from an estimated 5,000 guerrillas.

Damage to the camp and casualties among its American and South Vietnamese defenders were described as light in the latest shelling. The outpost is 112 miles north-northeast of Saigon, three miles from Cambodia.

Military spokesmen reported light fighting elsewhere across the war zone, listing a total of 71 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese slain against no U.S. losses. One fight cost government troops one dead and three wounded.

The fact that recoilless rifle shells fell into Bu Prang this morning's shelling indicated that the North Vietnamese were just outside the camp, for

Strike Threatens Railway Service

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Most of the nation's railroads say they will shut down rail service across the country Tuesday night if four shopcraft unions go on strike.

The National Railway Labor Conference made the threat Sunday night as both sides in the dispute prepared to enter round-the-clock negotiations to head off a strike.

Labor Secretary George P. Shultz, who ordered the continuous bargaining sessions, said "if a voluntary agreement is not reached by the deadline, other actions will have to be considered by the (Nixon) administration."

Indians Claim 'The Rock' Theirs Through 1868 Treaty Promise

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Indians are still depending on Alcatraz Island to back their claim to the 12-acre "rock" in San Francisco Bay.

Anywhere from 300 to 600 representatives of a score of tribes have flocked to the one-time famed federal prison since a handful of young Indians landed on the island in pre-dawn darkness 11 days ago.

The inhabitants range from two-week-old infants to tribal leaders in their 70s. They have come from throughout the nation. A census was under-taken today to try to determine an accurate count.

The Indians' claim to Alcatraz is based on a 1868 treaty between the federal government and the Sioux nation which provided for unused federal lands to revert to Indian ownership. The island has stood idle since it was closed down as a federal prison in 1962.

Spacemen Get Day Off

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Scientists return today to their examinations of the strangely different Apollo 12 moon rocks and soils, but the men who gathered those lunar samples get the day off.

A "free" day for the pilots of America's second lunar landing, however, means little right now. Charles "Pete" Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Alan Bean are all prisoners of the moon bug quarantine they must endure until the middle of next week.

The prison is plush—part of the $15 million concrete and glass Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Space Center. But the astronauts' activities are limited to things that can be done within the confines of the germ-proof isolation barrier.

A build-it-yourself FM stereo radio kit makes the hours pass faster for Conrad.

Gordon alternates between watching television and wading through a stack of magazines and letters that has piled up for weeks. Bean reads in his room, watches a little television and visits through a sealed glass wall with his wife and friends.

A few hundred feet away in a separate part of the laboratory are the two boxes of rocks Conrad and Gordon gathered during their moonwalks Nov. 19 and 20. Because of quarantine restrictions, the astronauts are unable to visit this part of the laboratory.

Geologists unpacked the tools inside germ-proof cabinets, last week. They reported after an initial look that the Apollo 12 astronauts picked up bigger rocks and fine lighter colored soil than the Apollo 11 moonwalkers did four months ago.

This was puzzling, since both flights were to the relatively smooth seas of the moon—Apollo 12 to the Ocean of Storms, and Apollo 11 to the Sea of Tranquility—that were considered essentially alike.

But the biggest mystery, geologists said, was that the Apollo 12 spacemen brought back none of the conglomerate rocks called breccia which made up three-fourths of the Apollo 11 rock collection.

Holiday Death Toll Stops Well Below Anticipated Total

By United Press International
The 102-hour Thanksgiving holiday weekend period has ended with far fewer Americans killed than the record 764 who died last Thanksgiving on the nation's highways.

This year's death toll also was far under estimates by the National Safety Council. The council had predicted up to 800 persons could be killed in traffic accidents this Thanksgiving, which began 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday.

A United Press International count at 4 a.m. CST showed at least 647 persons killed on the highways during the long holiday period.

A breakdown: 647 Memorial Parkway and 16 slammed into two automobiles. 64 Near Woodbury, N.J., Saturday, six persons were killed and 19 others injured when two trucks collided in fog on two-lane road.

California had the highest number of state auto fatalities, 67. Texas followed with 39 cars piled into the burning Georgia, 38. New York, 36, wreckage.

Poverty Not Main Reason For Crime Rate: Attorney General

Attorney General John N. Mitchell is in sharp disagreement with a recent high-level report that poverty is the main cause of crime in the United States.

"No doubt some of our social evils contribute," Mitchell said in an interview. "But we shouldn't accept poverty as an excuse for the commission of a crime."

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, has linked the nation's high crime rate directly to poverty, based on findings that the majority of crimes are committed by black, ghetto youths.

But Mitchell suggested: "It leads to the point where if you can prove you have a poverty base... a person could be exonerated for a crime. I don't believe that's acceptable."

He also found "entirely exaggerated" the commission's predictions that unless billions of dollars are spent to rebuild the cities the towns will consist of high-rise apartment buildings and residential compounds protected by private guards.

The central business districts largely deserted except for police patrols during nighttime hours.

He did agree that "many things have to be done."

The commission, created by President Lyndon B. Johnson after the assassinations of Dr. Martin Luther King and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in the Spring of 1968, goes out of existence Dec. 10.

On Nov. 23 in what Eisenhower called "perhaps its most important report," the commission said violent crime in the cities stems disproportionately from the ghetto slum where most Negroes live and is committed primarily by individuals at the lower end of the occupational scale.

Young Filmgoers Are Selective About Movies They Go To See

Distributed by NEA
According to the pop culture guru of the day, film is the media of the young. Movies are the art form they relate to most. But when they relate to most, the results spelled out a different story.

The largest number, or 28 per cent of the young people in the country between the ages of 14 and 25, go to the movies less than once a month. Slightly less, or 27 per cent, do attend once a month; 25 per cent go every two weeks; and 17 per cent go to the movies once a week or more.

A high school senior from Boise, Idaho said, "I like to get into other peoples' lives, see how they act, even if it is only fiction." More 17- and 18-year-olds attend the movies once a week than any other age group.

College students fall most often into the categories of attendance once every two weeks or once a month. A college junior from Van Nuys, Calif., stated, "I do not attend movies indiscriminately — I won't go to a film just because it's a film. But there are enough good films around to keep me going to them every two weeks or so."

Movies seem a most popular form of entertainment in the South, the region in which more people (18 per cent) attend once a week. The lowest percentage of once-a-week attendance, 11 per cent, is in the West. The largest percentage of "less often than once a month" moviegoers, 33 per cent, occurs in the East.

"The entire pattern of going to the movies has changed," said a 21-year-old from New Hope, Pa., "People don't walk in the middle of a film any more, but usually check to see what time each show starts. Films have become more artistic, more involved, so that it's important to see them from the beginning."

Ninety per cent of the respondents consult a newspaper before going to the movies: 73 per cent see what is playing, 58 per cent for the time of showing, and 27 per cent for the reviews. The difference appears in age groups, with 84 per cent of those 23 to 25 years of age consulting the paper first, and 86 per cent of those 14 to 17 years of age consulting the paper first. 26 per cent of the 23-25 age group checks reviews first, while only 18 per cent of those 17 and under do so.

Gilbert Youth Research's National Gilbert Youth Poll is based on a National Probability Sample of 3,000 young people aged 14-25, which is projectable to the entire youth population of the nation.

