WAR'S No Style Show, Suggestions Ruth Millett

America's fashion authorities are fighting it out. Shall American women who volunteer for defense work wear uniforms, and if so, when should they look like?

In the whole discussion the remark of one practical woman—a fashion editor—stands out. She made her say short and sweet and to the point: "Let's not have any more talk about what we wear—let's get busy."

There's a woman with the right idea. Most of the women in the country haven't the slightest idea of how they can fit into national defense. They're willing, even eager, to help, but they don't yet know what their country would like to have them trained to do.

They're sitting around waiting for a business-like plan that will utilize the diversified abilities of American women, both working women and housewives.

WHAT DIFFERENCE DO CLOTHES MAKE?

And while they are waiting, their enthusiasm dulling just a little, as it is bound to do, the women leaders of the country are worrying about what the women, once organized, will wear.

What difference does it make what they wear? Whether they wear house dresses, tailored suits, slacks, or a Girl Scout uniform?

We aren't getting ready for a national festival in which costumes are all important. The idea is for us to get ready to do the jobs that will have to be done in case of a national emergency.

Nobody is going to care what the woman who reports an exploded bomb to the proper person wears, and no patient lying in an ambulance is going to notice what the driver has on.

What we women had better be spending our time and thought on is finding out where we are needed and then getting the proper training to fill the jobs.

If we're efficient at what we have to do, what we wear won't matter. After all, we're preparing for the possibility of war—not a fashion show.

GIRDLE WAISTLINE

Every line of this frock expresses femininity, the soft retailing of the ruffle outlining the deep vee neckline, the easy bodice, the full-gathering of the skirt. The shaped girdle waistline with its quaint lacing and soft bow in front gives the originality and enhances its girlish charm. This is a frock to wear when you want to look very best. Make it now, be ready for the first autumn days—and have a frock which you'll wear with pleasure for many seasons to come.

GLORIFY YOURSELF

BY ALICIA HART

During summer holidays and long week-ends it's the truly bright girl who knows when to relax and stop worrying about not being able to have her hair done, whether a chip in her nail polish can be covered or the fact that the hot water isn't exactly hot.

Being perfectly groomed is the ideal state, of course. But there's one thing worse than being hazily groomed. And that is being a wet blanket on any party simply because the bathroom in the summer hotel or tourists' lodge is a makeshift affair or the laundry facilities at a summer resort or camp aren't like they are back home.

It's better to wear a wrinkled blouse with your slacks than to be peevish about the fact that no iron or ironing board was available for pressing. It's better to let your hair be stringy or to cover it up with a scarf than to complain about looking a fright during a picnic.

If fishing and helping with the dishes around camp ruins your nail polish, remove all of it and give your nails a rest for a couple of weeks. Don't refuse to apply an insect-repellent unless you are one who can't let mosquitoes chew at you without complaining. Better use an insect-repellent that spoils your makeup than to be swatting at your arms and stewing about the primitive life for hours on end.

DON'T BE TOO FUSSY

No woman is more irritating than the one who agrees to take a long drive on the chance that it will be possible to find a place to sleep at the other end and then complains because the accommodations are just so-so. The beds may be up with the bathroom old-fashioned, but the good sport grins and makes the most of it rather than complain and make everyone else miserable. She knows that she won't kill her to sleep badly for a night or two or even to go without a bath in a tub for a day.

You Can Read Your Happiness—In Books

By RUTH MILLETT

"You know, I never read a book or a magazine," the business girl said complacently.

It has never occurred to her that there might possibly be some connection between that statement and a few of the things she doesn't like about her life.

Although she is a nice-looking, pleasant girl who got through high school without any trouble and who is competent at her job, she is working at a job that has no future and a mighty sad present. She is both overworked and under-paid.

She has lived in the town where her present job is for two years, and she is often lonely. She has some friends, but by no means all of her evenings are taken up with invitations. She spends sometimes two, sometimes four or five evenings a week, putting around her room, switching the radio on and off and wishing miserably that she had SOME place to go.

One of these days, if she gets a chance, she'll likely marry some boy with a job not a great deal better than hers and a future not much brighter—not because she loves him, but because she is bored to death.

READING HELPS TO SOLVE MANY PROBLEMS

Acquiring a taste for reading wouldn't solve all the girl's problems, but it would help to solve them.

To begin with, reading would get her in the habit of using her mind more than she has to use it now in the routine job she does. It might even teach her to think, so that she could look ahead and recognize the future that lies in store for her and determine to better it by her own efforts.

It would in time, if she read the right things, give her an interest in common with young men and women who have more to offer her than the friends with whom she now spends her time.

It would most surely teach her how to enjoy those evenings she spends alone. For the person who likes to read is seldom resentful of the fact that she has a whole evening to herself.

"I never read..." The girl of ordinary intelligence who says that ought to examine herself to see if that fact isn't in some measure responsible for what is holding her back.

Prior to the national defense program one out of every 20 trucks operating on the public highways was owned by the federal, state and local governments. Military equipment has increased the ratio of publicly owned vehicles.

Gov. Edison Opposes U. S. Seizing Plant

(By The Associated Press)
The Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company's offer to turn its strike-bound Kearny, N. J., plant over to the navy for operation drew more official discussion today, with Governor Charles Edison of New Jersey urging that the government refrain from such a step.

Navy Secretary Knox announced that he and Sidney Hillman, co-director of the office of production management, would resume their discussion with L. H. Korndorff, president of the ship-building concern.

Edison telegraphed Knox and the shipbuilder, whose firm has nearly half a billion dollars worth of defense orders, that:

"When labor and capital complacently encourage the government to take over industrial plants, they are contributing to the creation of a system which will destroy the very freedom we are arming ourselves to preserve."

Peter Flynn, vice president of the CIO local which called the strike, also had suggested that the government take over the plant. The union struck, its leaders said, because of the company's non-acceptance of the defense mediation board's recommendation for a modified union shop.

Curtiss-Wright officials reported a back-to-work movement was under way at its Caldwell, N. J., propeller plant, where AFL machinists struck demanding wage increases of 20 cents an hour over unannounced current scales. The company had refused to negotiate with the union, contending that Propeller Craft, an independent union, had won a majority in a collective bargaining election last week.

A strike of 250 employees of the Timkin Roller Bearing company at Canton, Ohio, ended when the CIO men agreed to return to work while the defense mediation board attempted to settle their demands for wage increases.

Johnson To Deliver Address To Young Democrats Thursday

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Partisan politics, a regular enlivening feature of previous young Democrats' conventions, will be frowned upon at the national meeting next week, Homer Mat Adams, national president, announced today.

