CIO Would Organize Workers Of South

Garden Club Will Sponsor Decorations

An 18-member committee of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce headed by Bob Mills, finance chairman, today started the job of collecting money from Pampa merchants to pay for the lights, candy, snapper roping and other Christmas decorations to be used in the annual Santa Day, December 6.

The shipment of juniper roping is to be received here Tuesday and the money to pay for the roping must be on hand at that time, as well as the funds to pay for the candy, lights and other accessories of the celebration.

To the Pampa Garden club the Jaycees have turned over the home decoration contest. The club, unknown to the Jaycees, had already set up a program for home decorations this year.

The reported victory of the government to adopt the CIO's industry council plan as a means of stabilizing labor relations. This plan envisages councils in basic defense industries made up of representatives of management, labor, and government who would plan production, allocate raw materials and contracts and adjust the supply of workers to meet current and contemplated needs.

The delegates also voted approval of another section of the report which outlined the organization of "the newly exploited workers of the south" as a major objective.

"Nothing must stop the work of organizing the unorganized in America—not even a great national emergency," Murray asserted.

When Murray, regarded by most delegates as a cinch for another term as president, finished his remarks, he received a standing ovation.

However, some of the delegates of the United Mine Workers—John L. Lewis' union—as well as most of the delegates of the United Construction Workers' Organizing Committee, including Lewis' brother, A. D. Lewis, remained seated.

There were several cries of "stand up." They went unheeded by the sitting delegates.

Many delegates then joined in the staccato chant: "We want Murray. We want Murray."

Tommy Manville Takes Fifth Bride

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Seat D113 at the Broadhurst Theater last night held one very blonde, very white-ermined and very happy young woman—Mrs. Tommy Manville 5th.

She laughed at Sophie Tucker's jokes in "High Kickers" and enjoyed even more the antics of the chorus line.

For she had just stepped out of that same chorus line and changed her name from plain Bonita Edwards, showgirl to Mrs. Thomas Franklin Manville, Jr., which is something else again.

Yep, Tommy's done it again. Yesterday was the day, the scene Ridgefield, Conn., in the office of Probate Judge Joseph H. Donnelly.

Tommy, 47 (so he says), and Bonita, 22, motored there just one week after they met via telephone, obtained a license, prevailed upon Judge Donnelly to waive Connecticut's five-day waiting and blood test ruling.

Extension Of Farm Loan Plan Planned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—The house agriculture committee, complying with the wishes of Secretary Wickard, has abandoned demands for price-pegging farm loans at 100 per cent of parity and will ask for a three-year extension of the present 85 per cent level.

Chairman Fulmer (D-SC) and other committee members said today that the new proposal would contemplate loans at the basic 85 per cent level, providing cash farm subsidies continued to make up the other 15 per cent of parity.

Full parity would give farm producers the same purchasing power, in terms of non-farm goods, that they had in certain previous years, in most cases 1909-14.

Any reduction in congressional appropriations for such items as parity payments and soil conservation benefits, however, would boost the loan rate an equivalent amount.

Freight Train 'Lost In Hell' In SP Tunnel

VAN NUYS, Calif., Nov. 19. (AP)—A dramatic story of escape from a smoke-filled railroad tunnel, racing toward fresh air amid fumes of deadly coal gas, was told today by a student fireman.

"It was the crazy feeling of being lost in hell," said Boyd Bonner, 24, of Bakersfield, Southern Pacific employe.

Bonner said he and the head brakeman, Virgil Rippey, 52, escaped from the engine of a 96-car freight train which stalled in a 7,000-foot tunnel. Two other occupants of the locomotive and another fireman were missing and believed to have perished.

"In the cab with me were the engineer, the fireman and the head brakeman," Bonner said from a hospital bed. "When the engine stalled I went out on side of the cab with Rippey while the other two climbed out the other side."

Engineer John Dunne, Fireman S. E. Snodgrass, both of Los Angeles, and Brakeman G. E. Baker are those missing, Bonner said he believed Baker was somewhere in the middle of the train when it stopped.

"Smoke was rolling out of the smokestack and the air was so heavy that we were hardly able to breathe," Bonner continued. "Just imagine yourself being lost in hell—that was the feeling I had."

"Rippey and I made our way to the end of the tunnel—and after we got our breath we went back in to find out what happened to the engineer and the fireman. They could have gotten out if they had have cut loose the engine from the rest of the train. But I suppose they were overcome trying to disconnect the coupling or kill the fire by shutting off the lever that controls the flow of oil from the tank to the firebox."

Smoke and deadly coal gas turned the tunnel into a furnace.

Aggies And Texas Already Shouting Choice Insults

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 19. (AP)—The University of Texas and Texas A. & M. college are in a tangle about sportsmanship after the Daily Texan, U. T. student publication, streamed, "A sage unto his son once said an Aggie agood is an Aggie dead."

Yesterday faculty and student representatives of both schools whose football teams are fairly itching to get at each other, signed a sportsmanship non-aggression pact which seeks "better and closer relations."

But the Daily Texan pointed an accusing finger at the A. & M. campus and wanted to know if there was any sportsmanship in signs, reportedly erected there, reading "Kill Texas." "We knew they were yellow," and "Lay Layden low."

The University of Texas band had to sit in makeshift seats at the game at College Station two years ago. A. & M. officials said today which had expected to sit in the stands, was a victim of a mixup in ticket allocations. That same year the Longhorns had to shower in cold water after the game.

At the Texas-Aggie baseball game last spring grapefruit-tossing and fighting occurred. A few weeks ago red paint (red is A. & M.'s school color) was splattered over buildings on the University of Texas campus.

Dean E. J. Kyle, chairman of the Aggie athletic council, surprised to learn about the attitude of the Daily Texan, said he thought the sportsmanship pact had accomplished the objective A. & M. had been seeking.

"No person need fear," he concluded, "that the traditional Aggie hospitality will be missing in any respect on Thanksgiving day." That (November 27) is the date of the Longhorn-Aggie game.

Worley Introduces Bill To Create Wage Board To Settle Disputes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Telling the House of Representatives that he is convinced that John L. Lewis does not represent the rank and file of patriotic American labor, Rep. Eugene Worley Tuesday introduced a bill similar to that offered Monday in the Senate by Sen. Tom Connally.

Worley, a member of the House Labor committee, declared that he will press for a fair hearing on the proposal of Connally and himself, but that if necessary, to secure earliest possible legislation designed to halt strikes which are tying up defense industries, he will go along with other measures.

"It is important that the government prevent the destruction of labor through the over-zealous activities of some of its leaders as it is for the government to prevent the destruction of capital by its own hand," Worley declared.

"Both are necessary, both are essential, and harmony between the two must come about whether it be by mutual agreement or by the more stringent and drastic method of law. An immediate truce between the two forces must be made.

Ample Time To Be Given Mine Workers

Draft Board Refuses To Sign Induction Papers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—President Roosevelt, declaring that work in captive coal mines must recommence, called upon steel company and union executives today to maintain a status quo on the issue of a "closed shop" for the period of the national emergency or to submit this issue to arbitration, agreeing to accept in advance any decision reached.

The chief executive laid his alternatives before John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers; Benjamin Fairless, president of United States Steel, Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, and Frank Purnell, president of Youngstown Sheet and Tube; in identical letters.

"For the common good, for the maintenance of defense production," Mr. Roosevelt wrote, "it is imperative that one of these two alternatives be chosen and faithfully performed."

The president wrote as sympathy strikes in commercial coal mines were spreading rapidly during the day.

Mr. Roosevelt asked acceptance of one or the other alternative of the steel and union representatives as "patriotic Americans."

He stated that in order to open the way further for settlement of the captive mine dispute he was doing these two things:

1—Informing all coal operators who have signed an agreement with a closed shop provision and a non-strike penalty clause that they will be expected, in the interest of defense, to operate under those agreements without change.

