

Italians Claim Tiny Craft Sank Three British Ships At Gibraltar

(By The Associated Press)
Tiny, secret "assault craft" of the Italian navy, slipping under the muzzies of Gibraltar's great guns last night, sank three supply ships and damaged a fourth so badly it probably was lost, the Italian high command reported today.

Authoritative sources indicated that these small craft, each virtually nothing but a human projectile were manned by men who knew there would be little chance of returning. Such boats previously had been used by the Italians to raid harbors on the islands of Crete and Malta.

The special communique gave no word of the fate of the attacking crews.

The tiny assault boats, each with a torpedo in its nose, are manned by only one or two men who know that death is the likely price they must pay to get close enough to their targets to fire with telling aim. About the best they dare hope is to be captured.

Aside from an Italian torpedo attack on Gibraltar shipping last year, it was the first naval assault since French and Spanish ships unsuccessfully shelled the British garrison there in the winter of 1782-83.

Countering the Italian claim, the London admiralty reported that British submarines, attacking a Mediterranean convoy carrying Axis reinforcements to North Africa, sank two large Italian liners and damaged a third—all believed to be vessels of nearly 25,000 tons.

British RAF headquarters in Cairo reported successful RAF attacks on Axis shipping off Tripoli in which one ship blew up with such terrific force that the attacking RAF plane was destroyed.

Facing these developments, authoritative quarters in Bern, Switzerland, said that some elements in

Vichy feared all France might be occupied by German troops if shootings and sabotage persisted in the Nazi-ruled zone.

Bern also received advices from Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, that an unstarred number of Communist deputies in Bulgaria's parliament had been executed. This coincided with unconfirmed reports that King Boris was en route to a conference with Adolf Hitler which might enter Bulgaria into the war.

The Fascist raid on Gibraltar, Britain's great Mediterranean fortress, was announced in a brief communique by Premier Mussolini's high command.

Authoritative London quarters met the Italian claim with "absolutely no comment."

The attack apparently took the British by complete surprise, since Gibraltar harbor, protected by mines, nets, minefields and great guns, high on the rock, had long been considered secure against close-in assault.

The mosquito-like craft, carrying a single torpedo, were pictured as having such quiet propulsion they could slip into harbors before being detected and such shallow draft they could cross over submerged barriers.

A Fascist spokesman said his boats, speed craft with the smallest classification in the Italian navy, carried the mystery boats to within a few miles of their targets, then set them loose to strike.

In a similar raid into Malta's harbor last July 26, the crews never came back.

In the 93-day-old Russian campaign, the Germans reported that about 30 Soviet divisions—perhaps 450,000 troops—had been "annihilated" so far in a trap east of Kiev.

Four Red armies encircled there were reported struggling to blast their way out of the Nazi ring.

While the Germans asserted the beleaguered areas were tightly sealed, Moscow dispatches said they were seeking to fall back to Karkov, in the heart of the Donets river industrial basin.

Meanwhile, war-like preparations in Bulgaria, ostensibly aimed at Turkey or Russia, were emphasized by unconfirmed reports that King Boris III of Bulgaria was en route to a meeting with Adolf Hitler.

Berlin authorities declared the report was "out of the question."

Well-informed sources in Ankara predicted that Turkey, guardian of the strategic Dardanelles, gateway between the Mediterranean and the Black Sea, faced an imminent showdown.

In Berlin, the Wilhelmstrasse reported that Bulgaria had been "brought into a state of higher watchfulness," which, it was said, was not surprising in view of the reported landing of Russian paratroopers on Bulgarian soil.

King Boris' reported visit to Hitler aroused speculation that Bulgaria, now almost completely mobilized, might be preparing to enter the field as an active ally of Germany.

Roswell Menaced By Roaring Flood

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 22 (AP)—Flood warnings were issued today for the Pecos river city of Roswell, menaced by a 33-foot rise in the mountain rain-fed Hondo river.

Torrential rains over the whole eastern New Mexico mountain slopes generated unseasonal flood waters which during the week end shattered Albuquerque's natural gas pipe line leaving the city without gas, and sent roaring walls of water into the southern sections of Carlsbad below Roswell on the Pecos.

The U. S. weather bureau forecast a "severe flood" by late afternoon at Roswell, with the Hondo standing at an all-time record high only 28 miles west and the waters moving steadily down river toward the city.

Eight inches of rain were reported north of Roswell at Alamogordo dam on the Pecos, which stood at 16 feet at the junction of the Pecos and the Hondo. Alamogordo dam was also spilling 30,000 second-feet into the Pecos.

600 Bombers And Fighters Invade German Countries

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—More than 600 bombers and fighting planes were used against Germany and German-occupied countries by the Royal Air Force in a 36-hour week-end offensive from which all but five per cent of the attacking aircraft returned safely, authorized sources said today.

The attacking forces were reported to have blasted vital targets along the continental coast from France to Norway and to have ranged as far east as Berlin.

Total British loss during the day and night assaults was put at 20 fighters and seven bombers, four of which were reported shot down over Berlin.

I HEARD . . .

Grover Selts, manager of the champion Clovis Pioneers of the WT-NM league, back home today announcing that he would never "cuss" the wind again. Grover said the wind played right into the hands of the Pioneers in its final playoff game, keeping the Big Spring Bombers from parking any homers over the short right field fence.

Happy Kitchen Attended By 800 Women

Opening the ninth annual Happy Kitchen Cooking school sponsored by The Pampa News and local merchants, Mrs. Mel Davis introduced Mrs. Cora Wilson, southern home economist, who will conduct the three-day school in the junior high school auditorium.

More than 800 women attended the initial session this morning at which unusual interest was shown by the number of questions asked.

Mrs. Wilson, who is a native Texan, has studied cooking and kitchen arts in Chicago Home Economics school and also in Fanny Farmer School of Cooking in Boston. Mrs. Wilson has had many years of experience in cookin' instructions. For four years she gave advice over the radio and she has been associated with her present cooking school organization for more than a year.

In June she attended the national Home Economics convention in Chicago and a number of newly developed and newly introduced recipes and cooking hints obtained at the convention will be used in the Pampa News school.

The old adage that "all women are born cooks," is a fallacy today in a real sense. To have this knowledge takes years of specialized study and training, which has probably never been acquired by the majority of women. Because of this the Pampa News knows they are offering a real service to the women of Pampa in presenting Mrs. Wilson.

There is an art in marketing today. There is much that perhaps you have not had time to learn about. This is one of the subjects that Mrs. Wilson will discuss. Perhaps you would like to know how to plan a meal from left-overs, or perhaps you are one of those homemakers who can't stay within your budget, and would like to know some short cuts that will help you do so. There is not one item that will be overlooked in the Happy Kitchen Cooking school.

Complete menus will be given which tell exactly the type of food that makes for balanced menus during certain seasons of the year. You will get new recipes that will put new color into your meals. The proper way of serving, whether it is a home meal or a party, will be discussed. The knowledge that you will acquire each day of the school is amazing. . . and one of the most interesting features is the "Question Box."

All women like to ask questions. . . so the purpose of the question box is to give you an opportunity to ask the question which interests you. The questions will be answered each day. This is only one of the many features which makes the Happy Kitchen Cooking school an occasion of extraordinary interest to all women.

Ranchman Dies

DEL RIO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Funeral services will be held Tuesday for E. Keyes Fawcett, 67, pioneer ranchman and past president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who died yesterday after suffering three heart attacks in a week.

Fawcett, born in Mississippi, settled near here in 1883 after driving a flock of sheep from Yorktown. His ranch holdings were among the largest in West Texas.

Million Jap Troops Sent To Manchoukoo

MANILA, Sept. 22 (AP)—At least a million Japanese troops have been sent to Manchoukoo and Korea in recent weeks, unusually reliable sources here said today.

Since late June events within Japan have pointed unmistakably toward a move against Siberia in event Germany should be successful in her struggle with Russia, these sources said.

French Kill Nazi Captain; Germans Yell For Revenge

Errol Flynn Socks Jimmy Fidler Whose Wife Uses Fork

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22 (AP)—Most night club battles are bloodless. A couple of futile swings, then a lot of people rush in to part the principals.

This is seldom difficult, since usually there's plenty of room between them for people to rush in.

That Hollywood's latest fistic fillip Sunday was different, apparently by principal—the man-actor Errol Flynn or gossip columnist Jimmie Fidler, just back in town after testifying in Washington before a senate committee investigating movie propaganda.

Most accounts credited Flynn with striking two blows (whether slaps or socks was disputed); and Fidler with none. Yet Flynn came off with a gouged ear dripping blood.

He said diminutive, dark-haired Bobbie Fidler did the damage with a fork, adding:

"But she made the very grave social error of using the wrong fork."

Flynn, chatting while his ear received the cold water treatment, said he took exception to certain of the columnist's statements about the movies.

The band quickly brought things under control, playing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Witnesses agreed one of the most entertaining features of the affair was Lupe Velez, standing on a chair, yelling and waving a cat-snip bottle.

Bomb Handlers Being Trained At Air Bases

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 22 (AP)—The men who convert harmless looking objects into deadly cargoes of aerial bombs take their work seriously—even in rehearsal.

They are members of a bomb service crew being trained at the air base here during the Louisiana army maneuvers to rush bombs from hidden dumps, fin and fuse them and lace them to planes.

Similar crews are training at other bases.

"I would rather handle bombs any day," one officer said, "than try to get through traffic on Fifth Avenue in New York. Reasonable care is all that's needed."

The men are rehearsing their jobs daily with "reasonable care" even though their practice bombs are only shells loaded with sand instead of high explosive weights, however, are equivalent.

Bomb dumps are favorite targets of enemy aviation and must be concealed some distance from an air base. As an added precaution against attack from the sky, the service crew has camouflaged its dump in a nest of oak trees one mile from the Lake Charles air base.

The crew is training with shells ranging in weight from 100 to 1,000 pounds. The army uses no bombs over 2,000 pounds. When ordered the crew must deliver a specified number of bombs to the air base by a certain time. They carry their load in trucks which must not travel faster than 10 miles an hour. They clock themselves on the time it takes to deliver their load.

Coke To Lead Parade

CORSICANA, Sept. 22 (AP)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson will lead the inaugural parade of the Corsicana livestock and agricultural show Tuesday morning.

J. N. Edgins, president of the show, said that state representatives and senators from this area have been invited to attend a reception in the governor's honor.

Strikers Go Back To Work In Coal Mines

(By The Associated Press)
Back-to-work whistles blew today for 44,000 striking employees of captive mines, and officers of most of the unions involved in a Pennsylvania anthracite strike asked their followers to return to their jobs.

The employees of captive mines—pits in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky supplying fuel for major steel companies—agreed to resume work on the basis of recommendations by the National Defense Mediation Board. The mines voted yesterday (Sunday) to return to work.

The board's recommendations called for no work stoppage for thirty days, or thereafter until either side has given three days' written notice. Meanwhile, the mediation board will attempt to settle the controversy, which arose over the demand of the United Mine Workers for a union shop contract in the captive pits.

Officers of 38 of 42 UMWA locals in district seven, where 20,000 hard coal diggers have been idle almost two weeks in protest against increased union dues and assessments, voted yesterday (Sunday) to return to work and submit their grievances to a commission to be named by International President John L. Lewis.

The officers voted 126 to 1 in favor of the proposal and arranged to ask their local membership to ratify the action today.

An insurgent group, however, ignored their plea and scheduled a march into adjoining district nine in an effort to spread the walkout.

The insurgents, meeting at Freehold, Pa., announced they would return to work only if union dues were limited to $14 a year and if the National Labor Relations board would supervise an election of new district seven officers.

The strike started Sept. 10 in protest over an increase in monthly dues to $1.50 from the former $1, a boost applicable only to district seven and designed to aid financially distressed areas. The international assessment also was increased from $2 to $6 annually. Both dues and assessments are deducted from miners' pay by the company, under a UMWA contract.

American Federation of Labor machinists employed by the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation at San Diego arranged for a strike vote today in a dispute over wages, while company officials dispatched a request for mediation to Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management.

Meanwhile, the Seafarer's international union (AFU) has intensified its strike in support of a demand for war bonuses for crews operating in West Indian waters.

Three more ships were tied up by the strike yesterday, bringing the total of strike-bound vessels throughout the country to 19, and the union reiterated that it would strike every foreign-run ship under contract with it "as soon as it hits an American port."

Mexico Needs Wheat

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 22 (AP)—To meet a domestic wheat shortage the government today announced it was prepared to subsidize importation of 7,679 tons of grain.

Importers must apply for subsidies before October 15 for shipments to arrive here not later than December 31.

Late News

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—The British Press association reported that "many people" were injured in an explosion in a factory in northeastern England this afternoon.

AUSTIN, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Railroad commission announced today that railroads had agreed to a commission order cancelling interstate differential freight rates in Texas and injunction proceedings brought by the railroads against the order would be dismissed.

What's Blackout For? Look At Britain!

Although black-outs have been held in various parts of the United States, so often that there is no novelty about them, some Pampans are still at a loss to understand why such demonstrations are held.

