Frazee And Committee Laying Plans

Nationally-Known Celebrity May Be Honor Guest

A really old-fashioned basket lunch picnic will be held at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the city park on Labor Day, Sept. 1. Sponsors of the picnic will be the native state clubs organized for the folks fiesta.

The picnic was scheduled last night at a meeting of representatives of 15 state clubs in the county courtroom.

Mr. R. Frazee, president of the Missouri club, was elected general chairman of the picnic, and a committee composed of at least one representative from each state club was appointed. This committee was instructed to contact state clubs not represented at the meeting, and to solicit their cooperation in holding the picnic.

Plans to bring a nationally-known speaker to Pampa for the occasion, and for other entertainment were announced.

Flis Stilwell, member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, presided while plans were being made for the date and place for the picnic. Mr. Frazee presided at a short session of his committee after the meeting. "From now on they'll handle it and they'll put it over too, and we're going to help them," he said.

The only requirement for attending the picnic which will be featured by entertainment and games will be a lunch basket. Members of the state clubs will wear their ribbons, and those who do not wear ribbons may wear slips of paper with the name of their native state printed on it.

The picnic will be really old-fashioned in that the lunch will be spread on one long table, or tables. A spirit of old-fashioned neighborliness will be stressed.

Mr. Frazee's committee includes the following members of native state clubs: Mrs. S. C. Hewitt, West Virginia; Mrs. P. Matthews, Texas; Mrs. H. H. Heiskell, Texas; Luella E. Howell, Fred Shroyck, Pennsylvania; A. P. Stark, Kansas; Mark Denson, Colorado; John Monroe, Oklahoma; Mrs. Bell Wells, Louisiana; Mrs. Harry Morley, Mississippi; Mrs. J. E. Townsend, Ohio; Mrs. W. B. Frazee, Mrs. Jessie Stroup, Mrs. William Murphy, Illinois; John Skelly, Pennsylvania; Mark Detson, Iowa; R. B. Saxe, Michigan; J. E. Yoder, North Carolina; Mrs. Harry Morley, Mississippi; Mrs. J. E. Townsend, Ohio; Mrs. W. B. Frazee, Mrs. Jessie Stroup, Mrs. William Murphy, Illinois; John Skelly, Pennsylvania; Mark Detson, Iowa; R. B. Saxe, Michigan; J. E. Yoder, North Carolina.

This committee has been asked to call the attention of their own clubs to the picnic and obtain 100 per cent support of the picnic from the individual club members, if possible. Mr. Haskell, Mrs. Matthews, and Mrs. Hewitt will conduct an intensive personal contact campaign in order to acquaint all native club members with the picnic plans. It was emphasized that the picnicers may bring anything in their basket from "red beans to fried chicken." It was decided to hold the picnic at the park rather than the lake in order to accommodate the thousands of people who won't leave town on Labor Day. It is expected to be the biggest lunch basket picnic ever held in the Panhandle. Pictures will be taken for Life Magazine, and the affair will be advertised all over the Panhandle.

Increased Farm Land Values Forecast

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Increased farm land values as a result of the current world situation were forecast today by Representative Patman (D-Tex.). Patman told a national convention of the 4-H club that agriculture was becoming more profitable "and as any business becomes profitable, a few people jump in and try to buy up a large part of it."

I HEARD . . .

That directors of the Pampa Country club are ordering oil to be placed on pools of water in an effort to kill mosquitoes. The pests have taken over some of the fairways and golfers claim their drives have been increased by the ball lighting on a cloud of mosquitoes and being carried down the fairway.

Late News

BERLIN, June 24 (AP)—DNB reported today that thousands of Russians had been killed and several thousand taken prisoner in one sector alone on the eastern front.

ROME, June 24 (AP)—Italian authorities announced today that special authorization would be required for departure of Americans desiring to leave Italy under new measures described as "analogous" to those applied to Italians in the United States.

LONDON, June 24 (AP)—Reuters (British news agency) in a dispatch from Ankara today told of unconfirmed reports that Russian cruisers, destroyers and submarines were battling German aircraft off the Bulgarian coast of the Black Sea.

Woman Lawmaker Disagrees With Rep. Ennis Favors

AUSTIN, June 24 (AP)—Rep. Rae Files of Waxahatchie, one of two women members of the house of representatives, asserted today her previously-expressed criticism of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel was not a "spontaneous outburst" but the "climax of a growing resentment" on her part.

Apprehended when she concluded a speech on personal privilege, Miss Files said her recent open letter to O'Daniel, charging he had sought to force approval of "bad legislation" with threats of broadcasting the legislators were "against the old folks," had been written deliberately.

The woman lawmaker took exception to a statement by Rep. Ennis Favors of Pampa who, in commenting in a recess resolution, asserted he believed such "spontaneous outbursts" as Miss Files' open letter were making votes for O'Daniel in the governor's senatorial campaign.

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce float, which was one of the outstanding floats in the Top O' Texas Folks Fiesta parades here last week, will be taken to McLean tomorrow and entered in the McLean Jubilee and Rodeo parade at 10 o'clock.

The float will be re-constructed by Flis Stilwell who was in charge of building the floats for the Fiesta parades.

Miss Virginia West, crowned Fiesta queen by Don Wilson of Hollywood, movie and radio star, will ride on the float.

A delegation of Pampans will leave the city hall at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Everyone making the trip is asked to call at the chamber of commerce rooms at the city hall and secure hat bands and car stickers.

Following the parade tomorrow morning, Mayor Boyd Meador will welcome visitors to McLean.

Rodeo performances will be held Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and nights at the high school football field. Added attraction at the night performances will be a square dance on horseback. On Thursday afternoon a ladies' barrel race will be an extra event.

Old timers will meet, talk, play and dance during the celebration. A large delegation of McLean residents visited Pampa last Friday and invited everyone to McLean for the celebration.

The reward was an education in architecture.

Registration Place Will Be In Courthouse

Youths who become 21 on or before July 1 will be registered for selective service with the United States army on July 1. A registration headquarters will be set up in the first floor corridor of the courthouse.

Local registration will be handled by the selective service board which will appoint three or four registrars.

Number of youths expected to register here has not been estimated by members of the board.

Pampa's July quota of eight men will leave here on July 11.

Number of White Men In Territory More Than Women

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The census bureau came to the aid of lonely girls today.

In a release saying that statistics should be "interesting reading for single girls in search of adventure, travel—and husbands," the bureau said:

"In the Panama Canal Zone there are only 5,885 white women to 26,971 white men. The white population of other American territory includes 200 men to 100 women in American Samoa, 204 women to 581 men in Guam, 39,318 women to 64,473 men in Hawaii, 13,575 women to 25,595 men in Alaska, and 1,675 women to 3,014 men in Puerto Rico.

Gerstner Claims Father Saved Late Kaiser From Drowning

EUREKA, Ill., June 24.—William Gerstner tells fellow inmates of the Menonite home that his father saved the late Kaiser Wilhelm II from drowning.

That was 75 years ago. The elder Gerstner was bodyguard and swimming instructor for young Wilhelm, then a prince. At Stuttgart, when the prince was swimming alone to gain confidence, there was a call for help. The local man's father arrived as he went down for the second time.

Panhandle Oil Allowable Upped Some

The Panhandle field will be allowed to produce 133 barrels more oil daily in July than in June according to an order released today by the Texas Railroad commission signed by all members.

The Panhandle field will be shut-down five days during July while other fields will be shut-down 11 days. The field will be closed one day more than in June which is a 30-day month where they are.

Daily allowable for the Panhandle field for July will be 88,240 barrels according to the new order. State production for July was set at 1,347,926 barrels, a reduction of 63,908 from the allowable of June 1 and 83,908 under June 21.

Shut-down days in the Panhandle will be: Statewide shut-down days except for the Panhandle field were listed as July 4, 5, 6, 12, 13, 16, 19, 20, 26, 27 and 31. Panhandle area closures were ordered July 5, 12, 19, 26 and 31.

The order added two more general production shut-down days, bringing the total to 11 for all fields except the Panhandle area which remained unchanged at five.

Commission engineers, comparing the permissive yield to the U. S. Bureau of Mines estimate of market demand for Texas in July, asserted that, subtracting assigned but unproduced allowances, statewide production would be 23,251 barrels a day under the bureau forecast.

The federal bureau's July demand estimate was 1,324,000 barrels daily. Exemptions from shut-downs by fields, were unchanged from the June order and allowable assignments by pools were identical with the current order except for Talco pool in district 6 which was boosted from 24,973 barrels a day on June 21 to 27,628. The field produces an asphalt-yielding crude.

Engineers explained a number of small changes in fields were caused by underproduction or new wells. The method of prorating was unchanged from that used on the June order.

Chairman Ernest O. Thompson and members Jerry Sadler and Olin Culberson of the commission all signed the order.

Life Saving Being Taught At Pool

A water safety program sponsored by the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross will be held here under direction of Jack Skelly, Red Cross water safety instructor. He will be at the Municipal swimming pool at 2:30 o'clock every afternoon to give instruction in both junior and senior divisions.

The junior class will be for anyone between the ages of 12 and 16 years while the senior class will be for anyone over 16 years.

The junior life saving and water safety course will consist of 15 hours of instruction for those who have passed a swimmer's test.

The senior life saving and water safety course will consist of 17 hours of instruction and examination for proficient swimmers. The course is designed to enable the individual to follow a safe and proper procedure in aquatic emergencies, including water rescues and resuscitation.

A life saving examiner course will also be available. Instructor Skelly is anxious to contact anyone in this area desirous of taking the course.

