CHINA IS THREATENING TO FIGHT

AMERICA HAS PLANS TO PUT BEFORE JAPAN

But United States Moves Cautiously Lest She Be Misunderstood by Three Nations.

"RESORT TO WAR"

Chinese President Is Ready to Open Hostilities Unless The League of Nations Succeeds.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—The grave concern was expressed at the state department today at the threat by the President of China that war would be declared if the League of Nations, meeting tomorrow, does not settle the Manchurian dispute with Japan satisfactorily.

Word of the statement by President Chiang Kai-Shek was laid before Secretary Stimson, Undersecretary Castel and Dr. Stanley Hornbeck, chief of the Far Eastern division.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—The American government is understood in official quarters to be awaiting the special League of Nations council meeting tomorrow before taking any new steps to end hostilities in Manchuria.

President Hoover is expected to have information on the league meeting in time for study with his cabinet tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the government will keep a watchful eye on developments between China and Japan.

It was forecast in high circles that the United States would not formulate any peace proposals until Wednesday or Thursday.

The American government believes a settlement of the Manchurian dispute can best be reached by direct negotiation between the two nations.

It expects to make no attempt to pass on the merits of the controversy, its only interest being to see that the nations do not resort to war.

The administration looks on the Manchurian situation as one of the most delicate politically in the world, involving a territory embracing the interests of three great nations—Japan, China and Russia.

Lest its efforts be misinterpreted, the American government is determined to avoid an intervention which might be regarded as an attempt at adjudication of the matter.

NANKING, Oct. 12. (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek, president of China, in an address today asserted that if the council of the League of Nations convening in urgent session at Geneva tomorrow, failed to obtain a "just settlement" of the Sino-Japan controversy "China will resort to war."

Plumber Excused For Single Day—There's Reason

Judge W. R. Ewing, presiding over the 31st district court now in session here, excused Glen Ragsdale, local plumber, from jury duty today but ordered him to be present tomorrow morning.

Mr. Ragsdale gave as his reason for being excused the fact that he was scheduled to meet with Wheeler county commissioners today regarding the renovation of the heating plant in the Wheeler courthouse for which he has the contract.

"Mr. Ragsdale, you are excused for today but be here tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock," Judge Ewing said. "The reason I am excusing you is because I will be holding court in Wheeler county during January and I certainly want plenty of heat during that time," the judge declared.

McClanahan, Sprockett, and Zelazny were shot.

DEATH TOLL HEAVY AGAIN

Auto Accidents Take Five Lives and Shootings Fatal to Three.

By the Associated Press. Widely scattered accidents and homicides claimed the lives of 11 persons in Texas during the weekend.

The dead: Frank J. Randall, 51, of Fort Worth; Virginia Randall, 11, of Fort Worth; Clyde Bush, of Colorado, Texas; Guss Bartz of Henderson; L. O. McClanahan, 55, of Mexia; John Sprockett, 30, of Mexia; Allen T. Copenhaver, about 38, of Kansas City; Charles E. Barnett, of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; George Henry Hagelstein, 62, of San Antonio; Hardin Gullley, 15, of New Boston; and Able E. Zelazny, 12, of Dallas.

Automobile accidents claimed five lives and shootings claimed three. Randall, his daughter, Virginia, and Bush were injured fatally in a wreck near Sierra Blanca. Bartz was killed when the truck he was driving plunged off a bridge near Henderson. Copenhaver was found near Hillboro. Officials believed he was struck by a motor car.

McClanahan, Sprockett, and Zelazny were shot.

CONTINENT IS DISCOVERED BY C. COLUMBUS

Epochal Feat Requires 70 Days; New Land Claimed by Spain Because of Nation's Backing.

PROVES THEORY

Explorer Confounds All Who Told Him He Would Run Off Edge of Flat Universe and Die.

WATLING ISLAND, Oct. 12. (AP)—Christopher Columbus today discovered America.

The intrepid Italian explorer, sailing under the flag of Spain, linked the new world with an heretofore unknown old world.

An epochal feat of navigation, until this time considered an impossibility, even in his own country, Columbus said the voyage required 70 days.

Her white sails sparkling over the horizon, the discoverer's flagship, the Santa Maria, burst suddenly into sight, surprising the populace. Close behind tacked the caravels Pinta and Nina which accompanied him.

Columbus, who was christened Cristoforo Colombo and is called by his men the Spanish Cristobal Colon, set sail from Huelva Aug. 3. The real exploration began Sept. 6, when he left the Canary islands, then the last known westernmost point.

He is Very Happy. In the vicinity of these islands, the explorer explained, his interest first was attracted to the possibilities of voyages to the west to prove his belief the world was round.

"My happiness is overwhelming," Columbus said as ships' reporters met him on the gangplank. "For years I have argued with scientists that the world was globular, similar to an egg, but they insisted I'd fall off if I sailed far enough west."