"Sure, I'll take part in the black-out—but what's it for?" has been a comment and a question frequently heard by those arranging the demonstration which is to be held here at 10 o'clock next Saturday night.

The idea of the "black-out" is to train civilians along the same lines as the army. It has been shown in England that civilians through the air raid precautions, firemen, and other units, are just as much part of national defense as are soldiers and sailors.

To this end, there is much time devoted to training the civilian units.

The "black-out" to be held here will be the first of its kind in the Panhandle. It will provide an excellent means of testing Pampans' morale, and observing how they react to war time conditions, as aerial bombardments, searchlights sweep the sky, and sirens signal the approach of "hostile" aircraft.

Hazlewood Will Attend Luncheon For Stevenson

Representative Paul Eubanks of Matador and Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo will be among notable attendees at the luncheon honoring Governor Coke Stevenson, to be held at noon Saturday in the cafeteria of the new high school building.

Heading the reception committee will be Representative Eubank C. Favre of Pampa.

Tickets for the luncheon were on sale today at the two banks, the Wilson Drug store, and the chamber of commerce office in the city hall.

Garnet Reeves, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said today.

Frank Culbertson, president of the Pampa Board of City Development, will introduce out-of-town guests at the luncheon.

The chamber of commerce office this forenoon received money for tickets asked by Shamrock residents.

High School Short Of Shorthand Books

The national defense emergency is being felt in Pampa high school—the commercial department is without shorthand books.

Mrs. Zenobia Holloway, head of the commercial department, ordered shorthand books during the summer but today she received word that delivery cannot be made for at least a month, and possibly longer, because of the defense program.

Mrs. Holloway says she can't wait that long for books so she is appealing to former students who have shorthand books to rent or sell them to students. The book is the Gregg Shorthand Book, functional method, Book 1.

Anyone having a book is asked to contact Mrs. Holloway, telephone 681. She has given students names of former students who might have books but the number is not sufficient to meet the demand.

Congratulations—

Mr. and Mrs. Siler Hopkins are the parents of a daughter, weighing seven pounds, 11 ounces, born this morning in the local hospital. She has not been given a name.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Jester are the parents of a son, weighing eight pounds, and named James Leonard, born in the local hospital Friday.

Judge Swears In Grand Jury, Charges Them

The seven-week September term of 31st district court opened here today, with the swearing in of the grand jury, and the sounding of the docket by District Judge W. R. Ewing.

No special instruction was given to the grand jury by the judge. He pointed out that there had been very little crime in Gray county and that he did not expect the grand jury to have a great deal of business to transact during the term.

Only major crime in the county since the last term of court, the judge said, was a homicide.

Walter J. Daugherty was named as foreman of the grand jury. The other members are R. B. Brown, John L. Lantz, M. C. Johnson, Clifford Allison, Guy C. Andis, J. E. Kirby, L. N. Atchison, Mark Vantine, H. W. Waddell, John Oldham, and J. S. Russell.

Sworn in as bailiffs were James Barrett, Ann Myers, and H. C. Coffey.

Only one out-of-town lawyer was present when court opened. He was William J. Fanning of Austin, assistant attorney general.

Local lawyers present were Curtis Douglass, John V. Osborne, Newton F. Willis, William Jarrel Smith, Clifford Braly, Arthur M. Tied, Robert F. Gordon, Aaron Sturgeon, Fred Cary, Walter E. Rogers, S. D. Stenning.

Officials, besides the judge, were District Clerk Miriam Wilson, District Attorney Bud Martin, Sheriff Cal Rose, Deputy Sheriff Dan Cambren.

Brother Of Pampan Killed In Car Wreck

Vance Morehead, 49, of Canadian, a brother of J. O. Morehead of Pampa, was killed and another Hemphill county resident was critically injured in an automobile collision that claimed two lives yesterday in Northwestern Oklahoma.

Charles H. Nicola of Alva, Okla., was the other man killed in the accident; Charles Rigby, 27, of Canadian, was the man critically injured.

Man Fined $35 In Skating Rink Fight

Fines totaling $80 were assessed by Recorder C. E. McGrew today in city police court. Charges included intoxication, affray, and speeding, with the smallest fine $10.

One man was fined $25 for affray and $10 for being intoxicated in connection with an affray at the skating rink, Judge McGrew announced, and another man was fined $10 on an affray charge.

One man charged with being intoxicated was fined $10.

Two speeders were fined $10 each.

Vow Made At Bier In Name Of Hun Army

GERMANS THREATEN TO SHOOT DOWN MORE FRENCHMEN

BERN, Switzerland, Sept. 22 (AP)—Authoritative sources declared here today that some elements in Vichy fear that all France may be occupied if shootings and sabotage attributed to Communist elements persist in the German-occupied zones.

Marshal Petain's appeal yesterday against saboteurs in the occupied area, these sources said, was important primarily as an appeal for French unity against the danger of grave new difficulties with the German army.

Petaim, it was believed, hoped to put himself forward as a symbol of unity in order to keep France in her present status until the war is decided.

(By The Associated Press)
VICHY, Unoccupied France, Sept. 22—A vow in the name of the German army delivered at the bier of a captain killed by terrorists in Paris to "employ every means that these attacks, which cause indignation in all honorable men, shall not go unpunished," was disclosed today in the Paris press.

The fact that the slain officer, a Captain Scheben, was given an official funeral yesterday at Madeleine church in the center of the occupied capital, indicated that the German army attached considerable importance to the attack.

The press account of the funeral, disclosing that the captain was shot last Tuesday, was the first disclosure that a commissioned officer had been killed in disorders about that time.

It had been known that a non-commissioned officer was fatally shot Monday night and it was previously presumed that it was for the death of the non-commissioned man that the Germans shot 12 hostages at Paris last Saturday.

The shooting of the captain was the latest in a series of attacks against occupying forces.

Otto Abetz and Fernand De Brion, German and French envoys at Paris, respectively, and the German army command were represented at the service.

The announcement said Scheben was the victim of a "cowardly attack" last Tuesday.

(Twelve hostages already have been shot for the death last Wednesday of a German non-commissioned officer attacked two days before.)

Blunt threat to use German guns and troops swiftly and forcefully against any organized attempt at revolution hung ominously over occupied France.

This fateful word came from authorized Paris sources just after Marshal Petain broadcast an appeal Sunday to Frenchmen to halt attacks on Germans to save all conquered France from Nazi reprisals.

Already 35 have died in reprisal shootings before Nazi firing squads. The Paris sources said this would be "a mere drop in the bucket" compared to what may be in store unless the outbreaks of sabotage and terrorism cease.

There still are enough German soldiers to keep the peace in occupied France, these informants said, "even if the French do not want it themselves." By way of emphasis, they added that the occupation forces had not been reduced despite the demands of the Russian-German war.

In his plea Marshal Petain told his people the attacks on German army men "are criminal—they may lead to new troubles."

"They must be blamed on foreign agents," he went on, "because it is not in French tradition to shoot soldiers in the dark without knowing their names."

Program Given For First Day Of Cooking School

Mrs. Cora Wilson, well known home economist who is conducting the Happy Kitchen Cooking school in the Junior High school auditorium, used recipes from the following list in the opening session of the school this morning.

Similar programs will be printed for tomorrow and Wednesday mornings when the school will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

Dishes prepared this morning included southern ham platter, liver smothered with onions, candied sweet potatoes, spinach scramble, string bean salad, apple crisp, fried peas, rancho corn service, plain waffles, top of stove biscuits, puzzle cake, coffee tapices and frozen coffee fudge.

Southern Ham Platter
1 inch thick center cut of ham
3 tbsps. brown sugar
1-2 cup pickle peach juice
1-2 to 20 dried apricots—cooked cloves.

Place ham on large baking platter. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Arrange apricots over ham, cavity side down. Stud with 12 to 15 cloves. Pour pickle peach juice over all. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. Serve with peas, waffle potatoes, sliced almonds, tomatoes and hot biscuits.

Liver Smothered With Onions
1 1/2 lbs. liver—remove skin
1 large onion—sliced to use large slices for garnish.
Rings of green pepper
1-2 cup Light's Best flour
1 tspn. Morton's salt
1-2 cup Mrs. Tucker's shortening
1-2 tspn. KC baking powder
Add salt and pepper to flour. Roll liver in this. Put into hot shortening and sear. After turning, add onions and green pepper. Cover and cook until tender and serve hot. Garnish with parsley. Suggestions: Serve with baked potatoes, carrots and Pepper Pot Ring.

Candied Sweet Potatoes
Wash and cook 3 medium sized sweet potatoes, when cold slice in half and arrange in baking dish.

Spinach Scramble
4 slices bacon—chopped (Fry to crispness)
1 small onion—chopped
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 No. 2 can spinach
1-2 tspn. Morton's salt
Dash of hot sauce
Remove crisp bacon from fryings, add onion, cook until light brown. Add spinach, tomatoes and bacon to onions and simmer over low heat 15 to 20 minutes. This is an excellent low cost food.

String Bean Salad
1 No. 2 can string beans
1 tbspn. minced onion
1 pimentero—chopped
Rinse pepper to taste
1 tbspn. vinegar or lemon juice
1-2 chopped cold ham (if desired)
1-2 cup salad dressing
Mix and chill. Serve on crisp lettuce leaf or serve in center of potato nests. Garnish with parsley.

Apple Crisp
8 apples—peeled
1-2 cup water
1 tspn. cinnamon
1-2 cups sifted Light's Best flour
3-4 cup sugar
1-2 cup Pampa Creamery butter
1-2 tbsps. Pampa Creamery powder
Slice apples into baking dish. Add water and cinnamon. Sift flour and sugar together and cut into butter or other shortening. Spread this crumb mixture over top of apples and bake in moderate oven 350 degrees for 45 minutes, or until apples are tender. Cut into squares. Serve crisp side up, hot or cold, with whipped cream, hard sauce or vanilla ice cream. Serves 5.

Fried Pies
3 tbsps. Mrs. Tucker's shortening
2 tbsps. Pampa Creamery butter
1-4 cups Light's Best flour
1-2 tspn. KC baking powder
1-8 tspn. Morton's salt
Blend and let stand in refrigerator overnight. Next day add 3 tbsps. ice water. Roll pastry 1-8 inch thick in rectangular shape. Cut into squares, place dried stewed fruit, which has been sweetened and spiced, on square of pastry. Peaches, apricots, apples and prunes are desirable. Moisten edges, fold corners together to form triangle. Seal with fork. Place in bowl of sweet milk 3 minutes. Remove and drain on absorbent paper until almost dry. Fry in deep or shallow fat at 375 degrees until golden brown.

Rancho Corn Service
1 No. 2 can hominy
1 small onion—chopped
1 green pepper
2 tbsps. Pampa Creamery butter

Sprinkle each slice with brown sugar and butter, dusting with nutmeg and cinnamon. Use 1-2 cup of brown sugar and 1-4 cup of butter. Bake 1 hour at 325 degrees. Variations: Orange stuffed with candied potatoes.

Plain Waffles
2 cups Light's Best flour
4 tbsps. KC baking powder
1 tspn. Morton's salt
2 tbsps. melted butter
2 tbsps. sugar
1-2 cups milk
2 eggs
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar and beat in well. Beat egg yolks until lemon-colored and add with milk to the sifted dry ingredients. Add melted butter, then fold in beaten egg whites. Pour batter into pre-heated waffle iron and bake until waffles stop steaming.

Variations: Add to basic recipe for Nut Waffles, 1-2 cup chopped nuts—for Cheese Waffles, 1-2 cup grated cheese, for Banana Waffles, 3-4 cup mashed bananas, for Date Waffles, add 1 cup chopped dates, Orange Marmalade Waffles, add 1-2 cup marmalade.

Top Of Stove Biscuits
2 cups Light's Best flour
2 tbsps. KC baking powder
1-2 tspn. Morton's salt
5 tbsps. Mrs. Tucker's shortening
2-3 cup milk
Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture is consistency of cornmeal. Add the milk, mixing well and knead mixture on a floured board for 20 seconds. Roll 1-2 inch thick and cut with biscuit cutter. Melt 1 tbspn. fat on hot griddle and place biscuits on it 1 inch apart. Brown about 5 minutes, turn and brown the other side. Keep heat low so will not scorch.

Puzzle Cake
1-2 cup Pampa Creamery butter
1-2 cups sugar
Grated rind of 1 orange
2 egg yolks (beaten)
2-1/2 cups Light's Best flour
1-4 tbspn. Morton's salt
3 tbsps. KC baking powder
1 cup milk
1-2 oz. chocolate (melted)
Cream together butter and sugar, add grated rind of orange. Add egg yolk. Mix and sift together the flour, salt and baking powder. Add alternately with milk to first mixture. Fold in egg whites beaten very light. Divide batter into two parts and to one part add the melted chocolate. Spread in one round tin, starting with a circle of light butter in center of tin, then a ring of dark batter around it, and so until the pan is filled. In the other round tin, start with a circle of dark batter in center and a ring of light batter around and so on until the pan is filled. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Spread with frosting between layers, and over top and sides.