Girl Scouts interested in becoming future lifelines (Sea Scouts) or in earning the Life Saving badge are urged to go to the pool immediately and sign up with Jack Skelly, instructor. The only fee will be the regular fee to get into the pool.

Russians Fighting Lions Against Attack

MOSCOW, June 24 (AP)—First detailed accounts of Soviet-German fighting by Soviet war correspondents today described the Russian frontier guards as "fighting like lions" against the brunt of Nazi attack.

"They fought hand-to-hand," these accounts said, "and the enemy was unable to advance an inch except over their dead bodies."

Five More Needed For CAA School

Five more applicants are needed to assure a summer Civil Aeronautic Administration ground school for Pampa. Application blanks may be secured from Jimmy Dodge at the bus terminal.

Dodge, president of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring the aviation program here, Frank Hall, ground school instructor, and Earl Dinsmore, flight contractor, returned this morning from Fort Worth where they presented an application to CAA officials for the ground school course.

The Pampa men had the required number of applications for the school but some were rejected, necessitating the signing of five more students. The CAA officials told the Pampa men to get the additional applicants as soon as possible and then mail the list to Washington for final approval.

So five more youths of the Panhandle area will be given an opportunity to take the ground school course. Ten of the youths taking the course will receive free flight scholarships. Any youth who has passed his 19th birthday but who has not reached his 25th birthday will be eligible for the scholarships.

Older men can take the course and purchase flight time. Ten youths who recently completed a ground school course will start their flight course soon. CAA officials in Fort Worth said approval of the flight course should be received within the next few days.

The summer ground school course will be held in the agriculture building on the high school campus.

Red Army In Confusion, Claim Nazis

BERLIN, June 24—Germany's drive into Russia, led by panzer columns and supported by smashing Luftwaffe assaults, is following its "planned course with great success" and a strong line of Soviet bunkers in the middle of the 2,000-mile front has been shattered, the Germans reported today.

A high command communique issued from "the fuhrer's headquarters" merely reported the "great successes" without details, but the official DNB news agency told of the break-through and Nazi newsmen at the front pictured the ranks of the Red army as in hopeless confusion.

The detail of the high command communique indicated that Adolf Hitler was with his troops just as he was at the beginning of the Polish invasion and in the western and Balkan campaigns.

By sea, too, the Germans claimed success, the sinking of a Russian submarine by a Nazi U-boat in the Baltic off the Soviet stronghold of Windau, on the Latvian coast.

The Red air force attempted to strike back, DNB said, sending a weak force against East Prussia only to be driven off by a massive curtain of fire thrown up by anti-aircraft batteries. So hot was this barrage that the Soviet airmen were said to have jettisoned their bombs in open fields and turned back.

The agency declared that weak forces of Russian air raiders had attempted to fly into East Prussia this morning but had been driven off by anti-aircraft fire and opened to drop their bomb cargoes in open fields.

A burst of naval action was reported meanwhile from the Baltic sea, where a Nazi submarine was said to have sunk a Russian submarine off the Soviet stronghold of Windau on the Latvian coast.

The DNB announcement that German troops had broken through a Russian bunker line on the eastern front gave no details of the action. Earlier military dispatches had said that Nazi troops were moving ahead on schedule but mentioned no definite objectives which had fallen into their hands.

Since the war's outbreak on the European eastern front the German air force was reported to be bombing relentlessly Soviet armament factories, troop concentrations, air bases, fuel depots, arsenals, and other objectives, DNB reported.

The news agency said a single German bomber yesterday struck a fuel train with the result that 23 cars burst and that the concussion from the subsequent explosions shook the plane flying at 1,500 feet.

Dive Bombers To Be Teamed With Troops

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—New steps to weld American land, sea and air forces into a closely coordinated fighting team were disclosed today by General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

Lifting partially the secrecy surrounding some important defense preparations, he reported that navy dive bombers would be teamed with ground troops for the first time in late summer maneuvers.

The arrangement for use of navy dive bombers was made with Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations. War games employing more than 350,000 men are to be held in Louisiana in August and the army's flying field training is to be topped off in November with other maneuvers in the Carolinas.

Termining the use of the navy bombers "logical," Marshall said that in the event of war "conceivable carrier-based planes would have to be used with troops."

Marshall also gave the following information on some hitherto secret defense subjects:

1. A marine corps officer has been given command of an army-marine "task force" now being trained for landing operations in the event it should be needed for western hemisphere defense. The officer's name was not given.

2. Brigadier General Henry W. Harms, veteran army flier, has been placed in command of the air defense command in Newfoundland, northernmost of the string of island outposts acquired from Great Britain.

3. Command of the new bases in Alaska may pass from a ground officer to an air officer as soon as construction work is completed.

The army-navy joint board, which formerly held sessions only at intervals of weeks, now functions almost continuously. Its members include Major General Henry H. Arnold, deputy chief of staff and commander of the newly-organized army air forces, as well as top war and navy officials.

Draft Boards Must Make Up Own Minds

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Selective service headquarters has notified all local boards, it was learned today, that they must make their own decisions in the cases of selectees 28 years of age or older who are now in line for induction but who may be deferred a few weeks since under pending legislation.

The headquarters' statement was issued in response to numerous inquiries by boards as to what course to pursue in view of the senate-approved bill now before the house which would empower the President to give deferment from military training to all men who have reached the age of 28 by July 1.

While passage of the lower age legislation appears probable, selective service headquarters was understood to have taken the position that it could not forecast what final action congress might take and that it therefore lacked authority to issue instructions in the matter.

Officials of some boards reported, however, that they had been indirectly encouraged to find ways of postponing the induction of the men affected until such time as congress disposed of the pending bill.

General George C. Marshall said yesterday that the army favors releasing the present selective service trainees "if the situation permits"—after they have finished their year of military duty, but that it might be advisable to retain some of them longer.

Delbert Brown To Be Instructor In Canadian Air Force

Delbert Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Brown, and Mr. Brown left today for Canada where Mr. Brown has signed a contract to become an apprentice instructor in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The young Pampa aviator will report to the RCAF at Ottawa where he will attend a flight instructor's school after which he will be assigned to a training base somewhere in Canada. He will not be sent to England.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are both licensed pilots having received their training here and at Clinton, Okla., where they received their licenses. The couple left here by car.

Japan, Spain Manifest New Love For Axis

Panzer Units Rip 120 Miles Into Red Breadbasket

HELSINKI, June 24 (AP)—The Finnish press bureau reported today that the German army had broken through the central part of the Russian defense line. Details were not given.

Three major penetrations of Soviet territory were reported, ranging in depth from 80 to 125 miles, and DNB (official German news agency) declared hundreds of Russians had been killed and thousands taken prisoner in one sector alone.

A German-Rumanian force was said to have slashed 80 miles through Russian Bessarabia, heading for Odessa and other Black Sea ports.

(By The Associated Press) Sweeping drives of German columns into the Russian Ukraine and through Red army defenses to the north were indicated today by diverse reports which accompanied fresh manifestations of Axis sympathy in Japan and Spain.

Foreign military attaches in Ankara, Turkey, said they were advised that Nazi panzer units had driven 120 miles into the rich breadbasket of southwest Russia in the first two days of invasion.

In the center of the 2,000-mile front, a spearhead has penetrated about 125 miles in a thrust through Brest-Litovsk toward Minsk, said Reuters (British news agency) in a dispatch from Vichy.

From Berlin came word that German assault troops had driven through a strong line of Soviet bunkers in the thrusts which the Red army acknowledged had taken three frontier towns.

The German high command spoke in a general way: "In the operations of the German army are taking their planned course, with great successes."

Uniformed Falangists paraded in Madrid before the Nazi embassy, shouting "On to Moscow"—"Gibraltar for Spain."

Attention was focused on Japanese interest in the war by a Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Tokyo saying that Japanese women and children living in Moscow had been ordered home.

Likewise, Domei (Japanese news agency) broadcast that today's comments in the Japanese press "are much clearer in their manifestations of sympathy for Germany and in indicating the future course of Japanese policy."

DNB, the official German news agency, said Nazi legions had broken Soviet fortifications in the center of the 2,000-mile eastern front after hard fighting.

While the locale was not further specified, it apparently was the rolling, forested plateau of what was once middle Poland.

Although Reuters advised indicated German penetration of 10 to 15 miles in places in Adolf Hitler's new drive to the east, the Soviet high command declared two Nazi columns had been repulsed with heavy losses.

It was admitted that Brest-Litovsk, scene of the Bolshevik signing of a World War peace with Germany, Kolna and Lomza had fallen. All are in Polish territory. In addition, Eucharist dispatches of Reuters said Rumanian troops, fighting as allies of Germany, had occupied Cernautin, in northern Bivocovina, which Russia wrested from Rumania by ultimatum a year ago.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden formally welcomed Russia as an ally "in our common task, the defeat of Germany," in a house of commons speech.

Communism is not the issue, he said, but what counts is that the Russians are "fighting the man who seeks to dominate the world."

In London earlier it was announced that Moscow had formally accepted an offer of coordinating British military and economic missions.

This coordination is in addition to the stepped-up pace of Britain's aerial offensive against the Reich. Informed London sources said the manufacturing centers of Cologne and Dusseldorf and the naval base at Kiel were targets of the 13th consecutive RAF night attack upon Germany last night.

OLD ETIQUETTE HINT

British Women's Institutes Link Up 'Home Front' Work Of Every Village

"The Women's Land Army, replacing men on farms, is recruited mainly from town girls, but much of the practical training of the recruits is in the hands of the farmers' wives who constitute the backbone of the (British) Women's Institutes."