Police Supt. To Be Questioned In Chicago Trial

CHICAGO (UPI)—Deputy Police Supt. James M. Rochford was to be cross-examined today on his description of violent clashes between police and antiwar demonstrators at the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Rochford told the trial of the "Chicago Seven" last Friday that demonstrators stoned police and chanted near the corner of Balbo and Michigan Streets the night of Aug. 28, 1968. He said he ordered police to clear the people from the streets and the melee occurred.

Rochford also said he talked with David Dellinger, one of the defendants, and asked him not to try to march to the International Amphitheatre, the site of the convention.

Rochford said Dellinger — head of the National Mobilization Committee to end the war in Vietnam — told him, "We are going to march, we are going to the Amphitheatre. I don't have to listen to you."

The government charges Dellinger was the "principal architect" of the conspiracy, in which seven men allegedly planned to incite riots at the convention.

STOCKING KITS are available at The Hobby Shop for the holiday season. Many games, crafts and hobby items are offered. Kits to construct items are stocked and grouped according to age, so the youngsters as well as adults may take part in the fun. Stop by and see Pat Howell and let her show you the seasonal items now featured in the shop at 112 E. Francis.

Holiday Shopping Is Easy At Hobby Shop

With the holiday season here, The Hobby Shop, located 112 E. Francis, is stocked with items that correspond to the festivities and the mood of the time. Schools will be closed and the weather cold, so the owner of The Hobby Shop has suggested you drop by the shop and pick up craft and hobby items to help occupy the youngsters during the holiday.

Christmas stockings and Christmas tree skirts are available in appealing colors and designs.

Kits for the children, grouped by age, are available for those who like to make items for giving.

There are gifts for the artistic ones, oil sets, easels, brushes and other painters' material. Custom made frames are also available.

To add a festive mood to the season, make your own holiday candles. The Hobby Shop stocks, molds, wax, wicks color and scent.

Stocking stuffers? We have them! Many small items, to be constructed from kits, or ready-to-give are available.

Chemistry sets, telescopes, microscopes, dissecting kit and all extra chemicals along with glassware and laboratory apparatus can be purchased here.

"H.O." Gauge Race Car sets can be found and extra cars, parts and tracks may be purchased. The "H.O." train sets and extra parts as well as the "N" Gauge train sets and parts are also available.

Women Knocking At Doors Of Bastions Of Retreat

NEW YORK (UPI)—At McSorley's Old Ale House, you'll find sawdust on the floor, dozens of gentlemen chatting over a beer and no women.

This 115-year-old custom of barring female patrons would come to an end if Mrs. Carl Greitzer has her way. The attractive City Councilwoman Friday declared "a woman's war" on bars and restaurants that close their doors to women.

"As a woman scorned, I plan to assault and demolish your bastions of retreat," she warned proprietors. She said she had been barred from some of those "retreats."

Mrs. Greitzer, one of four women on the City Council, said she would introduce a bill to ban discrimination at the restaurants and bars. She urged women of the city to report to her the names of places that discriminate against women.

"There is no reason for justification for such discrimination because of sex or age," she said. "A restaurant is either a public facility open to all or it is not a public facility."

Asked if McSorley's would be

Winter Driving Woes Solved At Vaughn's

With winter weather here, the road service offered by Vaughn's Auto Center is dependable and often needed. The Center, located at 1800 N. Hobart offers road service to the traveler, local motorists, and "on the farm" service for area ranchers and farmers.

All motorists may rely on the quality of work and products offered by Vaughn's.

A complete line of Goodyear tires, batteries, and all car accessories is offered. Sinclair gasoline and oils, and a three-minute automatic car wash offers drivers complete automobile service at one location.

Farmers are pleased with the "on the spot" service received through the Center. All tractor tire service can be done on the farm.

The latest highlight in the tire line is Goodyear Power Cushion Polyglas Tire. The Polyglas tires are built for long life. Two body plies of polyester cord plus two fiberglass cord belt plies hold the tread firm, improve road grip and reduce tread squirm.

Vaughn's also supplies the All-Weather IV, Safety All-Weather "Z" Custom Wide Tread Polyglas and Traction Hi-Miller tires.

The expert brake alignment service is unequalled. Smokey Stover is a trained expert and is in charge of the brake and alignment service. He will inspect the front end including springs, shocks, ball joints, idler arms, tie rods and the steering assembly—realign the front end, correct the camber, caster and toe-in.

Vaughn's will also help you restore power and performance to your car. Charlie Russell, a trained mechanic, will clean the fuel bowl, air filter and battery, along with checking the spark plugs, points, rotor and condenser.

Motorists can always rely on service at Vaughn's. Stop by and let one of the boys winter-proof your car and suggest the type tires beneficial to you during the icy winter weather.

SMOKEY STOVER, alignment and brake expert, uses scientific equipment at Vaughn's Auto Center, to insure you the best in winter driving. The center offers one-stop complete service with major brand automobile needs available.

Florida Officials Propose Changing Space Center Name

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Whereas government maps say it's Cape Kennedy, all the signs you see call it Cape Canaveral, and most Floridians consider them signs of the future as well as the past.

Government officials were swept into a name-changing fever in the emotional days following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Leading Florida officials say the government went too far.

No one has objected publicly to renaming the missile site on Cape Canaveral as the Kennedy Space Center, but Florida's two Senators have introduced a bill to restore the 400-year-old Spanish name of the geographic site itself.

"We have strongly resisted calling it anything else," Miss

Clean-Living Man Arrested For Escape From Jail

NEW YORK (UPI)—During the past 13 years, Mark DeMedici has worked as a carpenter, gotten married, had six children and lived a clean life.

Friday night, New York police arrested him. They said his real name is Michael Riola. A warrant charged he escaped on Dec. 16, 1956, from a New Jersey prison where he had been serving a 7-to-12 year sentence for 11 auto thefts.

Records show Riola, now 42, was arrested in 1953 for the theft of one car. He later confessed to 10 other thefts.

Acting on an anonymous tip that DeMedici was using an alias, New Jersey department of corrections officials obtained a warrant for him and forwarded it to New York. He was taken into custody at his home Friday night.

But Riola, whose children range in age from 3 to 11 years, is going to fight to stay free. He will have some help.

Leon Port, a former assistant district attorney in Brooklyn, and State Sen. Albert Lewis have agreed to represent Riola.

Port said the car thefts Riola is charged with "were what you call joy rides." He said Riola had abandoned the cars when they ran out of gas and did not try to keep possession of them.

Port said when Riola is arraigned, they will refuse to waive extradition to New Jersey. "We will refuse it until we have spoken to Gov. Richard Hughes of New Jersey, and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York."

"If the purpose of prison is punishment, then he's punished enough by knowing could be picked up."

The lawyer said Riola's wife, Kathleen, learned of his arrest after they were married, the children did not know was an escapee. "They'll be out today," Port said.

The Philippines is expected to ask the return of the U.S. Sangley Point Naval Air Station during negotiations with the United States early next year. This is the base located on a narrow peninsula 30 miles south of Manila jutting into Manila Bay. The United States turned down a similar request in 1967 on the basis it was needed for Vietnam logistical operations. It has a population of more than 7,000, including some 3,000 Filipino employees.

Hess to be let out?