2—Asking all the operators of captive mines to reaffirm their assurances, by notice to each of their employes, that they are not opposed to the bargaining and do not wish to discourage or stand in the way of any employe who chooses to join the United Mine Workers.

The President made his newest attempt to end strikes in the coal mines supplying fuel for vital steel production after he had declared yesterday that Lewis had submitted an invalid argument in declaring that the union shop provided by the Appalachian agreement with commercial coal mines would be abrogated if the union shop were not granted in captive mines.

"If these people will park their cars on their driveways instead of in front of their homes, they will run much less chance of getting their fenders banged up, reduce traffic danger, and be a big help to us in continuing traffic and from the game," the chief advised.

Mr. Roosevelt declared in his letter today that the issue in dispute, however strong the feeling about it may be, "does not justify a stoppage of work in a grave national crisis."

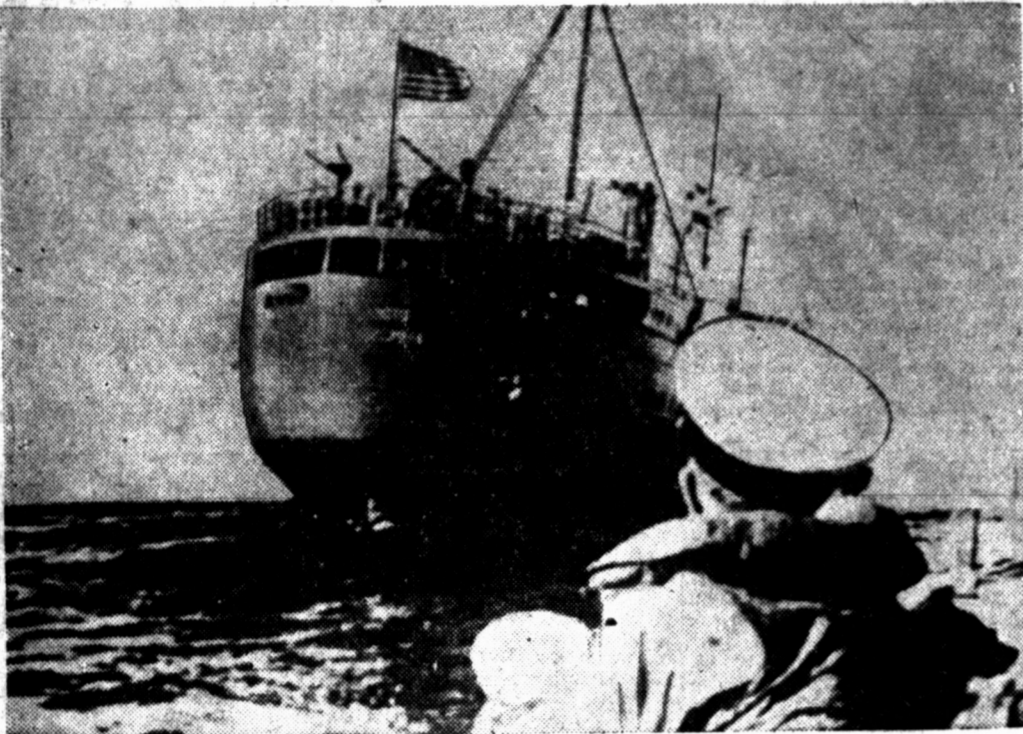

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Despite the steady spread of sympathy strikes in the commercial mines and some violence, an authoritative source said today that President Roosevelt probably would withhold executive action in the captive coal mine dispute until after the CIO concludes its national convention in Detroit Friday.

At the same time, however, it was learned that 50,000 troops were being held in readiness to take over the captive mines in the event the present deadlock continues and the President decides to use the army it is necessary to fulfill his "undisputable obligation."

However, informed quarters emphasized, there has been no final decision yet to use the army.

Mr. Roosevelt, one authoritative source indicated, was purposely biding his time and giving CIO's striking United Mine workers ample opportunity to reconsider the adamant position the union has taken to enforce its demand for a union shop in the captive pits which are owned and operated by the big steel companies.

There was a veiled intimation of the President's attitude in the message he sent to the CIO convention yesterday, calling for production of the status of defense See AMPLE TIME, Page 6

Reds Claim Crushing Victory Over Nazis

(By The Associated Press)

Russia's Ukraine armies were reported today to have inflicted a crushing defeat on German troops caught in a trap near Novocherkassk, 25 miles northeast of Rostov-on-Don, while the German high command declared that Axis invasion forces had opened a new big-scale offensive.

TASS, the official Soviet news agency, said the Germans lost thousands of men, 12 tanks, 273 trucks, and many guns in the Novocherkassk battle.

The Nazi drive in that sector has been stopped, TASS added.

A German communique pictured the Nazi armies as lunging forward once more, executing "new and successful" attacks, but the Russians said they had smashed attempts to pierce Soviet lines on the north anchor of the 200-mile Moscow defense arc as well as in the Ukraine.

A Nazi military spokesman said German bombers raked both Moscow and Leningrad during the night and left spreading fires in the Red capital.

A bulletin from the Fuehrer's headquarters reported that 10,000 Russian prisoners had been captured and 171 tanks destroyed during the past three days, but it gave no details of the new push.

Soviet front-line dispatches show two German infantry regiments, supported by tanks and armored cars, had been driven off with bloody losses in repeated attempts to storm across the upper Volga river in the Kalinin sector, 95 miles north of Moscow, and the Red army command gave this general summary of the nearly five-month-old struggle:

"Our troops are beating off the enemy attacks and destroying equipment and annihilating the manpower of the Germans."

On the southern (Ukraine) front, the Russians said Marshal Semenov's forces had recaptured a number of villages and advanced from four to 12 miles—presumably

Thompson Blames Ickes And Henderson

Col. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, laid the blame for inadequate oil production on the shoulders of Coordinator Harold L. Ickes and the blocking of an increase in the price of crude oil on the shoulders of Price Administrator Leon Henderson, when he spoke at the regular monthly meeting of the American Petroleum Institute here last night. More than 500 attended the meeting.

"I favor a complete adjustment in the price between the Mid-continent crude and Panhandle crude and I also favor an increase of at least 25 cents a barrel in the price of oil," Col. Thompson declared amid cheers and loud applause.

"You oil operators here in the Panhandle are considered a part of the Mid-continent chapter of the American Petroleum Institute but your oil prices are not in line with Mid-continent prices." Col. Thompson said. "I believe the time is ripe when you should start a fight to get recognition by the Mid-continent."

Col. Thompson said he wrote Coordinator Ickes a letter asking certain questions as to why the nation's oil reserve was under what it was in peace time and that the answer, which he read, was no answer at all.

Oil Storage, Low

In speaking of oil stocks, Col. Thompson said that they were shockingly low "especially in the Panhandle." He declared that the nation has only a 130-day supply of oil above ground and that when Hitler started the war he had a year's supply.

During the past year the nation's crude oil stocks have been reduced approximately 19,400,000 barrels, even though average production is

Jap Legislator's Speech Banned, Then He Resigns

TOKYO, Nov. 19. (AP)—A diet member's speech which was banned for publication but declared "improper for this session" led today to the member's resignation and created a sensation in the extraordinary session of Japan's parliament.

No hint of the speech's contents was permitted to reach the public, but the member, named Miyazawa, was turned over to the disciplinary committee of the house of representatives and his resignation shortly thereafter was accepted by a unanimous vote of the house.

However, 19 other members resigned from the "throne rule assistance group" of the house, apparently in sympathy with Miyazawa.

(Parts of this dispatch apparently were delayed or deleted, perhaps by censor, leaving the meaning of the incident obscure. It was left to conjecture whether Miyazawa had criticized the government's foreign policy or violated some points of the accepted code of parliamentary conduct. All published speeches in the current diet session have strongly approved the government's militant stand against the United States and Britain and for the Axis.)

Mrs. Roberts Tells Of Improvements Made In Past Year

"My living room, which is also used as an office, was crowded and dull," Mrs. Melvin L. Roberts said in her report to the Coltexo Home Demonstration club.