By ROSETE HARGROVE
LONDON—Much has been written of the war work organizations of British women in London and other big cities, but the well-deserved spotlight seems to have missed a nationwide organization that is doing yeoman work on the "home front." They are the Women's Institutes of the small towns and country villages in the provinces. Members are not uniformed, nor are they organized along military lines.

Formed during World War I to aid the war effort by conserving food and increasing home-grown supplies, the British Women's Institutes are again proving their worth in the present conflict.

The Institute movement originated over 40 years ago in Canada, through the need to supply some form of social intercourse for the women of remote villages. Prominent in the Canadian movement, which was very successful, was Mrs. Alfred Watt. In 1915 she helped organize an English counterpart, and in 1917, with 137 branches working, the National Federation was formed. The movement continued to grow so steadily that today there is hardly a village of any size on the British Isles which has not its Women's Institute.

In peacetime the equivalent of American women's clubs, the Institutes in wartime have become valiant workers for a British victory. Judged as a group, they must be given no small part of the credit for the high national morale.

HAVE HELPED TO RAISE STANDARDS
The peacetime purposes of the Institutes have been two-fold: to provide for rural women some recreation and to encourage them to take not only pleasure but profit from the natural resources of a rural environment. All forms of gardening, fruit preserving and canning, handicrafts of many kinds, poultry and rabbit-breeding—in these and in many other directions new ideas have been disseminated and standards have been raised by communal effort and individual competition.

With such background it is obvious how great a part the Women's Institutes are equipped to play in the present war.

The Women's Land Army, replacing men on farms, is recruited mainly from town girls, but much of the practical training of the recruits is in the hands of the farmers' wives who constitute the backbone of the Institutes.

The paramount "home defense" problem of how adequately to feed a family is closely followed by Women's Institutes debates on how best to deal with the salvage problem, the harvest helpers, the organizing for any emergency from billeting to invasion, besides making the rural population "onion-carrot-and-outmeal-conscious."

It isn't clever, in the Institutes, to grumble about certain food shortages or any other difficulties. Rather, they do their best to make it a point of following the best advice given out by the Ministry of Food. Cooking competitions are held on such problems as "what can be done with two ounces of oatmeal." Englishwomen are introduced into the still undiscovered field of soup-making.

It is not only in the vital matter of food supplies that the Women's Institutes are proving their worth; however, the main burden of the evacuation of children and old people from dangerous areas has naturally fallen on rural districts, and experiments in communal feeding and communal laundry have developed easily and efficiently from long experience of what drives and school children's parties in happier days.

Many villages also have units of the armed forces, men and women, quartered near them, and have added canteen duties to their increased domestic and garden labors.

"ADOPT" CREWS OF TRAWLERS
Women's Institutes all over the British Isles have "adopted" any-thing from three to five trawlers, according to the size of their membership, and undertake to keep the crews in sweaters, gloves, socks, and helmets, besides collecting reading matter and writing personally to the men once a month. Replies are read at meetings and much encouragement is derived therefrom.

The activities of the individual Institutes are usually guided by the leading spirit of the community. She may be the wife of the largest land proprietor; or she may be a member of the middle classes, or just a cottager.

The women meet several times a week when possible. There are knitting parties and, once in a while, debates. But today the Institute members' activities as fire-fighters, wardens and "aiders" have become more important.

Seminar And Club Institute To Open At Canyon College

Numbers are being added to the program of the Seminar on Latin-American Relations and Club Institute to be held by the Seventh District, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, at West Texas State College in Canyon tomorrow through Friday. To the afternoon program Wednesday has been added a group of patriotic songs which will be sung by a girls' quartet from the White Deer high school. They have been trained by Glenn Davis of White Deer, who is a member of the music staff of the Canyon college this summer.

The seminar will be an intensive short course designed to acquaint clubwomen and others with their neighbors to the south.

The program has been planned to develop the "understanding which is vital to the development of satisfactory relations between the United States and Latin-America."

Through the efforts of Mrs. W. N. Stokes, chairman of international relations for the Seventh District, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, two attractive numbers have been added to the seminar program. The girls' quartet, accompanied by Miss Vesta O'Dell, will give interpretations of Latin American dances on the evening program, June 25. On this program also will appear Dr. L. F. Sheffy, who will discuss "Hemisphere Solidarity."

To Wear Costly
Mrs. Guy A. Garlander of Amarillo will sing a group of Spanish songs as a feature of the banquet program Thursday night. She will wear appropriate costume.

Miss Edna Graham, world traveler who recently has visited South America, will be one of the speakers on the banquet program.

An unusual feature of the seminar will be in exhibit of prints of murals by Diego Rivera, which will be interpreted by Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the department of art, West Texas State college. The exhibit will hang in the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum and can be seen by the public without cost during all of next week.

Dr. Hattie M. Anderson will explain an exhibit of items which have been brought from South American countries by travelers.

Mrs. H. F. Cooke, president, Seventh District, T. F. W. C., has called attention to the fact that the seminar is for all persons, men or women, who are interested in knowing Latin American countries and the problems of the United States in connection with them. The seminar is sponsored by the clubs and W. T. S. C., but anyone who wishes to attend may do so.

Open to Public
Students of history, members of service organizations, ministers, public school teachers and other business and professional people are urged and invited to attend.

Mrs. Godeke has called special attention to the fact that the banquet at 6:45 o'clock will provide excellent opportunity for people who cannot attend the daytime meetings.

Friday, there will be a club institute as the last section of the seminar; the program has been arranged by Mrs. Pete H. Smith of Plainview.

Women of the federated clubs of Canyon are making special preparations to entertain visitors who will be in the city in connection with the seminar.

The central committee in charge of entertainment is Miss Irene Ansel, president of the Women's Book Club. Weather and road conditions will determine whether the affair will be held in one of Canyon's many beautiful gardens or at some adjacent beauty spot. All persons who are in Canyon on June 25 in connection with the seminar are invited to enjoy the hospitality of the Canyon clubs, the committee announced.

shoulders and neck. Turn until you are on your stomach. Repeat—slowly—until you reach the other side of the room.

SLENDERIZES, BUT DOES NOT TIRE
Here is another exercise that will slenderize without tiring greatly:
Sit on the floor with ankles together. Lean slightly backward, supporting yourself with hands. Cross right hand over body, placing it flat on the floor, then turn until all weight is on left thigh. Shift hands again and turn in the same direction until all weight is on stomach. Elbows should be straight, head quite far from the floor. Continue to roll over and over in the same direction, making a quarter turn, resting, then rolling and resting for a second again.

Repeat five times in one direction and five in the other.

Legislature Flayed Again By O'Daniel

(By The Associated Press)

Texas Panhandle weather, as though influenced by an Impish God almost broiled one senatorial candidate and came close to drowning out another yesterday.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, dripping slowly under a melting sun, appealed for votes to an audience gathered about his glistening sound truck in a hotel parking lot at Amarillo.

By nightfall Amarillo citizens were making their way through cloudburst-flooded streets in row-boats and a scheduled open air meeting for Congressman Lyndon Johnson had to be transferred to the city auditorium.

After making a brief appearance at Amarillo, the governor hurried to Vernon in a rapid-fire campaign designed to muster as many votes as possible by next Saturday, when the special senatorial election will be held.

O'Daniel took his quarrel with an adamant legislature to a Vernon audience, declaring:

"Did you know the legislature is still in session? Austin has turned out to be a health resort. All I can do is report to the people of Texas. I can do that because we have the first democratic government since Hogg was governor."

He injected a new note into the race with an appeal for prohibition votes, adding "everyone knows I am a prohibition leader."

After entertaining his Amarillo audience with a vaudeville show, Johnson said:

"Texas is the first state to speak since November on whether we are going to continue what we elected to be our policy."

"We blasted tradition and declared President Roosevelt the third time. We said then, in unmistakable terms, that we were all out for the President and his foreign policy to save America. We will endorse that decision next Saturday by sending to the senate a man who's all out without question, without reservation, for that policy."

At Houston Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, speaking at an outdoor meeting, asked that he be elected senator as a means of repudiating what he described as a threat to the independence of Texas.

He asserted that "every form of political pressure, supported by enormous expenditures of money, has been applied in an effort to dictate to you."

Congressman Martin Dies returned to his home at Orange and prepared to wind up his senatorial campaign after a radio speech at Beaumont in which he charged that Mann and Johnson had failed to attract large crowds to their rallies.

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The idea of aiding Russia in her fight against Germany gained substantial backing in the senate today, but not without a sharp counterblast of opposition from Senator Clark (D-Mo.) who declared "Stalin's hand is just as bloody as Hitler's, the communist system is just as bad as Nazism."

The general trend of initial opinion in the senate appeared to endorse the official state department declaration that "any defense against Hitlerism" rounded to the benefit of the defense and security of the United States.

The state department pronouncement yesterday was regarded as tantamount to formal notice that the reorientated American policy toward the Soviet would parallel Britain's. In brief, the United States and Britain while yielding no ground in their ideological antagonism, would support Russia as a fighter against a common menace.

The United States, it was said, is in a position to grant the Soviet a certain measure of economic cooperation almost at once, if requested. The government could, for example, release "frozen" Russian assets, and at the same time relax the restrictions which have largely prevented the Russian purchase and export of vital strategic materials.

In the latter connection, it was pointed out that the Russo-German conflict has ended the danger of such supplies reaching the Reich via the Trans-Siberian railroad. The suspicion that some American goods were being trans-shipped to Germany by that route was one reason for the restrictions in effect before the war's spread to the east.