The illness of Rudolph Hess, 75-year-old Nazi deputy Fuehrer, is expected to increase Western allied efforts to gain his release from four-power Spandau War Crimes Prison, where he is serving a life term and is the prison's only tenant. The Russians have rejected past proposals to grant Hess amnesty. But Western officials believe the Russians now might reconsider their position.

DEAR ABBY: What advice have you for a middle-aged wife...

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I am sure many other married couples have had to face...

John (not his real name) pretends his interest in her is strictly paternal...

My mother is not speaking to me because I told her that my husband and I will be having Christmas dinner with his parents this year...

If John has been as obvious about his feelings among his fellow teachers as he has been at home...

Don't suggest that his family and mine get together for Christmas dinner because it would never work out...

He seems to get a lift out of all this, and I admit I get a beneficial fallout from his current infatuation...

HATES HOLIDAYS DEAR ABBY: You are right! Why not spend Thanksgiving with one family and Christmas with the other?

DEAR WIFE: John may be "infatuated" with the young woman, but she's obviously not infatuated with John...

DEAR ABBY: This is for the single girl of the "Back Alley Intimacies" with married men...

Since he claims his interest in her is "paternal," why not adopt a "maternal" interest in her? Invite her and her young single friend over...

I got your letter to Abby thrown at me last night, so while two of our kids are in the tub, and before I do the dishes and shampoo the rugs...

DEAR ABBY: We have had several discussions with some very intelligent people and we still disagree on this question...

WONDERING DEAR WONDERING: I like Ben Gurion's answer to "What is a Jew?" A Jew is anyone who says he is.

Family Housing Study Scheduled By County Group

Use common sense to get matters going without stirring up criticism from other people, information is noisy, irrelevant. Stay close to headquarters so you miss nothing.

The Gray County Family Living Committee of the Gray County Agricultural Extension Service is sponsoring a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Agricultural Office Bldg., east of Pampa on Highway 60 and 152.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Changes in details Tuesday distract most people and test your skills in sticking to the subject. Firm decisions are not likely. Take it easy.

This meeting is a part of a series of activities on "Housing Meets Family Needs."

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Whatever you do now causes much talk. Don't leap to conclusions which, in the long run, do not hold up well.

Roy Sparkman, representative of a loan company, will speak on determining housing allowances, criteria for loans, down payments, upkeep costs, and interest rates.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be alert for minor details. Getting the cooperation of others is not easy at this point if your idea is difficult to describe or has some original quality.

Quentin Williams, realtor, will discuss selecting a home location, buying, renting, or remodeling and explain the facts involved in providing the family with a home.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Stay with established plans. Long term obligations signed Tuesday are likely to be difficult to meet later.

Set Up Practice Room What's happening in your room? If the answer is nothing, try a "Sound-In." Create special, acoustically geared areas in your bedroom for music listening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conflict between home conditions and work opportunity arises. Personal plans are upset and people talk. You can learn more by listening than by squabbling.

Boon to Home Painters Now there are acrylic paints in 18 standard colors to make home painting easier. The water-based paints dry tack-free in 20 minutes, can be handled in an hour. Most surfaces do not need a primer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Use a practical approach Tuesday and do things directly and without experimentation. Pursue matters while they're fresh. If you must travel, start early and take care.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Keep friendship and financial matters separate Tuesday. There is a great deal of discussion wherever your opinions differ. Wait for additional information before making decisions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) If you stoically cope with minor annoyances, everything else is moderately successful. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Exasperation mounts simply because some matters are not clear. Correspondence is incomplete or confused.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Your friends are all capable of involving you in deals you

Parent Teacher Association Slates Last Report In Drug Abuse Series

Sheriff Rufe Jordan

The fifth and final meeting of the PTA sponsored Study Course on Drug Abuse will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Carver Educational Center, 321 W. Albert.

In 1951 Jordan was elected Gray County Sheriff and has served continuously in that position. During these 18 years he has attended several schools, covering all phases of law enforcement, sponsored by the Texas Department of Public Safety and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Rufe Jordan, Gray County Sheriff for the past 18 years, will present the first part of the program. A film, "Narcotics the Decision", loaned from the Texas Medical Association Library, Austin, will be shown to conclude the final program. The film is recommended for adults only.

Jordan is a past president of the Texas Sheriff's Association, a past president of the Lion's Club, has been active in Boy Scout work and has been a chairman for the Cancer Crusade. He is a member of the First Baptist Church and of the Knife and Fork Club.

Jordan is a native of the Texas Panhandle although born at Frederick, Okla., since his parents moved to Groom when he was an infant. He attended Pampa schools and for 14 years was employed by Danciger Oil Company in Pampa. He and his wife, Viola, were married in 1934 and have one daughter and three grandchildren.

Refreshments will be served by members of Lamar Elementary School Parent Teacher Association and St. Vincent Home and School Association. A nursery will be available. About 300 persons have registered during the first four programs, according to Mrs. Steve Odom, chairman. Parent and Family Life Education has been a part of PTA since 1926 when the National Congress initiated a nation-wide program on parent education. Certificates will be issued to parents attending at least eight hours of study or four of the five sessions.

of the power of today's women will be more clear. "Presently 51 per cent of all voters are women but for the past 50 years less than half of one per cent of all elected and appointed officials have been or are women," Mrs. Hamilton said.

She noted "soon after Eve arrived to be a companion to Adam he began to sense the power of a woman. To evaluate the present day woman is rather difficult, for looking at a woman is rather like looking at an oil painting - up close the painting gives a very poor perspective; therefore, perhaps 50 years from now the picture

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. R. I. Bray, Mrs. Lillian Jordan, a guest, presented Mrs. Charles McIntosh executive director of the Top of Texas tuberculosis association who spoke on the association's current hopes and aims.

Mrs. O. K. Gaylor entertained the group at the Pampa Country Club. A special guest was Mrs. John P. Coyne, Washington, D. C., who is a house guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Burton.

Other club members present were Meses, D. V. Burton, Darrell Cameron, V. J. Drew, Charles Lanehart, Kermit Lawson, Tom Perkins, A. D. Pickett, Glenn Radcliff, Quentin Williams, and Roy McMillen, a new member.

Another program on "Astrology, A Fad? - Astronomy, A Fact" was presented by Mrs. V. J. Drew and Mrs. Carlton Nance at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Kermit Lawson. Mrs. Nance discussed astrological relationships of the world as known and also as suspected through scientific research.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Things having the same essence or nature are said to be "consubstantial." But you know that already, didn't you?

What you may not know is that many people suffer from disconsubstantiality, which means that certain things about them do not match, or blend with, other things.

A person may have ears that don't go well with his nose, for example. Or eyes that conflict with his hair.

Some years ago, I discovered that I had a form of disconsubstantiality that poses a severe handicap for anyone in my line of work. My trouble is that I don't look like I write.

Putting it another way, my physical countenance is at variance with my literary profile. My appearance clashes with my lucubrations.

As long as I am unseen by my readers, no harm is done. But when I take my color slides and go somewhere to give a lecture on the sex life of quahogs, disconsubstantiality can create an awkward situation.

People in the audience come up to me and say, "You certainly don't look like I thought you would from reading your column." They say this accusingly, as though I am guilty of duplicity. Thereafter, it is almost impossible to establish any sort of rapport with the group I am addressing.