"We decided to lighten it up and make it a more livable place by putting down light linoleum in an all-over mottled which covered the entire floor," continued Mrs. Roberts. "In order to make the linoleum last longer the floor was sanded before putting it down.

"An oversized library table was exchanged for a small writing desk, an old dresser rebuilt into a combination desk and book case, this desk being the proper height for radio and reading lamp as well as typewriter. It will take up very little space and serve many purposes.

"The old day bed was rebuilt, for use in the bedroom and a studio divan in bright maroon replaced it to give life and color to the room.

"New ceiling lights and wall switches have been installed which add greatly to the room."

Nutrition Group Discusses Enriched Flour And Bread

In keeping with the article on "Enriched Bread" published in the Sunday issue of The News by the publicity committee of the local federated clubs sponsoring a nutrition campaign, the following questions and answers are being submitted:

How "enriched" flour made?
(1) By special methods of milling wheat, which save the recommended amounts of the vitamins and minerals;

(2) By adding to plain white flour the recommended amounts of vitamins and minerals;

(3) By combining these methods, saving part and adding the rest.

Which type of "enriched" flour is preferred?
The kind that is made by special milling is to be preferred, but may not be on the market as soon.

What does "enriched" flour look like?
The kind made by adding vitamins and minerals looks and tastes like the white flour you have been used to. The kind made by special milling is very white.

If you use "enriched" flour in recipes that call for plain white flour, do you have to change your recipes in any way?
Use "enriched" flour, to which vitamins and minerals have been added, in exactly the same way. The specially milled flour may require slight changes in recipes.

Can you use baking powder, or soda and sour milk, with "enriched" flour?
Yes, but use no more soda than is necessary. An excess tends to destroy the vitamins.

Can you use self-rising "enriched" flour in making biscuits and other hot breads?
Yes. Self-rising "enriched" flour behaves exactly as the self-rising flour you have been using.

What is "enriched" bread?
It is bread which has in it the vitamins and minerals present in "enriched" flour.

How is "enriched" bread made?
(1) With "enriched" flour;
(2) With plain white flour and special yeast preparations;
(3) A combination of these methods.

Should "enriched" bread be used in place of whole wheat?
No. If you prefer white bread be sure it is enriched.

Has "enriched" bread more food energy than plain white bread?
No. Its vitamins and mineral additions do not change the energy value of bread.

Is there danger of getting too much of these vitamins by using "enriched" flour and bread?
No. There is no reason to be concerned about that.

Lawyer Seeks Witness Who Saw Accident

MONTERREY, Mexico, Nov. 19 (AP)—Attorney for Arthur Torrance, accused of beating his 67-year-old bride to death, said today they were seeking a witness who actually saw the automobile accident on the highway near here in which Torrance claims his wife was fatally injured.

Thus far, neither the defense nor prosecution has produced such a witness, although the state has interviewed several who came upon the scene of the mishap soon after it occurred.

Arturo Guerra, one of Torrance's attorneys, who obtained a federal court order permitting him to see the prisoner in the Monterrey penitentiary, complained in an interview that he had not been able to speak with Torrance yesterday. Meanwhile, he and associates were taking statements from witnesses which, under Mexican procedure, will become a part of the record and constitute the defense.

Brokers accounts of Torrance with a New York firm were under state scrutiny today, prosecutors said. They planned to interview the accused man again today in his cell following yesterday's autopsy upon the body of his wife.

What line questioning of the self-identified New York author and explorer might take was not indicated, but it was the first action after four physicians examined the body of the wealthy former Mrs. Ada Loveland of Kalamazoo, Mich., yesterday in an effort to find the manner in which she died.

Torrance theorized in a statement she died from a blow on the head suffered when the automobile in which they were honeymooning swerved to avoid an animal near her 10 days ago.

SMU Back Competes For Layden's Record

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 19 (AP)—A couple of the plugging type footballers—guys who blast the line or do other important though unspectacular things—are moving up in the Southwest conference.

Presion Johnston, Southern Methodist's fullback, now is second in ball-carrying and he's only 51 yards under Pete Layden of Texas.

Johnston gained 59 yards in 19 tries against Arkansas last week to bring his season total to 397 on 80 runs.

He is only a yard ahead of Milton (Freight Train) Crain, the mighty blaster from Baylor who has been the real workhorse of the year.

Crain has carried the ball 118 times and rolled up 296 yards. Johnston also is the leading punter and is far out in front with an average of 43.2 yards.

Not to be outdone, Crain moved up in the pass-receiving parade. He now has taken 21 passes to the Marshall Spivey of Texas A. and M. for first place. Crain caught six last week.

Texas still leads in total offense with 2996 yards but A. and M. is moving up with 2212. The Aggies lead in passing with 99 completions for 1354 yards, while Texas tops in rushing with 1834.

Derace Moser of the Aggies pitched four for 40 yards last week, bringing his passing total to 811 yards on 57 completions. Spivey has caught passes for the most yards, showing 304.

Witnesses Bring Peddling Laws To High Court

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (AP)—Validity of peddling ordinances in Paris, Florenceville, and Comanche, Texas, and application of the state law on commercial vehicles all came before the Texas court of criminal appeals today in habeas corpus hearings for Jehovah Witnesses, a religious sect.

Florenceville's ordinance prohibits all street sales; the Paris ordinance zones selling; and the Comanche ordinance prohibits selling except by license. Sale of religious literature issued by the sect resulted in fines in each place.

The other case filed in Kerr county was against a former U. S. Army captain for transporting Jehovah witness literature in an automobile not registered as a commercial vehicle. He first was charged with desecration of the flag by refusal to salute, but Jehovah Witness attorneys found him held at junction and obtained his release. The desecration charge was quashed.

Approximately 3,000 cases a year are filed against Jehovah Witnesses, Hayden C. Covington of New York, general counsel for the organization, estimated here today. Covington, a former Texas pipe line employee in Refugio county, will argue the cases for the Witnesses here today.

State's Attorney Spurgeon Bell contends that the court of criminal appeals is without jurisdiction as the cases involve fines of less than $100.

Covington said that the Witnesses are fighting for a right and not because of the fines involved. Citing the attitude of the Jehovah Witnesses, Covington said that they carry on their work with unshaken courage, despite mobbings, beatings, imprisonment, and other hardships. No violence is involved in the cases coming before the Texas court today, but Covington said Witnesses are often beaten with baseball bats in one Texas community and stoned in others.

In Muskogee, Okla., he said, they were subjected to repeated mobbings, until women Witnesses put jars of cosmetics in their handbags and surprised a group of hoodlums by swinging on them with the weighted bags. Since then, he said, they have not been molested.

U. S. Planes Thick In Middle East Area

AT A BRITISH OUTPOST IN THE WESTERN DESERT, Egypt, Nov. 19 (AP)—New American-made planes, arriving steadily now, are responsible largely for so sharp an increase in Britain's middle east air strength that total planes exceed the number in the entire RAF at the beginning of the war.

In addition to American planes already in service, there are others on hand—later and more powerful models—which the British say may give the Axis some surprises in any big air offensive. Details are kept a military secret.

The desert skies are alive with aircraft and while British-built craft still comprise the greater part of the total, several British models which a year ago were used in combat have been relegated to other work.

Among the American-made planes the Glenn Martin Maryland bombers are regarded by the south African air force fliers who use them as the most effective bombers in operation here. In the past fortnight alone the Marylands have shot down six Axis fighters.

"Many persons in Texas and in the United States have recently made a great discovery," Dr. Myers explains. "They have become keenly aware that there are vast areas below the Rio Grande and that these areas are occupied by real people. Such persons have also come to recognize that it is best to treat these people as neighbors, as Americans."

"This new attitude on our part is significant. It may indeed be the beginning of a new era in the new world—an era in which our cultural horizons are widened, our economic interests are more firmly established, and our social institutions are made more secure."