Oil Stocks Pile Up In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La., June 24 (AP)—Oil men today drew a paradoxical picture of unmoved oil accumulating near the rich Gulf coast oil fields while gasoline rationing was being discussed in the east.

The accumulating stocks, they said, explain an order cutting the amount of oil Louisiana wells will be allowed to produce in July although civilian and military demand apparently is increasing.

John J. Metzger, Jr., chief engineer of the Louisiana department of minerals, declared that the removal of 50 tankers by government order from the Gulf-Atlantic coast runs was responsible for the situation.

"Our department ordered the reduction on the recommendation of the U. S. Bureau of Mines," Metzger said. "Oil stocks are piling up on our Gulf coast and I am sure the same situation exists in Texas. There just isn't any way of moving it."

The Louisiana daily allowable production for July was fixed at 300,397 barrels, a reduction of 16,108 barrels from the daily June allowable of 316,505 barrels.

The allowable had been increased from month to month until the June order was issued, keeping production practically at the May level. The July order was promulgated yesterday included the first recent cut.

Governor Sam Jones, who yesterday bound Louisiana to a two-year extension of the interstate oil compact for voluntary conservation measures, agreed that "transportation difficulties" were responsible for curtailment of production, but added, "I feel sure the reduction is only temporary until the transportation facilities are re-established. The demand is steadily increasing."

Mr. Holloway has been in failing health for several years. He became seriously ill Sunday while visiting in Electra.

Clark Opposes Helping Russia

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The idea of aiding Russia in her fight against Germany gained substantial backing in the senate today, but not without a sharp counterblast of opposition from Senator Clark (D-Mo.) who declared "Stalin's hand is just as bloody as Hitler's, the communist system is just as bad as Nazism."

RAF Blasts At Nazi-Occupied French Coast

LONDON, June 24 (AP)—Heavy explosions, rolling across the misty channel, suggested that the RAF was blasting at the Nazi-occupied French coast again today after attacking industrial targets in western Germany for the 13th consecutive night.

The sounds first were heard shortly after 7 a. m., hours earlier than the British generally launch their daylight attacks across the channel.

The RAF blazes on western Germany many last night were not so heavy as some others recently, authoritative sources said, but there was nothing to indicate whether this was due to unexpectedly strong German opposition or adverse weather.

The naval bases of Wilhelmshaven, Kiel, and Emden, the industrial center of Hannover, and places in Nazi-occupied territory were the targets of the RAF night raiders an official announcement said. It was the second assault upon Wilhelmshaven in as many nights.

At the same time the British claimed that during the past three days they had downed 77 German planes in daylight raids over the French coast, while losing only nine fighters themselves.

The ratio was said to be the smallest to date, though a single day's bag has been greater on several occasions. On one day at the height of the battle of Britain the British reported the destruction of 185 German planes to losses of 25; on another downing of 133 Nazi aircraft to losses of 34.

Legislature Breaks All-Time Record

AUSTIN, June 24 (AP)—Two years ago today the 46th Texas Legislature was on its way home after conducting the longest general session in history.

On the anniversary of that adjournment yesterday, the house of representatives held the shortest one-day session in history.

If the 47th legislature remains in session through Thursday, it will set a record for the longest assembly in history.

The 46th legislature's session was 163 days long but it convened a few days ahead of the current convocation.

The shortest "one day" work in the house occurred when its membership Friday decided to conform to a constitutional rule and reconvene after the week-end recess on Monday. It set the time at 4:30 p. m.

Speaker Homer Leonard rapped the house to order, registered those present, found no quorum, took a vote on adjournment until 10 a. m. today and rapped the session to an end some 15 seconds late.

The current session has continued from January into June because, of late, the house has wanted to recess while the senate has wanted to adjourn.

Defense Bond Quiz

Q. What is a U. S. Defense Savings Bond?

A. This bond is proof that you have loaned money to the United States government for national defense. Your bond bears interest at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent a year, if held to maturity (10 years).

Q. Why should I buy Defense Bonds?

A. Because money talks. To dictators it speaks defiance. To friends of freedom, it says, "Here's my hand!"

Note.—To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post-office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Curb-Jumpers Hunted By City Police

City police officers are investigating a report that a couple of ancient make, driven by a youth and with four or five youths as companions, jumped the curb in front of the Hillson hotel on West Foster avenue, roared to the alley, and then across the street about 9 o'clock last night.

The car was found in the 300 block on West Atchison avenue with two flat tires, officers said today.

Several youths were interviewed by officers today.

No damage resulted from the wild charge of the car.

Showdown At Hand In Coal Mining Feud

(By The Associated Press)

Labor developments of prime importance to the defense program generally, and to southern soft coal miners and San Francisco shipyard machinists in particular, were in the making today.

A showdown was at hand in the lengthy coal mining wage controversy, and the navy opened the civil service rolls to machinists in an effort to get 11 shipyards back into full production on $500,000,000 worth of important orders.

Southern mine operators said they would have their answer ready today to the CIO United Mine Workers' demand for a new wage agreement covering the southern Appalachian field. One big stumbling block was removed when the southern owners agreed to elimination of the 40-cent wage differential which previously had existed between south and northern mines. The basic daily wage would be $7 in both sections.

The decision on signing a two-year agreement such as the northern producers concluded with the union last week appeared imminent yesterday, but three times during the day the producers postponed plans for meeting the UMW in the decisive joint conference.

Since early March the union and the operators have gone through days and nights of negotiations, a month-long shutdown in April, a senate inquiry.

The result of all this was a whitening down of the issues to a few points with the prospect that if the operators failed to sign up as an organized coal wage conference, the union would move to sign them as individual associations. The southern producers wage conference is made up of 13 operator associations.

At San Francisco, where the navy began signing up machinists on a civil service basis, the management of the big Bethlehem shipyard whose contracts cover more than half of the delayed work, agreed to a closed shop contract with the AFL Bay City Trades Council.

The striking AFL machinists, who were joined by a number of CIO workers in the walkout, withdrew from the trades council recently when other metal trades workers went back to their jobs through picket lines.

The CIO strikers called the navy's move to sign workers on civil service "a strike-breaking action." The AFL men are to decide at a mass meeting tomorrow night what attitude to take.

The master contract which Bethlehem signed provides for $1.12 an hour and time-and-one-half for overtime. The machinists struck May 10 for $1.15 and double time for overtime. They had been getting $1 and double time. The other 10 yards affected by the strike previously had signed the master contract.

Slaughter Advises Farmers To Hear Secretary Wickard

COLLEGE STATION, June 24 (AP)—George A. Slaughter, chairman of the state AAA committee, today urged Texas farmers, who are wondering about their position in national defense, to hear Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard when he speaks at Waco tomorrow afternoon.

Wickard, making his first visit to Texas since his appointment, will outline the various methods by which the farmers may contribute to the defense program.

Slaughter said the south was capable of supplying nations with cheese, poultry, beef cattle, dairy products, and nutritious foods essential to health.

Because Texas is such a diversified state, he added, it not only produces nearly every variety of feed and food for animals and humans, but wool, mohair, cotton, and fats in great abundance. Texas also is a great poultry and dairy state, he pointed out.

The Pinch Is Coming The crack salesman shrugged ruefully. "Yep! It's going to be a little tough. You see, I'm in the butter business!"

Knowing that he was in the electrical equipment business, his hearers all pricked up their ears. Then it dawned.

"Guns or butter?" And we all remembered that his branch of the business was household appliances. But! Now the guns come first.

We are rapidly approaching the point where the shoe is going to pinch a little. It worries a few people. Not others. So many of the others have been learning for 10 years to get along without things.

A friend bought an electric refrigerator the other day. With it came a most polite and apologetic explanation of the lack of aluminum trays. The substitute trays were really quite satisfactory, it assured. They seemed to be, too. So what? It's possible that if necessary one could even get along without any ice cubes at all.

Suppose it should be true that in certain parts of the east it should be necessary to cut down a little on gasoline consumption? Probably some sort of rationing system would cause less hardship than cutting off all traffic on Sunday. But suppose that came? Europe, all of it, has had gasoline rationing for years. How long since you've walked a mile, anyway?

Suppose the old car must be driven a year longer, or the washing machine made to do for another year? Suppose cigarettes cost a few cents more and the price of whiskey rises steeply. Suppose shaving cream comes in a glass jar instead of a tin tube, and anchovy paste can scarcely be had at all? Suppose taxes rise, and one is asked to give to the United States Organizations and to buy Defense Bonds?

Technically, some of these things may be called a reduction in the standard of living. Compare it with what is going on in Europe according to a private letter from the U. S. diplomat there: "In Europe one cannot speak of reduction in the standard of living. There is no standard of living. One gets what one can, and makes it do."

It is to prevent such a situation that we are asked to make little sacrifices now. Except for the men called for army service, real sacrifice has as yet been asked of nobody.

We should be ashamed to speak of the little changes and small inconveniences proposed thus far as "sacrifices."

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, June 24—Visitors to Washington under-unlimited-emergency almost invariably mutter "All is confusion."

I have written about the growth of the capital city under national defense before, but it is a continuing story becoming more amazing each day and month.

It is something Washingtonians eat and sleep. It is a more general topic of conversation than the war or weather. And it is not surprising that this is true or that the casual visitor thinks this a city of utter confusion.

Since the census was taken last year, it is estimated that Washington has increased its population 10 per cent or almost 70,000 persons. This does not take into consideration the thousands who have settled in the suburban towns in Maryland and Virginia—Alexandria, Arlington, Chevy Chase, Bethesda, Silver Spring and others. It doesn't take into consideration the thousands of new visitors—persons who have discovered a new interest in government and want to see how the whole shebang works; relatives and friends of the numberless new defense workers; business men here to confer on defense contracts; soldiers and sailors from nearby stations.