Other Washington columnists don't have this problem. Joseph Alsop, for example, looks exactly like he writes. Regular readers recognize Alsop instantly, even if they have never seen his picture.

The same is true of Evans and Novak. Readers of the Evans-Novak column could immediately pick them out of a crowd, although they might have trouble deciding which was Evans and which was Novak.

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The record on Dustin Hoffman should be set straight.

The star of "The Graduate" and "Midnight Cowboy" has been made to appear as a neurotic, self-indulgent and immature symbol of a youthful revolt against the movie establishment.

National magazines have supplied him with an aura of instability, etching his personality in fact is a hard-working, diligent actor who answers questions directly and attempts to be as accommodating professionally as he is personally.

During a lunch break in his fourth film, "Little Big Man" at Cinema Center Films, Hoffman was asked why he had been singled out to polarize youth versus age in the changing world of movies.

"I'm an actor, and that's all I am, aside from being a human being with feelings," he said.

Hoffman's manner is pleasing. He is neither as short as he has been made to appear, nor is his nose so prominent.

"I resist the temptation to be seduced by the press which wants to put me in the avant garde of acting. Youth would laugh to think that I represent them."

"I'm 32 years old and I don't even represent 32-year-olds. Sure, there is a generation gap — lots of them. There is a gap between 13- and 16-year-olds, 20 and 25 and on up. They have different points of view."

Hoffman has been painted as suffering from guilt over his success.

"Look," he said, "I've been lucky to score with two successful pictures. I enjoy the success."

"But it's an absurdity to draw the differences between me and John Wayne, as if there has to be one or the other. Black or white. It's childish to say who or what is best because that knocks all the others out of the box."

"I've learned one thing about success, when you get into celebrity status you realize how many things can be misrepresented. I've never had a press agent, but maybe I ought to hire one."

Hoffman believes moviegoers no longer buy a name at the boxoffice. He says the focus is on the film, not the actor.

"I have to work very hard to come across in a role," he continued, patting his wife, Anne, on the hand. "It's not easy for me."

"I continue to fight apprehensions of future pictures. Curiously, I took the secondary role in 'Midnight Cowboy' to circumvent a second big success. I thought it would remove the necessity of having to top my performance in 'The Graduate.'"

"Now I'm faced with the same dilemma again. I know I can't continue to have one hit after another. No one can expect that."

Hoffman's third picture, "John and Mary," with Mia Farrow, will be released soon. "Little Big Man" gives Hoffman an opportunity to play a wide range of character as he ages from a teen-ager to an ancient 110 years.

Hoffman has been described as an "anti-star," which is a contradiction in itself. At this moment there is no performer with greater impact on the screen than Dustin Hoffman.

That fact makes him a star pro forma.

He is no rebel, no molder of new forms in film art.

Hoffman searches for good roles and imaginative directors. In this respect he is like any great actor of the past — or the future.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The idea that inflation psychology can be killed by manipulating a break in stock prices is effective only if it produces quick results, says Hoppin Bros. & Co. But if the stock market declines while per capita income continues to rise the deception becomes obvious after a while and the backlash of skepticism strengthens inflation psychology more than ever, the firm said.

Pessimism among Administration officials regarding near-term prospects for controlling inflation and gloomy prophecies of economists over the implications of persistent monetary restraint are keeping the stock market under pressure, says Goodbody & Co. The firm said it is inclined to believe the market has just about discounted as much of an economic slowdown as Congress is likely to accept.

Wolfe & Co. feels the market's overall technical position now is substantially stronger than at any time earlier this year. It is reasonable to assume the current reaction can terminate without first carrying the broad-based indices to new 1969 lows, the firm said.

E. F. Hutton & Co. finds it difficult to visualize a further extensive decline from a present oversold position without at least an intervening technical rebound.

Texas Opens SWC Basketball Gates Tonight

By United Press International

Pre-season favored Texas finds out tonight if its sophomore flash, 6-7 Lynn Howden, is good enough to make the Longhorns the feared challenger they are supposed to be in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The Longhorns are at home to Mississippi in one of the five games on the opening night program of the 1969-70 season. Howden, a Houston Waltrip product who played his freshman ball at Louisiana State, brings a gaudy reputation with him to the Longhorn campus. Texas and Baylor have been rated one-two in preseason picks, while the defending champion Texas Aggies are not far behind.

Weaver Embarrassed Over Series

By MILTON RICHMAN
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—It was the same swimming pool. And the same lounge chair.

One year ago, give or take a few weeks, Joe Namath sprawled lazily in it and had gotten some sun on the end of his nose while talking about how the Jets were going to handle the Colts in the Super Bowl.

The baseball people are using the same hotel here for their meetings the Jets did a year ago.

Somebody was lounging in

Joe Namath's chair Sunday and it's too mad Joe couldn't be here for a look.

She was worth it. Big sunglasses, long flowing black hair, longer legs and stacked neater overall than those crispy, crunchy boxes of breakfast food on your neighborhood grocer's shelf.

Looks in General Direction Earl Weaver was looking in that general direction, but before this gets him in trouble with his lovely wife, Marianna, it should be explained he was talking about the Orioles' chances next season coming off the licking they took in the World Series six weeks ago from the Mets.

"You said you still felt the Orioles were the best after the Mets beat 'em" a guy reminded the stylishly dressed, lime-jacketed and gold-shirted Baltimore manager. "You still think so?"

"Yes I do," Weaver came right back, "I certainly don't want to take anything away from the Mets. I think they're a great ball club and if I say we're better it makes it sound like sour grapes. But I honestly feel that way because we have less holes to fill than they do."

"It's all over now and how do you feel?"

"I'm embarrassed because we lost," said the Orioles' manager.

"What bothers you most?"

"Just not being the best in the world."

"Do people remind you of it a lot?"

LYOSE Money

"Well, a lot of 'em come up to me and say, 'Hey, did I lose money on your guys.' I tell 'em all, 'I lost more than you did.'"

Even now, six weeks later, Earl Weaver finds it rather difficult to swallow the fact that anybody beat his Orioles.

"I don't know when a better ball club has been assembled, he says. "That's a tribute to Harry Dutton (Baltimore's vice president-player personnel director), all the people in the front office and all our scouts. As far as the World Series goes, look—you have to face facts—their pitchers simply out-pitched my pitchers."

At that point, the occupant of Joe Namath's chair decided she had enough sun and got up to leave.

Earl Weaver and the guy with him both turned slightly, maybe only a few degrees at most. Look, you have to face facts.

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Rams, Browns Clinch Titles

By United Press International

George Allen's Los Angeles Rams have a chance to go one up on Vince Lombardi this year. They could win the championship — and all the games.

The Rams, attempting to become the first NFL team to go through the regular season undefeated in 27 years, boosted their record to 11-0 Sunday by downing Lombardi's current team, the Washington Redskins, 24-13.

The victory clinched the Coastal Division title for the Rams for the second time in three seasons and moved them into the Western Conference title game on Dec. 27 against the Minnesota Vikings, the Central Division champions.

Los Angeles meets Minnesota next Sunday in a preview of their title match.