Instead, Adams said in a statement from national headquarters here, the convention will be dedicated to a study of vital problems of national defense, the reasons for President Roosevelt's declaration of a total emergency and youth's role in national unity.

"Since the overwhelming majority of our membership is subject to the Selective Service Act, and thousands of our members have been called to the colors, Adams said, "the question of extending the Selective Service Act will receive careful scrutiny and full expression of those in attendance."

The keynote address will be delivered Thursday night by 32-year-old Rep. Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Attorneys Banquet As Dead Man Wishes

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 13 (AP)—Six Spokane attorneys banqueted last night in accordance with the wishes of a friend who had been dead for a year.

John W. Roche, attorney who died in 1940, asked in his will that there be no funeral or other mourning. He regarded these customs as "medieval and contradictory to the advancement of the day."

He provided that with a $15 bequest, his six best friends should gather in one year for a meal of joviality and companionship at which he should be the host, much as during his life.

Last night the six attorneys carried out the bequest.

Germans Claim They Rule Under the Waves

If German high command claims are correct, men like Capt. Lieut. Herbert Schulze, in fur cap at right, and his Nazi submarine crew are masters under the sea. Schulze gets decorated for sinking more than 200,000 tons of shipping. Germans say their U-boats, sea raiders and planes have sent 12,000,000 tons to the bottom, or more than their total sunk in last war.

NAZIS STORM

German columns storming toward the city from three sides.
German reports said a considerable Red army force was trapped along the Black Sea coast between Odessa and Ochakov, 40 miles east, and from retreat by German and Rumanian troops leading down the Bug river valley to the sea.
The Soviet high command, silent for the first time on key sectors in the 53-day-old struggle, reported that Russian troops had routed German elite divisions of 15,000 men and smashed another division, killing and wounding 7,500 men, in an unspecified sector of the 1,200-mile front.

"During the night of Aug. 12, nothing of importance took place on our front," the Red army's mid-day communique asserted.

Some Russians interpreted the communique as indicating that the new German smashes toward Odessa and Leningrad had been stemmed, reducing the third big Nazi offensive of the war to minor local actions.

Moscow dispatches reported that Red warplanes had destroyed a large bridge over the Danube river at Cerna-Yoda, halting all military transport between Bucharest and Constanta.

DNB, the official German news agency, said that the Luftwaffe was violently pounding Soviet troop concentrations and traffic facilities "along the entire east front" and that rail connections around Leningrad had been shattered in many places.

Moscow reported a short air alarm last night, but said no German planes reached the Blacked-out city.

Berlin was raided for a third successive night and acknowledged some casualties were caused as the attackers bombed by the light of flares.

The British said the raid this time was theirs—a night follow-up across northwestern Germany of daylight bombers deep into German territory by high-flying fortress planes and hedge-hopping lighter bombers.

Germans claimed that 57 British planes were shot down yesterday and last night.

German air attacks on England were stepped up somewhat last night but the British said damage and casualties were light and scattered.

Strike Authorization Voted By 13 Locals

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Association of Communication Equipment Workers announced today that a majority of its locals in 13 cities had voted strike authorization here tomorrow in a final effort to avert a nation-wide stoppage.

The union said in a statement that various plant departments of the associated companies in the Bell system which are affiliated with the Association of Communication Equipment Workers in the national Federation of Telephone workers, an independent union, have indicated they would not do anything which would be regarded as a strike-breaking activity.

"If that should eventuate," the statement said, "it would undoubtedly result in an almost complete tie-up of the Bell system in the United States."

The union said a majority of the locals which already have reported the exact figure was not given—showed a vote running from 90 per cent to 100 per cent in favor of strike authorization. A complete vote was expected by the end of the week and the union said "indications are that the vote in favor will approximate those taken up to this point."

Cowboy Meeting Draws Outsiders

MARFA, Aug. 13 (AP)—Among the Davis Mountain pioneers, the southwest's rugged frontier families today carried their historic Skilman's Grove Cowboy Camp meeting into the second day of its 52nd annual session.

From city and ranch and cross-country hamlet, the pioneers and their descendants gathered for their week of inter-denominational worship. As in other recent years, outsiders came from all parts of the southwest and its neighboring regions.

Twelve new cottages were ready for visitors and other dwellings had been improved, said the Rev. Richard Irving, Presbyterian pastor of Marfa and Fort Davis, who is general superintendent of the meeting.

President Suspends Eight-Hour Law On Defense Projects

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt has suspended the 8-hour day law as applied to mechanics and laborers employed by the war department on public works necessary to national defense in the United States.

The action, by means of an executive order announced today, was said at the White House to have been taken because of the necessity of completing all military projects at the earliest practical date.

The suspension applies to workers on air fields, troop housing units, fortifications and other works necessary to the military establishment.

Life In U. S. Army Camps

(By The Associated Press)
CAMP LEE, Va.—This post was named after the great Southern soldier, Robert E. Lee. The war department thought that was fine.

The camp newspaper was named the "Traveler" after General Lee's horse. The war department figured that was okay, too.

But when an insignia for the quartermasters was designed and submitted, the war department turned thumbs down. The background for the emblem was the stars and bars of the Confederate flag.

DARING DESTRUCTION TEST
in Fearful Death Valley
Gives New oil a Plain Record for Long-Lasting Protection

Why 5-Quart fill—none added—lasted 13,398 miles... Certified

When you're wringing wet these days, just think of Death Valley. It holds the official U. S. record of 134° hot. Wild animals there rarely come out in the heat of day. You'll admit that's a hotspot for testing any motor oil. And that's exactly where 6 representative oils got a fair trial for their lives—to give you up-to-date certified mileage figures.

NEW CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
gave more than twice the mileage averaged by all others tested

This Death Valley mileage record is today making sales records for Conoco Nth oil—popular priced. And here's how this oil was proved for you in advance—by a daring Destruction Test:

6 identical new stock coupes were broken in alike. Test officials had checked engines, part by part, insuring uniformity. The Referee bought 5 big-name oils at retail. The other oil was the same new Conoco Nth that you can buy today.

The Referee put one strict 5-quart fill in each engine; locked it up tight. Never a drop could be added.

All cars ran 57 miles an hour—in the same Death Valley desert—on the same sizzling days. Drivers switched around to even up human factors. Impartial observers eyed every move—every mile.