"The last phases of this voyage were almost as bitter as the long years of ridicule," he said, adding "since my men threatened several times to mutiny, once particularly when the magnetic compass needle varied, and begged constantly to be allowed to turn back toward Spain."

Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand, he said, had agreed only on April 17 to supply the funds so he might Christianize any heathens he found. The queen, he said, was reported to have pawned her crown jewels but he did not know himself.

Plans Vacation. Columbus said his plans for the future were indefinite, as he was due in Cuba Oct. 28 and expected to reach Hispanola (Haiti), around Dec. 1. He expected to start the return trip early in January, so he could reach Palos by March 15, 1493.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP)—Wall Street had a holiday and the banks were closed. Except for that, and few commemorative celebrations, New York observed Columbus Day quietly.

HUNGER WILL BE DISCUSSED

Advisory Council to Be Told of Situation in Session Tuesday.

Human suffering in Pampa is widespread and unless the welfare problem is solved there will be danger of persons actually starving to death.

This situation, outlined to J. M. Dodson today by a physician well acquainted with the facts, awaits discussion of the Central Welfare Advisory council which will convene tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the city hall. Mr. Dodson is chairman of the group.

Mr. Dodson urges the attendance of every member of the advisory body, which has been appointed by interested organizations which have named delegates. The Welfare Board is virtually without funds, as winter approaches.

Efficient administration of local charity is necessary for two reasons: 1. To prevent actual suffering and 2. To prevent this city from becoming a haven for those who like charity more than work. Only home people will be beneficiaries of the movement, excepting those cases where illness exists in menacing form. It is the national policy to advise all jobless men to go back to their home communities where they are known and their needs understood.

TEXAS PHYSICIAN DIES. SAN SABA, Oct. 12. (AP)—Dr. H. Taylor, 51, prominent West Texas physician, died here last night. He was county health officer, president of the San Saba Chamber of Commerce, president of the Lions club and president of the school board. He was a Mason and a member of the Baptist church.

WHEAT LAND IS SOAKED BY PRECIPITATION

Downpour West of City Stops Cars as Moisture on Ignition Causes Motors to Cease Functioning.

IS VERY GENERAL

Droughts Are Broken Over Dry Zones; Oklahoma Rejoices When Fields Are Dampened.

Rainfall ranging from one-third to one inch fell in the Pampa territory during the week-end and was followed today by mist, fog, and occasional drizzles. Old Sol was trying vainly to break thru the clouds this morning, and was given a fair chance to succeed before the day was over.

Wheat lands of the Panhandle needed the moisture, which was welcomed over most of North and West Texas and Oklahoma. The rain started late Saturday and was particularly heavy west and south-west of Pampa. A number of "The NEWS-POST" editorial staff drove into a terrific downpour near White Deer Saturday. Wind accompanied.

Only light showers fell south and east of Pampa Saturday night and yesterday. However, a heavy rain fell in those sections this morning. Roads were not bad until 3 miles south and east of Pampa, according to jurymen coming into Pampa this morning. A heavy rain was falling as they approached the city.

ing the rain blew it into motors and stalled many cars on the highway. The cold caused a rush for gas stoves and overcoats.

Soaking rains drenched North Texas yesterday and last night, terminating a searing drought of two months' duration. Precipitation was particularly heavy in the north-west and Panhandle regions, while Northeast Texas received steady, penetrating showers.

Light showers visited some points in Central and South Texas but were spotted. However, the promise of rain in the south was encouraging and weather observers anticipated precipitation there today or tomorrow.

Decided drops in temperature accompanied the rainfall in the northern region, bringing an end to a prolonged, uncomfortably hot weather.

Precipitation in the north was reported as 1.70 inches at Abilene, 1.32 at San Angelo, 1.23 at Wichita Falls, 3.05 at Gainesville, 2.80 at Brownwood, 3 at Archer City, 40 at Plainville, 1 at Pampa, 8 at Cisco and 3.75 at Vernon.

Amarillo, Denison, Dallas, and Ft. Worth reported slow, penetrating rains. Showers were reported at San Antonio and nearby points.

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 12. (AP)—Heavy rains came to the San Angelo area last night to break a searing drought of more than two months' duration and to bring cheer to the ranch country. The fall here was .32 inches, bringing the total for the year to 12.13 inches.

Traffic at Big Game Will Be Topic of Meeting

Approximately 300 temporary box seats will be erected inside the playing field for the Amarillo-Pampa football game Saturday afternoon. It was decided by the high school athletic committee in session this morning.

The additional seats will be on the west side of the field from the 20-yard line to the goal line on the north end and on the east side of the field from about the 30-yard line on both north and south ends of the field.

Every available reserve seat has been sold and hundreds of Pampa fans are literally "howling" for tickets, according to Joe Smith, who has charge of ticket sales. Prices for the box seats will be $1.25 each.

A meeting of those who will handle traffic parking, tickets, (sales and gate) ushering, and policing of the grounds will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night in the high school building.