Browns Clinch Crown

The Cleveland Browns clinched the Century Division crown with a 28-24 victory over the Chicago Bears to move into the Eastern Conference title game on Dec. 28. The Redskin loss enabled the Dallas Cowboys to take a 2 1/2-game lead in the Capitol Division and all but assured the Cowboys a berth against Cleveland.

In other games, Baltimore topped Atlanta, 13-6, Green Bay dropped New York, 20-10, New Orleans beat Philadelphia, 26-17, and St. Louis routed Pittsburgh, 47-10.

A pair of Roman Gabriel touchdown passes, a tough defense and some costly Redskin penalties paved the way for the Los Angeles victory.

Cleveland trailed 14-0 in the second period and 21-14 at halftime but rallied on the passing of Bill Nelsen to win the game. Nelsen drove the Browns 90 yards in the fourth period with Ron Johnson running seven yards with 3:56 left for the winning TD.

A blocked punt in the fourth period by reserve running back Larry Conjar set up a two-yard touchdown run by Tom Matte and handed the Colts the victory over Atlanta.

Tom Dempsey kicked four field goals and the New Orleans defense intercepted four Norm Snead passes as the Saints downed Philadelphia.

Tim Hart tossed three touchdown passes to Dave Williams as the Cardinals topped Pittsburgh. It was the 10th straight loss by Pittsburgh, which is 1-10.

Don Horn passed for two touchdowns as Green Bay handed New York its seventh straight loss. The Giants controlled the ball for 46 of the 68 first-half plays but failed 13-10 at halftime as Horn tossed a 39 yard touchdown pass to Donny Anderson and a 41-yard pass to Carroll Dale.

Big One On Tap Saturday In Southwest

By United Press International

Gene Stallings of Texas A&M and J.T. King of Texas Tech, whose teams were the latest to feel the wrath of mighty Texas and Arkansas, decline to pick a winner of next Saturday's titanic Long-horn-Razorback battle. But you can read between the lines.

And, such reading jibes with the oddsmakers' early line on the game pitting top-ranked Texas against third-ranked Arkansas in the Razorbacks' own back yard—Texas by 7 to 10 points.

Stallings, whose Aggies lost to Arkansas, 35-13 earlier in the year and 49-12 to Texas only last Thursday, says:

"I'm not going to compare them, but Texas has the best football team I've ever played against. Does that answer any questions?"

Not Fair

King, whose Tech team was the last to defeat Texas before it launched its current 18-game winning streak, suffered a 49-7 whipping from Texas on the second weekend of this season and then last Thursday was blanked 35-0 by Arkansas.

"I hate to speculate. It would not be fair to either team or coach," said King, who earlier in the year had publicly stated that he thought Texas had "too much" for Arkansas.

"Texas is a tremendous rushing team on offense and their defense is outstanding, but it has been so overshadowed by one of the greatest ground attacks in conference history that it probably hasn't got the notices it deserves."

Punting Weak

"Texas may have a weakness in its punting game, but then again they usually are so far downfield that kicking isn't that important."

King went on to say, "In many respects Texas is superior to anyone I've ever seen, especially running."

"But, football is a game broken down into many parts. 'Arkansas is a 'big play' team," he pointed out. "They will go along looking methodical and then when they have to have it, they make it... on offense or defense."

"I'm not sure of the exact figures, but I'll bet Arkansas made 12 to 15 big third down plays against us. That in itself will win for you."

Big Plays

Then, after reflecting a bit, King, added:

"Texas has been making some pretty big plays of its own, too. They just get lost in the stampede."

AMERICAN FOOTBALL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Namath, Jets Get Bombed

By United Press International

Darryl Lamonica argues his point very well.

The cocky quarterback of the Oakland Raiders has been telling people for sometime that he is as good as Joe Namath. All he wanted was a chance to prove it before a New York audience.

Lamonica got his chance Sunday and outshone Namath by completing 19 of 28 passes for 333 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Raiders to a 27-14 victory over the Jets. He couldn't have asked for a bigger audience. An American Football League record crowd of 63,863 turned out in chilly 40 degrees weather to witness the contest.

Namath, meanwhile, was put under heavy pressure by the Raiders' strong defensive line but managed to complete 10 passes in 30 attempts for 169 yards. Fifty-four of those yards come on touchdown pass to Bake Turner, playing in place of the injured Don Maynard.

The victory enabled the Raiders to regain first place in the Western Division by a half game over Kansas City, while the loss prevented the Jets from clinching first place in the Eastern Division.

In the other games, Boston defeated Miami, 38-23, and Buffalo edged Cincinnati, 16-13.

Defensive back Larry Carwell intercepted two passes to set up fourth quarter scores and Mike Taliaferro passed for three touchdowns to lead the Patriots to their fourth triumph against eight losses. Jim Nance scored two touchdowns for the winners while Jim Kick scored twice for the Dolphins.

Booker Edgerson stole the ball from quarterback Greg Cook and raced 10 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter for the Bills' decisive score. Edgerson, trying to recover his balance in ankle-deep snow after he was hit by a blocker, fell into Cook, spun around and picked the ball out of Cook's hands, then raced unmoled into the end zone.

The heavy snowstorm forced the two teams to fumble 10 times with Buffalo recovering all seven Cincinnati fumbles. Bruce Alford, however, managed to kick three field goals for Buffalo despite the weather conditions.

Clarendon Puts Perfect Record On Line Friday

By United Press International

Dallas Woodrow Wilson finds itself king of the hill this week — at least as far as consecutive wins are concerned — and Coach Theo "Cotton" Miles finds the perch a little uncomfortable.

Woodrow Wilson took over claim to the longest winning streak in Texas high school football during last weekend's regional playoffs when defending Class AAA champion Lubbock Estacado lost the first game in its history.

Estacado was one of two defending champions dumped last weekend, which means only Sonora — last year's winner in Class A — remains left with a chance to defend its title.

Finally Loses

Estacado, which began playing a varsity schedule only last year, had played 25 games during its two seasons, and had not lost until running up against Brownwood last weekend. With Estacado's 29-13 loss to Brownwood last Saturday, Woodrow Wilson became the leader in the consecutive win department with 17 straight triumphs.

Wilson downed Fort Worth Western Hills 48-20 Friday night to set up a quarterfinal playoff meeting with Texarkana, and Cotton Miles knows his team will be in for a rough time.

"There are no poor teams when you get this far along," Miles said. "There is just not much difference from one team to another.

Needs Bounce

"The team that has the lucky night will win. The team that gets the right bounce of the ball and gets the long touchdown."

While Dallas Wilson was winning and Texarkana was downing Galena Park 24-21 to set up their quarterfinal duel, Abilene Cooper and Wichita Falls also picked up wins to create this weekend's top attraction.

Cooper, guided by Richard Mildren brother of Oklahoma University quarterback Jack Mildren, bombed El Paso Coronado 36-0 while Wichita Falls was doing the same to Garland 27-0. Cooper is seeking revenge for a 20-19 loss two years ago in the finals to Austin Reagan.

In the southern half of the Class AAAA bracket last weekend, Houston Kashmere continued its high-scoring ways with a 41-15 romp over Houston Lee. Beaumont Herbert downed Galveston in a 19-13 thriller, Seguin polished off Brownsville 47-14 and San Antonio Lee shut out San Antonio Edgewood 35-0.