While admitting that there is still a great deal of misunderstanding, suspicion and injustice between the two continents of the western hemisphere, Dr. Myers expresses the opinion that the Roosevelt-Hull program has removed many of the causes for fear and hatred that separated the peoples of Latin America from us.

He hails as notable achievements the agreement of the 21 republics of the new world on common political principles and objectives and the establishment of machinery to make these principles and objectives effective; the building of common economic bulwarks based on mutual interest; and the strengthening of cultural ties.

Termining President Roosevelt "the real father of Pan Americanism" in that in his administrations alone has the ideal of unity in the Americas been approached, Dr. Myers learned on his fact-finding junket that Mr. Roosevelt's prestige and influence are immense throughout Hispanic America—"His voice is commonly recognized as the voice of all America."

"Roosevelt," he added, "personifies the Pan American Ideal."

Describing the difficulties confronting the Roosevelt administration in winning the friendship of Latin America, Dr. Myers explains: "How to undo the wrongs of history, as Latin Americans understood those wrongs—that was the initial problem in 1933. Roosevelt and Hull tackled the problem in a straightforward, honest and practical manner. They began at once to remove the causes of distrust and friction."

"At the inter-American conference held at Montevideo in 1933, Secretary Hull declared that 'no govern-

U. S. Friend Of 120,000,000 Latin Americans, Myres Says

By BRACK CURRY Associated Press Staff
"In 1933 the hated Colossus of the North.

In 1941 the Friend of 120,000,000 Latin Americans."

Credit for this transformation in United States-Latin American relations lies with the United States good neighbor policy, inaugurated in 1933, says a Texas international authority recently returned from a tour of the South American continent.

At a moment when our security and perhaps existence as a free nation may be at stake, the United States holds the friendship and confidence of Latin America, says Dr. S. D. Myers, who recently returned from South America.

He was one of a group of 12 American scholars and editors chosen by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

This group visited all the principal South American cities and capitals and discussed western hemisphere relations with leading editors, educators, business leaders and government officials.

Dr. Myers originated the annual series of lectures and round-table conferences held at Texas colleges and universities with noted international experts exchanging viewpoints with students. He is the director of the Institute of Public Affairs at Southern Methodist University.

America's relations with Latin America are of vital concern to Texas and the southwest, Dr. Myers believes, because of this state's geographical nearness to Central and South America and the parallel economies of the two regions. Both Texas and Latin America are essentially raw producers, dependent in part upon the export of similar and competitive products for the maintenance of their prosperity.

Texas oil competes with oil from Venezuela and Mexico in world markets; Texas cotton finds Brazilian cotton a sturdy competitor; Argentine corn and wheat vie with similar Texas products for foreign markets.

"Rather we are looked on as a collaborator, acting only after consultation with the other American governments. The Monroe Doctrine is no longer regarded as a one-sided policy, to be invoked only in our government might arbitrarily decide. It is now applied and enforced by all the American republics in the interest of hemisphere solidarity and defense."

Dr. Myers praised the work of the Inter-American Financial and Economic Advisory committee, established at the meeting of foreign ministers at Panama City in 1939, in establishing closer economic relations between the two American continents.

Composed of 21 economic experts—one from each of the American republics—this committee has dealt with such matters as adequate shipping facilities in inter-American trade and the developments of new industries and products to establish a better balance in the hemisphere economy.

Last year, he states, the committee drafted the character of the Inter-American bank, which is now operating to stimulate the full use of capital in the Americas, to stabilize currencies, promote agriculture and industry, and to carry on research in the fields of economics and public finance.

Furthermore, the United States has extended financial assistance to most of the Latin American states, endeavoring to bolster their weakened economies with stimulants of cash and credit. To assist Latin American producers during the European war when their traditional European markets are largely closed, the United States created the Export-Import bank and through it assigned $500,000,000 of cash assets to Latin America.

Dr. Myers found that our defense program is materially aiding Latin America.

"Our government is buying huge quantities of materials from our southern neighbors—mercury from Mexico, tin from Bolivia, copper from Chile, wool from Argentina, and dozens of other commodities. As a result, these countries no longer lack dollar exchange as was the case a few months ago."

From his South American tour, Dr. Myers drew this pertinent conclusion concerning the Good Neighbor policy and Pan-American relations:

"We now are definitely on our way toward real Pan-Americanism—toward the good society of good neighbors. There are numerous economic and cultural barriers to be overcome. Physical distances that separate us from our southern neighbors are great, and psychological distances are even greater. But we are steadily closing the gaps."

Hornsby To Manage Fort Worth Cats

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19 (AP)—After 28 seasons of baseball in other cities, Rogers Hornsby is ready today to try his hand at home—in Fort Worth.

When he signed his one-year contract yesterday to be the combination business manager and field manager of the city's Texas League Cats in 1942, Hornsby made his first official connection with Fort Worth since 1914, when he left his native north side to launch a professional baseball career that "touched all the bases" in the game.

The hiring of Hornsby in the double capacity automatically released Business Manager Cecil Coombs and Field Manager Bob Linton.

Hornsby asked for the full responsibility.

Blonde Quizzed In Death Of Broker

HOUSTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Detective Lieutenant A. C. Thornton said today a 30-year-old blonde and attractive woman was being questioned in connection with the death of J. C. Franklin, Houston attorney and investment broker, whose charred body was found in an automobile on the banks of the San Jacinto river Wednesday.

Thornton said the woman, after being questioned for 20 hours, early today promised to make a statement in connection with the case if she first would be permitted to see her mother.

Officers then took her to her mother's home and planned to return to police headquarters in the morning.

A man held in the city jail was also questioned in the case, Thornton said, and another was being sought for questioning.

The man questioned by Detective Captain C. V. Kern denied he knew anything about Franklin's death, officers said.

The charred body of Franklin was found in his burning car near Sheldon. It was burned so badly that identification was made chiefly through a key ring and belt buckle found in the ashes.

Investigators from the district attorney's office and the police homicide squad sought to learn of Franklin's movements after he left his office the day he was killed, and sought to establish a possible motive for the slaying. A chemist from the state crime laboratory was called into the case to substantiate the officers' theory that some combustible was used to burn Franklin's body and the automobile.

The officers reported no progress until the arrest of the woman yesterday morning. She was questioned continuously from that time until this morning.

Testimony Ends In Suit Against News

Testimony was concluded and County Judge Sherman White was to read the charge to the jury this afternoon in the case of Coleman Williams vs. C. H. and R. O. Holles.

The suit, filed here June 26, charges that failure of a $4.50 advertisement to appear in The Pampa News on May 31 of this year caused the plaintiff's business (Tux Cleaners) to fall off $109.25 on Dollar Day, and cost him $400 in the loss of new customers which would have come to him if the advertisement had been published. He asks total damages of $509.25.

Plaintiff alleges that Clara Maguire paid Miss Elizabeth Mullinax, an employee of The Pampa News, $5 with the agreement that 50 cents was to be paid on a running account and $4.50 paid for the Dollar Day ad.

Testimony in court today was to the effect that Wayne Phelps had notified the Tux Cleaners that the ad would not be run, and that no refund had been asked by plaintiff.

Witnesses heard today for the defense were Jack Hanna, general manager, Wayne Phelps, advertising manager, Horace McBee office manager, of The Pampa News, and Miss Elizabeth Mullinax; for the plaintiff, Mr. Williams and Clara Maguire.

Jurors are Frank Bailey, H. C. Cottrell, F. H. Bourland, J. C. Volmert, T. A. Goldsmith, J. C. Cox; attorneys, Newton P. Willis for the plaintiff; Joe Gordon for the defense.

Crude Buyers Hunting New Connections

By EDWARD CURTIS

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 19 (AP)—With oil production at a high level, major crude purchasers in the mid-continent still are hunting new connections and sources of supply.

In everything but price, the crude market was definitely a sellers' market. Most purchasing companies are attempting to gain as much volume as possible to insure adequate supplies for national defense.