Representatives of the school athletic committee, sheriff's department, police department, school boy police, American Legion, and various clubs that will take active part in the work are asked to be present.

How the Amarillo fans who come to Pampa on the special train will be taken to the playing field, is being discussed by local fans. The situation will be discussed at tomorrow night's meeting. Courtesy cars and school buses will be provided.

"Red Flame" May Go Out

While hundreds of strikers and sympathizers followed, Jerring, police arrested Edith Berkman, 28-year-old Communist agitator, in a disturbance accompanying the walk-out of 20,000 textile workers at Lawrence, Mass. Miss Berkman, who acquired the name of the "Red Flame" for her part in recent mill strikes, now faces possible deportation as an undesirable alien. Note her attitude of smiling martyrdom in this picture.

WORDS FOR THE HARVESTERS

About Training, Fighting Hearts, Keeping Cool Heads, Conserving Energy, and Rockne System.

(An Editorial) Harvesters sturdy men of Pampa high school—this week you play THE game of the season with the eyes of the entire Panhandle upon you.

You are playing for your own honor and that of your school, but you are doing more—you are representing this community before the whole section. The hearts of thousands will beat with yours when you take the field, and it will be up to you to play hard, smart, smashing football to vindicate the faith your admirers have in you.

You have done well in the past, but the past will be forgotten next Saturday when the all-important present arrives with the Sandies across the line of scrimmage. Now is the time to conserve your energies, to concentrate on what your coach tells you, and to resolve to play the game fair, square, and victoriously as teams before you have played it. The big game will not be won on Saturday alone, but all this week as the rival squads prepare for the contest.

Be confident, as Knute Rockne teams were confident, but confident only because of your overwhelming desire to "come through" for the sake of your school, your city, your friends, and yourself.

Listen to Rockne, that grand old wizard of the gridiron:

"I tell my lads there are five types I do not want. And I say the first type I have in mind is the swelled head—the man who was a success a year ago and who is content to rest on his laurels, who wants to play on his reputation. CAPONE IS GLOOMY WHEN EXTRAVAGANCE IS CITED

Big Gang Chief Now Is Without Body Guard and Ally in Jail.

FEDERAL BUILDING, Chicago, Oct. 12. (AP)—Alphonse Capone walked out a bodyguard sat grimly at a counsel table today and heard his private affairs discussed before a jury in United States circuit court. He was on trial for income tax evasion.

Philip D'Andrea, Capone's bodyguard and companion during the trial, who carried his watchfulness just a bit too far, was in the county jail, facing a contempt of court charge for bringing a pistol into court. Today there was nobody behind the big gangster but a table full of reporters and a few dozen spectators.

His two attorneys were busy making light of the government's testimony in his income tax trial. It was all old stuff to Capone—how he paid $12,500 for automobiles, $27.50 for shirts, $4.95 for neckties—and the gang lord paid no heed. He leaned heavily on the table, toyed with a brief case and at times stared vacantly ahead of him.

STENNIS SAYS CHARITY MUST BE CURTAILED

Cites Condition of General Fund as Precluding Use of Money Set Aside for Other Purposes.

C O X DISAGREES

Administration Not Willing to Delegate Authority to Anyone to Incur Bills It Is to Pay.

Reasons why the county commissioners are limited in their ability to assist in charity programs were outlined by Judge S. D. Stennis today in a lengthy statement.

Commissioner L. O. Cox of this precinct dissented from the policy expressed, and declared that was mandatory upon the county to help those absolutely destitute. Other commissioners were believed by Judge Stennis to be in accord with the policy as stated.

The statement follows: A great deal has been said about the responsibility of the county for relief of different kinds for the poor in Gray county. Aid is sought primarily in the incorporated cities of the county, the rural districts usually taking care of their own.

There are several classifications under which the discussions arise: First, food and clothing for the needy; second, medicine for the sick, who are poor; third, doctor's bills; and fourth, hospitalization.

All of these are worthy subjects for charity and there can be no just criticism of any one for urging that all of them be attended to—in fact, it is to the credit of any person who is more fortunate to think of those less fortunate.

It is also proper to consider these matters in advance and be prepared for the situation when it becomes acute.

As to what may be expected of the county is a proper question for citizens to ask, and we desire to give some information about the county's affairs in order that we may all take into consideration in solving the problem:

I. Any assistance that may be given must come from the general fund of the county.

The commissioner's court has no authority to obtain money for any of these purposes from any other fund, and if they attempted to do so, it would be a violation of the trust imposed upon them. In addition the county auditor should not and, in my opinion, would not approve the warrant.

II. The limit for the amount that can be levied for the general fund is 25c on the $100 assessed valuation. If all these taxes are paid (there is a prospect of considerable delinquency) this fund will amount to about $67,500.00.