Kashme re vs. Hebert

Kashmere will meet Hebert and Seguin will tackle Lee in the South Texas quarterfinal matches.

With Estacado's demise in Class AAA, the race became wide open.

Erownwood will continue along its upsetting ways this weekend against Monahans while Bonham will meet Ennis. Brenham will take on West Columbia and Belton plays Kerrville.

Ennis disposed of another defending champion Friday night when it dumped Daingerfield 14-13. Daingerfield fumbled a field goal snap at the 10-yard line in the final minute of the game to lose a chance for victory. The Tigers had won the Class AA title last year before moving up to AAA.

Unbeaten Matched

The Brenham-West Columbia duel will be one of only two in the state this weekend that brings together two undefeated clubs.

The other will find Lufkin Dunbar, a state finalist against Daingerfield in Class AA last season, meeting Georgetown.

Other Class AA quarterfinal actions finds Iowa Park, scorer of more points this year 572 than any other high school team in the state, meeting Reagan County; Jacksboro tackling Gladewater and Klein playing Hondo.

Veterans Eyed As Baseball Draft Starts

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Major league baseball men conduct their annual draft today and although many of them were eyeing a long-ball hitting outfielder belonging to the world champion New York Mets, the general pickings were expected to be slim.

Such veterans as Dennis Ribant, Fred Whitfield, Gary Geiger and Bo Belinsky, now on minor league rosters, are available now at $25,000 apiece but players of their stripe generally were expected to be passed over in favor of lesser known, younger candidates.

One such is Roy Foster, a 25-year-old right-handed hitting outfielder left unprotected by the Mets on their Tidewater roster in the International League.

Foster, a rookie with Tidewater this year, led the league with 4 1/4 runs batted in and made the all-star team. He hit 24 homers while batting .281 and is a virtual cinch to be drafted, possibly even by the Cleveland Indians, who have first choice.

OUR CAPSULE POLICY
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TEXAS PANHANDLE
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
Let Peace Begin With Me!

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Time To Get Back On Track

Kids of the "now" generation sometimes are hard to understand. Just like kids of the "beat" generation. Just like the Roaring Twenties. History does not help much when it comes to understanding generation's children. The bloom, with passing time, seems to grow more complex. Yesterday, it was "bad" to smoke.

Today, the kids have hurled such things as whiskey and hard-fish swallowing and have added on a thing called "pot" and worse.

Put LSD in that latter category.

Art Linkletter buried the laughter who just a few years back was charming him with his childish innocence. Last month, she had flung her body on a six-story window, the hapless victim of LSD.

Nobody will ever know what LSD seed sprouted suddenly in her mind. Certainly it sent her into the worst irrational moments. Her father characterized her in that tragic time as having "a tiger in her bloodstream."

This is the age of permission. Sex is "in." Drugs, too. Experiment and live, man!

Somewhere along the way, the world has run off the track. The whole sovereign state of humanity seems to be walking down a long railroad track that leads to nowhere, and every other step is a hobble.

The outsider views with mirth what the traveler can't see in his stupor.

He's got one foot on the track and the other between the ties.

The sound of rustling marijuana leaves is with us. The charmers are at work here, just as they are at work in New York and San Francisco and Chicago.

Here, they lack the boldness of peddlers elsewhere. They have the sophistication. And their timidity is being shoved aside as the dollar-mark looms larger.

Time out for a quote from the 1968 FBI crime report:

"Arrests for Narcotic Drug Law violations in 1968 over four times as great as 1960. Narcotic arrests 1968 over 1967 up 64 per cent. Influenced again primarily

Sensing The News

By THURMAN SENSING

Agnew Is The One

For years, millions of Americans have been hoping that someone near the top of the government would speak out against the appalling misuse of broadcasting freedom and cite the censorship and thought-control attempted by the liberal commentators who dominate the "news" programs of the networks. At last, the people have found a spokesman in Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

In one of the clearest, most accurate and well-documented speeches by any national leader in years, Mr. Agnew described the way in which a handful of arrogant commentators exercise unconfiscable power over opinion-making in the United States and how they have become a force with which to reckon.

The networks have replied to the Vice President by charging him with asking for censorship. He did no such thing, of course. On the contrary, he demonstrated that there is today a very real censorship in effect on television and radio — a censorship exercised by the newscasters who are liberals almost to a man.

The arrogance of the liberal commentators long has troubled thoughtful Americans. Year by year, this arrogance has increased to the point where a President of the United States cannot communicate with the American people without an anvil chorus of liberal critics immediately chopping up his talk with instant criticism.

Mr. Agnew didn't ask that the networks abandon criticism. He simply stated that it is proper for the networks to do as the newspapers do — separate fact and editorial opinion, that is. The networks, however, invariably mix opinion with the news. They have the capacity to discredit a proposal by a lifted eyebrow or a half-smile on the commentator's face.

They also have the power to take a nonentity such as Stokely Carmichael and make him into a major public figure.

Southerners have not forgotten how the television newscasters have abused and distorted their region over the last 15 years, presenting the South as a backward region of heartless people. Today, on television, only the Southerner is presented in terms of a vicious stereotype, as a drawing illiterate. The news directors' use of isolated, sleepy hamlets to portray the towns of a modern, hard-working region of the nation — this is part of the shameful story of television.