"We want oil so badly that every time a new location is announced all of us hurry to that operator and attempt to bid him up to use our line," one buyer remarked in describing the situation.

Even isolated small wells which once marketed their oil under difficulties now were being given connections even if a five to 10-mile lateral line was necessary.

Most buyers believed that Oklahoma and Kansas crude prices would have risen 25 to 50 cents a barrel had approval for such a raise been given by Price Administrator Henderson.

There was an indication that Henderson may reconsider the position he took in requesting purchasers to rescind a seven-cent increase in North Texas fields. Rep. Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls said after a talk with Henderson that the price administrator would reconsider the situation. It was pointed out to Henderson that the producers and oil companies considered the price Increase an adjustment to bring North Texas prices to the level of Oklahoma and Kansas.

A rising demand for more crude oil was reflected at the Texas Railroad commission's regular monthly hearing. Several operators urged an increase in production and suggestions including dropping of all or part of the December shutdown days.

In the field, the Oil and Gas Journal reported 610 completions for the week, compared with 605 the previous week and 581 a year ago.

Litvinoff Claims British Insulted Him At Airport

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 19 (AP)—Cold-shouldered by minor British officials who barred him from passage to Cairo on a British overseas airway transport today, Maxim Litvinoff, Russian ambassador to the United States, and his wife prepared to take a Russian plane tomorrow.

Although the British minister to Iran, profusely apologized for the action of a British overseas airways plane in leaving the Russian diplomat on the airport, Litvinoff called it an insult.

He appeared to have recovered his temper in the afternoon, however, as he boarded the green-camouflaged, machine-gun-turreted Soviet plane which had brought him from Kulybshev. The plane was unable to take off, however, when a 20-mile dust storm limited visibility. Litvinoff and his wife conferred with the pilot and it was decided to try to reach Cairo tomorrow.

Earlier they had been refused seats on the British plane.

The British minister, Sir Reader William Bullard, came to the field to see Litvinoff off and showed embarrassment when Litvinoff remarked:

"All would have been much simpler if I had been told yesterday no seats were left in the British plane."

Bullard replied that it was urgent that the British legation counselor, J. D. Greenway, one of the passengers, leave for India and said other unexpected factors had resulted in a misunderstanding.

President Waiting Until People Get Fighting Mad, Says Thompson

America will not long endure the situation wherein strikes handicap defense and President Roosevelt is merely biding his time until the American people get so "fighting mad" there will be no possible reason for not "cracking down," Col. Ernest O. Thompson told battalion staff officers of the 14th battalion, members of Company D of the Texas Defense Guard, and special guests at a banquet last night at the Schneider hotel. Attendance totaled 66.

The colonel, due to retire from active service soon as commander of the 14th infantry, 36th division, spoke at the banquet preceding his address to the American Petroleum Institute chapter at the city hall auditorium.

Army Prepared

"The army is rarin' to go. The navy is ready now, has been ready for some time," the colonel said in connection with his praise of the high morale of the 36th division. He told of the division holding open house, of the number of parents and friends of the soldiers who attended, and of the 1,200 men who voluntarily appeared in a review.

Recalling the training the 36th is receiving, Colonel Thompson told how the division advanced 176 miles in 30 hours, repairing 192 bridges on the way, in maneuvers in Louisiana.

"That's lightning war for you," the colonel commented.

Turning to the Texas Defense Guard, the speaker told how he had responded to an invitation from the captain of a nearby company to appear before his unit of the Guard.

The colonel took along a band, rolling kitchens, and 750 soldiers. They presented a program for the Guard at the town's ball park, and enlistments in the Guard company were filled from the grandstand that night. The company had lacked 17 men of being up to its required strength before the soldiers' visit.

"Since the national guard is in federal service," Colonel Thompson said, "it is likely that the national guard will be a thing of the past and that you men will succeed it."

Requirements for enlistment in the Texas Defense Guard may successively grow harder, the colonel stated.

County Officials Thanked

He lauded the appearance of the company, complimented County Judge Sherman White and the county commissioners for their spirit in providing uniforms of excellent quality for the local company, and praised First Sergeant Paul P. Blankenburg.

This commendation was in connection with the first sergeant's briek command of "attention," as the men entered the dining-room.

"Your sergeants look like men who know their business. When the sergeant called 'attention,' I almost jumped myself," the colonel said.

Captain Dunigan Toastmaster

Introduction of the colonel was by Major Lou J. Roberts of Borger, commanding officer of the 14th battalion of the Texas Defense Guard. Captain E. J. Dunigan, Jr., in command of Pampa's Company D, was toastmaster and introduced special guests who were humorously termed "civilians." These were County Judge White, Representative Ennis C. Favors, Pampa; Representative Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo; N. D. Bartlett, oil editor of the Amarillo Globe-News; L. R. Hays, R. C. Kay, J. B. Parrott, and Joe Omber, all of Amarillo; Bob Huff, Carrie Nation, and M. F. Roche, all of Pampa.

Venison On Menu

Venison served as a part of the banquet was supplied from a hunting trip made by Captain Dunigan, Colonel Thompson, and others, the colonel said in his speech.

Besides Major Roberts, other out-of-town Guard officers present were First Lieutenant Fritz Thompson and Captain H. H. Crosby, H-2, both of Borger.

From Pampa the list included First Lieutenants Joe V. Roche, H-3, and Dan Williams; Second Lieutenant Leroy Land; Sergeants Dan Kennedy, Preston Cromer, and W. L. Hecker.

12 More Coal Mines Closed

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19 (AP)—Walkouts in sympathy with the United Mine Workers strike for a union shop in the steel company-owned "captive" coal mines closed 12 additional commercial mines in Pennsylvania today, bringing the total to 32.

Industry spokesmen, estimating the closing of the commercial mines in the state had cut off daily production of upwards of 75,000 tons and thrown into idleness approximately 20,000 men, said more sympathy strikes were expected.

In addition to the commercial mines, which sell on the open market, the four "captive" mines of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation and one of the Duesigne Light company's two "captive" mines were halted by sympathy strikes. Both of these companies have granted the union shop, requiring their employees to become members of the UMW within a specified period of employments.

Meanwhile, the UMW reinforced picket lines in Fayette county, center of the "captive" mine field, checking the movement of non-strikers into the mines. Union leaders estimated that fewer than 500 men entered the 14 Fayette county mines of the H. C. Frick company, U. S. Steel subsidiary, which normally employ 13,600.

In keeping with a promise to Fayette county authorities, the UMW picket lines—numbering as many as 125 at a Frick mine in

Let Japs Get Out Of China, Asserts Senator Pepper

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) said today that Saburo Kurosu, Japan's special envoy, should know that "if war in the Pacific is the price of resisting the Japanese rampage then war will have to come."

Pepper, a member of the senate foreign relations committee, told reporters that Kurosu, who has been conferring with President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull on the Far Eastern situation, "should understand that this country has gone as far as we are going."

"The time has come to draw a line," Pepper said. "The Japanese don't like it if they can't lump it. We have watched them murder and rape and ravage a large part of the earth. 23 have seen them encroach on our interests, foot by foot, yard by yard and mile by mile."

"If they want peace, let them stop their aggression; let them get out of China. America will not acquiesce in any so-called 'new order' which is built of the bone and washed of the blood of innocent victims."

Kurosu and Admiral Kichiburo Nomura, the Japanese ambassador, who conferred with Secretary Hull for nearly three hours yesterday, are expected to resume the talks as soon as they receive new instructions from Tokyo—possibly today.

'Wizard' Brooke Named Chief Of British Staff

LONDON, Nov. 19 (AP)—A shake-up of Britain's army command in which General Sir Alan "Wizard" Brooke, 58, was named Chief of the imperial general staff and younger general officers were given key posts was announced today by the war office.

The youngest man involved is Major General A. E. Nye, at 45 one of the youngest generals Britain has known, who will become vice chief of the imperial general staff.