III. Numerous expenses must be paid out of this fund and can not be paid out of any other fund. The condition of the fund at present is: A little over two years ago, there was an overdraft of approximately $25,000, and the court, at that time, issued warrants and set them to cover the overdraft. These warrants are being paid off at the rate of about $3,000 per year. The interest payment is $1,230 for the current year. That much of the revenue derived from the general fund is pledged to make these payments and is, by operation of law, withdrawn from the general fund. (Incidentally, the law now provides that the court can not issue warrants in excess of $2,000 except in very few instances. It takes a vote of the people to do that now.)

At the end of the first year after the warrants were issued, the general fund was overdrawn $13,527.28, and at the end of the second year (December 31, 1930) it was overdrawn $23,385.07, and bills due on January 1, 1931, ran this up to an excess of $30,000.00. It is unlawful to not to be criticized for this, because at the time it was done, our county was in a process of rapid development and taxes were assessed on values away behind the development.

On the first of July of the current year, the general fund was again overdrawn and we are now operating on borrowed money (money transferred from other funds).

In each case where we have transferred funds, the order provides the money to be paid back out of 1932 tax collections. It is unlawful to make a transfer without, at the same time, providing for repayment. The county auditor will not and should not approve a transfer under any other conditions.

IV. Now, as to what the court has done for charitable purposes in the past: For one charitable purpose or another, the court is expending per-shock, because the chances are there will be someone playing in his place.

"The second type of lad is the chronic complainer. He crabs at everyone but himself. And I say no organization can afford to have that type of man among them, because it is infectious.

"The third type is the quitter. The quitter is the fellow who wishes he could play, but who is not willing to pay the price. I tell the boys if any of that type is here he might just as well quit now and not wear out the equipment.

"And I don't want boys to dissipate physically or emotionally. I tell them that I have no brief against playing pool long hours in the afternoon, dancing half the night, or learning to drive an automobile with one hand, but that we have no time for it. If we are going to compete with organizations who do not do that sort of thing and who are saving all their energy for the contest, I say, do not dissipate any energy emotionally; and by that I mean that they should not give way to emotions such as jealousy, hatred, or anything of that kind. I say that this sort of thing destroys any organization, and I then tell them that we should look upon one another and be inspired by the fine qualities in those around us and forget about their faults.

"There is a sixth type of a man who suffers from an inferiority complex. He generally comes from a small community and he says to himself: 'What chances have I to get on the first string for 33 men there, when there are 350 boys trying for it. I don't believe I can make it.' I say to them, 'You are just a good as any man out here.'

"There are certain types I do not want unless they change their habits. The first is the chap who offers alibis; the second—and I usually have a few of them—is the slicker, the mucker, who tries to get by playing unfair football. And I tell him that we cannot afford to have him on the team, for he will bring discredit to the school and on our organization, and I also impress upon him that slugging and unfairness do not pay, either in a game or in life after leaving school. And third there is the boy who lacks courage, who is afraid. Courage means to be afraid to do something and still going ahead and doing it. If a man has character, the right kind of energy, mental ability, he will learn that fear is something to overcome and not to run away from."

Rockne was calm, almost mild, in his pre-game talks to his men. Localizing one of his typical speeches, we speak like this to the Harvesters about the coming Amarillo game.

"Boys, you are this week going up against a strong football team; how great we don't very well know, but we don't think they are a bit better than you are. We think you are just as good as they are. We know that you are in pretty good shape physically. There isn't anything wrong with you mentally. We know that your coach has trained into you a lot of good football. But there is one thing that we cannot know until the game—what is in your hearts?"

"That is going to tell the story this week and it will be up to you to go out there and show 10,000 people just what is in your hearts. We want you full of pep. Hit them hard and take the heart out of them in the first few minutes; and you men in the backfield, play head-up football all the time and watch for forward passes, and when that ball is in the air go and get it, and when we get the ball—that is when we go to work. We want every man on the team to dig-in with his toes, use a clear head, and when we start driving for the goal line to go, go, Go, Go, GO, GO!"

Licenses Must Be Bought From City

It is time for all plumbers and electricians bonds and license renewals to be made, according to Building Inspector F. E. Townsend. No permits can be issued in the future or no inspections will be made from that time on. Licenses, he declared last night. "Contractors and owners can save time and trouble on building before letting jobs to sub-contractors, by finding out at the office of the inspector in the city hall, names of firms who have renewed bonds and received licenses." Mr. Townsend said buildings cannot be occupied without a certificate of inspection. Permits will not be given to non-bonded firms.

pressed doubt if the commission could restrict an area large than 20 acres to a single well, Terrell said. Since the law authorizes the commission merely to act in the conservation of oil, to exclusion of all other phases of the economic side of the question, in fixing a unit basis it was necessary to consider a well's capacity to draw from the pool, he said.

Gov. R. S. Sterling said he believed most operators in the field recognized the folly of sinking new wells, thus causing the allowable in wells already completed to be reduced in order to keep the field production down.

