Stevenson Actually Born In A Log House

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—Coke Robert Stevenson, governor-designate of Texas upon the unofficial returns from Saturday's election which will send Governor W. Lee O'Daniel to the United States senate, is a product of the frontier before the rough edges were smoothed away.

After nearly 40 years as legislator, lawyer, rancher, hardware merchant, hotel owner, warehouse operator, auto agency proprietor, newspaper publisher, janitor, freighter and banker, he still smacks of the west.

Fifty-three years old, 6 feet, one inch in height, big-boned, spare of frame, 199 pounds in weight, possessor of a face furrowed with heavy lines and bronzed almost to a mahogany hue, he once was described by former Governor James E. Ferguson as the Abraham Lincoln of Texas.

That rare political asset of birth in a log house is his. He knew the feel of a saddle from babyhood, and today riding a pony over his range ranch properties is a hobby.

Indicative of pioneer conditions, he grew up short on formal education, going to country schools only seven years for a total of 22 months, but very long on knowledge of how to get ahead.

For the last two and a half years, he has been lieutenant-governor, having been elected to that office in 1938 and re-elected in 1940. Previously he served 10 years in the house of representatives, and is the only man ever chosen speaker twice in succession.

The son of Robert M. and Virginia Hurley Stevenson, he was born at the home of his mother's father in Mason county on March 20, 1888. His father's home was at London, Kimble county.

The oldest of eight children in the family, Stevenson "began work" at the age of 14, trying "about everything."

After holding various ranch jobs, he acquired six horses and two wagons and "started freighting" between Taylor and Brady, a distance of 65 miles. He was 16 years old.

Stevenson made money out of his freight line, and attributes much of his success to the brand-new demand for store-bought caskets, which were just coming into the market.

The young freighter would camp in the open at night and cook his meals over a camp fire, which served a triple purpose. It supplied warmth on chilly nights, heat for cooking and light for study.

For Stevenson, it decided that he wanted to be something more than a freighter. He had ordered a set of books and undertaken to learn bookkeeping.

A year and a half passed and the ranch people organized a bank in Junction. It opened on June 7, 1906.

"When I heard about it, I went around and asked for a job as bookkeeper," Stevenson continued. "The

O'Daniel Signs Departmental Money Bill

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today approved the $29,763,316 biennial departmental appropriation bill without disapproving a single item because, he said, the bill was so drawn that nothing could be gained by vetoing individual items.

He vetoed the opinion in a message to the legislature that some of the departmental allotments were excessive.

O'Daniel complained at a practice in writing appropriations which authorizes certain departments to spend all fees collected whether or not the revenue is itemized for expenditure.

"All I can do as governor," he said, "is to call the facts of the situation to the attention of the public with the hope that some future legislature may do something to change the situation."

The appropriation, $7,423,316 in excess of that authorized for the current biennium, was the last big money bill on the governor's desk and was a factor in prolonging the life of the general session of the legislature.

Some house members had fought vigorously to keep the returns in order to attempt an overriding move against any vetoes the governor might make.

The bill contained several features in addition to funds for normal governmental operation. These included $1,500,000 for purchase of land for the proposed Big Bend National Park project, $423,000 for repairs to the capitol, $609,000 for national guard armory rental to provide for expanding defense program and nearly $2,000,000 for WPA intake and other relief certification. It also authorized addition of 91 highway patrolmen to the present 200-man force.

The governor directed critical remarks at the agricultural department, the liquor control board and the game, fish and oyster commission.

He said the agricultural appropriation of $499,049 was too high "but the bill is so drawn that it would be only a waste of time for the governor to veto individual items."

He asserted the same condition applied to the liquor control board, adding:

"I think my desire to see the liquor laws in Texas enforced to the fullest extent is well known, but I certainly do not believe that the wide discretion of spending money which this bill grants to the liquor control board should be permitted but as the bill is drawn there is nothing the governor can do about it."

The governor said there was not a department where there was more need for a change in spending methods than in the game, fish and oyster commission.

He complained that the commission has appropriated revenue from many special funds and, in addition, unexpended balances of these funds existing on Sept. 1.

He said further the commission had an excessive number of employees and the bill added more to the payroll.

Expenditures by the commission for the year ended Aug. 31, 1940, totaled $692,949, he asserted, but only $19,263 was expended for purchase of game and feed for game and fish.

"Is it any wonder that no progress is being made in replenishing game on the farms and ranches of this state?" the governor questioned.

"Is there any wonder that so little progress is being made in replenishing fish in the inland lakes and small streams of this state when out of a total expenditure of $922,549 only $19,263 was expended for purchase of game and feed for game and fish?"

Banks, the city hall and court house, the Pampa Retail Merchants association, barber shops, department stores, furniture, clothing, and other stores plan to observe the national holiday by closing all day, according to the Chamber of Commerce statement.

WHEN O'DANIEL TOOK LEAD

Governor and Mrs. O'Daniel smile their pleasure at the announcement that the Governor has taken the lead in the tabulation of returns in the special election to fill Senate vacancy left by death of Sen. Morris Sheppard.

Still Possibility Of Error In Senate Vote

DALLAS, July 2 (AP)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, who three years ago was plugging flour on a radio program with hitfully music and songs of his own composition, appeared today to have defeated Lyndon Johnson, young new deal congressman, by a narrow margin in a special senatorial election.

After trailing through the earlier stages of vote counting, O'Daniel polled 1095 votes more than Johnson on the basis of complete unofficial returns announced by the Texas Election Bureau late yesterday.

Although Bob Johnson, election bureau manager, said the returns from all the state's 254 counties had been carefully checked, he warned there was still a possibility of error.

Congressman Martin Dies, chairman of a house committee investigating un-American activities, and Attorney General Gerald C. Mann lagged far behind O'Daniel and Johnson in the senatorial contest—one of the closest statewide elections the state has ever conducted.

Of the 571,095 votes tabulated by the election bureau, the final count showed:

O'Daniel, 175,368.
Johnson, 174,273.
Mann, 140,853.
Dies, 80,801.

The bureau said it would issue no more reports unless corrections were necessary.

The election was held to choose a successor to Senator Morris Sheppard, who died last April 9 in Washington. Only a plurality was required, hence no runoff will be necessary.

The death of Andrew Jackson Houston, who was named by the governor to serve as senator until a special election could be held, occurred two days before balloting started. Houston, 87, was the son of Sam Houston, one of Texas' most famous heroes.

Johnson declared at Washington, where he went by plane yesterday, that until the "canvass is complete, I have no statement other than to thank my loyal friends and supporters who did so much toward helping me get my message to the people of Texas."

Police Chief and Mrs. J. B. Wilkinson and son returned yesterday from Washington where Chief Wilkinson spent the past three months attending an FBI national police academy training course.

Chief Wilkinson was one of four officers in Texas selected to take the course. Sheriff Harry Rathjen of Canadian, Hemphill county, also took the course. He will return home this week.

The chief was at his desk in the city hall today, glad to be back in Pampa after grinding 12 to 15 hours a day in Washington.

"I thought I knew something about police work and law enforcement but I soon changed my mind when I got into the course," Chief Wilkinson said today. "They have absolutely nothing out and the equipment they have in FBI headquarters cannot be explained."

Chief Wilkinson plans to conduct a school for all officers on the force.

City commissioners granted Chief Wilkinson leave of absence to take the course.

City commissioners granted Chief Wilkinson leave of absence to take the course.

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, was assisted by a group of men whose name read like a "Who's Who." They came from the bench, from the bar, scientific laboratories—even the church—to supplement the labors of associates wise in the ways of the criminal world.

Studied by the officers were every known law violation from overtime parking to murder and sabotage. Cause of crime played an important part in the school as the FBI tries to prevent crime.

Use of all types of equipment in studying crime was explained and the officers had to learn how to use the equipment.

"Don't jump at conclusions," is the unvarying rule of the modern investigator, the chief said.

Much time was spent in the gymnasium and on the gunnery range and Chief Wilkinson came back with a lot of respect for the old fashioned shotgun.

Fire Destroys 100 Acres Of Wheat

Fire destroyed nearly 100 acres of wheat on the Lyman Jackson farm five miles north of Pampa yesterday afternoon. The loss might have been much greater but Fire Chief Ben White and four members of the city fire department drove to the scene and organized farmers of the area who kept the blaze from spreading.

Cause of the fire is unknown but it is believed to have been caused by a piece of cloth on the combine igniting and dropping into the grain.

The fire was whipped by a strong southeast wind and for a time it was feared the flames would jump across a road and ignite wheat in nearby fields. Weeds along the road, however, saved additional loss.

The area burned was said to be making between 15 and 20 bushels to the acre, farmers said.

Another fire was reported six miles northeast of Pampa this morning but most of the blaze was confined to stubble.

Whole Armies Cut To Pieces, Huns Claim

Drive Toward Moscow Stopped, Russians Aver

(By The Associated Press) BERLIN, July 2 (AP)—Although a German spokesman asserted five days ago that Minsk, capital of White Russia, had fallen to the Germans, its capture had not been announced by the high command tonight.