Rainbow Icing
2 tbsps. Pampa Creamery butter
2 cups sugar
1-2 cup milk
1 tspn. vanilla
1 tspn. corn syrup
1-4 tspn. Morton's salt
Color as desired
Put butter into sauce pan and when it is melted, add sugar, milk and corn syrup. Stir until the boiling point is reached and then boil for 10 minutes without stirring (235 degrees). Remove from the fire, add vanilla and beat until of consistency to spread.

Light's Best White Cake
1-2 cup Mrs. Tucker's shortening
1-2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
1 tspn. vanilla
3 tbsps. KC baking powder
1-2 tspn. Morton's salt
1-2 cup egg whites (3 to 5 eggs)
3 cups Light's Best flour
Cream shortening and sugar, beating vigorously to keep mixture light. Add vanilla. Mix and sift the rest of the dry ingredients and add to mixture alternately with milk. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry, and fold in carefully. Bake in moderate oven (325 to 350 degrees) for 30 minutes.

Angel Frosting (Or. Inch High Frosting)
1 cup water

1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 tspn. chili powder
1-8 tspn. Morton's salt.
Combine all ingredients in casserole and bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

Plain Waffles
2 cups Light's Best flour
4 tbsps. KC baking powder
1 tspn. Morton's salt
2 tbsps. melted butter
2 tbsps. sugar
1-2 cups milk
2 eggs
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar and beat in well. Beat egg yolks until lemon-colored and add with milk to the sifted dry ingredients. Add melted butter, then fold in beaten egg whites. Pour batter into pre-heated waffle iron and bake until waffles stop steaming.

Top Of Stove Biscuits
2 cups Light's Best flour
2 tbsps. KC baking powder
1-2 tspn. Morton's salt
5 tbsps. Mrs. Tucker's shortening
2-3 cup milk
Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture is consistency of cornmeal. Add the milk, mixing well and knead mixture on a floured board for 20 seconds. Roll 1-2 inch thick and cut with biscuit cutter. Melt 1 tbspn. fat on hot griddle and place biscuits on it 1 inch apart. Brown about 5 minutes, turn and brown the other side. Keep heat low so will not scorch.

Rainbow Icing
2 tbsps. Pampa Creamery butter
2 cups sugar
1-2 cup milk
1 tspn. vanilla
1 tspn. corn syrup
1-4 tspn. Morton's salt
Color as desired
Put butter into sauce pan and when it is melted, add sugar, milk and corn syrup. Stir until the boiling point is reached and then boil for 10 minutes without stirring (235 degrees). Remove from the fire, add vanilla and beat until of consistency to spread.

Light's Best White Cake
1-2 cup Mrs. Tucker's shortening
1-2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
1 tspn. vanilla
3 tbsps. KC baking powder
1-2 tspn. Morton's salt
1-2 cup egg whites (3 to 5 eggs)
3 cups Light's Best flour
Cream shortening and sugar, beating vigorously to keep mixture light. Add vanilla. Mix and sift the rest of the dry ingredients and add to mixture alternately with milk. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry, and fold in carefully. Bake in moderate oven (325 to 350 degrees) for 30 minutes.

Angel Frosting (Or. Inch High Frosting)
1 cup water

AN AUTUMN BRIDE is Mrs. Orville Bratton, above, who was Miss Margie Coffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Coffey before her marriage Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the home of her parents. Mrs. Bratton has been

Anna Sue Williams Becomes Bride Of Roy McNett, Jr., Sunday Morning

In an impressive ceremony solemnized Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, Miss Anna Sue Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Williams of Twitty, became the bride of Roy C. McNett, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. McNett, Sr. of Pampa.

The Rev. Henry, pastor of First Baptist church of Twitty, officiated at the service which was read before an improvised altar of green tulle and white. Large baskets of white gladioli were arranged before a background of snow-on-the-mountain.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attractively dressed in a soldier blue crepe with a shoulder corsage of tulle and white.

Attending Miss Williams as maid of honor was Miss Helen Eoff of Shamrock, who wore a frock of brown with a corsage of pink roses. Jay W. Plank of Amarillo served as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Williams home which was decorated in green and white. Centering the lace covered table was an arrangement of white petunias and tall white tapers. Mrs. Glyn Bell poured coffee and Miss Joy Williams, sister of the bride, presided at the cake.

After the reception, the couple left for Dallas where they will make their home.

Mrs. McNett received a B. S. degree in home economics from West Texas State college at Canyon in June. While attending W. T. S. C. she was a member of the Home Economics club, Kappa Omicron sorority, pep squad, and Gamma Phi society. The bride, who taught during the past summer at Lela, plans to teach in the Dallas schools.

Mr. McNett was graduated from Pampa High school where he was a member of the band. For the past three years he has been taking a pre-medical course at West Texas State college where he was a member of the Buffalo band and Tri Tau Fraternity. Mr. McNett will attend Baylor University Dental school this year.

Fampan attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. McNett, Sr., Mrs. Louis Hughes, sister of the bridegroom and Dickie and Patsy Hughes.

Col. Simpson Guest Speaker At White Deer P-TA Meeting

Special To The NEWS
WHITE DEER, Sept. 22—Depicting the danger of the times in almost terrifying clarity, Col. E. A. Simpson of Amarillo addressed the Parent-Teachers Association here Monday evening on the subject of "National Defense."
"Never since 1776," said Col. Simpson, "has there been a time so fraught with danger. No army or navy man wants war, but all realize how terribly vital it is to be ready to defend our country."
Discussing the possible results of the European conflict, Col. Simpson pointed out how woefully inadequate American defense preparations are, in spite of the present feverish activity. As an example, he stated that only one-third of the troops in the Louisiana maneuvers are without guns and that the army has only two mechanized divisions with about 600 tanks each as opposed to Germany's 10 divisions of over 1,300 tanks each. The only arm of the service that is functioning properly now is the navy, he said.
This war must be finished, he declared, although it may take 5,000,000 American boys fighting overseas to do it, but whatever sacrifice is demanded, we must make it.
Preceding Col. Simpson's address, a musical program arranged by Glenn F. Davis was presented. A quartet composed of Miss Mary Byerly, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Drummond, and Neville Bremer, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Ireland, sang "Climbin' Up the Mountain"; Mrs. Fred Rusch played two piano selections, "To A Wakelety" and "When Day is Done"; Mrs. Holt Barber read "What the Little Girl Said"; Miss Edythe Strickland, accompanied by Mrs. Elton Beene, sang "Deep River" and "Tally Ho"; and Elton Beene, accompanied by Mrs. Beene, played a trumpet solo, "Navassar."
Mrs. Wesley Davis, president of the P-T-A, was in charge of the meeting; Rev. Herman Coe, pastor of the church, and Supt. Chester Strickland introduced the speaker of the evening.

Annual Membership Breakfast Given By Home Progress Club
Special To The NEWS
MIAMI, Sept. 22—All members were present except one when the Home Progress club held its annual membership breakfast recently at the home of Mrs. C. P. Pursley, beginning their year's work.
They assembled at the outdoor picnic retreat at nine o'clock and cooked breakfast over the fireplace and served it informally at the stone built-in table. Miss Donna Pursley of Amarillo and Doc Pursley were guests.
No program except a short business session was planned. During this period Mrs. E. M. Ballengee accepted membership in the club. It was voted to use the National Geographic magazine as the basis for programs in the year's course of study.
The new officers took charge at this meeting. They are Mrs. W. L. Russell, president; Mrs. Ross Cowan, vice president; Mrs. J. C. Ramsey, secretary; Mrs. E. Sides, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. L. Muncey, treasurer; Mrs. C. T. Locke, parliamentarian; Mrs. E. C. Meador, critic; Mrs. C. P. Pursley, reporter.

A Dream of a Nut Bread! And it Helps People Keep "Regular"
DELICIOUS ALL-BRAN BANANA NUT BREAD
1/2 cup shortening 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 cup sugar 1 1/2 cups flour
1 egg 2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups mashed bananas 1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Blend the shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add the egg and beat well. Add the bananas and nuts, and flavoring. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda together; add to the first mixture with the nut meats, stirring only until flour disappears.
Bake in greased loaf pan with waxed paper in the bottom, in moderate oven (350° F.) about one hour.
Yield: 1 loaf (4 1/2 x 8 1/2 inch pan).
MADE BY KELLOGG'S IN BATTLE CREEK. COPYRIGHT, 1941, BY KELLOGG COMPANY

Not only is this the most delicious nut bread you ever tasted, but it's good for you, too. Several slices of this delicious bread will make a distinct addition to what doctors call "bulk" in the diet—and so help to combat one of the commonest kinds of constipation.
Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day—either as a cereal or in breads or muffins, drink plenty of water, and "join the regulars."

Duncan Coffee Company Imports Coffee By Shipload From Brazil

Romance surrounds the great coffee industry and that, perhaps, has had a marked influence in the astounding growth and progress of the Duncan Coffee company, importers, roasters, and distributors of Admiration Coffee. When given a bit of study, one cannot help but agree that there is a definite thread of romance all through the business of importing, blending and distributing fine coffee.

It is odd, but true, that climatic conditions in Brazil may affect the cup of coffee you'll drink next week! And how little do we think of the origin of that delicious drink. Little do we realize that it begins thousands of miles away from the cup which it is served. And little do we realize the growth importance of contributing to, and intensifying, the "good neighbor policy" this nation is striving to manifest with our Latin American neighbors.

Importing shipload after shipload of coffees from the romantic lands of Central and South American countries, the Duncan Coffee company is doing a large part in the promotion of our friendly relations between the Americas. And the remarkable growth of the popularity of Admiration Coffee is no small contributing factor to a growing business with South America that means much in these days.

Coffee grown in the fertile highlands of Central and South American countries is transported direct to the Duncan Coffee company on the ship channel at Houston, where it is quickly unloaded into the huge warehouse. And Duncan's individual and scientific methods of preparation, roasting, and blending are applied as quickly as possible. One of the many reasons for the finer flavor and fresh tang in Admiration Coffee is the fact that every operation, from selection in the countries of production to delivery to your grocery stores, is performed by the Duncan Coffee company itself, thus eliminating unnecessary delay. This, added to the fact that the Duncan Coffee company buys only the very finest of coffees, further assures better coffee in the cup.

Finest, highest grade coffees are blended under the personal supervision of Mr. H. M. Duncan, president of the Duncan Coffee company. He has spent more than a quarter of a century in coffee importing and roasting and learned it from the ranks of the day laborer. His supervision produces that richer and fuller-bodied flavor for which Admiration Coffee is famous. This blend, which was accepted wholeheartedly from its introduction, has not changed since its popularity was first established.

Mr. Duncan follows through in the supervision. After selecting and blending, comes the all-important process of roasting. Admiration Coffee has the advantage of being roasted by the most modern process known to the coffee industry—the Thermo-Roasting. By the use of this method, the coffee never comes in contact with charring flames. It is gently and uniformly roasted clear to the center of the bean by indirect heat. During this roasting, the all important humidity is scientifically controlled.

When Admiration Coffee is roasted, it is cut—ground—with razor-edged steel knives in three ways, one to suit every type of customer and coffee maker. PeK Kut is for percolators and pots, Dripkut for drip-coffee.

Admiration Coffee is the only coffee on the Southwestern market.

Another Tropical Storm Sweeping In From Gulf

(By The Associated Press)
Residents along the Texas and Louisiana coasts braced themselves today against the arrival of a tropical storm, sweeping in from the Gulf of Mexico.
Persons living in low lying areas were warned to seek higher ground. Relief agencies made ready to take care of any disaster.
The weather bureau at New Orleans last night placed the storm 235 miles south of Port Eads, La., which is near the mouth of the Mississippi river, 90 miles below New Orleans.
Storm warnings were displayed from Carrabelle, Fla., to Sabine, Tex.
Port Arthur reported abnormally high tides were reaching the Galveston-Port Arthur highway.
The Mexican weather service at Mexico City placed the tropical disturbance last night about 200 miles northeast of Progreso, Yucatan, and moving toward the Texas coast.
The four-day-old hurricane, second to develop in the gulf in ten days, dispersed hundreds of military airplanes massed in south Louisiana for the war maneuvers.
Winds were expected to reach gale force, 39 to 54 miles an hour, on the southeast Louisiana coast. High tides buffeted the beaches, backing up streams, bayous and lakes.
Coast guard planes and boats cruised over the area, warning residents to avoid low lying places.

Mrs. Marcus Kimbell Dies Unexpectedly

Mrs. Marcus Kimbell, 25, died unexpectedly yesterday at the family home at 737 North Banks street. She had been a resident of Pampa for the past three years, coming here from Shamrock with her husband who is connected with Radford Grocery company.
Although in ill health for some time, Mrs. Kimbell's death was unexpected. She became ill about 4 o'clock while alone at her home and started to a neighbor's house. She collapsed in the street in front of the home.
Mrs. Kimbell was a graduate of Shamrock High school and was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic church at Shamrock.
Survivors are the husband, her mother, Mrs. Mary O'Gorman, Shamrock, six sisters, Mrs. Loreta Adson, Burk Burnett, Mrs. Angela Monk, Magie City, Mrs. Murie Clark, Larned, Kan., and Misses Betty, Rose Mary and Bobbie O'Gorman, all of Shamrock, and seven brothers, Leo of Keller, Mike of Spearman and Roger, Ambrose, James, Richard and Bernard, church at Shamrock.
The body was taken to Shamrock by Duemmel-Carmichael Rev. J. Stack, pastor of Holy Souls church, Pampa, officiating. Burial will be in Shamrock cemetery.