Allowable Is Cut
"If they keep on drilling, the per well allowable will be scaled down as low as 30 barrels per well, after a while, if the field allowable is to be kept within reason," he said. Rollins said he believed the commission had the power to penalize wells which had been drilled unnecessarily.

The railroad commission Saturday passed an order reducing the field's per well allowable from 185 barrels to 165 barrels daily to bring the production below 400,000 barrels daily. Increase of the number of wells to approximately 2,200 had run the production in excess of that amount.

COUNTY AID

happens more than 10 per cent of the general fund. There are charitable purposes other than those enumerated which we recognize—such as burying the pauper dead, et cetera.

All of the money that the court spends is raised by involuntary contributions and is raised for the purpose of county government. The court is charged with the duties and responsibilities of seeing that the county government functions.

The legislature passes laws and provides that the court shall pay the bills, and generally provides that they shall be paid out of the general fund. They usually leave very little to our discretion and it is just a matter of form with us.

There are two remedies for the situation: One is for the county to build and maintain a hospital, either by itself or in conjunction with the city. To do this, it will be necessary to vote bonds to build the hospital in the first place and then pay the expenses of operation out of the general fund. I do not believe the bonds could be voted and I do not think they ought to be voted, because the expenses of operation would be so great that the county would not have the money with which to pay operation expenses, and we would find ourselves with an additional debt for the hospital and unable to use it.

The second is, that we raise the tax valuation so that the 25c on the $100 will raise additional money. This is the only way I can see to get the funds and I do not believe that is desirable. Should we raise the valuation, we could reduce the levy for some other funds so that the only additional money raised for county taxes would be in the general fund. However, the state tax rate is fixed at a certain amount regardless of our assessed valuation. The net result of this plan would be that in order to collect $1.00 additional for the general fund, it would be necessary to send to Austin more than $3.00 additional in the day of state taxes.

People frequently say that the county can not afford not to do certain things, and usually those things are worthy. That sounds reasonable, but it does not produce the money for the county to do these things with. The measure of what may be expected of the court to meet the situation must necessarily be what the court is able to do—not what it would like to do. The fact that the county should do things does not produce the money with which to do those things. To do these things with, the measure of what may be expected of the court to meet the situation must necessarily be what the court is able to do—not what it would like to do.

Recently, there has been talk of a health unit, with paid physicians and paid nurses. That would be a fine thing and a desirable thing to have, but that unit alone would cost the county a great deal of money that the county does not have. It must be remembered that our responsibilities are county wide—not confined to the cities. There would still be drug bills, pauper list, food, and clothing for the needy, burying the pauper dead, and numerous other charitable causes, not included in the county health unit.

In this connection, we wish to say for the county commissioners, that the law provides that under certain circumstances, the larger part of their own salaries may be paid out of a fund other than the general fund, and this they are now doing.

The court has not heretofore seen fit to delegate to any one else the authority to select charitable cases, to incur expenses and send bills to the county, and in making plans for the future, it would be well if we would all assume that it will not do so.

It is the opinion of the court that we had as well put our shoulders to the wheel and meet the situation. After all, it is a city of Pampa proposition largely, and in a smaller way a McLean and Lefors proposition. The city of Pampa pays less than 12 1-2 per cent of the taxes collected by the county tax collector. We, who enjoy the advantages and privileges of city life, should bear the burden also, and the thing to do is to meet this situation fairly and squarely.

County Judge.

Germany Seethes With Discontent

HARZBURG, Germany, Oct. 12.—The leaders of the nationalist opposition united their forces today for a death struggle in the Reichstag opening tomorrow, to overthrow the government of Chancellor Brüning.

Joint meeting of the national socialists, nationalists, steel-helmets and other rightist groups which transformed the peaceful Spa into a military camp yesterday. Military commands were snatched out, the fascist salute was exchanged and heels clicked in war-time fashion as clergymen invoked divine aid on "this decisive day for the liberation of the Fatherland."

News value is not overlooked by the Pampa high school. A large group of high school pupils is being appointed by English instructors to "cover" every phase of student activity.

Those who dare to prophesy West Texas weather are making all kinds of guesses as to whether or not Old Man Sunshine will favor us with good weather.

But rain or shine, the boys are continuing their practice for the big game. If they don't all take pneumonia, they ought to be in good condition and good practice, ready to make the game worth the money for each of the 9,000 spectators.

Rain has its drawbacks. For instance, it interfered materially with the upward trend which has been noted in Sunday school attendance for the last few weeks.

In some instances, the attendance Sunday was reduced by more than half as compared with the previous Sunday. Church officials said, however, that the attendance was fair, considering that it was almost impossible for pedestrians and people who live in the country to attend.

There were 54 at the Presbyterian Sunday school; 48 at the Church of Christ; 264 at the First Baptist; 60 at the Central Baptist; 175 at the Christian, and 225 at the Methodist. Sunday school officials of the other churches could not be reached.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH The lesson-sermon subject was "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Oct. 11.