Activities of the German advance column reported to be on the road leading to Moscow from Minsk were kept secret. (The Germans have indicated that this column by-passed Minsk to strike quickly at the important highway from there to the Soviet capital.)

Adolph Hitler's headquarters declared today that a large part of the Russian army trapped east of Bialystok—estimated at 400,000 troops—has been destroyed, with 100,000 prisoners taken and 400 tanks and 300 field cannon seized or destroyed.

While gigantic battles raged on land, the British radio reported that units of the Russian Black Sea fleet shelled and destroyed the German-occupied naval base at Constanta, on the Rumanian coast.

The Berlin radio quoted the Nazi high command as saying that German troops had "smashed strong Soviet forces in the area of Kaunas and captured their entire arms and equipment," including 94 armored cars, 250 guns, 28 anti-aircraft guns, 81 tanks and 500 machine guns. The Germans claimed the capture of Kaunas, the capital of Sovietized Lithuania, on Sunday.

The German high command said the drive into the U.S.S.R. was "progressing swiftly."

It also said that German troops "together with their Finnish allies" had started an attack across the Soviet frontier from central and northern Finland.

The German Fuehrer's headquarters, in a special communique, also asserted that another 220 Red army tanks had been captured or destroyed in a battle on the Galician front, near the Soviet Ukraine, which ended yesterday.

More than 4,000 German and Russian tanks had been reported locked in battle in that sector.

Two whole Russian armies were reported to have been caught in the German snare, and apparently both were cut to pieces.

The official German communique declared:

A large part of Soviet armies encircled east of Bialystok was totally destroyed in the course of yesterday.

'Common Citizens' Given Credit For O'Daniel Victory

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today said his success in the special senatorial election, based on unofficial returns, was a "grand victory for the great rank and file of the common citizens of Texas who have fought this battle with me."

The text of his formal statement follows:

"The results of the election show that the citizens of Texas have elected me as their United States senator."

"I do not consider this a personal victory but a grand victory for the great rank and file of the common citizens of Texas who have fought this battle with me."

"I sincerely thank each and every one of my friends for their loyalty and support in this bitterly contested campaign."

"The campaign is over. Let us all try to forget any interpartisan things which may have been said and done during the campaign, and all join together in working for the good of our state and nation, during this period of grave national emergency and world crisis."

Race Riot Follows Ducking Of Negro

PHILADELPHIA, July 2 (AP)—Ducking of a 14-year-old negro by white youths at a swimming pool brought on race rioting which flared for hours during the night in teeming North Philadelphia. More than a score of persons were injured.

Fifty police cars and several hundred patrolmen rushed into the troubled zone in answer to six riot calls stemming from a free-for-all battle at the athletic recreation center pool used by whites and negroes at different times. Thousands of persons gathered about the streets but few actually engaged in the melee.

Fists and knives were used in the initial skirmish, three white boys being slashed before police arrived. After this fight was broken up and the pool closed, sporadic outbreaks occurred about the streets with combatants wielding milk bottles, bricks, stones, baseball bats and pokers.

Legislature To Adjourn Tomorrow

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—The legislature decided finally to adjourn its long general session sine die tomorrow at 6 p. m.

The session is the longest in the history of Texas legislatures. It will end on the 171st day.

Final action leading to decision on the question of adjournment was voted by acceptance by the senate of a house proposal to adjourn at 6 p. m. The senate previously advocated noon.

Lindbergh Would Rather Be Ally Of Nazis Than Reds

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh, denouncing Russia and European entanglements, pleaded for "an independent destiny for America" amid prolonged applause at an overflow mass meeting sponsored by the America First committee here last night.

The crowd filled the 12,000 seats of the Civic auditorium before the meeting began and overflowed into the street where they listened to outdoor loudspeakers. About 7,000 seats were free.

The audience roared its loudest approval when Lindbergh declared: "I would a hundred times rather see my country ally herself with England, or even with Germany with all her faults, than with the cruelty, the godlessness, and the barbarism that exist in Soviet Russia."

"But there is one thing upon which we can agree, upon which we are not divided, and that is that we are ready to fight for America if the need should ever arise."

102 Register For Selective Service Draft

A total of 102 new potential soldiers for Uncle Sam was added to the list from Gray county as the second R-day was held here yesterday and men who had become 21 years old since October 16 last year registered with the Gray County Selective Service board.

The board was one-half of the estimated enrollment. Registrations were received right up to the deadline, which came at 9 o'clock last night.

Separation of registration cards and mailing of those cards that go to other boards will be the next step, which is to be done today.

Then, on July 9, the office will assign serial numbers to the new registrants.

On the next day, the 11 men selected from the October 16 registration, to answer the July call from Gray, will report at the office preparatory to reporting July 11 at the induction station at Fort Bliss, El Paso.

Need Of Library Service In Gray County Cited

"Twenty-three thousand people in Gray county need library service," Mrs. Alva Christian of McLean said when a group of Gray county citizens met in the county court room recently for a discussion of circulating libraries.

Mrs. Christian quoted Christopher Morley in the following words: "It's no good writing down lists of books for farmers and compiling five-foot shelves. You've got to go out and visit the people yourself, take the books to them, talk to the teachers and tell the children stories—and then little by little you begin to get good books circulating in the veins of the nation. It's a great work, mind you!"

Mrs. Virginia Crabtree, librarian of the Amarillo Senior High school, expressed the opinion that country boys and girls have fewer contacts than city children and therefore have greater need for books.

Saved Red Face Rather than have a confused guest embarrassed to find himself alone in doing so, Dolly Madison, wife of President James Madison, once drank from her finger bowl.

No Smart Woman Of 50 Is A "Sweet Little Old Lady"

BY ALICIA HART
There's no reason in the world why any modern woman should have the "sweet little old lady" look of fifty. Not that it isn't a completely charming look. Poets have sung its praises for centuries. It's just that, these days, fifty is too early an age for it. There's plenty of time, after sixty, to settle down to "sweet little old lady" clothes, mannerisms and makeup.

Your smart, modern woman of fifty stands as tall and straight as she did at thirty-five. She walks gracefully, light-footedly. She wears clothes which are dignified, but not just plain dull. She changes her hair style frequently. She uses cosmetics sparingly, of course, but she wouldn't consider going without any makeup at all.

She does not try to stay as slim as her youngest daughter, but neither does she kid herself into thinking that excess weight isn't aging. Realizing that she is not as active as she was fifteen years ago, she tries to get a reasonable amount of exercise—by walking downtown now and then instead of taking the car, and by doing some stretching and limbering exercises a couple of times a week as the years go on, she tries to eat a little less as she exercises a little less.

Most importantly, she avoids a complacent attitude. She doesn't say to herself, "This is the way I am and this is the way I look, and it's too late to change."

IT HELPS TO REMAIN MENTALLY ALERT
Nobody wants her to change radically. But it isn't bright for her to ignore all that science has discovered in the way of preparations to keep the skin unlined and clear, rules for healthful, energy-giving eating, sound theories for keeping the body limber and youthful.

And it isn't a good idea for her to have no interests outside of housekeeping and possibly gardening. If she reads and keeps up with what is going on around her, remaining mentally alert as well as physically active, she won't have "the sweet little old lady" look years before it could possibly be coming to her.

Lest You Become Infected, Treat Gossip As Disease

By RUTH MILLET
It's a crying shame that so many writers of fiction have looked at small town gossip through rosy glasses and painted it as something folksy and harmless and a little bit funny.

It ought never to be shown in any light, but the vicious, destructive thing it is.

The gossip of a small town is responsible for as much frustration as all the poverty in the community.

And it is probably as much the desire to escape the forever wagging tongues of the busy-bodies as to find greener pastures that drives a small town's up-and-coming young people to cities to live.

No, most of the gossip in a town where everybody knows everybody is far from harmless, and far from funny.

DOES EVEN GOSSIPER HARM
It does something ugly to the person who repeats it. It usually causes humiliation to the person being talked about—perhaps even to a whole family, or to more than one.

It imposes a "keep-your-business-to-yourself" attitude on the majority of folks that makes them less interesting, less real, less entertaining human beings than they would be if they weren't so afraid of what the gossips would do to the most innocent actions and expressions of opinion.

If a community would treat its most vicious gossip as though it were the smallest, god deal of the more destructive gossip could be stopped.

president laughed at the idea of a freighter being a bookkeeper, but said that, since no negroes were in town, he could use a janitor. I took that job, although it only paid $20 a month and I was making $40 or more at freighting. I thought I might work up to something."

A month later something happened to the bookkeeper, and Stevenson offered to fill the gap. The president asked if he could "take off a trial balance."

"I told him I could," Stevenson said, "and, while I didn't do it as quickly as the regular man, in a reasonable time I had it. After that when anything happened, they showed me in at keeping books."

In March, 1920, when 20 years old, the cashier resigned, and the bank board of directors were willing to give Stevenson that position. His age, however, was an obstacle. He was not old enough to make the necessary bond.

