

Soap Box Derby Rules Will Be Explained At Theater Saturday Morning

Hey, fellows! Every one of you between the ages of 11 and 15 ought to be at the Rex theater at 10 o'clock next Saturday morning.

That's the time Carl Benefiel, chairman, will tell you all about the third annual Pampa News-Pampa Lions club Soap Box derby, to be held here on the nights of July 17-18.

Clinic To Be Held
Chairman Benefiel is planning on having an automobile mechanic tell you derby entrants how to align the wheels on your racers, make the brakes and steering apparatus right, and also to have a woodworker give you some real dope on constructing the body of your cars.

Then, too, it is planned to have an airplane mechanic give you the low-down on streamlining.

All of this is to be done at the Soap Box clinic to be held weekly for a five-week period.

Mark Bratton, who won the 1940

derby here in the local record time of 43 2-5 seconds, will be at the meeting. You remember Mark last year won the C. P. Kettering trophy at Akron, Ohio, the place where the national finals are held, for having the best designed car of the more than 100 cars competing.

His trophy was bigger than the one that went to the race winner.

Mark's Studied Cars
Mark has been to Akron twice.

He went along with Hugh Blevins, 1939 winner of the Pampa derby, just to get some ideas. He learned plenty, and next year he came back here to take the local championship.

Young Bratton has studied the cars from every angle. His "3-ball" streamliner was a sensation at the local derby last year, and he knows how to build a racer from the ground up.

Tips From 1939 Winner
Hugh Blevins, who won the city championship in 1939, at 48 seconds, is also to be present at Saturday's meeting. As the first boy from Pampa to compete in the national races, young Blevins has first place in local derby history.

Harold Blevins, brother of Hugh, competed against Bratton in the final run-off of the 1940 derby here. There were 66 contestants in the races last year.

Prizes in the local derby are the M. E. Coyle silver trophy for the city champion, and two sets of gold, silver, and bronze medals for the first, second, and third places in Classes A and B.

Every boy who enters the 1941 Pampa News-Pampa Lions club Soap Box derby will receive a racing helmet and a T-sweater.

Grand prize in the national is a four-year college scholarship.

You Can Enter Now
If you want to enter the local derby right away—and what red-blooded Pampa boy doesn't—you don't have to wait until Saturday. Go down to the Cuberson Chevrolet company on N. Ballard and see Miss Ludden. There you can get your entry blank and official rule book.

The winner of the local derby will be sent on an expense-paid trip to Akron, Ohio, where on August 17 the eighth annual national Soap Box derby will be held.

It's important that all you boys show up, and your parents ought to come also, for this meeting will be the first of a series of meetings in which you'll be given some real tips on how to build your model automobile racers.

Main purpose of the meeting Saturday will be to have you boys

Twenty-Three States Represented In Native State Registrations

18 Governors Send Flags For Parade

Natives Of Three Foreign Nations Fill Out Blanks

The first week of registration in the native state canvass for the Top O' Texas Folk Fiesta closed yesterday with 23 states and three foreign countries represented.

Tennessee led the list with Kansas second and Missouri third.

The first native of England to register in the canvass was C. P. Buckler of Pampa, longtime resident of Pampa. Mr. Buckler who has lived in Pampa since the early part of the century has been associated with the White Deer Land company since that time. He was born at Kangston-On-The-Thames in England.

Governors of 18 states have sent flags to be used in decorating the state floats for the Parade of All States and Nations. These governors also sent greetings to natives of their states now living in the Top O' Texas area. These messages and pictures of the governors will be published in the Top O' Texas Folk Fiesta special edition.

Letters are expected to be received in the next few weeks from governors of the other states. Greeley Warner, chairman of the parade, expressed pleasure at the response from the governors. "The response is far better than we expected," he said. "The governors are intensely interested in the Fiesta and seem anxious to have their states represented in the parade. I feel confident that the other governors will soon answer letters we have sent them and will send flags and greetings."

A deluge of registrations is expected this week from natives of other states, especially Oklahoma and Texas. Only a few Oklahomans have registered.

Wait until those Oklahomans start filling out those blanks and even the Texans won't have a chance, Mr. Warner said.

Literally hundreds of registrations are expected this week. The blank should be filled out by every member of the family, including children, because many children and young people were not born in the state that their parents were. Every person living in this territory regardless of age, should fill out the blank and bring, mail, or send it to The Pampa News. A separate blank should be used for every member of the family.

All the information that is really necessary is the name of your native state and the name of the place where you were born, or the name of the place near where you were born.

It was emphasized that Texans should also register for the native state canvass.

"If you have been told that Texas REGISTRATION, Page 6

ON 'HAPPY JOURNEY' IN ONE-ACT PLAY

daughter's home in an Overland. They are shown above seated in their "car" which consists of four chairs. Left to right, members of the family are Charles Erickson (Arthur Kirby), Dorace Jean Caldwell (Caroline), Clara Mae Lemm (Ma Kirby), Wayne Fide (Pa Kirby). At the extreme right is shown Philip Silcott, playing the role of a filling station attendant.

Philip Silcott, shown above, plays five roles in the district championship play, "Happy Journey", and sets the mood. His "Henry Fonda voice" won high praise from the critic-judge and from spectators. Philip is the Junior class favorite and last week was elected a member of the National Honor Society. He was salutatorian in Junior high school. He is 16 years old and is a Junior. His chief role in the play is that of stage manager. He opens the play with a history of the Kirby family, and closes it with philosophical comments on the play.

The battle of Greece appeared to be reaching major proportions this Easter morning as reports reaching Bern, Switzerland, from Sofia, Bulgaria, told of a "violent" engagement between British and German armored columns on the plain between Bitol (Monastir), Yugoslavia, and Florina, the western anchor of a Greek-British defense line.

These reports followed an announcement by a Greek spokesman that Germans, complete with tanks, armored cars, motorcycle machine-guns and motorized infantry had slashed against the northwest flank of the defense line between Florina and Vanitsa Friday only to be repulsed on a 12-mile front.

The Sofia reports said fast moving columns of Germans and British, supported by dive bombers and fighter planes had clashed in a fierce struggle. Such a battle is one of the first of its kind to be reported in this war on the Balkan peninsula. No details of the meeting were included in the reports.

An earlier British report reaching Bern said armored car patrols, scouting in the Bitol region, had destroyed a motorized German infantry unit without losses to themselves.

Yugoslav resistance was reported stiffening, especially north of Zagreb, south of Nis, near the Rumanian frontier and in the mountains northwest of Teovo.

The German radio, however, said 14 Yugoslav divisions have been "completely annihilated." Germans declared the Yugoslav campaign was about completed, but said nothing

Bunny Takes Back Seat At White House

James Roosevelt To Be Married In California Monday

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—Cupid has tramped the Easter bunny at the White House this week-end.

Because of two family weddings, Mrs. Roosevelt limited her capital Easter schedule to attendance at a sunrise service tomorrow in Arlington cemetery and with the President, at the mid-morning service at St. Thomas' Episcopal church.

For the first time since she has been first lady, she will miss the annual White House children's fête and egg-rolling on Monday.

Mrs. Roosevelt saw her niece and name-sake, Eleanor Roosevelt, married in Dedham, Mass., today to a young English architect, Edward P. Elliott. After going to church tomorrow, she will leave by plane for Los Angeles, Calif., to see the Roosevelt's oldest son, Capt. James Roosevelt, married on Monday to Miss Romelle Schneider, his nurse when he underwent an operation in a Minnesota hospital in 1938.

Young Roosevelt, 33, was divorced in March, 1940, from Patsy Cushing Roosevelt, whom he married in 1930. Miss Schneider is 25.

In Mrs. Roosevelt's absence, Mrs. Henry Wallace, wife of the vice president, will be hostess on Monday to the tens of thousands of children who come to roll eggs and frolic on the President's lawn.

President Roosevelt will greet the egg-rollers sometime during the day. Mrs. Roosevelt has invited 132 British children, war refugees, to the usual Easter Monday children's party at the White House for the sons and daughters of government officials and friends.

Gerald Mann Tosses Hat In Senate Race

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP)—Opening what may be an epochal political race in Texas, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann today announced his candidacy for the United States senate seat vacated Wednesday by the death of Morris Sheppard.

The announcement by the 34-year-old attorney general was made after the funeral services for Sheppard at Texarkana and as the state capital seethed with rumors that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, Rep. Martin Dies or Orange and others would soon toss their hats into the ring.

In a statement, Mann—only a few years ago one of the nation's football stars at Southern Methodist university—said he thought he could be of more service to Texas as senator than as attorney general.

"I am going to be a candidate for the United States senate," Mann said. "Our nation's loss of Senator Sheppard cannot soon be repaired but I shall do my best to live up to the standard set by all the illustrious men who have served Texas in that great deliberative body."

Mann was the first of the potential candidates with acknowledged large statewide followings to come out for the office.

Other announced aspirants included A. E. Harding, Fort Worth attorney and former member of the legislature, and Virgil E. Arnold, attorney of Houston and also a former state representative.

A report from a source close to Congressman Dies was that he in-

Easter Mass Cancelled By Pope Pius XII

Yaqui Indians Present Passion Play At Tempe

(By The Associated Press)
Easter in a world at war finds America—almost alone—observing Christendom's most joyful festival in traditional fashion.

Sunrise services at Arlington cemetery in Washington, in Hollywood, and many other places, church services with the ancient hymns customary to the day and sermons on the risen Christ and the usual fashion parades, with bright colors gleaming in the bright spring sunshine predicted for much of the country, filled the day's schedule.

Tens of thousands of Easter visitors jammed the national capital. To its day was added the opening of the annual Cherry Blossom festival.

Connected avenue in Washington, Fifth avenue in New York, the Boardwalk at Atlantic City were as usual the focal points of the Easter style parades with their promerades of new spring hats and walking sticks.

In Rome, capital of the Catholic world, as well as capital of a beleaguered nation, the bells of the city's 420 churches proclaimed the end of Lent yesterday (Saturday). But because of wartime conditions, the Easter mass, customarily celebrated by the Pope, was cancelled. Pope Pius XII planned to make a world wide peace appeal by radio at 5 a. m. C.S.T.

Some 30,000 persons were expected to attend a dawn service at Soldiers field in Chicago. A throng of 25,000 was expected at a similar ceremony in an old Moravian burying ground at Winston-Salem, N. C.

Impressive Easter Services Scheduled

Keynoted by a keen understanding of the mis- and death across the sea, in contrast to the blessings enjoyed by a nation at peace, Pampans reverently joined the rest of Christendom today in celebrating the resurrection of Our Lord.

Special music and sermons were scheduled for churches here as well as a special radio program over Station KPDM at 4:15 this afternoon, during which there is to be a sermon by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fulton Sheen, and a Passion play.

An oratorio, "The Holy City", with organ accompaniment arranged and played by Mrs. May Foreman Carr, will be heard at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the First Christian church.

LOCATIONS AND COMPLETIONS HOLD EVEN IN PANHANDLE

Statewide Oil Hearing Will Be On Monday

New locations and new wells held nearly even in the Panhandle oil field last week, an even dozen new locations being reported and 11 new oil wells tested and given potentials.

With the testing of new wells to be completed by April 25, oil operators are waiting with interest the statewide oil hearing on Monday when allowances for May will be set. The check on wells was to determine whether they could make their allowable and it is known that some failed.

An appeal for more allowable for the field will likely be made at the hearing.

The Humble Oil and Refining Company is wasting no time going down on its wildcat test in Hale county. The test on the A. F. Byrd land in section 17, block K, T&G survey, 2 1/2 miles southeast of Plainview, is drilling at 2,700 feet according to latest report received here.

Producers, Royalty Owners To Hold Meeting In Amarillo Saturday

Annual banquet and meeting of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners association will be held Saturday with a noon luncheon and business session in Amarillo and the banquet and floor show in the Herring hotel.

The day's program will open with the noon luncheon after which there will be four or five short talks by Senator Grady Hazelwood, George Gibbons, executive vice-president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, and others. The talks will deal with legislation and tax matters as they pertain to the producers and royalty owners of this area.

Annual meeting and election of officers will take place during the afternoon. Mel B. Davis of Pampa is the retiring president of the association.

The annual banquet of the association will be served at 7 p. m. There will be only two short talks. One of the speakers will be Professor C. P. Thompson of the Oklahoma A. & M. college at Stillwater. Arrangements are being made to secure another prominent speaker but his identity cannot be disclosed at this time. President Davis said yesterday. Neither talk will be more than 30 minutes in length.

The association was organized several years ago "for the protection of the interests of the producers and royalty owners of the Panhandle of Texas."

Members Of Byrd's Expedition Reach Valparaiso, Chili

VALPARAISO, Chile, April 12. (AP)—Members of the Admiral Richard Byrd Antarctic expedition, on their way to Seattle, Washington, told today of the perilous, emergency evacuation of 26 men from their east base at the bottom of the earth. Here for a "freshening up" visit, the men told this story:

The expedition's two ships, the North Star and the Bear, took off the men assigned to the west base in Little America early in February and headed toward the east base on Palmer peninsula.

An easy move was expected, but instead they found ice filling Margaret Bay. Winter was closing down and supplies aboard the ships dwindled as they passed a month in Melchior harbor waiting for an opportunity to bring out the men from the base 200 miles away.

The ships kept in contact with the base by radio and when the men reported their meat was gone they were living off penguin eggs. The North Star headed for Punta Arenas on the Strait of Magellan for fuel and supplies.