The golden text was from Psalms 67:1, "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations."

The service included the following passages from the Bible: "Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One? We shall not die... Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity."

These citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were also read (pp. 366, 367):

"God is of purer eyes than to behold evil. There is neither a present nor an eternal partnership between error and truth, between flesh and spirit. God is as incapable of producing sin, sickness and death as He is of experiencing these errors."

GUilty LIPS

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of "MAD MARRIAGE" ©1931 BY NFA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY Pretty Norma, 22, K20-year-old secretary, marries Mark Travers, millionaire's son, in spite of the opposition of Mark's father, P. M. Travers.

The story opens in Marlboro, middle western metropolis. After an extravagant honeymoon at fashionable Blue Springs during which Mark spends all his money and locates $500 the couple return to Marlboro. Mark loses his first job. Then he becomes a floorwalker in a department store. In spite of poverty he and Norma are happy until his father sends for him. Travers offers to take Mark back into his business organization if his son will prove he can make good.

His first task involves a business trip to France. Norma must remain at home. She tries to persuade Mark not to go but is unable to do so.

Norma, rudely treated at her father-in-law's home, slips away, leaving no trace of her whereabouts. Chris Saunders, her former roommate, helps her find a job.

Mark's father employs detectives to trail the girl. They produce records to show Norma three years earlier had been convicted on a vice charge. In spite of evidence that this charge was framed and the girl innocent, Travers sends his lawyer to Paris. Later Norma receives a letter telling her Mark has secured a divorce. Next day in the office she faints and Chris takes her home. Norma is ill and distraught. She moves to Chris' apartment and dreary weeks drag by. In June Norma gives up her work, awaiting the time when she is to go to the hospital her baby to be born. One night she says to Chris, "There's something you must promise me!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIX Norma's voice was agitated, barely above a whisper. "Promise me, Chris," she insisted.

The other girl hesitated. "Why, honey, you know I'll do anything—" "Then say that you'll do what I'm asking. I want you to promise."

"Without knowing what it is? Well—all right, I promise." In the dusk Norma's face was scarcely visible. Her words came in tense, excited outbursts. "If anything happens—I mean if I don't come back—from the hospital— I don't want Mark to know! Promise me, Chris, you'll never tell him."

"But that's no way to talk, Norma. You are coming back. Everything's going to be all right. Of course you're coming back! You mustn't say such things and you mustn't even think them!"

"You're promised. Remember, you've given your word!" "It's a promise I won't have to keep because you'll be back here well and happy. Haven't the doctors been telling you there's nothing to worry about? Dr. Willoughby wouldn't like to have you talk this way."

"Stop it, Chris! Norma's tone rose sharply. "I know you've been trying to cheer me up. All these days—I know all you've said and done to—well, make it easier. You wanted to be kind but it's no use. All this talk isn't fooling me and it hasn't. I—I don't think I'm coming back from the hospital. I don't know that I want to—"

Chris caught the younger girl's two hands. "You're coming back," she said firmly. "You're going to be ashamed you've ever talked this way. Come on, now! Don't you think it would be cooler if we went down on the street and took a walk around the block?"

Norma did not answer but she arose and followed Chris out into the hallway and down the street. There was scant breeze in the street below. Men and women and children loitered on steps and about the entrances of buildings, seeking relief from the heat indoors. Darkness hid much of the street's ugliness.

Chris and Norma turned a corner and cool, refreshing wind whipped their cheeks. "Why—how wonderful!" Chris cried. "Why didn't we come down stairs before?"

Norma raised her face to the wind. "Let's stand here on the corner for a while," she said. They lingered a few moments, then started on. Half way down the block big raindrops began falling. The girls turned back. By the time they had reached the apartment building the rain was coming rapidly. Safe in the shelter of the entrance the girls waited and drank in the chill, fresh air.

There was no more said that evening about Norma's forebodings of the promise Chris had made. The rainfall continued several hours and even the stuffy apartment became less like an oven. By morning the heat wave seemed definitely broken.

It was two weeks later to the day. The long hospital corridors smelled unpleasantly of disinfectant. The halls were cool and still. No one was in sight but from rooms beyond there came hints of muffled activity.

Chris stood in the doorway of a waiting room, looking down the hall. She was pale and her hands were gripped together. Her lips were a tight red line that wavered unsteadily. Chris' eyes, eager, fearful, sought the end of the corridor.

No one appeared. She turned to the young woman at the desk. "Are you sure you'll know right away?" she asked. "Won't they let me see her now? Surely it must be time—"

"I'll tell you as soon as the report comes," the young woman said tartly. "No, you can't go to her. You'd better sit down and quiet yourself."

The lone in which she spoke was both arrogant and bored. Chris eyed the other with hostility. Then she crossed the room to a chair and sat down.

A nurse entered, her stiffly starched uniform rustling crisply. Chris straightened, alert in every muscle. She could not understand the two voices as the nurse spoke to the girl at the desk. The nurse wrote a few words on a card, turned and left.