District court was in session, so he hurried over, talked to the judge and his disabilities as a minor were removed. All in the same day he was made cashier.

The next four or five years were occupied with "routine," but Stevenson embarked on studies which profoundly affected his life. He began to read law.

Presently he appeared before the San Antonio court of civil appeals, passed the examination and was admitted to the bar.

On Dec. 24, 1912, he married Miss Fay Wright.

Under agreement with the bank directors, he "practiced a little law on the side," taking care not to "alienate some good customer of the bank."

Peeling an urge to enter politics and pressed by friends to do so, he ran for county attorney of Kimble county, was elected and served from 1914 to 1918. Then he was county judge until 1921.

Stevenson continued to practice law. Friends say he is one of the greatest criminal lawyers in Texas.

His real estate properties have expanded hugely, and now include an 8,000-acre ranch on which his home of natural rock is located. The ranch is 17 miles southwest of Junction.

In 1928 the incumbent representative from Kimble county retired from the legislature, and Stevenson was elected to the place, making the race, he said, "because I thought the ranch people needed representation."

Four times he was re-elected for two-year terms.

In 1933, during the second term of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as governor, he was chosen speaker, and in 1935, when James V. Alford moved into the governor's office, he smashed precedent by winning the honor a second time. He is not the only man who has twice been speaker. But none other has been speaker for consecutive terms.

His legion of friends among present and former representatives swear that Stevenson was one of the greatest speakers and presiding officers in the history of all Texas houses.

They describe him as an exceptionally able parliamentarian, a fair umpire, a man of rare good judgment in expediting the important business of the house and legislature.

After his second term as speaker, Stevenson returned to his seat on the floor as an unadorned representative.

In 1938, he was elected lieutenant-governor after a hard campaign.

He was re-elected in 1940 without difficulty, receiving 797,784 votes, compared with 160,722 for Alton M. Brad of San Angelo and 113,341 for Charles Lavergne Somerville of Dallas.

Stevenson gives his wife much credit for his political successes. Not only her abilities as a campaigner, but also her wide acquaintanceship, he says, has been big aids to him.

New passenger car registrations in 110 principal cities for the first 28 days of April were 34.26 per cent higher than during the same period last year.

German Battleship At Brest Bombed

LONDON, July 2 (AP)—The RAF sent strong forces across the channel into northern France in daylight again today after an attack last night on the German base at Brest where British bombs were said to have straddled the dock of a German battleship. Watchers on the English southeast coast said there was "very great activity" over the channel by many British squadrons late this morning and in the early afternoon. Waves of planes, often so high they could only be heard, swept in and out over the coast and distant rumble of explosions indicated that the RAF's targets were well inland.

battlefield as a scent of carnage. The German high command termed the fighting "unusually bloody" and said the Russians were hurling regiments headlong against the ring of Nazi troops, tanks and guns encircling them. Previously, the Germans declared that the original encirclement had been tightened and broken into three separate rings, dividing the trapped Red soldiers. Before this German claim, the U.S.S.R. reported it had stopped the fierce Nazi drives aimed at Moscow and Leningrad and had annihilated advance German tank forces in the central front. In the south, a Soviet war bulletin said, other heavy blows were struck at German forces driving into the Luck area, gateway to the Ukraine treasure-house of wheat, coal and iron. In the north, above the Arctic Circle, the Russians reported that Soviet troops were putting up "fierce resistance" against a German offensive on the Sredni Peninsula, at the north entrance to the ice-free port of Murmansk. Moscow dispatches said the Arctic-Black Sea front was now becoming stabilized near the old Russian border. The St. Lawrence seaway, if approved, will open a channel stretching 2,000 miles from Minnesota to the North Atlantic. The 57-mile Rockefeller Memorial Highway between Toms River, N. Mediation Board Issues Ultimatum To Cartridge Plant

(By The Associated Press) The defense mediation board today set a time limit, 5 p. m. (E. S. T.) tomorrow, for the management of Western Cartridge Co., Alton, Ill., to accept or reject the board's recommendation that it recognize the AFL Chemical Workers union for its smokeless powder workers, and thus avert a strike set for next Sunday. Ralph Seward, board secretary, served this notice on John Olin, vice-president of the firm which holds about $100,000,000 in defense orders for small arms ammunition. The board's recommendation was made Saturday. The board has declared that the sole issue is whether the company shall recognize the AFL union as bargaining agent for some 550 employees in Alton plant's smokeless powder division. There are 6,500 workers in all at the plant. The union was certified by the National Labor Relations board, but the company has signified its intention of withholding recognition until the NLRB order has been appealed to the courts. An independent union representing the other workers has waived its claim to jurisdiction over the smokeless powder division.

Panhandle Gas Goes To Michigan

LANSING, July 2 (AP)—The Michigan Public Service commission today approved the petition of the Consumer's Power company to serve 66 municipalities with natural gas from Texas and Kansas. The commission approved a 15-year contract between the utility and the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline company requiring at least 70 per cent of the salable mixture be from Texas and Kansas. The order estimates a sufficient supply from the foreign fields for 25 years. The new temporary rates accompanying the order would result in a 21 per cent reduction to 122,000 domestic and 6,557 commercial customers on the average, an annual reduction in company revenue of $1,000,000. Space-heating rates will be reduced approximately 38 per cent for 359 customers. The order calls for the pipeline company to spend $4,633,000 for a line to bring the gas to Michigan and for the company to spend $246,000 to connect the line to its existing Michigan line.

FDR Hopes U. S. Will Remain Out Of Hitler's War

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 2 (AP)—The American people today had assurance from their President that he was hopeful the United States would remain out of the war. But even if conflict is avoidable, a spending program approaching $40,000,000,000 is being devoted for the most part to defense and aid to countries already battling the Axis. It was a press conference yesterday that the chief executive repeated an expression of hope that America would not have to fight. He left no uncertainty, however, that what he entertained was a hope rather than a definite belief about the chances of avoiding war. Americans certainly are all against war, he told newsmen, just as they are all against sin. Referring to war polls being conducted by Rep. Hamilton Fish (R-NY) and by the New

Prostitutes On Move, Says Army Maneuver Official

BATON ROUGE, La., July 2 (AP)—State Safety Director Steve Alford declared today that prostitutes were "on the move" out of the entire army maneuver area, roughly half of Louisiana, after 34 had been arrested. All the arrests made in connection with the drive were in the Shreveport and Leesville areas, Alford said. "Everywhere else they seem to have got the idea and they are moving out," the director said. "Shreveport is 100 per cent closed up. They even moved their furniture out." The drive was undertaken at the suggestion of the army, which asked that to maneuver area be cleaned up before the autumn maneuvers bring 500,000 troops into the state. York Daily News, he said the people would vote only one way on whether they favored war.

Strike Called In Protest Against Employment Of 75 WPA Painters

(By The Associated Press)
In a strike which union leaders termed a national test of the use of WPA labor at sub-union wages, the AFL building trades council at St. Louis instructed between 1,500 and 2,000 workmen today to stay away from their jobs on a $4,000,000 construction project at Jefferson barracks.

The walkout was ordered in protest to the employment of 75 WPA painters. E. M. Bayne, deputy state WPA administrator, declared however that "our men will remain on the job. The projects have been certified as necessary to national defense."

Other labor developments included:

Cleveland—United Automobile workers-CIO began voting on whether to strike to enforce their demand for a wage increase of 10 cents an hour at the White Motor company. Their current wage rate was not disclosed.

Los Angeles—The last remaining detachment of 1,500 soldiers was relieved from further duty at the North American Aviation company plant after final settlement of the CIO-called strike there was announced. The soldiers took over the plant June 9, broke a five-day strike. Terms of the strike settlement included pay increases which the union estimated at $7,000,000 a year for 9,000 employees in a modified form of closed CIO shop.

KEARNY, N. J.—An official of the CIO Shipbuilders union declared there was no danger "whatsoever" of a strike against the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company which holds $400,000 in navy and maritime commission contracts. The national defense mediation board has stepped into a dispute between the union and management involving the workers' demand for wage raises, paid vacations and a modified union shop. The union seeks to have the present minimum of 62½ cents an hour lifted to 72 cents. The present labor contract expires at midnight Monday.

SAN FRANCISCO—Members of the CIO Communications union voted to strike against press, wireless, newspaper wireless service, unless 20 per cent wage increases were granted. Present wages were reported to be $45 and $50 a week. The company has offered a 5 per cent raise.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—The buying side of the stock market had a better following today and such groups as steel, rail, farm implements and industrial specialties pushed ahead fractions to a point or more.

Some sections were unresponsive to the turn and volume of around 400,000 shares, while an improvement over Tuesday, failed to indicate a break in the supply of buyers and sellers.

Stocks retreated from their best levels under some late selling. Closing with some gains were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Case, International Harvester, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Anaconda, DuPont, Union Carbide, Santa Fe and Pennsylvania. Commonwealth & Southern preferred jumped several points on the announcement of plans for its reorganization in connection with the company's integration. Standard Oil (NJ) and Post-Office reached new 1941 highs.