While the North Star was making the voyage to Punta Arenas, the declared policy of the United States government to defend and preserve the American way of living, our democratic ideals, and the American system of free enterprise—we condemn any group whose ideology refutes these principles and whose acts impede the progress of national and industrial solidarity.

"We commend our governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, and the Texas legislature for taking action which safeguards for workers their inherent right to work.

"We pledge ourselves, our fellow employees and federation workers to a full support of our employer, the Humble Oil and Refining Company, which, by its very existence since its beginning has perpetuated good citizenship and fair labor practices, thereby making the oil industry and America great.

"We will not, nor will we allow any subversive group around us to commit acts which may jeopardize the well being of our company, our state or our nation."

Market Briefs

By FREDERICK GARDNER

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—War stocks continued to lead today on the stock market today and the list finished a generally discouraging week well under way.

While many in Wall Street stretched out Friday's list for a lengthy week-end, most of those who appeared were inclined to cut commitments pending outcome of the critical Italian battle between the Allied and German armies.

Some comfort was derived from the settlement of the Ford strike but the labor picture was still sufficiently spotty to keep buying order subdued.

Steels and motors touched new lows for the week, along with a number of others. Hauling and oil were fairly resistant as net revenues for the carriers mounted and quotations for crude and gasoline showed further rising inclinations. Losses ranged from fractions to a point or so for more active stocks. A handful dropped 2 to 3.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off 2 1/2 at a point at 48.1 and on the week showed a recession of 2.1 points. It was the biggest weekly setback for the composite since mid-February.

Volume picked up on the retreat, transfers totaling 200,000 shares.

Among the issues that were up were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Electric, and U. S. Telephone. American Telephone equaled its year's low with a fall of 3/4 points to 156 1/2.

Pampan Endorses Federal And State Labor Policies

E. D. Scott of Pampa was one of the five division presidents of the central council of the Employees' Federation of the Production and Crude Oil Department of the Humble Oil and Refining Company to sign a resolution endorsing federal and Texas labor policies and pledging full support to the company "during this or any other subsequent emergency."

The resolution was endorsed at the semi-annual meeting in Fort Worth Friday.

R. W. Pennell of Houston presided at the meeting held at the Blackstone hotel. Prior to the employees meeting the council conferred with division superintendents of the Humble company, who previously had held a conference with David Frame, production manager, and D. B. Harris, industrial relations manager. Frame and Harris, of Houston, are both directors of the Humble company.

The resolution, after pointing out the emergency that exists under the national defense program, said:

"We do endorse wholeheartedly the declared policy of the United States government to defend and preserve the American way of living, our democratic ideals, and the American system of free enterprise—we condemn any group whose ideology refutes these principles and whose acts impede the progress of national and industrial solidarity.

Carter Oil Company Names New President

TULSA, Okla., April 12 (AP)—J. J. Conry retired 1 day as president of Carter Oil company and the board of directors named L. F. McCollum to succeed him.

Conry's retirement came after 40 years of service with Carter and other subsidiaries of Standard Oil Company, New Jersey.

He suffered an illness about a year ago and said later he would like to retire "and do some of the things I have always wanted to do." He is 62 years old.

McCollum has been executive vice president and manager of the exploration department.

O. C. Schorp, vice president and manager of the production department, will become executive vice president. Schorp will be succeeded as production manager by J. R. Williams, Shreveport, La. president of Louark Producing company, Standard subsidiary being merged with Carter.

Other anticipated changes include transfer of William A. Watkins, Mattoon, Ill., eastern division superintendent, to Shreveport to head the new southern division encompassing Louark's Arkansas and Louisiana production and Carter's operations in Mississippi and Alabama.

There is a town called Beebe Plain, which stands half in the state of Vermont and half in the province of Quebec. The postoffice was built exactly on the boundary line between the United States and Canada.

For Sale: One Used Bow And Arrow Set

HOUSTON, April 12 (AP)—Donald Waters, 12 year old admirer of Robin Hood, tied a rag around an arrow, dipped it in coal oil, set it afire and shot at a target.

The arrow missed the target and landed on the roof of his mother's garage.

Firemen extinguished the blaze about five minutes later and Donald put away his bow and arrow.

Natural Gasoline Association Will Meet In Texas

For the first time in 20 years the Natural Gasoline Association of America will move its annual convention away from Tulsa, Oklahoma, when it meets April 23-25, at the Baker hotel, Dallas. According to George P. Bunn, Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla., president of the association, semi-annual meetings have been held elsewhere but Tulsa has always been considered the center of the industry as far as the larger annual convention was concerned. "In recent years, however," said Mr. Bunn, "there has been a remarkable growth of natural gasoline operations in Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico. Accordingly, the interests of the association and its membership have increased in those areas and the shifting of the convention site is a recognition of these factors."

As recently announced by T. R. Goebel, Shell Oil Co., Inc., Houston, chairman of the convention program committee, the technical program will feature reports of committee research activities covering significant technical developments of wide interest to the industry.

Among these are the introduction of a revised charcoal method for testing natural gas to determine its natural gasoline content; new volume correction factors for liquefied petroleum gases; and new light on the variables in Reid vapor pressure determinations. C. E. Warren and H. A. Montgomery, Hannon-Buchanan, Inc., Gladewater, will present the first public summary of results obtained in another research project concerned with standardization of low temperature fractional distillation apparatus and procedure. The laboratories of fifteen large companies have been cooperating in this study for over a year.

A high pressure gas session will attract the attention of engineers engaged in repressuring, pressure maintenance and recycling operations with such papers as "Dehydration in High Pressure Gas Operations" by R. A. Carter, Continental Oil Co., Ponca City. This paper will be discussed by Dr. G. G. Brown and Donald Katz, University of Michigan. Of interest to all natural gasoline plant engineers is a paper by H. W. Harts, Warren Petroleum Corporation, Tulsa, on "Close Fractionation in the Manufacture of Special Products at Natural Gasoline Plants." This paper will be discussed by J. L. Gallagher, Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company, Tulsa.

Other technical papers of wide interest include "Uses of Products from Natural Gas," by Dr. F. H. Dotterweich, Texas A. & I. college; "Safety Standards in the Liquefied Petroleum Gas Industry," by G. L. Brennan, Phillips division, Phillips

"Freezing" Of Oil Prices Hit At IPA Meeting

NEW ORLEANS, April 12. (AP)—Officers of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, meeting here preparatory to Monday's sessions of the Interstate Oil Compact commission and the Cole Congressional committee, expressed concern today over possible "freezing" of the price of crude oil at an unfair level.

Frank Buttram of Oklahoma City, Okla., president of the association, declared that federal pegging of prices on most other basic commodities would not be as harmful to their producers as in the case of oil. The price of petroleum, he said, followed recent rises in other lines.

Buttram said the government's Venezuelan trade agreement, which went into effect last year, had increased oil imports into the United States.

"During last year, the imports for consumption in this country averaged about 193,000 barrels daily. This is an increase of 90 per cent over the same imports during 1939. These imports are steadily increasing in quantity."

The Cole committee, headed by Rep. William P. Cole (D-Md.), is visiting oil fields in Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas to complete several years of congressional study of the oil industry.

Chairman Cole is one of the authors of a bill for extensive federal regulation of the petroleum industry.

The Interstate Oil Compact commission, representing the states of Arkansas, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, provides the chief regulatory control at present on oil production and marketing.

Standing committees of the IPAA, which will make recommendations to the compact commission, met today.

They included the committee on Interstate Compact, representing producers from 33 states, and the committee on balance of supply with demand.

Boy Suffers Fatal Burns In Silence

CAMDEN, N. J., April 12 (AP)—Four-year-old Ralph Reagan was soundly spanked last week when his mother found him playing with matches.

Last night the child crawled onto the back porch, whimpering in agony, but determined not to cry because again he had been playing with matches—and his cowboy suit had been burned from his small body.

Ralph died today in Cooper hospital.

Texas' Oil Output Up 3,416 Barrels

AUSTIN, April 12 (AP)—The permissive flow of oil from Texas' 96,123 wells increased 3,416 barrels to an average of 1,374,169 barrels daily for the week ended today.

The railroad commission reported statewide allowable was 23,869 barrels above the U. S. Bureau of Mines recommendation for daily production in April, but application of a normal 3.5 per cent underproduction would place actual flow 24,402 barrels below the bureau estimate. The number of wells increased by 131 during the week.

'Learn To Camp, Then Come To Philturn,' New Scout Slogan

"Learn to camp, then come to Philturn" is a new camping slogan of the Boy Scouts of America, the nation's largest camping organization.

The Philturn Rocky mountain Scout camp, probably the most unusual camp in the United States, is a tract of 37,852 acres of wilderness mountain country near Cimarron, New Mexico. Owned and developed by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, it provides a wilderness camping experience for Senior Scouts whose experience and training qualify them for adventures similar to those of the nation's pioneers who established the traditions and the historical background of the area.

The site of 55 square miles lies within mountain ridges and canyons traversed and hunted by Kit Carson, Jim Bridger and other noted pioneer hunters, guides and outdoorsmen.

Gift To Nation's Boys

The Philturn Rocky mountain Scout camp is a gift to the boyhood of the nation. Waite Phillips of Tulsa, Okla., presented the tract to the Boy Scouts of America in the fall of 1938. "Philturn" comes partly from the name of the donor and partly from the daily "good turn" which characterizes Boy Scouts the world over. Scouts of 21 states have already camped in this new wilderness paradise, some as far as Nebraska, Wyoming, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Kansas, Iowa and Illinois.

Philturn is now a state game refuge. Those who like to camp in a primitive environment may see porcupine, deer, beaver, elk, fox, coyote, wild turkey and many varieties of local and migratory birds. One Scout identified 63 different birds there last summer.

Plenty To Do

There is plenty to do on Philturn camping expeditions. The 18 miles of horseback and hiking trails of the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rocky mountains take campers to many spots unmatched for scenic beauty.

Scouts coming to Philturn who have never done any riding are taught to ride before they leave the camp. Philturn Rocky mountain Scout camp owns its string of "rock horses," horses trained to rocky mountain trails, as surefooted as cats.

Scouts watch beavers building their dams, tunnels, channels, and their homes along the south branch of the Ponil river.

Along the North Ponil canyon walls Indian picture writings remind twentieth century campers of an ancient people.

With a little patience and some work with a gold pan in the upper reaches of the Scout Ponil river, the Scout camper may find flecks of gold.

Activities at Philturn include an overnight horseback trip, a three-day burro pack trip and a three-day pack trip and an overnight trip to the Carson National Forest. Six and twelve-day exploration trips include camping at centers of special interest on the Philturn area and experiences in saddling, horseback riding, burro packing and back packing. The chuck wagon serves hot meals in typical cowboy fashion.

Interesting Places To See

Numerous sights visited by Philturn campers include Mount Capulin, 8,000 feet in elevation, said to be the most perfect volcanic crater in the United States; Cimarron canyon with its palisades and scenic wonders; the great pueblo of Taos world-renowned ancient city and the home and final resting place of Kit Carson; the Ice Caves where water freezes even on the hottest days of summer; Frijoles canyon, home of ancient cliff dwellers; Eagle Nest lake, noted for its trout fishing; the hideout of Black Jack, the desperado of bygone days; and an old log skid, a primitive engineering feat. From Burt Mountain Lookout may be seen a breath-taking vista of the surrounding country for miles in all directions from the valley floor to Mt. Baldy and other peaks.

Camping Experience Necessary

The type of camping done at Philturn requires advance preparation and each group is expected to meet established camping standards. The wilderness camp is inspiring troops to prepare for this high adventure by months of camping experience in their home areas. Three years of hiking and scouting back home enable the camper to get the most out of this national Scout wilderness camping area.

Philturn is open all year long under the direction of B. B. Dawson, a veteran outdoorsman who formerly was Scout executive at Lincoln, Neb. It is also being used as a training center. Camping courses have been scheduled for May 9 to 11, June 5 to 8, and June 12 to 15. In addition the camp is available to local Boy Scout councils planning their own training courses.

Scouts desiring to camp at Philturn may make arrangements through the Scout council in their home area, which supervises the organization of the camping party, assigning or approving leadership, completing registration arrangements, and checking plans and arrangements for the tour permit, without which no Scout group may travel officially as Scouts. Touring permits are only granted upon evidence that the health and safety of each member of the group is safeguarded.

Plan Own Trips

Senior Scouts planning their own explorations within Philturn's area and in the surrounding country, may use a base camp established near camp headquarters. They either bring their own tents or rent them at Philturn. A shelter for cooking and dining, fireplace, water and sanitary facilities are provided. Food is purchased at the camp commissary.

At its Philturn Rocky mountain Scout camp, the Boy Scouts of America is preserving for generations of American boys in the years to come an unspoiled wilderness camping area.

KPDN Radio Chat

By BILL BROWNE

Observing Easter Day today, KPDN will present the final episode of the radio series, "The Living God." It will be a half-hour program, starting at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The first half of this 30-minute Easter program will be the last act in the dramatic radio play, which gives an imaginary eye-witness account of the events of the First Easter. The action is based strictly on the scriptures, and it depicts a radio announcer on a roving assignment giving a moving account of all he sees.

Voices of the principals, including Jesus Christ, are picked by the announcer's mike.

Hollywood stars take the leading roles in the radio play. William Gargan plays the announcer. Pedro de Cordoba plays the Christ. Others taking part are Una O'Connor, Jane Wyatt, J. Carroll Nash, Dennis Day, Winona Matthews, Patricia Casey and the Loyola University players.