'We'll Bury Fascists Beasts,' Russians Swear

MOSCOW, Sept. 22 (AP)—The fiercest fighting on the whole Russian battlefield flamed toward a climax today around Leningrad where armament workers called upon the great port city's defenders to "win or die."

In a besieged Odessa to the south, Leningrad's defense ring of Red troops and militia called from the shops and factories were reported holding their attackers to a standstill close to the city limits.

Workers in the great Putilov armament plant, in an open letter to the city's fighting forces, appealed:

"Win or die—there is no other choice. Win or die: this is the law for the Soviet fighter; this is the slogan for the entire Soviet nation! Let us give our holy oath we will not lay down our arms until we bury all the Fascist beasts."

With Kiev fallen as the war entered its fourth month, Moscow tightened its own precautions behind its barriers of fighting men.

The capital city council prohibited the return of all who left the city since the war began. Those who do come back will not be given permits by militia nor issued food cards.

An early morning communique tersely acknowledged that Kiev, Russia's third largest city and administrative center of the Ukraine, was yielded to the Germans "after many days of fierce fighting."

It was the first major capture for the Germans since they invaded Russia and a serious blow to the Soviet, but the city of 846,000 population was given up in accord with the Russian plan of keeping the Red army on a fighting basis even at the expense of territory, Russians said.

The London radio, quoting unconfirmed Turkish advices, said Field Marshal Gen. Walther Von Brauchitsch, commander in chief of the German army; Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, German naval chief, and Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop would attend the meeting.

King Boris' departure to confer with the Fuehrer followed his inspection of Bulgarian troop maneuvers by the biggest army called to the colors in the nation's history.

Neutral observers interpreted Bulgaria's military preparations as part of a German plan to high-pressure Turkey, Britain's non-belligerent ally, into making concessions which would aid the Nazi cause in the middle east and Russia.

On the Russian-German war front, the Red army tersely acknowledged the fall of Kiev, Ukraine capital and Russia's third greatest city, but declared that a Soviet counter-offensive on the central (Moscow) front had recaptured 32 villages and driven the Germans from a strongly fortified line.

Leningrad's position apparently was growing more critical by the hour. Soviet dispatches admitted that Nazi dive-bombers were smashing at the old Czarist capital and its 3,200,000 population with "such ferocity it seems the earth itself will split."

Moreover, the Germans reported that Nazi shore batteries had frustrated an attempt by Russian warships to flee the silenced Kronstadt Island naval base, 20 miles east of Leningrad.

Etoku dive-bombers were credited by the German command with scoring direct bomb hits on the 23,016 ton Soviet battleship October Revolution, the 8,800-ton cruiser Kirov, another cruiser, three destroyers and a gunboat in the waters off Kronstadt.

German warplanes were reported to have silenced Kronstadt's guns last Friday.

Hitler's high command asserted that German troops were tightening the trap on four Soviet armies east of Kiev, inflicting "heavy and bloody casualties" on Red forces desperately attempting to break out of the Nazi ring.

At sea, a special communique from the Fuehrer's headquarters declared, German U-boats sank 13 heavily laden ships totalling 82,500 tons and damaged another in an attack on two convoys and separate ships in the Atlantic.

"Three escorting vessels evaded the attack, leaving the convoy to its fate," the German high command asserted.

In the war in the air, the British reported that more than 600 RAF bombers and fighters attacked Germany and German-occupied countries in a 36-hour offensive over the week-end, blasting key targets along the channel coast from France to Norway and as far east as Berlin.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—The stock market exhibited further shockproof tendencies today and, in the face of deteriorating war news, most leaders managed to maintain their balance.

Dealings were sluggish from the opening on but several sizable blocks of low-priced stocks put the 5-hour turnover at around 450,000 shares.

Shares doing fairly well included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Western Union, American Telephone and Telegraph, Great Northern, International Harvester, Deere, Rockwell, Lockheed, Sperry, Standard Oil (N.J.), Security Vacuum, Montgomery Ward, International Paper, N. Y. Shipbuilding, Warner Bros., and Wilson & Co.

Occasional losses were posted for United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Consolidated Edison, Public Service of N. J., Union Pacific, International Nickel, Allied Chemical, General Electric and Radio Corp.

Bonds and commodities were uneven. Cotton futures jumped nervously and in late trading were off $1.05 to $1.40 a bushel. At Chicago wheat was 1/4 of a cent a bushel down to 1/2 and corn 1/4 higher to 1/2.

Germans Trying To Force Aid Of Turks

BERN, Switzerland, Sept. 22 (AP)—Warlike preparations in Axis-aligned Bulgaria were interpreted by some neutral observers today as part of a German plan to high-pressure non-belligerent Turkey into making concessions which would aid the Nazi cause in the east.

Such a plan would be the logical sequel to the swift German drive into the Ukraine, which has made it imperative that the Nazis take steps to protect their right flank against the possibility of attack from any quarter, these sources said.

Dispatches from Ankara indicated that the German eastward push, as well as developments in Bulgaria, were causing keen anxiety, among the Turks, and well-informed sources there were quoted as expressing belief that Turkey faced an imminent showdown.

Belief Germany might be using Bulgaria as a lever against Turkey was intensified by the fact that advances from Sofia failed to give specific reasons for the adoption of measures which virtually put the country under martial law during the week-end.

Some circles suggested the measures might have been taken in anticipation of trouble with Russia, but the Bulgarian government has

Tom Connally Knows What It's All About In Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Each time a tax measure comes before congress a fight crops up over the community property privilege of eight states, which include Texas, and each time the tall, silver-haired Senator Tom Connally promptly knocks the issue for the count of ten.

He held back no punches when the question arose during senate consideration of the defense tax bill, and a few fast moves before debate even started on that particular amendment prompted administration leaders to yield.

The amendment, if adopted, would mean the levying of about $30,000,000 additional federal income taxes annually in Texas. It was calculated to net about $50,000,000 total from all eight affected states.

Under the community property privilege, the husband and wife may divide equally—for income tax return purposes—the total income of both; the sums thus set forth on a statement would fall in the lower income tax brackets and be subjected to a lower percentage tax rate.

Senator Connally is a member of the senate finance committee and in the executive, that is, private, meetings of that group he fought the amendment which would have nullified the community property right. The only senator from a community property state on the committee, he lost the fight in that group by a vote of 10 to 7. The tax bill was reported out of committee with the amendment.

The forceful, influential Texan then got busy and called a meeting of all the community property state senators—those from Louisiana, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Nevada, Idaho and Washington, as well as the Texas junior senator, W. Lee O'Daniel. Each was instructed to contact those colleagues whom they knew best, to seek their support in opposing the amendment.

Shortly before a vote was to have been taken on the amendment, Connally declared, he had mustered enough strength to defeat the provision. The word got to Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the finance committee, who hurriedly called a meeting of a few senators in a private room just off the senate chamber. He returned, even as Connally was starting to speak, to announce that the amendment would be dropped for the present and taken up later in the year when consideration is given a bill dealing with tax administrative problems.

Connally expressed confidence later that he could rally as many or more votes to his side when the fight came up again.

The interests of Texas in the community property law—which dates back to Spanish origin and presupposes that all property acquired by a man after his marriage should be jointly owned by his wife—is safe guarded over in the house side of the capitol by Representative Milton West of Brownsville. He is the only Texan on the ways and means committee, house tax studying body.

Once again dynamic, brilliant Milton Perkins, one-time Houston bag manufacturer, is in the limelight here. He is the executive director of the new economic defense board. His is the job of directing the economic warfare against the Axis powers.

The board will draft regulations governing imports, exports and financial transactions with other nations, with the general objective of procuring as much as possible of the essential goods of the world for use of the Democracies, and at the same time preventing these same commodities from reaching Germany and her allies.

Perkins will be in charge of the execution of these plans, and in that task he will be closely associated with two other Houstonians—Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, who also is federal loan administrator; and Will Clayton, deputy loan administrator.

In 1935 Perkins sat down at his desk in Houston, a private business man with no thought of working for the government, and wrote a letter to the then Secretary of Agriculture, Henry A. Wallace.

He was critical of some of the steps taken by the agriculture department, but along with his criticism were constructive suggestions. Upshot of that letter was his going to Washington at Wallace's request, and his promotion from one responsible post to another since then. He is proudest of all of his initiation and successful promotion of the nod stamp plan, which helps reduce surplus commodities while at the same time aiding the needy.

Another powerful man in the nation's capital these days is a native of Texas. A familiar figure in the White House, quite-mannered and unassuming—Judge Samuel I. Rosenman of New York, born 45 years ago in San Antonio.

A graduate of Columbia university law school, for four years a member of the New York legislature, Judge Rosenman was one of President Roosevelt's original "brain trusters" and before that was counsel to the President when the chief executive was governor of New York. The President calls him "Sammy the Rose."

When the President was at sea

for his conference with Winston Churchill, the British prime minister, Judge Rosenman prepared a plan since put into effect, to reorganize the defense setup. It created the supply, priorities and allocations board as an overall defense agency, and was designed to solve a "jurisdictional dispute" over rights and authorities to issue priorities and material allocations by various governmental agencies.

Texas Has Vast Deposit Of Salt

Most every Texan is aware that his state has tremendous oil resources, but it is not generally known that Texas also boasts of one of the largest deposits of salt in the entire world.

Located in Van Zandt county, about 60 miles east of Dallas, it is an underground dome or mountain of salt 30 miles around and of absolutely unknown depth. Drills have been sunk into it for many thousands of feet without reaching the bottom, and it is believed to contain sufficient salt to supply all the people in the United States for generations to come.

This huge salt deposit which averages 99 1/2 per cent in purity, is owned by the Morton Salt Company, and it is from it that most of the famous Morton Salt consumed in this part of the country is made. The salt is first changed into brine, and then converted by amazing automatic machinery into uniform cube-shaped crystals that don't lump together in rainy weather and choke up salt cellars like the irregular grains of old-style salt.

The non-caking feature has made Morton's Salt by far the largest selling salt in the country, and it is now the favorite brand in practically every city from border to border and coast to coast. Women everywhere prefer it because "When It Rains, It Pours," and because an average family can use it freely for only 2 cents a week.

Small Girl Kills Boy In Argument Over Funny Books

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 (AP)—A childhood argument over "funny books" ended in death for a 9-year-old boy today, and left a girl playmate the same age sobbing brokenheartedly that she meant no harm.

David Henry Antolini died from a shotgun blast in the body a few hours after he and four boy companions had asked little Barbara Ortega to look at the books they knew she had.

The girl didn't want the boys in her house and dragged the shotgun, which she didn't know was loaded, from a closet to back up her demands to "get out."

Still dazed and red-eyed after a night in the juvenile detention home, she was released to the custody of her grandmother in Oakland today and her case was continued.

In ordering the release, R. R. Miller, chief juvenile probation officer, said he did not want the girl subjected to possible taunts from her playmates and for that reason sent her out of the city.

Michigan Returns Captured Battle Flags Of South

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 22 (AP)—With martial pageantry and a plea that the strife of the war between the states be forgotten, Michigan has returned its captured Confederate battle flags and swords to the south today in a gesture of national unity.

Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, in presenting the relics to Gov. James H. Price of Virginia and representatives of ten other southern states, declared that "not in generations have these venerable mementoes been looked upon as trophies."

"Love and understanding have replaced all bitterness and hate. Mutual respect and fraternal fellowship have come to bless the common purpose of our national endeavor."

General Julius Franklin Howell, sandy-haired 95-year-old commander of the United Confederate Veterans and honorary leader of the Southern delegation, accepted the flag of the Tennessee fifth Confederate artillery in behalf of his state.

In a clear voice, Howell, who has the rank once held by Gen. Robert E. Lee, declared the action "a most gracious gesture."

Other states whose relics were returned were Virginia, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina and Texas. South Carolina was represented by Edward P. Houseal, of Detroit.

All of the original 11 Confederate states and Kentucky and Missouri, which were represented in the Confederate congress but which never seceded from the union, were invited to send representatives to the celebration.

Cats Abhor Petting On Head, Churchill Advised By League

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Cat, monthly publication of the Cats Protective League, chided Prime Minister Churchill today for fondling a cat during the Atlantic meeting with President Roosevelt.

Referring to pictures of the prime minister patting the cat on the head, Cat said cats abhor head-patting and added:

"He should have conformed to the etiquette demanded by the occasion, offering his hand and then awaiting a sign of approval before taking liberties."

Mrs. Cora Wilson Will Recommend All-Bran Muffins

Kellogg's All-Bran is being featured in The Pampa News Cooking School this week. This familiar package of cereal occupies a prominent place on Mrs. Cora Wilson's table at the school.