TELLS STORY

T. J. Eldridge of Sayre, Okla., who is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Zimmerman, entertained fifth grade pupils of Sam Houston school with a story, The Buffalo Wallow, Friday afternoon. The story was given at the period of the history class taught by Miss Sara Moyer.

Judge Clifford Braly returned yesterday from Stinnett, where the 114th district court is in session.

evening. As first it was hard to keep from showing how worried she felt. Norma lay back against the pillows, so pale and tired-looking. Chris, fearing the worst, persistently questioned doctors and nurses. Then as the days wore on she began to believe the people at the hospital were right. Norma was growing stronger. A faint show of color reappeared in her cheeks. She laughed when the baby was beside her, making its strange gurgling noises, gazing at the ceiling with blue eyes of ineffable depth. She always called him Mark and the name apparently failed to arouse painful memories.

On the twelfth day Norma and her tiny son returned to the apartment. A nurse brought them and stayed through the first day. After that the flat became a place devoted exclusively to young Mark Travers' interests. If he uttered a cry, if he were sleepless, if he did a single thing off schedule two frantic young women were at his crib-side. Either in spite of or because of these attentions the infant thrived.

Norma strength was returning. She looked particularly well the day little Mark became one month old. It was Sunday and Chris ran out to the delicatessen just before luncheon for a bottle of cream. She came back to find Norma with an open newspaper. Chris halted as she caught sight of Norma's face.

Never during the long weeks and months had Norma said anything to Chris about what she would name her child. Chris had wondered frequently. She thought she understood Norma's reticence.

"Of course his name's Mark," the words came almost crossly. "What did you think it would be? Tell them I want to see him now!"

The nurse Chris had seen outside appeared in the doorway. "You'll have to go now," she said to Chris. "You've already overplayed. Mrs. Travers needs to rest."

"She's been asking if she can't see the baby again." "A little later," the nurse nodded. Looking at Norma she continued, "Try to get some rest now and I'll bring him to you before the night nurse comes."

Chris followed the woman in uniform from the door. "You're sure she's going to be all right?" she asked anxiously.

Mrs. Travers is getting along nicely," the nurse said with a curt nod.

During the 10 days that followed Chris went to the hospital every

TIAA Leaders to Defend Chances For Big Title

DALLAS, Oct. 12 (AP)—The three leaders of the 1931 Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association football campaign will be called upon this week-end to defend their positions.

The Texas A. & I. Javelinas of Kingsville, and the East Texas Teachers college Lions of Commerce, leaders in the eastern division of the T. I. A. A., will meet in Commerce Saturday. Abilene Christian college, leading in the western division, meets Sul Ross Friday night.

The Javelinas furnished the major upset of the week in driving to a 7 to 0 victory over the Southwest Texas Teachers of San Marcos. East Texas also climbed to the top by virtue of an 8 to 6 victory over the Stephen F. Austin teachers.

Ebbets Field to See Big Battle

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—The long-deferred heavyweight tussle between Sharkey and Primo Carnera will be held in Ebbets field, Brooklyn, tonight if the weather man is kind and no serious accidents befall the gladiators in the meantime.

Sharkey, often a contender but never a champion, rules a 7 to 5 favorite over the huge Italian to whom he must concede five inches in height and about 60 pounds in weight. The bout is slated for 15 rounds.

The winner of tonight's match probably will be asked to meet Tommy Loughran in another "elimination" match designed to find an opponent for Champion Max Schmeling.

INJURIES ARE TO BE DODGED DURING WEEK

Coach Mitchell is Pleased by Selection of Officials for Game.

Disregarding the cold, wet weather which coaches dread, the Pampa Harvesters this afternoon were slated to begin a week's intensive preparation to meet the Amarillo Sandies here Saturday at 3 o'clock in the district's most important battle.

Coach Mitchell told THE NEWS this morning that his men would work long but not too hard. He will take no risk with injuries, preferring to drill on the plays the lads will use Saturday and that part of the offense which has been kept under cover.

Last year the locals had their worst day of the season in the Amarillo mudhole, and a clear, dry day is much desired for next Saturday. The outlook was foreboding this morning as the rain fell steadily, but fitful Panhandle weather might yet produce a July-like day.

Sooner Shutdowns May Be Probed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 12 (AP)—Oklahoma's oil industry, free from the martial law shutdown of flush fields, sought to put its house in order today.

The state corporation commission will be asked to invoke new regulations in order to hold Oklahoma's production around 325,000 barrels daily, the prorated flow to be under the supervision of the military. There will be a commission hearing Oct. 27, to take pipeline nominations and fix allowances in the Oklahoma City field.

There may be a public investigation of charges made by O. N. Jave, manager of the royalty owners protective association, and others concerning alleged irregularities in administration of the shutdown and prorating orders in the Oklahoma City field.