Man-Made New Economy aid in Conoco Nth

In this patented oil there's an extra life-giver. Man-made. It's full name is Thiokene inhibitor—an inhibitor being something that does the job of keeping a thing in check. Now your engine's normal explosions can't help causing foul leftovers. These must be properly kept in check to keep them from making your oil "fester." get weak and pass out. But you know how Conoco Nth oil "beat the rap" in Death Valley. It stood up better... by as much as 161%. Of course you're not in the business of test-driving, doing all the most furious things. You just want to run every fill right up to as many miles as qualified authorities say is safe for your car. And

AND CONOCO Nth OIL PLATES YOUR ENGINE!

Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another great Conoco synthetic... man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent. By magnet-like action, OIL-PLATING is bonded to inner engine parts. Then it can't all drain down—not even overnight—not while you use Conoco Nth oil. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance... and helps mileage, as it did in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get from a change to popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil.

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all"

No Escaping The Consequences

As fervently as anybody, we wish the world were so constituted that we didn't have to decide things. If we could just rock along in some kind of Golden Age languor, letting things work themselves out, convinced that everything would be all right somehow without our deciding anything, that would be dandy. This is a cold iron-and-steel world, however. It is a world in which we have had conclusive demonstrations that the most dangerous thing of all is just to settle back and drift.

Right now, for instance, congress has the responsibility of deciding whether to break up the army built thus far and start building a new one, or to hold the present establishment intact until there is a change for the better in the conditions that dictated building that army in the first place.

It is an unpleasant decision. Some people will be displeased either way. But congress has often complained that authority was being taken off its hands by the executive. With authority goes responsibility. In this matter, it has both, and the people will hold its members responsible for the consequences.

Should the United States resolutely bear down on every action that will help to defeat the Nazi aggressors? Those who believe and urge that, bear potential responsibilities; we might get into a war with all its horrors; we might become involved in the rearmament of a Europe we do not know how to realize; we might achieve other unforeseen results, mostly evil.

Should the United States draw back from active aid to those who resist aggression; pull back to a static defense of this continent, indifferent to what may happen in the rest of the world? Some like to kid themselves that this decision is without consequences. Yet that decision implies taking this chance: if the Germans and Japanese win, break up the British fleet and empire, restrict according to will all U. S. contacts with the rest of the world, foment Nazi revolutions in half of South America, they might then force a war on a lone United States at their pleasure.

Either decision today could be wrong; either decision implies future possibilities that are unpleasant. Yet those consequences, either way, must be faced; the only unpardonable course is to advocate a line of conduct, thinking and hoping against all reason that it will have no consequences at all.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR MINERS

A new scholarship has just been established at the University of Illinois. We don't know whether it has a specific name, but it ought to be called the American Scholarship. There is something deeply American about it.

This scholarship goes to some young miner now actually working at that trade, or the son of such a miner. The Illinois Mining Institute has set up a series of such scholarships in order to provide mining engineering training to young men most likely to profit by it.

It was Woodrow Wilson in "The New Freedom" who said something to the effect that if a country is good for those who are on the make, it doesn't matter so much how it is for those who are already made.

Every time someone opens up an opportunity like this for young men on the make, we feel proud that we are in and of America.

The Nation's Press

GEN. SUMMER (From the New York Daily News) Possibly the most important news item yet to come from the German-Russian war was a United Press report from Vichy yesterday, quoting neutral diplomats as stating that the wheat harvest in the Russian Ukraine is now under way and should be completed in two weeks.

If true, that means that if the Russians can stall the Germans on the Ukraine front for another fortnight, meanwhile rushing the harvested grain back into the interior, Hitler's boys will find the Russian bread basket empty when and if they do break in. That in turn will mean that Hitler will have to feed his Russian armies from Germany and Poland and Rumania, over long supply lines.

Napoleon had the same trouble with the Russians "scorched earth" retreat tactics in 1812. In the end, Gen. Winter got him. It may be that Gen. Summer has gone to work for the Russians in the Ukraine.

It looks as if the peril to Great Britain and the United States is less grave than it was even a week ago—and any reason for an early United States entry into the war more remote.

SPEED AND GASOLINE

(Los Angeles Times) Of timely relevance to the defense effort to conserve gasoline—one manifestation of which is the just-promulgated "recommendation" closing stations filling stations after nightfall—are the results of a recent series of practical tests of the relation between an automobile's speed and its consumption of fuel.

These showed that, driven at 20 miles per hour, a representative stock car of about average cost and weight delivered 18.2 miles per gallon of gasoline. At 30 m.p.h. it covered 17.8 miles for each gallon. Above 30, the per-gallon mileage dropped with disproportionate rapidity. At 40 m.p.h. it was only 15, at 50, 14.1; at 60, 12.3 and at 70, the highest speed tried, a gallon of fuel for but 10 miles, or not much more than half the mileage at 20 m.p.h. and other driving conditions, including

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLAND

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the share of each man by the common principle of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything across the line a right to create and enjoy.

ANSWERING A READER'S TAX INQUIRY A reader writes, "If he (referring to writer of Common Ground) can tell me in numbers how his benefits from governments compare with mine, I will concede that he has the right idea of taxation."

The comparative benefits received by different people is measured in numbers by the amount of wealth each individual consumes during the year for himself and family for his own pleasure and livelihood. Measuring his consumption in dollars is reducing it to numbers.

Property tax is simply a consumption tax and business property tax is passed on to the consumer, if the property is properly managed. If it is not properly managed, it comes out of the ownership of the property who is then in reality the consumer.

Here is an example of reducing to numbers the benefits each person receives from his government: If the reader referred to consumes $1000 a year, and I consume $5000 a year, then my taxes should be exactly five times as much as his.

What I produce, that is what I receive, on a voluntary basis for my services, or the use of any tools that I may have, should not be taxed. It should not be taxed because it benefits, instead of harms, every other person in the world. But every dollar's worth of wealth I consume harms every other person in the world. If I were able to live on air and water and consume nothing and produce the same amount, I would then benefit every other person in the world more than I do by consuming a part of what I produce.

The same reader says, "please remember that no established wealth is ever touched by an income tax." Established wealth has no meaning. The minute wealth is created, it is established. What difference does it make in the harm it does to society whether we tax new wealth that will be in the hands of people who know how to properly use it to benefit mankind or whether we tax wealth called "established" which has been in the hands of people for years.

The reader seems to be advocating seniority—that new wealth should be taxed and old wealth should not be taxed. How long would wealth have to be in existence before he would regard it as "established"? Any definition he would make, certainly would be arbitrary.