General Brooke will assume his new position Dec. 25, when the present chief, General Sir John G. Dill, reaches the retirement age of 60. General Dill was made field marshal and will become governor of Bombay when the term of Sir Roger Lumley expires.

The chief of staff-designate, a member of the distinguished northern Ireland family known as "the fighting Brookes," is a specialist on military mechanization, gunnery, and anti-aircraft defense.

He has been commander-in-chief of the home forces since July 10, 1940, and welcomed an invasion scare with a challenge to the Germans that any attempt to invade Britain would give him the opportunity of "throwing the Nazis back into the sea."

WORLEY

(Continued From Page 1) "Whatever might be the intentions of Mr. Lewis, be they good or bad, he is guilty at this moment of an unfortunate bit of timing with the result that he is neither serving the workers who follow him nor the country to whom he owes allegiance.

"I am convinced that he does not represent the great rank and file of patriotic American labor, and because I believe immediate action must be taken I have today introduced a companion bill to the one presented by the distinguished senior senator from Texas, Honorable Tom Connally. This bill should be immediately and fairly heard so that our defense production will not continue to limp along on a crutch but will become a smooth flowing unit and vitally necessary material, upon which the success of our entire foreign policy depends."

In brief, the Worley bill provides: 1-To give the President power to take over the operation of any defense industry where a stoppage in production is impeding national defense.

2-To "freeze" the terms and conditions of labor in a plant or mine taken over by the government wages excepted. This is aimed at ending jurisdictional disputes for the duration of the emergency and to remove other causes of industrial stoppages.

3-To establish a special wage board to adjust wage disputes and fix compensation when a majority of employees or their authorized representatives so petition the board.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Representative Wickersham (D-Okla.) introduced yesterday a resolution (H. J. Res. 2475) to provide for the replacement of striking workers by qualified soldiers.

The soldiers would be employed at prevailing wages only when work stoppages or strikes occurred through refusal of parties involved to abide by National Defense Mediation board decisions.

AMPLE TIME

The statement that the President would step his hand for a few days would find corroborative in authoritative house reports that congress had received a quiet go-ahead signal for middle-of-the-road legislation to deal with defense strikes, but with the understanding that action would be deferred for a week or so.

Nevertheless, John L. Lewis apparently believed that there was a possibility of quicker White House action. The UMW president, instead of leaving for the Detroit convention, remained in the capital to deal personally with any sudden developments.

As the suspense intensified, the coal strike front presented this general picture:

Captive mines—most of them have been closed down, but a few continue to operate with curtailed working force.

Commercial mines—the total of these mines tied up by sympathy walkouts in Pennsylvania has reached 20. Some 6,000 miners in 32 of Kentucky's commercial mines were ordered to quit work today in another series of sympathy demonstrations.

Violence—two hundred state troopers were ordered into Gary, Va., after two men were wounded at an captive mine which was continuing operations. Independent Steel members there appealed to President Roosevelt for protection so they could keep working. Sporadic clashes between pickets and non-strikers were reported in western Pennsylvania.

Steel production—lack of fuel forced the closing of the third furnace in the Alabama district. At Pittsburgh, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation announced that because of the impending coal shortages "it probably will be necessary to stop operations of six blast furnaces," by tomorrow, thereby reducing Ingot production by about 10 per cent.

The continued coal production stoppage brought a display of irritation from a draft board in Lee county, Fla. Its members telegraphed President Roosevelt that they would sign no more induction papers for selectees "as long as John L. Lewis dictates the labor policy of the United States government and deprives these $21-a-month soldiers of the full benefit of industrial production."

Wendell L. Willkie, speaking in New York last night, also took the administration to task. He charged it with inconsistency in the coal dispute and with failure to announce a clear and open policy for labor. Willkie recommended that labor be given a share in the responsibility and policy-making of the government.

THOMPSON

(Continued From Page 1) about 430,000 barrels above that of a year ago. Stock today is not more than 342,340,000 barrels of crude, or 63,500,000 barrels less than 1937 peace-time level.

In his plea for additional production, to Ickes, Col. Thompson quoted the national defense demands. "We have over 100,000 planes, 125,000 tanks, 200,000 trucks and cars and more rolling off the assembly lines daily. All this equipment is an additional load on the oil industry in furnishing gasoline and lubricants."

Price Increase Needed.—Increased demand by farmers to raise more crops to feed America's expanding army was also cited by Col. Thompson.

Col. Thompson, in his argument for better oil prices, pointed out the growing abandonment of stripper wells. "With an increase of 25 cents a barrel in crude oil those wells could be reworked and could continue as producers instead of being plugged and abandoned."

"Every time we have a 25-cent increase in the price of oil we have a new field discovered," Col. Thompson declared. "The production department of the coordinator's office has announced that 30,000 new wells must be drilled in 1942 and production must reach 4,500,000 barrels daily to meet anticipated demand."

More production through lifting of shutdown days was recommended by the speaker, who said that a recent survey showed that, refining capacity is operating at only 88 per cent of capacity because of inability to secure crude oil.

Letter to Ickes.—He revealed that he had taken up the matter with Secretary Ickes, federal oil coordinator. In his letter to the secretary he outlined completely his reasons for this opinion and the light of the facts pointed out and the contingencies mentioned if such increase were not advisable and that if the secretary agreed with him, what in his opinion should be the minimum amount?

"If I am correct in the defense of this and other nations, he did not deem it necessary or advisable that sufficient oil, if produced without physical waste, be made available with which to operate idle and closed in refining capacity during the winter months of 1941 and 1942?"

Reply Quoted.—Col. Thompson said this message to Secretary Ickes brought the following reply, received Monday night:

"The subjects of maintaining a better and more definite relation between the petroleum production and consumption and of determining the proper function of petroleum inventories have for some time been receiving the serious attention of this office and your letter of Nov. 11 finds us fully cognizant of the production, stock and consumption situation, which, however, needs further analysis to determine a policy adequate for the emergency. Because of the multiplicity of abnormal factors which are emerging, it is difficult to see how the application of the same incomplete program to some other area where it would result in some severe economic dislocation."

Would Delay Action.—"It is submitted as our opinion, therefore, that the Texas Railroad commission and the regulatory bodies of other states conform to their usual procedure in determining crude oil production quotas for December, pending an early announcement of a consistent and practical program for the national interest by better correlation of petroleum stocks with petroleum production and consumption."

"In the meantime we wish to concur with your statement that whatever additional quantities of crude may be required by the emergency should be withdrawn in a stable and orderly manner from petroleum reservoirs and at such rates as will avoid injury or loss to the remaining oil and energy reserves of those reservoirs."

Col. Thompson, who soon will be relieved of his duties as an army

DEFENSE GUARD PRAISED

"After our maneuvers in Louisiana the army was in better condition, better trained, and better able to defend itself than the army that returned from Germany in 1919," Col. Thompson declared. He said the establishment of B. O. T. C. units in every school in the nation supported by taxation.

The United States army training program is re-making the moral fiber of the nation. "We've grown soft with too much luxury," the colonel declared.

Representative Ennis Favors of Pampa declared that the big need is to get another member of the railroad commission to see eye to eye with Col. Thompson and that the Panhandle would be recognized.

White Frases Thompson.—Col. Thompson was introduced by County Judge Sherman White who said, "We have a man with us tonight who is a friend of the oilman and a staunch supporter of anything that is good for the Panhandle."

Entertainment was presented by the crack Pampa Junior high school band, directed by Ray Robbins. The band played many numbers seldom played by a junior band and the concert was well received.

After Col. Thompson and members of the Pampa unit of the Texas Defense Guard, with whom he had dinner prior to the meeting, had entered the city hall the band played "America."

Charlie Alford, chairman of the chapter, presided.

REDS CLAIM

In the Crimea campaign, the German high command said Nazi bombers violently attacked Russia's great Black Sea naval base at Sevastopol, blasting docks, munitions dumps, and a ship in the harbor, but there still was no indication of a direct land assault against the stronghold.