Chicago wheat closed ¼ to ½ cent a bushel higher. Corn was down ¼ to ½ cent. Cotton in late trades was 35 to 40 cents a bale higher.

HEY! YOU ON THE RIGHT! SMILE!

German censor passed this new picture but he should have cut out that doleful grin on the right, who obviously isn't co-operating with the official photographer. Maybe he's one of Hitler's parachutists now floating down onto Russian soil. Photo was made in a troop transport plane.

Defense May Bring Texas $12,085,070

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The government may spend as much as $12,085,070 in Texas for community facilities in the areas of army camps, shipbuilding yards and other defense activities.

Terms of the Lanham Act—sponsored by Representative Fritz Lanham of Fort Worth, authorize the appropriation of $150,000,000 for expenditure by the federal works agency on such facilities throughout the country.

Testing before a senate committee during consideration of the Lanham bill (HR 4545) before it became law, defense officials submitted tables showing needed facilities throughout the country. Included were schools, sewer systems and the like in Texas totaling the $12,085,070.

The FWA officials, who will determine which projects would be selected, pointed out that $150,000,000 would be insufficient to construct all the improvements shown in their lists. Priorities in allocations would be based on relative needs. (Actually, the money yet must be appropriated, for the Lanham act was only authorization legislation.)

Proposed Texas projects under the group for water supplies and sewage systems, hospitals and health centers totaled $9,709,000. Proposed schools for children on federal reservations totaled $411,810, schools for those not residing on reservations, $959,230, recreational facilities, $945,000.

A breakdown on recommended improvements under the first of these four groups included:

Coprus Christi area—water supply, $375,000; sewage collection, $375,000; hospital, $500,000; health center, $35,000; Total, $1,285,000.

Galveston—water supply, $67,500; sewage collection, $101,000; health center, $35,000; Total, $203,500.

Camp Barkeley, Abilene—water supply, $262,500; sewage collection, $120,000; sewage treatment, $340,000; hospital, $200,000; health center, $35,000; Total, $957,500.

Wichita Falls area—water supply, $150,000; sewage collection, $172,000; sewage treatment, $200,000; hospital, $120,000; health center, $35,000; Total, $677,000.

San Angelo airfield—health center, $35,000; Total, $35,000.

Listed also at school facilities, but with no estimates of costs given, were Camp Hulon and Camp Wallace.

In the group showing needed school facilities for children not residing on federal reservations were the same places named in the group with children on federal reservations. Total of proposed projects in that group was $959,230.

New buildings, alterations and equipment would account for $6,127,355 of this sum; maintenance, transportation and teachers' salaries for the remainder.

Construction was recommended as follows:

Camp Wallace, $1,042,000.

Needed recreational facilities in Texas contained in the lists were: Abilene, $120,000; Coprus Christi, $120,000; Galveston, $120,000; Orange, Port Arthur and Beaumont, as a group, $75,000.

McClintic Becomes Ickes Assistant

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Appointment of James V. McClintic, former member of congress from Oklahoma, as his special assistant was announced today by Interior Secretary Ickes.

McClintic will act as liaison officer between congress and the Interior department on legislative matters.

Born in Brenford, Texas, in 1878, McClintic served in the house of representatives from 1915 to 1929. Upon expiration of that service he became executive assistant to the governor of Oklahoma, in 1940 he was appointed administrative assistant in the department of vehicles and traffic of the District of Columbia.

Germany Claims High Losses For Britain On Seas

BERLIN, July 2 (AP)—German submarines have sunk seven British merchant ships totaling 40,200 tons off West Africa and in the North Atlantic and the Luftwaffe has destroyed three more vessels totaling 11,500 tons in waters around England, the German high command announced today.

Its communique said one hostile steamer had been damaged by gunfire and another large vessel crippled by bombers in English waters.

It also reported that German and Italian planes had scored bomb hits on a British light cruiser and two destroyers off the North African coast while German Stukas yesterday destroyed two merchant vessels in the harbor of besieged Tobruk.

Russia Indicates It Expects Long War

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Soviet Russia indicated that it expected a long war today by proceeding with preliminary negotiations for the purchase of vital supplies in the United States.

Russia's decision to begin shopping here for such material that can be spared was looked on as a Soviet expression of confidence that Russia, despite initial Nazi successes, would be able to halt Hitler's newest blitzkrieg sort of victory.

Informed officials here said that Russian representatives in this country undoubtedly are aware that, with few exceptions, delivery of any purchases they make is bound to be long deferred. Because of this fact, they believed that the Russians were thinking in terms of a long-range program.

Talley Wins Child, Husband Censured By Superior Judge

LOS ANGELES, July 2 (AP)—Marion Talley has a divorce, full custody of her daughter Susan, and assurance of Superior Judge Ingall W. Bull that no more court fights are to be instituted over possession of the 6-year-old child.

Judge Bull awarded Miss Talley, former opera and movie singer, a divorce from Adolph G. Ekstrom, her former New York voice coach, yesterday. He gave her Susan and restrained Ekstrom from prosecuting further, in any state, any issues involving her. The trial consumed six weeks and two days.

Further, Judge Bull reprimanded Ekstrom for making morals charges against Miss Talley. Declared he:

"I feel that the charges of immorality, impropriety and adulterous conduct made by the defendant are false and untrue.

"It is most regrettable that this innocent child is the one who must suffer most in this case. The charges are most unfortunate and I think that they have done the child irreparable injury. x x x

"And it seems to me that anyone who would have a normal love and affection which a father has for his child would not have made these serious charges of immorality, impropriety and adulterous conduct without any evidence to support them."

Wavell Transferred Suddenly To India

LONDON, July 2 (AP)—Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell was suddenly transferred today from the middle east to India, and surprised Britons speculated on the possibility that the government favored a quick German victory over Soviet Russia, and a subsequent Nazi drive on the Ganges.

The transfer, in fact, was a switch of commands, Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, 57-year-old Scot, moving from India to the middle east, the British public knows little, has served in Egypt, Aden, Iraq, Kurdistan and India. He was named commander-in-chief of India last January 27 after distinguishing himself by directing the British attack on Narvik, Norway, and organizing English coastal defenses.

At the same time the appointment of Capt. Oliver Lyttelton as minister of state and a member of the war cabinet to represent the cabinet in the middle east was announced.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill today refused to make a statement in the House of Commons which might explain the reason for the change. Denying a request for such a statement by Leslie Hore-Belisha, former war minister, Churchill said: "I do not see any advantage in addition to information already given at the present time."

Hore-Belisha raised the point that Lyttelton as minister of state was "constitutionally responsible to parliament" and declared he would "ask some questions clearer" at a future date.

LOCAL WHEAT MARKET

Wheat on the local market was bringing 84 cents a bushel today but only a small amount was being delivered to elevators. Cutting is becoming more general every day and the quality is improving as dry weather continues.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—Medium sized mill orders and purchases of previous short sellers helped to lift wheat prices almost a cent at times today.

However, the market could not hold all its gain in the face of hedging sales associated with liquidation of old and new "free" grain and selling inspired by forecast of the largest domestic harvest in a decade, except for that of 1938. Private crop experts estimated total 1941 production at 899,000,000 bushels and their reports showed that while winter wheat prospects had declined the west wheat crop was more than offset by improvement in the spring wheat belt.

Wheat closed 3/4¢ higher than yesterday, July 1.04 1/4, September 1.05 1/2, 1/2, September 75 1/2; oats 1/4¢ off to 34¢ up.

Farmers Still Complain Of Too Much Rain

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—Farm work and crops progressed in most of the western two-thirds of the state during the past week, the United States Department of Agriculture marketing service said today.

In the eastern third, from the Red River to the Rio Grande, and in parts of North Texas the oft-heard story of too much rain was repeated.

The need for dry weather and sunshine in most of the state became critical. Grains and hay were yet to be harvested and planting of long-delayed row crops had not been completed, the report declared.

Wheat harvest got under way in most of the Panhandle and continued in other areas but was slowed somewhat by wet fields.

Of the planned acreage of row crops, the proportion planted to date was greatly increased. Practically all of the corn was in the ground and that in South Texas was near maturity.

In other sections, corn was in the silk and tassel stages. Grain sorghums were being planted all through the North and Northwest sections and had reached maturity and were being harvested in South Texas, the survey showed.

The condition of cotton was very spotted over the entire state. In all districts some cotton was just up, while often in the same localities some was forming squares, and in the eastern and southern areas the earlier cotton was blooming and maturing bolls.

In the eastern third of the state frequent rains during the week again interfered with cultivation and chipping, and cotton failed to show improvement, it was stated.

The tomato harvest was active in all East Texas districts.

As their mainstay during winter, backwoodsmen once packed pork in brine barrels.

Government Fixes Barley Loan Rates

Rates on government loans to barley growers of Gray and other Texas counties were announced by P. C. Colgin, state loan supervisor for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, yesterday.

Gray is one of the 55 Texas counties in which farm storage barley loans on 1941 production are available.