What any visitor is likely to discover first is that even if it is an off-week, he may have trouble getting accommodations at any of the city's 28 first-class hotels unless he has made reservations a week or more in advance. If he is out from 7:30 to 9:30 in the morning or 3:30 to 6 in the afternoon, he'll buck the push of federal worker traffic that reaches its peak in those hours (staggered hours seem only to have spread congestion over longer periods).

At times when he is likely to be in the mood for eating or drinking, he'll find the restaurants and bars filled to capacity—and probably lined of waiting customers in the former.

If he wants a taxi, he'll find there are periods of the day and night or anytime during a storm when it is practically impossible to get one. A taxi company official tells me that a year ago there were 5,000 cabs on the streets of Washington, but now there are only 3,700. Drivers, working on the zone-rate basis (as all Washington cabs do) find the traffic loads them down so they can not make what they feel they should.

If a visitor wants to go shopping, all he can do is join the mass movement of humanity on F street from Seventh to Fourteenth and pray that it will slow up enough to let him work his way in when he comes to his store. The other half of this problem is trying to find a clerk.

SPACE FINDER EXTRAORDINARY These are not exaggerations and I am sure that the first person who would bear me out would be Clay J. Guthridge, who, although he is concerned with only one phase of what is happening to Washington, knows more about it than anyone else. It's his personal headache. Few government workers have ever heard of him, but he has affected the daily routines of more of them than any other man here.

A quiet, respected, middle-aged man, Guthridge is chief of planning and space control of the public buildings administration in the Federal Works Agency.

It's because of Mr. Guthridge that the new Social Security building is occupied mostly by the Office of Production Management (the Knudsen-Hillman set-

Common Ground

WHAT IS A "WILD CAT" STRIKE? Even the President is beginning to recognize that some strikes are unnecessary strikes. Now we notice in the news columns that the strike at the North American factory was what is called a "wild cat" strike.

Evidently if there be "wild cat" strikes, then certain people have rights to call strikes and other people do not.

If it is contended that 51 per cent of the people have to vote to strike in order not to have it a "wild cat" strike, then, with this interpretation of a legitimate, or a non-wild cat strike, the 49 per cent have no inherent, eternal, universal rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

They must acquiesce and cease serving humanity when the majority vote that they shall suddenly cease work and use their efforts to stop all other people from working.

Of course, in America there is no such thing as a legitimate strike. All strikes are "wild cat" and unnecessary because man inherently has the right to work for any man who freely wants to hire him at any price he freely wants to sell his services at.

Compel to Work or Starve O, yes, I hear the customary answer to this statement; that men cannot be compelled to work at a certain price when they have to work or starve. The answer to that is, nature has obtained that all men should live by the sweat of their brow. Of course, this does not mean that they need to work every day or every year, but they must have worked in the past to support themselves or somebody else must have worked and voluntarily transferred the fruits of their labor to them.

And even when a man has worked in the past, or has received gratuities from others, even then the recipient of gifts must make decisions, must work, in order to survive.

Now this old alibi that men who have to work or starve is no excuse for setting any arbitrary wages by law or strikes. The value of a wage is what it will freely exchange for, not what it will exchange for under duress or under force. But the need of food and shelter is not unnatural duress or force. It is part of nature that compels all people to work.

BEAR THE CAUSE OF MODERN LABOR UNIONS

A modern labor union is one that interferes with the law of supply and demand. A labor union that attempted to make the law of supply and demand more nearly work would be a good labor union; but modern labor unions pay no attention to the only service that a labor union can render—assisting the law of equal freedom to work, or the law of supply and demand to work.

The reason people who are not knowingly making a racket out of modern labor unions believe in them, is simply that they fear the workers would not get their share of what is produced if workers did not cease work collectively.

They do not understand that every time any man works he helps increase the wages of every other worker who produces something different. It is this fear of low wages that causes them to attempt to set wages arbitrarily by strikes. But every time they set an artificial wage or stop production by strikes or interfere with the most efficient man being in the job he is best qualified to fill, then these labor unions reduce the real wages, the real profits, of every other working man in the land. This is what modern labor unionists fail to see. They only see the temporary benefits to the few by establishing an arbitrarily high wage. They do not see the widely diffused lowered wage of all other workers. They see the river flowing into the pockets of the few, but they do not see the water being drained through springs for thousands of miles around because of the breadth and smallness in each case.

Yes, labor unions exist for the sole reason of fear on the part of the workmen. If they understood how their work would increase the real wages of all other workers producing a different thing, they would not believe in modern restrictive labor unions.

If the working man could only know the truth, the truth would make him free.

The Nation's Press

Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, the President's sounder-offer for foreign policies, sounded off once too often down in his own state.

Florida is getting a big play in the defense program. Several new air fields are being constructed. In Washington there are several committees investigating costs in the defense program. Last week Perry A. Fellows, chief project engineer, testified under questioning, that the low bidder did not get the business for purchase of asphalt for the Elgin (Fla.) airport "because of political pressure exerted by Senator Pepper."

Senator Pepper is very busy pushing American boys into war. But the American taxpayer is not to be protected in paying the bill. Senator Pepper's interests were in another direction.

up), the Office of Emergency Management (the overall defense organization) and Army Ordnance . . . and much of the Social Security clerical staff is in Baltimore, where two warehouses are serving as temporary quarters.

It's because of him that the new Railroad Retirement building was handed over to the army. With almost every inch of available space now occupied, defense workers are being added at the rate of 4,000 a month (in Washington). Guthridge's job is to find space for them, and he has against him the competition of such organizations as the British purchasing commission which has taken over one floor of the Willard hotel, three apartment buildings, a private mansion. Aside from the greatly increased embassy staff, the British are said to have about 2,000 employees in Washington.

TEMPORARY SINCE 1917 The war and navy departments now are using old buildings that were called "temporary" in the World War. They are aged frame tinder boxes where one of the strictest office rules is against smoking.

The palatial new war department building is nearing completion, and the new five-acre navy office building bordering Arlington cemetery in Virginia will be finished in a few months. These may take care of ten or eleven thousand workers. Guthridge will tell you that that's hardly a drop out of the bucket. And it isn't. Last week, army and navy alone added 800 new civilian employees here.

That's what is happening to Washington these days.

HE'S A GREAT KIDDER

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, June 24—Going places and seeing people: Irvin S. Cobb is prowling the studios again. Everyone's glad to see him but producers are a little afraid of his story-telling skill. Whenever he needs a little pin money, the famous tale-spinner sells a movie plot—verbally.

These yarns always sound absolutely colossal, or at least terrific, as Cobb tells 'em. So he usually gets an advance check for $5,000 or $10,000, but the same stories in cold type, are not half substantial enough for movies. Not one of them has been made into a picture.

A screen writer who hasn't written anything for 25 years retired the other day. Robert Hopkins was an idea man who collaborated with other screenwriters and his name has appeared on hundreds of pictures. For many years at Metro, he actually didn't even have an office. He just drifted around the lot making a note now and then. Met his workers over coffee in the studio cafe and described situations and sequences he had thought out.

A HALL WORKER Later he worked the same way at 20th-Fox except that he spent his time in other people's offices or pacing the corridors. Having finished polishing the script of "A Yank in the R.A.F." Hopkins was wandering toward somebody's office, coffee cup in hand, when he bumped into a picture of himself working at his desk. Looks very ordinary, but typed caption says: "Only known photo of a motion picture writer in his office, not naked to the waist, not wrestling boyishly, not standing on his head on the sofa with his eyes crossed, or not otherwise making a public spectacle of himself."

SAM STILL WALKS Until the other day there were two celebrities who walked to the Samuel Goldwyn studio each morning while their limousines trailed along behind. One was and is Goldwyn himself, who for years has taken this mild, early exercise. The other was, for a few weeks, Merle Oberon.

Then her chauffeur almost got his nose punched. Wearing a blue suit and no cap, he was loafing along in second gear about 25 yards behind the briskly striding young actress. A burly young man in a jalopy crowded the big car to a halt at the curb and leaped out for a scrap.

"I've been watching you, you boulevard louse!" the chivalrous one announced. "You can see that that's a nice girl who doesn't want to be picked up, and if you won't quit bothering her I'm gonna smack you!" Miss Oberon hurried back to the car and explained everything. Also said she'd ride to the studio after this.

Elliott Dexter Dies AMITYVILLE, N. Y., June 24 (AP)—Elliott Dexter, 71, star of many old silent motion pictures such as "The Fast East" and "Capital Punishment," died last night. Born in Galveston, Texas, he was a former husband of Marie Doro, screen actress.

THE LOOKING GLASS

By Stella Holit BUSH MONEY There was a big box of flowers for Ellen when she got home. They were flowers she did not want. She knew that before she opened the box but the card made her short.

"In gratitude" it said. In that moment Ellen hated Tarzan with all her heart and Tarzan's gentle little smile and the whole state of matrimony.

The Tarzans lived just down the hall. The little woman had a flower face, great trustful eyes, a soft little mouth and she adored her Tarzan. Tarzan was quite unworthy of any woman's admiration, for he had no aptitude at all for faithfulness. No one who knew Mrs. Tarzan would have disillusioned her for the world. After all marriage is only good if a wife has confidence in her husband. Mrs. Tarzan's state was so blissful that all came when she returned. Tarzan had picked up a glove from the table and fixing Ellen with an exploring eye said with a smile:

"Isn't this your glove, Ellen?" Ellen knew that she was being used as a goat. But she admitted ownership. And now the skunk had sent her flowers. Enough was too much.