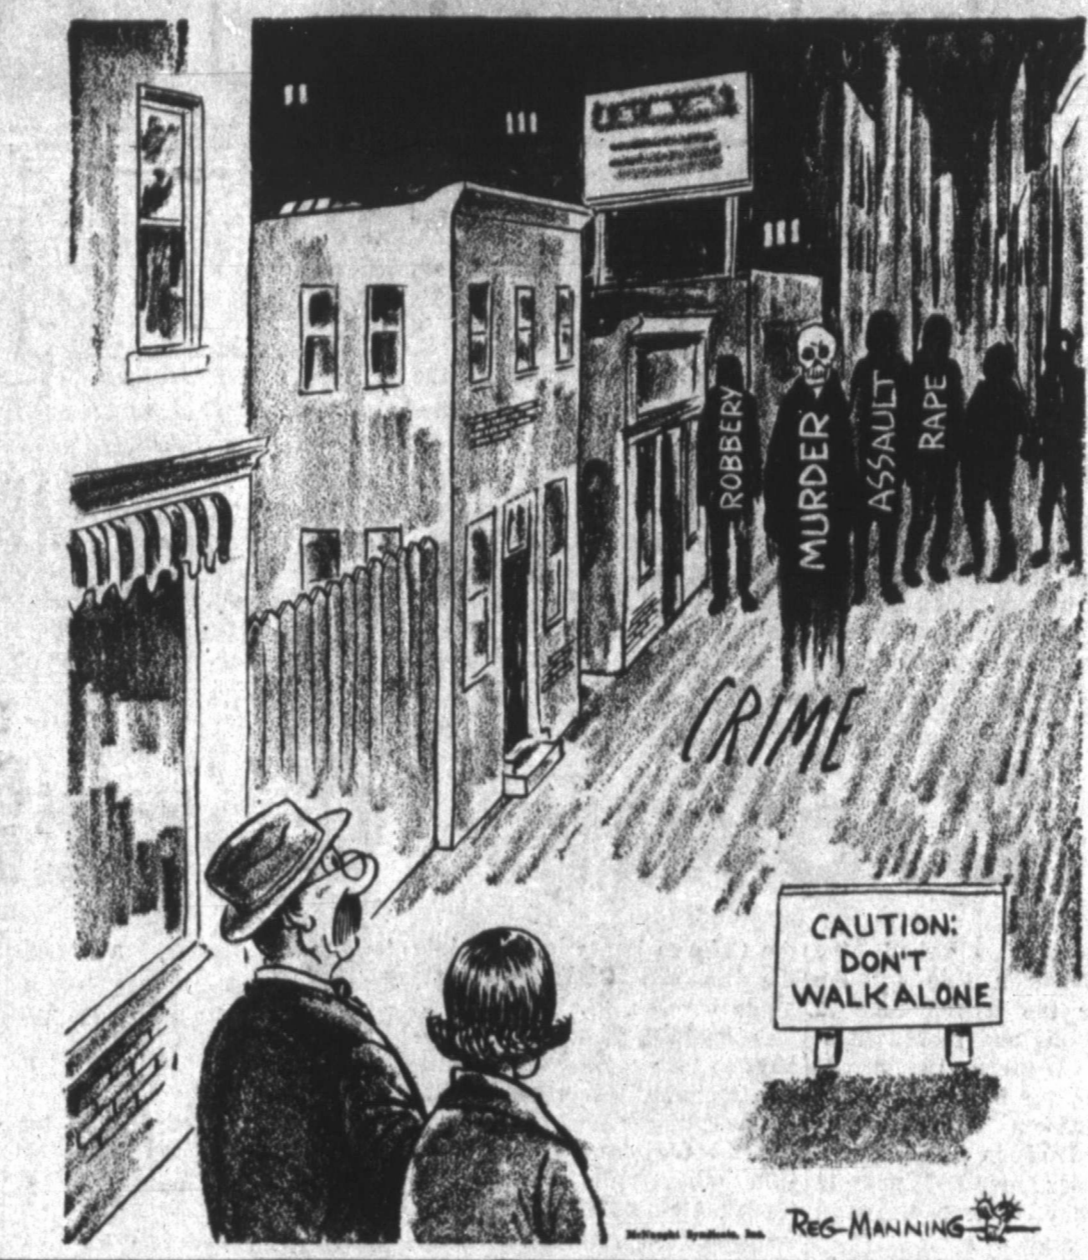

No one expects newscasters to be men without personal conviction. They have a right to their views, as do reporters on newspapers. But a newspaper reporter strives to keep his personal views out of accounts of actual happenings. The rules of printed journalism stress the importance of objectivity, but the newscasters apparently don't believe that objectivity is an important journalistic virtue.

The networks have an obligation to the public, an obligation they have not met. The reference here is to the duty to tell things as they happen without running the facts through a filter of prejudice. In the case of the speeches of the President of the United States, no matter who may occupy the office, decency and respect for the elected leader of the American people requires that he be allowed to speak to the nation without being followed up immediately by an assembled band of critics who are primed to go to work on the Chief Executive's address.

Beyond this, the networks must police themselves so that there won't be any more of the type of thought-control they have engaged in for years. Examples of this are the coverage of the war in Vietnam and the handling of the Chicago riots in 1968.

Insofar as the Vietnam War is concerned, the newscasters played a major role in causing many people to believe the U.S. couldn't win. Innumerable telecasts stressed what the newscasters regarded as the hopelessness of the conflict. These reports engendered defeatism and encouraged the New Left at home.

Nixon's Proposals On War Surprised Many Marchers

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—What happened on the college campuses here Nov. 13, 14 and 15 was more significant than the massive, heavily publicized antiwar marches.

Students from all over the nation, in Washington for the demonstrations, met with fellow students in Vietnam sessions which sometimes lasted through the night.

The Moratorium-Mobilization establishment directors had their own speakers exhorting against U.S. actions in Vietnam and defending Ho Chi Minh's men. Curiously, these representatives were often ill-prepared.

But the organizers also allowed anti-Communist students and administration speakers to argue for what is being done in Southeast Asia and to argue against overquick withdrawal.

At meetings this reporter is familiar with, the student audiences insisted the pro-Nixon speakers be treated fairly. They shouted down hecklers. They seemed eager to hear this "other side." They put serious questions.

At one session, when the Moratorium-selected chairman turned out the lights and put on a movie abruptly end the turn of an administration representative who was proving popular, groups of students followed the speaker out of the hall to ask more questions and hear him out.

Strangely enough, these protesting students (and professors) seemed ignorant of the most elementary facts of Vietnam. Numbers indicated they had not even heard of some of the President's key proposals for ending the conflict. They were startled to learn that Nixon had publicly approved the concept of internationally supervised free elections in South Vietnam, with the Viet Cong having a part in anyway.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

Evidence Of Faith At Work

By DR. BOB JONES

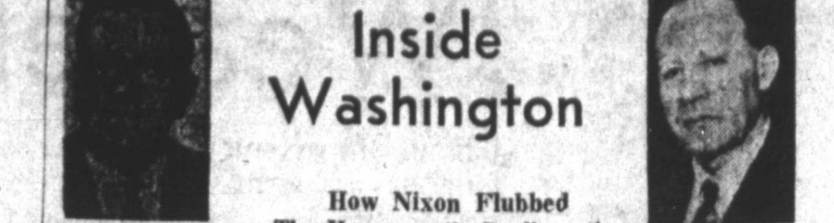

There was a sick man who had some fine friends who did more than sympathize with him in his sickness and tell him that they felt sorry for him. They carried him to Jesus to be healed. When they came to the house in which the Lord was teaching, there was such a crowd that they could not get in; but not to be discouraged, they climbed up on the flat, oriental roof, lifted up some tile and with ropes let the sick man on his bed down at the feet of Jesus.

The man was healed by the power of the Son of God, but his friends had a share in the healing. Except for their efforts he would never have been brought to the Saviour. Those men had evidently seen the miracles which He had performed on other sick bodies. They had faith that Christ could heal their friend. They gave evidence of that faith when they brought him to Christ. But they gave evidence not only of faith but also of character and determination when they failed to let the crowd deter them in their efforts and defeat them in their purpose.

There are many Christian people who know the power of Christ today. They have felt the manifestation of His power in their own lives in the forgiveness of their sins. They have seen His demonstration of His power in the lives of others. They have friends who need the miraculous touch of Christ, who are living in sin, who are victims of habits which they can't conquer and of evil which cripples them spiritually and morally; yet they never make an effort to bring these friends to Christ.

How Nixon Flubbed The Haynsworth Confirmation

WASHINGTON — From the defeat of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., and the recriminations now flying here, President Nixon may well conclude that he must take a more personal interest in his liaison with Congress.

That would be a good conclusion for Mr. Nixon to reach. It is becoming clear that the benevolent posture — above the battle — is fine for an elderly national hero like Dwight D. Eisenhower, but poor for a political careerist like Richard M. Nixon.

In the immediate aftermath of the 55 to 45 vote against Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court, the margin of defeat was the major subject of conversation. That talk obscured all discussion of the reasons for the defeat.

Now it is becoming clear that the margin was not insuperable and that the White House, with a better campaign of senatorial persuasion, could have surmounted it. In fact, there are indications that at least one "no" vote was already available to the administration if a "yea" would have meant confirmation.