In the second half of today's 30-minute program the Right Reverend Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen of the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C. will preach an Easter sermon, "Closed Doors." Monsignor Sheen, a well known voice on the networks, where he holds the world's record for religious radio audience mail, is the priest who converted the late Heywood Brown and the late Horace A. Mann.

KPDN listeners will miss the voice of Bob Morris, beginning today. He has accepted a position at the Danciger plant in the chemical department. Bob studied chemistry in college and has for a long time been hoping for a chance in that type of work. This column joins many others in wishing Bob the best of luck.

Kiwanians To Meet Monday With Sanford

Pampa Kiwanians will go to Sanford Monday for an inter-club meeting with the Sanford Kiwanis club. Joe Gordon, inter-club relations chairman, will be in charge of the program to be presented by the Pampa club, which will include singing by the Co-Eds in Blue.

Local members will leave at 6 o'clock tomorrow night from Creney's Drug store.

Easter was the theme of the Pampa club's regular weekly luncheon at noon Friday. The Rev. Charles Starnes, pastor of Harrah Methodist church, was the principal speaker. A sacred solo was sung by Arthur Nelson.

Five members of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance were among those attending the luncheon. They were the Revs. Starnes, B. A. Norris, First Christian church pastor, Aubrey Ashley, McCullough Methodist, R. G. West, Church of the Brethren, and Robert Boshen, club member, who is pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Attendance at the luncheon was 67. A visiting Kiwanian was Bill Gray of Amarillo.

Guests were Jay Hanson, Tulsa, Toby Waggoner, LeFors, C. W. Allen, Canadian, and the following, all of Pampa, E. L. Henderson, Bob Mullen, and Henry Ellis.

Public Debt $1,813 For Average Family

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Public debt amounted to $420 per capita or $1,813 for the average family in the United States at the start of the current fiscal year, last July 1.

Reporting this today, the census bureau said the states owed $3,565,000,000; smaller divisions of government, $16,720,000,000, and the federal government $42,971,000,000.

State and local government debts accounted for a per capita obligation of nearly $154, a decline of $3 since 1932.

The federal debt on July 1 was equal to $326 per capita. However, it now stands at $47,167,000,000, or about $450 per capita, and defense expenditures will add billions to the total.

The obligations of state and local governments increased only $63,000,000, or 3.4 per cent, between 1932 and 1940, the bureau said, compared with an increase of $9,307,000,000, or 91 per cent between 1922 and 1932.

The per capita burden of such debt thus increased 2.2 per cent in the last eight years, while the ratio of debt to income per capita declined 44 per cent.

State and local governments collected $70 per capita in taxes last year, the bureau said, compared with $39 paid to the federal government.

U. S. Army Morale Highest, Says Chief

TEXARKANA, April 12 (AP)—The morale of the United States Army "is at the highest after a hard winter," General George C. Marshall, army chief of state, said in an interview here today.

General Marshall first paid tribute to the late Morris Sheppard of Texas, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs committee. He was here to attend Senator Sheppard's funeral.

"Senator Sheppard's absence from the military affairs committee will be seriously felt but his example of leadership in guiding legislation will be a continuing asset," he declared.

The chief of staff said he recently had seen the troops of the armored force at Fort Knox; the artillery at Fort Sill; the 45th division at Abilene, Texas; the 96th at Brownwood; the second division at San Antonio; the 32nd at Camp Livingston, La.; the 34th at Claiborne, and the air schools and depots around San Antonio.

"They have made a fine impression on me," he said. "The morale is high. Nowhere are there finer men or better material than we have in our army."

Thoroughbred race horses nearly always are black or brown.

Why does a Golf Ball bounce?

EVER notice that a golf ball, when you drop it, bounces higher than something hollow, like a tennis ball?

That's partly because of internal pressures, which also have so much to do with Buick's extra FIREBALL power.

Rubber threads inside a golf ball are packed tight, highly compressed. When flattened against a hard object, like a sidewalk, they come back harder, with more push, and so the ball bounces higher.

A similar thing happens inside a Buick FIREBALL straight-eight cylinder.

Fuel compression pressures are higher here than in any other standard-production automobile engine.

So when the spark jumps in the tightly-packed, fuel-fat ball of gas-mixture at the top of the stroke—the Buick piston goes rushing down with more push, more shove, more power than the same amount of fuel gives up elsewhere.

Result: every Buick engine travels farther per gallon this year than the same-size engines did last year, while Compound Carburetion* with Buick FIREBALL design gives as much as 10% to 15% more miles per gallon.

In fact, if you're buying any car this year, it's pretty important to see and drive a Buick before you're through; it's Number One in smart engineering as well as Number One in solid, rock-bottom, all-round VALUE!

Work 40 Per Cent Complete On Road

Work on the 17.2-mile Alanreed-LeFors road is 40 per cent completed up to this week, the county engineer said Saturday. The project started last November.

Culverts have been put in, concrete poured, and caliche laid. The work at present is limited to a six-mile strip, starting seven miles south of LeFors.

Laying of asphalt will not be done until after all other work is finished.

There is an average of 60 men employed weekly on the project.

At the caliche pit last week, the men averaged shoveling 25 yards per man for one day.

Equipment in use on the road includes two five-yard and one 10-yard scrapers, an 80-horsepower tractor, and a maintainer.

Robert "Blue" Steele Charged With Assault

LAREDO, April 12 (AP)—Robert E. "Blue" Steele, orchestra leader, was bound over under $3,000 bail today to await removal to Monroe, La., for trial on a charge of assaulting a federal officer.

Steele was arrested here Wednesday on a charge of being a fugitive from Louisiana. United States Commissioner Frank Y. Hill held an examining hearing today.

Malcolm E. LaFargue, assistant United States district attorney at Monroe, said Steele would be tried during the current federal court session there.

The government alleged that the orchestra leader attacked Sidney H. Pratt, U. S. internal revenue officer, in Lake Providence, La., last summer when Pratt attempted to collect taxes claimed due from Steele.

Common Ground: This column extends there can be no satisfactory program until we measure the ability of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

Common Ground

CASTING OUT DEVILS—POVERTY: When any man works and produces wealth, he is helping cast out the devil of poverty from the country.

CASTING OUT DEVILS—POVERTY: Contrast the labor unions' attitude with that of Jesus when His disciples remonstrated, "We saw one casting out devils in Thy name and we forbade him because he followeth not with us"; Jesus answered, "Forbid him not, for he that is not against us is for us."

CASTING OUT DEVILS—POVERTY: The modern labor unions either do not understand what they are doing, because they do not realize the oneness of mankind, or they are too short-sighted, thinking only of their own personal gain and pleasure, without any regard whatsoever for anyone else.

CASTING OUT DEVILS—POVERTY: It is hard to conceive how anyone who believes and advocates this kind of modern labor union tyranny can claim to be a Christian.

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": Roosevelt made some strange statements in his Jackson Day Speech. He said that it is nice to get down on the ocean where one has an opportunity for thinking things through.

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": Has he thought through a way of operating a government so men can have full employment? Has he thought through the farm problem? Has he thought through the Wagner Labor Law that takes away from a private citizen the right to sell his services, without paying tribute and becoming the serf of labor racketeers?

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": Has he thought through how those who cannot earn the minimum wages can obtain jobs and save their self-respect? Has he thought through how the debt which he has piled up is to be paid without lowering the living standards of the workers?

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": Another of his statements, which seems to be an absurdity, is when he talks about America holding free elections. If there ever has been a man in the history of America who bought elections and disregarded the idea of free elections, it is Roosevelt.

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": Thomas of Allendale, N. J., who was loaded for Communist bear with questions based on the files of the Dies committee. When he couldn't ask his questions, he blew up, and there ensued one of those little spats which enliven all congressional debate and make some people wonder about the merits of democracy, and then there. Nobody seconded his emotion.

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": Next witness was John D. Biggers, head of production in OPM, and Thomas told him he needn't worry about taking up the committee's time, for it had plenty.

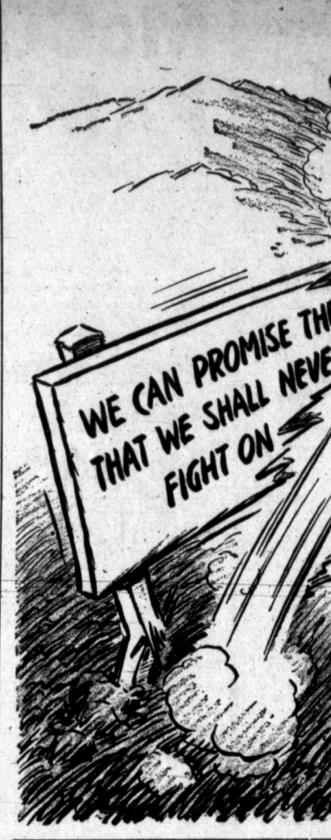

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": Carefully, painstakingly, deliberately, co-operatively, Biggers spelled out the organization of OPM, which, also, congressmen should have known. He read his prepared statement, stressing the magnitude of the job, the lack of appreciation of the critical situation, again emphasizing that his own task was advice on production—that the army and navy let the contracts, that he had nothing to do with labor.

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": In those two hours you could get what was eating these congressmen—all congressmen—most. Labor, Dewey, Short of Galena, Mo., wanting to know why a contract couldn't be made with labor, to guarantee production. Somebody else wanting to know why labor unions couldn't be incorporated, and so made responsible. Somebody else wanting to know what had been done about these subversive elements. Somebody else wanting to know what laws Congress could pass to end these strikes.

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": Well, maybe this investigating committee will find what it's looking for, and maybe it won't. You never can tell about committees, particularly congressional committees, and what they'll get done.

ROOSEVELT "THINKING THINGS THROUGH": One woman, however, knitting automatically on a sweater during the whole opening session, got a lot done. If she attends every session of this committee's hearing and knits through every session, Bundles for Britain will have another boatload, and that will be something constructive, at least.

THE FIRST THING IT BROKE

Around Hollywood: (Lucie Neville is pinch-hitting for Paul Harrison, now touring army camps and defense industries.)

By Archer Fullingim: A member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce (not this one) recently made the statement that the reason most of the Jaycees who can but won't grow Fiesta whiskers is because they think they are pretty. "I really mean that," the Jaycee said.

By Lucie Neville: NEA Service Staff Correspondent. HOLLYWOOD, April 12—Brian Donley, who has dealt 'em off the bottom and marled, "I'll call ya," in a dozen films, is back at his sinful pursuits as a gambler in "The Great Man's Lady."

By Lucie Neville: The set is a super-super one, representing a ritzy gambling house of San Francisco's 1888, with plush carpets, velvet sofas, gilt chairs, heavy silk fringe edging the faro and roulette tables, but there's one inaccurate of which the prop and set departments are miserably conscious: Chips are stacked at the bankers' places.

By Lucie Neville: Chips were being used at Monte Carlo in that period, but Golden Gate gamblers slung gold pieces and silver cartwheels on their green-felt covered tables. It's a Hays offense of a year ago: No gambling with money—not even the United States treasury okay for stage and movie use.

By Lucie Neville: That aged miner with the bushy beard, whom you'll see in "Parson of Panamint," is Charlie Ruggles, in his own you'll recognize him. His cook didn't and he swears his dog didn't either. With three weeks in the lot to loaf and grow whiskers for his role as Chuckawalla Bill, the actor decided to spend the time away from home and kidding friends.

By Lucie Neville: He got back in town with two inches of facial fuzz and wearing disreputable clothes. Starting to go in his own back door, he was challenged by his trio of hounds, barking and snarling furiously. They were pretty puzzled when the tramp called them by name, but were still suspicious and kept up the racket until the cook—who has worked for Ruggles seven years—came to the door. She called off the hounds and apologizing, asked the poor old fellow if he'd like a cup of nice hot coffee.

By Lucie Neville: Queenie Leonard, whose name has been as famous as Gracie Fields' in British musicals, found a souvenir on the "Man Hunt" set the other day. It was a 1929 theatrical poster, one of several put up by the prop department to give an authentic air to the London east end scene, and advertised Ned Cochran's revue, "Wake Up and Dream." Miss Leonard starred in it, introduced the song "What Is This Thing Called Love?" In the same show, rating no billing, was a chorus girl—named Ann-Neagle.

By Lucie Neville: After more than a year and a half, Great Garbo is going to make another picture, her first since "Ni-notchka." She'll play the roles of twin sisters and have a super-Adrian wardrobe. . . . Orson Welles tried to sneak out of town last week-end—didn't even tell his press agent he was going to New York—and was cornered at the airport by photographers; he spent so much time trying to persuade them not to take

THE LOOKING GLASS

TAKE YOUR CHOICE: My Mme. Stella Hall. When they got to Bob's house, Charley understood why he had been dragged there. Bess was mad! She had heard about Bob's evening before in the Blue Mirror with a cutie. Bob knew she would so that was why he wanted his best friend to come home with him.

THE LOOKING GLASS: He felt sorry for Bob. Really, Bob was a good fellow. Bess had her own jealousy, that was it. The scene he had just witnessed was nauseating to him. To think that life could get so sordid as that. Why didn't they throw dishes? How could they say a lot of nasty things to each other and then make it all up before morning?

THE LOOKING GLASS: Without affection or sentiment of any kind Charley thought of Lena. There was certainly something to be said for an intelligent woman. Lena never made scenes. There were times when he could have wished for more warmth in his mate, but as he rode home in the street car after the torrid scene he had witnessed, Lena, just as she was, seemed perfect.