The British radio said Russian troops in the Kerch sector had been safely evacuated to the Caucasus, but they had left some equipment and war material.

Officially, Russia has not yet recognized the German claim to the capture of Kerch, but the Moscow radio acknowledged that axis invasion forces estimated at 90,000 troops had crossed Kerch's defenses "at a cost of colossal losses."

Meanwhile, authoritative London quarters briefly and cryptically disclosed that Britain was taking "military and naval action" against Finland, Rumania, and Hungary.

These quarters refused to elaborate, however, and informed sources interpreted the statement as referring mainly to British blockade of the countries.

Possibly forecasting a major offensive move, the war office in London announced a shake-up of the imperial general staff, to replace General Sir John G. Dill on Dec. 25. General Dill was made a field marshal and given the governorship of Bombay, the latter effective when the term of Sir Roger Lumley expires.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Stocks continued in a sideways crawl today and price variations were negligible excepting a few issues in demand on special developments. Headline and sluggish action on the list reflected an attitude of aloofness on the part of speculative contingents worried over labor strife in the South coast.

Army Engineers Work In Iceland

By DREW MIDDLETON WITH U. S. ARMY ENGINEERS IN ICELAND, Nov. 17 (AP) (Delayed)—United States army combat engineers are the hardest workers among regiments of hard workers in Iceland, building huts, laundries, food-storage plants and roads in a cold, rain-ridden land which would shock Danes.

Lava ridges, quick freezes and thaws hamper their work. In many sections, the only travel has been by Icelandic pony. Rainfall averages 60 inches a year at Reykjavik, the only important port, and 80 inches in the interior.

"It's a big job," they say—and give the impression that no job is too big for them.

These engineers, trained to destroy as well as to build, arise while it is still dark and often work under lights in the Arctic night.

Wearry officers, with mud plastered thick on their boots, sit around after dinner with slide rules and papers to plan the next day's work, a work which involves the safety and health of thousands of men. Traditionally, the engineers draw West Point's top scholars. Non-commissioned officers are schooled to serve as foremen.

Armed as infantry, although without some of the infantry's heavy weapons, the engineers must build or destroy bridges, roads and railways under fire in war.

Some other army and marine units in Iceland are assigned to labor under the direction of engineering supervisors.

One marine unit boasts that it built 18 sectionalized Nissen huts in a day, a claim loudly disputed by the army.

The day was one of Iceland's 22-hour ones in midsummer, an army spokesman contended, and besides, he bantered, the marines "put things together with safety pins."

Ordinary gas masks were discarded when users found they contained too little oxygen to penetrate the half mile or more to the engine. Fire department rescue crews from Los Angeles, 34 miles away were rushed to the scene, in the hills which separate the San Fernando valley from the seacoast.

Ten carloads of cattle, immediately behind the engine, were believed to have perished. The other 41 loaded cars continued varied merchandise.

Darrouzett Will Play Groom For Title Tomorrow

GROOM, Nov. 19.—The Darrouzett High school six-man football team invades Groom Saturday afternoon seeking the district championship of district 1. This will not be the first meeting of the two teams this year, but will be the first conference go. Groom won the right to play for district honors by taking Happy last Friday 20-7 in a hard fought game. Darrouzett won the right by taking a grudge fight from Booker 40-31. Both teams will be at their top strength for the game.

Last year it was no surprise to Groom to be in the district play-off. After losing seven starters of last year's team, it looked as though the Tigers would be out all season this year. After early training, the Groom fans began to wonder if the little boys could win a game. As the season wore on, the fans began to wonder how far they could go in conference play. After Happy's fine play in the west section of the district won them that section's title, most of Groom conceded Happy the right to play in the district play-off.

After the game last Friday, Coach Cecil Gregg of Happy said that though his boys played a good game they just didn't have enough to take the Groom boys. Now, again the local fans are facing another district championship game on their local field with their little boys still the underdogs.

Darrouzett, playing their first year in this district, have one of the largest teams of the district. Too, it is one of the most experienced. For the past three years they have played the six-man game but have played out of the conference and have for the most part played Oklahoma teams. Coach Ed. Winant has one of the most versatile teams of the district. They are fast, large, and can handle the ball. In Vernon Roper, fullback, he has perhaps one of the best backs of the region.

Coach Butch Clark, of Groom, has had a group of inexperienced boys from which to mold a team. After playing a season of "from game to game" football, with his team the underdogs each week, he is coming to the point that he believes that his boys can play a pretty good ball game. They are his smallest squad to have at Groom, but they love the game and work hard at it.

His largest boy is Perry Johnson, a 160-pound senior who was never out of football until late in September. From that they run down to James Tillman, a 116-pound end. Two of the boys were squads last year but none of them were starters. The Groom boys have just one thing in abundance and that is fight, but they have plenty of it. Should they be able to take the district title again, it would be because of that one thing.

CIO Delegates Endorse FDR's Foreign Policy

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP)—Delegates to the CIO's national convention turned to domestic problems today after a dramatic session in which Philip Murray stood forth as their organization's No. 1 man, in fact as well as in title.

Murray, CIO president, put his leadership to test yesterday with a stirring personal appeal for all-out endorsement of President Roosevelt's foreign aid policy in the face of unspoken opposition from a group of adherents of John L. Lewis.

The acting chairman ruled the standing vote on a resolution endorsing Murray's principles was unanimous, although delegates from Lewis' striking United Mine Workers of America and the United Construction Workers Organizing committee headed by his brother, remained stolidly in their seats, with few exceptions, while the vote was taken.

Lewis, founder-in-chief of the CIO, was absent—pre-occupied with a union shop strike in the captive mines. He abdicated the CIO presidency to Murray a year ago, but retains the presidency of the miners' union.

The resolution coupled a pledge of all-out backing of the administration's foreign policy with a denunciation of Charles A. Lindbergh and a plea for all possible assistance to Great Britain, the Soviet Union, and China.

While Murray was asking the delegates to approve the pronouncement, he made it clear that he would insist on "labor's right to attain its objectives" during the defense drive and that he was not

Oregon State At Top Of Rose Bowl Ballot

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 19 (AP)—Rose Bowl talk still was forbidden among the Oregon State football players today but the campus was full of it.

Once again the Beavers, far western Cinderella team of 1941 and only Pacific Coast conference member never to make the New Year's Day game, were on the bowl ballot and clear up at the top, too. Only two teams stand in their way—Montana, which looks easy, and Oregon, which doesn't.

Since they defeated California 6-0 last Saturday while Washington State knocked off Stanford, 14-13, the Oregonians hold the inside lane. OSC, Stanford, and Washington each has lost two games, but OSC defeated the other two. In cases of ties, it has been the custom to give the bowl bid to the team that defeated its champion or champions.

This is the second time this year Oregon State's shadow has been across the Rose Bowl. On Oct. 11 Coach Lon Stiner's eleven shattered Stanford's 13-game winning streak by a 10-0 score a week after upsetting favored Washington 9-6. The two victories brought on a bowl boom in spite of a first-game defeat by USC, 12-7—the result of a Trojan pass in the last half minute.

The boom only lasted two weeks. It broke Oct. 25 when thrice-beaten but giant-killing Washington State throttled the Beavers, 7-0. OSC more or less forgot the Rose Bowl until those same Washington Statesters cut Stanford last week-end and threw the leadership into a tie.

Backfield starters tomorrow afternoon will be selected from the six boys pictured above. Charlie Boyles, sophomore fullback, and Don Meador, senior halfback, are sure to be in the starting lineup. If the Harvesters receive the kickoff L. J. Halter will be at

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (The Special News Service)—One thing we can be thankful for is that we don't have the job of trying to pick a successor to Bob Zuppke at Illinois.

So, free of charge, we'll offer the suggestion that Illinois get either Red Grange or Don Peden—the best player and the best coach Zup ever turned out.

Typical of Zup was his explanation to Columbus writers before the Ohio State game: "The reason we haven't been doing so well is because we've been playing on flat fields. My boys are so fast they need banked turns. The way it's been they just fall down."