Of greater importance to health than most people believe is breakfast, (Lecturer) states. And, probably the most important part of the meal is cereal. That's why the famed culinary expert took particular pains to reserve a place on her tables on the auditorium stage for the Kellogg cereal package.

Women who are attending the 1941 Cooking School are being informed of the importance she places on the morning meals and exactly what it should consist of by Mrs. Wilson. She is giving combinations of fruits with Kellogg's breakfast cereals demonstrated, ideas on how to serve them in tempting delicious ways, and information on the correct fruits and juices to combine with the various cereals.

The lecturer will prepare and recommend these delicious Kellogg All-

Bran Muffins during the cooking school:

Recipe

2 tablespoons shortening,
1/4 cup sugar,
1 egg,
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran,
1/2 cup milk,
1/2 teaspoon salt,
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly, add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk. Let soak until most of the moisture is taken up. Sift flour, salt and baking powder. Add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans 2/3 full and bake in moderately hot oven—400 degrees for 30 minutes.

Phil And Marcia Will Marry Again

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22 (AP)—Phil Harris, band leader and radio comedian, won a final decree of divorce today from the former Marcia Masco Ralston.

Mrs. Harris sued for the divorce Sept. 18, 1940, but the final decree was entered on the plea of an attorney for Harris, who telephoned from Galveston, Texas. Harris and film actress Alice Faye, married in Mexico some months ago, plan to have an American marriage ceremony there tonight.

Dem Bums Leading Cards By Skinny Edge Of Game

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is "if" week in baseball. The little word looms larger and larger as the big leagues start the final week of their season and the Brooklyn Dodgers still lead the St. Louis Cardinals by the skinny edge of one game in this nerve-wrecking National League pennant chase.

The Dodgers have only five games left to play after their unexpected split with the Phillies in yesterday's game and the Cards still have six to go after knocking off the Cubs twice. The "if" is riding on every pitch now.

And, reading from left to right, here is how the little "if" gets bigger and bigger the rest of the way home:

If the Dodgers win only one of their five games, the Cards have to break at least even in their six to grab the flag.

If Brooklyn takes two, the Cards must click in four out of six.

If the gallants of the Gowanus grab four and lose only one, the Gas Housers need to sweep six.

Naturally, if Brooklyn goes through without a loss—well, that's all, b-f-ther.

After Saturday's proceedings, in which Brooklyn downed the Phillies twice and the Cubs clouted the Cards once, to leave St. Louis two games out, it looked like the honeymoon was over for the westerners.

But yesterday the Phils refused to give up in the nightcap. The Dodgers took the opener, 8-3, behind the five-hit elbowing of Johnny Allen.

In the second game, however, Luke Hamlin brought his boom-boom ball along and served it up to Danny Litwiler right in the first inning with the bases loaded.

The last seen of the apple, it was riding in among the paying customers—and Phillies were scampering around the bases like the horses on a merry-go-round. From there, the Phils coasted home, 6-3.

Meanwhile, the Cards won their opener, the hard way, 6-5. The surprise-package rookie, Stan Musial, turned in a snappy base-running job in the ninth to score the game-wrecker by coming home from third when Cub Catcher Clyde McCullough left home plate unprotected to make a play at first.

Young Fiolet took complete charge of the nightcap by tossing an eight-hitter and fanning seven for a 7-0 St. Louis win.

On the rest of the National League Sunday card, the Cincinnati Reds and the Giants did the winning. Elmer the Great Riddle chalked up his No. 13 for the season with a six-hit 2-0 whitewash job against the Pirates.

The Giants jolted the Boston (not-so) Braves, 4-0 and 15-4. Mickey Harris' six-hit hurling and a set of three homers gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-1 win over the Yankees.

The Washington Senators took a sole lease on the dizzy heights of sixth place by flogging the Philadelphia Athletics twice—6-5 with a two-run rally in the ninth and 6-2 behind Early Wynn's eight-hit fast-balling in the second game.

St. Louis and the Indians traded shutouts, Cleveland grabbing the opener 14-0, as Lefty Al Smith served a five-hitter, and the Browns clicking in the second act, 3-0.

Tommy Bridges led the Detroit Tigers to a 6-3 win over the Chicago White Sox in their first game, but the second ended in a 14-inning 1-all deadlock.

Sandies Still At Top, Next Opponent Will Be Vernon

(By The Associated Press)
It's only the second full week of the Texas school football campaign and already more than half of the Class AA teams have been blown down.

Of the 106 schools playing in that division, 54 have tasted defeat or the with a promise of one-fourth of the remaining 52 taking it on the chin with this week's schedule of more than 60 games.

Included in the toll are such heralded powers as Plainview, Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Corsicana, Tyler and Fort Arthur.

There are seven conference games in the state this week but inter-sectional tilts take the spotlight.

At Fort Arthur playing Mesa, an Arizona power, and John Reagan (Houston) meeting Claxson High, the highly-regarded Oklahoma City team, in the features.

Top games of interdistrict warfare brings Vernon against Amarillo, Lubbock against San Angelo, Adairson (Dallas) against Highland Park (Dallas), Masonic Home (Fort Worth) against Dallas Tech and Austin against Temple.

Amarillo, defending state champion, opened the season with a 19-7 victory over Childress last week while Masonic Home, the title favorite this season, downed Wichita Falls 13-6. Dallas Tech, the Masons' next opponent, upset Sherman 13-6.

Last week's results by districts:

Sports Roundup

By HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr.
NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(The Special News Service)—Monday matinee: Just when you begin to think the Cards might as well cancel that order to print World Series tickets, there they come again.

It's a cinch now that, no matter who wins, the National league champs will get to catch a deep breath before the World Series. When Johnny Mize was hurt it looked bad for St. Lou.

but it looked bad for Mize when Johnny Hopp stole home yesterday, and it must be a swell feeling for any manager to have kids like Stan Musial waiting for a chance to show what they can do when the going gets tough.

One look at that 35-909 mob that pursued the Dodgers yesterday and Gerry Nugent decided there might be better things to do with the Phillies than sell 'em.

After riding Whirlaway Saturday, Jockey Al Robertson remarked: "Whirlaway wanted to run and the others either couldn't or wouldn't. I wished that War Relic were in that race."

Whatever became of those guys who were touting Furman to upset Tennessee? "Whirlaway wanted to run and the others either couldn't or wouldn't. I wished that War Relic were in that race."

Alred (Yockem) Edwards, the groom who looks after Alsab, thinks the Chicago colt is the best of a lot of good ones he's handled, but racing folks hereabouts say he'll change his mind after that match race with Requested tomorrow.

Saturday's Child
All Brooklyn is lefting about Young Paul Scheffing. Those homer left the Cards here. The Cubs won't promote him. But the Dodgers should vote him Thanks and a full series share.

(Eds. note: No need to say this contribution arrived before yesterday's doubleheaders.)

Service Dept.
Private Chuck McCarthy, former Elish, Conn., press sports editor, announces he'll holler louder than the guy at Camp Wheeler about how good "Them Bums" are if it will get him a free trip to the World Series. Some of the guys maneuvering with Chuck and the 43rd (New England) division in Louisiana are Jack Gallivan, former Fordham footballer, and technical Sergeant Warty Gentino, who used to play for Penn.

They're too busy to be thinking about football yet. Add the U. of Georgia to the colleges who agree that four bits is enough to charge a doughboy to see a football game. Camp Upton and Fort Niagara will start their "Army World Series" for the second corps area baseball championship next Saturday. The Narragansett Bay team, first corps area champion, already has challenged the winner, Dick Hudson, the big pitcher who won the title for Narragansett, used to belong to the Cardinals.

Both of Auburn's 1940 grid captains, Dick McGowen and Ernest Mills, are in training at Fort Sill, Okla., along with a dozen other Auburn athletes of recent vintage.

Today's Guest Star
Mark Daily, Canton, Ill., Daily Ledger: "No one can accuse the White Sox of being mercenary. After tossing aside a good opportunity at grabbing second place money, they seem to be doing their darnedest now at eliminating themselves from third and fourth place money."

Kelton And Groom Play To 12-12 Tie
Special To The NEWS:
GROOM, Sept. 22.—The Kelton 6-man team after trailing the Groom Tigers for three quarters, was able to tie the score at 12-11 in the final minute of play. The game played under the lights of Fireman's field, was an evenly matched game from the beginning.

In the first quarter, Andrews, Groom fullback, was able to score the four-yard line after the ball had been run up from the 30 on a reverse. In the final period a pass from Burns to Berry gave the Tigers their other score.

The feature of the game was the passing combination of Kelton's Johnson to Glenn Reeves. It was a threat to Groom all through the game and netted Kelton their first score late in the fourth quarter. The other Kelton score came in the last minute of play on an intercepted pass by Johnson.

Nashville Wins Opening Game Of Dixie Series

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—Nashville's Vols will shoot another former big leaguer at Dallas Rebels tonight as the Southern Association champions go after their second straight victory in the Dixie series.

Vito Tamulis, who came down from Brooklyn in the last month of the campaign to bolster the volunteer staff, will square off against Otho Nicholas, the prematurely-gray ceteran whose work was sensational in the Texas league Shaughnessy play-off.

Nashville clubbed Dallas 6-1 in the opening game last night behind the steady pitching of Roxie Lawson, formerly of the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns.

A big first inning when the Vols exploded for three hits and four runs put the game on ice. The Rebels pecked away but either Lawson set them down in the clinches or a dazzling double-play combination of Dick Culler and Jim Shilling around second base cut short impending rallies.

A crowd of 8,773, with several thousand on the outside of the park looking from a levee or from perches on the fence, turned out for the opening game and another sell-out crowd was anticipated by the club owners tonight.

Dallas sent little Sal Giatto, 23-game winner over the regular season and in the Shaughnessy play-off, against the slugging Vols but he was ineffective, giving up thirteen hits and walking three.

In the series, which will go seven games if that many are needed to decide the championship, the clubs will receive 40 per cent and the players 60 per cent of the gate receipts for the first four tilts, with each league getting ten per cent. After that each league receiving ten per cent and the players the remainder, with nothing going to the clubs.

Ex-Baylor Students Of Panhandle To Be Hosts To Bears
WACO, Sept. 22.—The Baylor Bears will stop off in Amarillo Thursday, October 2, enroute to Denver for an inter-sectional grid battle with Denver university for an afternoon workout and a full day visit with Baylor exes in the Panhandle.

Head Coach Frank Kimbrough and the Baylor gridder will arrive in Amarillo at 7:30 Thursday morning and are scheduled to leave out again at 10 o'clock the same night; in between these hours the Baylor footballers hope to get in another day of practice, preparation before pulling into Denver for their tilt with the Pioneers.

At 10 o'clock the Bears will hold a meeting at the Herring hotel to look over pictures of the Hardin-Simmons game and check up on flaws in their first game of the season.

After lunch, the Baylor boys head out to Butler field for a regular practice drill at 3 o'clock to polish up their offensive movements and defensive tactics set up to stop the Denver eleven.

The Baylor coaches and football players will be guests of honor at a dinner in the Herring hotel at 8 o'clock Thursday night and all ex-students of Baylor are invited to attend the dinner. Price per plate is $1 and reservations can be made by writing or calling Carl Speck or John Fullington in Amarillo. Pictures of the Hardin-Simmons game will also be shown at this meeting.

Dentist Eliminates Patient's 'Ouch'
INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 22 (AP)—Dr. Earl A. Woods, Indianapolis dentist, came forward with an idea he said practically had eliminated "ouch" from his patients' vocabulary. Getting ready to drill a tooth, he gives the patient an auxiliary electric switch with which he can turn the rill off if the pain becomes too great.

"The big idea is the psychological effect," he said. "If a patient knows he can stop the drill himself at any time, his fear of it and of pain is lessened considerably."

Texas Must Battle Aggies On Kyle Field

By WELDON HART
Austin Statesman Sports Editor
(Written for the P)

AUSTIN, Sept. 22 (AP)—Granted the good breaks that every champion needs in the hazy-burly south-west, the Texas Longhorns this autumn could march to their first conference title since '30.

Dana K. Bible's fifth edition has speed, experience, poise and polish. Strength is deep enough to contend with any ordinary run of injuries. If something disagreeable happened, however, to fullback Pete Layden and sparkplug Jack Crain, the Texas threat would be reduced all out of proportion to the numerical loss in manpower.

Crain and Layden furnish the one-two punch that makes the Longhorns dangerous by land and air, through any defensive sector and from any spot on the field.

Despite contentions to the contrary, Texas would lose effectiveness on a muddy field. It would not be an impotent team, but it would be short of the principal asset that stamps it a championship contender—speed. Without that asset, the Longhorns would be back on equal footing with almost any conference foe.

Figuring that the team taking Texas would be in line for the titles, Southern Methodist, Baylor and Texas A. & M. are favored by the Steer schedule. They get the favorites at home. S.M.U. is in a good spot, with two weeks to prepare for the Longhorns who must play tough Rice the preceding Saturday. The Baylor game follows, and Baylor is a notorious upsetter.