THE LOOKING GLASS: When he got home Lena was in one of her aloof states. "I went up to Bob's house. He wanted to show me his tackle." "I didn't ask you where you'd been," Lena came at him icily. "Well, honey, I just thought you might have wondered."

THE LOOKING GLASS: Lena picked up her Huxley book and snapping on the lamp by her chair settled herself for a sophisticated story. She was annoyed at him for being late, but she'd never say anything. That was what education did for women. She'd just go on reading her high-brow book.

THE LOOKING GLASS: Suddenly Charley thought of Bess affectionately. She'd throw things and call names. She'd devote her whole evening to it. But even that seemed preferable to the Lena sitting there reading her book. Bess couldn't read anything but the funnies. Education for women was all wrong, Charley decided. Made them all independent. He wished with all his heart that Lena had never learned to read. He resented the way she could shut him clear out of her world. He decided that a woman reading a book was the most detestable sight on earth.

THE LOOKING GLASS: Every time we judge an action to be good and fine, we wish, as is quite natural, that it should become general. Then, seeing in society a power to which everybody yields, our first thought is to cause society to decrease and impose the line of action we so approve. But the question is whether we would not corrupt both the nature of the motive and the nature of the action by imposing compulsion that which had been voluntary. For this is important to me, and I cannot get it into my head that the law, which rests on force, could be usefully applied to any purpose other than to prevent wrongs and maintain rights.

THE LOOKING GLASS: I have described a nation wherein this was the case. Now let us suppose that among this people the opinion should gain prevalence that the law should no longer be limited to imposing justice; that it should aspire also to impose Fraternity. What would happen? I shall

THE LOOKING GLASS: Again I ask, is there nothing in the human heart except what is put there by the legislature? In order for fraternity to appear upon the earth, is it necessary for it to come out of the ballot box? Does the law forbid charity because it imposes nothing but justice? Does anybody believe that women will cease to show devotion and to have hearts as open to pity, because devotion and pity have not been ordained by the legal code? Then which article of the Code is it that, snatching the daughter from the arms of her mother, thrusts her toward those dreadful resorts by which are encountered hideous diseases of the body and even more hideous diseases of the mind? Which is the article of the Code that determines the vocation of a priest? To what written law, to what government, to what intervention shall we ascribe the foundations of Christianity, the zeal of the apostles, the courage of the martyrs, the beneficence of Fenelon or of Francois de Paule, the self-abnegation of so many men who, in our day, have risked their lives a thousand times for the triumph of a popular cause?

TEX'S TOPICS

By DeWeese: THIS is Easter Sunday. . . . By the time many of you have read this you shall have attended sunrise services in the canyon, weather permitting. . . . All of you must be thankful that you are in America where you can worship today as you please. . . . This day, the observance of the Resurrection, is one of the high points in the church year, and here in these United States some 200 religious sects will gather to worship without fear of suppression or racial discrimination.

TEX'S TOPICS: Incidentally, that that American religious worship is on the uptrend is shown in statistics of the Federal Councils of Churches of Christ in America. . . . According to the latest figures, American church members—both Christian and Hebrew—number 64,155,548. . . . That's an increase of 915,414 church-goers over the previous count. . . . Today, with an embattled world about them, Americans are realizing as never before the importance of the church in their social structure and in their personal lives.

TEX'S TOPICS: MURIEL Lester, the noted social worker, says "even leading Christians consider ten minutes a day for prayer enough, although they spend ten hours eating and sleeping. . . . We have no idea as to how much of each day should be devoted to prayer, but a prayer we like is Pope's. . . . If I am right, help me. If I am wrong, O Lord, Teach me the better way."

TEX'S TOPICS: I kneel now to pray that thou Make white one single sin.—I only kneel to thank Thee, Lord, For what I have not been.

TEX'S TOPICS: And, when the sermons have been read, the prayers said, the rejoicing of the Happy Easteride has reached its zenith in the churches, the people of this country will go to their homes, or into the avenues for the Easter promenade. . . . It has always been thus in the United States. . . . But, what of the people of Europe today. . . . What of London? . . . What of Prague? . . . What of Holland? . . . What of Belgium? . . . And Norway, and Sweden, and Greece, and Yugoslavia, and the peoples of the other overrun countries, smashed by the heel of tyrants? . . . What of the midday? . . . Think of Paris. . . . It is April in Paris, but the song of the birds has little significance to subjugated people who cannot even worship as they please on this Easter Day. . . . There is a difference in world leaders. . . . Hitler, maybe you noticed, chose the Holy Week to begin another phase of his blitzkrieg murders.

TEX'S TOPICS: That is not a pretty picture in Europe this Easter Sunday. . . . At the rate the world is being plunged into war, the Nazi leaders to consider what the Easter picture may be in 1942. . . . One

The War Today

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON: The first "contact" between British Empire armies and Axis legions has come and whether in Greece and Yugoslavia or in North Africa, the odds in manpower, in mechanized and precision equipment, even in the advance of initiative are with the Germans.

The War Today: It was their to attack, the task of the British to defend. But the odds of terrain are with the British in North Africa and with the British-Greek allies on the Balkan war front. That could prove all important.

The War Today: Just where the Greek-British defense line runs west of the Vardar is not certain. Obviously, it is keyed to mountain peaks, narrow valleys, and precipitous gorges from its sea flank on the east coast of the Gulf of Salonika to the great mountain lake system through which runs the frontiers of Albania and Yugoslavia. Just as obvious, the line of defense must be geared, also the road and rail communications at the rear, over which come supplies.

The War Today: It is 100 miles or so, crow flight, from end to end of the sea, mountain and lake bastioned front. There is no certain estimate of the British-Greek forces or possible Yugoslavian aid available to hold it. Its topography necessarily canalizes any attack upon it to relatively few roads and narrow valleys. Indications are that the Balkan front was picked and to some extent prepared well in advance by the allies.

The War Today: The test of their wisdom in selecting the front has come. The Germans, crashing through the Balkan front, are now in the Balkan area yesterday, and said the Axis, Italian and German troops joined forces on the shore of Lake Ohrid, near the central bastion of the allied line.

The War Today: Down in North Africa, the British announced "contact" with Italo-German units which have been marching eastward across Italian Libya toward Tobruk. Whatever the actual strength of the Nazi-Fascist armored force in Libya, it is already under heavy strain, testing endurance of men and machines. Its only supply line stretches hundreds of miles behind it to Tripoli. And still far ahead of it lies the British main western defense system, the Suez canal region, the Matruh railroad 50 miles east of Alexandria.

The War Today: An Italian army of much greater numerical strength never got within sight of Matruh. It is still far from certain that the Nazi-Fascist thrust even hopes to get that far. It may still be merely a Nazi diversion operation keyed to the Balkan war.

The War Today: knows only that a great and vital page of history will have been written before another Easter Sunday dawns over the earth. . . . As we contemplate the meaning of Easter, our thoughts turn to the Easter promenade. . . . May there be universal rejoicing and peace ere another Easter Sunday comes.

Can Government Promote "Justice and Fraternity"? By FREDERIC BASTIAT: tell it briefly, for the reader needs only to reverse the elements of the preceding picture.

Can Government Promote "Justice and Fraternity"? At first, a frightful uncertainty, a dreadful insecurity would flatten out all private activity; because fraternity can present itself in millions of strange forms and, for this reason, in millions of unforeseen forms. Innumerable effects would spring up every day to threaten all established relations. In the name of fraternity, one would demand uniformity of wages, and there you would have the working classes reduced to the state of slaves; neither skill nor courage nor diligence nor intelligence could lift them; one leader law would hold them all down. This world would be like Dante's inferno: Lacate ogni speranza, voi ch' entrate. (Abandon all hope, ye who enter.)

Can Government Promote "Justice and Fraternity"? Demand Shorter Hours: In the name of fraternity, another would demand that work be reduced to ten, eight, six, four hours, and this production becomes arrested. When there is no longer bread to appease hunger, nor cloth for protection from cold, a third would advance the idea of replacing bread and cloth with fiat paper money. Do we not buy things with cash? We not buy, he would say, means more bread and cloth; increasing paper is increasing money. Draw your own conclusion. A fourth would insist on the abolition of competition; a fifth, on the abolition of personal interest; another would want the government to provide employment; some one else, free education; another, who would demand for all citizens. And here comes another who wants to kill off all the kings of earth, and in this enterprise to declare universal war in the name of fraternity. I evident that here, for it is fully evident that in this course of action the fountain of utopia is inexhaustible. Somebody may say that the flow would be cut off. Perhaps so; but it is possible that it would not be, and that is enough to create uncertainty, the greatest destroyer of employment.

Can Government Promote "Justice and Fraternity"? Every time we judge an action to be good and fine, we wish, as is quite natural, that it should become general. Then, seeing in society a power to which everybody yields, our first thought is to cause society to decrease and impose the line of action we so approve. But the question is whether we would not corrupt both the nature of the motive and the nature of the action by imposing compulsion that which had been voluntary. For this is important to me, and I cannot get it into my head that the law, which rests on force, could be usefully applied to any purpose other than to prevent wrongs and maintain rights.

Can Government Promote "Justice and Fraternity"? I have described a nation wherein this was the case. Now let us suppose that among this people the opinion should gain prevalence that the law should no longer be limited to imposing justice; that it should aspire also to impose Fraternity. What would happen? I shall

Legislative Session Now In Final Lap

AUSTIN, April 12 (AP)—The legislature wheels Monday into the final lap of the 120-day general session, its machinery primed for important floor work.

The lawmakers have reached the stage where committee work fades into the background and extended floor sessions are ordered on measures sponsors hope to turn out before adjournment.

There were prospects the senate might soon begin work on the $25,000,000 omnibus tax bill sent it by the house. The measure is in a state affairs sub-committee which is striving to report it Tuesday.

The senate action on this bill ranks as the number one topic because it can key the success or failure of the session.

Although secondary in interest, there are many bills requiring action.

Chairman A. M. Alkin, Jr., of Paris intends to bring up for debate Monday the Senate Finance committee's departmental appropriation bill allocating $25,285,253 to multiple-branch state government operation in the next two years.

The house calendar is open to many subjects, including:

A measure giving a joint legislative committee instead of the governor authority to name the state auditor.

A bill repealing the supreme court's rule making power for civil procedure which was spawned a warm controversy.

House advocates of a new driver's license law have announced they will seek concurrence in senate amendments to a house-approved bill patterned to curb irresponsible drivers and heighten road safety.

(Senate amendments permit wider appeal methods from orders suspending driving permits and reduce the fee for private operators from 75 to 50 cents.)

Religious Drama

To Be Presented At Church Tonight

"The Road to Emmaus," a religious drama in one act, written by Paul Nagy, Jr., will be given this evening at 7:30 at the First Methodist church.

The author has taken a Biblical scene and made it live again. The incident concerns the appearance of the Risen Lord to two of his disciples on their way home from Jerusalem and the crucifixion. The failure of the disciples to recognize the Stranger and the readiness with which the mother does recognize him are highlights of the drama, and they help to present the story of this unusual appearance.

The characters are: Cleopas, the father, to be played by John Keller; his son, David, Wayne Coffin; the wife of Cleopas, Mrs. W. A. Rankin; and the Stranger, Flaudie Gallman. The play is under the direction of Miss Mary Gaylord Booth.

The public is invited to this worship service.

Wheeler Blasts At FDR On Ship Policy

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) today called President Roosevelt's action in opening the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden to American shipping "an ashline policy" that might force the United States to fight single-handedly "in all parts of the world."

"The warmongers in France have destroyed the French republic and the warmongers in England have all but destroyed the British empire," he said in a statement. "The same type of warmongers will destroy the United States if we keep on letting our sentiments rather than our judgment control our policies."

Meanwhile Sir Arthur Salter, chief of the British Shipping mission in this country, paid his first call on Secretary Hull today. He told newspapermen the President's action in opening the sea lanes for American ships to Suez would give very valuable aid to Great Britain.

Wheeler said "of course if one wants to get us into the war the way to do it is to take more and more chances on sending our ships where they are most likely to be blown up."

In Berlin, authorized sources called Mr. Roosevelt's opening of the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden the first open American intervention in European affairs and a violation of the European Monroe Doctrine.

Sooner Solons Start Priming General Fund

By SCHUYLER ALLMAN

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 12 (AP)—The tax nut—a tough one for any legislator—begins to crack and by next week the eighteenth session expects to be shelling out revenue bills at a steady clip.

Passed by the house this week and sent to the senate were bills to pour an estimated $1,400,000 to the lean general fund.

This came from $1,000,000 (estimated) on an increased foreign life insurance premium tax and $400,000 from a corporation franchise tax increase.

While these estimates may be a bit rosy, the legislature will not be able to fool itself for the state equalization board under the budget balancing amendment has the final say as to how much the bills may raise.

Progress was made on Governor Phillips' school legislation during the week.

His bill to strip A. L. Crable, state school superintendent, of most of his authority and vest it with an eight-member state board of education, cleared the senate and will be signed by Phillips Monday or Tuesday.

A school transportation bill, giving the state board power to dictate school bus lines and prohibiting districts from overstepping them, was passed by the senate and sent to the house.

Accompanying it was a bill appropriating $10,000 for a school bus route survey of the entire state, which Phillips said would be finished before the old fiscal year is over.

House leaders hoped to get the school aid regulation bill, set down for special order at 2 p. m. Monday, out of the way early so that "four or five" more tax bills can be passed next week.