Out in Kansas, Roy Dyer had been promising the missus a duck dinner nearly every day since the season opened, but he never was able to make good. Then one day Mrs. Dyer went into the backyard and pulled a fat teal out of a drainage ditch, which was so narrow that the duck apparently couldn't fly out after getting into it. So when Mr. Dyer came in from hunting that day, the duck was roasted to a turn and Roy was all burned up.

Football Fricassee

Season's first "Bowl" game comes up tomorrow at New Orleans. It's the "Turkey Bowl" battle between a couple of sandlot teams which its 19-year-old promoter, Alben Lacombe, has built up into an event that draws 10,000 fans.

So when Mr. Dyer came in from hunting that day, the duck was roasted to a turn and Roy was all burned up.

Leon Cooke, Northwestern tackle, broke his wrist the day it was announced he had won a national pennant contest.

C. M. Gibbs, Baltimore Sun: "Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians says night baseball is a novelty and therefore he doesn't want to give his fans too much of it. This, at least is consistent. The annual swoops of his ball club are no novelty so he keeps giving the fans more of the same every season."

Police Start Test To Determine How Bad Drunk Drivers Navigate

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19 (AP)—Fifty-seven human guinea pigs with a taste for liquor submitted themselves to science today to give police authentic information on alcohol's effect on motorists.

The volunteers, all men, will drink highballs, or beer (the police supply the intoxicants) at half-hour intervals while undergoing rigid examinations of their driving ability. Just to make sure each subject drains his glass, a policeman will be his constant companion.

Each volunteer will drink and drive until disqualified—or he gets too pickled to take the wheel.

The police, learning many of their subjects planned to fortify themselves with huge steak dinners as cushions against the effect of the alcohol, ordered the volunteers to report at 8 a. m. 5 1/2 hours before the tests begin.

The tests, explained Henry W. Johnson, head of the police traffic and safety division, were designed as a fair and impartial examination of alcohol's effect on drivers—not the effects of alcoholic antidotes and remedies.

Each driver will undergo a thorough physical examination. At 1:30 p. m. he will be handed two ounces of whiskey and given ten minutes to drink it.

Then he must drive a car forward and backward a distance of 200 feet, keeping the wheels within a 12-inch strip. He must drive a figure-eight course marked by 16 posts set nine feet apart. This maneuver must be completed satisfactorily within three minutes.

At half-hour intervals each driver will gown two more ounces of Championships of three conferences have been determined and another goes on the block this week in Texas college football.

Howard Payne won the Texas conference crown, Texas A. & I. sacked up the Alamo conference pennant and North Texas State came through for the Lone Star conference gonfalon last week.

Texas Christian university plays Rice at Fort Worth Saturday and defeat or tie would hand the Southwest conference title to Texas A. & M., the only undefeated, untied college team in the state.

Out at Lubbock tomorrow, 16,000 fans will watch Texas Tech, once-beaten, and Hardin-Simmons, which has lost twice, battle for a possible invitation to play in the Sun Bowl game at El Paso.

Hardin-Simmons is tied with Arizona for top place in the Border conference and hopes to finish the season Dec. 6 with a victory over Arizona State to thus share the title with Arizona.

The Texas Tech game does not count in the conference standing although Tech is a member of the Border loop. The Red Raiders are not eligible for the title, not having scheduled enough conference games.

Arizona lost prestige by going down before Oklahoma A. & M., 41-14, and the winner of the Hardin-Simmons-Texas Tech game is looked upon as a logical choice for the Sun Bowl spot.

Berlin Claims Japs Robbed Wife Of German Consul

SHANGHAI, Nov. 19 (AP)—Berlin has protested to Tokyo over an alleged assault and robbery of Madame Ernst Neumann by Japanese soldiers. It was reported today from Saigon, Madame Neumann is the wife of the German consul at Saigon.

The reports said she was alone in her automobile when the Japanese stopped her, entered her car, held her arms and examined the contents of her purse.

They fled after taking an unstated amount of money, the reports said.

reaching extension of its cooperation with Hitler's "new order," brought me a call from a distinguished French resident of New York who wanted to know if there could be any truth in this news. He was much distressed by the thought that his country might be contemplating such a move, and obviously was hoping I would say there was nothing to the story. It was impossible to give him that satisfaction, for it seems quite likely that the Vichy government may make a move in that direction. However, we talked the matter over and he did have a less gloomy view after an analysis of the situation.

When you first look at this proposition of the Petain government lending itself to cooperation with its hated conqueror, whose troops have their hob-nailed boots firmly on the proud country, it does strike one as an astonishing development. On further study it doesn't seem so strange, and one is inclined not to judge hastily.

In assuming the leadership of his crushed people, Marshal Petain took over a valorous but thankless task. He established himself as the symbol of surrender. It must have been a bitter thing for the hero of Verdun so to humble himself and take upon his aged shoulders the burden of representing in defeat the country which he once helped to such glorious victory. It must be a trial for him daily to have to bow his head to the Germans in whose ears yet rings his World War challenge. "They shall not pass."

Still, somebody had to take the helm. Petain's job was, and is, to save the soul of France. His country was so utterly crushed that there was danger that the fighting spirit—the will to recover—might be lost. All Petain's efforts would seem to have been directed toward shielding his trampled people and ridding this spirit. To be sure, there are influential Frenchmen who have been doing all in their power to swing their countrymen to the support of the Hitlerian program.

There has been no sign, however, that the old marshal has become a willing servant of the Fuehrer.

It is true that Petain has made concessions to the Nazis, and he probably will make more, but we must look carefully at his position before saying that he has joined the Germans in heart. It is reasonable to doubt that a man of the marshal's high sense of honor would willingly do anything to damage the cause of his late ally, even though he might be, and undoubtedly has been, forced into some actions which were harmful to Britain.

However, the situation of France is very terrible. She is on the verge of another winter of cruel privation. A million of her men are still in German prison camps. Industry, business, agriculture—in fact, all endeavors—are in the slough of despond.

Now what would you do if you were Marshal Petain, and the Nazis said: "If you cooperate with so-and-so, we will give back your million men to their wives and children, and we will see that you get food, and we will make the military occupation easier for you." It strikes me that not only the

SERIAL STORY

LADY BY REQUEST

BY HELEN R. WOODWARD

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: It did not matter that the pretty, red-haired...

CHAPTER II DIANA walked quickly from the room, breathing rapidly...

She had not seen Stephen Curt's twinkling eyes, nor heard his chuckle of delighted laughter...

Already he was sorry for his outburst, but that confounded Tucker girl had always irritated him beyond belief...

"The girl's impossible. We've tried her. This is her last day," he muttered angrily.

She probably refused your advances, Stephen was thinking. She probably taken no trouble to conceal the fact that she thinks you're a heel...

He couldn't remember when anyone, man or woman, had so interested him. Not Stephen Curt, the commentator...

"WAIT a minute. I'll call Miss Montgomery and we'll continue," Thorpe was saying...

But Stephen Curt was gathering up his papers, stuffing them untidily into his brief case...

"Anyway, you've got all the dope."

37-Year-Old Chain Letter Kept Going By Army Chaplain

Special To The NEWS BROWNWOOD, Nov. 19—Every three months or so, Lt. Col. Albert K. Mathews, chaplain of the VIII army corps...

FUNNY BUSINESS

"Ugh! White man carry papoose—why not you?"

Once again inside the warm building, Diana had to wait for an elevator...

Fix up the contract and then Laird and I'll sign it. Let us know when it's ready...

He took his hat and overcoat, let Thorpe help him into them and was soon out of the private office...

Miss Montgomery stood speechless by the desk, her usually quick wit having completely failed her...

But as she waited for the elevator, Diana's face burned with shame at what she had done and especially because Stephen Curt had witnessed her outburst...

Before she reached the corner that conviction had grown on her that that was the thing to do. It an afternoon is required to read it. For 37 years Chaplain Mathews has been receiving such letters...