The following rates on farm-stored barley will be in effect in Texas: No. 1, 45 cents; No. 2, 44 cents; No. 3, 42 cents; No. 4, 39 cents; No. 5, 35 cents. Rates on warehouse-stored barley will be 7 cents less for all grades.

Preliminary announcement of the loan rate was made at a district I area meeting of farm agents held June 17 in Amarillo, at which Supervisor Colgin was present. The schedule, however, was not released until Tuesday in a dispatch from College Station.

Counties, other than Gray, in which farm-storage barley loans can be made are: Archer, Armstrong, Bailey, Baylor, Eriscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Cochran, Collingsworth, Cottle, Crosby, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Donley, Floyd, Foard, Garza, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hardeman, Haskell, Hemphill, Hockley, Hutchinson, Kent, King, Knox, Lamb, Lipscomb, Lubbock, Lynn, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Stonewall, Swisher, Terry, Throckmorton, Wheeler, Wichita, Wilbarger, Yoakum, and Young.

Five Pass Life Saving Tests Here

One Pampa youth successfully passed the senior life saving and water safety test and four passed the junior test, conducted by Jack Skelly, American Red Cross Life Saving and Water Safety examiner.

Senior certificate will go to Robert L. Edson with junior certificates given to Joe Cree, Frank Prieuf, Jr., Charlie Duenkel, Jr., and Randall Clay. Edson is now eligible to be a life guard.

Edson completed 17 hours of instruction with a written and oral examination. The juniors completed 15 hours of instruction with an oral examination.

Another course for both juniors and seniors will be conducted in August, Mr. Skelly said today.

27 Bodies Still Sought In Maine Marine Disaster

HARPSWELL, Me., July 2 (AP)—While search went on today for bodies of 27 of the 37 victims of Maine's worst marine disaster, a difference of opinion developed among officials as to whether the cabin cruiser Don was overloaded when it went to the bottom of Casco bay on Sunday.

State Shore and Fisheries Warden John Stevens, who was aboard the Don the day before it sailed with a gay group of picnickers from nearby Rumford and Mexico, declared that the vessel was "over-crowded." James A. Troit, deputy collector of customs at Portland, commented that he did not consider the passenger load excessive for the size of the craft, although he said it was not licensed to carry passengers for hire.

Meanwhile, the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, proceeded with an investigation of the tragedy.

Evidence of an explosion was seen by coast guard searchers in the condition of some of the bodies and the debris.

None of the first nine recovered bodies—two men and seven women—bore life preservers when they were picked up yesterday in the waters or along the shores of Casco bay. Two other bodies were held aboard fog-bound search craft overnight.

With every indication that there were no survivors of the trip that started so gaily, the disaster took the highest toll of life in New England waters since 47 perished in the Mackinac tragedy in Narragansett Bay, R. I., 16 years ago.

American Fliers Bag Three Planes

LONDON, July 2 (AP)—American fliers in the Eagle squadron were credited with bagging three of a total of 17 German planes claimed by the RAF today in a series of daylight raids in Northern France.

Strong RAF forces smashed across the channel late this morning and squadrons of fighters and bombers still were streaking over Northern France during the afternoon, following up a night attack in which British bombs were said to have straddled the dock of a German battleship at Brest.

The RAF acknowledged that two bombers and seven fighters were lost in the daylight sweeps, the first large scale offensive against occupied France in which the American Eagle squadron acknowledged taking part.

Grave State Of Emergency Seen By Jap Government

TOKYO, July 2 (AP)—The government announced today it had chosen a policy for coping with the crisis arising from the Russian-German war and Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka told the nation that "a grave state of emergency is developing before our eyes throughout the world, particularly in East Asia."

The nature of the government's decision, even its general trend, remained undisclosed despite statements issued by the cabinet and Matsuoka after a morning conference at the Imperial palace in which generals and admirals of the high command met with key members of the cabinet in the presence of Emperor Hirohito.

Domel, Japanese news agency, declared that "quarters close to the government" indicated the empire's course would be disclosed by action rather than words.

"While maintaining secrecy externally the government intends to pursue its policy internally to translate into action whatever decisions were taken at the imperial conference," Domel said.

Some conception of the precision involved in the production of aircraft engines can be obtained by a comparison of the weights of the display pieces. The crankshaft forging weighs 274 pounds, the finished shaft 168 pounds.

OILERS-CLOVIS SERIES WILL OPEN HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

Doubleheader To Be Played On July 4th

Rain necessitated cancelling last night's game between the Pampa Oilers and the Clovis Pioneers. Weather permitting the two teams will play a doubleheader tonight.

Tomorrow night the same two teams will come to Pampa for the first of three games. The other two battles will be staged Friday afternoon, July 4, with the first game called at 2:30 o'clock. The first game will be nine innings and the second seven innings, by agreement.

Last night's postponement marked the fourth time this season that the Oilers and Pioneers have been rained out in Clovis. They lost three games because of rain in one stand at Clovis.

The rest last night will be beneficial to the Pampa pitching staff which weakened on the last home stand, four pitchers being used in a doubleheader Sunday. The Oilers have lost three straight, longest losing streak since the opening of the season.

On Saturday the Oilers will leave for Wichita Falls for the first games on a road trip that will keep them away until July 12 when they return home with Big Spring, league leaders.

One of the postponed games in Clovis will be "lost." The Oilers and Pioneers play only one more game in Clovis, after tonight, and with two games to be made up it will be impossible to make up one of the games. If rain interferes tonight, three games will be lost, leaving the Oilers playing less than the 140 games scheduled.

It will be impossible to make up the lost game here because of lack of time, one game already being postponed.

DAILY CATCH

Both men shown above, Howard Hamilton, left, and Harry Amick, right, are back in Pampa now, but both still talk about the good fishing in Buchanan Lake near Austin where Mr. and Mrs. Amick own and operate fishing cabins and boats. Mr. Hamilton and his family recently spent a week fishing at the lake, and the string of fish pictured above was only one of the strings which they hooked daily, they claimed. The fish are bass.

In 1940 world production of crude oil amounted to about 2,150,000,000 barrels and production of related fuels (natural gasoline, benzol, synthetic mineral oils from coal and oil shale, and other fuels) was estimated at 110,000,000 barrels, making total production 2,260,000,000 barrels.

All Stars Beat Junior Oilers

The Pampa Junior Oilers played their first game of the season yesterday when they met the Pampa All Stars in an exhibition tussle. The veterans beat the youngsters 12 to 8 but had a tough time.

Bob Batley, formerly of the Pampa Oilers, was on the mound for the All Stars with Henry Stephens, formerly of the Magnolia Flying Red Horses behind the plate.

Bybee worked for the Oilers with Davis behind the plate. The kid battery looked good most of the way.

It was Stevens who broke up the ball game with a triple and three singles on four trips to the plate. Tommy Adkins bagged a double and single and Potts tripled for the Oilers.

Other youngsters in uniform for the Oilers were Coats on first, Arthur, second, Adkins, short, Folia, third, Isbell, left field, Korbow, center field, and Spencer, right field. Playing for the All Stars were Fred McCahey, Claude Heiskell, Grover Heiskell, Stephenson, Brown, Johnson and White.

Reds Claim German Tank Vanguards At Minsk Wiped Out

MOSCOW, July 2 (AP)—The Red army and airforce reported today it had wiped out German tank vanguards in the Minsk and Dvinsk areas and checked fierce drives apparently aimed at Moscow and Leningrad.

Both land troops and bombing planes were credited with smashing the tank spearheads. An air attack on tanks, troops and supply trains, a communique said, had checked "the advance of motorized infantry" which followed tanks.

Farther south, a Soviet communique declared, other heavy blows were struck at strong German forces in the Luck area, gateway to the Ukraine.

Far to the north, above the Arctic Circle, a German offensive against the Sredni Peninsula, guarding the northern entrance to the ice-free port of Murmansk, was reported meeting "fierce resistance" by Soviet troops.

The communique credited the Red air fleet's bombers with contributing greatly to the blocking of the Nazi thrusts by strafing advance troops and pounding the bases from which the attacks were sprung.

Of the principal battlefronts the communique declared: "In the Dvinsk and Minsk direction our troops developed fighting activities last night after having destroyed advanced tank units of the enemy. x x x"

"Our troops operating in the Luck direction during last night fought against strong enemy forces, striking a heavy blow to them."