The house decided to act on its own version of the school bill, instead of working on the senate's measure, so the final draft will have to be worked out in conference.

Floor Leader James A. Rinehart of the senate said a sine die adjournment resolution, possibly for late April, would be thrown into the hopper next week.

Omnibus Waterways

Bill Receives Boost

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Influential senators were reported uniting today behind an effort to link the St. Lawrence seaway project with the Florida ship canal, Tombigbee, Arkansas Valley Authority, and Columbia river developments in a billion dollar omnibus waterways bill.

Behind-the-scenes attempts to line up the supporters of each of these projects in a solid bloc were described as only partly successful thus far. Some opposition was said to have developed from those who feared that the consolidation of such an ambitious program of hydro-electric power, navigation, and flood control proposals in one measure would provoke "pork barrel" charges.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb.), one of those interested, said he was particularly anxious to see the proposed development of the Columbia river, the establishment of the Arkansas Valley Authority, and the St. Lawrence project placed in one bill.

Norris, added, however, that he would not favor inclusion of projects which might lose rather than gain votes for these three proposals, although he noted he had supported both the Florida canal and the Tombigbee projects previously rejected by congress.

Order To Return Home Ignored By Danish Minister

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The Danish foreign office in Copenhagen today recalled Henrik De Kauffmann as minister to the United States by the envoy, who signed the Greenland and the ship sale agreements with this country, has determined to disregard the order.

"The instructions obviously were sent by the foreign office under duress," said a spokesman at the legation and the minister feels it is his duty to remain here.

The recall order followed De Kauffmann's return to Copenhagen, of his signing of the agreement by which the United States obtains air bases designed to protect Greenland from possible German aggression.

De Kauffmann did not advise his government of the action until after the formal announcement was made here at noon Thursday. Then he sent a lengthy cable which included the agreement and his exchange of notes with Secretary Hull.

He received a bare acknowledgment of the receipt of his report from Copenhagen only today and this was followed immediately by the order for his recall. The legation spokesman pointed out that all communications to and from Copenhagen go by way of Berlin.

De Kauffmann plans to notify Hull of the recall order "as a matter of form," the spokesman said, but it is expected that the United States will continue to recognize him as the official representative of his country.

25,000 Attend Sheppard Funeral

TEXARKANA, Tex., April 12 (AP)—A cross-section of America jammed this bi-state town today to bury the nation's congressional dean, Senator Morris Sheppard, who, born with national cares, died in Washington Wednesday after 38 years in House and Senate.

Hill folk, military men, folk from the piney woods, cotton field sharecroppers, politicians from Capitol Hill, polished easterners, ranchers, followed the silver haired military affairs expert from his funeral train to the Methodist church, and then to Hillcrest cemetery.

The nation-at-large helped bring home the native son who in 1902 became representative and 11 years later began his three-continuous senatorial career. State police estimated the crowd at 25,000.

General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, House Speaker Sam Rayburn and a delegation of representatives and senators, Texas Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and Texas Attorney General Gerald Mann were among celebrities present.

Methodist Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston, the Rev. Walton B. Gardner of Texarkana's First Methodist church, and Texarkana district Methodist superintendent Rev. L. W. Nichols conducted the funeral services.

A military escort met the funeral train this morning. Eight sergeants carried the casket to a hearse which preceded an escort's dirged drum to the church. There the body laid in state until an hour before the funeral at 3 p. m.

An aisle of soldiers formed at the cemetery entrance. Brief ceremonies saw the casket disappear. A platoon fired three volleys over the grave. Four buglers blew taps.

Double Size Battleships Proposed in Navy Program

Here is how one of the proposed 65,000-ton U. S. battleships would encompass one of the navy's largest modern warships now in service, the U. S. S. Colorado. Five super-battleships, to displace 65,000 tons when fully armed and loaded, are reported included in current naval appropriations.

predicted for today, following the 01-inch sprinkle that fell at 8 o'clock last night.

Temperatures in Pampa were summertime during the day Saturday: 69 at 6 a. m., 71 at noon, and 72 near sunset. The maximum was 77 degrees at 4:35 p. m.

For the eastern third of the nation, however, today was forecast as "the most pleasant" Easter weather in a decade.

Forecasters said weather made to order for fashion parades—fair skies and temperatures, from 15 to 20 degrees above normal—was indicated for an area extending from the Atlantic seaboard into the midwest.

Although no general bad weather was indicated, showers were forecast for sections of the central west, the southwest and Rocky mountain regions.

The weather bureau said light snow fall was reported today in higher elevations of the Rockies.

Thousands of Texans planned to worship this Easter day in groups ranging from municipalities and army camps to church congregations and small fraternal societies.

Camp Workers, Miners' wells, will have a sunrise service. A few hours later, at 8 a. m., Camp Bowie, Brownwood, will present a program including a 150-piece mass band and a 100-voice choir.

Other camps also have prepared special religious services.

On Sunrise Hill, near Mercedes in the Rio Grande valley, Eighth District Texas Federation of Music clubs will present a vested choir arranged in a white cross. In the valley will be Tado Aued, a tomb guarded by Roman soldiers.

Churches and clubs for many miles up and down the valley will send representatives.

Church services generally observe Easter with early masses including the blessing of the new fire, blessing of the Paschal candle, reading of the prophecies and blessing of the baptismal waters.

Arthur's Methodist temple will stay at home for its outdoor sunrise service, meeting on its own roof garden. Another Port Arthur sunrise service will be at Pleasure pier at the Gulf shore.

Texas Observer Passover at historic Crockett, 1,900 are expected at the annual sunrise services at the Davy Crockett memorial building.

Easter finds Jewish congregations celebrating their own festival—the passover, beginning yesterday with short prayer services in synagogues and the family seder-service in Jewish homes. Reform and Palestinian Jews observe the holiday for seven days, orthodox and conservative groups for eight.

A custom founded on pioneer tradition inaugurated Easter for Frederickburg children Saturday night. Each year, Easter rabbit fires are lighted on surrounding hills on the night of the festival, wine cups, daffodils and other wild flowers furnish his dye materials.

Easter egg hunts occurred in many Texas cities and towns today and others will be staged tomorrow.

The German radio identified "Paul Revere" as "the new American commentator" who will speak to North America every night over German short wave. The first talk was set for 11:30 p. m. E. S. T. Friday—the anniversary of the ride of the American patriot.

of the fighting in Greece and southern Yugoslavia, whom Austin newspaper said was rumored as "the foremost prospect."

Others have included West and Collins.

Hunnay, which plunged her army into northern Yugoslavia in the wake of the German attack, announced penetration of the Yugoslav line between the Danube and Tisa rivers and capture of the cities of Subotica and Sombor.

But the Hungarians got a rude shock in Moscow.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the Hungarian minister announced the invasion and expressed hope that Russia would recognize it as a just one.

Andriy V. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign commissar, replied in effect: "We don't like it at all."

Vishinsky noted that Hungary made a "particularly sad impression" by warring on Yugoslavia just four months after pledging eternal friendship for her, and remarked: "It is not difficult to realize what would be the position of Hungary were she to get into trouble and be torn to bits, since it is known that there are national minorities in Hungary, too."

There was a scarcely-veiled reference to Hungary's acquisition of parts of Czechoslovakia and Transylvania from Rumania. The former is particularly fraught with possibilities because Russia regards Ukrainians as her own.

Coincidentally, Yugoslavia's premier, Ante Stoinich, was reported to have left on a mission, presumably heading for Moscow.

It was recalled that Red Star, organ of the Soviet army, said three days ago "particularly sad impression" by warring on Yugoslavia just four months after pledging eternal friendship for her, and remarked: "It is not difficult to realize what would be the position of Hungary were she to get into trouble and be torn to bits, since it is known that there are national minorities in Hungary, too."

The British radio, heard in New York, reported a heroic battle was being fought in the Plovidna area between the defenders and the Germans who crossed the Greek frontier at Bitolj (Monastir) gap, 16 miles away on the Yugoslav border. Details were missing, but it apparently was the same action which the Greek spokesman proudly announced.

The RAF was reported to be bombing and machine-gunning bridges, roads and tunnels along the Nazi line of advance. British dispatches also said armored car patrols scouting in the Bitolj region had destroyed a motorized Nazi infantry unit without losses to itself.

The eighth radio, in a broadcast heard in New York by CBS, said Yugoslav troop transports and concentrations near Belgrade were dispersed and badly smashed by Nazi bombers. Other bombing attacks were reported on an airfield in northern Bosnia and on the south-eastern Balkan front.

The Germans also were reported in a Hungarian news agency dispatch to have occupied Osijek, Pograd, and Gradiska in the eastern part of Croatia, and Belovar and Sisak in the western part. Sisak is about 30 miles southeast of Zagreb; and Gradiska, deepest point of penetration, is about 40 miles from the Hungarian frontier.

On the north African front, British and Axis armored patrols clashed in a wide area west and southwest of Tobruk and the RAF announced it had destroyed nearly 100 Axis tanks and motor vehicles in a swoop on Ain El Gazala to Tobruk.

In Berlin German military observers termed Yugoslavia a closed chapter and reported gradual encirclement of Belgrade.

German spokesmen indicated they would be pleased whether the British and Greeks make a stand or withdraw.

Britain had a quiet day after the Friday night raids which concentrated on Bristol and Portsmouth.

France Tightens Law On Granting Divorce

VICHY, France, April 12 (AP)—France's new law making divorces harder to get is designed to prevent such things as the scandals of millionaire "American divorces" in Paris several years ago, Justice Minister Joseph Barthelmy told the nation today.

The new law, Barthelmy said in a radio address, is part of the new French social code which puts the family above individualism.

tended to run regardless of who might oppose him.

Another report was that Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson of Austin, outspoken New Dealer, was poised for the plunge if conditions shaped to suit him.

Governor O'Daniel had conferred with some of his closest friends, including Carr P. Collins of Dallas, J. M. West of Houston and Maco Stewart, Jr., of Galveston, but at the time Mann announced had made no announcement of his intentions.

Capital political observers believed Mann's announcement would bring the situation to a head quickly.

Keenest interest centered on the appointment by O'Daniel of someone to fill Sheppard's seat until a successor could be chosen in the special election, a period of about 90 days.

The governor had until April 19 to call the election, which must be held within 60 to 90 days from the time the vacancy opened.

Latest to be mentioned as a possible appointee was Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, whom an Austin newspaper said was rumored as "the foremost prospect."

Others have included West and Collins.

Mann, like O'Daniel, Mann and Dies as entrants held plentiful prospects for color.

In his two enormously successful campaigns for the governorship, O'Daniel carried along an orchestra and repaid his huge audiences with "hillbilly" tunes between falling attacks on "professional politician" and assertions of desire to obtain more and larger pensions for Texas' old folk.

Mann, like O'Daniel serving a second term, is a swinging dynamic type of speaker. Dies, chairman of the Congressional Committee investigating Un-American activities, also has a reputation as a hard-hitting campaigner.

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—A. B. C. (Cyclone) Davis of Dallas announced tonight he would make the face for the U. S. senate from Texas on a platform of "free America from the threatening menace of the Hitler, Himmler and corporatist cannibals inside and outside of America."

A son of the late congressman and political leader, Davis was an unsuccessful candidate for governor last year.

AUSTIN, April 12 (AP)—Congressman Martin Dies was non-committal tonight when asked by friends here if he wanted to be candidate in a special election to succeed Senator Morris Sheppard, who died in Washington late Wednesday.

"Out of respect to the great Senator Morris Sheppard," Dies said, "I don't think it is appropriate to make a statement at this time regarding my plans."

Lions President Called To Army

Pampa will lose its Lions club president and Uncle Sam will add another reserve officer to its active duty list tomorrow when Joe Burrow leaves Pampa to report for duty at Fort Sill, Okla.

The Pampa received orders Friday from Major General Donovan, San Antonio, eighth corps area commander, to go on "extended active duty." He will be in the corps area service company, serving with the quartermaster corps, as a second lieutenant.

Mr. Burrow received his commission in the coast guard artillery corps, 12 years ago.

He has resided in Pampa for eight years.

For the present, Mrs. Burrow and their two children, Patricia, 14, and Joe, Jr., 8, will remain in Pampa.

Mr. Burrow has been active in the Pampa Lions club, and has served as president this year. His term was due to expire July 1. Carl Benzel, a past president, and present vice-president, will fill out the unexpired term.

With the calling of the Lions club president into active duty, this makes four reserve officers called to duty from Pampa. The others were Earl Chase, to Fort Sill; Sam Salt, to Fort Sam Houston; and Harold Herriek, to Camp Wallace, Hitchcock, Texas.

"New Shoes" To Be Featured At Jaycee Dance Monday Night

Tomorrow is the night the 1941 Top O' Texas holds its premiere.

Not in full glory, but a preview of "New Shoes," the official dance of the 1941 celebration will be featured at the dance to be sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The dance will be held at 9 o'clock at the Southern club, with music by the Sons of the West orchestra.

Coming on the day after the end of the Lenten season, the dance will mark the beginning of a series of spring events in preparation for the annual Fiesta.

From the interest shown by Pampans in the old time dances, there should be a good crowd trying out their steps that they have been practicing in the classes taught by Jim Edwards, recreation project superintendent, during the past month.

At Tempe, Arizona, Yagui Indians trudge up Mt. Davidson, San Francisco's highest peak, for the early morning meeting. The mountain was topped by a white cross. The south rim of the Grand Canyon, called the Shrine of the Ages, was the scene of another sunrise service.