That Texas A. & M. is an ultra-dangerous opponent on Kyle field goes without saying, or even suggesting. This year the Aggies have a special reason for desiring to uphold tradition, a reason that developed at Austin last Thanksgiving.

Add the pretty obvious facts that the Aggies, despite staggering personnel losses, will be first-division contenders; that S.M.U. needs only a come-through performance by Soph Red Malep to challenge with Texas for the pennant, and that Baylor has some of the league's outstanding individuals in the lineup, and it follows that the Steers' intrastate and road trips are not going to be pleasure jaunts.

On the other hand, the schedule calls for only one long trip, to Boulder for their opener with Colorado Sept. 27. They get Arkansas Rice and Texas Christian at home.

It is not a pleasant task to disillusion the old grads, but Texas isn't headed for the Rose Bowl. A schedule that lets Oklahoma, S.M.U., Rice, Baylor and Texas A. & M. (at College Station) doesn't look like a Bowl parade. Best guess probably is that the Longhorns will win or tie for the championship, but not without losing at least one game and possibly tying another.

Landis Turns Down Suggestion To Delay World Series

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, ruled today that the world series would open Oct. 1, as scheduled, and thus turned down a suggestion that the first game be postponed because it coincided with the Jewish holy day, Yom Kippur.

Landis made known his decision in response to a request by the New York city council that the series opener be set back to Oct. 2. Because of the observance of the Jewish holy day on Oct. 1, when the New York Yankees will meet the National league pennant winner in the Yankee stadium.

In his letter to Joseph T. Sharkey, vice chairman of the council, Landis set forth in part:

"How your honorable body got such a proposition in its head, especially at this time, is utterly beyond my comprehension. It is not good for the city. It is not good for the Jew. The date remains Oct. 1."

5,000 Players Protected Under Coaches' Plan

DALLAS, Sept. 22 (AP)—Five thousand schoolboy football players will be protected under a plan formulated here by the Texas High School Coaches Association.

The group's directors in a meeting here yesterday, decided to put aside $2,000 a year for the care of permanently disabled gridirers.

A maximum of $100 per month will be paid for 10 months a year for medical treatment of the disabled boy whose coach is a member of the association, under the plan.

The fund will be cumulative, and any money carried over will be added to the next year's $2,000. A special meeting would be held if money should be needed.

Recommendations to the board for this aid will be made by a committee composed of P. E. Shotwell of Longview, Harold Dement of Galena Park and Brooks Conover of Orange.

The association, which gets its funds through membership fees and proceeds from the annual coaching school and all-star football game, voted to buy $3,000 worth of defense bonds.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL PLAYERS in practice look like cross between hockey goal tenders and baseball catchers. That's Howard Potter tackling Paul Governali.

Of course, the object is to reduce injuries in a game where body contact is most severe. The upholstery takes much of the sting and jar out of a tough game. College coaches have done much to ease the burden on the boys.

The player of today resembles a knight of old... is thoroughly protected in the more vulnerable spots. Padding of players follows the trend which started this season when many baseball players adopted protective helmets.

"Starring Eggs"
Pleasant Valley club won second place with an exhibit, "Starring Eggs." Eggs were arranged to form a Texas star. Eggs prepared for serving in many different ways were displayed, proving that this food may be utilized as any part of the menu. There were deviled eggs, hard-boiled eggs used in salad, white cake, yellow sponge cake, salad dressing, milk shake, even a drink of well-beaten eggs combined with fruit juices and called peptail.

Mrs. Joe Moyer, Briscoe, is president of the Pleasant Valley club and Mrs. W. C. Stoneman of Briscoe was chairman of committee to plan and arrange exhibit.

The Tri-C club, a three-community club, won third place with their trays, their motto, "Make a tray, save a step."

There were rope trays, basket trays, plywood trays, useful, attractive, and inexpensive, all designed and made by these club women.

Mrs. J. J. Hoobler, Canadian, is president of the Tri-C home demonstration club and Mrs. Long Gem, was chairman of committee for preparation of exhibit.

All members of the home demonstration clubs live in Hemphill county, regardless of their post-office address.

The rope tray exhibit will be displayed at the Tri-State fair, Amarillo, September 29-October 4.

Exhibits winning first and second places being of perishable food cannot be taken.

Miss Frances Weimhold, Lipscomb county home demonstration agent, served in capacity of judge of exhibits.

Army Lieutenant Killed In Plane Wreck At Lubbock
LUBBOCK, Sept. 22 (AP)—An investigation by army authorities was expected today in the airplane crash which took the life of Lieut. Shelby Harper of Lubbock yesterday.

Harper, 24-years old Saturday, was ferrying a Douglas medium bomber for England from the west to the east coast—his eighth transcontinental trip—when the craft crashed and burned in a field near the municipal airport.

His brother, Lieut. Bryan Harper, also was piloting a bomber east for delivery to the ferry command of the British flying service. They brought their bombers down, visited briefly with friends and relatives and took off.

Several hundred persons, including Harper's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Harper, saw the plane crash. Harper's survivors include his widow, who is in Long Beach, Calif.

Look At The Facts

Those who urge socialized medicine seem to blind themselves to facts. For the plain truth is that our system of private, independent medicine has been responsible for practically all of the great medical discoveries and advances of modern times.

It was independent medicine that discovered vaccination, developed abdominal surgery, and has practically abolished diphtheria and typhoid. It is independent medicine that has put tuberculosis, a disease which was once considered incurable and the harbinger of certain death, "on the run." It is independent medicine that has reduced childhood deaths and illnesses to but a fraction of what they were twenty or thirty years ago. And it is independent medicine which is making great strides in combating other bacterial killers.

Under a system of socialized medicine, the doctor is simply a creature of the state. The competitive urge—which makes for progress in every field of life—no longer exists. There is little opportunity for advancement. The security of his position depends on pleasing the politicians in power—not on the success with which he handles his practice. That is not the history of socialized medicine in the many countries in which it has been tried, tells the story.

Americans have become the healthiest, longest lived people on earth.

Capitalism—Servant Of The People

In a recent address, Carl Snyder, formerly statistician for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, made this memorable observation: "It is only as capitalism becomes the servant of the people, giving them cheaper goods, higher wages, greater buying power, that it succeeds. There is no secret about it, and yet it seems strangely foreign to our current modes of thought and feeling."

Take, for example, the simply fabulous extension of the electric industry. If it were not for the convenience of the people, if it did not add to their comfort and literally also to their ability to work, does anyone imagine that almost every home in America would today strive to have electric lights and power for the multiplied conveniences which are now available through the cheap distribution of electricity? Who has been robbed? Who has been harmed by this process?

The socialists are forever talking of "production for use, not production for profit." And what they seem to completely overlook is the fact that the American private enterprise system is the finest example of real production for use the world has ever known. The profits taken by our largest industrial companies are minuscule by comparison with the benefits that go to the people. A great utility system may, in a good year, earn six per cent interest for its thousands of stockholder-owners. While it is doing that it brings happiness and comfort, for reduction in labor and expense to millions of families. It is responsible for better working conditions and higher wages in the factories it serves. It is responsible for giving the boon of cheap, abundant power to thousands of farms. It is the people—all the people—who receive "dividends" which cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents, because the total is so great.

Yes, capitalism has been a success because it has been the servant of the people. It has produced and labored for many, not for few. And no other economic system known to man has been responsible for a title as much progress, prosperity and happiness.

Has Labor Gone Mad?

The railway labor unions are now demanding wage increases averaging about 41 per cent. If those increases were granted in total, the additional wage cost to the railroads would be $900,000,000 a year. F. J. Gavin, president of the Great Northern Railway, recently pointed out just how big a sum $900,000,000 is.

It is more than four times the sum that congress has authorized to be distributed to farmers this year in parity payments on the five basic crops.

It is more than the value of all the wheat and potatoes produced in the United States in 1939.

It is more than the total of all the gross revenue of the United States Postal department.

It would take every cent of the total railroad freight revenue for the first two and one-half months of this year.

This gives you an idea of what the railway labor unions are demanding. And railway labor is, generally speaking, the best paid on earth. A computation based on Social Security board figures for 1939 (the latest statistics available) shows that the average annual earnings of railroad employes were approximately 50 per cent more than the earnings of employes of other industries. And railroad working conditions, hour provisions, etc., are extremely favorable to the worker.

Furthermore, the $900,000,000 demanded is more than 20 times the average net income of the railroad industry during the ten years which ended in 1940. If the demanded wages had been in effect last year, the railroads would actually have lost $600,000,000!

Granting of these astonishing wage demands would make absolutely unavoidable a tremendous increase in the rates the railroads charge for transportation. And that would be a long step toward ruinous general price inflation. Has the leadership of railroad labor gone absolutely mad?

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

DO WHAT PEOPLE WANT DONE

In modern thought and education we hear considerable about the theory that each individual should do what he wants to do and what he likes to do.

You seldom hear the advice that people should do what others want done.

And if we are to consider the oneness of society and attempt to be a cooperative, progressive people, it behooves us to do what other people want done.

If all people only did what they themselves wanted to do, who would do the disagreeable and hard jobs? Or how could we develop will power and character?

Wm. James, famous American thinker, once gave to a young man reading philosophy in his class the following advice: "Do something voluntarily every day that you don't want to do." There is no better advice for becoming master of one's self.

Under free enterprise, the price or reward that people will pay indicates what they want others to do. If they want it done badly and it is a very difficult job, they will pay a very large reward for giving it done.

One of the surest guides to financial success is to attempt to do what other people want done and do it for less than other people will do it. The man who can do this and does what people really want done, is assured of financial success.

Of course, this does not mean that one should do something that is immoral or has a bad effect on the individual in after years.

This policy of doing what people want done is followed by successful newspapers. They give the people the information, entertainment and the conclusions that they want over a period of years. Successful newspapers believe that their readers want the facts; they want them interpreted and explained as to how they will effect society in the long run. Of course, for the moment this might not be what the people want but the newspaper that continues to take the long time view of what people really want has the respect of its readers. And people in the long run want what will promote their happiness and freedom and prosperity. The newspaper that attempts to do this is giving people what they want in the long run.

UNDERSTANDING PROSPERITY

Most people think that it is difficult to understand political economy. The reason it is difficult for them to understand what makes prosperity is that they will not start with simple axioms. They desire to build a political economy about their own personal desires to regulate the lives of other people. Political economy is not difficult to understand if one will start with the simple words of "all" and "equal." These two words, "all" and "equal," are put into an axiom that all people have equal rights to help establish values; that is to produce and freely exchange anything that anyone else has a right to freely exchange. And this right is not limited to the confines of any nation. It means that people have a right to produce and exchange with anybody in all the world.

When we start with this basis of political economy, then we will limit the government to protecting men in this right. Then everything that is in harmony with this principle is good political economy and is not difficult to understand. No political economy can be understood, or explained to another, that starts with personal desires and giving one man more right than another. Political economy of this kind is nothing but strife and war.

And by the way, political economy based on the principle of equal freedom for all is very close to the germane principles of Christianity, as taught by Jesus, but often not propounded in churches.

GO BROKE FIRST

What most people fail to understand is that all the private people go broke before the government does.

This fact is the reason that people do not want to be in business. This is the reason that many sound, listed stocks are going begging at less than half their actual reproduction value.

No, all the people go broke before the government goes broke. The power to tax means exactly what it says—the power to destroy all private values.

An important rise in prices during the last several months, especially marked in "equities" and high class bonds, in Brussels, Amsterdam and Paris as well as in London, this same tendency has been apparent and in Germany it has gone so far as to be a source of concern to government officials, who have been trying to check it by liquidation of confiscated holdings. In all these markets the story is the same, congestion of capital supplies operating upon limited supplies of investment material.

This is in sharp contrast to conditions on our own security markets, where there has been a condition of relative apathy, interrupted sporadically by fitful bursts of activity at least so far as "equity" securities are concerned, and no such price movement as has occurred in the European houses. It is a curious phenomenon that it stands, and provokes inquiry as to the cause.

It is not easy to answer the question by advancing a single or a simple explanation. There is one factor common to all the markets—a very low rate of interest. The price experience of the highest type of bonds is also common to them all. These bonds have all risen in greater or less degree. The difference is most marked in the movement of "equities." Here there is one common factor at work, taxation which is severe and getting more severe all the time. Yet it has not prevented prices rising in Europe. Something has prevented them from rising here as they have done abroad. What it is is hard to avoid the conclusion that there exists here a type of apprehension on the part of investors concerning "equities" which is not prevalent—at least in similar degree—abroad.

There is one fact which suggests the source of that apprehension. That is the fact that from the onset of the depression to the present time the attitude of Government in this country toward business and industry has been definitely and articulately hostile. This has not been manifested—at least in anything like the same degree—elsewhere, not even in Germany. Whether or not this hostility was and is justified is irrelevant; it is the fact that is important. Such an attitude would naturally raise doubt in an investor's mind as to the future of "equities," regardless of what might be the present relation of prices to return in their respective cases.