Again, the same reader says, "in the ten years from 1929 to 1939, there was little need to use new profits for tools." The reader, in making this statement, is certainly anything but meek. He is claiming that he knows what inventions and what improvements should be made. He is in reality posing as authority on efficient tools. Certainly there was need for new tools and new knowledge (and knowledge is tools), during the '20s. There was need of billions of dollars worth of wealth and millions of hours of time to be spent in helping people understand the fundamental principles that create peace, harmony and prosperity so that an ever increasing population could have an ever increasing standard of living. If we were not to have new capital added in the '20s then our standard of living would of necessity have to be lowered.

To tax new wealth created as a result of satisfying human wants, is just simply a collective form of force. In short, it is arbitrary, dogmatic, tyrannical and plain robbery. It would not be so bad, if the tax were uniform. But to make classes out of people and tax one man at one fraction of his income and another man at a different fraction is to discard the theory that the universal rule is the golden rule. It is to discard the teachings of Jesus, when He said, "He makes his sun to rise on the evil and the good and sendeth rain on the just and the unjust." and when Peter said, "God is no respecter of persons."

When the majority establishes classes, it is disregarding all democratic and Christian principles. It is largely the cause of our protracted period of unemployment and so many of our people believing that we should enter into this foreign war.

IS THAT A THREAT? Secretary of the Treasury, Morgenthau, says, "The first billion (referring to defense savings bonds) has been raised in the American way by cooperation rather than compulsion. I am confident the second billion can be raised in the same democratic way, and still more speedily," he added.

Is this a threat that if the American people do not voluntarily buy government bonds and thus take their wealth out of private enterprise, the government will confiscate it, as they do in Russia and Germany? We are not in war. Yet, the Secretary of the Treasury infers that there might be forced buying of government bonds.

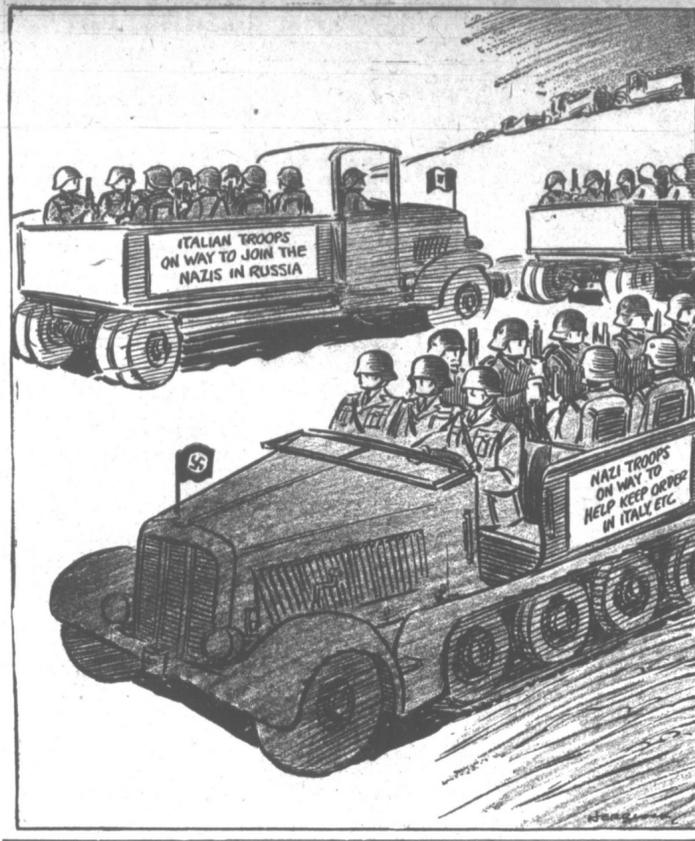

If the Administration had practiced a policy of a single standard of right and justice, as the framers of the Constitution advocated, rather than a double standard as they do in Russia and Germany, they would not be making this threat of selling bonds by compulsion or confiscation.

The Administration has stood in the way of the only taxing system that will prevent inflation or regimentation. The only taxing system that, in the long run, will prevent inflation or regimentation is taxing each and every consumer in proportion to the service the government renders to the consumer; that is, in proportion to the amount of this world's goods he requires to sustain his life and make him happy. And now, when the Administration is wrecking our money system, wrecking our credit system, destroying our morale, setting class against class and establishing a double standard of right and wrong, it is further threatening, through its Treasury to sell bonds by compulsion.

And yet we are preparing to go to the rest of the world to establish the four freedoms. O, consistency thou art a jewel!

fuel quality were, of course, identical in all the tests. And simultaneously one of the country's leading tiremakers announces others showing that tires wear out 62 per cent faster at 70 miles per hour than at 50.

TROOP MOVEMENTS IN EUROPE

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13 — This autumn, señoras y señores, there will be two Mirandas on Broadway. And next year there will be two Mirandas in the movies. They'll be important stars, too, and not a sister act.

Carmen has decided this and Aurora naturally has approved. The kid sister came here for a career, and the established star is acting as Aurora's agent and manager. No matter that Carmen still doesn't speak enough English to argue fluently with producers; they find her eloquent enough when she shrugs and says simply, "No."

It began about six months ago when Carmen Miranda, working then in "That Night in Rio," wrote to her 20-year-old sister "to tell how wonderful Los Hollywood." So Aurora, who was a considerable success in the singing and dancing business in South America, wrote she also wished to come to the movie capital.

When the sleek, black-haired Miranda reached New York, movie talent scouts with interpreters and bi-lingual contracts were swarming around her before she could unpack. They offered tests, stock contracts and specific roles, one being a spot in "Panama Hatline." So Aurora hotfooted it west, made screen tests and was ecstatic with delight when she got two offers at $100 a week.

That was the first time Carmen Miranda shrugged and said "No." Aurora, she explained, was here for a vacation. In Rio, in Buenos Aires, Aurora is a big star. In Hollywood, a vestor.

Studio offers climbed swiftly but Carmen still said no. She had a plan. Late in August she would finish her role in "Weekend in Havana," and then go to New York to be in "Crazy House" with Olsen and Johnson for the Shuberts.

Recalling that her own Hollywood stardom had followed her Broadway success in "Streets of Paris" and various plushy night clubs, Carmen decided Aurora must begin there, too. She would go into the Copacabana Club, and with her own personal orchestra, the Banda da Lua.

Then there would be a spot for Miranda No. 2 in another Shubert show. And after that, Hollywood, Carmen and Aurora will return early in the fall for the fourth musical for 20th-Fox. By that time, there will be top roles in other pictures for the kid sister. A hundred a week—best! Also phooey!