In Pittsburgh, Dr. Bernard Clausen, pastor of the First Baptist church, announced he would conduct a sunrise service 15,000 feet above the earth in a transport plane, with a choir, an organ, and a few guests. It was traditional, he said, for Christians to seek "higher" places on Easter.

At Tempe, Arizona, Yagui Indians presented their annual pasqui. The climax was the blowing to bits of a straw and fire-carrier stuffed effigy of Judas Iscariot.

Baseball Prances Back Into Nation's Sports Arena This Week

Yankees And Senators To Play Monday

BY JUDSON BAILEY
NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Baseball, which hardly seems to have taken time out since the Cincinnati Reds and the Detroit Tigers tangled in their dramatic all-out World Series comes prancing back into the nation's sports arena this week.

President Roosevelt will throw out the first ball at Washington Monday when the Senator and the New York Yankees collide in a ceremonial curtain raiser and the next day all 16 clubs in the two big leagues will begin drumming away at each other.

Probable pitchers, with last year's records, for the opening games: Monday, April 14.

New York at Washington—Russo (14-3) vs. Hudson (17-16) Tuesday, April 15.

American league.
Philadelphia at New York—Babich (14-13) or Dean (6-13) vs. Ruffalo (15-12).

Washington at Boston—Leonard (14-19) vs. Wilson (12-6).

Chicago at Cleveland—Dietrich (10-6) vs. Feller (27-11).

Detroit at St. Louis—Newsum (21-5) vs. Auker (16-11).

National league.
New York at Brooklyn—Schumaker (13-13) vs. Wyatt (15-14).

St. Louis at Cincinnati—Warneke (18-10) vs. Derringer (30-12).

Pittsburgh at Chicago—Klinger (8-13) vs. Ptasneau (20-13).

Boston at Philadelphia—Salvo (10-9) vs. Pearson (3-14) or Blanton (4-3).

If the weatherman turns a friendly beam on these contests they probably will attract more than 200,000 fans. Both the American and National leagues are expecting the season to produce a bumper attendance as well as great competitive thrills—like Bob Feller's no-hit, no-run game on opening day last year and the fight to the finish by which Detroit snatched its surprising pennant.

The world champion Reds naturally rank as favorites in the National league again, although with an admittedly awesome assignment in trying to stand off a much improved Brooklyn team and St. Louis' collection of young, fearsome Cardinals.

In the American league the Cleveland Indians, their hot tempers cooled, and the Yankees with a new infield and their old determination, have established a pre-season edge over the Tigers, who are in danger of losing Hank Greenberg to the army.

But the Indians are better than last year when they missed the pennant by one game. The revolution is over and Roger Peckinpah, one of the big show's two new managers, has everything under control.

The club has Feller, currently the greatest pitcher in baseball, and it has other virtues, chief of which is the best infield in the league.

The Yankees are dynamite again. They finished third last year, one game behind the Indians and two out of first place. It is a club that is rebuilding, and consequently unpredictable. Joe Gordon, a great second baseman, is on first now. Two rookies guard the keystone area. Youngsters will have to carry the pitching burden. The Yanks still can break up a ball game in one inning. But the pitching and the defense remain to be proved.

The Cincinnati Reds are essentially the same club that has won the senior circuit championship the last two years. Catcher Ernie Lombardi, who is vital to their success, still is limping on the ankle he hurt at the end of last season. But their already amazing pitching staff has been bolstered by the addition of Monte Pearson from the Yanks and possibly by the return of John Vander Meer to something resembling his former form. Also Jim Gleason, a .313 hitter for Chicago, has been added to the outfield corps.

They won by 12 games a year ago and certainly aren't any weaker.

Munger And Burk To Play In Amarillo

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—Larry Nabholz, secretary of the Texas Professional Golfers association, said today that Jack Munger of Dallas and Jack Burk, Sr. of Houston, will captain the pro team in the 1941 Texas cup pro-amateur matches in Amarillo, June 19-22.

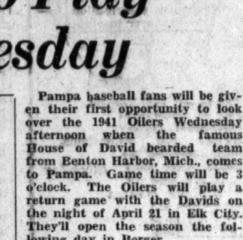

Burk is national senior professional champion.

Dean's Ailing Arm Still Being Treated

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP)—Manager Jimmy Wilson disclosed tonight that Dizzy Dean, the Chicago Cubs' celebrated sore-arm pitcher, again is taking treatments in a desperate effort to regain his winning form.

Wilson said Dr. Thomas Dowd, Philadelphia, who flew to the west coast twice in recent weeks to treat the eccentric righthander, is in Chicago to resume work on Dean's arm.

Wilson, who has contended all along that Dean will help the team this season, plans to use the lanky hurler in the exhibition finale with the White Sox tomorrow.

Trailing were George Peperidine of California with 13 points; Arizona State at Tempe, 11; Abilene Christian college, 9; Texas Mines, 6; Texas Tech 6, and New Mexico University 5.

King Cole Makes Hit In Paumonok Handicap

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Steering a course for a Kentucky Derby starter's spot, handsome King Cole made a tremendous three-year-old debut today at Jamaica race track.

Cheered on by 37,284 opening-day customers the big colt from Ogdon Phipps' stable romped home with the featured Paumonok Handicap in eight easy style, you could almost hear the blue grass calling him.

He was just about the whole show of a first-day program which saw two other Kentucky Derby eligibles, William Woodward's Persiphere and Louis Tuliano's Market Wise, take a beating from F. J. Buchanan's Zacatine in the Cedar Manor sprint, secondary feature on the card.

In scoring by three lengths, King Cole, a son of Pharamond II, made it the usual opening day holiday for Trainer "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons. The merry-running three-year old brought Mr. Fitz the winner's end of the $7,500 added money in the Paumonok for the fourth straight year.

King Cole's share today was $6,600. He ripped off the six furlongs in 1:11 4/5 easing up, with Mrs. T. Christopher's Doubt Not and Mrs. Charles Shyman Fayson's Call to Colors vainly chasing him home in that order.

Hooked up with the four-year-old Fenelon as the favored entry, King Cole returned $3.00 for each $2 win ticket, and $2.50 each for place and show. Fenelon appeared to be just out for the airing and finished ninth.

Lusty Texas League Opens Season Today

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—The storied old Texas League opens another season tomorrow—the fifty-third in the history of this lusty top-flight loop among the nation's minors.

An estimated 24,000 will jam four parks to see Dallas' battle Fort Worth, Tulsa clash with Oklahoma City, San Antonio tangle with Shreveport and Houston tussle with Beaumont.

As the teams squared off for the start of a campaign that President J. Alvin Gardner predicted would mark a sharp upward trend at the turnstiles, the Houston Buffs, who led all the way last season, ranked as top-heavy favorites again to turn the trick.

Rated strongest among the other eight clubs were San Antonio, Beaumont, and Tulsa, meaning they were picked to keep Houston company in the Shaughnessy play-off when the regular schedule is finished.

Gardner did not predict the winner. "As usual uncertainties in line-ups add to the gamble," he said. "Our ball clubs will not settle down to season composition until well into May. Then, too, the draft may upset any club at any time."

Dallas will not play a game at home until April 24 because its new stadium will not be ready, but the Buffs will get their chance at the attendance trophy at that time.

Tomorrow's schedule, time of game, estimated attendance and probable batteries:

Dallas at Fort Worth, 3 p. m. (7,000)—Garth Mann or Sal Glatto and Bill Cronin; Ed Greer and Bob Linton. Umpires: Jim Tonzgatz, Dusty Boggess and Mike Williamson.

Tulsa at Oklahoma City, 3 p. m. (4,000)—Clare Bertram and Chico Hernandez; Clay Touchstone and Jim Hegan. Umpires: Chet Fowler and Mill Steingraber.

San Antonio at Shreveport, 3 p. m. (6,000)—Loy Hanning and Buster Payton or Benny Huffman; Ralph Hamner or Holland Van Slate and Neil Andrews or Del Frier. Umpires: Eddie Palmer and Bill Wilson.

Houston at Beaumont, 3:30 p. m. (7,000)—Fred Martin and Sam Narvon; Les Mueller and Al Unser. Umpires: Rollie Naylor and Perry Hunter.

Hafernick Pulls Longhorns Over For Track Crown

HOUSTON, April 12. (AP)—Supplied by a kick by Harry Hafernick, crane legged distance runner, the University of Texas copped its triangular track and field meet with Rice Institute and Louisiana State university today after trailing through 11 events.

The Longhorns had been pulling up their point total gradually and were half a point behind Rice when Hafernick churned two miles in 10 minutes, 27 1/2 seconds to shoot his team ahead.

Through the remaining events, Texas increased its margin. The final score was Texas 68, LSU 52 1/2, and Rice 40 1/2.

Hafernick also won the mile run, but the day's outstanding contributions were those of Jack Hughes, burly Longhorn discus artist, and Billy Brock, the one man gang of Louisiana State.

Hughes threw the platter 167 feet 2 1/2 inches, almost four feet better than his own Southwest Conference record of 163 feet, 3 1/2 inches. Brock tied the conference record of 9.5 in the 100 yard dash, held by Fred Wolcott of Rice, and collected a total of 16 points to be high man for the day. He also won the 220 yard dash and the broad jump, and finished fourth in the high jump.

Heiskell First In Low Hurdles At Claude Meet

Grover Lee Heiskell gave the Harvester field team its only victory in the North Plains Track and Field meet in Claude yesterday. Heiskell cleared the 200-yard low hurdles in 25 seconds flat to break the tape ahead of a strong field.

Three members of the Harvester relay team were unable to make the trip so Coach Buck Prejean was unable to enter the events. He took only a few members of his team.

Amarillo won the meet, replacing the Shamrock Irishmen as title holders.

The Harvester thincads eligible for competition in the region track and field meet in Canyon Saturday will work out all week.

Coach Prejean has issued a call for all football prospects to report for uniforms on Tuesday afternoon. Coach Prejean will be in full charge, no assistant coach having been appointed.

The new Harvester coach has been working long hours on the formations he plans to use this fall but he isn't ready to release his program.

"Foreign Agents" Flayed By Wallace

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., April 12. (AP)—Vice-President Wallace charged tonight that "foreign agents" are "sabotaging our labor organizations to the great disadvantage of labor itself."

Calling for national unity to demonstrate the full productive capacity of this country, Wallace said in a prepared address that "the public cannot hold guiltless those who seize the current situation to settle ancient, regional, personal, and jurisdictional grudges and in so doing put sand into the bearings of our industrial machines."

The vice-president's address was before the stockholders' meeting of the federal home loan bank of Winston-Salem.

Citing instances of increased production for national defense, he said "These figures are inspiring, but they are not inspiring enough."

"Labor and management by close cooperation can do better," he continued. "They will do better if they know how exceedingly important it is to bring about a rapid increase at once in our production."

Utah Houston Charged With Unlawful Flight

TEXARKANA, April 12. (AP)—Utah Houston, 19, Pittsburg, Texas, farm youth, was charged in federal court here today with unlawful flight from Florida to avoid prosecution in the slaying of George Moje, 35, of New York, last April 1, and with stealing Moje's car and transporting it across the state line.

Bond was fixed at $20,000 on the one-way flight charge and $10,000 on the other.

Houston previously had been charged in Texas with murder in connection with Moje's death.

Warren Moore, assistant federal district attorney, declared the federal court would be asked to permit Houston's removal to Tallahassee, Fla., for trial on the charges filed today.

Sheriff Frank Stoutamire of Leon County, Fla., who came here with a deputy to investigate the Moje slaying, said that the condition of the body indicated Moje died in Florida.

Officials quoted Houston as saying that he quarreled with Moje near Tallahassee and drove him to a point near Marshall, where the body was found in an abandoned automobile.

Two Boys Trapped In Snow Avalanche

NORTH BEND, Wash., April 12. (AP)—A roaring avalanche of snow fell off a nearby mountain at snow-drown tonight, burying at least two high school boy hikers and seriously injuring another.

A rescue party numbering more than 100, including SSS enrollees and state patrolmen, frantically dug in the deep snow, which was about 50 inches deep over the mountain-side, piled up about half-way down the 5,900-foot McClellan Butte, 12 miles east of here.

The missing boys tentatively were listed as:

Jay Gage, 17, and Claude Covington, 18, both of Seattle.

Ben Bryant, 18, of Seattle, was rescued. He suffered a broken hip and other injuries. He was unable to talk about the tragedy.

The avalanche was believed caused by recent high temperatures.

Heavy German Attack Repulsed Greeks Claim

(By The Associated Press)
ATHENS, April 12.—The hardy Greek armies of the Allied left flank have battered a heavy German attacking force and thrown it into retreat in the first real test of the Greek-British line of defense thrown up across northern Hellas, the government announced tonight.

On a 12-mile battle front, German panzer divisions—tanks, armored cars and machine-gun mounted motorcycles—followed by motorized infantry, broke against the Greek lines.

"They were repulsed and retreated, suffering losses," the Greek official spokesman announced.

This action took place Friday and, from the tone of tonight's Greek high command communique, it appeared the Germans had tried no main lunge at the line since. The communique, covering Saturday action, said merely:

"Restricted activity at various points on both (Greek and Albanian) fronts."

The Athens radio reported late tonight that German armored columns are in contact with the central front held by the main Greek and British forces.

"This forms a powerful wall against which the Germans will have to give battle," the announcer declared.

The Greek ministry of public security broadcast a report that 20 civilians were killed and 40 wounded in German raids on Piraeus last night.