If this is not the explanation, what is? If it is not a healthy state of things, why should we be satisfied to have it continue? If we are not satisfied to have it continue why do we allow it?

THE ULTIMATE DICTATOR OF NAZI WAR POLICY

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22—There seem to have been only three women directors in the whole history of motion pictures, and the figure is definitely unflattering to Hollywood. It is an admission that the industry is undisciplined, still mostly on the slam-bang side, and that sheer physical strength rather than artistry is the first requirement for bossing a male and technical crew.

Male directors come mostly from the writing departments, the cutting rooms, dialog coaching on the sound stages, and from directing careers on the legitimate stage.

Hollywood has a lot of eminent-ly able woman writers, woman cutters—some of whom are in charge of assembling the most costly pictures, and feminine dialog directors, but they don't get a chance to compete with the Lubitschs, Cukors or Wyllers. Neither do the women who have become established and successful directors in the theater.

At least, mighty few of them have. There is a good chance that Stella Adler, who directed for the Group Theater in New York, may get an opportunity soon at M-G-M. And Universal may allow Joan Hathaway, director and teacher of foot-light drama and now a dialog director here, to show what she can do in bossing a picture.

WEBSTER WINS

There is no encouragement for them, though, in the experience of Margaret Webster who was brought here by Paramount about a year ago. Daughter of Dame May Whitty and a distinguished actress, she also had directed some of the most successful of Maurice Evans' Shakespearean series on Broadway. In Hollywood she was expected to spend about 12 months in observing production, after which she would be able to direct movies.

To her bewilderment, however, the British-educated classicist soon was assigned to help write a football comedy. So now she has returned to New York's Theater Guild, which has a better idea of what to do with Miss Webster's talents.

Up to now, the woman directors have been Ruth Ann Baldwin, Lois Weber and Dorothy Arzner. Miss Arzner, former cutter and scenarist, began directing in silent days with Edgar Ralston and Clara Bow pictures, and has done about a dozen since. Her "Craig's Wife" in 1936 probably was her best. Her last film, "Dance, Girl, Dance," in 1940, did nothing for her prestige.

If Joan Hathaway ever wins a chance at directing, she says she'll do it with the help of a tough assistant director to do her battling. She already knows what it is to face sullen stage technicians who resent taking orders from a woman and who are likely to start at some critical moment. "All right, sister, do it yourself."

COACHES COSTELLO

A trim, attractive little woman with a soft voice and a lot of sound dramatic background, Miss Hathaway now is in the odd position of being dialog director on the Abbott and Costello pictures—from "Buck Privates" to the current production of "Keep 'Em Flying." Apparently she is one of the few sane influences around the set, and by dignity, firmness, reasoning or something she is able to inoculate the two comedians with a certain sense of responsibility.

Digestive Facts

As far as the chemistry of digestion is concerned, it is more important to chew bread or potatoes than meat. Digestion of carbohydrates (potatoes, bread, etc.) starts in the mouth, while digestion of meat proteins begins in the stomach.

E. A. F. Salaries

In the British Royal Air Force, pilot officers receive a salary of $3.48 a day; flight officers receive $5.44 and flight lieutenants $6.28.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

When M. W. (Deacon) Jones goes to the grocery store he turns over his list to a clerk, and then wanders around the store looking at things while the order is being filled. If he sees anything he wants, like okra, he gets it.

This columnist is going to apply to the federal government—whoever has charge, for permission to trap polecats (skunks, to you) down there this winter. If the price of groceries keep on going up a nice wad of polecat hide money will come in handy. (My brother, Ford, and I used to trap enough skunks each winter down on Salt Creek to buy Zane Grey's latest book, a pair of shoes, a piece and a pair of leather gloves, and pay our admission to the Zana theater each Saturday night in Paducah when what-ever installment of "The Iron Claw" would be showing.)

Back to those polecats on the camping grounds at the lake Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Pollard and I went down to the lake to stay all night. We took along Howard (Gene) Kelley and Clara Dawkins just for good measure. Well during the middle of the night I heard something, several somethings, running all over the place and I looked up and there was a bunch of polecats having a heck of a time playing skunk tag around my bed. I ducked under cover and did not make a sound. I did not even move when two ran over my foot which stuck in under cover when I pulled my head in. Pretty soon that bunch led and another bunch came on. They looked real cute chasing each other and rummaging around over their heads. I was looking for pretty soon one of them ran over Howard Kelley's out-stretched arm and he let out a yelp. I grabbed for my nose but nothing happened, and the skunks scampered away. I woke up two or three times during the night, and each time I could see those skunks dashing hither and yon. We were probably lucky they didn't stink up the camp, but we kept our traps shut and made no noise. At any rate if the government or Bert Howell will give us permission we'll go down there and trap up a load of skunks. Of course now that we won't smell just right but these are hard times, and skunk hide money comes in pretty handy.

Howard Kelley says they won't let you come to school if you have skunk smell on you, but I recommended to him a preparation that Ford and I used to use to take the scent off.

Highlights From Latest Books

"Arkansas: A Guide to the State," American Guide Series; (Hastings House; $2.50)

It would be nice if some of my friends in that most provincial of all American cities, namely New York, could be forced to read the first 128 pages of "Arkansas: A Guide to the State." It might for a time drive from their nostrils the stench of the subway, make them forget the cockroaches of Greenwich Village, and perhaps even gloss temporarily the sad fact that New York cooking is probably worse than London's.

For somewhere in the Arkansas Writers' Project is tucked away a writer, or a group of same, with extraordinary ability. They have the ability to see a state and a people as a whole, without caricature but with appreciation of their differences and their characteristics as a folk, and to put this on paper so accurately that even a man whose horizon is the raddled back end of an apartment building might understand, and perchance marvel.

The "Arkansas Traveler" is about all the East knows of the state. It's extraordinary variety is duly set down in the new Guide—its truly lovely mountains, its wide, white cotton fields, its show boats and its curative springs. All the usual detail of the towns and the industries and the social fabric are included. And then there are the essays which make up the first part of the Guide, possibly the finest part.

Of these the short piece on Arkansas folklore and folkways is one of the simplest and one of the best. Whoever wrote it knows that the gently mad stories of the hoop-snake and the joint snake are tall tales which grew out of the idle periods of a people too lazy to amuse themselves. He knows, too, that there probably was never such a thing as a razorback hog, although there are dozens of razorback stories. These and the other stories are variations on a theme in exactly the sense as the second movement of Beethoven's Fifth symphony.

This mysterious writer understands, too, that the many superstitions of the rural districts are mostly tongue in cheek superstitions, and he doubtless regrets that the standardization of America is likely to eliminate even such distinctive flavors as that of Arkansas. So do some others of us.

Night and Day

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—One of the most hopeful signs in Washington these days is an apparent consciousness of too much red tape and the desire of some parties to do something about it. Early in the day some $50,000,000 to Latin America referred 16 times, but the 16th fellow he talked to was the man he had talked to first.

That incident inspired national archives officials to trace the origin of the term "red tape" back to its first use, shortly after the war between the states, when a veteran bawled out a clerk who was holding up a pension check, demanding that the red tape which was then used in place of paper clips be torn off his application so he could get his money. The story got wide circulation and red tape soon became synonymous with government delay. But here is the third defense effort since Civil War days, and there is still red tape.

President Roosevelt's announcement that he would sign a bill necessary to approve a lease-lend application had been cut from 25 days to 16 days, and was being cleared another 24 hours by giving Lease-Lend Administrator Ed Stettinius authority to sign applications in place of the president is a sample of the time saving that can be effected. An amazing sidelight, however, is that one of the first things Donald Nelson had to do when he became head of priorities, succeeding Stettinius, was call in a staff of Chicago mail order experts and tear off the backlog of more than 5,000 unhandled applications bound up in the Stettinius administration red tape. The rule is now that all priorities applications must be cleared within 48 hours from the time of their arrival in Washington.

Behind a commerce department announcement of a few days ago that it was setting up its own clearing house to break a bottleneck in the handling of export clearance for South America, there was another long tale of grief written in miles of government red tape.

SNARLS OVER A SNARL

One of the principal concerns of the Export-Import bank, in loaning some $150,000,000 to Latin America for interregional development of the 20 American republics, has been the stipulation that all important materials needed for these improvements must be purchased in the United States. This means that steel mills, mines, agricultural developments—all were bound to use machinery made in the U. S. A.

Then along came the defense effort. Exporters making road machinery, locomotives, mining equipment, farm implements, under contracts financed by Export-Import loans, suddenly found that they couldn't get priorities on steel to complete their Latin American orders.

Here was a snarl that involved half a dozen government agencies—state, commerce, war, navy, defense OPM, and the Export-Import bank. Finally a procedure was set up within the office of export control which has final say on what goods can be shipped out of the country, and where. A staff of hard-boiled army officers was supposed to cut through all the red tape, in such manner that one of these applications coming into Washington could be cleared by all six of the departments within three days. It didn't work.

Gen. Russell L. Maxwell, who had been in charge of export control, was ordered back to active duty in the war department and his organization was transferred to the new economic defense board under Vice President Wallace. Milo Perkins, EDB will now try to relieve some of the red tape pressure which has been strangling priorities applications from the good neighbor countries.

MORE TROUBLES

The South Americans themselves have been screaming to high heaven. Here a country had borrowed millions to develop, say, a copper mine. The copper was sold to U. S. for

SERIAL STORY

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

By HELEN WELSHIMER

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: The telephone bell in Judy Allen's apartment rings insistently as she leaves it for the last time, but she does not answer. With her to hand, dependable Philip Rogers, attorney for a firm of which she is an associate editor and the man she is soon to marry, she knows who is calling—Sandy Ammerman, a raving, impulsive aviator. Judy decided her intense interest in Sandy was only in- tention when newspaper stories linked him romantically with heiress Peg Gordon. Only ques- tions mark left in Judy's now well-organized life is her secretary, Sara Fuller, jealous of Judy and obviously disloyal.

AN INTRUDER ARRIVES

CHAPTER XIII

THE telephone bell pursued Judy and Philip down two flights of stairs, pealing steadily as though whoever was calling intended to remain at his end of the phone until somebody came home to answer.

"It may be important," Judy suggested. "Couldn't be. I'm not on the other end of the line," Phil answered. His voice was gay but his eyes were deeper, more serious than usual. "Anyway, you've a train to catch."

Noting this, Judy suddenly in- troduced a new note into the conversation.

"Phil, my darling, you may be the best buy on the market, but this is one word we aren't having said when we stand together before the preacher. The word is 'obey.' It's too mid-Victorian. You think so, too, don't you, down under your liver or appendix or somewhere?"

Phil's laughter was clear and ringing. He reached for her with strong arms, pulled her to him and kissed her firmly, almost de- mandingly. For the moment she forgot Sandy. As he released her she smiled more radiantly than she had for days. Phil was sweet. And devoted. And masterful. Maybe being married to him would be more fun than she had suspected.

"I never knew 'obey' ever was used in marriage ceremonies," Phil said. "You call your minister and tell him to cross it out."

"He knows better, but I'll warn him," she agreed. "Some women—the kind who want to put up a good front before agreeing to share a man's name and door- key—think it makes a man happy to have his pet poodle run when- ever he throws a stick. If a woman doesn't serve tapoca pud- ding because she likes to please her husband, what's the sense in coercing her into it? He'd get better meals at his club."

Their conversation was gay and happy as they rode to the station. They had the taxicab driver roll his cab onto the ferry which carried them to the Erie station. Once on board, they left the cab and stood at the boat's stern, watching the high lights of Man- hattan walk the sky in cyclorama.

The harbor was strewn with little boats and far out some war- ships rode the waves.

JUDY looked at the high lighted canyon whose walls were lower New York, listened to the three musicians, who had come on board to play old songs and collect pen- nies and nickels. Because she knew she could never return this way with the freedom and gaiety which she was taking with her, she felt lonely and clung more tightly to Philip's arm.

Obey was a word one neither put in a marriage ceremony nor omitted. Obey was a code which a heart held or discarded. Maybe in time she would think of Sandy as a little too rough-hewn, re- member that his eyes never quite lost their laughter as surely al- most's eyes must do sometimes, not recall that there was special music in the low timber of his voice.

Maybe... She said goodby sweetly, told Philip she would meet his train the next Tuesday. Then she found her compartment on the train and sat staring into the sky. Four more days of being Judy Allen and nobody else.

The stars looked brighter as the train rushed west from New York City. She had read somewhere that people had to travel 50 miles or more away from the artificial glow to see the stars in their clarity.

Maybe Sandy had been remem- bering the wide spaces of clear blue and dark blue, where there were stars at night, when he talked about his flights to free- dom.

She recalled that, in a recent newsreel, she had seen him alighting from his plane with Margaret Gordon. There had been nothing wistful or sad in his gaze. His mouth smiled and the crinkles played around his eyes.

"Stop being a nitwit," she com- manded herself. "The guy didn't want you. He's proved it, so forget him."

Whereupon a dozen things that he had done, half a dozen attempts to see her, scrambled over the other reasons.

"Maybe he wanted both Peg and me," she murmured, half asleep. "And I do—like—Phil—a lot. I'd trust Phil!"