52,832 Fans Turn Out To See DiMaggio's Streak

(By The Associated Press)
The Yankee streak that you probably haven't heard anything about is a five-game winning streak—and it may turn out to be more important than Joe DiMaggio's sensational string of hits or the club's chain of home runs.
The New York Bombers are riding the strong and the weak alike these days. Their double victory, 7-2 and 9-2, over the rugged Boston Red Sox yesterday gave them a record of nine wins in their past 10 games and increased their American league lead in spite of the fact that the Cleveland Indians won last night at St. Louis.
DiMaggio, whose hitting streak has captured the fancy of fans to such an extent that a crowd of 52,832 turned out at Yankee Stadium for what otherwise would have been a drab mid-week double-header, lived up to everyone's hope.
He made two hits in the opener and one in the five-inning night-cap to tie Willie Keller's all-time Major League record of hitting in 44 consecutive contests in 1927, when folks didn't count as strikes.
The Indians have been showing some of their expected doldrums and last night Manager Roger Peckinpaugh fined and suspended Roy Weatherly, for not hustling.
The Tribe tore into the St. Louis Browns for a 10-6 triumph, with Hal Trosky and Pitch Al Milnar hitting home runs and Jeff Heath having a perfect turn at bat with four hits.
The Philadelphia Athletics whipped the Washington Senators, 10-1. Detroit downed the Chicago White Sox, 5-1 with Paul (Dizzy) Trout pitching three-hit ball and not allowing a run after the first.
The St. Louis Cardinals gained exclusive possession of first place in the National league again by plastering an 11-7 defeat on the Pittsburgh Pirates.
The Brooklyn Dodgers dropped a 6-4 decision to the Phillies when Stan Benjamin singled with the bases loaded in the tenth.
The downtrodden Boston Braves came through with a 6-4 victory over the New York Giants.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIEZE
NEW YORK, June 2.—(The Special News Service)—Eighty per cent of the telephone calls to the sports department of a Pittsburgh newspaper the other night concerned Joe DiMaggio's hitting streak.

Chick Evans Playing In Western Amateur

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 2 (AP)—Chick Evans is the old man river of golf. He keeps on rolling in his mild-voiced, leisurely way.
The friendly Chicago veteran, former National Open and Amateur champion, is here competing for the 24th year in the Western Amateur championships. Nobody still playing competitive golf has been at it as long as Chick.

He first played in the Western in 1906, long before most of this year's contestants were born. He has won it eight times, including a four-year streak ending in 1923.
Evans shot a respectable 39-36—75, five over par on Broadmoor's mountain-framed fairways in the first leg of the 36-hole qualifying tests yesterday, which placed him in the top third of the slim field of 63.

Another such performance today seems sure to land the veteran in the match play bracket of defending champion Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., and the 31 low shooters for 36 holes.

In at 71 were Ward, Harry Todd of Dallas, who won the Western crown two years ago, and John Stammer, Oklahoma champion from Oklahoma City.

Tulsa Oilers Lose Fifth Straight Game

(By The Associated Press)
The Tulsa Oilers slid a little farther down the Texas league ladder last night while the Shreveport Sports, who recently took second place from the Oilers, broke even with the Exporters at Beaumont. Beaumont won the first, 10-7, then lost 6-3.
The Oilers dropped a 7-6 decision to the Dallas Rebels in a contest at Tulsa for their fifth straight loss. Rain forced postponement of the Fort Worth at Oklahoma City and San Antonio at Houston games.

Vote Canvass Shows No Change In County Figures

Returns on the special senatorial election Saturday in Gray county were canvassed yesterday by the Gray county commissioners court. The commissioners were scheduled to have made the canvass Monday but failed to get together. Making the canvass yesterday were John Haggard and C. M. Carpenter, commissioners, and County Judge Sherman White.

Their report shows no change in the figures previously given in stories in this newspaper. Gray county voters cast ballots for eight of the 29 candidates in the race, with O'Daniel leading with 312, Mann second with 408, and Johnson third with 227.

Votes polled by the other candidates were Dies, 145; Morris, three; and two each for Harding, Fisher and Elvins.

Eyes Straight Ahead

The people of the United States have their eyes fixed on one objective—the defeat of Nazi Germany, which has repeatedly proved that in victory it would be a desperate menace to everything we hold dear.

People will shout at us on either side now. On one hand will come the cry, "Turn your eyes to the left—give your energies to aiding the Soviet Union, that great citadel of democracy!"

To this America will answer, "Boosh!" and keep its eyes straight ahead.

On the other hand will arise the cry, "Turn your eyes to the right—let us now on those things which help to defeat Hitler; after all he now fights the Great Red Menace!"

To this America will answer, "Boosh!" and keep its eyes straight ahead.

Straight ahead lies the first order of business. It is to supply to Britain the sinews of war, the aid, the support of every kind that will bring victory over the man and the system which plunged the world once more into the fiery furnace of war.

Nothing else matters right now. The president promises such aid to the fighting Russians as can be given without hindering pledges already made to Britain, not because he thinks any more of the Stalin dictatorship today than he thought three weeks ago, but simply because that helps the straight-ahead cause, the defeat of Hitler. Any such aid as is given will not be on a basis of helping Russia, but of helping beat Hitler.

Communists in the United States are not one whit better than they were three weeks ago, not one whit more trustworthy, not one whit more devoted to democracy or to American institutions than they ever were. Their policies now, as always, will be determined by what they are told is best for the Stalinist regime in Russia.

Russia itself fights today, not to destroy Nazism because that system is repugnant to it. After all, Russia had no violent objection to Nazism three weeks ago. Russia fights simply to save its skin.

It happens that that fight is serviceable in what we want also—the downfall of Nazism. So that fight will be supported, for that reason, and to that extent.

It is along that line that the United States should continue to march forward, eyes straight ahead.

Behind The News

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, July 2—All the hullabaloo about the overworking of government offices in Washington, plus the expansion of defense agencies, plus the fact that some of the defense agencies themselves have been forced to set up field offices in other cities—all these things call attention to the fact that in spite of the concentration of authority in the capital, federal activities now reach down to so many levels of local administration that there are now literally hundreds of sub-capitals, little Washingtons, in every area.

Skip entirely the activities of the 46,000 postoffices with their 233,000 workers, comprising the world's biggest business, handling $4,000,000,000 a year. Skip the WPA with its relief projects in nearly every community and its million-and-up wage-earners. Skip the draft boards and the census-takers. Consider just the regular federal administrative agencies which have branch offices outside of Washington, and you get unbelievable totals.

Consciously or not, your federal government is taking over so many functions which deal directly with the people, and not through the states or smaller units of local government, that if the trend goes on, the entire patter of administration will be changed.

GRASS ROOTS GOVERNMENT Advent of the defense program has hastened this movement. As the Office of Production Management expands, several of its divisions have found that they must have more sub-headquarters to keep in touch with local conditions.

The training within industry program of OPM was the first to branch out, establishing 22 field offices. Then the defense contract service, organized to assist in sub-contracting, put 12 regional headquarters in each of the Federal Reserve districts. The purchasing division, to buy local produce for army training camps, put in 12 main advisory buyers with an additional 24 sub-offices to help the quartermaster corps with the food problem. The information service then branched out with 12 regional offices, again picking Federal Reserve cities for their regional headquarters. Latest of the OPM agencies to open regional offices is the priorities section.

The tendency to pick for regional headquarters the 12 cities which are Federal Reserve "capitals" is most pronounced. Department of Commerce, in the reorganization of its field service, follows this pattern, and so general has it become that the Federal Reserve cities are gradually becoming the 12 most important "little Washingtons" in the country. To show to what extent to which this is true, it is only necessary to list the cities and give the number of agencies which have branch offices in each. Here is the score:

Table with 4 columns: City, Federal Offices, City, Federal Offices. Rows include Boston (101), New York (185), Philadelphia (85), Cleveland (70), St. Louis (65), Atlanta (57), Chicago (91), St. Louis (109), Minneapolis-St. Paul (184), Kansas City (70), Dallas (57), San Francisco (109).

Impressive as this table is, it should be understood that not all the federal agencies within the states have their offices in these cities. Detroit, in the Chicago district, has 33 federal offices. Texas has 733.

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given, equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

GOVERNMENT'S MEANING OF CO-OPERATION

We are coming to have a strange meaning of the word "co-operation." The new meaning that the New Dealers in the United States government are putting on the word "cooperation" is very, very similar if not the same as put on in Russia and Germany.

An AP-dispatch quotes the Chrysler Corporation as refusing to reduce the price increase on cars, as ordered by Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson. The dispatch also quotes Henderson as saying, "refusal of the Chrysler Corporation to co-operate is forcing us to take the price of automobiles out of the hands of the industries."

Just think of that! Here we live in the United States of America, singing parrot-like at all public meetings, "America the land of the free and the home of the brave." And here we have a man holding office, telling those people who have abstained and saved and sacrificed and greatly benefited mankind in furnishing them cheaper individual transportation than any other country in all the world, that they are to have the management of their affairs taken out of their hands! And they are having the management of their affairs taken out of their hands when the government attempts to establish prices at which they can sell their services and wages they can hire a man.

Certainly that is a distorted meaning of the word, "co-operation." It is the very antithesis of freedom. And yet we propose to go into war to fight Finland, Sweden and France and all the rest of the countries that will not define freedom the way the New Dealers define freedom; that is, without principle and changeable without notice.

Truly, the English language has come to be a habble of tongues.

A DOUBLE WAR

What the noninterventionists would like to know now is, if the United States goes in aid helps Russia win the war, how the four freedoms will be established in Russia. Will it be the intention of the American people, after they have helped Russia win, then to attack Russia and compel her to establish the four freedoms? If we are really to establish the four freedoms, it looks as if it would be a double war—then we would have to help Russia lick Germany and then we would have to lick Russia, in order to establish democracy in Russia.