An Italian attack north of the Viosa river in Albania was beaten back, the Athens radio said, with heavy losses for the Fascists.

"Greek bayonets worked havoc among the Italians who left dead and wounded in front of our lines before retreating," the radio said.

A New York recording of the Athens radio also said Yugoslav troops had launched a violent counter-attack apparently in the area southwest of Skopje. This appeared to be near Ranjacl.

In General, Yugoslav resistance was described as stiffening, and it

Nazis Claim British Giving Way In Greece

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—The German radio in an English language broadcast heard by CBS said tonight that two British wings in Greece were said to be giving way to the Germans.

As recorded by CBS the radio said:

"The British troops stationed in northern Greece have clashed with the Germans and already according to a report from abroad the two British wings are beginning to give way before the German onrush."

Spring Bonnet Parade To Be Feature Of Garden Club Flower Show

Just Between Us Girls

By Johnnie Davis

On Easter

May Easter time renew Your kinship with the green enchanted sod. The mystic flowering of your faith in God.

"The tomb is empty. He is risen from the dead," the ancients said on that Easter morn. And the old, old story, yet ever, ever new, echoes again this morning wherever men lift their eyes to the cross. . . . Easter—a day set aside to prove to ourselves that there is a glorious end to look forward to—is a day of joy and happiness to all—truly a holy day. . . . The name Easter comes from Eostre, Anglo-Saxon goddess of spring. . . . As on Christmas, lay church-goers will bestir themselves to join the religious mood and attend services this morning. . . . And after church there will be held, rain or shine, the annual event that waits in spring styles in clothing—the Easter parade.

Advancing rapidly in the ranks of Business and Professional Women's organization is Audrey Fowler of Pampa, chairman of jury service for women in district one. . . . Mrs. Fowler has been invited to speak on the legislative program at the state B. P. W. convention to be held in Lubbock on June 7 and 8. During the past year, Mrs. Fowler has done much to inform the public of the importance of jury service for women in Texas.

The buds have broken on every bough; The world is sweet with laughing sun. The hills are white with promise now. Spring has begun.

The most prevalent reminder of the fact that spring has arrived is the array of beautiful flowers growing in so many yards. . . . Such as the violets in Gladys Acklam's yard, and Mrs. Luther Pierson's deep orange-colored nasturtiums. . . . The charming Mrs. Jess Wynne was busy last week transplanting violets. . . . Some of which came from the yard at the country home of Mrs. Charles Thomas.

Today, as in early days of flower language, the white lily, Easter's favorite blossom, stands for purity and religious symbolism. . . . The rose, which is called by Byron "the queen of the garden," means also love and majesty. It is England's national flower. . . . The hyacinth stands for grief. . . . There's a rosemary for remembrance, pansies for thoughts, the forget-me-not means the faithfulness in love. . . . The violet is the flower of sentiment, sweetness, and modesty. . . . The daisy fortells the future by methods known to every young girl in the land. . . . "The loves me, he loves me not." . . . The daffodil stands for unrequited love. . . . The orange blossom always betokens marriage.

If a personality contest were conducted in Pampa, we could easily pick the winner—Mrs. Roger Swann, who has one of the most glowing smiles in town. . . . Her twinkling blue eyes radiate friendliness.

Spring is the season of the year the decorators reappear and home takes on the odor of glue and kalsomine and paint. . . . These lines on "Spring Scene" reminded us that Mrs. Raymond Harral is having her home completely remodeled. . . . This period of house cleaning, remodeling, and fresh paint, always precedes commencement time and vacations.

Mrs. John Taylor's four-month-old son, John, Jr., is one of the most alert and observing babies we have noticed. . . . at least for his age. . . . Mrs. Taylor is the former Una Gibson. . . . A very lady-like little girl is Wynell Weathered, five-year-old daughter of W. B. Weathered. . . . Wynell is unusually courteous to talk with over the telephone. . . . At the present time she has something in common with other youngsters of the city—she has the measles.

Pampa after midnight—One morning last week, around 2 o'clock, a local airplane took off at the municipal airport for a check-flight over the city. . . . By the time the plane landed, 16 cars had gathered at the field to find out who was flying at that hour. . . . Most of the occupants of the cars were high school students.

Numerous club women soon may prove their ability to address the public when they join with the city police officers in advocating safety in brief radio talks.

Reports from Great Britain and invaded countries indicate that well-trained Girl Scouts and Girl Guides have given cool-headed, competent service in caring for children, feeding and routing refugees, giving first aid, acting as group leaders when it was necessary for someone accustomed to group action to take command. . . . The position of the Girl Scouts in this emergency—in any emergency—as well as in normal

Annual Presentation Of "The Holy City" This Afternoon At Church Will Climax Observance Of Easter Season

WILL TAKE PART IN HOLY CITY TODAY

Climaxing the Easter season will be the annual presentation of the beautiful and melodic oratorio by Alfred Gaul, "The Holy City," which will be given this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Christian church, by the choir of the First Christian church augmented by a special chorus comprised of many of the best voices in Pampa, artists from this locality, and three additional artists from Amarillo, with piano, to be played by Mrs. H. A. Yoder, organ, and violin, Ramanoff Anton, accompanist under the direction of Mrs. May Foreman Carr, organist and director.

The choir has been practicing intensively for many weeks. Forty-five voices will join in producing one of the best vocal ensembles ever heard in Pampa.

The text of the Holy City is taken from the vision of St. John. The first part of the Holy City was suggested by the Scriptural passages, "Here have we no continuing city, Thy Kingdom Come" and sets forth the desire for a higher life as expressed in the words, "My Soul is Aching for God," while desire is followed by other passages expressive of the perfection of the higher life, such as "Eye Hath Not Seen."

The second part was suggested by the words, "I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away," thus realizing the desire and promises contained in the first part.

With the exception of two hymns, a verse from Milton and three verses from the Te Deum, the words are entirely scriptural.

Local B-PW Club Group Attends Easter Event

Representing the local Business and Professional Women's club, a group of members went to Amarillo this morning to attend the annual Easter breakfast of the Amarillo B. P. W. organization.

At the business meeting of the local club held in the city club rooms, Frances Craver announced that those who have not turned in garments for the Bundles for Britain have until the end of the month to do so.

The nominating committee for the club, which has 78 members, includes Madge Rusk, chairman; Lia Mae Jones, Avis Thompson, and Vada Lee Olson, Lillian McNitt was appointed "On to Lubbock" chairman.

Plans are being made for a Pan-American dinner to be given at the Schneider hotel April 22 at 8 o'clock, when guests may be invited.

Restricting of club districts was discussed. As district one would be much smaller if the change were approved, the club voted against any proposed changes.

Guest speaker at the meeting was County Judge Sherman White, who spoke on "Gray County and the Public Welfare."

The Department of Public Welfare was created two years ago out of three districts, selecting the state director, who has full supervision of the state, which includes 18 units for administration purposes. The executive in charge is known as an area supervisor. In the area, including Pampa, the supervisor works with and over county workers.

Mr. White pointed out. Funds are available for old-age assistance. The $8,000,000 state fund is matched by federal funds. The entire department, has supervision, over funds appropriated to the blind, dependent children, and certification of WPA employees. At present the legislature is working on a measure which will place the duty of certifying of public welfare.

County work is taken care of through welfare department and a county case worker heads this department with eight to 10 workers assisting. In the old system, the county judge and commissioners handled all welfare work and it is still handled this way in some counties. The work has become so voluminous that it is impossible for the commission to handle it; therefore, the commission sees that families needing hospitalization get it.

Mr. White gave numerous figures on the county's budget and expense in connection with this work.

Attending the meeting were Rowena Wasson, Jessie Bumpass, Lela Mann, Helen Windsor, Ruth Waldstad, Mildred Lafferty, Dalton Hall, Mildred Overall, Gypsy Malloy, Lillian McNitt, Audrey Fowler, Laura Bell Cornelius, Nera Burgess, Mable Gee, Clara Lee Shesmaker, Lillian Jordan, Avis Thompson, Blanch Drescher, Frances Craver, Ida Mae Jones, Letha Northup, Mayme Counselor, Vera Lard, Maurine Jones, Blanch Anderson, Gladys Robinson, Tommy Sloan, Madge Rusk and Madeline Murray.

Dinner Given For Girl Scout Leaders Association Friday

The Easter motif was stressed at the event, and an arrangement of sweet peas centered the dinner table.

Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, president, conducted the business session in which the Day Camp program to be held from June 2 to 13 was discussed. Plans and activities were explained.

An outdoor activities course to begin Tuesday morning between 9 and 11 o'clock was planned also.

Mrs. Hancock Named President Of Horace Mann P-TA For Year

Music appreciation was the theme of the program presented at the monthly meeting of Horace Mann Parent-Teacher association last week in the school auditorium.

Two chorus numbers were given with Miss Marian Reichling as leader, and two band numbers with Carl Adams directing. Miss Josephine Thomas gave the devotional, and the group sang "America," with Miss Reichling in charge.

"The Social Aspect of Music" was the topic discussed by Miss Reichling.

"A subject is valuable only if it enables one to live more richly and completely; certainly music does this," Miss Reichling stated. "Music is essentially a social art since it requires the collaboration of listeners, performers, and composers. Music comes to us from primitive times with appreciation growing day by day. Music has enriched the lives of folk in foreign countries; surely we can take advantage of social advantages of it for our own county," she added.

"Music as an Individual Art," was given by Mr. Adams.

"First, music fulfills all the requirements of sound educational practices; second, it fits into the school program because it aids in the mental growth of the child," Mr. Adams pointed out. "The orchestral program as taught in Pampa schools has a larger purpose than teaching facility on any stringed instrument. More than that, it aims eventually, at making possible the enjoyment of the finest material in music and literature through the medium of the school system," he concluded.

A short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. H. M. Stokes, at which time standing committees gave reports. Mrs. Schiffrin presented a report from the nominating committee and officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. E. S. Hancock, Jr.; vice-president and program chairman, Mrs. R. W. Tucker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Walter Spoonemore; historian, Mrs. F. A. Hukill; recording secretary, Miss Pearl Spang; and treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Clayton.

The social hour was conducted by the Girl Scouts of troop seven.

A

FIRST CANADIAN

Pierre Radisson, the "first Canadian," is glorified in 20th-Fox's "Hudson Bay," historical adventure film based on the founding of Hudson's Bay company. Paul Muni portrays the rough fur trapper who was too tough for frontier Montreal and who followed a dream that resulted in an empire. The cast includes Gene Tierney, Laird Cregar, John Sutton, Virginia Field, Vincent Price, and Nigel Bruce. At the State Wednesday and Thursday.

FLYER AND ANNOUNCER

Planes and sabotage plus plenty of action and comedy put over 20th-Fox's "Charter Pilot," showing at the LaNora Thursday, Lloyd Nolan and Lynn Bari, principals, are shown above in a scene from the picture. Nolan, ace flyer, gives up flying to take up a job with an airline at the behest of his fiancée, Miss Bari, radio announcer. When sabotage of the company's planes occurs in Honduras, Nolan can endure office routine no longer, and leaves for Central America. The film's running time is 70 minutes.

Mimosa plants get their name from "mimic," because they shrink when touched, and otherwise mimic movements of animals. Cats have 18 toes: five on each fore-paw, and four on each hind-paw. In Alaska, a trip between Fairbanks and Nome that once cost $500 by dog sled now costs only $78 via the airways. The real name of Buffalo Bill, famous Indian scout, was William F. Cody.

RADIO SERMON

The Right Reverend Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, will preach an Easter sermon on Station KPND at 7:15 o'clock this afternoon.

VOICE OF JESUS

Pedro de Cordoba, Hollywood character actor, will take the part of the Voice of Jesus in the Passion Play on Station KPND at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

ANSWER GIVER

Sinnott, psychoanalyst, will appear twice daily on the LaNora stage for one week starting today. He will answer theater patron's questions on business and domestic problems, such as: in what capacity will I be employed when I leave here? What makes my husband so indifferent? Will I complete my college education or secure a position and go to work?

ROGUE ROMERO

O. Henry's famed rogue, the Cisco Kid, is back again. Dashing and colorful Cisco (Cesar Romero) and his ever-present sidekick Gordito (Chris-Pin Martin) interrupt a stagecoach holdup, only to find one of the victims an exact double for the Kid, who takes his place, appropriates his clothes, and rides to meet his "relatives" at one of the richest ranches north of the Rio. The 20th-Fox film is showing at the Rex Friday and Saturday.

SPINE-CHILLER

Suggestive of its predecessor, "Frankenstein," is Universal's 59-minute spine-chiller, "Man-Made Monster," with Lon Chaney, Jr., and Anne Nagel, above, Lionel Atwill, Frank Albertson, Samuel S. Hinds. Story relates experiments in electrobiology carried on by two scientists whose aim is to prove that electrical force is the motivating source of life. The thriller is part of the double-bill today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the Rex.