She arrived at the Tarzans' door with all the gladness of a child. "Oh, Mrs. Tarzan, you must share my flowers. I've got oceans of them. I did a very disagreeable job for a man in the office, and he sent me more flowers than I know what to do with. It's not in my department either. He didn't deserve all the work I did. He put in a card saying 'I'm grateful,' but he doesn't think I'll do any more dirty work . . . not for all his flowers."

Mrs. Tarzan thanked her sweetly for the flowers but Tarzan sat there in a black rage. That'll teach him, thought Ellen.

The next morning she met Mrs. Tarzan on the stairs. Mrs. Tarzan was cold and rude to her. Ellen knew in a flash that Tarzan had returned her fire. He had probably told his lovely little wife that Ellen had been into his place every night on one pretext or another.

"Isn't love wonderful," muttered Ellen savagely, "though the whole world be crucified, love must keep its illusions. Thank God for the splinter state."

'Jackpot' For Britain BATON ROUGE, La., June 24 (AP)—Great Britain might get a flying 'jackpot' from seized Louisiana slot machines.

State Police Superintendent Steve Alford said 1,200 illegal slot devices seized and smashed by state troopers had yielded between 5,000 and 6,000 pounds of metal, principally aluminum, sufficient to build a military airplane. Alford said he had offered the scrap metal to Britain.

TEX'S TOPICS

By Tex DeWeese IT'S funny how columns are born. . . . We were sitting around on a torrid afternoon wondering how to get started on this one today when along came Harry Hoare, the sports writer, to tell us something funny he had just heard . . . Now, if he were writing a sports column, he would have made swell material for him to use . . . It seems that Catfish Smith, the Pampa Oiler catcher, was sitting behind a newspaper in a downtown barbershop the other day when a patron of the shop, reclining in the chair and perfectly innocent of Smith's presence in the place, began talking about the merits and demerits of some of the Pampa baseball players.

"Now take this fellow, Catfish Smith," said the customer as the barber worked over him, "do you think he's much of a catcher?" . . . The barber, with a highly developed sense of humor, saw immediately what kind of a humorous situation was brewing, so he egged the customer on . . . "Aw, I don't think he's too good," said the barber . . . Which was what the man in the barber chair was waiting for—encouragement . . . "Well, you said it. I'll bet in the customer's mind, 'I think he's about one on the serious catchers I ever saw on a baseball diamond.' . . . Meanwhile the Catfish had slipped down a little farther behind his newspaper, and the barber couldn't hold it any longer . . . He burst into a long and loud bit of guffawing . . . In an instant the man in the barber chair got the idea of what had happened . . . His face, they say, was a bit on the cerise side.

The War Today

(This daily feature, conducted by Dewitt Mackenzie, is being written in his absence on vacation by Fred Vanderschmidt.) Required re-reading for this week in Moscow, Rome, Tokyo, and elsewhere is chapter XIV, Mein Kampf, by Adolf Hitler. One wonders, too, if Hitler is not re-reading it himself in some humiliation.

Contrary to some impressions, Mein Kampf has not turned out to be a precise cartbook for Hitler, for Hitler has betrayed himself, by reason of necessity or convenience, in various respects; for instance, in his expressed desire for an alliance with Britain as well as Italy.

The Russians, however, can now weigh the utter insincerity, from the beginning, of the treaty which Hitler made with them when he had not actually but stated marked for the same destiny . . . One does not conclude a treaty with someone whose sole interest is the destruction of his partner.)

The book also, by constant repetition, drives home this thought: "Neither western nor eastern orientation should be the future goal of our foreign policy, but an eastern policy signifying the acquisition of the necessary soil for our German people."

Well, Hitler, having failed to knock out England, has gone back to the book and gone after the "necessary soil," and the danger for his foes on the west lies in the chance that he will be able to carve that soil out of the heart of the Russian richlands in six or eight, or twelve weeks, encircle and destroy the Russian army and turn back again in the direction of England.

In this one military decision he has left his allies, Italy and Japan, dangling unhappily from the frayed threads of the tripartite pact, and he has done so with cynicism and contempt, for as he wrote in Mein Kampf: "An alliance which does not comprise a plan for war is senseless and worthless. One makes alliances only for fighting."

Hitler made the Italian alliance for fighting; Italy fought, but now Italy has expended her fighting strength, and is becoming what Hitler wanted to avoid; one of those allies who sink like lead on our own economy." (Again, Mein Kampf.)

As for Japan, she was given to believe that by signing the tripartite pact she would be able to complete her advance southward whenever the final assault on England took place. Then, she was told, Britain's eastern strength would be dispersed and weakened and the United States fleet would have gone on guard into the Atlantic.

Japan's unexpected withdrawal from her heavy pressure on the Dutch East Indies is evidence that she suspected some days ago that Germany would be able to reverse herself. Now the German assault on Russia leaves British and American defenses unimpaired in the Pacific and it postpones, indefinitely, Japan's original plan of expansion there.

Oilers Lose To Lubbock 6-5 In Last Two Innings

Pampa's Oilers had the Lubbock Hubbers on the run until the eighth inning last night but the last two stanzas were nightmares and when the last man went out in the last half of the ninth inning the Hubbers had won the game—or rather had it given to them—by a score of 6 to 5.

Tonight at 8:30 o'clock the same teams will tangle again. Neither manager would name a starting pitcher today because of happenings last night blew up their plans.

There'll be something new in the way of baseball here Wednesday night when Sammy Hale and his Wichita Falls Spudders come to town. The Spudders have a couple of games to make up with the Oilers so there'll be one game at 6:30 o'clock, Wednesday evening, lasting seven innings, with a regulation night game at 8:30 o'clock, all for a single admission.

Errors started the Oilers on their way down last night and faulty relief pitching finished them. Ernie Myers should have had his fourth victory instead of his second defeat last night. He pitched good enough ball to win but errors were his downfall. He got himself into a lot of trouble by allowing the first man up in six innings to get on a base but he got himself out of the holes.

Oilers Score First
The Oilers got one across in the second when Frierson walked, was safe at second when Castillo threw the ball into the outfield, and scored when Reynolds blasted a hit off Mahan's leg. Two more Oiler runs crossed the plate in the fourth. Malvica beat out a hit to short. Frierson was safe on the first baseman's error, Malvica going to third from where he scored when he made Pitcher Spyrker balk. Reynolds then came through with his second hit to score Frierson.

The Oilers came mighty near winning the ball game in the ninth when Haralson was safe on an error and Malvica slipped one over the fence, with two away. Frierson walked and with the tying run on base Frather fanned, after hitting one foul by inches that would have scored the tying run.

Wild Ninth Inning
It wasn't until the sixth that Lubbock scored. Schlereth was safe on Phillips' error. Haley walked. Knight batting for Barkowski, was safe on Malvica's error on a perfect double play ball and Schlereth scored. Haley and Knight opened the eighth with singles and Bengston sacrificed. Manager Charlie Engle batted for Pitcher Spyrker and Haralson let his double play ball go between his legs and the score was tied as two runs crossed the plate.

Then came the ninth. Lorenz was safe on a single and stole second. Schlereth filed out. Castillo singled and Lorenz scored. Grabek relieved Myers and Haley singled. Grabek then proceeded to walk Knight and Bengston, forcing Castillo across the plate. He had two balls on Pitcher Sakas when Glad was brought in from the bullpen. He fanned Sakas but walked Mahan, filling the bases again. Then came the most unusual play of the season. Reynolds threw the ball back to Glad who dropped it and when the pitcher toed the first and second base scored with what proved to be the winning run. Sam Malvica, who will leave for a year of service with Uncle Sam on July 11, bagged a home run and single and forced the pitcher to balk. Malvica will be honored on Friday night with a game dedicated to him. A group of fans will present Malvica with a purse during the game.

Benes Gives His Reason For Flight Of Rudolf Hess
LONDON, June 24 (AP)—Former President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia said today in a broadcast to his people tonight that Rudolf Hess' flight to Berlin was the result of a six-month dispute among Nazi leaders over what they should do next, he said, they knew they could not defeat Britain.

Benes pictured the one-time No. 3 Nazi as believing that continuation of the war would lead to German defeat and said that his trip to Scotland May 10 was made with the belief that he could persuade the British to step hostilities.

Hitter, Benes added, intended to attack Soviet Russia after Britain was defeated. Now, he went on, Hitler's "mistake" in invading Russia has "removed the specter of Nazi victory and decided the issue of war."

Scientists have been able to change the sex of a chicken.

Nicholson Is Most Effective Hitter Despite .260 Average

Bill Nicholson hits ball when it counts

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
CHICAGO, June 24—William Beck Nicholson is a striking example of the fact that a robust batting average isn't always the mark of the most dangerous bloke at the plate.

Bill Nicholson is the most effective batter in baseball today though his average hovers around .260. The fact that the Chicago outfielder is up among the majors' home run leaders is one of the principal reasons.

Until last season, it was suspected that Nicholson, who swings from the left side of the plate, couldn't hit southpaws, but he knocked that theory into the ash can this spring when Jimmy Wilson let him swing against both kinds of pitchers.

CUBS PAID LOOKOUTS $35,000 FOR SLUGGER
Nicholson reported to the Wrighleys in 1939 with the knowledge that Kiki Cuyler, famous National League outfielder and Chattanooga manager, believed he would make food.

Nicholson, for whom Philip K. Wrigley gave the Lookouts $35,000, had the necessary equipment, baseball men pointed out. Ideal temperament, a strong right throwing arm, an eagle eye on fly balls, power, speed.