That looks as if it would be a long hard job.

TIME FAVORS THE TRUTH

In Lindbergh's address at Los Angeles the other evening, he remarked that time was on the side of the noninterventionists. The more people had time to study and think things over, the more they would come to understand the truth; and the more they understood the truth, the more they would be opposed to America intervening in foreign wars.

WANDERING TROUBADOURS

When Senator Clark was talking at the America First meeting, he was explaining some of the advantages of war. He was explaining how advantageous it was to the politicians to have war, because it covered up their mistakes. He also said that it gave the defeated candidates for President an opportunity to become wandering troubadours.

It certainly is a method of keeping some of the defeated candidates in the limelight, which seems to be their main objective in life.

The Nation's Press

The Daily Mail, which from the first has refused to lead its readers into pipe-dreams, welcomes the more realistic note which has now become evident in the press as a whole.

In the past, we have not often found ourselves in agreement with the Daily Herald, but we consider their attack recently on the complacent nonsense which appeared in a Sunday newspaper to be abundantly justified. They criticized the statement that Germany was in the position of a harpooned whale, lashing its tail desperately but unable to survive.

The propagation of such ideas is dangerous folly. It gives the impression that whatever British does, or does not do, "it will all come right in the end."

Some people, perhaps, like to read such stuff. No one welcomes bad news. But writers who feel bound to wrap it up in soothing phrases and mollify the public with wishful thinking must have a poor opinion of the courage and intelligence of the nation.

Outstanding and alone, Mr. Churchill, our magnificent Prime Minister, has never hesitated to tell the truth. He has never underestimated the enemy. He has warned the country again and again that not only is our task not easy, but that it will require a herculean effort spread over several years. Nothing is gained by make-believe.

Much harm can be done, and has been done, by depreciating the formidable forces arrayed against us. Most of our misfortunes in this war have been caused by indulging this weakness. It was one of the cardinal reasons for the loss of Norway and the fall of France.

THE LOOKING GLASS BOYS WILL FIGHT By Stella Hallit

The worst part of teaching was not grading the papers as Miss Cates had anticipated. That was the easiest of all. She could sit in her quiet room with a red pencil and mark up the rough tablet sheets. It was very peaceful when everybody had gone to bed and the only noise was a hoot owl. So different from teaching all the grades in the Rock Creek school by day.

Even hearing the lessons was not hard. The very worst part was the fighting. The middle sized boys of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades got in fights. They fought at recess, at noon and on the way home from school. Miss Cates had vainly pleaded that what happened on the way home from school was not her responsibility but the school board said it was. It was disagreeable enough to separate a couple of husky boys when they were fighting and harder yet to administer suitable punishment.

Miss Cates had been thin and delicate when she came to Rock Creek but keeping peace was developing her muscles. She knew only one way to keep peace and that was to see that the students played rough games as hard as they could. She encouraged Crack the Whip to the horror of some of the parents. And she joined in on Scatter Beans to make sure they all got scattered. They fell and got dragged around but somehow Miss Cates learned to keep her feet and her dignity.

Along in the spring the county superintendent came and lessons were abandoned for the afternoon. He was a gentle little man with a bald pink head and nose glasses that kept sliding off. Miss Cates took a seat with the primer class and relaxed. It was a relief to have someone as capable as the county superintendent take your responsibilities even for an hour. He could look into the faces, give instruction, amusement and discipline. Miss Cates could look at the long division on the blackboard.

ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE

BY DONNA ASHWORTH

YESTERDAY, at Ruth's party, Ken and Lita are left in the car as Jerry goes to teach Ruth a lesson. Ken has kissed her, and Lita is not angry. Instead, she listens to Ken as he pictures a home in a southern city. It is just what she has dreamed of having all her life. Ken has promised to marry her, husband or no husband.

KEN MAKES PLANS

CHAPTER III

KEN RICHARDS, Lita tried not to think about him, but she couldn't do anything else. For the first time in her life she was ashamed, hiding from Jerry that secret closest to her heart. She had to find an answer before she said anything to him, and as she sat in the lobby of the hotel, waiting for Ken, she tried to think of a way of telling Jerry, without hurting him.

The reflection in the mirror opposite the divan on which she sat was perfect. A bit of dark green hair was perched over one eye, her golden hair shone beneath it. Her eyes were bright, her lips vivid. The new fall suit was just the color of her hair, and the mink collar was flattering.

She had dressed with unusual care because she wanted to look her best for Ken. For days he had been calling, begging to see her. Each night, her lips vivid, Parisian and at last she had agreed to lunch with him. Outside the October sunshine swept down clear and bright. The air was brisk. She felt exhilarated and eager with a sense of forbidden anticipation.

"Here you are, darling," Ken Richards came swinging up beside her, catching both hands in his, looking down into her face. His glance made her heart race. "I couldn't really believe it when you promised to meet me today."

INSIDE the dining room at a table for two, over by the window where they could watch the crowd that hurried by, she smiled at her. He gave the order, but she scarcely heard. She only knew that his gray eyes had looked into hers and the world had turned upside down.

"The plans all made," Ken leaned a little nearer as he spoke. She hardly knew what to say, and his assurance startled her. "You are very sure, aren't you?" "Yes, because I know what you want. Now let me tell you about Farmington."

"The town where you live?" "Yes. It's small, one of those slow little southern towns that you read about, one good hotel, a main street, a country club and golf course, white houses back in the trees, lots of colored people and a society like you read about. My mother is one of the old-timers. Nothing counts with her unless it's old and has a history. "You mean she doesn't like swing music, or modern dance, or . . ." she couldn't find the right words—"or people without background. Is that what you're trying to tell me?"

"Yes, but I have it all fixed." "I don't suppose she would care for a divorce either," Lita interrupted.

"No, but she won't know, Honey. It's like this. You get a divorce from Jerry. Then you come to Farmington and bring someone with you. Surely you have a good friend who could be a companion. You rent a house for a month or so and live there."

"I'll begin to rust, you and everybody will take you up because I'm from one of the old families, beau-about-town and all that. My mother will invite you to tea; you will meet the people you should meet in the proper way, with a house filled with antiques as a background. You can get some and have them shipped down, and you are enough of an actress to put it over."

SHE searched vainly for an answer. These plans of Ken's were so startling that she couldn't quite get them soiled out in her mind.

"But I'd still be Lita Damson, the dancer," she said at last. "I'd still be Jerry's divorced wife. Where would you put that in the picture?"

"Darling, you'll leave that all behind. No one must ever know that you danced. Mother would die if she knew her son was thinking of marrying a dancer. She doesn't approve of people like that. And she doesn't approve of divorce, either, but she doesn't need to know about it."

"You'll use your own name. What is it? You aren't really Lita Damson. That's a stage name, isn't it?"

"Yes." She hesitated. "My mother left a note beside me at the door of the orphanage saying her name was Jean Ann Marshall and I was to be called that. I grew up as Ann Marshall until I ran away when I was 16. When Jerry and I began dancing, I changed it."

"Ann Marshall, that's a nice ladylike name. It could go anywhere. Mother would accept it. She'll probably think you are related to the aristocratic Marshall tribe in Richmond. You might look up enough history to make

John Marshall a great uncle or something, and that would go over big. "Ann Marshall. . . Farmington will be crazy about you. When you have established yourself there, we'll get married. If Farmington's society knew you were a dancer and I just married you and brought you home, they would never accept you. You'd be miserable."

"You certainly are optimistic." She looked at him curiously, carefully, sleek black hair, dark gray eyes, bold handsome features, a smooth voice, and charm beyond description.

"Why not, it's all settled?" "I'm not so sure," Lita answered with a sudden laugh. "After all, you are taking a good deal for granted. I'm not sure that I want to be ladylike Ann Marshall. I haven't said that I want to divorce my husband. I don't know that I would like to live in a little southern town where everybody goes to sleep with the chickens. In fact, I'm not sure that I like you well enough to even think about all the things you've said."

"You're a very bold and assured young man and I like you, but as for taking you permanently, that's something else. Besides, I'm quite sure I wouldn't like your mother. She sounds like a snob and a bore, and I never did like snobs, and I hate to be bored. So please, Ken darling, point me another picture. That one is out of focus."

"Hello, you two." Ruth Eustace face stopped at the table. "Why such an interested conversation? I went by a few minutes ago and you didn't even see me. Where's Jerry?"

"Sleeping as usual. He has to dance all night," Lita said. "I stole away for luncheon with your boy friend."

"Not mine, Lita. He's yours. He's quite violent about you. Shall I warn Jerry to keep an eye on him?"

"He needn't worry. If you warned him, he might find that you could comfort him."

"She's in love with Jerry," Ken Richards smiled a little as he watched Ruth go across the room. "Yes, I think so."

"You went to Farmington, he'd turn to her."