ROMANCE IN TEXAS

Langtry, Texas, the town of Judge Roy Bean, the "Law West of the Pecos," is the setting for Samuel Goldwyn's production "The Westerner," in which the leads are played by Doris Davenport and Gary Cooper, above. A United Artists release, directed by William Wyler. Story deals with the workings of Bean's court and its effect on the lives of those pioneers who settled within its jurisdiction. HILARIOUS COMEDIES OPEN FILM WEEK TODAY AT PAMPA THEATERS

Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, and Dorothy Lamour Principals in Paramount's "Road to Zanzibar"; Jean Arthur Featured in "Devil and Miss Jones"

Gay and fantastic, spicy and sprightly—these are the words for the two top films of the week, "The Devil and Miss Jones," opening a five-day run today at the Crown, and "Road to Zanzibar," current at the LaNora. The Crown film features Jean Arthur, with Robert Cummings and Charles Coburn, and the story deals with what happens when Coburn, department store tycoon, angered when employees burn him in effigy, takes a job incognito as a shoe clerk in his store. Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, and the eye-filling Dorothy Lamour, the same trio that appeared in "Road to Singapore," trek in another direction this time, in "Road to Zanzibar." In the course of events, Bing and Bob, a couple of carnival men in Africa who are trying to get enough money to get back home, are captured by cannibals. Bob wrestles a gorilla, is frozen alive, electrocuted, shot from a cannon, and otherwise has an amazing time in this hilarious comedy with music.

Fashion Parade Joan Blondell and Dick Powell are co-starring in Universal's "Model Wife," on the LaNora screen Friday and Saturday. Streamlined for comedy and romance, the story also presents an opportunity for Miss Blondell to display a revue of the latest whippers in gowns and chapeaux. Lead roles are those of a wedded couple working in a swank gown "shoppe" where marriage in the personnel is taboo. Twin Gosh-Oh-Gee—Providing the second dose of shudders on the Rex bill today, tomorrow, and Tuesday, is Universal's 60-minute "Horror Island," mystery yarn about a deserted island with a deserted fortress, with Dick Foran, Leo Carrillo, and Peggy Moran as the principals in the cast. Story Book Reporter Third spine chiller on the Rex list for the week is Warner's "A Shot in the Dark," combining mystery, drama, and adventure, in a story of a defiant murderer who almost eludes the police, except for the daring plan of a reporter. Which is proof enough that we who get the news and write it don't seem to make the film producers understand that we don't like fairy stories. William Lundigan acts the news-hawk role, and the story no doubt will further spread the alluring "glamour" of a job that is about as exciting as a mail carrier's. This thrilling opus of brave adventure in the realms of journalism is on the Rex screen Wednesday and Thursday. Hill Billy Jive Leon Weaver locks up a newspaper publisher and the lieutenant governor for speeding. Weaver runs for governor, is framed, unframed, elected, and all ends well, to the accompaniment of hillbilly music and earthy homilies, with Frank and June Weaver, in Republic's 68-minute "Grand Old Opry" on the State screen Tuesday. Cactus Conflict Nell O'Day, Texas' own, has the female lead in Universal's "Baritone Cowboy Joe," starring Johnny Mack

BROWNWOOD EMERSON

Plot contains the usual elements: stampeding steers, a lawless mob storming a frontier town jail, vigilantes riding like Spitfires in a power dive after "them that rustlers," and a cowboy Sherlock outwitting the crooks. Elliott As Dan Boone Bill Elliott, who has become identified as the "Wild Bill Hickok" of the screen, departs from this characterization in "The Return of Daniel Boone." BOOT FOR A BOP

Jean Arthur's choice of a weapon for this pending bop on the head of the unaware Charles Coburn seems dictated by the fact that this nefarious assault takes place in the ordinarily peaceful confines of a shoe salesroom. House Passes 51 Uncontested And Local Bills

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, April 12.—The House of Representatives' local and uncontested bill calendar was clear today and 51 measures of that type were readied for movement to the senate.

Action on the bills occupied the lower legislative chamber until near midnight last night before the house joined the senate in adjourning for the Easter holidays.

Among bills passed was one by Rep. P. D. Thornton, Jr., of Mt. Pleasant which would establish an agricultural experiment station in the 35th legislative district for development of dairy, poultry, and truck crops.

Thornton said the station would be self-supporting and would provide revenue of approximately $65,000 a year to the state. He said he intended later to ask for a state appropriation of $42,000 for initial expenses.

Officers, agents, or employees of certain depository banks would be disqualified from holding school trustee posts in a measure authored by Rep. Fred Harris of Dallas.

Other bills passed finally by the house included:

One by Rep. Augustine Celaya of Brownsville to prohibit sale of obscene publications in Texas.

One by Rep. Everett Hutchinson of Hempstead providing for recording of official discharges of soldiers, sailors, and others in the U. S. forces under the selective training service.

One by Rep. Leslie Lowry of Beaumont exempting vehicles and trailers owned and used exclusively for the service of any drainage district from state registration and license fees.

A large number of the local bills concerned salaries of certain county officials and game laws.

A communication from Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson of Austin mentioned in speculation as a possible successor to Senator Morris Sheppard who died yesterday, informed legislators he had accepted their invitation to address them on April 21.

New Aggie Teacher Elected At Miami

MIAMI, April 12.—At a recent meeting of the school board, Zack Jagers of Texas Tech was elected as vocational agriculture teacher to succeed Hood G. Willis, who goes to Pampa this fall after more than four years in the Miami school.

Mr. Jagers who receives his B. S. degree from Tech in June has 10 years experience in teaching, and will move with his family to Miami immediately after graduation.

TRIO BACK IN NEW FILMUSICAL

Dorothy Lamour, Bing Crosby, and Bob Hope, the trio of "Road to Singapore," are back again in the laugh-filled Paramount picture, "Road to Zanzibar," opening a three-day run today at the LaNora.

Greenland Part Of American Hemisphere

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—One day after including Greenland within the American hemisphere defense system, President Roosevelt signed today a resolution affirming a policy of non-recognition of any transfer of western hemisphere land from one non-American power to another.

He acted as word circulated that the army and navy would begin work immediately on construction of air bases on Denmark's big northern island without waiting for formal leases to sites.

The resolution, in accordance with an agreement reached by the 21 American republics at the Conference of Havana, provides for consultation among them in the event a prospective change of sovereignty over non-American territory in this hemisphere.

The fact that Greenland is considered very definitely a part of the western hemisphere, he said, gives it the same status under the agreement between the American republics as such areas as Martinique, Guadeloupe, Trinidad, and British Guiana.

"To an inquiry as to whether the United States had taken any military steps to protect Greenland, the chief executive remarked that the war department had said yesterday there would be no news from now on about details of any base."

Churches Of Miami To Observe Easter

MIAMI, April 12.—Miami churches will observe Easter Sunday with special musical and dedication services.

With the First Methodist church the morning service will be solemnized by musical numbers by the choir including an anthem "Easter Dawn," and two special services for the children, the dedication of infants and the reception into the church of a class of larger ones.

This last comes as the climax of a series of studies of the Christian life conducted during the month of March by the pastor, teaching a group of 52 boys and girls.

At the evening service the choir will sing the anthem, "Let the Lord Come In," by Warner, and Misses Arvale and Dorothy Sue Stanford will sing a duet, "Magdalene." The pastor, the Rev. E. Lee Stanford, will direct the choir and Miss Frances Deen Carmichael will be pianist.

At the First Baptist church a special program of musical numbers by the choir members including anthems, choruses, and special will be given at the morning service. The pastor will lead in the scripture reading and prayer. Miss Betty Locke, and perhaps some other college students will have parts in the service.

Moulton Hawes is director of the choir and Mrs. Alfred Cowan is pianist.

Carson TSTA Hears Colorado Educator

WHITE DEER, April 12.—Dr. Earl Underwood Ruez, head of the department of education, head librarian at Colorado State College of Education, Greeley, and vice-president of the Progressive Education association, addressed the members of the Carson County Unit of the "Texas State Teachers association here Thursday afternoon at the high school.

Deploping the criticism of education both by teachers and laymen, Dr. Ruez used as his subject, "The Good Things of Education." He stated that the three criticisms most often heard are that too much stress is laid upon education courses, that pupils are not trained in routine skills, and that character is not developed.

In answer, he pointed out that numerous tests indicate that, although the margin of difference is small, pupils trained in the more liberal groups possess the routine skills as well as the desirable character traits to a greater degree than do those from the more formal schools.

The progressive education movement has been criticized, he said, because of some of the extreme instances, but the real basis of the movement is the use of common sense evaluation in determining

Recruit Course At Bliss Completed By Skellytown Man

FORT BLISS, April 12.—Richard W. Walkup, private, special fifth class, has graduated from the recruit training school at the ordnance replacement center.

Private Walkup is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Walkup of Skellytown, and enlisted Nov. 20 last year.

Included in the recruit training course were six other soldiers, all of whom received their certificates of completion of the course in exercises conducted here.

Private Walkup has entered the ordnance shops at the 27th ordnance company, First Cavalry division, and is now training in that organization.

The Bank of England has its own church yard adjoining where many bank officials are buried.

Comedy On Drafts
Jules White, Columbia's shorts producer-director, has engaged Paul Mertz and Felix Adler to write three songs for "The Private General." Buster Keaton's new two-reel comedy now in production. It is a timely yarn about drafts.

Remember These?
Twelve tunes of the past will be incorporated in the musical background, to highlight the story of Columbia's George Stevens' production "Penny Serenade" starring Cary Grant and Irene Dunne.

They are "Penny Serenade," "You Were Meant For Me," "Just a Memory," "Missouri Waltz," "Moonlight and Roses," "Auld Lang Syne," "Lohengrin," "Bridal Chorus," "Japanese Sandman," "Charleston," "Silent Night," "These Foolish Things" and "That Old Gang of Mine."

Starret In 22 Films
Charles Starret, popular western star, has been placed by Columbia under a new contract, which calls for 22 pictures over a period of three years. Starret, who made his debut in outdoor pictures under the Columbia banner, is listed among the top ranking western stars.

New Musical Short
"So You Think You Know Music," first of a series of shorts based on the radio program of the same name, has just been completed. It was announced today by Columbia pictures, which will release them.

This unusual short, directed by B. K. Blake, features such outstanding personalities as Colonel Lemuel Q. Stoopnagle, radio comedian; Jessica Dragonette, concert and radio singer; Hendrik Willem van Loon, author and historian and Sir Hubert Wilkins, Arctic explorer.

Showmanship Plus
Some of the greatest publicity of all time was that of Greek War Relief week, March 25-30, in which the motion picture industry took the lead. Adolph Zukor was chairman. Exhibitor and distributor committees were set up in the 12 divisions of the U. S.

For this area, division 9, the chairman was R. J. O'Donnell of Dallas. Sample of bang-up copy: "History repeats itself—with Greece enacting the roles of David and Goliath. The heroic valor of the Greeks in their defense of democracy, has aroused the admiration of every liberty loving American. This little country—and it's a very small country—has stood up and fought Fascism to a standstill. It has put new heart into all little countries.

"The Greeks love liberty so much they're willing to die for it. The least we of this thrice blessed country can do is to help the women and children of these gallant defenders of democracy."

Just What's What
The Film Daily tells this one:

Chief Justice 79 Years Old Today

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, whose vitality and keen sense of humor belie his age, reached his 79th birthday anniversary Friday.

The white-bearded jurist, who has presided over the supreme court for more than 11 years, preferred to overlook the occasion. He told newspapermen he had nothing to say.

Apparently he still adheres to the philosophy of a remark he made a few years ago that he was "going along without reference to the calendar."

There has been speculation over the possibility of the chief justice retiring in June at the end of his term, but he has given no indication that he planned to do so. On the contrary friends have joked him as saying he intended to remain on the court as long as his health permitted.

He appears to be in good health, and he has not missed a day from his court duties since the term began last October. He enters the supreme court chamber with a firm stride, speaks forcefully when necessary, and keeps the business of the tribunal moving with dispatch.

Appointed chief justice by President Hoover in 1930, he has presided over the supreme court during perhaps the most turbulent period of its history—climaxed by the congressional battle over President Roosevelt's court reorganization plan.

Cowboy-Pilot Shown In Unique Picture

SAN ANGELO, April 12.—Flying Cadet Earl L. Beard, stationed at the air corps basic flying school here, and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Beard of Tucson, is the subject of an unusual photograph.

The picture shows Cadet Beard, former school teacher and Sul Ross college graduate, wearing a 10-gallon hat and swinging a lasso, mounted on a saddle on a 450-horsepower BT-14 plane.

Beard is swinging the lasso so rapidly that the loop is blurred in the photograph.

Harry Watts of the Muse, Omaha, Neb., took a new tack in advertising "Arise, My Love," and it worked. His ad copy read: "I know it's a lousy title, but it's a swell picture!"

Director of the Week
Victor Schertzinger, ("Road to Zanzibar") was born in Philadelphia in 1892; educated abroad, was violin soloist and wrote and staged musical comedies before becoming musical director for Triangle-Ince, first of long series of work in the films. Recent work: "Road to Singapore," in 1940; "The Mikado," 1939.

Mobeetie Methodists Observe Holy Season

MOBEETIE, April 12.—A series of pre-Easter services have been enjoyed by members and friends of the Methodist church of Mobeetie, under the direction of the Rev. G. W. McLain, pastor of the church.

Starting Monday, April 17, and continuing through Wednesday evening, the church participated in a school of missions, with discussion led by the following: the Rev. G. W. McLain, Mrs. John Dunn, Mrs. M. D. Blankinship, Mrs. S. I. Marchbanks.

Mrs. Leonard Green, and L. D. McCauley. The regular textbook, "Methodism's Word Missions" was used.

Beginning Thursday night, April 10, the pastor preached at 8 o'clock and again on Friday night. At the latter services the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed by candle light.

Saturday at 12 noon, the children's department of the Sunday school held an Easter egg hunt.

On Easter Sunday, the Sunday school will render a program, with each department and class participating. At 11 a. m., the pastor's sermon subject will be "The Resurrection of the Body of Christ."