A movement toward stabilization of the refining and marketing units of the petroleum industry will take form Nov. 10, when the oil states advisory committee meets at Chicago to discuss such plans.

HOME DUELS ARE ON SLATE ON WEEK-END

Harvard to Meet Army in First Test of Current Season.

By HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Most of the nation's leading football teams put aside inter-sectional tests this week in favor of a little home-work.

The program will not lack for big-time inter-sectional battles but in the main the outstanding duels will be strictly intra-conference. Topping the inter-sectional fray will be Florida's invasion to tackle Syracuse; Yale's initial trip into the midwest and should win; Dartmouth and Columbia, both undefeated, meet at New York with the former holding the "Indian sign" on Columbia in recent years.

Rice Students in Orgy of Victory

HOUSTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The portals of education were closed today when a Spartan freshman class of Rice Institute bound the school's massive gates with oak hangers and withstood the assaults of professors and would-be class attendants, and proclaimed a holiday in honor of the Owl eleven which returned from Austin Saturday night bearing a 7-0 victory over Texas university.

Dormitory freshmen were aroused at 9 a. m. today and instructed in the art of wiring gates. Promptly after breakfast, they were stationed at the entrances to the campus, under strict orders to let no one pass.

School spirit was running high after Saturday's win from the Steer team.

The campus orchestra was hastily assembled after the gates were successfully blocked and a dance started. No classes or laboratories will be held today.

Although the holiday was not sanctioned by the administrative department of the school, there was no effort on the part of officials to put down the uprising.

Firemen Hurt in Galveston Blaze

GALVESTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Six fire fighters were painfully burned in a blaze which swept through a unit of the warehouse of the W. L. Moody Cotton company here yesterday, causing damage estimated at $500,000.

Fire was still smoldering today in the ruined warehouse unit as firemen continued their efforts to extinguish it. It was believed several days might elapse before the last of 15,000 bales of cotton destroyed would cease smoldering.

The cotton loss was estimated at $300,000. Damage to the warehouse was estimated at $110,000.

PREVENTION OF FIRE STUDIED

Surveys taken by Principal J. A. Meek showed some outstanding work done at Baker school during fire prevention week.

A report was made by each teacher as follows:

Mrs. J. G. Gant—Removal and disposal of inflammable rubbish, was accomplished.

Miss Charles Fuller—Talks, posters and playlets were provided to teach the children what to do in case of fire. Ways to prevent fires were discussed and creation of the desire to take an active part in all future fire prevention and clean-up programs was attained.

Miss Julia Shaeffer—The low third room made fire prevention posters during the week. In language, the children stressed ways of preventing fires.

Mrs. H. B. McFarling—In the high third grade were made fire prevention posters. Children told of their experiences with fires and how these fires could have been prevented. They also stressed cleaning up rubbish about the home.

Miss Eurlitha Henry—In the third grade were made fire prevention posters. Pupils also had conversation lessons on fires, giving causes and prevention.

Mrs. O. M. Johnson—Fire prevention was observed in the low fourth grade in arithmetic, health, and spelling classes. Booklets and posters were made to carry out the idea.

Miss Martha Wulfman—The low second grade has made a fire prevention poster showing how trash should be put into cans. The pupils are studying danger signs such as Powder, Poison, Gas, Oil, and Danger—Keep Out.

Mrs. Gertie Morris—Fire prevention was stressed by poster work and stories.

Mrs. B. G. Gordon—Fire prevention was stressed by stories, posters and drill on turning in fire alarms.

Mrs. J. Arrington—Fire prevention posters have been made, and reports given pupils on how they have cleaned up rubbish.

Mrs. Edna Underwood—Compositions were written on causes of fires and how to prevent them. Fire posters were made, talks were given on turning in fire alarms, and exits from burning buildings.

Miss Leota Brown—Posters were made and talks were given to the children. The group also read of accidents and told stories of fire hazards.

Miss Cleo Snodgrass—Fire prevention posters have been made and the teacher has been reading Uncle Jim, The Fire Chief, to the pupils.

Miss Willena May—In the high first grade, pupils have read safety-first stories on playing with matches and firearms and have colored outline posters illustrating the stories. They have also studied large posters on the disposal of trash. In language classes they have talked about how to turn in fire alarms, how to leave a burning building and what they can do to prevent fires.

Hunters May Go To Old Mexico

R. A. Peart of Eagle Pass, Texas, has received permission from the Mexican government a concession to form a hunting and fishing club, allowing all members to hunt or fish in the state of Coahuila, Old Mexico. The period of the contract is for 10 years and Mr. Peart has secured more than 3,000,000 acres of land.

Hunters will be able to take their own guns and ammunition into Mexico, Mr. Peart having made arrangements with the Mexican war department. Bonds can be had all cars to be taken into Mexico by hunting parties.

Several Pampa hunters are getting in touch with Mr. Peart and will probably do their hunting this year in Old Mexico.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for holding up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