"But I'm not going to Farmington." He reached across the table and took her hand in his. "Think of the picture for a while, darling. You'll like it. I love you. I'm crazy about you. And as I told you, I'm going to marry a girl named Ann Marshall, who has left her past behind her."

Texas Slashes Oil Production 85,000 Barrels

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—While federal officials considered ways and means of coordinating oil production and transportation, the biggest oil producing state in the union—Texas—had cut its aggregate daily yield 85,000 barrels today.

Pending in the office of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel were bills making permanent the state's proration laws and amending them toward prohibition of possible discrimination between fields on allowable production allocation.

Under procedural rules, the governor, if so minded, must veto the bills today or they will become law automatically. If vetoed, the legislature could act to override the gubernatorial disapproval.

Texas crude production dropped 85,010 barrels daily to a total of 1,347,926 yesterday when the July statewide proration order became effective.

Railroad commission engineers calculated that assigned but unproduced allowances would reduce the actual yield from last week's 11,662 barrels daily over the U. S. Bureau of Mines market demand forecast to 2,251 under the federal agency's 1,324,000 estimate for July in Texas.

Among the most far-reaching moves of the Texas legislature, now apparently near the end of its general session, were adoption of the two bills now on the governor's desk, a bill placing wells which lift oil by gas pressure under the marginal wells statutes and rejection of a plan to create an appointive conservation commission, thus stripping the elective railroad commission of its regulatory powers.

Marines Arrive To Guard U. S. Embassy

LONDON, July 2 (AP)—Arrival of 51 United States marines under the command of Captain John B. Hill to take over guard duties at the United States embassy was announced officially today.

The marines are to be quartered outside London for a few days, it was said, and then transferred to billets near the embassy to relieve armed London bobbies who have been guarding the diplomatic headquarters.

The marines arrived yesterday at a British port. Survivors of the former Dutch steamer, Maarsden, which was sunk while taking marines and American Red Cross nurses to England, are expected here shortly, at least one marine aboard the ship and some nurses were feared lost. Rescue of the others was reported by the United States navy.

The United States Red Cross said today it was reported "unofficially" to their headquarters that six nurses from the ship had been landed in Iceland.

The Red Cross said their information was that there were seven-teen nurses on the way to London, but that it did not know how many were on the torpedoed ship, adding that perhaps there were only six.

Legislature May Go Home And May Not

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 2—The Texas legislature met today for what might be the second-last day of its overtime general session—and might not.

Still dominating the scene was the photo-finish U. S. senatorial election with the lawmakers keeping a wary eye on possible reports of irregularities.

There was talk yesterday that the legislators might remain until after July 14 at which time results will be officially canvassed by the state election board consisting of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, both candidates, and Secretary of State William Lawson, an O'Daniel appointee.

Some legislators felt the lawmaking body, with its vast powers of investigation, should stay on the job since once it adjourned permanently it would be virtually without authority to act.

However, with the announcement of the Texas election bureau that O'Daniel apparently had won the contest by a 1,008-vote margin, it was possible the lawmakers, in session since Jan. 14, would pack up and go home.

Pending in the senate was an adjournment resolution setting the end of the session at 5 p. m. tomorrow, the time chosen by the house which disagreed with the noon-day proposal of the upper legislative branch.

Meanwhile, members awaited O'Daniel's action on the $30,000,000 biennial departmental appropriation

New Officers Of Lions Club To Be Installed

New officers of the Pampa Lions club will be installed at 8 o'clock on Thursday night, July 10, in a program to be held in the basement of the First Methodist church.

An odd feature of the installation will be the appointment of a vice-president by the board of directors. Ordinarily, the immediate past president becomes vice-president, but this is not true this time.

Reason for this is that Joe Burrow, president, was called into military service. This placed Carl Benefiel, vice-president, as head of the club. Mr. Benefiel thus has the distinction of having served twice as president and once as vice-president during the past two years.

Crawford Atkinson will be installed as the new president, Dr. R. Malcom Brown as tall twister, Charles Lamka, lion tamer, W. E. James, secretary-treasurer.

Hold-over directors serve for one more year; new directors for two years; other officers, one year.

Regular weekly noon luncheon of the club will be held tomorrow at the First Methodist church, but the installation program next week will be substituted for the July 10 luncheon.

Civil Service Exams Announced

The Civil Service Commission announced today that it would fill important administrative positions in defense and other government agencies through the competitive examination procedure. Among the positions for which registers will be established are: Executive Officer, $8,000 a year; Chief Administration Officer, $6,500; Principal Administration Officer, $5,900; Senior Administration Officer, $4,600; and Administration Officer, $3,800 a year. Persons appointed will serve as executives in a federal government agency or division thereof. Extensive and highly responsible administrative experience acquired either in public or private employment is required, the amount of experience and the responsibility varying with the grade of the position. Unusually high capabilities are necessary. It is useless to apply if you cannot meet the high standard of requirements shown in the announcement. Applicants will not take a written test but will be rated on their qualifications as shown in their applications, subject to corroboration. Applicants must be filed with the Commission's Washington office by July 21, 1941.

Another examination just announced by the Commission is for poultry coordinator to carry out the administration of the National Poultry Improvement Plan. The positions are in the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture, and pay $5,500 a year. A 4-year college course with major study in agriculture which included courses in poultry husbandry and experience in administering or supervising organized poultry improvement work are necessary. For this examination applications must be filed not later than August 1, 1941.

19th Anvil Park Cowboy Tourney To Open Friday

Special To The NEWS

CANADIAN, July 2—Canadian's annual "revival of the old West" will be held on July 4, 5 and 6 for the nineteenth time, with present indications pointing to one of the most outstanding and largest attended celebrations in history.

Representatives of two organizations—the Anvil Park rodeo committee and the chamber of commerce—are working day and night on details. The rodeo events are being handled by the rodeo association; the parade on Saturday, July 5 at 11 a. m., is in charge of the women's clubs and the chamber of commerce.

The toughest stock in the southwest, furnished by Lynn Beutler of Elk City, Okla., will give the riding cowboys who always compete for the large cash prizes of nearly $2500, the rides of their lives.

Canadian's $7,000 celebration will pass in review. Approximately 20 floats have already been entered, Thomas Jones, parade director, reports, and more are expected. The parade on Saturday will represent transportation from its inception to date, with old-fashioned vehicles, mounted cowboys and cowgirls, a remuda of saddle horses direct from the Beck ranch, Santa Fe miniature freight train, and other features.

The first day's rodeo events will begin at 2 p. m. Friday, July 4, at Anvil Park arena, with Otto Yokley and George Mathers, prominent cattlemen, as assistant arena directors.

Each evening there will be dancing at Canadian's city auditorium to Sunshine Butler and his band from Big Spring. Brodbeck's carnival shows will arrive Wednesday for the remainder of the week. On Saturday, Old Timer's Day, there will be speaking in the auditorium by Newton P. Willis of Pampa in a tribute to the early-day settler; old fiddlers' contests; and a square dance that evening in the Abraham building on Main street.

Such nationally known ropers and doggers as Clyde and Jiggs Burk of Comanche, Okla.; Roy Ross of Sayre, Okla.; Ace Soward of Buffalo, Okla.; and Frank Autry of Tulsa will be here to compete in the single steer roping and calf roping events.

Brahma bulls, several of whom have never been ridden in a round-up arena, will provide spectators with plenty of thrills. Wiley McCray, clown and bull righter extraordinary, will fight the animals bare-handed.

All in all, visitors and home folks alike will be in for three of the wilder days and nights in the entire history of the celebration.

Sunflowers were carried into Kansas as seeds, clinging to the muddy wheels of eastbound wagons on the old Santa Fe Trail.

Miami Family Returns From Trip To Pacific Coast

Special To The NEWS

MIAMI, July 2—Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McKenzie and sons, Eldon and Stanley, returned this week from a three weeks vacation to points of interest in the northwest and in California. The Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam were included in the trip. Mrs. McKenzie had the unique pleasure of visiting four brothers in California whom she had not seen in 36 years, and one brother, age 76, whom she had seen only twice before.

Also a number of nieces, nephews, and cousins were present and seen for the first time. A reunion in the form of a picnic was held in Mottabelle Park, Long Beach, for this special occasion and over 30 relatives of the family were present.

Mrs. H. W. Day and son, daughter and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie, reside at Wilmington, Calif.

First Sub Victim

The U. S.S. Houston, first warship ever sunk by a submarine, was sunk just outside Charleston harbor by a Confederate under-boat "fish-boat."

The 20th amendment to the U. S. Constitution went into effect Feb. 28, 1933.

Liberty

This year the importance of the Fourth of July is emphasized by the affairs of the world. On this day we Americans observe the founding of a country that is unique among all nations. This uniqueness arises from the fact that the people of America are the government. They decide what is best for themselves. They make their own laws, govern their own conduct. They are free to think as they please. They are free to do as they please. America achieves its goal of Liberty and Freedom in a way that satisfies a majority of its citizens. Its flag symbolizes these precepts of utopian life . . . as the happiness of its people typify America's great success.