SISTER KNOWS BEST "Aurora next year will be what you call it, hot in Hollywood," said Miranda No. 1 confidently. "Is all a matter of using the right psychology for the build-up. My seester do not understand these; but me, Carmen, I know these what you call angles." Meanwhile, Aurora had some intensive grooming, with daily visits to the beautician in Havana's set, explanations of movie technique, dancing practice, and English lessons under Carmen's coach and interpreter, Z. Yaconelli. Not until the other day did Miranda No. 1 learn that Yaconelli teaches English with an Italian accent, but he teaches it very well, anyway.

THE LOOKING GLASS

SOMEWHERE A VOICE By Stella Hallit

Lonelier than the stretches of prairie around Dodge City, Kansas, are the plains of Thrace. Hour after hour the train carried its European passengers over the desolate country. At very infrequent intervals there was a station and a handful of sad, ill clothed men. One flickering lamp would mark what seemed the outermost post of civilization. Far away was Paris and its gay population, far behind the clean white peaks of Swiss mountains and the fairy like beauty of Italian lakes. After Italy the known world had slipped away. Serbia and Bulgaria had wild landscapes. Now the Balkan mountains had faded into the lonely desolation of Thrace. What a horrible thing to be left behind in one of those dim little stations where the wind might blow out the light and all time would end.

Maurine's fear of this unknown loneliness was greater than her curple. Just because she had liked the sound of Constantino she had entrained on this voyage which every hour seemed more foolish. Constantino called her just as Cheyenne had called her once. She had answered that call and had not been disappointed. The magic of the high air was intoxicating even to remember. Constantino, which was not written that way any more on the maps had called her in distinct, urgent syllables and here she was on the edge of nothing where it would undoubtedly drop off.

And then came a smell of the sea, there were villages, lights, clusters of people chattering. The world was becoming inhabited again. Maurine glimpsed millions of twinkling lights in the distance. That would be the seven hills of Byzantium. The train was now running by the sea, there were little boats along the shore and people in cafes, and lights everywhere. Lights you could understand. It was that one flickering light in a lonely station that terrified you.

The arrival was disappointing. The station was like any other. And the people. The taxi was no different, nor the porters. There were no veils and no fizzes. The streets and shops were European. Her hotel proprietor spoke English for he had lived a long time in America. Before she went up in the elevator she had an English speaking guide offered to take her sight seeing the following day.

Maurine was bewildered. Sight, of course there must be sights to see. But first she wanted to collect her thoughts. Why was she here anyhow and what did she want to see.

"The lady will call you when she needs you Gregorie," said a man, and then added something in Turkish. Maurine thanked the stranger for his kindness.

"You see, I really don't know yet what I want to do. The taxi was no different, I have just told the guide."

The man had a gentle, quiet voice, friendly, appealing. He had sad, disillusioned eyes in a young face. Maurine suddenly knew that this was the man she would know why she had come to Constantino. She hurried to her room.

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—In trying to figure out what to do about keeping the draftees in service, there has perhaps been more beating of heads and chests, more tearing of hair and nerves, more confusion, more psychological maneuvering and more frantic attempts to feel the public pulse and then look worried, than on any issue that has bothered congress this year.

To see just how silly it has been, all you have to do is go back and read the selective service law, technically known as "Public No. 783, 76th Congress, Chapter 720—Third Session, S. 4104. An act to provide for the conscription act to provide for the conscription of defense by increasing the personnel of the armed forces of the United States and providing for its training."

So labeled, you can't miss it. Turn now to Section 3, subsections (b) and (c). It is the least of the law, but too tough, so tag along and you'll get the point:

(b) Each such man inducted shall serve for a training period of twelve consecutive months, unless sooner discharged, except that when ever the congress has declared that the national interest is imperiled, such twelve-month period may be extended by the president to such time as may be necessary in the interests of national defense.

(c) Each such man after the completion of his period of training and service under subsection (b), shall be transferred to a reserve component of the land or naval forces of the United States; and until he attains the age of forty-five, or until the expiration of a period of ten years after such transfer, or until he is discharged from such reserve component, whichever comes first, he shall be deemed to be a member of such reserve component and shall be subject to such additional training and service as may now or hereafter be prescribed by law: Provided, that any man who completes at least twelve months' training and service in the land forces under subsection (b), and who thereafter serves satisfactorily in the Regular Army or in the active National Guard for a period of at least two years, shall, in time of peace, be relieved of any liability to serve in any reserve component of the land or naval forces of the United States from further liability for the training and service under subsection (b), but nothing in this subsection shall be construed to prevent any such man from being a reserve component of such forces, from being ordered or called to active duty in such forces."

DOES IT MEAN WHAT IT SAYS? The two paragraphs are presented goes into the reserve. As long as he's sections mean what they say, all this congressional and public wrangling has been unnecessary.

It doesn't do any good to argue with lawyers, but competent government lawyers who don't wish to be quoted each time they're wanted to get tangled up in all this mess, support the construction that any eighth grade class in syntax would put on those paragraphs, viz and to wit:

When a drafted man has completed his first year of service, he goes into the reserve. As long as he's in the reserve, he can be ordered or called to active duty in such forces and kept there. In other words, as soldiers completed their twelve-month training period, they could immediately be tapped on the shoulder with a remark such as, "Sorry, buddy, but since you're in the reserve now, and since we need the reserves in active service for a spell longer, just turn around and go back to your barracks. We can do this because here's where it says so in the law."

All this would have to be put in the language of a formal order, but the soldiers would get the point without difficulty either way.

ONLY ONE OUT The only possible restriction to this interpretation comes in the subsection (b) part, where it says that congress must declare that the national interest is imperiled. Well, a simple congressional resolution would have taken care of that, and then it would have been up to the president to take the rap by ordering the boys from the reserve status back into their active duty status for up to 10 years.

As a matter of fact, congress is declaring the national interest imperiled as part of its amendments to the selective training and service act providing for the new additional one and a half years' service.

Why the simpler procedure was not followed is something you'll have to ask the 500 members of congress. It was a case of bad handling right from the start. The original act carried all the authority needed to keep the men in service. The trouble was that the act wasn't what it was, the country in its full import. It was sold as a year's service. Therefore it had to be resold as a new bill of goods.

TEX'S TOPICS

EDITOR'S NOTE: While Tex DeWeese is on vacation this space is being filled each day by a different writer. We welcome any and all contributions of the copy before 11:00 a. m. and said he had no desire to censor any of it. So here's today's guest columnist.

BY BILL BROWNE As I take my typewriter keyboard in hand, I begin to wonder at the self-confidence with which I assured Tex DeWeese last week that I would attempt to fill his figurative shoes for a day.

I could have stammered a little. Had I even laughingly said "No!" and then relented—I should somehow have an easier conscience now as the task presses down on me.