THERE was excitement at the low, widespread white house with its many wings when she reached it. Spring, soft and sweet and hyacinth-drenched, blew gently through the trees that were coming to flower. Cousins and aunts, already notified, had ar- rived.

Mrs. Irvington Allen, having been deprived of a scalloped awn- ing and red-carpeted steps at her wedding 25 years before, was de- termined that her only child should have every thrill that ac- companies romantic marriage.

True, Judy had sprung her forthcoming nuptials on the fam- ily rather suddenly, but Mrs. Allen was certain that she would manage the wedding easily. The old stone church where the family worshiped was two blocks away. An open church wedding would be just the thing, since her hus- band would be up for his fifth re-election as common pleas judge pretty soon.

His supporters would enjoy the lilies, the slim white candles, the slix and the pageant of the wedding party.

At first Judge Allen hesitated because he himself had hid his slim, golden-haired bride to the justice of the peace so many years ago. Judy's wedding might make some lost magic up to her though.

When Judy wired she didn't mind and the idea amused Philip, he told his wife to go to town—to engage a caterer, ice cream wedding bells, small silver boxes for the cake which would bring dreams to every guest.

The judge was tall, slim, silver- haired. Already he had met this future son-in-law on occasional visits to New York and had grown fond of him. Here was the man he himself would have picked for Judy.

Therefore, when he saw Judy receive another young man in the low-ceilinged rose and white drawing room and then promptly order him to leave, the day be- fore the wedding, he raised his blue eyes in surprise.

"A gate-crasher," Judy said coolly, wondering if the whole house heard her heart tumbling over and over. "Put him out, please, Dad."

As he turned to obey, her whis- pered voice interfered. "No, Dad, I don't mean that."

Military Leaders Witness Display Of U. S. Air Might

By JERRY T. BAULCH SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 22. (AP)—Military leaders of the nation gathered at the huge Barksdale Field air base near here today to witness an exhibition by bombers, pursuit planes and parachute troops.

Actual bombs and bullets were to be used on targets representing troops spread over a field approx- imately the size of two city blocks. One hundred obsolete 1918 tanks, five aged reconnaissance cars and silhouette targets were dispersed through the area to test the effectiveness of the bombs and bullets.

Heavy bombers, medium bombers, and fast pursuit ships will pour tons of explosives on the make-be- lieve battlefield.

FSA Pulling Texas Farmers On Their Feet

(This is the first of several stories showing what the farm security administration is doing in Texas and Oklahoma, telling how farm families once with their backs to the wall are being made self-supporting through a system of loans and wise farm planning under supervision of the FSA.)

By JIM PAYNE
Associated Press Staff

DALLAS, Sept. 22 (AP)—Elmer Harp and his family cast an occasional glance at the single chicken scratching furiously for its own sustenance in the yard of their dreary house at Quinlan, Texas.

Harp, his wife and three children were down to a mess of string beans. The chicken would be next.

Harp had no job, no prospect of one. He had worked last on a farm, but if he sold all his household goods—and the chicken—he would have had only $25.50. Hardly enough collateral for a bank loan to buy farm tools and supplies to get a new start.

It looked like going on relief back in 1932. But Harp didn't.

And today the family has food fit for a prince.

How? The federal government's farm security administration had a program to help thousands of just such people as the Harps in Texas and Oklahoma.

Called rural rehabilitation, it simply means taking farm families that have been bowled over by adversity—and who can not get adequate help elsewhere—and setting them up straight again.

Harp asked for help and the FSA went to work. Rural and home supervisors sat down with the family to work out a farm and home management plan tailored to fit their particular needs.

They found Harp a 40-acre Hunt county farm to rent, saw to it he secured a long-time lease. The FSA discourages short leases under which it says tenants have no incentive to follow sound farming practices, build up the land or produce things for home consumption, being in need of quick cash crops instead.

In 1935, says the FSA, 43 per cent of the tenants in Oklahoma and 41 per cent in Texas had moved the previous year, at an average cost to each family of $75.

So, with a long lease agreed to, a plan was worked out for the Harp family to produce most of its necessities on the farm, with a few cash crops on the side.

Then an FSA loan of $713.35—just enough to put the plan in operation—was made for purchasing livestock, canning equipment, a few farm tools, seed and feed. It also provided for clothing, food and other essentials until Harp could get a start.

In March of this year he had three head of workstock, two colts, four dairy cows, three dairy calves, one beef calf, 75 chickens, two brood sows, four turkeys, adequate feed for the 1941 crop year, a huge supply of canned goods and 125 of household goods where he once had $25.

His income plan for this year is to sell $429 worth of livestock, cotton and poultry products. With rising price, she may get more. Little of that income will have to go for food, because this is what the farm is producing this year for home consumption.

Five hundred gallons of milk, four hogs, four turkey hens, 90 fryers, three bushels of peaches, two bushels of pears, corn to be ground into meal, 104 dozen eggs, 360 pounds of tomatoes, 1,840 pounds of vegetables.

The family that once had only beans and a chicken definitely is not hungry today.

And Harp, who started from scratch—figures he could sell all his assets at the end of this year for $220, pay off what he owes the FSA and have a net worth of $500.

The FSA reports that since the beginning of the rehabilitation program up to June 30 of 1941 it had loaned $36,112,423 to 60,371 farm families in Texas and $24,717,195 to 37,971 families in Oklahoma, although all the sum was not due, $17,065,638 had been repaid in Texas, $9,470,957 in Oklahoma.

Payments delinquent were reported at 20 per cent in Texas, 10.8 per cent in Oklahoma.

In Texas 6,999 families have been fully "rehabilitated"—that is, they have repaid their FSA loans in full and are able to take care of themselves with no further government assistance. There are 6,141 of these families in Oklahoma.

The FSA figures the program has added $7,110,922 to the total wealth of Texas and $5,776,774 to Oklahoma, this representing the aggregate increase in new worth of all the families assisted.

The rehabilitation program helps large landowners as well as tenants. What does this cost the public? The FSA figures the cost of administration and loan losses costs about $72 per year per family assisted.

But, the officials point out, the cost per family of those receiving various forms of direct government relief is $800 per year.

They say many of the families receiving FSA aid would have been a relief burden if they had not been assisted to stand on their own.

The bright side of the whole farm poverty picture, says an FSA official, "is found in the spark of determination that still lives in most of our distressed and dispossessed farmers to lift themselves out of their present condition, a spark that can be kindled to flame with outside help."

New Bishop Of Amarillo Diocese Native Of Texas; Served In U. S. Navy

By BRACK CURRY
Associated Press Staff

Amarillo's new Texas-born bishop, the Rt. Rev. Laurence J. FitzSimon, presides over one of the nation's largest dioceses, embracing approximately 73,000 miles and 70 and one-half counties.

Recently appointed bishop by Pope Pius XII, Bishop FitzSimon's career carried him in 46 years from the parochial schools of tiny Castroville, Texas, to study at the North American college in Rome, service in the United States navy during World War I, a pastorate and active civic service at Seguin, and to the chancellorship of the arch-diocese of San Antonio before his Amarillo bishopric appointment this year.

Bishop FitzSimon epitomizes the modern, vigorous Catholic leadership inaugurated by Pius XII. He is one of several youthful leaders to attain a pre-eminent position in the Catholic hierarchy in the United States since the accession of Pius XII to the Papal throne.

A man of broad outlook, immense vigor and a wide range of interests and activities, Bishop FitzSimon believes that the work of a churchman should transcend the realm of the spiritual and extend into community affairs and modern social and economic problems.

As pastor at Seguin from 1932 to 1941, he served one term as president of the chamber of commerce and directed activities of the community's centennial.

He is the author of a history of Seguin and Quindaro county and is an earnest student of contemporary national, international and economic problems.

Bishop FitzSimon was born in San Antonio Jan. 31, 1895, the son of Dr. Thomas FitzSimon, a practicing physician. Young FitzSimon received his early training in the schools of Castroville, where his father practiced medicine for several years after leaving San Antonio.

No Help Too Great For Russians, Say British Spokesmen

LONDON, Sept. 22. (AP)—The German victory in Kiev was seen in British circles today as strongly underlining need for swift British and United States action to rush the greatest help to Soviet Russia in the shortest time.

Newspaper commentators declared that no help was too great for the Russians, and British tank-makers lent emphasis to that feeling by starting full force on a week during which the entire British tank output will be Russian.

Some workers due for vacations decided to stay on the job.

A plea for "tanks and more tanks—and yet more tanks" was sounded last night by Ivan Malsky, Soviet ambassador to Britain.

The British mission headed by Lord Beaverbrook and the U. S. group headed by W. Averell Harriman will be at work in Moscow within a few days, informed sources said.

Lord Beaverbrook already is in the Russian capital and Harriman wound up his London conferences Saturday preparatory to going to Moscow.

The British cabinet was reported to have agreed to a comprehensive plan aimed at helping solve the job of supplying Russia.

Meanwhile, talk of the British opening a front in the west to draw off some of the Germans attacking the Russians in the east died away.

Chuter Ede, parliamentary under-secretary to the board of education, declared in a speech yesterday that "only when the time is ripe will Prime Minister Churchill take offensive action in the west" and added "he will not do it merely because people call for it."

World War Planes
At the outbreak of the World War, the British Royal Flying Corps in France had only 46 airplanes, 105 officers and 785 other ranks. By 1918, it had 3,600 airplanes with a total personnel of 280,000 men.

U. S. To Form Air-Infantry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Plans for organization of the army's first air-borne infantry battalion, which will be equipped with small automobiles, motorcycles, and bicycles, were announced today by the war department following months of experimental work.

The new battalion will be organized at Fort Benning, Ga., October 10 with an initial strength of 500 volunteers, including 50 from Fort Bragg, N. C., and 450 from Camps Croft, S. C., and Wheeler, Ga.

Disclosure of the plans came at a press conference held by Secretary of War Stimson at which it also was announced that hereafter officers of national guard units may be assigned to non-national guard outfits whenever it is desirable.

This step was regarded as one of the most far reaching yet taken toward merging national guard organizations complete into the broader structure of the army. It means that regular and reserve officers may command other troops. In connection with this change the department said that guard officers no longer would be promoted without regard to the length of service prior to promotion.

Another announced change affecting the guard was that guard enlisted men returned home in keeping with the army's intention of releasing as many men as possible in the next few months would be carried on the rosters of their state detachments so they would not become subjects to the draft even though of draft age.

The war department also announced a change in policy for officer candidate schools whereby 650 of the 2,600 enlisted men who will take the three months' courses beginning in October will be selected for four months' service, coming from replacement training centers where they have been held as instructors.

Of the remaining 1,950 officer candidates about one half will be selected and the other half will be members of the regular army and national guard.

Still another change in officer training policy was reduction of the maximum age from 37 years to 29 years for men taken from the army at large, except that this reduction does not apply to selectees already inducted nor to regular army and national guard members who entered service subsequent to August 27, 1940. It was also provided that men who complete officer training but desire not to undertake a year's commissioned duty receive certificates of capacity instead of commissions so that they will complete their army service quickly as enlisted men.

Jess Dunn Honored At Prison Rodeo

By FRANCIS E. BARDEN

MCLESTER, Okla., Sept. 22 (AP)—A riderless horse was rec across the arena before a hushed crowd of 15,000 today as the Oklahoma State penitentiary's second annual "inside-the-walls rodeo" opened with a tribute to Jess Dunn, warden slain with four others in an unsuccessful break Aug. 10.

Leading the horse—Dunn's own—was John Guthrie, veteran Muskogee, Okla., rodeo performer, who with hat in hand, walked the animal up and down the length of the arena as the Granite (Okla.) reformatory cowboy band played "Empty Saddles." A spray of flowers lay across the saddle.

Silent behind a heavy steel mesh stockade were the convicts. Among them aging lifers who knew Dunn as "Square Deal Jess," sat quietly, many with tear-stained eyes and some sobbing openly.

Posted about the stockade in such position that they could fire upon the prisoners without endangering the visitors, were picked sharpshooters. All were alert to prevent any recurrence of the fatal break which took the lives of Dunn, a posseman and three convicts.

Taps was sounded after the solemn parade. An "echo" repeated the call from afar.

Frank Grayson, state legislator from Hughes county, said in a eulogy of Dunn:

"To honor and pay homage to the memory of a loved and respected friend, this 1941 inside-the-walls rodeo is dedicated to our late Warden Jess Dunn."

"It is fitting that we should do this. Inspired the humanitarian principles, he conceived and inaugurated this entertainment one year ago for the purpose of increasing the contentment and furthering the recreational and educational advantages of the less fortunate men in his charge. x x x"

At the conclusion of the simple services, Warden Fred Hunt who succeeded Dunn, himself a professional rodeo performer at one time, galloped out in true-cowboy style, rearing his horse with a yell of "yippee," and the show was on.

First event was a wild display by 12 convicts in stripes who bulldozed steers and rode wild Brahmas steers to fill the arena with a burst of action.

A zoo elephant in Berlin lost 2000 pounds during the food shortage of World War I days.