Big Bill had previously sat around in the Athletics' dugout for a while. He is only 25 and has improved consistently in every department.

But principally, National League pitchers will tell you, the meanest man to come up in a clutch at the moment is Bill Nicholson.

Others from Pampa who attended the Amarillo meeting were L. N. Atchison, Morris Goldfine, M. P. Downs, Foster Fletcher, Tex. C. Weese, Roy Kay, Alvin Bell, C. E. Hoffman, Jeff Bearden, Clyde Caruth, and Mrs. W. J. Finley.

The Amarillo club will bring a program to Pampa on Aug. 22.

NEW YORK, June 24—The Yankees are going to do things up right July 4, when they'll unveil the Lou Gehrig memorial. . . . Special souvenir tickets are being printed and the fans will get a likeness of Lou on their rain checks. . . . Lou Nova is going up to the Maine woods to toughen up for the Lous fight, which probably will be judged treason to California's famous climate. . . . One-eyed Connolly, the gate crasher, has been named as custodian of the gate for the American Legion Baseball championships in Kansas. . . . Washington's oarsmen filled out their "Athletons"—questionnaires on their eligibility—without a qualm. Not one is receiving any financial aid.

Novikoff, Most Ballyhooed Rookie, Returns To Minors

CHICAGO, June 24 (AP)—The sad Russian has gone away—but a lot of Chicago Cub fans hope he'll be back another day.

Lou Novikoff, who came to the Cubs last spring as the most highly publicized rookie in National League history, will be back in the minors tonight as a member of the Milwaukee Brewers. He failed to meet the major league standards so was sent to the American association club for more seasoning. His new boss will be genial Charlie Grimm, who still believes Lou some day will develop into a great hitter.

"I'm going to give Lou the microphone in Milwaukee and let him rip," said Charlie in discussing the strategy by which he, as the Brewers' new manager, hopes to get Novikoff back into the happy mood which had him singing into loud speakers and clouting prodigious home runs last season in the Pacific Coast league.

"He's been trying too hard," Grimm said. "I think he still will develop."
The likable Novikoff made a lot of friends at Wrigley Field despite his .237 batting average. When he failed repeatedly at the plate, the attitude of most Cub fans was "he's pressing, let's give him a chance."

In the Coast league last season he batted .363, knocked 41 homers and batted 371 runs, leading the circuit in those departments in addition to runs scored, total hits and total bases. The fanfare over him last winter was terrific. Cub officials didn't help him any by publicly admitting he'd have to whale the cover off the ball to overcome his fielding deficiencies.

As he headed for Milwaukee, Novikoff carried a Cub record of 27 hits in 156 times at bat; 14 runs scored; five doubles, one triple, four homers and 20 runs driven in.

Flashes Of Life

PORT MATILDA, Pa.—Lucian G. Auld swerved his automobile and avoided striking 14-year-old Eugene Orwick as he rode along on a bicycle.

However, the car rammed into a lion, the impact hurled a shingle which broke one of the youth's ribs.

DANVILLE, Ind.—James Gentry, deputy town marshal, vouchers for this dog story:
A stray dog that had four pups in the basement of an old school gathered food for them from four Danville homes.

When they were weaned, she left one at each of these four homes.

CORVALLIS, Ore.—The navy turned down Elnan F. Parker, independence, Ore., because one of his fingers was stiff.
Parker got in anyway. He marched to a hospital and ordered the finger cut off.

GOODLAND, Kans.—Harold McDaniel refused to let a deformed toe end his naval career.
Given a medical discharge from the Great Lakes, Ill., station, because of the toe, McDaniel returned home and had it amputated. Now he's back in training.

Spain Calls For 'Extermination' Of Soviet Russia
MADRID, June 24 (AP)—Uniformed Falangists paraded the streets of Madrid today, demonstrated in front of the German embassy with cries of "on to Moscow," and heard the Spanish foreign minister declare Russia must be "exterminated."
The demonstrations came as government leaders sought to decide Spain's course in the Axis struggle against the Soviet union. The United States and British embassies were protected against incidents by heavy police guards.

Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suer attacked Russia as "guilty of our civil war" in a brief speech to cheering demonstrators from the balcony of Falange headquarters.

Freddy Fitzsimmons Beats Pittsburgh; Cards Tremble

(By The Associated Press)
What might prove to be the most significant victories of the National League race was scored by Nat Freddy Fitzsimmons of the Dodgers yesterday when he licked Pittsburgh, 9 to 4, in one of the day's two big-league games.

The win did more than just boost Brooklyn within a half-game of the idle St. Louis Cards. It afforded most positive proof that Fitzsimmons, the wonder veteran who won 16 and lost only two last year, is at last ready to begin taking a steady pace for a team that has pennant fever.

This means that the Cardinals from now on have even a more desperate job on their hands trying to fight off the MacPhails.
Fitz, who will turn 40 about a month from now, showed no sign yesterday of the sprained back that kept him from starting a game until May 26. The Pirates nicked him for seven hits in as many innings before he yielded to a pinch-hitter (and more about that later) in the eighth, but he was steady as a rock in the right spots and would have held the Pirates to a single run if Second-Baseman Pete Coscarart had not fumbled a grounder in the sixth and opened the way for three scores.

The victory was Fitz' third straight and his 13th in a row over the Pirates. It gives him the astonishing record of 19 wins against two losses, counting last year.

Meanwhile, at Chicago, Claude Pascau of the Cubs and Hal Schumacher of the Giants hooked up in one of the season's most brilliant duels, with Pascau the eventual victor, 1 to 0.

The American league, after a day's rest, swung back into action today with opportunity starting in a hole in the second-place Yankees in the midst of a tremendous hitting streak. Joe DiMaggio and company opened up a series against the wobbly Browns at Yankee stadium, while the league-leading Cleveland Indians faced the thunder club of the third-place Boston Red Sox.

SERIAL STORY

CALIBAN FROM CALEB

BY NORMAN KAHN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Angus is arrested for assaulting the stranger in the lunchroom but is released the following morning on bail. Angus tries to forget Adorene but finally calls on her. There he meets Garvin Fitzwater and tells him he is working for Spike Mudge. The next day, Spike informs Angus that Fitzwater is really Luigi Castaloni, head of the broccoli racket, and that Spike has been instructed to take Angus for a ride.

ONE-WAY RIDE

SPIKE MUDGE'S car is standing in front of the tavern, and Angus piles into the rear seat between Trigger Tim and Butch McGillicuddy. Hoimon the Hoist is driving and Spike sits next to him, but he is half-turned so he can face Angus.

Nobody says anything. Angus relaxes in the seat, and when they cross the river and get on the Jersey side, he begins to look around with more interest. He is twitching and something is pressing him on each side. When he looks down, he frowns.

"Why do you fellows wanta stick those guns into me like that? That's dangerous." Butch and Tim are poker-faced.

Spike says, "Maybe you don't understand. This isn't exactly a picnic. We are going to rub you out. You will not come back from this ride. In about 45 minutes, you will be the dearest hunk of beef in the state of New Jersey."

It is too much for Angus. His neck is burning and his giant fists are itching, but he can't think of anything to say.

"Only thing is you're kinda dumb," says Spike. "Maybe that's one reason we like you though, Luigi Castaloni is the boss of this here broccoli racket. That's where he gets all his dough. But he likes to be halfway respectable part of the time, so he snatches the monkey of Garvin Fitzwater, and he buys himself a nightclub and passes himself off as an all-right gent with the Park avenue mob."

Angus is controlling himself with great effort. "You mean I've been doing crooked work?"

"That's a nasty word," says Spike, "but it describes it."

ANGUS is staring out of the window, but he is not as interested in the countryside as formerly. The car is driving through a section that is getting less and less settled.

"What's gonna happen to Adorene?" he asks finally.

"She'll be well taken care of. Castaloni will see to that."

"But he's a crook. He oughta be in jail."

"I wish you was a little more broadminded," Spike says sadly. Soon the car turns off the main road and wobbles along a dusty trail for half a mile or so before Hoimon the Hoist drives into a clump of bushes about 20 feet off the road.

They get out of the car. Butch and Trigger Tim keep their guns pushed into Angus' ribs and Hoimon and Spike lead the way through thick underbrush to a clearing about 15 feet square.

Angus takes off his cap and plunges his fingers through his hair. "Spike, it's all right. I know you don't mean to do it. Only I wish you'd tell Addie, if you see her."

Like a Spitfire in a dive, Angus swings around and grabs Trigger Tim and Butch by their respective necks and with a mighty heave bashes their heads together. Before they have hit the ground, he plunges toward Spike and crashes into the soft grass on top of him. Spike starts falling his arms to ward off the assassination, but it is like coaxing back an avalanche with sweet words.

For a moment, Hoimon the Hoist is rooted to the spot, while he stares at his two male lying motionless, guns still in hand, and at Spike struggling feebly under Angus. Then he dashes out of the thicket and heads for the car. Angus hears the motor racing just as Spike sensibly gives up the fight and passes out. Angus dashes to the road and sees Hoimon racing back to town through a thick cloud of dust.

Angus goes back to the grove to make a check of his ex-colleagues. They are resting peacefully and are in no condition to start a rebellion. He brushes off his $18.75 suit and finds his cap which has fallen under Butch McGillicuddy. Taking one more look around at the placid figures, Angus starts back for the dusty road.

When he gets the tow rope cut into three equal lengths, he ties his former friends and arranges them neatly on the floor of the truck. There is plenty of room, because the driver was on his way back to the plant, and there are only a few empty crates left in the corner.