But no. I said "yes"—and bluntly. So here we sit—this blank piece of paper and ink—and stare at one another. That curl in the paper must be a sneer.

One column—that's my assignment. I'm tearing my hair. Now I'm up pacing the floor. Now I'm down. I lead with a left forefinger and cross my arms. I stare at the floor twice with a left and then back pedal. Now it's all X'ed out, and I circle my problem again looking for an opening.

Ah, ladies and gentlemen, what a battle! You should be here to see it.

I've heard it said that Tex DeWeese takes some of the bright things he writes in his column from the works of others. Remember his column on boners? Tak, Tak. All the boners, I guess, came from "The Book of Boners." Now, I have that book of boners right here at my right hand, but will I use a single boner from it? A thousand times no. For at my left hand is a house organ in which I've found a poem you business men will appreciate:

"Keep your temper, gentle sir. Writes the manufacturer. Though your goods are overdue, For a month or maybe two, Can't help it, please don't swear; Labor's scarce and steel is rare. Can't get chrome; can't get dies; These are facts; we tell no lies. Harry's drafted; so is Bill. All our work is now uphill. So your order, we're afraid, May still be a bit delayed. Still you'll get it, don't be vexed. Maybe this month, maybe next. Keep on hoping, don't say bye. We'll fill your order bye and bye."

This poem, incidentally, is an actual letter from a manufacturer and sent to his customers who were clamoring for his goods. Doesn't that reflect one of the finest Americanisms? A sense of humor?

Great day! I've expressed an idea! There follows a round of hand-shaking here in the office. The word goes out to the other rooms and others crowd in to congratulate me on having expressed an idea in my column.

Characteristically, I hang my head and say with a slow smile, "Sticks, fellers. Ba-hoop. T weren't nothing."

And, by Jove, 't weren't. Just came across a Christmas menu dated 1939 from the Maxwell Hotel Co., Nashville, Tenn. Dinner hours it says, are "from 1 1/2 to 4 p. m." How do you like these for "Grouse Pieces Froide"; "Boned Wild Boar's Head, a la Royale"; or "Buffalo Tongues, Decorated Bridge Fashion"? And if you like game, how about "Leg of Cumberland Mountain Black Bear, Sauce Poivre" or "Tennessee Opossum, Baked with Sweet Potatoes, Old Virginia Style" or maybe "Kentucky Coon with Devil's Sauce"?

For dessert we suggest "Pine Apples in Champagne." And your drink: either "English Breakfast Tea" or "French Coffee."

Listen, Browne, this brain spraddling the mind, meander—has it stopped? What about your column? Or whatever it is you're supposed to be writing? What about that, Browne?

Well, I don't know how to write a column. What do readers want in a column anyway? Ask 'em, you dope. Okay. Here I am down town asking people what they would write a column about if they were Tex DeWeese.

Just King would try to make people burst with optimism. Tell 'em, says Jay, that Hitler is about licked. Tell 'em birds are singing; there's a boom on; the sun is good, the rain is good, too. Lowell Fendricks (in one of his moods) would deplore double parking, holes in paving and low hanging branches that knock off his glasses. Mrs. LeRoy Blackmon would direct sharp rebukes at the mud that gets on her shoes when it rains. L. McCarter would write about Tex DeWeese, but we couldn't print that. He would use everybody's name in his column. He went on to say he and Doc Owens and Bert Howell are taking up water skiing and aquaplaning at Lake McClellan. Water skis (on shoes if you're over-literate) are just like snow skis. Imagine staying on top of the water on a pair of shoes. V. S. Keasey said he wouldn't write a column. He ain't mad at anybody. When he does get mad with somebody, he usually ends up deciding the trouble is really with himself, he says. Does the wisdom of that attitude strike you?

OILERS AND SOX PLAY ANOTHER DOUBLEHEADER TONIGHT

Pampa Splits Twin Bill On Tuesday Night

Lefty Jim Carithers of Berger, well known in amateur and professional baseball circles, will be on the mound for Pampa one game tonight when the Pampa Oilers play the Amarillo Gold Sox another doubleheader. First game tonight will be at 6:30 o'clock and will go seven innings. Second game will be the regulation length and single admission will admit fans to both games.

Last night the Oilers and Sox divided a doubleheader, the Oilers taking the first game 14 to 3 and losing the nightcap 6 to 4.

Other pitcher for tonight will be either Frank Grabek, Lefty Frank Club or Al Gracy. Manager Hubber Jonnard of the Sox refused to name his starting pitchers after last night's game but hinted that he might use Crider and Dorman and win both games.

A large crowd witnessed last night's game and an even larger crowd is expected tonight to see Lefty Carithers in action. The big left-hander was with the Phillips 66 Oilers and the Huber Blackfaces of Berger. He accompanied the Pampa Road Runners to the Denver Post tournament from where he went back to professional ball, hurling two years of winning ball with Davenport. Two years ago he retired but this year he got his glove out of the moth balls and has been pitching winning ball for Dalhart's independent team. Yesterday he agreed to come to the aid of the Oilers.

After the Sox had gotten away to a two run lead in last night's opener, the Oilers took charge and shelled Paul Reynolds for 15 hits while McPartland hurled eight hit ball.

Emmet Fulewider led the Oiler attack on Reynolds with a triple, double and single and sacrifice on his four trips to the plate. Homer Matney, who had gotten only one hit on his 20 times at the plate on the road trip, banged out a double and two singles and walked once. Kelly Haralson chimed in with a double and two singles and Bill Phillips managed for three singles on their four trips to the plate.

Amarillo's power was provided by Bill DeCarlo, catcher, who slugged a double and two singles on his three trips to the plate.

Oiler fielding erratic. The visitors jumped into a two run lead in the first inning of the nightcap and held it until the seventh when the Oilers bagged three runs. In the fifth the Oilers had their big chance but muffed. First three batters in the inning got on base but a run crossed the plate. In the seventh Amarillo walked Hale intentionally, filling the bases, and then Reynolds grounded out.

With two out in the eighth Pampa tried the same strategy by walking Hargrove, filling the bases, to get to Prather who immediately swung and missed. Another runner crossed the plate. Another scored a moment later on some erratic fielding. For the second time of the game an Amarillo player

Pollet Wins 20th Game Of Season. (By The Associated Press) The Houston Buffs had plenty of incentive to turn on the heat in their double bill with San Antonio last night.

Under the watchful eye of Branch Rickey, St. Louis Cardinal official, the Buffs blasted the visiting Missions 6-0 and 7-2.

Howard Pollet racked up his twentieth win and his fifth shut-out of the season. The youthful portlander allowed six hits, walked three and fanned four. Al Brazle held the Padres to seven hits in the nightcap.