Haynsworth supporters are finding these faults with the White House campaign which failed to change the necessary minds of perhaps only four of the South Carolina judge's Senate opponents.

THE STRATEGY — When the White House finally concluded that the nomination was in trouble, a decision was made to get tough — "like LBJ." However, the operation as carried out was totally unlike the personalized arm-twisting of former President Johnson.

A recipient of the much-publicized "Johnson treatment" was exposed at the White House to a 20 to 60-minute personal account of the President's pressing problems. Included was a forecast of something good which could be expected if the recipient supported the President on a given issue or, less often, something bad if he did not.

Under the Haynsworth strategy, a prospective opponent got nothing from the supposedly uninvolved Nixon. Instead he got calls from persons hundreds of miles away threatening political extinction if he didn't support the President, and those calls were supposed to have been made without the President's knowledge.

There is a difference between accommodating the cajolery, and even the threats, of a hard-pressed President in his oval office and bowing to long-distance threats of recrimination inspired by a White House aide or cabinet member. Often that difference doesn't favor the indirect approach.

THE TIMING — The White House, according to these Haynsworth partisans, was painfully slow to learn that the nomination was in trouble. While the White House was unconcerned, the AFL-CIO and some civil rights organizations mounted an effective lobbying campaign against Haynsworth.

A contributing factor here was the death of Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen, of Ill., and not only because Nixon was deprived of Dirksen's power of persuasion, which was considerable.

Dirksen's death had other repercussions. For a couple of important weeks the White House had no real leadership team in the Senate, and that didn't help. Then, when the new leaders were selected, they proved to be aligned against Haynsworth.

THE PERSUADERS — In the end, Republican and Democratic supporters of the Haynsworth nomination agree, the White House campaign backfired. The Republicans and the Democrats tend to blame different Nixon lieutenants, however.

Clearing House

Got something you would like to "get off your chest"? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the Editor, that people should speak their mind. So, in the public interest, write to the Editor and "get it off your chest."

KVII's ad in your Nov. 26 issue, "If You're Wondering About TV News..." displays a quote from TIME Magazine that Howard K. Smith, himself, says is wrong. It is a mistake for TIME to call him a conservative, he said.

Vice President Agnew's speech of Nov. 13 pointed out that the same few, prejudiced commentators are featured in TV news programs. The prejudice of Howard K. Smith and ABC against President Nixon dates back at least to Nov. 11, 1962 when they presented television viewers with "The Political Obituary of Richard M. Nixon" starring Alger Hiss, who accused Nixon of being motivated by political ambition in his part of the exposure, conviction, and imprisonment of Hiss for lying about his Communist connections and the passing of secret State Dept. documents to Communist agents. Smith considered as "news"-worthy the opinions of Hiss, and learned that the viewers disagreed.

Mr. Agnew has suggested that TV networks be made more responsive to the views of the nation. Criticism of that speech labels it an "attack" of "ominous character," and ABC agrees, their advertisers an untruth depicting Smith as conservative.

The thoughtful and provocative statements in that speech by the vice-president never have appeared in the Pampa Daily News. Someone there or with UPI determined that they should not, despite their newsworthiness, and that is censorship.

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

How To Have Order On the Campus

For those on the outdated side of the generation gap, modern trends among young people hold little hope. The commentary on these trends holds even less.

A case in point is the phenomenon known as "student unrest." Uncounted millions of words have poured forth from writers, intellectuals, educators and news analysts — and most of the verbiage has attempted to rationalize the students' irrational behavior. Thus, the idealistic younger generation is rightfully refusing to support an immoral war in Vietnam. They are correct in rebelling against the study of outdated, irrelevant courses. Who can blame them for their disgust at a hypocritical society? And so on and so on.

Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson, President of Brigham Young University, takes a very different view. Speaking over the Manion Forum radio program, Wilkinson presented some nonsense, hard hitting comments as to why the kids are rowdy, and what schools should do about it. Here are some of his remarks:

"The present campus disturbances and disorders are an outgrowth of general disrespect for law and order in this country and the failure of Government officials to enforce that law.

"I think that any student who engages in disturbances that disrupt the program of the university should be suspended. Indeed, our students are told each year that should they participate in disturbances, expulsion would automatically follow, and they know that we mean it.

"I will go further than that and state that in my judgment any student who would attempt to destroy the facilities or buildings of an educational institution created by our Government or made possible by philanthropy under our system of free enterprise, or who, by any revolutionary tactics, would attempt to destroy our Government which gives our students more to obtain in any other nation in the world, should have his revolutionary dreams fulfilled by having his citizenship revoked and, like Phillip Nolan, become a man without a country.

"I would permit these students, after they have repented, to again apply for admission to the country which offers them the greatest opportunities in the world. By that time they might appreciate its blessings.

"Theodore Roosevelt stated the philosophy which I think we should follow. He stated that no man is either below or above the law. As applied to a university this means, in my judgment, that we should not make it a sanctuary or asylum where officers of the law cannot get to the students. Both university officials and law officials have the responsibility for maintaining law and order on our campuses.

"In my opinion, there are a number of causes which are responsible for the revolutionary attitude now being taken by students.

"In the first place, because of the permissive attitude in their homes, many have no belief in God and the divine order of the universe. Many of them do not accept the Judeo-Christian moral code.

"Next, it is now definitely established that many of the leaders of these riots are hardcore Communists. It is now well established that many of these student Communist leaders travel from one campus to another, inciting these riots.

"Another reason is that many of the dissident students have mistaken belief that our country owes them a living or a college education. Many of these things can be changed overnight by legislation or the power of the state.

"I think universities should start thinking about some new admission requirements; I submit that a young man of character and leadership is more important to our society than a genius who is an anarchist. I submit that universities should devise some formula whereby admissions officers think not only in terms of scholarship, but also in terms of character, and good citizenship."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: — Some say ownership of limited natural resources (e.g. radio frequencies, underground water) should belong to whoever first starts using them productively. Others say ownership should be adjusted periodically to eliminate waste, increase usage, and spread the benefit over current and potential users. Patent and copyright law combines both ideas. What are the editor's views on the proper general principle?

ANSWER: — Generally, it's accepted that to be property, anything must be capable of being bounded. There is no question that radio frequencies are capable of being bounded and thus can be regarded as property.

Jerry Emanuelson, a licensed broadcast engineer in Colorado, in the October issue of the Freeman magazine, says, "radio frequencies could be considered as private property, an unclaimed radio frequencies subject to claim by anyone who has a transmitter and wants to use the unclaimed frequency..." He compares this to the homestead principle relating to land. He also says the frequencies "could be bought and sold just as land is traded among willing buyers and sellers."

Underground water may be more difficult to bound, but we see no reason why an individual should not be able to extract water from beneath the land he owns.

As to adjusting ownership periodically to eliminate waste, increase usage, and spread benefit over current and potential users, we presume the questioner refers to action by some political agency. We can't see that political agencies have accomplished any of these aims where they have gained control. They merely substitute the collective judgment of some bureaucratic agency for the individual judgment of owners. That is the basis of dictatorial socialism, and seldom works for the best interest of individuals who seek only to take peaceful action in the best interest of themselves and of serving their fellow men.