Angus finally slams the rear door shut and climbs into the front seat. He isn't sure just how to get back to New York, but he isn't worrying about finding his way. The main idea is to get back fast. He doesn't know just how much time he has, but he knows it can't be much.

If Adorene never needed him before, he is pretty sure she is going to need him now.

HE is perched on a rock for 15 minutes before he sees something bouncing along the rutted thoroughfare, heading toward him in the direction of the main highway. Angus strides into the middle of the road and waves his cap. When the car gets close, Angus can see it is a light truck. The driver pulls over to the side and stops.

Fate is a screwy sort of dame. She is always slacking the cards so you keep turning up the nine-spot you could have used the hand before for an inside straight. When Angus gets a good squint at the letters on the box of the truck, he gulps. It says: HENNESSEY'S

This group will take office on the first Sunday in July.

Stainless steel now is used for wedding rings in Germany.

CREAMERY—BUTTER AND EGGS. It reminds him of a chapter in his life he would just as soon forget.

The driver leans out of the truck. "Need help, mister?" He is a medium-sized gent with silver-framed glasses.

"Yep," says Angus. "Can you come outa there a minute?"

The driver shrugs his shoulders and swings out of the seat. "What's the matter?"

"It is hard to explain," says Angus. "I want to show you something. Take off your glasses."

"Why?" asks the driver belligerently. "I can see better with them on."

"Take them off anyway," Angus insists. "It will be better that way."

The driver is skeptical. "Something fishy about all this. But, all right, if it makes you feel any better."

Angus is very polite. "It will make you feel better," he says. "I am very sorry to have to do this, but I can't think of anything better just now." Angus' fist is so fast the driver can't see it come up. But he feels it—for a split second, at least. Then he closes his eyes and curls up in the dust.

ANGUS drags him to the side of the road and lays him neatly in the ditch. "That was much easier than trying to explain just now, Buddy," he apologizes. But the man will not be able to hear human voices for several hours anyway.

Under the seat of the truck, Angus finds a length of tow rope. He tosses it on the running board and goes back to get Spike, Butch and Tim. He swings Tim and Spike over his shoulders and deposits them next to the truck. Then he makes a special trip for Butch.

When he gets the tow rope cut into three equal lengths, he ties his former friends and arranges them neatly on the floor of the truck. There is plenty of room, because the driver was on his way back to the plant, and there are only a few empty crates left in the corner.

Angus finally slams the rear door shut and climbs into the front seat. He isn't sure just how to get back to New York, but he isn't worrying about finding his way. The main idea is to get back fast. He doesn't know just how much time he has, but he knows it can't be much.

'On To Moscow,' Spanish Shout

MADRID, June 24 (AP)—Uniformed Falangists paraded the streets of Madrid today and demonstrated in front of the German embassy with cries of "On to Moscow" and "Gloria for Spain" as government leaders prepared to decide Spain's course in the Axis struggle against the Soviet Union.

Heavy police guards were thrown around the United States and British embassies to prevent any incidents.

American Ambassador Alexander W. Weddell waited an interview with the chief of government to talk over "the general situation," embassy sources said.

These sources added that Weddell would demand clarification of Spain's position as a result of the outbreak of hostilities between Germany and Russia.

Legislature Would Make O'Daniel Prove Campaign Remarks

AUSTIN, June 24 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel would be requested to appear before the house of representatives to explain certain of his U. S. senatorial campaign statements by a resolution prepared introduction in the lower legislative branch today.

Outgrowth of an open letter in defense of house members by Rep. Rae Files of Wavahachie, one of the state's two women legislators, Brawner's resolution read as follows:

"Whereas press reports indicate that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel has by innuendo, implication and insinuation, indicted the sincerity, honesty and integrity of the members of this legislature, now.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the house of representatives that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel be and is hereby respectfully requested to appear before this body to substantiate said charges or publicly retract same."

Brawner said O'Daniel had asserted in the representative's "old home town of Cleburne" that members of the legislature had turned against the governor and their promises to the people after "being fed and clothed by lobbyists."

Several members of the house reported they had heard only favorable reaction to Miss Files' letter in which she charged O'Daniel attempted to force passage of "bad legislation" by threatening a broadcast that the lawmakers were "against the old folks."

Cooling-Off Bill Sideracked, Says Speaker Rayburn

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn said today in a press conference today that the Vinson "cooling-off" bill to curb defense strikes had been sideracked in favor of a measure to give the President broad powers under the draft law to deal with stoppages in defense production.

The Vinson bill, redrafted by the house naval committee about the time Rayburn spoke, now would empower the President to order maintenance of the status quo in labor relations in a defense plant where a dispute had arisen.

The bill which Rayburn said had been given the green light was recommended by the house military committee last week. In addition to making mandatory the deferment from the draft of men who reach age 28 on July 1 without having been inducted, it would give the President power to use the armed forces to afford protection to any worker voluntarily complying with the President's order to return to work.

Use of threats or violence to interfere with workers accepting jobs in defense industries, continuing in such employment or going to and from work would constitute sabotage under the bill and would be punishable by a fine of $5,000 or five years in jail.

The government would be empowered to take over plants of employers who refuse to utilize the federal mediation or conciliation services to settle strikes.

Proposals Will Empower FDR To Force Cooperation

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—With military leaders emphasizing the need for speed in a "serious" defense production situation, the Senate Military committee endeavored today to decide which of two legislative proposals was the most desirable vehicle for empowering President Roosevelt to force the cooperation of "recalcitrant" industrialists in the armament effort.

One measure authorizing the chief executive to confiscate any property, real or personal, needed for national defense was introduced last week by Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) at behest of the war department.

An alternate proposal was presented yesterday by Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, with the avowed objective of mollifying those senators who have assailed the original bill as "a step toward military dictatorship."

The alternate specifies that the President may requisition ships, armaments, munitions, machines, tools, patents and other defense production facilities, but eliminates the reference to real property.

Patterson, explaining that the government can seize real property under existing law, said his substitute measure was "much narrower" in scope than the Reynolds measure but that it was "adequate."

'Smash Vile Fascist Beast,' Says Pravda

MOSCOW, June 24 (AP)—Russia's huge Red army, battling furiously against the vile Fascist beast which dared to lift its blood-stained paw against our free life.

In the first two days of fighting against its first really powerful opponent, the Red army claimed capture of 5,000 German prisoners, destruction of 300 German tanks, and the shooting down of 127 Nazi warplanes.

The Soviet high command at the same time acknowledged the loss of three frontier towns—Brest-Litovsk, Kolno, and Lomza—as well as other penetrations into sovietized Lithuania and eastern Poland.

(In Ankara, reports received by foreign military attaches said German panzer columns drove 120 miles into the Russian Ukraine during the first two days of fighting, while German-Rumanian forces slashing northward through Russian Bessarabia toward Odessa penetrated 80 miles into Soviet territory.)

Inside Russia measures were taken to frustrate fifth columnists.

Nazis Boast Bomb Effect Is 'Terrible'

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER BERLIN, June 24 (AP)—Hopeless confusion in the Russian ranks—this was the tenor today of reports by German newsmen attached to advancing German forces since Sunday morning.

As an example, Kurt Helbing, writing in Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' newspaper Der Angriff, reported:

"Our Junkers roared in at 20 meters (65 feet) altitude over a column of 60 vehicles, among them six or seven panzers. Behind them were heavy artillery and two horse-drawn cannons.

"Our machine fired from all muzzle and barrels. Three or four tanks have been hurled to the side. Between them horses are running, are racing with their carts cross-country, are spilling them, are falling prostrate. Scared, anguished faces are turned up toward us. After that there's nothing but confusion and death.

"Some Bolsheviks jump from their seats and run. Others throw themselves into the sand. Again bombs fall, cannon and machine-guns fire. Fountains of dirt and smoke squirt upward. Flames rise high.

"There's another column. About 80 vehicles. Three of our planes dive low. Those below now have become aware of their danger. The vehicles halt sharply.

"Everybody runs to the edge of the road to seek protection. Already

Teachers Retirement Pay Plan To Start In Texas In September

(By The Associated Press) More than 1,000 retired members of the teaching profession in Texas will receive benefits under the teacher retirement system in September, when the new program begins full operation.

Outlining provisions of the omnibus tax bill passed by the legislature this year, assuring start of payments Sept. 1, Mortimer Brown, executive secretary of the retirement system, said state appropriations would equal contributions of members each year plus $600,000.

To be eligible for an annuity a teacher must have attained the age of 60 and have completed 20 years of creditable service in the state's public schools.

A membership annuity, he explained, would be equivalent to the member's accumulated contributions at retirement, matched by an equal amount from state funds.

Under the straight life annuity option, Brown said that for each $1,000 available at retirement teachers would receive approximately the following amounts, according to retirement age: 60 years, $7.32 for men and $6.52 for women; 65 years, $8.65 for men and $7.65 for women; 70 years, $10.46 for men and $8.96 for women.

Upon retirement members are offered several optional types of annuities, he explained. If a retired member selects a type other than the straight life annuity, the monthly payments would be for modified amounts.

All annuities will be paid in equal monthly installments. An additional annuity will be granted for prior service, the annual award of which would be equal to one per cent of the average annual salary received during the 10 school years immediately preceding the school year 1937, multiplied by the total years of service. Salaries in excess of $3,000 and prior service in excess of 36 years would not be allowed.

Brown said money provided by the tax bill was sufficient to enable monthly payment to each retired member one-twelfth of the full annual prior service award to which he was entitled by his record.

Those receiving annuities because of permanent disability would receive a membership annuity plus 50 per cent of his prior service award.