The sixth-place Oklahoma City Indians split a twin bill with the Tulsa Oilers. The Oilers took the first game 3-2, but the Indians stormed back to win the seven-inning afterpiece 2-0.

Cards In Lead Again As Dodgers Lose Twin Bill

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals are back on top of the topsy-turvy National league with a head of steam like the locomotive of a fast freight.

They won their fourth straight contest and spurred to a game and a half margin over the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday just before rolling out of St. Louis on probably the toughest touring itinerary of any big league club this year—a 19-day trip that will take them all over the league.

It was the eighth time the circuit lead had changed hands since the last of April, not counting the numerous ties.

The Dodgers were dumped 8-5 and 2-0 in a doubleheader by the New York Giants while the Redbirds belted to an 8-7 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

A crowd of 39,145 Brooklyn fans, second-largest ever to squeeze into the 34,000 capacity Ebbets field, turned out to witness the expected victory of the Dodgers yesterday.

Instead they saw the Giants blast Whitlow Wyatt off the mound with only one out in the first inning of the first game, a stride on to victory with Melvin Ott hitting two three-run homers, his 20th and 21st, and then capture the nightcap on the three-hit pitching of Cliff Melton.

The affair at St. Louis was a sea-saw struggle with each team using four pitchers and the Cubs out-hitting the Cards, 16-15. Johnny Mize hit a three-run circuit blow that broke a tie in the third inning, but the outcome eventually hinged on Frank Crespi's fourth hit of the day, a single scoring two runs in the eighth.

The Phillies nosed out the Boston Braves, 2-1, in 13 innings in the only other National league engagement.

In the American league, perhaps the most noteworthy item was Bob Feller absorbing his ninth defeat. The Detroit Tigers downed him, 2-0, in the opener of a doubleheader to stretch Cleveland's losing streak to six. But the Indians batted back to win the second session, 4-1.

The New York Yankees broke a pitching duel between Dick Newsome and Spud Chandler with four runs in the eighth to beat the Boston Red Sox, 4-0.

The St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox struggled 14 innings to a 6-6 tie before darkness intervened. The Browns built up a 6-0 lead off Bill Dietrich and then lost it in the fifth and sixth frames.

Washington topped the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-3, with Buddy Lewis driving in five runs on two homers and Dutch Leonard parcelling out six hits for his seventh straight success.

Troubles Of Race Horses Traced To Feed Box
INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 13 (AP)—If your horse is left at the post or fades in the stretch, chances are the trouble can be traced straight to the feed box.

Dr. Cassius Shaw, 20 years a New York horse show veterinarian, dropped this race track tip today in a paper to be read at the seventy-eighth annual convention of the American Veterinary Medical association.

Lack of the right amounts of Vitamin D and calcium in the feed bag may give a horse that rundown condition, said this specialist in race horse ailments, that causes him to run last.

Dr. Way reported examinations in a five-year period of the blood serum of 116 horses showed they had too little calcium and phosphorus in proportion to sugar, the calcium deficiency being 16 per cent from normal.

"Most of these horses were in training," he said, "and showed evidence of fatigue, low vitality and skeletal diseases, which are conditions inimical to good performance."

Taxes levied against one commodity, gasoline, accounted for one-seventh of all the money collected by the federal and state governments last year.

(Pinch-Hitting For Eddie Briets)
NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (The Special News Service)—Personal notes: Joe Sherman, Clemson drummer who is here seeing the town and talking up the Tigers, figures the draft won't hurt college football this year. . . . Says Joe, all the teams may be hit, but no one is liable to suffer much more than the others. . . . Dick Freeman, the Houston Chronicle sports Ed., is blasting the amateur softball association for refusing permission to give defense stamps to the winners of the city open softball tournament. . . . We agree the stamps are a swell idea. . . . Confidentially, Stout Steve Owen of the football Giants considers Marion Pugh, the former Texas Aggies quarterback, the most finished college back in a decade and expects him to be the standout of the Chicago all-star game.

Curious But Correct
Two Minnesota lifemen, Don Noland and Bernie Nelson, are working this summer as lifemen for a telephone company. . . . Asa Howlingwolf, the Oklahoma amateur heavyweight, was turned down by the air corps because of ear trouble. . . . No wonder. . . . When Tom Stidham, Marquette coach, said he might have to use a four-man line this fall because of a player shortage, one paper headlined: "Stidham plans football innovation—four man line."

Jack Senn, Toledo Times: "Bill Terry of the Giants is figuring on doing some baseball missionary work in Australia when the war is over. . . . The way his Giants are going, Marse Bill should feel right at home down under."

Record books show Young was then 34, but the greatest pitcher who ever lived seems to have told his early managers that he was little older than the family Bible said.

Cy now recalls having hit the big time before he was 20. The records say he was 23 when he crushed the Cleveland club.

Young points out that Lefty Grove was 25 when he broke into the American league with the Athletics, following five campaigns with Baltimore.

After winning his 300th victory, which proved elusive, Grove remarked that his next goal was 400. "I don't believe he can do it, though I don't know anyone more deserving," said Young.

"It gets tougher as you go along. My last few years were hard ones."

FARMER YOUNG HASN'T LOST INTEREST IN GAME
Young farms near Peoli, a few miles southeast of Newcomertown. Though well into the 70s, he is exceptionally active.

He toured with an old-timers' team as recently as two or three years ago.

Young, grand old man, often attends games in Cleveland, scene of his first nine years of magnificent performances. There he chats with major leaguers. He is a close friend of Grove and never misses an opportunity to chew the fat with Louisa Longley.

It was an extremely hot day, and someone remarked that the thermometer registered 95 in the shade.

Cy Young shifted his familiar pipe and glanced up.

"That's pretty warm, all right, but I remember a day in Philadelphia when I was pitching for Cleveland that had this skinned it pitched the full nine innings and it was 111 in the shade."

"Yes, I won the game," he answered.

It was a silly question, at that.

Parrish May Be Lost To Fort Worth Cats For Rest Of Season

FORT WORTH, Aug. 13—Pitcher Ben Parrish may be through for the season, it has been announced by Manager Bob Linton of the Cats.

The big young right-hander who started so brilliantly in the spring, only to run into a series of tragedies and slumps, has a sore pitching arm. He hurt it pitching here last week.

"The arm's pretty bad," says Linton, "and I don't know how it's gonna respond to treatment. Until it gets a lot better, Ben won't be able to pitch."

The handsome blond rookie from Oklahoma, via Amarillo, was pitching beautifully and winning until one of his fast balls hit Tulsa's Goobar Crawford on the head and seriously injured him. A few weeks later the infant son of Parrish was killed in a home accident.

Negro Knocks Out Savold In Second
FITSBURGH, Aug. 13 (AP)—Harry Bobo, husky 21-year-old negro heavyweight who says he would like to be a preacher, stepped into the title futurity stakes last night by knocking rugged Lee Savold, blonde Des Moines battler, in two thrilling rounds.

Savold, a capable boxer who once broke Billy Conn's nose in a New York fight and barely lost here last May to Bobo, never had a chance when the six-foot two-inch Pitts-burgh giant unloaded the dynamite in his right hand.

After stabbing Lee through most of the first round with a stiff left jab, Bobo caught the Iowa flash on the button and dropped him to the carpet in the waning seconds. The bell gave Lee a respite.

But only for a few seconds for as the second round opened Bobo floored him for nine and when he arose he was bombed down again. Flat on his face, Lee was unconscious when the referee finished tolling ten.

Bobo celebrated his 21st birthday last month. He was graduated from high school two years ago with high honors.

By ROBERT CRATER
NEA Special Correspondent
NEWCOMERTOWN, O., Aug. 13—Denton Tecumseh Young predicts that Robert Moses Grove will win 350 major league games before his remarkable career comes to a close.

Bob Grove, 41, recently swelled the membership of the highly exclusive 300 Club to an even dozen, evenly distributed between the old school and the modern.

Because he pitched as late as 1911, when he confessed to 45, Denton T. Young must be listed among the moderns.

Walter Perry Johnson is next with 414, and then come Grover Cleveland Alexander with 373, Christy Mathewson with 372 and Eddie Plank with 324.

Charley Nichols led the Old Guard with 300. Tim Keefe was credited with 342, John Clarkson with 327, Old Hoss Radbourne with 310, Mike Welch with 309 and Tony Mullane with 302.

"I don't remember exactly how old I was when I won my 300th game," mused Cy Young, seated in the shade of a hardware store entrance here. "I expect, though, that I must have been 33 or 34, and still in my prime."

GROVE OBTAINED LATER START IN BIG LEAGUE
As a matter of fact, Young celebrated the birth of the American league by bagging his 300th victory in 1901, when he switched from St. Louis of the National to Boston of the baby circuit.

SERIAL STORY

SECRET VOYAGE

BY JOSEPH L. CHADWICK

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY Mary Larsen tells Jim Mallory all she wanted to know was where she could find Mr. James Mallory, owner of the Ajax Salvage Company...

come out to his boat that afternoon calling herself Mary Larsen. He wondered if she were really Lois Hammond.

turned, sir. She would like you to join her in the rumpus room. "Lead away, Burk," Jim Mallory said.

THE SALVAGE MAN

CHAPTER III

JIM MALLORY arrived at Jeffrey Hammond's house at 8, as the note requested. The butler talked as Jim looked around. Mr. Hammond wished Mr. Mallory to accept his apologies...

"I've already dined, thanks." "Then I'll show you to your room, sir." The room was spacious, ultra-comfortable, and the furniture had been designed by a cubist.

"Burk is bringing him down now, Tommy," she told him. Then she looked over the heads of the others toward Mary Larsen. "Mary, be a darling and take this Mallory person off my hands for the evening...

"The silliest thing has happened," the girl said brightly. "Father went off and left me with a guest to look after."

"Let's have some fun with this fellow," the man said. "We'll get him to tell us about the salvage business, for a laugh. Don't forget, everybody looks solemn and interested, for a gag. Have him join us, Lois."

"Burk is bringing him down now, Tommy," she told him. Then she looked over the heads of the others toward Mary Larsen. "Mary, be a darling and take this Mallory person off my hands for the evening...

"Yes," Mary said, her voice annoyed. "I think we have." Lois turned him away. She called to someone to put on a dance record. When the music started her dark eyes asked Jim to dance.

"You're not my idea of a man in the salvage business," she said. Her eyes said a lot more. They had a predatory look.

"It's a living," he said, and over her head he saw Mary Larsen watching them dance with a twisted and bitter smile on her lips.

Identification Numbers Required By All Employers

Individuals or partnerships employing one or more people in their respective commercial or industrial businesses are required to have identification numbers under the Social Security act according to Bureau of Internal Revenue regulations relating to employees' and employers' taxes.

It was suggested by Reed that any employer having in his employ one or more persons for part-time or full-time work should secure his employer's identification number if he has not already done so.

A representative of the Amarillo field office visits Pampa every Tuesday. He may be found at the Texas State Employment Service office at 9:30 a. m. where he will be glad to cooperate with any employer who wishes to secure an identification number or information pertaining to the federal old-age and survivors insurance program under the Social Security act.

NYA Student Work Program To Assist 20,000 Young Texans

AUSTIN, Aug. 13—During the 1941-42 school year the National Youth Administration Student Work Program will enable approximately 20,000 Texas young people between the ages of 16 and 24, inclusive, to stay in school, according to J. C. Kellam, state NYA administrator.

Allocations have been made to the 24 counties and directly to schools in cities having populations of 25,000 or more. Many of the county placement committees already have met, and their recommendations for allotments of NYA student work jobs to schools now are being received in this office.

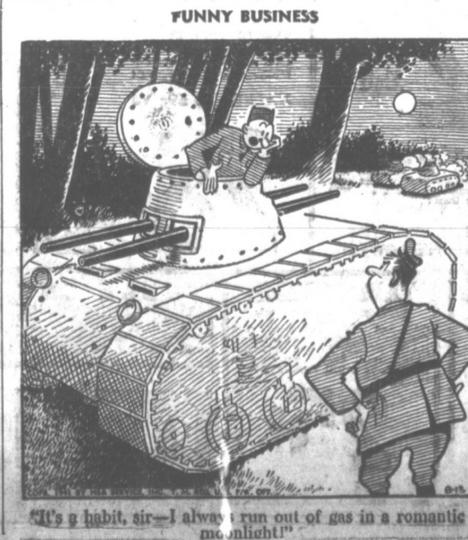

During the 1940-41 school year the NYA College and Graduate and School Work Programs assisted 7,600 youths, who otherwise could not have continued their educations, in 56 Texas colleges and universities and 27,000 students in 2,588 secondary educational institutions.

tend. Work that will be useful to both the students and to the institutions will be provided on projects designed and supervised by the officials of the schools. Such work will include research and survey activity, clerical work, departmental and library assistance, and improvement of school equipment and properties.

Twice as many used cars are sold each year as new automobiles.
